Hospital information group opens drive

The Fulton county hospital information committee, headed by Val Pemberton, has begun an active program to inform voters of the county of the facts surrounding the proposed new hospital.

Other members of the committee include Mrs. Lea Goss, campaign chairman; Mrs. Mary Knochel, publicity director; Al Price, township chm.; Mrs. Martha Hayes, literature chairman, and Mrs. Terry Quick, endorsement chairman. A number of other volunteers are also involved.

Also working with the committee is a citizen's advisory group of approximately 35 members representing all areas of the county. The modest publicity budget is being covered by private donation with no public funds involved.

In its effort to inform county residents, the committee will undertake a continuing program through May 1. A speaker's group will be available each weekday in April to explain the program fully and to answer any questions. Organizations interested should contact Mrs. Goss for a scheduled date. Public attendance at some of these meetings may be possible by contacting the organization president or chairman.

One of the main purposes of the program will be to answer questions that county residents may have on the proposed hospital. Questions should be directed to the hospital information committee.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

I would like to commend the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation's Superintendent and School Board (except for Mr. Goshert). Never in the history of the T.V. S.C. has anyone dared to do what these men are doing. They have perpetrated one of the biggest hoaxes this person has ever seen. I think even Clifford Irving would marvel at it. These individuals have buried their heads in the sand (one in the snow!) to avoid the real issues. If ignorance is bliss, these fellows should be overjoyed!

I have personally dealt with them on two issues and it is my personal opinion that they do not concern themselves with such trivial matters as safety and good modern education. The big issues are (1) whether or not Mr. Important's Johnny will get to play basketball and (2) whether Mr. Important might have to drive a few extra miles to attend the school functions.

I have four children (aged 6 and under) who will be entrusted to these gentlemen to obtain a good, sound education. An education I hope will include a course in common sense—a course our "educated leaders" apparently failed to take!

Winston Churchill once said, "We have nothing to fear but fear itself." What are these men afraid of? Is it an increase in their taxes (the superintendent doesn't even live in this school district)? Do they fear that hard feelings might be created? (How could there be any more?) Perhaps, they fear the theory that: Ignorance breeds ignorance and education breeds leaders. A mass of educated children would mean a mass of smarter parents. A mass of smarter parents could and would realize the inequities, the absurd cost of building and maintaining two new schools. Yours for one school, Gene B. Hughes

To Whom It May Concern:

There is an ordinance in Mentone against dogs running loose, but I guess not enforced.

The last three weeks we have had nothing but a mess because dogs are tearing up the garbage bags and dragging the contents all over everywhere.

I'm sure we are not the only ones with this complaint.

Please obey the ordinance and keep the dogs tied. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Romine.

The most popular after dinner speech ever heard was by the man who said, "I'll take the check."

60 YEARS AGO

The famous Tucker logs went through Akron Wednesday morning on a Winona car. We are told the but-cut had 2008 feet of lumber in it and only twelve feet long. It was the last one of the giant oaks that formerly graced the woods all about here in an earlier day and before the ax man got in his work to make farms from the forest.

We are told that Prof. Davidson gave up the rooms he recently fitted up for a musical studio in the opera house basement. He turned them over to our village board and it will be used by the board as a council room. We are informed the jail which is a cage will be installed therein and the town marshal will have no further excuse for hunting down, pursuing criminals, law violators and hoodlums and penning them up for meditation and punishment. Akron will soon be jail size. Prof. Davidson informs us that he will have rooms over the Scott drug store now occupied by Prof. and Mrs. Busch. These he will fit up and use them as a musical studio the ensuing season.

We may as well all of us be reconciled to our very muddy streets. It is the price we must pay every year for neglected and needed street pavements. There are also, a lot of people wading mud for lack of cement walks to their homes. It is all useless. Cement walks and paved streets are not out of reach of the masses. Let some one get busy with petitions and get before the town board first. Let us enjoy the ordinary comforts instead of wading about in the mud.

News Of Interest To Homemakers

by Ann Hancock, Area Extension Agent
Kosciusko County

Organic food stores are sprouting up all over the country, and they are big business. Last year about 3/4 billion dollars was taken in those catering to the growing number of Americans convinced that ordinary supermarket food is nonnutritious and even dangerous.

Organic foods come from plants grown without inorganic fertilizers and pesticides. Instead, the soil is enriched, as it was a century ago, with inorganic matter only—manure, plowed under plant material, leaf mold.

Health food promoters claim that there are poisonous substances in our processed foods. They argue that organically grown plants receive a balanced diet, made available by microbial action at a rate that is in tune with the plants own growth needs. Chemically-fed plants may get an overdose of one nutrient from a fast-acting fertilizer, and this may block the intake of other essentials or some nutrients may be missing altogether.

What do the scientists say to this? On the question of a balanced diet, they state that soil nutrients can be unbalanced through the use of organic fertilizers just as well as with inorganic ones.

As to the overall question of plant nutrition scientists have grown plants on both organic and inorganic soils. The plants were analyzed for their nutrient content and no differences were found.

Because organic foods have an increased susceptibility to insects and disease the foods are more expensive. Another factor that makes organic foods expensive is the amount of organic matter needed to grow these foods. Using organic matter means transporting huge amounts of it from where it accumulates. The same amount of plant nutrients can be supplied in much smaller quantities of inorganic commercial fertilizers.

Organic foods are not harmful. In fact, if they are used as part of a well balanced diet, they are beneficial. But spending money on these expensive products too often means that not enough money is left over to buy all the other foods needed for a balanced diet.

The first order of business was doctor's scales for the club. A vote was taken and it was decided to further the plans of obtaining them.

Club colors were needed for the installation of officers, and blue and green were chosen.

A contest was held over the past month in keeping with the Easter holidays. Members made Easter hats and for every pound lost a kleenex flower was given to the member and for each pound gained a pipe cleaner (weed) was attached to the hat. Easter hats were modeled and an Easter egg hunt was held.

A low calorie dessert was suggested by Mrs. Lambert. The members decided it was just the dessert for calorie counters.

Reservations were sent for the TOPS convention and eight of the ten members will be going to represent the club.

Viet Nam Profile To Be Shown Sunday At Mentone Church

"Viet Nam Profile," just-completed film production by Dr. Bob Pierce for World Vision, Inc., will be presented in a special showing at the Mentone United Methodist Church at the 7 p.m. April 9 service.

The sound-color documentary film, 55 minutes in length, takes the viewer throughout war-torn Viet Nam, showing "the drama of God at work in the midst of war."

Dr. Pierce, president of World Vision, Inc., has spent the major part of the last two years in Viet Nam filming and directing production of "Viet Nam Profile" while also establishing his organization's vast relief program there, participating in the U.S. government's Agency for International Development program in Viet Nam.

The film portrays the people of the war-torn little country, including colorful aboriginal mountain tribespeople as well as the Vietnamese people themselves.

Narration and most of the filming were done by Dr. Pierce personally, assisted by cameramen Nguyen van Duc of Viet Nam and Y. B. Tang of Hong Kong. Original music was composed and directed for the film by Ralph Carmichael.

World Vision, with its international headquarters in Monrovia, Calif., cares for over 31,000 orphans in 10 countries. It has launched an all-out aid program in Viet Nam, building refugee centers, providing hundreds of crutches and wheelchairs for war amputees, distributing thousands of relief packages and supporting war widows as well as blind students, orphans and other needy children.

Officers elected were Robert Plantz, president; Mrs. Ralph Davis, vice-president, and Don Logue, secretary.

Comprehensive Health Planning Council Elects Officers

The Fulton Co. Comprehensive Health Planning Council met Tuesday evening with 21 present.

By written ballot, the members voted to support the hospital trustees in the building of a new county hospital. A letter stating this approval of building will be sent to the state health planning agency. This is a formality that must be done before application for Hill-Burton funds can be carried out.

Officers elected were Robert Plantz, president; Mrs. Ralph Davis, vice-president, and Don Logue, secretary.

National Library Week Is April 16-22

Everyone has heard of the Right to Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. It's an expression of our American way of life. But there's another right that guarantees it, and that's your Right to Read. Without this right, our American rights and freedoms would be pretty empty. Don't lose it. Use your public library during National Library Week in Indiana, April 16 through the 22nd, and fifty-one other weeks of the year as well, remind librarians at the Bell Memorial Public Library. The Bell Memorial Public Library in Mentone serves the towns of Mentone and Burket and the townships of Harrison, Franklin and Seward. It is entirely supported by local taxes and the service is free to anyone living in these townships.

At the present time there are 1350 registered patrons and the library has a total of nearly 22,000 books on the shelves. Included in these books are mysteries, westerns, light romance, heavy fiction and biographies. There are books on science, antiques, handicrafts, travel, religion, gardening, business, writing, history, health, animals, space, psychology, ESP, law, cooking, genealogy and many others.

The library subscribes to 17 magazine publications and one newspaper.

It Happened In Mentone

Taken from the April 6, 1938, edition of the Northern Indiana Co-Op News:

Thieves entered the School House early Thursday morning by breaking the glass in the back door. Articles taken were one Woodstock typewriter, one Underwood portable typewriter belonging to Dale Kelley, and one adding machine. Another adding machine was taken from the trustee's office on the ground floor. One typewriter was taken from the commercial room and carried to the foot of the stairs where it was evidently forgotten by the thieves in their haste.

Ritchie Pleads Guilty To Firearms Charge

Amond Douglas Ritchie, 28, R.1, Claypool, who was cleared on a gun charge in Kosciusko Circuit Court last year, pleaded guilty to a three-count federal indictment when he was arraigned before Judge Robert Grant in Federal Court at So. Bend last week.

Ritchie and his former employer, Jack Appleby, Richmond, who was manager of the Warsaw Gamble store in 1971, both were indicted by the federal grand jury at So. Bend in February. The three-count indictment handed down on both men alleged that firearms records at the local Gamble store, where the men were employed, were falsified in January 1971.

After Ritchie pleaded guilty to the charges, Judge Grant ordered a pre-commitment investigation and set April 24 as the date for sentencing.

Appleby pleaded not guilty to the three-count indictment when arraigned Thursday and Grant ordered a court trial in the case at So. Bend on April 27.

Both men are free on bonds.

PRAYER: CONVERSION
WITH GOD by Rosalind Rinker. The author has discovered that in life lived in close fellowship with the Lord, prayer becomes natural as conversation.
This realization is the strength and basis of her book-- which opens up an entirely new concept of prayer in the life of a Christian.

Don Landis of the Claypool Sales, Inc., Silver Lake, was installed as a member of the Executive committee of the Competitive Livestock Marketing Association during the corporation's recent annual meeting of stockholders in Denver.

TVSC board halts school plans

After studying a second set of schematic drawings for two new high schools, the Tippecanoe Valley school board voted 4-1 in a special session Monday night to cease plans for the two schools. Dr. Donald VanGilder's motion "to have the superintendent and architect-engineer cease high school plans at Mentone and Akron and all further cost until such time as the TVSC board shall tell them to proceed" was seconded by board president Maurice Coplen. Also voting yes were Philip Lash and Richard Goshert. Dr. John McKee cast the lone no vote.

Van Gilder said he wanted "to be sure they're not doing more than they should" in defending his motion during discussion. McKee and Goshert noted that the architect would not present further plans until he had been instructed to do so, and Goshert, who along with Van Gilder is seeking another term in the May primary election, called Van Gilder's motion "an election speech." Superintendent Robert Forbes said there was no plan to further encumber the board or to go into more detailed plans without board approval.

Van Gilder said it might be necessary to continue with the plans next week but for the present he wanted them stopped.

Oliver H. Ogden, So. Bend architect-engineer, presented the schematic drawings for the two high schools and fielded questions from board members. The plans were described by Dr. Paul Seagers, a noted school consultant hired by the board as an advisor and who was present at the meeting, as being quite good. He said he was proud to be associated with the plans and felt the schools designed by Ogden were efficient but not elaborate. He told board members they could go one of two routes, they could build a cheap building that would have high maintenance or they could build a good building that would be low in maintenance. "Either way," he said, "you will be paying for a good building."

The plans prepared by Ogden called for two buildings that were similar in design with the exception that the Mentone building would contain one more classroom and a cafeteria not recommended by the state for inclusion in the Akron plans. Ogden said the buildings were alike for two reasons, to keep the cost down and to avoid a feeling of favoritism between the two communities. The plans included new gymnasiums

Why Two New High Schools?

Dear Editor:

I cannot understand why a school board would build two new high schools when either one would hold all of the students.

I have heard statements such as, "I don't care how much more it costs to have two high schools," and these kind of statements I can't understand. If you're a taxpayer, you should care.

It is agreed that it costs more to operate two high schools, but why are we not allowed a survey so as to know how much more? One board member says it will cost $100,000 a year more to operate two new high schools than one new high school. A report by a previous board member said that it would cost $60,000 more in teachers salaries alone to operate two high schools instead of one. Can the taxpayers of TVSC really afford this kind of extravagance?

Everyone agrees that two high schools provide less program for students--just how much less program seems to be debatable. Why pay more money for less program?

Please, for the sake of students and taxpayers--THINK! Silence is golden, but can you afford it in this instance--SPEAK OUT! Shirley Smalley R. 1 Claypool

National Library Week

"Reading Makes The World Go Round" and "We've Got A Right To Read" are the dual themes of the fifteenth National Library Week Program to be observed in States and local communities across the country, April 16th to 22nd, 1972. Visit your Public Library during this week.

Mr. Harrison E. Salisbury, Assistant Managing editor of the New York Times, has written the following guest editorial in praise of the book in observance of National Library Week.

I'm a very prejudiced person. I believe in books, have lived in and among them all my life, written them, respected them, and regard the place where they're kept, the library, as quite possible a more hallowed place than those which may have been so designated by the blessing of some ecumenical agent.

We live in times when some people have the temerity to say that books and their repositories are about to be outmoded by new electronic gadgetry. But that's nonsense. Next to the production of fire, man's greatest achievement to date is the process of writing--the book and the library. These are a living monument to the process of human civilization. Moreover it's the most convenient and effective means of communication between people you could not invent something that would come within leagues of the book. No tube, no image, no computer can give you such contact in an instant with the million bits of human knowledge as the book and the library. Anyone who says differently simply has not learned the first lesson of what the book can do. Don't believe them."

Mrs. Hatfield welcomed everyone and turned the meeting over to Mrs. Helen Johnstone who read the responsibilities of each office. Each officer wore a ribbon from her shoulder to her waist with the name of her office written in blue glitter. The following ladies vowed to do their best in the coming year, Mrs. Charlene Lambert, Mrs. Carol Hatfield, Mrs. John Hall, Mrs. Gloria Parson, and Mrs. Dorothy Howard. The ceremony was concluded with a candle for each office being lit from the candle of continuity.

Members were weighed in and Mrs. Joyce Moore was named Queen of the Week with a loss of three pounds. A crown and a gift were presented.

The meeting was adjourned and diet refreshments and diet punch were served from a table decorated by the hostess. Burlap flowers made by Gloria Parson were given to each member and guest, Mrs. Ina Hatfield, as a memento of the occasion. A Public Service Indiana bill may never replace a diary, but its month-to-month fluctuations say something about your daily life.

The bill you just received a little higher than you thought it would be? Hit by the flu last month? Seemed like someone was home sick everyday, right? So they watched TV all day and kept the lights on in their rooms. You turned up the thermostat, ran the humidifier and caught up with the ironing. In short, you used more electricity.

January's bill may have reflected the new college vacation schedules. Some students were home for well over a month—washing and drying hair daily, running a stereo continuously, catching up on a semester's laundry, staying up late. More water was heated for showers, more loads went through the dishwasher, more meals were cooked.

The first bill after moving into a new home can be a shocker since it may cover more time than the 30-day billing cycle. Most moves are to gain space. Space that needs heating, cooling and lighting. Space to add automatic electric laundry equipment, a dishwasher or a freezer.

Some months bills go down. May might be one of them. Too warm to need much heat—cool enough to do without air conditioning. The novelty of being outside (and the start of the TV rerun season!) prompts the family to take advantage of the longer days.

A vacation may not trim your bill as much as you expect. First, the billing period seldom matches your vacation time. And even when you're away, electricity is running clocks, keeping food cold, water hot. (Should you be away more than two weeks, it'll pay to turn off your water heater.) Then there's that extra laundry when you come home!

Mentone TOPS Make Brag Sheet

Roll call at Monday evening's meeting of Mentone TOPS in 836 showed a total loss of 33 pounds and a gain of eight pounds. Susan Piper and Jeannie Whetstone tied for top loser with four and one half pounds each.

The meeting was conducted by the vice-president, Wally Newton.

Donna Baker is leading in the report card contest. Each member is graded by the loss or gain of weight each week. Three weeks remain in this contest.

Janie Teel gave several diet suggestions to help other members with their diets. She also gave the following recipe for whipped topping:

1/2 cup non-fat dry milk
1/2 cup ice water
1 t. liquid sweetener
1/2 t. lemon extract
1 t. vanilla

Chill the bowl and beaters. Mix all ingredients at low speed. Then whip at high speed until thick and it will stand in soft peaks. A one tablespoon serving contains only three calories.

The Brag Sheet was passed around to the members. Anyone wishing to "brag" writes that she will loose so many pounds the next week or pay $1, or whatever fine she decides on. Several members "bragged" that they would not eat cookies, candy, cake for the week or would pay ten cents a bite.

Etta Elliot entertained with a song and played the guitar. She also made a game of passing several objects around while the members closed their eyes. After all the objects were passed, everyone had to write down what each object had been. Donna Baker won the contest and received a gift.

at each school with seating capacities of 1500 each and a cafeteria at Mentone that included a stage, bookstore and storage in addition to classrooms, administration offices and material centers at each school.

Ogden estimated the Akron school would hold 606 students and the Mentone school would hold 668 students. Seagers said this figure, used by architects, was a "static" count and was too high, saying 80% of that figure would be more realistic. After studying the enrollment, projected enrollment and size of the proposed new buildings, Dr. McKee said he could not go along with overbuilding. He said the schools would accommodate twice as many children as were enrolled.

The plans were drawn to include the specifications set by the state and included standard sized classrooms and it would not be possible to make the buildings any smaller, Ogden said. He also said in answering a question by Van Gilder that it would be too expensive to construct a two-story building because of the increased cost of stairways and rest room duplications. He said both schools would be small and would be better suited to one-story construction.

Seagers said neither school would be efficient because each would be small and would have classes with small enrollments. He noted he could give them his opinions on the course to take in building but in the final analysis, it was the local people who should determine how schools should be run. He said there was no substitute for a good teacher. "She can make anything work she wants to," he said.

Dr. Van Gilder questioned the need for additional gymnasiums and was told by Seagers, "Physical education is very important for elementary children and they will still be using the old gyms. You cannot pour an education into an unsound body." He said children are not given enough physical education and have poor diets, factors that will add to the stress they will suffer in later life. He said, "Proper exercise and physical fitness are just as important as reading and writing."

In other action, the board voted to dismiss William Darr, a teacher in the Talma school, and appointed Trella Tombaugh to be a member of the Bell Memorial Public Library board.

Charles Price, an associate of Oliver H. Ogden, asked questions relating to the Akron gym repair and was told to proceed with plans, preferably to be presented at the next meeting.

Philip Lash, TVSC's representative to a three-school special education board, noted that the Whitko corporation had joined TVSC, Warsaw and Lakeland in planning area special education.

The next regular meeting of the board will be Monday night, April 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the superintendent's office in the Farmers State Bank building, Mentone. A public hearing will be held on a $170,000 special appropriation for funds to repair the existing Akron gym, purchase additional land for the Akron school, purchase a relocatable classroom for M-1 students and $100,000 for architect's fees.

Pass appropriation over protests

So many people attended Monday night's Tipp-ecanoe Valley school board meeting that extra chairs had to be set up in the hall in order that interested persons could hear the reading and approval of a special appropriation that was recently advertised. The $170,000 appropriation included $100,000 for architect's fees, $15,000 for additional land at the Akron site, $15,000 for relocatable classroom to house M-1 special education classes and $40,000 for repair work to be done at the existing Akron gym.

Voicing opposition to the appropriation, especially the $100,000 for architect's fees and the $15,000 for additional ground at Akron, were Max Nellans, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Richard Manwaring, Forrest Miner, Byron Doran and Robert J. Hill.

After hearing the audience's comments, Dr. John McKee moved that the appropriations be adopted. He said he felt the money for the architect's fee should remain because "one way or another this battle must come to an end. We have to have ground not matter where the building or buildings are located. If we are going to do it, we will have to have money or we will sit and do nothing." The vote was 4-1, with Richard Goshert voting no.

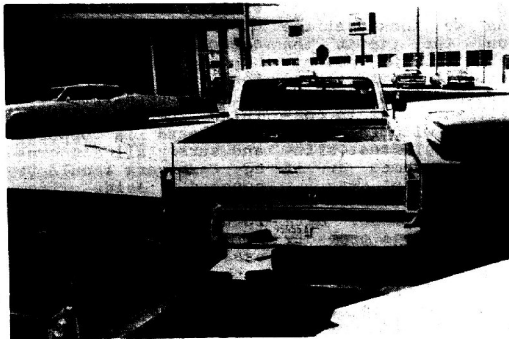

During the general audience time, Goshert moved that the board revise its policy of allowing only one audience period and asked that spectators be allowed to participate in the discussion as the meeting progressed. He said this was done in other corporations. Board president Maurice Coplen said the meetings could easily get out of hand and McKee said a line had to be drawn somewhere when it was necessary to take a vote. Philip Lash said the idea sounded good for a democratic form of government but noted the U.S. government was structured on a republican form. Board members voted 3-2 to table the motion, McKee and Dr. Donald Van Gilder voting no.

Financial report showed total funds of $1,364,643.52 with total investments of $1,361,

021.10, leaving a working balance of $3,662,42 until a recent advance draw not reflected in the report. Superintendent of schools dollar gift from the federal government, Fulton County can have a new hospital on a new site without a major change in the tax picture. Residents already pay a total of 26¢ for the hospital - 6¢ to retire the 1954 bond issue and a 20¢ building fund which should have raised almost one half million dollars by the time a new bond issue would be necessary. That would leave about one and one-half million dollars to be raised by new taxes. The highest rate necessary for the very first year would be 30¢. By year 6 the rate would be exactly the same as we are now paying - 26¢ - and by year 20 only 15¢ which would average over the 20 years less than we are now paying. The pros-

How will new hospital affect taxes?

Dear Editor:

We, the undersigned, members of the Medical Staff of Woodlawn Hospital of Rochester, Indiana, support the hospital Board of Trustees decision to recommend building a new hospital on a new site. We know that this problem was investigated and discussed in great depth and detail by the Hospital Board and this decision was made only after thorough study.

As Physicians and Dentists we have been aware of some of the inadequacies of the physical plant at Woodlawn Hospital. The fact that the State Board of Health places Woodlawn Hospital at the top of their priority list for modernization, new construction, and new out-patients facilities, only confirms the fact that our hospital is outdated and inadequate. The State Board of Health is familiar with hospitals throughout Indiana and they are saying that Woodlawn needs improvement as much or more than any other hospital in Indiana.

Do you think your heart could respond to seeing pictures of and hearing about the most severe poverty in this part of the world. Dear Editor:

As an American voter in the Second Congressional District of Indiana, I would like to take issue with Mr. Boehning's remarks made in a speech seeking the GOP nod for Congressman.

Mr. Boehning stated that Mr. Landgrebe hasn't endorsed Mr. Nixon nor followed his leadership.

All our Congressmen from our District have been made aware of my views on such issues as selling out Nationalist China, the horrors of the Genocide Treaty, the Child Care bill which would destroy the American family unit, etc. Mr. Landgrebe is the only one who intelligently answered and told me the way he had voted and why. Mr. Landgrebe has sent questionnaires to all the residents of his District requesting their views on controversial issues and has represented the people in his area and has NOT been a "yes-man" to the President. This is why we elect our officials--to represent us, not to be a "yes-man" to the President. These phony issues that politicians, not statesmen, bring up cloud the issues. In my book, Mr. Landgrebe has backed up the answers of the people in his Congressional District by voting in accordance to the response he received from his constituency and what he believes to be for the American good. Mr. Landgrebe has the courage to stand up for what he believes to be right. Now can we ask for more?

Max Nellans Reads Statement To Board

During the discussion of the special appropriation at Monday evening's TVSC board meeting, Max Nellans read a prepared statement regarding school policies.

Nellans said he felt the corporation had to decide to (1) go ahead as we are now (2) build two new high schools or (3) build one new high school. He said, "If we go ahead as we are, we will get involved in extensive remodeling which I'm not sure the State would approve." He said the corporation could not operate without state or federal funds it now receives. "Above all," he said, "it would not eliminate the continuing hassle among the public in our district." He said two schools would be ridiculous. "We cannot afford the construction or the operation and I think the majority of the Board is opposed and surely all concerned taxpayers should be opposed. Aside from this, let's look to the future. Continuing and stricter state and federal regulations, together with changes in school board personnel may demand one school. If this happens and we have a new school in Akron and one in Mentone, do the people in Akron realize where it is likely to be?"

"One school," he said, "would provide a pride in ownership." He said realtors had told him that the school situation was the biggest deterrent to their being able to sell real estate in the district and noted that a short time ago he had counted 1500 acres of farm land within a five-mile radius of his farm that was for sale. He said asking prices for the farm were less than for similar quality a few miles away and wondered if schools were a factor.

Nellans said the real bone of contention was location and said neither Akron nor Mentone wanted to lose its school. "The people in Mentone are just as bad if not worse than those in Akron," he said. "I believe Akron now realizes that if we were to build only one new school, it could not be in Akron due to their location, but they are determined that if they do lose their school, Mentone must lose theirs. I can understand this. We have people in Mentone who think it should be in Mentone, but when you analyze their thinking it boils down to either pride or selfish gain," he continued, "It is unrealistic to me that in a school district where the geographic center and population center are 2,000 feet apart that five grown and knowledgeable men on a school board can't make an objective determination."

Nellans compared the costs of building in the country to those of building in either town and said there was no difference. Sewage and water would be needed either place, he said, noting that Mentone does not have a sewage system and that water in town is purchased, the cost offsetting the cost of wells in the country. He said that bussing was not a big item and said insurance would be cheaper on one school in the country than on two schools in town and said the $30,000 to buy land in the country was a relatively small item. "You may have wasted that much in architect's fees already," he told board members.

Turning to cost comparisons, Nellans said Whitko's new school was built for $20.88 per foot, including new gym, auditorium, cafeteria, drapes, carpet, paving, furniture and equipment. He said Syracuse's new school with its terrazzo floors and swimming pool was built for less than $30 per foot. He said, "Let's say this is not enough for the sake of an argument and I certainly don't propose it, but say we want to spend $3,000,000 for a new school. We will have this fall approximately $1.5 million in our building fund. We would have to borrow $1.5 million. Assuming a 20-year loan at five per cent interest, the total cost would be $1.5 million plus $750,000 interest of $2,250,000. This is $112,500 per year. Do you realize our present cumulative building fund of 32 cents brings in over $192,000 per year or about $80,000 more each year than a new $3 million building would cost? A tax rate of 48 cents would supply the money to pay for the school. This is 34 cents less than we are now paying. Gentlemen, this is a first class building, including swimming pool and the whole works."

He closed by saying, "The fact that our present tax rate is lower than surrounding districts is no justification for throwing money away. With our valuation base and our funds on hand, we have the opportunity of being the envy of every school district in the state instead of being ridiculed by them." He asked the board to consider the proposed appropriations carefully, particularly in regard to the proposed architect's fees.

To The Editor:

Sunday, April 16, at 12:54 p.m., a rocket for the moon shot was fired, hopefully to land two astronauts on the moon for a third time. According to one's opinion you might call it wonderful, spectacular or whatever?

Sunday night at 9:40 p.m., looking west from our windows, we discovered the new moon or young moon, whichever pleases, not so very high in the sky, lying flat on its back. The two points of the moon looking to be very level across from tip to tip.

As we looked at the moon, the tip on the right side was plainly visible and directly above the tip was a very brilliant star in conjunction with the moon, as they call that situation. Seemed as if that beautiful star was about a foot above the tip of the moon. Naturally, it was probably many miles above.

That star was so brilliant and beautiful above the moon tip, words cannot describe how marvelous it was. Something pleasant to consider. Respectfully,
W. E. Fowler

Are You...?

Are you an active member,
The kind that would be missed.
Or are you just contented
That your name is on the list?
Do you attend the meetings,
And mingle with the flock?
Or do you stay safely at home and criticize and knock?
Do you take an active part
To help the work along?
Or are you just satisfied to be
The kind who "just belongs"?
Do you ever work as a Volunteer
To cheer the weak and sick,
Or leave the work to just a few
And talk about the clique?
So come to the meeting often,
And help with hand and heart;
Don't be just a member
But take an active part!
Think this over, and then,
Join the active throng,
They need an active member
Not one to just belong.

Exemption Deadline Is May 1

Ernest Walters, Fulton Co. auditor, this week reminded residents that May 1 is the last day to file mortgage, over 65 and veterans' exemption forms.

He noted, also, that many non-taxable groups such as churches, fraternal and non-profit organizations have not filed their exemption forms. These must be filed, he said, to avoid having taxes charged to them.

The entire world people are wrapt in sorrow because of the sinking of steamer Titanic last Monday morning off the coast of New Foundland about 400 miles in water 200 feet deep, entailing a loss 1312, 868 saved on life boats afterwards picked up by the Steamer Carpathia.

The college spirit ran wild in Valparaiso last night. Hundreds of students came down town, after an exciting time on the Hill besieged the opera house, gained admission, and Manager Heinemen had one of the most enthusiastic crowds which ever attended a theatrical performance in this city. The affair began when the classes which are to participate in the baseball games tomorrow went out to demonstrate their strength. The night was loud with class yells and there were numerous class rushes in which some of the boys were injured and carried out of action by their comrades. After the hilarious students had spent their enthusiasm on the Hill they went in a mass to Memorial opera house and sent up a monster yell...Many of the curious ones, not engaged in the fracas, followed the crowd and watched the movements of the mischief-makers from a distance.

News Of Interest To Homemakers

by Ann Hancock, Area Extension Agent
Kosciusko County

The week of April 16-22 has been proclaimed Home Economics Week by Governor Whitcomb. This year the Indiana Home Economics Association celebrates its golden anniversary.

In the past 50 years of "scientific explosion" home economists have been standing by picking up the fall out and fitting the pieces into the puzzle of better living for all people.

Home Economists themselves have contributed to the scientific explosion through research in nutrition, textiles, human relations, household equipment, and family economics. But most home economists serve as liaison between research and families - relating knowledge to applications in living and relaying problems of living to researchers for solutions.

Indiana home economists helped families survive the meatless Tuesdays and Whetless Wednesdays of World War I and the Great Depression. They helped plan the Victory Gardens and how to feed a family during rationing during World War II. They sponsored countless 4-H projects and Homemakers clubs; they have taught teenagers how to cope with growing up and adults how to cope with growing communication gaps. They guide ghetto families toward better nutrition and better use of all resources. They advise manufacturers on the design and production of consumer products from applesauce to zippers to microwave ovens.

Indiana boasts several outstanding home economists granting institutions; the largest degree being a part of the Land Grant program at Purdue University which is also the administrative center for Home Economics Extension. Other colleges and universities offering home economics are Indiana University, Butler, Ball State, Indiana State, Manchester, Goshen, Vincennes, and St. Mary of the Woods.

Hats off to our home economists during the week of April 16-22.

Records Fall

By Tom Alber

The Mentone track team ran its second meet of the year against Whitko and Whites at Southwood. The outcome of the meet was Whitko 59%, Whites 57% and Mentone 31.

The weather was a factor in the meet as six records fell between the schools. Each team broke two of their school's records.

Mentone records fell at the hands of freshman Max Meiser in the two mile run with a time 10:42.0. The old record was held by Jeff Shoemaker who set it a week before in a time of 10:56.0. The other record that fell was the mile relay team consisting of Darrel Dunnuck, Tom Meiser, Gary Sponseller and Gary Welborn in a time of 3:42.8. The old record was held by Jim Hackworth, Keith Remy, Ernie Welborn and Tom Scott back in 1969 when they broke it at 3:44.1.

Mentone also has three runners that will qualify for the sectional held May 18 at Huntington. Tom Meiser in the half-mile, Max Meiser in the two mile and Tim Peffley in the high jump.

THE JUBILEERS gospel singers will be at the Athens United Methodist Church Sunday evening, April 23, at 7:30 p.m. for a concert of gospel music. Members of the group are Cal and Helen Knapp, Marianne Myers, all of Angola, and Beverly Sponhauer of Ligonier. The public is invited to attend this service.

Fellowship Hears Charlyne Hayden's Life Story

The Women's Fellowship of the Church of the Brethren met in the home of Mrs. Gladys Kroft for the April meeting.

The hymn, "When You Know Jesus, Too" was sung. Mrs. Lavon Mark was leader. She read a poem, "Count Your Treasures" and read scripture from Mark 10:29-30. Her topic was on the life of Charlyne Hayden. Although Miss Hayden was from a well to do family, her parents argued, leaving her afraid and uncertain of the future. Her own marriage was much like her parents until she heard Billy Graham and then her life changed as she trusted Christ to lead her life. Mrs. Mark closed with prayer.

The secretary's report was read and final plans were made by the president, Mrs. Arlene Gearhart, for the Spring Rally to be held at the Akron Church, April 25.

Get well cards were signed for Mrs. Beatrice Lotz and Wm. Hively. A seed and bulb auction was held with Gladys Kroft conducting the auction. Refreshments were served to the 13 members and two children present. May's meeting will be the Mother and Daughter Tea at the church.

God Squad At Akron Church

The "God Squad" form Anderson College will be at the Akron Church of God this Sunday evening and have full charge of the service. This is a group of about 30 Christian athletes who sing and share testimonies about their Christian faith and experiences. This is 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Omega Club Has Meeting

The March meeting of the Omega Club was held at the home of Ruth Bowen, with eight members present and five visitors, Janet Bowen, Nancy Pratt, Darlene Davis, and Jill and Jackie Fites.

The meeting was opened by singing the "Old Rugged Cross" and "Holy, Holy, Holy".

The secretary's report was read and roll call was answered by giving a "Household Hint". The treasurer's report was then given. The club voted to give $5 to the WCTU toward buying Bibles for the seniors.

Nina Clemans was in charge of the devotions. She read a poem "The Stranger". Then read from Psalms and the "Evening Prayer" closing with devotions and prayer.

Fren Bowen was in charge of the program. She conducted two very interesting contests which were won by Emma Burns and Nina Clemans.

The April meeting will be at Beulah Pratt's home on April 27th. This will be a seed and bulb exchange.

IN MEMORY of Cheryl Ellison, who left us five years ago, on April 21, 1967.

And death itself, to her, was but the wider opening to the door that had been opening, more and more, through all her life, and never was shut.

And never shall be shut. She left the door ajar for you and me. And looking after her, we see the glory shining through the clouds.

We loved her and miss her.

Pass Appropriation

Robert Forbes noted a total of $1,239,332.98 in the cumulative building fund.

After discussion concerning paying the claim for the architect, the claims were approved and contract changes were made for Jim Weber, Robert Igney, Dale Pace, Gary Teel, Charles Light and Linda Hoke for extra-curricular activities.

The recently adopted school calendar was revised, a move made necessary by the Legislature's decision to return Veteran's Day to its traditional November 11 date, which this year in on Saturday.

The board voted to have a survey conducted to determine how many prospective M-1 students there were in the corporation and the number of parents agreeable to having their children enrolled in the classes. It was not decided if the special education classes would begin this year or not, pending the outcome of the survey.

On the recommendation of Forbes, the board authorized the purchase of two school buses, the Ford chassis to come from South End Motors, Akron, and the Thomas bodies to come from Kerlin Motors, Silver Lake. Both were low bidders.

A revised contract for the special education co-operative study being made by TVSC, Lakeland, Warsaw and Whitko corporations was adopted as was a new budget for this group. Philip Lash is the board's representative on this special education board. Richard Goshert entered a motion to have board policy changed to read that the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation will provide one high school, taking into consideration the density of population, etc. and asked that an independent party or parties make a survey. The motion was seconded by Coplen and after discussion was defeated 5-0. Goshert then moved that the policy be changed to a one-school policy to be constructed within the financial limits of the present tax rate. Again, Coplen seconded the motion but it was defeated 4-1 with Goshert casting the only yes vote. Goshert said, "The worst thing that could happen would be to build one high school that would cost as much as two high schools," and said if two were built the corporation would still pay $100,000 too much a year, in operating expenses.

Following a short executive session, the board reconvened and voted to approve Thelma Eaton for a bus driving position should a route open in her area.

How Will New Hospital Affect Taxes?

However, the present buildings are constantly in need of repair and if it is necessary to continue operation in them, operating tax money will probably be necessary. By law the hospital is entitled to up to 35¢ per year for operating expenses - more than the very highest year for bonding a new building on a new site, which could be operated economically and without tax subsidy. Major hospital spending is definitely in the future for Fulton County. A one million dollar gift is not as this is probably the last year for outright federal grants to hospitals.

Four men will seek two seats on the Tippecanoe Valley school board in Tuesday's primary election. The two men elected will take office July 1 during the school board's annual reorganization meeting.

Board members serve four-year terms and are elected at large to represent their home districts on the five-member board. Representatives will be elected this year from Harrison and Seward townships.

MHS to present "The Perfect Idiot"

Members of the Mentone High School Speech and Drama Club will present "The Perfect Idiot," a comedy set in the 1940's that was written by Eunice and Grant Atkinson.

Daniel Tennyson (Alan Welch) the young genius, tries to become the perfect idiot but does not realize how well he portrays his part. Dan is not popular at school because of his "Smart Me" and "Dumb You" attitude. His parents decide that before Dan can take the college entrance exam he must have friends. The gang discovers they need Dan to tutor Puff (Lee Barker) the star athlete. Dan and the gang work out a deal that puts him on the popular list and Linda (Leslie Davis) becomes his steady girl until his parents let Dan take the exam.

When a soap manufacturer get interested in Dan's hypnotizing box and his test scores are revealed, the farce has its surprise ending.

Dear Editor:

We are approaching another election in which two members are to be elected to the Board of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation. No doubt some people are saying, "Here we go again." But the issue is not the same this time. There is no longer the issue of whether we have two high schools or one. The present board has the approval of the state to maintain our two high school situation. As I understand it was the board who decided some months ago to build facilities for grades, 10, 11, and 12 at both Mentone and Akron. This is a good decision. But it seems that some elements are trying to convey the idea that the buildings at each location would have to be large enough to accommodate about 600 students. This is ridiculous. In my opinion, this is largely propaganda by those who still want to establish one high school in defiance of the will of the people. We want good schools and we can have them and still be conservative about it. As I have said before, size alone is not the measure of a good school. Look well to your ballot!

ODDS and ENDS

BY ANN SHEETZ

It didn't seem like such a bad idea at the time I agreed to let Buster Mod come over for the day so his mother, Hermione, could attend another of her meetings. The boys were less than enthusiastic about having Buster come over. "He's real mean," one of them said.

"Nonsense," I argued, "he's always a perfect gentleman when I'm around and it certainly won't hurt you to be exposed to a few of his manners."

"Are you kidding?" the oldest boy choked and the little boy looked like he could cry. Why, the crazy kids are jealous, I thought. Being around Buster will be good for them.

Buster's real name is Oscar Mod IV but his parents, Oscar III and Hermione, long ago gave him the nickname that has stayed with him. I never cared much for it because it reminded me of "Gangbusters" but then who was I to argue with the busy Mods. Oscar attends as many meetings as Hermione does and his fight against juvenile delinquency has earned him a seat on a dozen committees and he is in demand as an after-dinner speaker all over the state. As mod as his name, he presents a dashing picture at the meetings--hair just the right bit of too long, aviator glasses, sleek suits.

But this was Hermione's meeting. She said it was a scientific council's report of its studies of the bad effects television has on children. In her crushed velvet suit and miles of pearls, Hermione was stunning, and I hated her. She has all the clothes I don't, takes the trips I can't, has the committee assignments I can't take because of my family. In short, I thought as she breezed down the drive in her sports car, her life represents fun and I must seem like a stodgy house-frau to her.

A shriek from Buster interrupted my envy-filled thoughts and sent me rushing to the kitchen. Buster was hungry. What did Buster like? Food, he said. Lots and lots of food. Potato chips and milk shakes, preferably.

"Yeah," all he does at home is sit in front of the TV and eat," one of my sons growled.

"Quiet, you inhospitable creature," I said, shooing him outdoors and sending Buster along, armed with a half dozen candy bars for good measure.

Buster did not appear to like life in the great outdoors. He bribed the dog with one of the candy bars and then tried to cut the poor creature's tail off with a switch-blade knife he pulled from his ragged blue jeans. Even worse, he threatened to stab my little boy if he told on him.

In spite of my careful watching, by lunchtime, Buster had killed a stray kitten and had used the knife to slash two bicycle tires. He had put one of the candy bars in the truck's gas tank and had stomped in some sand for good measure.

By the time Hermione came back my boys were having nothing to do with Buster. If he was in the living room, they went to the barn; if he went there, they dashed to the house. In the process, he pitched an antique vase through a living room window and flushed the gold fish down the toilet.

I was choking with fury as Hermione toolled into the drive and raced into the house, saying, "You should have been at the meeting today! It was great--really kept moving."

"I really kept moving too," I said but she was not listening.

"There were twelve scientists there," she said. "They reported they had studied the effects of television on children for two years."

"How much did it cost?" I demanded. "I'm very picky about things like that."

"Only a million dollars!" she said as if it were a $40 pair of shoes on sale for $5, "but it was worth every cent of it."

"What did they decide?" I asked, comforting a crying child who had just been hit by her Buster.

"They said, 'Mayhem on television could lead children prone to violence to behave more aggressively," she said. "Is that all?"

"Is that all? What more do you want?" she snapped. "Come on, get in the 20th Century. Life is not all tied up with kitchens and crying little boys," she said scornfully as she looked at the tear-streaked face of my child. She left then with her own child who was now on the same perfect behavior that had misled me in the first place.

The boy in my lap had gone to sleep so it was to no one in particular that I said, "I may be out of step, but I know one thing. That study was over-long and over-priced. One ten-minute phone call to nearly any parent could have told them the same thing."

Voting Procedures

When voting in the school board and party elections on May 2, voters should keep in mind the following procedures:

- (1) When the voter enters the room being used for voting, he will be asked to sign his name and address in the voters' poll book. In case of doubt as to his identity, this signature will be compared with the one on his voting registration form.
- (2) After signing the poll book, the voter will be given one of each of the ballots which he is entitled to vote. These include (a) the ballot for final election of two school board members, and (b) party preferential ballots for national, state and county offices. In Fulton county, voters will also receive a special ballot for the hospital referendum that will be worded: Do you favor a new Fulton Co. hospital on a new site? Party preferential ballots are given only to persons who wish to vote in either of the party primaries. The voter is also given a blue pencil which he must use to mark the ballots.
- (3) If he has any questions about the voting procedure, the voter should speak to the election judges about them before going into the voting booth. Each voter must be alone in the voting booth; persons with small children should arrange to have them cared for, while they vote. While in the voting booth, the voter may not talk with anyone in another booth or with anyone else in the room. An exception to these rules is made for anyone who cannot mark his ballot because of blindness, physical disability or inability to read English. These persons may ask for help in marking their ballots.

- (4) Each voter is allowed three minutes in the voting booth.
- (5) If a voter accidentally tears, makes a mistake, or otherwise spoils a ballot while voting, he may ask for another one. He should be careful to mark only within the squares printed on the ballot.
- (6) Before leaving the voting booth, the voter must fold each of his ballots so that the writing on it is covered but the initials of the clerk are visible. He then gives his ballots to the inspectors or the judges, who deposit them in the proper ballot boxes. The blue pencil is returned to the clerk. The voter must not leave the voting room with his ballots or the pencil.

Ford Seeks 'Sense' In Primaries

Spectacles such as the 1972 primaries--where hordes of candidates invade States, spending millions of dollars in search of convention delegates, and then are undone by "crossover" voting which robs the primaries of party integrity--must be stopped.

That's the gist of a bill introduced by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford (R., Mich.) which would instead call for a nationwide primary election to select each party's presidential candidate.

"After observing the antics of presidential hopefuls in the various State primaries this year," said Ford, "it seems to me we should put an end to this chaotic situation by having one same-day primary throughout the Nation. Unlike the present primaries, the national primary I propose would decide something. It would, with a runoff if necessary, give us our presidential candidates.

The Ford plan, which would require a Constitutional Amendment passed by Congress and ratified by the States, calls for a national presidential primary the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August in the year preceding the expiration of the regular term of the President and Vice President.

The person receiving the greatest number of votes cast by registered voters of his party affiliation--a plurality of at least 40 percent--would become his party's official nominee. If no candidate received a plurality, the top two vote-getters would hold a runoff on the 28th day after the primary.

Ford said one important factor in his plan is that no party cross-overs would be allowed. Candidates selected would be chosen solely by their own parties. To get on the ballot, a candidate would be required to file petitions signed by qualified voters equal to one percent of the last presidential vote in 17 States. Minority party candidates would have to submit petitions equal to one percent of the total vote cast throughout the Nation in the previous presidential election.

The major parties would continue to adopt party platforms and select Vice-Presidential candidates at their conventions under the Ford plan. Sen. Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.) and Sen. George Aiken (R., Vt.) have introduced identical legislation in the Senate, where Mansfield has often spoken out for the need for change.

If this be true it is easy to see which of the two, gravel or stone, should encourage the town board to exercise economy in this matter.

We pledge to the children of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corp. to provide them with quality educational opportunities, making the most efficient use of the taxpayer's dollar.

For 10 years of rising costs, very little permanent improvement has been made in our educational system. Are we going to let the children continue to suffer? It IS the children that suffer most.

We are not in favor of duplicate high schools, each of which will accommodate more than our total high school enrollment.

Actual enrollment March, 1972:

GRADE	MENTONE	AKRON	TOTAL
10th	70	63	133
11th	70	51	121
12th	71	50	121
COMBINED TOTAL			375

Recognized authorities state that this is not a sound financial program for this school corporation.

Recognized educational authorities state that this will not provide for a sound educational program.

We do not support 2 new high schools for this school corporation.

PATRONS: We request that you beware of comparisons between one four-grade high school and two remodeling jobs. Our opponents cannot build two NEW high schools and maintain the present tax rate. This is only possible when building one high school.

Electric Energy is a

SMOKER CHOKER

Soot, fly ash, particulate matter—whatever you call it—has become a visible source of irritation to people across this country. Not long ago, puffing smokestacks were a symbol of prosperity and jobs. But as population density increased and industrial plants consumed more fuel to meet growing demands, air pollution became a serious problem.

But electric energy to the rescue! Highly efficient electrostatic precipitators—powered by electricity—remove up to 99% of the particulate matter from combustion materials that would otherwise pass through the smokestack.

Electric energy will continue to be part of the answer to solving our air pollution problems—just as it will in recycling trash into usable raw material, operating more efficient sewage plants, ridding the landscape of abandoned automobiles and powering mass transportation systems.

More electricity—a lot more—is needed to help solve our pollution problems. NIPSCO is planning and building today to meet these tremendous demands for a cleaner, healthier tomorrow.

Mentone Flying Club plans 6200 mile flight to Alaska

By Loren Sheetz

To say you are going to fly to Alaska sounds simple. To say you will fly a single-engine plane sounds a little more complicated and to say that you will fly in one of five single-engine planes going in a group sounds like a big project and one that should be planned carefully. And that is just what members of the Mentone Flying Club have been doing---planning carefully for a two-week trip to Alaska come July.

Members of the club, under the leadership of Dr. Lyle Davis, president, and Harrison Crabill, flight instructor and chairman of the trip, have spent many winter and early spring evenings munching popcorn and going over plans for the 6200-mile round trip.

Flying to Alaska is not as simple as planning a flight to, say Chicago or Toledo. In addition to the usual flight charts, it's necessary to have a survival kit that includes enough food to sustain life for two weeks, matches in a waterproof container, an axe or hatchet, a revolver, shotgun or rifle and ammunition, a first aid kit, a portable compass, 30 feet of snare, a mosquito head net and extra signaling devices. This survival equipment in addition to the camping and fishing gear the men plan to carry has necessitated careful study of the weight allowances of each of the five planes.

The Alaskan trip is the longest the 16-year old flying club has sponsored although some of the members took a trip to Guatemala a few years ago.

The 40-member club meets once a month at the Mentone airport. The club owns three modern airplanes, employs two flight instructors and schedules routine ground schools in addition to other aviation-related programs. Former U.S. aerobic champion Bob Herendeen is an honorary member of the club.

The club each summer sponsors a chicken-barbecue - fly - in. This year's barbecue will be June 11, giving the men making the Alaskan trip time to pack their equipment before they depart on the long flights north.

Rural electricity matters to us

A boy. A pony. A dream come true.

More and more families are moving to Indiana's rural areas. They're looking for cleaner air, for room to run, for beautiful scenery... and for ponies.

There's no need to sacrifice the comfort of city living for the joys of living out in the country, either. That's because rural and suburban families, in most of Indiana, enjoy all the modern conveniences of rural electricity.

Rural electric cooperatives serve agriculture, business, industry, recreational facilities, schools and homes with dependable, low-cost electricity.

They also bring together kids and ponies.

Farmers Warned Of Farm Supply Burglary Rings

State Police Superintendent Robert K. Konkle warned Hoosier farmers and rural farm supply dealers this week that stores of herbicides and pesticides have become the prime target of burglary rings operating throughout Indiana and other Midwestern states.

This spring, Konkle said, since farmers have begun readying fields for the planting season, thefts of various kind of agents used to destroy weeds and pests total more than $100,000.

Most herbicides and pesticides are retailed in bulk or powder form at a cost of approximately $2 per pound. Thieves able to make off with sizeable quantities of these materials resell them at considerably reduced prices in other areas of Indiana or in adjoining states.

Rural merchants handling herbicides and pesticides were urged by State Police to take protective measures to safeguard their supplies. In addition to lighted storage areas and electronic alarm systems, Superintendent Konkle suggested that dealers begin marking product cartons with special symbols for identification in case of theft and possible recovery.

May 1 Is Deadline For 4-H Enrollment

Robert E. Cox, Area Extension Agent, this week reminded all youth 10 to 18 years of age that May 1 is the last day to enroll in the 1972 4-H Club program. Anyone who has not enrolled who would like to be a 4-H member is urged to contact any 4-H club leader of the county extension office for enrollment cards and other information. All young people are encouraged to participate in the program.

Cox said 4-H offers a wide variety of subject matter areas, activities and other leadership events for young people to learn by doing, including such activities as share-the-fun, judging activity, demonstrations, public speaking, various awards, trips, and training opportunities.

Interested young people should contact the local 4-H leaders or the county extension office for enrollment.

GROOM: My wife always cuts off both ends of a ham when she bakes it.

GRAMPS: Yep, her mother and grandmother did the same thing.

GROOM: Is it from an old family recipe?

GRAMPS: Nope. The pans they had were too small.

Farm supply dealers and farmers were also reminded to contact the nearest police agency should they be approached by persons offering any agricultural supplies or other kinds of merchandise at cut-rate prices.

News Of Interest To Homemakers

by Ann Hancock, Area Extension Agent
Kosciusko County

The Federal Trade Commission recently ruled that as of July 1972 all fabrics sold over the counter must have care labels which consumers can attach permanently to the finished garment. With so many different finished and fabrics available to today's home sewer, remembering the type of care required by each fabric has become a problem.

The new ruling may represent a significant step toward prevention of many problems associated with improper fabric care. The problems might still occur if the retailer forgets to give the customer a label or if the customer disregards the instruction to sew the label onto the finished garment.

Any method that is used is going to involve a certain amount of cost. One type of label that is being considered is one that might be attached to the fabric at 1/2 yd intervals. Or perhaps twenty labels might be supplied with each bolt and the sales person would have the responsibility for distribution.

One problem which may arise is the consumer's use of several incompatible fabrics or garment components together. She will have no guarantee that the threads, fabrics, and trims are all compatible. This can be overcome through education to teach the home sewer what fabrics are compatible. But as the textile industry becomes more complex it becomes increasingly difficult to keep up with all the fabrics and finished available.

Regardless of the type of labeling that is used, the new law will provide consumers with needed information. Then the problem will be to get the consumer to read and use the label. The new law will provide consumers will needed information. Then the problem will be to get the consumer to read and use the label!

Where we say our school, not the school

Big city schools have little school spirit. Little sense of belonging. Little pride.

School is a job at a very early age.

Our schools are important. We take a special interest in our children, their friends and their teachers.

We keep track of our graduates. We like to share in their successes and like to have them feel they always have a home community. Our community is proud of them. Because they belong to us.

Good school spirit is an important part of good community spirit. It makes everything more worthwhile.

Take your problems to Church this week —

RESOLUTION OR STUBBORNESS?

"Trying to get him to change his mind is as futile as pouring water on a duck's back" is a statement frequently used to describe some person, or persons. Such a stubborn trait can be bad, sometimes disastrous; yet on the other hand it can be a commendable one, depending upon how the opinion is reached. If arrived at through prejudice, before gaining sufficient knowledge of facts and disregard of all useful argument and counsel, wrong often results.

However, once resolved, after thorough consideration of all sides of the question, this trait of firmness can serve as useful a purpose as the water repellent on the duck's back, for strength of character is shown by standing like a rock for that which is just and honorable.

In rendering a decision prayer is often desirable, especially when a question of good or evil is involved. Faithful attendance at the church of one's faith and practice of prayer will always prove an aid in searching out the right decision and provide the courage upon which to take that stand.

Comprehensive, well-rounded and revealing, the complementary works of Drury and Maroon provide a candid portrait of the individuals and institutions that guide the destiny of the nation.

BRITANNIA: ROWING ALONE ACROSS THE ATLANTIC by John Fairfax. On January 20, 1969 at 10:30 a.m. John Fairfax, rowed his 25-foot open boat away from the beach on the Canary Islands.

On July 19th, 180 days and 4500 nautical miles later, he touched shore in Florida - having crossed the Atlantic by the strength of his own two hands at the oars of his boat, aided only by his own almost superhuman courage, ingenuity, strength and faith. This is an exciting record of a great adventure.
