Tree Farming: Planting for the future

By Ann Sheetz

Every man, woman and child in the United States will use a ton of wood this year. And more next year and even more every year thereafter, according to the American Forest Institute.

It's a staggering thought, but the good news is that, unlike coal, oil or ore, there won't be a depletion problem if steps are taken now, because trees are the world's only renewable resource.

At Akron's Pike Lumber Company, four foresters oversee 25 tree farms in Ohio and Indiana—more than 1,000 acres in all. Their guidance now will ensure necessary lumber in the twenty-first century.

Pike's first tree farm was purchased in 1954, and no end is in sight as far as future acquisitions are concerned. "We're limited only by the availability of good timberland and profits to turn back to purchase more," head forester Dean Baker says. With Jim Mulligan, David Atkinson and Eugene Weirick, Baker oversees the farms, directing their overall development.

Tree farming, contrary to the popular conception, is not restricted to planting new trees. Rather, it is a matter of giving nature a helping hand, which, if properly done, can reduce the time it takes a woodlot to produce from 200 years to 60. And instead of men doing the planting, it is encouraging nature to do her own.

Harvesting of mature trees is as much a part of the long-term management plan as the encouragement of new growth. "At first we did little harvesting," Baker says, "but in the last five years we've increased our management effort by inventorying our properties to find out what

Work camp will build new Talma church

A workcamp similar to those in which local residents have participated in Oklahoma will build the new Talma United Methodist Church.

Work is scheduled to begin April 11 and is expected to be completed by April 20. Work will begin at 7:30 a.m. each day and continue into the evening. There will be a worship service each night.

Participants coming from a distance will park their trailers at the campgrounds in Talma and rooms will also be available in private homes.

Skilled and unskilled workers of all kinds are needed and should take with them personal hand tools, such as hammers, saws, etc. and large cooking utensils for preparing food for the group.

Meals will be served in the basement of the present church, which was so severely damaged in the April 3, 1974, tornado that it is being replaced by the new split-level building for which ground was broken March 9.

TV bargaining election set

Tippecanoe Valley teachers face the first exclusive representation election in the state during the 1975 bargaining season for teachers.

The Indiana Education Employment Relations Board (IEERB) Monday approved rules for an election between the Tippecanoe Valley Classroom Teachers Association (TVCTA) and a "no recognition" choice for the corporation.

The election is the result of over a year of attempts by TVCTA to achieve exclusive bargaining agent status for the corporation's eighty teachers. An election last year resulted in the Tippecanoe Valley school board obtaining an injunction against counting the ballots, and no final decision was rendered.

Lawyers for the association cited incidents of teacher "harrassment and coercion" since the abortive election during Monday's hearing. IEERB ordered the mailing ballot directly to the state to insure confidentiality and circumvent possible continued harrassment moves.

"The majority of our teachers are determined TVCTA is the only means to achieve professional negotiations status," TVCTA president Phyllis Gearhart stated. "The board's efforts to deny us the right to collectively bargain will not be tolerated either by TVCTA or the state of Indiana as was shown in IEERB's order."

Referring to TVSC's recent recognition of a newly organized group calling themselves "Professional Teachers of

Burket Church plans mortgage burning

Mortgages of the new parsonage and the church remodeling project will be burned and the redecorated sanctuary will be dedicated during the 10:30 a.m. worship hour at the Burket United Methodist Church Sunday, April 6. Dr. Evan Bergwall, of Fort Wayne, will assist Pastor Don Poyser in these services. Mrs. Bergwall, a former pastor, will deliver the message. The public is invited.

The redecorating program included all-over carpeting, new light fixtures and new pews. Many other alterations were made, including converting the old coal bin into a classroom, modernizing the rest room and nursery and adding folding doors to provide more classrooms. The stairway was moved

Blood bank Wednesday at TVHS

The annual visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to the Mentone community has been scheduled for Wednesday, April 9, at Tippecanoe Valley High School. Hours will be from noon until 6 p.m.

Helping boost this year's program, as they have in the past, will be teen donors vying for Teen Gallon certifications. Theresa Edwards is in charge of recruiting these donors, all of whom must be over 18 but are not required to have permission from their parents as was necessary in the past. In addition, the teens will also serve as typists during the day.

Work schedules were prepared at a meeting in the Burket church last night.

Akron Jaycees organize

An Akron chapter of Jaycees has been organized and will meet the first and fourth Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Akron library basement.

Rod Conner has been elected president; John Gray, vice-president; Bart Duzenbury, secretary-treasurer; Kim Lewis and Mark Gray, internal directors, and Larry Howard and Gary Funk, external directors.

Currently involved in a fund-raising project, the Jaycees are also trimming trees in the Akron cemetery and plan to paint the town's fire hydrants for the Bicentennial.

Jaycees is a service organization comprised of men between the ages of 18 and 35. Anyone interested in becoming a member should contact one of the officers.

we had and the health and size classes of trees. After we had done these things, we could determine whether or not to harvest."

"Harvesting is done in a conservative manner," Baker says. "Our object is to regenerate new trees, to get new growth to come in as the old is harvested."

Trees are harvested in what Baker terms a "group clear cut" on a limited area. By removing all the timber, natural reseeding will follow and the woods will be regenerated. If there is an insufficient amount of natural seeding, the foresters can supplement it. And by using Timber Stand Improvement (TSI), non-desirable trees can be killed to help trees best suited for the site to regenerate.

Although Baker refers to the harvest as a "clear cut," he does not mean a woods will be left "clear." "An absolutely 'clean' woods is not renewing itself," he says. "Young trees must come in thick to grow tall and limb free." Tops are left to decay, in turn providing natural fertilizer and humus necessary for new growth.

"Our method of farming is different than a regular farmer's," Baker notes, "because we are thinking in terms of a long-term rotation --60 years--of a multiple species make-up. A number of individual species to work with actually complicates the project because of the difference in their needs." For instance, some species like Tulip Poplar, need a lot of light to grow; others, like hard maple, thrive in their own shade. Most other species range between hard maple and poplar in shade tolerance and are treated accordingly, explaining why sometimes there is a very large opening left in a woodlot and why sometimes only a small "hole" is left.

Although Pike foresters are learning how to best grow trees on bare ground, their main thrust is managing established timberland. If they purchase a farm that has odd openings, they will plant the area. Or they might consider planting the whole farm if it is not suited for cropland. Otherwise, acreage suited for farming will be sold off.

American Black Walnut is one of the species recommended for long-term investment for dry, open-field plantings. However, a top quality soil such as a well drained, fine textured bottomland is preferred for walnut trees.

Walnut, one of the most beautiful and durable hardwoods used in furniture manufacture, commands such a premium price, there have been some instances of illegal poaching by unscrupulous dealers. Refusing to deal with "log rustlers," Pike Lumber Co. will not buy logs offered them by anyone who is not a licensed timber buyer.

Because of walnut's scarcity, foresters have worked for the past ten years to perfect genetically superior walnut trees. Purdue University specialists, under the direction of Dr. Walter Beineke, have spent a great deal of time selecting top walnut trees--graded on the basis of straightness of stem, distance to the first limb, angle of limbs to stem, relation of the amount of top to percentage of height in clear stem. Twigs are removed from these trees --sometimes by being shot from tall trees by expert marksmen-- for grafting onto established root stock. The new tree that results takes on the qualities of the superior trees. "We are several years from having such superior planting stock and many years from walnut hybrids," Baker notes.

Pike foresters have worked with Purdue on this project, and in the spring they will plant 15 acres of Parke Co. land with genetically superior trees. The results of their planting will be a long time coming, but that's the business of tree farming--planting today for tomorrow.

A DIRTY WOODS in the estimation of people who like to see all debris cleared from a woodlot, but, in the eyes of a forester, it is a woods that is renewing itself. The tops and leaves provide humus necessary for new growth and the open spaces give light.

No. Miami sets elementary pre-enrollment dates

Dates for pre-school roundup at North Miami Elementary School have been set for April 16 and 17, according to Homer D. Allen, principal, who said a new procedure will be used this year.

Under the new plan, parents of a new kindergarten student will accompany students to school at a prearranged time. Each new student will be paired with a present kindergarten student for approximately an hour. This will help students become acquainted with the teacher and with kindergarten procedures, freeing parents to meet together for orientation and enrollment. Parents will then pick up students and return home with them. The four enrollment times are Apr. 16, 9 a.m., parents with last names beginning with letters A-D; April 16, 1 p.m., parents with names beginning with E-K; April 17, 9 a.m., parents with names beginning with L-R, and April 17, 1 p.m., parents with names beginning with S-Z.

To be eligible for enrollment in the fall, a child must be five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1975; a birth certificate or other proof of birth must be taken with parent to enrollment; an immunization record showing shots for tetanus, whooping cough, diphtheria and polio, if not now completed, must be completed by Sept. 1 and a test must be taken for tuberculosis.

Allen said it would be helpful for pre-enrollment if parents of students would call or write to school to give an indication of how many students will come. This should be done prior to March 28. The telephone number is 985-2251.

We are indebted to the Misses Vera Martin and Mildred Shesler for the help they gave us on this paper, every minute they could spare from schoolwork they were here and even there is news paid matter omitted that we could not get set. We hope to wiggle out of this mud-dle soon.

Henry T. Bowles has been suffering from a crippled knee and for eleven days he was not able to walk. Charley Alexander was out doing the chores for Uncle Henry but Tuesday the latter had so far recovered that he brought Charley home and will try doing his own chores.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leininger and baby went to Bloomington, starting Tuesday. Charley enters school there and he can keep his wife and baby as cheaply as he could pay board and besides, he likes to live at home.

The Corner Grocery boys are full of enterprise and among the things they are doing to accommodate the country trade is the fact that they are establishing four routes of ten miles circuit each that Mr. Stinson will make with their auto truck each one on different days once a week at least and until further developments. Mr. Stinson says he meets competition in that line from Gilead, Disko, Rochester, Silver Lake, Mentone and other points. He thinks it would be a pretty hard job to find a spot on earth where a white lives if he didn't find a huckster there for the eggs, the butter and the nickel that the farmer might have. Everybody seems to have run to seed on making money. Competition is more than strong.

Charley Smoker and Sherman Miller were in this office Wednesday and said the fields were in excellent condition for plowing in the afternoons, but that they have been frozen too hard all week for forenoon plowing. Some are plowing for corn and some for oats.

After some quick figuring, the real refreshments were discovered and served to eighteen guests.

PERAL By Berton Roueche. The moment Amy and Jack Bishop saw the house near Amagansett on Long Island they knew it was exactly what they wanted. An old house, surrounded by woods, it had a charming brick fireplace in the living room and a sunlit study for Jack. DAVID WILKERSON SPEAKS OUT by David Wilkerson.

LUNCHEON! THE STORY OF AMER GREEN compiled and edited by C. Gerard and M. G. Griffey. On a road between Young America and Burlington, a wheel came off of the buggy of a young woman named Luella Mabbitt who had just attended an afternoon gathering. After a spring rain started to fall, a young man named Amer Green, driving his light-colored dun ponies, came to her assistance. Thus commenced a relationship which resulted in an affair which became a nation-wide sensation; and it is still a subject of interest in Carroll County--the lynching of Amer Green. The Amer Green affair was a subject which contained all the elements of a sensational story--love, romance, adventure, tragedy and mystery. All of these factors were dramatized by the press in 1887. This is the story as it is known.

Tornado preparedness planning helpful

With spring fast approaching, citizens need to once again be reminded of precautions to take before a twister strikes.

A basement offers the greatest safety. For those in homes without a basement, cover should be taken in the center of the house on the lowest floor, in a bathroom, under heavy furniture or in a small room such as a closet.

Some windows should be left open, but residents are warned to stay away from all openings.

There should be a designated community shelter for residents of mobile home parks, etc. If none is available, shelter should be sought in a ditch area, culvert or ravine. Persons trapped in open country by approaching heavy winds are advised to lie face down in the nearest depression and protect their heads with their arms.

Most schools have advance plans that include moving students to interior hallways on the lower floor. Auditoriums and gymnasiums with wide free-span roofs should be avoided.

Everyone should listen carefully to radios for watches, meaning weather conditions are right for a tornado, and warnings, which mean a tornado actually has been sighted or indicated as such by radar.

Tippecanoe Valley," Duane Smith, TVCTA vice-president, said past administrative "coercive" practices led to teachers signing more than one organizational authorization card. "Our teachers have been threatened with loss of supplemental summer contracts if they sign authorization cards. Our attempt to gain recognition through the cards led only to the superintendent using them as a personal 'who's who' list. Many teachers were afraid to sign for fear of losing their jobs."

Ballots are scheduled to be counted on April 16. TVCTA has several unfair labor practices pending against the board. Leaders of the Association said the competing organization (Professional Teachers) appears to have been organized by relatives of the administration and board of education.

"We have the training, computerized research and backbone to see that Tippecanoe Valley teachers receive the best possible representation. We've surveyed the teachers and our proposals are ready. The coercive tactics may have delayed us for a year, but they certainly won't stop us," Smith said.

TVCTA is a local affiliate of the Indiana State Teachers Association and the National Education Association.

KCH steel topping completed

A steel topping ceremony Thursday in which a 20-foot beam was hoisted to the top of the $6.4 million Kosciusko Community Hospital now under construction in the northeast section of Warsaw signalled another milestone toward completion of the 113-bed general-acute medical facility.

More than 475 tons of steel was used in completing the steel framing work. Next step for the building, which is to contain an excess of 97,000 square feet, will be the pouring of concrete floors and siding. The building will be enclosed by September 1. Underground plumbing and sanitary sewer work have already been completed. It is hoped the hospital can be opened July 1, 1976, to coincide with the celebration of the country's bicentennial.

Tornado system to be tested in Akron April 14

Faced with the realization that tornado season is again here, the Akron fire department has announced it is coordinating efforts with other fire departments and the sheriff's office to establish a tornado warning system.

The system will be tested at 6 p.m. Monday, April 14, in Akron. There will be three one-minute blasts of the fire siren with 15 second intervals between. In the event of an actual alert, plans call for use of the fire truck and police car to supplement the siren.

Plans for the warning system were discussed at Wednesday night's Akron Chamber of Commerce meeting. Chamber officials, as well as members of the fire department, expressed a desire to receive comments from the public, either before or after the test. They also want to know how far the siren can be heard.

Alternative methods were discussed and will be checked into along with suggestions from the public.

'I'd feel more at home if it were a pitchfork,' Senator Birch Bayh, left, quipped Thursday as he arrived late for the Newcastle groundbreaking and was handed a shovel to take a token scoop of dirt from the site where a year ago stood the Talma school. ODDS and ENDS

By Ann Sheetz

"There's a reason for this," I thought as I drove to an out of town meeting. My cold was better, the weather was perfect, traffic flowed easily. "I don't know what it is, but there's a reason for it."

"Great meeting," my friend Pat and I agreed as we walked to our rooms later. "There's a reason, you know," she said, and I nodded. It was because we were so practical and had decided not to drive back to our respective homes after dark. Let others battle the night; we had reserved rooms and planned to arise refreshed for our own return trips.

Hours later, we switched off the lights. We'd talked almost till dawn of our work, our families, our goals. Now we were exhausted. "Wow, what made us talk so long?" I muttered, settling into my bed. "Dunno, but there's a reason," she said, pulling a pillow over her head.

Morning came and I leaped from bed at the sound of scraping outside the door. It was a man with a snow shovel. Tons of the white stuff blanketed the area. "What a bummer," Pat said, pulling the pillow over her head again. Editor of a monthly magazine, she had put it to press before she left. "Oh well, I can coast the rest of the week," she said.

"Not me," I said. "I gotta get back." I went to the lobby. The desk clerk reported all roads closed. I waded knee-high drifts to my car and asked a policeman how the roads were.

"Just like that," he said, pointing to a drift.

I went back to the lobby. "Can we go south?" a young mother asked a policeman.

"How far south?" he asked.

"Florida," he stared at her, and she settled the children on the floor with books. "There's a reason for this," she said.

We went to the coffee shop. If we couldn't leave, we could eat. "I'll take a gallon of coffee," a woman at the next table said, and the waitress laughed. "I mean it," she said as she turned to us. "The roads are horrible."

By the time we left the shop, we knew her name was Mary. Widowed two months, she was enroute home from a clinic with a prescription she didn't want to fill: Get rid of her husband's clothes, all his pictures, take off her rings and start a new life.

"Makes you glad for what you have, doesn't it?" Pat asked as we called our husbands for the third time. Both advised us to stay another night.

"Is there a reason for this?" I asked, and Pat said she thought so, but she didn't know what it was.

I took another round of cold medicine and settled in for a long nap. "I guess the reason we're here is because of my cold," I said, and she laughed, ignoring the work she'd planned to do in favor of television.

Mary joined us for dinner. "You know, there's a reason for our being snowed in," she said.

"How'd you happen to stop here instead of across the road?" Pat asked.

"I don't know," Mary shrugged. "But there's a reason."

Dinner ran into the evening's entertainment. We laughed so hard at the first show we stayed for the second. "This is the first time I've laughed for two months," Mary said.

Pat nodded. "That's the reason you stopped."

By morning, the roads were cleared. Frost clung in the air like spun sugar and the snow glistened in the sun as we parted, vowing to get together again, two friends made three by the storm.

"There was a reason for all that," I thought as I drove home. My cold was decidedly better, the day was beautiful, traffic flowed easily. Everything that had happened seemed like a dream.

"Hi, Snow Bunny," my spouse greeted me. The 17-year old grinned and waved as he rushed off to a project, and the ten-year old said, "See you made it home."

"Gee," I said, and my youngest, sensing my dejection, said, "I missed you, Mom." He pulled up his pants leg and showed me the reason. He was out of matching socks.

There's no fool like an old fool. You can't beat experience.

Arbor Day: Stepchild of holidays

Stepchild of all holidays is Arbor Day, which this year has been proclaimed by Gov. Otis Bowen to be April 11. A legal holiday in only three states, it's impossible to find on a calendar, although the event itself is 103 years old.

J. Sterling Morton, a member of Nebraska's Board of Agriculture and a believer in preserving the beauty and abundance of the nation's woodlands, first proposed the holiday. Dedicated to reforestation, he named it "Arbor," meaning a shady, wooded place, and said, "Other holidays repose on the past: Arbor Day proposes for the future." On that first Arbor Day more than one million trees were planted in Nebraska.

Since then, throughout the country, school children have planted trees in observance of Arbor Day, sometimes joined by scout, church and civic groups.

What comes to he who plants a tree?

Lucy Larcom said: He who plants a tree plants a hope, a joy, peace, youth, love. Heaven and earth help him who plants a tree, and his work its own reward shall be.

And as a less than poetic reminder, he who plants a tree plants for the future: Trees are the world's only renewable resource.

Why not grab a shovel and do some planting? If you don't reap the rewards for your efforts, your grandchildren will.

Fulton Co. told it needs new jail

"A new jail is needed post haste," Jail Inspector Walter B. Smith of the Indiana Department of Correction said following a recent tour of the Fulton Co. jail. For the second straight year, he recommended the county build a new jail.

Reasons given included inadequate plumbing and lighting, padlocks and doorlocks not in working order, jail not considered secure for safe custody; no forced air ventilation system and inadequate bathing facilities; jail not inspected by state or county health officer; no visiting room for prisoners who wear their own clothing instead of jail clothing, which he said should be provided; jail kitchen equipment not provided by county as prescribed by law; windows loose and letting in cold air; screens on windows bent; need for additional office space.

Recommendations he said should be instituted immediately included furnishing clothing to prisoners, providing all kitchen equipment, replacing lighting and plumbing equipment, employment of four jailers and two deputies for round-the-clock prisoner supervision;

auxiliary power supply to keep radio available; a squad room, separate sheriff's office, drunk tank, attorney counseling room, processing room and padded cell be added, paint for the cell block, a gun locker and replacement of wooden stairs to upstairs portion of the 1893 building.

Things I Remember

By Goldie Kesler

Settin' hens are settin' hens and a settin' of eggs is fifteen nice big eggs as nearly all alike as you can find and don't let anyone tell you differently. It's a little early to set hens, but as soon as the old corn was out of the crib Grandmother began to fuss about little chickens. We set the hens in the crib. A good nest is a gum, and a gum is a short length of a hollow log. A short barrel filled with straw is a nice nest, too. We put wide boards over the top more to keep things out than to keep the hens in.

I wasn't born before the Pilgrims landed, but I think I can still tell a Plymouth Rock from a Leghorn. Leghorns are good mothers but a big old Rock can cover so many more eggs and keep them warm. Settin' hens have to be fed and watered every day but they soon learn to come and go by themselves.

The evening we set the hens, we lifted them off the next carefully and placed the eggs in all marked with a stripe of red ink to tell old eggs from new. The pick and twist of the bill of a broody hen, like most bills, is no laughing matter.

It takes twenty-one days for the chicks to decide they want to live in this world so they peck a line around the egg and use their feet to pry themselves out of the shells. The transition of egg to chick will always be a puzzle. Then the big day comes and putting a hand under a hen, you can feel the little puffs of down.

Sometimes a mother cat would decide it was a nice warm place for her kittens and would drop them in with the chicks. It was fine as long as the kittens didn't have their eyes open. Kittens don't leave shells in the nests when they hatch. There are so many things one has to learn on a farm. There is always a surplus of kittens and a few have to be put in the creek to make pussy willows grow on the creek bank.

When the weather is warm, the baby chicks can be put in a slatted coop in the yard and grow up into meat.

One day a hen and her brood followed me around so I knew they were hungry. Grandmother's feed bucket was empty so I got some salt from the smoke house to use for feed. It stirred up crumbly like real chicken feed and the chicks ate so greedily. They all died and the mother hen too. Grandma didn't scold much. She knew I was only trying to be helpful and use what was at hand as we were taught.

Nancy Smith is Mental Health speaker

The Kosciusko County Mental Health Association has invited area residents to hear Nancy Covert Smith, an award winning author whose first book, "Journey Out of Nowhere," has helped many of its readers to a better understanding of the mental and emotional illness of a friend or family member.

Mrs. Smith is a popular speaker throughout the state. The book is an autobiographical account of her own mental breakdown and struggle to regain her health.

She will speak at an April 14 12:30 p.m. luncheon at the International Friendship House. Tickets are $3.50 and may be obtained from Susan Blanner, 267-6670; Fredal Wolfram, 269-2713 or Kae Shafer, 269-2610, or by calling the Kosciusko Co. Mental Health Association.

L & B Foods joins Super Valu franchise

A new sign installed Monday afternoon at L & B Foods, Mentone, announces the store's recent membership in the Super Valu franchise group, the largest franchise of voluntary independent supermarkets in the world.

According to Wayne and Phyllis Bowser, owners of L & B Foods, "The fact we're now a member of the largest franchise is pretty important, but we think the fact we're still independent is even more important."

Mr. Bowser explained, "We'll have all the advantages of membership in Super Valu's national franchise, but we'll still be able to maintain the personal attention our customers have always enjoyed from us as a local, neighborhood supermarket. That is one thing we won't be changing."

"You're Always First," is the new theme line to be running at the store, and the Bowsers say, "We'll do everything possible to prove we mean it."

we don't make electricity in a vacuum

We operate under the same kind of cost pressures you and your family face. Like your cost of living, our costs of providing dependable electric service have gone up.

Materials, manpower, construction, money to finance needed expansion — all cost more.

Electric utilities can't just raise prices. They must seek approval of regulatory agencies and they must prove the need for higher rates. The process takes time.

Sometimes higher rates don't keep up with rising costs and utilities have to ask for still another increase... not because they want to but because they have to if they are to continue to provide you with dependable service.

When you don't operate in a vacuum, the hard fact is that as long as there is inflation, electric energy will cost more, too.

"You must become as a little child,"
The Prince of Peace once said.
If you would inherit Heaven
You must, like children, be led.

It's easy to see why that would be
If you give it a little thought,
Who but little children
Are like Him in deed and thought?

For little folk are tolerant
Possess love unstinted-true,
Of course they make up Heaven
And they lead the way thereto.

Woodlawn Hospital hosts cancer clinic

The Woodlawn Hospital Cancer Detection Unit is today conducting its second clinic since reactivating in March. The program includes watching a video cassette educational program on detection of cancer followed by a pelvic examination, pap smear and breast examination. The emphasis of the program is on prevention and early detection of cancer. It is entirely operated by volunteers, and local registered nurses assist members of the hospital medical staff in performing the examinations. The physicians donate their time one morning a month.

If any early signs of cancer are detected, the patient is immediately referred to her own private physician. It is emphasized that this is not an annual physical, but rather a screening clinic for signs of cancer. The $5 fee covers laboratory expenses, supplies, educational programs and subsidizes those patients unable to pay.

It is the hope of the Woodlawn Hospital Cancer Detection Unit that new patients will be seen at each screening clinic with the hope that those who do attend can be encouraged to visit their own private physician on an annual basis for a thorough check-up. This is particularly relevant in April as it is National Cancer Month. The local center is cooperating with the National Cancer Society in the "Please Call Us Program." Literature concerning the program is distributed at the screening session. It also provides information on how assistance can be obtained for cancer patients.

Persons interested in scheduling a visit to the Cancer Clinic should call either Mrs. Ira Goss, 223-2843, or Mrs. Forest Pike, 223-2898, for reservations.

IT'S GOOD FOR EVERYONE TO DRESS UP

"This new hat I'm trying on belongs to my sis. Isn't it just too beautiful? She'll wear it to church Sunday and I'll be wearing my new dress there too. I like to go to church wearing pretty clothes. It makes me feel good all over."

It makes any of us feel good to "dress up" and go to church. Our best may not be too good but an all over good feeling pervades us, for within the house of God we may seek solace and peace of mind and be comforted by His words and deeds. We have put on a change that may be likened to the shedding of ugly thoughts, useless fears and resentments and instead donning their opposites, presenting ourselves as changed persons—dedicated to doing some good, somewhere, somehow.

To note 25th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gearhart, R. 2, Macy, will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday at their home.

Mrs. Gearhart is the daughter of Vera Stahly Holloway and the late Fred Holloway. Mr. Gearhart's parents were the late Charles and Esther Yarian Gearhart. The couple was married April 7, 1950, in the Brethren parsonage with the Rev. Arthur Tinkel, now of Wabash, officiating. They are the parents of three children, Dennis, Akron; Sandra, a student in Ft. Wayne, and Timothy, at home.

War Mothers meet

Lois Paxton was hostess for the April meeting of the Mentone Mothers of World War II. Maude Romine was in charge of the opening ceremonies. The altar was prepared by Mary Griffis, sergeant-at-arms. Pearl Horn gave the invocation. Giving reports were Mildred Fowler, Ethel Whetstone and Viola Funnell. Mrs. Romine and Mrs. Whetstone plan to attend the state convention in Ft. Wayne later this month.

45th anniversary is honored

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Becker, Akron, were guests of honor Sunday at a surprise dinner at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gearhart, and family in Fulton. Helping them celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith and Mrs. David Thorla and Jody, Mishawaka; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alspaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Becker, all of Rochester, and Leroy Hartman, Fulton.

The Beckers were married April 2, 1930, in Rochester with the Rev. Davison officiating. They are the parents of one daughter, Mrs. Larry (Donna) Gearhart, and have three grandchildren.

Our elections would be more successful if we picked candidates according to what they won't stand for instead of what they do stand for.

Soil Stewardship Week is planned

Soil Stewardship Week will be observed by the Kosciusko Co. Soil and Water Conservation District from May 4 to 11, according to a recent announcement by Perry Hathaway, county vice-chairman.

Hathaway said enough material has been ordered to accommodate most Kosciusko Co. churches. Ministers' booklets and bulletin inserts can be obtained by request at the SCS office, 2300 Winona Ave., Warsaw, or by calling 267-5726 any morning Monday through Thursday.

Board members were informed at a recent meeting that Oliver Lake Conservation Camp will be from July 13 to 17. Boys and girls from 12 to 14 are eligible to attend. Sponsors will be asked to donate $25 this year. Boys and girls interested in attending the camp should contact the SCS office.

SWCD's auxiliary will sponsor the fourth annual conservation poster contest. They have ordered 1200 red pine seedlings that will be given to all fifth graders in the county who participate in the contest. The May 6 meeting in the conservation office will be at 8 p.m.

BREAKING GROUND FOR THE NEWCASTLE Township Community Center Thursday were, from the left: Virgil Biddinger, Delbert Nutt, Joseph Crill, Wendell Grass and Congressman Elwood H. (Bud) Hillis.

Ground broken

stroyed the school and many homes, farms and businesses in the area, were Congressman Elwood (Bud) Hillis, county officials and more than 100 area residents.

The Rev. Walter House gave the invocation, and those present joined in silent prayer in memory of those who lost their lives in the April 3, 1974, tornado. Participating were Joseph Crill, chairman of the building committee; Virgil Biddinger, vice-chairman; Linda Erp, treasurer; Harriet Jamason, secretary, and Wendell Grass, township trustee.

Senator Birch Bayh arrived shortly after the groundbreaking, his helicopter having been delayed in its arrival from South Bend by a strong headwind.

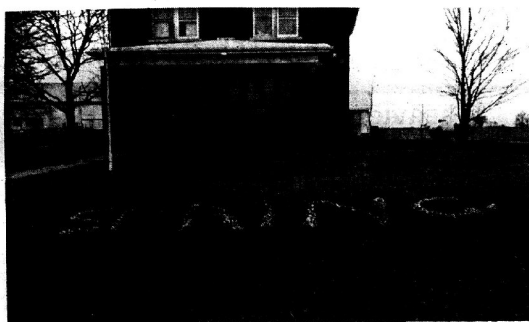

The new building is expected to cost about $40,000, part of which will be raised by local donations including contributions from the Talma School Alumni Association and part from a grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Akron hires two

Doug Manns was recently hired by the Akron Town Board to work in the street and water works department, and Bob Williams was made a full-time member of the police force, giving the town all-night police protection. Both jobs are funded by the Comprehensive Employment Act of 1973 (CETA), a one-year federal program, and were effective on March 1.

Eighty-five "Teen Donors" assured the over-quota visit of the Kosciusko Co. American Red Cross Bloodmobile visit to Tippecanoe Valley High School last Wednesday.

One hundred and fifty-five donors presented themselves, 94 for the first time, giving a total of 137 pints of blood.

Teen participation under the leadership of Theresa Edwards and Kevin Duzenberg was the highlight of the day, according to Red Cross workers.

Teen volunteers manned typewriters under the instruction of high school commercial arts instructor Donna Hall while others walked donors, labeled bottles, served food, recruited friends and ran errands.

Receiving two-gallon pins were Everett Warren and Richard Boganwright, both of Mentone. Joining the one-gallon group were Mrs. Wayne Berkey, Claypool; Mrs. Earl Stephen, Everett Warren and Michael Gross, Mentone.

Teen volunteers who assisted were Linda Decker, Cindy Fawley, Cathy Tucker, Anje Anglin, Becky Norman, Becky Tillman, Sharon Osburn, Tammy Smalley, Lucille Nyenhuis, Mary Ann Nyenhuis, Linda Earl, Lynne Jenkins, Rita Murcia,

TV music programs slated

Tippecanoe Valley school musicians are practicing for two spring music programs at the high school. The first, on May 2, will feature the combined bands and choral groups of Akron and Mentone junior high school while the second one on May 9 will be presented by high school musicians.

Kenneth Bush is director of the junior high and high school bands, and Dale Pace is choral director for both junior high and high school.

AND SUDDENLY THERE WAS NO STREET: Gary Ellenwood was driving an Akron Foundry truck on Main Street in front of Chamberlin Manufacturing Co., Akron, Friday afternoon when a section of street collapsed beneath his truck. Ellenwood was not injured but the truck was severely damaged.

'American Spirit' theme of 4th parade

"American Spirit" is the theme of this year's Akron 4th of July parade and entries are sought that depict this motif.

As usual, the parade will begin at 11 a.m. on July 4. Cash prizes will be awarded to the three best floats in each of three areas: youth, adult from Akron and out-of-town. A trophy will be given to the best band and the best drum and baton corps.

An entire day of entertainment at the school grounds will follow. Scheduled are country and western music, baseball game, kids' games and rides, a garden tractor pull and several other events.

The day's grand finale will come at dusk with a giant display of fireworks.

TV students to go to Washington

Students from Tippecanoe Valley High School will fly to Washington, D.C. on May 6 for an educational trip to the nation's capitol. Their itinerary includes the White House, Capitol, Mount Vernon, Arlington National Cemetery, a riding tour of Alexandria, the Smithsonian, National Gallery of Art, the Lincoln Memorial, the Jefferson Memorial and Washington Monument. Other historic sites will be included, noting the plans Washington has for celebrating the Bicentennial in 1976.

Youth League sets work day

Saturday, April 19, is spring clean-up time at the Mentone Youth League park, and volunteers are needed. Work will begin at 10 a.m. and will continue until it is completed with a lunch to be served at noon. Anyone desiring to lend a helping hand should take shovels, rakes and strong backs. The Youth League season will begin in June.

Shooting spree ends without injury

Charles T. Norton, 23, Mentone, barricaded himself in the upstairs of his parents' home Tuesday evening for more than an hour after going on a shooting rampage that broke out the front windows of the frame dwelling.

In addition to units from Kosciusko Co. and from the state police, assistance came from Fulton and Marshall Co. sheriff's departments. Norton, who resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Norton, surrendered after being overcome by tear gas.

No injuries were reported.

Norton was booked at the Kosciusko Co. jail on a disorderly conduct charge.

It's all over, and tired police officers check weapons and chuck their gas masks and bullet-proof vests.

Armed police officers change position to approach the Norton house from the side. The Norton home is located immediately north of King Memorial Home, partially visible in this picture.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The NEWS welcomes letters for publication but prefers that they be kept under 200 words. The letters need not express the views of this paper; however, they should not be libelous or in poor taste. Anonymous letters will not be published. The name of the writer must appear with his letter.

To The Editor:

Although I have preached in most of the state, my world is small. My three children have moved west. I do not get to see them very much and my wife works. My church is not large in numbers, just in action. I see the same plot of land in my back yard, the same little garden, the same birds, the same college, the same hospital, the same downtown and the same stores. Soon my sweetpeas will be coming up, green onions on the table, the lovely smiles from the people I meet. Only when I go to Cowan do I get much more than two miles away from my house, yet I live in a great world. If the rest of the world is as wonderful and awe inspiring as my two square miles, no wonder the writer of old said, "eye hath not seen, now ear heard the good things God has for those who love Him."

Everyday I see something new, a boy with a new cast, a new baby, an old person taking their first step for several months, someone getting ready to go home from the hospital, someone bringing fried pies. Someone bringing clothes or food to help others. Kids coming to work, my wife coming in from work, a prayer, a talk somewhere, eating with the Senior Citizens and a little boy or girl telling me a joke. The mail from many places, a word of encouragement, cooking for someone, Reading, hearing a laugh, listen to troubles, watching the world turn green and beautiful. After 5 years I only begin to see 1/1,000,000 part of my world. To see the whole world, I am overwhelmed.

I am here, thank you all.

Garrett H. Phillips.

News Of Interest To Homemakers

BY ANN HANCOOK
Area Extension Agent, Kosciusko County

Every homemaker has certain resources available to use in managing the home. Those resources are time, money, energy and knowledge. With so many women working outside the home and those that are full time homemakers involved in community service, time becomes the most important resource.

With modern equipment such as freezers and modern techniques of preserving food, we can preserve food at home quickly and easily. Freezing is the easiest method of food preservation but it is also the most expensive. A decision must be made as to which is more important - saving time or money.

The bacteria in food that causes it to spoil is not destroyed in freezing. The organisms are just not as active at freezing temperatures. It is important that all home freezers are set at 0°. Food deteriorates two to three times faster at 5° than at 0°.

All vegetables except green pepper should be blanched before freezing.

Blanching is the process of holding food in boiling water for a few minutes to destroy the enzymes that cause ripening. If not destroyed these enzymes continue the ripening process in the freezer and the food loses color, texture, and flavor. Fruits do not require blanching since their acid base along with the freezing temperature slow down the enzymes.

Fruits can be frozen in a syrup pack, sugar pack, or unsweetened. Generally unsweetened fruit is of lower quality when thawed than the other packs. Fruits that turn brown such as apples and peaches need treating in ascorbic acid (vitamin C). Powdered ascorbic acid can be purchased at the local pharmacy.

Frozen foods are often the best type of convenience foods. With a small investment of time, your family can have delicious fruits and vegetables all year round.

With the defeat of Jack Johnson, the former negro heavyweight champion, by the young cowboy, Jesse Willard, in Cuba Monday, it is probable the last mixed prize fight has been held. Seven years ago Johnson wrestled the championship from Tommy Burns in Australia and since that time one "white hope" after another has attempted to win the title back to the white race. Antagonism between the races has been emphasized by the negro's previous victories, and fight fans and opponents of the sport are one in expressing the hope that hereafter the white man will confine his combats to men of his own color.

PSI kite safety tips

Bright-n-breezy days of late March and early April are tailor-made for kite flyers of all ages. The 1975 season can be carefree and enjoyable if a few simple rules are observed.

Public Service Indiana warns against the use of wet kite string and flying near power lines. But, according to company officials, if your kite should get entangled in power lines, don't try to retrieve it with metal ladders, poles or tugging on the string. Instead, call the electric company.

Metallic string is also on PSI's list of kite flying dangers. Such string was once marketed, but has since been banned due to its hazard.

The electric company offers other safety hints in a full-color movie, "A to Zap." The movie, which is accom-

Shown with the Wrights are Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Zolman who spent five weeks restoring the ancient instrument that once was used by the Athens Gleaners Lodge in its meeting room over the former Stanton store that was torn down in the 1960s. Zolman, who attended the school in 1901, says the instrument is like the one that stood in the same place in the one-room school. Also on Monday night's program was the LaVillie High School swing choir under the direction of the Zolmans' grandson Gary and a discussion of photography by Don Brunn, Rochester.

Soil Stewardship Week May 4-11

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance that emphasizes man's responsibility to protect and conserve soil, water and other natural resources, will be May 4-11 this year, according to Myron Metzger, chairman of the Kosciusko Co. conservation district.

"This year's theme, 'Test of Strength,' emphasizes how the many changes now occurring in the nation test our strength and affect our continuing responsibility to be good stewards of the land," Metzger said. He added, "We hope that during this week millions of Americans will pause for a moment to consider their responsibilities for the protection and use of the Lord's earth."

Members of the Stewardship committee are Grace Metzger, Linda Hathaway, Naomi Tuttle and Wilma Norris.

Upon request, the district will provide local churches with bulletin inserts and copies of this year's observance booklet. The material is prepared by a churchmen of different committee composed of faiths.

New books at Akron Library

YANKEE STRANGER by Elswyth Thane. The scene of the story moves from Williamsburg to Richmond to Washington and back again, during the dreadful years between Fort Sumter and Appomattox. Here is action, romance and here is a vanished world re-created.

TINKER, TAILOR, SOLDIER, SPY by John le Carre. The author's incomparable gift for conveying the shadowed and labyrinthine world of international espionage is brilliantly demonstrated in this novel.

HOME TO THE VALLEY by Arlene Hale. A beautiful young widow, the men in her life, the forces that threaten to destroy her - these are the suspenseful ingredients in Arlene Hale's tantalizing new story of mystery and romance.

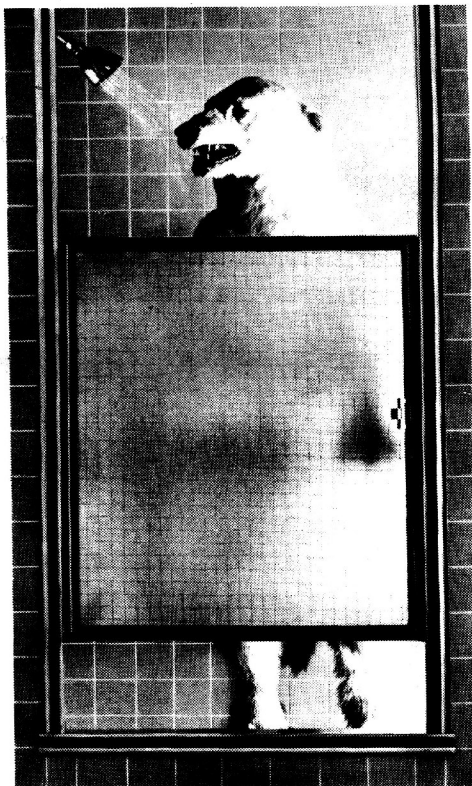

THUNDER AT SUNSET by John Masters. The year is 1960 and the British are pulling out of Southeast Asia. Against the backdrop of a world changing hands, John Masters has set his tale of action and passion, and above all, choice: for Brigadier David Dylan Jones must choose between duty and morality, as the country he serves prepares to betray the country, and the woman, he loves.

CHILDREN OF CAPE HORN by Rosie Swale. Millions have dreamt of it. The Swale family did it - got into a boat and became the first people ever to sail around Cape Horn in a Catamaran. This book, drawn from the log kept by Rosie Swale - author, sailor, wife and mother - is a spirited tale of high adventure.

PEOPLE OF THE VALLEY by Wyn Sargent. This is the true story of the author's sojourn in the Baliem Valley - how she set off with her Indonesian interpreter - companion Sjam to photograph, study and write about the culture and character of the Dani, a cannibal tribe in New Guinea.

THE MEMORY OF OLD JACK by Wendell Berry. Touch by sure touch, in the clear, strong prose that is the hallmark, Wendell Berry composes an impressive portrait of a man who, through failure and triumph, takes on an almost legendary stature.

Pre-school eye and ear tests to be conducted Saturday

Free eye and hearing examinations will be offered in Kosciusko Co. on Saturday, April 19. Locations of the tests, sponsored by Psi Iota Xi sorority, will be the United Methodist churches in Mentone, Syracuse and No. Webster and the Cardinal Center in Warsaw.

The checks will be made between 9 and 11 a.m.

All pre-school children are urged to participate in this program, which is helped greatly by new innovations. For instance, do you think an eye test can be fun?

Not for older folks, perhaps, but for pre-school tots who learn the "E" game, complete with "magic feet" and topsy-turvy "table," an eye test can be a happy adventure in growing up healthy, according to members of Psi Iota Xi sorority.

The "E" game, an integral part of the screening procedure, is used to discover indications of visual faults in children who have not yet learned to read. The topsy-turvy table is actually the letter "E" that tops the usual eye chart. The "E" appears on the wall chart in diminishing sizes and rotated positions, with the "table legs" pointing in a different direction each time.

The child being screened indicates which direction the "legs" are pointing, thus permitting him to be checked even though he cannot read.

For the actual screening test, the child performs alone; however, to enable the youngsters to learn the game and overcome any possible shyness, the preschoolers play it in a group first. The children sit in a semi-circle before a volunteer who displays the "E" symbol, and they move their arms up, down to the right or left to correspond with the rotation of the "E" by the volunteer screener.

When the time for the individual test arrives, the "magic feet" help to sustain the child's interest as well as aiding the accuracy of the test. To obtain a precise check of the youngster's visual acuity, the chart must be read from a distance of 20 feet. At the 20 foot measurement, the child finds two small shoe prints sketched. Standing within the "magic feet" while he reads the chart is all part of the game.

If a youngster's test performance gives evidence to the volunteer screener of a possible vision difficulty, the child is "referred." This means his parents are notified in writing of the need for the child to have a complete, professional eye examination. Each referral is subsequently followed up to see if the youngster has had the necessary examination.

Explaining the need for hearing tests, Anne Utter, Mentone, noted this week the following information:

Sound waves are caught by the outer ear and travel down the ear canal to the ear drum. The ear drum vibrates back and forth at different speeds, depending on the type of sound striking it. The ear drum in turn causes the three tiny bones of the middle ear to move. The last of these bones is attached to the oval window, the "doorway" to the cochlea, the beginning of the inner ear.

Hearing organs can be damaged in three basic areas--outer, middle or inner ear. Damage or disease in the outer or middle ear can be helped by medicine or surgery. Sometimes a hearing aid can bypass the outer and middle ear and send the sound vibrations through the skull bones to the inner ear. If, however, the inner ear is damaged, there is at this time nothing that can be done to restore the hearing itself. Doctors are continuing to work on artificial inner ears, but at present it is necessary to teach the child to lip read and learn to talk with many years of special help.

Hearing losses may occur at any time--before a baby is born if the mother has diseases such as measles, because of complications from fever when the baby is small or as the child grows older, because of exposure to loud noises or a blow to the ear or disease.

Mrs. Utter explained the screening personnel are either registered nurses or speech and hearing therapists who are trained in the use of the audiometer.

Parents of children in the three to six-year age group are urged to bring them to the screenings in their area.

IN COURT

An April 28 arraignment was ordered for Dennis J. Pekel, 22, Akron, who failed to appear in Rochester City Court Monday night on charges of disobeying a stop sign.

A citation for expired driver's license against Jack Smythe, 35, Mentone, was dismissed in Warsaw City Court by authority of Warsaw police Sgt. Aden Moore and Judge Michael Valentine.

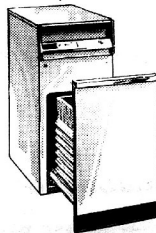

Police Report

Gary W. Laughlin, 19, Mentone, was booked at the Kosciusko Co. jail Monday morning to begin a one to 10-year sentence with the Indiana Department of Corrections on order of Superior Court Allan Rasor. The sentence was in connection with delivery and possession of a controlled substance.

Judge counts TVSC ballots

Sixteen ballots that have remained sealed since they were cast by Tippecanoe Valley teachers last spring were opened in Wabash Circuit Court Thursday afternoon, and a count by Judge Lynn Ford showed all favored having the Tippecanoe Valley Classroom Teachers Association (TVCTA) be the official and exclusive representative of teachers in collective bargaining and negotiation with the Tippecanoe Valley school board.

The school board and administration have maintained that 14 of the 16 ballots were cast by teachers who had resigned or had been notified that their contracts were going to be terminated, thus making themselves ineligible to vote.

Representatives of the school administration, the Indiana Education Employment Relations Board (IEERB) and TVCTA were ordered to appear in Wabash Circuit Court again on May 14. Judge Ford said the May hearing would determine if the 14 ballots were valid votes. IEERB has said it considers the legal question of whether resigned and terminated teachers may vote an important issue, and the decision is expected to set a precedent.

A second teacher representation election that was to end at 5 p.m. Tuesday, April 15, will not be decided until the outcome of the first election is resolved, according to Judge Ford. The second election was conducted on a write-in basis.

Ford also granted an injunction to TVCTA to prevent the school board from negotiating with any other teacher group terms of teacher contracts and employment and other collective bargaining items allowed under Public Law 217. Ford ordered this injunction be modified by a joint TVCTA school board agreement to restrict negotiations with any teacher group, including TVCTA, until the results of the teacher election are found by the court.

A new teachers' organization headed by Marna Riedel was granted temporary recognition at the last school board meeting. Known as the Professional Teachers of Tippecanoe Valley, the group said it is not backed by any state or federal organization.

Lloyd Harrell is new TVSC superintendent

Lloyd Harrell, 51, will become Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation's second superintendent in its 13-year existence July 1 when he replaces present superintendent Robert Forbes who in turn will become the corporation's first business manager.

He was principal at the former Talma school for two years and also has served in Lockport, Ill. as well as Star City, New Paris and Fairfield in Indiana.

Harrell's contract was approved on a 3-2 vote with Dr. Wymond Wilson and Richard Goshert dissenting. Wilson objected that Harrell's salary--$27,000 per year plus mileage and fringe benefits--exceeded what had been appropriated. Goshert said, "There has been a pretty good wound in the community for a long time. I hoped this would help bind it up, but it hasn't turned out that way." He said, "We paid $17,000 last year to get a job done. We will pay $50,000 next year to get the same work done." Turning to fellow board members Fred Kindig, Don Snipes and Dr. John McKee, he said, "I got reports immediately who would be hired, and they have proven true. Our gentlemen's agreement to find a man acceptable to all of us has not been kept."

Kindig declined to comment. Snipes said, "I don't know what Dick is talking about."

McKee asked Goshert if he were accusing him of not trying to come to an agreement, and Goshert replied, "I'm just stating the facts."

McKee said, "I tried," and the vote was taken that granted the contract.

In other business, the board

- Opened bids for 66-passenger school buses from Leonard Supply, Lee Co., Imperial, Kerlin, Bahney Chevrolet and W and W Truck Sales and decided to hold them one month.

- Heard questions from audience member Jean Roberts concerning the Girls Athletic Association. To her charges that girls are given short shrift when it comes to athletics, Forbes replied, "The potential for girls in TVSC is greater than any school around."

Irvin Pratt is BSU Alumnus

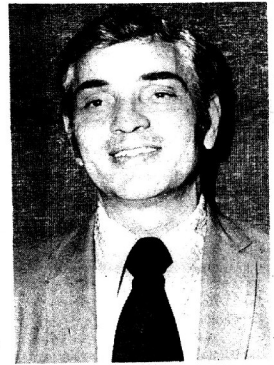

Basketball Coach of Year

Irvin Pratt, who guided Northridge High School to an 18-6 won-loss record and a sectional title during the 1974-75 season, has been selected Ball State University's Alumnus Basketball Coach-of-the-Year, according to an announcement by Ray Ashley, assistant alumni director at the university.

Voting was done by 38 Indiana high school head basketball coaches who have received baccalaureate degrees from BSU.

This past winter, Pratt directed Northridge, a school of 535 students in Middlebury, to the Elkhart Sectional championship before the Raiders were sidelined by Plymouth after three overtimes in regional action.

Pratt, who in 21 years as a varsity mentor has a 268-176 record, has been both the head basketball coach and athletic director since Northridge was formed six years ago. He was previously athletic director and head cage coach at Middlebury, one of the schools that consolidated to form Northridge. During his 11 years at the two schools, he has had only two losing seasons.

A 1948 graduate of Akron High School, he entered Ball State in September of 1948 and attended through 1950, playing both freshman football and basketball. After two years in service, including 15 months in Korea, he returned to Ball State and graduated in 1954. He obtained his master's degree in 1959.

Pratt and his wife, the former Marlene Koenig, have two children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pratt, R. 1, Akron.

A combined band and chorus program by the Akron and Mentone junior high school classes under the direction of Kenneth Bush and Dale Pace will be presented May 2 in the Tippecanoe Valley High School.

A high school music program is scheduled for May 9 at TVHS.

Both programs will begin at 7:30 p.m.

- Heard board president McKee deny permission for Phyllis Gearhart, president of the Tippecanoe Valley Classroom Teachers Association, to read a prepared statement. She had said she was addressing the board as herself, a taxpayer, parent, TVCTA member, tenure teacher and American citizen. McKee reminded her that TVSC is under court order not to negotiate or discuss with TVCTA. Saying she respected him as a "Christian gentleman," she gave him a copy of her speech that he read and returned to her. He said its contents overstepped the limitations that had been imposed.

- Reviewed a financial report, approved a gross payroll of $96, 109.93 and approved claims, the latter on a 4-1 vote. McKee said he could not approve the claim for heating oil in light or lower prices quoted by another firm at previous meetings.

- Named Eleanor Hoover to the Bell Memorial Library board of trustees. She replaces the late Trella Tombaugh.

- Approved supplemental contracts for Title I federally re-imbursement programs that will be offered this summer--recreation, reading, mathematics and auto mechanics. These teachers included Robert DuBois, $1,189; David Creighton, $1,105; Tom Roy, $1,317; Charles Smith, $1,349; Mike Hoyt, $1,598; Merceda Bechtol, $2,818; Oliver England, $1,838;

Jerry Eaton, $2,713; Rick Ralston, $1,953; and Joyce Harmon, $1,794. Teachers approved for driver education and band--the funds to come from the operating budget, included DuBois, $2,378; Floyd Henson, $2,431; Creighton, $1,105; Phil Pratt, $2,490; Robert Igney, $2,373; and Kenneth Bush, $2,696.

- Signed a GED diploma and voted to allow expenses for present members and Con Shewman, who will replace McKee July 1, to attend a School Board Association meeting May 6 at La-Ville.

- In a general business session, heard Snipes say that after more checking he did not think the board had been getting a good oil price; read a sheet passed by Forbes and told him it could be an unofficial part of the minutes. Contents of the paper were not made public.

Also, discussed the two houses being constructed by building trades classes, the relocatable classrooms no longer in use and a summer choral program. Members gave permission to Forbes to begin recruiting teachers to replace those who resign and told him to go ahead and prepare salary schedules for non-instructional personnel.

Street Cleaning

Dear Editor:

You likely have noticed our street department men have been doing a nice job cleaning up the leaves and debris along the curbs in our town of Akron. They are to be commended for this. But, this is our town, and it is our responsibility to keep it looking good. When mowing, please direct the cuttings away from the street. If any grass gets in the street, just a few minutes spent in cleaning it and any other debris up will greatly add to the beauty of our town.

Thank you for helping.

Pages missing

Dear Editor:

Several copies of 1883 Historical Atlas of Fulton Co. reprints have been found to be missing pages 96-97, the map of Henry Township. People who bought the book are asked to please check their copies, and if they are missing the two page map, bring it to the museum and we will give them a good copy of the atlas.

The atlases with missing pages will be shipped back to the publishing company to be fixed, at the company's expense.

Byron Hudkins of Bruce Lake has an original 1883 atlas with an extra page which we have not seen in any other copy of the old atlas. It is facing page 95 but has no number. The page has a small photo of Joseph Bruce, youngest son of Stephen Bruce, pioneer of Bruce Lake. This small photo is in the center of the page and the rest of the page is all white, without the black line border found around the other pages. Maybe this page was added later to a second printing of the atlas? The back of the page is blank, and page 96 comes next.

We would like to hear from others who have an original 1883 atlas if their copy has this extra page or not. I have looked at three original atlases and none of them had this extra page.

Copies of the 1883 atlases are still available at the museum which is open Sundays from 2 to 5 p.m. and also at the Rochester News Agency.

An error has been discovered in the original atlas and therefore in the reprints too. On page 17, Benjamin C. Wilson is listed as the first sheriff of Fulton Co. from March to August 1836. Both Jean Tombaugh and Bruce Hess have checked the early court records and found that Robert Martin was the first sheriff, serving March to August 1836. Wilson was the sixth sheriff, serving from 1845-49.

The grant will be used to develop outdoor recreation facilities in Akron's park area. Development will include two tennis courts and a parking lot, plus lighting, bleachers and a concession/storage building for the Little League baseball field.

The Land and Water Conservation Fund is a federal 50-50 matching program that provides assistance to city and county park and recreation boards for the acquisition and development of outdoor recreation sites and facilities. Since the inception of the program in 1965, over $11-million has been invested in such local projects. The program is administered by the Indiana Department of Natural Resources.

"HE'S AN EXCELLENT BARBER, TOOK A YEAR OF PUBLIC SPEAKING, A DALE CARNEGIE COURSE AND ONE WEEK IN BARBER COLLEGE."

ODDS and ENDS

By Ann Sheetz

When my husband's eyes glaze over, I know he's in the seed catalogs again. Along about February or March, nothing restores a man's faith in the future like a seed catalog in full color, and my winter-weary spouse is easily moved by pictures of dwarf apple trees and burpless cucumbers. Come April and the glaze is gone. The hard realities of gardening have been remembered, the seed catalogs discarded and he's back to normal.

And it's well that he is, because by then I have much planned for him, the result of my own winter's dreaming. As regularly as New Year's follows Christmas, sometime between the two days I fall victim of decorating fever. "The house would look much better if we'd just build some more shelves," I tell myself. Or if we'd get some different accessories or new furniture or new paint or curtains. As the fever consumes me, I find myself pacing newsstands in search of magazines with new ideas. By time to color Easter eggs, I am sleepless, my nights marred by the constant procession of room ideas that dance before my eyes as I attempt to sleep. Color schemes blot the stars from the sky and window treatments become more important than the Academy awards.

By mid-April, the disease has all but consumed me, but the reality that I lack either time or funds or both to do any major work restrains me from adding on a greenhouse or building a two-story fireplace in the living room. The disease is now in its second stage, the one accompanied by an inner voice of caution that says, "Make do with what you have. Just change it around a little."

And that's how it happened that after twenty years of having our bedroom arranged the same that I came to move two end tables and put the dresser on another wall. It gave the room a completely different perspective to use a pair of files for a night table. The light was perfect for locating needed papers, and the combined width made a perfect place for the telephone. That was on his side. I needed height on my side, and it came from a bookcase, a perfect storehouse for a 20-year accumulation of decorating yearbooks.

Having just tossed out his seed catalogs, my mate was in no mood for surprises, but he got one anyway when the telephone echoed like a freight train on the metal cabinet. Morning came and the files went. The night table was retrieved from the storeroom, leaving my bookcase towering out of balance. And out of reach, too, I discovered the first time I tried to switch on the light. Two days later, the bookcase had been moved and my own nightstand returned. The dresser remains in its new location. It's heavy, and neither of us feels like pushing it.

Besides, I found his seed catalogs and ever since then I've been so busy having fantasies about a lawn of green velvet criss-crossed with walks of old brick and surrounded by beds of beautifully tended flowers, I haven't had time to get back upstairs, and he's been busy with the boys. Seems they had been reading books about farming all winter, and they have some plans to try.

I don't know where they learned to daydream like that.

Success and hard work go together. It is strange that a man can work without succeeding, but he can't succeed without working.

The big dredge ditch that drains or is calculated to drain the whole eastern part of the country east from town is progressing nicely. The dredge passed under the Winona tracks north of town some two weeks ago and is now down to the Lawson Townsend place. A. B. Slaybaugh and Merl Whittenberger took four trees through town the other day from which stringers will be made for the bridge at that place. The dredge will soon finish its work.

Mrs. Mary Bailey was in town Tuesday enroute on a two weeks visit at Deedsville. She is quite well, but not as rugged as a half century ago.

Cliff Karns has gone to Mentone and opened up a shop there similar to the one he operated here for several years and which he sold early last winter. We notice that he is using printer's ink profusely in the Gazette and if he keeps that up he will make good as he guarantees his work in repairing automobiles and other machinery. A. O. Miller is another Akron lad making a wide reputation for himself and his town as a tinsmith. We congratulate these young men for their being able to stand for big "one" among business men anywhere.

MENTONE NEWS

New books at Mentone Library

New books at the Bell Memorial Public Library include:

MASSACRE AT FALL CREEK by Jessamyn West. In 1824, an explosive event on the American frontier threatened massive and bloody Indian reprisals. The little-known and long-forgotten record tells of the brutal murder of innocent, peaceful Indians, including women and children, by five white men. From this scant evidence of history, Jessamyn West has fashioned an exciting and richly plotted novel of haunting meaning.

SPINDRIFT by Phyllis Whitney. Christy Moreland was returning to Spindrift to piece together the fragments of her life. Nine months before, she had found her father's body in the mansion's tower room, and her world came crashing down around her. Now she finds herself fighting not only to save her father's reputation and regain her son, but for her own sanity and, indeed, her life.

THE PALACE GUARD by Dan Rather. A fascinating behind-the-scenes account of the Nixon administration and the men who ran it and the country before Watergate brought them down.

THE BERMUDA TRIANGLE by Charles Berlitz. An incredible saga of unexplained disappearances off the southeastern coast of the United States where over 100 planes and ships and 1,000 people have disappeared.

DENISON'S ICE ROAD by Edith Iglauer. Across the frozen lakes and portages of Arctic Canada, with its savage sub-zero cold, blinding blizzards and perilous terrain, John Denison and a crew of hardy drivers build each winter a unique road of ice and snow. This is the unforgettable story of the ordeal of building that road.

COLORING, FINISHING AND PAINTING WOOD by Adnah Newell.

THE NEW AMERICA'S WONDERLANDS -- OUR NATIONAL PARKS. A National Geographic Society book.

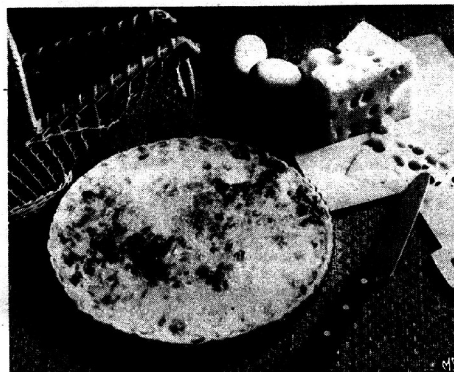

After all it isn't revolving, but solving, that really makes the world go around.

MASTERING THE QUICHE LORRAINE

Mastering the quiche is a must for anyone delving into the art of French cooking or just plain interested in a truly different dish gaining more and more popularity.

A quiche is a rich egg custard filled with various ingredients such as ham, seafood or vegetables. Perhaps the most common quiche is the Quiche Lorraine, a savory pie of cheese and bacon bits getting its name from a region in northeast France.

The quiche is usually served as an hors d'oeuvre. You may decide to accompany your quiche with other foods and serve it as a luncheon entree.

QUICHE LORRAINE is a must for adventurous cooks trying their talents at French recipes. The rich egg custard is filled with bacon and cheese.

PASTRY

1 1/2 cups unsifted flour
1/2 cup margarine
2 to 4 tablespoons water
pinch of salt

Mix ingredients in usual pastry method. Roll out and line a quiche pan or a 9 or 10-inch pie plate.

FILLING

3 1/2 ounces bacon
1 large onion
4 ounces grated Swiss cheese
4 ounces grated cheddar cheese
3 eggs
2 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup flour nutmeg
salt
Accent

Slice bacon and onions thinly. Fry bacon and onion over medium heat until light brown (about 2 to 3 minutes). Place bacon and onion in unbaked pastry shell. Place grated and mixed cheeses on top of bacon and onions. Mix the eggs, milk, flour and a very good pinch of nutmeg, salt and Accent together. Pour mixture over ingredients in pastry shell. Bake for 25-35 minutes at 350 degrees or until the pie is brown. Yields 8-10 servings.

*Wish I'd
heat pump instead!*

It's a long way from the Franklin stove to today's most efficient heating and cooling system—the electric heat pump. There's no other way to have year-round comfort in your home that uses less of our natural resources.

A heat pump heats your home in winter, cools it in summer. All in one efficient unit. While it may cost a little more to install and maintain, the heat pump has no match for efficiency.

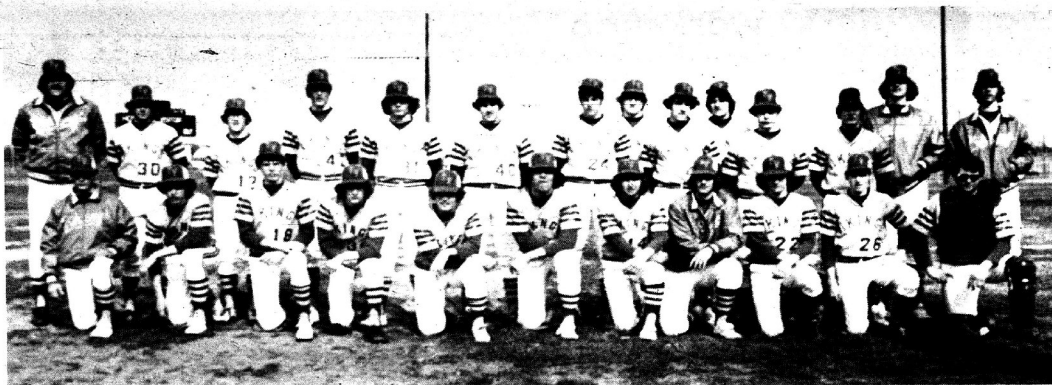

If you're interested in helping conserve natural resources, look into the electric heat pump.

And remember, any way you heat electrically—baseboard units, ceiling cable, electric furnace or boilers—you're stretching our fuel reserves. In this part of the country, electricity comes from coal, our most abundant fuel, not those in short supply.

Help your country . . .
help yourself.

If you'd like to join in the fight to save energy, get a free copy of a "Guide To Wise Use Of Energy for Electric Heating and Cooling" at your nearest Public Service Indiana office.

Vikings split baseball opener

Coach Tom Roy's Tippecanoe Valley Baseball team opened its 1975 season Saturday by splitting a twin-bill against LaVile.

The Vikings christened their new field in the first game by winning their inaugural contest 8-5. Chris Smalley went the distance on the mound for the Vikings, who never trailed. Valley got to LaVile started Jeff Kowatch for five runs in the first two innings, highlighted by a pair of triples by designated hitter Doug Miller. Tight defense and some clutch pitching held off a late LaVile charge.

LaVile won the second game, 6-3, despite a valiant Viking rally. The Lancers' Rick Christy and Valley's Bill Hardesty locked up in what would have been a tight pitching duel had not LaVile cashed in on six freak hits for a quick 4-0 lead. Hardesty struck out six and walked none, while Christy fired a perfect game for over four innings. Tippecanoe did not tally until the bottom of the sixth, when they came up with three runs, paced by a 2-rbi single by Jerry Whetstone. But LaVile scored twice more in the seventh to clinch the win.

The Vikings travel to Kewanee Wednesday to meet the Indians.

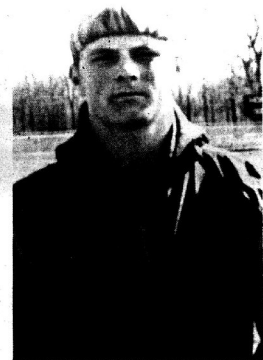

DON DICKERHOFF, defensive player of the week in the first week of play.

JERRY WHETSTONE was offensive and defensive player of the week last week.

MAX MEISER is the distance runner of the week, continuing his domination in both mile and half-mile events. He was winner in both events Tuesday and also last week at Culver.

GREG BUSSARD shows new promise in the discus with a 107'9" heave this week.

DOUG MILLER, co-offensive player of the week in the first week of play.

DEATHS

McCloughan

Benjamin F. McCloughan, 54, R. 1, Akron, was killed Tuesday morning when a tree limb hit him in the forehead as he was cutting trees with Orville Fitton on Fitton's farm north of Akron. He was dead on arrival at Woodlawn hospital. Junior Good, Fulton Co. coroner, said death was due to severe trauma from a fracture of a skull.

Born August 18, 1920 in Niles, Michigan, he was the son of Frank and Emma Secora McCloughan. A resident of this area most of his life, he was a veteran of World War II and served with the U.S. Navy in Korea. He was a member of the Silver Creek Church of God. He was a farmer.

Surviving are his widow, the former Zelma Tullis whom he married March 29, 1941; two daughters, Mrs. Raymond (Sandra) Streit, Goshen, and Mrs. David (Sheila) Busenburg, Mentone; a son, Ted, R. 1, Akron; nine grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Everett (Irene) Shaffer, R. 1, Akron, Mrs. Amos (Minnie) Engle, R. 2, Akron, and Mrs. Lester (Elsie) Robbins, Big Rapids, Mich. Four brothers preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Silver Creek Church of God with the Rev. James Martin officiating. Burial will be in the Akron cemetery.

Friends may call at Sheetz Funeral Home until noon Friday and at the church for one hour prior to the service.

LICENSE SUSPENSION

Charles Amburgy, Mentone, has had his driver's license suspended until March 20, 1976 on a driving with suspended license charge.

TIMBER LAKE, S.D. TOPIC: "It was interesting to note some of our legislators are complaining about the 'club' the federal government holds over the state—you know 'if you don't do it, you'll lose federal funds.' If more people all across the nation would get sick of the 'club', maybe we could reduce the federal debt, pay less federal income tax, and have more freedom to do things our way."

Valley routs Kewanna, Triton

The Tippecanoe Valley baseball team picked up a couple of easy wins last week against Kewanna and Triton.

The Vikings travelled to Kewanna Wednesday and pounded out an 18-4 victory over the host Indians. Eleven hits, numerous walks and a plethora of Kewanna errors helped the Viking cause. The Valley scored three runs in the first inning, but led only 4-1 in the third before erupting for seven runs in the top of that inning to virtually clinch the game. Valley added seven more in the fourth. Kewanna scored again in the third and twice in the fourth to round out the scoring in the five-inning game.

Highlights of the afternoon were two tremendous Jerry Whetstone home runs. Mitch Harris also homered. Chris Smalley picked up the win, his second, in relief of Bucky Gast, striking out eight in a three-inning stint.

On Friday, the Viking bats again played the major role. After scoring twice in the first, Valley committed a pair of errors and Triton knotted the score, 2-2, after two innings. In the third, after Jim Webb and Don Dickerhoff singled to set the stage for a grand slam home run which put the Vikings ahead to stay, 6-2. Johnson added a three-run shot of his own in the fourth as the Vikes rolled to a 10-2 lead. Triton scored twice in the sixth to account for the final 10-4 count. Bill Hardesty went the distance on the mound for the win, striking out seven Trojans and walking just one. The two wins put the Vikings' record at 3-1.

Atwood and Etna Green

switching offices to be combined

General Telephone Co. of Indiana recently began two projects in the Atwood exchange necessary for the completion of the consolidation of the Atwood and Etna Green switching offices. Cost of these projects will total $271,000, according to District Service Manager R.E. Knafel.

Placement of 17,000 feet of cable has begun along old US 30 between Atwood and Etna Green. With most of this cable containing 400 pairs of wire, it will not only serve present customers but is anticipated to handle growth in the area until 1982, according to Knafel.

Most of the cable will be buried except for a short portion within the town limits of Etna Green where digging would cause disruption to present streets, drives and sidewalks. Conduit was placed underneath new US 30 at the time of its construction which will now house the cable.

Installation of switching equipment is currently underway to provide facilities for the combination of the two offices. Present customers and growth through 1977 will be served by this addition, which is capable of serving 620 telephone lines.

Knafel said combining these offices is being done to allow the most efficient operation of telephone facilities. Completion for these projects is scheduled for later this year.

Operation of the combined switching center will begin in October.

What is your manure worth?

Manure used as fertilizer can produce corn, sorghum or silage--as well as commercial fertilizer, and maybe a lot cheaper, if you can use it, according to John Sweeten, ag engineer, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The shortage of manufactured fertilizer and the resulting high prices will boost the demand for manure to an all-time high, he believes.

In Texas last year, 10 tons of manure per acre produced yields that compared with those from recommended rates of commercial fertilizer.

"It cost about $40 to fertilize an acre with commercial fertilizer," notes Sweeten. "The cost of fertilizing an acre with feedlot manure is about $23, where the haul distance is 10 miles or less. Assuming the same yields, feedlot manure saves about $17 per acre.

Sweeten's figures indicate a break-even haul distance for manure of about 40 miles.

What's a ton of manure provide? Well, a ton of liquid dairy manure contains about 9.3 pounds of nitrogen, 5.3 pounds of phosphorus, and 8.7 pounds of potash. Liquid hog manure contains about five pounds of nitrogen, 6.8 pounds of phosphorus, and 10.6 pounds of potassium. Beef manure--liquid, again--contains about 12 pounds of nitrogen per ton, and ranks between dairy and hog manure in both phosphorus and potassium.

You can see that you'll have to haul a lot of manure to fertilize corn for 150 bushel yield. But if you've got the time and equipment--and the manure--you may want to spread home-grown fertilizer on your crop acres.

However, when Sweeten quoted the $23 per acre charge for manure, he was talking about a region heavily populated with custom cattle feed-lots. A typical charge for delivering manure from feedlot to field is about $2.25 per ton for a 10 mile haul.

In other areas, where custom manure hauling is not available, the cost may be higher. And if you're still hauling manure when you should be planting corn, those bushels lost to late planting would need to be added to the manure-fertilizer bill.

To Editor:

"LAST NIGHT"

60 Youth from Portland sang at Main Street last night. For one hour we sat on the edge of our seats. They sang, clapped their hands. The congregation gave them a standing ovation. Why will that many Youth give time for something so wonderful? For they are good Youth, their parents came and brought them. The Youth set up their own lighting. I get to see so many Youth groups, like groups from schools. I can very well tell when one of the groups will place. They will come and sing. They are fun. They speak to you on the street. One of the girls who has worked for me for three years was in a play at one of the high schools. "It Was Lovely". I gave an evening to watch her. She was scared. She was good. One of my boys whom I suggested that he sing took a first in a contest. Youth have what it takes. Talent and a great desire to do good things. A group of Youth from the College brought me 3 bags of groceries the other night. Another group came and took 30 children to supper, played games, gave them treats. The children said it was wonderful. 10 Youth missed their family gathering to help feed people Thanksgiving.

I am not afraid of tomorrow. I meet each week with a fine group of Youth, all colors and backgrounds. We are noisy, we are loud. We are quiet, we are reverent. We have as our helper a boy who is going to give his life as a Minister. He could be a medical doctor but he gives of himself. Youth will serve and be served, but they also will give of himself. Youth will serve and be served, but they also will save tomorrow. I listen to them. They are looking. Many have found the love of Christ. Some get in groups that are not good. Give them time. They will make us all proud. Don't sell them short. They are here and We are Glad.
