Local resident makes dolls for 60 years

Follows family custom

by Diana Streevey Bucher

Lifetime Akron resident Ruby Dawson started making rag dolls about 60 years ago for her nieces who stayed with her every summer. "My mother made us (her brothers and sister) dolls and loved to make all kinds of things. She could make anything out of nothing. And my grandmother made me a rag doll once when I stayed with her. That is where I got the idea to make dolls for my nieces."

Mrs. Dawson's collection consists of about 60 dolls, though she figures she has made close to a total of 100. She takes an assortment of 30 dolls with her when she gives exhibitions and showings for clubs and schools. About nine years ago she showed her dolls on a South Bend television station on Lois Pences' program, Homemakers, and local author Ann Sheetz wrote a feature article about Mrs. Dawson's hobby for Lady's Circle magazine about eight years ago.

Mrs. Dawson hand sews every single feature of her rag dolls. The bodies, which are stuffed with cotton, are jointed at knees and elbows for flexibility, and the dolls even have stitched fingers and toes. The eyes, mouth and nose are embroidered and sewn with colored thread while their hair is made with yarn. Many of the dolls have ears and proudly display earrings, necklaces and rings.

But Mrs. Dawson doesn't stop there. After she has made the bodies of her dolls, she handsews all the clothes they wear. This includes lace and tatted-trimmed underclothes, socks and shoes. Almost all of the clothes can be taken off and washed. As a final, fitting touch for the dolls she so lovingly makes, Mrs. Dawson has made a number of beautiful doll-sized quilts to place them on.

None of her dolls are alike; each has something special to distinguish them, and many even have names. There are baby dolls, boy dolls, clown dolls, black dolls, gypsy and Indian dolls, one china-head doll and even a red riding hood reversible doll; but the majority are lady and girl dolls dressed in late 1800's - early 1900's garb.

The oldest doll she still has were made about 40 years ago, and have been played with by three generations of children. These three dolls are the only ones she has out for children to play with, as she keeps the others for her showings. When I asked Mrs. Dawson which out of her dolls was her favorite, she replied, "I don't have a favorite. I'm attached to all of them because it takes me days to make the body alone. The lace and tatted trims are all sewn by hand and that takes several more days. Even the shoes and everything are made by hand. I like them all."

So do I.

Homestead-mortgage exemptions can be filed in Rochester

The NEWS received notice from the Fulton County auditor's office that Homestead exemptions can be filed until May 10. If you filed last year and have not moved, you do not need to file again. If you have moved to a different home, you must file a new homestead exemption. If you didn't file last year, the auditor urges you to file now.

You may also file for a mortgage exemption if you have a mortgage. This is a separate exemption and should not be confused with the homestead exemption. To file for either exemption you must go to the Fulton County Court House in Rochester, and they will assist you in filling out the proper forms.

TVSC receives grants

On March 26, Lt. Governor Robert Orr announced that the three grade schools in the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation have been awarded federal energy conservation grants. These grants are earmarked for improvements that will result in energy savings, such as adding insulation or replacing incandescent lights with fluorescent or sodium lights.

Burket Elementary will receive $22,291; Mentone Elementary will receive $39,717; and Akron Elementary will receive $34,249, making the total grant for the TVSC $96,257.

Ninety-three other schools and hospitals throughout Indiana also received grants for energy conservation.

Bogard announces for Attorney General

Don Bogard, a native of Winchester and an 8-year veteran of the Attorney General's office, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Attorney General of Indiana. In a news conference at Republican State Headquarters, in Indianapolis, Bogard termed the office "the second most important in state government."

Bogard has served as a Deputy Attorney General handling cases for the State Board of Tax Commissioners and as head of the Federal Litigation Section, Assistant Attorney General, Executive Assistant Attorney General, Administrative Assistant to the Attorney General, and, most recently, as Chief Counsel for Staff in the office of the Attorney General.

He currently is employed as a Corporate Staff Attorney for Stokely-VanCamp, Inc., in Indianapolis. Bogard is married to the former Jane Diggs and is the father of 2 girls, Deirdre Rae, age 11, and Tiffany Leigh, age 9.

"Being Attorney General requires more than just being a good and experienced lawyer," Bogard remarked. "The Attorney General also must be an able administrator to direct the staff of Indiana's largest law office. He must supervise a case load of over 9,000 active cases and he must manage a budget of nearly $4,000,000.

"I believe that my training and experience are what the citizens of Indiana expect from their Attorney General, and I look forward to accepting the challenge and responsibility of representing them in that capacity," he concluded.

Hillenbrand in Fulton county

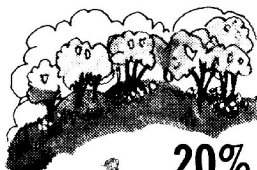

John Hillenbrand, Democrat candidate for governor, campaigned at the Democrat Headquarters in Rochester Friday morning, March 28. Hillenbrand, a businessman from Batesville, Indiana, who manufactures burial caskets and hospital equipment, is hoping in win the Democrat primary over opponent Wayne Townsend.

Hillenbrand briefly outlined what he feels should be the state's main concerns: the state unemployment rate; the fact that Indiana's primary and secondary education is below both the national average and the average of all surrounding states; the fact that programs to aid the elderly in Indiana go virtually unused because people are unaware of their existence; restructuring the Public Service Commission to include five members representing five different interest groups instead of the current three-member commission; and tapping Indiana's vast supply of coal to lessen the effects of the energy shortage and high prices for fuel.

"Indiana Earthenware and Stoneware: 1840-1910"

Thirty-six pieces of Indiana earthenware and stoneware are on display at Mentone Elementary School until April 10, between the hours of 8:30 - 3:30 daily. On April 2, the exhibit will be open in the evening between 7 - 9 p.m.

This selection of pottery spans the period between 1840 - 1910 and represents the work of approximately 25 Indiana potters and firms. The exhibit is on loan from the Indianapolis Museum of Art and is part of the State Traveling Exhibition Program.

The oldest pottery in the traveling exhibition is this 1837 salt-glazed jug. NEWS Photo

"Indiana Earthenware and Stoneware: 1840-1910" is part of the Indianapolis Museum of Art's State Traveling Exhibition Program (STEP) which brings displays of fine graphic and decorative art to communities in Indiana which may not ordinarily have access to them. The STEP program is funded in part by grants from the Indiana Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts, a Federal agency. The exhibition was organized by guest curator Melvin L. Davies, potter and collector of Indiana earthenware and stoneware, and Catherine Lippert, associate curator of decorative arts at the IMA.

Unlike the wares of the eastern United States, which are well-researched, the ceramics of Indiana have been largely ignored by collectors and historians of the decorative arts. During the 19th century the discovery of superior clay deposits near the state's rich coal seams gave birth to a thriving ceramics industry, particularly in the counties of Clay, Parke, Vanderburgh, Perry, Clark and Putnam. Although machine techniques were increasingly adopted from about 1870 on, the exhibition concentrates on the wheel-thrown crocks, jugs, pans and churns produced by these potteries in a variety of sizes for storing, preserving and preparing food. The presence of potters in Indiana can be documented as early as 1807, but little is known of the craft before the manufacturers census of 1810. This and later records indicate that during the period 1820-1910 some 500 individuals, all identified by name, were actively engaged in the production of Indiana ceramics. Without doubt a far greater number, yet to be identified, were also involved.

Compared to the highly decorated ceramics of the eastern United States, Indiana's earthenware and stoneware is plain and utilitarian. At least a few of Indiana's potters, however, are known to have embellished their wares. Potters Wm.

Torbert and Geo. Baker of Brazil, Clay County, frequently stenciled in cobalt slip an attractive wreath of leaves encircling the volume mark on their pieces. In Loogootee, Martin County, the Stuckey family potters painted a stylized flower in cobalt slip on crocks, jars and mugs in addition to applying molded, three-dimensional cherries and leaves to salt-glazed stoneware flower pots. A highlight of the display is a jar by Francis Nolen, the only major example of incised and painted decoration known.

Research on the history of Indiana ceramics has been carried out by Davies and made possible by a grant to the Museum from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Eleven other exhibitions in the State Traveling Exhibition Program are currently available from the Indianapolis Museum of Art. Organizations interested in sponsoring one of the traveling exhibitions may obtain information by writing STEP Program, Indianapolis Museum of Art, 1200 W. 38th St., Indianapolis, IN 46208.

Pity the memory of poor Elvis Presley. He may be gone, but thanks to the current state of show biz technology, the King's voice lingers on and he'll be coming out soon with a brand new album of duets with some "new" fellow stars - among them Dolly Parton and the Statler Brothers.

Elvis' long-time producer has stripped away instrumental and backup vocal tracks in Nashville so more up-to-date voices can be dubbed in and harmonized.

What's next, we ask, in this Brave New World where nothing can ever be left in peace? Al Jolson sings his "latest and greatest" along with Kermit the Frog? Mahalia Jackson's "greatest gospel songs" featuring a duet with Tiny Tim in place of the voices of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir?

Somehow, today's "new technology" leaves me cold.

Now we read that the day is near when they will transplant a chimp's heart into a man.

Somehow, it doesn't seem right. Why should a chimp, having gone to bed early, avoided fried eggs and butter, and led a clean life free of cigarets and whiskey, and never having been caught with somebody else's mate - why should he give up his perfectly good heart to a mere human who has destroyed his own heart by his own neglect, and wants another chance?

Mankind might well be helped over a long period of time by some judicious transplants from chimps. Not hearts, however. Brains.

Postural screening scheduled for schools

A postural screening program will be conducted to detect possible spinal problems in students in grades 6, 7 and 8 at the Mentone and Akron schools.

The screening will take place during the month of April. The examination will be done by the school nurse, at which time the back will be examined as the student stands and bends forward. Boys may wear gym shorts or swim trunks, girls may wear a swim suit, or shorts and halter top or bra. It is suggested that the students bring what they will wear to school with them and leave the clothes at school until the student has been examined. Boys and girls will be screened separately.

In areas where screening is being done, it is found that about one in ten students has a spinal abnormality, although all of them do not require treatment. If your child is presently being treated or is under a doctor's care for a spinal abnormality, or if you do not wish your child to be screened, you must notify the school. Screening will be done on all students unless their parents notify the school that they do not wish their child to be screened.

Census jobs available

Full-time, temporary jobs as census takers in this area are still available, James Kizer, manager of the local 1980 census office, said recently.

"We're counting on you if you can work a 40-hour week visiting households and interviewing the residents," the manager said, adding that some evening and Saturday work will be required.

Census takers will begin work soon as part of the 1980 Census of Population and Housing. They will attend a training session for which they will be paid. Most census takers will be paid a piece rate for the number of household interviews completed. In a few instances, pay will be by the hour. For all workers, pay will average $4 an hour or more.

Census takers must be able to follow printed instructions, do simple arithmetic, and read maps for which they will be tested before hiring. They should be able to walk a considerable amount, climb stairs, and ought to have good eyesight and hearing. They should have a home telephone and many will need a car, for which mileage will be paid when it is used in census work.

Interested persons should go take the written, job-related test at the Rochester Civic Center, 7th and Pontiac Sts., Rochester, Tuesdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

It came to my attention last week that some of our readers are dissatisfied by the lack of personal items in the NEWS. Of course we know we can't please all the people all of the time, but I plead innocent to this charge. The reason more personal items aren't printed in the NEWS is because we simply do not get very many. What items we do receive, whether by phone, cards or those that are brought to one of our offices, are used.

We need to receive feedback from our readers so we can determine what you want to read in the NEWS. If you don't like something, whether it's the NEWS Poll, club news, our sports coverage, our feature stories or the lack of personal items, we want to know. On the same hand, if you like certain features of the paper, we want to know that also. Without this feedback from our readers, we are working blind.

So don't hesitate to contact us with your suggestions (Phone numbers are 893-4433 and 353-7885). After all, we're here to serve your interests. Have a nice day!

Summer camp for girls

Vincennes University will sponsor one-week Summer workshops for junior and senior high school girls stressing fundamentals in basketball, volleyball and gymnastics.

The first of the three sessions will be the Gymnastic Camp, June 8 through 12. Michael Ross, former Indiana University gymnast and coach of national junior college champions and All-Americans, and his staff will instruct beginners and advanced gymnasts who will be entering grades seven through 12 next fall.

Participants may choose to live in the air-conditioned residence halls or commute. Enrollment is limited to 50 participants because of the personal instructor-camper ratio. The fee of $75 covers room for four nights, two meals per day and all instruction. Campers need never leave the University facilities for lunch is available at the Student Union Snack Bar.

The basketball camp for girls entering grades nine through 12 is scheduled June 29 through July 3. Andrea Myers, coach of the very successful Lady Trailblazers and her staff will direct the camp. Vincennes teams coached by Ms. Myers have finished third in the AIAW national tournaments on two occasions, and last year she was named Coach of the Year for Region XII NJCAA.

Campers will register at noon on June 29, and be dismissed following the awards session on July 3.

Instruction will stress fundamentals of basketball skills, and each camper will develop offensive and defensive team skills as well as one-to-one competitive skills. The $75 fee includes two meals per day, housing, all instruction and a camp T-shirt. Commuting campers can be accommodated at a reduced fee.

Coach Debra Haag of the Blazer Volleyball team will direct the girls high school girls volleyball camp July 11-13. This is the first year for the volleyball camp, but interest in high schools throughout the state has dictated that more instruction is desired.

Coach Haag's 1979 team finished with a 22 and 9 record. In addition to her fine coaching record, she was a member of the Lady Blazers who won national third place honors in the AIAW competition in 1975. She will be assisted by the varsity volleyball players.

The cost for resident campers will be $40, while commuters may attend for $25. Two meals per day are furnished for resident participants.

Information or applications for the three camps for girls are available by writing the director of the specific camp or by contacting the Physical Education Complex at Vincennes University, phone 812-885-4396. Registrations for each will be confirmed on a first-come basis, and each camp has limited enrollment to provide maximum instructional opportunity for the individual camper.

Participants in the discussion will be Dr. Jeffries and Dr. Zell from Grace College, Ray Plummer, accountant, Ken Jones from Farm Energy Production Corporation, Warsaw, and Vic Virgil, County Agent.

The meeting is being sponsored by Farm Energy Production Corporation and the Kosciusko County Extension Service.

Welch played in 26 of the team's 30 games, and started once. She hit 38.6 percent from the field and 46.4 percent from the free throw line.

Another Indiana player, Kathie Caloway of Michigan City, averaged eight points per game.

The Lady Rebels finished with a 22-8 record.

Here's some history you can really chew on.

THEN: In 1928, a young accountant, Walter Diemer, was fooling around in a lab and discovered something really snappy: bubble gum.

NOW: Today, a crackling new dimension has been added to gum with the introduction of carbonation—the same ingredient that gives soda pop its fizz. America's young people are really taking to this Incredible Bubble gum, adding to the amazing amount of gum being chewed in America, the world's major producer and consumer of the confection.

Traveling men visiting Akron recently have been making all kinds of ill remarks about the town, because of the lack of a hotel. Several men have come in on the last cars only to discover that they had no place to sleep. It is a bad advertisement for Akron and the business men should get busy at once and start work on the improvements.

Inflation - how it affects you and me

by Diana Streevey Bucher

Inflation; we have all heard more of that word lately than we had ever hoped to. Skyrocketing inflation has touched every one of us in the past several months in more ways than we can count. Every month we watch our paychecks shrinking, covering less and less, as prices continue to steadily rise. Bank interest rates are at an incredible level, putting pressure on construction and real estate sales. Speculation in gold and silver drove prices to outrageous highs, but could not be sustained. The result was a near panic on Wall Street at the end of March that dropped the price of stock an average of 24% from this year's February 29 high.

President Carter has introduced yet another anti-inflation program that will attempt to cut federal spending. One of his proposals is to cut out revenue-sharing funds to states, cities and towns. Last Friday, the NEWS spoke with the clerk-treasurers of both Akron and Mentone (Ernie Smith and Kate Whetstone) to see how this loss of revenue-sharing funds would affect our communities.

Kate Whetstone outlined the situation in Mentone. The town has a unique fire-protection system that involves the town and three townships (Harrison, Franklin and Newcastle), and they share the costs of maintaining the Mentone and Tri-Township Fire Department. For the past several years, the Mentone revenue-sharing funds have been earmarked to pay for their share of fire protection ($5078.40), with extra funds supplementing other fire and police department needs. This included paying for new equipment, upkeep on the fire station, gas and oil for the trucks, insurance, supplies and fire coats. Other revenue-sharing funds went toward updating some equipment for the police department (radios and guns) and buying intricate JAWS equipment for the fire department.

Mentone's revenue-sharing funds, which are received quarterly, totaled $11,856 for 1979. They will continue to receive funds this year, as the federal budget for 1980 is already established. The loss of the funds would take effect in 1981.

We questioned Ms. Whetstone as to the possibility of property taxes being raised if Mentone loses its revenue-sharing funds, but she explained the State Tax Levy in 1973 froze property taxes. This year's assessed property evaluation in Mentone rose over $1 million from the assessed evaluation in 1979.

Since the total tax levy cannot change, the tax rates are lower this year than last per $100 assessed property.

Revenue-sharing funds bought this police car for the town of Akron. NEWS Photo.

If federal revenue-sharing funds are withdrawn by the government, it is likely that the tree trash pick-up service provided by the town of Mentone will be ended. Town Board President Frank Hardesty estimated it costs $900 a month to provide this service, or a yearly cost of $10,800. It would cost citizens approximately $3 a month per household to continue the service, or else it may have to be discontinued completely, leaving the responsibility of trash removal to the individual.

The possibility of losing revenue-sharing funds in Akron is perhaps less serious. Ernie Smith explained they received $7900 last year, and he always places Akron's revenue-sharing funds in a passbook savings account as soon as he receives it. Rather than incorporating their revenue-sharing funds into the town budget, the town board has kept the funds separate and uses them for extras, like buying the police car and town dump truck. Any funds that are not used one year are simply carried over to the next.

The funds this year are earmarked for the first payment to the Public Employee Retirement Fund (PERF) to establish a retirement program for town employees. Mr. Smith explained, "This year theoretically, we will have about $19,000 saved federal revenue-sharing funds. About $7500 will go to PERF. It costs $1000 a year to maintain lights, heating and a phone for the EMS building. The parking area at the Akron park by the ball diamond will be graded, and we will use part of the funds for street repairs."

When we asked Mr. Smith about the frozen tax levy in Indiana, he explained they are allowed a small increase yearly, but that it in no way rises as much as inflation. He feels that if the revenue-sharing funds are halted, it will become necessary to either lift the frozen tax levy or add the county option tax in Fulton county. It is also possible Akron, like Mentone, would have to reduce their free trash pick-up.

(Next week: The NEWS examines Carter's credit controls, high interest rates and the effect they are having at local lending institutions.)

Library President Hill addresses town board

Bell Memorial Library in financial difficulties

Diana Streevey Bucher

Bell Memorial Library President, Bob Hill, spoke to the Mentone Town Board at their April 7 meeting concerning the financial plight of the library. The problems stem from the current low library tax rate, which is frozen and cannot be changed. He pointed out that the Akron library has had a tax rate of 30 cents since 1978, compared to Mentone's rate of less than .08 cents. In the Kosciusko county property tax settlements, Kosciusko libraries will receive the following monies: Warsaw, $83,364; Pierceton, $5,295; Syracuse, $13,195; Milford, $8,116; and Bell Memorial, $1,021.

Mr. Hill described a bleak picture of the future of the library, due to their inability to purchase new books, the need for repairs for the building and the inadequate salaries of library personnel.

Madeleine Fisher, librarian, wrote to the Indiana State Library requesting information on how to appeal for an additional tax levy, and Mr. Hill reported her findings.

Bell Memorial currently has contracts to serve three townships, Harrison, Franklin and Seward. Franklin and Seward also have contracts with the Akron Carnegie Library, but Harrison township residents have free access only to Bell Memorial. If Mentone and Harrison township (and/or the other townships) merge to form a town-township(s) library, they would be eligible, as a new library district, to establish a new tax levy.

Mr. Hill explained he has already spoken with Harrison Township Trustee, Junior Clappett, and Mr. Clappett expressed an interest to pursue this course of action. He then asked the board if they would be willing to meet with the trustees of Seward, Franklin and Harrison to discuss the matter.

Board President Frank Hardesty stated there was no question something had to be done to correct the situation, and the other members agreed. They instructed Mr. Hill to set up a meeting with the trustees and advisory boards of the three townships, the Mentone town board and the library board as soon as possible.

Zanna Hammer addressed the board to explain the insurance coverage he obtained for the town fire station and equipment. The members examined the policies and requested Mr. Hammer check with the company as to some of the vehicle coverage and possible changes.

Doug Miller and Laurie Smalley came to the board to report the bridge at the Mentone Park is unsafe. They are planning a July wedding at the park and want to use the bridge. Stating they realized their's was a small problem, they felt the bridge presented a hazard to others using the park.

Wayne Tombaugh said he had spoken to a member of the state highway department about obtaining necessary materials. He was informed there is an old bridge at Milford that will be taken down soon, and three steel beams and any good plank material will be brought to Mentone for the park bridge. Zanna Hammer said the board should check with the Lion's Club works projects to arrange possible help in re-building the bridge. Frank Hardesty instructed town employee Harry Sullivan to put a closed sign on the bridge until it can be repaired.

In other business: *Royal Baum reported he is having trouble with water draining near his store after rainy weather. The board received information from Harry Sullivan concerning the drainage system, and it was decided to check to see if there is an obstruction in the ditch. On Tuesday, April 8, Harry Sullivan, Jim Miller, Frank Hardesty and Royal Baum will run water from the water tower to check the drainage.

*The board agreed to pay Ken Shoemaker $25 for a cabinet he finished in the clerk's office.

*Kate Whetstone reported that water department employee Luke Hiers will soon finish his

In an effort to protect the consumer from something (we're not sure what), the Federal Trade Commission has some new rules to guarantee that people who give testimonials actually use the product.

That's not going to be easy. If a pro football player endorses a beer, just how much of the stuff must he drink to qualify as a user?

Will Bruce Jenner's bowl be under constant surveillance to detect the presence of something else besides Wheaties?

Will Art Linkletter have to buy another insurance policy every time he plights his trust in the company?

Will Orson Welles face charges if he is caught drinking a wine before its time?

And just what will they do when some leading figure endorses Preparation H?

It's about 11 times as easy to start something as it is to stop something observes Robert Townsend in his book, Up the Organization. For example, Townsend cites the case of the British, who created a civil service job in 1803 calling for a man to stand on the Cliffs of Dover with a spyglass. He was instructed to ring a bell if he saw Napoleon coming. The job was finally abolished in 1945.

Area households included in employment census

A sample of households in this area will be visited by Bureau of Census interviewers during the work week of April 14-19, 1980, to conduct the Bureau's monthly survey of employment and unemployment, Stanley D. Moore, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Chicago, announced today.

Households in this area are part of a sample of 84,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all U.S. households.

The monthly survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor and provides a continuous record of activity in the labor force. The February survey indicated that of the 104.3 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 98.0 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 6.0 percent, compared to 6.2 percent in January.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Drug abuse meeting set

The Mentone School is sponsoring a meeting on drug abuse by students. This meeting is open to parents of all students in the Mentone School. The meeting will be Tuesday, April 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

The meeting is for parents who want to become actively involved in helping find answers to this problem. This is not a session to learn about different drugs but a time to find out what the school community can do to combat the use of drugs.

Kathleen King

DEAR EDITOR:

The Indiana Jaycees and Tippecanoe Valley High School welcome home Ambassador Kathleen Kay King from the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Indiana Leadership Seminar.

Each year since 1958, the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation has sponsored a series of Leadership Training Seminars, selecting high school sophomores with emerging leadership abilities to participate.

Normally, past Leadership Seminars have been experienced by only two sophomores from each state (one boy and one girl). The Indiana Jaycees, an organization through community services, with the encouragement of the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation, organized a State Leadership Seminar so as to allow other Ambassadors from various high schools throughout the state to learn to utilize their capabilities for leadership by sharing with their community their knowledge, enthusiasm, and youthful energy.

Our future, good or bad, rests in the hands of our young people, and success depends on strong and compassionate leadership that only they will be able to provide.

Congratulations Ambassador Kathleen Kay King ... and welcome home!!!

"President Carter is making cuts in the federal budget in an attempt to halt inflation. If Saturday mail deliveries were ended, it would save $86 million a year. Would you object to receiving mail only five days a week?"

Marsha Baker, Mentone: "No. It wouldn't hurt me any. What makes a difference if we receive mail five days a week or six days? If it would save money, it wouldn't hurt anything."

Tricia Dilts, Akron: "No. I don't think not having mail one day a week will make any difference, not to me at least."

Delores Creakbaum, Mentone: It would help in making things better, so it would be alright.

George Reed, Akron: "I don't know. That would make three papers on a Monday. I think six days is better myself."

Wilhelmina Tracy, Mentone: "That's okay with me. I only pick it up from the post office when I feel like it anyway. Personally I think they should do away with a lot of stuff to balance the budget. I don't know about you, but when I run out of money I can't go borrow more, and I don't think they should either."

Campbell tries for State Supt.

A return to the educational basics is the direction our school systems must take to meet our children's needs, according to Glen Campbell, who is seeking the Democrat nomination for State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Campbell said he has talked with many parents throughout the state who share his concern about the past trend toward larger schools and reduced learning on the part of the school child.

"It's my feeling that every person that has held the Office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction for the past 20 years has supported the notion of larger and larger and larger schools. This -- unfortunately so -- has resulted in children learning less and less and less," Campbell said.

He pointed out that there is evidence in Indiana and across the nation which indicates quality education has declined in the past two decades.

"A return to the basics is a necessity," he added. "We must return to the basics in education now -- in 1980. And with that should be a return of control of our schools and the educational process to the local people to permit diversity in the development of the educational processes."

Jabberwocky

By Diana Streevey Bucher

Maybe they're not America's favorite family, but I think they may be mine. The Wallaces, Irving, Amy and Sylvia, along with sidekick David Wallechinsky, have written the two books I wish I'd thought of first: The Book of Lists and the Book of Lists No. 2. For compulsive list makers like myself (everything from grocery lists to what I'll wear three weeks from last Friday to what I'll serve for dinner at my son's graduation party 15 years from now), these books are a treat.

Obviously, in a book composed entirely of lists, there are going to be some that we don't particularly enjoy. Like "Nine famous people who had children born out of wedlock" (Do you want to see my list of laundry problems?). Or the one entitled, "Seven men and women who slept with three or more celebrities". (Do you want to know what stuffed animals my son sleeps with?) I mean who really cares?

There are, however, dozens of lists in the books that trivia buffs will enjoy. For instance, "Ten best reasons why I don't have my homework" (collected by a teacher of nine years): My little sister ate it; I had to use it to fill a hole in my shoe; Our furnace broke down and we had to burn it to keep from freezing to death; I gave it to a friend and his house burnt down; and (my favorite) the dog/cat did his duty on it. Clever kids.

There are also the usual lists for old movie buffs: 13 Movie Stars and how they were discovered; 10 Most often shown movies on TV; and 17 Movie stars who turned down great roles.

I can just picture it. There will be a rush at the local libraries from people clamoring to get these books, and the librarians will have to start waiting lists. Have a nice day!

*Board bought a used wheel-horse tractor for $1700 from Ellis Shepard. It will be used to mow the park and cemetery.

*Frank Hardesty told the board they should be prepared to plan the 1981 budget without federal revenue-sharing funds, as they will probably be discontinued after this year.

*It was agreed to re-hire

Cathy Welch as caretaker at the cemetery.

*After much discussion, it was decided to re-write a contract with Richard Dickerhoff for 10 acres of town-owned property. Due to a crop failure that was a result of late action last fall, they decided to waive one year's rent so Mr. Dickerhoff could re-plant the land this spring.

Circuit court has been held for the last time in Rochester. The county board of commissioners decided to move the court house and county seat to Akron. They were compelled to make this move because of the steady growth of Akron and rapid decline in the population of Rochester. Of course you remember now that this is April 1st, all fools day, but wouldn't it be a fine thing if the above would happen.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the large farm house of Mrs. John Voris last Friday night. This was a landmark. Glen Voris was awakened by the flames and barely managed to get out of the house. His mother was not at home, as she is employed in Wabash and stays with her mother and step-father during the week. Glen re-entered the house to try to phone the fire department but the blaze had already burned the telephone lines. He ran down the road to the Day farm and John brought him into town, where the fire department was notified.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lantz, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Stout spent last Thursday evening in Elkhart. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lantz and sons and later attended the Ice Revue.

10 YEARS AGO

The Mentone American Legion Auxiliary and the Akron Women's Club are sponsoring two delegates to the 39th session of Hoosier Girl's State. While delegates may be selected and sponsored only by an American Legion Auxiliary, the Women's Club is assisting financially this year. She is a member of the girl's volleyball and basketball teams, the National Honor Society, student council representative, member of OEA and the recipient of the 1977 DAR award. Melanie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Jones. She is a member of OEA, the Beaver Dam 4-H Club and the Art Club.

Alternate Darla Weaver is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weaver, Akron. She is a member of the National Honor Society, student council, is the vice-president of the Junior Class and was a cheerleader for two years. LuAnn Pyle, alternate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pyle, Mentone. Her activities include membership in the National Honor Society, band and pep-band, rifle corp and the Mentone United 4-H.

While attending the week-long conference at Indiana State University (June 15-21), the girls will learn about local, county and state government and the contributions women can make. Eligibility requirements for selection to Girl's State included an interest in government, qualities in leadership and a scholarship rating in the upper third of her class.

Pictures of Darla Weaver and LuAnn Pyle are on page 9.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Heckman are vacationing in Nebraska with Bob's parents. They will stop by the Grand Ole Opry for a show also.

Oral cancer strikes approximately 24,000 persons in the U.S. each year and causes 8,000 deaths.

TVHS students win state OEA awards

Jama Shank and Christine Rhoades will participate in the National Office Education Association (OEA) Leadership Conference to be held in Minneapolis, starting April 17. Mrs. Graham, the Tippecanoe Valley Sponsor of OEA, will accompany the girls. Jama will be participating in the business proofreading contest and Christine will be in the information communications contest. These girls are eligible to be involved in the National OEA conference, due to their first place ratings at the state contest held in Indianapolis recently. OEA is a co-curricular activity connected with the vocational intensive office laboratory program.

Kindergarten registration

Mentone School will have its registration for kindergarten students for the next school year on Thursday, April 24, at 7:00 p.m. Parents are to report to the cafeteria. Children will not need to attend.

The child must be five years of age by August 1, 1980, and their birth certificate must be brought to the meeting. Parents will meet with the kindergarten teacher, nurse and speech teacher.

It would be helpful if parents could provide the location of their home by road designations. This will be helpful in arranging car pools.

School will dismiss at 11:25 a.m. this Friday, April 18. There will be no school in the afternoon because of an in-service meeting for teachers.

TVHS students named to Who's Who in Music

Twelve students from Tippecanoe Valley High School have been selected to be included in the 1979-80 edition of "Who's Who in Music".

Mark Kevin Campbell, band director, head of the school's nominating committee and the editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their musical ability, academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

Rhoades-Goodman in "Sound of Music" Census follow-ups begin

Seniors Christine Rhoades and Ken Goodman will play leading roles in the upcoming production of "The Sound of Music" on April 18 and 19. Curtain time is set for 8 p.m. and seats for the performances may be reserved by calling the high school at 353-7888 or 893-7221.

Christine Rhoades

Christine will play the part of the Mother Abbess and will sing the well-known "Climb Every Mountain". Mother Abbess is the head of the Nonnberg Abbey that sends Maria Rainer to the Von Trapp family as a governess and later shelters the fleeing family.

Christine has been involved with music department productions for the past four years as a pianist and was seen last year as Sister Sarah Brown in "Guys & Dolls".

Ken will play the part of Captain Von Trapp upon whose family the story is based. After his wife's death, Captain Von Trapp is left to rear seven children. When the governess Maria Rainer comes to the family, she brings love, laughter and music to him and his family. Ken is a veteran of TVHS musical productions. He has performed in "Finian's Rainbow" and "South Pacific". Ken has also been a four year member of the band playing lead trumpet.

Many hours of rehearsal have gone into this production not only for the cast but for the stage crew and other supporting committees. Members of the stage crew are LuAnn Knoop, Greg Lowe, Katrina Bush, Deb Shank, Felicia Harrell, Marty Smith, Sherri Clark, Barb Bascom, Cheryl Powell, Dana Daake and Jeff Swanson. Pianists for the performances as well as the many hours of rehearsal have been Beth Fugate and Marilyn King.

Franklin Trustee to be at Mentone

Franklin Township Trustee, Donald Smalley, will be at the Fire Station in Mentone on Saturday morning, April 19, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon for the purpose of assessing personal property and to enable residents to purchase dog tags. If you desire an appointment for another time, please contact the trustee's office at 491-2590.

Local residents who have been hired to do follow-up work in this area for the 1980 Census of Population and Housing have begun their training, according to district manager, James Kizer. Training sessions for these enumerators, or census takers, last two days. They are instructed on the use of the census questionnaire, census definitions, and map reading.

The training prepares them for interviewing people in households from which no census questionnaires have been mailed back or from which incomplete questionnaires were returned. Most of these latter calls will be made by telephone rather than personal visit, the manager said. Their follow-up calls will begin about April 16.

60 YEARS AGO

Lew Wade has taken the position of night officer recently vacated by Frank Moore. The town board advanced the salary of night man to $90 a month.

A full house greeted the Easter musical services at the Methodist church Sunday evening. The affair staged under the direction of Miss Deborah Strong proved enjoyable, each person taking part with ease.

The weather man saved up for Easter this year one of the worse snow storms seen here in years. Beginning Sunday morning, the wind swept with great velocity, bringing a sheet of snow which by night had covered everything to a depth of 10 inches. The roads in some places were nearly impassable. The storm was followed by lower temperature.

Miss Vera Arter, Monday evening while cranking her Ford, had the misfortune to dislocate her knee.

Miss Mildred Shesler, Monday, resigned her position with the NEWS to take effect April 17, when she will accept a position with the National Malleable Cast Iron Works at Indianapolis.

Dr. and Mrs. Chas. Barrett last week purchased property in Louisville, Ky. where Mr. Barrett is employed. They will move there soon.

39 YEARS AGO

Rochester, and editor and Mrs. Claude Billings, Akron.

Miss Barbara Gast of New Castle spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Gast.

Mary Emahiser is on the committee for the All-Women's Conference to be at Indiana University April 14 and 15. Mary is a member of the hospitality committee. Dr. Mary R. Beard, authoress and historian, will be the principal speaker for the conference, which is held for the purpose of assisting college women to prepare their life after college.

25 YEARS AGO

Frank Peters of Disko received word that the order to close the postoffice had been changed and that the office would remain open. Just what brought about this change of decision is not known, but it is believed that a petition signed by most of the patrons had a lot to do with it.

Thirty-five members of the Akron senior class, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Buzzard, principal Granville Deaton and Mrs. Walter Waechter, will leave Sunday from the Erie station for their annual trek to Washington D.C. and New York.

10 YEARS AGO

The Lee Ratliff family southwest of Mentone lost all its possessions when their home burned Sunday morning. The family is searching for a place to live and members of the Mentone Fireman's Auxiliary are collecting clothing for the family. Mr. Ratliff is employed at the Tippecanoe Foundry.

Warning system set up at Mentone

The Mentone Town Board has instituted new precautionary measures to warn the residents in case of an emergency tornado watch or warning.

According to Frank Hardesty, Board president, all Fire Department personnel will be put on alert if a tornado watch (which means weather conditions are favorable for a tornado) is issued by the Weather Service. Spotters will be posted at Tippecanoe Valley High School, Manwaring Hill, and Wierick Hill to keep a look out for possible tornadoes. All local schools and churches will be notified of the watch.

In the case of a tornado warning (which means a tornado has been sighted) one three-minute siren alarm will be issued. Hardesty stressed that this is not intended to frighten persons, but to warn them of a possible tornado touchdown. Fire personnel will begin traveling street by street with a public address system to warn persons to take cover. All schools, churches, factories and mills will be notified immediately. Persons in their homes should take cover in a southwest corner of their basements and persons outside should seek low-lying ground for safety. Headquarters for all safety services in such an emergency will be located at the Fire Station.

Taken from the April 22, 1953 issue of The Northern Indiana Co-Op News:

Mrs. Fred Lemler, Worthy Matron of the Mentone chapter, O.E.S. and Mrs. Lyman Mollenhour, Associate Matron, will be delegates to the Indiana Grand Chapter sessions being held in the Murat Temple at Indianapolis, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

New books at Bell Memorial

New books recently received at the Bell Memorial Public Library include the following:

PULLING YOUR OWN STRINGS by Dr. Wayne Dyer. Techniques for dealing with other people and mastering your own life.

AMANDA/MIRANDA by Richard Peck. A big, rich involving story of "upstairs downstairs" life but with undertones of dark passions that profoundly shape the destinies of two women: Amanda, spoiled to the point of malignancy, totally involved with her corrupt manipulations; and of Miranda, gentle, sensitive, but with the intelligence - and the will - to survive.

PARK'S SUCCESS WITH SEEDS by Ann Reilly. Many garden plants start from seed. To help you derive the greatest pleasure and achieve the greatest measure of success, here is a concise but encyclopedic volume of all the things you need to know about the seeds you grow.

THE LAMB'S WAR by Jan deHartog. This novel opens in Nazi-occupied Europe and moves on to the American southwest. It tells a most dramatic and soul-stirring story and dares to ask the ultimate question: why are we here and why do we act as we do.

THE SONG OF THE SIREN by Philippa Carr. As England erupts in violent Jacobite upheaval, two half-sisters - one of surpassing beauty and untamed spirit; the other plain, shy and dutiful - vie for the love of a man and the life of a child.

The Library has received new road maps for individual states and some major cities. Canadian maps are also available.

Maps may be borrowed on the same basis as books in the collection.

The Annual Spring Concert presented by the music department under the direction of Roger Kelly was a success both musically and financially. The first part of the program was presented by the mixed chorus. The school band presented the last half of the program. The gross receipts will be used to pay the expenses of the music department, including the cost of new music, repair of instruments, entry fee at the district band contest and other expenses of the concert.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Knecht, of Terre Haute, visited a week ago Monday in the home of Mrs. Knecht's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Hill.

Miss Ethna Scott, a deputy in the county clerk's office at the court house for the past six years, has resigned in order to become secretary to Warsaw attorney Robert L. Rasor. Rasor, who serves as county attorney, has been without a full-time secretary since the former Miss Rose Jean Minear resigned a few months ago when she married Robert Willis.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Manwaring arrived at their home in Mentone on Wednesday after spending the winter in Florida.

On April 26 at 2:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church, Maude Snyder presented the following students in a spring recital: Janet Besson, Maria Tucker, Lucile, Elizabeth and Kathryn Kroger, Sandra and Judy Barkman, Carol Ann Dickey, Jay Rider, Marilyn Horn, Mary Fites, Tommy Cooper, Emma Clutter, Sherry and Sue Shoemaker, Wilberta and Karen Latimer, Sandra Miller, Betty Copeland, Danya Creviston, Sandra Ballenger, Sharon Carpenter, Janice and Nancy Winks, Barbara Hoover, Kathie Newcomb, Becky Robinson, Maria Montalbon, Mary Miller, Ken Jones, Dorothy Kendall, Brenda Ward, Chas. Congressman Quayle

DEAR EDITOR,

I recently had the pleasure of attending a Republican dinner in northern Indiana. The guest speaker at this particular function was Congressman Dan Quayle from the fourth district. Mr. Quayle is a very attractive young man and a very smooth talker. Dan made frequent comments regarding balancing our Federal budget and the crowd again applauded.

As I was leaving the dinner, a full page newspaper ad by Roger Marsh was brought to my attention which indicated that Mr. Quayle did not even vote for the issue he claims to be so concerned about, balancing the federal budget. Being a skeptic, I checked the Congressional Record myself and, much to my chagrin, I found that Congressman Quayle is wasting the taxpayers money by not representing the interest of Hoosiers. Mr. Quayle missed 255 votes in the past year and a half!

If you are a skeptic and would like to check up on your law makers in Washington write to: Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Thank you,
Frosty Bowers.

"I think fire. I am scared to death of having a fire. Another thing I have always been frightened of is lightning."

Garry Wise, Mentone:

"I guess I don't really have anything that hangs over me. I suppose it would be that something might happen to my children."

Hazel Lukens, Akron:
"My husband and I are both over 80 and we don't have a lot of fears."

Jessie Bentley, Mentone:
"All the problems in the world - the hostages in Iran, inflation - that kind of thing."

There has been a lot of controversy over whether the US should allow their Olympic teams to participate in the summer games in Moscow. Last week the US Olympic Committee showed signs of reversing their decision of two months ago to abide by President Carter's plans to boycott the games. Carter, in one of the few firm decisions he has made in recent months, responded by threatening to revoke the athlete's passports. Thus, on Saturday, the USOC reluctantly voted to honor Carter's wishes.

It is an unfortunate situation. By revoking passports, the President could have justly been accused of infringing on their rights. The athletes protest that they have devoted many years of their lives to preparing for the Olympic games, and it is unfair for them to have to give up their dreams. And they're right, it isn't a bit fair. But many things aren't fair. They cry that they're being used as pawns in a political situation. I don't think they are so much pawns as they are victims. But so are the Afghanistan people victims.

Hard as it is to accept, the athletes are playing a very minor part in all this controversy. More is at stake here than the disappointments of one select group. The President made a decision weeks ago to boycott the games, and to reverse that decision now would only further undermine his effectiveness in world matters. Boycotting the Olympics, whether alone or with other countries, will show the world that the US is serious in their condemnation of Soviet aggression in Afghanistan. It will be a devastating insult to the Soviets, and will deny them the opportunity to 'show-off' their country and their system of government. It is also necessary to show the world that US foreign policy cannot be dictated by a small-interest group.

This situation has been compared to the 1936 Olympic games that were held in Berlin. The world, by that time, was aware of Germany's treatment of Jewish citizens, but it was overlooked in the interest of the games. Every country entered in the games showed up, enabling Hitler to exultantly proclaim, "They all came!" Let's not give Soviet officials the chance to also boast, "They all came!"

Earth Day involves concerned citizens with environment

What were you doing ten years ago on April 22? Did you participate in Earth Day? Were you concerned about what was happening to the environment? Are you still concerned?

On April 22, 1980, you can again participate in Earth Day -- Earth Day '80. While the environment is considerably cleaner than in 1970, and a new environmental industry has developed, there is still much that needs to be done. So Earth Day '80 is the time to think about where we still need to improve.

Here are some suggestions from the Environmental Protection Agency:

Take a look around your town. How many people are riding to or from work alone in a car? Are there signs that older buildings and statues are changing color or crumbling away? Are pollution alerts fairly common in warm weather?

In cities, automobile exhausts and industrial smoke are the biggest cause of air pollution. The soot and fly ash from factories and utilities act like sandpaper scratching away at buildings and statues and darkening them. The chemicals from car exhausts and some factories can mix with smoke and sunlight to make eye-stinging smog. And when the chemicals mix with rain, you have "acid rain" that can eat away at cars, sidewalks, and trees.

To help clear the air, you need to use public transportation, and carpools, and make sure that your city enforces pollution standards.

There are pollution standards for water, too. But the most common water pollutant is dirt washed from the land into water. This is particularly a problem where there is farming near a stream or where construction is going on. Chemical fertilizers also show up in water causing algae to multiply. They can absorb oxygen from the water so that fish are killed. And of course poorly treated sewage produces bacteria in water supplies.

Garbage and pesticides can also harm the water. And noise pollution can affect our health without our even realizing it.

Earth Day '80 will focus attention on many of these problems, and help reach some answers. And for more information aimed at children, but useful for everyone, send for a copy of the EPA booklet, Earth Trek...Explore Your Environment. It's $1.80 from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Special credit restraint program

By Diana Streevey Bucher

(Editor's Note: Last week the NEWS interviewed the clerk-treasurers of Mentone and Akron, Kate Whetstone and Ernie Smith, to discover how federal revenue-sharing funds were used in our communities. President Carter's fourth economic plan to stop inflation will probably put an end to these funds, and we wanted to alert our readers to the affect this would have on them.

Along with his proposed budget cuts, Carter has authorized the Federal Reserve Board to curb consumer credit. This week the NEWS spoke to the Presidents of our local banks to find out how credit controls will affect local lending institutions.)

Did you put off buying your dream home last year? How about the washer/dryer you've been promising yourself? Will you be able to buy that 1980 economy car you've been thinking about? With the state of the economy the way it is, buying things you took for granted 18 months ago may be just out of reach today. President Carter and the Federal Reserve Board (FRB) are initiating new banking guidelines, and unless you have a college degree in banking, it's difficult to understand what's going on. Can you get a loan if you need it? Can you afford the loan if you get it? And what do they mean by 'inflationary buying'?

Read on. Randall Leininger at the Akron Exchange State Bank, tried to explain the FRB's Special Credit Restraint Program. It went into effect on March 14, 1980, and since it is an untried, untested program, no one is sure yet just how to interpret it. Although it is a 'voluntary' program, the FRB has placed ceiling limits on the amount of money banks should loan between Dec. 31, 1979 and Dec. 31, 1980. The Akron Bank, in compliance with the program, submitted a report on March 14 to the FRB listing the amount of their open-end credit (installment and retail installment) loans.

The FRB restrictions, at this time, will not affect local banks as much as they will larger city banks. If a bank stays under a $2 million ceiling in consumer credit loans, they will not have to take any special action (the Akron Bank has approximately $1,600,000 in consumer credit loans). Banks that show a balance over the $2 million figure are limited to a 6% - 9% increase in the allotted time period. If they show increases over that amount, they must deposit a percentage of the extra amount of money with the FRB. This will in turn limit the monies they have to lend to consumers.

Mr. Leininger said there has been local inflationary buying. "A lot of people did try, when interest rates first began rising, to get loans. They wanted to borrow on the premise that if they buy now, they can pay later in cheaper dollars (as interest rates continue to rise and money is worth less). But the number of people requesting loans now is diminishing, as interest rates have reached all-time highs." He also reported that, while the Akron Bank has money to lend, they will devote more attention to the customer's ability to repay a loan.

F. D. Miner, President at the Farmer's State Bank in Mentone, confirmed there will be difficulty in figuring out the Special Credit Restraint Program, as he interpreted the guidelines differently from Mr. Leininger. Farmer's State Bank filed no report with the FRB on March 14 because they don't believe they are affected by the program guidelines. Bank officials there understand that, as they fell below the $2 million ceiling, they don't have to file a consumer credit report. Mr. Miner explained that car, mobile home, truck, business and mortgage loans are excluded from the $2 million limit. While they estimate the bank has over $4 million in consumer loans, they figure over half of the loans are excluded from the reporting requirements.

The main purpose of the loan regulation, according to Mr. Miner, is to limit 'luxury' loans (for furniture, vacations, etc.) and revolving credit (credit cards). He added, "Not a lot of people have been coming in for loans in the last six months. People are regulating themselves. As interest rates are at an all-time high, mortgage loan requests are almost at a standstill."

Will this attempt of the Federal Reserve Board to regulate loans help to curb inflation? Bob Taylor and Randall Leininger at Akron Exchange expressed doubts, pointing out that it was still a voluntary program and didn't necessarily mean it would help the situation. F. D. Miner was more hopeful, although he qualified his answer. "I don't think the steps the government is taking will help as much as the general public itself, which is already restraining from buying. It's the law of supply and demand. When demand for products is down, prices are down. When demand is up, prices are up. It's a natural economic law."

Simple, right?

Superintendent Harrell resigns

by Diana Streevey Bucher

Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation Superintendent Lloyd W. Harrell submitted his resignation at the Monday, April 21 meeting of the School Board. Reading from the resignation, Dr. Harrell gravely stated, "If there were a glimmer of hope that a commonness of purpose - a cooperation of the many forces which determine educational goals and aspirations of a community existed; then I believe the district would be moving in a positive direction and I would gladly, enthusiastically accept the challenge and continue to provide the necessary leadership . . . but to say the least, it has become a personally frustrating and a personally unsatisfactory position."

"Under the circumstances, it is only fair to the board and to myself to resign at this time in order that the board will have sufficient time to employ a successor and for me to seek other employment. My intention, at this time is to remain in the community. To dispel any rumors that might arise, my health if not a factor in my decision. I believe, and my doctor corroborates this, that I am in much better health than a year ago."

"My only concern is that I may have been too impatient for a positive direction to reassert itself, but in these fast changing times we must run, not walk, if we are to keep pace with the times."

Dr. Harrell tendered his resignation just moments after the School Board rejected one of his recommendations concerning teacher contracts. The recommendation in question would have resulted in the non-renewal of three teacher contracts. While the board didn't vote to grant contracts to the three teachers, they did postpone a decision until their next executive session, scheduled for April 28.

Dr. Harrell had presented to the board a list of all the teachers in the corporation. 45 teachers are considered permanent and have continuing contracts, so no action was needed by the board. There are 28 semi-permanent teachers (who have been with TVSC three, four, or five years), and Dr.

Harrell recommended five of them for change to permanent status. These are: Debra Hull, Marlene Nellans, John Parker, Rebecca Smith and Joanne Welch.

Of the 30 non-permanent teachers in the corporation, several have met the requirements for change to semi-permanent status. Dr. Harrell advised the board to effect this change, with the exception of Cindy Carwile (elementary music teacher), Sherry DeWald (special education) and Vicki Smith (special education, mildly handicapped or retarded). He recommended their contracts not be renewed with the words, "It is my professional judgement it is in the best interest of the TVSC they be non-renewed."

With no discussion concerning the matter, board member Don Snipes moved to accept Dr. Harrell's recommendation. Lee Norris seconded, and the vote was: Norris, yes; Vern Meredith, no; Everett Besson, no; Snipes, yes; Con Shewman, no.

Meredith moved to table the three contracts recommended for non-renewal, and it passed unanimously.

Earlier in the meeting, the board listened to a progress report from Chuck Posthumus, representative from Davenport architectural firm. He and the building advisory committees from the three schools have been working on finishes and re-modeling in individual rooms in the grade schools. He showed slides of proposed floor plans, site plans and block elevations for Burket, Akron and Mentone.

Dr. Harrell recommended the board adopt a set of six district goals for 1980-81. They are:

- 1) An austerity budget program - this would include hiring no new personnel or programs with the exception of possible curriculum changes.
- 2) An increase in productivity - one way to fight inflation is to establish more efficient use of equipment and human resources through better planning.
- 3) Conservation of energy - exploring all possible means of saving energy, including reviewing bus routes and possible conversion of gasoline engines to LP gas.

4) Positive life attitude program - adopting a program to get back to the basic religious beliefs of honesty, integrity, loyalty and faith.

5) Public relations - initiating program to provide facts about building projects and accentuate the positive aspects of the TVSC (students), not the negative.

Grace and Ralph Rader and Kermit Burrous

Raders honored by Chamber of Commerce

by Diana Streevey Bucher

Area residents Ralph and Grace Rader were honored by the Akron Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, April 16, at a dinner in the Akron school cafeteria. Indiana Speaker of the House, Kermit Burrous (R), was present to pay tribute to his friend and former colleague.

After dinner, the audience was entertained by guitarist/banjoist Larry VanDeventer, a principal at Decatur, Indiana. Introduced by Robert DuBois as "the man with a hundred voices, a thousand instruments and a million jokes", Mr. Van Deventer delighted the crowd with his songs and playful banter.

Mr. Rader's political career, both at home and in Indianapolis, was briefly outlined. His first venture into politics was as a precinct committeeman and a member of the Henry Township Advisory Board. In 1942 he was elected Township Trustee, without opposition from either party, and he served in that post for two terms (until 1950). In 1954 Mr. Rader was elected to the Indiana House of Representatives, and he was re-elected to that position for four additional terms.

In 1963 Mr. Rader chose not to seek re-election. He was asked to serve as Administrative Assistant to Dr. Otis Bowen (who was Speaker of the House), and he remained in that position until Dr. Bowen was elected Governor in 1972. Representative Kermit Burrous was then selected as Speaker of the House, and Mr. Rader accepted the position as his Administrative Assistant.

When the 101st session of the Indiana Legislature adjourned this year, the Raders were honored by the House with a resolution commending them for their years of service in state government.

Kermit Burrous related several anecdotes about Ralph during the years they worked together in Indianapolis, and he stated Grace and Ralph Rader were known as the "gracious gentleman and lady of the House staff." He ended his comments by stating, "For five terms he (Mr. Rader) was served by the staff, and then he chose to be a servant. Nothing could have better proven his dedication."

Randall Leininger concluded the honors of the evening by presenting Mr. Rader with a plaque from the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Rader thanked the Chamber and his family in his closing remarks, adding that "the community where you live and the people have been more than kind to us. It is one of the greatest communities to live in I know of."

Apartment complex planned for Akron

Randall Leininger, president of the Akron Exchange State Bank, announced today that plans are proceeding for construction of apartments for the elderly in Akron.

The complex is being developed by Dr. Ken Hoff of Rochester. Dr. Hoff has recently opened "Water Haven Apartments" in Rochester and the Akron complex will be of similar design.

Sixteen units and a community and office facility are being planned. Dr. Hoff stated,

"Akron is a fine community with progressive leaders and good, hard working people. It seems evident that the area is in great need for comfortable, attractive rental units at low affordable prices, and that is just what I hope to provide."

Mr. Leininger and Ron Fenimore of the Akron Town Board have been working closely with Dr. Hoff during the early planning stages and will keep the public informed of future progress about the development.

Fire station to receive facelift

May 9 set as "clean-up" day

by Diana Streevey Bucher

The Akron Town Board met on Tuesday, April 15, for a regular meeting. All members plus Clerk Ernie Smith were present.

President Ron Fenimore reported that he and Mr. Smith had consulted with contractor Rex Bowen concerning a new front for the fire station. Included in the repair/reconstruction will be removing the 10 ft. overhead door and installing a new 14 ft. overhead door, redoing the sidewalk in front of the station and re-finishing the face of the building.

Mr. Bowen agreed to do the work on a labor/material proposition. He estimated the entire job will cost $8600, and he would have it finished by July 1. The board voted unanimously to sign a contract with Mr. Bowen.

The board decided to set the first full week in May (4-11) as Town Clean-Up Week. They will hire extra help to assist with trash pick-up on Friday, May 9, and they invite residents to leave ANY trash (old furniture, appliances, etc.) on their curbs that day for free pick-up. They urge residents to clean up their properties during this week.

President Fenimore advised the board that Ned and Joann Schuler are interested in starting an apartment housing project northwest of Akron park. They agreed to contact Boyd Phillips, an engineering firm, to come for a consultation concerning sewage and water line requirements for such a project. Mr. Fenimore also reported Dr. Kenneth Hoff is still considering a senior-citizen apartment complex immediately east of Bahney's Chevrolet.

The board decided to have the water tanks inspected. While water funds are low at this time, President Fenimore said they should have the tanks inspected so they can prepare for the day they will have to be reconditioned.

In other business:

*Charles Miller was instructed to check with the state to see about getting the streets cleaned.

*Mr. Smith advised the board that he had received a letter concerning revenue-sharing funds. He reported there were no federal monies budgeted for the funds after 1980, so the town budget will have to be planned without this form of revenue.

*Mr. Smith showed the board a large aerial photograph of Akron and the surrounding area prepared by Robert Daake. Art Craig had delivered it to the clerk's office on April 15 from the county surveyor's office.

*Police report was submitted from the time period March 11 to April 15, 1980. There were: complaints, 26; accidents, 8; funeral escorts, 3; warnings, 5; cars at trailers checked, 5; thefts, 2; vandalism, 4; A.T.L., 3; dog complaints, 6; tavern fights, 2; and open doors, 3. The police car was driven 3,531 miles.

Akron Clerk-Treasurer, Ernie Smith, and Town Board President, Ron Fenimore, display the aerial photograph of Akron prepared by Fulton County Surveyor, Robert Daake.

Dr. Kenneth Hoff seeks county coroner nomination

Dr. Kenneth Hoff, Rochester, is seeking the office of County Coroner on the Republican ballot. Hoff is the first physician in twelve years to run for the post.

He is the son of Richard and Betty Hoff, R. 1, Lucerne. He graduated from Caston High School and Ball State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemistry and Biology. He graduated Cum Laude from BSU and was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He attended Indiana University School of Medicine and received a Doctor of Medicine degree in 1973.

Dr. Hoff began medical practice in July, 1974, at 816 Main Street, Rochester. He is 31 years old and resides at 1029 Main Street. He has a daughter, Melissa Ann, 10, who attends Columbia Elementary School.

Hoff is a member of the Church of the Brethren, Board of Directors of the Fulton County Family Y, lifetime member of the Fulton County Historical Society, medical director of the Fulton County Mental Health Association and medical director of the Fulton County March of Dimes. Since joining the Woodlawn Hospital Medical staff in 1974, he has served as secretary-treasurer, vice-president and Chief-of-Staff in 1978 and 1979.

Dr. Hoff states that he is seeking the office of County Coroner, "because Fulton County deserves to have a physician as Coroner. One of the duties of the Coroner is to determine the cause of death in any circumstance in which death is unexplained. To adequately perform that duty, the extensive medical training of a physician is a necessity."

All girls who are interested in applying for the scholarship should contact Kim Robinson no later than May 1. Her phone number is 893-4338.

Baseball players, it is reported, are 316 to one in favor of a strike if they don't get their way.

Fortunately, that's one strike people don't have to worry about. . . except for possibly the citizens of cities who have built fabulously expensive stadiums in which the trained seals of professional athletics can perform.

Most strikes hurt everyone from the striking worker to the employer. Most important of all, the supply network for that business is stripped of its way of making a living by a situation over which they have no control.

Not this one. Not a single life will be disrupted if baseball isn't played. Few, other than the unfortunate park vendors and their employers, will lose any income. Food, clothing, heat, housing, none of it will be affected.

People don't even have to worry about who is right and who is wrong.

We have no argument with the players attempting to get all they can from multi-millionaire owners who are apparently doing just fine.

We have one big complaint. We have objected, will object, will forever remain furious about the system that has furnished dozens of stadiums of taxpayers' expense so athletes can make big money and multi-millionaire owners are not required to build, for want of a better word, their own factories.

And that's all a stadium is. . . a factory from which the working ballplayer and owner can sell their wares.

Frank Navin built his own stadium in Detroit. Walter Briggs rebuilt it. The Comiskey, Wrigleys, Connie Mack, the owners of old Yankee Stadium took care of their own ball parks. Every stadium in the land until Cleveland built its Municipal Stadium after World War II, was built by the man who owned the ball club.

If the owners were paying for their stadiums, we'd say let the players and owners fight it out.

As it is, the taxpayer citizen has been made an innocent pawn.

As for the ballplayers themselves, we don't care if they never play again.

None of them have any loyalty at all except to their own pocketbook. So we need not have concern for them.

Nice to have one problem pop up that requires no worry or concern for the average person.

SR19 was closed last Thursday and Friday as a state construction crew replaced tile in a culvert one mile south of Mentone. Their work was not without mishap; on Thursday they cut through both a gas line and a telephone cable.

It happened in Mentone

Taken from the April 29, 1953 issue of The Northern Indiana Co-Op News:

Ernest Plymale, electrician for the Baker Jewelry and Appliances store was badly bruised Tuesday afternoon when he was knocked from a ladder while working at Midwest Spring Mfg. plant. Mr. Plymale was doing electrical work above a door when someone, not aware that he was there, opened the door. He was knocked from the ladder and landed on a pipe vise and other equipment. One shoulder and his hip were injured, but x-rays disclosed no broken bones. Last reports were that he is recuperating satisfactorily.

Last Saturday afternoon the board of county commissioners appointed Mrs. Opal Tucker as trustee to fill out the unexpired term of her late husband, Royce Tucker. Her term will run until Dec. 31, 1954.

At the Ft. Wayne district 4-H demonstration and judging contest held Saturday at Shipshewana, Wilburta Latimer placed first with her demonstration of "Save Pigs Safely". Wilburta will get to go to Purdue Round-Up in June because of her placing.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooper left Monday afternoon on a ten-day trip into the southern states.

The Dewey King family had a very happy surprise last Wednesday evening when their son Tommy walked in - home again from overseas. He has been in Japan and Korea and is now stationed at Pearl Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Shirey have started the construction of a new home just east of the lovely new home of Mr. and Mrs. Denton Abbey on Road 25, east of Mentone.

Mrs. Eldon Horn and Mrs. Edison Vandermark were heard over Station WRSW Thursday with the Home Demonstration county chorus.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith are involved in rather extensive remodeling operations at their store in the south part of Mentone. The gas pumps at the front of the store are being moved to the north of their present location, and the present drive-way area will be fully enclosed. Considerable interior modernization is also in the plans.

Area students on IU Dean's List

Four area students were named to the IU Dean's List for the first semester this year.

To make the Dean's List, students must earn a 3.5 grade average or better in a minimum of 12 hours of course work. An all-A average is 4.0.

Families of honor students have been invited to the Bloomington campus for the April 16 program, which recognizes both academic achievement of the undergraduate students and teaching excellence of the faculty.

Area students to be honored are: John William Ettinger, Mentone; Jeffrey Alan McKee, Akron; Linda Coplen McKee, Akron; and Dena Rochelle Shriver, Akron.

If you need to defrost frozen bread or rolls in a hurry, put them in a brown paper bag and put that in a 325 degree oven for five minutes.

The NEWS Asks:

"The federal government will most likely end revenue-sharing funds to cities and towns. If Akron and Mentone lose these funds, free garbage pick-up will probably end. Would you rather pay the town a fee (at $3 or $4 a month) to continue to pick up your trash, or would you rather they discontinue the pick-up completely?"

Geneva Holbrook, Mentone: "I'd rather pay them rather than have them stop. We have to have that."

M. K. Marshall, Mentone: "I'm on the sick list and I couldn't do that (haul her own trash) very well. But I only have half a sack every week; sometimes I don't have any. I don't know what I'd want."

Marie Coon, Akron: "We have to have somebody pick it up, so I suppose that's it. I wouldn't want to pay any more than that."

Terrie Davis, Akron: "I'd rather pay $3 or $4 and have the garbage pick-up."

Joyce Bose, Mentone: "I think it would be easier to pay than to stop it completely."

Diana

Donna Romine, Mentone: "I'd rather pay whatever it costs than stop the service. We've been fortunate we haven't had to pay before. I think we're one of the few places that hasn't had to pay before now."

"The Third Time Around" at Carnegie Library

New books received at the Akron Carnegie Public Library include the following:

MY GOD WILL SUPPLY by Dede Robertson. The author is the wife of Pat Robertson, famous host of the "700 CLUB" TV show and founder of the Christian Broadcasting Network. This book tells Dede's own story including a look at CBN's birth and growth from a woman's perspective.

SUCH INTERESTING PEOPLE by Margaret Culkin Bannig. When the first Northerners came to settle in DeSoto, N.C. more than five decades ago, its old residents took the modest incursion in stride. For the most part the newcomers were quiet, prosperous, responsive to the traditions of this lovely southern town nestled among the mountains. We watch all these people work out their different courses, sometimes painful, sometimes satisfying, touched and shaped by changes that are true not only of DeSoto but of towns all across the country.

THE THIRD TIME AROUND by George Burns. A warm, sprightly, and uproarious memoir from George Burns, America's best loved and most popular comedian. This is entertainment at its best from the master entertainer.

DATeline AMERICA by Charles Kuralt. A fresh and heartwarming celebration of America by the CBS News correspondent who writes about small towns and ordinary people in a way that makes us see our country through new eyes.

YES by Ann Kiemel. In this book - Ann tells - in her usual honest, charming way - how she has answered a resounding Yes to each of God's probing questions and challenges in her life. Here is a window into Ann's heart, where the reader may see clearly this young single woman's devotion to Jesus and her unwavering mania-festo: "For to me, to live in Christ."

RIGHT BRAIN by Thomas R. Blakeslee. This book gives us a new understanding of the unconscious mind and its creative powers.

THE COMPLETE JOB-SEARCH HANDBOOK by Howard Figler. All the skills you need to get any job and have a good time doing it.

Burket 5th creates fairy tales

Each fifth grader in Marcia Ousley's class was given a child's name from the kindergarten class. He then began writing an original story which a younger child would appreciate. The class had to brush up on manuscript writing skills; setting, characters, plot and theme were important factors to include in each story. Organizing, capitalization, punctuation and good sentence structure came next. Most included colorful illustrations, a dedication page, and a "things to do page". After proofreading, students placed their completed story in a self-made book jacket. Stories ranged from five pages to thirteen.

Titles of several included: "The Cat Came Back", "The Old Woman", "Runaway Whiskers", "There Once Was A Dragon", "110 Dalmations" and "The Cat That Wanted to be a Tiger".

Fifth graders then read and presented the booklets to their own special "little" persons. Kindergarteners were surprised and excited! They will never forget the day their special "big" person visited the kindergarten room.

Jabberwocky

By Diana Streevey Bucher

Well, fellow citizens, I've got some bad news this week. Once again our government is calling upon us to bail them out of a tight spot. This time it's the US Postal Service that is wearing egg on its face.

Since 1976 the Postal Service has spent $4,175,000 on a Madison Avenue ad campaign to make Americans write more letters to one another. That's right, count 'em folks - $4,175,000.

Unfortunately, I think they overlooked one thing. Many people, myself included, hate to write letters. No slick advertisements or commercials are going to change that basic fact. If someone tries to pressure me into writing letters, I rebel. And that seems to be what happened, because since they squandered the $4 million, ALL CLASSES of mail began losing money instead of just first-class mail.

Oh well, the damage is done and the money for the ad campaign is spent. We, as Americans, are obligated to buy 27,833,333 fifteen-cent stamps to pay for the Postal Service's mistake. To get things rolling, I wrote three letters last weekend. That only leaves 27,833,330 stamps to go before the debt is paid. So why don't you all write your mother a letter today and go buy a stamp and mail it. Just remember to take the proper change to the local post office, or you'll go home with a pocketful of Susan B. Anthony dollars.

A REMINDER to our readers who are returning home for the summer: Please notify us by a call or letter that you are home and want your paper sent to your permanent addresses. Many of you sent cards before you left with your temporary addresses and expected date of return and you're unhappy when we don't automatically change addresses when you get home. In order to do that, our office manager would have to check every single address card every week, and it's simply impossible for her to do that. Please understand, bear with us and call 893-4433 or 353-7885 when you're ready to get the paper locally again. If you like, we'll be happy to announce your homecoming in our local items.

Betty Blackburn, at our Mentone office, is changing her hours slightly. The new hours will be: Monday; 9-12 and 1-3. Tuesday; 9-12. Friday; 10-12.

All news items and classified ads MUST be in by 9:30 Tuesday to make our deadline.

"Christiana" to be shown at Talma Bible Church

"Christiana", a feature motion picture based on the second part of John Bunyan's immortal classic, PILGRIM'S PROGRESS, will be shown on April 27, at 7 p.m. at the Talma Bible Church.

"Christiana" follows the experiences of the wife and mother journeying to the Celestial City. She is accompanied by her three children and a reluctant neighbor. Together they face challenging - at times staggering - obstacles to their faith and objectives. The film becomes a parable of life, especially as life relates to Christian women.

The bridge is out, so remember, the church is on 550 E. off of Route 110.

Seward Home Extension Club plans guest day

The Seward Home Extension Club met recently in the social room of the Burket United Methodist Church. Vice-president Minnie Smalley led the group in pledges to the American and Christian flags and the club creed. Nineteen members answered roll call.

Meet the owner of. . . the Pac-Rat Palace

by Diana Streevey Bucher

Have you been wondering what to buy your mother for Mother's Day? Or what to get Aunt Agnes for her birthday? Maybe you should take a trip to Mentone's Pac-Rat Palace. Harold and Ellanora Yazel, proprietors of the antique/gift shop, opened the Palace in November of last year. They stocked the shop by attending sales, auctions and art fairs. Mrs. Yazel explained their furniture stock is currently low, but she and her husband are starting to go on buying trips now that the weather is warming up. Many of the items in the shop are there on consignment. Mrs. Yazel displays the wares for the owners and, when something sells, she receives a 20% commission. She has about 14 women who regularly bring in handicrafts to sell at the shop; everything from dolls to afghans to stuffed animals to pillows. One of the prominent features of the Palace is the glassware and crystal on display. There are generous samples of bowls, vases, glasses and dinnerware, plus an assortment of lamps, jars and figurines. The Yazels also have samples of wood carvings and sketches created by their son, Michael, and they accept orders for his work.

The Palace is presently open from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. daily, except Wednesday and Sunday, when the shop is closed. So if you're looking for a unique gift or item for your home, stop by and see the Pac-Rat Palace. Just don't buy the Belgium tapestry...I saw it first.

Display case in the Pac-Rat Palace features cut crystal, china and glass bowls.

Don't count on being safe from the sun even under water. Ultraviolet rays can penetrate even three feet below the water's surface.

6) Continuation and hopeful completion of building plans. The board unanimously agreed to adopt these suggestions as district goals for the next school year.

Dr. Harrell again recommended the board approve adding an auxiliary gymnasium and multipurpose building for the high school. It was not approved, although Lee Norris said he would like to see the Buildings Trade Class build the multipurpose building instead of a house next year.

In other business:

*Signing of the building project with Umbaugh (financial consultants) and ProMaCon (construction manager) was postponed until Fred Rakestraw, attorney for the project, makes a few minor changes.

*Superintendent was authorized the power to reassign buses using the following guidelines: the model number of the bus being driven, maintenance record of the driver, recommendation of bus garage mechanics, bus driver's skills and abilities, bus driver's cleanliness and care of bus, bus driver's attitude and cooperation and their willingness and extracurricular miles driven.

*The board will investigate the possible use of Power Perfect Package Series 1000, an automatic system of regulating use of electricity, in an attempt to conserve energy.

*The district-wide building advisory committee was dissolved with the board commending the members for the work they had put in. The small BACs will still work with Daverman Associates and the board.

*The summer school program for grades 5-8 will include: drivers education, remedial reading and math, speech therapy, choral and instrumental classes and a recreational program with gym, tennis, volleyball, basketball and football. The board will check into the actual number of students enrolled in the program to determine how many buses will be employed in pick-up and delivery of children.

*Board approved the recommendation to continue with the adult basic education program.

*Principal's report - Oliver England, Burket, announced their kindergarten round-up will be May 1. They expect 20 students for next year's class. The spring musical program is set for May 14.

Dan Kramer, Akron, reported they have 45 students enrolled for kindergarten next year. The Akron spring musical will be on April 29. On April 25 a fund-raising dance, sponsored by the cheerleaders for grades 6-8, will be held at the Jr. High.

Jack Fisher, Mentone, announced their spring musical will be May 6. The Mentone teachers are sponsoring a carnival and dinner on May 10 from 5-8 p.m. On April 15, the school held a meeting on drugs and drug abuse for concerned parents. Approximately 20 parents attended, and they hope to start a program to disseminate information.

Loren Skinner, TVHS, announced the Junior-Senior Prom will be May 3. The Building Trades class will view the home they built on E. Jackson Street in Mentone on May 3 and 4 from 12:00 - 5:00 p.m. On May 7, the music department will have their Pops concert. Honors and awards presentations will be the evening of

May 14. The Viking Varieties, including a one-act play, will be on May 16, and graduation will be May 18 at 2:00 p.m.

*Board approved a $700 salary for the Assistant Athletic Director for girls.

*In the audience portion of the meeting, three persons spoke on behalf of special education teacher Vicki Smith. They praised her work with handicapped children, saying she had done outstanding work both academically and toward improving their social development. They urged the board to carefully consider renewing her contract.

One gentleman asked the board to consider switching to a 12-month school system to alleviate the problems of crowding in the grade schools and cutting down on the building program.

*The board set an executive session for next Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Gristmills - grinding meal

by Eula Romayne Smith

"Jolly is the miller that lives by the mill," says the old song. If those words are true, there must have been a lot of jolly people in this community through the years.

People have been grinding grain into meal or flour for centuries. At first they rubbed flat stones together by hand, but life was easier when they used revolving stones. The size of the stone and the source of power varied with the time and place. Probably the millstones mentioned in the Bible were turned by animals or servants. During pioneer days grist or flouring mills were operated by water, and later by steam engines.

The Treaty of 1826 promised the Indians of this vicinity a gristmill to grind their corn, a miller to operate it and a blacksmith, in addition to annual payments of salt and silver. The mill, which was built near Lake Manitou at Rochester, was used only a few years before they moved West.

According to the 1879 Atlas of Kosciusko County, the first mill in Harrison Township was erected in 1838 on the banks of Trimble Creek by Islam Summy. It was a grist and sawmill operated by water power. Its facilities for grinding were limited, but it provided a great convenience to the settlers.

Sometimes Indians also stopped there to beg or buy corn meal. Without a detailed history of Palestine, we can only wonder if there were several later owners of the one mill, if there were different mills on this site, or if there were several different mills at Palestine.

A biographical sketch of T. B. Sarber tells us that his father, Abraham Sarber, built a gristmill at Palestine in 1843, but sold it the same year. Another source says Samuel and Richard Croxton built the Palestine mill about 1842. A century ago Charles Ward and N. Henderson were the millers there, and later Elmer Eddinger was in charge of Henderson's mill.

According to George Nye, a Warsaw writer, John Sloan ran the gristmill in the early 1900's, and at that time flour was hauled to Warsaw, Burket, Mentone and other towns.

A 1927 magazine article shared by the Indiana Historical Society Library said the old buhrs were still used to grind corn and buckwheat (the terms buhrstones, buhrs, or buhrs were sometimes used in place of millstones). However, this old mill burned a few years later.

In 1924 Edwin Shirey and Henry Secor bought the mill. Five years later Shirey bought out Secor, and it has remained in the Shirey family ever since. During this period the emphasis changed from flour to feed at the Lone Eagle Mill.

At old Tippecanoe Town in Marshall County a mill dam was built in 1840. N. B. and P. S. Alleman operated a flouring mill there for many years in addition to the woolen mill which lasted from the Civil War until 1878.

By 1852 there was a gristmill at Bloomingsburg, the town which we call Talma. The 1883 Fulton County Atlas lists N. J. Clymer as proprietor of the gristmill worth $10,000. A few years ago Ralph Hatfield described the three-story gristmill back of Hatfield's old store and mentioned the mill dam back of Robert Calvert's.

Edwin C. Gordon operated a steam sawmill at Sevastopol for several years before he attached a run of buhrs for grinding corn. Later he built a team flouring mill, which was listed as Towl & Keeseecker's in 1879.

In the late 1800's millers began replacing millstones with roller mills made of corrugated steel rollers. M. O. Mentzer wrote about one that was built in 1884, in a series of local history articles which he wrote for the Mentone News about twenty years ago. He related that his father had operated a saw mill at Little Chicago, but in the early days of Mentone his father "entered into partnership with Art Manwaring, moving his engine and boiler to Mentone and they build the first roller gristmill in miles of this place (there were a number of water-powered burr mills). This mill ran day and night for several years and people came for miles to get the more refined flour. Later Albert Tucker became a partner in the business and they shipped flour and feed as far east as Cleveland, Ohio."

At this point Mentone mill history is not quite clear. I think the mill was called the Nickel Plate Roller Mills; later, Valentine Elevator; and more recently, Agri-Center. In 1909 Star Mills advertised in the Mentone newspaper as follows:

"Flour, Best that can be Made, Feed Grinding Done Every Day. Secure your winter supply of barn and shorts while you have a chance. It will soon be scarce." No address was given for the Star Mills, but there was an early twentieth century flouring mill across the street from Hazel Linn's residence, about where Jerry Gross's Body shop is located. A picture of this mill proclaims it was "World's Best". That mill, powered by a gas engine without a muffler, was destroyed by fire.

Cecil John Rhodes, once prime minister of South Africa, left much of his fortune in gold and diamond mines to establish scholarships to Britain's Oxford University.

School Board decides on teacher contracts

by Diana Streevey Bucher

At a special meeting of the TVHS School Board on Monday evening, a decision was made on the rehiring of corporation teachers.

With no preliminary discussion, board member Don Snipes moved to accept Superintendent Harrell's recommendation or renewing teacher contracts, excepting the recommendation to non-renew the contracts of Cindy Carwile, Cheri DeWald and Vicki Smith. Board member Lee Norris seconded the motion and it passed unanimously.

Snipes then moved to follow Dr. Harrell's recommendation not to renew the contracts of the teachers in question. Norris seconded, and the motion was defeated by the following vote: Norris, yes; Vern Meredith, no; Everett Besson, no; Snipes, yes; Con Shewman, no.

Besson moved on the basis of individual teacher evaluation reports, to renew the contracts of Cindy Carwile and Vicki Smith. Meredith seconded the motion, and it passed by a vote of 3-2, with Norris and Snipes voting no.

Snipes next moved that Cheri DeWald's contract not be renewed. Norris seconded, and the motion carried 4-1, Meredith casting the only nay vote.

After the meeting, when asked what objection there was to Ms. DeWald's job performance, Lee Norris and Everett Besson explained there were no gross problems or incidents. Mr. Norris said it wasn't so much a matter of objecting to the individual as a matter of wanting the best for the corporation. The board's decision was based on the evaluation report submitted by the school administration and reviewed by the Superintendent. They added that the teachers review and sign their evaluations before they are submitted to the board.

In other business:

*Norris moved to accept extra-curricular assignments according to the Superintendent's recommendations. It passed unanimously.

*Dr. Harrell reported that he had conferred with Everett R. Brown Architectural Firm about the air handling units at the high school. In the five years since TVHS was built, there have been few changes in the basic design of the units. It would be possible to conserve energy by minor control changes, re-zoning and changing to automatic day-night cycles. Dr. Harrell recommended they have Daverman Associates' proposal for a technical audit and application for federal matching funds. After some discussion, Norris moved to not enter into a contract for the audit with Daverman, and it passed unanimously.

*Board members received an updated information list of buses and drivers.

*Board signed corrected contracts for the building project with Umbaugh Financial Consultants and ProMaCon (construction managers).

Entries are being accepted for the parade that will take place at the Mentone Egg Festival, Saturday, June 7 at 2 p.m. The theme of this year's parade is "SALUTE TO FARMERS".

The parade will form at 1 p.m. at Mentzer Park in the southwest section of town.

Trophies will be awarded for the following categories: Theme Float, Commercial Float, General Float, Antique Farm Machinery, Antique Vehicles, Marching Units, Horse Groups (Children & Adults) and Color Guard (Ladies & Men).

Cash prizes for 1st and 2nd place will be awarded to Theme, Commercial and General Floats.

Mail by May 15, 1980 to: Orabelle Meredith, Parade Chairman, P. O. Box 365, Mentone, Indiana 46539. For further information and to confirm participation, contact Ms. Meredith at 353-7531.

Eriks and Tucker win King and Queen contests

Last Friday, April 25, Akron Junior High eighth graders Terri Eriks and Chan Tucker were crowned King and Queen at the Junior high disco dance in the Akron gym. Runners-up, for queen, were Julie Shaffer and Dawn Trippiedi and, for king, were Steve Lester and Ryan Russell.

The sixth, seventh and eighth grade classes sponsored the contest to raise money to purchase new cheerleading uniforms. Winners were chosen in a penny-a-vote manner, and the students raised an incredible total of $1166.25.

The theme for the dance was "Cruisin'", and the cheerleaders decorated the gymnasium in appropriate nautical garb. Norman Metzger and the student council were in charge of the gallery (sometimes known as the concession stand), while Kevin Campbell and Dan Cooper were Captain and Co-captain of musical selections for the evening.

Other chaperons were Carol Fleetwood, Robert Hinkle, and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Holloway.

Bible explorers and satellites

There will be two challenging programs, Bible Explorers and Satellites, for our Space Aged children, ages 3-12 yrs.

The program will start Thursday, May 1, 1980, at 7:15 - 8:30 p.m. at the Akron Church of God, corner of West and Central streets in Akron.

There will be games, songs and crafts all centered around Bible memorization, and an achievement awards program will be held every 6-8 weeks. All children are welcome.

Fulton County taxes delayed

Joan Bunn, Fulton County Treasurer, announced she has received a one-month extension on the tax deadline for Fulton County residents.

Statements will be mailed by mid-May and will be due on June 10.

State jail inspector recommends closing Fulton County facility

The annual inspection of the Fulton County jail at Rochester was conducted on March 27 by state jail inspector W. B. Smith. The Indiana Department of Corrections sent copies of the report to Judge Douglas Morton and Robert Newgent, Fulton County sheriff.

The report began by stating that a grand jury inspected the jail once last year and had recommended the facility be closed and a new jail built. During the last year there were approximately 368 prisoners booked into the jail, with about 15 sentenced to the jail for a prolonged period. During this time there were two attempted escapes, one successful. The facility has a capacity for 26 prisoners.

While the report noted improvements that had been made in the last year (the installation of some lights in the catwalk area, a fire alarm system, three new showers, a new hot water heater, jail clothing and the painting of cell blocks), it listed improvements needed for the facility and additional personnel needed to meet the needs and requirements of a jail. Prisoners are not being handled according to state book-in procedures due to inadequacies of the facility and number of personnel, and written reports are not kept on all daily and weekly inspections of the jail.

The Department of Correction recommended the following improvements be made: 1) Three additional jailers are needed for proper prisoner supervision. 2) An industrial washer/dryer is needed. 3) A commercial kitchen is needed. 4) The wiring, lighting and plumbing is in very poor condition. 5) An additional matron, two deputies and clerical help is needed. 6) Security is poor in that individual cells cannot be locked. 7) The windows are insecure and allow cold air and possibly contraband to come in. 8) One shower floor is leaking into the lower cell block area from the upstairs section. 9) There have been no steps taken toward a new facility since last year's inspection and only cursory improvements have been made. The facility does not comply with needs and requirements, and we are once again recommending that the facility be closed.

New service club forming

Since the Akron Jaycees have disbanded, a few members are interested in continuing community help and improvement projects. The first activity will be to manage the town ball diamond, to continue providing community men and women softball activities. There will be no rent for the field and scheduling of practice and games can be done through Larry Howard.

Any interested men, especially past Jaycees, are encouraged to attend an organizational meeting at the Akron Lions Den, Friday, May 2 at 7:30 p.m.

For further information contact Jerry Finney, Maurice Murphy, or Larry Howard.

Terri Eriks and Chan Tucker share the first dance as King and Queen at Akron Junior High.

National Honor Society initiates Mentone students

Recently the Mentone School has initiated a National Honor Society. Those students eligible for the society are seventh and eighth graders with a "B" grade average.

The process on which the students are selected by faculty is based on: Scholarship, character, leadership, citizenship and service. The purpose of the program is to promote these five ideals.

At a January ceremony to induct members, five candles, representing the five ideals, were lit.

Those students inducted into the National Honor Society are:

Seventh graders - Lori Anderson, Erin Fitzpatrick, Mark Hughes, Michael Keirn, Lori Marcella, Roger Scott, Paula Riedel and Betty Smith.

Studded snow tires must come off

Indiana motorists have until Thursday, May 1, to remove studded snow tires from their automobiles, according to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club.

Failure to remove the tires by the deadline can result in a fine of up to $500, 60 days in jail, or both, under Indiana law.

Motorists are reminded to mark their studded tires before storing them. Failure to install the tires in the same position next fall could result in the loss of many of the studs.

Next October 1 will be the earliest date the studded tires can be put back on the car.

Chief Aubbeenaubbee history published

The history of Chief Aubbeenaubbee, a powerful Potawatomi Indian in Fulton and Marshall counties, is featured in the latest issue of the Fulton County Historical Society Quarterly.

Containing 68 pages, the largest quarterly ever published by FCHS, the booklet sells for $2 (plus 50 cents mailing) and is available by mail from Fulton County Historical Society,

7th and Pontiac, Rochester. The booklet is also for sale at the Fulton County banks, Rochester News Stand, Rochester and Akron libraries, Hardesty Printing, and the Civic Center museum, open Mon.-Fri., from 9 to 5. Written by Ervin Stutz of Plymouth, this history is unusual in that it contains a genealogy of Chief Aubbee's descendants through his daughter, Trisby Rose, who married a British soldier, James Leonard, in 1836. The Leonard family is scattered over northern Indiana, particularly the Mishawaka area, and southern Michigan. Several photos of descendants are included.

Since no photo of Chief Aubbee exists, photography not having been invented yet, drawings of the chief were made by Lee Jennings of the Fulton County Art Colony. The Cass Circuit Court seal is reproduced because it contains a likeness of Aubbee and Lewis Cass.

Chief Aubbeenaubbee owned 46 sections of land and had six wives. He took to drinking and met a grizzly fate, stabbed to death by his own son, Pau-koo-shuk, in retaliation for Aubbee's having killed the son's mother, one of Aubbee's wives. Pau-koo-shuk then sold the land for 50 cents to $1 an acre to the U.S. Government in the treaties of 1836.

Meticulously researched, the booklet contains three Indian treaties signed by Aubbee and his son, Pau-koo-shuk, and anecdotes of Aubbee's participation in the War of 1812 and the siege of Fort Wayne, as well as descriptions of his family life and the woodlands he loved.

Amplified with photographs of the Indian village sites and rivers and springs frequented by Chief Aubbee, the book represents years of work on the part of the author. The centerfold is a map of the Indian villages in Indiana and Michigan known and visited by Aubbee.

Other articles in the Quarterly include John Simmermaker's woven coverlets, Cole Bros. Circus photos, and the Whittenberger chair that George Washington sat in, now at the Civic Center museum.

by Bob Norlander

Nearly every week of the year has one reason or another to be noted because it is important to one interest group or another.

We have all heard of National Pickle week, National Week of Prayer, National 4-H Week.

Many have heard of special months of the year or special years. Recently, in the past five years, we have had the nation's special 200th birthday celebration and the International Year of the Child.

Last week, among things I can't remember, is one which I can remember. It was National Secretaries Week.

Because this business requires many phone calls to people we deal with often, we get to know the voices of those who are secretaries or those who are involved in secretarial jobs. They get to know our voices as well. Before long a first name exchange of greeting preludes almost every conversation. That kind of acquaintance is comfortable and friendly.

There are frequent other times when we must make phone call inquiries which span many miles of telephone cable. Even though we may have an idea who it is we want to talk to, we often don't know a full name, a title or a way of contacting the person we seek to converse with to gain information.

It is at those times when we talk to secretaries.

In the majority of cases, the secretarial pools have competent employees who are able and cheerfully willing to help. I and they realize that they are doing a job, performing a task for which they are reimbursed. Unless they want to keep a job they are under no obligation to be so helpful.

At times, because of the pressure of the moment or the type of question I ask, they are not obliged to answer at all. Even then they are helpful and help graciously, perhaps with the sole motivation that they, by giving us the information we want quickly, will be rid of us.

To all of the gals and guys, yes, there are male secretaries, we who rely on you constantly appreciate you. You make our days better.

Joyce Good tries for county coroner

Mrs. Joyce A. Good is believed to be the first woman ever to file candidacy in Fulton county for the office of county coroner. Mrs. Good filed on the Republican ticket to seek her party's nomination for the office which is currently held by her husband, Junior D. Good, who can not seek re-election, having served two consecutive terms.

Mrs. Good is the daughter of Otis and Beulah Burkett and has resided in this county the past 35 years. She has been associated with her husband in the Foster and Good funeral home for the past 25 years and with the Foster and Good ambulance service as an Emergency Medical Technician for several years, as well as assisting her husband in the operation of the Coroner's office during the last seven years. This is her first attempt in politics.

Mrs. Good is a graduate of Rochester High School. She is a member of the Grace United Methodist Church, Order of Eastern Star, Young Women's Club, Psi Iota Xi sorority, American Legion Auxiliary and the Republican Women's Club.

Orphan train information sought

DEAR EDITOR:

We have been contacted by a researcher for Mrs. Dorothea Petrie, author of a book and producer of a television show that was aired just before Christmas entitled "Orphan Train". The book and show were based on the true stories of some of the 100,000 children who were orphaned in the East and brought to the Midwest for adoption by families between 1854 and 1929. Mrs. Petrie is planning another book and a documentary film and would like to interview as many more of these people as she can so that the stories of them, also, can be recorded as a part of our history.

The Rochester Sentinel of Oct. 13, 1893, tells of 20 children brought from the New England Home for Little Wanderers to Rochester. The following is the list of families taking these children: Peter Biddinger, boy age 9 and girl age 6; A. C. Shepherd, girl age 8; D. G. Smith, boy age 3; W. C. Lawson, boy age 3; James N. VanLue, girl age 8; L. R. Kessler, Athens, boy age 5; Leroy Myers, boy age 5; M.

R. Richter, boy age 4; L. F. Smith, boy age 21 months; J. C. Hays, Blue Grass, boy age 5 and girl age 4; Wm. Orr, girl age 9; Floyd Clemens, Athens, boy age 6; Daniel Kuffe, Athens, boy age 2; W. T. Louderback, boy age 8; C. V. Edinger, boy age 6; F. W. Hunt, girl age 11; Geo. W. Fultz, boy age 8; and G. W. Wiley, boy age 8.

We have talked to the families of two of these former orphans: Frank Fouts and Walter McNeil. Fouts was the little boy age 5 originally taken in by J. C. Hays, who died two years later so Frank was adopted by Joe Fouts. The little girl with him was his sister, Rosa Fay.

Walter McNeil was raised by Leroy Myers. McNeil's story was written in the Sentinel July 3, 1970.

Both McNeil and Fouts are dead now, but their widows, and descendants, Harold Fouts and Donald McNeil, still live in Rochester.

Are there any other descendants still living in this community? Does anyone know what happened to any of them after 1893? If so, please contact the Fulton County Historical Society, 7th and Pontiac Streets, Rochester. Our office is open Monday through Friday from 9 to 5, phone 223-4436.

Sound off

"I hope the town officials will consider new restrooms while updating the old fire station. They should be street level. The old ones are a disgrace to our town."

The NEWS Asks:

"How do you feel about President Carter's attempt to rescue the hostages?"

(Editor's note: This week, due to the nature of our question, the NEWS decided to try something new. Instead of calling people at random by telephone, I spoke to diners at Teel's Restaurant in Mentone and at the Dutch Mill in Akron.)

Guy Beasley, Akron:
"I don't know all the circumstances. I feel it was a practice run. I don't know whether they'll go back in or not; they don't know themselves."

Bobbie Wallace, Mentone:
"I think it was a mistake myself. It wasn't planned at all. It sounds like it was a spur of the moment thing."

Dale Wallace, Mentone:
"I think Carter goofed. This was either six months too late or six months too early."

Earl McElhath, Flora:
"I think the attempt should have been made sooner. Now it's going to cost us to get them back. If we go to war it will cost a lot of lives."

Ray Miller, Millersburg:
"I think it's a political hoax. They'll be out before fall (before the presidential election). I think it's a put-on. If they aren't out by election time, I'm wrong. Time will tell."

Larry Howard, Akron:
"I feel that for a mission that was that important he should have had more backup. They needed six helicopters to make it and they only started with eight. 500 miles is a long way to go without refueling. He should have planned it better."

Glen Blosser, Gosport:
"I think they should get them out of there."

Diana

Otto Burchett, Warsaw:
"I think it was a political move. He's got to do something to win."

Tom Buskirk, Warsaw:
"Carter's starting to go downhill politically and I think he did this to bail himself out. It didn't work. He's played on this situation all winter and he needed something drastic to bail him out."

Rick Wright, Thorn town:
"He waited too long and it's too late now. I think he will have to declare war to get them back, if we get them back at all."

ESTABLISHED 1891

Jabberwocky

By Diana Streevey Bucher

Next Tuesday (May 6) the polls will open for the 1980 Indiana Primary. For most of us the race with the foremost interest is the race for the presidential nomination. If you chose a Republican ballot, you theoretically can chose between Ronald Reagan, George Bush or John Anderson; remember, however, that Anderson has decided to run as an independent (without a party) because it would be virtually impossible for him to win the Republican nomination. If you chose a Democrat ballot, you will have a choice between Jimmy Carter or Ted Kennedy.

There is no doubt in my mind that the April 25 attempt to free the hostages in Iran will hurt Carter's chance to be re-elected. I cannot say that this upsets me. Over the last year Carter has continually shown himself to be inept, incompetent and unequal to the demands of his office. Now on top of the incomprehensible act of decontrolling gasoline and oil prices (to the benefit of only the oil companies), ignoring his advisors warnings about the consequences of admitting the Shah of Iran into the US and his erratic treatment of our NATO allies, he has further complicated our situation by this latest, ill-conceived, attention grabbing rescue attempt. From all appearances, this attempt had a miniscule chance of succeeding and it risked the lives of all the hostages. I personally am tired of this type of election-year foreign policy.

The front runner on the Republican ticket is Ronald Reagan. Here is a man whose single greatest asset is his campaigning style, perfected by his years of acting experience.

Reagan comes across as a sincere, personable candidate. . . until you examine his record. He is well-known for stating unfounded facts and making unfounded accusations. For example, he is fond of pointing out that he rebated $5.7 billion to Californians when he was Governor. This is true enough, but he neglects to remind voters that he increased taxes in California by $21 billion before he made the rebates. He also likes to point out deficiencies in the present administration. He cries that it costs the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) $3 overhead to deliver $1 to a needy person in the US. The actual cost, according to HEW, is 12 cents.

Other examples of Reagan's inconsistency concerns social issues. Today he opposes publicly funded abortions, but as Governor of California he signed one of the most liberal abortion laws in the nation. Between 1968 and 1974, more than 600,000 women received abortions in his state—200,000 of them publicly financed. He also was one of the first strong supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment—today he quietly opposes the amendment.

And then there are his statements that no one can quite figure out. My favorite Reagan quote is, "Americans could have cheap gasoline again by lifting Government restrictions on the oil industry". Huh?

The second string candidates are, of course, Ted Kennedy and George Bush. Kennedy, at least, has a consistent voting record in the Senate, backing not big business but the man on the street. Politically speaking, he is a strong candidate; personally speaking, there have been a lot of problems, and this has been his biggest obstacle to gaining the Democrat nomination and, possibly, the election.

George who?

John Anderson, this year's dark horse candidate, doesn't make pretty speeches and empty promises. He admits there are hard times ahead and says we need to get things under control once more. He thinks things are going to be tough for awhile.

I think this might be a good year to vote independent.

Disco planned for Y

"The Family Y summer programs are underway for the end of April and thru the month of May, several new programs and events are scheduled," says program director Sherry Long.

Disco Exercises will start its third consecutive session. This fitness program will get those summer muscles back into shape. It will be ran by a fitness leader, and you will exercise to disco music. Disco starts April 29, will be every Tuesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. "This program has been one of our most popular fitness programs for women of all ages" Sherry says. Fees are $10 per non-member or $1.50 per session to no charge for members.

Also the Y is offering a beginning tennis class. It will be under the instruction of Barb Lembke. Instruction will be given on basic ground strokes, serving, and the rules of the game. Classes will start Thursday, May 1, from 5:15 p.m. to 6:15 p.m. at the city courts. The fees will be $16 for members and $20 for non-members. Bring your own racket and register at the park, or register at the Family Y by calling the office at 223-4697.

"The Last Sleep-In of the school year will be held" says Sherry "on Friday, May 6, at 8 p.m. and ending on Saturday at 9:30 a.m. The sleep-in will be a great time to get with all school buddies for the last time before school is out. This will be for ages six to pre-teen. We will have fun and games, campfire, and marshmallows, up till the time the sandman comes to visit."

Sherry commented on a new program never tried before and that was Outside Open Volleyball. For adult men and women, try that exciting game of volleyball under the cool evening skys. A game of power volleyball or just for fun, your choice. Volleyball will start Tuesday May 6 at 7:30 p.m. till dark or 9:30, which ever comes first. Fees will be 75 cents for non-members per session or no charge for members. This program will continue till there is a lack of interest.

The Family Y will also be conducting more summer programs that may be checked on by stopping at the Y or by watching for some more news that will be introduced later.

For more information on any of the programs, contact the Family Y at 219-223-4697, between 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

To The Voters of Henry Township

From Dr. Charles L. Herrick

Please vote in the primary May 6th and when you vote, I urge you to vote for Kenneth Hoff, M.D. Republican for Coroner.

The purpose of the office of coroner is to determine the cause of death whenever the cause is in doubt. Only doctors have the extensive medical training to accurately perform that duty. It is that training that makes Dr. Hoff the qualified candidate.

Thank you.

Charles L. Herrick, M.D.

Plan now for your summer vacation
It's not a bad idea to begin planning now for your summer vacation according to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club.

Intelligent planning for that long-awaited trip begins by taking into account how much time you will have, how much you can afford to spend and looking at several possible destinations.

In planning, the AAA-CMC suggests the following:
1. Keep in mind the costs of gasoline, hotels, meals and other major expenses for each possible destination.

2. If you're going to use a fly/drive package, examine all possible air fares and the travel restrictions on each.
3. Make reservations well in advance, especially if you would like to visit a National Park, since most are very busy during summer.

4. Make sure you budget for an inspection of your automobile about a week before you leave. Otherwise you may be faced with a major, last-minute expense that could force a change in your travel plans.

If you're thinking about going overseas:
1. Consider a package tour. This year such a package (transportation, hotel and some meals) may very well be your best bargain.

2. Apply now for your passport if you don't have one.
3. Check to see if you need to be immunized prior to departure.

Mental Health campaign kickoff

The Mental Health Association, leader of one of America's most urgently needed health crusades, has launched its annual Kosciusko County Fund Raising Campaign, it was announced recently by Dennis Kessler, local campaign chairman. The 1980 campaign slogan is "Don't conserve energy that's needed. Generate it."

Mr. Kessler continued, "The Mental Health Association is an independent, voluntary agency, the only organization of its kind entirely devoted to the cause of mental health and to helping the mentally ill."

"Volunteers will give their time and generate their energy to making sure that every citizen of our community has an opportunity to become a part of the fight against this costliest of affliction - costly in terms of human suffering, as well as financially," Mr. Kessler stated.

"You can help, you can be a person who does 'make a difference' by contributing to the continuing battle being fought by the Mental Health Association."

The bell ringing campaign will be taking place the week of May 12-17. Mr. Kessler concluded by saying, that although many volunteers are already committed to helping with the Bell ringing, more are needed. Interested persons may call Douglas Garrard, President of the Kosciusko County Mental Health Association, at 267-7595 to offer their services towards making the Mental Health Month a success.
