"freezer math" is the cool science of making the best use of an electric servant that helps you be prepared for unexpected guests, busy days and food bargains.

in adding unfrozen food to a freezer, the limit is three pounds per cubic foot. That multiplies to 45 pounds for a 15-foot freezer. In an upright, put the wrapped food directly on shelves where cold air will-circulate around it. Additions go next to freezer walls in a chest type.

multiply recipes that freeze well. It takes only seconds longer to make two meat loaves than one. After the second is baked, it may be stored in a new oven-worthy plastic that can stay on when the frozen food is reheated.

divide treats your family won't (or shouldn't) finish while still in their prime. A whole cake is too much? Divide and freeze. Try freezing those with sticky frosting before wrapping.

subtract extra ice cubes from the ice maker and store in the freezer. This is one place a non-freezer wrap works well: a paper grocery bag. For storing food, stick to wraps—paper, foil or plastic—made especially for freezer use."

add one-third to one-half of the usual roasting time when cooking meat that is still frozen.

check the figures on buying guides mounted inside freezers in appliance stores. They provide facts needed for comparison shop-ping and help you match freezer size and fea-tures to your needs. The choice is varied: freez-the comparison with references to the store of the st ers combined with refrigerators, top, bottom or side-by-side; uprights and chests; full-size and compacts; added attractions like frost-free systems, ice makers and access to ice without opening the whole freezer door.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR WIFE A WIDOW

YOUR WIFE A WIDOW You may be well on the road to making your wife a widow — without knowing it! If you're not yet a candidate for membership in the Coro-nary Club, you can become one soon by assuming the role of one of the following short-lived characters: 1. The Workhorse. This part is a snap; all you have to do is try to get to the top in the shortest possible time and put your job ahead of all per-sonal considerations. Go to the office evenings, Saturdays. Sundays and holidays. Or, at least take your brief case heast take your brief case how; it's a good opportunity to review all the worries of your working day. It's also wise to stay up late working every night, because too much. Never say "No" to a request — no matter how "best" you are, and don't delegate respon-tibility. You're the only one to take all the vacation. 2. The Weekend Athlete, you have coming. 2. The Weekend Athlete, you assume this role, you haver on their way to "in a hurry! It's far easier to kill yourself having a good time hand you ally and you way for the happy hunting grounds."

the happy handing socio kill yourself having a good time than you may realized i weeks sitting behind a desk. Tempt the facts by lifting weights, running a mile or two before Sunday breakfast, or by indug-ing in a fast game of basketball or handball with the kids. Then, be sure to top that off by lugging one of those heavy, old-fashioned rubber hoses all over your lawn. 3. The Jet-Setter. When you travel, make sure you wear yourself to a frazzle. One good then head back immediately to the office or home. If you sometimes feel that you can't catch up with your-self and that you're out of tune with your surroundings, you're probably a victim of 'Jet Pace Fatigue.'' That's just fine! But don't listen to doctors, who have discovered that jet travel which crosses back and forth over time zones, upsels the body's metabolism. And don't believe that adequate rest and comfortable lodgings are im-portant to your health during a long trip. After all, it's your life. 4. The Meal-Misser. Here's another easy ticket to the Cor-onary Club; just forget about your eating habits. A balanced diet at three regular meals a day is great for kids, but you're a busy grown man. A restful meal is a waste of time for the cay is great for kids, but you're a busy grown man. A restful meal is a waste of time for the man-on-thego. You'd probably get more done by working at your deak or cramming an hour. Missing meals has a way to nibble on during the day. In the process of feeding your frustrations, you may eat your way into the hospital — and maybe even an early grave! 5. The "Teacher". When on the road make sure you're the fellow who teaches the other guys a lesson. It's really impor-tant. After all, the teacher should feel that he alone has the job of protecting the public — and that's a real service. On the highway, he zooms out around the offending driver or refuses to dim his lights if the other guy doesn't. He is often a "Knight in an older — model" new ear owners rarely do this. His common curse is, "I"il teach those dopes!" He's al-warek; the next wreek may be his car! If you find yourself falling into any of these five roles, get out your shovel and start dig ging. The standard size for graves, by the way, is nine feet by thirty inches.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER PEASANTRY—Cotton patchwork prints trimmed with no-iron cotton rick rack take on true peasant flavor. Wright's jumbo rick rack borders off the patches in the print of the mother's skirt, while medium size is used in the little girl's skirt. The look is completed with cotton peasant blouses edged in matching rick rack.

you travel, make sure you wear yourself to a frazzle. One good way is to get up at the crack of dawn, catch a plane to your destination, work all day, then late at night jet back home – to save the few bucks a hotel or motel would cost you. If you drive on business or pleas-ure trips, instead of flying, drive all day and night to see your client or your friend – then head back immediately to the office or home.

WHEN A NEW FAMILY MOVES IN

The Martin Family is considering moving in for the summer. The members are good neighbors and friends-feathered friends. They are very careful in the selection of their homes. Each spring they send an advance agent to locate a dwelling place. If you would have them move into your yard make sure you hang out the proper welcome sign by building a home in advance. If it meets inspection they'll move in.

If you would have desirable newcomers remain and become a part of your community and neighborhood don't overlook the value of your churches. They can be a distinct asset if the congregation of each makes sure the services are helpful and inspiring and if the members leave no doubt about the genuineness of the welcome extended to each newcomer.

Flowering Bulbs To Bloom In Spring Time

LAFAYETTE — Thoughts of spring usually bring visions of tulips, narcissus, hyacinths, and crocus to the homeowner.

There are, however, other bulbs the homeowner can plant for an even wider array of spring color, says John A. Wott, Purdue university extension home environment horticulturist.

But homeowners should check their garden shops early, for supplies of some bulbs are limited, reminds Wott. Often the only source is through mail order suppliers, he adds. Here are a few spring flower suggestions: Anemone or Windflowers are best suited for rock gardens or for use among other creeping perennials. The poppy anemone blooms from April to June. It usually needs some winter protections. Glory of the Snow or Chionodoxa sends forth brilliant blue, white or pink blossoms in April. When planted in groups, these plants produce a carpet effect.

Galanthus or Snowdrop is a small bulbous plant producing dainty white flowers in March. Plants thrive in either sun or shade

The grape hyacinth or Muscari differ from the hyacinitis in that the individual florets taper almost to a point with only a small opening. They are available in white and blue flowering types. The Squills or Scilla are among the first bulbs to bloom in the spring. Scilla sibirica blooms in April with blue or white florets The Spanish Bluebell (Scilla hispanica) produces blue, pink or white blossoms in May.

For additional information on the culture and care of these and other flowering bulbs, ask for Indiana cooperative extension service publication, HO-75-4 at your county extension office. Single copies are free to Indiana residents is no true love or peace without self-There lessness.

There is no true happiness without service. There is no true happiness without service. My freedomends where yours begins. If I want mine, I will guarantee yours. And you will do the same for me. This may seem a high price to the spaceage man. But it is one he will have to pay, and will pay willingly if he is wise in the ways of men and God. For, while freedom is the bargain of the ages, it is not really free. - THESE TIMES

Weather or Not ...

The weatherman can always come up with more four-letter words about weather than the public. For example: zero, snow, cold, wind, rain, hail, etc

The weatherman is copying the pattern of football on television - and giving us weather in continuous stop action, instant replay, split screen, and change of attack... If the T V weathermen could change their "50% chance of pre-cipitation" to "50% chance of NO precipitation" we'd all feel better about it

The weatherman likes to make it plain. If we don't get snow, we may get

If we don't get rain, we may get

There has been a petition in circulation dur-ing the past week to pave the Main street run-ning north and south through Akron. The peti-tion has been numerously signed and the enter-prise manifested means that Akron will be an Thing hold and south the orgin of the peter-prise manifested means that Akron will be an ideal town sometime, a creature of real art, that may be admired and enjoyed by our esthetic people, who have beautiful lawns, shade, shrub-bery and sidewalks about their well kept premis-es. But, says one, we need a jail, worse than we need sidewalks or paved streets. We need a moral persuader--one that will be a menance to the drunks and the law violators and an assist-ant to our town marshall. But, on second th-ought, we can have both. The paved street will be borne by the property owners abutting, and the jail will come from funds created by taxa-tion. We feel like asking sentiment to back up our city dads in making an appropriation for a nice little jail. Erb & Shireman have purchased a first class steam hay press. They solicit your patronage and prices are reasonable. Milo Cutshall, wife and two bright little daughters departed for Michigan on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Pontius. T. J. IN MEMORY

IN MEMORY of William K. Miller.

Some say time heals all sor-row and helps us to forget. But time so far has only proved how much I miss him yet.

We never knew that hearts could ache with such bitter pain.

Long for a vanished face, to hear his voice again.

I never knew that nights could be so lonely, cold and dim.

But I have learned so many things from my loss of him. When the family gets togeth-er, there is one face we fail to see

And it fills our hearts with sadness, thinking of the way it used to be. GOD gave us strength to face the grief and courage to stand the blow.

But what it meant to lose him. no one will ever know.

Sadly missed by Wife, Son and family and other relatives. 8/19/1p

BACK TO SCHOOL TIME for Akron youngsters until the late 1940's meant back to the building shown here. late 1940's meant back to the building shown here. Built to house twelve grades, the building later became an elementery school and eventually was torn down after the new grade school building was built, a building that has since been remodeled to keep pace with the times. At the time the picture was taken, post cards in the country were one cent and outside the U.S. were two cents. Postage has gone up, the old school buildings have given way to new, and possibly they shall give way to something big-ger if the proposed 500-minimum high school policy is adopted by the General Commission on September 15. But he sold good hot dogs.
He put up signs on the highway telling how good they were.
He stood on the side of the road and cried: "Buy a hot dog, Mister?"
And people bought.
He increased his meat and bun orders.
He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.
He finally got his son home from college to help him out.
But then something happened.
His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio?
Haven't you been reading the newspapers?
There's a big depression.
The European situation is terrible.
The domestic situation is worse."
Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he reads the papers and he listens to the radio, and he ought to know."
So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his advertising signs, and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.
And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.
"You're right son," the father said to the boy.
"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

You Haven't Worked All Year!

Day after day ... Week after Week ... Waking up to that treacherous alarm clock ... Putting in all those hours at the office ... Working too hard? ... Yes! No! - Are we putting in too much work?

For an answer to this question, let's turn to the genius of mathematics. One thing we can count on today is the logic and truth of statistics — or can we

If you begin with a base year of 366 days, one of those horrible leap years, the facts go something like this:

If you don't sleep eight hours a day, you should. Eight hours is one third of a day. One third of 366 is 122. Right? And 122 from 366 leaves 244 days

At least one-third of your day is spent in relaxation or entertainment. This depletes another 122 days on an annual basis. Thus, we are left with 122 days a year to work. But There are 52 Sundays in a year. If you subtract 52 from 122, you have 70 days left. If you get a half-day off on Saturday or any other day (and many of us get every Saturday off!), that leaves us with a balance of 44 days because half of 52 is 26 and 26 from 70 leaves 44. (That 122 is used up fast, isn't it!)

We must not overlook the fact that everyone gets an hour for lunch and two 14-minute coffee breaks a day. During the course of the year, those hours and minutes total 28 days. Subtracting 28 from our sub-total of 44 leaves 16 days.

Don't forget that almost everyone gets a two-week vacation each year. Take 14 days from 16 and there are only two days left. Wait . . . along comes Christmas and Thanksgiving and you take off the two remaining days. So-o-o-o you really haven't worked all year! (If you don't believe it, subtract it vourself).

Everyone knows that computers have a little "trouble" adding, and sub-tracting sometimes; now you can't even trust the figures themselves!

60 YEARS ACO Our friend Editor Smith of Mentone came bound-ing into our office last Thursday evening, like a rubber ball on a big thrashing floor. He was followed by a bevy of young ladies of Mentone and several of the businessmen, completely fill-ed our big office with life, good cheer and wholesome mirth for a few minutes. Editor Smith acted as spokesman and informed us that three car loads had come over from his town over the Winona to attend our band concert and visit the car loads had come over from his town over the Winona to attend our band concert and visit the people of our town, bringing their popular brass band boys with them, who discoursed several pop-ular airs for the edification of our citizen-ship and which were sandwiched between "plays" by our home band. Everybody was feeling good because of the good feeling that exists between Akron business and citizenship and our sister town's business men and citizenship ten miles to the north of us. The Mentone delegation em-braced two hundred people, some from every av-ocation and business interest of that city. They came over to bid us welcome to their grand annual "Homecoming" that will open at that place Wednesday, August 30, and which will continue four days including the balance of this week. Our people appreciate the good feeling of our Mentone friends, appreciate their hospitality and will accept of the liberal and generous in-vitations and we have no doubt, will attend the big doings next week, mingle in the joys of the occasion and catch an inspiration for good fel-lowship that will do us good and encourage the little city of Mentone in its enterprising spir-it. it.

It was of a rich golden-brown color and he and Mrs. Eilhoit concluded that they would send the hide to a tanner and have it made into a lap robe. They did so, and the robe came back the other day and they are more than pleased with the results. The hide, the work and trimmings all cost $14.03 and they are pleased and the robe is worth $25.

The beauty of Origami, the traditional Japanese art of folding paper into various artistic shapes and forms according to strict directions for combining surfaces and lines, transcends the barriers created by differences in languages. Papers and colors are specially made and chosen for particular themes, as in this delicate animal grouping. Square sheets of paper – about 6 to 8 inches square – are most commonly used although 16-foot-square sheets are sometimes used for especially big Origami. The designs are formed by folding the paper side to side and corner to corner. Sometimes, to convey a particular sentiment or emotion, the artist varies the angle of folding or the size of the surface, adds trimming or slightly alters the design with scissors. As a popular pastime, Origami dates back to the being Paried (204, 1102, 4 D.) the Heian Period (794-1192 A.D.).

Take your problems to Church this week -

ARE YOUR HANDS TIED?

"My hands are tied. I can do nothing!" How often we hear that expression used by those who have been frustrated in some activity or desire.

Sometimes we can "untie" our hands by just sitting down and taking stock of ourselves and by thinking things through. By so doing we may frequently free ourselves of petty jealousies and am-bitions or personal pique. A church is an excellent place to go for such reflection-in services or at odd times. By spending a quiet hour in church one can shake off worldly worries and cares. We can separate the pure metal from the dross, shake off frustration and place ourselves in a mood to solve our problems-untie our hands.
