Paige takes "lick" at legislators

Board approves proposed budget

The Tippecanoe Valley School Board approved for legal advertisement the 1982 school budget during a special meeting on Monday, July 27th.

The proposed budget calls for a tax rate of $3.83 (in all accounts; per $100 assessed valuation, based on the current assessed valuation of the school corporation. This is an increase over last year's budget of 2.63% of the state allowed 4% increase. Last year's allowed tax rate was $3.58.

The general fund budget increase is to $3,217,868 for a 2.73% increase. The transportation fund goes from $363,949 to $385,573 for a 5.94% increase. Debt service goes from $382,464 to $377,248 for a negative 1.36%.

The proposed budget would allot $2.24 of the rate or $1,061,570 to be raised for the general fund; 67¢ or $318,163 for debt service; 50¢ or $254,614 in cumulative building fund; 42¢ or $196,145 in the transportation fund for the total amount to be raised $1,830,492. The total budget proposed for 1982 is in the amount of $4,235,303.

Fifteen cents of the increase in the general fund rate represents a switch of that amount from the cumulative building fund to the general fund, which the 1981 General Assembly permitted school corporations to do in order to raise more money for operating expenses.

During discussion on the budget, the superintendent made a statement to the press which was agreed with "100%" by board member Richard Long. Paige said, "I feel that the legislators have put it to school boards and superintendents this year to take the heat on any increase in revenue rates. About all the money we are getting is about $10,000 from the state in addition to last year's budget, the rest comes from the 15¢ transfer. Our school corporation has had a decrease in population in the last few years, therefore, that's the extent of money we have. It favors those who have an increasing population and hurts those who have a decreasing population. I feel they have wanted us to take the blunt of the effect for any raises which come before us, rather than the legislators making the laws and legislation, but they can't bite the bullet."

In other business, the board: signed extended contracts of one year for administrators.

decided to wait until a meeting August 3rd with teacher representatives before deciding if there is a need to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the guidance counselor for junior high. The junior high counselor has been in charge of the testing program at that level and directs the testing program at the grade school level. He is also in charge of referrals to the North Central Co-op, and in charge of Career Education at junior high level, helping the 8th grade pupils prepare for the move to high school, guiding them on their choice of curriculum. If this position is not filled, the work will be picked up by teachers and administrators. Principals Fisher and Kramer noted if cuts had to be made, their priorities would have to be classroom teachers with the cut coming at the guidance level.

Phil See's resignation as boys' track coach was accepted. This brought up the subject of the athletic coaching positions possibly being tied to some of the open positions on the staff.

A maternity leave request for the first semester for Vona Ryman 2nd grade teacher at Mentone, was granted.

Superintendent Paige noted the difficulty each year, deciding on building trades projects. To keep building trades on the schedule for 1981-82 school year, the instructor, Ken Murphy, had been asked to get plans ready to present the school board, for an administration building on the school grounds. The board members chose a plan for a solar energy building to have Murphy present to the state agencies for fire and health protection and energy agencies. If the plan meets state requirements, the building could be started at the beginning of the school year. After discussion of plans, insulation, etc., the board directed Murphy to start the planning necessary for the project.

A public meeting was held Monday, August 3 on the proposed lease rental agreements. The regular August board meeting has been changed to Thursday, August 20 at 7:30 p.m. at which time there will be a public hearing on the proposed budget for 1982. A meeting on Thursday, August 27 will be for budget adoption.

[Note: The proposed budget for TVSC is printed in this issue of the Akron-Mentone News].

Laws and drug abuse

"Drug Abuse and the Law," was the topic Fulton County Deputy Sheriff Jon Fultz spoke about Saturday evening at the third of four meetings scheduled at the Akron Junior High for concerned citizens and parents on the subject of drug abuse.

Deputy Fultz stated that in a drug arrest the burden of proof falls on the police officer and there can be no shadow of doubt about the possession or use if there is to be an arrest and conviction. Police cannot get proof without having a search warrant and the time factor involved proves to be a prohibiting factor most of the time.

Knowing about the problem of someone using or selling drugs is not enough, there must be proof.

Fultz spoke about differences between a felony and misdemeanor arrests and convictions, the fines, and the terms of imprisonment for different classes of each.

A person arrested on drug charges the first time may not be imprisoned, but the arrest will always be on his police record, a second arrest becomes a felony arrest. The record will follow the person everywhere and can be requested from any state or county. The information on a suspect can be transferred between police departments in a matter of minutes due to the up-to-date equipment now in use.

When asked about the laws on drugs, he related the fact that laws are getting stiffer and it seems penalties will be swinging toward stronger lines.

Facilities at treatment centers are overcrowded and a private center is very expensive. Most police officers will take a person's honesty into consideration and try to help him if he voluntarily goes to the police and asks for help, getting him help, rather than putting him in jail.

During a question and answer period, Fultz was asked the reason for a person arrested on possession or drug charges, being on the streets in a matter of a few hours. He answered that anyone arrested on any charge is assured by law of a quick trial and during the hearing the judge in most cases must determine bond for that person and a trial date. All if takes for the person's release is a bondsman or someone with the money to be posted and he is free until trial date.

The consequences following a person with a drug arrest can be great. Fultz stated that all of their life their actions would be watched, especially if they have a felony conviction.

In the case of employment, the person is advised to tell their employer about the record, as most times he will have to take time off to talk with his parole officer, and most employers believe if the person was convicted of a crime and paid the penalty, he has paid his debt. Fultz stated that a person convicted of a felony cannot be bonded, or hold government positions, and there are some professions he will not be accepted into.

When asked if he thought it would help if the youngsters could see results of drug abuse thru films or personal contacts with former users, he stated it might help them realize the dangers involved in drugs and alcohol use. He noted that the Indiana State Police are in the process of getting films and slide programs on drugs and drug abuse ready for use in the schools as a program.

Fultz completed the program by answering several questions and hearing comments from the people in the audience.

Myron Kissingner of the Akron Church of God invited everyone to attend the last of the drug abuse meetings scheduled for next Saturday at the Akron Junior High at 7 p.m. when Steve Petty of Grace College will conduct the program on "Drug Abuse and Its Moral Implications." Petty was formerly with Riverwood Ranch and has been involved with treatment centers for drug and alcohol abuse. He will talk about why kids get involved and what we can do to help them.

Have you had a vacation recently? Webster defines vacation as an intermission or rest, a scheduled period during which activity or work is suspended. In other words, doing something different than your normal schedule. Everyone needs a change of pace, a vacation, to refresh their outlook on life. Why don't you take a vacation? Do something you've wanted to do for sometime. Go somewhere you've wanted to go. Or just go visit a happy, jolly friend even if they live at a distance. Of course, you could pursue your hobby, go to the county or state fair, go to an amusement park with grandchildren, ride a Ferris Wheel or watch the kids ride the cork screw, read a book instead of watching TV, go swimming or wading, go fishing, let the dishes set in the sink and do just what you like to do for a whole day! These are vacations! And you will enjoy life and your home a great deal more after a scheduled intermission. You might be surprised at how much fun it is to go to an amusement park with a child or two! You will appreciate your easy chair for a day or two after returning! If you can't go with the child, share the child's recent trip to the amusement park! You will see the excitement in the child's eyes and face; you will hear the thrill of the sudden ups and downs and turns of the roller coaster in the child's voice; you will be sharing a happy time with a child you love. And sharing a happy time is what it's all about!

How about sharing a happy time with us here at the Akron Lions Club Site one weekday at noon? It could be a change of pace and the food is nutritious and tasty. We will expect you soon.

Thursday, August 13 is the next Blood Pressure Clinic and Birthday Party. Plan to get your blood pressure taken from 11 to 12 and stay for lunch and all the activities of the day.

Mentone police report for June

The Mentone Police Department logged 2,057 miles on the police vehicle while answering 58 calls for service for the month of June, 1981.

The Mentone Police Dept. made three title checks, one speedometer check, and handled one family dispute. This department also had three calls about road hazards, three calls about harassment, and three high water reports.

The police dispatcher received twenty-nine calls for the Fire Department, and answered 159 calls for the Police Department.

For the month of June, this department made one courtesy call, handled one cat complaint, and had one request of extra patrol. They also received four calls of thefts, and one suspicious person call; recovered one stolen property item, received one dog complaint, and delivered two messages.

For the month of June, this department worked seven accidents, with no damages, four with damages, totaling $3,050, with no personal injuries. They handled 15 calls of disturbance, two calls for information, and two agency assists. They made one record check, had two public assists, and one complaint of check deception.

For the month of June, arrested three adults, and issued one warrant arrest, totaling four arrests. Twelve citations were also delivered.

This report was submitted by John E. Hart, Chief of Police, Mentone Police Department.

In this land of the free it is noted that all candidates recommend themselves rather highly.

Marilyn Stafford, the new site director, is assuming her duties on Monday, August 3. Come and meet Marilyn. She will give you good leadership and service and will need your continued support of the nutrition site. The site will be open from 10:30 a.m. til 2 p.m. each weekday. Please feel free to call her for any senior citizen problems. If she doesn't know the answer, she will help you obtain the answer from others.

Marilyn and her husband, Dewitt, live on a small farm northeast of Akron. Marilyn has been very active in several organizations, including World War II Mothers and Order of the Eastern Star. Marilyn is president of District 2 of the State of Indiana World War II Mothers. Marilyn and Dewitt have three children and seven grandchildren that are a great joy. Marilyn is the daughter of Flossie Drudge and the late Clifford Lahman. For volunteering, information or reservations, please call 893-7204 or 893-4668.

Scheduled menus for the week of August 10-14 are:

Monday: Sloppy Joe Sandwich, Creamed Corn, Peaches, Rice Pudding with Raisins, Milk, Coffee and Iced Tea.
Tuesday: Fried Chicken, Sweet Potatoes, Tossed Salad, Brown Bread, Cranberry Sauce, Milk, Coffee and Iced Tea.

Wednesday: Ham and Beans, Carrot-Raisin Salad, Cornbread, Tapioca Pudding, Milk, Coffee and Iced Tea.

Friday: Macaroni and cheese with Ham, Stewed Tomatoes, Brown Bread, Applesauce, Milk, Coffee and Iced Tea.

The world would be a nicer place to live in if just about everyone didn't have an axe to grind or a motive behind his (or her) behavior.

Two jailed for Etna burglaries

Christopher Alan Plummer, 18, and James Allen Bowser, 19, both of Rt. 2, Warsaw, were booked at the Kosciusko County Jail Thursday afternoon in connection with burglaries at Stouder's Grocery and Mason's Hardware in Etna Green early Thursday.

Charges of burglary and theft are pending against them in Kosciusko Circuit Court, according to officials. Both were released Thursday afternoon on their own recognizance.

According to County Police, Etna Green Town Marshal Eldon Burgess discovered the two inside Mason's Hardware shortly after 3 a.m. while on routine patrol and scared them off. Burgess, assisted by officers from the County Police, Mentone, Bourbon, and the Indiana State Police, as well as canine units from Elkhart County, searched the area for nearly two hours, but did not find them. Apparently, the two men had found their way through fields to old Rd. 30 and hitched a ride back to Warsaw, police said.

During the search, police assisted by the dogs, found some of the stolen articles.

The car the two had used was impounded at the scene. It contained three bags of groceries taken from Stouder's Grocery. An undetermined amount of change was also taken, police said. It has also been recovered.

Kindergarten Reading Club

The Kindergarten children who were in the Kindergarten Reading Club at the Akron Carnegie Public Library were entertained at the Library on Wednesday afternoon. The children made paper ice cream cones during the summer by having books read to them.

The films Rufus M Try Again and Peewee Had a Little Ape were shown and a game played. The children were then served real cones with dips of vanilla, strawberry and chocolate ice cream with a cherry on top and strawberry pop.

Attend election seminar

N. Jean Messmore and Kathryn Spice attended an election administration seminar in Indianapolis recently.

The conference was organized to make the complicated process of running an election easier. The Center for Governmental Services at Indiana State University, in cooperation with the State Election Board sponsored the affair in the hope of eliminating recounts and lawsuits resulting from discrepancies during elections.

The seminar sessions were designed to help county clerks, election board members, county chairmen and others from each of Indiana's counties. "It was a working conference," says Dr. Bill Harader, director of the Center at ISU, "and we mostly talked about what the law requires."

Faculty members from ISU's Political Science Department were on hand along with staff members from the State Election Board and the State Board of Accounts. Also attending were several county clerks and state legislators. Governor Robert Orr, who is a member of the State Election Board, greeted the conferees and other state and party officials addressed the group.

Sessions covered such topics as registration, running town elections, school board elections, electronic problems, relations with the Federal election Commission, absentee ballots, referendum elections and special elections.

Harader says, "We feel there is a need to get more information out. Often officials are not aware of the details and finer points of elections and if those technical aspects are not considered, an election can be declared invalid."

The conference began July 22 and ran through July 23 at the Indianapolis Airport Ramada Inn.

Have you noticed?

For the last two weeks, the Akron-Mentone News has been sporting a new sign on the window in our new office in Akron. And with this weeks issue of the paper, the front page heading is a copy of the window sign.

The sign painter who accomplished this piece of art is Gib Foster of south of Lake Manitou.

Since 1971 he has been free-lance illustrating, custom wood-carving signs and setting up his graphic print shop (etching, woodcut, and silk screen). He came to Rochester in the fall of 1975 to cut high overhead costs of Chicago.

In 1977 he dismantled a thirty by forty foot dutch gambrel roofed peg barn and reassembled it on Rain Creek wetland area south of Lake Manitou.

In July of 1981 Hugh Glasgow, designer from Louisiana, joined the Rain Creek Studio.

Gib has done work for Graphique Ltd., Chicago; Fitch & Corley, Chicago; Stephens-Gross Studio, Chicago; Motorola Aerospace Center, Space Illustration; Apollo Mission, Scottsdale, Ariz.; U.S. Army, Army Illustration; Graphic Arts Department, Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

He has lectured at Illinois State University, Columbia College, Chicago, and Louisiana Tech University.

He attended American Academy of Art, Chicago, 1960-1964. Also was a co-founder of Chicago Printmakers Workshop, 1969.

His education consists of Castle Heights Military Academy, Lebanon, Tenn., BA degree in art at Northeast Louisiana University, MFH degree in Graphic design from Louisiana Tech University.

We could go on and on telling about his job experiences, but we believe this should be enough to tell the Akron and Mentone readers that we have in our area a very talented artist.

Take a look at our new sign on the window and stop in and tell us how you like it.

Stopping Immigration

One of the myths which lives on in some quarters--and which is perpetuated by some with selfish interests--is the myth that the United States can continue to admit half a million or a million immigrants each year.

The days when the U.S. contained almost unlimited free land, and jobs, are gone. Today there are millions of unemployed, instead. And youth and minority citizens are the hardest hit. In spite of these drastically changed circumstances, the old and then-admirable tradition of admissions continues.

In 1980 immigration to the U.S. was at its highest level in history--808,000 legal immigrants and to a million illegals--from Mexico and other Latin lands where a lack of birth control promises greater and greater floods of poverty-stricken, uneducated peoples.

Already crime and welfare among these new arrivals is higher than the national average. Many cannot read English. The worst threat of all is Mexico, where the population has tripled since World War II and will double again in the next twenty years. That's partly because the dominating church there opposes use of the pill, though the government in recent years has, to its credit, begun to encourage its use.

Mexico now has a work force of 19 million people; half are unemployed or under-employed. So long as wages in the U.S. are so much higher, and the Vatican opposes use of birth control pills, the pressure on the U.S. economy will increase. Thus plans must be made to check the flood of immigration from the south.

 D. J. Crowley's HOROSCOPE

Week of August 9, 1981

LEO -- Those born under this sign have an abundance of self confidence. They are lovers of luxury, who often have to fight the tendency to show off. Blessed with many fine talents, they make good leaders.

LEO -- July 23 to Aug. 22 -- Avoid the tendency to react in a childish fashion. Others don't want to put up with your argumentative mood. A little thoughtfulness for others will put you in good stead.

VIRGO -- Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 -- Get your work out of the way early this week so you can relax later this week. Take care of necessities first.

LIBRA -- Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 -- Hold tightly to your purse strings. Pamper your savings account by paying it as though it were a bill.

SCORPIO -- Oct. 23 to Nov. 22 -- You may have to handle a family problem with a great deal of tact. Whatever you do, don't lose your temper.

SAGITTARIUS -- Nov. 23 to Dec. 21 -- Surprise an elderly relative or friend with a small gift. Start a self-improvement program for your appearance and manners.

CAPRICORN -- Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 -- Learn to control your moods. Others have feelings too. Avoid the tendency to criticize your loved ones.

AQUARIUS -- Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 -- An idea that seemed far out before, suddenly makes sense now. Keep it to yourself for the present. Stay away from someone who seems bent on provoking you.

PISCES -- Feb. 19 to March 20 -- Plan a short vacation. The change of pace will work wonders for you. For the time being take care of your own business.

ARIES -- March 21 to April 20 -- Get as many of your first of the month obligations out of the way as possible. If you are involved with children, spend some time with them.

TAURUS -- April 21 to May 20 -- A family conference could prove rewarding. A great deal of understanding never before achieved could come about.

GEMINI -- May 21 to June 20 -- Your optimism is justified. The period you now move into should be richly rewarding. A strong chance exists that your talent will be discovered.

CANCER -- June 21 to July 22 -- Stick to business this week. Recreation can come later. You may have to work longer hours temporarily to achieve your goals.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Families in your community have a very special opportunity this summer: the experience of hosting a youngster from another land. In the next few weeks, 4,000 overseas students will arrive in the United States to live and study for one year. Many of them still need loving families who will open their hearts, and their homes, to a foreign student. It is an unforgettable experience for student and host family alike.

The enclosed article explains our unique exchange program and tells how to become a host family. If you would print this release as soon as possible, you can alert your community to this opportunity while helping overseas students find a home in America.

During its 30 years of service, Youth for Understanding has facilitated the exchange of more than 80,000 students in more than 20 world nations. Your generous cooperation enables us to continue this work and promote international understanding through family living experience.

YFU is grateful for your help in publicizing our quest for host families. If you need additional information, please call me collect at (317) 247-7331.

Sincerely,
Frank Giammarino

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service, I would like to express appreciation to all those who contributed to the success of the activities at the 1981 Fulton County 4-H Fair.

The 4-H members, adult leaders, parents, sponsoring committee members, and junior leaders all helped to make the 4-H activities and exhibits possible. Others who invested time, energy, and/or money toward the success of the Fair were: 4-H Livestock Buyers, 4-H Trophy sponsors, department chairman and assistants, livestock superintendents, livestock committees and assistants, Sale Committee members, 4-H Council members, R.S.V.P., night guards, P.C.A., clean-up workers, county veterinarians and Speedy, with special thanks to the News Media.

A special commendation and thank you should be given to the 4-H Fairboard members who contributed many hours and much work during fair week and also throughout the year.

To all these people we say thank you; without all of you, our successful Fair would not have been possible.

Sincerely,
Deb Whistler

To the Editor:

Seventy years on this great planet, twelve years in Muncie, Indiana. Life unfolds for the future. I look with great pleasure over the past. I have loved every minute of it. I have thousands of friends, both living and dead, a wife of thirty-nine years, without flaw, and three lovely children, with nine grandchildren. I preach at three beautiful churches, besides being a guest speaker at hundreds of places to lovely groups.

Life has been good to me. I do not owe anyone anything. I have been able to feed an clothe and get jobs for thousands of people. My health has been good, just a new hip and a five by-pass heart operation. I never had much money, but I have been rich in services and friendships. Very few have been unkind to me, those I have even forgotten their names.

Today I start a new life. It has every promise of being a great life. I have plans up to 2000 A.D.; beyond that I will just preach, maybe going to Times Square, and do street preaching where I will have great crowds. I shall always raise a garden. I even ask God if I can have a small plot in heaven.

A lady in Muncie has written a book about me. I am working on two books. I still write letters, over 100 a year to papers and magazines, over 1,000 a year to people. I am starting a new church at 1316 East Adams. It will be different. I am moving my office to the above address. I will not have a telephone there. I will be glad for anyone to call on me at home. One can always reach me. After seventy years the rose is in full bloom. For the next twenty years I expect to enjoy the rose and life. I am here and I am glad. God bless you all.

Actors-Ministers?

One grows increasingly dubious of television ministries in which the star of the ministry resorts to weeping and staged emotionalism--in bids for cash. That was the tone of a recent pitch by a well-known television evangelist from the Gulf Coast.

He told his viewers God had told him to build a great new complex for a worldwide ministry. It would include many new buildings and cover many acres. This is the now well-known pattern of other successful money raising evangelists on TV.

Deeply faithful people, historically, are gullible. When self-appointed leaders speak of having had a word from God, or a command from God to do something (or to build a great new complex), many take that as gospel truth.

No crime is committed and many see all this, on balance, as being more good than evil. But the question is the sincerity or hypocrisy or intellectual level of a TV star claiming to have had a special message from God. And these minister-stars manage to weep just right, and the camera catches the tears in their eyes just right....

It is, to the intelligent, a bit much. And what do the camera crews and the set and lighting people in the studio think of this conveniently turned-on weeping? Is it more acting or ministering?

Don't

"Let me tell you one thing before you go any further," she said.

"What's that?" he asked.

"Don't go any further," she said.

Words on Pen-reared birds

By Joe Scheidler

Many people have commented on hearing or seeing more Bobwhite quail this year. Yet none of us are satisfied with overall quail densities and we all have suggestions on how to "help the populations along."

Of the suggestions I hear, the most common is to re-stock quail. On first thought this may seem the most logical. Any sportsman's magazine includes advertisements listing quail for sale, so the birds are obviously available. And we can all look at the result of re-stocking wild turkey, ruffed grouse and white-tailed deer in Indiana. These efforts are certainly paying off, so why not do the same for quail?

We have to remind ourselves that Indiana did not get a viable turkey, grouse or deer population overnight. It's taken and is taking years, and it began with transplanting wild-trapped animals.

The birds advertised in sportsman's magazines are pen-reared, not wild. Indiana has spent considerable time in past years studying the survival of pen-reared quail and the results are quite conclusive - they just don't make it! When birds spend generations in a pen they lose whatever it takes to survive in the wild. Pen-reared birds are particularly subject to predation. They are slow to flush and when flushed tend to run instead of flying.

There are a couple of other problems with pen-reared birds. Coming from pens that are often crowded, the presence of disease, which may be passed on to wild birds, is always a threat. Another drawback to quail re-stocking stems from their susceptibility to predation. Any predator responds to abundant prey by increasing reproduction.

Artificially stocking an area with high numbers of pen-reared quail may result in an artificially high predator population which may then make it difficult for wild birds to get established.

All wildlife populations are subject to the whims of man and the works of nature. The severe winters in 1976-78, together with habitat loss, delivered a crippling blow to quail numbers. Bobwhite always in northern Indiana will always be limited by periodic bad winters, but we can minimize winter loss by providing adequate food and cover for the birds.

A few wild birds in well managed habitat can show a remarkable increase in a few short years. Adding pen-reared birds to any area will not result in more birds in the long run.

We're again hearing and seeing wild Bobwhite quail. With adequate habitat management and cooperative winter weather we'll soon be hearing and seeing many more.

Laws are passed to be enforced but some people seem to have forgotten that theory—especially as it applies to them.

Cholesterol study volunteers sought

The University of Minnesota is seeking volunteers to participate in a national study. The National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute study is being conducted at four large medical centers: the University of Minnesota, University of Arkansas, University of Southern California and Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia.

The research team is conducting this trial in hopes of determining the relationship of cholesterol lowering to heart disease. The study is seeking participants who have had their first and only heart attack during the past 5 years, are 29 through 64 years of age and free of diabetes, stroke and heart surgery. Volunteers are being sought at all four of the Hyperlipidemia Study Clinical Centers.

For information, persons may call the University of Minnesota Hyperlipidemia Study collect at 612-376-4494.

Take a chance on human nature; usually it pays off.

Petersburg, Fla., Walter Vaughn San Bernardino, Calif., Ralph and Ervin Hughes, both of Warsaw and six grandchildren. One brother and one sister preceded him in death.

The funeral was at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Titus Funeral Home, Warsaw. The Rev. Paul Horne officiated. Interment was in Oakwood Cemetery with military graveside services by the Warsaw American Legion Post 49.

GEORGIA BRADLEY

Mrs. Claude (Georgia) Bradley, 68, of Rt. 2, Claypool, died in Kosciusko Community Hospital at 3:45 a.m. Thursday, July 23, 1981, after suffering a heart attack.

Born in Floyd County, Ky. on Jan. 13, 1913, she was the daughter of Nero and Louia (Marshall) Whitaker. On Dec. 22, 1928, she was united in marriage to Jake England, who preceded her in death on Dec. 13, 1957. Her marriage to Claude Bradley occurred on July 19, 1959, and he survives.

A member of the Pentecostal Church of God, Silver Lake, she had resided in the Claypool area most of her life.

Other survivors include two sons, Eugene England, Silver Lake; Oliver England, Claypool; one daughter, Mrs. James (Evelyn) Falkner, Kendallville; three sisters, Mrs. Bennie (Nora) Poe, Crestview, Fla.; Miss Addie Whitaker and Mrs. Oscar (Josie) Richardson, both of Floyd County, Ky.; and eight grandchildren. One brother and one sister preceded her in death.

Services were in the Pentecostal Church of God, Silver Lake at 2 p.m. Sunday. The Revs. Aaron Stanley and Albert Whitaker officiated. Interment was in the Lakeview Cemetery, Silver Lake.

Silver Lake wins ASA "B" District

Silver Lake and Armstrong Products will represent the Warsaw district in the ASA Class B semi-state slow pitch softball tournament at Rochester.

Silver Lake won last weekend's 12-team district qualifier here with a 5-0 record while Armstrongs was second with a 5-2 mark.

Silver Lake defeated Armstrongs 7-1 in the final game.

Silver Lake, which played in the Warsaw Class A league throughout the season but was declared Class B for state tournament action, was led in the tourney by Carroll Eaton and Gary Coleman with seven hits each and Wade Frantz, who scored eight runs.

Armstrong, also a member of the Class A Warsaw league, lost its first tourney game then reached off five straight wins to reach the finale. Stu and Steve Watkins combined for 24 hits and Roger Cummings had 10 hits and seven runs for Armstrong.

In the Rochester semi-state, Armstrong will open on Sunday, August 9 at 2:30 p.m. and Silver Lake on Monday, Aug. 10 at 8:15 p.m. Their opponents have not been determined.

Party for vets

The Akron W.C.T.U. sponsored a Birthday Party at the Marion Veterans' Hospital last Thursday afternoon. Those serving cup cakes and punch to the 50 patients were Mr. Orville Ellis, Mrs. Kendall Rager, Mrs. Lewis Slaybaugh and Mrs. Alfred Ferree.

Questions and answers at town meeting

The regular meeting of the Akron Town Board turned into a question and answer session when they met Tuesday, July 28, with all members present and an audience of three town patrons.

John Zimmerman and Joe Day, members of Akron's Volunteer Fire Department asked the board to use the remainder of the money appropriated this year to purchase new hose for the town's fire truck, 600 feet of 2 1/2 inch hose and 500 feet of 1 1/2 inch hose, also to use what money remains to purchase two new Scott air packs. Zimmerman stated the need for more volunteers to help in the department, saying they would like to add five more volunteers to the list. Day and Zimmerman said they would appear at the scheduled meeting August 3rd for revenue sharing to ask for funds to purchase radio equipment for the fire department.

Bill Murphy and Dave Kruger, of the Akron Police Department, asked that budget planning should be done ahead to enable the town to purchase a new police car next year. A suggestion was made that the town board look into a lease arrangement for the car.

Questions asked during the meeting were:
Where did the money come from for the extra police help? Clerk Ernest Smith, answered this by saying the money was appropriated in the budget last year in the amount of $25,000 for salaries for the police department for this year.

Where did the funds come from for the new town hall? Again, Ernest Smith answered the question, saying the town borrowed the money from an escrow account for sewer improvement. Total paid for the building was $24,000. Total with building improvements was approximately $40,000. This money will be replaced with revenue from rentals from all departments, water, town, township, and the office used by the newspaper. A schedule was set up to pay the money back into the sewer fund.

Murphy and Kruger noted that they would approach the board with the idea of starting a bicycle licensing program at a future meeting.

Other business during the meeting:
Decided not to require established insurance companies to pay peddlers fees for selling new plans to town residents.

Noted there will be a night depository placed in the front door of the town hall for convenience of town residents in paying water bills, etc.

Gave permission for Larry Bibler to paint upper portion of outside of town hall at a fee of $8 per hour which will cost an estimated $150.

Gave permission for Roann's J.C.'s to solicit funds for cystic fibrosis at the stop light in middle of Akron on Sat., Aug. 8.

Reported several water leaks in line on St. Rd. 19 south, this brought a request to replace the line and set a hydrant. It was estimated at a cost of $2,300 for material and labor. Board decided to check finances after other obligations are met and make a decision at a later meeting.

Decided to keep the ruling in force that only town residents may use the town dump.

Decided to contact a company for a price on a garage door opener for the door at the fire station which is hard to open at times.

Discussed vandalism at the Akron Park.

Smith noted receipt of a letter from Blue Cross Insurance notifying the town of an increase in insurance rates on town employees, as of September 1st, of 17.3% on the premiums.

Decided the usual rule of first come, first served, would stand on the use of the Park shelters for meetings and reunions.

Noted that three property owners in the newly annexed portion of Akron, can now hook into the sewer lines. Residents should get the hookups completed to be able to take advantage of the service.

The board was to meet in session Monday, Aug. 3, for the purpose of handling revenue sharing funds. The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, August 18, at 7:30 p.m.

Youth Employment

The Koscusko County Youth Employment Council has been awarded the neighborhood assistance program for tax credits by the Indiana Department of Commerce.

The purpose of the program is to encourage the investment of business firms or persons in offering assistance in providing jobs, job training, education, crime prevention and community services, both directly and by contributions, to neighborhood organizations, such as the Youth Employment Council.

The Department of Revenue will grant a tax credit against any gross, adjusted gross, or supplemental net income tax due to equal fifty percent (50%) of the amount invested by a business firm or person approved by the Department of Commerce.

The Youth Employment Council is a non profit pilot program working with young people enrolled in the five high schools serving Koscusko County - Warsaw, Wawasee, Whitko, Tippy Valley and Triton.

Unemployment up

Unemployment insurance claims numbered 63,471 last week, up 2,195 from the week before, the Indiana Employment Security Division reported. The comparable year-ago total was 151,652.

Holton Hayes, director, said the increase from the previous week is attributed to layoffs for vacation, inventory and model change.

KOSCIUSKO COUNTY INCIDENT REPORTS

Area Police are investigating the following reports:

Officials at LaMadre Restaurant, St. Rd. 15 North, Warsaw, told City Police that five male subjects had just vandalized the men's restroom. The mirror, soap dish, ash trays and toilet paper holders were torn off the walls, police said. No estimate of the damage was given.

Vandals broke the control level knobs off a 14-foot outboard motorboat belonging to Daniel Chapman, 41, of Palos Park, Ill., recently, according to City Police. It was moored on the southwest corner of Pike Lake. Damage was estimated between $100 to $150.

Jerry Graig, Rt. 1, North Webster, told County Police a full gas tank, two lanterns, a flotation lamp, a 12-volt battery, a tackle box full of tackle, and fishing rods and reels were taken sometime between 12 a.m. and 4 a.m. Thursday from near his home on Hiner Drive, Webster Lake. Vera M. Smith, 79, Warsaw, told City Police she accidentally left her purse in a shopping cart at Woodie's Supermarket, North Lake Street, Warsaw, Tuesday afternoon. When she went to retrieve it, it was gone. The purse contained personal papers and $30 and assorted change.

Deborah Tackett, 29, of 510 East Center St., Warsaw, told City Police a 12-volt battery, three quarts of oil, and 20 gallons of gasoline, as well as her registration and tags were removed from her car while it was parked near Scott and Fort Wayne Streets, recently.

KOSCIUSKO COUNTY PERSONAL INJURY ACCIDENTS

Area police have investigated the following personal injury accidents:

THANK YOU

The Akron Youth League would like to take this time to say thank you to all of the volunteers, players, coaches and the parents for making this season a success. Also, all of our great sponsors who made it possible, a special thanks to Mike Summe for the use of his tractor and disk, and Judy Miller, who painted our sponsor signs this year. If it wasn't for all the hard workers we would have had to postpone our tourney due to the rain. It's been a great year and we look forward to seeing all of you next year.

PRESIDENT, DAVE REED

THANK YOU

My sincerest thanks to all of you who remembered me with prayers and concern, with cards, visits and get well wishes while I was in the hospital and since I'm home. Thanks too, for the food! Thanks to all the hospital help too! May God Bless all of you.

Celebrate 62nd anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hudson celebrated their 62nd Wedding Anniversary July 26th at the Steer Inn with only their immediate family attending. Mr. and Mrs. Hudson was married July 26, 1919 by the late Rev. Leslie J. Nofziger of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Hudson was the former Alta Kercher. The Hudsons are the parents of two sons, William F., Jr., and Jerry C., Sr., both of Mentone and have six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hudson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jerry C. Hudson, Sr., and son David; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kuhn and daughter, Nicole, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mock and son Billy, all of Mentone. Mr. and Mrs. Jeff C. Hudson, Jr., of Palestine, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Hudson and daughter, Aimee, from Warsaw. The honored guests, formerly of Akron, are now residents of the Retired Tiger's Complex, 320 W. Main St., Warsaw. Mr. Hudson is a World War I veteran.

If you want to get ahead in this life, be dependable in something for someone.

"Bo" visits bank

"Bo" the goat, Chad Cumberland, and Kevin Deardorff, a member of the Akron Exchange State Bank staff are shown as they prepare to enter the bank the morning after Bo was purchased at the Fulton County 4-H Livestock Auction. The bank returned the goat to its former owner as a gift after they spent some time "visiting" the members of the bank staff.

Tippecanoe Valley has successful summer program

Principal Robert Meyers reports that more than one thousand students participated in the various summer programs offered to the students of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation. Budget problems necessitated a reduction in hours in some areas from 1980. Driver Education was cut back and is being added to the regular school year program. Programs in tennis and volleyball were dropped.

The academic program consisted of:

Band - 151 students; Vocal Music - 60 students; Speech and Hearing - 9 students; Remedial Mathematics - 30 students; Remedial Reading - 69 students; Driver Education - 68 students.

Recreational programs consisted of:

Boys Basketball - 95 students; Football - 60 students; Weight Training - 40 students; Gymnastics - 20 students; Girls Basketball - 45 students; Swimming - 370 students.

The summer program was directed by Mr. Meyers, Principal and Mr. Keith Wortinger, Assistant Principal of Tippecanoe Valley

High School. There were twenty-three teachers or coaches and two bus drivers involved in the 1981 summer program.

Library Reading Club party

The Reading Club, sponsored by the Akron Carnegie Public Library, was climaxed with a party on Tuesday afternoon at the library.

Games and contests were enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream sundaes and strawberry pop was served.

The theme of the club this year was Bigfoot, a step in the right direction. During the summer, puzzles of Bigfoot were put together by each child as they read. Those completing eleven or more books were given certificates. Those receiving certificates were Heather Craft, Brandon Howard, Damon Johnston, Drusilla Morgan, Josh Shepherd, Brad Sheetz, Carrie Atkinson, Jill Butt, Brent Fultz, Sara Miller, Mary Ann Randall, Amy Randall, Tricia

Tilden, Chad Wilhelm, Elizabeth Atkinson, Lori Buck, Amy French, Jimmy Howard, Caleb Hucks, Aaron Kindig, Lael Leininger, Julie Ralton, Brad Scott, Wesley Shelpman, Kim Steininger, Jon Howard, Ryan Thompson, Robin Hucks, Keith Mims, Jana Murphy Julie Steininger, Tammy Stubblefield, Cherie Stubblefield and Lee Miller.

Those receiving awards for outstanding reading were Brad Sheetz, Amy Randall, Aaron Kindig, Robin Hucks, Julie Steininger, Jon Howard, Tammy Stubblefield, Lee Miller and Kerrie Cumberland.

The children who will be in the 3rd grade when school starts in the fall will receive a special party for having more participants than any other class.

Second row - Chad Wilhelm, Brent Fultz, Julie Ralston, Tricia Tilden, Carrie Atkinson, Mary Ann Randall, LeAnn Cooksey, Lori Buck, Brad Scott and Caleb Hucks.

31 YEARS AGO:
Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Grossman, of near Talma, are the parents of a son born Tuesday evening, Aug. 1, at the Woodlawn Hospital. The baby weighed nine pounds and 14 ounces, and has been named Larry Allen. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Warren are the maternal grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Warren have six daughters and three granddaughters, so a grandson is really an event for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tucker, of Etna Green, are the parents of a daughter, Gloria, born Thursday of last week at the McDonald Hospital, in Warsaw.

Upon their return from their wedding trip, during which they visited at Niagara Falls and New York City and returned by way of the Allegheny Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest D. June 27th wedding

Miss Darla Kay Weaver became the bride of Randall Lee Shafer on Saturday, June 27, 1981 at 7:30 p.m. in the Silver Creek Church of God, Silver Lake, Indiana. The Reverends Harold Miller and Fred Landolt officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Shafer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd K. Weaver, Rt. 2, Rochester. Mr. Shafer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Shafer, Rt. 1, Silver Lake.

Providing music for the candle-light vows were Donna French, organist and vocalists, Rick and Pat Weaver. During the ceremony, all five brothers of the bride sang, "O Perfect Love," for her while the bride and groom knelt at the altar. The groom sang, "Lady" to his bride during the ceremony.

The bride appeared in a pure white gown of net, brocade flowers and chantilly lace. The dress was designed with a v-neck yoke front and back, with a stand-up collar, high empire waistline with crystal pleated skirt, and was completed with a full train finished with wide ruffles around the bottom. She carried a silk bouquet of twelve yellow roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

The matron of honor was Diane

Weaver, of Rochester. Bridesmaids were Dana Bunn, Ronda Smith and Jenelle Shafer. They wore yellow floral gowns with satin ribbon accenting the waistline. Each carried a lighted candle with a cascade of silk roses and daisies and wore daisies and baby's breath in their hair. The flower girl was Mandy Weaver, who appeared carrying a basket of silk daisies, roses and greenery. The ring bearer was Derek French.

Best man was Tom Weaver, Rochester. Groomsmen were John Bunn, Mike VanCleave and Joe French. Ushers were Rick VanCleave, Steve Bucher, Dave French and Kevin Deardorff.

A reception was held in the basement of the church after the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Shafer is a 1981 graduate of Tippecanoe Valley High School and is employed at the Akron Exchange State Bank. Mr. Shafer is a 1979 graduate of Tippecanoe Valley High School and also of the Bill Miller School of Real Estate, is employed by Zimmers, Warsaw and part-time real estate salesman for Kindig Realty, Akron.

The couple are at home at 304 North Mishawaka St., Akron.

Extension Notes

Melons, which are a member of the cucumber family, offer a variety of colors and flavors to summer meals. When contemplating a melon purchase, many people poke, squeeze, smell, shake, or flip a coin trying to pick a good one. There is no absolute formula for judging a melon, but here are some guidelines you can use.

Keep in mind that melons don't gain sugar or sweetness after they are picked. Look for fully ripened fruit for best sweetness and flavor. Avoid bruised or cracked fruit.

Select melon varieties based upon their individual characteristics.

Cantaloupes - scar at stem end should be smooth and without any stem remaining; the rind around the blossom end should yield slightly with gentle thumb pressure; a pleasant melon odor should be perceptible; the coarse, corky netting or veining should stand out over the background rind; the cantaloupe rind should have no green color. While some may be ripe, most have not yet reached their best eating stage. Hold them for two to four days at room temperature to allow them to completely ripen. Then put them into the refrigerator and serve chilled.

Casaba - light green or yellow color turns to gold yellow when ripe; the rind at the blossom end should yield slightly to thumb pressure; casabas have no aroma.

Crenshaw - are large with rounded blossom ends and pointed stem ends. Rind should be deep golden yellow; the rind, especially around the blossom end, should yield slightly to gentle thumb pressure; it should have a pleasant aroma. They have a juicy, rich, spicy taste.

Honeydew - yellowish to creamy white in color; should have a soft, velvety feel; the rind should be slightly soft around the blossom end and have a faint, pleasant aroma. Stark white or greenish ones were picked too soon. If it feels hard or looks shiny and smooth, it was picked too soon.

Watermelon - look for a velvety bloom on the rind. The underbelly, where it rested on the ground, should be yellowish or amber, not stark white or greenish.

Plan October wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Lucht, Mentone, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joy Ellen to Jay E. Engle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Engle, Rt. 5, Warsaw.

She graduated from Tippecanoe Valley High School in 1978 and is a receptionist-secretary at Niff-Corr, Inc. He is a 1974 graduate from Warsaw Community High School and works in the Quality Engineering Department at Depuy, Inc.

The wedding is planned for October 10th.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa:

Is it possible to be in love with two people at the same time? This is my problem. I have been dating them both for the same amount of time approximately—for almost four years. One of them asked me to marry him and I think I would be very happy married to him, but I think I love the other one too, and that he would ask me to marry him, because he has hinted about it but hasn't yet proposed. What am I to do? I'm at the point where I must decide, but I don't know what my decision should be. Can you please help me? I do need help desperately. I am 20 years old and both of them are 21. It isn't that we aren't mature because we are. Please help me.

B.J.—Calif.

Answer:

If a person is undecided about marrying a person my advice is—don't. It is possible to love two people—there are various kinds and stages of love—but unless you feel that life without that special one would be an unhappy life you are not really in love.

Louisa.

His Choice

Visitor: You don't mean to tell me that you have lived in this out-of-the-way place for over 30 years.

Inhabitant: I have.

Visitor: But really, I cannot see what you find to keep you busy.

Inhabitant: Neither can I—that's why I like it!

Don't Know!

Old Salt—You boys of today want too much money. Do you know what I was getting when I got married? Boot—Nope, And I bet you didn't know, either.

Polite Rejoinder

24 Indiana counties eligible for emergency farm aid

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block, today designated 24 counties in Indiana as eligible for disaster emergency farm aid because of excessive spring and early summer rains and flooding that delayed crop planting.

This was the third designation under a new disaster emergency program put into effect by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration on May 26. It means that farmers in the 24 counties may apply for emergency loans to cover part of their losses from adverse weather April 1 through June 30, 1961.

The 24 counties designated at this time, Block said, clearly show damage that is not recoverable during this crop year. Another 24 counties indicate significant damage, but final determination will not be made for another week, pending receipt of additional information required from county emergency boards and FmHA offices.

Other counties for which disaster designation was requested also are being watched and evaluations updated as the year progresses.

On some farms the extent of loss may not be fully determined until after harvest. In some cases, farmers may offset, either wholly or in part, the effects of an early season disaster by replanting or by switching the cropland to another use.

For those farmers who sustained qualifying losses, Block said, an actual loss loan can cover up to 90 percent of the dollar value of the loss of crops at an annual interest rate of 5 percent. Other emergency-related loans are available at higher interest rates.

A substantial loss, as determined by the secretary of agriculture, in the normal yield per acre must be caused by a natural disaster before an area can be designated as eligible for emergency loans. The losses must be surveyed and certified by USDA employees in the community affected.

Persons seeking assistance under this program should contact the Farmers Home Administration county supervisor serving their county. The office is listed under U. S. Department of Agriculture in the telephone directory.

The counties designated are: Bartholomew, Brown, Crawford, Dearborn, Decatur, DeKalb, Elkhart, Fulton, Hancock, Jasper, Jennings, Knox, LaPorte, Monroe, Morgan, Noble, Ohio, Orange, Owen, Perry, Pike, Porter, Pulaski and Steuben.

The counties with significant damage but which have not been designated:

Adams, Blackford, Delaware, Floyd, Fountain, Grant, Huntington, Jay, Jefferson, Kosciusko, Lake, Madison, Marshall, Martin, Miami, Randolph, Ripley, St. Joseph, Starke, Sullivan, Switzerland, Vanderburgh, Wabash and Wells.

Help on home energy reduction

Hoosiers looking to batten down the hatches and run a tight household energy ship can now turn to the State's Residential Conservation Service Program (RCSP) for assistance, announces Lt. Governor John M. Mutz.

Administered by the Indiana Department of Commerce's energy division, the RCSP is designed to reduce energy use in Indiana's households.

To accomplish this aim, the state requires its largest gas and electric utilities to provide low-cost household energy inspections that encourage their customers to develop an energy conservation program in their homes.

"Thirty percent of all energy received in the average American home is wasted and that adds up to many lost dollars for the consumer," said Mutz, executive director of the state's commerce department. "The largest robber of energy in the average home is infiltration of cold air in winter and hot air in summer."

"Through the Residential Conservation Service Program, householders may request an energy survey to find where energy losses are occurring and how they can be corrected," added Mutz.

The survey is an on-site inspection of a home by a trained auditor who identifies areas where energy conservation measures can be applied. These measures could include caulking and weatherstripping, water heater insulation, a tune-up for the furnace, or any number of other ways to reduce the amount of the consumer's utility bill.

Upon completion of the audit, the auditor will calculate how much it would cost to make the home energy efficient and how much energy could be saved.

The results will be presented in writing to the customers. The home audit is an optional service provided by the utility for a nominal $15 fee. The remainder of the approximate $105 cost for the audit is paid by the utility.

Those utilities taking part in the RCSP include: Public Service Indiana, Indianapolis Power & Light, Citizens Gas & Coke, Indiana Gas, Northern Indiana Public Service Company, Southern Indiana Gas & Electric Company, Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, Terre Haute Gas and Kokomo Gas & Fuel.

The state's responsibility is to oversee the RCSP activities of the nine utilities and participating home heating suppliers.

"The State of Indiana, through the Residential Conservation Program, would like all Hoosiers to join in the effort to help save dollars by avoiding energy waste," Mutz said. "And while we are finding ways to cut energy consumption, we also want to look at finding new energy sources that can be delivered to the consumer at an acceptable cost." Persons interested in receiving more information about Residential Conservation Service Program, should contact the Indiana Department of Commerce, Energy Division, 440 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana 46204, or call 317-232-8940.

A happy bridal couple in our town had just driven away from the church when they heard the angry shrill of a state trooper's siren. Embarrassed, the groom pulled over to the curb and asked what he had done. "Nothing," said the trooper, "but I've been in front of the church for two hours directing traffic for your wedding."

"Now I want my chance to kiss the bride!"

A mid-west preacher received this thank-you letter from a bridegroom he'd married: "Dear Reverend, I want to thank you for the beautiful way you brought my happiness to a conclusion."

"Gee, did I fool that fellow. Imagine trying to make me pay him $5,000 for a fur coat."

"But I saw you sign the check."

"I know, but he'll never be able to cash it."

"Why not?"

"I didn't fill in the amount."

During an office "coffee break," a group of secretaries was discussing capital punishment. One, asked whether she would prefer electrocution or the gas chamber, answered: "Not gas! Gas makes me sick!"

The sales manager was delivering a terrific dressing down to one of his salesmen. He became so abusive in his anger that the culprit protested, saying, "Don't talk to me that way. I take orders from no one."

"That's what I'm raising hell about," snapped the manager.

New for consumers

If you were to walk into your kitchen and discover water shooting to the ceiling from one of the faucets, would you know what to do?

Knowing the location of the water shut-off valves is only one of the things you need to know to keep your house in good repair. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has a booklet called Protecting Your Housing Investment that will help you keep minor problems from becoming major ones. For your free copy, send a postcard with your name and address to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 627 J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

There are number of valves you can use to shut off the water. Shut-off valves near each inside faucet are usually located under sinks, behind toilets, and in panels in the wall behind showers and tubs. These valves control either the hot or cold water leading to the specific faucet. You would use one of these to shut off that kitchen leak. Most of the time, however, you use them when you have to change a faucet washer.

The main shut-off valve for the whole house is usually located at the point where the water line enters the house. There may also be other valves around the basement or perimeter of the house that lead to outdoor faucets. Learn which ones these are so you can turn off and drain water from the outside faucets when there is a chance of a freeze.

There is one other major shut-off valve: the one over the water heater. If your water heater should spring a leak, every member of your family should know how to turn off the water leading to the heater.

If you have a gas water heater, furnace, or stove, you should also know how to shut off the gas. The main shut-off valve is located next to the gas meter. In case you aren't sure where it is or how it works, the gas company will be glad to show you. But if you smell gas in the house, and the pilot lights and burners on the stove are not the problem, open all the windows, leave all electrical switches alone, get everybody out of the house, and call the gas company immediately from a neighbors.

There is one last type of shut off that is not a valve. That is your main electrical circuit box. It has a main switch that is your main electric shut-off valve. It also has fuses or circuit breakers that are the same as the water valves under the sinks, shutting off electricity to specific areas of the house. You should know how to replace fuses or reset circuit breakers that have blown because of too many appliances on one circuit, a short, or some other electrical problem. Just be sure that the floor and your hands are dry before you touch any electrical boxes.

To learn more about keeping your house in good shape, send for a copy of Protecting Your Housing Investment (free). At the same time, you will also receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Catalog lists more than 200 free or low-cost federal publications of consumer interest.

Put a health insurance brochure in front of most people, and their eyes will glaze, their breathing will become slow, and, if you listen carefully, you might even hear snoring.

Well, you should be wide awake to choose the best health insurance plan. If you are looking for a supplement to medicare, the Health Care Financing Administration and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners have a booklet that will help. For your free copy of the Guide to Health Insurance for People with Medicare, send your name and address on a postcard to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 532

J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Much of the advice is good for anyone shopping for health insurance. For instance, compare the costs and benefits. If a policy has a large deductible to pay before benefits start, the premiums should be lower. If you're thinking about getting two or more policies to cover different health care costs, be sure they don't overlap. That would mean you would be paying twice for the same coverage. You would probably be better off getting one comprehensive policy, either through an employee group plan, a health maintenance organization or a major medical plan.

If you are planning on switching policies, though, take care. You could be losing some coverage. For instance, new policies often require a waiting period before they go into effect, or they might have exclusions for pre-existing conditions. On the other hand, don't keep an inadequate policy just because you have had it for a long time.

For any policy you are considering, look for a clearly worded outline and summary of benefits and exclusions. Read it carefully, and ask questions if you don't understand. The summary should include information about your right to renew. Beware of any plan that lets the company refuse to renew on an individual basis. Most policies cannot be canceled unless all policies of that type are canceled in the state. The best type are guaranteed renewable for life.

Another thing to beware of is a short enrollment period that pressures you into signing. Look for a statement that gives you at least ten days to review the policy. If you decide you don't want to keep it, you can return the policy within the stated time and get your money back.

Finally, if you are getting supplement to medicare, make sure the policy really pays for services not covered by medicare. One thing neither medicare nor most other plans cover is nursing home care, except for short periods when the patient needs skilled nursing or rehabilitation services. And although many states approve policies, if anyone tells you that the policy is government sponsored, show them the door and report them to the state insurance commissioner. Policies to supplement medicare are not sold or serviced by the state or federal government.

To learn more about supplementary insurance, send for the booklet Guide to Health Insurance for People with Medicare (free). At the same time you will receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog listing more than 200 other publications of consumer interest. The Catalog is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration.

Most people know that pork should be cooked until it is well done to prevent the chance of trichinosis. The U.S. Department of Agriculture recommends that pork reach a uniform internal temperature of 170 degrees Fahrenheit before serving. But, according to preliminary studies from USDA, pork cooked in microwave ovens may not reach that temperature unless you take special care.

Microwave ovens cook by exciting water molecules in the food. But since water is not evenly distributed throughout pork, the meat may not cook evenly. In addition, the bone and fat in pork may block microwaves from reaching part of the meat. And some microwave ovens have uneven energy distribution.

As a result, there could be cool spots in the center of the meat or near the bone where the microorganisms that cause trichinosis and food poisoning could still be active. And that could mean you or your family might get sick.

So if you use a microwave oven for cooking, follow this advice to make sure the pork is well done: First, follow the manufacturer's recommendations for cooking time.

Second, rotate the dish containing the meat several times during cooking.

Third, after the meat has cooked for the recommended time, let it sit for five to fifteen minutes to assure an even temperature. To help this process along, wrap the pork with aluminum foil.

Finally, after the pork has been sitting for a few minutes, check the meat with a meat thermometer, particularly near the bone and in the center. If any part of it has not reached 170 degrees, remove the aluminum foil and cook it more thoroughly.

There have been no reported cases of any illness from pork that was cooked in microwave ovens. But if you follow these directions, you can make sure that you don't become the first.

To learn more about the safety of microwave ovens, send for a copy of the Food and Drug Administration booklet, "Microwave Oven Safety." It's free from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 553 J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Encroachment, encumbrance, easement: These are (a) terms from the federal anti-trust laws; (b) lesser-known penalties in pro football; (c) new strategies in contract bridge; (d) words tossed around in a BZA hearing.

The correct answer is (d). A board of zoning appeal hearing might very well involve these terms that often come up in the course of buying property. If you about to jump into the real estate market, there is a whole glossary of new words and phrases you should know. To help prepare yourself, get a copy of the "Home Buyer's Vocabulary," published by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. It's free from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 637 J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

A lot of terms used in real estate transactions are not familiar to the uninitiated. For example, an encroachment is any obstruction, building, or even a part of a building that intrudes beyond the legal boundary of a property onto neighboring private or public land. An encumbrance is a legal right or interest in land that affects a good or clear title. Mortgages, liens, pending legal actions, unpaid taxes, or zoning ordinances are some of the encumbrances that can be found from a title search. What happens when an encumbrance comes up? It's then up to the buyer to decide whether to purchase the property with the encumbrance, or whether to try to get the encumbrance removed.

Finally, an easement gives right-of-way or access to or over the owner's land. A common example of this is the electric company's right-of-way over private property. Here are some of the "ABC's" of a homebuyer's vocabulary: Acceleration Clause. This is an important clause to watch out for. It may require you to pay the balance of your home mortgage loan immediately, should you fail to make regular payments or violate other conditions of the mortgage.

Assumption of Mortgage. With mortgage money so tight and interest rates so high, it may be worthwhile to look for an assumption. Difficult to find these days, an assumption of mortgage lets the purchaser of the property take over the original mortgage, while the seller is released from further liability. The interest rate can be at prevailing rates or at the original rate, depending upon the terms of the mortgage. Sometimes an "assumption of mortgage" is confused with "purchasing subject to a mortgage." The latter term means that the purchaser agrees to make the monthly payments on the existing mortgage, while the seller keeps the mortgage and remains personally liable for it.

Certificate of Title is issued by the title company or by an attorney and says that the seller has a good, marketable, and insurable title to the property offered for sale. The certificate of title does not offer protection against any hidden defects in the title which an examination of the records could not reveal. The protection this certificate offers you is less than that offered in a title insurance policy.

Earnest Money is the deposit money the purchaser pays the seller when signing the agreement of sale. The amount may not be refundable if the purchaser backs out of the agreement without good cause. It's best to insert a clause in the agreement of sale that specifies the conditions under which the earnest money deposit will be refunded.

Restrictive Covenant limits how you use the property. It may stop you from putting up a fence, opening a business, or even painting your house a different color. Restrictive covenants that try to keep out certain minority groups are discriminatory and unconstitutional. They are not enforceable.

It pays to be familiar with all these terms and what implications they have for a home purchase. When you order a copy of "Home Buyer's Vocabulary" (free) you'll also receive a free copy of the "Consumer Information Catalog." Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Catalog lists more than 200 publications of consumer interest.

Lease agreements signed by T.V.S.B.

The Tippecanoe Valley School Board in a special meeting Monday evening and a continued meeting on Tuesday morning, signed the proposed lease agreements on which they will soon hold a bond sale in order to begin remodeling projects at the Akron-Burket and Mentone Schools. A decision to go with a one unit lease rental agreement for the projected Akron-Burket remodeling was made by four members of the school board during Monday's special meeting, but only after the board agreed to a continuation meeting on Tuesday morning for the purpose of breaking a 2-2 tie vote on the Mentone project.

Akron fire runs

Akron Volunteer Fire Department made a run to the Dewayne Hopkins home on Park Street in Northwood Addition in Akron, when a pan on the stove caught fire Saturday evening about 10:20.

NOTICE OF EXECUTION OF LEASES
TIPPECANOE VALLEY
ELEMENTARY SCHOOL BUILDING CORPORATION AND TIPPECANOE VALLEY SCHOOL CORPORATION

Pursuant to action duly taken on August 3, 1981, leases with Tippecanoe Valley Elementary School Building Corporation in the forms submitted to said meeting were authorized and approved by the Board of School Trustees of Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation. The leases in said forms were executed on behalf of Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation on August 4, 1981.

Fifty or more taxpayers in Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation (other than those who pay poll tax only) who will be affected by the leases and who may be of the opinion that no necessity exists for the execution of such leases or that the proposed rental provided for therein is not fair and reasonable rental, may file a petition in the office of the Auditor of Fulton County, Indiana, or Kosciusko County, Indiana, within 30 days, setting forth the objections thereto and facts showing that the execution of said leases is unnecessary and unjust or that the lease rental is not fair and reasonable as the case may be. Upon the filing of any such petition, the County Auditor will certify a copy thereof to the State Board of Tax Commissioners. The State Board of Tax Commissioners will hold a hearing thereon at a time and place within one of said counties to be fixed by the State Board of Tax Commissioners.

Dated this 4th day of August, 1981.

Medal to be reproduced

The Fulton County Historical Society will reproduce the Chippewanuck Medal in pewter to sell at the Trail of Courage Rendezvous. This privately-owned medallion was found in the edge of a spring on the banks of the Chippewanuck Creek in 1872. It had either been buried with an Indian chief or hidden there by the Potawatomi when they left Fulton County in 1838 on the Trail of Death.

The medallions will be 3 inches in diameter, cast in pewter by Crane Pewter of Woodburn, Ind. Like the original, these medallions will have a hole for attaching a chain to wear around the neck.

The medallion has the likeness of George III of England on the front and the heraldic shield of the British monarchy on the reverse side. Such medals were given to Indian chiefs by the British as tokens of friendship, to mark the conclusion of treaties, in order to win their allegiance, or as rewards for services against enemies.

FCHS Board of Directors also voted to raise the price of Buffalo Burgers to $1.25 because of the rise in cost of Buffalo meat and in shipping. They voted not to ask FCHS members for a donation but only to ask for volunteer workers for the Trail of Courage Rendezvous. However, all workers must be in pioneer costumes.

Getting women to wear long skirts has been no problem, but the men did not have anything really appropriate to wear. So FCHS is making 15 calico frontier shirts for the men to wear while working. Volunteers to help sew the shirts are needed.

Lloyd Jeffereis spoke on "Researching Land Records for Genealogy." Refreshments were served to the 23 present by Andrew and Mary Alice Kuhn, Kewanna.

Surgery for "Robyn"

Robyn Engle, daughter of Sam and Kathy Engle, Mentone, was scheduled for heart surgery July 27th but it has been postponed due to more ear complications. She is responding to the medication and will have surgery around August 5th. The surgery will take approximately six hours with a team of ten surgeons, two working at a time. Robyn will then be in intensive care for seven to ten days. Please remember her in your prayers.

Sign leases, set hearing on budget

The Tippecanoe Valley School Board signed both lease agreements with the newly formed Tippecanoe Valley Elementary School Building Corporation for the Akron-Burket and Mentone building projects, on Tuesday morning at a special meeting after the regular Monday night meeting for proposed leases was held. During the Monday evening meeting, a 2-2 tie vote was cast on the two leases, members Norris and Long voting against going for the complete project and Snipes and Meredith voting for. A meeting Tuesday morning, allowed the absent board member, Con Shewman, to cast his tie-breaking vote. Shewman, stating that even though both of the leases were signed, the board was not bound to any contractual agreement until the bond sale, cast his yes vote.

Present at the meeting on Monday evening were representatives from all the firms involved in the projects. Davenport Associates, architects; ProMaCon, construction managers; Umbaugh, financial advisors, and Fred Rakestraw, the legal advisor for the corporation.

Mr. Paige, in the opening comments of the meeting, stated that after people toured the Akron building, there was not one dissenting note, they decided definitely that something had to be done, even people who previously were opposed to the remodeling project. Since the tearing down of the present Akron Junior High Building would create a classroom shortage at Akron, the Burket project was included with Akron because of the need to transfer students from Akron to Burket. He stated that this should also help with the corporation's transportation costs.

Paige made the statement that additional dollars should not be put into the Akron building. He mentioned that some people threatened to move their children from the corporation if something was not done.

The problem, Paige stated, was not to that extent at the Mentone building, therefore, the project was divided into two phases. The Mentone project was a matter of lack of space, housing a total of 660 plus students in a building built for 480.

To be added at Akron are nine new classrooms, art room, kindergarten, music room, home economics room, learning disability room, and the upgrading of the existing building using energy conservation to meet current standards. Burket would have four classrooms added, a music room, art room and remedial reading room, and upgrading done to the existing building for energy conservation purposes, and for meeting fire and safety codes. Mentone would have eight new classrooms, art room, home economics room, music room and learning disability room with similar upgrading of the existing building. Bids as presented for approval total $7,145,000: Akron $2,647,142; Burket $1,431,454; Mentone $3,066,942.

The financial advisor explained to the audience the estimated project costs, estimated project funds, annual lease rental and estimated tax rates for 15 or 18 year leases. He reminded the board that contractors are held until September 17 on the present bids, after that time, the next 60 day delay would cost $377,663; 90 days of delay would cost $516,333, due to raises in interest rates and construction costs.

Although the meeting Monday evening was called for the lease hearing, the legal advisor, Fred Rakestraw, impressed the board with the importance of the time element and suggested that they vote on signing the leases during that meeting, noting that if any delays were imposed, the increase cost of construction and possibly interest rates would only add to the cost of the projects. He noted that even though the meeting was called for hearing the public comments on the proposed projects, the need to vote at that time was great. He reminded them that even though they approved both leases, there would be a door open to decide on whether to go with the complete project, or only a part of it.

Comments during the meeting by both board members and audience, persisted in recalling whose fault the state of the buildings are in, the present board members or board members of previous years. Superintendent Paige defended the present board by noting from the records that a total of $393,000 had been spent on maintenance only, during the period 1975 - 1980 at all three and he thought there was no way to get ahead of the maintenance problems at Akron.

Paige invited any or all of the audience to take a tour of the building if they wished, stating that several patrons had done so. Dr. Donald Van Gilder asked the board if, after he toured the building, his comments about what he saw would matter in the final decision. He was told that for the last three years, tours had been taken of the buildings, and the time for action was now.

Another school patron, Pam Turner, stated that the tax rate was of interest to her, stating that she thought it would be difficult for the older people on fixed incomes to handle the tax burden. She asked the board if they thought the proposed tax rate would attract new business or families to the area, stating that it would be one of the matters she would take into consideration if she were planning on moving into a new district, even if the school buildings were nice.

Several other patrons commented, among them Lyman Dawson, Trustee of Newcastle Twp., saying that the building projects were going to raise the tax rate enough, it was going to hurt the big landowner and not the little guy. Lester Blackburn commented that "Not buildings, but books" makes education, urging the board to do the things needed, and not get any pipe dreams.

Dr. Van Gilder asked if any Employment survey Revenue sharing meeting held

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of August 17-21, 1981, Stanley D. Moore, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Chicago, announced today.

The survey is conducted for the U. S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in June the survey indicated that of the 106.2 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 98.4 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.3 percent, down from 7.6 percent in May.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

During the Akron Town Board meeting held Monday, August 3, for the purpose of revenue sharing funds, there were four citizens who appeared to make requests and comments, and Clerk Ernest Smith received one written suggestion. Two members of the volunteer fire department attended and requested funds from the revenue sharing to be used for the fire department equipment.

Two people said they would like to see the town board use the funds to fix some alleys and sidewalks in the town. President Ron Fenimore advised them that the sidewalks were the responsibility of the property owner to repair. They also suggested that something be used to remove the rust in Akron's water system.

The written suggestion received by Smith requested the funds be used for the police department and the EMT's.

The total in revenue sharing funds was approximately $10,000; of this amount there had already been obligations in the amount of $8,000; $1,000 for the EMT building, $6,000 for the retirement plan for town employees; and $1,000 for the town park maintenance. This leaves approximately $2,000 in the funds, and after discussion by the town board, the decision to use the remaining monies for the police department equipment, namely a radio was made.

After the revenue meeting was terminated, the town board members discussed the 1982 budget, getting ready for publication and the public meeting on the budget which will be held August 24th. The next regular town board meeting will be August 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Van flips in accident in Akron

An accident Monday, August 3rd, one-fourth mile south of Akron on State Road 19 involved only one vehicle and resulted in $1,000 to $2,000 damages.

A 1965 Ford van, driven by Scott D. Simmons, 18, of Rt. 1, Rushville, Indiana, was traveling south on St. Rd. 19, when his pet dog tried to get out the window. Simmons grabbed for the dog and the van went off the east side of the road, striking a telephone pole, and continued up an embankment. The van rolled upside down onto its top in the middle of the road.

The other occupant of the van was Kent Horsman, of Kokomo.

Friends of the Library meet

The July meeting of The Friends of the Bell Memorial Library was held recently. Children's reading corner was discussed and carpet and bulletin board dividers are being looked into.

Sign leases

monies were needed to pay the architects and ProMaCon. Paige answered, saying yes, 80 percent of the contract was to be paid at the time the contract begins and the other 20 percent was to be paid over the time of construction, plus out of pocket expenses.

Rakestraw again reminded the board that everything hinges on a lease, and they can go no further without signing the lease agreements, and with the limitation on time, they must decide, so he could get the contracts to the successful bidders and get the bond sale set. He stated that there is a 60 day remonstrance period, beginning the date the leases are signed, for a remonstrance committee to get petitions filed to stop the projects, if so, it might throw the project into the time period when the bidders would be assured of an extra amount of money, since contractors were only held until September 17 on their present bids, after that time, the costs would increase. He stressed the point that if remonstrances are filed, people signing the remonstrance could be made allowable for the costs caused by the delay. Snipes made the motion to proceed with the execution of two leases. The vote was 2-2 with Long and Norris voting against both leases. Norris made the motion to proceed with the lease execution of the lease on the Akron-Burket portion of the project. Long seconded. Voting for approval of the Akron-Burket lease were Norris, Long, and Meredith. Snipes voted against.

During other business, Superintendent Paige said after meeting with the teacher's committee that afternoon, he needed to discuss the position of guidance counselor, and get the board's feelings as to whether he should continue interviewing for that position. The teachers had advised Mr. Paige that if a reduction in force was necessary, they thought it would be difficult to justify cutting teaching positions to keep the guidance position. The board decided unanimously to maintain the guidance position, saying they could see advances since the position had been created and the student had a complete testing program.

The board decided at the closing of the meeting to move the regular meeting in August to August 20, which will also be the public hearing on the 1982 Budget. A meeting August 27 will be held for the purpose of adopting the 1982 budget.

It Happened in Mentone

Taken from the Northern Indiana Co-Op News, August 9, 1950. 31 YEARS AGO:

The First Baptist Church of Mentone, will celebrate their first anniversary on the radio, on Sunday, August 13.

Eli Julian is now night marshal at Mentone, having taken the place of Irvin Wagner, who resigned to resume his duties as school janitor.

Larry Flenar, son of Mrs. Mildred Flenar, has enlisted in the Air Corps. He is stationed at Lackland Air corp. Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rathfon, Mr. John Haney and Miss Marilyn Rathfon, attended the Smith Family reunion at Roanoke on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Holloway and family and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Holloway returned Tuesday from an eight-day trip into Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Clay said the fishing was fine at Emely, Minn., and he is already dreaming about a return trip.

The members of the 1938 graduating class of the Mentone High School held a picnic at the Warsaw City Park on Sunday, July 30, with a fine attendance. Robert Tucker was president of the group and Betty Goshert was the secretary. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Everett Beeson and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Kay Paulus, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stanford and son, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Horn and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Linn and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith and children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goshert and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tucker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hoffer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Estep, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beeson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tucker and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shinn and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Skeets Hammer and family.

Taken from the Northern Indiana Co-Op News, August 10, 1938. 43 YEARS AGO:

About thirty-five relatives and friends surprised Mr. Earl Davis Wednesday evening, August 3, at his home near Claypool. The occasion was in honor of the birthday anniversaries of Earl Davis and Margaret Powers of Mentone. Ice cream and cake was served and the evening was spent socially.

The Misses Annabel, Rosalind and Margaret Mentzer returned to their home in Mentone Tuesday evening after spending a few days with their aunt, Mrs. Rose Boggess of Mishawaka.

Don Smythe entertained several of his little friends at his birthday party Saturday afternoon in Palestine. Ice cream and cake were served and Donald received many lovely gifts.

Bob Tucker suffered a severe cut in the iris of his right eye about a week ago and is slowly recovering. The accident occurred in Warsaw when a sponge rubber ball struck his glasses, breaking them, and his right eye was severed with one of the flying pieces. The eye is healing satisfactorily but Bob will have to wear a black patch on it for about three more weeks.

T.V.H.S. cooks attend workshop

Sherry Smalley and Sally Leininger attended a food service workshop at Purdue University on July 28, 29 and 30. The focus of the workshop was on professional growth and development, with sessions emphasizing: The Importance of Working Together, How to Become More Effective Managers and How to Implement Nutrition Programs in Our Schools.

Participants had an opportunity to taste-test recipes incorporating the use of commodities and to learn work simplification tips. One of the greatest benefits of the workshop was the sharing of problems and ideas with other school food service workers throughout the state.

As a reduction in Federal Reimbursement programs are anticipated in the future, it will be challenging to become more proficient in order to continue serving good, attractive, nutritious and low cost meals in our school.

Mrs. Smalley is manager of the T.V.H.S. Food Program and Mrs. Leininger is one of 5 cooks.

Memorial books given to Akron Library

The following books were given to the Akron Library in memory of Ellen Millery by Nora Hoffman, Ruth Hileman, Vera Butt and Marie Craft.

A Question of Courage by Marjorie Darke. This is a story of the early 1900's and in the heroine, Emily, the author has and sympathetic young woman who became involved in the Women's Suffrage Movement.

Especially Father-Gladys Taber After writing many years, Gladys Taber went back in memories remembering her father and decided that life in a small town with father was far more exciting than anything she could find the world over, so she decided to write about it.

The following list of books were given to the Library in memory of Rae Wildermuth by friends and neighbors.

More Scrap Saver's Stitchery by Sandra Lounsbury Foose. Designer Sandy Foose has returned to her overflowing scrap bags and came up with a whole new collection of original designs. She offers more than 50 items to help you turn odds and ends of fabric into charming and useful things.

Alcohol, the Beloved Enemy by Dr. Jack Van Impe. The author evaluates historical background, current research, crucial statistics (for example, seventeen million Americans are either alcoholics or problem drinkers), and scriptural references are given.

Hobo On The Way To Heaven by Art Linletter. In this book Art Linkletter lets us see the man behind the friendly smile, a man whose talents and resources have been turned over to God to inspire encourage and challenge a needy world.

The Lord God Made Them All by James Herriot. James Herriot is perhaps the most beloved living writer. This Yorkshire veterinarian ian now has another bestseller for his vast reading audience.

Song Of Deborah by Bette M. Ross. This is a novel convincing in portrayal and compelling in message. This novel will sweep you into its absorbing narrative of adventure and romance, humor and human drama, as one woman chooses to obey her God, regardless of the consequences.

Unemployment claims increase reported

Unemployment insurance claims increased by 4,975 last week to 68,446, the Indiana Employment Security Division reported today. The comparable year-ago total was 149,345.

Holton Hayes, director, said initial claims were up because of layoffs for vacation, inventory and model change. The largest increases occurred at Anderson, Bedford, Bloomington, Elwood, Kokomo, Muncie and Newcasttle, primarily in the fabricated metals, nonelectrical and electrical machinery, and transportation equipment industries.

Hayes said continued claims decreased as recalls occurred following previous layoffs.

State approves Claypool's Federal Revenue Sharing usage

It's now official. After progressing through the necessary steps of a public hearing and adoption of an additional appropriation, the $2,800 in federal revenue sharing money can now be given to the South Central Kosciusko EMS and also used for street and alley repairs for Claypool.

The final step in the lengthy procedure was completed recently when the State Board of Tax Commissioners approved the appropriation for spending the federal revenue sharing funds.

Town Board President, Robert Bruce, will present a $1,000 check as a donation to the South Central EMS at the medical service's next meeting set for Monday, Aug. 10. The other $1,800 is slated for street and alley repairs.

A first reading of the proposed budget for 1982 occurred at Tuesday night's regular meeting of the board. A second public hearing will be held at the next session slated for Tuesday, Aug. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the town barn.

Adoption of revenue sharing and budget is scheduled for Aug. 25. The 1982 general fund is set at $37,420, the motor vehicle highway fund is $11,135, local road and street is $4,750 and federal revenue sharing is $2,000. The general fund budget is a 6.9 percent increase.

It was reported at Tuesday's meeting that water readings this month will be estimated on the Sept. 1 bill. The reason for the possible change is that the meter man may not be available for the Aug. 20 readings.

The board decided that instead of having only a three-week reading for this month and a five week reading for September, that a better method would be an estimation of this month's bill. At the next meeting on Aug. 18, a final determination will be made on whether an estimation is needed. If the bill is estimated there will be a statement to that effect on the monthly form. Otherwise the bill will be accurately read and have no statement of an estimation.

Bruce and Kenneth Hudson and clerk-treasurer Sheila Warren were present at the meeting. Town Trustee Jack Warren was absent.

We Lag In Math

Recent studies have shown that U.S. high schools are lagging in the teaching of math. That is no surprise because the recent trend of permissive and easy-course education in many of our high schools has become a national disgrace.

The picture is very serious, however, when one glances at what is being accomplished in other countries. In Russia, for example, ninety percent of the current generation graduating from the equivalent of our high schools will be highly literate in math. In this country less than twenty percent will be as accomplished!

In Soviet secondary schools, all students study algebra. In U.S. high schools the percentage is 72 percent. All Soviet secondary school students study geometry, trigonometry, and precalculus/calculus. In this country the percentage for seventeen-year-olds is 51 percent, 13 percent and 4 percent—according to the National Assessment of Educational Progress.

Low performance in problem-solving is a characteristic of today's U.S. high school student and this is not too surprising in view of the lack of math education and declining SAT scores. It is disappointing in view of the fact that most U.S. colleges continue to stress the theme that high school students can not have too much math.

The ominous implications of today's watered down curricula in U.S. high schools include the likelihood that other countries, including Russia, will produce a greater number of scientists and mathematicians in coming years. What this will mean for the United States could be very grim, in the field of industry, defense, and science of all kinds.

Unfortunately, the National Science Foundation is today fighting for its life, and current proposals are to cut its funds by fifty percent next year. It is the body which has been pointing out the danger of less emphasis on math and science instruction in U.S. high schools in recent years.

The foundation has been right. Public attention should be focused on this errant trend among so many U.S. high schools in recent decades. Nothing less than the future of the country is involved.

August 14

Three years and eight months after they gambled and attacked the United States, Britain and Holland, the leaders of the Japanese Empire surrendered—on August 14, 1945.

Although September 1 is remembered as the day the Japanese formally surrendered aboard the battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay, it was on the 14th of August that President Truman announced Japan had surrendered. The outcome was no longer in doubt (Germany had collapsed on May 8) but the announcement nevertheless brought an immense wave of relief and celebrating to the United States.

There were scenes in the streets in New York and Washington, and other cities, which have not been repeated since. The entire population was united in expressing its joy, and victory parties were held everywhere.

On September 7, General Douglas MacArthur raised the Stars and Stripes over his headquarters in Tokyo—the first time in 2,000 years the Japanese had ever admitted total defeat. The flag was that which had been flying over the Capitol in Washington the morning the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor (December 7, 1941), having followed millions of brave men on the long road to Tokyo.

HOROSCOPE

Week of August 16, 1981

LEO -- Those born under this sign have an abundance of self confidence. They are lovers of luxury, who often have to fight the tendency to show off. Blessed with many fine talents, they make good leaders.

LEO -- July 23 to Aug. 22—Friends may try to get you to shirk responsibility. Don't do it! You may feel frustrated when you make the decision, but you'll be glad you stayed with your duties.

VIRGO -- Aug. 23 to Sept. 22—Domestic disagreements can be avoided if you watch for the signs. Harbor no bitterness in your heart.

LIBRA -- Sept. 23 to Oct. 22—Someone may try to convince you of the necessity of over-extending your resources on a financial deal. Proceed slowly.

SCORPIO -- Oct. 23 to Nov. 22—Slow down long enough to listen to the advice of well meaning friends. They know of whence they speak.

SAGITTARIUS -- Nov. 23 to Dec. 21—Cooperate with the inevitable. Show associates that you are a good sport. Satisfaction comes to you from good relationships with others.

CAPRICORN -- Dec. 22 to Jan. 19—Relief should come soon for these trying times. Plan now to continue your education in some way, to reach even greater heights of understanding.

AQUARIUS -- Jan. 20 to Feb. 18—An easy, relaxed week should be in store for you. Invite friends. This is only a quiet prelude to a much faster moving fall season.

PISCES -- Feb. 19 to March 20—New ideas come into being. Success in your chosen endeavor seems assured. Your persistence pays off.

ARIES -- March 21 to April 20—The long siege of personal disappointment to which you have been subjected may be at an end. Some sort of public honor or recognition can be expected.

TAURUS -- April 21 to May 20—Get rid of unpleasant memories by putting them out of your mind and replacing them with newer ideas and experiences.

GEMINI -- May 21 to June 20—Stop coming on so strong with your temper. Even if you have a legitimate reason for feeling the way you do, nothing can be resolved by such actions.

CANCER -- June 21 to July 22—If loneliness is your problem, reach out to help others. Giving monetary assistance is very fine, but your greatest satisfaction will come if you give of yourself.

ON THE WINDMILL

WASHINGTON -- The windmill, a familiar sight in rural America at the turn of the century, is about to make a comeback, not just in this country but all over the world, a research group predicted recently. Twenty to 30 percent of electricity needs could be supplied by wind power early in the next century, according to the study done by the World-watch Institute.

Letter to the Editor

Gentlemen:

We would appreciate any coverage you can give us on the following:

Tickets are on sale for the Annual Chicken and Pork Chop Barbecue Benefit, sponsored by the Bremen Community Hospital Auxiliary. Proceeds will go toward the building pledge and emergency equipment.

The Barbecue will be served at Sunnyside Park in Bremen on Thursday, Aug. 20, from 4 to 8 p.m.

The menu will feature Nelson's Golden Glow Barbecued Chicken and/or Pork Chops, French Fries, Cole Slaw, or Applesauce, Rolls and Drink. Homemade pie may be purchased by the piece or whole pie.

There will be ample table service in the Park Shelter Building at South East Street with plenty of parking space in the park. Carry outs will be available.

Tickets may be purchased at several places of business in Bremen as well as at the park on the day of the barbecue. Prices are reasonable.

As an interesting sidelight, a handmade quilt will be awarded the evening of the barbecue. It is on display at the Bremen State Bank, downtown Bremen.

Thank you for any publicity you can allow me.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Fred Berg

Publicity Chairman, Hospital Aux. 546-3634.

A.H.S. Class of '56 reunion

Members of the Akron High School class of 1956 and their guests met for their 25th reunion August 1 at the Balloon Works in Plymouth. Forty persons enjoyed the buffet dinner and evening of fun. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Floor and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Saner of Silver Lake headed up the committee. Floor was master of ceremonies with an assist from Roger Gearhart of Corning, Iowa.

Gearhart and his wife, the former Janet Thompson, traveled the farthest to be at the reunion. Also coming from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Alan Kindig of Holland, Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Sheetz of Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Cox (Mary Lou Eber) of Zionsville, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Niles (Suzanne Harter) of Muncie, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Heckman (Carol Teel) of Mishawaka and Tom Burkett of Webster, Wisconsin.

Class sponsors present were Mrs. Onita Johnson of North Manchester and Philip McCarter and Mrs. McCarter of Rochester. A letter from Helen Lozier Williams, of Pittsford, N. J., was read.

Other class members present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Woods (Mary Frances Arthur), Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shewman, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Shewman, Jim Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hill (Judith Hammond), Mr. and Mrs. Arden Miller (Kathleen Swope), and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Floor (Ann Landis) of Akron; Mr. and Mrs. George Deaton (Jean Ann Walters) of Bourbon; Mr. and Mrs. Max Thompson (Deloris Floor) of Claypool; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sriver (Tamara Hand) of Rochester; and Mr. and Mrs. Saner, Silver Lake. Kay White was a guest.

A letter and photograph from Mrs. John Goodwin (Barbara Boswell) of Columbus, Ohio, was shared.

During a time of sharing memories, respect was paid to those classmates now deceased: Stan M. Helvey, Donald Cox, Ted Larry Kuhn and Herbert Fites. Sharing and the taking of photographs and reminiscences followed. Since Mr. McCarter was also basketball coach, sport stories abounded including the sectional victory at Peru with the Jones brothers, Jim and Kenneth, leading the team. Photos taken included the five couples who are all 1956 graduates, the Gearharts, Shivers Deatons, Floors and Woods. Fred Saner arranged for the pictures and prints will be available through him. Seven door prizes were awarded.

Alan Kindig was senior class president and Roger Gearhart was the vice-president. Verla Jean Rager, now Mrs. Darrell Rice of Hartford City and Eileen Beatty, now Mrs. Ray Crousore of Cincinnati, Ohio, were the secretary and treasurer.

Heading up the committee for the 30th reunion in 1986 will be Judith Hill, Tamara and Gary Sriver, Kathleen Miller and Richard and Mary Woods. Tentative plans call for a "hog roast" at Harold Shewmans the first day of July with golf for the men and a "tea party" for the women! But this is five years away!

Estate planning seminar

A Seminar explaining the recent changes in the tax law will be held Tuesday evening, August 18th at the Steer Inn, Silver Lake, Indiana. Mr. Robert E. Kelly, president of Meridian Financial Services Corporation and Diane Cumberland of Akron, will conduct the meeting. Mrs. Cumberland recently joined Mr. Kelly's firm.

Meridian Financial Services Corporation is an Indianapolis based Financial Planning Company that specializes in Estate Tax Planning for farmers and small business owners. Mr. Kelly, the firm's founder, has lived in Indianapolis since 1976, and has held numerous meetings throughout the country on tax planning. He was the featured speaker at three recent national meetings. The National Spa and Pool Institute in Chicago, the Plumbing, Heating, Cooling Contractors' Association in Louisville, and the Door Operators Door Owners' Association in St. Louis. In addition, the firm was featured at this year's Young Farmers' Association State Convention in Indianapolis.

The meeting will cover recent changes in the law that effect Income and Estate taxes, and will contain ideas for future planning. According to Mr. Kelly, all wills, trusts, property, titling, insurance and gifting programs have been impacted, and may need to be reviewed, and possibly changed.

Dessert and refreshments will be served. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Volleyball meeting

40 YEARS AGO:

Donald Love, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Love, has been added to the State Police force by Don Stiver, superintendent of the State Police. Love is one of 53 new officers who were chosen from 116 cadets who completed six weeks of training at the police school at Indiana University recently. He will go on duty September 1st.

Mr. Ed Shriver has announced that Saturday will be the last day his 5¢ and 1¢ store will be open, and he is closing out the remainder of his stock at one half of the marked down price.

The Joe Bidwells are celebrating the eighth anniversary of the opening of their business, Bidwell's Market, in Akron this week.

Doyle Ferree is still confined to his bed, having sustained a broken leg and other injuries when his team ran away with a load of hay. On Saturday, neighbors and friends gathered and threshed his wheat and oats. While the men worked on the grain, the women prepared a delicious dinner for them at the home of Henry Clingaman. The following persons were present: Mr. and Mrs. Verna Scholl, Harold and Gleen, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Provines and Eunice; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Miller; Helen Hudson; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fraling; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith and Dorothy; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Smith and Joyce; Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Provines; Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Baker; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baker; Mr. and Mrs. Asa Smith and Lester; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Weller; Elwood Ogden Walter; Whedley; Lowell Miller; Arthur Scholl; LeVernie Hengy; Lewis Ray; Clem Chinworth; A. Graham; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Weller; Russell Stout; Dan Sopher; Pete Baker; Ellie Clingaman; Barbara Sheak; Mabel Lukens; Marie Pottenger; Mary E. Lukens; Doris Pottenger; Vivian Clingaman and Daisy Smith.

Members of the Olive Bethel threshing ring and their families met Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dawson and family. The men settled up their business for the year and they all enjoyed several freezers of home made ice cream.

Miss Velma Bright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bright, is the new assistant librarian, replacing Miss Faye Pontious, who resigned to accept a full time position as night telephone operator.

25 YEARS AGO:

A fiery cross, similar to the ones which appeared in the Ku Klux Klan days, was burned at Disko Tuesday night on the lawn of the Clyde Gearhart home. The fire was discovered about 9:30 p.m. The Wabash County Sheriff was called Wednesday morning by Mrs. Gearhart.

The quarantine at the Ralph Whittenberger home has been lifted, and Mary Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whittenberger, is gradually improving. She had been ill for several days with diphtheria.

Miss Kathleen June Swope became the bride of Mr. Richard Dean Dittman at 8:30 o'clock last Saturday night in the Akron Church of God. The Rev. Harold Conrad performed the single ring. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Swope of Akron and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dittman of Fulton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sterk, Fayetteville, N. C., are the parents of a daughter, Debra Joan. Mrs. Sterk is the former Margaret Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Johnson, Rochester, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Sterk, Akron.

The 37th annual Bahney-Paul reunion was held Sunday at Goshen with 66 present. Hershel Loher of Warsaw was elected president; Grover Flohr, vice president; and Pearl Habb, secretary-treasurer.

Jacob Flohr, 75, of Disko was the oldest person present and Richard Holdread, 13 months, the youngest. Mose Bahney, Roann, had thirteen relatives present, and Ralph Paul traveled the longest distance, 288 miles, to attend.

Misses Alice Van Loe and Shirley Luckenbill went to a bridal shower held at the Hopper residence in Rochester on Monday night. The shower was in honor of Virginia Sanders and Jean Cofford and was given by Nancy Luckenbill and Martha Weston.

Mrs. Amanda Murphy, Judy Hammond and Tommie Hill were Tuesday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Worden Perry.

15 YEARS AGO:

Mr. and Mrs. Whitt Howard, Rt. 1, Akron, are the parents of a son.

Mrs. Dow Landis had the misfortune of falling and breaking her hip. Mrs. Landis is in the St. Joseph Hospital, Kokomo.

T.V.H.S. announces opening of school procedures

Tippecanoe Valley High School Principal, Robert Meyer announces the schedule for opening of the 1981-82 school year as follows:

August 10, 11, 12 - Students new to T.V.H.S. that have not registered for classes, report to the Guidance Office between the hours of 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1 to 4 p.m.

August 20 - Ninth Graders will pick up schedules, pay fees, check lockers, and have school photos taken between the hours of 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

Tenth Graders will pick up schedules, pay fees, check lockers and have school photos taken between the hours of 1 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

August 21 - Eleventh Graders will pick up schedules, pay fees, check lockers and have school photos taken between the hours of 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

Twelfth Graders will pick up schedules, pay fees and check lockers between the hours of 1 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

August 25 - First day of classes. Students are to report to first period classes, 8:50 a.m. Students without schedules are to report to the Lecture Room at 8:50 a.m. Lunch will be served. The cost for a student lunch will be 70¢.

Assistant Principal Keith Wortinger, announces that most textbook rentals and course fees will remain the same as the the 1980-81 school year. Rental for Science and Health courses will be different because of new texts adopted for these areas. Driver Education has been added to the school year program and a $20 fee will be charged. Book rental for each student will vary according to classes taken. A fee statement will be available and fees should be paid when students pick up their schedules on August 20 or 21.

Attends summer council meeting

Mrs. Tom Fugate and Mrs. Frank Smith of Mentone, recently attended the Summer Council Meeting of the GFWC Indiana Federation of Clubs at Stouffville Inn, Indianapolis. Mrs. Fugate is Kosciusko County President and 13th District Secretary and Mrs. Smith is Kosciusko County Secretary and President of the Mentone Reading Club.

Evening entertainment was attending Starlight Musicals where they saw Ken Berry in "George M. Cohan."

Workshops attended included those on Membership, Leadership and Parliamentary Procedure.

Mrs. Gordon T. Beckley of Arlington Heights, Illinois, spoke to the Council. Mrs. Beckley, National Chairman of the Crime Reduction Program, being sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, brought much up-to-date information. One phase of this program, shopping, will be discussed at the first fall meeting of the Mentone Reading Club at the home of Mrs. Stephen Cullison on Sept. 9th. Mrs. Fugate will conduct the program.

County director attends meeting

Fulton County E.M.S. Director, Dr. Ernest Anderson, attended Akron's E.M.T. meeting Tuesday evening to meet and speak with the volunteers about the county service and some of the projects he would like to see accomplished in the county.

Noting he has no plans to make drastic changes, subjects discussed at the county EMS meeting were: some monetary help for volunteers to help pay for their training periods and mileage, also a set fee per run made, possible help on medical care for the volunteer and immediate family.

Dr. Anderson is presently providing three days service at Woodlawn Hospital Emergency Room, while heading the EMS and in September will be on full time duty. Dr. Robert Elliot has been hired to fill in for Dr. Anderson at Woodlawn so there will be 24 hour coverage.

New officers were elected during the meeting. Bonnie Hiers, president, replacing John Weida who served as president for two years; Suzi Caudill, vice-president and training officer; Todd Utter, secretary-treasurer and scheduling officer; Jack Miller, head driver and communications officer; Phil Allen, public relations.

The next Emergency Medical Technician's course begins August 10 and will meet Monday and Wednesday evenings at Woodlawn Hospital with Dave Kruger of Akron instructing. There are 21 enrolled, 3 from Akron. Applications for the course may be obtained from any EMT or at Woodlawn Hospital, long with the three new prospects from Akron there are two new drivers who, will at a future date, be given a course in defensive driving on techniques in driving an emergency vehicle.

CPR classes will be held August 17 and 19 at Woodlawn Hospital with instructors from the Akron EMT's, John Weida, Phil Allen and Paul Teel.

Weida, as his last efforts as president of the unit, urged the EMT's to personally approach citizens who might be interested in becoming an EMT, talk with them about the classes and service, assure them they will have all the help they need in passing the course requirements, in order to get more people involved with the service so the "on call" hours could be reduced for all members and Akron can retain their 24 hour ambulance service.

Pioneer costume required by all participants. All crafts, foods and contests must be 1800's type, using materials available then. Send to Fulton County Historical Society, 7th and Pontiac, Rochester, IN 46975.

Participation in the sixth annual Trail of Courage Rendezvous is invited by the Fulton County Historical Society. The rendezvous will be Sept. 19-20 in Kern's pine woods on the Tippecanoe River at the corner of U. S. 31 and Olson Road, three miles north of Rochester.

Last year the Trail of Courage Rendezvous drew a crowd of over 5,000 and it is expected to be even bigger this year. Since it began in 1976 to commemorate the courage of the Potawatomi on the Trail of Death removal to Kansas in 1838, the rendezvous has become a major attraction in northern Indiana.

The rendezvous is a living history festival which includes a tipi village, muzzle-loading and tomahawk contests, Indian dances, period music, pioneer crafts and foods. Only pioneer-era crafts, materials and foods are allowed. Pioneer costumes must be worn by all participants and booth workers.

Anyone who is interested in participating should contact FCHS at 223-4436 for suggestions on crafts or foods or pioneer skill contests. This is an opportunity for churches, clubs or individuals to make money and promote education in history.

Primitive booths are available for rent for $15. If a person demonstrates a pioneer craft and does not sell, there is no charge. Reservations should be sent in by Sept. 1 to the Fulton County Historical Society, 7th and Pontiac, Rochester, IN 46975.

Shooters wishing to participate in the muzzle-loading contests should send $10 for the 10 contests. Open sight muzzle-loading guns using round ball ammunition and pre-1840 costume is required. Single contests are $1 each. An engraved pewter tankard will be awarded to the best over-all shooter. Prizes will be given to the first three places in each contest.

Remember the way circuses used to give free tickets to those who helped feed the elephants and set up the big top? In remembrance of those good old days, the Fulton County Historical society is offering free admission to the Trail of Courage Rendezvous to volunteer workers.

Any volunteer who works a four-hour shift for FCHS will receive a badge entitling him/her to free admission both days of the rendezvous. Workers must wear pioneer costumes.

The blank below can be used to reserve a booth or enter the shooting contests or apply for free admission as a volunteer.

New rules for State Fair Beef shows

The Indiana State Fair Board has ruled the use of graphite charcoal or any powdered substance for preparation of beef cattle to be shown will be prohibited during the 1981 Fair, Aug. 20 through Aug. 30, reported Robert McKee, vice president and director of the Cattle Department.

"We've received complaints from exhibitors, spectators and fair officials who happen to be passing by as these substances are being applied to the hair coats of the animals," McKee stated. "Therefore, using any powdered substance in any form will be prohibited this year."

Anyone entering the State Fair's show ring with any of these substances on his cattle will be sent back to the barn and dismissed from that class.

There is no way to accurately predict what people will do.

E.M.S. notes

The Akron Unit of the Fulton County E.M.S. during the month of July were called for two runs and logged 52 miles.

NOTICE OF ERROR

The 1981 spring and summer Calendar of Events published by the Indiana Dept. of Commerce, Tourism Development Division, printed a notice about the Trail of Courage Rendezvous, saying there was no admission charge. This is an error. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children, free under age six.

Akron sets registration dates

All students attending Kindergarten through eighth grade at Akron should register prior to the opening of school. Students may be registered in the library of the junior high school building and book rental fees paid anytime between 1 and 8 p.m. on Friday, August 14, or between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. on August 17, 18 or 19. The book rental fee for students in grade one through eight is $30 per student for the entire school year. For kindergarten the book rental fee is $15 per student. All new kindergarten students and first grade students who have not attended kindergarten in our school corporation will need to present a birth certificate at registration. Homeroom assignments for all students will be available at registration.

School Hours:

Opening day of the 1981-82 school year for students in grades two through eight is Tuesday, August 25. Students in kindergarten and first grade should report to school on August 26, for their first day of school.

Daily hours throughout the school year for students are as follows:

Morning kindergarten - 8:35 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.
Afternoon kindergarten - 12:35 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.
Grades one through eight - 8:35 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The school doors will open each school day at 8:25 a.m. for students to enter the buildings. In the interest of student safety, students who do not ride a bus to school are encouraged not to arrive before the buildings are open.

Lunch Program

Lunch prices for the 1981-82 school year will be 70¢ per day ($3.50 per week) for all students. Each lunch includes one carton of milk. As word has been received from the Department of Public Instruction, Division of School Food and Nutrition Programs that the school will receive no reimbursement money for extra student milk, extra milk for students will cost 17¢ per carton. Students in grades one through six must pay their classroom teachers daily, or they may pay the first day of each school week for the entire week. Seventh and eighth grade students pay daily as they go through the lunch line. Applications for free and reduced lunches will be available to any student/family throughout the entire school year should it become financially difficult or impossible to pay for student lunches.

Physical Examinations

Dr. Herrick has kindly consented to give physicals to all sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students planning to participate in athletics this school year. The exams will be given immediately after school on Wednesday, August 26. Any student not taking advantage of this opportunity for a physical examination will have to get one from his/her doctor before being allowed to participate in any sport.

Advice given at drug abuse meeting

Mr. Steve Petty, of Grace College, formerly with the Riverwood Ranch at Warsaw, used his experiences at the ranch for the basis of his talk about the moral aspects of drug abuse during the last meeting held Saturday evening at Akron Junior High.

The first question asked by parents when they find out their child is using drugs, is "Why?" Why did this happen to us? Why did they do this?

ACCEPTANCE

Using a personal experience as an example, Petty related the story of a young married man, who, having family problems, proceeded to divorce his wife. After the divorce, his relationship with his family deteriorated to the place where he felt he had to leave the area. He felt he had been deserted by family and even the people of his church treated him as if he was diseased.

In leaving the area, he met some new people who befriended him and accepted him as he was. There people were already involved in using drugs, therefore, he became addicted.

ATTENTION

Attention, is another reason for kids to get involved in drugs and alcohol. Petty said the boys referred to Riverwood Ranch are greatly in need of attention. Most have been involved in minor offenses, drugs and alcohol use, theft, no major crimes such as murder. They come from bad home environments where no one cared.

Riverwood has a Christian type family setting, Petty said, and they work with the boys to set them up in new environments, not advising the boys they work with return to their family and friends, because going back to the same environment and friends they had when their problem began, would only tend to return them to the scene of their trouble.

LOVE

The biggest common denominator among the boys at the ranch is the lack of love. The people at the ranch try to give the boys a committed, caring, "doing" kind of love. Doing things for them as they do their own families, thus creating a wholesome and caring family environment. The boys seek attention, and the ranch people do things with them every day, sacrificing some of their day to give time. The boys demand time from their foster parents, as this is something they never had at home. Their parents were too busy with their jobs or doing their own "thing."

COMMUNICATION

The boys use as communication, facial expressions, because how you look tends to show your feelings. They use their foster parent's mannerisms as a gauge and copy them. The people working with these kids find that the best kind of communication is listening. They need to have someone to talk to and have them listen and hear what they are saying. To listen is one thing, to hear another.

ADVICE GIVEN

Petty advised that you give of yourself, quality time, not just your body but your mind, to listening to your child. Use each day, all 24 hours of it wisely and you will have time for them. You are only in possession of this very moment, and cannot tell what your day tomorrow will be.

If you don't make time for your children during their formative years, they very probably won't make time for you when they get older. The relationship with a child doesn't come without risk and sharing. Communication is essential, open up and share yourself and your time, or your children cannot respond to you. You need to listen to them and find out what the real person inside is like, their thoughts and needs. Giving of yourself, and time and having the strength to communicate is one of the solutions to keeping your child from falling into drug and alcohol use. Keep them busy and direct the use of their spare time toward character building.

Asked what tactics are used at the ranch with drug users, Petty said they work with the boys, keeping them occupied and active so they don't have time to think about drugs. Give them responsibilities and encourage them toward positive efforts, putting down their negative habits.

The boys are all between 12 and 18 years of age and not yet habitual criminals. They usually stay at the ranch for 18 months and are referred from the probation or welfare departments. These boys are not encouraged to return to their families, but go to foster homes away from their former environment.

Personal Injury Accidents

Area police investigated the following accidents:

Sally A. DeYoung, 36, of 1111 Ranch Rd., Warsaw, complained of shoulder pain after the car she was driving was struck by a vehicle driven by Brian T. Fox, Winona Lake, at 1:16 p.m. Thursday on Ranch Road, south of St. Rd. 15 South. Damage to the vehicles was estimated between $200 and $1,000.

A car driven by Leandro Lopez, 16 of 221 South Maple St., Warsaw, struck the rear of a car driven by Charles L. Long, 53, of 1307 East Market St., Warsaw, on East Center Street, west of Reed Street. Long complained of neck pain. It was later determined he had sustained a cracked vertebra, according to police. Damage in the 5:30 p.m. accident was estimated between $200 and $1,000 to each car.

Warsaw Patrolman, Lance Grubbs, sustained abrasions on his right elbow and knee after he dumped the police motorcycle at 6:28 p.m. Sunday in order to avoid hitting a young bicyclist. According to police reports, he has just finished a call on North Reed Street and was riding east in an alley. He then turned north in the alley towards Main Street. He noticed a young girl riding her bicycle towards him, not leaving much room for him to ride, according to reports. His foot slipped off the pedal as he applied the brakes, so he applied the hand brakes. The front wheel skidded on loose stones, and as he turned to avoid hitting the girl, he was ejected from the cycle. No collision with the bicycle occurred, and she continued on, laughing, the report said. The police cycle sustained damage to the siren speaker, the right front turn signal and the front brake master cylinder.

A motorcycle driven by John E. Sexton, 34, Rt. 1, Mentone, was struck in the rear by a car driven by Odell Godwin, 46, Burket, at 5:30 a.m. Wednesday on St. Rd. 25, south of the Crystal Lake Road, according to City Police. Sexton was pinned under the bike and sustained leg abrasions. Damages to the vehicles were estimated between $200 and $1,000. The accident was not reported to police until Wednesday afternoon.

Incident Reports

The following reports have been given to area police:

Officials at the State Highway Commission, East Jefferson and Cleveland Streets, Warsaw, told City Police that several BB shots went through the windshield of a dump truck recently. The truck was parked inside the fence facing Cleveland Street. Damage was estimated between $150 and $200.

Kathy S. Gestwicki, 28, of 744 West Center St., Warsaw, told City Police her daughter's bicycle valued at $190 was taken recently from her home. It has been missing since July 30.

Lee Adams, manager at Petro's Motel, 935 North Detroit St., Warsaw, told City Police two men registered July 30 and left without paying an $80 bill.

A well pump, valued at $200 was taken from the residence of Richard Eckhart, Rt. 2, Claypool, recently, according to County Police.

City Police, assisted by State Police, recovered a 1980 pick up truck taken recently from Judd Cook Chevrolet, 302 Frontage Rd. Warsaw. It was discovered one quarter mile west of County Rd. 100 East, south of the Old Spring Hill Road. The truck was locked and the keys were gone. There was also some damage to the vehicle, as well as the crops in the cornfield in which it was found.

Representatives of the Lakeview Shopping Center Association, 2200 East Winona Ave., Warsaw, reported the theft of five plastic letters, valued at $50 each, from their sign recently.

A 17-year old rural Warsaw girl was apprehended recently by officials at 3D Department Store, 1113 Old Rd. 30 West, Warsaw, after she walked out of the store without paying for a pair of running shoes. An employee watched her take her sandals off and put on the shoes. She left her old shoes on the rack and walked out of the store. The matter was turned over to Juvenile Officer Jerry Laurien.

Two individuals reported the theft of bicycles recently to City Police. David M. Lashure, seven, of 221 East Fort Wayne St., Warsaw, told police his Stingray dirt bike, valued at $75, was taken recently from his front yard. Marie M. Schubert, 40, of 913 East Lark St., Warsaw, said that a 10-speed bicycle, valued at $200, was missing from her garage.

Vandals slashed the tires on a vehicle belonging to Dale Mort, 22, Rt. 3, Piercetown, late Wednesday, while he was at the Kosciusko County Fair. His car was parked along Winona Avenue when the incident occurred, City Police said.

Nelson Dudge, Rt. 2, North Manchester, told County Police someone broke the window out of his car sometime between 1 a.m. and 6 a.m. on July 29, and took an 8-track tape player, tapes, a sweatshirt, billfold, battery and chrome air cleaner. No value on the stolen items was given. The incident occurred along St. Rd. 15, just north of the Kosciusko-Wabash County line.

Vandals threw a rock through the windshield of a car belonging to Donald R. Morris, Indianapolis, Tuesday night while it was parked at Ogden Island near Syracuse. There was also damage to the trunk lid, County police said.

A trailer for a 14-foot boat was taken from the residence of James Burdick, Rt. 6, Warsaw, late Monday or early Tuesday, according to County Police. The thieves unloaded a boat that was on the trailer before taking the item.

Fourteen five-gallon cans and five one-gallon cans of paint, valued at $20 a gallon, were taken recently from the residence of H. B. Liebhongood, Bouse Dr., Silver Lake, according to County Police.

Grace Lawson, Rt. 4, East Shore Dr., Syracuse, told County Police that a $100 bill was taken from her dresser on July 23. Lisa Taapken, 18, Nappahee, has been charged with the theft.

Cindy Hartman, Hide-Away Hills, Warsaw, told County Police $165 in cash was taken recently from her home.

Property Damage Accidents

Area police have investigated the following traffic accidents:

Kenneth A. Cretcher, 22, Rt. 2, Bourbon, told County Police that he lost control of his vehicle on County Rd. 350 West, south of County Rd. 200 North and hit a utility pole Tuesday afternoon. Damage in the 2:53 p.m. accident was estimated between $1,001 and $2,500 to his vehicle, while the pole was damaged approximately $400.

Cars driven by Harold A. Henry, 65, Rt. 1, Leesburg, and Edna Johnson, 78, of 521 North Colfax St., Apt. E, Warsaw, collided at 3:47 p.m. Tuesday at the intersection of East Smith and Maple Streets, according to City Police. Damage to the northbound Henry vehicle was estimated between $1,001 and $2,500, while the eastbound Johnson car was damaged between $200 and $1,000.

Six passengers in a KABS bus, driven by Teresa L. Jaynes, 25, Rt. 6, Warsaw, were uninjured when she lost control of the vehicle and clipped a NIPSCO pole along St. Rd. 19, south of County Rd. 1350 North. She told police that the front tire dropped off the roadway and she couldn't bring the vehicle back on the pavement due to a low shoulder. Damage to the bus was estimated between $1,001 and $2,500, while the pole sustained $1,000 damage, County Police said.

Vehicles driven by Richard K. McCall, 36, Goshen, and Beverly A. Jordan, 30, Rt. 2, Woodland Hills, Warsaw, collided at the intersection of East Center Street and Argonne Road Wednesday, according to City Police. Damage in the 4:57 p.m. accident was estimated between $200 and $1,000.

The intersection of Old Rd. 30 and Phillips Road was the scene of an accident at 2:15 p.m. Monday as cars driven by Sara E. Gosser, 69, of 1811 Robin Dr., Warsaw, and Kimberly Ulmer, 16, Bourbon, collided. County Police investigated the accident.

Cars driven by Donna M. Neilson, 21, Elkhart and Kathy A. Baugher, 27, of 1301 East Fort Wayne St., Warsaw, collided at the intersection of East Winona Avenue and South Buffalo Street at 11:11 a.m. Thursday, according to City Police. Baugher was cited for operating on a beginner's license without a licensed operator 18 years old. Damage to both vehicles was estimated between $200 and $1,000.

Anker S. Ankerson, 50, Elkhart, told City Police he was eastbound in the east-west alley between Kline's Department Store and United Telephone Company, approaching Indiana Street, when a young male ran south into his path. The subject was looking over his shoulder toward the north as he ran, Ankerson said. He looked back where he was going, saw Ankerson's car, and had just enough time to jump on the hood instead of running into the side. Ankerson said he jumped on the hood, rolled across the windshield landed feet first on the other side, and continued running south. Police estimated damage to the car, which sustained a large dent in the hood, at approximately $200. The young man continued fleeing.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a special, exclusive series of reports from Europe, in which the author reports on military and economic trends, and interviews some of the world's most famous pilots and military experts.]

Greatest Flier In History Lives Quietly In Small Town, Shuns Fame

By Edward H. Sims
Part I

STUTTGART, GER-MANY — The man driving the car was noticeably careful. When the light turned yellow, he stopped quickly, rather than go through. Entering a highway, he waited for cars at considerable distance—before entering. He was Erich Hartmann, greatest fighter pilot in history.

He retired in 1970 from a Luftwaffe (West German Air Force), cooperating closely with the U.S.A.F. and equipped with American jet fighters. He trained many of the Luftwaffe's present-day pilots. If they can duplicate Hartmann's techniques, they'll be valuable NATO allies. For Hartmann, in World War II, shot down 352 enemy aircraft on the eastern front.

No other pilot matched this remarkable achievement. Only one other, also a German, shot down as many as 300 aircraft. (A visit with him, Major General Gerd Barkhorn, retired in 1979, will be the subject of a later article in this series.)

It was a hot July day and the three of us stopped at the Hotel Pfefferburg, in the town of Schonach, for dinner. (U.S. Hartmann's wife, goes almost everywhere with "Erich.")

"I live a quiet life. I like to stay at home. I don't want to travel. I'm happy here. I own my home, have my pension, and I never hurry. I'm too old to chase girls," Hartmann said with a smile. U.S. also smiled. They're close.

"I know the people here. They know me. I'm on the city council. I pilot aircraft in our club twice a week, teaching young people to fly." How much did he charge?

"Nothing," Hartmann answered. "It's a private club. I do it to help them." Does he accept speaking engagements or other appearances? "No—I don't accept any and I hate reunions. I don't go to them. The past is past and we must think of the future."

The hotel dining room overlooked a wide valley and several small towns with their neatly aligned white stone houses and tile roofs. It was a peaceful scene on a blue-sky, summer afternoon. Hartmann lit a cigarette and sipped his beer.

"U.S. and I seldom talk of the old days. What's done is done. We don't like to go back over it all, with other wartime fighter pilots. I don't like these dinners honoring heroes, everyone saying what a great guy so-and-so is, and all those medals. I hate that. We like to talk about today."

And what are the political, military and economic trends in West Germany today?

"War is coming because we are weak. In our military, the situation is bad. Officers who are members of the socialist party get to be the generals. The socialist government is spending money it doesn't have on all kinds of domestic welfare programs."

"We are being forced to cancel weapons programs."

Our federal bureaucracy is larger than yours, in proportion to the population. Our social programs are growing and consume a greater percentage of the budget than yours.

"Chancellor Schmidt is hard pressed by the militant left wing in his own party. Morale in the services isn't what it should be. The only chance to avoid war is if America is strong. Europe is weak. Now France has gone socialist. Reagan is right to rebuild America's strength."

"You Americans are stronger than you realize. Russia is really poor. The people are good people and hate their government. The government bluffs American administrations. The Communists don't want a hot war. They're afraid their subjugated people might turn against the government. I saw this after spending ten years in a Russian prison camp in 1955, on my way back of Germany."

Russian civilians saw us at the railroad station waiting for a train to take us back—that was in 1955. They came up and quietly said to us—tell Eisenhower to come and free us from this government!

"What your country should do, in my opinion, is to constantly proclaim it as the long-term goal of the democracies to see freedom and democracy in the subjugated countries. You should make it clear you don't want war, but want to see peoples in these countries really free. You should say that constantly, and it would give people in these countries some hope for the future and encourage them to keep their dream of independence alive."

ANSWERS ACROSS

Q: How should down jackets be cleaned?

A: First, check the care label, recommends Jean Goodrick, Purdue University extension textiles specialist.

Follow recommended care procedures. If the label says your coat can be laundered at home, use warm water, a gentle cycle, and a low-suds detergent. Do not use a detergent or presoak that contains enzymes. In hard water areas, a water softener may be helpful. Rinse thoroughly.

Tumble dry the jacket on a medium setting. Add to the dryer a couple of towels to absorb moisture and two or three tennis balls to help fluff any clumps of down. Dry the garment thoroughly to prevent mildew.

Q: I left a load of clothes in my dryer too long and now I can't seem to get the wrinkles out of some of the knits. Is there anything I can do?

A: When this happens, sort the affected items from the unaffected ones, says Jean Goodrick, Purdue University extension textiles specialist. Then, rewash the wrinkled clothes at the recommended temperature setting in the permanent press cycle.

If the wrinkles remain, try ironing. If this doesn't work, take the wrinkled garments to a dry cleaner for pressing. The fabric can be considered permanently damaged if this last step does not work.

Polyesters, nylons and acrylics are thermoplastic fibers. They soften in heat. While this property makes it possible to set in creases, it also makes it possible to set in wrinkles. That is why it is important to use warm water temperatures and permanent press cycles with cool down rinses to prevent wrinkling.

CATTLE INVENTORY

The nation's inventory of cattle and calves as of July 1 rose to 125 million head, up 2 percent from 123.1 million a year ago, the Agriculture Department said recently.

ECONOMY STAGNANT

A government look into the nation's future provided no early relief from a stagnating economy but no new recession either, Commerce Department reported recently.

RADIOACTIVE LEAK

MONTICELLO, MINN.

A worker forgot to turn off a water hose and cause a 2,000-gallon leak of low-level radioactive water to drip into the Mississippi River, Northern States Power Company said recently.

BANS IMPORTING

SAN FRANCISCO

Mexican officials said recently they have started turning back produce-laden trucks from four California counties, calling the move a necessary step in preventing the spread of a destructive fruit fly.

And speaking of drinking, here's one from Texas. An old drunkard from the Panhandle saw so many pink elephants and purple snakes that he hired a hall and put up a sign "25c. to See the Zoo". A couple of customers resenting the fact that they saw nothing but four bare walls, swore out a complaint. The sheriff took the warrant and set out to make the arrest. The old boy hauled his jug out from under his counter, the sheriff took 3 snifters. . . and paid him $1000 for a half interest in his show.

Joe: "Do you think the doctor really meant it when he said you wouldn't live another week unless you stopped chasing women?"
John: "He sure did. I was chasing his wife."

Al: "Your wife used to be very nervous but now she doesn't show a sign of it. What did you do for her?"
Dick: "Found a new doctor who cured her in a hurry. He just told her nervousness is a sign of old age."

A man and his wife were out for a stroll one day. They came to a puddle. The husband said, "Let's jump across." His wife rolled her eyes and said, "Remember when you used to carry me over mud puddles? You were more gallant when I was a gal." "I sure was," he replied. "But you were more buoyant when I was a boy."

"You cannot have a good town without a good newspaper, and with a genuine up-to-date newspaper a town cannot long remain obscure and uninteresting."

Mentone sets registration dates

School begins at Mentone School on Tuesday, August 25, 1981, for students in grades 2 - 8. Students are to report to the school by 8:35 a.m. on that morning. The doors will open at 8:25 a.m.

Kindergarten and first grade students are to report on Wednesday, August 26. This will be their first day of school. Morning kindergarten students may ride the bus but they must have someone to pick them up at 11:30 a.m. when class ends. The afternoon kindergarten students are to report at 12:30 p.m. to their classroom. They may ride the bus home after school.

Textbook Rental Fees
Kindergarten Students - $15; first through eighth - $30. This fee includes all workbooks and rental fees on all text books. Supplies that students will need to furnish for themselves are listed on the textbook rental fee sheet. This can be picked up when registering your child.

Lunch Prices
Lunch prices for students at Mentone School have been increased by 5¢ for the beginning of the school year. The cost of a single lunch for students in grades one through eight will be 70¢ per day or $3.50 per week. The cost of extra milk will be 17¢ per day or 85¢ per week.

For persons who qualify a reduced price lunch is offered at 40¢ per meal or $2 per week. Free lunches are also available for students who qualify. The application for a free or reduced lunch will be available at registration.

These prices have been increased because of reduced support from the Federal Government.

Student and Parent Handbooks
Handbooks are available for parents and students that deal with policies and procedures for students at Mentone School. Policies dealing with attendance, behavior, medication, and other areas are outlined in the handbook. Please take the time to read these policies. These booklets will be available at the beginning of the school year.

School Calendar
A school calendar will be available at the beginning of the school year that will list all athletic events, vacation days, parent-teacher conference days, report days, and other events happening at Mentone School this year.

First Day of School
The first day of school for students in grades two through eight will be Tuesday, August 25. Students will be allowed to enter the building at 8:25 a.m. Students will be dismissed at 3:25 p.m. in the afternoon. Kindergarten and first grade students will begin school on Wednesday, August 26. Morning kindergarten students may ride the bus to school, but they will need a ride home at 11:30 a.m. Afternoon kindergarten students should report to the school no earlier than 12:25 p.m. Kindergarten class begins at 12:30 p.m. The afternoon Kindergarten students may ride home on the bus if they live in the country. All students will be dismissed at 3:25 p.m. on Tuesday.

Akron News

893-7263

Onda has been at the Akron Lion's Senior Citizen Site since October 1978 and has written the news of the site for the Akron-Mentone News since that time.

Licensed to teach in the upper six grades in Math, she also teaches biology, chemistry, vocational home economics and related sciences, physical education, health and safety and driver's training. Onda will be teaching at Kewanna school in the junior high and high school departments.

She lives with her daughter Diane at Rt. 1, Akron, where they have a 40 acre farm which has two ponds stocked with fish and she notes they can also see Mud Lake from their back door. This explains why she has been able to come up with such interesting wildlife and out-of-door articles to the paper.

We would like to thank her for all those interesting news items and for being our correspondent, we have really enjoyed the relationship. Here's wishing you the best of luck, Onda!

Friends! No wealth can be greater than the rich wealth of friendship. Cherished memories of friends can be recalled at almost any moment and we can escape to the happy hours with a friend. Thoughts like these are passing through my mind and I would like to write some lasting magic words to my friends in this, my last regular news article. But words come with difficulty and cannot express how much I have enjoyed my work with the senior citizens and the writing of a few newsy words each week. So in my humble way, with God's help, I'll just give you the news from the site.

A nice surprise farewell party for yours truly was given at the Lions Club Senior Citizen Site last Thursday. Thirty two senior citizens shared a delicious carry in dinner of Salads, Beef and Noodles and Desserts in addition to the meal regularly served at the site. Eating, visiting and singing were some of the activities of the day. The group presented me, Onda, with a lovely black attache case for my coming school teaching days. The beautiful attache case will replace the ragged paper bag that carried my important papers to and from the site. Needless to say that bag was one of our site jokes! I'd like to thank all of you for the efficient, compartment case, pen and pencil and stationery. I can't begin to thank all of you enough for this lovely gift and all the support and assistance you have given me over the past three years but I'd like to try. Thanks a million to all of you lovely, friendly senior citizens. I'll miss you more than you can ever know. I have met more than 200 of you and most of you have become good friends of mine as a by-product of my duties at the Akron Nutrition Site. Thanks. I hope to keep each and everyone of these friendships.

Thursday, August 13 will be the next Blood Pressure Clinic from 11 to 12. August birthdays will also be celebrated on the 13th. Come get your blood pressure taken and stay for lunch.

For reservations or information, please call 893-7204 or 893-4668.

Scheduled menus for the week of August 17 to 21 are:

Monday: Beef and Noodles, Whipped Potatoes, Chopped Broccoli, Brown Bread, Peaches, Milk, Coffee and Iced Tea.

Tuesday: Fried Chicken, Green Beans, Scalloped Potatoes, Brown Bread, Applesauce, Milk, Coffee, Iced Tea.

Wednesday: Beef Manhattan, Whipped Potatoes, Peas, Bread, Fresh Orange, Milk, Coffee, Iced Tea.

Thursday: Breaded Pork Cutlet, Green Beans, Sweet Potatoes, Bread, Pineapple and Cheese, Milk, Coffee and Iced Tea.

Friday: Cubed Ham with Beans, Spinach, Cornbread, Peas, Milk, Coffee and Iced Tea.

Missing pastor 'alive, well'

The Rev. Richard Austin, missing since June 8, is alive and well. Mrs. Austin told city police her husband contacted her yesterday from "somewhere in Indiana" and said he is all right.

The active phase of the search for Austin, pastor of the First Brethren Church, was closed July 21 by police. The department said it concluded Austin had left the area for "reasons that are personal and private and in no criminal way."

The search included a journey by 35 members of Austin's congregation to northern Indiana in mid-June, looking for clues to the 42-year-old minister's whereabouts. He purportedly left Peru to attend a church conference in Shipshewanna and to be a camp director there.

The police investigation was by officers Robert Keller, David Sharp and Dick Blair.

RECALLING TRUCKS

DETROIT -- Some 42,735 1980 and 1981 Datsun four-wheel-drive pickups are being recalled for replacement of front wheel bearing seals, Nissan U.S.A., distributor of Datsun cars and trucks, said recently.

Celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meredith of Rt. 2, Akron, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sunday, August 16th at the Akron Public Library.

Mrs. Meredith was the former Evelyn Blesch. The couple was married August 13, 1931.

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith, before retirement, were educators for a number of years.

The hosts for the occasion will be Mr. and Mrs. John Meredith of Fort Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Leigh [Marcia] Morris, of LaPorte. They have four grandchildren.

The presence of relatives, friends, and neighbors are the only gifts the honored couple desire.

DRUG QUIZ

by Curt Scarborough, Ph.D.

Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo.

QUESTION - Though alcohol consumption continues to increase throughout the U.S., the rate of that increase has slowed considerably since the 1960s. On a per capita basis, Americans increased their drinking of alcoholic beverages by 25% over the decade of the 60s, says a Congressional report. During the 1970s the rate slowed to 8%.

What is the average daily consumption for those adults who drink?

- 1 drink
- 2 drinks
- 3 drinks
- 4 drinks

ANSWER - Average daily consumption for the two-thirds of adult Americans who drink is 1.5 ounces of pure ethanol in the various beverage forms. That equates to three normal drinks: 3 beers, 3 glasses of wine, or 3 cocktails.

But averages can be deceiving, says the report. The fact is that approximately 16 million adults (11% of the population) drink about half of all beverages sold.

Correct answer - c.

Celebrate anniversary

Ted and Josephine Robinson, Akron, were entertained by their family in celebration of their 31st wedding anniversary on Thursday, August 6th.

Mrs. Robinson was the former Josephine Gearhart. Mr. Robinson was employed by Tucker's Freightline for 20½ years and his wife worked at General Tire for 28 years before retiring.

The couple have two adopted daughters, Diane Wilson of Fort Wayne and Kathy Slater of South Whitley. They also have eight grandchildren.

Ted and Josephine took foster children into their home, among them were Bobby Hensley, Tony Nelson and Wayne Ratliff.

Mrs. William Bemenderfer, Norma, and Bill Bemenderfer, Jr. of Indianapolis, attended the Bahney reunion Sunday at the Peru Park. They spent Sunday evening and Monday at the home of Nora Hoffman. Also visiting on Sunday afternoon were the Fred Bemenderfer family of Indianapolis.

Helen Craig, formerly of Akron, and now a resident of a veteran's home at Lafayette, was the guest of honor July 7 when the Martha Class met at Ruth Bammerlin's home in Akron.

The afternoon was spent in fellowship. Refreshments were served to Helen Day, Emma Burns, June Merley, Ruth Hileman, Lavon Stout and Mrs. Craig.

Tom and Dorothy Harger, Rt. 2, Akron, have won a free vacation trip to Mexico City through a contest they entered with the National Pan Company. Dates for the trip have not been arranged as yet, but when you go - Bon Voyage!!

Frank Overmyer, North Webster, brother-in-law of Don Caldwell, Akron, is recovering from back surgery at the Kosciusko Community Hospital.

Louise Chinworth of Warsaw, Zenofia Burdge, Lena Kuhn and Thelma Lockridge were Tuesday dinner guests of Mrs. Edith Heighway.

Mrs. and Mrs. Roger Gearhart of Corning, Ia., visited his father, Frank, now living at Canterbury Nursing Home in Rochester, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Thompson, other relatives and friends recently.

Answer:

If she is not allowed to date by her parents you are wrong in allowing her to deceive them. I do not know how old she is or whether you two have decided that she is too young to date or whether her parents object to it.

Your last paragraph makes me think that some of your concern may come from the fact that she is after your boy friends. If that is your real objection to double dating with her why not spell out the rules by telling her that on a double date she must stay off your side of the line.

If she is really too young to date tell her that she will have to wait a while as you do not feel right about deceiving her parents.

Louisa.

Dear Louisa,

There are three of us girls who run around together. We are all very close. It is the youngest we are having trouble with. I am four years older and the other is three years older than she is. We can date but she can't. She is always wanting us to double-date with her but we don't like this as she is too young to date. She is cute and can get a lot of boys. She wants to spend the night with us and we can't tell her she can't stay. What shall we do?

Another thing she is always trying to get the boys that we go with. What can we do about this? Please don't tell us to drop her as we both love her dearly.

Worried-Miss.

Hillis survey

According to the recently tabulated 1981 Hillis Survey, President Reagan and his major policy initiatives enjoy wide support among the people of Indiana's 5th Congressional District.

On both domestic and foreign policy issues the President received very high ratings. Of those responding, 72 percent said the Reagan performance was "good" or "excellent" on domestic issues, 67 percent rated him "good" or "excellent" in handling America's foreign policy. The President was judged "average" or below by 28 percent for his domestic policies and 33 percent for his foreign policy.

National defense and Social Security were predominantly mentioned as the areas of the federal budget which people did not want to see cut. On the other hand, welfare and federally sponsored social programs other than Social Security were most often cited as parts of the federal budget which ought to be cut back.

Interestingly, the survey revealed two issues on which those responding were evenly divided. Half of the respondents wanted to see all federal support for Amtrak and Conrail eliminated while an equal number thought a total elimination was wrong. Similarly, 50 percent wanted to see the United-States re-open arms control talks with the Soviet Union while virtually the same number thought such talks would not be in the national interest.

On the issue of cutting federal taxes, 81 percent expressed support for some form of a tax rollback. However, there was disagreement on precisely how those cuts ought to be structured. 38 percent favored a 10 percent, across the board cut in taxes for each of the next three years; 24 percent wanted to see a one year cut which would target more tax relief to middle and lower income people; 19 percent favored a one year across the board cut with further cuts only if the economy shows improvement; and 19 percent said that no tax cut should be enacted until the federal budget is balanced.

With respect to assisting the Social Security Trust Fund, 74 percent wanted to require the participation of all federal workers in Social Security. 72 percent favored reducing non-retirement Social Security benefits and 54 percent favored increasing the financial incentives to encourage more people to work beyond the age of 62. Only 28 percent wanted to use the general revenue funds to help pay for Social Security while only 10 percent thought Social Security taxes should be increased.

The greatest support for any single issue in the survey came in response to whether the CIA and FBI ought to be strengthened in order to enhance American's national security. An overwhelming 86 percent favored strengthening our intelligence agencies while only 14 percent expressed opposition to this proposal.

On other issues, federal laws and regulations on pollution control were judged adequate in their present form by 41 percent of the respondents while 40 percent thought they had become too stringent. 19 percent felt that federal environmental laws and regulations are currently too lenient.

Only 6 percent of those answering the survey opposed federal funding for space exploration projects. 28 percent felt that the federal government ought to spend more on such projects while 23 percent thought it should spend less. A new embargo of grain only against the Soviet Union was opposed by 68 percent while a comprehensive embargo on all U. S. trade with the Russians was opposed by 58 percent.

With over 15,000 constituent responses, the 1981 HILLIS SURVEY clearly indicates that the people of the 5th District are vitally interested in the direction of our country. Your participation in this survey is greatly appreciated.

Does anyone really want to return to the 1940s?

Former Mentone girl survives shark attack

Bill and Darlene Ennis of Mentone, received word Tuesday, August 11th, that their daughter Tami had a harrowing experience in Daytona Beach, Florida, on Sunday, August 9th.

She and three companions were sailing about six miles off shore when a bad storm hit. Their boat capsized. All four were able to climb aboard the overturned boat.

They were forced to ride out the night on the capsized boat with no other boats in the area to help them.

After deliberations the next morning, freezing cold, hungry and with the boat gradually sinking they agreed to try to swim to shore.

After nine grueling hours of constant swimming, Tami and the two companions reached shore.

The fourth boater was attacked by something about three hours into the swim. It was presumed to be a shark. She did not survive. The three that reached the shore were hospitalized in intensive care. Tami was released and is suffering from exposure. Her first statement to the reporters of the Daytona and Miami papers was, "I owe my life to my dad who is a swimming coach. He taught me not only the fundamentals of swimming and survival, but most of all the determination to give my all and not give up, even when the circumstances seem insurmountable."

Claypool woman gets two years for theft

Carol A. Konkle, 32, Rt. 1, Claypool, was sentenced to two years with the Indiana Department of Corrections by Judge Richard Sand in Kosciusko Circuit Court Wednesday morning.

She was charged with theft, a Class D felony, after she allegedly took property from Edith Ina Konkle, her mother-in-law, from Oct. 31 to Nov. 24, 1980. She took her MasterCard card and used it to obtain $622.27 worth of gas, food, lodging, and cash in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Michigan.

"You have to draw the line someplace," the judge told her following sentencing. "I wish there was something else to do," he added, noting that there was an alcohol abuse program at the Indiana Women's Prison.

Mrs. Konkle had told the court that it was because of an alcohol problem that she was there. "There are times I cannot control what I do to obtain money," she said. On May 18, she pleaded guilty to the charge and requested treatment as an alcohol abuser.

She was denied treatment by the Department of Mental Health, where officials said her attitude toward the problem would limit help she could receive.

The judge ordered her remanded to the custody of the sheriff for transportation to the women's prison.

In other court action, James Allen Bower, 19, Rt. 2, Warsaw, pleaded guilty to burglary and theft. He is charged with the breaking and entering of Stouder's Grocery, Etna Green, on July 23.

Judge Sand ordered a presentence investigation conducted by the probation department and set sentencing for 9 a.m. Friday, Sept. 25.

Attorney Thomas Earhart was appointed to represent Joseph Robert Berger, 27, Toledo, Ohio, who is charged with possession of marijuana. He and three co-defendants were apprehended Sunday morning after they apparently had been picking the substance near Leesburg, according to officials.

Berger waived formal arraignment and pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Judge Sand also reduced his bond from $5,000 to $2,000, provided a surety bond with an insurance company is obtained.

Possible Rabies case discovered

Humane authorities are investigating the possibility of another rabid animal near Clunette after County Police received a call that a wild cat had bitten a dog Friday night.

The cat was shot and the body was saved for examination by State Board of Health officials. The dog is being held until test results are returned.

The incident comes nearly four weeks after a rabid skunk was killed west of Clunette.

At the same time, Humane Officer Jeff Gibbs, has issued a warning to area pet owners. If a stray is picked up by the humane commission officials, and there is no evidence that the animal has been given a rabies shot, charges may be filed against the owner.

Before the animal will be released to the owner, proof that the shot has been given must be shown. Or, he must go to a veterinarian and obtain proof that the shot will be given to the animal once it is released.

Failing to have an animal immunized is a Class C infraction and could result in up to a $500 fine, if no one has been bitten. If the animal has bitten someone, it is a Class B misdemeanor, and is punishable with up to 180 days in jail and a fine up to $1,000.

If an animal has been bitten, it must be held in isolation for six months if it has not been inoculated. The isolation time is reduced to three months if the rabies shot is current, according to Gibbs.

The humane officer also warns area residents to be careful in handling possible dead rabid animals. "They should be handled with care," he says, stressing that the saliva from the dead animal should not get into any open cuts or wounds.

Community effort is needed

The abandoned property at the corner of E. Walnut and N. Maple across from the Lion's Den in Akron, has for some time needed work done to remove the trash which has accumulated during the months since the owners left it to become the local eyesore.

Permission has been granted by all the people responsible for the property, for any citizen who would like to help remove the trash, cars, etc., from the property and mow the lawn, to go on to the property and clean it up.

Permission to use the town truck and equipment has already been given. Time set for beginning the work is Thursday, August 20 at 6:30 p.m., the finishing work will be completed on Saturday, Aug. 22nd at 9 a.m.

Anyone who would like to help in this community effort is welcome.

Investigation continues in vandalism

Investigation is continuing in the search for the person or persons responsible for the vandalism at the Mentone Cemetery last Thursday night. Several monuments were smashed and toppled from their foundations. Police Chief Hart estimated $5,000 to $7,000 in damage was done to the old section of the cemetery at the south side. The Kosciusko County Sheriff's Department is helping with the investigation.

16 additional counties eligible for emergency farm aid

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block recently designated 16 additional counties in Indiana as eligible for disaster emergency farm aid because of excessive spring and early summer rains and flooding that delayed crop planting.

These counties were in addition to the 24 Indiana counties Block designated as eligible for emergency assistance on July 24.

This means that farmers in the 40 counties may apply for emergency loans to cover part of their losses from adverse weather April 1 through June 30, 1961.

Block said the counties designated at this time clearly show damage that is not recoverable during this crop year. Other counties for which disaster designation was requested also are being watched and evaluations will be updated as the year progresses.

On some farms, the extent of loss may not be fully determined until after harvest. In some cases, farmers may offset, whether wholly or in part, the effects of an early season disaster by replanting, or by switching the cropland to another use.

For those farmers who sustained qualifying losses, an actual loss loan can cover up to 90 percent of the dollar value of the loss of crops at an annual interest rate of 5 percent. Other emergency-related loans are available at higher interest rates.

A substantial loss, as determined by the secretary of agriculture, in the normal yield per acre must be caused by a natural disaster before an area can be designated as eligible for emergency loans. The losses must be surveyed and certified by USDA employees in the community affected.

Persons seeking assistance under this program should contact the Farmers Home Administration county supervisor serving their county. The office is listed under U. S. Department of Agriculture in the telephone directory.

ROCKET BLOWS UP

ROCKPORT, TEXAS

Engineers involved in America's first privately financed satellite program tentatively blamed a frozen liquid valve for an explosion that wrecked their only test rocket.

Military dogs featured at Grissom open house

Airman 1st Class Myran L. Dunker and his dog, Brutus, will perform during Grissom Air Force Base's Open House, Sept. 6.

A demonstration by the military working dogs will be one of the many highlights at Grissom Air Force Base's annual open house on Sept. 6.

The base's five dogs will demonstrate their obedience, attack and physical search training at approximately 12:45 p.m. during the open house. The base opens to the public at 10 a.m.

The dogs that will participate in the open house, like all Air force dogs, are treated just like military members, according to Master Sgt. Thomas J. Helm, the non-commissioned officer in charge of Grissom Air Force Base's Military Working Dog Section.

All dogs military careers begin when they are purchased or donated to the Air Force. "Currently, the Air Force only accepts dogs with predominantly German Shepherd blood because they adapt to the climate changes better than other breeds," Master Sgt. Helm said.

Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, is the first stop for dogs entering the Air Force. They go through an 11 week basic patrol course that teaches them basic obedience, aggressiveness and scouting. After the basic course, some of the dogs are sent to an additional nine week course that teaches them to detect explosives and narcotics.

With their initial training completed, the dogs are sent to Air Force installations throughout the world. "This is where the dogs meet the human who will become the dominant figure in their lives - their handlers," Master Sgt. Helm said.

Spending the last 11 years working with military working dogs, Master Sgt. Helm has discovered that a deep bond develops between a dog and his handler. The handler takes care of all the dogs physical needs, such as cleaning, feeding, and simply loving it, he said. The dog and handler also spend regular eight hour shifts working together as a security patrol team.

"The dogs really are Air force members," he said. We maintain records and schedule them for regular physical examinations just like we do for human military members, he added.

"I'm looking forward to the open house," Master Sgt. Helm concluded. "It will be an opportunity to show everyone just how intelligent our dogs are."

NATO Doomed?

The trends sweeping much of western Europe today are cause for serious concern among those who know how dangerous the conventional military "unbalance" has become, between east and west.

The situation is sufficiently grave to prompt some to predict that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the alliance against communist aggression which has protected the free world since shortly after World War II, is at a dead end, perhaps doomed.

The trouble is that when the U.S. had a huge nuclear edge, the West opted to take the easy road—to rely on massive U.S. nuclear retaliation as a response to any Soviet or communist aggression in Europe. But in recent years, as the Russian nuclear arsenal has grown to outweigh our own, the strategy is no longer believable.

Leftists and middle roaders, socialists and peace-niks in various European countries are making gains among the people by saying—rightly—that the U.S. will not use its nuclear weapons to respond to a small aggression here or a small move there—in Europe. And if the U.S. does, Europe will be destroyed in any event.

The only realistic deterrent today is a large, well-equipped conventional military force which can check aggression without resorting to nuclear weapons. The European nations have been unwilling to spend the money to buy that defense. The U.S. has likewise lagged but is now trying to catch up.

There is currently pessimism in Europe, however, in most of the NATO countries. The governments know greater spending on conventional defense isn't popular. Popular are more social programs and benefits. Thus, the question is whether NATO can exhibit the collective resolve and will to arm itself properly. Some fear it is already too late to reverse the error of relying on massive U.S. nuclear retaliation.

For the first time in decades there is a real danger that NATO will break up or die slowly in a symphony of dissent and pretense. Some military experts today believe NATO, as it now exists, is totally incapable of halting a determined aggression from the east. And there is widespread pessimism among many European veterans of the last war about the spirit and patriotism, the will to defend, of today's European youth.

Red Sun Setting

William T. Y'Blood has written, and the U.S. Naval Institute has published, a detailed account of the Battle of the Philippine Sea—a great carrier battle which ended the last hopes of the Japanese for a decisive victory with air power in Red Sun Setting.

The Battle of the Philippine Sea is interesting as a great carrier confrontation even though by the time it was fought, the outcome of the war was almost certain. Admiral Raymond Spruance of the U.S. Navy had a far more powerful carrier force than he did at Midway, where he won the most dramatic fateful naval encounter of the entire war.

The great carrier encounter, known to historians as the "Great Marianas Turkey Shoot", remains the greatest carrier engagement of all time, in numbers of carriers and planes involved. And it is true, as the author claims, that this battle has not generally been given detailed attention in histories of World War II.

 B. J. Crowley's HOROSCOPE

Week of August 23, 1981

VIRGO -- Practical and careful best describe those born under this sign. They generally follow through on any undertaking. Best color is blue, lucky number is 8 and lucky day is Wednesday.

VIRGO -- Aug. 22 to Sept. 22--You may feel frustrated by rising prices. Re-evaluate your budget. With good planning you can live well for less.

LIBRA -- Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--An unexpected trip could prove pleasurable. This is a time for drifting with a minimum amount of planning.

SCORPIO -- Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--Something good happens which brings the realization that you are fortunate in all your blessings. Avoid the tendency to tell others what they should and should not do.

SAGITTARIUS -- Nov. 23 to Dec. 21--Turbulence in family relations exists temporarily. Don't let this trouble you.

CAPRICORN -- Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--Rather than asking yourself "Why me?", ask yourself "Why not me?" If your load seems heavy at times, take an optimistic view.

AQUARIUS -- Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--Others have underestimated your abilities. When you raise your own opinions of your self-esteem, others will follow suit in ideas of you.

PISCES -- Feb. 19 to March 20--Tender loving care, admiration and praise are needed by the one closest to you. Give it. It costs you nothing.

ARIES -- March 21 to April 20--A streak of luck along the lines of financial success could come about causing a strong money flow. This could be good. The Arian seldom considers money as something to be adored.

TAURUS -- April 21 to May 20--Opportunity is at an all time high. Grab it while you can. Make every effort to be more considerate of others. To be loved, you must give love.

GEMINI -- May 21 to June 20--In situations where you have carefully laid the groundwork, you will be able to backtrack and reap the rich rewards.

CANCER -- June 21 to July 22--You are being maneuvered into a situation that is not in your best interest.

LEO -- July 23 to Aug. 22--Someone in the romance department could take you much more seriously than you intend. Pursue the situation only if you can reciprocate with similar feelings.

Get Back At Him

Mrs. Gray--And did you enjoy your camping trip, my dear?

Mrs. Young--Immensely. It was the first chance I had to complain of my husband's cooking.

Good Answer

A small child was explaining to her younger brother that it was wrong to work on Sunday.

"But what about policemen?" said the boy.

"They have to work on Sunday. Don't they go to heaven?"

"Of course not," replied his sister. "They're not needed there."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

A "Big pat on the back" should go to Joe Miller for the excellent care that he has given the Mentone Cemetery this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Tucker

It's funny how everything can bob up about the time you try to get away for a few days' vacation.

Fulton County Telethon chairman named

Kathleen Rankin of Rochester, has been named as County Chairman and Pledge Center Coordinator for Fulton County for the forthcoming Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The telethon will again be sponsored by the Rochester JayCee's. The telethon will be held during the Labor Day week-end of September 6 and 7, 1981.

Last year, the Telethon raised over $31 million nationally to help fund the extensive patient service and research programs of MDA. Locally, $5,460 was collected through pledges, cash donations, Rochester Firemen's Boot Days, and children's collections.

The Pledge Center, which will be located in the JayCee's Building on West 7th Street, will be open for the complete 21½ hours of the show and will also serve as a drop-off point for area donations.

Ms. Rankin said that through recent research studies, scientists under grants for MDA will soon begin testing a drug that gives prospects of delaying progression of muscular dystrophy.

Ms. Rankin also pointed out the 1981 national annual report shows that 80.7 percent of MDA expenditures went directly for program services, while only 16.5 percent went for fund raising and 2.8 percent for administration. She also said that Jerry Lewis absolutely does not get paid for hosting the Telethon. Jerry freely contributes his time, talent and energy to the show. In fact, Jerry's 21½ hours on camera are just a fraction of the time he spends year round preparing for the Telethon and serving as MDA's National Chairman, a post he has held since 1950 and that involves him in all phases of MDA's activities. Thousands of people and journalists have asked him why he is so deeply involved, but no one has ever discovered the answer. Jerry has said, "Each man must choose the cause closest to his heart, and I've chosen mine." He has promised to reveal his secret when a cure for muscular dystrophy is found.

Volunteers to help with the Telethon in the Rochester area are being sought by the MDA. Ms. Rankin issued the call for volunteers today, saying "We need people to handle a multitude of jobs, such as answering phones, taking pledges, working an adding machine, and performing many other tasks that help make the telethon a success."

Ms. Rankin said that anyone interested in volunteering for the Labor Day Telethon, should call her at 223-4918 after 5 p.m. Those in the Macy, Fulton or Akron areas may call Ms. Pam Moore at 382-4611.

Ms. Rankin also stated that if any group is holding an event to benefit the muscular Dystrophy Association, a representative of that group should call her at the above number and time to be sure that the money collected will be credited to Fulton County, as money collected in Fulton County will stay in here to help the muscular dystrophy patients who live in this area.

Incident Reports

State Police investigated the following incident:

Would be burglars pried the lock off the office door at Parker Industries, State Rd. 15 and County Rd. 900 South, Silver Lake, sometime between Saturday night and Sunday morning.

After the culprits gained entry, they ransacked the office. They opened drawers and filing cabinets while apparently looking for cash. Management and office personnel were summoned to the scene, and after checking the building, they reported nothing missing.

Local police have investigated the following accidents:

Officials at 3-D Department Store, Old Rd. 30 West, Warsaw, apprehended an 11-year-old rural Warsaw boy who had taken a pair of shoes Friday afternoon. City Police said he put them on and walked out of the store. The matter has been turned over to the juvenile authorities.

Burns A. Flanery, 17, of 111 South Scott St., Warsaw, told City Police that his wallet was lost or stolen recently. The wallet contained $60 and personal papers.

A push lawn mower, valued at $75 was taken from the yard of Maxine Mitchell, 515 North Park Ave., Warsaw, recently, according to City Police.

A car driven by Cary D. Cochran, 17, of 954 East Sheridan St., Warsaw, struck the rear of a city dump truck then left the scene Friday afternoon, according to City Police. The incident happened at 12:42 p.m. near the intersection of Center and Detroit Streets. Damage to Cochran's vehicle was estimated at $150 while the dump truck sustained no damage. Cochran, who was later apprehended at his home, was cited for leaving the scene of an accident and false registration.

Karen Ritz, 24, of 1303 East Center St., Warsaw, told City Police at 12 inch black and white television set, valued at $100 was taken from her car recently. The car was parked at the Time Low Store, East Center Street, when the item was taken.

County Police, along with North Webster Police, are investigating an attempted break-in at the Boyer Brothers Lawn and Garden Equipment, State Rd. 15 and Effie Mae Street, North Webster, at 12:20 a.m. Sunday. According to police, the burglars attempted to pull down phone lines, disconnecting the burglar alarm. The alarm, instead, rang in the North Webster police department, who responded to the scene as the burglars fled. A window on the north side of the building was also broken out, but entry was not made.

William T. Andrews, 712 North Ellsworth St., Warsaw, told City Police that $225 worth of tools were taken from him recently. The items included assorted tools and box and a set of bolt cutters.

Sheila Lane, Rt. 1, Claypool, told County Police that a men's 3-speed bicycle, valued at $75, was taken from the front porch of her home recently.

County Police solved a two month string of obscene phone calls in the Millwood area recently with the apprehension of a 10-year-old rural Etna Green boy. He admitted to randomly making the calls from a phone booth at community Center. He was released to the custody of his parents.

Burton and Donna Baker, Rt. 9, Suburban Acres, Warsaw, told County Police that a license plate, car stereo, extension cords, used tires and a sack of Avon boxes were taken from their home recently. No value was placed on the items.

County Police are investigating break-ins at CFS, Inc. (Custom Farm Service), County Rd. 900 North and Old Rd. 15 at Maple Leaf Duck Farms, County Rds. 900 North and 300 East recently. Entry was gained by kicking in the doors. Nothing was apparently missing at Maple Leaf, while only $4 from a soft drink machine was missing at CFS. Files and drawers of both businesses were ransacked police said.

A Valley Forge Apartment's resident awoke early one morning recently to find a burglar in her apartment. She told City Police she had fallen asleep on the couch and when she awoke, she saw a subject in the corner. The individual turned a flashlight on her and she fled out the front door to a neighbors. Police discovered the sliding screen door open with a 3 1/2 inch cut beside the latch. The resident also discovered $17 or $18 was missing from her purse, which had been setting on the kitchen table.

City Police impounded mopeds ridden by two Warsaw juveniles after they disregarded a stop sign at the intersection of East Market and Bronson Street. The matter was turned over to juvenile officer Jerry Laurien.

JoAnn Dye, 741 East Fort Wayne St., Warsaw, told City Police the right rear door of her car was damaged by an unknown vehicle recently while it was parked at Marsh Supermarket, East Market St., Warsaw. Damage was estimated at $150.

R. C. Lindstaedt, Indianapolis, told County Police that several items were taken recently from his boat house, located on Island View Drive. Taken were two rods and reels, valued at $100, a 15 pound navy anchor with a 100-foot rope, valued at $30; and a flashlight and an electric light, both valued at $12 each.

Three bicycles were taken from a shed belonging to Richard Poff, Auburn, at his summer home on Kale Island, according to County Police. Taken were a tandem bicycle, valued at $100; a boy's dirt bicycle, valued at $80, and Big Wheels bike, valued at $20.

Roy Meek, Rt. 3, Syracuse, told County Police that a 14-foot aluminum boat, gas tank and two anchors were taken recently from his pier at Bay Shore Channel, on the southeast side of Lake Wawasee. The items were valued at $500.

County Police are investigating a break-in at Beechwood Lumber, Old Rd. 30 west of Atwood, that occurred sometime within the last two weeks. Taken from the garage workshop was a tool box, various socket sets, wrenches, lights, hydraulic jacks, and grinding Wheels. No value was placed on the items and there was no sign of forced entry.

Burglars attempted to enter the building of New Covenant Ministries, State Rd. 15 South, between County Rds. 350 South and 400 South, recently, according to County Police. A security light was shot out, then entry was attempted at three metal doors. The subjects apparently entered through a window on the north side of the building, a workshop area. Apparently nothing was taken.

Jolly Janes tour
T.V. station 21

Thirteen members of the Jolly Janes Club enjoyed a nice day in Fort Wayne, August 10th.

They first went to Fort Wayne's TV station 21 and were in the audience of their Morning Break Show. After the show they took a conducted tour of the station and saw the news room, production room, etc. After lunch, the afternoon was spent at the Collector's Gallery and Glenbrook Shopping Mall.

The day was planned by the hostesses, Jo Gamble and Phyllis Risner.

Successful family life depends upon the teamwork of the members of the family rather than upon individual joyrides.

Taken from the Northern Indiana Co-Op News, August 17, 1938.

Things to watch for: a "draftless fan" which stands on the floor and draws in cool air at approximately floor level, shooting it up toward the ceiling in a perpendicular column, a collapsible fish net, which snaps open like an umbrella, to lift fish out of the water, an electric bulb which gives off perfume or medical vapors; the light bulb is thinly coated with clay or alabaster, in which the perfume or medicament is absorbed.

A storage barn on the Floyd Tucker farm was destroyed by fire about 6 p.m. Wednesday evening. Several hundred bushels of corn and a quantity of baled straw were also destroyed.

Patty Shinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shinn of Mentone, suffered a broken arm last week when she fell from the running board of a car, driven by her father.

One of the Burns' Bakery trucks was considerably damaged Thursday evening when it sideswiped the car of Mrs. Clive Baum on a narrow sharp curve near the home of Bud Todd, north of Burket. Ray Linn, driver of the bakery truck was uninjured.

The following people from Mentone attended the banker's meeting at the South Shore Inn, Syracuse, Thursday afternoon and evening: Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Fenstermaker, Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Riner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manwaring, Miss Mary Rush, Mr. Miles Manwaring and Mr. Dale Kelley.

Taken from the Northern Indiana Co-Op News, August 16, 1950.

A little excitement was added to the regular routine of affairs in Mentone about 4:30 last Friday afternoon when it became known that two men had just stolen two trays of diamond rings at the Baker and Brown Jewelry Store. The two men, Wm. Dance, 30, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and James Bridwell, 30, of Newport, Ky., each received sentences of one to ten years at the Indiana State Prison at Michigan City, after confessing to the theft of the rings, valued at nearly $3,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Scottie Ervin are the parents of a son born on Tuesday. He weighed 8 pounds, four ounces and has been named Ralph Arthur after his grandfathers, Ralph Warren and Arthur Ervin. Mrs. Ervin was formerly Marjorie Warren.

As evidenced at the Frank Meredith farm home Tuesday morning, one can never tell when, why or where a fire will start. This time an automatic washer started burning and smoking, causing considerable damage to the interior of the home even though the flames were under control by the time the Mentone Fire Department arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ballenger and Sandra, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lemler, and Leah Nell, are enjoying a fishing trip to Michigan.

Grant applications being accepted

Applications are now being accepted for grants from the Indiana Tourism Information and Promotion Fund, announced Lt. Gov. John Mutz.

The fund makes available $100,000 this fiscal year for not-for-profit organizations to apply toward promoting an Indiana attraction, festival or tourism organization. Recipients may receive up to 50 percent funding for a promotion project.

The deadline for submitting applications is September 1. The applications will be reviewed this fall. Deadlines are the first day of December, March and June for application submittal.

Mutz, director of the Indiana Department of Commerce, which includes the Tourism Development Division, said that the fund was established in 1976 by the Indiana General Assembly to promote the state's tourism industry. The amount available in the fund this fiscal year was increased from last year's total of $75,000.

"The Tourism Information and Promotion Fund allows us to form a partnership with local organizations in that we share the project's cost and offer guidance in the development of the project with the primary goal of increased tourism," said Mutz.

For more information contact Barbara Irwin, Tourism Development Division, Indiana Department of Commerce, 440 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana 46204, or call (317) 232-8860.

Plain talk about adolescence

Everybody goes through the teen years -- the trick is to try to remember what it was like for you, so you can help your kids get through theirs. Were you full of anxiety about becoming an adult? Most kids find that adolescence is a rough period of growth -- with many changes and confused feelings. Talking things out and getting support and acceptance is just as important for today's teens as it was for you.

To help you communicate better, and keep a balanced perspective, the National Institute of Mental Health has published a free flyer for you to read. For your copy of Plain Talk About Adolescence, write to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 648 J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

What troubles teenagers the most? Many say it's "not being listened to." Listening is not always easy. Nor is communicating. Some of these ideas may help:

Give your undivided attention when your teenager wants to talk to you. Don't read, watch TV, or work on other tasks.

Try to listen calmly, even though there may be a difference of opinion.

Concentrate on hearing and understanding your teenager's point of view. Don't start giving advice or preaching when a give-and-take discussion is wanted.

Develop a courteous tone of voice in communication. Respect brings respect -- even in the way you speak. If you talk to your kids the same way you do to other adults, they may be more likely to seek you out.

Avoid making judgments. No one wants to confide in a person who is critical of his or her behavior. It's not necessary to approve of all your teenager's doings, but it is important to understand the feelings involved. Putting yourself in another's place is not easy, especially since attitudes, pressures, and choices change. It's a challenge for a parent to be firm about important values while being flexible enough to bend with the changing times.

Keep the door open on any subject. Too often teenagers avoid discussing things that may make their parents feel uncomfortable. Belittling, humiliating and laughing at youngsters can cause deep wounds and all but shut down communications. Teenagers often pay a very high price for not having the right information about many subjects, including sex.

Permit free expression of ideas and feelings. Remember that people often "test" their ideas in conversation. To communicate, you must be willing to listen first and acknowledge their opinions, even if you are alarmed by them. Then give your viewpoints as plainly and honestly as you can. Remember that love and mutual respect can exist, even when points of view are different.

Encourage positive self-worth. Help your youngster build confidence by encouraging (but not forcing) participation in sports, music, art, dance or any other hobby or interest.

Make an effort to give compliments. Too often, parents tend to focus on poor performance and behavior. Remember, every human being needs acceptance and appreciation.

When you order a copy of Plain Talk About Adolescence (free), you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Catalog lists over 200 selected free and low-cost federal consumer booklets.

When you take medication, there may be some foods you should avoid eating. For instance, you should not take tetracycline, a widely prescribed antibiotic, with a glass of milk since the calcium in milk impairs absorption of tetracycline. The effects of food and drugs on each other can determine whether the medications do their job and some combinations of food and medication can actually be dangerous. The most dangerous food and drug combination is aged cheese with an MAO inhibitor. These drugs are prescribed for depression and high blood pressure. MAO inhibitors react badly to a substance called tyramine in foods like chicken livers and sausages. The reaction can cause the blood pressure to soar to dangerous levels, sometimes causing severe headaches, brain hemorrhage and in extreme cases, even death. On the other hand, certain medications you take can increase your need for specific foods. People taking diuretics regularly should eat foods rich in potassium. Sources of potassium are tomatoes and tomato juice, oranges and orange juice, and bananas. And women taking birth control pills should eat more green leafy vegetables which are a good source of folic acid. What you take your medication with is important too. Check with your doctor, but you're generally on the safe side if you take your medication with water. Swallowing the medication with soda pop, fruit juice, or coffee may alter its effect on your system. Also ask your doctor when the drug should be taken - on an empty stomach or after meals.

Regional agriculture aviation council formed

In recent months the State associations of Agricultural Aviation from Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio have formed a council known as the Great Lakes Regional Council, Inc. The executive office is located in Greenfield, Indiana, in the same facility as the Indiana Association.

The executive director of both associations, Judith Shepherd, is currently accepting registrations for the first major function of the organization. The Convention and Trade Show will be held October 31 - November 2, 1981, Airport Hilton Inn, Indianapolis, Indiana. The eternal wells run dry

The Census Bureau has begun the enormous task of making some sense out of all those numbers they collected last year when the every-ten-year census was taken.

From here on out, until the 1990 census looms near, the Census Bureau will do some interesting tricks of multiplication and division and come up with statistics which are often baffling, sometimes amusing, and occasionally illuminating.

A report that the Census Bureau recently brought to light listed the fifty states and the District of Columbia and ranked them by the number of state and local employees per 10,000 population, and the average salary they are paid.

Alaska came in first in both the number of employees per 10,000 and in the average salary of those employees - 803 and $26,136 respectively.

The State of Alaska owns the land under which all that oil has been found on the North Slope. Alaska, therefore, is doing very nicely in terms of balancing its budget. Its real problem is trying to spend all that it takes in. So, if Alaska wants to spend its enormous income by having the most state and local employees per 10,000 and paying them the highest average salary in the nation, that's Alaska's business.

Now we come to second place in the public trough sweepstakes. The District of Columbia. D.C. employees 762 workers per 10,000 population and pays them an average salary of $21,300.

As comparison, Indiana has 451 employees per 10,000 and pays them an average of $14,316.

Alaska is enjoying high income (and extraordinarily high inflation) because of its oil wells. Someday that oil is going to be used up, and presumably the powers that be up north are putting a little something away against the day when those wells run dry.

Alaska has a population estimated at 400,484 spread over an area of 586,412 square miles.

To give some idea of the size of Alaska, you could take all of the following states and fit them within Alaska's boundaries, TWICE: Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Iowa, Ohio and Connecticut.

The District of Columbia is something else again. The only business it has is the business of the Federal Government. If it were not for the Federal Government these 63 square miles would be steamy marshlands good for little but boating, hunting and as a sanctuary for mosquitoes.

But, like Alaska, the District of Columbia has had a steady income from a seemingly inexhaustible source. In the case of D.C. that source has been the Federal Government and its ability - its compulsion - to spend enormous amounts of money.

The oil fields in Alaska are still running strong. But the mother lode at the U. S. Treasury is played out. The people of Indiana and the rest of the States are demanding a better accounting of the way the Federal Government spends money. There is no reason why the average public employee in the District of Columbia should make almost $7,000 more a year than the average state or local employee in Indiana.

If you don't know the answer, don't answer the question.

Schedule accepted by Commission

Northern Indiana Public Service Company on August 10th, announced that the Public Service Commission of Indiana had accepted its previously submitted rate schedule for electric power purchases from cogeneration and small power production facilities.

Under the schedule accepted by the Commission, which became effective August 1, 1981, the utility stands ready to purchase electricity from an cogenerator or small power producer who meets predetermined conditions governing the purchase of electric power from qualifying facilities.

Before any purchases can take place, a valid contract must be executed between the company and each cogenerator or small power producer. The qualifying facility must comply with the National Electrical Safety Code, as well as state and local safety laws. Furthermore, relays, locks and seals, breakers, automatic synchronizers and other control and protective apparatus as shall be designated by NIPSCO must be installed and maintained in good working order.

Payments to qualifying facilities for energy supplied to the Company will be subject to seasonal variations as well as minor differences depending on the facilities installed by the producer. This rate schedule was filed in compliance with the order of the Public Service Commission of Indiana in Cause No. 36332 dated March 20, 1981, and is not part of NIPSCO's Public Service Commission of Indiana Electric Service Tariff since it covers purchases of electric power by the Company rather than sales.

Medicaid co-payment reversed

As many as 200,000 Hoosiers may be affected by a federal court ruling Friday that prohibits the state from requiring Medicaid recipients to make partial payments on medical services.

The ruling, handed down by U. S. District Judge Allen Sharp, stops the Indiana Department of Public Welfare from implementing and enforcing a new state law requiring Medicaid recipients to make "co-payments" on prescriptions and other medical services. Previously Medicaid had paid the full cost.

The judge found that the state did not meet federal and state requirements for notifying recipients of the change and explaining a hearing procedure for recipients who cannot afford to make partial payments.

In issuing the injunction, Sharp found that many recipients who could not afford the co-payments may not receive needed medical care. This would result, he reasoned, in their medical conditions worsening or becoming untreatable.

The ruling came in a class action suit filed by the Legal Services Program of Northern Indiana which argued that irreparable harm would be done to recipients if the law were enforced.

"These recipients are among the most needy in Indiana," Gregory S. French of Legal Services said Friday. "Hundreds of them live in nursing homes and other institutions. They are not only chronically and seriously ill but also virtually without income. These people may have to take several prescriptions a day just to survive, and the co-payment plan has been shown to stop persons from getting these prescriptions."

The suit cites a 1975 study of the since-abandoned California co-payment law which showed that as many as 39 % of the recipients did not purchase drugs prescribed for them because of the co-payment costs. The study also showed, according to the suit, that 28 percent of the recipients filled their prescriptions selectively and 18 percent delayed having their prescriptions filled. "It's impossible for a physician to adequately treat a patient when that patient is only taking half of the drugs the doctor has prescribed or is not taking the drugs at all," said Louis Lessem, co-counsel on the case with French.

The co-payment system requires that Medicaid recipients, which include nursing home patients, the blind, the disabled, and recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children, pay from 50 cents to $3 each time they receive a covered service. Covered services include prescription and non-prescription drugs, physical and occupational therapy, medical equipment and supplies, dental services, hearing and optometric services, and transportation to health care providers.

The 50 cents may not sound like much, but when you are living virtually no income and have three or four prescriptions to fill every week or regular therapy costs, it adds up. Given other necessary expenses, it becomes too much for a Medicaid recipient so he or she stops getting the care needed to survive, French said.

Because the welfare department has the right to exempt certain individuals from the co-payments, recipients also have a right to a hearing to seek such exemption, the court held. While the services to which co-payments would apply are not mandatory under the federal Medicaid program, the state has chosen to include them in its program and therefore must meet applicable federal statutes and regulations for notifying recipients of changes and providing a hearings and appeals process.

Although the co-payment statute became effective July 1, 1981, IDPW provided that co-payments would be required effective August 1, 1981. On July 29, 1981, an nursing home resident represented by the Legal Services Program filed a class action on behalf of all Medicaid recipients to enjoin implementation of the statute.

That same day, Governor Orr indefinitely suspended Medicaid co-payments for nursing home residents. On July 31, 1981, LSPNI filed an amended complaint adding three non-nursing home residents as named plaintiffs.

The amended complaint stated that the co-payment law required both interpretation and discretion by IDPW prior to it having any practical effect. IDPW had to specify how co-payments would be collected and when co-payments would be required.

The court stated that it should be notified in writing if IDPW complies with the state and federal procedural requirements governing changes in the Medicaid program.

I.U. students return to campus Aug. 23

Imagine what it would be like if the entire population of the city of Columbus were to be picked up and placed down in the center of your community.

Or the total population of Adams County, Clinton County, Green County, Jefferson County, Putnam County -- or Randolph County -- east of between 29,000 and 31,000 people.

This is about what will happen in Bloomington the week of Aug. 23 when Indiana University re-opens its doors for the fall semester and the beginning of the 162nd year of meeting its constitutional commitment of providing a statewide system of public higher education.

Students will begin checking into the residence halls at 8 a.m. Aug. 23 in preparation for orientation, counseling and testing Aug. 24-25 registration Aug. 26-29 and the start of classes Aug. 31.

More than 5,800 incoming freshmen got a jump on their classmates by pre-registering this summer for courses they will take the first semester. All that remains for them is to pay their instructional fees Aug. 26.

Those who were unable to participate in the special new student summer program will go through regular registration Aug. 26-29.

Because of increased operational costs and less-than-requested funding support from the state, IU Bloomington students will be paying higher instructional fees.

New fee rates are:
Undergraduates - $38.50 per credit hour for in-state students, compared to $33.50 this past year, and $104 per credit hour for non-residents, a $16.50 increase; and graduate and professional students - $50 per credit hour for Indiana residents, up $6.75 from 1980-81, and $131.50 for non-residents, an increase of $21.

New residence hall rates also went into effect July 1. The average double occupancy rate for housing and food is $1,804 per single student for the two semesters; married housing, from $64 to $299 per month for housing-only accommodations ranging from trailers to three-bedroom apartments.

Campus housing, which can accommodate 12,500 single students and 1,474 married students, is expected to be filled to capacity by the time school opens. A referral list of off-campus housing is available through the IU Halls of Residence.

First semester classes will end Dec. 16 and, following a three-day departmental exam period, the combined Christmas and between-semester vacation will begin Dec. 19 and continue until second-semester orientation and registration Jan. 4-9. Second semester classes end April 30; departmental exams are May 1-4. Other special dates during the 1981-82 school year are: Thanksgiving recess, Nov. 25-30; spring break, March 20-29; and Founders' Day, April 14.

What this country needs is good people. You can do your part along this line.

"Sweet" facts

While the United States may not be the land of milk and honey, it probably could be called the land of milk and sugar. The average American consumes about 130 pounds of sugar every year. And that amount is growing. Various types of sugars are used in almost every food, from cakes to pickles, but the largest increase in the use of sugar has been in the beverage industry. The makers of soft drinks, beer, and wines now use about a quarter of the refined sugar and 40 percent of the high fructose corn syrup.

There are many different types of sugars and many opinions about their use. The U. S. Food and Drug Administration has a fact sheet that describes the controversy over sugar use and also defines the different forms of sugar. For your free copy of Sugar send your name and address on a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 551 J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

The sugar industry describes sugar as being a cheap source of food energy, a major contributor to food processing and general nutrition, and a substance that makes many foods with other nutrients taste better.

But many experts believe that Americans would be healthier if they ate less sugar. Its only real contribution is taste and calories -- what nutritionists call "empty calories." Americans get about 24 percent of their calories, from sugar: of which three percent comes from fruits and vegetables, three percent from dairy products, and the balance from sugar added to foods.

Sugar is a major contributor to dental cavities. It also makes losing weight more difficult since this high calorie additive is such a pervasive part of foods.

What are the different types of sugar? The majority of sugar used in the United States is refined sugar made from sugar cane and beets. But the per capita consumption of refined sugar has dropped over the past 20 years from around a 100 lbs. per year to around 90 pounds. At the same time, the use of various corn sweeteners has increased. High fructose corn syrup, which is considerably sweeter in taste than refined sugar, has been the major source of this increase since the early 1970's. And almost half of that has gone into beverages. The other sugars, such as honey, dextrose, lactose, total invert sugar (used primarily to preserve freshness in baked goods), and the sugar alcohols (used as substitute sweeteners), make up a small proportion of sugar use.

Because most sugar is added to foods before it reaches the store and because there are different types of sugars produced from many substances, the Food and Drug Administration is considering requiring labels that would tell consumers how much sugar is in the food, and what type. That way, people who are interested in knowing what they are eating, those with allergies, and dieters would be able to cut back on sugar intake.

To learn more, send for a copy of Sugar (free). At the same time, you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Catalog lists over 200 selected free and low-cost federal consumer booklets.

Jack and Jill Nursery School

The Jack and Jill Nursery School is a joint venture between the citizens of the Mentone area and the Mentone United Methodist Church where the classes are conducted.

All classes begin at 8:45 a.m. and run till 11:15 a.m. Three year old students attend on Monday and Tuesday with four-year old students on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Each day begins with 30 to 45 minutes of structured time where the students may choose from a variety of things they would like to do. There are anywhere from four to eight centers of various activities set up. The choosing process is also a learning process in making decisions and learning to share and get along with others. Some of the various centers are housekeeping, paints, blocks, science, puzzles and games.

Following the structured activity time, toys are put away and hands are washed as they then find their places and everyone recites the Pledge of Allegiance. The pledge is followed by a discussion concerning the weather, day of the week and month.

After a prayer has been said the students are then served a nutritious snack. Names of the students are put on their own cups so they will begin to recognize their own name as well as those names of their friends.

Following the snack, a period of quiet time is observed. It is a time during which each child gets a book from the library table and looks quietly at it.

Next in line is the lesson which deals with learning to listen and follow instructions concerning such topics as colors, numbers, the alphabet and many more.

As the morning comes to a close, the children participate in exercises, games, singing and finger plays, followed by the reading of a story which completes the morning.

Some of the goals of Jack and Jill Nursery School are:

1. To know colors.
 2. Print their names.
 3. Know address, phone number and full name.
 4. Put on wraps.
 5. Count and recognize number from one to ten.
 6. Be able to use scissors.
 7. Recognize the alphabet.
- Registration will be held on Friday, August 21, 1981 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Mentone United Methodist Church on Main Street. Watch paper for date of the school opening. For more information, phone Bev Surface at 353-7357 or Jackie Leiter at 353-7619.

ON VOTING RIGHTS ACT

President Reagan says that his present inclination is to support a 10-year extension of the Voting Rights Act without seeking to extend it nationwide. The president's change of mind appeared to clear a major obstacle to renewal of he act first passed in 1965.

Predicting squirrel population

The squirrel hunting season opened August 15 and the Division of Fish and Wildlife is predicting a north central Indiana squirrel harvest slightly better than a year ago.

Each year the Division conducts statewide surveys to determine the relative abundance of nuts on hickory, oak, walnut and beech trees. These surveys, known as mast production surveys, are used to predict squirrel abundance for the following year. An increase in mast production last year means more squirrels this year.

To understand exactly how and why these predictions can be made we first need to understand a basic principle of wildlife management. Every idle field, ditch-bank or woodlot has a winter carrying capacity, which is the maximum number of animals the area can support through the lean winter months. All animals annually produce more than the winter carrying capacity so the surplus must be annually removed. Accidents, starvation, predation and disease all play a role in removing the surplus. Regulated hunting seasons provide an additional, less wasteful means of removing a portion of the annual excess.

Another way to look at winter carrying capacity is by comparing a woodlot to a bucket with a small hole in its side. No matter how much water is poured into the bucket, all water above that hole can be considered surplus and will eventually drain out.

The leak in the squirrel population bucket is sometimes plugged by an exceptionally good mast crop. On these occasions woodlands can support a higher than average population until a normal or subnormal food supply is produced the following year, which pulls the plug and squirrel numbers are again reduced to a normal winter's carrying capacity.

The 1981 mast production surveys are currently underway and will give us an idea of what to expect next year. But for now there is a fine surplus of bushy tails to delight many a Hoosier hunter.

Have a safe and successful hunting season, and please remember the privilege of hunting is worth far more than the effort required in getting permission to hunt private land.

BLACKS & GOP

The Reagan administration's highest ranking black official, Samuel R. Pierce Jr., the secretary of housing and urban development, predicts that the president's economic policies will not only revive the economy but lure blacks into the Republican Party the way Franklin Roosevelt's Depression-era programs persuaded them to become Democrats.

Once again August is here with those hot sticky summer days and nights. The "Old Timers" call these dog days. The ancient Greeks originated the name "Dog Days" applying the name to the period when the Dog Star Sirius rose with the sun.

The Akron Keen-Agers remember when grandma and grandpa or mom or dad told their sons and daughters to stay away from the old swimmin' hole cause "Dog Days" are here.

You are welcome to come and join us at the Akron Lion's Club Nutrition Site any time. Please call 893-7204 or 893-4668 for reservations and volunteer work.

The Akron Keen-Agers and I would like to thank the Akron Exchange State Bank for donating the napkins to the nutrition site.

Also, Willis Higgins for the beautiful gladiolus.

August birthdays were celebrated Thursday with the singing of "Happy Birthday" and a cake was enjoyed by all attending.

Scheduled menus for the week of August 24 - 28 are:

Monday - Ham, Baked Potatoes Lima Beans, White Bread, Fruit Jello, 2 Cookies, Milk.

Tuesday - Meat Loaf, Green Beans, Parsely Potatoes, White Bread, Fruit Jello, Milk.

Wednesday - Turkey and Dressing - Cranberry Sauce, Cole Slaw, Hot Roll, Apricot, Milk.

Thursday - Beef Stew, Vegetable Jello, Brown Bread, Pears, Milk.

Friday - Smoked Sausages and Sauerkraut, Mashed Potatoes, Fruit Jello, Wheat Bread, Milk.

Hoosier talent at State Fair

Two nationally known artists originally from Indiana will return to their home state for concerts during the Indiana State Fair, Aug. 20 through Aug. 30. Steve Wariner of Noblesville, Indiana will appear with dazzling Loretta Lynn in two shows, Saturday, Aug. 29, Janie Fricke, who grew up on a farm near South Whitley, Indiana, will entertain alongside Charley Pride, Sunday, Aug. 30.

The Loretta Lynn concert with Steve Wariner is scheduled for the Coliseum at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Aug. 29. Charley Pride's Coliseum shows will be performed on the Coliseum's new "in-the-round" stage.

Tickets for both performances, priced at $6 are obtainable at the Fairgrounds Administration Building between 8:30 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. weekdays or by mail order by writing Tickets, Indiana Fair, 1202 E. 38th St., Indianapolis, IN 46205. A self-addressed, stamped envelope should be included when ordering tickets by mail.

Local woman elected to office

Newly elected leaders of the Indiana Young Republican Federation represent virtually every area of the state. The new officers were selected during the group's biennial convention here over the weekend.

Elected were Randy Campbell, Brazil, Chairman; Lynn A. Helwey Warsaw, co-chairman; Michael E. Stewart, Monon, National committeeman; Marsha Carrington, Russellville, national committeewoman; Audrey Olton, Dyer, secretary, and Russell G. Lloyd, Jr., Evansville, treasurer.

Campbell, 28, is employed by the Indiana State Election Board. During the 1980 campaign, he was northern Indiana field coordinator for the Quayle for Senate campaign. He formerly worked three years on Rep. John Myers' district office staff, Terre Haute.

Helwey, 24, an elementary school teacher in Mentone, is Director of the Kosciusko County YR's and 2nd District YR secretary. A DePauw University graduate, she formerly worked for the Indiana Department of Public Instruction.

Questionable

Papa Robin sat on the blue eggs in the nest. Later, Mama Robin returned to sit on the nest to keep the eggs warm. When it became Papa Robin's turn again, he found among the blue eggs one that was brown and mottled. He asked Mama Robin about it.

She said, "I did that for a lark."

Worse

She--Aren't you fools?
He--Kindly speak in the singular.
She--Aren't you a fool?

Fooling

Henry--A false appetite?
What food would you advise, doc?
Doctor--Try a little mock turtle soup.

Unemployment claims drop

Indiana's unemployment insurance claims total dropped by 2,242 last week to 66,204, according to the Employment Security Division. The comparable year ago figure was 149,639.

Holton Hayes, director, said initial claims decreased at nearly half of the state's Employment Security offices. However, there were several vacation and inventory layoffs reported, the largest of which were at Evansville and Linton.

Hayes said previous layoffs in the fabricated metals, non-electrical and electrical machinery, and transportation equipment industries caused continued claims to rise.

SADAT & REAGAN

Misconstrued

After much pleading Haynes had managed to "touch" his friend for a loan. When it was safely in his possession, he said:

"You are very kind to lend me this money; I feel that I can never repay you."

His friend stared hard at him. "Why the dickens didn't you say that at first?" he exclaimed.

Greatest Flier In History Says Europe Weak; U.S. Must Stay Strong

By Edward H. Sims
Part I

STUTTGART, GERMANY - The greatest pilot in history was finishing his dinner of beef and Schwabish noodles. He is 59, and on this hot July afternoon was dressed in blue jeans, dark tennis shoes and a working man's blue shirt. Erich Hartmann's thinning hair is short. He wears glasses when he reads.

He wouldn't be recognized as a celebrity by one who doesn't know he was the most successful fighter pilot in history, with 352 aerial victories (over the Russians). Nor does he expect special attention or deference. He is quiet-spoken, easy-mannered and retiring in manner.

Usch, his dark-haired, alert wife was listening, with me, as Hartmann recalled some of his years as a Russian prisoner.

"They tried to make me sign a paper admitting I was a war criminal. They starved me, beat me and then tried giving me special food and favors-to get me to sign. The beating and torture and solitary confinement got so bad I tried to starve myself and they force-fed me to keep me alive. I never signed.

"I was 17 the year World War II started. We all had to go into military service. I chose the air. I didn't get into combat until 1942 (after the easy-victory days) and I was only 23 when the war ended. I wasn't in politics and young men like me couldn't affect matters of state and national policy. We fought for our country, like all young men do.

"Once, when a KGB man was questioning me, he admitted the people in Russia were watched by agents everywhere. He said if three people got together, the KGB would usually have a report on it from some agent in that town or city. That's the way they keep the people under control-while selling revolution everywhere in the world.

"That won't ever change. Leonid Brezhnev will be replaced, but Moscow will continue to sell and organize revolution throughout the world. They're simultaneously pushing terrorism. If you accept that this won't change, and that only if you prepare for war, and are strong, will there be peace, you are understanding the Russians.

Hartmann drove home, where I was to spend the night, and soon we were on his terrace, around a white table with Korn schnapps and beer.

"The young people today too often don't want to work. And they often think it isn't important to be strong militarily. But my generation had it hard, and my parents even harder.

"Our parents often went hungry in World War One, which Germans didn't do in the second war. Then in the twenties they saw inflation wipe them out. There were eight million people unemployed in Germany in 1928. There's a street in this town called Soup Street, where people with nothing to eat at that time could get a bowl of soup.

"Then Hitler came. The Communists were getting to be a great threat and most people chose national socialism over communism. And for six years it seemed like a good life. Then, Hitler started the war, which lasted six years. After that, times were very hard in Germany again, for years. That was the fate of my parents' generation.

"They taught me to buy things for cash, not to borrow, not to buy on credit. The person who pays cash for his car or house gets it cheaper; he will always have credit available in an emergency. I don't think the young people today think like that.

Late evening changed to darkness. Usch lit three red and orange yard candles and a big one on the table. Lightning flashed and a breeze and light rain began. Hartmann kept pouring jigger-sized glasses of Korn schnapps-and smoking. His memory then went back to the war years.

"Every man can only live his life. He can't change the world. I was the top pilot, a national hero, a celebrated man in my country honored by everybody, one day. The next I was a tortured prisoner. And held in prison ten years.

"Now all I want is a quiet life. This is my life. And if America is strong, there will be no war. I got no pay those ten years. Usch got nothing." We talked for hours. An amsel sang his song in the darkness. At twelve, we were still talking. The terrace speaker sounded the national anthem. We all stopped talking-and listened, with what varying thoughts?

Mentone town board report

The Town Board of the Town of Mentone met in regular session on Monday, August 3, 1981, at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall. All members were present.

Minutes of the regular July 6th and special July 16th meetings were read, corrected and approved.

Discussed large dump truck repair problems. Decided to obtain cost figures to rebuild engine. Discussed several water bills and new police car. Raymond Lewis had obtained a 1981 Ford LTD demonstrator at a cost to the town of $8,300. After discussion, Trustee Hardesty motioned, seconded by Trustee Tombaugh, to purchase this car for the Police Dept. The present police car will probably be offered for sale at a later date.

The board accepted the rough draft of the dog and cat Ordinance as presented by Attorney Bazini with a few minor changes. The Ordinance will be presented for adoption at a later meeting.

Marshal Hart reported that he will be on vacation August 9th through 16th.

Trustee Hardesty motioned, seconded by Trustee Tombaugh, to accept claims #231 through #274 except #269 to Lakeland Sanitation. Pres. Miller will be in touch with them about the monthly charge for the dumpster at the Town Hall.

Trustee Hardesty motioned, seconded by Trustee Tombaugh to proceed with paperwork to PERF, along with $25 fee and 50¢ for each employee involved for them to make a determination of the cost to the town for becoming members of PERF.

Trustee Tombaugh motioned, seconded by Trustee Hardesty, to transfer $130 from MVH423 to MVH424.

Trustee Hardesty motioned, seconded by Trustee Tombaugh, to adopt Resolution #235 providing for an additional appropriation of $8,300 from Revenue Sharing Fund for Police protection, and $1,220 from the General Fund for Mentzer Park. Also to adopt Resolution #236 providing for an additional appropriation of $10,000 from the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund for improvement of streets and alleys.

Next meeting will be Monday, August 24th for public hearing on 1982 budget.

Mentone Extension Homemakers meet

The Mentone Extension Homemakers met August 13th with Grace Sullivan, Vice President Genevieve Warren led the pledges to the flags, the creed, and singing of "America the Beautiful" and "The More We Get Together." Dennis Fisher gave the meditations "New Morning" and "Rose Beyond the Wall." For the garden remarks, Dennis Fisher talked about trees and shrubs around the house to save energy.

Health and Safety leader Esther Sarber, told of many ways to beat the heat without air conditioning.

Mary Norris presented the lesson "Living On a Fixed Income." She urged that everyone should plan early for retirement.

In the absence of President Pearl Horn, the Vice President, Genevieve Warren, was in charge of the business meeting.

The meeting closed with the collect and club prayer song. The September 10th meeting will be with Genevieve Warren.

Sponsor classes

The Fulton County Diabetic Association/Woodlawn Hospital will sponsor "Informational Diabetic Classes," on four Wednesday nights, Sept. 2, Sept. 9, Sept. 23 and Sept. 30, in Woodlawn Hospital dining room. The time of the class is 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Highway closed

State Highway officials have announced the closing of the railroad crossing at St. Rd. 19 in Mentone. The highway will be closed in Kosciusko and Fulton counties for approximately two weeks. The detour is on St. Rds. 25, 14 and 19. The work had been planned earlier this summer, but was delayed.

Present sacred concert

The Love Trio - Mike Love, Cathy Murphy and Donna Loer, will present a sacred concert on Sunday, August 23rd at 7:30 p.m. at the Silver Creek Church of God. They will be using the sound track from their latest album, "Jesus Did It For Me," which was released this month.

Love Trio releases second album

"The Love Trio" of Akron has announced the release of their second album "Jesus Did It For Me," an offering of original and old favorite religious medleys and songs. This is the second album released in five years for the trio of brother and sisters, Mike Love, Donna (Love) Loer and Cathy (Love) Murphy. The first album, released in 1976 was entitled, "That's All I Ask." Mike Bowers accompanies the trio on the drums.

The album consists of favorite religious selections, an original song written, composed and sung by Cathy, and songs that have been requested by their friends. Cathy sings and plays the piano for her solo entitled "Get Three Behind Me." Mike sings and plays the banjo and electric guitar for his favorite medley, "Take This Whole World," and Donna performs solo in her favorite on the album, "My House Is Full." All three of the Loves sing the medley "Jesus Loves Me." These are only a few of the enriching songs offered on their newest release.

Mike, Cathy and Donna began singing together at a Church of God Singerspiration, and the minister at the time, J. D. Thomason, thinking they should have a name, introduced them, offered "The Love Trio," which they have used since. After their initial baptism performing at the church, the trio appeared before various other groups around the area, women's clubs, Lion's Club, Eastern Star and at parties during holiday seasons and special occasions. They were invited to sing for the State Convention of World War II Mothers at Plymouth last April, and at the International Camp Meeting in Anderson last June. The trio has performed for the State Ministerial Assembly and at various revivals and special Christmas programs. Using the original sound track from their new album, they will appear on live television Wednesday, September 16 at 12 noon and again at 9 p.m. on Channel 46 "Today with Lester Sumrall." Future plans include a tour of North Carolina or New York State next summer during the month of July to perform at state camp meetings and different churches in the east.

The new album or cassettes may be purchased from any of the members of the trio or Mike Bowers. They are available at Murphy's Furniture or Trudy's Beauty Salon in Akron. Orders may be mailed to "The Love Trio," P. O. Box 387, Akron, IN 46910, or ordered by phone by calling 219-893-4152. Copies of the trio's first album are also available.

Roann covered bridge run

The Roann Covered Bridge Run, slated for Saturday, September 12 begins at 8:30 a.m. with the ten mile race and the three mile race beginning at 10 a.m.

This run is held in conjunction with the 1981 Roann Festival. The ten mile run, for the spirited individual and the three mile run for more leisure runners, will be using courses basically flat, some rolling hills, no gravel roads. The course carries the runner over a covered bridge, around Lukens Lake, the Eel River and by an old mill and water fall.

There are divisions for men: 12 and under, 13-18; 19-29; 30-39; 40-49; and 50 and over. The ladies: 18 and under; 19-29; 30-39; 40-49; 50 and over. Registration is $5 prior to August 20th; $6 after and day of race. Sponsors for the race are Adidas Shoes Van's Sporting Goods and several local businesses.

For more information write or call: Charles Wallace, c/o Frances Shocum Bank, 189 W. Market St., Wabash, IN 46992. Phone 219-563-4116 or Steve Bryant, Race Director, Box 124, Roann, IN 46974, phone 317-985-2931.

Guilty on one

A jury trial in the Kosciusko County Circuit Court got underway Monday, Aug. 10 in the case of 18 year old Danny Junior Fenix of Burket. Fenix, charged with rape and criminal deviate conduct, both Class B felonies, and child molesting, a Class C felony, is accused of having sexual intercourse with a young lady, under the age of 16, by threatening to beat and kill her. The incident allegedly occurred on March 28. At the time the incident allegedly occurred, Fenix was 17 years old. The case was waived from the juvenile division of Circuit Court to the adult division.

After deliberating more than an hour Tuesday afternoon, the jury brought back a verdict of guilty of child molesting, a Class C felony. Sentencing will be held in two to three weeks. Fenix could face a possible two to eight year prison term and a fine up to $10,000. He was found not guilty of rape and criminal deviate conduct or of battery.

ON RICH AND POOR

WASHINGTON -- The World Bank predicted recently that the gap between rich and poor countries will grow in the 1980s. In its annual World Development Report, the bank said some 750 million people already are living in "absolute poverty" and their numbers could grow to 850 million by 1990.

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

Whether you gather round the picnic basket, the outdoor grill or have an informal snack on the back porch, be sure to keep the menu simple and easy on the cook.

Ham Skewbobs

- 1 1½ lb. can ham
- 1 No. 2 can syrup packed sweet potatoes
- 1 16-oz. can pineapple chunks
- ¼ c margarine
- ¼ t brown sugar firmly packed
- ½ t dry mustard

Cut ham in chunks. Put a piece of ham, piece of pineapple, and piece of potato on a skewer. Repeat until skewer is filled. Melt butter, stir in sugar and mustard. Brush sauce on skewered foods. Cook in broiler or on an outdoor grill, until lightly browned. Turn occasionally while cooking.

Skewbob Combinations

Lamb cubes, mushrooms, cooked potatoes and small onions.

Hamburger balls, tiny onions and small tomatoes. Calves' liver, bacon and onions.

Lamb, egg plant, tomatoes, and onions.

Pork tenderloin, apples and onions.

ON AUTO EMISSIONS

The administration called for less stringent auto emissions standards recently, but insisted the change would not stall progress toward cleaner air.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

I am seventeen years old and I have never dated a boy altho my girl friends do. It doesn't really bother me that I don't go with boys, but the only way I can talk to them is if they talk to me first. Every boy who has ever liked me has shied away. Girls are constantly teasing me by saying some boy likes me.

I have tried different ways such as looking different or just being myself but it is of no avail.

Help-Miss.

Answer:

I suspect that your trouble is that of self-consciousness. You think too much of how you look or the impression you are making.

The best way of attracting the opposite sex is to start first by being well-groomed-- that is being clean and sweet--having your hair shampooed and fixed becomingly--neat clothes and then forgetting about your looks. Then if there is a certain boy you are attracted to, be friendly but not aggressive and if you know any sport or subject he is interested in, find out all you can about it and ask him about it. Let him talk and you ask the questions. Offer to help him with a subject that he finds difficult and that you do well in.

Charlie plans for No. 1

By Jerry Kindig

The competitive sport of football has become an unequalled tradition in our community. Along with that tradition has come pride on the past accomplishments that may never be erased from the record books and according to head coach Charlie Smith, that tradition will be carried on into this season.

The Associated Press of Indiana high school preseason polls have placed Valley in the number two notch. Well behind number one ranked Lawrenceburg, by more than 22 votes, Coach Smith is still looking toward the finish line and planning on being the first one.

In all, 52 young men have dedicated themselves to this season's varsity and jr. varsity football teams. Only nine seniors were lost by graduation giving the Vikings, in Coach Smith's own words, "one of our most experienced and in-depth teams to come from Valley."

Out of last year's 8-2 team, nine starters have returned (six of them received all-conference honors). Offensively, Scott Bibler has been moved from tailback to fullback to fill the slot left by Gilbert Martens. (He has moved to his home state of California). Brent Hoffman is seen as the one to fill Bibler's former shoes, as he has been shifted from flanker to tailback, which will add an extra gear to the Viking running game. Senior Doug Dickerhoff will fill flanker spot left by Hoffman. Known powerhouse Brian Carnes returns to the guard position and 195 lb. Craig Kantner is seen as one of the areas most competent returning centers. Defensively, Ray Davis and Hoffman are returning to the known successful secondary. Tod Utter and Todd Peterson will be after the football at the inside linebacker slots. Carnes and Bibler will close the clamps at outside linebacker with Bill Hawkins pushing up the middle at tackle.

For the past two seasons the Viking quarterback has never been undefined but that is not the case for Friday's game at Whitko. "It could be decided by the toss of a coin," figuratively expressed Coach Smith. "between (Jeff) Webb and (Shaun) Miller." Both of them are vastly different. Miller is the stronger of the two and best at the deep pass and Webb specializes in the short pass and underneath work. Chances are that both will play an intricate part in Valley's offensive freight train.

Putting the final touches on the offensive drive, Todd Stokes, Hawkins, Paul Prater (a starter at Wabash last year) and sophomore Steve Salmons will punch holes at the two tackle positions. Brian Felts, Rob Pinder and Shawn Stokes are praying for a 60 yard touchdown pass at the end positions. Completing the offensive line, Robert Reed, Utter.

Board approves increase

During the regular board meeting held Tuesday, August 18, the Akron Town Board discussed salaries for the town employees. Approval was given for a 4 percent increase over last year's salary base. Clerk Ernest Smith reported that the minimum wage for 1982 has been $3.35 per hour and to date Congress has not set the new rate for 1982. Social security contributions for 1982 will be 6.7% on the first $32,000 for both the employee and the employer.

The Board Members discussed the clean-up on the Bolinger property at Walnut and Maple Streets, by volunteers from the Akron community, which was to begin Tuesday evening and continue on Thursday evening and Saturday morning. F.H.A. has control of the property and has agreed to give the town $50 to help defray expenses on the town equipment used on the clean-up project.

Ron Fenimore is to contact the town Attorney Jess Brown about the agreement with Larry Howard and ordinances for two hour parking limits on the streets in downtown parking area. He is to find out if the town would be eligible for any of the proceeds derived from fines.

The Akron Youth League has asked to use the fire station for a fish fry to be held next week, leading to discussion and the decision to charge a standard fee of $5 for clubs and organizations who want to use the fire station room for such activities. Up to date there has been no charge to help defray electric bills, etc.

The Board discussed an outline for repairs needed on the streets in town, to be ready when Gerald Construction Company brings the equipment to town.

President Ron Fenimore discussed the weedy condition of the town entrance signs and noted he had been working on them.

Clerk Ernest Smith advised the Board about a county zoning meeting on August 25 at 8 p.m. with the County Council and County Commissioners in attendance along with a representative of Quabache Regional Planning Commission. Some of the Board Members plan to attend.

Clerk Smith reported to the Board that the rate increase for electricity would increase the cost for street lighting by 26.4 percent based on figures furnished by Public Service Company. Different solutions to this problem were discussed, such as sodium vapor

A big "Thanks" to all

The Akron Town board and citizens of the Town of Akron take pride in their community and thank the people who so willingly gave their time to help clean the property at the corner of Walnut and Maple St. in Akron. Many people showed up to help with the project after the pictures were taken and everyone worked several hours and hauled several truck loads of trash, brush and rock, away from the property. (Staff photo)

lamps to replace the mercury lamps now used; part of the lights might be disconnected, or the lights might be scheduled to turn off at certain hours. Public Service will work with the town to try to arrive at the best solution.

Clerk Smith advised the Board that, due to a decrease in the balance of funds in the Indiana Employment Security Fund, all employers including governmental employers would be required to pay at least 2.7 percent on all payrolls for 1982. Governmental employers only had to pay 1 percent since January 1, 1978. As an alternative, governmental units could change to become liable for payments in lieu of contributions. In other words, if any town employee filed for unemployment compensation, the Town would have to pay all benefits he would receive. The additional cost for the Town to pay 2.7 percent instead of 1 per cent will be approximately $650, so the board voted to continue to pay the percentage as $650 would not pay unemployment for a very long period of time in case of a layoff.

The next meeting of the board will be held Monday, August 31 for the purpose of adopting the 1982 budget.

Crisis class at Bowen Center

Beginning September 16 at 4:30 p.m., a Purdue University undergraduate/graduate level class in Crisis Intervention, Theory and Techniques will be taught by Mr. Bill Kurosky, Director of Community Services at the Bowen Center.

This fifteen week class will cover such topics as the state of crisis; reactions to crisis; a typology for studying crisis states; special crises, i.e. suicide/depression, experience of violence, death, abortion, natural disasters; practical applications and interventions, including coping mechanisms, therapies, and external resources and preventive aspects.

Mr. Kurosky, ACSW, has had over 20 years of experience in Community psychology including crisis intervention, mental health consultation and community education.

Participants successfully completing the class will receive 3 hours of Purdue University credit at the undergraduate or graduate level. The cost of the class is $126, payable to Purdue University.

The class will meet at the Bowen Center located at 850 North Harrison Street in Warsaw.

Clergy, Emergency Medical Service and Police and Sheriff personnel might find this class of particular interest in aiding them in situations they face daily.

Interested persons must pre-register by calling 267-7169 in Warsaw or toll free 1-800-552-2545, ext. 382, by September 8, 1981.

Fewer unemployed

There were 62,911 unemployment insurance claims filed last week, 3,293 fewer than during the previous week, according to the Indiana Employment Security Division. The comparable year-ago total was 142,897.

Holton Hayes, Director of the Division, said initial claims decreased at 80 per cent of the agency's offices as fewer significant new layoffs occurred. However, there was a sizable increase in new claims at Bloomington because of a one week layoff there.

Hayes said continued claims registered a small decrease from the previous week.

Too Many

What worries me is that there are so many people in this country who are willing to watch the same kind of television junk I do.

Marriage vows spoken

Miss Julie Ann Halstein, and Mr. Gregory Lynn Shireman exchanged marriage vows in the St. Peter's Catholic Church of Fort Wayne on Saturday, August 15, 1981 at 12:30 in the afternoon. The Reverend Jacob Gall, of St. Peter's Church, officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. Shireman is the daughter of the late Raloh and Suzanne Halstein of Fort Wayne and Mr. Shireman is the son of Paul and Martha Shireman, Rt. 2, Akron.

The maid of honor was Linda Wilburn, Fort Wayne, and bridesmaid was Patricia Wyss, also of Fort Wayne. Best man was Don Dickerhoff, of Mentone. The groomsmen was Mark Shireman, Rt. 2, Akron.

A reception was held after the ceremony at Goeglein's Reserve in Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Shireman graduated from IUPUI, Fort Wayne with a B. S. degree and is working on her master's degree in social work.

Mr. Shireman is a graduate of Rochester High School in 1974, graduated from Purdue University in 1978 with a B. S. degree and is working on his master's degree in business administration.

After a wedding trip to the Wisconsin Dells, the couple will be at home in Bloomington, where both are students on the Indiana University campus.

TVHS band has new director

Mr. Kim Metcalf is the new band director at T.V.H.S. He will also be instrumental music director at Akron and Mentone schools. Mr. Metcalf is a graduate of Lewis Cass High School and Ball State University and was formerly the director of bands at Pioneer High School. He has worked with competition bands throughout the State of Indiana and has competed in such contests as the Indiana State Fair Band Day, the Northern Indiana Regional Marching Contests, Indiana All-State Marching Band Finals as well as other national competitions in both concert and marching band.

Mr. Robert Meyers, Tippecanoe Valley High School principal, stated that Mr. Metcalf began a year of rebuilding and reshaping with the summer band program.

The program was started in early June with the marching band and auxiliary corp participating in the Mentone Egg Festival parade. The following week began a six-week schedule of evening practices. The band met each Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. to prepare for fall competition. Much of this time was devoted to basic marching and playing techniques and the early stages of a flag and rifle corp. were formed and added to the Vikette squad. The band's final summer performance came at the Akron fourth of July parade.

The summer's rehearsal schedule came to an end with a week of "in school" band camp for the band, flags and rifles and drill team camp for the Vikettes. Outside specialists were hired and the band spent the week learning music for their 1981 competition show.

The Tippecanoe Valley Band will continue its preparation for fall with evening rehearsals on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. when school begins. This time will be spent reading for football shows and marching competitions around the state.

PERFORMANCE SCHEDULE

Fri., Sept. 25-Football at TVHS
Sat., Sept. 26-Marching competition at Whitko.
Fri., Oct. 2-Football at TVHS
Sat., Oct. 3-ISSMA Regional marching contests at Lewis Cass H.S.

The cost of electricity is up. If that's getting you down, we'd like to suggest that you think about electricity the way you think about other products. Because every time you switch on a light or an appliance, you're buying some of what we sell. And like anything else, if you buy more than you need, it's too expensive at any price.

So with winter approaching, how do you conserve electricity and still maintain your standard of living? Here are a few of the most effective ways:

- Check your insulation. Does it meet current standards for your size and type of home? If you're unsure, contact your local Public Service Indiana office for advice.
- Make sure all storm doors and windows fit snugly. Weatherstrip them if you haven't done so already.
- Furnace filters should be clean for efficient operation. Change them if necessary and check them this winter.
- Caulk joints between masonry and wood, as well as around windows and doors. The old caulking may be cracked and need replacing.
- Set the thermostat at the lowest comfortable setting and open drapes during the day to let the sunshine in; close them during the evening. If possible, close off and don't heat unused rooms.

Remember, the less you buy the less you pay for. And only you can decide how much of our product you really need. Conservation can help. For more energy-saving ideas, visit our local office. We'll be glad to help.

opinion ours

Television, Controllers, & Reagan

The power of the television networks to influence public opinion was evident in the recent strike of air controllers. Though network newsmen were conscientiously trying to fairly report the news, they were "used" by strike spokesmen.

The Reagan Administration had made very clear what the government's position would be. Careful plans had been made to keep commercial aircraft flying, and airports operating. That the government could sustain such a massive strike and continue air operations efficiently was a remarkable achievement.

But some union spokesmen, given a national TV audience, charged that flying was unsafe. Statistics and facts refuted that claim (Airline pilots refuted it.) Yet it caused some to avoid the airlines. This cost airlines revenue and, of course, increased the pressure on the hard-pressed Federal Aviation Administration.

The truth about the controllers' strike is this: Controllers begin training at $15,000 and can work up to $49,229. They also get a ten percent differential for working between six in the evening and six in the morning. They get 25 percent extra for Sunday work. They get double pay on holidays. They are allowed to retire, on a fine pension, after only twenty years' service-at age 50. They need no college degree.

All this they have long been getting. The Reagan Administration offered more: a first-year increase of 11.4 percent, plus additional time-and-a-half pay. The controllers, for their part, thought the airlines couldn't operate without them.

The bigger issue behind all this involved other public worker unions. The Reagan Administration earlier knuckled under, in a sense, to the postal workers' union, which was threatening a second illegal strike.

Postal workers got a whopping 36 percent hike in pay, which will cost all Americans who use the postal service plenty. This union's 1970 strike was the nation's first public service employe strike, and set a dangerous precedent. Since that time public service unions have mushroomed.

A massive postal strike would have been more awkward than a strike by 13,000 controllers. But the government had to reestablish the principle that federal workers cannot strike. It had to be the controllers—who had, incidentally, been pushing the airlines around for years.

Emergency government measures worked very well. Air travel didn't become dangerous. The news significance of it all was that the Reagan Administration established the principle that federal public service workers cannot strike, ignoring their legal no-strike pledge. That somewhat clarifies confusion caused by the postal workers' illegal strike in 1970.

Miracle Cures

From time to time we are confronted with reports that an herb doctor or a wizard of roots has cured cancer, polio or some other serious disease.

Some Americans fall for such reports, seek out the healer and pay large sums for miracle treatments.

The worst part of the story is that this susceptibility sometimes prevents those taken in from getting the proper treatment. Hope for some mysterious, simple cure has led to postponement in seeking a qualified specialist.

The seriously sick should seek an accredited doctor or specialist. The mind and nature can effect surprising cures in many cases but really serious disease is best attacked with medical knowledge.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Attorney General's Task Force on Violent Crime has recommended four common-sense steps to strengthen the nation's gun law and make it more difficult for the criminal and the crazed to acquire handguns. The Task Force has urged the President to stop the importation of "Saturday Night Special" parts; require that handgun buyers be checked out to make sure they don't have a criminal record before they pick up their handgun; put behind bars anyone who uses a gun in the commission of a crime; and have handgun owners report the theft or loss of their weapons.

This gives President Reagan, himself nearly killed with a Saturday Night Special, an opportunity to lead this Congress in an effort to stop handgun violence in America. If passed, these handgun control measures would save lives and help make America safe once again.

Write the President today and urge him to adopt the Task Force's recommendations. You can use this address: President Ronald Reagan, The White House, Washington, D.C. 20500. Do it today. Every letter counts!

You can go back to school Free!

Were you forced to quit school before you were finished?

The 1970 census shows 48% of the people over 25 in Kosciusko and Fulton counties did drop out for some reason.

Well it's not too late to get your diploma, and it's all Free; no book fees or tuition.

A B E can make a difference in your life by helping you to get a job or a promotion. Now you can help your children with their homework and solve the problems you now struggle with in math and finances.

Here are some comments from recent ABE graduates:

"I could't work these problems when we had them in school and now they are easy for me."

"Now I feel so much better about myself. I'm helping my kids with their homework and that makes me feel good!"

Now is the time to act! A new class will start in Akron on Tuesday, September 1 in the Akron Elementary Cafeteria. This class will meet Tuesday and Thursday from 7:00-9:00 p.m. Another class will be held on Saturday mornings from 9:00-11:30 a.m. in the Akron Church of God.

The third class will meet in the Burket Elementary on Monday and Wednesday from 7:00-9:00 p.m.

Come and register or call Tippecanoe Valley High School, 893-7221 or 353-7888. Ask for Rick Ralston.

Harmons to celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Harmon, Peru, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, August 30th at the Civic Center, Peru.

Mr. Harmon and the former Gladys Spurlock of Rochester, were married on August 30, 1931 in Rochester by the Rev. Steinbergen. Mr. Harmon, before retirement, was with the Miami County Sheriff's Department for a number of years.

Hosts for the open house will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Harmon and Mr. and Mrs. Bufford (Nedra) Gross, both of Peru.

The couple have seven grandchildren here, and one great-granddaughter in Meca, Arizona. Friends and relatives are invited to attend the open house. The Harmons request no gifts, please.

Kosciusko County Extension news

By Patricia Rathburn

Ever stop to think why the word "peach" is used so often as a complimentary adjective? "That's a peachy idea" or "peaches and cream complexion"? It's probably because the image they bring to mind is that of a juicy, sweet, refreshing treat. And that's exactly what they are.

Fabled in poetry and art, the peach is apparently a native of China where it has been grown for about 3,000 years. Spaniards brought the delicate fruit to the New World and each group of settlers expanded the peach growing territory, the French bringing peaches to Louisiana, the English to Jamestown and Massachusetts. Today, peaches grow in most American states where they have been favorites for more than a century.

Now is the perfect time to keep them in your refrigerator or can or freeze them for future use. Red color is not necessarily a sign of ripeness in peaches. A more reliable guide to maturity is provided by a peach's yellow skin area. The more deep and uniform the yellow, the riper the peach. In addition to the peaches renowned flavor and appearance, they are a good source of vitamins A and C and are low in both calories and sodium. One peach supplies 40 calories, a plus for those watching their waistlines.

Peaches can be easily preserved for future use. To can, wash and remove skins. Dipping them in boiling water, then quickly in cold water makes peeling easier. Cut in halves; remove pits, slice if desired. To prevent fruit from darkening during preparation, drop into water containing 2 T. each of salt and vinegar per gallon of water. Drain just before heating or packing raw. If raw packing, pack fruit to 1/2-inch of jar top. Cover with boiling syrup leaving 1/2-inch headspace. Adjust jar lids. Process in boiling water bath 25 minutes for quarts and 20 minutes for pints.

Frozen peaches in halves and slices have better quality when packed in syrup or with sugar, but a water pack will serve if sweetening is not desired. To prepare for freezing, sort, wash, pit and peel. For a better product, peel peaches without a boiling-water dip. When syrup packing, add 1/2 tsp. ascorbic acid for each quart of syrup. Put peaches directly into cold syrup in container—starting with 1/2 cup syrup to a pint container. Press fruit down and add syrup to cover, leaving headspace. To sugar pack, to each quart of prepared fruit, add 1/2 cup sugar and mix well. To retard darkening, sprinkle ascorbic acid dissolved in water over peaches before adding sugar. For water pack, pack peaches into containers and cover with cold water containing 1 tsp. ascorbic acid to each quart of water.

So if you get your fill of eating the peach out of hand, remember they're great in salads, desserts, preserves and make great treats when preserved for future use.

Three youths arrested for vandalism

Mentone Chief of Police Russel Hart reports that three juvenile youth, two aged 15 years and one 14 year old, were arrested for the vandalism at the Mentone Cemetery last week. They have been released in the custody of their parents, and will probably be turned over to the probation officer at Kosciusko County at a later date.

Robert E. Poli, Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization president:

"The president's decision to fire the controllers and not to resume negotiations has been based on bad advice..."

August is the height of summer and the longest days of the year are past. The goldenrod, wild asters and tall growing flowers of late summer brighten the fields. The brilliant poppy flaunts her head and the gladiolus with their rainbow of colors brighten the days. Insects of fields and woods are noisier and more numerous than in other months, and some birds are already preparing to fly south.

Vacation spots enjoy some of their biggest business during the month of August and travelers in other countries usually begin to turn homeward.

How about turning into the Akron Lions Club Nutrition Site? Enjoy a well balanced meal and fellowship with the Akron Keen-Agers. Please call in your reservations, and also ask about information on being a volunteer.

It is very rewarding work and you will meet a lot of wonderful people in your hometown. Phone 893-7204 or 893-4668.

Scheduled menus for the week of Aug. 31 - Sept. 4 are:

Monday: Swiss Steak, Whipped Potatoes w/Gravy, Spinach, Brown Bread, Chocolate Pudding, Fruit Juice, Milk.

Tuesday: Baked Ham, Baked Beans, Sweet Potatoes, Brown Bread, Fruit Jello, Milk.

Wednesday: Fried Chicken, Au-gratin Potatoes, Chopped Broccoli Hot Dinner Roll, Applesauce, Milk.

Thursday: Spaghetti and Meat Balls, Peas, Cole Slaw, Wheat Bread, Cake, Milk.

Energy hotline dispatch

Indiana's summer is drawing to a close. We hate to face it -- but, winter's snow and cold are just around the corner. Now is the time that Hoosiers should take advantage of these warm August days by weatherizing their homes for the coming winter months.

Indiana residents can start this annual home maintenance routine with cost effective, easy do-it-yourself caulking and weatherstripping projects which will save both energy and money. First, a check should be made of all outside areas where two different parts of the house meet. Caulking is used wherever a permanent seal is desired, and weatherstripping is used where surfaces must be moved, but a snug seal is needed. Select caulking materials that adhere to either wood, glass, metal, plastic, and masonry since these materials expand and contract. Other important considerations when buying caulk are its resistance to weathering, cracking, shrinkage, water and mildew.

More durable types of weatherstripping are the best investment since they are most effective and will last longer. Effectiveness against drafts, durability, aesthetics and ease of installation are all factors to consider when making a choice.

Caulking should be applied:

1. Around windows and doors where the frame meets the siding.
2. Around exterior plumbing fixtures, electric outlets, exhaust vents, and air conditioners which penetrate the siding.
3. Along skylights, vents, and chimney flashings where they penetrate the roof and siding.
4. At sill joists and between dissimilar materials such as wood and masonry.
5. At corners where two pieces of siding meet.

Weatherstripping should be applied:

1. Around loose fitting windows.
2. Inside the frames of entrance doors.
3. On the bottom of doors or on the threshold.
4. At the bottom of garage doors.
5. Around the doors or any other openings between heated and unheated areas (example: attic openings, doors between living space and garage or another unheated room).

To aid all residents in their weatherizing activities, the Indiana Energy Information Center (IEIC) has available for distribution brochures entitled, "First Things First... What To Do Before Investing in Home Insulation (#10403)," "Repairs, Caulking, and Weatherstripping (#23001)," "Weatherstrip Your Doors and Windows (#23104)," "Caulking: The Push Method (#23015)," "Factsheet: Weatherize Your Mobile Home to Keep Costs Down, Comfort Up (#23236)," "Factsheet: How to Save Money with Storm Doors and Windows (#23231)."

Single copies of these publications may be requested from the IEIC office by calling the toll free ENERGY HOTLINE NUMBER 1-800-382-4631, Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. EST. These materials are provided at no cost to the caller. Written requests may be sent to: Indiana Energy Information Center, 440 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, IN 46204.

GILEAD NEWS

Committee work on Mentone history

The Mentone Community History book is rolling again, with current emphasis on the town of Mentone. Dave Bowser has agreed to head the committee on businesses, especially the ones of the past. Connie-Haney has asked some people to write brief histories of their business or club and give them to her, or Dave, or Jerry Smith by October 1. Eula Smith is still collecting family histories for the genealogy section of the book. Lack of time prevents them from calling everyone. This is an informal group, so anyone with information to share is strongly encouraged to give it to one of these people.

Tentative plans are a meeting at Bell Library in September to complete research on Mentone History and an early October meeting to coordinate Mentone information with that from surrounding communities.

The Liberty Bell

The famous Liberty Bell, symbol of our freedom, will be 229 years old this month. There were actually four liberty bells cast, two in England and two in Philadelphia.

The bell was delivered in August of 1752 and the local committee was completely satisfied except for one thing--it cracked when rung.

Charles Stow and John Pass of Philadelphia were commissioned to recast the bell. Their third bell turned out to be our famous Liberty Bell, for which they were paid about $303.

Richard N. Bell announces candidacy

Feeling the need to improve the management of Indiana state finances and to provide sound financial leadership to state government, this weekend Richard N. Bell announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Indiana State Treasurer. He has been urged by people from all walks of life - by small business owners, bankers, educators, farmers, professional people and working people, to seek this office because they believe there is a desperate need for high quality officials in our State Government.

During the tenure of the Orr administration, Indiana state finances have deteriorated to such a low level, even the Republicans are wondering where their money has gone. Bell state, "The Orr team has exhibited no leadership at all. Indiana taxpayers simply deserve better. In this time of high interest rates and declining state revenues, Indiana needs a Treasurer who can guide the State through these hard times."

Many people believe Richard Bell is that person. As an Attorney at Law, a Certified Public Accountant, and cofounder of the C.P.A. firm of Bell, Ent and Associates Professional Corporation, Bell has provided sound financial leadership to many small businesses throughout Indiana.

Bell stated, "When educating our children should be Indiana's Number One responsibility, the Orr team, in the last days of the 1981 State Legislature, decided instead to give the taxpayers Congressional gerrymandering. While the Orr team is assigned the responsibility for economic development, Indiana has the second highest unemployment rate in the continental United States. In 1982, the voters of this great state must repudiate the Orr team and elect leaders who are committed to sound and value in Indiana's state government."

Mr. Bell is the son of Judge M. Walter and Sara L. Bell, Indianapolis and is married to the former Nancy Dellekamp of Shelbyville, Indiana. They have two children, Allison, age 3, and Amy age 1. They live at 710 East 57th Street, Indianapolis.

Kosciusko County

Incident Reports

Area police have received the following reports:

County Police are investigating a breaking and entering at W and W Truck Sales, Inc., U. S. 30 West, Warsaw, that occurred overnight. Entry was gained by prying out an east window in the garage area and entering into the office. The office was ransacked and approximately $5 was taken, police said.

Daniel O. Breese III, 11, of 115 South Detroit St., Warsaw, told City Police that his five speed bicycle, valued at $25 was taken recently from his home.

Two cars were stolen recently, according to County Police. Fred Wilson, 35 Smith St., Leesburg, reported his pick up truck was taken late Tuesday from his home. Ulysses Francis, South Whitley, told police his car was taken recently from the American Legion in Piercetown.

There was no sign of forced entry after the Trading Post, Rt. 1, Piercetown, was broken into recently, according to County Police. Between $130 to $150 in cash was taken, along with three fishing rods, four reels, two boxes of cigars, six cartons of cigarettes, two boxes of candy bars and two calculators.

Kent Priest, South Shore Pier 514, Syracuse, told County Police his push lawn mower, valued at $200, was taken from his home recently.

Betty Stephens, Rt. 2, Syracuse, told County Police two pair of water skis, two vests and some tools were taken recently from the boat house at her residence.

In two separate incidents, a chain saw and an automatic rifle were taken from vehicles while parked at the K-Mart Shopping Center recently. Richard Krull, Milford, told City Police the saw, valued at $175, was removed from his car, while Walter A. Ruse, Rt. 2, South Whitley, reported the rifle, valued at $50 was taken from his truck later.

Ray Stephens, 42, Rt. 2, Warsaw told City Police that vandals broke into the old train depot sometime within the last week. Several windows were broken and paint was sprayed over the walls.

Vandals broke three windows on a bus belonging to the Community Grace Brethren Church, 909 South Buffalo St., Warsaw recently, according to City Police. Damage was estimated at $250. The bus was parked near the church when the incident apparently occurred.

Wire hubcaps, valued at $150, were taken from a vehicle belonging to Dane R. Weaver, 24, of 1836 Michael St., Warsaw, recently. The car was parked at his home when they were apparently taken.

Smauel and Lura Hamman, Rt. 9, Warsaw, told County Police a 12-speed bicycle was taken from their garage recently. The bike was valued at $139.99.

A county resident told police a male subject exposed himself to her outside her home on County Rd. 1100 North recently. She said her eight-year-old daughter, who had been playing in the front yard, told her a car was parked in front of the residence. The mother went to the car and the suspect asked her for directions to Nappanee, County Police said. As he did he exposed himself to her.

Two times within the last month the residence of Randy Strieby, Rt. 5, Syracuse, has been broken into, according to County Police. A 12-gauge shotgun, six Indian arrowheads, old coins, $60 cash and a television that did not work, were taken.

A Warsaw man told City Police a man exposed himself to his nine and six-year-old daughters Tuesday afternoon. The youngsters were playing in the 200 block of South Union Street when the man approached them in his vehicle and asked if they wanted a ride. The girls told their father he exposed himself to them.

An unknown amount of change was taken when burglars broke into Town and County Street

Metal and Roofing, 1440 West Center St., Warsaw, early today. According to City Police, entry was made through the west wall, where there was already damage from a previous accident. Desks in the office were rifled.

Larry R. Little, 19, Rt. 8, Warsaw, told City Police his bicycle, valued at $150, was taken recently. It was parked in front of Hook's Drug Store at Lake Village Shopping Center, when the theft occurred.

Eleven planks were taken from the construction site at the Holiday Inn, East Center Street, recently, according to City Police. The lumber, valued at $300, belonged to Robert Henry Corp., South Bend.

Rene Nine, Rt. 5, Warsaw, told county Police, his riding lawn mower was taken from his residence south of Atwood. Replacement value of the item was estimated at $1,300.

A tool tray and keys to a 1968 Chevrolet Chevelle were taken recently from Sparkie's Auto Sales, 730 East Winona Ave., Warsaw, according to City Police. Entry was apparently made through a window on the north side of the building.

Officials at Terry's Automotive, 601 East Winona Ave., Warsaw, discovered recently the business had been entered. Entry was gained by breaking a window and crawling through, according to City Police. A metal door was also forced open. Files were rifled but apparently nothing was taken.

Personal Injury Accident

Jennifer S. Vanness, three, Mentone, complained of head pain following a two-vehicle accident at the intersection of U. S. 30 and Parker Street, Tuesday morning. She was a passenger in a south-bound vehicle driven by Mildred L. Vanness, 23, Rt. 1, Mentone, which as struck by a westbound semi tractor trailer driven by Homer W. Dunkley, 63, Fort Wayne.

Dunkley told City Police he could not see the traffic signal, which had changed to red, due to the glare from the sun. The other vehicle, which had the right-of-way, pulled in front of him. He was cited for disregarding an automatic signal as a result of the 9:55 a.m. accident.

Damage to the Vanness vehicle was estimated between $1,001 and $2,500, while Dunkley's truck was damaged less than $200.

Property Damage Accidents

Cars driven by Michael D. Smith 16, Rt. 5, Rochester, and Ernest Prater, 62, Argos, collided at 3:30 p.m. Friday on St. Rd. 25 south of the Max Blackburn residence, according to County Police. Damage to both vehicles was estimated between $200 to $1,000.

Jim L. Holloway, 17, Rt. 1, Mentone, was cited for failure to yield right-of-way following a two-vehicle accident at 8:22 a.m. Monday at St. Rd. 19 and County Rd. 800 south. His car struck a vehicle driven by Michael T. Osterman, causing between $1,001 and $2,500 damage. Holloway's car sustained between $200 and $1,000 damage.

Grissom Open House September 6

Members of the Army Reserve's 431st Quartermaster Company employ the "buddy system" to check their parachutes prior to boarding a helicopter. A parachute demonstration by the company will be one of the many highlights during Grissom Air Force Base Open House. The base, located 15 miles north of Kokomo on U. S. Highway 31, will open its gates to the public at 10 a.m. on Sept. 6. The parachute demonstration will be at 1 p.m.

NIPSCO .. Unlimited gas sales

On Thursday, August 13, 1981, the Public Service Commission of Indiana approved Northern Indiana Public Service Company's request to allow the utility to sell natural gas to its customers without limitations.

Citing improved supply, increased peak load storage capacity and elimination of curtailments by suppliers, NIPSCO requested the Commission to allow unlimited sales to customers on April 29, 1981. A hearing on the request was held July 13, 1981.

The Commission's new order lifts restrictions on gas sales that were established in 1977 and amended upward in 1979 and 1980.

Edmund A. Schroer, NIPSCO chairman and chief executive officer, said, "We are pleased the Commission acted favorably on our request. Natural gas continues to be a most sought-after fuel for prime residential, commercial and industrial uses, including space-heating. Now we can honor all of our customers' demands for it."

The utility chairman said, "Lifting the restrictions will also allow us to intensify our industrial development efforts in the communities and rural areas we serve, assisting them in attracting new industry and expanding businesses already located there.

"Although the cost of natural gas will continue to increase on a phase-in basis until 1985 under the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978, NIPSCO residential customers using this fuel mostly for homeheating during the colder fall, winter and spring months will continue to benefit from our ability to efficiently utilize our system by balancing and blending their needs with the gas supply needs of industrial customers who use this service on a 12-month basis and thereby moderate increases in rates," Schroer said.

By using larger volumes for more sustained periods than residential customers, these industrial customers make a greater contribution to NIPSCO's fixed or overhead costs, thereby allowing the utility to use its system more efficiently and reducing the share of these costs residential customers would otherwise pay, he explained.

Employment office to remain in business

The Employment Security Division office at 4129 Diplomat Plaza Center, Fort Wayne will remain open as a branch of the downtown office, according to Holton Hayes, director of the Division. The Fort Wayne South office was scheduled to close September 11 because of federal budget cutbacks.

Hayes said that at the time the decision to close the office was made, it was projected that the number of unemployment insurance claimants would be declining at a higher rate than was actually experienced. This continuing high unemployment rate prompted the reevaluation of the need for the office, he said. Hayes stated that no additional funds have been made available to the agency to continue this operation; therefore, the operation will have to be funded from savings in other areas.

Some savings will be realized by retaining the Fort Wayne South office primarily to serve unemployment insurance claimants, he explained. Most Employment Service and managerial functions will operate from the downtown office. Dwight Pate, current downtown office manager, will also manage the Diplomat Plaza location.

Classes begin at Luthern Hospital

Help is available at The Lutheran Hospital to those with chronic respiratory diseases. Pulmonary rehabilitation classes will begin September 8 from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. to help patients cope with such diseases as emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma.

The six-week rehabilitation program consists of group activities designed to meet individual needs. Assisted by physicians, respiratory therapists, physical therapists, nurses, a Hospital Chaplain and social workers, patients develop an understanding of their disease, receive necessary therapy and learn practical home treatment procedures. Group counseling sessions are employed to help patients acquire a realistic acceptance of their disabilities.

The Pulmonary Rehabilitation program is under the direction of Thomas E. Hayhurst, M.D., and John Fouts, M.D., specialists in pulmonary diseases. Candidates must be referred to this program by their primary physician. Please contact Steven McFarland, Pulmonary Rehabilitation coordinator, for further information at 458-2325.

Consumer notes...

HOW TO SAVE MONEY WITH LARGE CUTS OF MEAT.

The days when you could feed a family of four on chicken or hamburger for under a dollar are gone forever. But new marketing advances have made it possible for you to save up to a dollar a pound by buying large cuts of pork or beef and cutting them into smaller sizes yourself.

A new fact sheet available free from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, give detailed instructions on how to buy, cut up, and store these meat purchases. For your copy, just send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 651 J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

You may have noticed some extra-large plastic-wrapped packages of meat at your grocery store. These vacuum-sealed cuts are called subprimals, and they are usually the best parts of the beef or pork, with a lot of the bone and fat trimmed away. They range in size from 5 to 30 pounds.

The major differences between these large cuts and the cuts you are probably used to are the color and the odor. Since the large cuts are vacuum packaged they will look purplish until you expose the meat to the air. And, you may notice a "sour" or "off" smell when you first open the package. This should disappear within an hour.

If there is no charge, you'll probably want your butcher to cut the meat for you. Otherwise, you can cut it up yourself providing you have a sharp knife and know what results you are after.

For example, you could buy a whole pork loin that weighs 15 to 20 pounds and cut it into many combinations of roasts and chops. The loin includes a rib half and a sirloin half. The sirloin half, because it includes the pork tenderloin, is always more expensive. Some whole loin will include the tenderloin, and some will not.

The blade end is like a rib roast in beef and the sirloin end can be used for pork chops or for roasting. To cut chops, just slice through each rib section. Or you can cut away the bones to make a boneless roast and use the ribs for barbecuing.

The meat cuts easiest if it's very cold, so you may want to leave it in the freezer until it's just beginning to form ice crystals.

After you cut up your purchase, you'll probably want to freeze most of it. One cubic foot of freezer space can hold 35 to 40 pounds of wrapped meat. Seal the packages well, and don't forget to mark them with the contents, date, and number of pounds. Some people find it useful to post a list of freezer contents on the outside of the freezer door.

When you order a copy of How to Save Money With Large Cuts of Meat (free), you'll also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Catalog lists over 200 free and low-cost consumer publications.

A poll seems accurate when its results are for your side.

Dr. Rogers speaks at Diabetic meeting

Dr. Laurence Rogers, podiatric physician and surgeon of Rochester will speak at a meeting sponsored by the Fulton County Diabetic Association Thursday, September 3rd at 7:30 p.m. in the Editor room at Public Service Company, Rochester.

His program will be on "Care of the Feet for Diabetics."

Dr. Rogers was born in Beverly, Massachusetts, one of triplet sons.

After completing high school in Beverly, Dr. Rogers got his bachelors degree at Assumption College in Worcester, Mass. 1969 through 1971 were spent serving the Peace Corps in Sierra Leone West Africa. He taught in a teacher's training college there. Upon his return to the United States, he enrolled at Ball State University in Muncie, and was awarded a Masters of Science degree there for his research work in microbiology.

He began study at the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine in May of 1976, graduating from I.C.P.M. in May, 1980 with honors. While there he worked as a teaching assistant in anatomy and physiology and histology.

Dr. Rogers finished a one year surgical perceptorship in South Bend before setting up practice in Rochester on June 1st.

Dr. Rogers is currently on staff at the South Bend Osteopathic Hospital and Kosciusko County Hospital at Warsaw, and is a member of the Indiana State Podiatry Association, the American Podiatry Association, the Diabetic Association, the Optimists International and the Elks.

FCIC expands

"All counties where wheat is produced now have the 'All Risk' Federal Crop Insurance available," according to Francis Hudkins, District Director Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. With the beginning of the 1982 crop year, as authorized by Congress, an expansion of Federal Crop Insurance has taken place, making coverage available on crops in counties that were previously excluded under the prior program.

"This expansion is made anticipating the farmers' continued needs and interest in protecting his investment in crops," added Mr. Hudkins.

A farmer interested in the "All Risk" Federal Crop Insurance will find this coverage available through private insurance agents representing FCIC.

Thank you!

"1981" Mentone Community Fair Stand Workers:

We want to take this time to say Thanks to everyone who helped with the Mentone Community Fair Stand the week of Aug. 3-8. Some of you enjoyed it so much that you came back and worked again. Your shift leaders cannot say Thank You enough for working again when you found out we were going to be short on workers another day.

A very special thanks to Roger Moriarty, for helping every morning at 7 a.m. to get ready and then coming back to run his 4-8 p.m. shift. This was a great help and we would not have been ready to open each day at 10 a.m. without him. Also, we want to thank Guy Alspaugh for being our 8-12 shift leader, and for helping clean up before and after the fair. Another thanks goes to Ken Yost, who worked the 8-12 shift for five nights out of six. Jim Miller was our buyer this year, and this helped us very much, thanks Jim. Mary Cox, Bernice Jones and Gerry Clark, washed a lot of dishes to help us get ready on our clean up night. Thanks ladies.

This is one week out of every year, when we can all work together for the good of our community. It's also a great way to meet the people of our community and make new friends. Once again, thanks to each worker and watch the paper for an announcement about our funds in the near future.

Your Fair Stand Committee
Ron and Dixie Seerist

Smart Girl

Chaplain Bruno said to little Alice: "Would you rather be beautiful or good?"

She replied: "Beautiful, I can always repent."

Hopless

"Where's your pencil, Maggie?"

"Ain't got one, Miss Jones."

"How many times have I told you not to say that? Listen: I haven't one, you haven't one, they haven't one. Now do you understand?"

"Well, where's all the pencils if nobody ain't got none?"

Improvements

"You said," exclaimed the irate caller, "that I had resigned from the town council and intended retiring from business into private life."

"But," protested the editor, "all that is quite true..."

"Quite. But you printed the information under 'Public Improvements.'"

Sawmills

By Eula Romayne Smith

Sawmills were a flourishing industry in this vicinity in the 1800's. This quotation is from a 1915 Bourbon Gazette: "Fifty years ago Henry Hainbaugh, with most of his neighbors, the Merediths, Blues, Bybees and Keslers hauled their grain and saw logs and did most of their trading in Bourbon." There were no railroads between Bourbon and Peru at that time, but there were 40-odd sawmills in 400 square miles.

Seward Township's first sawmill was built by William Magner on the north fork of Trimble Creek in 1839, just a year after Summy's saw and grist mill began on Trimble Creek in Harrison Township. A short time later Abraham Sarber sawed lumber at his Palestine mill for the first courthouse in Warsaw. These were among the ten sawmills in Kosciusko County in the 1840 Census.

William Guido Davis, former Burket resident, said that Samuel Banks erected a sawmill in Burket in the autumn of 1881. Since that was a short time before Burket was platted, we assume that the mill provided material for the Nickel Plate Railroad as well as the buildings in the new town.

Soon Mr. and Mrs. Owen Gaskill moved from Bourbon to Burket and built the Gaskill sawmill. Lumber was the principal industry in early Burket, and three mills were kept running constantly. There was enough timber in the vicinity to keep them running for ten years. The steam sawmill which Edwin C. Gordon started at Sevastopol in 1848 or 1849 was later operated by J. I. Cox and his brother.

Winifred (Tucker) Smith recalled another Franklin Township sawmill, one that operated early in the Twentieth Century. Her family home was near the present Tippecanoe Valley High School, and when she was a girl, she could sit on the front porch and hear the foot-wide belts buzzing at Cook's sawmill, one mile away, as they sawed out lumber.

The danger of fire was always present, and Tippecanoe Township was especially hard hit at one time. When the Hartman sawmill, a mile south of Ilion (now Tippecanoe) burned early in 1885, it was the fourth in the neighborhood to burn in six months.

About sixty years ago, Jim Worsham had a sawmill and cider mill east of the brick church in Tippecanoe. Now, Flory's sawmill is in the west side of the town.

Job Meredith took the lead in Newcastle Township with a sawmill on the bank of Yellow Creek about 1840. The carding mill built along with it lasted only a short time, but the sawmill was in existence for many years. Several members of the Ely family had sawmills in Newcastle Township and in other places, including Mentone.

Sam Mentzer operated a sawmill at Little Chicago, west of Mentone, about 1880. His son, M. O. Mentzer wrote: "My father, after sawing out the bridge timbers and switch ties for the railroad decided that as the timber was about gone (they did not use anything but the best in those days) entered into partnership with Art Manwaring, moved his engine and boiler to Mentone and they built the first roller grist mill.

French-Holt wedding

Miss Suzanne Kay French and Mark Andrew Holt exchanged marriage vows at the Silver Creek Church of God, August 15, 1981 at 2:30 o'clock. The Reverend Fred Landolt performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard French, Rt. 1, Silver Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Holt, Rt. 5, Warsaw.

Providing music for the occasion were Louise Bucher at the organ and soloists Marilyn French and Rick VanCleave.

The bride appeared in a gown of white satin overlaid with layers chiffon, bordered with chantilly lace and tiny pearls on both gown and train. A matching picture hat covered with lace and pearls, trailing a chiffon train completed her bridal outfit and she carried a bouquet of small burgandy silk carnations and mauve rosebuds arranged in lace, with tiny burgandy love bows on the long lace streamers.

The attendants, junior bridesmaid and flower girls wore formal dresses of quiana knit with lace trim, and carried baskets of flowers to match the bride's flowers.

The groom chose as his best man, Matt Holt of Mentone. Groomsmen were Allen Utter, Joe Chamberlain, and Dave Cook. Ushers were Joe French, Dave French, and Kevin Deardorff.

Both are 1979 graduates of Tippecanoe Valley High School. The bride is also a graduate of Lafayette Beauty Academy. Mr. Holt is attending Purdue University's School of Veterinarian Medicine.

After a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tennessee, the couple will be at home at West Lafayette.

Local schools adopt guidelines for free meals and reduced-price meals

Tippecanoe Valley School Corp. today announced that due to current legislation by the U. S. Congress, a change has been made in the current income poverty guidelines used to determine eligibility for free and reduced-priced meals for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch Programs.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size and income criteria for determining eligibility:

INCOME POVERTY GUIDELINES FOR FREE MEALS AND REDUCED-PRICED MEALS

Family [Household] Size	For Free Meals Must be at or below figures listed			For Reduced-Priced Meals Must be at or between figures listed
	Yearly	Monthly	Weekly	Yearly	Monthly	Weekly
1	$ 5,600	$ 467	$ 108	$ 7,970	$ 664	$ 153
2	$ 7,400	$ 617	$ 142	$10,530	$ 878	$ 203
3	$ 9,190	$ 766	$ 177	$13,080	$1,090	$ 252
4	$10,990	$ 916	$ 211	$15,630	$1,303	$ 301
5	$12,780	$1,065	$ 246	$18,190	$1,516	$ 350
6	$14,570	$1,214	$ 280	$20,740	$1,728	$ 399
7	$16,370	$1,364	$ 315	$23,290	$1,941	$ 448
8	$18,160	$1,513	$ 349	$25,840	$2,153	$ 497

For each additional member add: 1,790 149 34 2,550 213 49

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced-priced meals. In addition, there are no special hardship provisions.

Application forms are being distributed to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available in the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, they should contact the school.

Under the provisions of the policy, the principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis.

If he wishes to make a formal appeal, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Baxter W. Palge, Box 338, Mentone, IN 46539 for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedures.

If a family member becomes unemployed or if family size income changes, the family should contact the school to file a new application. Such changes may make the children of the family eligible for reduced-priced meals, or for additional benefits such as free meals if the family income falls at or below the levels shown above.

In the operation of school nutrition programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, handicap or age.

Each school and the office of the superintendent has a copy of the complete policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

4-H fair complete

The 1981 Fulton County 4-H Fair is now history. We would like to add to that page in your memory to call the Fair complete.

First, our Champion Rate of Gain for the Hereford Breed in Beef this year was Mitzi Melton.

Another oversight was the announcement of the winners of the Herdsmanship Judging Contest. Each year the livestock superintendents make sure the barns are judged between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday morning and late afternoon as well as on Friday morning of the 4-H Fair.

Judging is done on a club basis according to 1. care of the animals, 2. condition of bedding, 3. storing and placement of feed and equipment, 4. cleanliness of aisles 5. general over all appearance of clubs' exhibits and finally, 6. general attitude, cooperation and appearance of 4-H members. Each club is then ranked by excellent, good, standard, and fair. These score sheets are turned into the Extension Office to be tabulated and posted.

This year the clubs who were selected as Herdsmanship Winners with excellent ratings were:

Liberty Clubs - Swine; Newcastle Club - Sheep; Henry Clubs - Beef.

No question on budget at public hearing

Included in the regular meeting of the Tippecanoe Valley School Board, Thursday, August 20, was the public hearing on the 1982 budget for the corporation. Superintendent Paige reviewed the budget which calls for the total amount to be raised for all funds: general, debt service, cumulative building, and transportation, a total of $1,830,492, with the advertised tax rate for all funds at $3.83.

Approval was given to all claims and two payrolls were signed.

The board took Mr. Paige's recommendation that they sign the status quo contracts for teachers of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation as negotiations are not completed with the teacher's organization. The status quo contracts will include the additional one year experience, but will continue with the pay scale from the former year's contracts. Paige stated that the last payroll on the old teachers' contract had been made on August 5th, and the board needed to have a contract on which to base the salary for the next payroll.

During other business the school board approved the hiring of new personnel: Lois Buss for high school English and French, taking the position left by the resignation of Nancy Yeiter; Terri Klotz, for high school English, yearbook and school newspaper sponsor and girls' tennis coach, taking the place of Harry Kohn who resigned this week; Lora Harp for elementary guidance; Julie Baxter on a temporary contract for one semester for elementary music; Joanne Wortinger for a one semester contract; and Sue Pyle, elementary on a one semester temporary contract. Supplemental contracts for summer were signed by Smith, Parker, See, Glingie, Armstrong and Makula.

The board took the recommended policy of only two classrooms for Akron's sixth grade which has 61 students. The teachers were concerned about the number of students in the classrooms, which are small. Paige made the statement that Mentone 5th grade enrollment might be greater would create a problem with class size. The class is presently at 36 in each room if all students enrolled show up in class.

Contracts and bus routes for drivers were approved, with some changes in routes to make better use of the buses. The number of buses running from Akron School and Mentone School to the high school was cut one bus each location, since the number of students riding the buses last year seemed lower than planned. The board gave Mr. Paige permission to include another bus on each route if the numbers increase.

The decision was made by the board to transport the handicapped children of Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation to Cardinal Center at Warsaw this year by using a regular bus and establishing a door to door pickup. Wheelchair students will still be transported by Cardinal. Superintendent Paige said he had contacted all but one of the families of the handicapped students and they are supportive of the idea. This will save tuition and transportation charges for the student located in Fulton County who has been attending the center in Plymouth. He recommended starting the year with one of the spare buses and trying to find a van or mini-bus for the route in the near future.

The parents who were present expressed concern about seat belts in the spare bus used for the route, and Paige said if there was a need for them, the corporation would be sure they were supplied.

Other business included: Approving the increase in lunch prices at the Tippecanoe Valley schools. Since the cut in Federal monies, the school lunch prices have to be increased to maintain the hot lunch program. Paige recommended and the board approved the raise in price. Students 70¢ per day, reduced price lunches 40¢ daily, and adult lunches $1. No money is received for the special milk program, so the price of extra milk daily will be 17¢. These prices are for all classes.

Approving maternity leaves for Rhonda Jewell from Oct. 28 through Feb. 1; Linda Studebaker requesting sick leave from Oct.

August 26, 1981 - THE AKRON-MENTONE NEWS 17

Approving the resignation of Harry Kohn, English teacher at the high school, yearbook advisor and newspaper sponsor.

Advised Paige to get appraisals and a firm quote on insurance to cover exterior equipment at the football field, tennis court and baseball field. This is to include fences, bleachers, nets, lights, etc.

All of the principals present notified the board their schools and faculties are ready to go for the next school year which began Monday for teachers and Tuesday for students. They noted the buildings have been cleaned and necessary maintenance finished.

The next meeting of the board will be held Thursday, August 27 for the purpose of adopting the 1982 budget. The next regular meeting will be September 21.

Peterson, and Carnes make up the deadly guard squad. Backing up Dickerhoff at the tailback position, James Holloway will add versatility to the backfield.

Adding depth to the defense, Mike Shoemaker, Ray Fenix, and Luis Santamaria (transferred from Warsaw High School) fill the vacancy in the secondary. Kelly Shafer and Steve Salmons are showing strength and endurance in the tackle slot. The outside linebackers, Rob Pinder and Lee Swihart (both sophomores), show that the Valley defense will be strong for years to come.

The loss of Keith Page has set this season's kicking game well behind last year's pace but the coaching staff has confidence in its specialty teams. Pinder or Bibler will do the punting if the Vikings get into trouble with Jim Anderson handling the place-kicking duties.

Several injuries have plagued this season's pre-season workouts. Hawkins received a concussion but should be ready for the Whitko game. Pat Lafferty won't see any action until next season because of a back injury and Andy Alspaugh has been kept to a monotonously slow pace as the result of a bruised kidney. Their loss will definitely impair the potency of the Valley offense and defense.

Valley has two newcomers to its schedule as Eastern and Oak Hill move into full varsity action. Both are seen as potentially deadly to the Death Valley tradition but Oak Hill is gauged as the more capable of the two. As last year, Southwood could be Valley's highest hurdle and are probably the ones to beat in regular season play.

Eastern and Oak Hill fill the empty slots left by Culver Military Academy and Westfield (last season they slugged the Vikes for their first loss of the season). When this subject came up, Coach Smith revengefully retorted, "hopefully we will see them in the playoffs."

This Friday's game at Whitko is seen as a hurdle but a rather low one. They are Valley's first Three Rivers Conference opponent and if everything goes off on schedule, the Vikings should have their first conference victory under their helmets.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid

OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years. This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and is worn completely in your ear.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This new hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of one of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to Hear, Box 360, Garrett, IN 46738.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE for PARENTS

We are going to produce a Special Photo Feature honoring local children. May we include your children?

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

- High quality, professional photographs will be made locally and at no charge or obligation.
- We, as sponsors, will use and display the photos as a tribute to our CITIZENS OF TOMORROW.
- As a bonus, you will see finished color photos (photos used in the feature will be in black and white) and have an opportunity to purchase any for your family needs — you are not obligated to buy anything.
