NOTICE

The Akron Town Board members regret that they have to serve this notice.

Our cost to the T.H. Landfill Company, Inc. has been rising for sometime now. Our old cost was $26.00 per 19 cubic yards of compacted trash, today the cost is $71.25 for the same 19 cubic yards. We are not making expenses and should our truck break-down we will definitely be in trouble. The Landfill will not guarantee that the cost won't go higher.

Therefore starting September 1, 1989 residents' cost will be $1.00 per bag for Akron town pick-up. All residents now using pink trash tags are to put 2 on each bag. When our supply is exhausted the color will be changed, and the price will be $1.00 per bag.

Circumstances leave us no choice on the above matter.

Sincerely
Jean Conner
Deputy Clerk-Treasurer

A new beginning...

The Blowout

When I was approaching the driving age, my brother, Bill, showed me the proper way to change a tire. Although I didn't do the actual job, I got the general idea. I was ready for anything...I thought.

Somewhere along the line, I thought always having good tires would alleviate any tire problems. But when the kids were little I was proven wrong. That was the day of the blowout.

For some reason, our spare tire was in our garage - flat. I hadn't been in a hurry to replace it since the four on our truck at the time were new. On the day of my trouble, the boys were riding along when suddenly their eyes widened as we heard a loud "pop." Steering skillfully and staying calm for the sake of the kids, I pulled into a driveway nearby. One look at the tire told me I had a big problem.

After calling the garage and giving them instructions where our spare was, I had time to wonder what had happened to a perfectly good tire. "A nail," I surmised.

When the man came and good heartedly brought the tire and changed the old one he said it appeared to be a puncture causing the mishap. "Yep, a nail," was my own verdict. With the tire taken to be plugged, I proceeded on with my chores.

Doug checked at the garage soon afterwards and came home with quite a shock. In his words, "Why is it, everything strange happens to you?"

I was confused. People have tire problems all the time, why was it strange for me? Besides, I had assumed a nail or sharp piece of metal had caused the puncture. However, Doug's statement caused me to doubt my assumption.

Not only did Doug have the tire repaired, he waited for it, and he also had what caused the blowout! It wasn't customary to save these things, but this was out of the ordinary. "You won't believe it, but your wife punctured her tire by running over an animal tooth!" they told Doug.

I'm sure Doug didn't question their honesty but probably looked shocked. It was at that point the man produced the animal tooth as proof.

It was that same tooth which Doug brought home to me. He mumbled about all the miles he had driven without a blowout and if he would have had one he wouldn't have chosen a tooth to run over! He also wondered what the odds were of having a tooth just right to puncture a tire.

We inspected that tooth and decided the animal it belonged to must have been awfully healthy, the tooth was still unharmed after my running over it! Who knows, if the tooth was in that good of shape, the animal is probably still running around just as tough...only minus one tooth!!

Public Service

Public Service Indiana today asked state regulators to stabilize its rates for three years and provide performance incentives so the company can better afford to clean the air.

The proposal was filed with the Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission in support of the utility's request for "permanent" retail rates, as required by a June 1988 IURC order. PSI has been operating under "emergency" rates since 1984.

"Essentially, we're asking the commission to approve two things," said James E. Rogers Jr., PSI chairman. "Following our 4.2 percent rate decrease in October, we want our rates frozen for the next three years. As an incentive to control costs and increase sales to other utilities, we're also asking to keep a portion of the increased revenues derived from these efforts. The remainder would be automatically credited to our customers."

Under the plan, the company would have one opportunity to adjust its rates during the three-year freeze, but only for limited reasons. These would include rate relief for environmental, load management or conservation costs.

Stabilized rates and performance incentives would help the company continue its financial recovery, PSI said. Improving the company's credit rating would make complying with acid rain legislation and keeping power plants running more affordable for both the utility and its customers. Between 1990 and 1994, PSI projects it will need to spend $1.4 billion to $1.9 billion on these and other construction needs.

PSI's plan also includes aggressive load management and conservation measures to defer the need to build costly new power plants. These measures would include giving customers greater choices in how they are charged for the electricity they use, shifting electrical load requirements and increasing home energy efficiency.

"Our proposal is an innovative one for a utility, but we're doing our best not to think like a utility," Rogers said. "We believe the future will be much more competitive for utilities, and we want to be prepared for it. Treating us more like competitive business will help make PSI a better company. It will also help ensure a reliable source of power for Indiana."

IURC action on PSI's proposal is expected by year-end.

Children from households that meet Federal guidelines are eligible for free or reduced price meals or free milk.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced price benefits, households must complete the application as soon as possible, sign it and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school. Households should answer all applicable questions on the form. An application which does not contain all the required information cannot be processed and approved by the school. The required information is:

FOOD, STAMP/AFDC HOUSEHOLDS: If a household currently receives Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" (AFDC) for their child, they need only to list the child's name and Food Stamp or AFDC case number, and sign the application.

ALL OTHER HOUSEHOLDS: If a household's income is at or below the level shown on the income scale, children are eligible for free or reduced price meals or free milk. Households must provide the following information: (1) the names of all household members, (2) the social security numbers of each adult household member, age 21 or older, or the word "none" if an adult does not have a social security number, (3) total household income AND the amount and source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.) and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

The information on the application for free or reduced price meals may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If income information is provided and children are approved for meal or milk benefits, households must tell the school when their household income increases by more than $50 per month ($600 per year) or when their household size decreases. If a Food Stamp or AFDC case number was listed, the household must tell the school when it no longer receives Food Stamps or AFDC for a child.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not eligible now, but has decrease in household income, an increase in household size, or a household member becomes unemployed, an application should be filled out at that time.

In certain cases foster children are eligible for meal or milk benefits regardless of the household income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for meals or milk benefits for them, they should contact the school for help with the application.

Under the provisions of the policy each school principal will review applications and determine eligibility. Households dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss it with the school. Households also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official: Mr. Baxter Paige, Supt. Box 338, Mentone, IN 46539, Phone 353-7741.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Butler University Dean's list

Dr. Geoffrey Bannister, president of Butler University, has announced the Dean's List for the Spring semester of the 1988-89 school year.

Degree-seeking undergraduate students earning at least 12 academic hours of grade-credit in a given semester may be placed on the Dean's List in the college of their enrollment. The student must be in the top 20 percent as determined by the semester grade-point average of all eligible students in that college.

EVEN IN TODAY'S WORLD FAITH PROMOTES FAMILY LIFE

In today's hectic world, family life has taken some strange turns, and indeed, it is amazing that any of it still exists. Dad may have to travel occasionally. Weekends, he plays golf, goes fishing, or glues his "couch potato" eyes to any seasonal sport on the tube. Mom either works or gets involved in some volunteer activity, undoubtedly worthwhile. The "latchkey" kids come home to an empty house, while the teenagers have their own activities. It's only on rare occasions that the entire family sits down to dinner, or goes anywhere together. The one place where they should go in unison is to the House of Worship, where with the help of God some semblance of family unity can be restored. Even today, if the family members work at it, being together can be as rewarding as it used to be.

Serve Grilled Catfish Instead of Burgers This Summer

Seventy-one percent of American households own outdoor barbecue grills. That's more than 62 million grills just waiting to heat up new summer menus.

Whether it's a cookout in the park or one in the backyard, grilled Delta Pride catfish is an easy way to turn the usual humdrum hot dog and hamburger menu into something more tasty and exciting.

Not only does catfish taste good, it's also good for you. A 3.5-ounce serving of Delta Pride catfish contains about 115 calories, is high in protein, low in sodium and has only 65 milligrams of cholesterol—less than similar portions of beef, lamb, veal and chicken.

Delta Pride catfish are farm raised in crystal clear ponds and fed a diet of grain and essential vitamins and minerals. This feeding process eliminates any fishy odor or taste and creates a light-textured, sweet-tasting fish fillet which can be baked, broiled, pan sautéed, poached, microwaved, fried and, of course, grilled.

Follow these simple instructions for delicious grilled catfish fillets with Dijon sauce:

Grilled Catfish Fillets With Dijon Sauce

4 Delta Pride catfish fillets, thawed
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon lemon pepper
Dijon Sauce
Lemon twists for garnish (optional)

Dijon Sauce:
1/2 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Rinse fillets and blot dry. Combine butter, Worcestershire sauce and lemon pepper; mix. Brush both sides of fillets with butter mixture and place on a sheet of heavy-duty foil or in a well-greased hinged fish basket. Grill over medium-hot coals for 5 to 8 minutes; turn fillets and grill another 5 to 8 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Combine sour cream, Dijon mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Heat 45 seconds in microwave or until warm. Serve 2 tablespoons sauce over each catfish fillet and garnish with lemon twists. Yield: 4 servings.

Oven Method:

Broil 6 inches from heat for 10-12 minutes or until fish flakes when tested with a fork; turning once.

For additional catfish recipes send a stamped, self-addressed legal size envelope to: Delta Pride Catfish, Inc., Dept. MSTIG, P.O. Box 850, Indianapolis, MS 38751

INTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Proper Tree Felling

The key to proper tree felling is to first plan the work. Check the condition of the tree itself. Look to see if there are any branches which might fall on you after you begin sawing.

Choose the felling direction keeping in mind the other work to be done on the tree. Cut off all lower branches and clear away the underbrush. Mark Michaels, forestry engineer for Husqvarna Chain Saws, reminds you to work on limbing from the top down and keep the tree trunk between you and the chain saw. Never limb above shoulder level.

You can determine the direction a given tree will fall by making three cuts and creating a felling hinge. The first two cuts create the directional notch and are made on the side the tree is to fall on. After the directional notch has been cut out, the felling cut is made on the side away from the planned fall and slightly above the foot of the notch. However, they must not meet.

Make sure there's enough fuel in the chain saw tank before beginning the felling cut.

Once the directional notch is complete, the felling cut can be made. Don't forget to make a thick enough hinge

The Carson and Barnes Circus at Rochester

If there's anything as American as apple pie--and even more delightful--it's the circus; and ladies and gentlemen, the biggest tented circus in America will be in our area soon.

History will come to life in Rochester on August 22 as the massive Carson & Barnes 5 Ring Big Top is raised with the help of elephant power on circus morning. The size of Carson & Barnes is truly astonishing. The show travels with a staff of 200, including 95 performers as well as various cooks, electricians, mechanics, wardrobe and property people, animal handlers, box office and concession personnel. This in addition to the many animals, exotic and domestic, including 20 elephants.

As America's last big traditional circus, the big top stretches the length of a football field, holds five rings plus two stages, a hippodrome track and steel arena.

The show's contingent of performers presents a vast array of acrobatic and aerial displays that include wire-walking, bareback riding, juggling, risley, perch pole, Spanish web, head-balancing trapeze, flying trapeze and more.

Carson & Barnes is so big it moves every 24 hours in a herculean attempt to attract sufficient circus-goers to pay its astronomical daily expenses.

Everyone is invited our circus morning to watch the elephants raise the big top and visit the circus' mammoth traveling zoo with lions, tigers, zebras, camels, a giraffe, hippo and rare white rhino, all free circus morning.

It's a spectacle our great grandparents might have seen and it will all be in Rochester sponsored by Historical Society at Historical Society grounds.

"Signing"

"Signing" is what the seed corn companies call putting up signs to tell the public what kind of corn or beans are planted in the fields. Lots of signs have been put up in the last few weeks gearing up for the Farm Progress Show, which will be held on September 26, 27 and 28th.

Rural Rhymes

By Esther C. Adams

My Ground Hogs and Moles and Snakes

That dratted old ground hog
Keeps my carrot tops mowed clean
And the way he ate my lettuce
Like nothing you ever seen.
There goes a snake across the lawn,
Seen him twice before
And if I see him again
There'll be a snake no more.
Gophers, moles and chipmunks
Play havoc with my yard,
The way they work at it
They must call each other "pard."
I put out poison peanuts
I poured water in their holes.
But I had no luck
Getting rid of gophers and moles.
Thought I'd outsmart the ground hogs,
So I bought some traps
But the only luck I had
The critters snapped my traps.

When You Can't Put The Book Down

Anyone who likes to read a good book will sympathize with Alice. Alice loves to read. In fact, she loved to read so much that she doesn't read anymore. Here's why:

You've heard the expression, "It's such a good book, you'll hate to put it down." Well, whoever said that must have known Alice. A good mystery will keep a person like Alice on her toes, hardly making it from one page to the other trying to second guess "who done it." As a matter of fact, Alice has been known to stir supper and read at the same time.

Washing dishes is only a temporary setback for Alice. She has a bookstand in the window allowing her to read and wash simultaneously.

Well-written descriptions of characters come alive in Alice's mind. She has flinched at the description of Lightfingered Louis who certainly doesn't look like an A-1 citizen. Mr. Long, the storekeeper Louis lifted loot from, reminded Alice of a kindly man, along with Lance, the local landowner, who captured Louis with the loot. This caused Alice much distress at 1:30 a.m.

Because Alice rose early to read and stayed up late to read causing not only eye strain from poor lighting but also fatigue, Alice has given up the habit for the time being. Oh, she tried stopping at the end of a chapter, thinking she could wait before beginning the next one, but she would find her fingers "doing the walking" back to the book, sneaking a peak just a few pages ahead. Before you knew it, she would be reading again.

It's a shame the reading came to an abrupt halt. Alice was fully equipped. Not only did she have a bookstand for the windowsill, she also had a reading light that clamped onto her book so the light wouldn't disturb her husband in the wee hours of the morning, a handy book bag with various bookclub catalogs, discount book catalogs, various bookmarks with library numbers etched on the back and sunglasses to hide bloodshot eyes. Gloves were at her bedside to warm cold fingers in the winter as they held book after book and a bedrest was positioned on her bed for comfort.

Something had to be done. Alice's work was suffering. She was miserable not reading at all, but couldn't read just a little. She desperately wanted to join Over Readers Anonymous, but there wasn't one. At last, her husband came up with the ideal answer. It came to him as he was building shelves for more books.

In Alice's new job, she has the chance to look over the new books, discover old ones, and read stories to others who aren't able to read. Alice is helping at the library in her town. The enthusiasm she has found for reading she shares with the small children, and story hour has become her specialty. What a lovely person who helps others discover the world of books...all kinds and for all ages! She no longer has to work reading into her schedule, she knows books will be there for her the next day and they have taken the appropriate place in her life.

If you haven't been to the library lately, stop in. We have our own librarians and helpers ready to share their enthusiasm and help. Besides, if you went to school in Akron, you surely remember the visits by Velma Bright who told stories at school. What a good job she did!

Amish acres in Nappanee Festival

Historic Amish Acres in Nappanee, Indiana, will present the 27th annual Amish Acres & Crafts Festival, Thursday thru Sunday, August 10-13.

More than $5,000 in cash prizes will be awarded to the winning paintings and crafts from the competition big top tent. The entries will be from over three hundred artists from across the midwest and beyond.

Amid colorful tents and awnings surrounding Amish Acres farm pond, potters will spin their wheels while silversmiths and weavers work to the gentle twang of dulcimers and banjos. Silhouette cutters, portrait artists, woodcarvers and doll makers will ply their trades and sell their wares.

The four day artists' weekend is designed around the Amish heritage and folk art of the historic restoration and the Nappanee area. Horse and buggy rides, guided tours and demonstrations provide an intriguing background for the art display and market.

Family style dinners in the air conditioned restaurant and spit roast pig and sausage sandwiches plus festive food from carts, wagons, and tents, as well as apple cider, sweet corn, funnel cakes, ice cream and preaching pies, will give festival visitors all they want to eat and more.

The new Comfort Inn Amish Acres, complete with quilts on the beds, complimentary breakfast in the kitchen and rocking chairs on the front porch stands next to the festival grounds.

From the sounds of the fiddle and guitar to the square dance caller plus Punch and Judy, a stream of entertainment will fill the summer air during the four day festival.

Happy Birthday Shirley

IF THINGS GO WRONG, HAVE A TALK WITH YOUR CLERGYMAN

You have just had a terrible week. First, you received bad news about something. Then, as if that weren't enough, you acted on impulse and made some foolish statements that let certain people down and almost cost you a friendship of long standing. Altogether, you couldn't feel more depressed and your self-esteem has never been lower. Of course, you try to make amends with those people whom you inadvertently injured by your unwise remarks. Actually, none of this may describe your problems; but whatever they are, go to your House of Worship and talk to your clergyman. He will give you his best advice, for he is there to help people like you who are in some kind of trouble. And remember to thank God for this guidance He has provided for you, just when you needed it most.

CAPPING FRONT TEETH

If you think to improve the appearance of your front teeth because they are chipped, stained, or have old looking fillings, ask your dentist if he would recommend capping. Your front teeth are the first thing people see when you open your mouth to talk or smile. You want them to look as attractive as possible. If the teeth are in good alignment and your gums are healthy, your dentist may suggest two alternatives for capping the teeth. One is porcelain will be used. One is veneer bonding, the other is porcelain fused to metal crowns.

Both have advantages, but your dentist's recommendation will depend on the condition of your teeth. Capping your front teeth with porcelain fused to metal has the advantage of being as well as pleasing appearance. Veneer bonding will give your teeth a natural look, cover up discolorations, give your teeth the appearance of being straight and closing gaps between them.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C. 1329 Main St., Rochester, Phone 223-3121.

See Circus Set Up Free, Eat Breakfast

The public is invited to watch the Carson & Barnes Circus set up at the Fulton County Historical Society grounds August 22. This is free and everyone is welcome.

The 80 vehicles will start arriving at 7 a.m. There are 20 semi-trucks and many other types of trucks and cars and campers.

You can watch the entire process of erecting a huge circus tent, over 400 feet long. Elephants perform the final step of lifting the tent into place about 9 a.m.

While there, you can buy a continental breakfast, served by Fulton County Historical Society, for $1.

Carson & Barnes is the largest circus still traveling under tent today in the U. S. It has 200 animals, plus 20 elephants.

The show this year is all new, bigger and better, and not the same acts that appeared here in 1987. Patricia White, lion and tiger trainer, is the only performer this year who was with the circus two years ago.

So, even if you saw it in 1987, you will want to see this year's show, too. The high quality is the same, but the people and acts are new.

Remember Indiana

When you are far away from Home
Let your thoughts a little roam.
Back to Indiana

and Grandma,
Think about the Hoosier skies
How hard this old farmer tries
To plant the corn, plant the beans
"Taters, peas and garden greens

On the old farm in Indiana.
Wheats in head, oats is green,
Dangest weather ever seen.
Sows are "piggins," young chicks growin',
On our farm in Indiana.

You could conjure up a line
Let me know if you are fine,
Seen any farms anywhere near?
What they raise this time of year?
While you remember Indiana
and Grandma.

And I Said It Couldn't Be Done

Most of us have been heard to say, "Well, I'm not going to do that!" And most of us end up eating our words.

There are a few things done for people, though they may seem small, that are special because someone does them for us. For instance, full service gas stations.

Up until recently, full service stations were the only ones I stopped at. Although self service has been around awhile, the luxury of someone waiting on me was worth a few extra cents. As time moved along, it became more difficult to find these places, but, I managed to time my stops in Akron when possible, vowing "never" to pump my own gas. Then it happened.

Doug and I carpool two days a week. For some reason, our timing of gas fillups was off schedule. With not enough gas to get home and a few minutes before Doug's quitting time, I decided to get gas. Do you think I could find a full service station? Of course not! Oh, there was one...but it was 20 minutes away!

I finally swallowed hard, worked up my courage and pulled into a self serve station that wasn't busy. (I didn't need an audience). While getting out of the car, a man pulled up on the other side of the pumps, swung around to use one of the hoses and asked, "Do you need this hose?"

"I have no idea," was my answer. I was just hoping to get gas from the pump into my car; I hadn't worried about what kind! Besides, I was wearing heels that day and was concerned about becoming wrapped in the hose and tripping. I tried to assure myself that I would look like a pro.

Surprisingly, it wasn't as difficult as I thought to turn the pump on, however, the nozzle and hose were something else. Watching so as not to catch my heels in the hose, I raised the nozzle from its rest. Instantly, it turned in my hand! Discovering the hose had been twisted, the only thing to do was to straighten it out. Glancing around, I saw no one else had problems, so I opted to handle the hose as best I could while leaving it coiled. It took much maneuvering to drag the hose to the back of the car without getting it against my skirt as well as having to lift it off my bumper. Finally, I was at the back of the car with the hose in one hand, the other hand needed to hold the license plate down and NO hand left to remove the gas cap. But I got it! I spent the remainder of the time trying to figure out how it would be easier!

In fact, I've noticed ladies pumping gas looking very casual. They have even developed styles of their own while doing this nasty deed. Some lean on the trunk with their free hand, others stand with a hand on their hip. Many adjust their sunglasses atop their heads or shade their eyes meaning business while the impatient lean on one foot while tapping the other as if to hurry the process of filling the tank. The favorite of mine is the lady who, while holding the hose with one hand adjusts her necklace with the other.

Feeling relieved I hadn't gotten tangled in the hose, no gas spilled and the gas cap hadn't rolled away, I was sure it would be better the next time. Why? Because I'm going to a full service station!

Bald eagles nesting in Indiana

For the first time this century, bald eagles are nesting in Indiana, announced Patrick R. Ralston, director of the Department of Natural Resources.

Biologists with the DNR's Non-game and Endangered Wildlife Program observed a pair of bald eagles hatch one egg in a nest at Lake Monroe in southern Indiana early this spring. Unfortunately, the 6-week-old nestling was found dead on the ground, possibly swept from the nest by high winds.

Although the adult eagles were unsuccessful during their first nesting attempt, non-game personnel expect the pair to return next year and try again. One of the adults was banded and appears to have originated in Canada. The origin of its mate is unknown.

Two additional bald eagle nests were discovered in Martin County at Crane Naval Weapons Support Center and along the White River, but no egg-laying occurred this year.

"The discovery of eagle nests in the state is a strong indication that Indiana contains suitable habitat for these majestic birds to nest and raise their young," Ralston said.

The Non-game and Endangered Wildlife Program created the bald eagle reintroduction project in 1985 to re-establish nesting bald eagles in Indiana. A total of 62 bald eagles have been released at an artificial nesting or hacking tower at Lake Monroe. When these birds mature at 4 to 5 years of age, biologists hope they return to the Lake Monroe area to nest.

The tower currently contains 12 eaglets taken from nests in Alaska. The 7-week-old birds were transported to Indiana free of charge by Delta Airlines and placed in the hack tower. During the next several weeks, biologists will feed and monitor the birds. The young eagles will be tagged with radio transmitters and wing markers and released.

The goal of the bald eagle reintroduction project is to establish five nesting pairs of bald eagles by the year 2000. Biologists will spend the next four to five years evaluating the projects and monitoring the released eagles.

SUMMER

The long, hot days of summer. Often black clouds tease;
Flirt with rolling thunder, Play hooky with the breeze.

And dance with little katydids, To drowsy hum of bees.

The long, hot days of summer, Are with us once again;

To make us pray a sweaty brow; To make us pray for rain;

Yet fills our empty mows with hay, Our empty bins with grain.

Senior Citizens, come join us for a well balanced meal and fellowship. If you are 60 years of age or older please call 893-7204 for your meal reservations between the hours of 9:30 A.M. - 1:30. WHEN IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE, GOD HELPS YOU MAKE IT

Once in a while, we all have to make a change of some kind. It might be the retirement from a job of long standing, a move to a different area, or any number of other things. Whatever it is, you will be starting a new chapter in your life, and you must adopt a cheerful and constructive attitude about it. There is no better time than this to start or continue to attend your House of Worship, or if the change is geographical, to find a new one. The comforting word of God will help you bring order and serenity into the present chaos of your life, and point you in some positive directions. You are always where God wants you to be, and He will move you when the time comes. Thus, an apparent catastrophe can prove to be a blessing in the long run.

Wholesome, Tasty Schooltime Treats

Fall is "back-to-school" time. "You wanna come over to my house after school?" is asked often as youths and their brigade of new and old buddies head home for refreshments.

Are you ready for the onslaught of these hungry students? Prepare a treat that's innovative and tasty and you'll keep the troops happy. If that same snack can easily be made ahead and is wholesome to boot, you'll be happy too. Can one treat accomplish both goals? It can, if the treat is Golden Harvest Bars with Pumpkin Filling. These delicious bar cookies, bursting with fall flavor, are a creative twist on traditional "store-bought" fruit-filled treats. Serve them with a glass of milk for a satisfying after-school snack. They also are a fun fall addition to any youngsters—or adults—brown bag lunch.

Golden Harvest Bars With Pumpkin Filling (makes about 20 cookies)

Dough:
2 cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
5 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
2 tablespoons sour cream
2/3 cup packed dark brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Filling:
1 3/4 cups (16-ounce can) LIBBY'S Solid Pack Pumpkin
1 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons grated lemon zest
1 1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup nuts, finely chopped

For Dough: In medium bowl, combine flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, and cinnamon; set aside.

In large mixer bowl, beat butter and sour cream until light. Gradually add brown sugar; beat until mixture is very light and thick. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition; mix in vanilla. Add dry ingredients; mix well. Wrap dough in plastic wrap; cover and chill at least 2 hours, or until firm.

For Filling: In medium saucepan, combine pumpkin, dates, sugar, lemon zest, salt, and nuts. Cook over medium heat, stirring until thickened, about 5 minutes. Cool.

To Assemble: Divide dough and filling into 3 portions. On plastic wrap-covered cookie sheet, roll 1 portion of dough into 11 x 5-inch rectangle (keeping remaining dough chilled). Trim edges. Spread 1/3 filling, down center of dough in the shape of a 10 x 2-inch bar, 1/2-inch thick. Using plastic wrap as a support, fold each long side of dough over filling, overlapping slightly. Fold ends like a package. Turn over, seam side down, onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Remove plastic wrap. Repeat process with remaining dough and filling. Bake in preheated 350°F oven 20 to 25 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool on wire racks. Using serrated knife, trim off ends; cut each roll into 1 1/4-inch bars.

SEE A COMPLETE CIRCUS CITY ERECTED BEFORE YOUR VERY EYES

Long before the first performance, residents of this area will have an opportunity to witness a spectacular free show as hundreds of men and animals undertake the herculean task of unloading and erecting America's last big tented circus. It will be a bonanza for camera buffs replete with colorful settings, spectacular situations and thrilling action.

The management of Carson and Barnes Five-Ring Circus invites everyone to witness this interesting and unusual occurrence. Townspeople are welcome to mingle with the circus employees. Parents and grandparents are urged to bring the youngsters who may never again have an opportunity to watch a huge tented circus set up.

By the end of the day, when the big show is packed away for its trip to another city, it will have spent $1200 for feed and food, $1500 for general supplies, and $1900 for truck fuel and provided or rekindled memories for thousands.

Carson and Barnes is such a big show that it can afford to stay only one day in most of the towns and cities it visits.

All morning long the trucks, tractor-trailers, motorhomes and custom vehicles will be flowing onto the circus grounds — more than 80 units in all, moving on 2440 tires. First to arrive are the big diesel-powered vehicles which are used to transport the tent, the poles and the massive pile drivers which drive the three-foot long wooden stakes into the ground to hold the big top in the air. Last in the caravan are trucks of the mechanical dept. — tire truck, fuel truck, semi-trailer shop unit, tote with a spare semi-tractor, welding truck, low-boy with a huge payload and a custom wrecker.

Soon to be unloaded are 70 trunks of 80 round feet — the biggest captive herd of performing elephants in the world — stars of both the performance and the last big free menagerie, or zoo, still on tour in the United States.

Simultaneously, you can watch as the specially-engineered menagerie trailers are positioned and the grazing animals led out into the grassy pens, fed and watered. The hippopotamus tank will be filled with fresh water, the reinforced rhinoceros cage will be opened with elephant power, the giraffe coaxed out of its highway home and the big cats cleaned, fed and watered. Visitors to the circus lot are welcome to view all of this, plus the other animals among the 25 species. A circus ticket is also good for admission to the menagerie both prior to and following each performance.

While the animal department is being made ready for the day, the world's largest circus tent — acres of waterproof and fireproof man-made materials — will be spread to its full length of more than a city block. The approximately 400 stakes will be driven and, then, a crew of men, aided by some of the elephants, will push and pull the massive structure high into the air. The big tent is supported by more than 100 side quarter and center poles, attached by miles of rope, cables and lacerines.

In the front of the showgrounds, the midway tents and equipment will be assembled, the pony and elephant rides set-up and the offices and concessions readied for the convenience of the public. To one side, the mechanical shop, cookhouse and dining tents and commissary department will be put into operation to service the fleet and various crews. In the back lot personnel of the world's largest tented show — performance and support employees — will be arriving in their campers, house trailers and motorhomes. They will set up their temporary residences, where they will be occupied with normal household chores, while the children play or go to the circus traveling school and, sometimes, the performers rehearse new routines.

All of the circus morning activity is a show in itself. Bring your family out to witness this seldom-seen spectacle and enjoy yourself! (And remember it's free!)

BIG CITY SHOW AT SMALL TOWN PRICES

The smell of the sawdust, the swoop of the acrobat, the smiles of the clowns — there is nothing like a circus to send you back to your childhood for a few carefree hours.

Nothing else offers quite the same feeling of nostalgic escape. Fairs don't stack up, carnivals are too small, amusement parks are too far away, plays are too demanding and even a good movie is flat by comparison.

But a circus — a circus comes to you, sets up in your town and assaults you with a barrage of color, music and movement that is too much to take in all at once.

A child's eyes blaze in wonderment and awe — the big top, the animals performers are dazzling.

The Carson and Barnes Circus is on the way. It is the last big traditional circus in America — the big top stretching more than a city block long, multiple rings (plus two stages, hippodrome track and steel arena), circus music, a host of funny clowns and several hundred human and animal performers. Plus, a seemingly perpetual road schedule.

It is so big that it moves every day — visiting a new city or town every 24 hours in a herculean attempt to attract sufficient fun seekers to pay its astronomical daily expense.

An almost all-new contingent of performers presents a vast array of acrobatic and aerial tricks, including three troupes of flying trapeze performers, wire walking, bareback riding, juggling, contortion, teeterboard, trampoline, unicycle, adagio, single trapeze, dual aerial perch, Spanish web, head-balancing trapeze, rola bola, aerial loop the-loop, rolling globes, balancing and iron jaw.

A circus procession titled "Raucous, Roaring 20's" with a celebration theme and a 40-person aerial ballet are among the major production which circus buffs have come to expect.

And then, there are the animals. Even before Carson and Barnes became known for its outstanding array of human acts, it was recognized as the nation's "big animal show." It maintains its eminence in that area.

Nothing under the big top or in an arena can match the thrilling long mount of five herds of elephants down the spacious front hippodrome track. In another display, the tent becomes a veritable sea of waving manes and flying tails as the famous Carson and Barnes liberty horses perform. Other beasts appearing during the spectacular two-hour extravaganza include ponies, camels and llamas.

Star of the entire spectacular is sensational Patricia White, who presents a giant mixed group of Nubian Lions and Bengal and Siberian Tigers in her incomparable routine of thrills and chills in the steel arena. Since coming to Carson and Barnes six years ago, Miss White has gained recognition as one of the nation's pre-eminent wild animal trainers and the only lady trainer mixing male and female lions and tigers in one act.

As owner D.R. Miller says:

"Our thinking is that we're going to the biggest entertainment event that the town has had in years and years."

A CIRCUS
THAT IS A CIRCUS!

A STARTLINGLY NEW CIRCUS

CIRCUS OWNER FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS

Circus owner D.R. Miller and his 20 elephants have an understanding.

He provides their board and food and they put up his circus tent, seven days a week, 35 weeks a year, in 230 towns and cities from coast to coast and border to border.

And quite a tent it is, too. Much larger than a football field from goal post to goal post, it is made not of canvas, but polyvinyl—much more durable; cooler in summer; warmer in spring and fall. It has been acclaimed as the most beautiful big top ever toured.

Miller says he owns more elephants (30) than any other individual. (Some of them are leased to other shows and trainers.) He also has the "Biggest Big Top on Earth".

But then Miller has a tradition of collecting accomplishments that are the best, the most, the longest, the biggest, the first and the last.

He has owned circuses for 52 years, longer than any other individual. (The late John Ringling made it to only 46 years.)

His Carson and Barnes Circus is the last American tent show to feature a free traveling zoo which includes a giraffe, rhinoceros, hippopotamus, zebras and 21 other species.

"We're the last big circus that uses local sponsors," he points out. "They help us with many advance arrangements and share in the proceeds."

Other tent circuses claim to be the biggest, but to end the confusion, Miller lists his reasons:

His circus has more rings (five), more horses and ponies (60), more animals (200), more human performers (95, including acts and clowns), more motor vehicles, more elephants, (20) and the longest tent.

The only thing his circus doesn't have the most of is seats. To ensure that all can see, Carson and Barnes doesn't have seats at the end of the tent, and the rows are held down to put patrons closer to the action.

"No big deal," says Miller. "I never went to a circus to see the seats, anyway."

The elephants, the tent and the one-day stands make Carson and Barnes unique.

WHAT OTHERS SAY ABOUT US...

"There's something about a big, big top circus — under a tent — that simply can't be duplicated otherwise. Not even by Ringling Brothers' "Greatest Show on Earth" or by the fabulous Shrine Circus, both of which now play indoors or in a stadium.

...this one has it all. Twenty big African and Asian elephants, swooping acrobats, laughing clowns, daring equestrians, high wire artists, a wild animal trainer."

—Owosso (MI) The Argus-Press

"Overheating even the most severely television-shortened attention spans, Carson and Barnes' five-ring circus kept a tent full of children and their parents in a state of olfactory, aural and visual overload for two hours Thursday afternoon."

—Twin Falls (IA) Times-News

"Over 5,000 ladies, gentlemen and children of all ages were crowded under the world's biggest top to be dazed and amazed and to have their hair raised at an old-fashioned open-air extravaganza."

—New Ulm (MN) The Journal

"Whitney was one of hundreds of youngsters who reveled yesterday in the wonders of the Carson & Barnes Circus, which set up its red, white and blue big top for a one-day stint in Aurora."

—Denver (CO) Rocky Mountain News

"She certainly wasn't alone in getting a thrill at the circus Thursday night. To judge from the loud applause and cheering that was touched off after every act in Carson & Barnes' fast-paced, 100-minute, five-ring circus, everybody in the seats must have had a great time. The show has numerous stars in its performing cast of 90...and each of them is sensational.

—The Milwaukee Sentinel

"When Carson and Barnes Circus says it has the biggest big top on Earth, it's no exaggeration."

—Indianapolis (IN) Star

"A circus is the world's answer to despair and chaos, a place where laughter's release and shared excitement provide an escape back to childhood."

—Concordia (KS) Blade Empire

"And though circuses for the most part may have become a thing of the past, bearing the same quaint, distant quality as a Norman Rockwell painting, the years have treated this particular circus well."

—Loraine (OH) The Journal Tempo

The Hazards Of Motherhood

The average mother has many things to look forward to. Watching a child grow up is something to behold. The twists and turns in the process of your bundle of joy turning into an adult are numerous. But, just for a minute, let's concentrate on the wear and tear on the mother over the years. The hazards of motherhood.

After reaching the point where our baby was sleeping during the night, we thought the worst was over. But, us veteran mothers know better. We consider ourselves fortunate to have made the transition and be around to tell about it. Think of the times you stepped on sharp edges of toys on the floor at the end of the day, almost wounding yourself. And, that's not all.

How about those red boots the little toddlers wear over their shoes? They're so cute.....and tough to get on and off. It's a wonder we didn't all have pulled muscles!

Our reflexes were sharp, though. I remember dodging the creamed spinach a couple of times as well as the liver when the kids decided they really didn't want to swallow either one. (I can't say I blamed them!)

As the kids grow older, we have more dangerous things to overcome. I keep watching the papers for a parent who has been trampled to death just trying to answer her own phone! (Oh well, it probably wasn't for her, anyway.)

And, by now, I have managed to stand to the side of the doorway when I announce, "dinner is ready." The stampede rushes by, then Doug and I follow.

Nerves have a lot to do with it, especially around the age of 16. Driving.....need I say more?

Tying shoes when a child is small is something very difficult to master. We worked with both the boys, even the neighbor boy helped with Chris showing him how to tie shoes like Captain Kangaroo had done. When I think of all the effort involved with those shoe laces, it makes me cringe to think that the kids don't even tie their shoes now!

Those cute little high top white baby shoes the kids used to wear have disguised themselves into big white high top gym shoes, with strings dragging behind and huge tongues protruding in front! Of course, who can walk without dragging his feet in those? Can you imagine an entire classroom of kids shuffling across the room each day? Yes, we learn to "go with the flow" sometimes.

I sometimes think I should have put more effort in pole vaulting in Phys. Ed. class. It would come in handy getting from one side of the bedroom to the other! My, don't we have to be versatile!?

Among everything else, we have to be therapists when the kids confide in us, good buddies when things have gone wrong that day, nurses when they are sick and referees during arguments.

Yes, motherhood really is dangerous, from almost drowning during baby baths to becoming deaf listening to their car radio. Isn't it wonderful?

Pancake, sausage, and outlook breakfast

The annual agricultural outlook meeting is one of the most important Extension gatherings of the year, particularly in 1989, says Extension Agent Martha Shireman of Fulton County.

"Really, the outlook meeting is the kickoff for the Extension meetings I will have during the coming year."

Agriculture continues to face challenging times. Last summer's drought followed by this year's excess precipitation dramatically changed the economic environment faced by farmers and those associated with agriculture.

Many questions are on farmers' minds. Grain prices and feed costs are declining as grain production returns to normal. Will grain storage pay this fall? What will be the provisions of the 1990 feed grain and wheat programs? What factors will Congress be considering as the 1990 Farm Bill is developed in the months ahead?

The cattle breeding herd is the smallest in over 20 years. Will a slow-down in the economy affect livestock prices? Will cattle prices next spring be sufficient to justify expanding the cow herd and retaining feeder calves this fall? How much will hog prices decline this fall? Will 1990 be a profitable year for hogs? Should feeder cattle and feeder pigs be purchased this fall? What strategies should dairy producers consider?

Land prices in Indiana increased over ten percent in the past twelve months. Will they continue to increase? Will lower grain prices affect land prices? What are the expectations for cash rent for 1990?

The economy continues to slow. Interest rates have begun to decline. Will these trends continue? Will there be a recession in 1990?

These are the kinds of questions and topics that many farmers are concerned about this fall. Dave Petritz, Purdue University Agriculture Economics Specialist, will lead the discussion on the prospects facing agriculture in the year ahead and outline potentially profitable management and marketing strategies.

The meetings is open to the public and will be held: Thursday, September 7, at 7:00 a.m. at the Community Building, Fairgrounds, Rochester, Indiana.

Local lenders Farm Credit Services, First Bank, Farmers & Merchants Bank, 1st Federal and Trust Corp will provide the pancakes and sausage. For reservations call the Extension Office at 223-3397.

The dangerous toll of diabetes

*Each year, about 300,000 people die as a result of diabetes and its complications.

*About 5,000 people lose their sight each year due to diabetes. Diabetic eye disease is the #1 cause of new blindness in people between the ages of 20 and 74.

*Ten percent of all people with diabetes develop some kind of kidney disease. This includes end-stage kidney disease, where a person requires dialysis or a kidney transplant in order to live. Nearly 25% of all new dialysis patients have diabetes.

*About 45% of all nontraumatic leg and foot amputations in the United States are caused by diabetes.

*People with diabetes are two to four times more likely to have heart disease and two to six times more likely to have strokes than those who do not have diabetes.

*Twenty percent of all people with diabetes are either Black or Hispanic. The rate of non-insulin dependent diabetes is 33% higher in Blacks and about 300% in Hispanics.

*More than 20% of all adults in some native American Indian tribes have diabetes.

*Direct and indirect costs for diabetes run to $14 billion annually and account for 3.6% of total U.S. health care costs.

Views On Dental Health

H. RAY HAZEN,
D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C.

FILLING THE VOID

If you've lost a tooth and never had it replaced, there are changes going on in your mouth that you may not notice until a serious dental problem develops. For one thing, some of your teeth may be shifting and tilting. Changes may also be taking place in the roots and supporting bone of teeth on either side of the gap. Teeth on either side are now leaning toward the open space. The opposing tooth on which the missing tooth used to rest is also probably moving toward the open space. All in all, at least seven teeth have probably been adversely affected because of the missing tooth.

This usually happens gradually, but the problems begin to mount. As the teeth shift and tilt or lean into the open space, this will affect your chewing efficiency. Because your teeth are out of alignment, extra pressure is exerted on the bone and periodontal ligaments. This causes a weakening of supporting structures. If you have a missing tooth, see your dentist to find out what he would recommend to replace it before serious problems develop.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C. 1329 Main St., Rochester, Phone 223-3121.

Pointers For Parents

Camping: Selecting A Location

If your youngster likes to be in on the planning, then he or she will enjoy the hunt for a location when choosing a campsite. The first thing you'll need is a good topographic map.

The U.S. Geological Survey points out that a topographic map tells you where things are and how to get to them. These maps describe the shape of the land and locate such natural and man-made features such as woodlands, waterways and bridges. Here are some tips on selecting a location.

• If you're not staying at a campground, look for a site on high, level ground that is uncluttered and sheltered from the wind.

• The campsite should be at least 200 feet from hiking trails, scenic attractions and water.

• The tent should be pitched in sandy soil that is firm enough to hold the stakes securely but still supply good drainage.

With a good map, which you can find at your nearest map dealer, and a good campsite, your camping vacation should be fun for the entire family.

LET FAITH HELP YOUR CHILDREN LEARN THE RIGHT THINGS

It will soon be school time for your children and/or teenagers. In addition to the clothes, shots, eye exams and other preparations for the classroom, you must resolve to make sure that what they learn will be the right things. You will need to keep your eyes and ears open. When away from the normal curriculum, they may be put under pressure (and at an astonishingly early age) to try drugs, join in gang activities, or engage in other very undesirable pursuits. The schools and law enforcement authorities will do their best to counteract all these enticements, but the task is becoming harder. It is up to you, the parents, with the aid of your House of Worship and its Sunday School, to combat these evil influences and make sure your children are safe from them. They are likely to need all the help you can give them.

Do you want to avoid hectic school day mornings? Here's a formula for success

After a summer of lazy days at the pool or beach, you and the kids may be less than enthusiastic about the hectic pace that arrives when school doors re-open. "Back to school" often means a return to "rush hour" bathroom and breakfast schedules, wild hunts for misplaced homework and mad dashes to the school bus stop.

If school mornings mean mayhem at your home, it might be wise to do a little planning. To prepare a schedule that will make things less frantic, try these tips:

- You (or your children, if they're old enough to help) can prepare school lunches or set out lunch money the night before.

- Homework should be done (and checked) before children go to sleep. Provide a quiet place for this task. Rubbermaid's portable desk (a lap-type desk) provides a large writing surface with space beneath for storing papers.

- Two compartments on top snap open to store pens, pencils, crayons, eraser and sharpener. This type of organizer can be especially helpful since it allows a child to take his work anywhere.

- Also, look for a Portable Clipboard which has a smooth writing surface and storage space inside—great for taking notes on field trips or for writing anywhere. It has a clip on the front to hold papers and holds a pencil there, too.

- If kids often misplace pencils, pens and scissors at home or school, gather these items into one container. A new durable FunFunctionals™ School Box comes in bright colors. It opens and closes securely with a snap to hold all the "school stuff" kids so often need.

- To keep lost items to a minimum, you may want to equip two School Boxes for your child—one for at-home use, and the other for a locker or desk at school.

STUDENTS, AND YOUNG KIDS AT HOME, will have fun and be more organized with the Portable Desk and School Box shown. The desk provides ample writing surface with storage beneath for notebooks and compartments on top for pens; the School Box (shown open), new from Rubbermaid, makes it easy for kids to gather and carry pens, pencils, crayons and other supplies.

Make sure children lay out clothes and books or supplies they'll need before bedtime. Moms may select clothes without the child's participation, only to find (usually five minutes before it's time to go out the door) that Junior refuses to wear the pants so carefully pressed for him the night before. Naturally, even with the most organized schedule and the best plans, there can be those awful mornings when the whole family is running late. But with a good routine, school days can run more smoothly and successfully for everyone.

The Miami-Cass REMC awarded a bid for 313 miles of rural wiring last week to the Contract and material company of Evanston, ILL. Residents of the townships affected, including the Macy and Gilead communities, hope to have electricity by Christmas.

Karl Gast and Lloyd Heeter, co-owners of the Madrid theater, will celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of the show starting Sunday, August 27th. The picture scheduled is "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever". The entire front of the theater has been remodeled and beautified. The ticket office has been moved nearer the walk, and is glassed in. A large fluorescent neon sign is being installed and the entire front glistens with a black and pale blue color scheme. The auditorium has been redecorated, and provided with new deep wide cushioned chairs. A new ventilating and cooling system was installed several weeks ago. A new code of hours rules prevail, and copies of the rules were mailed to the theater patrons yesterday. The best and latest of photoplays will be shown on a selective basis. In spite of the many new improvements, prices will remain the same so all patrons can afford to attend. Twenty years ago the theater, then called "The Argonne", opened with "Daddy Long Legs", starring Mary Pickford. Many movie stars have become famous and been forgotten since then, but the new Madrid continues to give its customers the latest and newest shows at popular prices. Akron is one of the smallest towns in the state to have a theater, and has one of the most up-to-date movie houses to be found anywhere.

INTEREST RATES

When unpredictable interest rates start throwing you a curve, there's only one place to turn. The Rate Riser CD. It lets you take advantage of the higher rates that come with longer term certificates. Without locking your money into rates that may rise.

That's because the Rate Riser gives you the one-time opportunity to raise your interest rate should rates go up during the term of the CD. While giving you the safety, security and guaranteed return you expect.

So stop by your nearest Banking Center to open a Rate Riser CD. Because when it comes to interest rates, one good turn deserves another.

The Rate Riser CD.

- THE MOST ADVANTAGEOUS RATE AVAILABLE
- NO EARLY CLOSING PENALTIES

LAWN AND GARDEN TIPS

Beware Of These Insect Enemies

Pests that many people consider harmless actually can pose life-threatening risks. Fleas, ticks, chiggers, mosquitoes and ants - especially prevalent in the spring and summer months - are known disease carriers. The tiny deer tick, for example, can transmit Lyme disease, a sometimes deadly disorder to wildlife, pets and humans. This disease can trigger persistent fever, chills and headaches for weeks, and if left untreated, may lead to death.

To prevent infestations of many nuisance pests, experts recommend beginning with an effective outdoor treatment program which includes applications of a product containing SEVIN® brand carbaryl insecticide. This proven pest fighter is labelled as a control material for the brown dog tick, in addition to over 500 other destructive insect species. SEVIN® is biodegradable and low in toxicity to fish. In fact, certain formulations of SEVIN® brand are used to control pests on poultry, pets and some species of game birds.

Experts agree that treating shrubbery, turf, animal quarters and other outdoor facilities with an effective pesticide is an important step in protecting indoor living areas and your health.

A new beginning...

By: J.D. Moore

It's Almost Over

How many of you remember how cold and nasty it was last winter? Remember how we couldn't wait until summer would arrive? Funny, now we can hardly wait for it to leave!

Compared to last summer, this hasn't been all that bad. At least we had a spring which was nice and the appropriate weather for summertime. I hope I have convinced some of you how pleasant it really is; now I intend to convince myself.

While picking the green beans in the garden, I caught myself wondering why the canning is always ready when it is the hot part of the summer. Although it is too hot for the average human being, the flies, gnats and other critters seem to relish it!

Summer adds a touch of blush to our cheeks. After all, who can stand to do much outside until your whole face is as red as a beet!

I could hardly wait to lay in the sun and get a tan. Tan my foot! I ended up with a burn, not severe, but a burn anyway. By this time of the year I'm sick to death of the sunshine that makes for a good tan!

Summer also means homegrown tomatoes. The tomatoes purchased in the grocery stores during the winter just don't cut it. For months Doug and I have been anxiously awaiting summertime and with it the tomatoes. We still look forward to the tomatoes and we love the juice made from them, but I was certain we would both drop in the kitchen while making juice the other night!

How many of you love to mow yard? It's the one thing I enjoy doing, although I don't get much of a chance anymore. Nothing looks any nicer than a newly mowed and trimmed yard. Frankly, our yard still looks nice, but the thrill is gone. We drag out to the mower, perch ourselves on the seat not looking forward to the two-three hour bumpy ride ahead.

Let us not forget corn on the cob. My mouth waters at the mention of it. When Doug planted it, we weeded carefully, watched for rain at the times it was needed the most and checked out the supply of butter. Now, I'm dreading pulling the stalks when it's gone and the heat when we can it.

I used to like to rake leaves in the fall, but, as fall was ending, grew tired of the task. I think the same thing is happening now. With a garden that looked A-1 this year and did well, I didn't think I'd ever grow tired of looking at it. But, as everything else, it has run its course and is changing for the next season. I'm glad, I guess.

As I have said before, Indiana isn't so bad. About the time we tire of one season, another is starting. I love summer, but I would be awfully tired of summer 12 months of the year. Besides, it's almost over.

Soil Conservation Service

When your feet get cold in the winter time, you cover them up. Soils are like that, too. They need cover over the winter to protect them, not from getting cold, but from the spring rains and winds that cause them to erode.

Now it's the time to be thinking about planting a winter cover crop of rye or wheat or other grasses that will prevent soil erosion. Another reason to do so is that you could get up to 75 percent of your costs covered through the Agricultural Conservation Program at ASCS. Stop in before the end of the month and apply for cost/share. At the end of the month, the money will be transferred if not used.

Cover crops are cheap, take little time and are very effective in controlling soil erosion from both wind and water.

Another benefit is that the soil stays in place on your farm and does not enter the water ways, adding to the water quality problems of Fulton County lakes.

Do what you can to provide conservation cover, and since conserving soil is of benefit to everyone, the federal government can pick up some of the tab.

Cost/share is based on the amount of soil erosion reduction.

Indiana State Fair

Bryan and Bill Hart, sons of Ralph and Barbara Hart, Route 1, Kewanna, both received fourth place finishes at the Indiana State Fair in the Horse and Pony competition held on Wednesday, August 23, 1989.

Bryan finished fourth in the 56 inches and above senior division during the flag race. Bill took fourth in the 56 inches and under junior division in barrel racing.

Both are members of the Fulton County 4-H Horse and Pony Club.

Local women honored by state organization

Kathryn Hartzler of Fulton County Republican Women's Club was recently honored at the Ninth Annual Tribute to Women, hosted by the Indiana Federation of Republican Women.

Fifty-six women from across the state were recognized during the dinner "under the stars" at the Indiana Roof Ballroom. They were each awarded certificates of merit and had pictures taken with special guests, State Treasurer Marge O'Laughlin and State Auditor Ann Devore.

In paying tribute to the honorees, IFRW President, Shirley Baker said, "This honor is bestowed upon women who represent the caring, helping qualities of Republican women. By honoring our members, the Indiana Federation underscores our belief in the work of volunteers."

Co-chairmen of the event, Shirley Woody of Lebanon, and Lona Yeakley from Logansport, invited each Republican women's Club in the State to select one of their members as a representative of all the women who devote thousands of volunteer hours to campaigns and elections. The annual Tribute to Women was started in 1981 by past-President of IFRW, Eleanor Holt of Muncie.

Can this becorn?

Melvin Bigler of Elkhart recently stopped in at the Akron Cafe with something that everyone was talking about. He brought in with him an ear of corn that weighed 5 pounds and was 17 inches long and was 12 1/2 inches around. Now the question is, did he grow it himself?

What Are We Cheering For, Anyway?

By Naomi Greer
PM Editorial Services

Maybe you thought someone just made up the names of college sports teams. Perhaps you never gave it a second thought. Where did they get the names "Tarheels" and "Boilermakers"? And what exactly is a "Hoya" anyway?

In reality, school nicknames often are steeped in tradition. The University of Alabama, for example, acquired its current name, the "Crimson Tide," when in 1907, its football team beat the odds and tied archrival Auburn during a torrential downpour. A reporter coined the phrase "Crimson Tide" because the match was played in a "sea of mud."

At Purdue University, two new coaches, dissatisfied with scrawny team members, hired several husky boilermakers—workers who assemble or repair boilers — as reinforcements. The press heavily criticized the team—which went on to record a string of victories in 1889 — calling them "sluggers," "cornfield sailors," "hay-makers" and, the one that stuck, "boilermakers."

An array of college pennants reflects school spirit.

At Georgetown, the traditional "Bulldog" mascot often is dropped in favor of "Hoyas." School legend has it that years ago a Georgetown team called the "Stonewalls" was dubbed "Hoia saxa," combining Greek and Latin terms to mean "what rocks!"

One of many stories explaining the origin of "The Tarheel State," which gave the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill athletic teams their name, dates back to the Revolutionary War. According to legend, tar was dumped into what is now the Tar River to inhibit British troops from crossing. When the troops did reach the other side, their feet were black, leading them to believe that anyone crossing a North Carolina river would end up with tar heels.

Similarly, the Oklahoma "Sooners" team name dates back to early settlement of that region. According to legend, some individuals "cheated," coming out early to stake their claims and thus were dubbed "Sooners."

One of the more widely accepted theories behind the origin of the Indiana University "Hoosiers" dates back to 1825, when contractor Samuel Hoosier began working on the Louisville and Portland (Ohio Falls) Canal. Hoosier preferred the "better diggers" from the Indiana side of the river, and when the "Hoosier" men dispersed, they carried that name back home.

While most teams have origins that are difficult to pinpoint, others have obvious names. Syracuse University officially adopted orange as the color for all its athletic teams in 1890. Originally called the Indians, Syracuse teams eventually became known as the "Orangemen."

In the West, many teams boast names from the animal kingdom, including the Washington Huskies, the Texas Longhorns, the Oregon State Beavers, the UCLA Bruins and the University of California-Santa Cruz Banana Slugs—the Banana Slugs?

According to Athletic Director Dan Wood, the choice of "Banana Slug" as the official school mascot at UC-Santa Cruz reflected students' desire that their sports program remain "as amateur and as pure as possible."

"It was a counterrevolutionary underdog symbol," Wood said. "The only way you could get hurt by a banana slug is by stepping on it and falling on your butt." ll

Day Honors Grandparents

After working for years with the elderly in her native West Virginia, Marian McQuade believed people needed to focus more on the nation's grandparents. In 1973, she set out to establish a day to honor all grandparents.

"I wanted people to think about their grandparents, to realize the value of their families and to go visit them," McQuade said.

McQuade took her idea to West Virginia Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr., and Grandparents Day became an official state holiday in February 1973. McQuade continued her quest by calling, writing and visiting other governors. In 1973, the idea was introduced in Congress by former U.S. Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.).

On Sept. 6, 1979, President Jimmy Carter declared the first National Grandparents Day. Since then, the first Sunday in September following Labor Day has been set aside to pay special tribute to grandparents.

FAITH TELLS US THAT OUR WORK WILL BRING US REWARDS

A Bible lesson we should heed
Will tell us how we can succeed:
To work according to our need
Is what it will convey.
In any case, the text contains
What using common sense explains:
We do our job with hands and brains,
And thus, we earn our pay.
Beginning with our nation's birth,
Our way of life, for what it's worth,
Became the finest here on earth,
To which we worked our way;
And so, because we were concerned,
That Bible lesson has been learned.
Our work is done, and now we've earned
Some rest on Labor Day.

Letters to the Editor

Despite predictions of thunderstorms, circus day was beautiful. The Carson & Barnes Circus was set up closer to the museum this year because they feared lots of rain would make the field soggy, so they chose higher ground. This made it necessary to park about half the cars south of the circus, after the front (northern) part of the field was full. We are sorry for the longer walk and any inconvenience this caused.

We want to thank everyone who attended, all who helped sell tickets, the many businesses that bought tickets to give to children, the people who helped deliver tickets, the many stores that allowed posters to be placed in their windows, the stores that served as ticket outlets, the places that had Buck the World's Tallest Clown give a program, and everyone who helped in any way.

Helen Reese was the individual who sold the most tickets and won the free elephant ride in the circus parade; she gave her ride to Vi Seiwert. Lynn's Supermarket on East 9th Street was the store that sold the most tickets.

Tom Murray of WROI was the guest ringmaster at the 4:30 show, while Jeff Hoover of WROI performed the honors at the 8 o'clock show.

Mayor Phil Thompson rode an elephant in the parade at the 4:30 show, along with Vi Seiwert, FCHS vice president, Claudia Russell of WROI and Bill Willard of FCHS rode elephants in the 8 o'clock show.

Special thanks to Townsend's IGA for sponsoring the drawing to give away elephant rides, Video Plus for the Guess Suzie's Weight contest, and Kentucky Fried Chicken for the Be A Clown contest.

Winner of the Be A Clown contest was two-year-old Anthony Turnipseed, son of Robert and Cindy Turnipseed, Rochester. Winner of the Guess Suzie's Weight contest was Beverly Smith, Rochester.

Thank you to William Carro, Jim Johnson, and Dick Burkett for bringing manure spreaders to haul away the animal manure. Thanks to Mel Collins for providing trash dumpsters, and to Wheeler Conley for bringing 100 bales of hay.

A great big thanks to the Civil Defense for parking the cars. Dean Smith and his crew did a great job!

Thanks to Larry and Vi Seiwert and Dolores Luedke for serving the continental breakfast on the museum porch. Over 60 breakfasts were sold, as a lot of people came to see the circus set up early in the morning. Thank you to the volunteers for hosting the museum on this very busy day: Ruth and Alice Tetzlaff, Helen Burns, and Ruth Rockey.

Thank you to Video Plus, Smith Sawyer & Smith, and Windy City Fireworks for placing ads on the back of the tickets. Thanks to Teacher's Credit Union, First Bank, First Federal Savings Bank, and Hardesty Printing for sponsoring posters.

Thanks to the Rochester Sentinel, Akron/Mentone News, and The Observer of Kewanna for delivering the circus heralds and publishing the news. Also the Shopping Guide News and WROI for news releases.

We thank Francis Sanders for helping in a myriad of ways on circus day. It is so nice to have a member of Circus Fans of America help out as they are knowledgeable about many facets of the circus that most of us aren't familiar with.

Another word of explanation. People asked us why we had the circus on the first day of school, which was a definite disadvantage. The reason is that the circus schedule is made early in the year for the whole nation, as Carson & Barnes travels about 20 to 60 miles a day from one town to the next, staying in each town only one day, 250 days a year, seven days a week. So they are bound to hit some town on the first day of school, and Rochester was it.

We hope that in three to five years when the circus comes back to Rochester, that we are lucky enough to have a better day. Still, circus day was great, and the show was wonderful. I love to see all the elephants line up with their front feet on the back of the one in front of them. And to watch the trapeze artists kick the top of the star-studded tent. It was super!

Thanks, D.R. and Isla Miller, owner of Carson & Barnes, for the biggest circus traveling under tent today. We congratulate you for your 52 successful seasons. We are glad to hear that the 4th generation of your family, your granddaughters, are training to continue the circus. We wish you many more years of circus days.

Many of the performers are 5th, 6th, even 8th generation circus artists. Long live the circus as a American institution!

That's why we thank all who attend or support the circus in any way. Circuses are an endangered species. Many of the towns they play in do not bring in enough sales to meet the payroll that day, as Carson & Barnes Circus employs over 100 persons, travels in over 80 vehicles, and has expenses like you wouldn't believe, including over $1 million liability insurance.

The circus helps preserve animals that are on the endangered species list. Their menagerie has 200 animals in cages, but life in the wild is much shorter, harder, more unpleasant and more dangerous. The circus animals are well fed and cared for. They have winterquarters on a farm at Hugo, Oklahoma.

There are some who criticize our hay fields as a circus lot, because the clover and alfalfa were getting tall. The hay was mowed and baled the first of August, but so much rain made it grow faster than usual for this time of year. And the elephants loved it. We noticed them munching clover every chance they got, even while performing in the ring. When they were instructed to lie down, the elephants grabbed a mouthful of clover!

Even though it rained a bit Tuesday morning, the sun came out and shone on the circus in the afternoon, and the moon shone that night. It was a beautiful evening and a beautiful circus!

Tippecanoe Valley Viking Guard

The Tippecanoe Valley Viking Guard recently completed its 1989 week at band camp. This year the band went to the Concordia Lutheran Seminary in Fort Wayne.

Starting with the first marching fundamentals practice on Sunday, July 23, the members, staff, and directors worked intensely, 12 hours a day, to put together the fall show. A day consisted of marching fundamentals and music sections in the morning, learning drill in the afternoon, and more music practice and drill in the evening. The color guard spent many hours learning their routines before putting it together with drill and music.

While the week centered around hard work and intense practice, there was free time during the day and often a special event at night, including a dance.

Everyone associated with the Viking Guard is extremely optimistic about the 1989 fall marching season. Combine the hot music, stimulating drill, and some of the best high school musicians in the state, and you have a Tippecanoe Valley Viking Guard headed for the Hoosier Dome for state final in October.
