Fulton County Folks book should be finished and available in January

The Fulton County Historical Society Board of Directors were informed that the book, Fulton County Folks vol. 2, is now completely set in type and being printed at Hardesty's Printing, and the binding will be done at Heckman's Bindery in January. The board held its last meeting of the year November 20.

Because the size of the book is over twice what was originally expected (668 pages instead of 320), the board raised the price to $35 per copy. People who have already paid for the book at the lower price are being asked to donate what they can toward the difference in price. Otherwise, FCHS will lose money.

The book is bigger than estimated for two reasons. First, vol. 1 had 75 chapters and was 236 pages. So it was thought 320 pages would be plenty for 70 chapters in vol. 2. But many of the chapters in vol. 2 are longer. This is good because these families are large and the researchers have gone to a lot of work and written about nearly every family member, making this an extremely valuable book.

Another reason is that this book will have bigger print than the first book, and thus be easier to read.

An autograph party and reception for the new book is being planned for the next FCHS meeting Jan. 24 at 2 p.m. All who contributed stories or helped work on the book will be invited to come and be available to sign autographs.

While the book will not be ready for Christmas, gift certificates are available to send to let people know that a gift will arrive in January. Call FCHS office at 223-4436 for details.

The board voted to apply for grants from the Indiana Arts Commission, Indiana Committee for the Humanities, and the Institute of Museum Services.

They also voted to charge rent for the frontier shirts of $1 per day and for the big iron kettle at $5 per day at the Trail of Courage Rendezvous for booths other than FCHS's.

The group set goals for 1982: improve Trail of Courage Rendezvous, pay for publication of book, get museum director's salary raised to minimum wage, and fix chinking in the log cabin.

Permission to Form a Primitive Life section was granted. Also permission was given to the president to seek to forge a link between the Potawatomi Indians (Citizens Band) and FCHS as a cultural exchange.

Discover break-in

Claude White, owner of Akron Pizza, discovered a break-in which took place at his place of business in Akron on the evening of November 22. Entry was gained through a broken window, and the door was unlocked from the inside.

Items taken included an undischarged sum of money and materials for making several 10" pizzas.

The Akron Police Department and Fulton County Sheriff's department are investigating.

School board to re-apply on Akron-Burket plan

Despite refusal by the State Tax Board of Commissioners to allow the building projects at Burket, Akron, and Mentone, the Tippecanoe Valley School Board decided in last week's meeting to resubmit the plans on the Akron-Burket project, as soon as some adjustments in costs can be made. This will probably take until next summer to complete.

During the special meeting, called for the purpose of deciding what the plans on the building projects should be, a letter to the board in the absence of Superintendent Baxter Paige was read by his secretary Judith Hively, which outlined what had happened to the building proposals and giving alternatives for consideration by the school board.

The first alternative was to drop all the plans and continue to use the present facilities with no tax increases to residents. This would mean maintaining the present buildings at an expense of $2,300,000 per year with the corporation being in the same position ten years from now.

Second - develop the Akron plan only which would have to include an additional five classrooms in order to serve the present student population (these five classrooms were proposed to be added at Burket in the Akron-Burket plan).

Third - abandon plans and reconsider building a new middle school on the present site of the high school building.

The fourth alternative was to review plans of the Akron-Burket project to see if there would be any means of reducing costs and re-submit the plans to the state.

The recommendation to the school board by Superintendent Paige was to review the present plans for the Akron-Burket project, making changes to lighten the financial burden and rebid the project for submission to the State Board of Tax commissioners.

Paige said he felt the plan was designed to economically continue education in our community by using a reduction in transportation expenses to offset some of the costs of the building projects.

Using the reduction in the 1982 tax rate of 55¢, from the advertised rate of $3.83 to $3.279, and the 5% increase in assessed valuation, Paige estimated the cost to taxpayers would be somewhere around $1.00 to $1.25 when the actual payback begins.

One Project Approval

Although legal advisor Fred Rakestraw thought a revised plan to do a project at Akron only, would be acceptable to the State Tax Board, it was not acceptable to the board as the right one.

Several people attended the board meeting to voice their concern and opinions as to what the board should do, and discussed the burden of tax rates on the farming community.

Vote to Re-Apply

Board member Don Snipes moved to keep the Akron-Burket project as one unit. This motion was unanimously approved by the other board members, although member Richard Long then made the motion to hold up on the projects for six months and see what the interest rates and inflation would be. Long's motion failed to get a second.

Lee Norris, board member from Franklin Township made the motion to accept the superintendent's recommendation and review and re-submit the Akron-Burket projects to the state. This motion was seconded and passed with a 4-1 vote.

With this decision, the board now must decide what can be cut out of the projects to lessen the costs, and go through the whole process again, beginning with re-bids, re-advertising, etc.

The next regular meeting of the board will be held Monday, December 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

Old and energetic

Growing old doesn't have to mean becoming inactive. You can be full of energy and enthusiasm as long as you stay actively involved in some kind of regular exercise. So, the way to keep lively as you get older is to be lively.

The President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports and the Administration on Aging have a booklet that gives you solid advice on how to build a program to maintain youthful health and energy. For your copy of The Fitness Challenge in the Later Years, send $2.25 to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 145J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Fortunately, even if you've let years slip by while your good intentions of keeping fit were sacrificed to other demands of life, you can still pick up at some level of physical performance and gradually work toward increasing your fitness.

Should you bother striving for fitness if you're already in those "later years"? The answer is "Yes". Most medical authorities believe—and most active people know—that exercise helps a person look, feel and work better. Various organs and systems of the body, particularly the digestive process, are stimulated through activity and as a result work more effectively.

Physically active individuals are less likely to experience a heart attack or other forms of cardiovascular disease than sedentary people. And there is evidence that an active person who does suffer a coronary attack will probably have a less severe form and will be more likely to survive the experience.

Also, physical activity is as important as diet in maintaining proper weight. And being overweight is more than a matter of physical discomfort. It's related to several chronic diseases, shortened life expectancy, and emotional problems. Medical authorities now recommend that weight reduction be accomplished by a reasonable increase in daily physical activity, supplemented, if necessary, by proper dietary controls.

Exercise can't prevent the stresses of life, but it can help you cope with them. For many individuals, frequent involvement in some sort of physical activity helps to reduce mental fatigue, tension, strain or boredom produced by our highly technical and sedentary way of life.

Periods of vigorous activity (like jogging) should be alternated with periods of lesser stress (like walking). Put the pressure on for a while and then release it. By gradually increasing the stressful interval and reducing the less vigorous interval, you improve your physical condition. This principal of interval training can be applied to many forms of exercise and is especially suitable to walking and jogging, slow bicycling and brisk bicycling, and swimming.

When you order The Fitness Challenge in the Later Years ($2.25), you'll also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the free catalog lists over 200 selected free and low-cost federal consumer booklets.

Wool program

"Wool producers who have sold or plan to sell any shorn wool or unshorn lambs this year, should turn in their sales receipts to be eligible for incentive payments under the wool program," Robert Herrold, Chairman of the Fulton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said.

Farmers who have a record of their wool sales are eligible for incentive payments only if the sales are reported to the county ASCS office. Herrold said the quantity sold does not affect the eligibility. However, sales slips should contain the month of shearing, month of sale, number of head shorn, pounds of wool sold and net proceeds. Sales slips for lambs must show the liveweight and state whether the lambs were unshorn, he said.

The federal support price for 1981 shorn wool marketings is $1.35 per pound and $3.72 per pound for mohair. Pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the support price for shorn wool through payments on unshorn lambs.

Shorn wool payments are based on a percentage of each producer's returns from sales. The percentage is the amount required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool in 1981 up to the support price of $1.35 a pound. Shorn wool prices fluctuated between 89 and 106 cents per pound through September 1981.

As of November 16th, 37 local producers had filed for their 1981 wool incentive payments. The county ASCS office disbursed $3732.94 in wool incentive payments last year, according to Herrold.

The wool program is designed to encourage growers to increase production and improve the quality and marketing of wool.

NIPSCO asks for adjustments

In response to unfounded rumors, a Northern Indiana Public Service Company spokesman said recently that the utility's petition for increased gas rates does not seek to recover any of the costs associated with NIPSCO's Bailly Nuclear One project.

The spokesman said that the gas rate petition filed recently with the Public Service Commission of Indiana, deals only with the Company's natural gas plant and property. No electric matters are contained in the gas petition.

He said that NIPSCO filed two separate petitions on November 16, 1981 - one for increases in gas rates and the other for increases in electric rates.

The recovery of costs associated with the recently cancelled Bailly nuclear unit is part of the electric petition only, the spokesman said.

Legal Services Program, Inc. forced to close branch offices

Legal Services Program of Northern Indiana, Inc., headquartered in South Bend, Indiana, has announced that it is being forced to close three of its branch offices due to anticipated severe reductions in its budget. The Program received its operating monies from the Legal Services Corporation in Washington, D.C., which in turn is funded by Congress. The Program provides free legal assistance in civil problems for low-income individuals who meet certain income guidelines.

Legal Services Program of Northern Indiana, Inc. began an expansion program from the South Bend office in 1977, which ultimately resulted in the creation of four branch offices, representing the civil legal needs of low-income individuals in twenty-four northern Indiana counties. While it is anticipated that the Legal Services Corporation will survive this year, it will be under a substantially reduced budget. As a result of the anticipated budget cuts, it will be necessary to close branch offices in Michigan City, Kokomo and Elkhart. The Michigan City and Elkhart offices will be consolidated with the South Bend office, and the Kokomo office will be consolidated with the branch office in Lafayette. Clients formerly served out of the Michigan City and Elkhart offices will now be handled through the South Bend office, and clients residing in the Kokomo service area will now be handled by the Lafayette office.

While the future for legal services for the poor is uncertain, and the severe budget reductions and office closings will greatly hamper the delivery of legal assistance to poor people, the Legal Services Program of Northern Indiana, Inc. is still committed to provide assistance to the low-income population in the entire twenty-four county service area. The Program anticipates using a portion of its 1982 operating expenses to more fully involve members of the private bar in the delivery of legal services to the poor, which will helpfully offset, to a degree, Program budget reductions.

Under the revised office structure, the South Bend office will handle requests for assistance from the following counties, St. Joseph, Marshall, Elkhart, LaGrange, Noble, Kosciusko, LaPorte, Starke, Pulaski, and Jasper counties. The Lafayette office will handle requests for assistance from the following counties: Tippecanoe, White, Clinton, Montgomery, Benton, Warren, Fountain, Carroll, Newton, Howard, Fulton, Cass, Miami, and Wabash counties.

Qualifications include being freeholders and voters and being of "opposite politics". Appointments are for one year. Helen Enyart served in 1981; Judy Showley is serving her first term.

Bowen Center plans workshops

All of us must confront stress, since it is as much a part of life as breathing. We encounter it on the job in the form of deadline pressures, disagreements with co-workers, threats of job loss and the day-to-day grind, we face it at home, in the form of an argument with a spouse, illness in the family, worry over a child, loss of a loved one.

Prolonged, unrelieved stress can trigger nervous system, glandular and other body reactions. It can lead to symptoms of many illnesses—chest pains, palpitations, hot and cold spells, insomnia, body aches, headaches. It can increase existing disease, set the stage for new disease, lower resistance and even allow infection to develop.

Stress may bring on emotional changes that become so severe that they keep a person from functioning effectively. Yet you can learn to cope with stress effectively and avoid such consequences or even overcome them when they are already present. There are a number of techniques available to help individuals learn to cope with stress. A workshop designed to teach various ways of managing stress will include: Identification of stress, body awareness, nutrition, exercise, assertiveness priorities, time management, developing support systems, relaxation techniques, cognitive skills, goal setting and emotional control.

This workshop is being conducted by Sue Craig, Consultation and Education Assistant. Ms. Craig has developed a comprehensive program for Coping with Stress which she has presented to community groups and organizations.

This two-part workshop will be held on Monday, December 7 and Wednesday, December 9 from 2:00 - 4:00 p.m. in the Bowen Center Video Studio. A fee of $10.00 will be charged to cover

December, 1981

*Hail To December! Say They All,
It Gave To Earth Our Christ, The Lord!*

-J.K. Hoyt.

December, the last month of 1981, comes with happy anticipations of Christmas, homecomings and celebrations. The children's magic world of Santa Claus is played out on the anniversary on Jesus' birth.

December 7 is the anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, in 1941. Martin Van Buren, 8th president, was born at Kinderhook, New York, on the 5th in 1782. Delaware Day falls on the 7th. Wyoming Day is on the 10th and Indiana Day on the 11th.

Washington died on the 14th in 1799. On the 15th in 1791 the Bill of Rights became a part of the Constitution. The Boston Tea Party was staged on the 16th in 1773. On the 17th, in 1903, man made his first flight in an airplane at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina.

On the 19th, in 1777, Washington encamped his 11,000-man army at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, after the British had occupied the capital, Philadelphia.

The nation acquired the Louisiana Purchase on the 20th in 1803. Washington won the Battle of Trenton, N.J., on the 26th in 1776, a turning point of the Revolution, and Woodrow Wilson, 28th president, was born at Staunton, Virginia, on the 28th in 1856. Andrew Johnson, 17th president, was born at Raleigh, North Carolina, on the 29th in 1808.

Pearl Harbor

Forty years ago this December 7--a Sunday-- the radio broke the news that the United States naval base at Pearl Harbor and air fields in the vicinity had been suddenly bombed by Japanese aircraft.

Though President Roosevelt knew such an attack was possible, though military commanders there had been warned, though an enlisted man on radar watch picked up the incoming raid, and though an intelligence colonel in Washington had concluded the attack was imminent and was struggling with superiors to warn Pearl, the attack was highly successful.

The battleship fleet was wrecked. Thousands were killed. Many aircraft were destroyed. But, by good luck, the few U.S. aircraft carriers in the Pacific were not in the harbor that morning. As it turned out, the carriers were the most vital ships in the resulting war, and they turned the tide in June of 1942, at Midway, six months later.

In this 1941-45 war, the U.S. was attacked; either the nation fought or surrendered. (Hitler declared war on America four days after the Jap attack.) Few Americans proposed surrender, thus the nation was united. In that sense alone, it was a good time to be an American--if one survived the war.

The nation was behind its fighting men, the overwhelming majority of citizens sought to do their part.

Unity achieved miracles. In three and a half years the effort of unified Americans produced the world's mightiest military force, spread throughout the world. The lesson is obvious, unified, the nation can overcome practically any obstacle or problem. We should remember this, forty years after Pearl Harbor.

Get Outside

This winter take advantage of the clear air, open woods and cold weather to enjoy the outdoors. One must, of course, dress appropriately. If this is done, hiking and walking through the forests can be a unique pleasure.

In many ways winter hiking is preferable to summer outings. There is no poison ivy or oak. Underbrush is no obstacle. One can see more and appreciate the topography.

Also, boundary markers can be found, bird nests and animal habitats can be spotted, and when there is snow, wildlife can be easily tracked. Rare trees and plants can be more easily found--and there are no stickers and live blackberry vines to impede progress.

Because it's cold, many in today's world of modern comforts remain indoors all winter. That's a lost opportunity. Dressed properly, one can enjoy the outdoors as much in winter as in summer, and in some locations more.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

A couple moved next door to us about six months ago and we have gotten real friendly but here lately I notice that my neighbor seems to think that she can call on my husband to do all sorts of odd jobs around her house that her husband should be doing. She laughs it off by saying that her husband doesn't know how to drive a nail but that my husband can do most anything that needs fixing.

Now the thing that worries me about this is that my husband seems to enjoy being called and spends too much time next door. What do you think I should do about this?

Worried--Wisconsin

Answer:

Your husband is probably flattered by all the praise he is getting but it could turn into a situation that is not wholesome. Why not go over with him when he is called and sit and talk to your neighbor until he finishes the job.

It Happened in Mentone

TAKEN FROM THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP NEWS DECEMBER 4, 1941 40 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Mollenhour and Mrs. Eileen Fenstermaker and daughter went to Chicago Friday where they visited friends. Saturday, Mr. Mollenhour visited the fat stock show at the International Livestock Exposition. (After seeing how many cattle there were there "Chance" figures the cheese-bus business will be good.)

Mahlon Jefferies took a truck load of cattle to Chicago Tuesday and received $12.60 for his steers and $12.40 for the heifers.

Carbon, which accumulates in the exhaust stacks of diesel engines, started burning in an old oil drum that is used as a muffler on the diesel motor at the Mentone Locker Plant Sunday afternoon and before anyone noticed it, had started a nice fire in the roof of the engine room. Firemen who rushed to the scene, had the blaze under control in a very few minutes, with no damage to the engine or interior of the building.

Fire of unknown origin started at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Cassel Whitestone, southwest of the city, at one o'clock Tuesday morning and several hundred dollars in damage resulted before the blaze was finally brought under control by the Mentone firemen. The fire was first noticed when some member of the family heard something fall, and when Mrs. Whitestone got up to see if it had been one of the children, saw the house was afire. As there is no phone in the house, Mr. Whitestone drove to town to put in the alarm.

The Whitestone family suffered a heavy loss in clothing and furniture and had but a very small amount of insurance. The house, owned by Mrs. Emma Yocum, was burned considerably although the fire was confined to one room upstairs and the attic. This house is in the neighborhood of 75 years old and is constructed of heavy timbers, which kept it from burning so readily.

Read the labels

When you shop at your local supermarket, you can learn a lot about the nutritional content of the foods you buy, just by reading the label. A free pamphlet, "Consumer's Guide to Food Labels," tells all about food labels and what to look for. To get your free copy, just send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 543J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

According to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, every product label must have the name of the product, the net weight, and the name and place of business of the manufacturer, packer, or distributor.

And, on most food, the label must also list the ingredients starting with the main ingredient (according to weight) and followed in descending order by the other ingredients. So sugar, citrus, and food coloring listed in that order on a juice label means that sugar is the main ingredient, and citrus is the second ingredient.

The only foods not required to list all ingredients are what is known as "standardized" foods. FDA has set "standards of identity" for some foods that require them to contain certain ingredients. Under the law, the mandatory ingredients in standardized foods need not be listed on the label. Some examples of standardized foods are catsup and mayonnaise.

Any food that make a nutritional claim, like "high in vitamin C" or "high in protein" must also have the nutritional content on the label. This will tell you how many calories the food has per serving, the number of servings per container, the amount in grams of protein, carbohydrate, and fat per serving, as well as the percentage of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance (U.S. RDA). U.S. RDA's are the approximate amounts of protein, vitamins, and minerals an adult needs each day to keep healthy. For example, a label on cereal might say it contains 35 percent of the RDA for vitamin C and 25 percent for iron.

What does "imitation" mean? Under the FDA regulation, whenever a product is not as nutritious as the product it resembles, it must be called "imitation" on the label-like "imitation margarine."

Other products look like one thing but really may be another. For example, a beverage that looks like orange juice but actually contains very little orange juice must use a different name on the label, such as "diluted orange juice drink."

Some packaged foods expect you to add something to complete the recipe. The label must tell you, for example, "you must add chicken to complete the recipe."

Finally, look for open dating. Although not officially required by FDA, many manufacturers will date a product to help consumers buy food that's fresh and wholesome. For example, many canned and packaged foods tell the pack date (the day it was manufactured, processed or packaged); cold cuts, ice cream, and milk give a pull or sell date (the last day the product should be sold); baby formula and yeast state the expiration date (the last day it should be eaten or used); bakery products have a freshness date (like the expiration date plus a short time allowed for home storage).

When you order "Consumer's Guide to Food Labels" (free), you'll also receive a free copy of the consumer information catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Catalog lists over 200 consumer publications on everything from automobiles to health care.

JUNE FULLER

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Savings like these make our efforts worthwhile

By June Fuller

Couponing and refunding are the best supermarket "game" in town.

When you learn to play this game, you will find that it is far more profitable than trading stamps, supermarket bingo or gold register tapes.

Just ask the many readers who have written to me about their double-play and triple-play discounts.

Kim Chappell from Steelville, Pa., saw Oscar Mayer hot dogs on sale for $1.09. The usual price at her store is $1.89.

She found several 15-cent Oscar Mayer coupons in her coupon file and looked forward to making her double-play discount.

When she got to the store, she found that the Oscar Mayer packages were specially marked with a $1 refund offer for three proofs of purchase.

So, she paid less than $2 for $5.67 worth of quality hot dogs.

"If only the store had been offering double coupons too," she says, "it would really have been a bonanza." Good refunders are never satisfied.

Wanda Engle from West Fargo, N.D., had a 25-cent Wisk coupon as well as a $1 Wisk refund form.

"I kept my eye on the supermarket ads for several weeks until I found a special advertising the 64-ounce Wisk for $2.69," she says. "The regular price is $3.82. My triple play gave me the Wisk for only $1.44."

"Savings like this make all my clipping, filing and sending worthwhile."

Anyone who wants more proof that it pays to play the couponing and refunding game can take lessons from Carol Noeller of Round Lake Beach, Ill.

She found Duncan Hines cake mixes on sale for 79 cents each; they are regularly priced at 99 cents. Her coupon worth 60 cents on the purchase of two boxes brought her cost at the cash register down to 98 cents for both.

But her savings weren't over. When she got home, she cut the two net-weight statements off the boxes and sent them in for a $1.80 refund.

"After taking into account the postage, they paid me 64 cents so that my family could enjoy two delicious cakes," she says.

We call it a "home run" when we combine discounts to make a profit the way Ms. Noeller did.

Betty McCord of Bricktown, N.J., scored a home run on Pepsodent Toothbrushes.

The regular price of the toothbrushes is 89 cents each, but she found them on sale at $1 for three. She used 35 cents' worth of coupons to bring the cost down to 65 cents. Then she sent in the three proofs of purchase for a $1 refund.

"Every time I brush my teeth I have to smile when I remember that I made a profit on the brushes," she says.

You'll smile too — all the way to the bank — when you join the millions of smart shoppers who have become organized couponers and refunders.

These readers and others whose smart shopping experiences appear in my column receive a copy of the refunding magazine, The National Supermarket Shopper. Write to me in care of this newspaper.

Here is a refund form to write for: Miles Vitamins (Flintstones, Bugs Bunny, One-A-Day) Back-to-Cool Offer, P.O. Box 9063, St.

Wood heating in Indiana

The rising costs of fossil fuels has spurred a renewed interest in wood heating as a supplement or alternative to warming our homes—particularly in Indiana where there is still a relatively abundant supply of wood available.

However, a cheerful fireplace fire could actually be robbing heat from your home. For one thing, a typical fireplace will lose about 80 percent of a fire's heat up the chimney, and another 5 percent to 10 percent to 15 percent of the fire's warmth for your enjoyment.

Another negative factor to be considered is the amount of air withdrawn from the room to feed the fire. This air is typically already heated by the central heating system and is subsequently pulled up the chimney as the fire burns. The colder the temperature outdoors, the less efficiently that fireplace works and the colder the air being pulled in through cracks and windows to replace the air feeding the fire. In other words, the net efficiency of the fireplace could fall to minus 10 percent.

Some steps can be taken to counteract the negative aspects of the typical fireplace. One strategy is to install an improved grate and/or use a small electric blower to move the warmed air out of the fireplace into the room. A set of fireplace doors to restrict and control air flow into the fireplace is another possibility for improving efficiency.

Or, if you're really serious about heating with wood, installing a wood burning stove may be the most practical solution.

More information and suggestions for successful wood heating are available through the Indiana Energy Information Center (IEIC) in the following publications: "Wood Stoves and Fireplace Inserts (#25002)", "Installing Stoves and Chimneys (#25003)", "Heating with Wood (Comprehensive wood heating and safety guide (#25158))", "What About Fireplaces? (#25313)", and "ENERGY DISPATCH: Wood Heating Safety Review (#25314)".

Single copies of these publications may be requested from the IEIC office by calling the toll-free ENERGY HOTLINE NUMBER 1-800-382-4631 Monday through Friday, 9:30 AM to 3:30 PM CST. These materials are provided at no cost to the caller. Written requests may be sent to: INDIANA ENERGY INFORMATION CENTER, 440 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, IN 46204.

Each person who contacts the Center will also receive a copy of the IEIC Publications List. The list categorizes by energy-related topic (Solar, Wind, Energy Conservation, etc.) over 200 available publications.

Historical Society Book now on sale in Rochester

A story about Chief Pokagon's wagon and how he and Johnny Applesseed drove it down the Michigan Road to the Tippecanoe River, planting apple trees as they went, is in the new Fulton County Historical Society Quarterly.

This 80 page booklet is for sale at the Rochester News Stand, Akron and Rochester libraries, Hardesty Printing, all the county banks, and the Civic Center Museum, which is open 9 to 5 Monday through Friday. It can be purchased via mail by sending check for $3.50 to FCHS, 7th and Pomme, Rochester, IN 46785.

Another story is about Oleason's Buffalo Herd at Traverse City, MI. FCHS obtains buffalo burgers from the Oleasons for the Round Barn Festival and Trail of Courage Rendezvous each year.

Stories about this year's Trail of Courage Rendezvous fill the first half of the booklet. This includes interviews with participants, prize winners and prize donors, and many photos of the event. The cover photo shows a canoe with three men and a boy in fur trader's costumes coming in for the canoe landing historical skit.

Memories of the Union Township one-room schools are continued in this issue: Russell, Monger, and Bruce Lake Station schools by Catherine Crabill Kough, Esther Stingley Overmyer, Zora Neff Wilson, and Chloe Stingley Washburn. More Union Township school histories will be in the next issue.

Lists of Fulton County school superintendents and teachers of Union Township in 1921-22 are also included.

Memories of Rochester's first Boy Scout Troop were written by Dr. D. M. Lowden, who recalled the troop's 65 mile hike to Michigan City in 1915. Dr. Lowden donated old eye doctor's equipment and glasses to the museum.

"Cutting Ice on Lake Manitow" by Charles Rees is reprinted from the Rochester High School yearbook of 1907. New acquisitions, memorials, and genealogy queries complete the booklet, which was mailed to all FCHS members.

ECONOMIC DIFFICULTIES

MOSCOW -- Production fell short of goals this year in agriculture, coal, iron and steel, the Soviet Union's chief economic planner reported recently. He indicated the nation would aim for the low end of its overall targets in the current five-year plan, which ends in 1985.

Thomas O'Neill, House Speaker:

"The sad truth is this recession is the direct result of the Reagan administration policy."

Public Service says rates could go up as much as 50 per cent

Public Service Indiana says electric rates could go up as much as 50 percent if proposed federal legislation to reduce sulfur dioxide emissions becomes law.

The utility says pollution control devices to enable the company to comply with Senate Bill 1706 or House Bill 4829 would cost more than $1 billion. With operation and maintenance costs added in, the annual expense would be about $400 million.

Both bills call for a 10-million-ton reduction in sulfur dioxide emissions in a 31-state area. The reduction would have to be achieved within 10 years. Senate Bill 1709 is similar but even more stringent...and therefore more expensive.

All three bills are intended to help eliminate a suspected cause of "acid rain." But Dr. Sy A. Ali, Public Service Indiana's manager of environmental programs, says both government and private studies have failed to show a direct correlation between sulfur dioxide emissions and the acidity of rainfall.

Coal-fired power plants in six midwestern states (including Indiana) already cut their sulfur dioxide emissions by 15 percent between 1975 and 1980. A study by the Coalition for Environmental Energy Balance (CEE) also showed this improvement came during a period when 8 percent more coal was being burned. The amount of sulfur dioxide emitted per ton of coal decreased 21.4 percent.

In spite of this 1.2-million-ton-per-year reduction in sulfur dioxide emissions, the U.S. Geological Service says that either no clear trends in acid concentration exist, or that more time is needed to identify any trends. The Geological Service has been monitoring acid rain since 1965.

"The most prudent course of action now," Dr. Ali says, "is accelerated research. The utility industry has made great strides in reducing sulfur dioxide emissions but the cost to our customers has been considerable. The legislation now under consideration may force consumers to pay huge sums of money for additional measures which may have little or no effect on the problem."

USDA steps up the war against threatening weed

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is stepping up the war against leafy spurge, a weed that has marched across 3 million acres of north central and western range and cropland and threatens 3 million more acres.

Even livestock and wild animals won't eat the weed, which can cut land productivity 40 to 70 percent and spreads across land by sending out shoots from roots three feet deep, said Terry B. Kinney, acting administrator of USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Kinney said recently the effort to bring leafy spurge under control is being stepped up with $200,000 in new funding. The money will go to land-grant universities in Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota for cooperative research on finding safe and economical control techniques.

Kinney said leafy spurge has infested 3 million acres in north central and western states. Without adequate controls, he said, the weed will continue to crowd out forage plants and take rangeland out of use for livestock.

If not halted, leafy spurge could spread over another 3 million acres in succeeding years in Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota as well as in South Dakota, Nebraska, Idaho and neighboring states.

Existing means of controlling the weed, Kinney said, are either inadequate or too costly. Leafy spurge has been difficult to suppress because it can grow new shoots from roots that penetrate as deep as three feet into the soil.

Leafy spurge has been encroaching on north central and western rangeland and cropland for more than 25 years. Infested acreage has doubled each year.

On cultivated land, however, the weed can be controlled by tillage and cultivation practices, crop rotation and the use of selective herbicides in integrated weed management systems.

Warren C. Shaw, national program leader for weed research, Beltsville, Md., and D. Stuart Frear, agricultural chemical research leader in Fargo, N.D., both of the Agricultural Research Service, will work with state scientists in coordinating and evaluating the research.

Agricultural experiment stations in Montana State University, North Dakota State University and the University of Wyoming are cooperating in the $200,000 research project.

Shaw said this latest research will be coordinated with studies the Agricultural Research Service is undertaking to determine leafy spurge's vulnerability to control strategies and the potential use of insects to suppress the damaging weed.

James Ellisons to celebrate 40th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James Ellison will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday, December 6, 1981 at the Olive Bethel Church of God, Rt. 2, Akron, from 2 to 5 p.m.

James Ellison and Minnie White were married December 7, 1941 in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles White, by her grandfather, the Rev. H.M. Riddle.

Mrs. Ellison is employed at Chamberlins, Akron, and Mr. Ellison is engaged in farming.

They are parents of two children, Charles at home, and Cheryl, deceased.

Friends and relatives are invited and they request no gifts.

A paper bag can be taped to your sewing machine to collect small scraps. They're great for stuffing toys and occasional pillows.

License plates by mail

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles is offering the alternative of purchasing license plates by mail again this year. Approximately 4,200,000 pre-printed registration forms are currently being mailed to Indiana citizens. By using the pre-printed form, residents may purchase their 1982 plates by mail.

Due to Indiana's multi-year license plate program, however, those individuals having a 1981 passenger car or recreational vehicle license plate with a number greater than one hundred (100) will receive only a one-year expiration sticker this year. This sticker must be attached to the lower right-hand corner of the 1981 license plate.

The processing and handling fee for those citizens who will be receiving a sticker only has been reduced to $.75. Those residents receiving a new annual license plate (DAV, POW, Handicapped, plate number lower than one hundred, etc.) will be included in the "total amount to be paid" to the license branch on the pre-printed registration form.

According to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, individuals wishing to purchase a sticker or license plate by mail must follow these steps upon receiving their pre-printed registration form:

1. The motorist should verify the information on the registration form. If the address is incorrect, the necessary corrections should be entered on the registration form in the space provided.

2. Individuals who have traded cars during the past year should make certain the registration describes the vehicle currently owned. In some instances, the individual may receive more than one pre-printed registration. The obsolete form should be discarded and the normal procedure followed.

3. To insure faster processing of the application, the motorist should purchase either a cashier's check or a money order payable to the "Bureau of Motor Vehicles" for the exact amount indicated on the pre-printed form. Personal checks are also acceptable through the mail-in program.

4. Before placing all copies of the form and the check, cashier's check or money order in the envelope, the applicant must sign the pre-print in the space provided on the far left-hand side of the form. The license branch address must be visible through the envelope window. All license plate and sticker purchases must be made in the motorist's county of legal residence. (A new license plate will be issued to any individual who has moved into a different county during 1981.)

5. Registrants are requested to mail the pre-printed forms on or before the fifth day of the expiration month to assure delivery before the 1981 license plate expires.

Any citizen not receiving the pre-printed form by January 15, 1982 is requested to contact the Registration Department, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, 317-232-2795.

Graduates of the course learned how to inspect, assemble and dispose of explosive munitions, and earned credit towards an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Ladson will now serve at Kadana Air Base, Okinawa, Japan, with the 400th Munitions Maintenance Squadron.

FACTS & FIGURES

About 40 million children answered the call of the school bells this fall as they returned from their summer vacations for another nine months of classroom activity. They were joined by a work force of over two million teachers and school administrators, plus hundreds of thousands of others from cooks to custodians.

Vikings win over Zebras in close ending

The football season clearly in the past, the glories of the long-awaited basketball season are upon loyal Valley fans.

Against the highly-rated Rochester Zebras the Viking squad came out on top by the close margin of 59-37 on Saturday the 28th. Although the tone of the first three quarters of play was clearly in Valley's favor, the Zebras pulled everything together and almost took the taste of victory out of the Vikings' mouths.

After Valley's junior varsity won their contest, both teams were clearly enthusiastic and ready for their battle during the pre-game warm ups.

Rochester won the tip-off at the beginning, but failed to score, and at the end of the first quarter, Valley had jumped to a comfortable six point lead with the 18-12 score.

The second quarter saw a more relaxed game with some very interesting twists. Valley steadily switched from zone to man-to-man defense, keeping the Zebras on their toes. Although Valley switched to man-to-man, Rochester stayed in the zone. Clearly controlling the game, Valley stayed with a passing game, until the Zebras willingly went back to their original defense. This was one instance when the Vikings' knowledge of the game instead of just skill allowed them to come out on top. At half time, the score was 27-35, Valley.

At the beginning of the third quarter, the Vikings seemed to have it all together leading by as much as 13 points. The Zebras made an amazing come-back try to end the quarter with the same margin as the first quarter - with Valley out front 47-41.

On both sides of the court, the fourth quarter was by far the longest period of the whole game. With the Zebras attempting to charge straight at the Vikings, Valley scored almost point-for-point with Rochester. With the clock at 1:04 to go, the Vikings had already attained their final score. Rochester had one final all-out attempt before surrendering to defeat and only six points would tie up the ballgame. Rochester scored two quick field goals and were within two points, but the clock was against them and left only 25 seconds for the job to be done. All the fans were on their feet as the outcome of the game was in doubt. Rochester took time out. Valley center, Don Studebaker sacrificed his final foul of the game for a decisive rebound of a missed shot by Zebra Aaron Hoover. With everything on the line, Rochester guard, Jeff Zent stepped to the foul line and missed his first shot in a 1-1 situation. Rochester grabbed the rebound three successive times and placed the basketball on a path toward the goal each of those times. Each time the ball was shot, the Valley fans ceased to breathe, but each shot missed the hoop.

Rochester committed a foul and Valley fans breathed a sigh of relief. The final buzzer echoed and Valley won 59-37. This evened the Viking record at 1-1. A big weekend for the Vikings this Friday and Saturday evening as they travel to Triton and North Miami for two decisive games. The Valley squad deserves a big congratulations on their first victory of the season.

ISTA urges Governor to do something about funding

"A disturbing picture is taking place in the Governor's office and in the majority leadership in the General Assembly. That is the suggestion that this General Assembly will be a 'do nothing' session," said Cordell Affeldt, president of the Indiana State Teachers Association, to news media gathered for a press conference in Indianapolis recently.

"Indeed the Governor and his majority party leadership in both houses have done nothing since last year's special session to prepare for the proper funding of education," she continued. "The consistently worsening information on the fiscal stability of our schools compels us to urge Governor Orr and the majority leadership to do something and do it this session of the General Assembly."

"The ISTA has a reason to be concerned about educational funding, she pointed out.

"Indiana is the 11th wealthiest state in income in the nation. Yet Indiana's state and local tax effort is dead last. This shameful lack of performance and leadership is directly responsible for our national ranking of 22nd in the average salary paid to teachers and 34th in per pupil expenditures," Affeldt stated.

She added that in a two year period from 1978, General Fund expenditures have trailed the inflation rate by 6.2 percent while teacher salaries have lagged 11.57 percent behind inflation.

ISTA has recommendations to the General Assembly to remedy the situation, she said.

"ISTA urges in the strongest of terms that Governor Orr and the leaders of the controlling party in the General Assembly act at once to achieve these three objectives for 1982:

- Maintain the ratio between state and local support for education at the current level of 65 percent to 35 percent;
- Provide an increase of 13 percent for local school corporation general fund budgets; and
- Protect the integrity of the property tax relief fund."

These goals can be achieved by the following, she said:

- Returning to the two percent personal income tax rate that existed in 1979.

- Raising the rate of sales tax.

- Removing utility expenditures from the General Fund and placing these costs in a separate energy fund such as was done for transportation.

- Shifting the excise tax receipts from the Debt Service, Cumulative Building and Transportation Funds to the General Fund.

- Permitting the adjustment of property tax levies to stabilize the current ratio of school aid between the state and local levels of government and to strengthen local control of educational programs.

"These measures would not cause a violent upheaval in the state government, but they would stem the downward slide of Indiana's commitment to its educational system," Affeldt concluded.

ENDORSES CRACKDOWN

WASHINGTON -- AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland endorsed legislation to toughen the government's attack on labor corruption, saying "any union leader who abuses his office does not simply stain his own honor." Kirkland told a Senate Governmental Affairs subcommittee that corrupt union leaders dishonor all workingmen and women.

Farm Bureau annual meeting

The Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, Inc., reported sales of $1.36 billion for fiscal year, 1981, ended September 30, at its annual stockholders' meeting, November 24, 1981.

According to Philip French, executive vice president, "Although the Cooperative realized a 12 percent increase in total sales volume, inflation, high interest rates, and untimely government actions dramatically affected operations and consolidated pre-tax net savings."

As a result of the conditions created by the economy and the new administration in Washington the four operating divisions of the Cooperative -- the Crops, Grain Marketing, Petroleum, and Food and Farm Supplies divisions -- faced unique challenges during the past fiscal year.

During the Cooperative's annual meeting, held at the Indiana Convention-Exposition Center, French and divisional managers addressed last year's operations and discussed the new direction for growth that the Cooperative is taking.

CROPS DIVISION

Unpredictable weather again plagued Indiana farmers -- this time in the form of a late, extremely wet spring planting season. "Although conditions were less than favorable, the Cooperative was able to supply farmers with consistently high quality fertilizers when they needed them," stated Don Korff, manager, Crops Division. In fiscal year 1981, the Cooperative realized a 12.5 percent increase in plant food tonnage sold.

The Crops Division also took steps this past year in encouraging member associations to use computer crop management programs. The use of microcomputers represents a new and measurable service that member associations can offer farmers.

GRAIN MARKETING

The Cooperative's grain marketing activities also were affected by weather conditions. Indiana farmers are not suffering through the second short crop year in a row. As a result of the excessive rain in the spring, corn harvest is expected to be only an estimated 636 million bushels.

"Because of the high risks associated with maintaining grain storage, transportation, and export facilities, the Cooperative is working to reposition itself in the grain marketing business," said Louis Johnston, vice president, Grain Marketing. "The Cooperative's major thrust will be to shift emphasis from grain handling to grain marketing for member associations."

PETROLEUM

Early in 1981, the government deregulated crude oil and refined petroleum products, creating supply problems for crude-deficient, small and independent refiners, and pricing problems in all markets. "Deregulation, coupled with the abolition of the entitlements program and a drop in product demand, made it difficult for refiners and marketers to operate profitably," stated John Stern, vice president, Legal, Government, and Employee Relations.

During the past year, the Petroleum Division has made changes in pricing, transportation, and marketing, so that it will be able to continue to provide Indiana farmers with high-quality petroleum products.

FOOD AND FARM SUPPLIES DIVISION

Low livestock prices during the past year affected the Cooperative's businesses, particularly those of the Food and Farm Supplies Division. "Livestock producers were faced with low market prices relative to high grain prices, and they felt the economic impact these conditions created," said Hugh Moore, manager, Food and Farm Supplies Division.

New marketing approaches, product changes, improved operating efficiencies, and controlled costs, helped the Cooperative deal more effectively with these depressed markets.

"Fiscal year 1981 was one of the most difficult years the Cooperative has experienced. The future is not expected to be much easier. To deal with the challenges and uncertainties of the future, the Cooperative has developed a new direction for growth in the '80s," stated French.

This direction includes new strategies for each of the Cooperative's businesses and an increased emphasis on sales and marketing, and on customer relations.

"The Cooperative is eagerly anticipating 1982 and the years ahead. They are expected to be years of new growth and positive operating results for the Cooperative," added French.

The Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, Inc., with headquarters in Indianapolis, is a major, federated wholesale agricultural marketing and supply cooperative. The Cooperative is owned and controlled by 70 member cooperatives, which are owned and controlled by their farmer-members.

"Cottage Cheese" in Cottontails

By: Joe Scheidler
Dist. Wildlife Biologist

A few days ago I heard a rabbit hunter describing numerous small capsules he found floating in the abdominal cavities of rabbits he had recently bagged. The capsules were clear and contained what appeared to be small pieces of cottage cheese.

After looking through a publication and some old college notes I realized that what the man described was the cyst of the dog tapeworm, whose life cycle goes something like this: A carnivore, such as a dog, cat or fox is infected with the adult worm, which lives in the small intestine and may be up to 20 inches in length. Eggs from the tapeworm are passed via the host's feces and are inadvertently consumed by foraging rabbits, squirrels or other rodents. The eggs hatch and the larvae enter the rodent's bloodstream for awhile, then leave the bloodstream and develop into cysts in the abdominal cavity. The tapeworm remains in the cyst stage until consumed by a carnivore, at which time the adults develop and the cycle is completed.

Parasites are extremely common among wild animals, and unless the infection is particularly heavy, the health and vitality of the host animal is not affected. If all severe weakenings resulted in the hosts, the parasitized would always be risking the loss of their happy homes. The rabbits infected with cysts, jumps and runs with top speed, but if the quick fox catches the prey, the adult tapeworm develops and gets a free ride to new territory.

The presence of the dog tapeworm cysts in rabbits or squirrels does not alter the edibility of the meat, but when dressing an infected animal it's a good idea to burn or bury the entrails to help control the spread of the parasite.

Dear Buck Saver:

Dear Buck Saver:

I am writing about a cheap way to heat my home. We heat with oil, using 100 gallons every 2 1/2 weeks. This is too much for us. Our furnace is 18 years old, and it's seen its better days. I am not able to lift wood or coal. What about solar? Why need to get a better way to heat my home, my daughter's asthma. Maybe she could breathe without the smell of oil or wood. Thank you.

Mrs. H., rural Laurel

Dear Mrs. H.:

Your least expensive choice seems to be to have your furnace serviced by a competent heating equipment serviceman. With all the joints sealed and all the parts adjusted and cleaned, the odor of oil should be hardly noticeable. You will also be using less fuel. One special idea that helps people with oil furnaces is a device called an oil retention head burner. If you would have one of these installed, you could save up to 30% of the oil you use. The savings is worth it!

You're right that solar heating is cheap fuel! While there's no heavy lifting involved, there could be regular adjustments or maintenance involved. Indiana does not really have weather that is sunny enough to use solar energy to fully heat the average house. Many Hoosiers enjoy using solar part time, and this might be a possibility for you. You need the names of reputable solar contractors in your area, so contact your utility and request a copy of their Residential Conservation Service Program Master List. If they do not have the list, call my toll free Energy Hotline, 1-800-382-4631, for the list for your county. Although solar equipment is rather expensive, you may be able to take advantage of state and federal solar tax credits. The Hotline can give you the information on such credits. Remember also that passive solar heating is heating in a natural way, and can be used free for the taking. Let the sun shine in all south-facing windows; close all curtains at night to keep in the heat.

Lastly, regardless of your heat source, be sure to caulk weatherstripping, and keep all windows and doors tightly shut. These measures cannot be emphasized enough, for they will save you many energy dollars.

Good luck,

Buck

Tax increases aren't the solution to balanced budgets

Has Congress cut taxes too much? Is the Economic Recovery Tax Act we approved last July with its 25 percent across-the-board income tax rate reduction over 33 months causing high federal deficits and high interest rates?

Many Members of Congress and some in the media—most of them political opponents of the President—are pointing their collective fingers at the President and his tax cut, blaming it for not improving the economy, not balancing the budget and not reducing high interest rates. Many of these same people are now calling for delays in the effective dates for the tax cut. Some are even calling for tax hikes to increase government revenue. They think that will balance the budget, reduce interest rates and improve our economy.

That line of thinking is dead wrong. It represents the same kind of economic thinking that is responsible for high inflation, high interest rates, high unemployment, low productivity and economic stagnation.

First of all, higher taxes have never resulted in a balanced budget. Working Americans, from 1971 to 1981, saw their tax payments increase an average of 249 percent. Federal spending, on the other hand, increased more than 300 percent during that same time period, and never once was the budget in balance. In fact, since 1971, the federal deficit has ballooned from $400 billion to over $1 trillion—Congress spent $600 billion more than it received in income during those years, tax increases and all. Meanwhile, working Americans, despite seeing their average wages double in those 10 years, suffered instead from continued erosion of their spending power.

When President Reagan first introduced his program for economic recovery, he proposed, as promised in the campaign, a 30 percent across-the-board reduction in income tax rates, over three years, beginning this year. In order to win support from reluctant congressmen who could not seem to comprehend what the President was trying to do, he settled for a 25 percent reduction and delayed the effective dates from January 1, 1981-1983, to October 1, 1981 for the first five percent, and July 1 in the following two years, ten percent in each year.

The President's tax reduction plan is the cornerstone of his economic recovery program. By reducing the tax burden on all Americans, allowing workers to keep more of what they earn, more money would be available for them to save, invest and spend as they see fit.

As I discussed in this space last week, there is strong evidence that the President's program is working—interest rates and inflation are lower, productivity has increased, and we have begun to successfully curb the growth in federal spending.

But there also is evidence that the first round of tax cuts were not sufficient enough to provide any measure of relief to the American workers, thereby slowing economic recovery. The five percent tax rate cut that took effect on October 1st reduced the average $15,000 year worker tax burden by only $17. In the meantime, the American work force will experience an increase in Social Security taxes and more bracket creep from inflation until the next round of tax cuts on July 1.

For this reason, I joined with several of my colleagues last week to introduce legislation speeding up the effective date of the next two rounds of tax cuts from July 1 to January 1, as the President originally proposed. The White House is now reviewing our proposal.

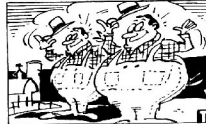

The key to a balanced budget, lowering inflation and reducing interest rates is a healthy economy, not the tried-and-failed idea of raising taxes or delaying tax cuts. The increased economic recovery resulting from the Economic Recovery Tax Act being in full place, in my view, will not substantially reduce government revenues. A healthier economy, with tax cuts and spending cuts in place, will reduce the drain of high unemployment, high interest rates and high inflation on the federal budget.

It also is very important that we not judge the President's program by the measure of a balanced budget alone. It must be weighed against progress in reducing inflation, reducing interest rates, increasing productivity, reducing unemployment and also reducing budget deficits.

Those who say the tax cuts won't work are the same ones largely responsible for reducing the level of the cuts in the first place. The best way to show that they will work is to provide real cuts more quickly.

If you have any questions or comments on the need to reduce taxes more quickly, please write: Congressman John Hiler, House of Representatives, Washington, DC, 20515.

Milk support prices are to remain unchanged

The federal milk support price will remain at $13.10 per hundred pounds for milk with a milkfat content of 3.67 percent—the national average—until the end of the year, as a result of legislation signed by President Reagan.

The same legislation also continues the support price of $12.80 per hundred pounds for milk with a milkfat content of 3.5 percent.

This legislative action (Public Law 97-77) continues in force a similar law, signed Oct. 20, that rolled back the milk support price from $13.49 to $13.10. The $13.49 figure was required under permanent legislation.

Weekly Wrap-up

By State Senator
William F. Justice

The General Assembly met for its first scheduled session day November 17, 1981, and approximately 60 bills and resolutions were filed by the end of the day.

"We meet for organizational purposes one day in November, and then adjourn and come back for the start of the session in January," said Senator William Justice (R-Logansport). "The reason for this is to swear in new members, file bills, and to take care of administrative tasks."

Among the bills filed as a result of interim study committees, were ones dealing with corrections, nursing home regulations, changes in alcoholic beverages laws, state highways, and fire safety.

"Interim study committees are very useful because they allow the legislature to study in depth issues too complicated or time consuming to resolve during the session," said Senator Justice. "Often during the session bills will be passed that take care of part of a particular problem, but to resolve the issue completely an interim committee is established."

Not everything that is proposed by interim committees takes the form of a bill, or if so is passed.

But, all interim proposals are given consideration by the legislature.

"It must be kept in mind," said Senator Justice, "that the upcoming session is a short one and was designed to review the budget and to handle emergency matters. Fiscal matters on both the state and federal level are receiving a great deal of attention, and will dominate the upcoming session."

Among some of the "musts" the legislature will face this year are how to deal with a projected state deficit of at least $8.7 million, a compliance with federal union laws to prevent a loss of $340 million in state employer funds, the implementation and appropriation of federal block grant monies, and a possible modification of the school aid formula enacted last year.

"As always there will be more issues, problems and bills that can really be taken care of during the session, so certain areas such as the state budget will be given top priority," said Senator Justice. "Any issue that is not given enough attention will be dealt with in the following session when we meet for 60 session days."

CAR CARE TIPS

DO-IT-YOURSELF PAINT SEALANTS CAN'T PROTECT YOUR CAR FOREVER

Do-it-yourself paint sealants, according to manufacturers, are designed to protect car exteriors forever. The very important "other half" of the story is that a paint sealant can only work if it is properly applied... and proper application is a complicated process to do yourself.

First, the paint must be clean and free of all particles of damaging dirt and pollution. This includes removing the thin film of oxidation (deterioration caused by exposure to air and sun) found even on new cars. Deoxidizing a painted surface can take a trained professional several hours using both chemical and buffing systems to ensure the surface is clean.

If no deoxidizing process takes place, the sealant is wiped over pollution and oxidation particles. The effect is like sanding rather than sealing the finish. Without the deoxidizing step, the risk that the sealant will wear unevenly and cause blotches over a period of time is great. It's a job best left to professionals.

Warren, 57, of 1912 Robin Dr., Warsaw, collided as each attempted to back from private drives across the road from each other. The Fishbaugh truck ran into the rear quarter panel of the Warren car. There was less than $200 damage to both vehicles.

George James Moffett, 50, Three Rivers, Mich., told county police he lost control of his car on County Rd. 500 North, one-half mile west of Sullivan Road. His westbound car went off the south side of the road into a fence belonging to Phillip Whiteman, Rt. 1, Leesburg. Both the fence and the Moffett vehicle sustained between $200 and $1,000 damage.

Ralph J. Warstler, 60, of 18058 U.S. 6, Syracuse, was southbound on County Rd. 1350 North when he failed to stop for a stop sign at County Rd. 500 West and struck a trailer on a vehicle driven by Irvin Kaufman, 37, t. 2, Nappanee. The Warstler vehicle sustained between $1,001 and $2,500, while the Kaufman vehicle had between $200 and $1,000 damage.

Rodney L. Stine, 19, Rt. 4, Warsaw, was charged with operating while intoxicated, reckless driving (high speed), illegal consumption and public intoxication following a high speed chase and a one-vehicle accident. He was booked at the Kosciusko County jail and released on his own recognizance.

The incident began in Winona Lake when Patrolman Terry Polston advised Warsaw police to watch for a gray late model pickup truck that had just been involved in a hit-skip accident there. Warsaw Police Officer Michael Mock had just pulled off Smith Street onto Park Avenue when he observed the vehicle in his rear view mirror.

Smith Street was blocked by a train, so the truck turned south on McClellan Street with Mock in pursuit. With speeds reaching as high as 85 miles per hour, the two continued south into the county where the truck ran a three-way stop sign at County Rd. 200 South. As it started into the curve on County Rd. 225 South, the truck went airborne, coming to rest on an embankment.

The driver, later identified as Stine, got out of the vehicle and struggled with Mock before being subdued. Neither, he, nor his unnamed passenger were injured. The passenger escaped the vehicle and hid in some brush. He later turned himself in to local authorities.

Stine refused to give a statement to County Patrolman Michael Hobbs, who investigated the accident.

Stine's pick-up sustained between $1,001 and $2,500 damage in the accident. Damage between $200 and $1,000 was a guard rail belonging to the county and sustaining less than $200 damage was a yard.

Cars driven by Mark D. Mitchell, 64, Rt. 4, Warsaw, and Connie L. Legg, 26, Green Acres Trailer Court, Warsaw, collided on North Buffalo St., north of Center St., according to city police. Mitchell was backing from a parking space and did not see the Legg vehicle. Damage to the Legg car was estimated between $1,001 and $2,500, while the Mitchell vehicle was damaged between $200 and $1,000.

Betty L. Jones, 47, Rt. 1, Silver Lake, told city police she was westbound on U.S. 30 when she lost control of her vehicle and struck a fence. Damage to her car was estimated between $1,001 and $2,500. Also damage in the accident was a fence belonging to the state highway department between $200 and $1,000.

Olive Johnson, 76, Rt. 1, Etna Green, told county police she lost control of her car on icy roads.

To better understand the unit, each student was required to draw his own pedigree or family tree of a least three generations. Each pedigree showed at least one specific trait and how it was "handed down" generation to generation. She was southbound on State Rd. 19 when the accident occurred and she went over a steep embankment. Damage to her vehicle was estimated between $200 and $1,000.

Cars driven by Tim Garris, 18, Rt. 2, Silver Lake, and Bernice Harmon, 44, Silver Lake, collided on State Rd. 15, one-half mile south of County Rd. 800 South. Icy roads were the cause of the accident, county police said. Damage to both vehicles was estimated between $1,001 and $2,500.

MENTONE Our Home Grows

By Linda L. Oden

ANOTHER BOOM! A Large Factory Soon To Be Established in Mentone.

The Manwaring Bros., since retiring from mercantile business, have been casting about for some paying enterprise in which to invest their money. After surveying the city of Chicago, Kansas, Oklahoma and the West in general, they have decided that no place under the sun is so promising as Mentone, and the result is that they have decided upon an enterprise which is sure to be, not only a profitable investment for themselves, but one that will give a new impetus to the growth and prosperity of our already flourishing town. Their plan is to erect a large two-story building (the site not fully settled, but probably in the west part of town) in which will be placed all the latest improved woodworking machinery. The business will be to manufacture everything in the line of wood novelties from a tooth-pick to a cider-mill.

The investment will be a boon for our town and should be most heartily encouraged and assisted in every possible way by every citizen who is interested in the prosperity of Mentone.

Further particulars will be given as the work progresses.

The Mentone Gazette, June 8, 1889

The sun never sets on the territory of the United States. Before its last beams have faded from Alaska's western shores, the morning light is breaking on the eastern border of Maine.

A bushel of corn makes four gallons of whiskey. It sells for $16 at retail. The government gets $3.60, the farmer 40 cents, the railway $1, the manufacturer $4, the vender $7, and the drinker, all that is left -- delerium tremens. -- Southern Star.

The Mentone Gazette, June 15, 1889

Several of our exchanges have made note of the occurrence of Esquire Johnston's Jersey cow getting lost in Wilkinson's cabbage patch, as a very remarkable event. -- Mentone Gazette.

The same remarkable event occurred here, except the cabbage patch got lost in Esquire Townsend's Jersey cow. -- Walkerton Independent.

The Mentone Gazette, June 29, 1889

A lady recently set a pot of cream in a spring near the house, so that it might keep cool. During the night a frog fell into the cream pot and in his struggles to get out actually churned the cream, so that when the lady visited the pot the next morning she found the frog sitting on a ball of butter, washing his feet in the buttermilk. -- Walkerton Independent.

The above is a sample of the amphibious literature to which the columns of the Independent are devoted. Had Bro. Endley possessed more ability for adapting himself to great opportunities in such an aquatic region as Walkerton, he certainly would have kept the newly discovered secret and established himself in the Dairy business and sold "new process" butter and family rights for patent automatic churns.

The Mentone Gazette, July 13, 1889

Mothers, keep your eye on those whom God has placed under your care. Remember that your daughters in their youth may be easily led astray. Therefore, those lonely walks and buggy-rides with Tom, Dick or Harry (at a time when they should be in the repose of sleep) are oftentimes for no good. Then take warning in time lest the sword of sorrow should pierce thy heart. -- EX.

The Mentone Gazette, July 20, 1889

The New Factory

Manwaring Brothers have a large force of workmen engaged on their new factory building and the work is progressing rapidly. The frame and heavy timbers are all in place so that a good idea of the stateliness of the structure may be formed. The manufacture of artificial stone, by which the building will be veneered, is in progress, and the laying up of the same will soon begin. The entire frontage on Jackson and Walnut Streets is 221 feet, all two stories high except 20 feet of the north wing, which will be the engine room. The largest section of the building which fronts on Walnut Street will be used for the heavy machinery below and general work room above. The east and west wings on Jackson Street will be used for storage, paint rooms, etc. The dust room and drying sheds will be in the rear of the main building. When completed this will be the finest and most extensive establishment of its kind in the country, and will add very materially to the value of property here. Manwaring Brothers are the right kind of fellows to have around, and Mentone should lose no opportunity to show its appreciation to them. We will have more to say of this enterprise in the near future.

Computer company inventories electric utility's facilities

Public Service Indiana recently announced that representatives of Computer Graphics Co. of Denver Colorado, will be in the area during the next few weeks inventorying all the electric company's equipment and facilities.

The computer company, which has a field office in Bloomington, plans to cover all of the utility's 22,000-square-mile-service-area in the state.

Mr. James Wilber, the utility's local manager, said representatives from the computer company will be in the area to inventory all of Public Service Indiana's substations, transmission and distribution lines, poles, transformers and electric meters.

"Some of their work requires them to enter private property," Mr. Wilber said. "All of their representatives carry identification cards and a resident can ask to see it before allowing them on their property. None of their representatives, however, need to enter homes. If there are any questions, people can call the nearest Public Service Indiana Office."

THRASHED BY STORMS

PACIFIC NORTHWEST. Storms bombarding the Pacific Northwest have left about $10 million in property damage in addition to at least 11 deaths in Washington and Oregon, an insurance industry spokeswoman said recently.

INDIAN STUDIES: The fourth grade classes at Akron School have been studying Indians during their history periods. The subject was interesting enough to the students that they carried their learning further by duplicating some of the items used by the Indians. Shown are the results.

Dairymen are invited to join in workshops

Fulton County Dairymen are invited to participate in the Tri State Dairy Management Workshop and the Kentucky Dairymen's Conference. The workshop and conference will be held January 20-22, 1982 at Louisville, Kentucky.

The Workshop will deal with the use of micro computers in the dairy business. Dairymen will also have the opportunity to run programs on their individual farms to:

- 1) Balance their dairy ration for optimum production and least cost
- 2) Evaluate the economic feasibility of a change or expansion in their dairy operation.

The conference will feature speakers from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois and North Carolina discussing a variety of topics.

The Workshop will have a limited enrollment, so please register early if you would like to attend. For more information on cost, registration, or the programs, contact the Cooperative Extension Service Office, lower level of the Courthouse, Rochester phone 223-3397.

Ratings lowered

Three investment rating services have lowered their ratings on nearly all of Public Service Indiana's fixed income securities. This action will raise the cost of capital to the company and ultimately, the cost of electricity to consumers.

Moody's Investors Service, Duff & Phelps, Inc., and Standard & Poor's lowered their ratings primarily because of the company's requirements for significant outside financing in connection with the Marble Hill construction program.

Public Service Indiana Chairman Hugh A. Baker said the action in the financial community substantiates the utility's call for relief from the Public Service Commission and the Indiana General Assembly.

"To produce the power that our customers will need in the future," he said, "we must build new facilities today. The Marble Hill nuclear plant remains the most economical source of power available today. But to finance any major construction project in today's economic environment is difficult."

Duff & Phelps said that maintenance of the new ratings on Public Service Indiana securities depend in part on whether or not regulators allow the company to earn rates of return which will attract investors.

The electric utility said that if Indiana allowed the costs of construction work in progress (CWIP) to be included in utility rate base, the company's security ratings would probably not have been lowered.

"A financially healthy utility means a dependable source of electricity," Barker said. "But more importantly, it means lower rates in the long run. Our costs for borrowing money and the customer's costs for electricity are lower when the company is earning an adequate return. For this reason, Public Service Indiana will try to maintain the highest credit quality for its securities."

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS

A COLORFUL CHRISTMAS

You can easily add lively reds, blues, greens, purples, and oranges to your holiday fireplace's blaze to brighten up the festive season. All you'll need is a little powdered boric acid (bright green), copper sulfate (green), copper chloride (blue), strontium chloride (red), lithium chloride (crimson), potassium chloride (purple), calcium chloride (orange), baking soda (yellow orange), or ordinary table salt (yellow).

Note that—except for the very common boric acid, baking soda, and table salt—all the inexpensive powdered chemicals listed above are either chlorides or sulfates. (Do not purchase either nitrates or chlorates, which can be hazardous.) Any well-stocked drugstore should be able to furnish you with a pound or so of most of the specified substances. For those you can't locate at a pharmacy, try the nearest chemical supply house.

These chemicals are not at all dangerous to work with... or to burn, when handled properly. But a few precautions are in order: Store all your prismatic fireplace chemicals in tightly sealed glass or plastic containers in a dry and well-ventilated place that's out of the reach of both children and pets. Prepare only as much of each coloring agent as you need at one time, wear rubber gloves when you work, and do that work outdoors. Don't burn treated wood, paper, etc. until your fire has a good start and has developed a healthy draft. And, of course, never attempt to roast marshmallows or other treats over such a fire, to avoid food contamination by any chemical-laden smoke.

The best way to add these multiple colors to holiday fires is by soaking wood chips, kindling, corncobs, and other burnables in a one-to-three solution of any of the chemicals mentioned above. That is: Mix one cup of a coloring substance with three cups of water and stir the solution thoroughly until the powder has completely dissolved.

Prepare your liquid in a plastic garbage can. Then soak chunks of wood for about three hours, rolled newspapers until they're completely saturated, and pinecones and other small items for five to ten minutes. Once that's done, remove the materials from the coloring agent, let them drain over the garbage can, and place them on large sheets of paper. (These "drying" papers can, of course, later be rolled up and burned, too.)

While you're enjoying the colorful glow of your fire, you might like to make a few colored popcorn ball Christmas decorations. Here's how:

First, pop a half-cup of kernels (but not over a fire using the decorative chemicals) and—while the fluffy corn is cooling—place one-half cup of light corn syrup, one-half cup of sugar, and one-half teaspoon of salt in a saucepan. Cook the mixture, over medium heat, until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved, then add a few drops of red (or any color you prefer) food coloring and one-half teaspoon of lemon extract. Stir until the flavoring and color are well spread throughout the gooey concoction, and pour the sticky mixture over the bowlful of popcorn. Stir again, making sure every piece of corn is coated. Finally, working with buttered hands, ball up the coated popcorn into "edible ornaments." Wrap the finished baubles in clear cellophane, use a paper clip as a hook, add a bright bow, and use them for colorful holiday decorations!

Akron Notes...

Holiday Decorating! Garlands of greenery and glowing candles, favorite ornaments tucked among the pine boughs, and colorful lights shimmering in the trees, all contribute to the warmth and excitement of the holiday season. Holiday decorating is a synthesis of many things. We cherish customs from childhood, borrow a few regional traditions and finally add our own personal touches.

The sweet fragrance of fresh, home-baked breads and cookies goes hand in hand with the Christmas holidays.

The Akron Keen-Agers will celebrate December birthdays Thursday, Dec. 10. Blood pressure clinic will be held the 10th also, through the services of Ruth Bammerlin. Please phone in your reservations to 893-7204 or 893-4668.

Scheduled menus for the week of December 7 - 11 are:

Monday - Roast pork and dressing with gravy. Broccoli, Applesauce, Roll, Milk.

Tuesday - Salisbury steak, Whole kernel corn, Cranberry sauce, White bread, Fruit cobbler, Milk.

Wednesday - Fried chicken, Peas, Veg, Jello Salad, Brown bread, Apple crisp, Milk.

Thursday - Beef Porcupine w/tomato sauce, Tossed salad, Green beans, Brown bread, Jello w/fruit, Milk.

Friday - Chef's Special - Come and be Surprised.

Betty Gillespie, formerly of Akron, fell at her home last Tuesday evening and is recuperating at Grace Village Hospital, Winona Lake, Indiana. She would appreciate hearing from her friends.

New books at Akron Library

THE HORSEMAN'S WORD by Georgess McHargue - In this rich novel full of detail and Scottish lore, Georgess McHargue sensitively recounts the bittersweet experience of an American girl abroad.

ANY TWO CAN PLAY by Elizabeth Cadell - With a cast of unforgettable characters and a keen sense of the comic side of human nature, Elizabeth Cadell creates in this, her newest novel, a delightful heartwarming story of love.

REMNANTS OF GLORY by Teresa Miller - This is a novel about an unsung heroine, a touch, resilient pioneer woman named Kate Dexter. Born and raised in the Oklahoma Territory, by 1907, on the eve of statehood, Kate is starting her first job as a school teacher. She is guilty of having relentless expectations. Her intolerance of bigotry toward Blacks and Indians and her impatience with ignorance make her a formidable fellow citizen as she becomes prominent in a small town.

DO-IT-YOURSLEF ALLERGY ANALYSIS HANDBOOK by Kate Ludeman and Louise Henderson.

ALL THE DAYS WERE

SUMMER by Jack Bickham - This is a story of a vanished America, itself on a threshold, where some very decent people, and in particular one small boy, face up to problems and challenges in ways that alter their lives forever.

TILL ARMAGEDDON by Billy Graham - This is a practical, inspiring guide which traces the Christian's journey as God has revealed it between the time of Christ's first appearance on the earth and His second coming.

WILL YOU LOVE ME IN SEPTEMBER by Philippa Carr - This is an enthralling blend of passionate romance, high historical adventure and haunting suspense as only Philippa Carr can create it.

COUNT VRONSKY'S DAUGHTER by Carola Salisbury - For eighteen years Anni never questioned her identity. Suddenly one evening the man she calls PAPA confesses that her real father is the late Count Vronsky. Her mother, Anna Karenina, she is told, suffered a horrible death by suicide. With beauty and daring as her legacy from these tempestuous lovers, the Russian heiress thus begins a quest for her own destiny.

Board urged to review insurance

A letter received from the Office of Revenue Sharing advising about the requirements necessary for receiving benefits for the Town of Akron was discussed during the November meeting of the Akron Town Board. It was noted requirements have already been met for Entitlement Period 13, which is October 1, 1981 to September 30, 1982.

Clerk Ernest Smith advised the board of receipt of a letter from the Indiana Association of Cities and Town urging review of the town's unemployment insurance payments for the past year to see if the board wanted to exercise the option to change to the new method of calculating the unemployment compensation payments. The option is to reimburse the Employment Security Division for any claims paid instead of paying the 2.7% of the town's payroll for the regular contribution. After lengthy discussion the board decided to stay with the percentage method even though, in case there are no layoffs, it will be more costly. However, if the board were required to lay off an employee, it would probably be less expensive to pay the percentage than to pay the benefits.

Board President Ron Fenimore reported that during his discussion with Jess Brown, attorney for the town, the board was advised that the only thing to do when the town received checks which are returned marked "non-sufficient funds", is to file a claim through the small claims court.

BEGINNING OF THE END of the old Woodlawn Hospital on the corner of Pontiac and 7th Streets in Rochester, started Saturday as the

The need to purchase street signs marked "Speed limit 15 miles per hour," for use around the school house was discussed.

Discussion about the lot in Northwood Addition which has been offered for sale to Mike Tilden for the price of $2,000, centered on the deed from Howard and Helen Utter to the Town of Akron issued January 2, 1975, which states the lot should be used by the Town of Akron as a public street. If it failed to be used as a public street, the lot would revert back to Howard and Helen Utter. Board President, Ron Fenimore, was advised by the town attorney that "quiet claim" deed should be issued by the Utters to relinquish the rights to Lot No. 17, Northwood Addition. Fenimore contacted Mrs. Utter who advised they would sign the deed if the town would have one prepared. Brown is to prepare the lease so the board can complete the transaction.

Mr. Smith showed the board the notice from the Joint Fulton-Kosciusko County Drainage Board to the effect that the Town of Akron will have a $20 per year ditch assessment on the maintenance of the Ammon Bucher open drain. A hearing will be held December 14, 1981 at 1:30 p.m. EST in the county Circuit Court room in the courthouse in Rochester regarding the assessment.

Other discussion included: the need for further investigation about the offer from Dr. Hoff to donate the four lots located East of Gagnon Chevrolet, to the town; permission to Rose Prater to park an RV on her lot for the winter since she came to the office to get a permit; authorization for purchase of an electric welder; authorization for Clerk Smith to purchase a set of books "Basic Library for Water Systems" at a cost of $35.

Anyone who would like to run a Christmas greeting in the A.M. News Christmas Edition, December 23rd, and have not been contacted, may place one by calling: 353-7885 or 893-4433.

NipSCO files petitions

HAMMOND, Ind. -- Northern Indiana Public Service Company recently (Nov. 25, 1981) filed two petitions with the Public Service Commission of Indiana seeking permission to pass on to the utility's customers (1) an increase in gas supply costs as authorized under the provisions of the National Gas Policy Act of 1978, and (2) an increase in gas storage and transportation costs.

The net effect of the two petitions is a $51,149,149 increase in gas costs reflecting a $48,776,028 increase in purchased gas costs from all five of the utility's suppliers (Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, Midwestern Gas Transmission Company, Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Company, Trunkline Gas Company and Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Company), and a $2,373,121 increase in gas storage and transportation costs.

As a result of the proposed adjustments, the average NIPSCO residential customer using gas for homeheating (147,600 cubic feet a year) and other purposes will pay approximately $2.25 more per month or $27.01 per year for gas service beginning in January, 1982.

NIPSCO residential customers using gas for purposes other than spaceheating (39,800 cubic feet annually) will pay about 61 cents more a month or $7.31 more per year also beginning at that time.

The total effect of all purchased gas adjustments this year is an increase for the average NIPSCO customer using natural gas for homeheating and other purposes (147,600 cubic feet a year). If the petitions filed today are approved, the average customer's annual cost would be $600.59 as of January 1, 1982, compared to $524.21 at the beginning of January, 1981.

The average NIPSCO residential customer using natural gas for purposes other than spaceheating (39,800 cubic feet a year) will pay $189.89 annually, as of January 1, 1982, compared to $169.29 on January 1, 1981.

Adjustments in gas rates to NIPSCO customers, usually upward and sometimes downward, have occurred and will continue to occur as rates from NIPSCO's five pipeline suppliers change, as they have and will under the provisions of the National Energy Act. All of the changes are regulated by FERC and must be approved by the Public Service Commission of Indiana.

NIPSCO said that in spite of rising costs, natural gas continues to be the least expensive fuel for homeheating in northern Indiana, as the price of other heating fuels are also increasing.

NIPSCO explained that it does not realize one cent of profit from these tracking adjustments. The money, the company said, goes directly to suppliers to pay for the increased cost of natural gas delivered to the utility under rates authorized by the FERC.

Outdoor lighting for the Yule: To light the outdoors safely for the holidays use only cords, plugs, sockets, and light bulbs that are designed for outdoor use. Lights labeled for indoor use are not weather proof. They are not designed to tolerate the extremes of temperature and exposure to moisture that outdoor lights may be subject to. Before using them, check strings of outdoor lights for cracked insulation, exposed wires, or loose sockets. Discard defective strings before they cause problems, indoors or out. Avoid overloading household electrical circuits, use a wooden ladder rather than a metal one when you are working with electricity. A metal ladder increases the potential for electric shock to occur. Here is a tip from Garden Corner, cut a slice off the bottom of a cut Christmas tree trunk, removing a half inch or so from the base of the trunk eliminates resin-clogged wood that can interfere with the tree's uptake of water.

The Akron Keen-Agers will celebrate December Birthdays on Thursday, the 10th. Also the Blood Pressure Clinic will be held. Martha Shireman, from the Fulton County Extension office, Betty Butt from Area V office will be the guest speakers. If you would like to be a volunteer or for reservations, phone: 893-7204 or 893-4668.

Scheduled menus for the week of December 14 - 18 are:

Monday - Sloppy Joe Sandwich, Cream corn, Peaches, Rice pudding w/raisins, Milk.

Tuesday - Fried chicken, Sweet potatoes, Tossed salad, Brown bread, Cranberry sauce, Milk.

Wednesday - Ham and Beans, Carrot/raisin salad, Cornbread, Tapioca pudding, Milk.

Church group meet

Seventeen families of the Akron Church of the Brethren were present at the carry-in Thanksgiving supper and auction held at the Akron Library in November. Many crafts and items of food were available at the auction at which Wade Holloway and Norman Tinkley served as auctioneers. A "Log Cabin" quilt was a special item auctioned. The quilt squares were made by each lady in the Women's Fellowship and Mrs. Jean Neher completed the quilt. Proceeds went toward the purchase of a refrigerator for the church kitchen.

That natural gas smell is no accident.

That's good to know!

At NIPSCO, for your safety and the safety of all our customers, we add a unique odorizing chemical to our natural gas. This enables all of us to quickly identify a gas leak.

Should you ever detect this smell in or near your home or business, open all windows and doors and immediately call your local NIPSCO emergency service telephone number. Do not light any matches and do not operate any wall switches, appliances, or equipment that could cause a spark.

If the odor is extremely strong, evacuate the building and call NIPSCO from a nearby phone.

At your Northern Indiana Public Service Company, using energy safely is just as important as using it wisely.

opinion / ours

Threat To U. S. Carmakers

Harry Ellis, economic correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, recently put his finger on the basic trouble in the U.S. automobile industry. It is simple, and relates directly to wage levels won by the United Automobile Workers Union in post-war years.

Some small part of the threat to U.S. car makers lies in the fact that they were late in building smaller cars (though they did this prematurely once and the public wouldn't buy them). Some of the problem lies in the fact that foreign makers offer well-built cars.

But the real problem is that, over a period of years, using strikes and strike threats, the UAW got U.S. automakers to agree to pay the average worker twenty dollars an hour, with many fringe benefits in addition. Without question, this labor cost priced U.S. cars out of the market for many.

Combined with this handicap, some U.S. automakers also found that their employees weren't dedicating themselves to quality production, as such wages should have persuaded them to do. The result is what we see today. Japanese makers, paying an average of twelve dollars an hour, can build a car at just over half the labor cost of American makers.

Threatened with closure, Chrysler recently appealed to its union for relief, warning that if workers' wages were not reduced the company would go bankrupt and all jobs would be lost. Workers responded sensibly, and lowered demands.

GM and Ford need similar relief but the unions say they will not agree to help them similarly. They are, as yet, not up against the wall.

The threat to this vital U.S. industry is a strategic threat to the nation's defense capability, and to its economic well being. The nation must preserve its automotive industry, once the envy of all the world.

No one blames workers for demanding as much as they could get in the post war years, nor should the UAW be blamed. Today's dilemma could not have been foreseen. But what is clear is that UAW workers, who receive much higher pay than workers in other industries, must cooperate to save the American automotive industry.

Washington--the taxpayers--is already helping Chrysler. It may be necessary to help the other two principal U.S. makers, and if that is necessary, UAW workers would be serving their own best interests to agree to a moratorium on wage hikes until the crisis is past.

Eight Percent

A recent study indicated only eight percent of the American public reads books. Other studies, while showing varying degrees, all agree that a minority of Americans read books.

The discouraging realization in digesting this statistic is that most of the books read, by those who read, are escapist fiction. Nothing essentially wrong except that when taking this into account one realizes how dismally low is the percentage of Americans who read non-fiction books.

Television is, of course, the sweet, easy sugar of entertainment these days. No effort is required to watch the tube; but not much can be learned from watching commercial TV either.

Teachers, editors and church leaders must encourage more Americans to read good books. Therein lies the only source of a thorough, complete knowledge of a subject. Knowledge, wisdom and learning are still the building blocks of a successful life.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

The holiday season is upon us and everybody is busy with shopping, parties, church activities, and family gatherings. With all the excitement it is easy to put off or forget a few necessities. I just want to remind our friends and neighbors who receive VA Pensions or Compensation that their annual income questionnaires must be returned to the VA before January 1, 1982. This is necessary to keep those checks coming from the VA each month. So start the new year out right, mail your questionnaires back early.

If you should have questions or need help, you can call the County Veterans' Service Office at 223-2217 or come by the office in the Court House between 8:00 a.m. and noon, Monday through Friday, except holidays.

Dear Buck Saver:

Dear Buck Saver:

I am an apartment dweller and would like to know how I can reduce my electric utility bill. I presently pay only electric costs, with my gas (heat) and water included in my rent. This past summer my air conditioning costs doubled, and I live on the top floor where most of the building heat seems to end up. Surely there must be other apartment renters with the same problem, given all the apartments in Indianapolis. What can we do?

Hot and Bothered in Indy

Dear Hot and Bothered:

Although your problem of being too hot is out of season now, I'm answering your question to point out that it's not too early for any of us to plan our "attack" on next summer's high electric bills. For most of us, control of energy consumption means a change in lifestyle practices, and that takes some getting used to.

Portable energy savers are part of the answer for apartment dwellers. Purchase padding for your carpet or rugs that have insulating value. Place insulated draperies or shades at the windows and close them against the summer sun. At night open windows top and bottom. Use heat producing appliances early or late in the day, and remember that even lights and televisions produce heat. Cook with small, self-contained appliances. You might be able to get along without air conditioning.

If you have to condition the air, make sure the unit is well-maintained.

placed. Place it in a window that is shaded, and don't block it with curtains or furniture. Close off unused space, including closets and cupboards.

Talk about your plans. Let your neighbors know about your "cool" lifestyle. Point out the advantages of energy efficient buildings to your landlord, and ask him/her to investigate ceiling insulation. It will keep all of you, especially the renter in the basement, far happier this winter and next summer as well.

Buck

Dear Buck Saver:

Convince my children for me. How important is it to turn lights off when they're not in use?

Mom from Hobart

Dear Mom's Kids:

It's important to turn off the lights. First of all, for an average family, lights are up to 16% of the electric bill. That's worth reducing. Secondly, it takes less energy to turn incandescent lights back on than to keep them on, and less energy to turn fluorescent lights back on than to keep them on for one second or more. Lastly, regularly thinking about turning off the lights helps you become an energy-wise person, which we all ought to be.

Off with the Lights,

Buck

Club has projects planned

Jody Cook of Mentone was hostess for the November meeting of the G.F.W.C. Mentone Reading Club recently.

During the business meeting Carol Hurst presented several ideas for club projects for the year. The project, a raffle, will take place during the Mentone Centennial in June.

National Bible and Family week will be observed during the week of Thanksgiving. Kate Whetstone, Margaret Cullison and Rosemary Bazini prepared the display in a local store window.

Money was collected for Mental Health Christmas gifts.

For the program, Carol Steele, local Church of Christ minister's wife, told of their interesting experiences while stationed with the air force in the Philippines in 1972-75. They were able to live off base in a large house with very few conveniences as they were 50 years behind our times. domestic help was plentiful and efficient. There was a great deal of vandalism, windows and doors had to be barred. Utilities were very poor. Living off base gave them a true picture of the life style of the Philippine people.

While there, they adopted Jeannie and James who became naturalized citizens of the United States just this fall.

Displayed were beautiful hand made items such as a baby dress, hand carved wood and marble items, and a character doll.

Mentone War Mothers

The Mothers of World War II of Mentone held their December meeting with Jeannie Nellans with a carry-in dinner and gift exchange. A business meeting followed and the draping of the Charter in memory of Miriam Shinn was carried out and charter will remain draped for thirty days. Our sympathy goes out to the Shinn family.

Our January meeting will be with June Reed and installing of officers will take place at that time.

A WREATH FOR ALL SEASONS

To begin this homemade holiday decoration, amass a goodly supply of pretty evergreen cones, acorns, nuts, seed pods, and gum-tree "balls". You will then need to oven-dry your supply of cones. Simply bake them on aluminum-foil-covered cookie sheets, at 150°F, for about 15 minutes.

The "base" of your wreath should be jigsawed from very thin board. After you've cut a hoop the size you want, take a drill—with a 1/4" or 3/8" bit—and bore numerous holes at random. (They'll allow you to wire the foraged bables in place).

To begin the creative part of your project, take the end of an approximately 12-inch length of fine wire and, working from the back of the wreath board, push it through a hole near the ring's inner edge. Then fold the wire tip over and twist it... to form a "knot" that won't pull back through the hole.

Select a number of small, sturdy, nicely shaped cones (enough to go around the inner and outer borders of the garland), hold one of them—perpendicular to your wreath and with its bottom layer of "petals" under the inner edge of the hoop—next to the wire "knot", and wedge the cone onto the thin rim of the wood. Next, secure the decoration against the inside of the ring by running the wire out around the cone and back down through another hole... so that the working end of the strand winds up, again, emerging from the underside of the wreath. Then simply put another cone in place—pushing it tightly against, and actually enmeshing it with, the first—and continue the procedure, adding wire as needed, around both the inner and outer edges of the hoop.

When the borders are finished, choose a spot to serve as the top of the wreath, bend hooks in the ends of a 6-inch length of coat hanger... and fasten the wire tips through holes in the board to form a hanging loop.

Next, split a number of white pine cones into lengthwise halves and wedge them (flat sides down) into the space left between the two "border" rings of small cones... until the entire surface of the wreath is covered. (This layer should fit in place snugly enough so as not to need wiring.)

To be really artistic, you might want to add a "flower" here and there by cutting away all but the two or three basal layers of "petals" from a squat cone. Glue an acorn in the bloom's center... wire the brittle blossom in place... and surround it with symmetrical groups of nuts, small cones, etc.

When you're satisfied with the balance of your design, fill in all of the "holes" with alder seed pods, tiny hemlock cones, acorns, and so forth... all glued in place.

Finally, to hide the network of wires on the wall side of the decoration, glue a felt cover to the hoop's back. You may also want to protect (and shine) your finished wildcraft with a light coat of clear acrylic. The result will be a wreath that is so pretty you may never take it down!

Happy Thanksgiving at Bowen Center

It was a truly happy Thanksgiving at the Bowen Center for Human Services. The day-treatment clients planned and executed a dinner for the staff and volunteers at the Center.

"The clients took real control and planned the entire dinner and program," said James Hawkins, mental health worker at Bowen Center. "A lot of exciting things happened. It's been a great experience for us to watch them become so involved together." It was easy to sense the cooperation and camaraderie of the day.

Following the cooperative dinner, the drama therapy group gave a one-act comedy: Who Gets the Car Tonight?, and the staff reciprocated with a humorous skit involving the vicissitudes of therapy. The music therapy group, under the direction of volunteer music therapist, Verna Felts, entertained with several selections on the piano and chimes, followed by group singing in which everyone joined.

Mrs. Felts, a Grace College teacher, comes in once a week to work with the day clients. Becky May played "The Juggler," "The Bobcat Boogie", and the theme from Beethoven's Second Movement #5. Each placemat said "Happy Thanksgiving", and all the decorations, food and program reflected the spirit of Thanksgiving everyone enjoyed.

Punch for the event was donated by Mrs. Ralph Haney, and another volunteer, Georgia Lindsay, cooked the turkey for the clients. Volunteer Suzanne Baker worked closely with them to help make the noontime party a success.

New law on tinted windows

The new law prohibiting vehicles with tinted windows goes into effect after December 31, 1981. However, the Indiana State Police will be giving drivers time to get used to the new law.

Troopers will issue warnings for violations of this statute for 60 days following December 31, 1981, so affected motorists can become familiar with it, according to Indiana State Police Superintendent John Shettle.

The law states that no person shall drive any motor vehicle which has a windshield, side wing or side window which is part of a front door; which is tinted to the extent that the occupants of the vehicle cannot be easily identified through the window from outside the vehicle.

This law provides better visibility for the driver as well as allowing other motorists to observe the driver's actions. By being able to see the other driver, motorists can usually determine intended vehicle movement. Also, the law allows unrestricted vision of drivers and passengers by Police Officers as they approach the vehicle during traffic stops.

The tinted window law applies to all vehicles. After the 60 day warning period Troopers will begin charging people in violation of this law. Violators will be subject to a maximum fine of $500.00 upon conviction.

Mentone woman wins dog food promotion

Mrs. Dale McGowen, Mentone, never thought she was a lucky person. But after years of entering sweepstakes, she finally hit it big.

As grand prize winner in the Mainstay brand dog food "Money Game," Mrs. McGowen will now receive $1,000 a year for life-all because of her daughter's dog, Spunky.

Mrs. McGowen and her husband were dogsitting with Spunky last year when they tried the new Purina dog food. She bought the product after reading about the sweepstakes in a book of contests.

"Actually, I was a second chance winner," Mrs. McGowen said. "The first deadline had gone by and the company was offering some of the prizes in a second chance drawing."

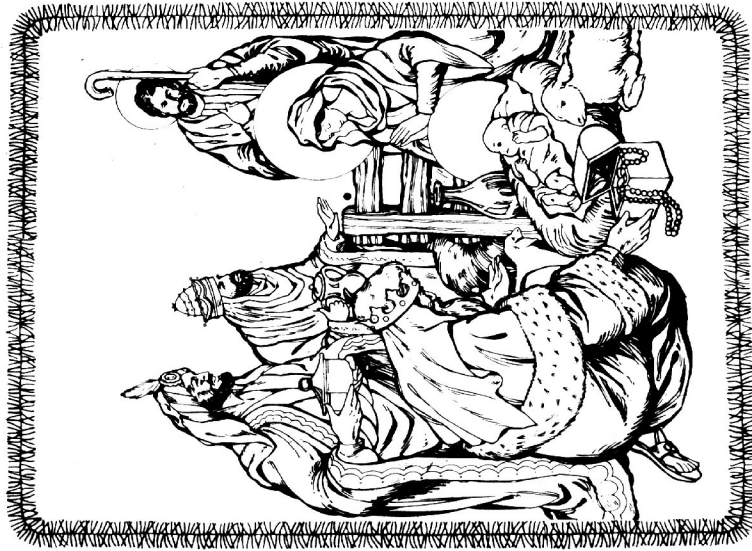

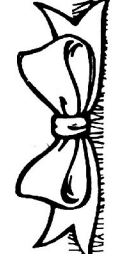

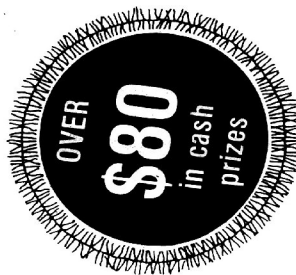

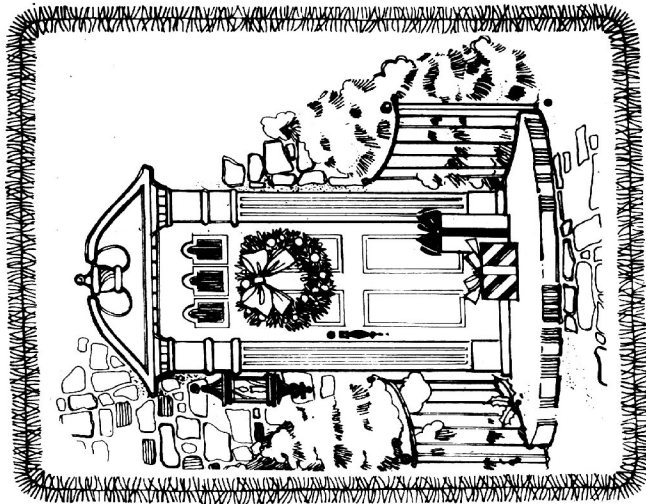

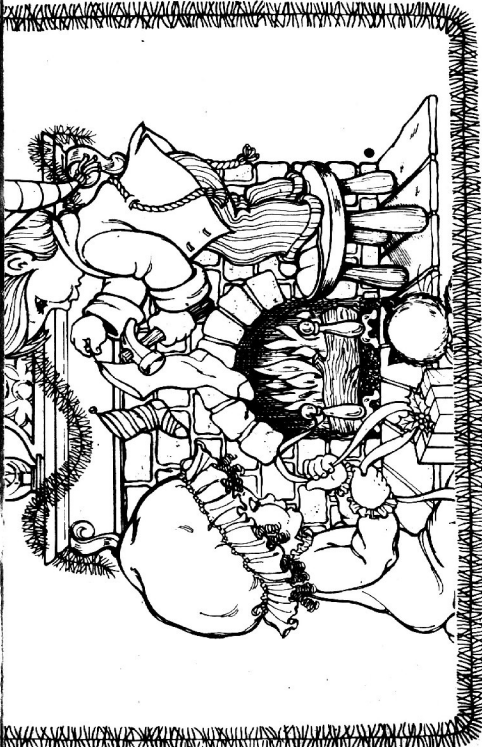

After Mrs. McGowen won the sweepstakes, another daughter became a Mainstay customer. Her poodle, B.J., wasn't eating right so she got Mainstay. She reports that he loves it.

And what about Spunky? "He's just an ugly, old family mutt," Mrs. McGowen said affectionately of the two-year-old dog. While he now lives with his real family near Warsaw, you can bet Spunky will always be a welcome guest at the McGowen household.

The statute of Indiana imposes a heavy fine for playing baseball on Sunday.

Farmers are generally advised not to be in a hurry about selling their wheat, as all the indications point to better prices in the near future.

FIRE

Albert Tucker's Large Barn With Nearly all its Contents Goes Up in Flames.

On last Wednesday morning the news came to town that the large barn on Albert Tucker's farm, three miles south of Mentone, had been burned about 3 o'clock a.m. There can be no possible explanation of the origin of the fire except as being the work of an incendiary. It seems that the blaze first started in a shed at the south end of the barn which was filled with hay. Charley Tucker and Levy Middleton, who was employed painting the house, were not awakened until the flames had enveloped the south part of the building. Springing out of bed, they had scarcely time to escape before the fire reached their sleeping apartment. Their first thought was to open the stable door where a valuable horse was confined. This done, the horse rushed out unharmed. Two or three buggies were also saved. About 600 bushels of oats, 150 tons of hay and 2,000 bushels of corn was burned, besides a large amount of farm machinery and articles stowed away for the summer. Charley Tucker lost all of his clothing together with a gold watch worth about $75.00 and several dollars of pocket money. In his excitement, he had jumped into his brother's pantaloons and left his own to the mercy of the flames.

By desperate efforts, with the assistance of neighbors who gathered in, four large stacks of wheat which stood about fifty feet from the barn were saved.

The entire loss is estimated at about $8,000 with only $1,000 insurance. We are informed that Mr. Tucker will proceed to erect a new barn immediately.

A SAD EVENT

Death of John Mollenhour by His Own Hand

On last Tuesday morning word was brought to town that John Mollenhour, of Sevastopol, had taken a dose of carbolic acid with suicidal intent. He had been sick with typho-malarial fever for about two weeks and had become very despondent. A bottle of the deadly acid had been procured to use as a disinfectant, and when it was brought into the room by one of the children, Mr. Mollenhour asked to examine it to see if it was the right bottle. It was handed to him when he smelled it and then placed it under his pillow and asked that his wife be called in. This alarmed his son who at once went into the next room to tell his mother. Mrs. Mollenhour went to him and asked him for the bottle but instead of giving it to her, he immediately placed it to his lips and swallowed a portion of it. Medical aid was immediately summoned but all efforts to counteract the poison failed, and at 2 o'clock p.m., ten hours after taking the acid, he expired. Mr. Heffley, who was attending physician, informs us that the only apparent cause for the rash act was a fit of despondency, having never been seriously afflicted before.

The case is a sad one. Mr. Mollenhour was an industrious and useful citizen, highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his untimely death. Many neighbors and friends earnestly sympathize with them in their grief.

The Mentone Gazette, October 26, 1889
HE GOT WELL

It was a sad scene says The San Francisco Chronicle. The old man lay on his bed, and by him sat the devoted wife, holding his hand in hers, and forcing back the tears to meet his wandering look with a smile. She spoke words of comfort and of hope. But he felt the cold hand falling on him, and he turned his weary eyes up to her pale, wan face.

"Jennie, dear wife, I am going."
"Oh, no, John--not yet--not yet."
"Yes, dear wife," and he closed his eyes; "the end is near. The world grows dark about me. There is a mist about me growing thicker and thicker, and there, as through a cloud, I hear the music of angels sweet and sad."
"No, no, John, dear, that isn't angels; that's the Brass Band on the corner."

"What!" said the dying man. "Have those scoundrels dared to come around here when they know I'm dying? Give me the boot-jack. I'll let 'em see."
And in a towering rage the old man jumped from his bed, and before his wife could think he had opened the window and shied the boot-jack at the band.

"I've hit that fat leader, anyway."
And he went back to bed and got well.

A Task Unfinished
"Aw, gee, pop. Do we really have to move next week?"
"Well, everything's arranged now. Why?"
"Well, there's a new kid on this block and I haven't licked him yet."

Court Scene
Useless Partner--I'm afraid I played rather badly in that set, but my racket is a bit warped. I'll have to keep it in a frame.

Appointed to Fulton County Welfare Board

Fulton Circuit Court Judge Douglas B. Morton today announced the appointment of George Hoover, R.R. # 1, Box 248, Belwood Acres, Rochester, IN to the Fulton County Welfare Board. Hoover's appointment to the Welfare Board replaces Richard Belcher, also of Rochester who is completing a four year term on the Welfare Board and has asked to not be reappointed.

The effective date for the appointment is January 1, 1982 and the term of the appointment is for four years. The Circuit Court Judge appoints all five members of the Welfare Board. One of the members must be a township trustee with no more than three of the same political party. No other elective officials may serve on the Welfare Board. Any member must have been a resident of the County at least two years prior to his appointment and should have a recognized interest in welfare problems.

Other Board members at the present time include Dorothy Dague, Anita Stephen, George Schwenk and Birt Vincent.

Extension Office Notes

Fall Bred Ewes can be placed on a maintenance diet until the last month of gestation according to Jeff Kissick, Fulton County Extension Agent-Agriculture.

The diet may consist of fall pasture such as bluegrass, orchardgrass, meadow aftermath or wheat.

Pregnant ewes should be provided with plenty of fresh water and a salt mineral mixture. Two parts by weight of trace mineralized salt and one part of either dicalcium phosphate or ground limestone is a satisfactory mix.

Ewes should be encouraged to exercise and may be kept on pasture until frost or snow reduces productivity. At that time, 2 to 3 pounds of hay per head should be supplied until the fourth month of gestation. During the final month, each ewe should receive 1/2 to 3/4 pounds of shelled corn or other concentrate and three to four pounds of legume hay such as alfalfa.

Valley girls basketball team still undefeated

By Jerry Kindig II

The Tippecanoe Valley girls' varsity basketball squad has gone undefeated for the first four games of the season. The latest was a 56-47 triumph over Southwood on the first day of December.

Senior Tammy Cooper led the Vikings in two categories. With 7 field goals and 2 free-throws, she led the team with sixteen total points, and 6 rebounds. Right behind Cooper with 12 points was Carleen Clappitt and Lori Tilden became the third player in double figures, with 11. Vicki Mattix added 8 points to the scoreboard and also had 5 rebounds.

The junior varsity team added one more victory to their record with a 31-24 Southwood defeat.

With 4 players at or over 50 percent field goal shooting. Valley out-shot Southwood by 17 percentage points for the victory. Paced by 8 points from Tina Shepherd and 7 points from Sherry Lafferty the Vikes outscored their opponents by 7. Lafferty was also the high rebounder with 9, seven were defensive. The number two rebounder was Kathy Helmrich with 5 defensive rebounds and one offensive.

Valley led at the end of the first quarter 12-4 but only scored 3 points in the second quarter for a 1 point, 15-14. Valley led at the half. During the third quarter, the Vikings outscored their opponents by 3 and extended the lead to 7 points to end the game 31-24.

Both Tippecanoe Valley and Southwood had almost the same amount of turnovers although the total number of steals, 16 for Valley and 7 for Southwood, was a significant factor in the outcome of the game.

The Valley girls traveled to Wawasee last Tuesday evening and will also be on the road against Eastern, the 10th, and Manchester the 12th, before they return home for a match up against the Argos Dragons on the 14th.

Vikes win at North Miami, lose to Triton

By Jerry Kindig II

After two games on the road last weekend the Viking basketball record stands at 2-2 regular season and 1-0 in the Three Rivers Conference. The Friday evening game against Triton, after leading at halftime, ended in defeat 49-55. Although, for Valley's first TRC matchup, North Miami, the Vikings rose to the challenge and won 55-54 in the closing seconds of the game.

Valley vs. Triton

Valley was the first to score in the opening quarter but by the end of the quarter had fallen behind 11-16. With 6:30 left in the half, the Vikings had scored 8 points for a 19-16 lead. Both teams scored 8 more points and the 27-24 halftime score resulted from the Vikings outscoring the Trojans 2 to 1.

The third quarter spelled "trouble" for the Vikings as they scored 6 points compared to Triton's 20 points. During most of the fourth quarter Tippecanoe Valley attempted a come-back. Six minutes and fourteen seconds was all the time they had but by now the 37-44 score seemed attainable. Triton spread everything out and went into an offensive stall. The Vikings had pulled within six, 41-47, when a Trojan time out went back and forth, scoring one-for-one and Valley never recovered from the six point deficit.

Leading scorer for the Valley at Triton was Don Studebaker with 18 points and Todd Leckrone came through with 10.

North Miami

After an emotional loss to Triton the Valley squad traveled to Triton Miami Saturday for their first Three Rivers Conference game of the season. Early in the first quarter Valley took command of the game with a 10 point lead but North Miami fought back and the lead had dwindled to a 18-12 first quarter score. The Warriors came all the way back by the time the half ended and the 29-29 score foreshadowed the fight to come.

This half the aggressors changed places and the Warriors led by as much as 8 points during the third quarter, but the Vikes staged a come-back just as North Miami had before and the quarter ended 43-43.

The lead changed places once more as Valley took control by 4 points. With the clock ticking down past the two minute mark, North Miami took the lead. Steady shooting came from both sides for the remainder of the game. With the clock now at 0:10 and Triton at the foul-line, Valley was behind 53-54. The first shot in a one-and-one situation was off the mark and the Vikings grabbed the rebound. Jeff Webb dribbled across the 10-second line and to within 15 feet of the basket, set-up the shot and took it which first missed but bounced back to him. After not even a second of hesitation, he put the ball back up and as the buzzer rang-out, the ball fell cleanly through the hoop. Valley had won 55-54 and the fans blanketed the basketball court.

Next weekend the Valley squad has another double header. As they travel to Whitko on Friday and Northwood comes into Viking territory the next evening.

Deadline for special license plate nears

Hoosiers wishing to order a Personalized License Plate for 1982 have approximately three weeks left in which to reserve this specialized license plate.

Commissioner Michael M. Packard, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, announced recently that Thursday, December 31, 1981, is the last day to reserve personalized license plates for 1982.

Commissioner Packard added, "Last year we received numerous requests for these unique plates after the first of the year and were, by law, unable to accept those reservations. Due to a change in the law, we can accept reservations for personalized plates at any time during the year; however, any plates ordered after January 1, 1982, will be available for use in the 1983 calendar year. The deadline for reserving a 1982 personalized license plate will remain December 31st." The law provides this cut-off date for production purposes. Unlike normal license plates, personalized license plates are only produced after each order is placed on an individual basis.

Another change in the personalized license plate legislation passed in the 1981 Indiana General Assembly permits the sale of these special plates for use on motorcycles and trucks (weighing, 11,000 pounds or less) in addition to passenger cars and recreational vehicles.

Personalized license plates may be ordered at the local license branch with the $40.00 reservation fee payable when the plate is reserved. (The individual working schedule of each local license branch should be checked to assure the branch will be open on Thursday to avoid missing this deadline.)

Any questions regarding the personalized license plate program should be directed to the license branch in the registrant's county of legal residence or the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Registration Department, AM

Recipes to Try

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

Here is a good recipe for those who are planning a dinner party and want to serve two meats.

Ham & Turkey

- 1 4 lb. all-white-meat turkey roll
- 1 5 lb. canned ham
- 1/2 c peach preserves
- 1/4 c currant jelly
- Paprika Onions

Roast turkey roll as label directs the day before. Cover and refrigerate. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Remove any gelatin from ham; slice ham 1/4-inch thick. Use center slices only; refrigerate end slices for later use. Slice turkey roll into 1/4-inch thick slices. In foil-lined shallow open pan, alternately secure turkey slices and ham slices through center of long skewer. If skewer isn't long enough, start with another one from the other end. Roast 30 minutes.

In small saucepan over medium heat, stir peach preserves and currant jelly until blended; use to generously glaze meat; continue roasting 30 minutes. Place meat on warm platter; remove skewers. Garnish with Paprika Onions. Makes 10 to 14 servings.

Paprika Onions

Drain one 15 1/2-ounce can whole white onions. In small skillet, saute onions in 1/4 cup butter, melted, 5 minutes or until heated. Sprinkle with paprika and 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley.

Add a cup of water to the bottom of broiling pan before sliding into the oven. The water absorbs smoke and grease.

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Refund offers help stuff the stockings

By June Fuller

DEAR COUPON CLIPPER — This Christmas my nephew will get a Texas Instruments digital watch free thanks to an offer I sent for from Polaroid. Children of friends will receive free baseballs from Kellogg's.

My holiday giving will include terry towels from Ziploc, Rubbermaid Mix 'n' Measure pitchers from Scott-towels, a Better Homes and Gardens Cookbook — a very beautiful one, I might add — from Viva Towels and a Flip 'n' Sip thermos from Glad.

I also have lots of items that will be just perfect for stocking stuffers, such as Campbell's Kids spoons, Smucker's Fox and Hound Cups, Texize Products' Little Golden Books and the Bama coloring book and marking pens.

Even after refunding for more than a year and a half, I am continually amazed and excited by all the good offers being made and the creative ways to cash-in! — Elsie W. from Pineview, Ga.

DEAR ELSIE — I hope that your letter will be read by refunders who pass over the offers for gift items that are made all year long. Many of them forget about the gifts they will need to buy in December and concentrate on the cash and the coupons.

Then at this time of year they have to dip into their special savings to pay for all those presents and stocking stuffers. This year the prices on some of these gifts have really gone up.

It's too late to send for gift offers for the approaching holidays, but starting to send for gift offers now will insure that there will be a closet full of presents for the 1982 holiday season.

Smart Shopping Award: This week's award goes to a smart refunder who knows that we never throw away an empty national-brand package until we have used it twice — to send for at least two offers.

Mrs. V. Schmidt of Brookfield, Ill., purchased 10 boxes of Scotttissues and used the seals from the plastic overwrap to get two free decks of playing cards. Then she used the Universal Product Code symbols to send for a coupon organizer filled with Scott coupons.

Finally, she used the "Safe for Septic Systems" red flags from the same packages to send for a set of free Christmas cards.

"Refunding is in my life to stay," says Mrs. Schmidt.

Readers whose smart shopping experiences appear in this column receive a copy of the refunding publication, The National Supermarket Shopper. Write to me in care of this newspaper.

Here is a refund form to write for: Tylenol Free Soft Drink Offer, P.O. Box 4132, Monticello, Minn. 55365.

This offer of a soda coupon worth up to $2 expires Jan. 31, 1982.

Here is this week's list of refund offers. Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends. Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below. Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country.

Today's refund offers are worth $8.98.

Fulton County 4-H leaders honored

Art King, Fulton, President of the Fulton County 4-H Leaders presided at a dinner meeting last week at Teel's Restaurant at Mentone honoring the Adult Leaders in Fulton County for their years of service to youth.

Deb Whistler, County Youth Agent awarded certificates to the adult leaders. Among those receiving recognition were Peg Arthur, Henry Willing Workers 4-H leader and Walter Cumberland, Henry Hardy Farmers leader.

Included in the program was a slide presentation about "Nature" presented by Steve and Connie Doud, of Denver, Indiana which was a composite of slides taken during their travels, and some of their family history, set to music. The program was very relaxing to watch and very much appreciated by everyone attending.

Sponsoring the banquet were the Fulton County Farm Bureau, Inc., Fulton-Marshall Farm Bureau Co-op, Peru Production Credit, REMC, and the Fulton County 4-H Council.

Lantz completes training program

Victor M. Lantz, Jr., of Mentone has been issued a diploma for completion of the ICS Master Electrician Course from International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, Pennsylvania. Lantz is a 1975 graduate of Tippecanoe Valley High School and presently employed by Frank's Manufacturing, Division of O.E.C., Mentone, as a maintenance person.

Local youths win 4-H awards

Kevin L. Houin, 18, Marshall County, and Cindy Tucker, 18, Kosciusko County, have won 4-H awards. They will attend the 60th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 29-Dec. 3. Houin and Tucker are among 34 Indiana 4-H'ers winning state awards.

Houin, son of Mr. Leo Houin, Plymouth, took state honors in the dairy program, sponsored by Insurance Company of North America. Houin says he enrolled in the dairy program to learn more about caring for his family's herd of 60 dairy cows. His effort in training a stubborn calf that refused to be led, resulted in a Junior Champion Ribbon. After Houin received last place in a dairy judging contest, he re-entered the contest the following two years and led his chapter each time. In 1979, Houin also represented Indiana at the National 4-H Dairy Conference in Madison, Wis. A freshman at Purdue University, he is majoring in agricultural economics.

Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Tucker, Warsaw, earned state honors in the clothing program, sponsored by Coats & Clark Inc. Tucker began her clothing career by making doll dresses. Doll clothes, turned into aprons, and aprons led to formal dresses. In the process, Tucker learned to work with a variety of fabrics, and experimented with changing and mixing patterns to achieve a personalized look. She also learned to use comparison shopping to obtain the most value for the fabrics she buys, and how to alter and care for garments. Tucker won many ribbons and prizes for her clothes, and estimates saving more than $600 by making her own wardrobe. A high school senior, she plans a career in fashion design or merchandising.

Winners were chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service, and awards arranged by National 4-H Council.

Livestock treatment defended by farmers

The American public is being deceived by distorted, misleading and malicious reports that falsely accuse farmers of mistreating or abusing farm animals, according to Will Schakel, Indiana Farm Bureau commodity head.

Schakel, who is also president of the Commission of Farm Animal Care, Inc., an Indiana organization with a combined livestock commodity group membership of 250,000, says that farmers have great interest in their animals and their pocketbooks are directly affected by animal health and welfare. Purdue University is associated with the Commission.

The farmer of 1981 places his animals in an environment that encourages rapid growth and high production. Animals and poultry under stress do not gain weight rapidly nor do they produce as many eggs or as much milk. The illness or death of a farm animal is a financial loss to the farmer.

The fact that many animals are kept in a controlled environment means that they no longer are vulnerable to predators such as dog packs or coyotes, according to Schakel.

A new prize-winning film entitled "Animal Welfare, the Farmers' Story", as well as a 30-minute video program, are available to the public. Some of the scenes were shot in Indiana. Both can be obtained by contacting Will Schakel, Commodity Department, Indiana

Farm Bureau, Inc., 130 East Washington Street, Indianapolis, IN 46204, phone 317/631-8331, extension 1435.

Even the smartest individual has much to learn and the smarter they get, the more they realize that fact.

Pay raise for Mentone employees agreed on

Deciding that all town employees deserved a raise, the Mentone Town Board unanimously agreed on an approximately 4% raise in salary for all employees for 1982. Each full time employee will receive an additional $500 per month increase and the radio dispatcher, Becky Hart, will receive $120.

Town Clerk Kate Whetstone reported that of the $91,735 budgeted for the general fund for 1982, the State Tax Board only allowed $74,874.00. She stated the tax levy will bring $57,079, and the rest is to come from miscellaneous income. Board members discussed ways to trim the budget because of the cut; one suggestion was to drop plans for the building at the cemetery, but Trustee Hardesty did not agree, saying that the project has already been started and money spent on building materials; another was to trim allowance for salaries, but since the board wanted to give town employees a raise in 1982, the amount budgeted for salaries would just take care of the increase and there would be nothing left to cut. There was no decision as to how the extra money would be raised.

Steve Shand, Water Department Superintendent, was commended for successfully completing training at the A.W.W.A. Water School, an eight week short course held at Logansport.

The board revised the mobile home ordinance which was effective November 23, 1981, to read that no additional mobile homes could be placed within the corporate limits of Mentone. The previous one called for no mobile homes within the city limits except in licensed trailer parks. The revision will also allow present mobile home owners to replace old homes with a new one, providing the exchange is made within a 30 day limit for replacement. The new revision is effective as of December 7, 1981.

It was decided to ask Roger Moriarity of Moriarity Insurance to attend the next meeting of the town board so a decision can be made as to employee insurance coverage and premiums. Town employees were asked if they would be willing to pay a portion of the premiums since the budget was not set up to include a raise in insurance premiums.

During other business the board set Monday, December 28

as a special meeting so they could take care of some old business before the new year, discussed the Dog and Cat Ordinance needing an amendment as to the licensing of the animals; asked for an update of prosecution in the cemetery vandalism; discussed the problem of thru truck traffic on Etna St., near Midwest Spring Co.; gave permission for Russel Hart to take two weeks vacation beginning December 28, and permission to Steve Shand for vacation of one week, December 28; accepted a bid of approximately $1,000 from Steve Malott for repairs to the town dump truck; gave Sand permission to get a price for an update to the present drainage map which is dated 1935 and asked that he check with the County Surveyor to see if there are copies of the map in the county office; made a decision to hold an extra meeting each month beginning in January for work on town ordinances.

The next meeting of the Mentone Town Board will be held Monday, December 28, at 7:00 p.m. in the town hall.

Chosen "Farmer of the week"

THE WABASH COUNTY FARM BUREAU, Inc., Wabash, Indiana, chose as their "Farmer of the Week" last week a local woman who was nominated for the honor by a Wabash businessman. This honor was in recognition of the "fine job of helping feed people in Indiana and around the world," and along with the honor was a "Farmer of the Week" cap presented to Ms. Esther Silveus, Rt. 2, Akron.

Ms. Silveus manages and operates her own farm of 160 acres of which she farms approximately .80 acres and cash rents the remainder. The farm, located southwest of Silver Lake, produces corn, beans, wheat and hay. She also raises cattle and hogs. Esther said, "I've always been a farmer."

Six-year-old dies in mobile home fire

Saturday, December 5th at Mentone, fire spread rapidly through the west end of a Harrison Township mobile home early Saturday and claimed the life of six-year-old Jennifer McGlennen.

Mentone firefighters were summoned to the Terry McGlennen residence shortly after 7 a.m. When they arrived at the scene, which is located at County Roads 100 South and 675 West, the mobile home was engulfed in flames.

Mentone fire officials immediately called for the assistance of the Atwood Fire Department. Thirty firefighters battled the blaze, bringing the flames under control within 30 minutes. They remained at the scene until 9:30 a.m.

Fire officials believe the fire started around the furnace in the utility room. Not long after that, Jennifer was awakened by the smoke in her room and awakened her mother.

Mrs. McGlennen went to the child's room and found it full of flames. She went to the front of the home, awoke her nine-year-old daughter and took her out the front door.

Broke Out Window

She told fire officials she thought Jennifer was behind her. Once outside, she noticed the youngster was not there and returned to find her. She went to the rear bedroom but failed to find the child. In order to escape, the mother broke the back door window.

A brother-in-law, Cecil Bryer, was on his way to work when he saw flames coming out the front window and over the top of the mobile home. He went to the rear of the home where he found Mrs. McGlennen and the older daughter yelling for Jennifer. He tried to get into the home to save the youngster, but the intense flames and heat drove him back.

The west end of the mobile home was completely burned out, according to Mentone Fire Chief Joe Good. Officials from the State Fire Marshal's office were investigating the fatality.

Kosciusko County Coroner Gary Eastlund ruled that Jennifer died of smoke inhalation. The youngster's body was found in the parent's bedroom.

The cause of the blaze has not been determined. Fire officials will continue to investigate it.

Anyone wishing to make donations of furniture, clothing or food to the family may contact Roseland Mentzer, 353-7669 or the Red Cross Office in Warsaw, 267-5244.

Fatal Blaze Last Year

It was nearly one year ago when four members of a Mentone family suffocated to death while trying to escape their burning home.

Mentone firemen found the bodies of Daryl Wright, 22, his wife, Tammy (Stavedahl) Wright, 20, and their two children, Donna Marie, 2, and Douglas, six months old, all huddled together on the floor of a northeast bedroom Dec. 16, 1980. The home was located at the corner of Jefferson and South Oak streets in the southwest section of Mentone.

Shewman injured in farm accident

Ron Shewman, R. 2, Akron, lost his left arm at the elbow in a farming accident, Monday, Dec. 7, approximately 6:30 in the evening while he and Jack Burke, R. 1, Mentone were unloading a load of corn at Shewman's farm northwest of Akron.

Shewman's clothing caught on the drive shaft of the gear box, pulling his right arm into the gears, then flipped him over the auger where his right arm came loose, but clothing on the left arm caught in the same drive shaft, pulling off his upper clothing, catching his hand and arm which was pulled apart at the elbow joint.

He was taken by Burke to Woodlawn Hospital where he was immediately transferred to Kosciusko Community Hospital, Warsaw, where he underwent 2 1/2 hours of emergency surgery.

It is reported he had lost almost 50% of his body blood, so has underwent blood transfusions and more surgery since Monday evening. He is reported in fair condition and is expected to be hospitalized several more days.

Break-in at Mentone School

Vandals broke into the Mentone School early Thursday morning between 1 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. A window in a rear door was broken to gain entrance to the building. Money which had been collected for the McGlennen family, totaling $60 to $70 and other loose change in the office was taken. No other damage was done.

This is the fourth year the Farm Bureau has sponsored the contest, which recognizes the role of farm women in agriculture today.

Icy accident

Michael A. Messer, 17, Akron, received a bump on the head and several bruises in a one-car accident Tuesday evening during a snowstorm which blanketed the area with two inches of snow, making driving hazardous.

Messer was westbound on Indiana 114, West of Co. Rd. 1400 E. when he lost control of his 1970 Mercury on the icy road and struck a mailbox at approximately 7:10 p.m. The other passenger in the car, Tony Ousley, Akron, also received several bruises.

Enjoy Christmas dinner

The Omega Community Club met at the home of Emma Burns, Akron to enjoy a pot-luck Christmas dinner, with many of the delicious dishes made by the hostess.

Zenobia Burdge gave devotions in keeping with the season, and Gloria Bowen had charge of the program. Game prizes were won by Janice Stubblefield and Ruth Bowen. A recipe exchange was held for the roll call, and the meeting ended with a gift exchange. Bernice Bowen accompanied the group in singing Christmas Carols, and a get-well card was signed for Mildred Butts. The January meeting will be at the home of Gloria Bowen.

There are simpler ways to keep heating costs down.

That's good to know!

Now that winter is upon us, NIPSCO urges you to consider some of the simpler and inexpensive ways to conserve your heating dollars.

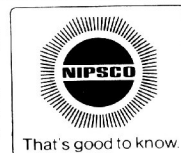

For example, always keep your thermostat set at the lowest possible temperature setting. One that's two to four degrees less than what you're used to.

Make sure your furnace filters are clean and replaced when necessary. When your fireplace is not in use, make certain the damper is tightly shut.

Check for air leaks and cracks around your windows and doors. Add weatherstripping or caulking where needed. Keep the opening of outside doors to a minimum. Keep the doors and vents of unused rooms closed. Don't block your heating vents or cold air returns with carpet or furniture.

And finally, open your draperies on sunny days; take advantage of the sun's warmth.

No matter how insignificant these little energy-saving practices may seem, collectively they can all work to lower your heating costs.

That's good to know.

December 17

Man had dreamed of flying like a bird for centuries. But it wasn't until two Ohio brothers named Wright, at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, made a successful flight in a heavier-than-air machine on December 17, 1903, that the air age began.

Americans can be proud the first flight took place in this country. Englishmen, Germans, and Frenchmen, as well as others, had been working toward the long-cherished goal. Orville and Wilbur Wright of Dayton had been experimenting with gliding craft for years when on one of them they finally mounted a sixteen horsepower motor. On the 17th, it flew more than 800 feet for 59 seconds.

S.P. Langley of the United States was also on the verge of success with his aircraft (equipped with a steam engine) and Octave Chanute, also an American, was flying a craft without a motor at this time. Sir Hiram Maxim of England and Otto Lilienthal of Germany were close to success.

The flying machine presented to the world in 1903 developed slowly until World War I, but from that time on there was no doubt the 20th century would be the air-age century.

Valley Forge

One of the most discouraging Decembers for Americans was in 1777, after the battles of Brandywine and Germantown, which led to the occupation of the nation's capital at Philadelphia that autumn.

Washington had kept his army intact, which numbered about 11,000 men, and he moved it into a strong position about twenty-four miles northwest of Philadelphia.

The position was well situated for defense and Congress was then sitting in York, and from Valley Forge Washington was in a position to block the British if they moved on the temporary capital.

Washington encamped there exactly 204 years ago on the 19th (1777). It was to be the hardest winter for his army because the commissary department and quartermaster general failed to deliver adequate supplies to his troops.

But under the stern training of German-born Baron Steuben, the men were turned into a disciplined army.

After that gloomy winter, American hopes began to rise. The British evacuated Philadelphia in June, 1778, and Washington reoccupied it on the 18th. The epic news reached Philadelphia on October 22, 1781, that Lord Cornwallis had surrendered on the 19th at Yorktown, Virginia.

Call On Waste!

The Office of Management and Budget recently established telephone hot lines for the average citizen. He or she now can use these hot lines to report federal waste or fraudulent activities involving federal funds.

This allows the taxpayer to help prevent waste and inefficiency and to do something about it when found. These toll-free numbers may be obtained at one's congressman's office in the district--there's no necessity of calling Washington to get them.

Polls have shown that in the past, taxpayers have often not reported waste and fraud primarily because of the cost of long-distance telephoning and the lack of a clear understanding as to what office should be called.

New taxpayer hot lines eliminate these obstacles and now more taxpayers can see that tax dollars are wisely and honestly spent.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

I live in a big old house and I always enjoy having the children come for Christmas dinner. During the past few years my daughters have urged me to have one celebration at one of their houses but for some reason it does not seem the same to me. So we have decided to compromise and while they all come home--the children and grandchildren--they each help out. I cook the turkey, dressing, etc., and they bring the salad and dessert. The granddaughters help wait on the table and everyone joins in with cleaning up. In this way it is not too much for any one person as we have thirty-one members. Everyone seems to have a good time and I would feel lost if they didn't come home.

I thought I would pass the suggestion along for grandmothers who feel that the family has grown too large for one person to handle.

The small grandchildren prepare poems and songs for the occasion and we always make it a real celebration.

Then, my children live in modern, smaller houses and mine is the only one large enough to take care of the crowd.

Grandmother--Tenn.

Answer:

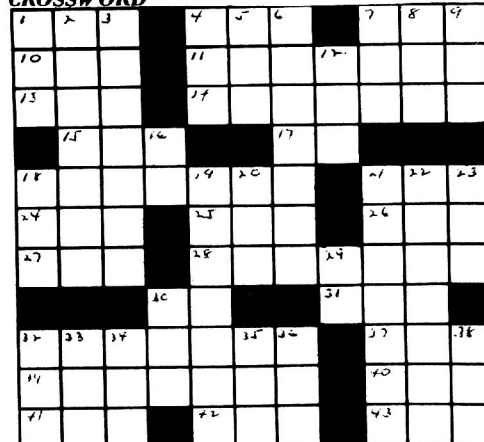

Your solution is wonderful for your family--however, there are grandmothers who have sold their homes and live in small apartments. But they can always put their personal touches on the family gathering even though it is being held at one of the children's homes. Grandmother may have a special recipe for a dish that she makes better than anyone else or if she is not strong her mere presence may give meaning to this Christmas gathering of the family.

This should be a time when families forget their differences and try to emulate the life of Christ whose birthday they celebrate.

Louisa.

TAKEN FROM THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP NEWS DECEMBER 11, 1941 40 YEARS AGO

A committee, with Chancery Mollenhour as chairman, was named in the last meeting of the Mentone Lions club last Wednesday night, to make arrangements for the holiday decorations for the Main Street of Mentone. The committee, with the assistance of other public-spirited individuals, completed the task Sunday evening and each evening now the varied colored lights of the Christmas season send forth their soft beams to welcome us into the spirit of Christmas-Good Cheer to All.

Floyd Tucker has returned to his home at Mentone after serving as a member of the federal grand jury at Fort Wayne last week. Over fifty cases were presented to the jury, 45 of which were acted upon. Many of them involved selectees who failed to report for call in one respect or another.

The Mentone Lions club will have the usual Community Christmas tree treat this year, on Christmas eve, December 24th.

A group of singers have been selected and a chorus has been formed to sing a number of Christmas songs prior to the giving away of the Christmas treat.

Radio interference the past few days, while everyone is anxious to get every word of the last war reports, is rather exasperating. There seems to be no particular time of day or night when the static is present. Everyone can check their own appliances to see if they create noise in their receiving sets, and if any of them are offenders the trouble can likely be eliminated with little or no expense.

Lawrence, three-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. Fowler, of Mentone, is ill at his home with a mild case of scarlet fever. The home was placed under quarantine Saturday evening. There is no way of determining just where the lad came in contact with the disease germs other than he was with his parents on a shopping tour at Plymouth a week ago Monday. Rev. Fowler states that he doesn't believe anyone else in the community came in contact with the boy after the first symptoms of illness appeared Thursday and there need be no fear by others that the disease will occur in any other home.

Kenneth Horn and Miles Kesler are home from Camp Shelby for a 10-day furlough.

Robert Kinsey has purchased the C.G. Carter property on North Franklin street. The transaction was handled by M.O. Mentzer.

Vel Taylor and family were pleasantly surprised Thursday evening at their home near Mentone when the neighbors came in unexpectedly for a farewell party. The Taylor family is moving soon to their newly purchased farm near Burket. A social evening was spent. Refreshments of pop corn, candy and apples were served.

The Mentone Home Economics club met for the annual Christmas pot luck dinner at the home of Mrs. Ottie Swick, with every member present. Mrs. Swick's home was beautifully decorated to display the Christmas spirit.

The following paragraph was written by a Junior class member of Mentone shortly after the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

American forces were caught asleep in Hawaii and in the Philippines. Many American soldiers were killed in the bombing of the first day. Maybe America is asleep like England was when Germany struck. After the World War, Germany went ahead preparing for another war while England did nothing. The United States did practically the same thing, although not quite so bad. America will win this war, but we must get on our feet first.

Thousands more soldiers will train in army camps in the next few years. The age limit will be lowered to 18 instead of 21, taking some boys in high school. The winner of this war will be, we believe, the country that can make the most mechanized equipment in the shortest time. This should be America!

The acid was believed to have come from the fire extinguisher he was attempting to use. The Mentone post office sustained heavy smoke and water damage. this holiday season

Overloading electrical circuits during the Christmas season is one of the leading causes of household fires. To help keep this holiday season joyous and safe, avoid creating "octopus" outlets—too many cords in one outlet. Use only Underwriters Laboratory approved lights and appliances and be sure to repair or replace defective plugs and electrical cords. We also suggest that only non-flammable decorations be used and that all decorative lights be turned off before going to bed or leaving the house unattended.

Make this holiday season a joyous and safe one. For more information on electrical safety, call your nearest Public Service Indiana office.

Now is the accepted time for the birthday of the King

The following message was submitted to the Akron-Mentone News as a Christmas article by Marietta Fuller, 1313 Sportsman Dr., Jeffersonville IN 47130.

We have heard that Christmas is not the time when Christ was born; and that is true. Sheep would have been in their fold in the wintertime and so the date of His birth was probably in September or October. However, let us not quibble over such a minor thing, for of utmost importance is to know that "...now is the accepted time for the birth of the King;... behold now is the day of salvation..." (II Cor. 6:2) Find room in the "Inn" of your hearts to receive Him so that today Jesus might be born to reign over your lives as King of Kings and Lord of Lords! When a person receives that new birth from above, his life is changed and his praises ring out and he, too, can sing as the angels did, "Glory to the new born King," for Jesus lives inside in the Holy Spirit for He is Emmanuel, "God with us."

Before the first coming of our Lord, Caesar was busy with his taxing program needed to build up his prestige, wealth, and pride for he considered himself a god; the inn keeper had "no room in the inn" either physically or spiritually for he had no compassion for a woman seen to be with child; and Herod did not want a King to be born thus taking away the powers of his physical kingdom and his evil heart even sought to kill the baby Jesus. Today, as in those days, many people are living in the darkness of sin. Jesus said, "I am come a light unto the world that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness." (John 1:9)

And the wise men questioned, "Where is He that is born King of the Jews; for we have seen His star in the East and are come to worship Him." (Matt 2:2) They had followed the star-the light-for Jesus is the light of the world; and we, too, can be wise if we but follow His commandments all throughout the Bible for His Word is a lamp unto our feet. (Ps. 119:105). We think of the star atop that lighted Christmas tree; we see the illuminated face of a child as he gazes at the manger scene on the lawn where a spotlight is directed on the Holy Child; a great deal of emphasis is placed on Christmas stories, carols, and scripture on radio and TV, but the greatest light comes as men gather at church to hear the story of His birth which never grows old. "and thou shalt call His Name Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sins." (Matt 1:21) And as our sins are forgiven, a peace settles over us. No wonder the heavenly host praised God saying, "Glory to God in the highest and on earth, peace, good will toward men;" (Luke 2:14) for Jesus rules in peace on that cleansed white throne of our hearts.

Many wise men (just three would not have upset wicked King Herod) brought three gifts-gold for His Kingship; frankincense for His sweet life and the fellowship we have with our Priest as He cleanses us and sets us free from sin; and myrrh for His burial. You might say as Christina Rossetti did: "What can I give Him, poor as I am? If I were a shepherd, I would bring a lamb, If I were a Wise Man, I would do my part, Yet what can I give Him, give my heart." And it does seem as though love is especially shed abroad in the hearts of men by the Holy Spirit of Christ at this time of the year. The hungry are fed, the naked are clothed, the refugees are given shelter, the widows are comforted, the sick, shut-ins, prisoners, nursing homes and other institutions are visited with baked goodies. Christmas gifts, scriptures, plays, and carols, old toys are made like new for the needy, money is given to various charities, and the workers for the Salvation Army ring out bells proclaiming that this is the time of the year to think of others less fortunate than we.

These gifts befitting a King! (Matt. 6:19-21) They consist of gold that will withstand the fire of judgement for works, sweet fellowship (frankincense) with the King because love fulfills all the law and loving others is truly loving the Lord. (Jn. 14:15 and 13:34); and we partake of His burial (Myrrh) since our sins are covered by His blood and we are crucified with Christ (Gal. 2:20) We are dead to sin and selfishness for Christ liveth in us. Furthermore, the King says, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." (Matt. 25:40)

Know the wonders of it all as you meditate on the fact, I AM A CHILD OF THE KING and let your heart cry out portions of Handel's Messiah, such as HALLELUJAH! HALLELUJAH! HALLELUJAH!

HOLIDAY BLOOMS

Poinsettias have been the flower of Christmas since the 17th century, when Franciscan friars in Mexico first chose the beautiful red flower to adorn their Nativity celebrations. Over the centuries, breeding has led to hardy white, pink and marbled varieties and the poinsettia has become a traditional holiday decoration and gift. Varieties now available range from Pixie plant to poinsettia trees that grow to be three feet tall. Sometimes even after the holidays, the poinsettias keep their color, some as long as three to four months.

When buying a poinsettia, check the berrylike yellow flowers in the center of the plant. In the youngest plants, they will appear as little green buds. Avoid plants with no flowers, these are old, and will lose their color quickly.

The Akron Keen-Agers Christmas Party will be held December 23rd. There will be all day activities beginning at 10:00 a.m. and lasting until 4:00 p.m.

Three Vikings on AP Class A All-State Team

Three Tippecanoe Valley football players, including two juniors, have been selected to the Associated Press' Class A all-state team. Brent Hoffman was picked as a running back, junior Tod Utter as an offensive lineman and junior Craig Kantner as a center.

Wrestlers host supper

Tippecanoe Valley wrestlers have begun their 1981-82 season. The grapplers will be competing during the months of December and January. To assist in the purchase of new equipment, the wrestlers and their parents will be having a ham and bean supper from 4:30 to 6:30 December 19th in the Commons before the LaVie basketball game. They will also be selling raffle tickets for a beautiful afghan to be given away at the LaVie game.

Twelve Mile Annual Yule Pageant set

The 11th annual Living Christmas Pageant at Twelve Mile will be conducted Dec. 18, 19 and 20th from 7 to 9 p.m. in Plank-Hill Park.

It is composed of seven tableaux of the birth of Christ, the true Christmas. Also to be seen are five scenes of the more traditional aspects of Christmas, no-Biblical. All are portrayed by many local people and include live animals.

Last year the presentation was seen by over 5,000 people. There is no charge, nor is any solicitation made. Visitors need not leave their cars; photos are encouraged. Santa and wife, music, an "Old Fashioned Christmas" and more are on the schedule.

Akron EMT party

Sunday evening, December 6th, the Akron E.M.T.'s held their annual Christmas dinner meeting in the Akron Lion's Den. The carry-in dinner was shared by twenty hungry members and guests. Special guest was Dr. Ernest Anderson, Director of Fulton County E.M.S.

Town Deputy David Kruger made a brief appearance to give a few words of encouragement to our three student EMT's and wish all a happy and safe holiday. A small gift exchange was enjoyed. Sheila Allen won the door prize.

Brethren Church Cantata

A cantata, Love Transcending, will be presented by members of the Akron Church of the Brethren on Sunday evening, Dec. 20th at 7 p.m.

"As we once again come to consider the manger and view the babe lying there, may we fully realize that we are looking at God Himself, clothes in mortal flesh! And may our hearts, as never before, be gripped with the incomparable wonder of the incarnation and of the Love Transcending back of it all!" - John W. Peterson, author.

You are invited to attend.

The happiest person in this community is probably the one who has helped the most people, in one way or another.

Defensive tackle Bill Hawkins of TVHS, who missed the second half of the season with a neck injury, earned honorable mention as did Utter as a place-kicker and Hoffman as a defensive back.

The team was headed by Class A champion Hamilton Southeastern quarterback Ron Moyer, who passed for 3,248 yards and an astounding 41 touchdowns this season.

Hoffman joined Moyer, Southeastern's Kevin DeTrude and Lawrenceburg's Trent Todd in the first-team backfield. Hoffman, a tailback who was a starter for the first year, rushed for some 1,200 yards and scored 98 points on 15 touchdowns and four two-point runs. As a safety, he was Valley's defensive point leader.

Utter, a 191-pound junior who was honorable mention as a sophomore, was an offensive guard. Interestingly, he was only second team all-Three Rivers Conference. As a kicker, Utter made 18 PATs and two field goals after taking over the Viking's place-kicking duties around midseason.

Kantner is a 6-4, 191-pounder with what TVHS coach Charlie Smith considers the potential to be Valley's finest offensive lineman ever. He also was first-team TRC as a center.

Prepare to print Mentone history

Work is progressing on preparation for the printing of a history of Mentone commemorating the 100th centennial year, 1982.

The Milbern School Historical Association, organized in 1976 to promote the restoration of the Milbern School on Shilling Road, 3 miles northeast of Mentone, initiated the planning for the book nearly two years ago. Other interested community persons are assisting and contributing much time and work to the book. It will be divided into sections covering Early History, Genealogical Business, Old and New, Clubs and Organizations, Community Services, such as Police and Fire Department, Special Events, such as Homecoming and Lawrence D. Bell Museum, Biography and Library, and Military. Some space in the book will also contain histories of nearby communities, Burket, Tippecanoe and Sevastopol. David Bowser is compiling histories of business, old and new and Eula (Mrs. Chester) Smith, hopes to have family histories completed shortly.

Advertising copy is now being solicited in the community and assistance is solicited, from everyone, in this segment of preparation prior to the printing of the book in early 1982. Ads are coming along well with great co-operation from the business community. There will also be space for individual citizen ads, on complimentary pages, at a nominal charge. If you would like to be included, in this portion, please call either of the following: Mrs. George (Gerry) Clark...353-7585 or Mrs. Frank (Jerry) Smith...353-7606.

Girls 3-0 in TRC

By Jerry Kindig II

The Tippecanoe Valley girls' basketball team stretched its Three Rivers Conference record to 3-0 last Thursday with a 56-30 victory over Eastern. Although, two days before, while visiting Wawasee the girls' team suffered their first loss of the season, 28-58.

WAWASEE

The Wawasee Warriors began the Tuesday evening game in a zone press and jumped to a quick 10-6 lead in the first quarter. Switching to a man-to-man press Wawasee outscored the Vikings 17 points to 5, making for a 11-27 halftime score. The deficit jumped 18 points by the end of the third period and continued with the game ending with Wawasee on top 58-28.

The Vikings were led by Sara Harrell with 11 points from four field goals and 3 free throws. Tammy Cooper scored six points on 3 field goals while Vicki Mattix put in 2 field goals for the Valley.

EASTERN
Coming back from the defeat by Wawasee the Vikings recovered with a 56-30 victory over TRC foe Eastern.

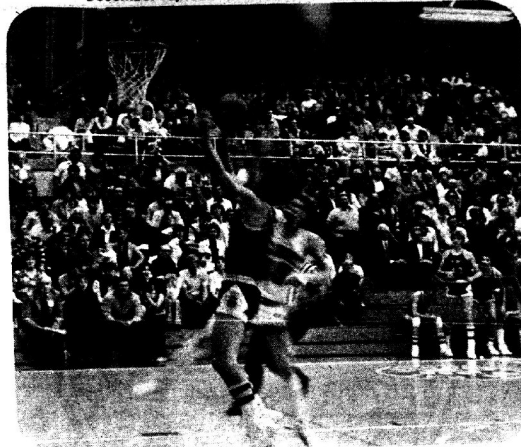

Tippecanoe Valley opened up a six point lead in the first quarter, 14-8. Scoring 13 points compared to 8 points for Eastern, during the second period of action, Valley led 27-16 at the half and went on to lead 37-18 by the end of the third quarter. Nineteen points added by the Vikings and 12 by Eastern ended the game with Valley on top 56-30.

Leading Valley with 16 points on 8 field goals was Lori Tilden with Cooper not far behind on 6 field goals and 2 free throws. Carleen Clappitt and Mattix scored eight and six points, respectively.

This Saturday, Tippecanoe Valley hosts LaVile at 12:30 p.m. for the last game before Christmas vacation.

Double loss for Vikes

Valley fans saw the boys' varsity basketball teams run into two consecutive brick walls last weekend, as Tippecanoe Valley lost 59-77 at Whitko Friday evening and returned home for a loss to highly-rated Northwood 45-71 Saturday evening. The Viking record now stands at 2-4 for the regular season and 1-1 in the TRC.

WHITKO

The First quarter of the Whitko-Valley game placed the Vikings into a hole from which they never recovered. Valley came out with a zone defense that proved effective for the opening minutes of the game until the height of the Wildcats took over. After two consecutive field goals by Whitko, Valley jumped back and put the basketball through the hoop two times for a 4-4 tie. Whitko broke the tie and went on to score one-third of their total for the evening, 25 points, in the first quarter, compared to only one more field goal for Valley.

Even though it looked dark for the Vikings, a small hope for recovery came in the second quarter, when with extraordinary defensive shifting in the zone, the Wildcats only scored one field goal in the first 3:41 of the second period compared to four for the Vikings. When the first half buzzer sounded, the Vikings had closed the Wildcat lead by three, but the 21-37 score still reflected the effect of the first quarter.

Both teams began the second half energetically but the rebounding strength in height of Whitko attempted to take complete command of the game, he Vikings fought off the attempt to make the third period a duplicate of the first but were outscored 20-12 which placed the Wildcat lead at 24 points, 33-57.

With Whitko securely in command, an average basketball team would have gone to the locker room and hung up the towel, but the Vikings pulled everything together in the 4th quarter and outscored the Wildcats 26-20!

In the end, the deficit of the first and third periods outweighed Valley's success in the second and fourth quarters. The final margin of victory was 18 points, 59-77, which was one-point less than the first period deficit.

Against Whitko, the Vikings were led by Andy Alspaugh with 22 points on 9 field goals and four free throws. Don Studebaker and Pat Lafferty each scored 8 points and Tod Utter, Jeff Webb, and Ray Davis added 5 points each to the score.

NORTHWOOD

Returning home, Saturday evening, the Vikings went up against the gigantic Northwood Panthers. The Panthers stepped out a 17-6 early lead in the first quarter by utilizing the overall height of their team.

The Vikings went to work in the second quarter and scored 15 points, but with two field goals in the closing minute, one at the buzzer, the Panthers accumulated 18 points to the Vikings' 15. During the third period play Northwood opened up the score even wider and made no doubt of their rebounding power.

The fourth quarter saw the Vikings outscoring Northwood 17 points to 14, but this only allowed Valley to regain a fraction of the lead, and the game ended at 71-45 with the Panthers winning.

Leading the Vikings against the Panthers was Alspaugh with 11 points on 5 free throws and three field goals. Tod Leckrone scored 8 points while Studebaker and Lafferty landed seven and six points respectively.

Hosting two teams next weekend Valley goes head to head against Northfield Friday evening and LaVile on Saturday.

Deadline for State Calendar of Events is Dec. 18th

Indiana organizations have until December 18 to include their event in the 1982 Spring/Summer Indiana Calendar of Events, according to Lt. governor John Mutz.

The calendar is published by the Indiana Department of Commerce, Tourism Development Division to provide information to travelers and to promote Indiana tourism from April to September. A Fall/Winter Calendar of Events is published annually listing October through March happenings.

Event organizers can contact the Tourism Division for an entry form.

Events will be listed if they are open to the general public, appeal to the public outside the community in which scheduled and begin within the six month period covered by the calendar. Each listing must be a specific event and not solely an attraction, however special events at an attraction may be included.

According to Mutz, Executive Director of the commerce department, events must attract at least 500 persons a day and must have more than one element or activity. The eligible event may be several diverse activities under a specific theme.

Sporting events will be listed if they have a wide geographic significance. The "500" Mile Race, National Drag Races and Madison Regatta are examples of acceptable events, but because of space limitations, seasonal sports schedules cannot be included.

As the lieutenant governor explains, "The Calendar of Events has become a major promotional tool for our state's tourism industry. Thousands of Hoosiers and visitors from other states rely on this calendar when planning weekend trips, family outings and vacations. It is very important for people involved in upcoming events to let us know about them so we can help promote each event."

Entry forms are available by contacting the Indiana Department of Commerce, Tourism Development Division, 440 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana 46204. (317) 232-8860.

Correct answer - d.

Tax changes for truck owners begin in January

A new indefinite situs property tax and higher registration fees for some truck owners will become effective on January 1, 1982 along with higher weight limits.

The indefinite situs tax will apply to trucks weighing over 11,000 lbs. and operated across state lines whether they are licensed in Indiana or licensed in other states and operated in Indiana. The new tax will replace local property taxes currently paid on such equipment.

While taxpayers will pay both local property and indefinite situs taxes in 1982, they will receive a credit towards the indefinite situs tax liability based on local property taxes paid in Indiana. Trucks operated only in Indiana will continue to be assessed local property taxes.

The tax due will be based on the assessed value of the interstate trucks (and related equipment) and the percent of miles that equipment operates in Indiana. The average statewide tax rate will be used to determine the tax.

Truck owners wanting to utilize the increased weight limits that will also go into effect in January will pay higher registration fees in 1982.

The new categories are:

74,000 pounds -	$595.25
76,000 pounds -	$650.25
78,000 pounds -	$700.25
over 78,000 pounds -	$760.25

Fee shown does not include $30 for semitrailer plate. The fee for farm semi-tractors is one-half of the fee shown above.

Trucks hauling over 73,280 pounds (the current limit) will have to comply with a highway engineer's bridge formula concerning the number of axles and spacing between the axles.

Although all trucks currently registered for 72,000 plus pounds will be listed on 1982 pre-printed registration forms from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles at 78,000 plus pound registrations, owners can change the registration on trucks that cannot scale over 78,000 pounds under the bridge formula by going through their local license branches.

Since most branch personnel may be unfamiliar with the bridge formula and the indefinite situs tax, persons with questions should contact the Indiana Motor Truck Association, 2165 S. High School Rd., Indianapolis, IN 46241 (317) 244-7851.

Politicians, like show people, give the public some truth and some hokum.

Lenders look at crop insurance present, many agricultural lenders are now recommending crop insurance for added security.

"One lender told us," added, Francis Hudkins "It is not necessarily one incident or one bad year, but several setbacks that may cause liquidation of a farmer."

As the farmer prepares to discuss his 1982 program with his lender, Francis Hudkins urged that he contact an insurance agent marketing "Multi-Peril" or "All-Risk" crop insurance. This will equip many with information that will be beneficial.

Small farms make comeback

Small farms, which fell in numbers year after year during the 1950's and 1960's, are bouncing back and will increase 18 to 20 percent by the end of the 1980's.

Howard W. Kerr, coordinator for small farms research for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service in the northeastern United States, made the comment and prediction here recently at the wrap-up session of a 2½ day symposium on small-scale farming.

This appraisal is based on small farming surveys he conducted in the Northeast in 1979 and again in 1981.

"There is a growing realization that small farms are not a declining backwater of American agriculture," Kerr said. "In fact, small farms in the Northeast are gaining an increasingly important role in the region's agriculture."

Asked exactly what is a "small" farm, Kerr said, "There's much confusion in people's minds about the answer to that question. The problem is that a farm considered 'small' under given circumstances is perceived as 'large' in another. A 'large' farm in the eastern United States, for example, might be 'small' in the western part of the country."

Kerr defines a small farm as self-sufficient in labor and management, with income below the non-metropolitan average for its state. Often, he said, the small farm is family-operated and at least one member of the family has a job off the farm.

People who commute to their jobs in cities have much in common with small-scale farmers, some of whom may abandon farming because of the increasing costs of commuting considerable distances to their off-farm jobs, said Kerr.

Forty-two percent of the farms in the 12-state area from West Virginia to Maine were classified as small farms. Sixty percent of the farms in New Hampshire, Rhode Island and West Virginia were considered small.

Kerr was asked which problems pose the biggest challenges to small-scale farmers in the 10 years ahead.

He said the most critical issues are land prices, interest rates and fuel costs, followed by employment opportunities.

"Fuel costs and employment opportunities are projected to worsen during the balance of the Eighties. Urbanization is expected to drive up land prices near the population centers in the Northeast."

Kerr said the survey findings on land prices and other issues in the Northeast could have implications for the outlook for small farms in other sections of the country as well.

Some crops have better potential than others for small farmers, Kerr said.

"Northeast small-scale farmers grow vegetables, sweet corn, tomatoes, berries, apples, strawberries, beef cattle, sheep, goats, hay forage crops and others. Strawberry production is especially prevalent and will continue to gain importance."

Ironically, the survey suggests, the same factors—energy shortages and travel costs—may help the small-scale farmer by turning consumers to local sources for their vegetables, berries and other foods. He said research is needed to find new ways of direct marketing crops, tailoring products to specific markets and increasing production on limited acres.

She makes movie tickets pay for themselves

By June Fuller

I answered the telephone. Wendy, my next-door neighbor, was calling.

"How would you like to see a movie this afternoon — my treat?" she asked.

I looked out the window. It was a rainy Saturday afternoon, and I was all alone at home.

"It's really a cute picture," Wendy pleaded.

I like Neil Simon movies. My neighbor's generous mood was enough to convince me to go.

The movie was very funny. But there were many noisy teen-agers in the audience who kept running up and down the aisles. I silently vowed to stay away from the movies on future Saturday afternoons.

As the picture was ending, Wendy leaned over to me and whispered, "Stay in your seat."

I began to suspect what she was up to.

The credits appeared on the screen, the house lights came on and everyone got up and started to move toward the exits.

That is, everyone but us. We just sat there and I started to feel a little uncomfortable.

"Let's walk up front," Wendy suggested. She rose and headed down the aisle with me in tow.

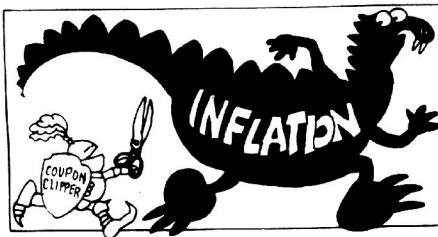

"The next show doesn't start for half an hour," Wendy said. "So, we have 15 minutes before the ushers come back to sweep up. There must be almost 500 candy wrappers on the floor!"

Wendy quickly pulled two big plastic trash bags out of her pocketbook and handed one of them to me.

"You take the left side, and I'll take the right," she said.

I could hardly control myself. I laughed and laughed and almost fell over backward.

I watched in fascination as Wendy made her way through the aisles. Each time she found a good proof of purchase, she held it up over her head and gave a little cheer.

Suddenly I realized that I had better move quickly if I was going to catch up with her.

Ten minutes later I reached the rear of the theater. My back was a little sore from bending over, but my plastic bag was filled with hundreds of M-and-M, Chunky and other candy wrappers.

"Do you want to try the balcony?" Wendy asked.

"Let's save that for next time," I said.

Trash bags in hand, eyes looking straight ahead, we calmly walked out of the theater.

On the way home Wendy said that she now saw most movies free thanks to all the refunds she was getting from candy wrappers. She had even made a profit on some of the offers.

"I'll go through your wrappers, take the proofs that I need for the cost of your ticket and give you back the rest," she said.

That's my neighbor Wendy — generous to a fault.

Unauthorized removal of grain will result in penalty

Robert Herrold, Chairman of the Fulton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, says producers who remove farm-stored grain, whether it is under loan or in reserve, without first obtaining authorization will be subject to penalty.

To strengthen farm prices, the ASCS reserve loan program provides loans to farmers who hold their grain off the market for a specific period or until market prices reach certain levels. The grain under loan is then stored in an approved facility on the farm or in a commercial warehouse.

"Program regulations require that farmers notify our office if they intend to sell the grain, or if the grain is out of condition and needs to be moved," Herrold said. If the grain is to be used for feed, the loan must be repaid before it is removed from the storage bin.

Farmers who remove reserve grain without prior authorization from ASCS will be required to pay a sizeable early redemption charge, and will be subject to having the loan called. Herrold said the violators also may be denied future farm stored loans.

When reserve grain is authorized for release, farmers may pay off the loan and sell the grain, leave it in the reserve, or pay off the loan and hold the grain.

The ASCS official cautions farmers not to jeopardize the farm stored loan program by removing grain without obtaining permission.

McKain withdraws

Congressman Floyd Fithian's competitor for the Democratic Secretary of State nomination, Scott McKain, withdrew his candidacy Wednesday, leaving Fithian as his party's sole contender.

Fithian, a four-term Democrat from Lafayette, announced in July that he would leave the Congress to run for Secretary of State.

McKain threw his support to Fithian during an Indianapolis press conference. Flanked by the Indiana Congressman and by Steven Beardsley, candidate for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination, McKain announced he will begin working on Beardsley's campaign staff.

Fithian welcomed McKain's support and emphasized his commitment to rebuilding the Democratic Party. "I will cooperate with all Democratic candidates in order to bring two-party representation back to Indiana," he said. "One-party Republican rule has drained jobs and the quality of life from our state for too long."

Fithian had nothing but praise for McKain at the press conference. "Scott is an extremely talented young man. He has a bright future in the Democratic Party. I know we haven't finished hearing from him."

REGISTRATION:

Except as otherwise provided, no snowmobile shall be operated on public property unless registered. Registration is not required for snowmobiles which are exclusively operated in a special event of limited duration which is conducted according to a prearranged schedule under a permit from the government unit having jurisdiction.

The owner of any snowmobile having been issued a certificate of registration for the snowmobile shall paint on or attach in a permanent manner to each side the forward half of the snowmobile the identification number in block characters of good proportion, not less than three (3) inches in height, reading from left to right. The numbers shall contrast with their background so as to be distinctly visible and legible.

A person shall not possess a snowmobile with an altered, defaced, or obliterated registration number.

OPERATION OF SNOWMOBILES

(a) A person shall not operate a snowmobile required to be registered under this chapter upon a public highway or street or right-of-way thereof or on a public or private parking lot not specifically designated for the use of snowmobiles except under the following conditions and circumstances:

(1) A snowmobile may be operated on the public right-of-way adjacent to the travelled portion of the public highway, except a limited access highway, if there is sufficient width to operate at a reasonable distance off and away from the travelled portion and in a manner so as not to endanger life or property.

(2) The operator of a snowmobile may cross a public highway, other than a limited access highway, at right angles for the purpose of getting from one (1) area to another when the operation can be done in safety. The operator shall bring his snowmobile to a complete stop before proceeding across any public highway and shall yield the right-of-way to all traffic.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, snowmobiles may be operated on a highway in a county road system outside the corporate limits of a city or town, which is designated for such purpose by the county highway department having jurisdiction.

(4) A duly constituted law enforcement officer of a city or town or county or the state may authorize use of a snowmobile on the public highways, streets, and right-of-way within his jurisdiction during emergencies when conventional motor vehicles cannot be used for transportation due to snow or other extreme highway conditions.

(5) A snowmobile may be operated on a street or highway for a special event of limited duration conducted according to a prearranged schedule only under permit from the governmental unit having jurisdiction. The event may be conducted on the frozen surface of public waters only under permit from the department of natural resources.

(b) A person under the age of fourteen (14) shall not operate a snowmobile without the immediate supervision of a person eighteen (18) years of age or older except on land owned or under the control of such person or his parent or legal guardian.

(c) No person shall operate a snowmobile, as defined in this chapter, on a public highway without a valid motor vehicle driver's license.

(d) A snowmobile shall not be used to hunt, pursue, worry, or kill a wild bird or any domestic or wild animal.

(e) A snowmobile shall not be operated unless it has at least one (1) headlight, one (1) taillight, and adequate brakes capable of producing deceleration at fourteen (14) feet a second on level ground at a speed of twenty (20) miles per hour.

(f) A person shall not operate a snowmobile:

(1) At a rate of speed greater than is reasonable and proper having due regard for conditions then existing.

(3) During the hours from one-half (1/2) hour after sunset to one-half (1/2) hour before sunrise without displaying a lighted headlight and a lighted taillight.

(4) In any forest nursery, planting area, or public lands posted or reasonably identified as an area of forest or plant reproduction and when growing stock may be damaged.

(5) On the frozen surface of public waters within one hundred (100) feet of a person not in or on a snowmobile or within a hundred (100) feet of a fishing shanty or shelter except at a speed of five (5) miles per hour or less.

Extension notes

by P. Rathbun

Now is the time that many are involved with Christmas preparations. The first preparation that usually gets the family in the spirit is the tree selection. Then comes the many Christmas decorations that add to the holiday festivities. Although Christmas trees, lights and decorations set the theme for the Christmas holidays, they can bring tragedy to your home if you don't keep holiday safety tips in mind.

A live pine tree reflects the feeling of an old fashioned Christmas. When shopping for yours, look for quality as well as price. Select a tree that's well shaped, full, and has good color. Test the tree for freshness. Feel the needles. If they are flexible when bent, the tree is fairly fresh. If the needles snap or feel brittle, look for a fresher tree. Next, stand the tree upright and pound the butt against the ground. If the needles fall off, the tree won't hold up. Remember, a fresh tree will stay green longer and be less of a fire hazard than a dry tree.

When you get your tree home, cut off about 2 inches of the trunk to have fresh open pores exposed. Put the base in water and keep it there until you're ready to stand it. Mount the tree in a sturdy, water-holding stand with wide-spread legs. Fill the base holder with water and keep it full while the tree is in the house. You will probably need to add water every day to insure it remains moist. Your tree should be located in a safe place—away from traffic areas, fireplaces, radiator or other source of heat. Don't rely on chemical coatings or sprays to make your live evergreen flame-resistant.

Before you string the lights on your tree, check them for safety. Use only lights that have been tested for safety and bare the UL label. Check each set of lights for broken or cracked sockets, frayed or bare wires, loose connections. Discard any lights that don't pass your safety inspection. Overloading a circuit with too many lights could cause a fire. Read the manufacturer's instructions carefully and do not use more than the recommended number of lights in one circuit. Always turn lights off when no one is in the room, when you retire or leave the house.

The additional tree trimmings are just as important as the tree and lights when it comes to safety. These decorations demand a constant alertness. Purchase tinsel or artificial icicles made from a non-leaded material. Leaded materials may be hazardous if eaten by children or pets. If youngsters are a part of your family, take special care to avoid any decorations that tend to break easily or have sharp edges. Keep trimmings that are small or have removable parts out of reach of children. These pieces may be easily swallowed. Don't purchase ornaments that resemble candy or

WINTER GARDENING

The wind may be howling the snow into drifts outside... but it's already garden planning time in hundreds of thousands of American homes. And, whether your winter is snowy or mild, with the cost of store-bought produce as high as it is today, we thought you'd like to learn a few tips from Jack Roland Coggins of Raymond, Nebraska. Mr. Coggins claims, "I garden seriously... so seriously that I've learned to grow ten times more vegetables in my organic produce plot than most other gardeners can raise on the same size patch."

What is Jack's secret? Number one, he plants jumbo varieties of most of the vegetables he cultivates. "When you harvest 20-pound cabbages, 50-pound squash, 40-pound watermelons, and 2-1/2-pound onions," says Jack, "your yield adds up fast!"

Number two, Coggins concentrates on heavy producers when he plants fruits and vegetables that aren't available in giant size. "In general," he advises, "if the word prolific appears on a seed pack, I know I've got a winner even before I begin putting in my garden."

And, number three, Jack "double crops" most of his produce patch. "Fertile, organically rich land will usually grow two or more crops during a single season, if you know how to start a second planting while the first is still ripening. Early beans, for instance, can be followed, on the same ground, by celery, corn, carrots, or beets."

So let it blow outside! This is the season to sit by the fire, flip through a good seed catalog or two... and dream of Jack Roland Coggins-sized yields!

Of course, you could also follow the advice of John C. Hucksans, who does more than dream. "If you haven't started this year's garden yet, it's high time you began," he says. And John, who raises bountiful harvests on a small city lot in upstate New York, knows what he's talking about.

"Instead of waiting for the traditional beginning of the gardening season—which falls around Memorial Day in my area—I started a few tomato plants in flower pots one January. I don't have any fancy equipment for indoor gardening, but the vines seemed to grow quite well when simply placed in a large, southern bay window."

"By mid-March, the plants were 15 inches tall and starting to bloom. I actually began picking vine-ripened tomatoes, indoors, in April... and harvested my first ripe outdoor tomatoes on May 16. (This was about two weeks before most of my neighbors even set their plants outside!)"

Start a garden next month? You'd better believe it's a good idea... even if you live as far north as upstate New York!

And while those tomatoes are growing in your south-facing window, it'll also be a good time to make sure your gardening equipment is in top running order. Take advantage of the less busy season to oil, sharpen, and otherwise care for your tools, clean up your greenhouse, and—in general—take care of the myriad little chores that you won't have time for later in the year.

foods as a small child may try to eat them.

Canker sores & fever blisters

Have you ever had an "aphthous stomatitis" attack? Probably you're more familiar with the common name for this affliction: canker sores. These uncomfortable ulcers, along with another common problem, fever blisters, cause discomfort and annoyance to millions of Americans.

To explain the causes and treatment of these conditions, the National Institutes of Health, of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has a booklet, Canker Sores and Fever Blisters. For your copy, send $1.50 to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 147J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Canker sores are usually limited to the lining of your mouth and the inside of the cheek and lips, the tongue or soft palate. Most people feel pain before the canker sore is visible. What it looks like is a small punched out hole. It's round or oval, grayish white and has a bright red edge. There may be some swelling in nearby tissue.

Canker sores are not contagious. While the cause of canker sores isn't really known, physical or emotional stress appears to be involved. A study of a group of university students revealed that canker sores were more likely to develop during exam periods than during vacations. Women are twice as likely to have canker sores as men, and the condition may flare up occasionally with the onset of menstruation.

Anything that affects the lining of the mouth can aggravate canker sores. It may be physical damage such as cuts, bruises, or the scratch of a stray toothbrush bristle, or it may be a chemical effect. Some people avoid chocolates, walnuts, or acidic foods such as citrus fruits, tomatoes and condiments such as vinegar because they seem to trigger the ulcers.

If left untreated, canker sores usually heal in 10 to 14 days. Neither vitamins or special foods help the condition unless a specific deficiency exists.

What is helpful is holding a suspension of tetracycline in the mouth for a few minutes and then swallowing it. The antibiotic reduces healing time to 5 to 7 days. Repetition of this treatment several times a day usually relieves the pain in 24 hours. However, your physician may not want to give tetracycline to a pregnant woman or to a young child, since the antibiotic may cause permanent staining of the baby's or child's teeth.

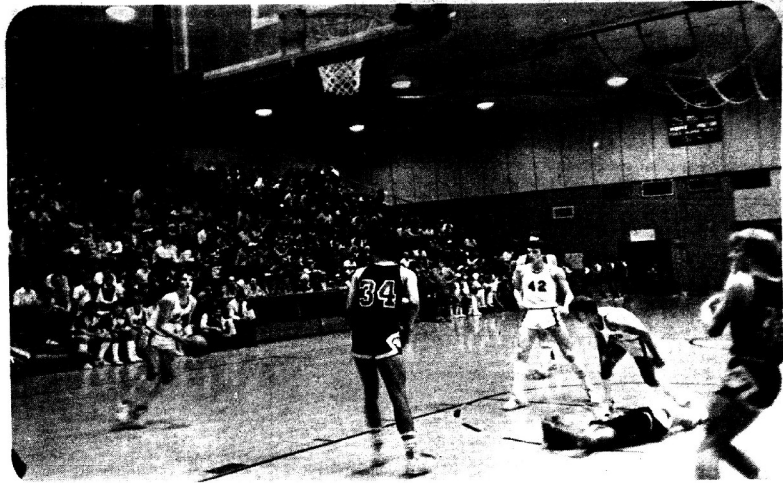

Fever blisters or cold sores are very contagious, and are caused by the virus, herpes simplex. Fever blisters often appear when physical resistance is low as a result of illness, particularly colds or other upper respiratory infections. These blisters also are associated with periods of emotional stress or with overexposure to the sun's ultraviolet rays.

Although most viral infections cannot be cured by drugs, the blisters should not be neglected. Local anesthetics can relieve pain, antibiotics can control secondary bacterial infections when they occur, and ointments can soften crusts.

Steroid hormone ointments are not recommended because they lessen defense against infections and may spread the virus. Fortunately, the sores seldom scar, and usually heal by themselves in a week or two. Unless the individual is badly malnourished, vitamins don't appear to help.

When you order Canker Sores and Fever Blisters ($1.50) you'll also receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the free Catalog lists over 200 selected free and low-cost federal consumer booklets.

Penalty increases for filing false W-4 form & tax returns

Taxpayers who file false withholding information or negligent tax returns face stiffer penalties as a result of changes made by the Economic Recovery Act of 1981.

The '81 act increases the civil penalty for filing false withholding information from $50.00 to $500.00. The '81 act also increases from $500.00 to $1,000.00 the criminal penalty for willfully failing to supply information or for willfully supplying false or fraudulent information in connection with wage withholding. A prison sentence of "not more than one year" may be imposed in addition to the $1,000.00 fine for criminal convictions. The above changes apply to acts of failure to act after December 31, 1981. Taxpayers would be subject to the stiffer penalties if they fail to correct false W-4's by December 31, 1981.

The negligence penalty imposed for underpayments of tax due to negligence or intentional disregard of rules and regulations was also increased by the '81 act. Existing law provides for a penalty of 5% of the underpayment if any part of the underpayment is due to negligence or intentional disregard of rules and regulations.

The '81 act provides, in addition to the 5% penalty, that an additional penalty will be assessed equal to 50% of the interest amount due on the underpayment.

The additional 50% penalty will be due on the portion of the underpayment which is attributable to negligence or intentional disregard of rules and regulations. The new 50% penalty applies to the interest assessed for the period beginning on the last day for payment of the underpayment and ending on the date of the additional tax assessment. The additional negligence penalty is a nondeductible addition to the tax. The additional negligence penalty applies to taxes due after December 31, 1981.

Dear Santa,
The only things I want for Christmas are, a Big Trak, a Snake, a Stomper, and a small record player.

I got a new dog Nov. 17 this year, and I'm sure that he'd like it if you brought him a toy.

I've been pretty good this year, but I'm trying harder.

Tuesday trash pickup for Akron

Trying to eliminate some expenses from the town budget, the Akron Town Board members decided to approve the motion made by Trustee Waymire in last week's meeting, to cut down to one day for trash pick up. The motion was made to make the one day on Tuesday, effective the first of the new year. President Ron Fenimore stated that by cutting down to one day pick up, residents would still have free pick up. The board asks the town residents to please co-operate by burning as much of the paper trash as possible to cut down on volume of trash to be hauled.

Fenimore reported that Brown has completed a quit claim deed for the four lots East of Gagnon Chevrolet which Dr. Kenneth Hoff is offering to donate to the town of Akron. Dr. Hoff will donate the lots with provisions that they be used as the home of a future fire station, for a park, or any other project which would be met by his approval. The board will establish some sort of plaque on the premises, stating that the property was donated by Dr. Hoff.

Akron Police Chief, Bill Murphy, and patrolman, Dave Kruger, attended the meeting to petition the board for a private phone line for the department, and at a future date asked to be allowed to purchase an answering machine for when they are out of the office. The phone at present is an extension of the one in the Clerk's office and the Water Department office. Murphy and Kruger stated many reasons why there should be a private line for their use. They also wanted people reminded about the phone number 893-4123 or if no answer, people may call the Fulton County Sheriff's Department at Rochester 223-2819 and the message will be relayed immediately.

The board members said they would take the request under consideration and when the board receives an estimate on the cost of the phone installation, they will discuss the matter further. Fenimore stated that the police department would be getting a new radio during 1982, because it was included in the budget. Murphy told the board that they should be thinking about getting a new radar system, in the future, because the one now in use will soon be obsolete and evidence gathered with the present one would not be admissible in court.

Fenimore reported that a quit claim deed had been prepared by Jess Brown, and Howard and Helen Uter had signed the deed to Lot 17 in Northwood Addition, Akron, over to the town. This move was made because of the offer by Michael Tilden to purchase the lot which adjoins his property. The lot will now be Santa even listens to BIG KIDS!! Jack Miller, Akron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller, Mentone, age unknown.

There are simpler ways to keep heating costs down.

That's good to know!

Now that winter is upon us, NIPSCO urges you to consider some of the simpler and inexpensive ways to conserve your heating dollars.

For example, always keep your thermostat set at the lowest possible temperature setting. One that's two to four degrees less than what you're used to.

Make sure your furnace filters are clean and replaced when necessary. When your fireplace is not in use, make certain the damper is tightly shut.

Check for air leaks and cracks around your windows and doors. Add weatherstripping or caulking where needed. Keep the opening of outside doors to a minimum. Keep the doors and vents of unused rooms closed. Don't block your heating vents or cold air returns with carpet or furniture.

And finally, open your draperies on sunny days; take advantage of the sun's warmth.

No matter how insignificant these little energy-saving practices may seem, collectively they can all work to lower your heating costs.

Happy Holidays!

This newspaper wishes its readers a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year and wishes to thank them for this past year of readership and, therefore, for their interest in the betterment of this community.

Newspapers have traditionally been a form of public service in America and the fact that the nation contains ten thousand weeklies and fifteen hundred dailies makes it impossible that any one philosophy or presentation monopolizes the news and editorial columns of America.

The great blessing of the community newspaper is that it offers local news and views in addition to national and international news; its editorial voice is locally controlled.

News for the news columns and opinion in editorials—and plenty of entertainment for all the family as well—can be enjoyed whenever the reader wishes to enjoy it in a newspaper. That plus advertisements, which can be read when the reader wishes to read them, is still the best buy in our society.

Old-Time Christmas

Most of us long for an "old-time" Christmas. And what do we mean by an "old-time?"

If we go back four or five decades, many families were hard pressed to earn enough to pay the rent, to buy sufficient food and clothes to keep going.

We didn't have as many automobiles. We didn't have as many work-saving appliances and gadgets. We were at war—in 1941-45, 1950-53 and 1963-74. We didn't always have the variety of foods, toys and amusements we have today, including television.

But the "old-time" Christmas was fulfilling and enjoyable. Perhaps it was because we thought of it as more of a time for family reunion, quiet days and evenings of family life together, meals together, games together, etc.

The age of the automobile and television in some ways splits and separates families, even though modern transportation theoretically brings families together.

The superabundance of amusements seems to mean fewer family undertakings, less time in family pursuits, less time for family discussions and thanksgiving.

Much of the spirit of "old-time" Christmases was to be found in family gatherings and appreciation of the day for what it represented in the Christian world.

Christmas, 1981

Christmas, the Feast of the Nativity, is the most important feast of the Christian year. It's the anniversary, as close as we can come to it, of the birth of Jesus of Nazareth, who became known as Jesus Christ.

Jesus' life and teachings exert a greater influence on the western world than that of any other individual. Regardless of whether one believes, as do many Christians, that he was divine as the son of God, or just a magnificent man, as do many Jews and others, all can join in commemorating the anniversary of his birth.

Christmas in modern times has come to mean many additional, good things. The religious significance of the observance stimulated various races over the centuries to develop lasting customs and commemorations.

The Christmas tree, Santa Claus and much Christmas music come to us from Germany. Fireworks—in the South—come from Italy, Spain and France, via French Louisiana. The South observed Christmas much earlier than the North. The strong Puritan influence in New England, in fact, once prompted a ban on Christmas observances.

Christmas cards, presents and greenery in the home come from England. So do some caroling customs, and some of our Christmas foods.

America has added the turkey dinner, a better and more generous Santa Claus, great commercialism, and the business party, among other things. A rash of cocktail parties, dances and family reunions also accompany Christmas in this country.

Every individual can profitably remember the theme of peace on earth and good will to men, the progress still to be achieved in America. In homes where there are small children, it's a time of magic events, which produce wonderful, unforgettable memories in the years to come.

THANK YOU

I want to thank Dr. Ramos, Dr. Herrick, the nurses and staff and the Emergency Room staff for all the good care, and I want to thank all my friends and neighbors for prayers, gifts and cards.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

How does a wife manage who had three children to get to school by 8:30 in the morning and a husband who works late at night and wishes to sleep late in the morning? I get up early to get the children's breakfast. My husband wants his at about eleven: the children come home at three, we have dinner at six and he likes to have a sandwich and coffee when he gets in late. This leaves me absolutely no time for myself. I am beginning to feel like a machine.

Answer:

Life is much simpler for the woman whose husband goes to work at 7 or 8, has lunch in the middle of the day and gets off the job at four or five in the afternoon, but the woman whose husband's job calls for night work has to make many adjustments if life is to be satisfactory. To begin with, she should set aside an hour or two for herself. She might manage this between the hours of twelve and three or between nine and eleven in the morning. But regardless of what she does now she can know that the years go by quickly and it will not be long before the children will be grown and can certainly make their own breakfast if she has to be up late at night. Or she can have sandwiches made and coffee ready for the husband at night without waiting up for him. A sixteen hour work day is too long for any man or woman.

Merry & Happy

To be both MERRY and HAPPY in this world of ours, one must enjoy the material and experience the spiritual. One must be well in body, satisfied in mind and aglow in spirit.

The way is clear: accept with genuine gratitude, enjoy with moderation and give with generosity. Never forget that "It is more blessed to give than to receive" and that "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

So, now you understand why we say to you, simply and sincerely: "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

On Libya

President Reagan's request that all Americans living in Libya come home as soon as possible is understandable, if an admitted hardship on those directly concerned.

The danger with a ruthless dictator such as Libya's, who sends hit squads to other countries to murder enemies, is that he will succeed and the deed become known. If that happened in this country, and President Reagan or a top government official was murdered, military action by the U.S. would almost certainly follow.

The fate of the 1500 Americans in Libya in the event of such American military action might be grim. One hopes, meanwhile, that companies employing them will find them jobs elsewhere.

ON ARGENTINE

holiday lighting can be energy-saving, too

When decorating for the holidays, take advantage of the latest energy-saving lighting techniques. Here are some tips for a safe, saving and sparkling Christmas.

- Use midget light sets. They use only about 18 watts per set.
- Outdoors, try the new lower watt bulbs that use less electricity than standard bulbs.
- To figure your holiday lighting load, multiply the number of bulbs by their watts.
- Do not use any 120-volt light sets on an aluminum tree. Use flood-lights only.
- When buying any new light set, look for the UL label. Most holiday light packages indicate whether the product is for indoor or outdoor use or both. A red UL label means the product is approved for outdoor use; those with green labels should be used indoors only.
- When outdoor plugs and connector joints are on the ground protect them from water and snow with plastic wrap.

USDA announces change in CCC Interest Rate Policy

Beginning Jan. 1, the interest rate on Commodity Credit Corporation loans will be set at the rate charged CCC by the U.S. Treasury during the month that the loan is issued, according to Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block.

Loans disbursed since April 1, 1981, and which have interest rates subject to change, will have their interest rates adjusted Jan. 1. These loans, which currently have a 14.5 percent interest rate, will be adjusted to the interest rate charged CCC by the Treasury in January. Previously, CCC interest rates were set semi-annually--on April 1 and Oct. 1.

The interest rate paid by CCC has declined from a peak of 16.5 percent in October to 13.625 percent this month. Farmers should benefit from this downward trend in interest rates, Block said.

SANTA VISITS: The little ones in TVSC have their own special Santa, only they don't realize it yet! Santa arrived early Friday morning to get the wishes of all the little ones so he could be ready for Christmas eve when he makes his yearly trip from the North Pole. The children in Akron's kindergarten room were all excited at Santa's visit, but he had to hurry along so he could make it to the grade schools at Burket and Mentone, and even to TVHS before the day ended and the kids all left for their vacations. [News Photo]

I.U.K. classes in Rochester

Two graduate-level courses in education will be offered in Rochester during the upcoming spring semester by Indiana University at Kokomo.

The classes are titled "Behavior and Development of the Elementary School Child" and "Adolescent Behavior and Development."

Both classes will meet concurrently from 4:30 p.m. to 7:10 p.m. starting Jan. 11, at the Rochester Middle School. Registration will be conducted at the first class meeting. The classes will meet on Mondays.

The "Behavior and Development of the Elementary School Child" class is an analysis of selected sources of information about the behavior and development of the elementary school child and the implications this information has for teaching the elementary school child.

"Adolescent Behavior and Development" deals with research and theory related to adolescents in the intellectual, physical, social-personal and emotional areas of development.

Both courses are intended for persons working on master degrees and who currently are or are planning to be teachers.

The courses are being offered in Rochester as part of IUK's "Project Outreach." The program lets students earn college credit at a convenient location and it enables them to save money by not having to pay for living quarters at a residential campus, according to Jon Cain, director of IUK regional services.

IUK also realizes many adults have family and community commitments that keep them from commuting too far to college classes, Cain explained.

Persons wanting more information about the classes in Rochester should contact IUK collect, at 317/453-1963. Also available at that number is information about counseling and financial aid.

Pike Lumber turkey shoot

"More than 200 Pike Lumber Company co-workers and members of their family enjoyed the 38th Annual Thanksgiving Dinner and festivities Saturday, November 21, at Akron. The program included entertainment for everyone, with clowns and games for the youngsters. The Lumber Jacks and Jills participated in the axe-throwing contest and two-person cross cut, winding up with the traditional turkey shoot.

In addition to Akron co-workers, also in attendance were those from the company's Carbon, Indiana plant and southwestern Michigan timberland operators.

Ten trophies, 26 hams and turkeys were awarded men, women and children contestants."

Homemakers enjoy party

Ten members and nine guests of the Mentone Extension Homemakers enjoyed their annual Christmas party at Teel's Restaurant December 10th. President Pearl Horn led the pledges to the flags and the creed. The group sang America the Beautiful and Joy to the World. She also read "The Meaning of Christmas."

Louise Jones offered the prayer of thanks before the bountiful mini smorgasbord. Roll call was "a Christmas surprise I remember most." Vice president Genevieve Warren gave a report on the president's council meeting, followed by a short business meeting by the president.

After the grab bag gifts were passed out, the group enjoyed singing Christmas Carols with Marita Boggs at the piano. She also sang "O Holy Night." The committee for the party was Pearl Horn, Esther Sarber and Olive Tucker. However, Mrs. Sarber had the misfortune of a broken hip and is confined at K.C.H. This long time faithful member was missed by everyone. The meeting closed with the club prayer song. The president of the Co. Extension Homemakers, Mary Lou Whitehead, attended as a guest and won the door prize.

The January 14 meeting will be with Olive Tucker, weather permitting.

Local woman injured at Warsaw

A rural Akron woman is in serious but stable condition in the intensive care unit at Parkview Hospital, Fort Wayne, after the car she was driving rammed the rear of a semi trailer on South Buffalo Street in Warsaw shortly after noon Wednesday, Dec. 16.

Witnesses said Diane L. Cumberland, 29, Rt. 2, Akron, was traveling north at a high rate of speed when her 1981 Honda Accord slammed into the rear of a truck driven by Kenneth Everett Meyer, 53, of Red Oak, Iowa, just south of Boydston Street.

The driver of the car directly behind her said her vehicle had just passed him north of the entrance to Ranch Road. He said he thought there was enough room for the car to slow down and still make it without hitting the trailer. But the car slammed into the rear of the truck and turned over, coming to rest on a retaining wall in front of M and K Car Wash, 801 South Buffalo St., Warsaw. The witness said he did not see Mrs. Cumberland's brake lights come on before the crash.

The truck driver said he felt a jolt to the rear of his rig and pulled off to the side of the road. He said he did not see the other vehicle.

Mrs. Cumberland, a real estate broker with Red Carpet Larry Nellans and an insurance agent, was thrown from the vehicle and was thrown under the car, police said.

She sustained facial fractures and head injuries, as well as other injuries in the 12:48 p.m. accident. She was transferred to the Fort Wayne Hospital from Koseiuko Community Hospital. Reports indicated she was not wearing a safety belt.

A preliminary citation of reckless driving, unreasonable high speed, has been issued against her, pending further investigation, according to police.

Her car was estimated a total loss at $10,000. The semi trailer sustained between $1,000 to $2,500 damage, police said.

Meyer was not injured in the accident.

The accident continues under investigation by Patrolman Brant Nellans of the Warsaw Police Department. He was assisted at the scene by Sgt. Ted Dobbins and Patrolman Micheal Mock. The Warsaw Fire Department and Multi-Township Emergency Medical Service was also summoned to the scene.

Brave Lad

A couple of young boys walked into the dentist's office. One faced him boldly and said, "I want a tooth took out, and I don't want no gas 'cause I'm in a hurry."

"I must say you're a brave boy," said the doctor. "Which tooth is it?"

The little boy turned to his silent friend and said, "Show him your tooth, Albert."

Obvious Reason

Little Betty was crying bitterly. Her mother asked what was the matter.

"Boo hoo! My new shoes hurt me!"

"Well, no wonder! You have them on the wrong feet," replied mother.

Betty kept crying and would not be comforted. "I haven't any other feet," she protested.

The meaning of Christmas

By: Rev. James W. Malbone,
Akron Church of God

It happened a little more than nineteen-hundred years ago. The night was still, the stars were bright and the moon was full. The sheep were bedded down for the night and the shepherds were huddled together warming themselves by the fire.

Suddenly it happened! The silence was broken and the shepherds received the announcement from an angel sent from God. It was a message of joy and hope; a message of love and peace. It was an announcement that a Savior had been born; that the long expected Messiah had arrived.

God had visited our planet! God had become man and had taken on Himself a body of flesh and blood and walked among us. He came into our world as a tiny, helpless baby boy entrusted into the care of a humble carpenter and his wife. He came to reveal God to beings of our world. And because of His coming, this world will never be the same.

Nineteen-hundred years have come and gone since that night and yet we still celebrate His birth in almost every nation throughout the world. We sing carols commemorating that night, we give each other gifts in His name and we pray that He will bring peace to our world.

This child Jesus continues to live in our day. He lives in the hearts of men and women and boys and girls who have opened their lives to Him. He lives wherever two or three have come together in His name. He is living and present in the home where father and mother gather the children together on Christmas Eve to read the Christmas story. His presence is with us as we go to work in the morning and with our children as they go to school. And His presence goes with us as we deal with the problems, frustrations and difficulties of everyday life.

Today Christmas means hope. It means that our world is not out of control, but that God cares enough about our world that He blessed us with the birth of His Son. Christmas means peace, for Jesus is called the "Prince of Peace." Christmas means love. "For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Christmas means salvation, for He was named Jesus. "For He shall save His people from their sins." Christmas means that God walks with us every step of the journey of life, for He was called "Immanuel," which being interpreted is, "God with us."

As we celebrate Christmas this year, we should never forget that it means far more than Santa Claus, Christmas trees, and the exchange of gifts. Christmas means that God has invaded our realm of space and time; that He has actually come to our world. His coming has left an impact upon our world, the effects of which will last throughout time. We can only imagine how different life would be today if Jesus had never been born in Bethlehem so long ago.

Only by coming into our world and living among us could He really make Himself known to us. There are some very deep mysteries and some very important things about life which God wants to teach us. It is difficult for us to comprehend. One as great and awesome as God in the form of Spirit. Only by taking the form of man could He enable us to fully understand Him and the deeper meaning of life. Jesus said, "When you have seen me, you have seen the Father." He helps us understand who God really is and what He is like. And because He lived as one of us we know that He understands our feelings, our problems and our deepest needs and desires.

And that's what Christmas is all about. During this Christmas season we need to forget about the tinsel and the bright lights, about the gifts and the merry making, about Santa Claus and tradition of fantasy and focus our attention on what happened in Bethlehem almost two thousand years ago. We need to focus our attention upon the fact that a Savior has been born.

And this Christ of Christmas can give meaning to your life if only you will open it to Him and invite Him in.

TIPS ON BUYING A USED PICKUP

Here are a few hints to help you test out that used four-wheeler that's caught your eye.

WITH THE TRUCK ON THE RACK: Grasp a front wheel top and bottom, and try to work it back and forth. More than an eighth of an inch play could mean a kingpin replacement bill. Spin all four wheels with the truck out of gear... a metal-to-metal sound on any wheel will likely indicate worn or badly adjusted brakes.

The muffler and the tailpipe should be sound. Check the frame for bent, warped, or welded spots... and the inside of all the tires for streaks of hydraulic fluid. (These could indicate a leaky wheel cylinder in the brake system.)

WITH THE TRUCK ON THE GROUND: Pull out the engine oil dipstick and check for grit (a sign of excessive engine wear). Watch, too, for oil with a foamy, grayish appearance. It means that water is present, and that's an almost sure sign of a cracked head or block.

Remove the radiator filler cap and dip in a finger. Oil in the water is just as bad as water in the oil. Look over the cooling system for signs of leaks.

If the pickup has been driven just before your inspection, wait as long as possible before starting it again. You can't tell as much from an engine that's already been warmed up as from one that's started cold.

WITH THE TRUCK RUNNING: As you start the vehicle, listen for any unusual noises from the starter. The engine should idle quietly and smoothly.

With the powerplant still idling, walk around to the exhaust and have someone race the engine. A puff or two of black smoke—caused by carbon—shouldn't be considered important. White smoke, on the other hand, probably means the old jalopy needs rings... and that can be expensive.

Climb in the cab and let out the clutch. Do you hear a faint (or not so faint) jingle? If the noise disappears when you let the clutch in, it's a worn ring gear.

Test the lights, turn signals, hand brake, horn, and windshield wipers.

THE TEST DRIVE: Ease into gear and pull away gently. Even with your foot off the throttle, the truck should lug along on the level without bucking and jumping.

Apply the brakes. You should not have to pump the pedal. If you can find a steep hill, drive up it. Then, on the downhill side, in high gear, take your foot off the throttle. If the truck picks up speed, it's probably low on compression and needs new rings.

DEALING: Your best bet is to buy a one-owner truck from a private party. But if you do find an exceptional machine offered by a dealer, don't hesitate to bargain with the salesperson. Be tough. Drive the price down.

Furthermore, if you can find a truck with an excellent body and running gear, but with a blown engine, it might well be a good buy. Before you make that sort of deal, though, shop around for the necessary parts and have a good mechanic give you an exact estimate of the repair costs. If the total is reasonable, within your budget, and less than you'd have to pay for a secondhand truck in supposedly good condition... buy the vehicle!

Fawley receives 32nd degree

Jack Fawley, Mentone, was among the ten men from Kosciusko County who were 1981 members of the James M. Bracket Memorial Class receiving the 32nd Degree at the Fall convocation of the Scottish Rite. The class consisted of men from 17 counties and was held two different days last month at the Scottish Rite Cathedral in Fort Wayne.

In addition to providing instructions through the 32nd Degree, the 510,000 member organization has contributed more than $7 million since 1934 for basic research into the causes of schizophrenia; scholarships to 10 schools, including Indiana University for journalism study and endows the Museum of Our National Heritage at Lexington, Mass.

Initiated Nov. 22 was the first annual Family Life Week. Scottish Rite Masons across the county participated in a variety of events designed to demonstrate their commitment to the principles of the family and encourage all citizens to do likewise.

The Fort Wayne Scottish Rite Valley also provides 30 to 45 yearly scholarships for student nurses at the three Fort Wayne Hospital Nursing Schools.

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Coupon clubs: 2,000 strong and growing

By June Fuller
DEAR COUPON CLIPPER — I read your column for the first time several weeks ago. You explained how to file cents-off coupons by product groups.

Your advice sounded interesting, so I went out and bought an expanding check file and separated all of my coupons into your 12 groups.

The results have been terrific. Instead of struggling to find a dollar's worth of usable coupons, I am now sailing along and happily finding that I have more and more coupons to save with each time I go to the supermarket.

Yesterday I saved $5.25 with my coupons — a personal record.

My question is this: I have heard that there are coupon clubs where members trade coupons. I would never have believed that such groups existed. But now that I have caught the coupon "bug," I would like to know more about these clubs. Can you tell me how they work? — Wilma R. from Commerce, Texas

DEAR WILMA — Coupon clubs do exist. In fact, I would estimate that there are now more than 2,000 active clubs.

The reason for their growing popularity is simple. Belonging to a coupon club gives you an excellent opportunity to trade all the coupons you can't use for new ones that you can turn into immediate savings.

A club meeting can turn $20 worth of useless coupons into $20 worth of coupons for products you use.

Starting a club is easy. One way to do it is to call up a few friends and invite them over to your house for coffee and some coupon trading. Give them a few days' notice so they will have time to find as many coupons as possible.

At a swap session like this we pass around our envelopes of coupons and invite everyone to take what they can use. With four or five friends at your swap session, you should be able to find a fair amount of valuable coupons.

What would your trading session be like if there were 12 or 15 other couponers? What if they also brought along refund forms and proofs of purchase?

Well, that's what a coupon club is all about. The more traders at a meeting, the more opportunities you will have to find the coupons you need.

If there are a few experienced refunders in attendance, you will also be able to learn about organized refunding. Most veteran refunders trade forms by mail. They can show you hundreds of refund forms that you never saw at the local supermarket.

Your swap-session friends can become the charter members of your club and help you organize the first meeting. Most coupon clubs meet once a month at the home of a member.

I will give you some tips on getting your club started in my next column.

The smart shopper award goes to Jo Valich of Midland Park, N.J.

Her favorite supermarket doubled two 40-cent Saran Wrap coupons so that two boxes of the 50-foot size cost her only 18 cents.

But her savings weren't over. She then sent for a Saran Wrap "Buy Two, Get One Free" offer. So, the third box cost her only the price of a postage stamp. With the proof of purchase from that box, she sent for a different refund offer.

Ms. Valich and other readers whose smart shopping experience appear in my column receive a copy of the refunding magazine, The National Supermarket Shopper. Write to me in care of this newspaper.

Here is a refund form to write for: DX Toothbrush Refund Offer, P.O. Box PM-152, El Paso, Texas 79966. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. This $2 refund offer expires Feb. 28, 1982.

Here is this week's list of refund offers. Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends. ## Holiday Songs

Each year department stores, and radio and television stations airing commercials, begin the Christmas music a bit earlier. More and more Santas turn up in every corner—some quite motheaten.

Christmas music is lovely. And it's a job each year to see old Santa—even if some appear to be TB specimens. But even good things can be overdone. Some hear so much Christmas music, beginning in November, that by the time Christmas arrives they feel too many bells have been ringing, too long.

If the trend continues, we'll soon be seeing and hearing signs of Christmas in October. In that case, by December 25, it will be a relief to get it over with. It shouldn't come to that.

— Pope John Paul II, on Poland:

"The events of the last few hours make it necessary for me once again to address the cause of our country so that you may pray for it."

Christmas is the day on which Christians celebrate the birthday of Jesus Christ. No one knows exactly when Jesus was born, but most Christians observe Christmas on December 25.

People take part in religious ceremonies observing the season of "peace on earth, good will toward men." Many exchange gifts and decorate their homes with holly, mistletoe, and Christmas trees.

The word Christmas comes from the early English phrase Christes Masse, which means Christ's Mass. The Christmas story comes from the Bible (Luke II and Matthew I and II). Luke tells a beautiful story of shepherds who were watching their flocks when an angel appeared to them and told them a Savior had been born in Bethlehem. Today, thousands of pilgrims visit Bethlehem at Christmas time. Matthew tells how the wise men followed a star until it led them to Jesus. The wise men gave Jesus gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh. The custom of exchanging Christmas gifts began in memory of the gifts the wise men brought to the Christ child.

In some countries, children believe their gifts come from Saint Nicholas, a kindly bishop famous for giving surprise presents. In other countries, children believe the wise men of the Christ child brings them gifts. But perhaps the most joyous symbol of gift giving is Santa Claus. This jolly gentleman seems to set a mood of happiness and good cheer at Christmas time.

Christmas around the world is the happiest and busiest time of year for millions of Christians. They observe the holiday with religious ceremonies and prayer. Christians everywhere unite in their feelings of joy on Christ's Birthday.

The Akron Keen-Agers celebrated December birthdays on the 10th of the month. Those present having birthdays were Dorothy Delong and Paul White. The Keen-Agers sang Happy Birthday and everyone enjoyed the cake. We would like to thank our guest speakers Martha Shireman and Betty Butt.

The Annual Christmas Party will be held December 23rd. There will be all day activities from 10 a.m. til 4 p.m., including a grab bag Christmas exchange. All Keen-Agers who want to participate may bring in a covered dish. Regular menu will be served also. Please phone in your reservations for the Christmas party. Call 893-7204 or 893-4668.

Dear Santa,
How is it at the north pole? It's pretty cold here. I've been pretty good this year so you can bring me lots more presents. Are your reindeer ready to fly yet? I don't have any so I guess mine are ready. Last year when you came to my house Rodluph stayed here and ate all of your cookies and tramped all over my presnts's. So look for him before you leave. I will leave you alot of cookies this year because I suppose you've been just about as good as I have. Make sure you give all of your reindeer a cookie. They'll probably be good. The reason I'm leaving you so many is because I haven't eaten any yet. So write me and tell me what they taste like. Be sure to give your wife some and tell her that I made them. Well I better go. Now I want to tell you what I want for Christmas I really don't want anything, but there's something I would like. I wish everyone would understand what Christmas was about. Its not for getting, its for giving. So thats my wish that everyone would understand what Christmas was really about.

IT HAPPENED IN MENTONE

TAKEN FROM THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP NEWS
DECEMBER 31, 1941
40 YEARS AGO

Dale Kelley, Estil Smith, Macy Nelson, Carl Gochenour and Ned Igo left the day before Christmas for a fishing trip to Gulfport, Miss. They visited Donald Smith and others at Camp Shelby on the way and expect to view many other interesting points on the return. They report they are starting home Thursday.

Employees of the Mentone post office were busy Christmas morning delivering parcel post packages that arrived on the holiday.

Mrs. Edward Peltz and new son returned from the Woodlawn Hospital Sunday. The seven and one-half pound boy arrived just 45 minutes too late to be a Christmas gift. Mr. Peltz is a driver for the Burns Bakery.

Reports from the Rev. Fowler family, which has been quarantined because of the illness of their son with scarlet fever, are that the boy is recovering nicely and all expect to be completely out of danger, and the quarantine lifted, by the latter part of this week.

A five pound, 13½ ounce daughter, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Noble Oyler at the Murphy Medical Center at Warsaw Monday evening.

Wayne Bowser, son of Ed Bowser, who recently underwent an appendicitis operation, was able to be up town Tuesday.

More computers and booster club planned at T.V.H.S.

Stating that the increased emphasis on computer programs will better prepare students for the future business world, Superintendent Baxter Paige and Principal Robert Meyers recommended that the Tippecanoe Valley School Board allow an additional $10,000-$12,000 in funds in 1981 for purchase of additional computers and software for expansion of the computer programming program, during the regular board meeting last week at the high school.

Wayne Cumberland, instructor of computer programming at TVHS stated that amount should be sufficient to allow the purchase of four or five more computers. The program now has two Wang computers and one printer. Although there were 30 students signed up to begin the program last Fall, there was only equipment and instructional hours available to allow 14 in the class. He stated that they would like to expand the program at the school to include a short course for all freshman math classes, as an introductory course to computers, plus use the computers in the business and accounting classes, enabling approximately 300 students to get some instruction on the machines. Principal Meyers and Cumberland asked the board to include funds in the budget each year to keep the program updated and allow more students the training.

On a motion by member Don Snipes, the board unanimously allowed the request for the funds.

FORM ADULT BOOSTER CLUB
Appearing before the board, Judy Swick, Burket, presented a proposal for the formation of an Adult Booster Club for TVHS.

She stated that a meeting was held with school patrons from all townships and Principal Meyers, before deciding to approach the board, in order to determine if there was a need or the desire for such an organization. More than 100 people responded, stating that they would be willing to form a club. Swick stated that an organizational meeting will be held the first of next year, if the board approved, holding an election of officers and writing the club's goals and by-laws.

Principal Meyers spoke in favor of the group saying he thought TVHS could benefit from such a group, "with the high cost of athletics, everyone must look toward other ways to maintain the type program wanted at Tippecanoe Valley."

Superintendent Paige cautioned the board that the matter of control over athletics could become a problem and the basic purpose of the group could be lost, so he asked that some amendments be made to the existing proposal, making the principal of the high school and the athletic director members of the board of directors for the group.

Both Paige and Meyers recommended that the board allow the group to organize, with the provision that any changes in the club's constitution should be brought before the school board, since they would be the organizational power for the club, and that the principal control the activities of the group and be responsible for them.

With these provisions, to be stated in the by-laws of the group, the school board approved the organization asking that the by-laws and constitution be presented to the board after the group hold their election and gets organized.

The board granted approval to Mr. Ed LaMar to submit the application for Title IV-B funds in the amount of $11,773.00 for use in the school's film service; including a video disk player, a micro computer and software to be used as tutorial aids in the library.

On the recommendation of the board approved the continuation of the school hot lunch agreement with the State Department of Education thru Sept. 30, 1982.

During other business the board: extended Robert Meyer's contract for one year; accepted the resignation of Cynthia McBride, elementary music teacher, now on maternity leave; placed Julie Baxter on regular contract for second semester as elementary music teacher; approved the request for extended maternity leave for Vonda Ryman; placed Joanne Wortinger on regular contract for second semester as first grade teacher at Mentone.

Extra curricular assignments were added to existing contracts for: Brett Boggs, Akron 7th grade girls basketball; Lois Buss, high school cheerleader sponsor - 9th grade; Cathy Creighton, Mentone girls 7th grade basketball; Jim Gilmer, Akron asst. football coach; Jane Hunn, Akron volleyball coach; Lee Ann Rock, Mentone boys track coach; Terrie Knechel, Jr. Class sponsor; Scott Carmichael, girl's freshman basketball coach.

Adult Basic Ed contracts were signed for Merdena Bechtel and Rick Phillips.

Principal Jack Fisher reported Mentone School's Book Week celebration successful in that a total of 2,748 books had been checked out of the library, and the "Design a T-Shirt" campaign was successful also. Mentone was to present their Christmas program on Tuesday evening and at the end of the last six week period, he reported Mentone had 22 new students enroll and a total of 19 student withdrawals.

Burket Principal Oliver England reported they would present their Christmas program on Wed., Dec. 16, and Friday would have class parties and movies for the junior high students.

Principal Meyers noted the high school is involved in their many winter athletic programs and the office is busy scheduling for next school year with this year's 8th grade students, and getting ready for the end of the first semester.

CLEAN AIR LAW

WASHINGTON -- Americans strongly support the Clean Air Act and don't want it weakened but a substantial majority would agree with changes that make the law simpler and less costly according to a poll released recently by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Christmas Joy

By: Rev. Fred J. Landolt, Silver Creek Church of God

Joy to the world, the Lord is come, let earth receive her King. Suddenly a great army of heavenly angels appeared so many years ago singing praises to God, glory to God in the highest and peace on earth, good will to men.

Our prayer would be that Christ would not be crowded out of the family, church or community, but that he would grant us joyful hearts of little children as we anticipate Christ's Birthday. Our concern is not to allow an inner sanctuary or our concerns to become cluttered like the city of Bethlehem, or busy inns with just ordinary affairs of everyday life. For this season of the year is something special. Only the Christian feels this real joy that December brings.

God spoke of old to our fathers by the prophets, but in these last days he has spoken to us by his son, whom he appointed the heir of all things. And through whom also he created the world by his very own stamp of nature, and is still around us and still in control of this universe.

The Lord God has said: Behold a virgin shall bear a son, and his name shall be called Emmanuel, meaning God is with us. His name shall be called Jesus, for he will save his people from their sins, he will be great, the prophet said and his kingdom there will be no end...

This kingdom of God is here, and God has said I will give them a heart to understand, that I am eternal, and they shall be my people. So thanks be unto God, he is why we celebrate, he is why we praise God, he is our King, our Lord and Master, let us rejoice and exalt his name forever and ever.

Christmas time is drawing near: A time of beauty, love and cheer. When all around the air we fill: With songs of joy and much good will. Unto us a Son has been given: Is he your Saviour?

Sincere wishes

Valley defeats Northfield loses to LaVille

Unveiling two significantly opposite styles of play last weekend, the Viking Varsity split with a victory Friday and a loss Saturday.

Led by Todd Leckrone with a career high 30 points on Friday evening, the Vikes defeated TRC opponent Northfield, 83-58, moving up their TRC record to 2-1. Remaining at home on Saturday, Valley fell behind by as much as 11 points at one time, but pulled everyone's strength together and tied the score at 43 and again at 45 during the fourth quarter, only to be plagued by the clock and fall victim to the LaVille Lancers, 50-54.

NORTHFIELD

Averaging 20 points per quarter compared to 15 points for the Norsemen, the Vikings easily handled Northfield their third conference loss. The Norsemen went directly into a zone-defense which the Valley squad tore apart and scored the first two field goals. After Northfield chalked up a field goal, the Vikings went to a full-court press and in turn so did their opponents. "Break the press and shoot," became the philosophy of both teams for the rest of the quarter. Tippecanoe Valley proved more accurate and led 22-16 at the end of the period.

The Norsemen switched from zone to man-to-man after being ineffective defensively in the first quarter. Valley led by 12 with 3:30 left on the clock and Northfield used a time-out. Scoring only 2/3 of the total points that the Valley squad sent through the hoop, the Norsemen fell behind 30-43 at the half.

The Vikings increased the difference between the two teams by 4 more at the conclusion of the third quarter, 62-45. Controlling the game until the end, Tippecanoe Valley broke a two game losing streak and easily handed the Norsemen a 83-58 defeat.

Leckrone was the leading scorer with 10 field goals and 10 free throws. On nine field goals and six free throws, Don Studebaker had 24 points. Also, Studebaker was the leading rebounder with 17 of the teams 50 rebounds. Andy Alspaugh added to the score with 13 points and nine rebounds. A new team assist record of 31, paced by an individual record of 15 by Jeff Webb was set.

LaVILLE

The LaVille Lancers opened up a five point lead at the end of the first quarter of play, ending it at 8-13. Defensively, both teams used strictly man-to-man throughout the game. Each team scoring eight points in the second period resulted with LaVille on top 21-16 at half time.

The use of fast-breaks and precision shooting allowed the Lancers to open up the lead to eleven points by the end of the third period, 31-42.

"Valley Spirit" took over during the fourth period of action, spurred by scoring 12 points compared to just one free throw by the Lancers, the scoreboard became a symbol of excitement as the Vikings had 4:08 to break the 43-43 tie and come up the victor but it wasn't to be. Just 12 seconds later the teams tied at 45-45 after a free throw by Alspaugh.

Tippecanoe Valley asked for a time out at the 1:20 mark as they fell behind 46-51. The Lancers' Ken Carbiener hit two foul shots, but Alspaugh sent another field goal through the hoop giving the Vikes a glimmer. Valley called a time out after a field goal by Webb and another free throw by Carbiener with eight seconds left, but the clock became the enemy and the Lancers pulled it out 54-50.

After a two week break for Christmas vacation, the Vikings will go up against TRC foe Southwood on January 8. The game will be played at the home court.

By April Rhodes

New Year Resolution time again. How many did you keep that you made last year?

Start 1981 off by keeping a home diary. It's a good day by day record of expenses, planting dates for vegetables and flowers, medical records and appointments.

For a different headboard look, hang an attractive rug to the bedroom wall.

Those who use cloth napkins during the holidays may find lipstick stains on them. Rub a little petroleum jelly on the stain to loosen it before washing.

Petroleum jelly will remove the white water stain from hardwood tables. Rub a little on the stain to cover it. This may have to be repeated a few times.

The board decided to check with town employees who presently have Blue Cross-Blue Shield insurance coverage on their dependents, to ask if they would want to consider taking out life insurance on their families. The cost would be $1 per month for each employee, which the employee would have to pay. This would provide $2,000 life insurance coverage on the spouse and $1,000 coverage for children.

During other business the board:

- discussed procedures on how to collect on two large overdue water bills.

- the installation of a new street light at the corner of Maple and Rural Streets.

Etna Green deficit almost cleared up

A deficit of $62,487.05 incurred by the present Etna Green Town Board when it took office on Jan. 1, 1980 has almost been wiped out.

Clerk-Treasurer Alice Anglin reported the town will be only $5,000 in the red at the end of this year. This means the town trustees DeVor Johnston, Janet Ewing and Barry Cullison have cut more than $57,000 out of the deficit in two years.

Miss Anglin thanked the town board trustees for their help and support the past two years.

Since the budget has been brought closer in line it is anticipated the board will be able to replace equipment and materials the next year.

It was announced the December utility bills will be estimated because of sewer and water problems that are in the process of being corrected. This estimation will be a full month's billing because the Nov. billing was for only three weeks.

A garbage contract with Millwood Sanitation, the current firm for Etna Green, was signed for 1982 at the regular meeting two weeks ago. Millwood will only haul away trash once a week (Monday) for the entire year.

In previous years, the town has hired the disposal firm to haul trash twice a week during the three months in the summer. But lack of funds will only allow once-a-week service for the entire upcoming year.

Project SAFE for the state of Indiana is available again this year, which involves aid in heating and utility bills for low income residents.

Anyone on last year's list for SAFE will be sent a form letter to be completed and returned. New applicants should contact the electric and/or gas company.

Tabled until the Jan. 4 meeting was renewal of the town's insurance policy of accident and sickness for its volunteer fireman.

Board members Cullison and Ewing, Town Marshal and Street Superintendent Eldon Burgess

John Garrett, pro-basketball player, takes over Lake Trails Tavern in Mentone

The game of basketball has taken John Garrett from Peru to West Lafayette to Italy, but now his career has taken a turn away from the sport and he is back home in Indiana.

As a matter of fact, he is right here in Mentone.

Garrett, a 6'11" center who starred at Peru High School and Purdue University, has been playing professional basketball in Italy and France since departing the Boilermakers in 1975.

He returned to the states about six months ago and currently resides in Rochester.

On Jan. 1 Garrett will make the switch from professional athlete to entrepreneur when he takes over the Lake Trails Tavern in Mentone.

Garrett said his opportunity to get into the tavern business just happened.

While in Italy, Garrett played for teams in Brescia and Grozina. Garrett said that professional basketball in Europe is about on the upper college level in America and is of a high caliber, especially in Italy.

"Italy is the best European country in basketball as far as the free nations go," Garrett said. "Yugoslavia is the strongest in Europe."

"I got a little tired of traveling. I've been doing it for six years. I'd lost a lot of contact with my friends and family in Indiana over the years."

When John got back to Indiana he still got to play some roundball while playing in a league at the Y in Logansport. But Garrett said he doesn't have much time for his favorite sport anymore.

After a standout prep career with Coach Howard Leedy's Peru Tigers, the Indiana All-Star played for Fred Schaus at Purdue from 1972 to 1975. Garrett still ranks among the all-time Boiler scoring leaders. His 1,620 career points put him sixth on that list.

and Town Attorney Richard Helm were in attendance. Johnston was unable to attend because of a death in the family.

trailing only Rick Mount, Joe Barry Carroll, Dave Schellhase, Terry Dischinger and Walter Jordan.

Garrett was selected by the Washington Bullets in the National Basketball Association Draft, but he chose to make his career in Europe.

During his junior year at Purdue, Garrett had his best offensive season, averaging 21.6 points per game. That season (1973-74) the Boilers placed third in the Big Ten and were champions of the National Invitational Tournament.

He served as Purdue's co-captain during his junior and senior seasons, and was elected Most Valuable Player in 1975, when he led his team in scoring, rebounding, field goal percentage, and free throw percentage.

From now on, the word "Boilermaker" will have a new significance for John Garrett as he enters the tavern business.

10-year driving suspension handed down

Ruled as a habitual traffic offender and ordered not to drive for a 10-year-period was Douglas William Holbrook, 29, of Piercetown, whose sentence was handed down last Wednesday from Circuit Court Judge Richard Sand.

If Holbrook violates his sentence he could be convicted of a Class D felony and be subject to possible suspension of his license for life.

Also, last Wednesday, Attorney William Dalton was appointed to represent James Lee Coplin, 26, of 430 Boston St., Syracuse, who is charged with possession of marijuana (Class D felony). He was arrested Nov. 27 on the offense.

Charles David Hall, 17, of 317 West Prairie St., Warsaw, and Donald Dale Creckmore, 17, of 519 West Winona Ave., Warsaw, were waived to adult court Tuesday by Kosciusko Superior Court Judge Robert Burner on charges of burglary.

The two teenagers are charged with breaking into the Eagles Lodge at Boggs Industrial Park on Nov. 11. Taken in the theft was approximately $80 in change, several cartons of cigarettes and some bottles of liquor.

Ricky C. Dean Jr., 22, of 602 West Main St., New Haven, pleaded guilty in Superior court last Tuesday to possession of marijuana as a misdemeanor offense. Sentencing is set for February.

Also last Tuesday, Russell Creamer, 31, Rt. 8, Warsaw, pleaded guilty to conspiracy as charged. Sentencing is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 21.

ON AID TO POLAND

The United States postponed decisions on further large-scale agricultural aid to Poland in the wake of the military takeover there while allowing humanitarian food and grain shipments already on their way, to proceed.

Debates would be more profitable if the participants were more interested in the truth than the decision of judges.

Unions made leaders rich

By Joe Marshall

Recently I saw a program centered around a Georgia auto plant that the company was threatening to close unless workers took a substantial cut in wages and fringe benefits that had been tacked on over the years.

The union representative said, "It is the rankiest kind of blackmail to have a company say that unless the workers give up hard-earned benefits and work for less money it will be forced to close the plant and move to a non-union location or even a foreign country."

If that is "blackmail," what do you call union activities over the last 50 years or so? - The strikes, the slow-downs, the sick-outs?

Unions have almost always demanded more money and benefits they do not pay for, for less work per week. This of course leads to less production per dollar, which means higher prices to the consumer, which means that foreign manufacturers will make the same of better products for less money. Then the workers buy foreign-made products and cry their eyes out when the product they make themselves will not sell as well. (A recent survey at an auto plant showed that 20 percent of the employees owned one or more foreign cars!)

To me, the public reaction to the Air Traffic Controllers Union's strike a few months ago was something we have needed for quite a few years. The arrogance and irresponsibility of their union in violating their promise not to go on strike, their belief that the public couldn't survive without them, received the treatment such an attitude deserved: the President upheld the law and fired them.

Most of us who have been around long enough to see what has happened since the 30's probably will agree that unionism started out as a good idea, and was probably overdue.

In '36 I worked at a factory in Decatur, Ill. I remember the times I'd walk through the dark, cold morning to the transfer house, ride a streetcar to the end of the line, walk another four blocks through the snow and get to the factory only to be told that there was no work until the next morning. You got no pay, not even for lost carfare. That didn't seem fair (It always seemed to be cold and snowy because in the summertime there was no work at all!)

I can remember sitting in the back of the factory inspecting thousands of ignition lock castings in the dead of winter. There was no heat, and I sat on an empty wooden box with a stocking cap pulled over my ears, a scarf around my chin and neck, gunny-sacks wrapped around my legs and feet and two pairs of mittens on my hands. That didn't seem fair.

Sometimes at five minutes to six, the boss would say we'd have to work overtime (at straight time). We could go to the watchman's shanty and call home to say we'd not be home to eat the supper that was ready and we didn't know when we'd be home. That didn't seem fair.

These were the types of things that certainly needed to be changed.

BUT--THE UNIONS, by and large, were not content to improve working conditions and eliminate situations that were obviously unfair to the working people. They began to demand more money for less work, regardless of the effect it had on a business, whether it was individually owned or a corporation. Then as dues from union members rolled in, the leaders became richer and more demanding. In some places hours were cut from 48 to 44 and 40 and, in some instances, to 36 or 32 for the same pay which, of course, means higher manufacturing costs. That seems unreasonable.

Although I got out of the factory as soon as I could, I can remember when I heard about getting so many days of sick leave whether we were sick or not. Sure, if you are sick it's nice not to worry about lost wages -- but days off in addition to your paid vacation? That seems unreasonable.

Years later, after selling my grocery store, I worked in the office of a company for a few years. One of our jobs was to keep track of all employees' birthdays. You see, a new union demand was that the employee would have a day off with pay on his birthday. And the joker was, if an employee could sneak in and punch the clock on his birthday he'd have to paid double time. So, on the day before his birthday, we'd have to go around and get his signature on a note verifying that we had notified him that the next day was his birthday! That seems unreasonable.

It would be interesting to see what would happen to a rabid unionist's beliefs if he had to finance a business, had to attract customers, had to pay all bills -- not only rent, utilities, wages, advertising, etc. but also half of each employee's Social Security (plus all his own), all the cost of unemployment insurance and accident insurance. And then, if there is anything left, the owner can pay himself.

O yes, if you happen to be doing work you dislike or at which you are not efficient, for heaven's sake get into some other occupation. You don't have to be an air controller if the pressure is too great. Get a job in a grocery store, as a taxi driver or trash collector -- something you can handle.

Welcome change

President Reagan's executive order extending the authority of U.S. intelligence agencies is a welcome change of direction from the Jimmy Carter era when the CIA was reduced to the operational equivalent of the Girl Scouts.

Though he acknowledges that vigilance is necessary to prevent abuses, President Reagan warns that "an approach that emphasizes suspicion and mistrust of our own intelligence efforts can undermine this nation's ability to confront the increasing challenge of espionage and terrorism."

After the Carter years, it is a relief to hear words of encouragement from the intelligence agencies from the White House. Mr. Reagan apparently agrees with Frederick the Great's admonition: "It is pardonable to be defeated but never to be surprised."

Jewelry can play a more important part in one's costume than just decorative. Jewelry should be used to draw attention to the best features of the body. Think of this when selecting earrings, necklaces and bracelets.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

My problem has been solved but I would like to tell some young people about it so that they may not make the same mistake that my husband and I did.

When we were first married we were very much in love and both of us were very possessive--so much so that we thought it unnecessary to cultivate other people. In fact we made a pact not to join any clubs in which both of us were not included.

For a while we were satisfied but two people, who lose social contact with the world, soon find it hard to be happy--they become bored--they are out of touch with the people in their community. It gradually dawned on us that we needed outside interests if our lives were to be interesting and we began to cultivate our neighbors and make new friends. My husband joined a civic club and I became a member of a garden club; as a result we became an important part of our town and made some very dear friends and helped to make our community a better one in which to live.

All of this strengthened our love for each other rather than lessening it--we became more unselfish and less self-centered. We began to admire each other for traits and capabilities we possessed of which we had been unaware before.

So may I give this little bit of advice to newly-weds--try not to be so possessive--realize that both of you are individuals and that a self-centered world can become a very boring world in time.

Thank you for letting me write this letter.

Happy-Louisiana

Answer:

Thank you for your interesting letter and I think yours is a lesson that some of us have to learn. If we try to hold on to people with too tight a rein it sometimes becomes unbearable and they have a tendency to try and break away. It doesn't pay to be too possessive.

Autos driven by Curt D. Ackerman, 46, Winona Lake, and Edward A. Armbruster, 23, Akron, collided on South High St. near East Center St. at 11:35 a.m. Saturday. There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to Ackerman's car, and less than $200 damage to Armbruster's auto, police said.

Kimberly K. Lotz, 17, Rt. 1, Silver Lake, told city police she attempted to stop on Park Ave., but her car slid on ice onto Market St. and collided with an auto driven by Susan S. LaRue, 23, of 631 South Lake St., Warsaw. The accident occurred around 8:57 a.m. Saturday. There was less than $200 damage to LaRue's car and between $200 and $1,000 damage to the Lotz automobile, police reported.

County police blamed icy and slippery roads for a mishap at 11 p.m. Friday on County Rd. 450 West, two miles west of Silver Lake, which damaged a car driven by Randy L. Perry, 20, Rt. 1, Silver Lake.

Perry's auto hit a General Telephone Co. pole, resulting in between $200 and $1,000 damage to both items.

Area police have investigated the following property damage accidents:

Dennis C. young, 31, Chicago, was eastbound on U. S. 30 Thursday in the right lane, when he attempted to move over to the left lane to pass another vehicle. He lost control of his car on the icy pavement and hit the other vehicle, driven by Donald E. Burtsfield, 49, Goshen. Damage to both vehicles was estimated between $1,001 and $2,500 by county police. The 10:46 a.m. accident occurred near the intersection of County Rd. 200 West.

Devon E. Sorensen, Milford, told county police he was eastbound on County Rd. 1100 North when he lost control of his car on the snow covered road Thursday. His car slid into a sign owned by Raymond Hoover, causing an estimated $1,001 to $2,500 damage to the vehicle. The 3:20 p.m. accident occurred west of County Rd. 200 East.

Mary L. Cordell, 18, Warsaw, lost control of her car on County Road 175 East near the intersection of County Road 75 North at 7:40 p.m. Friday. Damage was estimated between $1,000 and $2,500.

Cathy L. Harris, 19, Rt. 1, Warsaw, lost control of her vehicle on Old Rd. 30 near Brailier Rd., according to county police. No estimate of damage was given. Vehicles driven by Ricky E. Miller, 29, Rochester and Terry B. Ward, Rt. 2, Columbia City, collided at 12:15 p.m. Friday on State Rd. 15 near County Rd. 100 East. Estimate of damage to each car was $1,000.

Christopher Manns, 27, Silver Lake, struck a fence belonging to Don Kuhn, at County Rds. 700 South and 600 West. Damage to the fence was estimated at $50. There was no estimate of damage to the car given in the 8:45 a.m. accident.

A truck driven by Sandra E. Tinkey, 45, Rt. 2, Warsaw, went out of control on an icy and slushy Crystal Lake Road and struck a fence. The mishap occurred at noon Wednesday, six miles west of Warsaw.

Damage to the truck, owned by Tinkey Farms Inc., Rt. 2, Warsaw was set between $200 and $1,000. A Creighton Bros. fence had the same damage estimate.

A three vehicle accident occurred Wednesday morning on State Rd. 13 two miles south of North Webster, involving a semi-tractor, van and a stuck auto.

Constance M. Faulkner, 59, Rt. 1, Piercetown, was attempting to back her auto out of the driveway and on to State Rd. 13, but her vehicle became stuck in the south-bound lane.

Jody M. Winebrenner, 21, Rt. 4, Albion, attempted to stop her van because another van ahead of her had previously braked to let a semi-tractor around the auto. Winebrenner's vehicle slid across the road and collided head on with the semi-rig, driven by William J. Ochs III, 29, of New Bethlehem, Pa. Both vehicles were almost to a halt when they collided.

Damage was estimated at under $200 to the Faulkner car and between $200 and $1,000 to both the Winebrenner and Ochs vehicles.

Two semi-tractors were involved in a collision on County Rd. 1350 North, one mile North of Milford, at 6:15 a.m. Wednesday.

Gregory A. Cassell, 22, Rt. 2, North Manchester, had parked his semi-tractor rig at the side of the road because he was unable to get over the hill. A second tractor-trailer, operated by Timothy L. Stout, 22, Rt. 1, Waterloo, turned onto the road, started down the hill and the trailer slid into the Cassell driven rig. Damage was set between $200 and $1,000 to both vehicles.

A car driven by Ethel M. Kerlin, 72, Rt. 2, Silver Lake, collided with a broken telephone pole that was laying on the roadway in an early morning mishap Wednesday on County Rd. 200 West, three mile South of Silver Lake.

No damage estimate was given to the Kerlin auto. Damage between $200 and $1,000 occurred to the telephone pole, owned by GTE, North Manchester.

A two vehicle mishap Wednesday morning on East Center St. caused between $200 and $1,000 damage to each car driven by Barbara E. Goon, 44, Rt. 4, Warsaw, and a Mack semi-trailer truck operated by Thomas P. Ries, 26, of Park Forest, Ill.

The semi-rig was stopped, to make a right turn when it was hit from the rear by the Goon auto.

personal injury accidents

Area police have investigated the following personal injury accidents:

Two local teenagers were injured in a freak accident Friday night in Atwood when their stalled auto was struck by another vehicle.

Jeffrey Hurley, 17, Rt. 5, Warsaw, and Mark Mikel, 15, of Atwood, suffered minor injuries when their car was struck by an auto driven by Rick Baney, 30, of Atwood. Hurley complained of pain to the back area and Mikel suffered contusions and bruises.

Hurley's vehicle was reportedly unable to start and the owner and his passenger pushed the car out of a driveway onto Prairie Street. The other driver, Baney, had just turned a corner when he saw the other car in the road. He applied the brakes, but because of the slick road the auto skidded into the rear end of Hurley's auto.

Hurley and Mikel were outside out of the vehicle and were knocked to the ground with the impact.

Local police have investigated the following personal injury auto accident:

A truck driven by Jeffrey W. Hathaway, 17, Rt. 2, Warsaw, slid on ice into the rear of an auto operated by Heidi Linn, 48, of 403 Kincaide St., Warsaw, on Kincaide Street near Union St. at 3:35 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Linn and her 19 year old daughter, Heidi M. Linn, both complained of neck pain, police said.

There was between $2,501 and $5,000 damage to Mrs. Linn's auto, and between $200 and $1,000 damage to Hathaway's truck.

Incident report

Area police have received the following reports:

Officials at Gale Smith Excavating discovered several items were taken during the past week, according to county police. Missing are a grader blade, a truck tire and wheel, a battery charger, and two chain saws. Police also discovered the frame of the back door was pried open. The incident continues under investigation.

Five white gilt hogs, weighing an average of 210 pounds, were stolen Thursday night or early Friday from a finishing house on County Rd. 775 West. The animals were owned by Central States Enterprise, doing business as Prime Pork Co., Rt. 1, Mentone.

Police reported a truck was apparently backed up to a loading chute and a door was forced open. The hogs were then loaded into a truck.

Super Pull IX
at Indy Feb. 5

Indianapolis--Indy Super Pull IX will offer $100,000 in cash awards when the world championship event opens its three-day, four-session trials Feb. 5.

The 9th annual shootout will pit, based upon 1981 class points earned in Grand National Circuit pulls, the top 224 drivers and tractors plus three winners from each of the six regions in the United States and Canada.

Super Pull IX, a combined venture of the Indiana State Fair and the Indiana Pullers Inc., is the culmination of points earned during the year-long Grand National pulls, sanctioned by the National Tractor Pulling Association (NTPA.)

The event will be presented in four sessions as follows: Friday, Feb. 5, 7 p.m., 5,000-pound Super Stock and 9,000-pound Modified; Saturday, Feb. 6, 1 p.m., 5,000-pound Modified and 9,000-pound Super Stock; Saturday, Feb. 6, 7 p.m., 7,000-pound Modified and 12,000-pound Super Stock; and Sunday, Feb. 7, 7,000-pound Super Stock and 12,000-pound Unlimited.

More than 40,000 enthusiastic pull fans jammed the Coliseum last year, and many waited in sub-zero temperatures to secure the few remaining tickets available shortly before "pull" time. According to the State Fair Ticket Office, the tickets are already moving rapidly and point toward another sellout.

Tickets are priced at $9 per session and all Super Pull seats are reserved. Mail order tickets are obtainable by writing Super Pull, Indiana State Fair, 1202 E. 38th St., Indianapolis, Ind. 46205. A self-addressed, stamped envelope should be included when ordering tickets by mail.

It Happened in Mentone

TAKEN FROM THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP NEWS
JANUARY 7, 1942
40 YEARS AGO

The Mentone Lions Club bowling team placed third in the holiday bowling tournament held at Warsaw recently. They had a total of 2931 pins-fifteen behind the winning team, which we would term as a very close contest. The second place team knocked over nine more pins, or 2940.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Emmmons at the McDonald Hospital at Warsaw last Friday.

In the list of selectees to leave for camp January 13, none were listed from Mentone. One, Carl Goehenour, teacher in the Mentone schools, is scheduled to go to Fort Wayne on Jan. 14th, for his physical examination before the Army examining board.

Don VanGilder, a former Mentone dentist who is in the army medical corp., telephoned his brother, Jack, Sat. evening that he and Mrs. VanGilder are now at Carlisle, Pa.

Warsaw, Sidney and Syracuse, considered three of the strongest teams in Kosciuszko county, found themselves in one bracket as a result of the county basketball tournament drawing held Monday evening at the office of the county superintendent. Atwood is also listed in the same bracket. The strongest teams in the other bracket are Pierceton and Mentone.

We are in war now and it is very necessary that each and every one put his shoulder to the grindstone and help keep things moving. You can do your part by helping your local Red Cross. Twenty-five hospital gowns were cut out besides those that were finished by the local Red Cross last week. Come!

Billie Cook, who is in military training, is enjoying a 16-day furlough with his parents.

Jesse Dean Grubbs arrived from Camp Shelby, Tues. evening to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Grubbs.

The Rev. Fowler, whose family had been under quarantine with scarlet fever, was seen about our streets this week. Even with the extremely cold weather, I imagine he and the other members of his family appreciated release from their confinement.

Miss Dorothy Nottingham returned to her work at Indianapolis last week after spending her Christmas vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Nottingham.

The employees and wives of the Valentine Elevator Inc. were entertained at a Christmas party Tuesday evening. Dinner was enjoyed by thirteen at Hall's Smorgasbord at Ft. Wayne and then attended the "Hello Dolly" musical.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Good, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Walsh, Marie Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haist, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Valentine.

Miss Betty McGurk, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGurk, Rochester, a student of Harrison Crabbill and a member of the Mentone Flying Club, soloed Monday. She was the youngest woman ever to solo from the local club. Her solo was actually made at the Rochester airport although she has taken all her instruction and is enrolled in ground school at the local airport. The crosswind Monday prevented her from soloing at the local airport. Miss Diana K. Sarber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sarber of Mentone, has been named winner of the 1967 Good Citizens Contest by the Anthony Nigo Chapter DAR of Mentone.

The 9th Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade arrived in Vietnam, Dec. 19. Private Eduardo Castellanos, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel M. Castellanos, R. 2, Palestine Lake, sailed with the brigade when it departed the west coast of the U.S. last month.

Private Castellanos is a medical aidman assigned to Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 3rd Battalion of the brigade's 60th Infantry.

The following letter was sent to the Mothers of World War II by Wayne Funnell, a member of the U.S. Marine Corps in Vietnam. The War Mothers annually send packages to overseas servicemen. L/Cpl. Funnell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Funnell, R. 1, Mentone. Dear Mrs. Romine or Madame President: Thank you from the bottom of my heart for the package. Thank everyone who was concerned with the idea of this. This does more for the morale than a hundred R. & R. For it shows that someone cares who is fighting this war. Loneliness is the hardest problem. So when a package comes everyone crowds around trying to see what is in the package. In fact, one Marine said to thank you personally so when I come home that is the first thing on the list.

I don't know if my mother is a member or not, but I am glad that you cared enough to see that I got the package. I wrote one thank you note but it seems to lack something so I am writing this one. In fact, I don't think I can say enough to you. For the words "thank you" are all I can say at the present time. But somehow I will never forget that the War Mothers of Unit 106 never forget who is out fighting this war. You do more than just worry, you do something. This shows you care even though I have never met you personally. Thank you.

It is time for me to go back on duty. Please pass the word. Keep the good work up. Sincerely, L/Cpl. Wayne Funnell-Chu Lai.

Note: Fortunately we are not in a war at this time. But the Mothers of WW II remembered the servicemen overseas with cards.

Little Linda Lou Lukens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lukens, of near Akron, competed in the Maurice B. Sachs Amateur Hour program over a Chicago radio and TV network Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith held their Christmas party for the neighborhood children on last Wednesday evening.

Each child was given a treat of an orange and candy.

Thirteen heavily-laden coal cars of the Nickel Plate Railroad were derailed near the station at Tippecanoe Sunday morning. Two of the cars crashed into the frame walls of the depot spilling tons of coal on the inside of the nearly demolished building.

HOME CURES FOR COLDS AND FLU

Sooner or later, no matter how hard we may try to fight it, most everyone comes down with colds. With that problem in mind, we've collected a few home-remedy suggestions that are every bit as good as the myriad of anti-cold drugs mentioned on TV and radio... but don't strain either your pocketbook or your body's natural defense system.

First of all, a reader (who claims he hasn't had "the bug" in the 16 years since he discovered his cure) sent along the following personally tested instructions for a remedy for colds and flu. Willard Olney got the brain-storm for his treatment after reading an article which pointed out that a fever will naturally halt the course of a pesky cold or flu virus. (That's why you feel better after a fever breaks.) Olney concluded that he could head off many illnesses if he simply raised his own body temperature before the virus settled in.

At the first symptoms of a cold or flu (headache, scratchy throat, sore muscles, fatigue... you know all the miserable signs), Olney goes home in the evening and soaks—for as long as he can stand it—in a very hot bath. (For safety's sake, be sure the water doesn't exceed 105°F if you try it!)

Then, when his body temperature registers about 102°F, Willard gets out of the tub. (It's a good idea to get help when standing up... hot water baths can make you dizzy!) Next, he climbs into bed—under plenty of extra blankets—to roast, shucking off the covers a layer at a time as the night wears on.

And, come the following morning, a regenerated Willard Olney sallies forth to greet the day! So, next time you start feeling poorly, you might consider taking Olney's advice: Just draw yourself a hot bath and save the money you might have spent on worthless "miracle" medicines.

However, if it's too late—and you've already let a virus get the best of you, another reader, Marj Watkins, has a few suggestions on how to handle a fever.

If your temperature is under 102°F, Ms. Watkins suggests you eat chilled custard, jello, applesauce, and small amounts of lean beef. Drink apricot juice, lemonade, fresh or reconstituted frozen orange juice, or chilled rose-hip or mint tea—along with 1,000 milligrams of vitamin C—every two hours. Keep warm and out of drafts.

For a fever of over 102°F, Marj adds, you should sip cool liquids reinforced with about 1/2 teaspoon of powdered ascorbic acid (the same substance that's sprinkled on fresh fruit to prevent browning) or dissolved vitamin C tablets (1,000 milligrams per cupful). Stay in bed. Lightly wash your face, hands, arms, and neck with a cool, wet cloth, continually cooled in a basin of cold water. (Do consult a doctor if sore throat, vomiting, abdominal pain, or chest congestion are also present... or if home remedies fail to bring you relief.)

The lady also recommends that a person recovering from a fever stay indoors—and preferably in bed—until the temperature has been normal for a full 12 hours, or the fever may return.

Notice to Mentone students

Because of the deterioration of the gym floor caused by the sand brought inside on shoes, a new rule will go into effect Monday, January 4, 1982. All students, kindergarten through 8th grade, must have a pair of gym shoes to use only in gym class. Students will not be permitted to wear gym shoes to school and wear those same shoes to gym class. The dirt on the bottom of those shoes acts like sandpaper on the floor. All 6th, 7th and 8th grade students may bring an extra pair of gym shoes and keep them in their classroom, or they may wear socks on the floor. At noon, students will not be permitted on the floor unless they put on their gym shoes or play in their socks.

APPROVES BILL

Congress gave swift final approval recently to compromise bills providing $199.7 billion for the Defense Department and $7.06 billion for military construction projects. Both were sent to the White House for President Reagan's signature, which is expected.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid

OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

MENTONE Our Home Grows

THE MENTONE GAZETTE, NOVEMBER 16, 1889

Everybody who has interests in or about Mentone should help agitate the grave road question. There is no one enterprise which would add more to the value of property in this section than first-class roads. Merchants and farmers are equally interested in the matter.

THE MENTONE GAZETTE, NOVEMBER 30, 1889

On last Saturday night, Isaac Hire was returning home from Claypool, where he had been transacting some business which necessitated his handling some money. When within about a mile of home he was accosted by a man at the roadside who ordered him to halt. As it was quite dark and Mr. Hire had no time to foot away, he felt under no special obligations to obey the command, and so he put whip to his horse and soon arrived at his barn and proceeded to unhitch from the buggy when two men entered his barn, yelled and came toward him. Mr. Hire commanded them to halt but they manifested the same disregard for his orders that he had done for theirs. Hire then became exasperated and proceeded to enforce his orders by the vigorous use of a peice of lumber over the head of the foremost man. This persuasive argument induced him to obey orders and after seeing his companion knocked down twice, the other fellow retreated. Hire continued to cudgel his man until he crawled up and made good his escape. The supposition is that the fellows had followed Mr. Hire all the way from Claypool, and it is also supposed that when he again tells them to halt they will obey him.

[now Mr. Hire would probably be charged with assault with a deadly weapon!!]

MENTONE GAZETTE, DECEMBER 7, 1889

The Walkerton Independent gets off several very large ones on Mentone last week, among the most hypochondriacal of which is the following:

The following epitaph we are told, appears on the tombstone of a Mentone woman, who went to be an angel:

Here lies a poor woman, Who always was tired, Who lived in house, Where help was not hired.

Her last words on earth, Were "Dear Friends, I am going. Where washing ain't done, Nor sweeping nor sewing; And everything there, Is exact to my wishes, For where they don't eat--There's no washing up dishes. I'll be where loud anthems, Will always be ringing, For having no voice, I'll get clear of the singing.

Don't mourn for me now, Don't mourn for me never, I'm going to do nothing, For ever and ever."

MENTONE GAZETTE, FEBRUARY 8, 1890

The gravel road question should not be permitted to rest until some decisive step is taken in the matter. Nothing will be done until some enterprising farmer leads out in the matter and this is the best season to take definite steps. The Gazette is willing to do all in its power to assist in the matter.

MENTONE GAZETTE, FEBRUARY 15, 1890

There are but three firms in Mentone still doing business at the same old stand which they occupied five years ago when we took charge of this paper, and still the Gazette lives and is healthy if not happy.

Considering the wear and tear on teams, harness and vehicles, the loss of time and patience the pulling through the mud, and the thousand and one other inconveniences of bad roads, our farmers would find that two or three weeks of systematic work on our highways would be more profitable than the same amount of labor put upon their farms.

MENTONE GAZETTE, MARCH 1, 1890

IN MEMORIAM

To the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee.

Adam's little crib is empty now

The little clothes laid by,

A mother's hope, a father's joy,

In death's cold arms doth lie.

Three little angels now on high,

They hand in hand together run,

Three links now bind us to the sky,

Three fingers beckoning us to come.

Lord, give us strength our loss to bear,

And Lead us in the heavenly way,

Oh, may we meet our darlings there,

In realms of everlasting day.

—Mrs. Wm. Sarber

[There are many such entries in the papers during this whole period, but I found this one particularly beautiful and it was apparently written by a resident of Mentone.]

Mrs. Belle Mollenhour will open up her dress-making shop in the room formerly occupied by Mrs. Carmack in Central House block, instead of the Art Gallery building as mentioned last week. She will be ready for business next week. About April 1st, she will put in a stock of millinery goods and will employ Miss Exie Smith to take charge of this part of the work.

MENTONE GAZETTE, MARCH 8, 1890

The Indian Territory will soon be a thing of the past. The aggressive land grabbers who have pushed the Oklahoma bill through the House will lobby it through the Senate, too. They will get in No Man's Land, the Cherokee Outlet, and ultimately, all the Indian Territory. This steal is going on boldly, and there is nothing likely to stop it. Who cares? True, we pledged our national faith to give the Indian that far territory forever, as slight payment for the rest of the continent; but now that some of our white brethren want the land, we may as well let them steal it; under the authority of Congress.

MENTONE GAZETTE, MARCH 15, 1890

The Gazette has concluded to say nothing about the gravel roads this week. It don't pay. The people who use the roads the most, seem to enjoy the mud.

MENTONE GAZETTE, MARCH 22, 1890

If a stranger inquires of you concerning the condition and future prospects of your town, have a good word for every department that deserves it. If a merchant favors you when you are in need, remember him when you have the money, spend it with your home merchants, and if they don't have what you want, have them send and get it for you. They can get it cheaper than you can. If farmers have grain to sell they should bring it to their home market, if you have spare money put it in the bank until you need it and when you want a favor, go to the banker for it. In union there is strength, but a house divided against itself cannot stand. --Ex.

Resolutions

Americans make resolutions at the beginning of each new year. Some view the process with cynicism, knowing most of the resolutions will be broken before many days have passed.

But resolutions signify that the maker seeks to improve his habits; they are a sign the maker is striving to better himself or herself. In that sense, they're an indication of an active mind, of good intentions.

New Year's resolutions, then, whether kept or not, are a good idea. That is what the game of life is all about--the hope, and effort, for improvement.

Hope?

Early in December the leaders of the two German nations met for three days. It was the first such meeting in eleven years.

West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and East German President Erich Honecker discussed nuclear arms talks now in progress between U.S. and U.S.S.R. representatives in Geneva and other matters.

They discussed the possibility of a reunited Germany, if only sparingly, and closer cooperation between the two Germans. (West Germany still takes the official position the two Germans are one people and nation.)

There's no reason for immediate hope. But the longtime hope of the West must be that, eventually, West Germany can weaken the dedication of East Germans to totalitarian government.

ALLEN'S SUPPORT

HAPPY HOLIDAYS...

"Happiness keeps our purpose warm and our intelligence aglow." These were the words of Helen Keller. If you have a happy attitude, you are destined to love and be loved in your later years. But one thing certain, happiness is not something you find. True happiness finds you when you least expect it. Happiness is a child's kiss upon your cheek, your beloved's kiss upon your lips, or the clasp of a parent's hand, the handshake of an old friend or the welcoming of a new one. It is sharing yourself with someone by calling, visiting, taking food or flowers, or simply saying "I care." It is the belief in the promise of a good tomorrow. I want to wish you all a Great New Year filled with peace.

The Akron Nutrition Site will be closed January 1st for New Years-re-opened Monday, Jan. 4.

Scheduled menus for the week of Jan 4 - 8 are:

Monday - Sloppy Jo Sandwich, Creamed Corn, Three Bean Salad, Peaches, Milk.

Tuesday - Fried Chicken, Scaloped Potatoes, Tossed Salad,

JUNE FULLER

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Spread the word of your new coupon club

By June Fuller

If the idea of meeting regularly with a few dozen other couponers and refunders appeals to you, then it's time to start a coupon club in your area.

Here are some of the ways you can publicize your first meeting:

— Pick a date several weeks in advance. Start telling your friends about the meeting and ask them to tell their friends. Word-of-mouth advertising can quickly spread your message from one end of town to the other.

— You can reinforce this message by printing small leaflets with this simple message: "COUPON CLUB BEING FORMED. For information call..."

— You can use the same message for signs to be placed on supermarket bulletin boards. If your store doesn't have one, ask the manager whether you can put up a sign near the store entrance or in a window.

— Ask your newspaper to list the meeting in its calendar of events. If this isn't possible, consider taking a small classified advertisement to announce your meeting.

— If you are an experienced refunder, your savings may make a good feature story for your newspaper and radio and television stations. While you are getting yourself interviewed, be sure to mention your new coupon club.

If the notices for your first meeting contain just your phone number rather than the time and place of the meeting, you can control the number of people who will attend.

How many people do you want at your first meeting? I recommend that you have between 15 and 20 people. A group of this size is small enough to control and large enough to do some very worthwhile trading.

So, when people start calling, give out the meeting information to the first 25 who say they will attend. Some of them won't show up.

Put the names and phone numbers of subsequent callers on a waiting list for future meetings.

Next week I'll tell you how my coupon club runs its meetings.

This week's smart shopper is Pat Strobel of Akron, Ohio. She found a Johnson and Johnson offer of a free first-aid kit in a magazine.

The offer required proofs from six of the company's products. So, Ms. Strobel went to her coupon file and found four 25-cent coupons for these same items.

She used them when her local discount store offered to triple the value of its customers' coupons. Her total cost came to $2.06.

She received the $4.49 first-aid kit free, and inside were three more 25-cent coupons.

But her savings weren't finished. An insert in her newspaper contained a $1.25 refund for sending in part of the wrapper from the kit!

"I'm ahead $3.68 not counting the additional 75 cents' worth of coupons," says Ms. Strobel. "My experience confirms your advice to save cents-off coupons in an organized way. I had those first four coupons for more than a year before I was able to use them to make this 'home run' discount."

Ms. Strobel and other readers whose smart shopping experiences appear in my column receive a copy of the refunding publication, The National Supermarket Shopper. Write to me in care of this newspaper.

Here's a refund form to write for: Baker's Coconut $1 Cash Refund Offer. General Foods Corp., P.O. Box 8058, East Court Street, Kankakee, Ill. 60901. This offer expires June 1, 1982.

Here is this week's list of refund offers. Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends. Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below. Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country.

Winter and Wildlife

By Joe Scheldler
Dist. Wildlife Biologist

The winter season is the most critical period for wildlife. When the crops are in and the fields plowed, game and non-game animals are funneled into islands of cover and food. At most, only a small proportion of fall and early winter wildlife populations live to reproduce the following spring.

In all habitats there is a limit on the number of wild animals that can be maintained. This limit, known as carrying capacity, reaches its lowest ebb during winter when food and cover are greatly reduced.

One approach to winter food shortages is artificial feeding. This practice is demonstrated by 20 million Americans who annually maintain winter bird feeding stations. Some concerned sportsmen also make periodic treks to brush patches or thickets to scatter grain for game animals.

There is an optimum balance between winter and summer carrying capacities that should be realized. It's entirely natural for populations to fluctuate through the year. Most game species have very high reproductive potentials, and relatively few animals in early spring can produce enough young to reach carrying capacity by late summer or early fall. If there was not a substantial decline in wildlife numbers during winter there would be too many breeding animals in the spring and the summer range would be over-utilized.

Winter wildlife feeding can then sometimes prolong, and even worsen, the inevitable die-off unless conditions during the rest of the year are made better accordingly. For this reason the best way to boost carrying capacity is to improve natural food supplies and cover. For many species this involved periodically disturbing areas of natural vegetation by cutting, mowing or burning. Such disturbance favors establishment of weeds and shrubs, offering food and shelter for quail, rabbits, pheasants, and other game. Planting various shrubs, trees and grains can also help improve wildlife numbers year around.

Winter feeding of game animals is most realistic when the winter is abnormally severe, such as we experienced in the late 1970's. If we're stepping into a similar winter, it would be good to be prepared, but it would be better to concentrate on improving habitat quality and carrying capacities for all seasons.

If you would like assistance in developing a wildlife management plan, write to Joe Scheldler, Wildlife Biologist, P.O. box 764, Logansport, Ind. 46947.

Help with electric & fuel bills available to low income families

Applications for State Allowance for Energy (Project SAFE) are now being accepted at 250 sites in Indiana, according to Jean Merritt, executive director of the Indiana Office of Community Services Administration which administers the program.

If a home is heated with gas, the head of the household should make application for this low income energy assistance at his or her natural gas utility. If a home is heated with any fuel other than gas, application should be made at electric utility offices.

Application assistance also may be obtained at Community Action Agencies, Area Agencies on Aging and at Farmworkers Emerging a New Indiana Coalition Services (FENICS).

A one person household must have a yearly income at or below $4,957 to qualify for benefits. The figure increases to $6,544 for a two person household and increases $1,587 for each additional family member.

Project SAFE credits will be applied to three consecutive monthly electric and fuel bills. The amount deducted from electric bills will be $12 per month for three months, for a total of $36. The remainder of the credits will be applied to fuel bills.

To determine eligibility, a person must document his or her income for the 12-month period prior to the time application is made.

Applications for an emergency component of Project SAFE are being taken only at Community Service Agencies, at Area Agencies on Aging and at FENICS offices. This component of the program provides up to $100 in the event a household encounters extreme difficulties. For those older than 60, this sum increases to $125.

More information about Project SAFE may be obtained by calling toll free 1-800-622-4973.

Golan Heights

Israel's annexation of the Golan Heights just about makes real peace in the Middle East impossible, and wrecks many hopes stirred by Camp David.

This kind of aggression clearly signals to the world that only after the departure of Menachem Begin, as Israel's leader, will a general, overall peace settlement in the area become possible.

Thankfully, this same view is being increasingly expressed by Begin's opposition, including the Labor Party leader there, who will likely be the next government head. He opposed annexation of the Golan Heights.

As columnist Sydney Harris recently put it, Begin and PLO leader Arafat have a lot in common. They are both ex-terrorists and extremists. Achieving peace in the area would be much easier without their presence.

Hoosier's First Deer Hunt

Ever since he saw his first, authentic deer hoof print in Hoosier clay during the 1960's, Jacob wondered if some day he would have a good opportunity to hunt this quality big game animal on native soil. Over the years he watched, with great pleasure, the steady increase in deer numbers state-wide, until finally he reasoned the time had come.

The clear, calm dawning of opening day was greeted by the young man snuggled against a tree perhaps 15 feet from an old logging road which showed evidence of deer use. Within minutes a rustling of leaves caught Jacob's attention. Expecting to see a squirrel, he slowly turned, only to be startled by a sudden commotion and a flashing white tail which quickly disappeared into the woodland.

Surprised and encouraged, the man again squatted against the frozen earth. Few minutes passed before there was again a shuffling of leaves and a sudden burst of two white-tail does onto the logging road. Jacob admired the animals, who were no more than 20 feet away, as they lingered about, nibbling twigs. It was the best observation of wild deer he ever had, and the day had become very memorable.

On his second day out Jacob climbed into a tree stand he had erected near the logging road. It was a damp, dreary day, and the major activity was that of squirrels gleaning corn from a nearby field. Jacob was humored by a squirrel carrying a large ear of corn into the woods. The heavy ear was making travel somewhat difficult for the squirrel, but the problem was rectified when the tip of the cob was clamped firmly between front teeth and the bushytail scampered off with his giant yellow cigar.

While in the tree stand again on the third day, Jacob was surprised by a strong whistling snort and a flagging white tail no more than 60 feet behind him. As he pondered the soundless mobility of these animals he suddenly caught sight of another deer lying motionless among leaves within 50 feet of the tree stand. After a few moments the young doe crept silently into the underbrush.

On the fourth day Jacob decided to hunt a brushy draw where he had earlier noticed evidence of buck activity. A ridge adjacent the draw was selected and the young man settled down against a suitable tree. Within 10 minutes a buck came ambling up the draw well within shooting range. The trigger was squeezed, the muzzle loader belched fire and smoke, and the hunt was over. A 4-point buck had been bagged--not a trophy to everyone, but definitely a trophy to Jacob.

While field dressing the animal Jacob noticed there was no fat surrounding the heart and kidneys, and he knew this condition indicated the animal was not finding enough food. He questioned whether the animal would have survived a severe winter, and realized the importance of annual harvesting to control malnutrition and insure a healthy herd.

It had been an excellent season. A young man had decided to hunt Indiana's white-tail deer, a decision which is grandfathered did not have an opportunity to make. For Jacob the experience brought unforgettable memories, quality meat for the table, and a new admiration and appreciation for Indiana's only big game animal.

WASHINGTON WATCH
Sen. Dick Lugar
A New Start In 1981

This was an exciting and challenging year for all Americans concerned with the future growth, development and security of our great nation.

Numerous Washington commentators agreed that for the first time in many years Congress began to deal with the hard issues of government responsibility, federalism and the economic foundation of this country. No longer did the President and Members of Congress just add up what various special interest groups demanded in spending projects and then pass the costs on to the taxpayers through inflation.

President Reagan and the new leadership in Congress set out on a new course for economic recovery at home and a more secure position in the world. The first meaningful tax cut in 20 years was passed. The growth of federal spending was slowed down and inflation and interest rates began to fall. America's stature as a promoter of peace and freedom grew in the world, and for the first time the United States at President Reagan's initiative not only began to negotiate with the Soviet Union a limitation in nuclear arms in the world, but an actual reduction in the numbers.

Despite this good news, we still have many problems. Millions of Americans are out of work. Many more are unable to afford their own home. Many businesses are in serious trouble, especially farming and the auto industry, which are so important to Indiana.

But for the first time we have hope that the anti-inflation spending controls and tax cuts will spur new investment and job creation. A number of economists predict that the economy will begin to get better in the spring of 1982.

When 1981 began our nation faced an economic crisis as challenging as the Depression of 50 years ago. This crisis was not solved overnight; but when a change came to Washington with President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Americans regained their hope for a better future. In 1981 that hope returned.
