Area digs out of weekend blizzard

BANKS of snow higher than a car line portions of SR 19 following last weekend's blizzard that left residents isolated.

Snow whipped by strong winds paralyzed the area Friday, leaving residents stranded or isolated.

Coupled with sub-zero temperatures, the result was a frigid weekend spent digging out from a storm that placed the state in a blizzard crisis.

All Tippecanoe Valley schools dismissed early Wednesday as the first of a series of storms battered the area. They were still closed yesterday while work crews attempted to clear already snow-filled right of ways.

BY TUESDAY, road crews had cleared most state and county roads, although some roads remain one-way as this picture taken on SR 19 shows. As for obeying the signs, do we have a choice? Some county roads are much narrower than this, and driver caution is urged.

Ground broken for new Woodlawn

Groundbreaking ceremonies, already twice delayed, were conducted Thursday afternoon for the new Woodlawn Hospital to be constructed at the east edge of Rochester on a site known as Jones Woods.

About 50 shivering spectators watched as trustees and administrators turned the first shovels of dirt to signify the official start of construction.

General contractor for the $4.3 million building is the H.G. Christman Co. of So. Bend.

The new medical facility is expected to be completed late in 1978. It will replace the present hospital in downtown Rochester which was built in 1935 and enlarged in 1955. Officials say the old hospital no longer meets current health care standards.

The new hospital will include two medical/surgical wings, an obstetrical unit and a critical care unit. The first floor will be devoted exclusively to ancillary services, including emergency department, surgery, laboratory, X-ray, pharmacy, etc. The second floor will be limited to patient rooms, which are all private with each room having its own bathroom, shower, television and telephone.

Kicking off the fund-raising campaign following the groundbreaking ceremony was Moore Business Forms, which donated $15,000.

No goal has been established for the fund raising campaign, which was launched to provide

Akron water customers asked to keep water running

All water users in the town of Akron are asked to continue to keep one faucet partially open to prevent lines from freezing. This should be done until further notice, says the town board. Water and sewer rates will be adjusted accordingly. However, any customer whose line freezes and who has not kept a faucet open will have to bear the expense of additional thaw-outs.

Mentone water users asked to keep tap open

Mentone town board members have asked town residents to keep a tap running day and night until the severe weather ends. The stream of water need not be larger than a pencil, they said.

Ballgames postponed

The blizzards of last weekend caused the postponement of Tippecanoe Valley's Friday and Saturday night games with Manchester and Southwood and cancellation of Thursday night's girls game at Whitko.

Valley will meet Manchester on February 8 and Southwood on Feb. 15. Both are away games.

Akron expresses thanks

The Akron Town Board this week expressed its appreciation to all the people who helped open the streets during last week's snow storm.

ODDS and ENDS

By Ann Sheetz

This is the story of four people who lived in the dining room.

It is not a tale of deprivation. We lacked nothing except mobility and for this we gave thanks. The rest of the time we counted.

The count started at 45 and 55. Wind speed 45, oil level 55 gallons. Roads impassable. Only a ruffled bluejay moving in the swirling snow.

We'd talked about this before, and we all knew what to do. Loren closed the registers in the living room and den and the boys shut off the heat in the bedrooms. I gathered up the plants and moved them to the dining room while Loren hung a blanket over the door to the living room. Our nine-room house had been reduced to three.

By nightfall, the count was three, 45 and 10. Three layers of clothes, 45 gallons of oil and ten degrees in the living room, den and bedrooms. We wore coats to move. In addition chairs and a portable TV that wouldn't pick up the only channel I wanted to see. It didn't matter. I was too busy cooking and washing--keeping the kitchen and utility room pipes thawed is how the eaters described it.

Still, cooking wasn't such a bad activity. It clearly beat being in the dining room where the count was 45,000 and testy. A game of Monopoly between Loren and 12-year old Doug had dragged on for two hours until my weary mate had withdrawn in favor of Todd, 18 and restless at being confined. He jumped at the chance to get in the game, but he was more demanding than his father had been and rents were collected at the going rate and rules were followed to the letter. The thermostat was set on 62 but the temperature soared to 65.

By day's end, the snow was deeper, the winds just as strong and oil delivery day uncertain. The court was zilch on all scores. Twin mattresses were moved to the dining room, but Todd and I declined. He wore sockcap ("My nap cap," he said.) and gloves. "I got along great," he reported later. His having the only electric blanket in the family may have had something to do with it, but he didn't say. Hatless and with only a heating pad, I watched my breath freeze in the air and within three hours was chilled numb. I sought refuge with Loren and Doug on the floor.

By morning my back throbbed and the count was three, 35 and 10. The 35 was most alarming and we dialed back to 60 and prepared to move the blanket to the kitchen door in the event the gauge wasn't right or we finally ran out of oil.

Shivering at the idea, we welcomed Loren's brother when he tracted in to see how we were doing. A look at the dining room told him, "Wonder if Diesel fuel would work in your furnace," he asked, and a phone call assured us it would. The count was 30 gallons of the smelly stuff, five gallons at a time. The gauge rolled back to 65, we cranked the thermostat to 64 and opened the register in our bedroom. The boys laid claim to the dining room, and we all slept soundly, for once not waking every 30 minutes to listen for the furnace.

By Sunday, we were rested, the sun was shining and first one snowplow, then another led by a scoop cleared both roads. The drive was cleared and in it sat the most beautiful sight in the world--an oil truck with its hose in our fill pipe. I cried.

"You guys were good company, but I'm glad to be rid of you," I told my family as mobility loomed. "Same to ya," they replied as they tore down the blanket, opened the registers and helped me carry the plants back.

Don't blame post office

If your paper was late last week, don't blame the post office. The snow that isolated the area kept the papers from going out--although publication date was met without breaking the record of not missing an issue. Hopefully, everyone will receive his or her paper on the right day this week.

I'll always remember the weekend as one in which we learned we could live in a lot less space than normal, developed an admiration for the Amish and their way of life, thought more about solar and wind power than ever before and realized we'd never really known the meaning of cabin fever--a malady that in our instance broke on Monday when three vehicles rolled out of the drive in convoy formation to seek other roads that were open and that would lead us back to work.

An Editorial

How can any of us express our gratitude to all the people who worked so hard to end the area's isolation last weekend? The snowplow crews, the volunteers who manned scoops, snowmobiles and four-wheel drive vehicles? The oil and gas deliverymen who worked so hard to get to their customers and the milk men who valiantly tried to pick up milk so that dairy farmers would not have to dump milk in order to milk again.

And for us on a personal level, our appreciation goes to our small, but dedicated staff who helped keep intact our 15-year record of not missing an issue of the NEWS and who braved still hazardous roads to help put out this week's paper. And for Diesel fuel furnaces.

We all have much to be thankful for. It's too bad it takes a crisis to make us realize it.

BIRTHPLACE OF INDUSTRY--America's first genuine factory where goods were mass-produced on sophisticated machinery run by waterpower was the Old Slater Mill. Built on the Blackstone River in Pawtucket, R.I. in 1793, it was not only the first successful U.S. cotton mill but also established the pattern for development of other industries in America.

Dear Editor,

Being snowbound gives us time to reflect upon some things we didn't have time for before, like the accomplishments of last year and goals for 1977.

Fulton County Historical Society published four Quarterlies during 1976, numbers 23 to 26. If any member did not receive all four, please call the museum at 223-4436.

Last year five historical markers were dedicated in Fulton County: Trail of Death, William Polke House, Talma, Pioneer Park, and Mill Race. FCHS helped with these and many Bicentennial activities such as Wagon Train, July 4 picnic, RBF, Trail of Death and contributed the Trail of Death quarterly for the Time Capsule.

Plans for this year include participating in the RBF and having a bigger and better Trail of Courage Rendezvous. The Rendezvous will be held the third weekend of September at Riverwood Acres, thanks to the generosity of Bob Smith. We invite all clubs and interested individuals to plan now to make a pioneer handicraft for the Rendezvous such as cornhusk dolls, making applebutter in a copper kettle over a wood fire, candle dipping.

There will not be another re-enactment of the hike. That was a Bicentennial event to commemorate the courage of the Potawatomes on their forced removal in 1838. But the Trail of Courage Rendezvous will continue to honor the Potawatomes and recall the way of life of both the Indians and the pioneer in Fulton County in the 1830-40 era.

The Pioneer Woman's Log Cabin Museum in Lakeview Park is completed and we hope it will be an interesting addition to the Round Barn Festival for many years. Volunteers to learn spinning and carding are needed to demonstrate these crafts in the cabin.

Our New Year's Resolution is to finish the book, "Fulton County Folks vol 2" and get it published in 1977. About 50 stories have been handed in by interested families, but much work remains to be done. Volunteers to help with this and the typing are needed.

The four northeast rooms of the Civic Center have become a real museum, but the rooms continue to look like an old school. Someone with a decorating ability is needed to create the effect of an old-time parlor and proper settings for the old furniture. Wallpaper or old, barn siding might be used to make separate room settings. Perhaps a club would like to adopt this as a project.

Much museum work remains to be done also. All the sticky labels should be removed and numbers applied with India ink. Two file cards need to be typed for each article and filed so items can be found when desired. This is what the two Manpower girls, Becky Ogle and Jackie Kavis are doing. The same thing needs to be done at the depot museum.

Sometimes it seems that we will never get done, that the more we do the more there is to do. But little by little and with the help of volunteers, much will be accomplished.

We invite everyone to join the Fulton County Historical Society whether they have time to help or not. Just paying your dues is a big help and lets us know that you are in favor of preserving this county's history. Remember, without your dues, and contributions the historical society will die.

Milo Cutshall has drawn a picture of a prospective new building that is being promoted on the old corner Grocery corner. There is urgent need of that improvement and it has enthusiastic supporters in the masonic lodge as well as the State Bank directors. The bank wants to build, this coming season, instead, it has its plans completed, but hesitates a little at this time because if the rest of that block can or will build the results will be so much more satisfactory.

David Keel who gets this paper through the Wagoner post-office was in to buy some hard coal Monday. At that hour there was no coal in the Akron docks, but in two hours afterwards, there were two cars of coal, one of hard and one of soft coal. David, my son, come back!

Mrs. Arthur Slaybaugh handed us a little note which says that she has 92 R. C. Rhode Island red pullets. During the month of January this bunch of pullets produced 94 1/3 dozen of eggs and these were sold for $33.96 which is just a little more than a dollar a day.

The massive pump was started first in our city water works plant, last Sat., Jan. 27, 1917. Put that down as a matter of history. It is an important epoch in Akron's enterprise and industrial interests.

Claude Yike, who formerly operated the shop, is in charge of the welding and will take care of plow points and welding repair needs of the community.

The well at Beaver Dam school ran dry on Tuesday and school officials closed the institution to enable workmen to replace the old one by drilling a new 100 ft. well. Beaver Dam principal, Doyle Swanson, stated that it would probably be several days before school could get under way. He said that pumping failure of the well caused the contamination of the school's water supply. The water was noticed to have a contaminated taste last Friday, but no illness was reported. The well had not caused any recent trouble.

The Akron town board has announced that beginning at once they will treat the local water supply for rust and iron content and that new equipment for this work has been installed at the water plant.

Solar energy and your home

We've all used the heat of the sun--to dry our clothes, to bake mud pies, or to warm ourselves up after a cold swim. But using the sun to heat our houses has not been economically attractive until the recent dramatic increase in energy prices. And you had better believe that higher prices are here to stay.

Using the sun for home and hot water heating is called solar heating. In a new booklet called Solar Energy and Your Home, the Department of Housing and Urban Development explains what this can mean to you and how the different types of solar heating systems work. For a free copy of Solar Energy and Your Home, send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 646E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

You have probably seen information about panels that go on your roof or in the backyard called "solar collectors." These are part of an active system that collects the heat, stores it, and then with the help of pumps or fans passes it on through normal hot air or hot water heating channels. Active systems like this can often be added to existing houses or designed into new buildings as long as they have a southern exposure.

If you are thinking about adding solar space or hot water heating, you should also add insulation, weatherstripping, storm windows and other energy conserving features. This would be helpful even if you don't add solar heating.

The biggest question right now is cost. Depending on the size and complexity of the system you add, the size of your house, and climatic conditions, the price for a solar heating and hot water system can range from $5,000 to $20,000. In most parts of the country, it is only an economical alternative to electric heat now. But as the price of gas and oil go up, solar heating will become an attractive alternate source of energy for heating your home.

Solar Energy and Your Home (free) is one of the more than 200 selected Federal consumer publications listed in the current edition of the catalog, Consumer Information. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, a free copy of the catalog is available by sending a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

THE BAKER'S DAUGHTER by D. E. Stevenson. This is a romantic story with a strong Scottish flavor.

HIS DARLING WIFE, EVELYN by Mrs. Oral Roberts. This is an autobiography of the wife of Oral Roberts.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE WORLD by Arlene Hale. This story is an inimitable blend of mystery and romance.

ROLES SPEAKERS PLAY by James C. Hulmes. This tells you how to prepare a speech for any occasion.

MORGAN AND HIS DIXIE CAVALIERS by William E. Metzler. This is an account of the Confederate Cavalryman, General John Hunt Morgan's most famous exploits.

ARABESQUE by Theresa de Kerpely. Between the ruins of World War I and the approaching shadow of World War II, Europe was a hungry and desperate place; hungry for the order and stability destroyed by the "Great War", desperate to indulge in the last pleasures of a way of life doomed by Hitler's madness. This is the story of a reserved young Englishwoman married to a British diplomat and their way of life during this period of history.

THE TERMINAL GENERATION by Hal Lindsay. The greatest crises are unique because each one is capable of destroying us. The author believes that many world authorities who predict we may not last beyond the 20th Century are right—we are the terminal generation. Man can live about forty days without food, about three days without water, about eight minutes without air but only one second without hope. This generation is being offered many false hopes. This book presents the only true and lasting hope.

LORETTA LYNN, COAL MINER'S DAUGHTER by Loretta Lynn. Loretta Lynn's book is much more than just a chronicle of her own life. For one thing, it tells you about the struggle for survival in the hollars and coal camps of isolated Appalachian mountain areas. No one can come through this book without a better understanding of what it's like to grow up poor in America.

Accident Report

The Ned Highway residence on SR 19, R. 2, Akron, was the scene of two separate accidents early last week. The first occurred Monday evening when Ronald D. Lambert, 36, Akron, hit a road sign and Highway's fence 100 feet north of the Highway residence. Lambert said he braked after seeing a school bus, but the brakes grabbed and pulled the car to the right. The vehicle went down an embankment, striking the road sign and causing $35 damage to the sign, then running into the fence. Damage was listed as $100 to the fence and $200 to the car. The second accident occurred Tuesday evening, 20 feet south of the Highway property, when cars driven by Tim J. Boganwright, 16, R.1, Claypool, and Linda L. Highway, 29, R. 2, Akron, collided. Mrs. Highway told police she was stopped to make a left turn into her drive when she was struck from behind by the Boganwright car. Boganwright said he applied his brakes when he came over a crest in the hill but slid on the slick road. Both drivers suffered slight injuries--Boganwright a cut on the finger and bump to the head and Mrs. Highway a bump on the head. Damage was listed at $1,000 to the Boganwright car and $750 to the Highway truck. A farm shed belonging to Robert Highway was also damaged. It was listed at $1,500 damage.

A person who weighs 160 pounds on earth would weigh only 30 pounds on the moon.

Spring and strawberries coming up

Think spring...crocus, warm rains, robins and, of course, the first strawberries. You can bring spring to mid-winter by serving frozen strawberries for dessert, says Robert D. Buchanan, Purdue University extension restaurant management specialist.

Buchanan suggest creativity and simplicity when planning an everyday dessert. For instance, combine thawed frozen sliced strawberries, drained mandarin orange sections and plumped golden raisins for Swedish Dessert. Grapefruit sections, pineapple chunks and/or miniature marshmallows may also be added. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon, mix and chill well. Serve topped with sour cream and garnish with additional strawberries.

The simple Strawberry Topper can be served with many cakes or puddings or can be served alone topped with whipped cream. Thaw and drain frozen strawberries. Add cornstarch to remaining syrup and cook until clear and thickened. Add lemon juice and peel and, if desired, cinnamon or nutmeg. Cool syrup, stir in strawberries and chill.

For a Valentine Day treat, Buchanan recommends Sweetheart Sundae. With a pastry tube, pipe meringue into heart shapes; pipe again around edges to form rim. Bake and cool. Fill heart shells with strawberry ice cream. Top with marshmallow cream which has been blended with an equal amount of thawed sliced strawberries.

Alaska Tarts add an elegant touch to a formal dinner. Scoop strawberry ice cream into tart shells and hold in freezer until a few minutes before serving. Spoon small amount of thawed frozen strawberries over ice cream. Top with meringue and spread to edges to seal. Sprinkle meringue with granulated sugar. Bake at 500°F for two minutes or until meringue is lightly browned. Serve at once.

If you are planning a buffet dinner, a Strawberry-Coconut Ring could be the perfect dessert. Butter ring mold and press shredded coconut on bottom and sides of mold. Prepare angel food cake batter, from a mix or from an original recipe. Fill molds 2/3 full. Bake at 375°F for 25 minutes or until cake tests done. Invert and cool. Fill center of ring with partially thawed frozen strawberries and top with whipped cream.

Pie fillings, straight from the can, can be combined with ice cream for unusual flavor combinations. Blend blueberry pie filling and peach ice cream in tall parfait glasses. Or try angel food cake topped with lemon ice cream and a generous ladle of peach pie filling. Butter pecan ice cream topped with warm, cinnamon-sprinkled apple pie filling is the perfect complement to a winter meal.

Natural gas curtailment asked

Continued sacrifices in the use of natural gas by all Northern Indiana Public Service Co. customers throughout the month of February were called for today by Dean H. Mitchell, NIPSCO chairman and chief executive officer.

"This is the coldest winter in 104 years and the coldest in the history of our company," he said. "It has been more than 1,300 degree days colder than last year and 1,200 degree days colder than normal. If we are to make it through this winter, our gas supplies must be stretched to the maximum to assure residential customers and human needs facilities enough gas to keep them warm and operating this winter."

Mitchell asked industries throughout Indiana to confine their natural gas usage to "plant protection" levels for the month of February in order to meet the gas needs of homes, apartments, hospitals, nursing homes, etc.

Mrs. Stockwell's batik in exhibit

A batik entitled "General Lew Wallace Study In Autumn" by Jill Ault Stockwell will be displayed at the Hoosier Salon Patrons Association's 53rd annual exhibit this week in the auditorium of Block's downtown Indianapolis store.

Mrs. Stockwell's batik is one of 189 pieces of work that include paintings, sculpture and prints by present and former Hoosier artists.

After the Salon closes Saturday, the show will go on tour throughout Indiana.

Mrs. Stockwell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ault, R.2, Roches-

Mitchell recommended all commercial and residential customers dial down to 65 degrees during the day and 55 degrees at night. He said public buildings and office buildings should also reduce heating requirements to these levels during the daytime and even more at night when they are not in use.

"The situation is serious," Mitchell said. "It will take the cooperation of everyone if no one person is to suffer needlessly."

Frank Manwaring elected ambulance service head, first financial report made

Frank Manwaring was elected president of the board of directors of the Four-Way Ambulance Emergency Service at a recent reorganization meeting at which a financial report for the first year of operation was released.

Other officers elected were Marvin Lowman, vice president; Gene Hughes, secretary, and Wayne Tombaugh, treasurer.

Expressing satisfaction with the progress the group has made since it formed last year to raise funds to establish the ambulance service, outgoing officers noted 75 runs were made with 38 of these paid for and 37 still unpaid at the time the report was made. Four of the latter have since been collected and ambulance officials note that collections are slower on those statements billed through Medicare.

The financial report showed a starting balance of zero last February 1. Receipts included $24,127 in donations, $1,819.50 ambulance fees collected and $110.90 interest for a total of $26,057.40. Disbursements included $8,500 to purchase the ambulance, $288.86 ambulance maintenance, $1,997.19 radios, insurance fees of $1,839 and legal fees of $63.50. Also, $7 licenses, $475.52 bookkeeping supplies and postage, $3.52 interest paid out, $479.35 telephone, $449.40 uniforms for EMTs, $190.50 EMT training expense and $930.52 medical supplies for a total of $15,224.36.

The ambulance service has a total of $10,833.04 deposited at Farmers State Bank, Mentone. Of this, $222.14 is on demand deposit, $1,610.90 is in savings deposit and $9,000 is invested in a certificate of deposit.

The 37 unpaid runs at the time the report was filed amounted to $1,633.26, nearly $400 of which has since been collected.

Office lab offers TVHS girls intensive pre-job training

Office procedures are becoming more real to the girls enrolled in Tippecanoe Valley High School's intensive office lab, a new course designed to prepare them for first level office positions by helping them develop skills in accounting, stenography, filing, typing and communications.

All students are seniors who have expressed an interest in business careers. They meet three hours each day in a room divided by twelve desks into individual office settings equipped with calculators, typewriters and transcription equipment.

Back in school Tuesday for the first time since January 26, the girls are simultaneously noting OEA week and preparing for Saturday's regional contest at So. Bend in which they will test their skills against other OEA members.

Postponed last week because of the severe weather condition that gripped the area, the Tippecanoe Valley adult education classes have been rescheduled and will begin February 15 with enrollment due today.

Classes to be offered include cake decorating, welding, sewing, advanced sewing and tailoring, photography, practical electricity, refinishing, woodworking, basic auto tune-up, small engine repair and macrame.

All classes are non-credit and are open to persons 16 and over. A $15 registration fee will be collected at the

Esther Billings is named 'Woman of Achievement'

Esther Billings

Esther Billings, a self-taught Montezuma writer-reporter and former editor and publisher of the Akron News who in 45 years never has missed a deadline even when confronted with blindness, Saturday was named 1977 Woman of Achievement by the Woman's Press Club of Indiana.

The gold-quill medalion award was presented at a noon luncheon in Indianapolis' LaTour restaurant. Featured speaker was Jean Wiley Huyler of Portland, Oregon, current president of the National Federation of Press Women.

Mrs. Billings' name will now be entered by the Indiana affiliate into nomination for the 1977 National Woman of Achievement Award. That winner will be announced during a banquet June 4 at the NFPW convention in Biloxi, Miss.

Mrs. Billings' career began in 1932 when she and her husband Claude bought the Akron News. Her special attention in those years was directed towards a movie column and social and club news.

Her interest in club news involved her in club activities and she was appointed editor of the

Akron water users reminded to leave water run

Akron water users are reminded to continue to run water from one faucet even as the weather warms up because this actually forces the frost down and the danger of freezing continues, according to town board members who this week asked water users to continue letting a stream of water flow from at least one faucet until notified to discontinue the practice.

Town board president Ron Fenimore, noting the unusual amount of snow that has fallen in the area, added a special plea, "If you have a hydrant on your property, please remove the snow from around it so it will be accessible in event of fire." He thanked everyone for cooperating with both requests and said the board would keep residents informed of new developments.

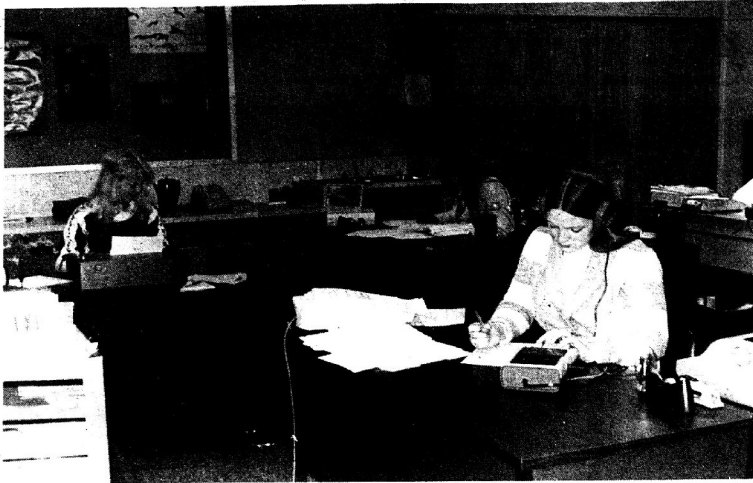

Akron police say thanks

Akron police this week voice appreciation for the cooperation received during the recent snow emergency from snowmobilers and four-wheel operators, all of whom were pressed into service to deliver supplies and medicine in the surrounding area.

Mentone board says thanks

Members of the Mentone town board this week expressed their appreciation to the snowmobilers and everyone else who helped in any way during the town's recent storm-induced isolation.

ODDS and ENDS

By Ann Sheetz

Coin-operated laundries intimidate me.

At home, in my own laundry room, I am queen, free to let a load of towels wash while I go to bed, dry while I fix breakfast and be folded while I prepare supper. Or I can wash sheets and dry blue jeans while I sneak in a Saturday afternoon nap. I can leave a pile of soiled tee-shirts on the floor all night if I decide to wait until morning to wash them.

It's a nice arrangement, and I like it. But I'm not using it right now because the frost line for the first time in 23 years has reached our utility room drain, and I've been cast out of my familiar surroundings into a world of machines for which I have no taste. I'm a displaced person, a bewildered alien surrounded by the constant rattle of money changers, the ever grinding, sometimes jumping operation of washers and dryers that consume my money in huge gulps.

I stalled as long as I could, waiting, hoping the drain would open, ruing the night we'd been snowed out of the house and hadn't used it. Nothing.

I carefully sorted the week's laundry into separate bags and reluctantly picked the laundrymat that was least busy. No sense being too public about this chore. A row of washers greeted me and I dumped the contents of my bags into the machines, setting them all in operation at once.

I tried to read, but I couldn't relax. I was mesmerized by the red lights, fearful I'd miss a machine when the light blinked off and someone else would demand I vacate it. And I knew too that sooner or later, all those clothes would have to come out of the machines and be dried and folded. And they did.

I surveyed the room as I folded. Where had all the people come from? And all of them with new clothes. Doesn't anyone else patch blue jeans? Don't the hems of anyone else's towels fray? Don't any of the other women wear anything under their slacks and sweaters. I felt like an exhibitionist.

A more practiced woman (I could tell she'd had experience because she didn't repeatedly ask the attendant for instructions) called to a friend, "I think we've got a newcomer here." I pulled the sheets tighter over the top of my basket and looked around. "Wonder who?" I asked casually as I triumphantly carried my load to the car, trying to pretend I didn't see the trail of socks that followed me.

I only tell you this so you will know where to find me. I'll either be in, under or behind my utility room, and you'll know me right away because I'll be the one with the blow torch praying for an early spring.

It is necessary to cultivate good habits. Bad ones grow wild.

Esther Billings

Indiana Clubwoman, magazine for the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Kadelphian, a Kappa Delta Phi publication.

When her husband went to Indianapolis to serve a term as Indiana Republican State Committee Secretary, she became editor and publisher of the News and carried on alone, still continuing her editorship of the two state organization's publications. She also began working as stringer for the Indianapolis Star and the Terre Haute Star and held these positions for many years.

Following sale of the News in 1962 to Loren and Ann Sheetz, the Billings did not retire. Instead, Claude went to work for the Terre Haute Star and Esther continued as stringer for the two papers. She also became heavily involved in community affairs.

In 1975 she accepted a full-time position as advertising copy writer for the Terre Haute Tribune-Star and was named editor of the Federation Forum column in the Sunday Star.

Then on April 1, 1976, Esther Billings awakened to find her eyesight gone. In May she had to resign her fulltime newspaper position. But between trips to doctors and hospitalization for several weeks, she continued to meet her other deadlines by taking information over the telephone, listening to her husband read her letters and then having him proof her copy.

Her doctors say the disease that destroyed her optic nerve is not likely to return, but she has very limited sight. Through determined effort and with the use of special glasses, she has regained enough of her vision to do her daily chores, meet her deadlines for the Star and participate in organizational meetings.

The NEWS welcomes letters for publication but prefers that they be kept under 200 words. The letters need not express the views of this paper; however, they should not be libelous or in poor taste. Anonymous letters will not be published. The name of the writer must appear with his letter.

Was it really THAT bad?

Dear Editor:

A tractor with snow blade attached came zooming up our 1/2 mile lane one day last week. It turned a circle in the yard, plowed back down the lane and was on its way. Tire chains have been borrowed. Rides have been given and food has been "borrowed"—all due to the recent weather conditions.

With the weather being what it has been during the last several weeks; with talks of fuel shortages and the energy crisis; with the children home from school for days on end and with the adults finding cars hard to start and working hours shortened we have heard little of good happening.

I would just like to say that I am thankful for the good that has happened. The eldest of my three children is in the first grade. Although he has missed several days of school he HAS helped me bake cookies, he has eaten an icicle and he has learned to read three storybooks that I used to have to read to him. Our 15-month old has learned NOT to climb the stairs (my husband fixed a gate across the stairway during one of our "snowed in" days). Our five-month old has learned to like adult oatmeal (we ran out of baby cereal during the blizzard). My husband has found time to clean the workshop and straighten his study, to lower a wall cabinet and to build a book rack—projects that usually find ways of being put off.

Our neighbors are no longer just people to say "Hi" to. Our lane has been scraped out by four different neighbors; twice in one day. Another neighbor spent nearly two hours helping get our car "unstuck" in zero weather this past week. Our parents have "checked" with us daily. My mother gave me a day off by sitting with the children while I went shopping.

No, we have not WANTED for anything. We have had plenty to eat. We have all been healthy. We have had warmth. We have had help when it was needed. And we have made new friends.

Yes, we have all been through a lot and have had a lot of different experiences recently, but didn't someone once say—VARIETY IS THE SPICE OF LIFE?
--Ann Ulrey

47 Hoosiers owe lives to bad weather

To the editor:

For the third January in a row, there have been no fatal accidents in any of the five counties serviced by the Peru district of the State Police. Also, there have been no reported fatalities in any urban area with the district. The statewide fatal count for 1977 is also noteworthy. As of February 4, the fatality count shows 42 fatalities compared to 89 on the same date in 1976. Most of this huge decrease can be attributed to the terrible winter we have experienced in Indiana. And so, on the bright side, we can say that there are 47 people alive today in Indiana who can complain about the winter weather but it's a fact that they are alive.

The State Police at Peru wish to thank the many county and state highway workers who have seemingly worked without end to keep our roads as open as possible. And, also, to the countless number of just plain citizens who have assisted the State Police, we can only say, "Adversity has always brought out the very best in our good Hoosier citizens." We sincerely hope that the State Police can continue this cooperative attitude without the arrest or the threat of arrest of any of the citizens who must travel the roads of the Hoosier State. Sgt. Fred Biggs

60 YEARS AGO

We like to talk to a man who will not knock on any one for any reason in public or in confidence. A man or woman of that character is too large to stoop to knocking.

Miss Glendolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Thompson, slipped one over her Akron friends, by recently becoming Mrs. Dwight L. Wirts. Mr. Wirts is a South Bend boy, and in the employ of the Studebaker Co., at that place. While attending college in So. Bend, Miss Glen made the acquaintance of Mr. Wirts.

Last Sunday was about the worst winter day that Indiana has ever had. The thermometer ranged 6 to 10 degrees below zero and the wind blew a strong gale, and altogether some Akron people had a hard time keeping comfortable. Our Akron people who are basking in the sands of the sea in the sunny south may feel thankful that they are missing the month of February here.

Miss Cleo Waechter has resigned her place as the deputy postmistress. Here resignation will take effect with the close of this month's postal business. She has been a very clever, efficient lady, working hard to fill the very difficult place, but she wanted to go to school, and will join Miss Valette Applegate at Angola taking the teacher's course. Miss Gladys Kindig, daughter of Mrs. Orville Kindig, a graduate of 1912, Akron high school, has accepted of the deputy's place in the post office and no doubt will qualify and be ready when Miss Cleo retires.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson have moved to the Linc Lukens farm near Disko. They sold their farm near Town Lake to Whit Gast. Mr. Gast sold the Lon Leisure farm, located near Lake Sixteen, to Forrest Higgins.

Members of the Akron Chamber of Commerce and their wives will dine together next Thursday night at a dinner which will replace the usual get-together of the club. The banquet will be served by members of the Domestic Science classes of Akron high school in the gymnasium, under the supervision of Miss Miller. Entertainment during the dinner will be furnished by the music department, under the supervision of Miss Woods.

Hot lunches are being served at the grade and high school building, and many pupils are taking advantage of the opportunity to get hot lunches at noon without going home. Mrs. Nellie Hammond is in charge of the high school lunch room, and Mrs. Stella VanLue is in charge of the grade school lunch room. Both women are working under the supervision of Kathryn Miller, home economics teacher.

The P.T.A. meeting was postponed until the Scarlet Fever scare is over.

Lonzo Meredith has been appointed deputy for Earl Troutman as rural mail carrier on route one. He replaces Max Waechter who has resigned to accept a position on the Erie railroad.

The following are the students who will participate with solos: Howard Burns, Denny Hoover, Kenneth Swick, Jane Bowen, Carol McKee, Harriet Whallon, Alys Ault, Mary Jane Burdge, Jeanette Chapman, Tamara Hand, Janice Ellis and Jocelyn Moore. The following students will participate with ensembles, Dean Runkle, Don Stanley, Mary Jane Burdge, Jeanette Chapman and Tamara Hand.

Dwight L. Groninger, senior at Presbyterian College, Clinton, South Carolina, has been named as one of seven students for appointment as an officer in the regular army. This distinguished military honor will become effective on June 15 subject to his completion of his ROTC work and meeting physical requirements.

Clair Moore had the honor of conferring the Master Mason's degree upon his son, Norman, at the regular meeting of the local Masonic lodge Tuesday night. Norman, who just finished his undergraduate course at Purdue, had already taken the other degrees of the work.

Richard Harrold, R. 2, Akron, escaped injury when his car hit a patch of ice on CR 1200 S, northeast of Akron, and flipped over in a ditch.

Girls' tourney gets underway, again

New girls' state champion basketball team is assured this year after the defending champ, Warsaw, went down in defeat to Rochester 65-60 Monday night.

Twice postponed because of weather, the game drew a good crowd that helped cheer Tippicanoe Valley to a 62-38 victory over Triton. The local girls won the opening game of their sectional last Wednesday by defeating Argos, but weather conditions Thursday forced postponement until Saturday of the remaining games. That date in turn had to be postponed after blowing snow again closed area roads, and Monday night proved to be more auspicious.

The Vikes were paced by Cathy Welch with 26, while Linda Dorsey added 10.

Valley, 11-4, was to meet Rochester last night in the finals.

Bouse farms receive SWCD award

Bouse Farms, owned by Wayne and Marie, Terry and Sue Bouse, accepted the Outstanding Conservationist Award at the 19th annual dinner meeting of the Kosciusko Soil and Water Conservation District.

Given in recognition of the many conservation practices the Bouses applied in 1976, it noted their use of a conservation cropping system, minimum tillage practice and crop residue and pasture management.

The Silver Lake area farmers have also constructed diversions, terraces, grade stabilization structures and grassed waterways to prevent erosion. Three animal waste storage pits were constructed to control pollution from run-off.

Robert Norris, of Mentone, was reelected supervisor and Don Goon, Atwood, was appointed assistant supervisor.

"Does the energy crisis mean we'll run out of electricity?"

No one can answer that question with absolute certainty.

The energy crisis is really a shortage of certain fuels. Public Service Indiana uses very little of these fuels. We make about 95% of our electricity with coal. And there's enough coal in the ground to last several hundred years.

But coal is not the whole answer. It's costing more to mine and to burn coal and meet stricter environmental regulations. Coal can't do the entire job of keeping up with growing demands for electricity. That's why we're also planning to produce electricity safely and efficiently with nuclear fuels at our Marble Hill Station in southeastern Indiana.

We also encourage the wise use of energy and support research into new energy sources such as solar power.

Run out of electricity? It need never happen. If electric companies are able to expand their use of coal and nuclear fuels as they develop still other energy sources, you shouldn't have to worry about brownouts and electrical shortages.

Mentone Methodists slate mission speakers

The Mentone United Methodist Church will focus its attention on missions in special services scheduled for February 13 and 20.

Terry Gadness, area director of Grace Children's Hospital, Port-au-Prince, Haiti, will open the series at the 9:30 a.m. Sunday worship service and will show a film during Sunday school, which begins at 10:30. He will note the growth of the hospital from 37 beds to 200 and the more than 1500 children who have been cured of tuberculosis who could not otherwise have afforded treatment.

Dr. Virgil Hague and the Rev. Yung S. Chen will speak at the 7 p.m. service.

Dr. Hague is in charge of development of McCurdy Schools in Espanola, New Mexico, with an enrollment consisting primarily of Spanish-speaking and Anglo young people. The school's code of conduct is very strict, and anyone using tobacco, alcohol or drugs is disciplined and faces possible dismissal from the school. The aim of the religious program is to help each student develop his understanding of and his relationship to God through Jesus Christ.

Rev. Yung Chen is a native of Taiwan who came to the United States in 1955. Now pastor of Mitchell Street and Brimfield United Methodist churches in Kendallville where he lives with his wife, Jean, and their three children, he was a missionary for eight years to the mountain people in Taiwan and has also been an evangelist since 1947 throughout Taiwan. He has conducted evangelistic services in Canada

Low-income families to get help

Low-income persons who need help filing their income tax returns can obtain assistance February 19 and March 5 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Fulton Co. Development Council in the Civic Center, 7th and Pontiac Streets, Rochester. They are asked to take the following papers to facilitate the process:

1. 1975 tax returns.
2. 1976 W-2 forms and other records of earnings.
3. Forms packets sent to the taxpayer by the federal government and the state of Indiana.
4. Records dealing

There is no charge for this service; however, interested persons are asked to call Fulton Co. Development Council at 223-3701 for an appointment.

Two adult ed classes begin

It's not too late to enroll in adult education classes at Tippecanoe Valley High School, according to Rick Ralston, adult ed director.

Woodworking and refining classes met Tuesday night and will continue meeting on Tuesdays at 7 p.m.

Small engine repair and basic auto tune-up classes will begin February 22 at 7 p.m.

Other classes may be offered later, Ralston said.

Kosciusko music contest reset

Applications for the annual high school music contest sponsored by the Kosciusko Co. Federated Clubs are available from high school music instructors or from Mrs. Thomas Fugate, Mentone, contest chairman.

The contest, originally set for February 6 but postponed because of bad weather, will be at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, February 20, at the First United Methodist Church in Warsaw.

Winners and alternates will be named in both vocal and instrumental categories. They will compete in a district contest from which two winners and alternates for the High School Music Clinic scholarship will be selected. This pays all expenses for a one-week session at the Indiana University School of Music on the Bloomington campus.

Applicants, who must either reside in or attend school in Kosciusko Co., must be sophomore or junior vocal or instrumental students and must have an accompanist. The competition excludes organ and piano students.

Ice, snow kill fish in area lakes

Heavy fish kills previously predicted for small ponds may extend into lakes, including those in Kosciusko Co., according to the Natural Resources.

Describing oxygen depletion as the major cause of winter fish kills, the department said heavy ice and snow cover limits light penetration, which is critical to oxygen production by aquatic plants. Existing dissolved oxygen supplies are depleted by respiration of fishes and especially by the decay of organic matter on the pond or lake bottom.

Palestine Lake was one of the lakes cited in serious trouble with marginal dissolved oxygen conditions reported in Silver Lake.

Bell Library adds 932 books

Bell Memorial Public Library, Mentone, contains a total of 23,505 books, according to the annual report presented to the board of trustees at its January meeting. Of these, 932 were added through purchases or gifts during the past year. The library also received 38 periodicals, six of which are gift subscriptions from patrons or publishers.

The library serves the town of Mentone and Harrison, Seward and Franklin townships, a population of 5,076, with 1,706 of these residents registered as borrowers. Non-residents may subscribe to yearly services for four dollars, and, in addition, many books are lent to Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation schools where they eventually reach, free of charge, homes outside these areas.

The report showed 8,106 adult volumes and 13,622 juveniles lent in 1976.

Chemical licensing classes reset

These meetings will begin at 7 p.m. in the lecture room of the high school and are open to anyone interested in obtaining a license to apply restricted chemicals in their own farming operations.

The Tippecanoe Valley FFA chapter will provide refreshments after each meeting.

Classes are sponsored by the TV agriculture advisory committee and the Kosciusko Co. Cooperative Extension office.

Manchester's loss put the Squires 4-1 in TRC play.

Jeff Prater and Derek Anglin paced Valley with 24 and 20 points respectively.

The junior varsity won its game 54-51.

Vikings top Bremen 100-72

The Tippecanoe Valley Vikings defeated Bremen

100-72 Friday night in a home game.

Eric Alspaugh led the scoring with 25 points, trailed closely by Jeff Prater with 18 and Derek Anglin with 15. In addition, eight other Vikings reached the scoring column.

The junior Vikings won their game 60-43, putting their record at 12-3.

Rochester barely defeats Valley

The Tippecanoe Valley girls played a tremendous basketball game Wednesday night but when the final buzzer rang, they trailed Rochester by four points, having at one time led by as many as 13.

The Vikings, the host team, won their way to the championship match by defeating Argos and Triton in earlier games of the tournament that twice had to be postponed because of weather conditions.

Pacing the Vikings was Cathy Welch with 24 points with Susan Eryman adding another 18, hitting 7 of 14. Mary Beth Gast added ten and Kay Hively scored eight before fouling out. All five scorers will be back in the line-up next year.

School board plans remodeling, fields parental questions

In a 75-minute session Monday night that was marked by only one split vote, members of the Tippecanoe Valley school board retained the previously planned spring vacation, adopted the 1977-78 calendar, planned extensive repairs to Akron, Burket and Mentone schools and fielded questions from 30 parents who demonstrated interest in their children's education by forming the nucleus of the audience. Reasons given by superintendent Dr. Lloyd Harrell for retaining this year's spring vacation were 1) The State Department of Public Instruction's Commission, on General Education has decided if 175 instructional days cannot be met, 160 days would qualify for state financial aid. The Valley has 163 days, giving three to spare. 2) It would probably cost $6,000-$7,000 per day for make-up. 3) Many people already have planned vacations.

The board agreed to again let Charles Smith take the track team to southern Indiana and Ohio to participate in three vacation meets.

Eighth grade first and second place winners were Shelly Stokes and Beth Fugate, both of Mentone, "Battle of Yorktown" and "The Battle of Saratoga."

The winners were honored at the chapter's Tuesday night meeting.

TVHS sectional ticket drawing set

Tippecanoe Valley adult season ticket holders who want sectional tickets should put their tickets in the designated box when they enter the gym for Saturday night's game or take them to the high school office by noon Monday. School officials ask that ticket holders place their telephone numbers on their tickets.

Tickets will be sold according to the following schedule, beginning Monday, February 28, at 7:30 a.m.:

1. Parents of varsity players, cheerleaders and managers.

2. High school student ticket holders.

Tickets will go on sale at noon to members of the faculty and staff who worked at ball games.

On Tuesday morning, there will be a drawing of adult season tickets and those whose names are drawn will be notified by telephone.

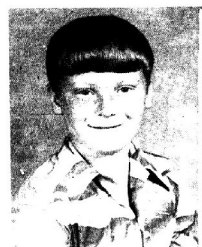

After adult season ticket holders are taken care of, any additional tickets will be sold in the following order: junior high and elementary season ticket holders, high school students who are not season ticket holders, adult non-season ticket holders and junior high and elementary students without season tickets.

Winter concert

For the second time, Tippecanoe Valley High School's winter concert has had to be rescheduled. This time the concert has been changed from Sunday, March 13, to Tuesday, March 15, with the program to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the school gym.

America...Bastion of Freedom

Written for American History Month, sponsored by the Anthony Nigo Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution.

By Jerry (Mrs. Frank D.) Smith

The first objective of every Daughter is now, and always has been, to do all in our power to help preserve our constitutional Republic... to keep America a bastion of freedom. For us, patriotism has never been conceded as old-fashioned but as a most solemn and pressing duty. To this end we seek to "cherish, maintain, and extend the institutions of American freedom." It is our continuing purpose to foster the moral, spiritual and constitutional values on which our freedoms are based. This is a positive program which can engage the heart and mind of every Daughter.

If we are to succeed in our purpose, our first task is to build patriotic leadership in the youth of the Nation, since it is they who hold its future in their hands. Anthony Nigo Chapter has long sponsored American History Month Essay contests, with awards to outstanding boys and girls at the elementary and junior high school levels. We are proud in the knowledge that these awards are cherished by those who receive them.

We have a multitude of institutions we call schools, but the real schools, where the real lessons of life are learned, are in the homes of America. We hear a great deal about higher education, but the highest that can be had is found in the lofty lessons of self-control, self-sacrifice, sublime faith and splendid trust which home life has such a marvelous power to teach. There is no training to be had in school, or college, or anywhere in the world which can take the place of discipline in the home.

America owes much of her greatness to that ancient and honorable institution known as the family, from which sprang the phrase, "The American Dream."

Writers on our early national history have used the words "the American dream."

The American Dream is supposed to have been the feeling which the pioneers carried in their hearts as they wrestled with nature to build, improve and expand a new country in a new world.

According to this theory, they idealized the things which they were doing and so kept the work from being drudgery.

They were doing more than making a living for themselves and their families. They were building the temple of freedom and democracy. It was a temple which would stand long after they and their children had passed from the earthly scene. This may have been a poetic concept, but there is reason to believe that many people did feel it.

In any event, our forefathers accomplished a great aim and they left us a nation of which we could be proud.

How have we used this heritage. Are we worthy to be called their heirs? Have we failed in the service of their patriotic vision? It is hard to tell.

Every generation has its strong people and its weak people. Individuals vary greatly in character and ambition, in wisdom and in application. Yes we believe that on the whole the average today is as high or higher than ever before. People today have more opportunities for education and for travel. Machines have increased in variety and usefulness since the day when the ax and the hoe and the shovel and the simple plow were the main tools. There have been great changes, sweeping improvements, in a mechanical way.

But what of Americans themselves...the people? Do they still carry in their hearts the American Dream? Are we still the "land of the brave and the free?" How well are we actually prepared to defend freedom today? It is idle to speak of America as the "land of the noble free," unless we are morally and spiritually prepared to defend freedom.

No army has ever been stronger than the people behind it, and no constitution is more enduring than the people who must make it work.

America is the bastion of freedom. It must be our constant endeavor in the future, as it has been in the past, to keep it so. The most challenging task before us is to keep America the "land of the noble free," so that our children may continue to sing:

Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by Thy might,
Great God, our King.

Dear Friends and Neighbors:

Each day I become more concerned with the problems involved in waste in our homes, our country and our nation. Like it or not, we are one of the most wasteful countries in the world. True, we have been richly blessed, but does that give us permission to waste? I think not. In fact, I think this lays heavy on us the responsibility to 1) know better and 2) do something about it.

Do we know better? I hope we are learning. Oil and natural gas reserves are not unlimited. Our landfills are filling up and land is becoming more precious than ever, especially for agriculture. Each day we are burying materials which could help keep prices lower, taxes from raising, create jobs, prevent lay-offs, lower air and water pollution, plus many other benefits.

Are we doing something about it? Only you can answer that question. Do you participate in paper drives, do you conserve energy, do you use refillable bottles, is your home and business kept at 65°, lower at night, do you recycle your tin or aluminum cans and glass bottles? These are just a few examples of what you might do to help.

A real challenge lies ahead for us. Try to be informed, do what you can. REMEMBER-a little helps more than nothing! If you would like to learn more on how to help, I would be happy to share with you what I have learned.

Cordially,
Natalie Keirn

Akron library hours resumed

The Akron Carnegie Public Library will be open each day Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. each day starting Monday, February 28. They will not be open Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. until further notice.

School board plans remodeling,

The corporation furnished the gas and bus, which Smith drives, and the boys pay their own motel expenses.

Sue Pyle, who last month asked the board to provide an additional first grade teacher at Mentone, said she would like to ask instead that another section be added next year for the incoming first grade and that the second grade also be divided to give a better teacher-student ratio. "We need three second grades and three first grades at Mentone," she said. "And next fall would be the time to make the change."

Bea Hughes asked the board to fund uniforms, physical exams, and transportation for special education students participating in Special Olympics. Harrell and business manager Robert Forbes said the State Board of Accounts would not approve buying uniforms, that most of the uniforms were purchased out of the athletic fund. Mrs. Hughes said parents and teachers drove students to meets in South Bend and Terre Haute last year and said Charles Clawson has volunteered to drive a bus this year if the corporation will provide one and furnish the gasoline. "A sorority will pay for the physicals this year, but we'd like to have them put in the budget for next year," she said, and Harrell, who insisted there must be a breakdown in communications with the principal despite the parents' insistence that teachers had talked with him to no avail, said he would look into the matter.

Betty Lynch, who a few months ago asked the board to do something about kindergarten at Burket where 38 students are now enrolled, was told the administration was gathering information when she asked how the survey that had been promised was coming.

"The solution that seems the least likely to upset patrons is to gerrymander the school district in Harrison township to create another section at Mentone. This would alleviate problems in both schools," Harrell said.

"These are short-term goals," Judy Egolf said. "What are your long-term goals and plans? Are you taking surveys? What are you going to do with these children - sit there and look at them?"

Harrell said, "A county population study says we'll grow, but the Indiana birth rate is down. We'll continue to keep on top of the matter and study facilities and enrollments. Presently, there are rooms available. If they become filled, other decisions will have to be made.

Mrs. Egolf replied, "Is there any way patrons can act without the board acting and patrons reacting?" and Harrell replied, "We're doing that now with you parents giving us your input. The board takes into consideration people's views." Later, board member Vernon Meredith told Mrs. Egolf to have faith in the board; changes would be made next year.

Gale Martens reported that some children at Akron Junior High School have 75 minute unsupervised lunch hours and others have only 30 minutes in which to eat. He was told the matter would be investigated.

The board on a split vote agreed to let the Northern District United Methodist Youth rally rent the gym for $250.

Affirmative votes were also received on the calendar, which is published elsewhere in this week's NEWS, on selling bus 26 to Midwest Poultry Service of Mentone for $1500, on approving the Akron Exchange State Bank and Farmers State Bank as depositories, and a maintenance project.

The maintenance project, $20,000 of which will come from cumulative building fund if approval is received from Schoolhouse Planning, will cost between $40,000 and $50,000 according to Forbes and is necessary to keep the buildings at Akron, Burket and Mentone updated. "These old buildings are very expensive to maintain," he said. Plans call for roof replacement at Akron and Mentone, plumbing at Akron, decorating in all three schools and boiler repair primarily at Akron and Mentone. The balance of the money will come from the general fund, Forbes said. He indicated he would hire Charles Fellers to supervise the crews at all schools.

A $91.50 supplemental contract for Marianne Kline as FHA advisor was approved and revised contracts for Keith Mathias were signed. Judy Sou was granted a nine-week maternity leave to begin at the end of the third grading period and Jack Lee was approved as a substitute bus driver.

The board heard a report from Forbes regarding a letter he received from the Ft. Wayne district office of the State Highway Department saying a survey of the need to reduce the speed limit past the high school would be made in the spring or summer and Harrell noted some of the bills currently in the legislature that apply to school corporations.

ASCS urges farmers report fuel shortages

"Farmers and managers of agriculture-related industries who cannot get adequate fuel supplies should contact the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS)," Sid Sadler said.

This U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) agency is monitoring the availability of fuels for agricultural production while supplies are disrupted by abnormally cold weather, Sadler said. Local offices send reports daily to Washington to be compiled with information from other USDA agencies and forwarded to the White House.

"While we are getting information from a variety of sources," Sadler said, "we encourage farmers to let us know of specific difficulties they are having in getting enough fuel to operate farm equipment and heat homes and farrowing houses, poultry houses, dairy barns and etc." The agency also wants to hear from food processors and fertilizer manufacturers, he said.

Local producers and agricultural industry representatives should write or call Fulton County ASCS Office, 513 Main Street, Rochester, Indiana, 46975; telephone number 223-3398 to report fuel problems.

Federal Power Commission officials will determine whether adjustments in natural gas distribution should be made based on ASCS and other reports, according to Sadler. The Emergency Natural Gas Act of 1977, signed by President Carter on February 2, gave the President the authority to work with pipeline officials to transfer natural gas from surplus to shortage areas.

The Department of Agriculture is working with State and Federal Energy Administration officials to help alleviate petroleum fuel problems.

ODDS and ENDS

By Ann Sheetz

"Look at that blue jay! He must be king of them all, as big as he is."

"What's that cute little bird down on the ground?"

"The book says it's a tufted titmouse. And that little red-headed bird that clings so tightly to the feeder is a red-bellied woodpecker."

"How about that red-headed one with red coveralls and blue jacket? That a cardinal or blue jay?"

"That's a kid who had better be careful or he'll fall out of the tree."

The winter of 1977 will be remembered as the worst in history, the one that came before Indian summer and wore out its welcome by burying us in snow so deep schools closed for unexpected vacations, jobs were threatened by the energy crisis and meetings and ballgames were cancelled or postponed. It will be remembered as the winter thermostats were turned back and evening chill was chased by wrapping in blankets and quilts as we watched television or read.

We'll remember all these things, but for us the winter of 1977 has also been the one in which we felt so sorry for the birds we started feeding them and found ourselves becoming bird watchers, cheering the titmouse, laughing at the jays and wishing our favorites, the cardinals, would do more than buzz the feeder that is so high our 12-year-old has to climb the tree to fill it.

But it's been fun, and we haven't begrudged our feathered friends the sunflower seeds they've scattered all over the backyard.

Still, much as we've enjoyed them, as overjoyed as we were when school re-opened, as deliriously happy as we were when the drain thawed, we've longed for spring. And when someone said, "I wish we'd see a robin," I located a can of cherries and suggested Doug tie them on the tree.

"Why?" he asked, startled.

"Robins are a sign of spring. They love cherries. Maybe we can fool them."

"You think it'd work?"

"We could always try."

"I see two more birds," my mate called. "They look like turkeys."

"Where?" we asked, hating ourselves for doing so.

"One's got on red coveralls and a blue coat. The other one's his mother."

"You can't blame us for wanting to try."

"Don't you know you can't fool Mother Nature?" he asked, scooting down in his rocking chair as he checked his weather diary to see if he had all the information he'll need 40 years from now when he tells our grandchildren about the terrible winter of 19 and 77.

"So it was a dumb idea," I conceded glumly as I opened the can of cherries and ate them while we watched the birds and wondered if the spring of 1977 can bring enough mops and brooms to clear away the seamy remains of the winter not yet ended in spite of the thaw.

You never really realize how patient you can be until the fellow who is arguing with you happens to be your boss.
