Farm Center is robbed

Burglars broke into the Mobil Farm Center located 1½ miles north of Akron and stole 590 pounds of Atrazine weed spray that was valued at $2 a pound and an electric adding machine valued at $100 and a fire extinguisher.

Gordon Groninger, manager of the center, discovered the break-in at 9 a.m. Monday and said it occurred after 9 a.m. Sunday. A large outside door was pulled open and the glass in the office area door was broken to gain entry.

The sheriff's office and state police are investigating.

A Thought For Xmas

As I circled the back country Xmas Eve, I saw a little light peeking through an old barn.

Through curiosity I stopped, crawled the fence and walked over to the shed which showed all appearances of someone living inside. I knocked several times on the door before a voice from the inside asked, "Who's there?"

Here I found a human being living with his cattle in his barn in surroundings you and I disbelieve.

Xmas, the way you and I do it, hadn't been intended for him.

Oh, I'm sure I agree with you, that even though this person is handicapped and trying in his own way to take care of himself that perhaps his present circumstances are partly his own fault.

If Christ returned tonight I believe one of the first things he might do is to look me in the eye and say, "Utter, come with me." He would take me to my friend in this barn and ask me how I could, in his name, celebrate the Xmas season, indulging myself in the luxuries seldom seen before in any country, while near me lives a forgotten man with his cattle, the victim of my own greediness and hypocrisy.

The message to me is clear. Here in the so-called Christian Land of Plenty with the world's highest standard of living I am complaining about how abused and inconvenienced I am; how hard I have to work while near me are human beings I need to help.

This is typical of every community and my Xmas friend is only one of others who need help.

Lord, deliver me from my hypocrisy and give me the guts and appreciation to tell my fellow man how good you have been to me, how fortunate I am to be an American, and guide me in helping those who are not so fortunate.

How and Utter

60 YEARS AGO

Mr. Roy Groninger is teaching this winter at Summitt, a school that had been vacated for several years. But population has shifted about until Roy is said to have the largest school in the township with an enrollment of thirty-four and a good average attendance. This is a case which produces some evidence that a public school once well located, should not be permanently abandoned, except only in rare cases. Hoosier population shifts about and a neighborhood may be without children one year, but in a year or two be well supplied.

Our old friend, W. H. Robison, formerly of Slabtown, west of Akron a half mile, wrote us a letter this week for publication from his home at Sawtett, Calif. Mr. Robison writes plainly, distinctly and very neatly and had this entire letter on an ordinary postal card. Can you do as well?

It is late to say it, but we are pleased to say it, that Akron's people have decided to incorporate. There were 231 votes polled at the election held Wednesday, December 29, out of a possible 245 votes within the boundary lines. A few were sick or too frail to get to the polls and others were absent from home. In all 14 did not vote. Both sides sought to get its vote out. The count showed 129 yes; 100 no. When we heard the result, it was four better than we had counted on.

WHAT EVERY BRIDE SHOULD KNOW - ABOUT WEDDING PICTURES!

After the Wedding is over, the guests have gone, the cake is eaten, the flowers have wilted, the gown is packed away, and even the honeymoon has begun to fade a bit, - - - what do you have left to bring back the memories of that most important day in your life? Only the photographs! And, if those photographs happen to be a bunch of fuzzy snapshots, off center, out of focus, peoples heads cut off, and many important things not included at all because the camera didn't work, the flash bulb didn't go off, or the person who was taking the pictures 'didn't think of it', - - chances are the person taking the pictures is a relative or friend, who while he certainly means well and tries hard, just doesn't have the equipment and the know-how to do the job right. A Professional Photographer does. It is his job and he gets paid to provide you with all the beautiful pictures you want of your Wedding. And, because he is a professional, and his reputation depends on his doing a good job, it is important to him - - and to you - - to get together well in advance of the Wedding date, (5 months isn't too soon) to reserve your appointment, plan the pictures, and take care of all the little details that help to assure you of getting the memory album of Wedding Photographs that will always keep very special day fresh in your mind.

Why not stop in to see your Professional Photographer, Fincher Photos, Macy, Indiana, soon, and avoid disappointment. Remember, there is only one chance to get those priceless Wedding pictures. These priceless pictures are 'forever' - - why take a chance on a 'once-in-a-while' photographer.

Take your problems to Church this week — millions leave them there!

The Village Smithy

"He goes on Sunday to the church
And sits among the boys." - Longfellow

The Village Smithy of whom Longfellow wrote has about disappeared from the scene in our modern world. The garage has taken the place of the Smithy and the garage mechanic has taken the place of the Smith.

The qualities and characteristics that made the Smith a hero to the boys - - his sunny smile, his interest in youth and above all his habit of regular attendance at church can well be emulated by the garageman who succeeded him - - in fact by all of us.

If more men go to church "and sit among the boys," it will mean that there will be more boys at the churches on Service Days.

Attend church regularly and if possible encourage "youth" to go with you.

Charter Club Member Writes Poem

The Beaver Dam Home Extension Club was organized in 1925. At this time Mrs. Louise Swick became a charter member. Now unable to attend the meetings, she is an honorary member. On her birthday, November 20, members of the club gave her a surprise. She sent the following poem to the club:

Dear Club Members

When two Club members came to the door,
Bringing a box of gifts galore,
With strings hanging all around,
Telling me the time the gifts could be found.
They also told me another thing,
Every hour of the day I must pull a string.
Not knowing what the other end will bring.
So, I watched the clock very close, you see;
Wondering what the next surprise would be.
All day long I did not do a thing
Only watch the clock, and pull a string,
When the last string was pulled
And all the orders were fulfilled,
The gifts were put on display,
Everything you brought that day.
Looking at them, for all were mine,
I was like a child at Christmas time,
No matter what you say, I had a very busy day
After my prayers were said, and I went off to bed,
Happy, but tired as I could be,
Because you did nice things for me.
I want to thank each and everyone
For remembering me when I was ninety one.
God Bless you and love to all.
Louise Swick

In loving memory of Harmon Bucher, who passed away six years ago,
January 4, 1964

Yes, God was there, I know he was.
The night our dear one left.
He just reached out and took him home.
And hit him in the cleft.
He turned and smiled and left us here.
So sad but not alone.
For God will always comfort those
That are his very own.

THE NEW YEAR got off to a bad start for the Erie-Lackawana Railroad when 34 cars of a freight train derailed at Disko Thursday afternoon, tearing up two sets of tracks, one for about three-fourths of a mile and the other for about one-fourth of a mile. Workmen cleared the tracks so that trains could begin moving through the area Friday. Two boys, home for the Christmas-New Year vacation, survey the damage. --NEWS photo.

Hammond to study in So. America

Gail Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hammond, R. 2, Akron, will be one of 36 Manchester College students to study in Central America during the month of January. They will travel 200 miles in rubber rafts on the Usumacinta River in the Central American jungle. The students are enrolled in a course called "Pre-Columbian Civilization" and will study ruins of the ancient Mayan civilization along the way.

Three 22 foot rubber rafts will take the students over a series of white rapids in the Usumacinta River between Mexico and Guatemala. The river flows past ancient ruins of the Maya civilization seldom seen by visitors. It gives easy access to that part of the Maya civilization developed in the Usumacinta Valley under the most promising circumstances of geography, topography and climate. Some students will study the ruins for their history, others for art, some will dig for relics, and some will seek to determine the social structure of the Mayan civilization. Side trips will be made to isolated and overgrown ruins at Yaxchilan and El Cayo Island to see the last remnants of the Mayan civilization. After the river trip, the students will engage in two and one-half weeks of study at Villa Hermosa deep in the Yucatan Peninsula. Two days will be spent in Mexico

City before returning to the United States. The trip is under the direction of Jane Adams of the Manchester College Department of Art faculty.

Hammond is among the nearly 150 Manchester College students who will leave campus for a month of special study made possible by the one-month one-course January term recently adopted by the college. He is a graduate of Akron High School and is a senior this year at Manchester College.

LETTERS to EDITOR

Dear Editor:

We would like to say thank you to the people of Akron.

When we moved to your town we were made to feel welcome.

The people who work in the post office did everything possible to help us.

We were treated fairly and not overcharged by the people who run the different stores in Akron.

At school our children were treated like the children of Akron.

We are proud to say we lived in your town. Thank you.

ODDS and ENDS

by Ann Sheetz

Measles is a seven letter word that is supposed to affect its victims three days. In reality, it affects not only its victim but his family for a much longer period. Would you believe, almost forever?

By the time we knew we were going to have measles for New Year's (we've previously had mumps for Thanksgiving, chicken pox for Christmas and appendicitis for Fathers Day) we had managed to expose three first cousins, two second cousins, an aunt and uncle, grandparents, parents and brother. We think there is a possibility some great-aunts and uncles got exposed too but fear to mention it too loudly.

Not being content to expose just our immediate family, we sent the victim, Todd, to his grandparents because he didn't seem to feel well and they would let him rest on the couch as we hurried to get out an early paper last week. By the time he came home, three days later, he looked like someone had sprayed him with red paint, and by the time he recuperated five days later our nerves were frayed, our sense of humor had evaporated and school vacation was over.

Without a doubt, the best way to blow your cool and forget all the resolutions you made about tolerance and patience is to spend four days with two boys, one of whom feels miserable and crabby. Fortunately, or unfortunately, Doug felt terrific and he used all the tricks he had learned in five years of hard living to torment the daylights out of his speckled brother.

He made a fishing pole out of an Erector set and dangled it at Todd, he tickled him, swiped his pillows, laughed at his spots and lorded it over him that he got to accompany his dad to get pictures of the train derailment. In the meantime, Todd learned the misery of missing trips to friends' houses, unlimited television and reading. I learned to read whole chapters aloud and to play games with Doug to keep him out of Todd's hair—he didn't want to play with his new toys—he was trying to "keep them new" he said.

Doug learned to duck pretty fast when we threatened him with punishment for his crimes but finally felt so neglected he was heard to mutter, "I hope I get the measles. No one likes me anyway."

Oh happy day when the spots finally went away. The New Year started looking brighter and I never looked forward to returning to work so much in my life, almost eager. But, there is coughing from the other half of the gang now, and we are preparing to think about measles for Valentine's Day, maybe even sooner. In the meantime, we are enjoying the lull immensely.

Views On Vietnam

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following interview with Garlen W. Funnell appeared in a student newspaper at the Ft. Wayne campus of Purdue University where he is now a student. Funnell, a graduate of Akron High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Funnell, R. 1, Mentone.

"A friend of mine returned to school this year after spending his time in the Marines. I asked his ideas about Vietnam and the movements that were going on in this country about the war.

"Wayne, did you enter the service right after graduation?"

"No, in '64 I was a freshman in college."

"The war was just starting then, wasn't it?"

"Yes, President Johnson had ordered the troops into Vietnam."

"Were you drafted?"

"No, I was feeling very patriotic."

"Because of the demonstrations?"

"The demonstrations against the War weren't well known then. I believe in a free country. I was born right after World War II. I developed a keen sense of freedom."

"You joined up just because you were patriotic?"

"Yes. We won our independence from England with the help of the French. With that fact in mind I joined the service."

"Did it take very long to get you shipped out?"

"No, I received the all-free expense paid trip very quickly."

"What was Vietnam like?"

"It was very hot, but the people were kind."

"The Vietnamese are ignorant, aren't they?"

"Ignorant of freedom. The people that I met on the local level were willing to learn. They had a small sense of value of freedom, too. They need teachers. The American troops are teaching the Vietnamese troops and those men in turn are teaching the women and children. It is going to take a while tho, till the citizens really learn what freedom is."

"Did anything happen that made you feel defeated?"

"The milk strike was on here, while we were there. Can you imagine powdered milk that tasted watery—and seeing whole milk being dumped? We did have television there. We only received fresh milk once in six months. That gave us a slight feeling of giving up."

"What are your feelings of the demonstrations that are going on at the present time about the war?"

"When I finished my tour and came back to the States, I had the feeling that everyone has the right to protest—that is one of their freedoms—but those who protest should be sure of who they are hurting. After I started school again, I see so many people protesting a war that they say has no meaning. It does have a meaning. It means freedom for the Vietnamese. THE PEOPLE WANT TO BE FREE—THEY MUST HAVE HELP."

"The protestors have a right to protest, but why not use the energy for helping the people learn what freedom is, instead of destroying those ideas."

What? ... Where? ... How? When approaching appliance-buying the thinking woman's way, there are three questions to ask:

What do I want it to do?

Where do I want to put it?

How long do I plan to keep it?

They are valid questions when shopping for that big purchase—the color television that will be Dad's Sunday football stadium, the children's visit to Sesame Street and Mom's chance to see the movies she's missed.

An imaginary trip through a dream house shows how selecting electric home entertainment equipment depends on answers to those questions. Visitors are greeted by soft music from the living room stereo housed in a cabinet that does justice to the room's tufted sofa, gilt sconces and fruitwood tables.

In the dining room a sleek cassette tape player on the buffet provides dinner music. The cassettes store neatly in a buffet drawer and the host can almost change them with one hand while passing the roast with the other.

Mrs. Dreamer has a portable television turned to "her program" in the kitchen. She chose one light weight enough for Dad to carry to his hobby center but big enough to be viewed from the breakfast table.

Family room furniture is arranged around the big screen color television. Quality of picture was the Dreamers' important consideration—they didn't worry too much about cabinetry since they knew the children wouldn't. Slide and movie projectors are tucked away in a bookcase ready for instant enjoyment.

Upstairs each Dreamer has electric entertainment suited to his whims... color television that turns on automatically in the morning to awaken Mr. and Mrs. Dreamer... film strip viewer-recorder player to entertain a pre-schooler... the oldest son's assemblage of stereo components.

NIPSCO Asks Flow Through Permission

Recently, the Federal Power Commission authorized three major gas pipeline suppliers of Northern Indiana Public Service Company to increase gas rates to NIPSCO and other gas utilities.

In a petition filed Tuesday with the Public Service Commission of Indiana, NIPSCO asked permission to flow through this higher wholesale cost of gas to customers resulting in an upward adjustment in gas rates of 3.05%.

In requesting the rate change, Dean H. Mitchell, the utility's chairman and chief executive officer, pointed out that the cost of gas accounts for about 50% of its total gas operating expenses. Any substantial increase in the cost of gas to NIPSCO results in lowering the earnings of the company below those recently found to be fair and reasonable by the Public Service Commission of Indiana.

"All we seek in the way of rate adjustment," Mitchell said, "is just enough to cover the increase in the cost of gas to us from pipeline suppliers."

Genealogy Course Is Planned

A short course in genealogical research, sponsored by Manitou Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be given beginning January 15 at 7 p.m. in the basement of the public library in Rochester.

The course, consisting of six class sessions and two field trips, will be held each Thursday with the exception of January 22, when no classes will be held. The field trips will be all day working sessions at the Indiana State Library Genealogical and Archives Section and the Fort Wayne Public Library Genealogical Section.

Mrs. Bert Wolfe, Jr., a professional genealogist who has done lineage research for the past sixteen years, will be the instructor. A native of Logansport, Mrs. Wolfe is a member of the Indiana DAR Board of Lineage Research. Her publications and research have been recognized by the state libraries of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Enrollment in the course is open to the public, although a nominal tuition and materials fee will be charged. Since the size of the class will be limited, persons who wish to enroll are urged to do so promptly by calling 223-2067 or 223-6404.

Church of God Launches Building Campaign

The Akron Church of God is now in the process of an eight-week campaign that aims at securing resources for additional facilities, and modernizing the existing ones where needed. For some years, the Church has used two older houses for Sunday School, Vacation Bible School and other programs, and it is hoped that these buildings can be replaced with adequate rooms. The trustees have already received some preliminary guidance from John Kane, architect from Anderson, Ind.

The Congregation has secured the services of the National Board of Church Extension to offer counsel, materials and in the final stages direct the current effort. Committee Chairmen are to be appointed this week by the Board of Trustees. Members of the Trustee Board are: Joe Wildermuth, Chairman, Dean Ault, Vice Chairman, Larry Kline, Secy., Charles Swick, Treas., Cecil Shoemaker and Loyd Saner and Hugh Wildermuth.

Pastor Thomason states the entire effort is based on sound stewardship principles, and has been used successfully in hundreds of Churches.

Owe Taxes? Don't Buy License Plate

Even though property tax receipts no longer are needed to obtain license plates, a person may not obtain a plate if he is delinquent in payment of taxes, Mrs. Margaret Burkett, Fulton County license branch manager, reminded this week, saying that among the papers a person signs to obtain a plate is an oath that he is not delinquent in tax payments. A copy of the papers goes to the Fulton county auditor's office where it is checked against tax records.

Persons who are tax delinquent but obtain a plate by signing the oath are liable to prosecution.

Expiration dates of 1969 plates are staggered according to the first letter of the person's last name. The dates are:

For last names beginning with A through C, Feb. 28; D through H, March 31; I through N, April 30; O through S, May 31; T through Z, June 30.

Carr seeks re-election

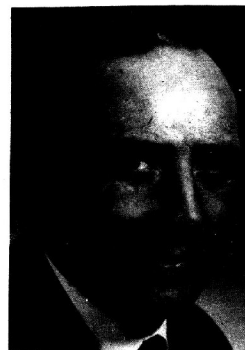

Fulton County Sheriff Homer L. Carr, 49, an Akron area farmer, announced this week that he will seek re-election to the four-year post he won in 1966.

Carr, a graduate of Akron High School, served 38 months in the Air Force during World War II as an engineer and gunner on a B-24 bomber in the European theatre.

Carr and his wife, Marianne, who serves as jail matron, have been active in the Republican party. Carr served as committeeman for Henry township's second precinct and was delegate to state party conventions four times.

He will be opposed in the primary by Donald L. O'Dell, 55, Rochester, who resigned as first deputy last August and who has since been deputy Akron marshal, a post he resigned after having it for two months. In leaving the deputy sheriff's post, he blasted the "second class treatment" of the sheriff's department by county officials.

O'Dell and his wife, Erma, are the parents of four children.

ODDS and ENDS

by Ann Sheetz

The buying habits of the American consumer continually make news. Presidential and Congressional studies are made. Appointments to various consumer agencies are meted out. But no governmental agency will ever understand one level of consumer buying—breakfast cereals—because this product is mostly purchased by children or their reluctant mothers.

Have you ever shopped with a child, or worse, children, for breakfast cereal? They don't compare prices, volume, calories, vitamin content or any of the factors mothers and consumer groups worry about. They buy a box of cereal for the premium it contains, nothing else, and it wouldn't matter if the cereal were really sugarcoated tadpoles, if it comes in a box with a spy ring or a pen that writes with invisible ink, it can't be all bad.

Since breakfast is not highly regarded in our house, I let the boys choose their own cereal, because it saves fights later and it's easier than arguing. They do enough of that without my entering the fray.

The height of breakfast food consumer ridiculousness came recently when I discovered they had purchased the same kind of cereal. Now if there was anything I didn't think we needed, it was two boxes of one kind of cereal, but they insisted and practically signed pledges to eat the stuff and they have. Neither wanted to eat even one bite of the other's cereal so their father wrote each boy's name on his own box. Each morning we set both boxes on the table, and each grabs his own. The great object of both their affections was a tiny Archie record.

Todd, who has a terrific capacity for all food, has already finished his box and both have listened to the record, but it hasn't dampened Doug's enthusiasm. He still eats a huge bowl of cereal each morning. Between bites he checks the progress of the cereal level and is now counting the days until he can listen to his own record.

In the meantime, both of them have been admiring the cute gizmos advertised on my Wheat Chex box and are trying to get me to switch to a sugar coated product. Personally, I'd rather fight than switch, but they think they're too full of their other cereal to switch.

The government would be well advised to give up all hope of studying the consumer habits of breakfast food buyers and concentrate, instead, on getting a space button or a record in every package.

Akron C of C begins 4th plans

The 4th of July celebration was discussed at the Wednesday dinner meeting of the Akron Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. Charles Miller was named general chairman. He said that this year's plans would be made by three committees, fund raising, parade, activities, and he tentatively appointed Glen Lowman, Mike Stephen and Dick Day to head these committees. Lowman asked that Norman Tinkey and Dick Day work on his committee.

Runds. will be raised with a basketball game and the annual horse show as well as possible other events to be arranged in the future.

Merrill Kendall, Akron clerk-treasurer, reported that the town will face a problem of trash disposal within the next few months. The alternatives will be to have its own dump and purchase the equipment to cover it each night or to use proposed county operated dumps. The change will be needed to comply with the regulation that all dump sites be covered each evening. This would include all garbage, trash and burnables.

Glen Lowman, Norman Tinkey and Dick Day were re-elected to the board of directors. Other directors are Dale Smith, Harold Miller, Dr. Chas. Miller, Randall Leininger, George Stephen, and Gil Jenkins.

Paul Fites, who recently resigned as Henry township trustee, thanked the chamber for its cooperation during his tenure of office.

TVSC cost per student discussed

It cost $613.44 per pupil to educate children in the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation last year, according to figures compiled by Superintendent Robert Forbes and presented to the school board at Monday night's meeting. He noted that this cost included the cost of land purchased at Mentone, the relocatable classrooms at Akron and the auto shop at Mentone and that without these expenditures being included the cost was $552.36 per student. He said the national average was $766 and the state average $685. A discussion period followed in which board members asked why the figure was below average and in which time various answers were given. Forbes said the local salary schedule was lower than average, while Dr. Donald Van Gilder presented statistics indicating it was not.

Forbes also reported that $49,805.77 interest had been collected from investments in the past year.

Ralph Davis and Dr. Van Gilder were elected president and secretary of the board of finance, having previously held these offices last year. A contract with Ruby M. Bearss for 28 days was negotiated.

The board voted to purchase three school buses, authorizing contracts with Bahney Chevrolet for the chassis and with Kerlin Motors, Silver Lake, for three Thomas bodies.

Some of the members and Forbes made plans to attend a negotiations seminar in Indianapolis on January 31.

The board decided to make necessary repairs to the schools in the coming year with Talma receiving only what will be needed to maintain it until a long-range program can be established. It was again reported by the superintendent that all the schools are crowded and that many changes will

This led to a discussion of exchanging students between Mentone and Akron but no decision was reached.

Darrell Bruner was approved as a bus driver, subject to an opening in his area.

We are angry. We are angry because the noise and violence around us is frightening.

But we do not want to be in the "silent" group. We want to speak.

In this new year, we resolve to assert our belief in our government: in the strength of our constitution and the three branches of government: in our nation whose freedoms were forged in dessert. (But we feel strongly that dissent should be within the limits of the law.) in the belief that people have the ability to separate the foolish from the sound views of the competing media, organizations and movements.

We resolve to study all opinions and try to form reasonable ones as thinking individuals, not as parrots.

We challenge other groups to publicly declare their resolve to be studying citizens, since we know that knowledge changes fear.

Dear Editor:

With the heavy snow fall on the ground, the birds' natural food supply is covered up. Many will starve unless we help with table scraps, or wild bird seed that can be purchased at any grocery store. Some stores will give you free suet and birds love this type of food.

Birds are necessary to our national economy. Without them we would have no forest, fields, or gardens due to the bugs and insects. Some years ago the nation of China thought birds were eating too much of their grain, so they poisoned them off, and consequently the bugs and insects literally ate their rice and grain fields.

Place food scraps or bird seed where you can observe the birds feeding and you will find this a very rewarding and worthwhile pastime.

Years ago bird watchers were considered a little queer or nutty, but today this has become a national pastime for doctors, lawyers and professors. I heartily recommend bird watching for those who are confined due to age or disability.

Our Lord most assuredly cared for birds as there are 50 or more mentioned in the Bible. They are mentioned in all but 21 books of the Bible.

Everybody is rejoicing. The cars will pass over the bridge today as this paper is being read by its patrons. It will take a week to lay the steel to Gilead, during which time wire work is being rapidly pushed from Gilead. Two weeks more will witness the temporary completion of the road. The time schedule will probably not be installed until all work is finished.

January Watchword Is Drinking Driver

The Indiana State Police "Watchword" for January is "DRINKING DRIVER."

State Police Superintendent Robert K. Konkle said this week, "We have started a new month, a new year, a new decade, and a new hope of reducing Indiana's highway accident toll. The year 1969 closed in Indiana with record highway fatality count." Konkle said 1670 people lost their lives in traffic accidents last year and at least half of these fatalities were caused by the drinking driver.

With the increase of automobile registrations and with more miles of new interstates being opened, Indiana State Police are making a concentrated effort to reduce the highway toll. Troopers are working longer hours, patrolling more miles of highway, and are focusing on the drinking driver, especially at tavern closing time.

With the start of 1970, Konkle stated the Indiana State Police will receive delivery of three new helicopters to help in the patrol of highways and Indiana's new "implied consent" law, now in effect, will help the Indiana State Police and other police agencies in the state to take the drunk driver off the road.

Konkle appealed to the Hoosier motorist not to drink and drive. He reminded them that "safe winter time" driving requires alert drivers, and that senses dulled by alcohol compound the usual problems of ice and snow.

HEALTH & SAFETY

Mainly for Mothers by Carol Hart

Get Rid Of Get-At-Ables

"Get-at-ables" can get you if you don't watch out. What are "get-at-ables"? They're the accessible, attainable, available, reachable, just plain handy things that can lead to accidental injuries in the home.

An examination by the Council on Family Health of reports of home accidents shows that very young children, particularly those under the age of five, are especially vulnerable.

Here are some of the more common "get-at-able" situations found by the Council, a non-profit organization sponsored as a public service by members of the drug industry:

—Turpentine left on top of a work bench by a do-it-yourself dad.

—Lubricating oil stored on the bottom shelf of a closet.

—Furniture polish left on the dining table when the telephone rang.

Medicines became "get-at-ables" for toddlers when:

—Left on the kitchen window sill.

—Placed on top of a bureau in grandmother's room.

—Left in mother's handbag.

—Stored with foods in the refrigerator or pantry.

Low window ledges and unguarded open windows were reachable to:

—A four-year-old who fell from the second floor.

—A five-year-old who fell 50 feet from the third floor.

Las Donas Club Elects Officers

Election of officers was held with the following being nominated: Pres., Mrs. Randall Leininger; V. Pres., Mrs. Fred Ogle; Treas., Mrs. Don Nicodemus; Sec., Mrs. Rick Ochs; Publicity Chairman, Mrs. Robt. Ogle; Devotions, Mrs. Dean Rager. Fifteen members were present. Those attending were Mrs. Don Nicodemus, Mrs. Dean Rager, Mrs. Fred Ogle, Mrs. Rick Ochs, Mrs. Marvin Gagnon, Mrs. Robert Ogle, Mrs. Larry Straley, Mrs. Randall Leininger, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. James Bickel, Mrs. John McKee, Mrs. Dean Baker, Mrs. John Zimmerman, Mrs. Charles Duncan and the hostess, Mrs. Larry Horine.

Arthur Shoemaker and Anna Gerlach were united in marriage by the Rev. Edgar F. Daugherty, at Wabash, Ind. on Jan. 29, 1910. They have been engaged in farming in the northern part of Wabash and Miami counties most of their married life. Upon retirement, they moved to Akron. They are the parents of five children, Mrs. Claude (Mary) Walters, Warsaw; Homer Shoemaker, Hammond; Walter Shoemaker, Palestine; Cecil Shoemaker, Macy; and a daughter who died in infancy. So you've been cozily sleeping under your Christmas electric blanket for a few weeks. And the thought creeps across your mind, "What happens when it looks dingy?"

Never fear, electric blankets are machine washable. In fact, one of the first rules for their care is Do Not Dry Clean—the chemicals may injure the insulation on the heating wires.

For the method, your first authority is your use-care tag (you know, the one you filed under Electric Blanket or, hopefully, tossed in a box marked Use-Care). In case the directions are briefer than you'd like, here are some words of advice:

Use light-duty detergent. The chemicals in those that tackle heavy soil might attack the heating wires. Besides, blankets don't get that dirty. If there are some spots, pre-treat with suds of light-duty detergent. An exposed plug should be covered with a terry cloth tied over it.

Wash just one blanket at a time. But use full load water level—and lukewarm water. Add the detergent (watch the amount so it doesn't over suds) and agitate until dissolved. Stop action, add blanket and submerge it. Let soak for 15 minutes, turning it a couple of times. Agitate for one minute. Advance setting to spin. Fill tub with rinse water. Soak five minutes. Advance to spin and then repeat the rinsing.

During the final soak, get the dryer ready. Clean the lint trap. Preheat for five minutes on high with three or four bath towels in the dryer. Place blanket in heated dryer with towels as buffers and tumble 15 or 20 minutes. There'll be enough moisture left to block the blanket easily. When thoroughly air-dried, put back on the bed, plug in the controls and be ready for another comfortable night's sleep.

Take your problems to Church this week -

HANDS OF DESTINY

The shriveled, wrinkled hands upon the Bible are the hands of an aged ecclesiastic — a preacher of the Holy Word.

For more than half a century they have turned the pages of The Greatest Of All Books to find the text for a sermon, or for a psalm to comfort the sick and the dying... These hands have been raised in blessing and benediction at countless marriages... They have sprinkled the baptismal water on the heads of many infants, and have thumbed the pages of the Holy Writ at the grave-side.

They are, indeed, Hands of Destiny. Once they were smooth, strong and firm. Now they tremble a bit as they turn the pages of The Book.

Perhaps you know of such a pair of hands — the hands of an aged man of God, who has devoted his entire life in an unselfish attempt to bring comfort, happiness and salvation to you and everyone.

Whether your pastor is young or old, go to Church regularly, for the hands you see resting upon the Bible there, whether shriveled or firm, are the hands of a man of God, who offers you the formula for a better and happier life.

A well planned worship service is not merely a sermon with a few hymns hung around or just a program to fill the allotted time. It's a studied plan and each part has its own function to create the effect which worship should produce on him who worships. It is the greatest thing one can do and the most important hour of the week. Come worship with us each Sunday.

In one second, our Sun radiates more energy than man has used since the beginnings of civilization.

Don't worry about your station in life. There's always somebody who'll be anxious to tell you where to get off.

Brethren Fellowship

The Women's Fellowship of the Church of the Brethren met at the church for the January meeting.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Norma Weaver. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Edna Mae Shewman. Bandages were made by the group prior to the business meeting and cut garments were distributed to be sewed. Mrs. Arlene Gearhart was devotional leader. Her lesson was based on the story, "Three Sick Women" taken from the book, "All of the Women of the Bible." These stories were based on scriptures from Matthew, Mark, and Luke.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Gladys Kroft, hostess.

County Extension Council Will Meet

The annual meeting of the Kosciusko Co. Extension Council will be held January 28 at the Shrine Building, Fairgrounds, Warsaw at 10 a.m. with Wilbur Latimer, Mentone, presiding.

The council is the directing organization for the Extension Service with its education programs in agriculture, marketing, youth development, family living and community development and public affairs.

The morning program will include reports on the 1969 program by Extension agents Donald E. Frantz, Willis Alt Jr., and Mrs. Anita Davidsson. A panel discussion consisting of Mrs. Shirley Steele, attendance officer of the Warsaw Community Schools, Ed Pratt Wayne Twp. trustee, and Miss JoAnn Merkle, Extension Nutrition Aide, will discuss the question "Are People Really Going Hungry Here?"

The afternoon program will consist of a series of discussions of the community problems of the 1970's. Sam Dungan, secretary of the industrial committee of the greater Warsaw Chamber of Commerce, will speak on "The 1970's-A Decade for Growth." James Baker, director of the Kosciusko County Area Planning Commission, will discuss "Community Planning."

Harvey Anglin, immediate past chairman of the Board of Commissioners, will speak on "Local Government - People and Problems."

Thames Mauzy will conclude the program with a discussion of "Pollution-What Can Be Done." Mr. Mauzy is the ranking member of the Indiana

House of Representatives committee on Natural Resources and Conservation.

The annual meeting is open to those who wish to attend. Reservations for lunch should be made with the County Extension Office.

Kosciusko CROP Contributions Are High

The contributions to the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) in Kosciusko County reached an all time high level in 1969 at $9525.00, according to Russell Creighton, county CROP chairman, and Ross Sittler, treasurer. Only two Indiana counties exceeded this amount.

Jefferson township was the leading contributor with $1467.14 and Scott township gave $1342.43. Etna township gave $999.04. Other high townships with contributions over $500 were Washington, Harrison, Prairie and Clay. All townships of the county participated in the CROP program and none gave less than $100.

Industrial donations amounted to $250.00.

The 1969 CROP contributions were largely sent to refugee areas in Biafra. The aid program is administered through church agencies in areas of need. Indiana has sent nearly two million dollars worth of food, tools, seed and clothing during the last ten year period, much of this has been organized through rural church leaders.

Tax Time Pamphlet Available Now For Farmers

It's tax time again and area farmers may be interested in a pamphlet that the social security office in So. Bend now has available. The title of the pamphlet is "Special Information for Self-Employed Farmers." The leaflet answers many questions about reporting farm income for social security purposes. It describes the reporting of income under family arrangements, farm partnerships, farm rental income and the "optional method" farmers have for reporting their income.

It's important that farm income be reported correctly since social security benefits are related to the amount of earnings a person had during his working year and since farm income can vary greatly from year to year because of weather, farm prices, and other factors, farmers who have a small profit or even a loss can report some income for social security purposes if their gross farm income is at least $600 or more in a year, social security officials report. During such years, many farmers report on the "optional method" so that their earnings under social security are at a higher level.

For more information about the reporting of farm income, write the social security office at 125 So. Lafayette Blvd., So. Bend, Ind. 46601, and ask for the pamphlet, SSI-25.

Mitchell To Address S W C Meeting

John E. Mitchell will be speaker at the Annual Dinner meeting of the Kosciusko Co. Soil and Water Conservation District, on Feb. 3, at 6:30 p.m. in the Shrine Building.

Mr. Mitchell, now associate publisher of the Morning Times, Frankfort, Ind., has had an unusually varied career in state government, in conservation, in agriculture and in private business.

He served as former Director of the Indiana Dept. of Natural Resources in the administration of former governor Rodger B. Branigin. He is a native Hoosier and a graduate of the School of Agriculture at Purdue University. He was a U.S. Army Counter-Intelligence Corps Agent during the Korean conflict.

He was appointed to the 4-man Budget Committee during the two terms he served in the Indiana House of Representatives. In 1961, the newsmen covering the legislature voted him one of the seven outstanding members of the General Assembly for that year.

In 1963 he was appointed Executive Secretary of the Indiana Flood Control and Water Resources Committee. He then became Director of the Dept. of Natural Resources and successfully merged the Dept. of Conservation, the Flood Control and Water Resources Committee.

He joined the staff of Nixon Newspapers, Inc. and became the associate publisher of the Frankfort Morning Times in Frankfort where he lives with his wife and three children.

Tickets to the dinner are available for purchase at the Soil Conservation office, 518 S. Buffalo St., Warsaw, any morning Monday through Friday or from any of the following supervisors: Myron Metzger, Leon Tucker, Phil Beer, Maurice Heagy, Fred Kuhn, Bob Teeple, Dale Byrer, Bob Norris, Howard Silveus, Bill Dalton, Bud Watkins or Gordon Tuttle.

Social Security Numbers Needed To Get Drivers Licenses

Gerald W. Habig, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, this week advised all persons applying for an original Drivers License, a renewal thereof, or for any Learners Permit for practice driving or driver education driving, that on or after Jan. 1, 1970, a Social Security Number must be furnished on each application.

The Social Security Number will be used as the Drivers License Number for all such licenses issued by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, starting with 1970 applications, Habig said.

Commissioner Habig noted that any person desiring to apply for a Drivers License who does not have a Social Security Number should immediately apply to the proper office of the Federal Government to secure application forms to obtain a Social Security Number.

On the back of this card is the address to forward the application in order to have a number assigned, according to information furnished the Bureau of Motor Vehicles by the Indianapolis Social Security Office.

If a person applying for a Driver License does not have his Social Security Card, but knows the correct number, all license branches may accept such number. The Bureau requests all applicants to be certain of the number being given, as the wrong number information will affect the issuance of their license and could also affect entry of driving violations.

Rev. Harold Leininger, minister of Anderson's St. Matthews United Methodist Church, has been selected by the Anderson Jaycees as that city's Most Outstanding Young Man and was recently honored at a banquet at which Indianapolis Mayor Richard Lugar was the speaker.

Rev. Leininger, a graduate of Akron High School, is the son of Mrs. Mary Margaret Leininger and the late Harold Leininger. He is a graduate of Indiana University and has been active in Anderson civic work since moving there in 1965 from Ft. Wayne.

During 1969, Leininger served as Anderson fire department chaplain, board member of the Madison Co. Guidance Center and the Anderson Urban League, vice president of the Planned Parenthood League for Madison Co., Council of Ministry Chairman for the Anderson United Methodist Churches, vice president of the Anderson Association of Churches and member of its Industrial Missions Program. He also holds several positions in the North Indiana Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Rev. Leininger and his wife, the former Kay Utter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Utter, Akron, are the parents of a son and a daughter and live at 809 Country Club Drive, Anderson.

Former Mentone Resident Celebrates 100th Birthday

Mrs. Josephine Duncan, who with her husband, the late Dr. Percy O. Duncan, a Baptist minister, once lived in Mentone, recently celebrated her 100th birthday at the Hoosier Village Retirement Home, 5300 West 96th St., Indianapolis.

Mrs. Duncan, who graduated from Franklin College in 1897, was a piano and voice teacher for many years and she still enjoys listening to music.

Mrs. Duncan received a telegram from President Richard M. Nixon congratulating her on

Re-Appportionment Causes Incumbents To Meet

Gov. Edgar Whitcomb's decision Friday not to call a special session of the Indiana General Assembly will force two state representatives and one state senator elected in 1968 to face incumbents in the 1970 elections.

Thames Mauzy, Warsaw, is now in the same district as House Speaker Otis R. Bowen, Bremen, while Arthur P. Coblentz of Liberty Mills is in the same district as Kermit O. Burrous, Peru, House GOP caucus chairman. Sen. John F. Augsburger, Milford, and Sen. Leo Sullivan, Peru, are also in the same district.

Although these legislators, all Republicans, were originally elected for four-year terms, the federal court order will force them to face incumbents this year after only two-year terms.

Elected

Sandra Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Parker, Akron, and a senior at Manchester College, has been elected to the executive cabinet of Tri Alpha. She is a speech and drama major at Manchester.

Roudebush seeks re-election to Congress

Fifth District Congressman Richard L. Roudebush, Noblesville, announced Thursday he will be a candidate for re-election to the House in 1970.

A Republican, Roudebush, is serving his fifth term in the House where he is third on the House Science and Astronautics Committee and second on the House Internal Security Committee.

He has served in three districts due to redistricting and has represented 1½ million Hoosiers. Married and the father of two children, he lives on a farm 3 miles northeast of Noblesville.

Memorial Book Given Akron Library

The book, ADLAI STEVENSON, PATRICIAN AMONG THE POLITICIANS, has been given to the Akron Carnegie Public Library by Donna Kay VanGilder in memory of her grandfather, Karl Gast.

In the book, Bert Cochran gives a superb analysis and interpretation of Adlai Stevenson, the man and public figure. By weaving historic events, class formations, social theories, conflicts among nations, and the play of individuals into an integrated design, the author reveals the character of Stevenson in all its sharpness and distinction. The reader sees not only the human being, but an entire era, and grasps the social forces and the clash of interests and ideas that affected both. Disconnected events fall into place and reveal Stevenson's specific place in three turbulent decades.

Fear's Request For Lawyer Denied

Thomas J. Fear, R. 2, Akron, who was charged with driving left of center on a public highway in 1968 in an indictment returned by a Fulton county grand jury, was denied his request for a pauper attorney in Fulton circuit court Thursday.

Judge Wendell Tombaugh said he denied the request because the possible maximum penalty would not entitle the defendant to counsel.

Fear pleaded innocent and was granted time to obtain counsel. He was released on his own recognizance and the case was continued.

ROUDEBUSH

Church of God Pays Indebtedness

Rev. J. D. Thomason said this week that the Akron Church of God had passed a significant milestone recently when it paid off all indebtedness on church-owned properties. The congregation remodeled the sanctuary in 1957. The members have since built a parsonage, acquired two annexes, and the total indebtedness has been liquidated. All together, this was a venture of approximately one hundred thousand dollars.

Trustees in 1957 when the present sanctuary was dedicated were Orville Ellis, Hugh Wildermuth, Joe Wildermuth, Dean Ault, Irvin McHattin, Forrest Higgins and Cleo Wideman.

Rev. Thomason states that all the programs have been achieved by the cooperative spirit, faith and sacrifice of the Church. The present Board of Trustees will soon make plans for a proper commemoration of this event.

The church is currently underway with a fund raising campaign aimed at providing better Sunday School rooms. J. Loyd Brown of Anderson is the guest director for this program and will be with the congregation Feb. 13 through Feb. 23.

When all the folks had gone away.

Dear Ann,
After a quick trip to near Chicago the other day it was wonderful to come back to Mentone and find our streets had been cleared of snow.
Many thanks to the ones responsible for a job, well done.

Dear Editor:
Pollution. Why are the American people worrying themselves to death from the fear of pollution of water, gases, jet smoke, drugs, narcotics and robberies? Did you ever stop for one minute and think of our boys in Vietnam who are in much worse conditions every day, every hour, than the people back here in the good old United States ever will be. How glad those boys would be to have the chance to exchange places with those people back home who are screaming pollution.

Dear Editor:
I am a handicapped veteran, living on a small pension. My vision and hearing are slowly leaving me. The doctors say they can do nothing, so I have made hobbies to keep busy and fight off periods of mental depression and despondency which seem to plague me most of the time.

While I am collecting antique valentines and old post cards, I am also collecting rare old calendars and advertising cards, in hopes of writing a book about the items I collect and earn enough from it to get off this small VA pension and have medical care, which the VA is unable to afford me, so my hobbies have a dual purpose.

Living on limited funds,
I depend on friends and others for the items
I collect and was wondering if any of your readers may have any old valentines, old post cards or rare old calendars they do not want,

because I would be happy to have any they may care to send me, and be glad to get them.

Thank you for your time and kind consideration in reading my letter.
Respectfully yours,
Leon Thompson

The Second Feast

How happy were the birds that day,
When all the folks had
gone away!
First one flew down, then another and each one went and told their brother.
How the crumbs were lying thick, each one could have his pick; and all along the desert floor

They scattered finding more and more
The bits of fish, the bits of bread.

A multitude of birds was fed.

Then to the lake, and as they drank
They lifted up their heads to thank

ODDS and ENDS

by Ann Sheetz

If we never opened any of the bushels of mail we receive, we wouldn't know that it took a woman to have the perfect automobile accident.

Her case, one of many a top insurance company handled last year, tops the company's list of "weirdies."

The lady, a resident of Montreal, had this to offer by way of describing her accident: "My car had sustained no damage whatever and the other car somewhat less."

That may be true, but explanations have a way of stretching the truth.
Consider the driver of a ten-ton truck who accounted for his accident

this way: "The Volkswagon passed and stopped in front of me in such a way that he damaged the rear of his car on my front bumper."

Youthfulness, as well as youth, had its say in 1969. How else could you account for two blithe grandmothers, aged 60 and 71, who tangled with a car and a truck in separate incidents—both while riding tri-cycles? Or the 81-year old Hopkinsville, Ky. man who met misfortune while driving into the local "lover's lane."

Also having their problems were the Atlanta motorist who ran into a palm tree after noticing his passenger's hair on fire and the Vermont man who slammed into a guard rail while engrossed in a conversation with his dog.

From the Midwest came a report of a crash involving a car pulling a two-headed cow. After investigation, the anxious claimant was able to deadpan: "We were greatly relieved to learn the cow did not have a double whiplash."

A Virginia man wasn't so lucky when he attempted to roll a monstrous snowball into his neighbor's lawn. Things really got rolling as the five-foot-wide sphere pinned the prankster by the ankle. He dislodged himself and ran down the hill only to be mowed flat by the pursuing Frankenstein. Days later his hat was found still imbedded in the thawing monster.

One accident, it seems, begets another. To save his house a Salt Lake City man swiftly threw a can of oil and gasoline out an upstairs window. The house was spared, but not the man's car which was turned to ashes as the blazing container scorched a direct hit.

In Topeka, a man, unable to reach a doctor after thinking he'd swallowed a piece of glass, hit upon a home remedy. As he waited for the laxative to take effect, his house became very warm. His urge to turn on the air conditioner was hastened by another urge. In a tush he turned the machine on too high and sat helplessly as it went up in smoke.

In Cincinnati a washing machine salesman gave a safety demonstration that left both him and his customers gasping. He placed his tie in the wringer and came within a scissor's snip of having his neck wrung too. He now sells sewing machines.

..All of which makes our days of sticky typewriters, slow moving sons and other exasperations seem not quite so exasperating.

When the paper doesn't come!

—Wakarusa Tribune

My father says the paper he reads ain't put up right.
He finds a lot of fault, he does, perusing
it all night.
He says there ain't a single thing in it worthwhile to read,
And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff that people need.
He tosses it aside and says it's strictly on the bum--
But you ought to hear him holler when
the paper doesn't come.
He reads about the weddin's and he snorts like all get out.
He reads the social doin's with a most derisive shout.
He says they make the paper for women folks alone.

He'll read about the parties and he'll fume and fret and groan.
He says of information it doesn't have a crumb--
But you ought to hear him holler when
the paper doesn't come.
He's always first to grab it and he reads it plumb clean through.
He doesn't miss an item or a want ad-- this is true.
He says they don't know what we want,
the darn newspaper guys.
He's going to take a day sometime and go and put 'em wise.
Sometimes it seems as though they must be blind and deaf and dumb--
But you ought to hear him holler when
the paper doesn't come.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

HILLSBORO, N.H. MESS-
INGER: "There is nothing wrong with a social professor who advises parents that the proper way to teach responsibility, punctuality and other similar vices is to load a child with chores. Chores have been and still are character builders, and are also beneficial to the parents. How can any boy expect to be Governor unless he has mowed the lawn, raked the leaves, washed the car and shoveled snow, with neatness, pride and dispatch? How could any girl preside as chateau-laine of a lovely home unless she has been Mother's little helper, washed thousands of dishes and kept the vacuum cleaner on the go?"

Accident Report

Damages of $7,700 were reported Saturday afternoon when an eastbound 1969 Chevrolet driven by Ralph Shoemaker, R. 5, Rochester, and a westbound 1969 Ford operated by Christopher C. Doran, Burket, collided. The Chevrolet sustained $4,200 damages and the Ford $3,500. Doran suffered minor cuts on his head and hands. Officers said Doran pulled out to pass a car in front of him, saw the approaching Shoemaker car and braked his auto. It went into a skid and the cars collided. Anthony Nigo DAR Members Hear History Report

Members of the Anthony Nigo Chapter DAR held their January meeting in the home of Mrs. Wm. Cox.

Following the regular opening, Mrs. Ernest Igo read the President General's message.

Mrs. Wayne Smalley, National Defense Chairman, gave a comprehensive report on the forthcoming census, some of the reasons for its necessity and a preview of some of the questions to be answered.

Mrs. Ray Linn, Mrs. Walter Lackey and Mrs. Arthur Brown were appointed by the regent to arrange an American History display for February.

It was announced that Jane Ettinger had been selected as the DAR good citizen winner.

Two alternates, Mrs. Wayne Smalley and Mrs. James Bidding, were elected for Continental Congress.

Mrs. Ray Rush, Program Chairman, introduced Mrs. Lackey, who portrayed the intricate planning that led up to the ultimate triumph of the colonies seeking their freedom against the British Crown in her book review, "The American Revolution."

In vivid word pictures, Mrs. Lackey made it possible for each to relive many of the forgotten but history making event that were the birth pains destined to bring forth in time an American Nation, the United States of America.

Incidents she reported included:

A series of taxes levied on the 13 colonies by King George III that were so unpopular the colonists became violent.

On October 1, 1768, a large British Fleet sailed into Boston and thus the agitation began. With each succeeding incident the atmosphere was becoming more tense, tempers were flaring, and the state was being set for war. Previously, the various colonies had very little in common, but the British Crown, by its harshness, had united the colonists in a common cause. The Revolution, that moderate name had hoped would never come, was being born in the hearts and minds of the people.

In the immediate years that followed many a hard fought battle with almost incredible hardships followed. However, the colonists, with their liberty and religious freedom at stake, had an undying cause ever before them for which they were willing to sacrifice their lives and fortunes to protect. However, they did not fight alone in their own strength. The fact that an all pervading, overshadowing Presence was with them in whom many trusted and turned for help, is evidenced in a portion of our Declaration of Independence: "and for the support of this Declaration with a firm reliance on Divine Providence we mutually pledge our lives, our fortunes and our Sacred Honor."

The Revolution, fought so desperately on land, was won in the end on the sea. Across the ocean lanes, the colonists were supplied with arms and reinforcements from France. Finally, control of the sea made victory possible at Yorktown, and Cornwallis surrendered on Oct. 19, 1781. After two years of wearisome waiting, in April of 1773, the final treaty recognizing American Independence was received and ratified by Congress.

At last the American Colonies were a nation. Although many trials lay ahead, they staunchly guarded their dearly won liberty, and now 200 years later, it is up to their descendants, us, to do the same, she said.

Following the program, refreshments were served by the hostess and co-hostesses, Miss Annabel Mentzer and Mrs. Max Smith.

PRICE-MITCHELL VOWS SAID—Miss Patricia Price and Lonsdale Mitchell were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, January 27, at the Grace United Methodist Church, Rochester, with the Rev. Laurence Smith officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Price, Rochester, former Akron residents, and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay R. Emahiser, Akron. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clifford Mitchell, Kirkwood, Mo. Miss Lynne Utter of Akron was soloist. Organist was Mrs. Philip Parker, Akron. The maid of honor was Miss Jane Herren, Louisville, Ky., and Miss Arlene Johnson of Columbus, Ga. was the bridesmaid. Grant Mitchell, Washington, D.C., brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Robert Clements, Ft. Wayne, Robert Houghton, Portage, Wis., Greg Gleason, Chicago, Michael Lynam, Speedway, Ind., and Kerry Slater, Mishawaka. A reception in the church Fellowship Hall followed the wedding. The bride is a graduate of Akron High School and attended Hanover College, Hanover, Ind. She is affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. The bridegroom will graduate in June from Hanover and is affiliated with Sigma Chi fraternity.

LA PORTE, IND., HERALD ARGUS: "... (It) is an excellent idea of the teachers and students of high school government classes... to assign students to actually ride and walk for awhile with local police officers while the latter are on the job... Those students will witness the almost unsolvable problems that are the not uncommon lot of officeholders. And perhaps, if they cruise in the police squad cars or wait long enough at the police lockup, they will be witnesses to the fools men make of themselves in a human society which badly needs refining."

This is why we're planning to invest additional millions of dollars to expand and modernize our plants and facilities. We want to meet the challenge of the "Surging Seventies" in northern Indiana and assure all our customers a dependable supply of natural gas energy "to enjoy exciting today and build better tomorrows."

Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry

More than a thousand chicks each year—like the one so lovingly held by this young lass—struggle out of their shells and get their first glimpse of the world from inside a special glass incubator in Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry. What they see are the smiles of more than three million people annually, who put a trip to the great exhibition palace on their "must-see-while-in-Chicago" lists.

Hatching chicks are among the Museum's 14 acres of lively, educational exhibits which delight, inform, and enthrall visitors of all ages and walks of life.

The first-time visitor finds he must revise his impressions of what makes a museum, for here he finds himself surrounded by light, color, sound and motion. He turns cranks, sets dials, presses buttons—and the displays whirl, hum, crackle or thump as they dramatically visualize scientific principles and industrial concepts.

Many of the Museum's most spectacular displays directly involve the visitor by making him become a part of them. Imagine walking through a 16-foot-tall model of the human heart, studying its internal structure while hearing its beat; or exploring the inside of a real, captured German sub; or descending into the depths of a coal mine so realistic people have been heard to exclaim how lucky the Museum was to have found the mine there beneath it!

And, there are 13 theaters where visitors can rest their feet while viewing live presentations or motion pictures covering such topics as electricity, petroleum, microbes, satellite communication, and the story of steel as told by Donald Duck.

Everywhere the visitor turns, he hears the excited voices of children as they discover new surprises, blending with the thump and thud of machines brought to life by the spectator. The Museum of Science and Industry is truly a magic house of discovery where the past rubs elbows with today and treads on the heels of tomorrow.

APPLE VALLEY, CALIF., NEWS: "This country now has so many laws, it is impossible for even the finest attorneys, law enforcement officers or legislators to know them all. Long gone are the days when a man could live according to the dictates of his conscience and the standards of his society and know he was not breaking any laws. Now there are laws that tell him where he can walk, what he can say, what he can have on his own property, how much noise is permissible, in what location he can park his vehicle and so on for volumes and volumes, too much of which is restrictive and nonsensical."

COATESVILLE, PA., RECORD: "One of the side-lights of the campus coddling of disruptive demonstrators in recent years is the drop in donations to colleges and universities. The normal level of contributions from graduates to their alma maters has declined in many instances, and the reason frequently cited has been the failure of school administrators to punish those who use destruction and obstruction as a means of registering their grievances. No matter what the cause, graduates are not going to give their dollars to a college only to see a mob of radicals tear down its facilities, go scot-free and be readmitted for a repeat performance. We cannot fault this logic."

The grand jury indictment followed a head-on crash Oct. 6, 1968 on SR 14, west of Akron, in which Charles H. McCrackin and his wife, Martha, So. Bend, were killed.

Pam Abbey To Play Antigone

Pam Abbey, who has been spending a well-earned rest from her academic duties at Indiana Central College at the home of her parents this past week, will return Tuesday for an even more demanding semester.

Just before the semester break, she was thrilled when Richard Williams, the drama director, announced that she had the starring role, Antigone, the play by the same name.

This is the second of three plays the Drama Department is producing this year. Hamlet was presented in November. Antigone will be in late April, and 101 In The Shade will be in May.

Merry 4-H Girls Reorganize

The Mentone Merry 4-H Club held its reorganization meeting Thursday at the Mentone Youth League Building. The past president, Kay Goshert, called the meeting to order and introduced the new leaders, Mrs. Doug Haney, and Mrs. Doug Simpson, her assistant.

Officers for the year elected were president, Debra Anglin; vice president, Susan Hibschnman; secretary, Dawn Claassen; assistant secretary, Carmen Anglin; treasurer, Maria Leffert; health and safety, Kathy Alvey; song leader, Letitia Alvey; recreation leader, Mary Beth Anglin; reporter, Cheryl Anglin; assistant reporter, Terri Kindig.

Plans for the coming year were discussed.

Some of the events planned include a bake sale, a skating party, a trip and a "Share the Fun" skit to be given later at the county contest.

A new meeting date, the second Tuesday of every month while school is in session, was chosen. Although most meetings will be held at the Youth Building, the next meeting on Feb. 10 will be at the home of Debra Anglin.

After the meeting, games were played and refreshments were served by the Leffert, Alvey and Anglin families.

Roudebush Bill Would Bar Reds From Defense Jobs

A bill introduced last July by Congressman Richard L. Roudebush (R-Ind) to bar communists from working in U.S. defense plants has been approved by the House Rules Committee and will be brought before the full House soon for a vote.

Roudebush drafted the legislation last July 14 to blunt the harmful effects of a U.S. Supreme Court edict permitting Reds to retain sensitive jobs in key American industrial installations engaged in defense work.

The Roudebush bill, if approved, will amend the Internal Security Act of 1950 by adding a new section on defense facilities and industrial securities.

"There is now no adequate program in effect to forestall penetration of this vital area by saboteurs and espionage agents. This bill, in my opinion, will restore and improve the effectiveness of the former program," Roudebush stated.

The Roudebush proposal will (1) authorize the President to institute a personnel security screening program to determine the eligibility of individuals in defense plants with regard to preventing sabotage, espionage or acts of subversion; (2) restore personnel screening programs for the safeguards of vessels, harbors, ports and waterfront facilities which were struck down January 16 by the Supreme Court.

The bill would also authorize a security clearance program for the protection of classified information released to U.S. industry.

It would also establish a cooperative voluntary security program with industry and labor for the protection of defense production.

Roudebush appeared before the House Rules Committee in recent days to testify in behalf of the bill. Two hours of debate are allotted for the legislation when it is presented for consideration in the House.
