FOR KID'S SAKE

Starting January 3, 1989, one of David Lawson's projects will go into effect. As alot of people have noticed what looks to be an ice fishing hut, one on State Road 19, near the school and one on West Rochester and Maple Street.

These are crossing guard shacks for the crossing guards to stand in during bad weather, while waiting for children walking to and from school.

It has been a great concern for David Lawson. He says "There are some really small children that walk to school and it is very important that these children have someone to insure a safe crossing walking to and from school."

The project needs more volunteers to keep it going. David is looking for people willing to work the crossings before and after school. If interested contact David at the Akron Police station and he will interview any willing participants.

Some people have already donated to the project. Thank you, to John Ramsey, and O & R Builders, Mark Ramsey Verlin Ramsey, John (Bill) Ramsey, and Dennis Struck, for donating the buildings and Niftone for donating the doors. Please, parents instruct your children to cross at these safety areas.

A new beginning...

I Always Was A Sucker For Cookies

Each time a list is published in the newspaper of people having donated blood, I would read over the names with envy. "Next time" I would think to myself. This went on for years.

Well, the opportunity finally arose. The bloodmobile was coming to my place of employment and one of the ladies in my department asked if I'd like to donate blood. Before I could utter a flimsy excuse, I was whisked away to the bulletin board and had signed up for the coming schedule.

While having coffee, I expressed a concern not knowing exactly what was to take place. After reassurance from Mary and Peggy, two friends of mine, they suddenly spoke the magic words, "They have food, too, Joyce." How could I pass up a chance for orange juice and cookies?

I must admit, I felt proud as I waited in line to do my noble deed. I filled out the papers, answered the questions and then watched the ladies remove their earrings. I was soon to discover the earlobe was the site chosen for a sample of blood, not the fingertip. Amazingly enough, the prick didn't hurt at all! I had a dracula joke on the tip of my tongue, but managed to keep it to myself! Blood pressure was taken and temperatures were checked. I at once thought this was a cinch!

I was first, Mary, then Peggy in order. I was escorted to a comfortable reclining seat with an armrest where my arm was scrubbed after nurses marked my vein. Here I enjoyed V-8 Juice and relaxed. As I settled back waiting my turn for the needle, I watched Mary have a needle expertly placed into her vein. At once, the bag began filling with surprising speed. The nurse started the needle in my arm and I got the "OK" sign from Mary saying, "Looks good, Joyce." However, behind me a little while later, Peggy had her needle inserted and was also filling a bag. I soon learned I wasn't speeding along as they were.

The nurse checked on my bag saying, "Uncross your legs and keep stretching your fingers." By this time, Mary had been helped to the seat in the back and was drinking juice and having cookies. I kept stretching and moving my hand with the nurse saying, "Keep moving, you're coming along fine!" About that time, Peggy walked past. I sat up in the seat and asked them both "How do you do that so fast?" They just smiled and said, "Keep stretching, Joyce," while they ate the COOKIES! Finally, at long last, my bag was full and the cookies were mine!

I've given blood each time since and plan to continue. It really doesn't take so long and the satisfaction is great. Besides, so many people can't give blood which makes it all the more important for those of us who can. Blood is something we all hope we won't need and something so precious we feel proud to give. The conditions are relaxed, sterile and professional - nothing for concern. The only problem I had was being the first of three to enter and the last of three to leave!

Never fear, I'm going to remedy the situation. I'll just suggest, since Mary and Peggy fill their bags with lightning speed, they help fill mine! If that doesn't work, I'll suggest they start my needle first since I "drain" slower and with any luck at all, we will finish at the same time. I know what the nurse will say, "Keep stretching, Joyce!"

Helpful Hints On Safety, Economy and Fun From Fielding's Travel Guides

Here's a tip experienced travelers know well. When traveling to Mexico, the safest way to avoid "Montezuma's Revenge" is to limit your drinking water to bottled water and ask that waiters open the bottle at the table when dining out. If you are craving a glass of cold water, try a chilled bottle of Mexico's mineral water, called agua mineral.

Mexico is a shopper's delight, with items ranging from elegant designer clothes, leather and jewelry, to fine Indian weavings and ceramics, to inexpensive paper flowers, pinatas and the like. According to the All-New Fielding Mexico Guide for Today's Traveler, you can find all these items in shops where the prices are fixed, and nearly every town has at least one small market where you can find some local crafts. Bargaining at markets is a necessity.

Your hair dryer or electric razor can usually operate on Mexican current, yet, in a few small towns they may not. Bring a safety razor, just in case. Coin laundries are difficult to find, but any hotel can make arrangements for laundry and dry cleaning. You may still want to wash a few items by hand, so bring a flat disk stopper—it will work with any drain—and some detergent.

Business Is Looking Up In Farm Country

In spite of the 1988 drought, farmers and ranchers across America are more optimistic about their future today than they were just one year ago, according to a new study by the Farm Credit System.

The recently completed study found that 88 percent of the country's farmers and ranchers still plan to be in business three years from now. That's up substantially from 76 percent last year and represents an exodus of only four percent for each of the upcoming years.

Of those agricultural producers who don't expect to be farming or ranching three years from now, three out of four said it was because of planned retirement. Only one in 20 blamed financial conditions and about twice that many said they simply wanted to change occupations.

"We're seeing signs of increasing optimism among borrowers," said Bob Miller, senior vice president of the Farm Credit Corporation of America. "Land values are holding, exports are up and prices for many crops are better than they have been in years. When you put these factors together with government farm programs and the drought relief bill, many farmers have managed to improve their financial condition," he added.

Results of the survey showed that the producers who are most optimistic about staying in business have gross farm income greater than $250,000.

They tend to farm full-time and many have a second source of income. In addition, they average 48 years of age, compared to an average age of 61 years for those who plan to leave.

"It also appears that producers are more optimistic because the credit environment is more stable than it was a year ago," said Miller. "The Farm Credit System," he added, "is in much better shape than it was last year, thanks to more competitive interest rates and significant progress in streamlining operations and helping borrowers in financial trouble."

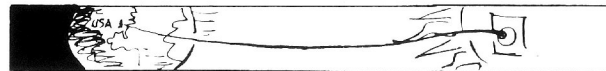

During the first six months of 1988, the Farm Credit System restructured 8,000 more problem loans valued at $1.7 billion. Over that same period, the number of foreclosures declined dramatically, down 35 percent from year-end 1987.

When it comes to borrowing money, farmers and ranchers are still in a conservative mood, overall, but to a lesser degree than they have been in the past. Over the next two years, two out of three producers expect to use as much or more credit to finance operating expenses and purchases of farm equipment. This is up 16 percent from last year.

On the other hand, this year's figures for expected use of long-term loans to purchase farm real estate in the next two years are virtually unchanged from 1987. Fifty-eight percent expect their use of long-term credit to increase or stay the same. Forty percent expect it to decline.

"Like any other financial tool," Miller noted, "credit must be used wisely. Without a doubt, agricultural producers have good reason to be optimistic, and so does the Farm Credit System. Interest rates throughout the System will continue to be competitive in 1989. At the same time, farmers will have more loan products to choose from and will be in a better position to manage their debt."

Your Horoscope

by Chas. King Cooper

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You're close to a decision about an impending vacation. However, make sure it's something your whole family can enjoy as well. Although you have some creative ideas at work, wait a while.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Utilize one of your best talents — the power to observe — this week. A situation at work could be used to your advantage, but keep this under your hat for now. Social activities are not favored.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20) You're withdrawing once again which is putting quite a damper on that budding romance. As difficult as it may be for you, try to remain open and communicative. Despite this, invitations wing your way.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22) Stop insisting on putting your foot down at home. You're on the wrong track and others are sensitive to this, so they will be unwilling to listen to you. Try to do some reflecting on this.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22) The beginning of the week will find you in a rather lethargic mood pointing out that perhaps you need to start taking better care of your body. Get as much rest as possible this week.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) This is a great week to assuage your aesthetic nature by redecorating. Perhaps some new furniture is in order. A romantic concern has you very distracted at work, but rise above this.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You're being uncharacteristically reckless this week. Put a curb on this. Romance is highly favored, so go for that candlelit dinner this weekend with your loved one. Concerns on the job are on your mind.

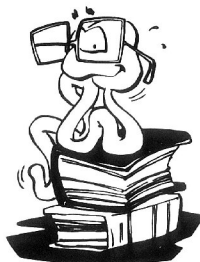

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although you're brimming with a lot of innovative ideas, this is not the time to try to implement them. Others are not as receptive at this time as you would like, so bide your time.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is a week to pull out all the stops. Utilize your imagination both at home and at work. Pay attention to what a mate is suggesting to you. It is something which could lead to success.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Your workload is overwhelming, but you will find the energy and motivation to deal with it. You realize that all your procrastinations have led to naught. A loved one is distressed at this time.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Those close to you need a loving, patient, understanding approach as opposed to the stubborn stance you tend to take. Should you decide to force an issue, nothing will be resolved.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) Your intuition is leading you the right way as far as your career is concerned. However, you may need to do some thinking about your finances. Perhaps a tax matter needs to be cleared up.

Veterans Post

by Freddy Groves

A man wrote saying people are getting sick of hearing about the problems veterans have and it's time, this social critic said, that vets should understand other people have health and financial problems and they can't get all those services veterans can claim.

What worries me is that I've been sensing this attitude for some time, and it may derive from the fact that in some areas of the country, the economy isn't thriving, many people are being laid off with little chance of being rehired any time soon. Medical costs are up, causing some resentment of the fact that vets seem to be getting for free what non-vets have to pay for. The fact that veterans are treated for service-connected disabilities seems to be overlooked by these critics. There is also talk of cutting back on vets' benefits to help cut the deficit. (You'd better believe we'll put up a fight if this gets anywhere beyond the idea stage.)

I don't know how deeply this sudden expression of meanness runs, but at any event, if you come across it, don't let it deter you from seeking every benefit to which you are entitled by law.

The reason there are so many surnames of Smith today is that during the Middle Ages the name was used for all metalworkers, or smiths, which means "to beat".

Coupon Corner

by Rose Lynn

Dear Mrs. E.E. in Coram, Mont.: I hope by now you've received your refund from Turbo Wash. Some refunds do take a very long time to arrive. If you still have not received it, why not call Turbo Tek's toll-free number? The number is 1-800-543-0274. Maybe someone there can track down your refund. Toll-free numbers are really good to keep a list of. They can put you in touch with the people who can help. The next time you have a problem with a refund of any kind, why not call 1-800-555-1212 and see if the company has a toll-free number? This is my first step when I've had a problem with receiving incorrect refunds, or one that has not arrived at all.

Dear A.D. in Logansport Ind.: Yes, I would keep saving my Del Monte labels. They may not run an offer for some toys again, but they still are refunding.

Right now, Del Monte is one of the brands involved in a new program called The Frequent Shoppers Advantage Club. You can obtain all sorts of nice gifts for sending in UPCs from many different brands that are participating, including Del Monte. At the moment, the plan has limited enrollment by invitation only, but it may open up to the general public. I'll let you know more as I get more information, but, yes, Del Monte still refunds, and I'd keep saving.

Dear E.H. in Manfield, S.D.: I can understand your complaint about having to purchase meat along with brand name products to receive a refund. It's not easy being a farmer, and by having your own meat supply on the farm, you certainly wouldn't go to the store and buy meat just to do a refund.

Since you mentioned you've wanted to do John Morrell refunds, but they require receipts from meat purchases, why not try their toll-free consumer line? The number is 1-800-292-8227.

Why not make a note of the number, as well as the one for Turbo Tek, and start your own list of toll-free numbers, if you don't already have one? It can really be a useful source of information.

Here are this week's offers:

CHEER $1.50 REFUND. P.O. Box 9371, Clinton, Iowa 52736 (receive $1.50). Buy one 54-oz. Cheer Liquid or one 42-oz. box of Cheer Powder. LIFEBUOY $1 REFUND OFFER. P.O. Box 4090, Westbury, N.Y. 11592 (receive $1). Buy three Lifebuoy Bath Size Bars or four regular size bars. Send the net weight from the appropriate sizes. On the form, check the size bars you purchased. Store form required. Expires 1/31/89.

Home Hints

RAISINS FOR CEREAL — I love raisins in cereal, but only if they are soft. So I buy plain cereal and a large box of raisins.

I cover the bottom of a small pot with a little water, add the raisins and bring them quickly to a boil, then remove the pan from the heat and cover it with a tight-fitting lid.

When the raisins have cooled, I put them in a jar (with a tight-fitting lid) and store them in the refrigerator.

At cereal time, I just take out as many as needed. Theresa K., Oklahoma City, Okla.

COFFEE FILTERS — If the filter in the coffeemaker folds over occasionally in your automatic coffeemaker leaving the grounds to fall into the coffee, here is a remedy my husband thought of.

Cut off the rim of a margarine tub, which fits the coffee holder. Place it inside the top of the filter.

It really works to keep the filter upright and in place. Pam R., Lake Havasu City, Ariz.

THREE MEALS FROM ONE — When I buy a box of macaroni and cheese, it's too much for the two of us, so this is how I use it.

I cook all the macaroni, but use only half of it and half of the cheese powder. This makes a smaller bowl of the product.

A day or so later, I use the other half of the cooked macaroni for macaroni salad.

A few days later, I make instant mashed potatoes and then add the last half of the cheese product to it. It makes a delicious dish that doesn't taste "instant." Carol E., Sandusky, Mich.

KEEPING THE NATURAL LOOK

If you have a decayed tooth that needs filling, especially if it is in the front of your mouth, your dentist may fill it with a composite resin to help keep the natural look.

Composite resin is a fast hardening, white filling material that has the look of natural tooth enamel. It can be bonded or fused directly to the natural tooth. The bonding process, not only permits the composite resin to be held firmly in place, it makes it more secure than many of the older types of filling materials. It has another advantage, too, because the color can be blended more evenly to the natural tooth.

This relatively new type of tooth filling can also be used in other areas to help maintain the natural appearance of your teeth. But its most common use is to fill front teeth that have become decayed. Its advantage over silver amalgam or gold fillings, particularly in this area of the mouth, is obvious. The cosmetic results are nothing short of amazing. You'll never be able to tell that the tooth has been filled.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C. 1329 Main St., Rochester. Phone 223-3121.

THE CALENDAR WILL REMIND US TO OBSERVE OUR FAITH

The calendar upon the wall,
Since just the other day,
Was put there to remind us all
The new year's underway.
By looking at it we can find
The moon in every phase,
While small notations keep in mind
Impending holidays.
It also gives us ample space
For writing in each date
Of those appointments we must face,
And times to celebrate.
This year, whatever be our creed,
Let's mark each Sabbath day;
As one reminder we should heed:
To worship God and pray.

newsworthy trends

The Incredible Shrinking Household Customizes Today's Meals

GROWTH IN SALES OF ONE SERVING FROZEN VEGETABLES (Packages Sold)

If the remainder of the century could be characterized by one phenomenon, it would be that of the "incredible shrinking American household." Delayed marriages, postponement of parenthood, divorce and the rapidly growing senior citizen market all contribute to the trend toward smaller households. Experts predict that by 1995, the average family size will shrink to 2.5 people, and nearly half of all households will be headed by a single person.

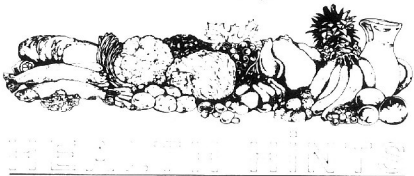

From a marketing perspective, it's a small world. Cars, appliances and housing have been downsized. But nowhere is the trend more evident than in food, where nearly every customer can be viewed as a potential "single."

"People are leading more independent lifestyles, regardless of their actual living arrangements," said Debra Van De Weghe, product manager for a new line of microwavable one serving Green Giant vegetables. "A 1987 study of food shoppers revealed that only 57 percent of those interviewed regularly ate dinner with their families. When eating with the family, only 50 percent reported eating the same main course as the rest of the family," she said.

Food companies are responding by tailoring products to contemporary lifestyles. Products that are simple, microwavable and portion-controlled minimize waste and represent a good value. The new Green Giant Microwave One Serving Vegetables line, for example, offers 11 Green Giant best sellers in individual portions that can be microwaved right in the plastic tray.

Contributing to the demand for single serving food products is the rising ownership of microwave ovens. Today, microwaves are found in 70 percent of all kitchens, and that figure is expected to grow to 80 percent by the year 2000. Microwave convenience has democratized the kitchen. Homemakers, children and seniors can prepare microwave foods with equal skill. Thanks to the microwave, people can eat when appetites and schedules permit, rather than when the clock demands.

Americans have always prized independence and freedom of choice, from how they dress to what they eat. Thanks to innovations in food packaging and technology, customized meals may one day join the ranks of our other "unalienable rights."

Indoor Exercise—Hazardous To Your Health?

Pulled muscles and dislocated joints aren't what you had in mind when you set out to get in shape. However, as colder weather forces you shaping up indoors, that's what you could end up with. Here are some helpful hints from the 3M First Aid Center to help you get all the benefits of exercise without making muscle-straining blunders.

• DO make sure you have enough room for whatever exercise you'll be doing. Move away any objects or furniture which can get in your way. This is especially true with exercise videotapes. It's easy to get carried away, focusing on the television, and not your surroundings. You should also move area rugs that could slip during exercise and cause you to fall, and position yourself away from any walls to avoid unnecessary obstruction.

• DON'T use exercise equipment unless it's been maintained and is in good working order. Equipment which hasn't been used in a while should be tested. If the seat on your stationary bike is loose, or the joints which support the bike aren't tightened, you could cause some serious injury. Keeping a 3M Cold Comfort cold pack handy to "ice" down any bumps or sprains is a good idea, just in case you do slip or fall.

• DO try these cold weather indoor exercises: aerobics calisthenics, stationary bicycling, bowling, dancing, rowing machine, ice and roller skating, swimming, tennis, racquetball, squash, walking on a stationary treadmill, weight training.

• DON'T workout without warming up. Ten minutes of stretching will go a long way in cutting down on minor injuries.

Pointers For Parents

What's Your Decision?

Deciding your personal standing on ethical issues may make it easier to give answers to children when the actual situation arises.

For example, let's say your son has a term paper due on Tuesday. Early Tuesday morning, he tells you the paper isn't finished. Your child asks you to call him in sick so he can finish the paper and hand it in without being penalized. The child says, "Everyone does it. Anyway, who does it hurt?" What do you say?

Here's wisdom from the High Holy Day message of The Jewish Theological Seminary that may help us face important daily issues:

"There's nothing wrong with wanting the best for ourselves and our children, but at what cost? These days, don't we all fear that as a society we have lost the ability to use what we know in a responsible and ethical way? Many of us blame the schools, TV and corporate America. Perhaps we should look a little closer to home. Every day each of us faces conflicts and confusion, temptation and the fear of seeming a sucker—tough decisions with no easy answers.

"If we share our moral dilemmas with the people we care about, it may make a difference in the choices we make. If our children hear us discussing moral issues, then perhaps they, too, will start asking questions. Learning to ask the difficult questions—learning to make responsible judgments—is the most important kind of education and it begins at home.

"It's always been hard to balance temptation and ethical living, and there have always been sources of help. Every enduring tradition has a way of thinking about the right and wrong of things. For example, Jewish tradition grapples with a whole range of issues—labor relations, deceptive business practices and slander, among others.

"Often, there are more questions than answers, but the simple act of asking the questions enriches and changes lives. It's not too late to learn."

Invest on a Shoestring

Ask the average person how much you need to buy stock in one of America's major corporations, and the answer you will likely get is several thousand dollars. Actually, it's more like $25 to $50. You can buy stock in many corporations by starting with just one share and continuing on an installment basis.

Actually, the practice of buying small regular investments over a long period of time is one of the soundest procedures in individual investing. In building an investment account, $25 a week provides a new high every five or six years, and then tends to drop 20% for several years. This tends to be a much smoother ride than the peaks and valleys of the stock market, and it has low, reasonable costs.

The National Association of Investors is a non-profit volunteer organization of individuals working with a number of our points on a basis of speculation which you can buy stock with small periodic payments. THE TAX PICTURE

On The Way: Higher Taxes For The Middle-Class?

Taxes have been the cause of some of the strangest laws in the world. At one time there was a law to collect taxes from men who wore beards. Another law once collected a special tax from bachelors. Here's news of a tax law now before Congress that may seem just as ridiculous to many taxpayers.

According to Dr. Robert D. Tollison, a leading economist and director of the Center for Public Policy Choice at George Mason University, "In their quest for tax increases, members of Congress are shamelessly exploiting the Federal deficit." He claims that this is "tantamount to political fraud." The fact is, the Federal deficit has been on the decline since fiscal year 1985, and many economists expect the trend to continue. At this time, the deficit is falling from the record levels of a few years ago.

Tollison and others believe that if the deficit is in need of reduction, the way to do it is through spending cuts, not higher taxes—especially not the excise tax increase Congress is considering. Many believe that excise taxes are highly regressive. This conclusion is supported by research. The most recent research includes a comprehensive study of Federal excise taxes by the Congressional Budget Office. Many see excise taxes on cigarettes and alcohol as a politically simple way to increase the taxes of those with little political clout. Tax reform was supposed to substantially reduce the burden of federal taxes on low- and middle-income taxpayers. Increasing excise tax rates will steal these hard-won gains from precisely those groups, which is why these taxes have been called "Poverty Taxes."

Around six months ago, raising Federal excise taxes was offered in Congress as a way to make up for shortcomings in the budgetary process. Recent hearings on Capitol Hill have demonstrated the depth and intensity of popular opposition to excise tax hikes. Many hope that members of Congress will consider more widely acceptable alternatives.

Some experts believe there are alternative strategies to deficit reduction other than excise taxes. Fortunately, in a democracy, the "citizens" rarely get their way if the public finds out in time and swamps Congress with letters. Those who'd like to express their opinion on this issue can write the Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510 and the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. No street address is necessary.

Old Mentone Gym is torn down

Old Mentone Gym

Mentone School's old gym, a 60 year old building, was leveled by construction workers. The building was located along Yale Street in Mentone. It was known for its hardwood floors, which was constructed around 1925. A church group now reportedly owns the property.

1st 18 year old to register

Eight years ago, Frank was the first 18-year-old man to sign up and be processed by the Selective Service System under the continuous draft registration program. From today on, however, if Congress and the president order a return to military conscription under present law, Frank is too old to be drafted. He becomes the first man since Vietnam to pass through the full, eight-year-long period of draft eligibility without being drafted.

Names and addresses of men ages 18 through 25 are kept on file by Selective Service for use in a national emergency. If Congress reinstates the draft, men most likely to be called into military service would be those who turn 20 during that calendar year. Selective Service would conduct a birthdate lottery to determine the order of call within that age group and then, depending upon the manpower requirements of the crisis, those men whose birthdays draw low lottery numbers would be more likely to be called.

There has not been a draft since 1973 when the U.S. switched to an all-volunteer military force. In 1975, the Selective Service Systems was placed in "deep standby" status and the requirement for men to register was suspended. But it wasn't long before several studies and commission reports noted that a draft would be needed again if the country ever became involved in a major conflict. They predicted it would take too long to get men registered, classified, inducted, and trained. In 1980, after the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, President Carter revitalized the Selective Service System and reinstated the registration requirement for men. On January 5, 1981, registration of 18-year-old men began again and has continued. Today, using computer technology, the System can begin issuing thousands of induction orders via "Western Union Mailgrams" in three days or less, once Congress and the president give the go-ahead.

With few exceptions, federal law requires every man to register with Selective Service within 30 days of his 18th birthday. (Men have a 60-day window in which to comply with this law: from 30 days before to 30 days after turning 18).

WINTER

With sub-zero temperatures, the faucets are all froze, by the time we thaw them we have some frozen toes.

We chop and dig and pry and scoop, to open frozen doors and gates, and froze up trucks and tractors, are just a winter fate.

We pull the truck to start it, get stuck in a big drift, so with two scoop shovels, three foot of snow we lift.

We dig and scoop and shovel, with each new snow fall, while my neighbor with his snowmobile, Is having a grand ball.

This, "Beautiful Winter Wonderland." Is for skiers and for such, but this here, "Old Farmer," don't like it very much.

Hamburger Surprise

No woman is a born cook. Each person has to experiment, follow directions and take instructions as well as learn from trial and error. Unfortunately, some of us have forgotten what an ordeal it is for the family as well as the cook.

I remember making gravy for the first time. I ended up with lumps the size of walnuts that got bigger and bigger the more I stirred. Doug watched in disbelief as I tried to appear in control of the situation, but finally had to agree that the gravy should be left off the menu. I'll never forget the way he said, "And, I liked gravy, too."

Later, I decided to give dressing a try. I realized it took a mixture of onion and celery but I didn't know they should be cooked first! That was the first and last dressing we crunched our way through.

Let's not forget how the manufacturers hide the giblets inside of turkeys. I know someone who actually cooked the giblets inside the turkey and never discovered them until they were dishing it up on the platter!

I have sympathy for the new cooks out there, but I have more sympathy for their families. While the cook is trying to learn, the families are the ones having to eat the product! Doug has managed to survive my disasters over the years and the boys are managing to take them in stride. However, my dad was always one who bragged on whatever a person did just as long as they tried. Determined to master the art of baking pie from scratch, I experimented with different crusts. My dad volunteered for taste testing of the pies and despite the crusts that kept getting worse - not better, I managed a cherry pie that Dad proclaimed to be better than my mother's. This was a far cry from the one that went straight from the oven to the garbage can!

Baking bread was another one-time event. I worked relentlessly on the task and marveled as it began to raise. My brother happened by as I was taking it out of the oven and volunteered for tasting. It was as tough as leather, but it smelled great. I sawed through the loaf, handed it to Tom and he bit through it like it was jerky proclaiming it to be "Great, Sis. But then, I like mine chewy."

And, of course, when your children enter school you must make roll out cookies and decorate them. I began decorating turkeys with red waddles, brown bodies and yellow beaks. I carefully iced 30 cookies using a knife, brush and toothpick. They were eaten in a grand total of 2 1/2 minutes at school! I did this several times for each son.

The list is endless...noodles rolled on a bread board that stuck like glue, candy that was sugary, fudge that had to be eaten with a spoon because it wouldn't set up, and nevertheless, my famous meatloaf. After trying every known recipe to man, I've still not mastered the meatloaf. We've named it hamburger surprise at home, it hasn't failed to surprise us yet. I'm glad, though. All I have to do is suggest hamburger surprise for dinner and Chris gets his coat, C.J. gets his shoes and Doug says, "Get the car, we're eating out tonight!"

My....what a surprise!

New at the Library

Akron Carnegie Public Library announces the arrival of more than 100 hours of PBS programming, including: "American Playhouse," "Planet Earth,"

"Nova," "The Jewel in the Crown," and Alistair Cooke's "America," on VHS videocassettes.

This award-winning collection was a gift from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation Library Video Classics Project—a nationwide project to make the tapes available to public libraries. Libraries from Portland, Maine, to Wasila, Alaska, are participating in the project.

John E. Corbally, President of the Foundation, states, "Until now, most libraries could usually afford only moderately priced feature films. Our support is making the best programs in the arts, the sciences, and the humanities available to everyone with a library card."

The growth of libraries circulating videocassettes, the number of VCR's in America's homes, and negotiations with distributors for a volume purchase at a discount made this undertaking feasible.

A program guide to describe the offerings will accompany videos, and all series include complete public performance rights to allow-in-library and community group showings.

Other titles included in the series are: "American Short Story," "Civilization," "Life on Earth," "Great Performances," and "The Story of English."

Letter to the editor

The Tippecanoe Valley Kiwanis Club would like to say a great big "Thank You" to the many people who gave so generously to our Christmas Toy Drive. You have proven once again that the Akron and Mentone Communities are a great place to live. Without your help, we could not have made Christmas a little more joyful for the twenty families who received food baskets and toys for their children.

Our thanks to the area businesses who served as collection points. We asked only for used toys, but many of you purchases new toys to donate to the needy children. Thank you for giving beyond what was required. Your generous donations are greatly appreciated. On behalf of our club President Lew Goodwin and all the Kiwanians, "Thanks a bunch."

Sincerely,
Larry Barr and Tricia Busch

Thank you
Perhaps you sent a lovely card, Or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a floral piece or food, If so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words, As any friend could say;
Perhaps you were not there at all, Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts, We thank you so much whatever the part.

Women's Fellowship

The Women's Fellowship of the Church of the Brethren met at the home of Lana Bowser for the December meeting. After the group met at Lana's home, they went to the Mason Health Center in Warsaw and sang Christmas Carols and visited with Vera Holloway. Some of the ladies visited Maxine Bickel at Kosciusko Community Hospital. They then went to Canterbury Manor in Rochester and visited Ruby Dawson. A fruit basket was given to each of the ladies.

After returning, Mrs. Brower served hot ham sandwiches and other refreshments. A gift exchange revealed secret sisters, and names were drawn for the new year.

Bakker's return to television

Jim and Tammy Bakker return to the TV pulpit for the first time in two years and blame his downfall and subsequent indictment on Satan, and not PTL's sex and money scandal.

The broadcast began in the living room of the Bakker's borrowed home and was sent by satellite to a half-dozen stations, mostly cable, in California, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and Louisiana, Bakker said.

"Jim I think this is probably the happiest day of my life," Mrs. Bakker said as the show began. Using her usual trademark of heavy eye make up and crying after two minutes of the hour long program, Bakker and a former top associate were indicted last month on charges of diverting $4 million in PTL money for their benefit.

The Bakkers have not preached together on television since January 1987. Two months later, allegations surfaced of his 1980 encounter with church secretary Jessica Hahn.

Bakker said his last television show at PTL featured the ground-breaking for the Crystal Palace Church, a proposed 30,000-seat church at PTL's Heritage USA. The church was never built and a federal bankruptcy court last month approved the sale of Heritage USA to a Canadian businessman.

46th Heart transplant

Cloyd Davis, 66, of Fort Wayne, became Lutheran Hospital's Northern Indiana Heart Institute's 46th heart transplant recipient on Sunday, December 25th.

Mr. Davis was taken to surgery Saturday at 10:30 p.m., with the donor heart arriving from Georgia hospital. Mr. Davis was out of surgery and in the transplant recovery suite by 3:30 a.m. He is currently listed in critical, but stable condition.

Mr. Davis suffered from cardiomyopathy, a gradual deterioration of the heart muscle, and was placed on Lutheran's waiting list on October of this year. At that time, he was given one year or less to live.

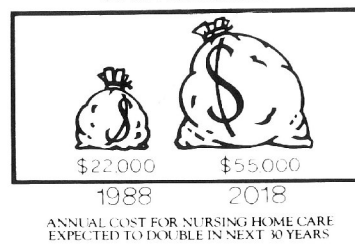

Currently, 37 of Lutheran's 46 recipients are alive and well.

UNDERSTANDING YOUR INSURANCE

The Insurance Industry's Latest Benefit

HOW MUCH WILL YOUR NURSING HOME CARE COST IN THE YEAR 2018?

ing home stays will be the billion dollar question of the 1990s," says Bill Sweeney, president of ITT Life Insurance Corporation of Minneapolis. "Half the people who reach 65 will eventually be in a nursing home. Yet only three percent of those currently in nursing homes have any type of long-term care insurance."

In 1988, ITT Life became one major insurance company to address this problem by introducing The Long Care Rider (LCR). The LCR rider pays life insurance benefits while the person is still alive and needs assistance with nursing home bills. After 18 percent of the death benefit is paid to help cover nursing home care, the remainder is still left intact for children and other beneficiaries.

Long-term care insurance policies can vary, however. Make sure that the long-term care product you select:

- Includes coverage for Alzheimer's Disease
- Offers coverage for a skilled, custodial, or intermediate nursing facility
- Requires a policyholder to wait no longer than three years to collect benefits. Some policies or riders require policyholders to wait as long as ten years before benefits are available; others as little as 90 days.

Finally, make sure that you have enough coverage to take care of the gaps between Medicare and nursing home insurance policies.

An informative booklet on choosing long-term care insurance is available free. Just write for "Insurance Needs For All Your Life" from ITT Life Insurance Corporation, P.O. Box 9302, Minneapolis, MN 55410 or call the Consumer Hotline at daytime 1-800-541-6757 ext. 465.

The Bulldogs hold a slim two point victory over the Flyers, which was the first defeat handed to the Flyers in the earlier season campaigns. Much zest and zeal was shown in this weeks drills which the Flyers were paced through by their mentor, Coach Reith. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Baker are busy making arrangements for a very special event - the celebration of their 30th anniversary in business in Mentone. In January, 1929, immediately after Mr. Bakers's graduation from the Chicago School of Watchmaking, they opened a jewelry and electrical store in their home now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinsey. The following April they moved to the property now owned by Mrs. Wade Whetstone, the first house north of the present post office building. Three years later they moved to the Luther Fife building, now occupied by Brown's Jewelry and Gift shop. In 1951 they purchased their present building from Alfred Snyder. The Bakers have three children, Linda, Don and Wayne. Don operates a farm west of Mentone and Wayne handles the TV and appliance repair at the store. Mr. Baker does considerable plumbing and electrical contracting and the store handles a full line of radios, TV's, record players, refrigerators, washers, dryers, watches, gifts and electrical and plumbing supplies.

The Vikings were playing without one starter as Jill Severns has to miss the game because she had sprained her ankle. Another starter, Jenny Doud, saw limited action because of foul trouble and sophomore guard Amy Peterson played even though she had the flu. The balance and team depth of the Vikings proved to be enough to help them post their ninth win in 10 games.

The Vikings also won the junior varsity game to raise its record 7-1. They defeated North Miami 54-10. Carolee Beeson led the way with 10 points and Jennifer Hoyt added eight points.

ANGELS OF MERCY

Esther C. Adams

Beautiful nurses dressed in white
Certainly make my spirits bright.
Angels of mercy, so they be
Bringing cheer and comfort to me.

Nurses in white, giving me pills,
Backrubs, enemas, IV's for my ills,
Angels of Mercy, they brighten my day,
No matter the length of my hospital stay.

What would we do without our nurses in white
To help patients out of the plight.
May The Lord Bless them all thru the year,
And give strength and courage to our Angels of Mercy, so dear.

HELP YOUR HOUSE OF WORSHIP WHENEVER IT NEEDS YOU

The word "help" is one of the most versatile ones in our language. It can mean something as little as holding a door open for someone, or as much as offering your services as a full-time volunteer to help the poor. Your local community is full of people and organizations in need of your assistance, and this list includes your House of Worship. When you think of all the blessings you have received there if you have been attending the services regularly, you will be filled with a natural desire to do whatever you can in return. This might involve making phone calls, typing the bulletin, baking cookies, painting the stripes in the parking lot or performing some other needed job. You depend on the Lord for many things; show Him that He can depend on you to be there when you are needed.

Soothing Tips

Feet are one of the most used and abused parts of our body. Besides putting our entire weight on them, we stuff them into ill-fitting or poorly made shoes, and ignore them even when we're careful to exercise and pamper other parts of our body.

Most of the abuse our feet are subjected to is the result of two things: bad fitting shoes and poor care. Following are a few tips to help you keep the bottom in your step.

• The next time you buy shoes, make sure they're comfortable in the store. Don't make the mistake of thinking they'll need to be broken in.

• If you've been walking on your feet all day, and they're tired, try soaking them. Use a foot bath with Epsom salts, which many people are turning to as a footbath such as those found in the drug store.

• The best time to wear your shoes is in the morning. The feet are at their most relaxed, and the circulation is at its best.

• If you're walking long distances, wear shoes with good arch support. The arches of your feet are the foundation of your body, and they need to be supported.

The Oven Cleaning Story

So a pizza bubbles over in the continuous-cleaning or self-clean oven of your new range and proceeds to char to a sticky, unsightly blob. Do you just grab the trusty oven cleaner and attack it like you did with the standard porcelain enamel oven in your old range?

The answer is a resounding "no," says the Porcelain Enamel Institute of Washington, D.C. "Though virtually all modern ovens—continuous-cleaning, self-clean and standard—continue to be coated with a form of porcelain enamel, the Institute says there are sharp differences in the type, function and care of each coating."

The continuous-cleaning coating is a specially formulated, porous appearing porcelain enamel designed to oxidize oven soils during the normal cooking cycle. It contains certain oxidizing agents and is applied in a surface-expanding series of minute "hills-and-valleys" to better dissipate grease and other soils.

The porcelain enamel in self-clean ovens is a special high-temperature, acid resistant coating engineered to withstand the intense heats generated to literally burn away soils during the cleaning cycle.

Standard range ovens contain conventional porcelain enamel, a hard, durable borosilicate glass fused to sheet steel under extreme heat. As most homemakers know, it not only tolerates the use of commercial oven cleaners but, if not used too often, other such aggressive cleaning aids as scouring powder and metallic soap pads.

However, Institute experts warn that none of these should ever be used in a continuous-cleaning oven. They could seriously damage the catalytic cleaning action of the coating. They also caution against the use of caustic oven cleaners in a self-clean range—first because it isn't necessary, and second because, under the high heat of a cleaning cycle, even a residue of oven cleaner could become aggressive enough to etch the porcelain finish.

To better educate consumers on the care of these three types of porcelain coated ovens, the Institute has developed an informative booklet called "The Oven Cleaning Story." To obtain a free copy just write to: Consumer Services Dept., Porcelain Enamel Institute, Inc., Suite 700, 1101 Connecticut Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

P.S.I. lower rates

Customers of Public Service Indiana should have lower electric bills this heating season, if this winter's temperatures remain the same as last year's.

"Because of our new lower rates, which went into effect last July, our customers have been getting more electricity for their money," said James E. Rogers Jr., chairman and chief executive officer of PSI.

"The same will be true this winter, even as customer's electricity use goes up with the onset of colder weather. Customers who use a comparable amount of electricity to last winter should pay about 9 percent less than last year on their bills." Excluding sales tax, residential customers whose monthly electricity usage averages 1,000 kilowatt-hours will pay about $69 this year, compared to $76 in 1987.

To save even on your winter heating bills, PSI suggests these wise-energy usage tips:

HELPFUL HINTS

Put weatherstripping around doors and caulk windows to cut down on drafts.

Set your thermostat at 68 to 70 degrees during the day and at 65 degrees at night.

If you're going on vacation, turn your furnace to an even lower setting, turn off your water heater and use a timer on lights for security.

Replace your furnace filters every four to six weeks.

Install an insulating jacket on your water heater and keep it set at about 130 degrees.

Close vents to crawl spaces and fireplaces.

Keep attached garage doors down.

Close curtains at night for added insulation against the cold.

Feeding Baby Cereal

Q. How long should I continue to serve my baby infant cereal?

A. Iron-fortified infant cereal is important to babies during their first two years of life. Cereal is one of the first solid foods fed to infants because it is easily digestible. It is also an excellent iron source, a nutrient essential for babies up to two years old while the growth rate is rapid.

Rice cereal is generally the first single-grain cereal fed to babies. Later, other single-grain cereals, such as barley and oatmeal are added to the diet. As the baby ages, mixed cereals containing several grains can be added.

Growing babies have higher iron requirements for their size than adults. If infant cereal is mixed with a source of vitamin C, such as Gerber apple juice, the baby's ability to absorb the iron may improve.

For variety, cereal and fruit combinations may be introduced to older infants.

Jontz holds town meeting Indiana ranks first in new business

Fifth District Congressman Jim Jontz announced today that he will be holding a series of town meetings around the district on Saturday, January 21st.

"There are issues facing the district, the state, and our nation that affect virtually every aspect of our lives. If I am to represent the average citizen of the 5th District effectively, it's imperative that I meet and talk with them, to know what their views and concerns are," Jontz said.

Jontz held 128 town meetings throughout the 5th District during the 100th Congress. Town Meetings are an important part of Jontz's effort to remain in close touch with the residents of the district.

Locally, the town meeting will be held on January 21st from 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

Valley board cuts costs

Estimated costs for the new administrative suites at Mentone School were cut nearly $150,000 from original construction bids.

Board members voted to make certain changes in the design of the offices to reduce the price. Those changes will decrease the price from the awarded bid of $460,700 to $303,160.

Wilburn Construction Company, Inc. of Rochester, was awarded the construction bid at the December board meeting.

Superintendent Baxter Page said none of the changes would reduce the floor space of the offices. They really haven't lost any floor space, but maybe it's just not as decorative, especially the front entranceway.

The changes include simplification of the lighting and heating control systems; a different type of ceiling tile, and changing the structure of the roof to make it a flat roof.

One change the board did not want to include was to the original front doorways. Board members said they would like to preserve the old building style and voted to go ahead with the original plans.

With all the new changes in place, construction is expected to begin January 16. In other business taken care of;

High school science teacher Ivan Shuler gave a presentation on a new class offered to all high school students. The class is on scientific research and students are asked to isolate an area, set up an experiment and conduct research for the program.

This year is the first time for this class and there are six students involved.

Board president Fred McSherry and secretary/treasurer John Mellot were voted by the board to be on the board of finance.

A teaching contract for John Waymire, assistant principal at Mentone was approved for the 1989-90 year.

A $600 addendum for Dot Lynn's teaching contract was approved. Lynn has been serving as a teacher intern mentor.

Maternity leaves were accepted for Sandra Carmichael and Patty Newman.

Ken Pearson, Akron Vice-principal, was granted a professional leave request on Jan. 30 to attend a conference in Chicago. Brett Boggs, Akron principal, was granted a professional leave request for April 14-19 to attend a conference in Atlanta, Ga.

Books for Ronald McDonald

The Mentone kindergarten classes of Mrs. Nellans recently brought money to their classes to buy children's books to give to the Ronald McDonald House in Indianapolis. This was done to help the children learn the lesson of the spirit of giving at Christmas. The classes collected over sixty dollars. Media specialist, Ann Chubb, purchases books with the money and showed the books to the children. Among them was a book The Light in the Attic, a favorite poetry book, a number book, The Three Bears, and several Clifford books. Mrs. Chubb is on the library committee for the Association of Indiana Media Educators which takes care of the library. Donations of books are always welcome.

The Hustle and "Bustle" of Everyday Life

While skimming through an "Ideals" book I happened across some old fashioned pictures. They showed beautiful dresses with ruffles and bustles. As I searched through other books of olden days, it seemed a rarity to see anyone overweight until they were older. This made me wonder how these ladies managed to stay slim and trim. Just what was it that was different from today?

Let's imagine we're back in the old days. No going to work for us! We have it made - we stay home. Some days we have to make our clothes, not always do we get into town to do our trading. (I wonder if they had rippers?) We have to clean our rugs - no Electrolux for us, we have a rug beater. Butter? Sure we have butter...after we churn it by hand! We do our laundry in the daytime too, after we pump the water and bring the washboard up from the basement. We can have a cozy fire in our old fashioned home...after we carried the ashes out, split the kindling and carried in the wood. No gas bills for us! And we would have horses! Everyone had horses didn't they? Yes, horses not only to ride, BUT to plow with, to pull the wagon and cows to be milked by hand, pigs to be fed, sheep to be tended not to mention the chickens which provide our eggs and drumsticks. Of course, you realize their shelters have to be cleaned, too!

We didn't go to the mall or the grocery either. When we needed meat, we would butcher and smoke the animals of whom we just spoke. Even those cute little chicks grew up and made their way to the chopping block - not a cellophane package from the cooler. And, on and on and on.

Even staying home, these ladies got a real workout each day. What workout do we get? Jane Fonda's workout, that's what kind. We may work but our output is nothing like it used to be. Could it be we've become a sedentary generation? Many of us have jobs sitting all day. Have you taken on the shape of your chair seat? What do we do?

We work all day away from home. Purchase appliances to make our chores quicker and easier so we can spend time with our families. Since the appliances are efficient, we use less energy and gain weight. We ride bikes, join health clubs, exercise to television shoes, etc. In order to have the money for the spas, we keep working, buy a dishwasher so we can leave earlier and have extra time for exercise, so we will stay thin, to look good for the job, where we sit all day and get fat! WHEW!

No it isn't hopeless and I doubt if anyone would really like to live when it was truly hard work from sun up to sun down. We just need to be grateful for the ease with which we can do things and move along with the times adjusting our lives to fit the needs of the day. Get your VCR out and "make it burn" with Jane. After all, we don't wear bustles now and who wants one that's built in!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor

In reviewing and evaluating the past year, we are reminded of the many times and many ways that you and your organization have helped the Tribal Trails Girl Scout Council in serving one out of every nine girls in kindergarten through the twelfth grade in the counties of Carroll, Cass, Fulton, Howard, Miami, Pulaski, and Wabash. Again, thank you in behalf of the entire Tribal Trails Girl Scout Council for helping make 1988 a great year. We look forward to our continuing relationship for an even greater 1989. Please let us know if there are ways that we may be of any assistance to you.

Sincerely for Girl Scouting
Marjorie Robertson, Director Public Relations and Adult Development.

Letter to the Editor,

The holidays are in the past, but the memories will not be forgotten for those who were remembered by the Mental Health Christmas Gift Drive. These gifts were given to patients at Logansport State Hospital, Rochester Nursing Home and Canterbury Manor.

To all of you, in what ever way you participated in making the Christmas Drive as success, I thank you for your concern and special effort. You, indeed, helped make someone else experience a brighter and happier holiday.

A special and personal thank you to my committee--those who sorted and wrapped the gifts--others who went to Logansport State Hospital and worked. You are all truly Santa's helpers.

Being Christmas chairwoman and sharing with the mental patients and nursing home residents makes my own Christmas more meaningful and complete.

Mrs. Nelson Hunter, Jr.
Mental Health Christmas Gift Chairman

Weather Stations may be closed

Many weather stations in Fort Wayne and South Bend are among 120 weather stations the National Weather Service would close throughout the nation under its proposed budget for 1990.

The only Indiana office that would remain open full time would be in Indianapolis. Evansville's weather station would remain open part time. Fort Wayne officials have waged one battle against reduced service at the Baer Field weather station, which was scheduled to end 24-hour operation mid-December. More than $20,000 was raised to give the station a six-month reprieve.

The warning of cuts needs to be taken more seriously because of the pressure Congress is under to reduce the nation's budget deficit.

Thank You

The family of Conrad A. Singpiel would like to thank the Rochester Nursing Home, Woodlawn Hospital, Dr. James Moeller, Argos Medical Center, Father Foris for his kind words, and Mark and Debbie Hartzler for their services.

Views On Dental Health

H. RAY HAZEN,
D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C.

SAVING AN ACHING TOOTH

If your child should develop a toothache, your dentist will probably do whatever he can to save it if the decay is not too widespread. This will be true whether it's a baby tooth or one of the child's permanent teeth. It's important to the child's future dental health to try to keep all of his baby teeth in place until the permanent teeth erupt to replace them. If a tooth were extracted, the surrounding teeth might crowd together, filling the space, and blocking the eruption of the permanent tooth.

The dentist will first anesthetize the decayed tooth so the child won't feel pain. He will then clean out the decayed area, including the affected portion of the pulp where it enters the tooth's roots. The tooth will be medicated then filed to protect it from further decay. By remaining in place, the tooth will help keep all of your child's other teeth in alignment. At the same time it will be serving as a placeholder for the permanent tooth so it will have a better chance to erupt in the proper position and at the right time.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C. 1329 Main St. Rochester. Phone 223-3121.

RIDICULOUS BUT TRUE!

Just about everyone would like to pay less for automotive insurance. Some people have come up with ideas that would supposedly lower premium rates. However, some of those ideas would actually increase premium rates for drivers who live in the suburbs—just so city drivers can pay less.

Only one type of insurance reform would give everyone a rate reduction, say experts. It's No-Fault.

insurance, the kind California voters are considering under Proposition 104. Experts say that No-Fault reduces everyone's rates because it reforms how small claims are settled in courts. It's the soaring number of accident lawsuits that have driven up automotive premiums.

IT HAPPENED IN MENTONE TAKEN FROM THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP NEWS JANUARY 24, 1959 30 YEARS AGO

Indiana is living up to its reputation as a place with "lousy" weather this week. On Monday morning 4 to 5 inches of snow fell, and late Tuesday another five or six inches came down. This mess was adequately shoveled into piles and chewed into a slightly chocolate colored conglomeration, just in fine shape for the rain that began to fall Tuesday evening. The rain continued throughout the night and by morning the snow was nothing but puddles of water, many up to six inches in depth. Nice Wading!

Bob Long, Tom Holloway and Larry Nellans, members of the Mentone basketball team, were given honorable mention for their playing ability shown in the county tourney last week. The selection was made by the coaches whose teams participated.

Grade School News: The first grade girls gave a party for their dolls Tuesday. The boys are getting ready for a toy party soon. The second grade, which has been studying about Eskimos in Social Studies, welcomed our recent snow. The third grade pupils are making a very interesting study of the "Chinese people. Literature offers many legends and Mother Goose rhymes. They have also found modern Chinese stories, poems, and pictures, which give us a peep into Chinese life. Dawn McIntyre is leaving the fourth grade here and is going to Burket. The students in the Fifth Grade are striving to read faster and more comprehensively. They have a one minute reading test once a week to determine their speed and accuracy. According to the standard set by "My Weekly Reader," a child's newspaper, fifth graders should be able to read two hundred words per minute. It's lots of fun to try, and many can read more than that.

WISH THEM WELL; THEY'LL NEED OUR HELP AND PRAYERS

One of the principal differences between a free society and a totalitarian one is that we elect our governing officials, who win by a complicated process based on receiving a majority of the votes. This means that there are also those of us who would have preferred another candidate or slate of officers, and who received the news of this defeat with not only disappointment but also great apprehension about the fate of our country. Nonetheless, when the majority speak, the remainder must accept the verdict with good grace; and we must all pray at our House of Worship for the Lord to guide the chosen leaders in the right direction. Also, we should let them know of our concerns and recommendations. If we all do this, it might enable them to do a better job; and prove our fears about the future to be completely unfounded.

Public Service Program

Public Service Indiana is keeping an eye on more electric meters in the Rochester area.

Through its Gatekeeper Program, the electric utility has trained employees to watch for certain "danger" signs that might mean a customer needs assistance. Especially geared toward the elderly, the program in the Rochester area works in cooperation with Area 5 and Local Council on Aging.

"Employees such as meter readers, consumer order workers and customer services representatives at PSI's Rochester office. "By nature of their jobs, these employees become acquainted with the customers and are familiar with the neighborhoods we serve. Through the Gatekeeper training, they've learned what kinds of changes may signal problems."

Much like a neighbor looks out for a friends, they watch for signs like these: newspapers piling up at a home, changes in a customer's appearance or behavior, signs of confusion or disability or a neglected yard. Employees who notice these signals will contact the Area Agency on Aging, which will contact the elderly persons to assess their needs and provide assistance. This help might include medical care, food preparation or delivery, help with household chores or even transportation.

PSI became involved in the Gatekeeper Program last April. Since then, the Rochester office has made one referral to the Area Agency on Aging.

Some elderly people don't know where to go for help, or may be too proud to ask for assistance. We hope this program gives these people the ability to maintain their lifestyle with dignity and independence.

Manchester College News

Sure, Mickey Mouse is celebrating his 60th birthday this year. But will he respond when students celebrating the birthday of a 100-year-old institution venture onto his turf in late January?

Mickey will meet Manchester on January 26. That's the date the 17-member Manchester College Jazz Ensemble will perform at 12:30 p.m. at the Fantasy Fair Magic Kingdom at Florida's Walt Disney World Resort.

Manchester College is observing its 100th year is 1989. Classes began at the four-year liberal arts college, which is affiliated with the Church of the Brethren, in the fall of 1989. The centennial observance begins in March of this year and will continue through May 1990.

The Jazz Ensemble plans to be in Florida January 26-28 to perform at three alumni meetings. Representatives from the college will help alumni now living in Florida celebrate the achievements of Manchester College at those meetings. Dr. William P. Robison, president, will speak and Dr. Ferne Baldwin, professor of sociology and social work, will present a slide show of scenes from the college's past.

The Jazz Ensemble will take its side trip to Disney World to perform a program for big band music. Led by director John Beery, Manchester assistant professor of music, the group will present such numbers as "How High the moon," "Ain't Misbehavin'," "Birth of the Blues," and "Over the Rainbow."

Girl Scout Cookie Sale

The annual cookie sale for girls in Tribal Trails Girl Scout Council starts Sunday, January 15 and ends Sunday, January 29. Girls in grades 1 through 12 who are Brownie, Junior, Cadette, and Senior Girl Scouts will be participating in the sale in the counties of Carroll, Cass, Fulton, Howard, Miami, Pulaski, and Wabash.

The Girls Scout cookie sale is important for many reasons; it benefits all girls and adults involved in Tribal Trails Girl Scout Council. By participating in the cookie sale, girls may earn cookie dough to pay their own way to resident, core, and day camp, as well as the fees for council sponsored events. Also troops finance their own activities and trips through their cookie sale profit.

Tribal Trails Girl Scout Council depends a great deal on the success for the cookie sale. After the cost of the cookies, the cost of the incentives, and the camp credit cookie dough earned by the girls has been deducted from the council cookie profit, the remainder is used to maintain the council camps and other properties, provide training for girls and adults, provide free handbooks and troop book kits for new troops, provide scholarships for girls, and many other miscellaneous expenses.

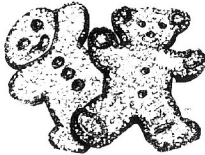

The cookies will sell again this year for $2.00 a box.

Taking part in the cookie sale will benefit girls in many different ways: from decision making, goal setting, and money management to business skills and consumerism. Using the skills they have learned in the sale can also be applied to earn different badges in the five Worlds of Girl Scouting. There is a special marketing badge for Junior Girl Scouts and Cadette Girl Scouts to work toward.

Burry-Lu Cookie Company will again be providing the cookies for the Tribal Trails Council Girl Scout Cookie Sale. All of their cookies and crackers contain No Artificial Preservatives and are baked with 100% pure vegetable oil. Each package is open code dated to insure freshness and carries nutritional information. All products freeze well. All Burry-Lu Girl Scout products are baked under the strictest of sanitary conditions; and all are approved Kosher with the (U) symbol.

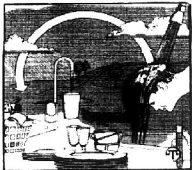

The following cookie and cracker varieties are available during the January 15-29 Girl Scout Cookie Sale: JUBILEE crisp, rich chocolate and caramel topped with toasted coconut and chocolate; CLASSIC CREMES traditional chocolate and vanilla sandwich cookie; HOEDOWNS smooth peanut butter creme center spread on top of a crunchy cake and covered with rich chocolate; GOLD-EN YANGLES a cracker baked with real cheddar cheese with no sugar or artificial colors; SCOT-TEAS delicate shortbread cookies topped with a sprinkling of sugar; THIN MINTS tender shortbread cookies covered with a chocolate mint coating; and SAVANNAHS two crunch cakes made with whole grain oats to sandwich the smooth, rich peanut creme center.

DISTILLATION: Making Water Better

Municipal water departments monitor the bacteriological safety of water supplies and they use disinfecting processes to protect the public health. They do a good job of providing residents with an abundant supply of safe, drinkable water. However, besides its home applications, the same municipal water supplies are used to fight fires, water lawns and clean the streets. The water may have hardening minerals that leave sticky residues on your body, clothes and plumbing. The water may also be cloudy, or taste and smell "funny."

Quality water can leave clothes and hair cleaner and help plumbing last longer.

Today's concerned consumers often choose to improve the quality of their personal water supply. One way, reports the Water Quality Association, is to install a distillation water treatment system. Distillation reduces solids and other impurities from water. In this familiar process, water is converted into vapor by heating, cooled and condensed to liquid and collected. The distillation device can be installed under sinks or purchased as countertop or free-standing models.

For free brochures about improving water quality in a home, write: Water Quality Association, 4151 Naperville Road, Lisle, IL 60532.

Ants can be frozen for long periods without harm. Many spend the winter inside logs and stumps, coated with ice crystals.

During the Middle Ages, the year began at various dates in different times and places. In England it was not until 1751 that January was restored to its place as first month, as it had been during the Roman era.

Seniors Not Wealthy Or Greedy!

Q. I keep hearing how many of our seniors are well off and don't need their Social Security checks. Is this true?

A. No, it isn't. Today, the average monthly Social Security check is $534. That's not a lot of money these days. Yet, fully 24 percent of individuals over age 65 rely on Social Security for at least 90 percent of their income. Most of these are women. Sixty-two percent of all seniors receiving Social Security rely on it for at least 50 percent of their income, report experts at the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare. Most seniors get much more than they need.

Superbowl 88

Once there was a man and his name was Bryan Bosworth. He is quarterback for the Seattle Seahawks. He is my favorite player on the team. He knows everything about football. He even knows about the Seattle Sea Hawks won the Super Bowl in 1984. In that game Mike Singletary ripped his shirt.

I wish that I could meet Bryan Bosworth but he lives too far away but I get to see him when he plays in his football games. He is my favorite player on the That day we lots of things. We were living with my grandma and grandpa. After a few weeks we got the house fixed. It wasn't as nice as it used to be but now we live in our house. Now every night when I go to bed I look out the window.

Wes Prater

My Future Robot Dog

I was walking one day along the road when I came upon an old house. I looked through the window and I saw a box. It had on it "SUPER ROBOT DOG". I went inside and opened the box. It startled me at first but my curiosity got the best of me. It could fly, it could jump very high, it could spit fire out of its tail, and it could turn itself into a car, a plane and a super sonic motorcycle.

I was also amazed to find out that it could put itself back together after being destroyed. It was truly an advantage to have the "Super Robot Dog" in my possession.

Michael Biddle

The Green Glowing Thing

One day Mike came home at 11:45. He said what he saw was a green glowing object that looked like a witch that was coming out of the swamp. All he did was honk his car horn three times. When Mike got home he told his dad to come to the swamp.

When they got to the swamp at midnight he honked his car horn and the green thing didn't come out. Little did Mike and his dad know that the thing was hiding. Of course Mike's dad didn't believe him and went home. They missed the green glowing thing. They missed the green glowing thing.

The Tornado That hit last night

I was in bed last night when I heard a loud noise I didn't know what it was I was scared I looked out the window and I saw a tornado I ran all around the place I went and woke up Mom and Dad they ran and got my sisters we all got in the basement safely I was still scared.

I fell asleep in the basement I woke up the next morning and I got up I came out of the basement. Our house was torn up all over the place. I walked out the door. Chickens were everywhere and mom and dad got up. It was Sunday.

We went up town to get some things to clean up.

Mitten

My cat's name is Mitten. I have had my pet four years. He is fat, black, white, gray and tall. My mom and dad let me keep the cat. One day my cat caught and killed a mouse to show me. My cat is a outdoor cat. I let him in the house twice a day. I feed him cat food and bowls of milk. I care for him by giving him a flea bath and brushing his fur. When I rub his stomach he tries to scratch me. I pat him to stop it. My cat likes to sleep in our T. V. room on our beige chair. He gets scared of strangers who try to pet him. He got a girlfriend and she had babies on the front porch. She had four of them. I love my cat very much. I care for him a lot.

Christmas Dream

One night I turned off the light and pulled my covers over my head. I couldn't get to sleep. But finally went to sleep. I had a real special dream. I used to think that Christmas was just for presents. But I changed my mind.

The night before Christmas I was waiting for Christmas morning. I did not care if Jesus was born. But the night I was met by an angel. The angel said, "This is what the world would look like without Jesus." He showed me that there would be no world without him.

The next morning I went and bought everyone a present and I opened mine and said, "Thank you". Christmas for its present about my dream. Then they gave everybody a present.

When I grew up I told my kids about it and they said thank you for every present they got. And really loved Jesus.

The Player of the 90's

He started at Akron in the seventh grade. Then he went to play in the eighth grade. He was really good. He was so good in his first year of high school that the Miami Hurricanes wanted him to play football for them. But he said no, because he didn't like Miami and didn't want to go. He wanted to go to Oklahoma or to a school in Indiana. He really liked a school in Indiana. He played for Valley. They were good because of him. He was a running back. He could break tackles like Walter Payton.

When he was in the third year of high school, they won the state again. He played for Oklahoma Sooners. They became number one. He went to play in the pros for his team he liked the best; the Chicago Bears. His name was Kevin Owens.

Fly With Snoopy

I am eating lunch at school. I opened my Snoopy lunch box and who should pop out? SNOOPY! He whisked me away. We flew over the school. I waved good-bye to my friends.

We had been flying for an hour. The plane exploded and we landed in a lake. The Oobalaga people came after us. We ran. Then we climbed a tree. The Oobalaga people did, too. Then they got us and tied us to a pole and we screamed. Then we got away. We made a airplane.

Then we went home.

A boy who had no friends

There once was a boy named Tommy. He didn't like school because the kids called him names. Then one day Tommy stayed at home.

That afternoon he went outside and got a rag and put it on a limb. He made a snowball. When he was throwing a snowball the kids that called him names asked him if they could play. He said yes you can play. If you don't call me names. They said that they would stop. And they were all friend.

Our Walk

August is my favorite month of the year. We take walks to the acorn tree. We pick nuts and put them in our pockets to take home.

The Go Cart Race

I drive a gocart. It is hard to drive one. If I flip it hurts. If I spin it hurts too, but I turn up winning some times. The Indiana track is smooth, but I like going to the Marine track and at the Tennessee track. The gocart race is fun. You have to dot it smooth.

Merry Christmas

One morning I woke up and the Christmas tree had a lot of presents under it. I stayed up and watched the gifts. The Christmas tree started to move, so I carefully got up, and I rushed back to my brothers room, and woke him up and I told him the story, he came out to the living room, and looked around and could not find anything. Then we went back to my bigger brother and he came out to the living room. He looked all around, he couldn't find one thing. Then I looked and it was Sherman. Sherman is my cat. He was pecking at his gift. We all woke up so he could open his gift.

Everyone opened their gifts and we all had a merry Christmas.

The Best Dog Ever

Best dog I ever had was Chipendale. He's a collie. I got him for my birthday from my Aunt Jeanann and Uncle George. He's 8 years old now. I like him alot. He's the only dog I've ever had. One day he ran away and we had to go get him. When we found him he was at my mom's friends house. When we pulled in the driveway I said "Come on boy," to him and he came to the car and jumped in the front seat of our new yellow Trans Am. "In the back seat Chipendale I don't want you to jump through the windshield I said". He got in the back seat and we went home. When we got home Mom told him he was a naughty dog and chained him up by his dog house. That night mom called the vet and asked when Chipendale could come in for his check up. The vet said tomorrow morning would be fine. The next morning we took Chipendale to the vet and the vet said "I gave him a heart worm shot he'll be ok in the morning." When we got home Mom chained him up and went inside. That night I fed Chipendale. When I went inside I said to Mom, "Chipendale is acting very funny. Mom said "He's had a long day and exciting day. After breakfast the next day I went to let him loose for his daily walk. When I got to where he was. He was dead. He died because of complications. That day we had Grandpa bury him underneath the branches of the old oak tree. I put flowers on his grave and so did mom. On my next birthday I got a new little puppy from my grandpa and grandma Hartzler. I named him Chipendale the second.

Skiing with Rudolph

Once upon a time there was a deer. It was a weird deer. It had a red nose. It even talked. One day I went up to it and it said Hi. I thought I was dreaming. I wasn't dreaming. He followed me home, he was hungry. I gave him some milk. Then I was going out to the hog house and he followed me. I fell down and he helped me up with his antlers. I ask dad if I could go skiing. He said I could. I went up to the house and got my skis. I told him that dad said I could go skiing in the yard. I went out to the big hill and put on my skis he followed me again. He came down the hill with me. He followed me up the hill. He looked happy so I said do you want to try to ski? he said yes so he put them on and he went down the hill. He could ski very well, he looked very happy so I named him Rudolph.

I asked mom if I could take a friend to the zoo with me she said alright. My Mom said who do you want to take? How about Tiff. That is fine so we went to the zoo on Saturday. We seen a lion and a bear and he didn't like us to well and we saw a tiger that really got Tiff scared. Then the day went by and it got even better. Then we went on a fun ride and it was called the Eskimo Risk. Now it is five o'clock and mom said it is time to take Tiff home and so we did. We had a good time at the zoo. We stayed at Tiff's house for an hour. Then we went home.

The Rabbit in the Stocking

It was Christmas morning one day and there was a boy, he was a rich boy. And he always got his own way because he was a only child in the family.

The boy went down to the living room. He saw that he had a rabbit with a spring of holly in his paws. The boy loved the rabbit for about an hour. Then when some other people came he forgot about the rabbit. The other toys were more important than the rabbit. Then after a couple of days the rabbit was being slept with again. Then the rabbit got wore out. So the rabbit got thrown away. The boy was sad but he lived happily ever after.

The Rainbow

A long time ago, there lived a king and queen. The king and queen lived in a palace, there was a beautiful garden with flowers. In the back of the palace, there was a beautiful lake which glittered in the sunlight. The Knights kept their horses there. The king and queen had a princess named Sara and a prince named Carl. One day it started to rain. It was pretty in the sunlight but all of a sudden, a beautiful sight. It was a rainbow! The king sent his Knights to find a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. So the Knights got on their horses and went off.

The Knights went to the rainbow as fast as they could. When they got there, there was a pot of gold on each end of the rainbow! The ends of the rainbow were in the pots of gold, and on the top, were unicorns dancing merrily. The Knights asked the unicorns if they would come and stay with them. The unicorns said yes. So they all went back to the palace chatting.

At the palace, everybody was waiting. The king didn't expect them to bring that much, so he gave them each a crown and some money.

Sara and Carl played with the unicorns, and they all lived happily ever after.

School Nurse Day

Pat Hoover, T.V.S.C. Nurse

January 25, 1989 has been designated as National School Nurse Day. The day is proclaimed for recognition of school nurses. The purpose is to recognize the many contributions made by school nurses and to develop a better understanding of the role of school nursing in the educational setting.

The earliest record of nurses employed in Indiana was in 1916 in Indianapolis. In 1924, a total of 14 nurses were employed by boards of education in the state. Today, there are over 650 school nurses employed by school corporations.

Local school personnel, students, parents and community members are encouraged to plan for this important day by including activities which will raise community awareness about school health services.

Proclamations, signs, certificates, pencils, posters, stickers, newspaper articles, radio and television announcements, open house, recognition lunches, and special programs and honors are some of the ways school nurses can be recognized.

Pat Hoover, the T.V.S.C. Nurse is a graduate of Kewanna High School, Methodist Hospital School of Nursing, Indianapolis and College of St. Francis, Joliet, Ill. She is married to George Hoover, who is a banker. She has two children, Jeff Hoover, a doctoral student in music at Texas Tech and Jennifer Carey, a high school English teacher at Triton High School.

Her interests are Music, Reading, Travel and Needlework of all kinds.

A MOUSE IN THE HOUSE

Ducks fly south for the winter, people move south for the winter, and I wish mice would follow suit!

Each spring, we forget the winter before and the "visitors" we had. But soon, as this fall, we begin hearing little footsteps at night. These footsteps don't belong to the boys, either! Instantly the next morning, Doug brings out the mousetraps from the year before and proudly and confidently places them in the most convenient mouse places. We wait and usually trap the mouse. But this year, Doug met his match!

After placing the traps loaded with cheese in the runways of the mouse and finding them untouched, Doug decided to change the cheese. "This mouse has taste," he commented. He, this time, placed a more expensive cheese on the trap. "It's just a matter of time," he said.

The mouse was still taking up residence at home, and eating quite well besides, but not from the trap. Doug, not to be defeated, quickly placed peanut butter on the trap and sat back to wait. NOTHING!

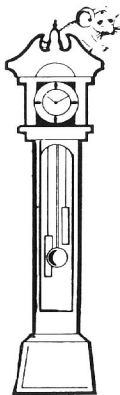

Bacon was the next experiment. Someone told us mice loved it. Well, leave it to us to get a mouse that was obviously a vegetarian, he left the bacon alone!

With a gleam in Doug's eye and a noticeable bulging of the neck veins, he drove into town to purchase new traps convinced ours were sprung. Doug remembered a neighbor boy who caught a mouse with a gloved hand and threw him outside. What a feat! I secretly thought Doug might have more success bare-handed than with the traps, but decided to remain quiet.

Over the next week, we placed flour over the trap in hopes the mouse would lose his footing and, if nothing else, fall down trying to get away from the trap; and placed two traps back to back so when he nibbled at one trap and would spring it, he would turn to run away running right into the trap behind him! Of course...we were unsuccessful, the mouse was probably laughing and the kids were ready to disown us.

Not to be defeated, Doug baited the old traps one more time and we went to bed wondering if we might have another pet. I tried to make the best of a bad situation by telling Doug we should feel privileged to have a mouse choose our home as its winter resort. Why shouldn't they? Good dog food (what the mouse ate most of the time), warmth, a dog that wouldn't know a mouse if she saw it, and Doug as a private chef. Doug's expression told me he didn't agree and the kids laughed outright!

That was the last night for the mouse. Doug proudly announced the next morning the capture of a nice, fat mouse in his trap. We decided there had been a method to Doug's persistence. He fed the mouse until it had gotten so fat it was too slow to get away from the trap. As Doug kept saying, "It's only a matter of time."

IT HAPPENED IN AKRON
TAKEN FROM THE AKRON NEWS
JANUARY 22, 1959
30 YEARS AGO

Snow, Sleet and rain have combined to make the weather top news in Akron this week. Residents of the Beaver Dam lake area and Mentone have had no electricity since 6:00 p.m. Wednesday. This morning's temperature of zero offers no hope that the ice-encrusted trees, roads, utility wires and TV antennas will be free today. Nearly 65 truck-loads of snow was removed from the downtown area Wednesday to enable shoppers to park cars on main street and get into the stores.

The R & C Oliver Sales, housed in the building which was formerly known as the Heinz Pickle Factory at Athens, was destroyed by fire last Friday morning. Dick Reinhold, co-owner with Charles Crippens of Rochester estimated the loss at nearly $100,000. The machinery was 100% covered by insurance and the building had a $5,000 policy on it. The Henry township fire department was called to the scene by Mrs. Betty Swick, who first noticed the blaze. At least eight tractors, four of them new, and many other pieces of farm equipment were lost, but 10 new plows stored outside the building were not damaged.

Nyle Merley and Jay Emahiser narrowly escaped death this morning when the Merley car was struck by the west-bound Erie train at the cemetery crossing. The train was several hours late. Nyle had practically cleared the crossing when it struck the rear end of his car and spun it around in the road. They were uninjured, but the car will require a new fender and trunk. The train stopped, but could not find the men, who had already driven to Akron.

Rep. Ralph Rader, has introduced a bill in the Indiana House of Representatives which would extend the filing of gross income taxes to Feb. 15 to persons who do not have the tax withheld from their taxes.

Mrs. Jesse Henderson has returned home and is recuperating satisfactorily following surgery at Woodlawn hospital last week.

Charles Lamoree, editor of the Silver Lake Record, is having a hard time convincing readers of the following story: "While knocking out a cement block wall at the Silver Lake U. B. church Wednesday, two bats were found sealed in holes in the cement blocks. They were very much alive. They were very much alive. There is no way they could have gotten into the wall, so far as is known, except when it was built. The wall was put in 26 years ago when the present church was built from the original church that stood there."

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Stout and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Stout's parents, south of Wabash.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reese and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker were supper guests of their cousin, Mary Beik, Monday. They were enroute to their home in Chicago after attending the funeral of Mrs. Lehman in Wabash.

They are also a few local men included in the list of stockholders. C.O. Mollenhour, who has leased the building to the new firm, is moving his operations to the building to the north, where he has nearly completed a new office unit. Plant machinery is being moved now.

SKIN CARE ALERT

Many women agree, you can't be beautiful unless you have a clean complexion. Interestingly, soap is still the most often used method to wash the face. Yet dermatologists agree that soap may strip the skin of its natural moisture, and can't remove stubborn makeup.

Good News! One company recently introduced a new product made to clean skin better than soap. Researchers at Chesebrough-Pond's created Pond's Cold Cream Water Rinsable Cleanser for normal and sensitive skin in response to requests for a product with the benefits of cold cream that rinses away clean and leaves the skin soft and smooth.

Check up on your Social Security

Ever wonder what kind of check you'll be getting from Social Security when you retire? Now there's an easy way to find out. Introduced last summer, the Earnings and Benefit Estimator will spell out how much you'll get, in today's dollars, based on your contributions to date and your expected contributions until your retirement.

More importantly, says Paula Garcia, local owner of H&R Block, Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement shows you how much has been attributed to your Social Security account each year. "If there are any errors in your records, now is the time to correct them," says Paula. "Ordinarily, the Social Security Administration doesn't correct errors that are more than three years old. This program, however, gives taxpayers an opportunity to go back to the time they began working and make corrections, if errors occurred."

Block is encouraging taxpayers to fill out Form SSA-7004, the Request for Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement, since tax time is, traditionally, a good time to review one's financial situation. "Learning how much has been credited to your Social Security account may influence how much you want to save, contribute to a retirement program, or invest during the next 12 months," says Paula. "Since these options can impact on your tax situation, tax time is a good time to review them with your professional tax preparer."

March 1 is National Beef Cook off

Backyard grill enthusiasts and creative microwave cooks still have an opportunity to enter this year's National Beef Cook-Off, for a change at thousands of dollars in prizes but time is running out.

The deadline for entering the contest is March 1, 1989.

Top prize in the national event is $15,000 cash, with a total of $32,000 in prize money to be awarded. Contestants from all 50 states will compete in the Cook-off, which will be held Sept. 17-19 in Portland Ore.

To be one of the contestants in Portland, entrants must first win their state contest in the Conventional category, or one of seven regional contests in the Microwave or Outdoor Barbecue categories.

Winners of each of these categories on the national level will win $5,000, and a chance for an additional $10,000 as "Best of Beef." Second and third prizes of $3,000 and $2,000 in the conventional category, along with $1,000 prizes for the "Most Convenient" and "Under 300 Calories/Serving" recipes, will also be presented.

That's not all. First prize national winners also will be awarded appliances from Tappan and premium charcoal from Kingsford, official sponsors of the 1989 National Beef Cook-off.

Have more than one great recipe? No problem: You may enter as many recipes as you wish. Just send a typed copy of the recipe(s) to:

National Beef Cook-Off Entries, 444 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Remember: Entries must be postmarked by March 1, 1989.

The National Beef Cook-Off is sponsored by the American national Cattle Women in cooperation with the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board.

DON'T ACT ON IMPULSE;
LET FAITH HELP YOU DECIDE

We do many things on impulse, in haste and often in anger, and we may live to regret those actions after we've had time to cool off and think it over. We may quit a job because of one unfortunate incident. We might terminate a friendship because of some real or imaginary hurt. We occasionally contemplate a divorce. In any case, if some situation should bring you to a major moment of decision, give it a lot of thought. Would you really be better off as a result of this action, or would you be sorry perhaps for the rest of your life? If you need help in deciding this, go to your House of Worship and tell your clergyman about it. That is one of the most vital functions of your faith: to point you in the right direction and to help you straighten out your life, once and for all.

4-H News

When most people hear the word "4-H" or see the four leaf clover emblem, they immediately identify with the traditional image of the farm kids raising animals to show at the county or state fair. This picture is accurate for some of our 4-H club members, but certainly not all of them. 4-H includes a wide variety of projects and activities for young people who live in town as well as those on the farm.

4-H in Kosciusko County is designed to meet the interest of any young person enrolled through the 63 projects that are offered to 4-hers and the 7 projects offered to mini 4-Hers. 4-H club members can participate in cat care, clothing, computers, crops, dog obedience, electric, entomology, foods, forestry, gift wrapping, livestock production, personality, photography, plant science, tractor, wildlife, woodworking and much more. 4-H members learn to buy and prepare meats, grow and preserve their own produce and express their creative talents in arts and crafts, demonstration and public speaking contests or in the performing arts through the 4-H Share the Fun Contest. Mini 4-Hers can participate in animal friends, collections, foods, fun things, models, nature and plants as well as mini 4-H Day Camp during the summer.

A good way for an individual to receive an introduction to 4-H is attendance to the Kosciusko County 4-H Kickoff on Monday, January 30 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Warsaw Middle School. The 4-H Kickoff will include organized recreation, educational sessions for youth, leaders and parents, a project display and refreshments. All young people from 7-19 years old, 4-H leaders and parents are invited to attend.

Our 4-H program is open to all youth from 7-19 years of age. Although 4-H is viewed as traditionally being for farm kids because of its agricultural roots, 4-H has and will continue to make strides to diversify to offer new opportunities and challenges for our youth. For more information about 4-H in Kosciusko County, please contact the Purdue University Cooperative Extension Service by calling 267-4444 ext. 340 or visiting us in the basement of the county courthouse in Warsaw.

LTL MEETING

The L.T.L. will meet this Friday night, January 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Akron Library basement. All members are urged to attend, and new members and guest are always welcome.

Hiking the gas tax

Hoosiers have much at stake in the ongoing debate to increase the federal gas tax anywhere from 15 to 50 cents for deficit reduction.

For Example:
* A 50-cent increase in the federal gas tax for deficit reduction would cost Indiana drivers nearly $1 1/4 billion annually or $654 for the average two-car family.

* The state's poor would pay a much greater percentage of their income for the increased taxes. Families with annual incomes of $10,000 to $20,000 pay more than twice the percentage of income in gas taxes as families earning over $50,000.

* Indiana's rural drivers, with greater distances to travel and no alternative public transportation, buy more gas and would therefore pay a greater share of the increases tax burden than city residents.

* Higher gas taxes would hurt Indiana's highway system by reducing overall consumption and state tax collections which maintain our local roads and streets and highways. Based upon a DOE study, even a 10-cent per gallon increase would reduce Indiana's gas tax collections by $13.3 million a year.

* The American Automobile Association calculated that a 30-cent gas tax increase would reduce automobile production by more than 4 percent, cut housing construction by 2.4 percent, cut personal savings by 8 percent and raise the Consumer Price Index by nearly 1 percent.

* Because of the state's large industrial base and dependence on automotive production and sales, Hoosiers would experience even greater losses in jobs and income -- much as they did in the 1970's when gas prices rose sharply.

State Police fatality report

Indiana State Police officials at the Peru Post have released traffic fatality count figures for the Peru District. Forty-three persons died in traffic accidents in the six county district in 1988, which includes Cass, Fulton, Howard, Miami, Tipton, and Wabash Counties. State Police figures indicate that the forty-three deaths were the result of thirty-seven fatal accidents. Thirty-one deaths occurred in rural locations, while twelve death occurred in urban areas.

In 1987, forty persons died in Peru District fatal accidents, as a result of thirty-six different accidents. Thirty-two persons were killed in rural locations, and eight persons died in urban areas in 1987.

Although the statistics appear grim, there is one bright spot not normally expected in the Peru district area. Tipton County recorded no fatal accidents during 1988. Sgt. Marshall D. Talbert, public affairs officer at the post stated that this was the first time in at least twenty-eight years that a county within the Peru District area has experienced no fatal traffic accidents. "We have records at the post dating back through 1960, and when we researched those figures we found that in the past twenty-eight years we have had at least one fatal traffic accident within each county," said Talbert.

Lt. James R. Goerges, Peru District Commander, cited several reasons that may have contributed to the traffic safety picture in Tipton County. "Operation C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) and the Mustang enforcement project were both conducted along US 31 in Tipton County, with US 31 being the major highway through the county" "the seat belt law and the push against driving while intoxicated no doubt helped," added Goerges, "but we have to give a pat on the back to the motoring public who obviously responded." "Although some people may argue that the lack of busy intersections and traffic lights along US 31 in Tipton County helped out, you have to think of the number of vehicles that use US 31 everyday commuting into Kokomo, or traveling south to Indianapolis. It is something that you would not normally expect in a years time."

Of the thirty-seven separate fatal accidents, twelve involved a driver who was legally intoxicated at the time of the accident. "Although a driver who was legally intoxicated at the time of the accident," "Although this is below the national average of nearly 50%, the 32% figure we show within the Peru District area should send a clear warning to those who drink and drive," said Talbert. "Almost one third of our fatal accidents involved alcohol, in spite of our strong efforts to combat the problem. I hope those who read these figures will take note of them. It doesn't take a genius to see the relationship of alcohol with fatal traffic accidents," added Talbert.

Three motorcyclist were killed in 1988, along with one accident that involved an all terrain vehicle (ATV). Two pedestrians died, both in rural locations, and there were no car-bicycle fatalities during the year.

Statewide over 1,076 motorists died on Indiana highways during 1988. Final figures have not been tabulated, as persons who suffered injuries in crashes occurring in 1988, and who expire within the first 30 days of 1989 will be included in the 1988 fatality count. This figure is already above the 1,056 deaths recorded statewide in 1987, and the slight increase is something State Police hope to reverse during 1989.

Federally funded projects such as C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) and DUEP (Driving Under the Influence Enforcement Project), will continue during 1989, according to First Sergeant Fred L. Fobes, who coordinates the special projects at the Peru District. The federally funded programs pay State Troopers to work on their off duty time, and to concentrate enforcement efforts on a particular highway or against a particular violation. "Although our enforcement efforts may focus on a particular violation, and that focus may change from time to time, a reduction in fatal accidents is always a number one priority with our agency", stressed Fobes.
