On July 13th, at 10:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. in the Akron School Gymnasium, Boy Scout Troop 245 and the Akron Recycling Center will present a recycling seminar. Anyone who would like to learn more about recycling, whether he recycles or not, is invited and encouraged to attend. Dane Starbuck, recycling expert from Washington, D.C., and consultant to Senator Dan Coats, will be the featured speaker. He will talk about current environmental problems caused by poor waste management and how recycling can help solve these problems. A session on how to recycle, with audience participation, will also be conducted. The benefits of composting and how to make a compost pile will also be discussed. Hear how easy recycling is and how much money it saves from those who already recycle.

This seminar is very informative and full of surprises. Plan to attend and bring your friends and family. Please note that both seminars are the same but at two different times for your convenience.

David Hudson

by Leafy Hudson

David Hudson, who grew up in Mentone, has served his country in the U.S. Army since high school graduation. He and his family are currently visiting here on a two-week leave.

As a youngster, David, who was just one year old when his family moved to their present N. Tucker Street home from the south edge of Mentone, played in a Warsaw soccer league. At Tippecanoe Valley High School, David was a member of the Swim, Wrestling and Chess Teams. "Scottie Teel was the only one who could beat me at chess," he remembers. David was Percussion Section Leader in Marching and Concert Band and a member of Pep Band, Jazz Band, Swing Choir and Drama Club. A highlight of high school for him was playing the part of Frank Butler, in Annie, Get Your Gun. Active in Methodist Youth, David led the Methodist Church Choir his senior year.

Having enlisted in the U.S. Army in June, 1983, David reported for active duty following high school graduation in June, 1984. After Basic Training at Fort Benning, Georgia, he took Initial Entry Training, Advanced Individual Training and the Basic Airborne Course.

David and the former Lynn Brickel, of Warsaw, were married and "honeymooned" on the way through the Rockies to his next base, Fort Lewis, Washington, where he was assigned to the 2/75 Ranger Battalion.

In March, 1985, David was transferred to Fort Kobbe, Panama, where he was assigned to Unit 2D Bn(Abn) 187 Infantry (later Unit 1-508 Parachute Infantry Regiment). Lynn and their new son, David, Jr., joined them there as soon as possible.

In Panama, David attended Jungle Operations Trainers Course (4 times), Primary Leadership Development Course, for which he was on the Commandant's List, and Basic Noncommissioned Officer's Course, where he was an Honor Graduate. As a member of a Reconnaissance Platoon, David participated in three weeks temporary duty at Fort Blanding, Florida, training British Paratroopers in U.S. Weapons and Tactics.

David and Lynn both had many interesting experiences in Panama. Soon after going there, David participated in two joint training exercises, between U.S. and Panamanian Paratroopers. In a concluding ceremony, "an ugly Panamanian Officer" pinned his Panamanian Parachutist Badge on him, shook his hand and gave David a certificate with his signature. Although the name meant nothing to David at the time, the officer was General Manuel Noriega!

David spent a total of 120 days, on four different occasions, in jungle training in the Honduran jungle. He laughs when he remembers the hassle of buying a beautiful mahogany rocker in Honduras for Lynn. He bargained and got the price down from $80 to $20, then had to pay the loadmaster $50 to "smuggle" it back to Panama. "But," he says, "Lynn loves that rocker."

One night, while sleeping in the Honduran jungle, David was bitten by a vampire bat. As they inject an anti-coagulant into the bloodstream of their victims, David awoke covered with blood. Although he suffered no lasting harmful effects from the bite, David had to have a series of painful rabies shots.

When Lynn first arrived in Panama, they lived in a civilian apartment downtown. Although it was guarded, Lynn, alone a lot, never felt safe. She remembers when an important funeral was held for someone whom Noriega had had assassinated. "There were lots of people in the streets—I was surrounded by them when I went out," she says.

David and Lynn were finally settled in base housing on Fort Kobbe, less than a mile from the Panama Canal and they became familiar with the routine tourists' sights, as well as lesser known ones. One especially enticing attraction was the Jungle Zoo at Fort Sherman, where jungle animals and birds are on display as training aids. Farmer's Market at El Valle, in the interior, was another favorite. Near it live unusual golden frogs and it is reputedly the only place in the world where square trees grow.

David and Lynn's daughter, Jessica Lynn, was born in Panama, giving her dual U.S. and Panamanian citizenship. Both David's and Lynn's parents were able to visit them in Panama, see the sights and meet their new granddaughter.

After his first enlistment, David and Lynn tried civilian life in Warsaw briefly, then decided to honor their original intention of staying in the military. David reenlisted and was assigned to the 2D Bn 504th Parachute Infantry Regiment, 1st Brigade, 82nd Airborne at Fort Bragg, Fayetteville, NC, where he attended the Jungle Warfare Training Course and the Jumpmaster Course.

On the morning of December 20, 1989, David parachuted into Omar Torrejos International Airport and participated in Operation Just Cause, which resulted in General Noriega's removal from power. Most of David's activity during that time was guarding the Cuban Embassy where Mrs. Noriega was hiding.

On Christmas Eve, also David's birthday, his family had not heard from him yet. That day, Lynn received a phone call from a Panamanian businessman, who said, "I'm looking through my picture window at your husband standing on my front lawn." David was part of a 20 man patrol. The men were not allowed to state their names, but the caller read their name tags, asked for their home numbers, and called each soldier's family. When Lynn thanked him sincerely, he said, "We just want to thank you for letting them come down here. We're so glad they're here."

Faithful to the tradition of the 82nd Airborne, when Just Cause was over, David and the other troops jumped back into Fort Bragg.

After Just Cause, David was selected, 1 of 24, from a possible 25,000, as an instructor of 82nd Airborne Division Advanced Airborne School.

When Operation Desert Storm "kicked off" in January, David was temporarily reassigned to the 2/504th and deployed to Saudi Arabia, where, because of his late arrival, he was assigned as NCO in charge of his unit's Rear detachment, near the Iraqi border.

Upon redeployment to Fort Bragg, April 2, he was reassigned as instructor, where he now refreshes 82nd Airborne members in parachuting techniques and training.

Lynn, a Warsaw High School graduate, where she was active in Theater, French Club, Speech Club, also traveled with the Winona Lake Grace Brethren Church's Barnabas Team and had a semester at Grace College. She says of the military, "It's his job. I enjoy traveling and supporting him. It's an educational experience for the kids. I consider it our career."

When David's present enlistment is up in December, 1992, they expect to re-enlist. They have both become avidly interested in genealogy, having already traced one family line back nine generations, and hope to be sent to Europe in their next enlistment, where they could do more in-depth genealogy.

They have become active in the Christian Missionary Alliance Church in Fayetteville.

They both say Mentone looks nicer than ever, very clean and with lots of flowers. They want to express their appreciation to those who wrote to them, prayed for them and who called Lynn during David's absence. That goes especially for Darrell and Mary Ann King, who kept in close touch with Lynn. David says, "Darrell is the only person I know who can walk from home to the Post Office (1 block) and have a card (to me) filled with signatures by the time he gets there."

Akron Business of The Week

Long time local business The Rock Lake Rollerblade is getting remodeled by new owner, Steve Ault. (Photo by Tonia Weller).

Rock Lake Rollerblade Under New Ownership

by Tonia Weller

The Rock Lake Rollerblade is undergoing extensive remodeling according to new owner, Steven Ault. The rink, located east of Akron on the south edge of Rock Lake, is being refurbished with new siding, ceiling tile, wall covering, paint and new countertops. A new sound system, new restrooms and steps and ramps for the handicapped are also being installed. The traditional hardwood floor will be sanded and refinished later this month.

Ault, who assumed ownership of the business on June 1, plans to celebrate his grand opening with a free skate night on Friday, July 5th starting at 7 p.m. The following Friday evening July 12, the Rollerblade will hold a dance featuring a live band.

The Rock Lake Rollerblade, which opened in 1948, has served as the home of the Rock Lake Rockettes competitive skating club since 1958. The club, which has between 35 and 40 members, practices at the Rollerblade on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and will compete in the roller skating Nationals the third week in July. The club competed in the skate meet held in Bristol in June. The Rockettes will also be skating in the Akron Fourth of July parade.

The Rollerblade has open skating on Saturday nights from 7 to 10 p.m. The public is also welcome at the Tuesday session from 7 to 9 p.m. when the skating club practices. Steve plans to add Friday and Monday evening and Saturday afternoon skating to the schedule at a later date. On some Saturday nights, hours are being extended for dancing after the skating sessions.

The rink can be rented for skating parties by school or church groups or individuals at anytime. Ault is viewing the structure as a community building and will also rent it out for other activities besides skating. "But we don't allow drugs or alcohol," he says.

The business has a refreshment counter which offers pop, chips and other snacks for sale. Ault has plans to add a barbecue deck to the outside of the building, later this summer. And possibly, he will also be holding bingo games and square dances.

Steve, who works days at Creighton Brothers, has lived in the Akron area for 37 years. He used to help out former owner, Jerry Peterson, at the rink before buying the business. He has three sons, one of whom, Joe, skates competitively. Steve says, "I've skated all my life. Skating is a good thing. It teaches skill, coordination and sportsmanship. When you belong to a skating club, you get to travel all over to meets. You meet a lot of people and it's a lot of fun."

Interested skaters are welcome to join the Rockettes at any age. Steve says the youngest skater is two years old.

Since assuming ownership, Steve has been working with the Probation Office from Wabash to provide work for people needing to perform public service time for minor violations.

He says a great deal of work has been put into improving the Rock Lake Rollerblade and he still has quite a bit more to do. "John Sherman, Jack Peterson and Randy Burkholder have really helped me out a lot," Steve adds.

The rink also offers private lessons for those who want to perfect their skating skills. Lessons, private parties or building rental can be arranged by calling 893-4362.

If you have never skated or if it has been several years and you are looking for something different to do, that also provides good exercise maybe you should give skating a try.

4-H A Family Affair

By Karen S. Lowry

I had the opportunity in June to attend my first cousin's wedding. This cousin and his sister were very close to my younger brother and myself as we were growing up. We lived only one mile apart as the crow flies; therefore, we shared many experiences as we grew up together. One of those experiences was 4-H.

4-H was a fun part of our summer, as was vacation bible school, bike rides, softball and much more. As I think back to the ten years that I spent as a 4-H member, I recall my mom and dad taking us to 4-H meetings and the county fair and helping us prepare meeting refreshments, prepare our demonstrations and prepare our project exhibits for the county fair. Yes, my most prevalent memories of 4-H are those times that my family spent together involved in 4-H activities.

4-H does provide many opportunities and benefits for 4-H members. Quite possible, the greatest opportunity that 4-H provides is the opportunity to work and grow together as a family. 4-H is a family affair! Parents and children are actively involved together in selecting 4-H projects, attending 4-H meetings, preparing demonstrations and committee reports and preparing the 4-H project exhibit for the county fair.

I appreciate the opportunity that I had to grow individually and that I had to grow with my family through 4-H. I'm glad that 4-H is still providing this wonderful opportunity for family's to grow together. I hope that through the support of parents, volunteer 4-H leaders and adult role models that our youth will be prepared for what lies ahead of them. We should help our youth to follow these wise words, "Feel pride in how far you have come and confidence in where you are going." I'm glad that 4-H does instill pride and confidence in our youth.

Scenes Around Town

by Leafy Hudson

July 4; firecrackers, parades, waving flags, picnics—what a wonderful day of celebration. But, just what is it we are celebrating? The birth of freedom in our land. It didn't come easy. A whole generation gave their lives and personal fortunes to secure freedom in this land for you and me.

Unfortunately, the sacrifices didn't stop with one generation. Each generation has had to give its all at one time or another, to protect the freedoms won by our founding fathers.

When World War I came, early in this century, it was to be "the war to end all wars." But, that didn't work. Twenty years later the world saw war again, bigger and deadlier. World War II. And, as always happens, young men eagerly joined the fray, willing to give their lives to protect homeland and loved ones, so little sisters could grow up and raise families in freedom.

American men and women have answered the call again and again, for Korea, Vietnam, Grenada, Panama, the Persian Gulf.

Today's headlines sometimes make me think of my brother who graduated high school in May, 1941, joined the Navy without a backward glance, December 9, 1941, two days after Pearl Harbor, and died off the coast of Iwo Jima in February 1945.

Prayer banned in schools under the pretext of separation of church and State; abortion of helpless unborn babies declared legal by the United States Supreme Court; millions—billions of dollars worth of drugs shipped into our country constantly, siphoning off our wealth that's needed for schools, roads, business and industry growth to provide jobs for people in their rightful pursuit of happiness; million—billions spent on lotteries by the hopeless in their vain hope of being that one winner in 1,000,000 (or whatever the statistic is), the real benefactors being those in control; good taste and the traditional caring attitudes of the American people being eroded by loose morals and ugly language bombarding us constantly on TV. One in four new babies in the United States born to unwed mothers—what has happened to the American family? One in two marriages ending in divorce—what has happened to the American home?

When I read these things, I wonder, if he had it to do over again, would my brother—or any of the valiant American sons who willingly gave their lives to preserve what was the American way of life—be so willing again? Would they still find it was worth it?

How wonderful if this year we could celebrate a new resolve to turn our country around and live once more by high ideals and integrity.

In the background, left is Raymond Lewis' original garage building and right is the now empty Seaman building. Does anyone know the fate of the Honor Roll?

Views On Dental Health H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C.

GETTING RID OF YELLOW STAINS

If you have a youngster with yellow stains on his teeth, this condition may have been caused by a tetracycline antibiotic or other medication prescribed for an illness. The tetracycline family of drugs is known to sometimes cause staining in children's teeth. The resulting stain may be yellow, yellowish-gray, or gray-brown. Even though the stain is permanent, it doesn't have to stay on the teeth. Your dentist has a good "cover up" technique that can restore the affected teeth to their natural color.

One of his options is to use a porcelain material or opaque veneer that can be applied to the surface of the teeth to hide the stain. The color of the veneer will be selected to match the natural color of the child's teeth.

There may be other options that your dentist will suggest. The important thing to keep in mind is that unsightly stains do not have to stay on anyone's teeth, whether child or adult.

JUNE 26, 1941
50 YEARS AGO

Artley D. Cullum-Ed. & Mgr. Editorial

The following article contains so much of value that it is being printed in full: The late Senator Lafayette Young of Iowa, left the following message to be read to his grandchildren as they reached their twenty-first birthdays. It embodies a philosophy well worth considering:

IF I WERE TWENTY-ONE

Every grown man thinks that if he had another chance and his age were twenty-one he would set the world afire in the way of achievement. He thinks he would omit every mistake which he feels he has made and make everything count. It is perfectly right for every man to feel this way but it is perfectly right for him to know that if he were starting over again he would duplicate his former mistakes and make more colossal errors. A man who has succeeded reasonably well might succeed better. Those who have failed would undoubtedly fail again.

If I were twenty-one I would devote more time to sport and when I worked I would work harder than I have ever been able to work.

I would not search the world over for a location.

I would not aspire to sudden wealth nor would I make my standards all on a financial basis.

At the age of twenty-one a man never expects to die. He attends funerals as a looker on without deep concern. He feels sorry for the person in the coffin but the thought never enters his head that sometime or other, people will be standing around his grave. If I were twenty-one I would start with the firm belief that it is to be an eternal life after death.

I would carry this belief with me in all my ambitions and undertakings.

I would understand that though a great American has said that opportunity knocks but once that opportunity is knocking all the time in all lives where there is any brain power co-operating in any way with physical strength.

If I were twenty-one I would form friendships of the right kind intending that I would be useful to my friends and that I would expect them to be useful to me. Thus I would have a co-operative organization for our mutual welfare.

I should not ask my friends to endorse my note and seldom would I ask any one of them to loan me money. Fortunes that endure are the fortunes which start with one's own strength and will to achieve.

I would try to make my fortune grow and I would enjoy a considerable part of it as I went along.

I would realize that speculations seldom make permanent fortunes.

I have often read of young men and young women inheriting fortunes from their kindred. I never have heard of such fortunes doing permanent service to those who came into possession of them. I would not sit down to live off of a fortune.

I would not be ambitious to build a home half as big as a township. I would not do this if I had the money. I would not put this in my plan. A well-known society has frequently been singing during the last few years about aspiring to a cottage by the road to be a friend of man. Poets would not say this was good poetry but I believe the doctrines are good.

I would learn as early as I could that whatever came to me must come in joy and sorrow as a part of my life.

I would learn that joys cannot be compelled to appear and sorrows cannot be forever avoided.

I would try to have the common sense to enjoy my joys and the fortitude to endure my sorrows.

I would not be moving every month of the year.

I would not be in a hurry to leave the place where I was born. It is the thought of the young Americans that he must break away and go into new fields. Many have adopted this plan. I would not object to staying at home.

I would not object to my habitation having a name.

I would think it were a delight to remember the old trees and grass.

I would fight the good fight.

I would aspire to having a wife and children, thus I would have a home.

If I were able to do so I would want to travel to see the interesting parts of the world.

I would never repudiate a debt.

I would never lie to anybody.

I'd know something about the sky. I would know all that science could tell about the beginning of everything.

I would read good books.

I would rejoice if my children could make music on instruments or with their voices.

I would realize from the opportunities afforded by Americans that there was no place on earth like our own land.

I would attend all patriotic celebrations.

I would not object to belonging to social clubs but I would remember that my home was the place for my hopes and fears.

I would pray night and morning and cultivate every living thing which could bear leaves and flowers and when the end came, thus surrounded and following these hopes and aspirations with the sunlight painting its picture through the trees and over the gables, I would bless God and die.

IT HAPPENED IN MENTONE
TAKEN FROM THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP NEWS
JULY 2, 1941
50 YEARS AGO

Fisherman Throw Back Ten-Pound Fish-Around here where a nibble by an eight-inch bluegill is a thrill, throwing ten-pound Northern Pike back into the lake sounds as if someone is about due for a trip to the squirrel orchard, but that's what Charles Manwaring reported upon his return from a two weeks fishing trip into the Canadian Lake region in Ontario.

Charles, and Chester Manwaring with whom he made the trip, spent two weeks at Musky Bay lodge on Crow Lake where very few travelers ever hit. They had to portage in for 25 miles but found a spot abounding with fish and wild game.

The boys caught their limit in Wall-Eye each day and as they had no use for the pike, threw a large number of them back into the lake.

Enjoys Free Trip To Niagara Falls-Ned Igo returned Thursday from a four-day trip to Niagara Falls as one of a group of 200 Journal-Gazette carrier boys who obtained at least 20 new subscriptions for their paper over a specified period of time.

The boys were in Detroit, through the Ford Plant, Fort Dearborn, on a boat over to Niagara and into Canada.

Lloyd Thompson, Movie Operator, To Work In East-Lloyd Thompson, movie operator at the Madrid Theatre, will leave on Monday for Richmond, Virginia, where he has work as Signalman for the Seaboard Airline Railway.

Kenneth Benner, electrician for Karl Gast, will replace Thompson at the Madrid. Mr. Thompson was provided with free transportation to Richmond by the Railway firm.

FAITH TELLS US TO PRESERVE OUR HERITAGE OF FREEDOM

The God who gave us life, gave us liberty at the same time.
— Thomas Jefferson

We're living in a land that's free,
Because throughout our history
Our founding fathers' legacy
Established the machinery
By which our nation came to be
A system of democracy,
Where we're allowed to disagree
With governmental policy,
And thus our ingenuity
And enterprise provide the key
To progress and prosperity;
A model for the world to see.
Our House of Worship makes this plea:
To pray for all humanity,
While we preserve eternally
Our precious land of liberty.

— Gloria Nowak

Akron 4th a huge success

This year's Akron 4th of July Celebration honored the servicemen and women of all wars. A float filled with local war veterans from the past and not so long ago wars led the parade along with parade marshals Roy and Evelyn Meredith. The theme this year was "Proud To Be An American" and a real old fashion red, white and blue 4th of July was enjoyed by all.

State Police discover marijuana field in Fulton County

A State Police pilot on patrol for marijuana growth in northern Indiana discovered a plot of wild marijuana estimated to be a million plants with a street value of approximately $600,000. Sgt. Randy Yablonski, a State Police helicopter pilot, spotted the wild marijuana while flying over a remote section of Fulton County. State Troopers from the Peru Post made their way to the area on Tuesday morning to begin eradicating the plants, which are scattered throughout an area of approximately three acres.

Sgt. Robert Land, who coordinates the State Police marijuana eradication efforts within the Peru District confirmed that it was by far the largest discovery within the Peru District area this year. The Indiana State Police implemented the annual eradication effort beginning June 1, which pays Troopers to work their days off and overtime to combat the illegal crop.

Six Troopers spent the morning cutting and spraying the marijuana plants. Afternoon thunderstorms temporarily brought a halt to the efforts, but officers will return and eliminate all of the plants. "The marijuana is in an isolated area, and cannot be seen from roadways in the area. The only possible way it could be discovered is by air," said Sgt. Marty Talbert, Peru Post Public Information Officer.

Authorities do not believe that harvesters had made their way to the area before it was discovered. Northern Indiana counties are well known among marijuana traffickers for their significant wild marijuana growth. Marijuana was planted in the area during World War II as a source of hemp for making rope. "Decades later we still see these types of plots remaining as a result of the marijuana that was planted intentionally", explained Talbert.

The soil in the area was rich, black farm dirt, which is not only good for conventional crops, but which also is fertile for marijuana growth.

State Police do not expect any arrests to be made in connection with the discovery. "Arrests are not necessarily the best way to gauge the success of the eradication program", said Sgt. Land. "The main point is that we are eliminating the illegal substance from ever reaching the streets. It could have been discovered by pickers and harvesters, if we weren't making efforts to locate it also."

Scenes Around Town

by Leafy Hudson

Jack and Rita Price Simpson received the following letter the other day from daughter Tracey.

Lima Peru, June/July 1991

Greetings to all from not-so-sunny Peru!

The lack of sun is only due to the winter climate. The Son of God is arising in Peru in power! These days it's cool and cloudy most of the time, but we are excited about what God has been doing spiritually. A lot has been happening here lately. As usual, all of you up north get the bad news before we do. The terrorism really hasn't affected us that much, but is still a problem in many areas. We've had earthquakes, a witch from Brazil "healing" people, 2 idols that cry-if it sounds like we're ready for revival, you're right! Please keep praying.

We started the Bible School May 7. It was a hassle getting started, and we still have a few bug in the administrative system, but it's coming along. The classes are great, and we have over 120 students! That was a really blessing for us, since we were expecting at most 80 students. My Spanish is coming along, too-thanks for the prayers, and keep 'em coming. People have blessed so far by the school's ministry. I have been personally blessed to see fruit that will remain already in my ministry here in Peru. May it continue!

Had a great time with a group from Baton Rouge, Louisiana. They blessed us with their zeal (the FIRE of the Holy Ghost) and their love for Peru. We spent 6 days in the Amazon River area of Iquitos, doing crusades, street evangelism, and a worship symposium. The jungle is beautiful, and the people are hungry for Jesus. The group then spent another 12 days in Lima doing more crusades and working in the orphanage.

Several people have asked about supporting children in the orphanage. We will be sending information soon on the monthly support program for the children. Thanks to all who have been praying for our new work. We hope to have the kids in soon.

I have 2 temporary roommates, Marie and Shannon, from Baton Rouge. They will be working at the orphanage for the summer (well, winter down here!). If others of you are interested in visiting, let me know. We can always use the help!

In August we are planning a symposium for pastors and worship leaders, with people from here in Peru, Costa Rica, and the States. An understanding of what it is to worship God is really needed here in Peru. Please pray for the planning and preparation of the symposium.

Many have asked for more information on what I'm doing down here. Really, the main part of missionary life is just day-to-day living. I work Tuesday through Friday in the church office, teach in the Bible School, run the administration of the school, help with the groups that arrive from the States, sing with the worship team for services, and just generally help out as much as I can. I have started a young adults group along with my 2 best friends, and it's on Friday nights. So I keep pretty busy! Along with all that, I have guitar and voice lessons, and have attended and sung for weddings. A lot of things have been happening here, but we're moving forward!

Still remaining in good health despite the change of climate. I plan to move soon with my 2 new roomies, but my mailing address hasn't changed. I really appreciate all the letters and cards I have received. Basically I haven't needed anything but stamps. Thanks again also to all those who have been faithful to support me while I'm down here. Although I haven't missed the States, I have missed my family and friends. I wish I could take all my loved ones with me wherever I go! However, I know we are all united through our love and prayers. I do pray for you all regularly. I appreciate all of your prayers and support. May God richly bless you all as you share in the fruit of my ministry.

In His Great Love,

Tracey Swank, your missionary to Peru

Public invited to reception

The Mentone Chamber of Commerce and the Mentone United Methodist Church are hosting a reception for Dr. and Mrs. Wymond Wilson Sunday, July 14 from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Mentone United Methodist Church. Dr. Wilson retired July 1 after 37 years of practice in the Mentone area.

The public is invited to come, bring your favorite "Doc and Arleta story", and wish them well.

Outpatients increasing at KCH

With the number of outpatients at Kosciusko Community Hospital increasing from 50,000 to 80,000 in one year, it is easy to see why we have a special department known as Outpatient Services.

Our department focuses on service by making the entire outpatient experience more convenient for the patient. We not only pre-register the patient but make billing arrangements prior to their arrival at KCH and offer patient teaching in preparation for the procedure. We are able to better utilize our staff and better serve our physicians also as well as improve communication between physicians and ancillary departments.

We schedule not only for outpatient testing and surgery but also for our hospital clinics, including neurology, urology, cardiology, pulmonology and sports medicine. We are also researching the feasibility of bringing new specialists to Warsaw.

To improve our outpatient waiting and flow we are having all pre-registered outpatients stop at the reception desk in the main lobby to pick up their forms. This is an improvement over the previous procedure of having outpatients wait in the Emergency Department.

To aid in the pre-registration process, KCH has worked with our medical staff to hook up a Fax network between the hospital and several of our medical staff members, including Dr. Michael Williams, Dr. William Walker, Dr. Bill Remington, Dr. Richard Cross, Dr. Tom Krizmanich, Dr. John Kratzer, Dr. Pat Silveus, the physicians at Kosciusko Medical Clinic and our in-hospital clinic physicians.

This improves both the speed and accuracy of transmitting and setting up services to meet doctors' orders. For more information on outpatient services, call 372-7601.

Recycling Seminar to be held July 13

On July 13th, at 10:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. in the Akron School Gymnasium, Boy Scout Troop 245 and the Akron Recycling Center will present a recycling seminar. Anyone who would like to learn more about recycling, whether he recycles or not, is invited and encouraged to attend. Dane Starbuck, recycling expert from Washington, D.C., and consultant to Senator Dan Coats, will be the featured speaker. He will talk about current environmental problems caused by poor waste management and how recycling can help solve these problems. A session on how to recycle, with audience participation, will also be conducted. The benefits of composting and how to make a compost pile will also be discussed. Hear how easy recycling is and how much money it saves from those who already recycle.

This seminar is very informative and full of surprises. Plan to attend and bring your friends and family. Please note that both seminars are the same but at two different times for your convenience.

Perry Home Improvement Club Meeting

The Perry Home Improvement Club met in Akron in Marie Long's home. President Marie Nestleroad opened the meeting by reading the poem "Loving Care". The group sang "Loves Old Sweet Song".

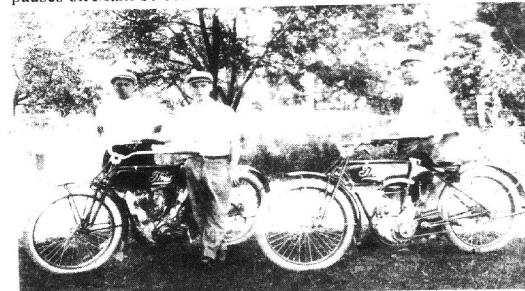

Marie Long told in her devotions how love is God's greatest gift.

Marie Nestleroad reported that she and Pauline Miller attended Achievement Day together and they found it a most interesting day.

Plans for the New Year developed as we finished filling out our new Program books. Each month the hostess will give the devotions.

A card signed by each lady present will be mailed to Bernice Whittenberger.

Roll call found the following members present: Marie Berger, Emma Burns, Marie Long, Helen Miller, Marjorie Miller, Pauline Miller, Aurel Musselman, Marie Nestleroad and Alice Teel.

Helen Miller is today's Lucky Lady.

Marie Berger won the contest conducted by our hostess.

We sat around the table to enjoy the delicious refreshments and wonderful visit.

Who's Who In Mentone

Dean and Helen Meyer, Mentone residents for 36 years, on their front porch. Friends and neighbors will miss their friendly greetings in the near future when they make Florida their permanent home.

Profile of Dean and Helen Meyer

by Leafy Hudson

"We'll never be as happy as we've been in Mentone," say Dean and Helen Meyer, referring to their plans to retire permanently in Florida. "It will take some getting used to."

The Meyers, who have lived in Mentone 36 years, already have their home, a "Park Model," established on the shore of Lake Glenada, Avon Park, Florida, where they have lived for two winters. They expect, in the future, to spend the three of four hottest months of the year with their son, Dennis, and his family in Florence, Kentucky, where a basement apartment always awaits them. But, they hope to return to Mentone occasionally to see friends and visit the cemetery.

A native Hoosier, Dean was "more or less a farm boy," born in Fulton, Indiana. He was about five when his father died and his mother moved the family to Rochester, near her parents. "She raised us three boys on nothing," Dean says. "We'd go to the laundry where she worked and sleep under the table. If we had a pot of beans, we were lucky."

Dean remembers a discouraging incident in those days. The township trustee brought them a load of coal and the next night, someone stole it. But a happier memory is of the neighbor who had a bread route. Each day he would put the leftover bread on the back porch for needy neighbors to help themselves. "We would go get some," he says.

A high school basketball player, Dean moved to Akron, where he graduated in 1941, and was soon employed by Kingsbury Ammunition Plant at LaPorte.

Helen was born in Bon Aqua, Tennessee, but laughs, "I didn't stay long enough to get and accent!" Her family came to the Kentland, Indiana, area, then, when she was an eighth grader, to Talma. Helen says, "After the 'prairie' around Kentland, Talma, with all its trees, was a wilderness to me." But, she loved Talma School, where she graduated in 1938. "It was small and we knew everyone. We were like a family. Most of us still keep in touch."

After graduation, Helen enrolled in Gary Methodist Hospital Nursing School. She met Dean while home for a weekend, when he came to her house with her brothers. Their first date was a boat ride on Nyona Lake with her brother and his girl. "We got hung up on a rock in the middle of the lake. I should have known right then," Helen chuckles.

Dean and Helen remember they were sitting in a car in E. Chicago, drinking Cokes with her brother and his future wife, Betty, December 7, 1941, when they heard the news about Pearl Harbor. The following years were chaotic ones for them.

In October, 1942, while Helen was on duty at Children's Hospital, Farmington, Michigan (an affiliate of Gary Methodist), Dean was drafted. Although it was against training rules, he went to Farmington; and they were secretly married. "I had to be back in the hospital by 11:00 p.m. that night," Helen remembers.

At Dean's first base, Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas, "right on the side of a mountain," he volunteered for KP duty one day, only to find himself permanently a cook. Helen visited him there, traveling by train. They had neither thought to consult the other about money before she left. Dean rented a room for them, leaving him with 50 cents. Helen arrived in El Paso with 15 cents! Fortunately, a kindly uncle was willing to help them out and wired them some money.

Dean's next base was Orlando, Florida. Helen joined him there, but had to cut the time short and return to Indiana to take her Indiana State Boards.

From Florida, Dean went to Oakland, California, where he embarked for overseas duty on the USS Mount Vernon. "That boat had as many men on board as there were people in Rochester," Dean says. "And I wasn't on it five minutes until I was sicker than a dog!"

Dean was in New Guinea and the Philippine Islands before the war was over. He was a mess sergeant when he was discharged. One very sad note on the war for Dean was the loss of one of his brothers in Europe in the Battle of the Bulge.

Coming home, they were scheduled for a week's layover in Hawaii. But, for some reason, it turned out to be only overnight. "All I saw of Hawaii was lights," Dean says. Dean and Helen would both like to see Hawaii now, but since both are fearful of flying, "we're waiting for them to build a bridge."

Home again, Dean was "tickled to land a good job in a Rochester foundry. His job was to carry molten steel in a dipper. He left at noon and never went back! He went on to become a route supervisor for Ward Baking Company, then a meat cutter for the Berkway Grocery store.

Helen worked in OB at Woodlawn Hospital, finally becoming a patient there herself. In 1950, their daughter, Linda was born, and in 1951, they welcomed a son, Dennis.

In 1955, Dean and Helen decided to purchase Mentone's Berkway Grocery on the south side of Main street, where the administrative offices of Farmers State Bank are today. They first lived in the Conda Walburn property, now owned and being remodeled by Darrell King.

When the "new doctor in town," Dr. Wilson, opened his office on Broadway Street, Helen began working for him, and soon became Doc's trusted backup for almost everybody in town. Helen says now she enjoyed their patients very much.

After five years with the store, with the bank anxious to buy their building, Dean and Helen made two big moves. They sold the store, and shortly after, bought their present home on N. Broadway Street. "We've lived here 30 years and enjoyed every minute of it," they say, "except when Linda died."

In August, 1965, their daughter, Linda, just 15, underwent a seemingly routine appendectomy, activating a previously undetected brain tumor which resulted in her sudden and unexpected death.

Dean had returned to Ward Baking Company after selling the store, then, in 1975, went to work at Midwest Spring. He and Helen both retired in 1985, and that year began going to Florida for the winter.

Dean has been plagued by health problems for several years. In November, 1985, a tumor was removed from his pituitary gland. "You talk about being scared!" he says, describing the route the drill took through his face to reach the tumor. Fortunately it wasn't malignant, but it took 36 treatments to shrink the gland. The doctor here found the tumor just before they were scheduled to leave for Florida. Dean refused to delay their trip, so the doctor released him with dire warnings to see a Florida doctor immediately. Dean drove all the way to Florida with one eye patched. His seven hour surgery on closed circuit TV for teaching purposes made him a TV star! They liked their Florida doctor very much and have never regretted their decision.

In February, 1986, Dean started seeing double again. He was soon diagnosed as having myasthenia gravis, a disease which causes muscle weakness. Although it's under control now, it affects his eyes when he's tired.

Dean and Helen are very proud of their family. Dennis is a mortician in Cincinnati, Ohio. He and his Helen have three sons: Jeff, stationed at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, in the U.S. Army; Russ, a new high school graduate who hopes for a commercial art career; and Chris, a sixth-grader.

They enjoy several hobbies, including growing beautiful flowers, both in Mentone and Florida, and bird-watching. They also enjoy watching otters, alligators, and the various other animals near their Florida home. Helen crochets and wants to do more fishing. Dean loves to bowl.

Dean and Helen would prefer to keep their Mentone home, but health constraints and the cost of home maintenance seem to make their intended move necessary. Their smiling faces and cheery greetings will be missed in Mentone by their many friends when they're gone.

It Happened In Akron

IT HAPPENED IN AKRON
TAKEN FROM THE AKRON NEWS
JULY 3, 1941
50 YEARS AGO

Dear Editor:

Macy, Ind.
July 3, 1941

Public Officers of Indiana
Dear Sirs:

It has recently come to our notice that certain people are asking to have the entire state placed on so-called "daylight saving time."

Also that the governor has refused to act on this request, for which we most heartily thank him.

As farmers we have not raised any objection to those towns and cities changing and could improve their welfare by departing further from nature's time as determined by the earth's relations to the sun, although the farmers found it inconvenient to transact business in such town.

Of course it did turn more to the small towns and villages where regular time was used, but if the large towns were satisfied to lose this trade or were too little versed in rural reaction, that was up to the merchants and no concern of the farmers. Now, however, if the cities seek to place the country or any part of it on fast time, then the farmers become directly hit. We even hear that the county clocks on the court houses are to be changed to this crazy fast time. This may be a good thing for the farmer because when he gets into a town, one glance at the court at the court house clock will tell him if he is in a friendly city or one that is antagonistic to his convenience.

Farmers are a success or failure in such degree as they can adjust their activities in accord with the laws of nature. This constant effort makes farmers generally a unique society among men, knowing by daily experience that breaking nature's laws bring sure punishment. He expects his hay to begin drying at eight o'clock in the morning, and engages any hired help for that time, and arranges his other affairs to meet these conditions. Why disorganize his working problem just now when he is asked to produce more farm products to help "preparedness." Would it not be just as foolish to weigh him down with extra time confusion as to attempt to aid a racing swimmer by tying a weight around his neck? What are you daylight saving timers thinking about, or are you thinking?

Can you make hay dry laying heavily upon it?

Can you cause the larger corn to toughen early in the morning so it will not break or snap (if cultivated) while congested with sap? Can you make the dairy cow get up an hour earlier to get her morning fill and not break in on her eating-milking program?

Please stop your thoughtless attempts to aid agriculture until you have something reasonable to suggest.

Yours with concern
J. Elmer Landis

JULY 7, 1966
25 YEARS AGO

Thousands attend Akron's 4th of July Celebration-Thousands of people witnessed Akron's biggest and best ever 4th of July parade and the accompanying festivities on Monday.

Commander Morton recalled the heritage of the community, the State, and the nation and recalled the reason we observe July 4 each year. Naming the two Akron men, Lt. Neil McKinney and Pfc. Roger Manns who have given their lives in Viet Nam, he predicted an early end to the conflict.

Janet Sheetz was the winner of the tandem bicycle which was awarded by the Las Donas Jr. Women's club. A large display of fireworks concluded the long day. By that time, many of the Brothers of the Brush had come out of hiding, revealing stinging faces as they parted with the growth which had accumulated since last March. Tom Gast was named the champion beard grower an received a scroll to the effect and a $1.30 to get a shave and a haircut. Other prize winning beards were grown by Ted Cox, Merrill Kendall and Ray Riley.

Thief Captured after 11-Mile Chase in Chicago-Roger Mollenhour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mollenhour of Mentone, an employee of the Flying Tiger Freight warehouse at Chicago's O'Hare airport, was credited with the capture of a thief who stole $1800 worth of merchandise from the warehouse recently.

Mollenhour, preparing to return to his home after working until 4 a.m., was told of the thief by other airport personnel. He spotted the man immediately after leaving the airport and trailed him until he could notify police. After trailing him for eleven miles, Mollenhour hailed police who arrested the man.

It was then learned the man had also stolen the truck and Mollenhour had to return the stolen merchandise in his own station wagon. Included in the loot were an auto air conditioner, tap recorders, and clothing.

Hailed by his fellow workers and employer as a hero, Mollenhour did not get home until 1 p.m.

Mentone Fair Association Offering Reduced Tickets-The Mentone Fair, which has a wide reputation for being one of the best in the country, will use season tickets for the first time in 1941.

The season tickets, transferable within the family, are now on sale and will bring a large savings to all those planning to attend any number of the morning or afternoon sessions held during the four big days.

The adult season ticket sells for $1.00 and the child's for 50¢-only a small fraction of the cost of individual admissions.

Robert Steller writes-Robert Steller, former editor of the Co-Op News who is now stationed at Camp Wolters, Texas, writes, in part:

I note that another Mentone boy, William Cook, is on of the 20,000 in the 15,000 acres covered by this camp. Will look him up. I know we would have a lot of thins to talk about.

Please give my best regards to our mutual friends in Mentone.

This camp is about 3 1/2 miles west of Mineral Wells, home of "Crazy Crystals," and on banks of Brazos River, 49 miles west of Ft. Worth and 80 miles west of Dallas.

Country is hilly, covered with scrub oak, mesquite, cactus, alkali dust, rattle snakes and horned toads. Quite a contrast to Indiana, and oh, that sun.

Must close, and thanks again for the News.

Sincerely BOB STELLER

Indiana, Iowa, Missouri Chosen for Navy Campaign-This week the Co-Op News carries the first of a number of advertisements by the U.S. Navy telling of the many advantages and possibilities for young men in the Navy. This is a test campaign and the three states, Indiana, Iowa and Missouri, were chosen because of the fact that they lead in the number of volunteers in this branch of the armed forces.

The possibilities in the Navy are now greater than ever before as the department is launching a ship every ten days and men must be found to place in command of them.

Your editor is to be supplied with a number of pamphlets, circulars and other information regarding the Navy, its value and purposes and the advantages it offers to young men. Any person desiring this information may obtain it at the News office, first door west of the post office.

GOD'S WORLD OFFERS AN ENJOYABLE ECONOMY VACATION

Vacation time can mean many things to many people, depending on their interests as well as what the budget will allow. They may travel a great distance in style, go camping in the nearby woods, or just languish in the back yard. All of these places can provide enjoyment and relaxation, being a departure from the normal routine. Moreover, even a low budget vacation can be a learning experience, because it is not necessary to go far in order to observe the wonders of God's creation. They are on display everywhere, in different forms, just waiting for you to discover them. Take your Bible along as a sort of guide book, and remember that wherever you go on your vacation, God will be there to watch over you and protect you.

"Come and see the works of God."

Who's Who in Akron

Raymond Zimpelman finds climbing trees and playing in his tree house easier now that his leg braces have been removed. (Photo by Tonia Weller).

Raymond Zimpelman

By Tonia Weller

When Raymond Zimpelman was diagnosed with Legg Calvé Perthes at age five, his doctors told him the braces he needed to wear would keep him from running or riding a bicycle. He proved the doctors wrong on both counts. His mother, Elizabeth, says, "There were a lot of things the doctors said he wouldn't be able to do, that he did. Raymond's a real fighter and he just seemed determined to do everything with his braces that he did before."

He learned to climb trees and played T-ball on the Insurance 1 team last year with the help of a "designated runner" who would run the bases after Raymond hit the ball. "I could run," he said, "but the braces slowed me down some."

On May 22, after four and a half years of treatment, the doctors said Raymond could remove his braces. "I can run faster now!" he exclaims. "And I can wear shorts!" The braces, which had a strap and metal around the waist, metal side pieces and straps at the bottom of each thigh also had two large metal bars which kept Raymond's legs spread about a foot and a half apart. When he tried to wear shorts with them the bars would bruise the insides of his knees.

With Perthes, the blood vessels in the bone die, causing the head of the femur to die as well. The bone crumbles and gets flattened, although eventually, with proper treatment, the blood will return and replace the bone. "Like when you have a bruise and the dead blood cells turn purple then new blood washes it away," Elizabeth says. "That's the kind of thing that was taking place with the bone. The purpose of the braces was to keep the bone in position in the hip socket so that when it did grow back, it would fit."

Gil Jenkins, a local Shriner, heard about Raymond's condition and drove the Zimpelmans to a Shrine clinic in Elkhart. Raymond was accepted in the Shriners' program and was treated at the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children in Chicago.

The doctors in Chicago needed to see Raymond every three or four months to check on his condition and to adjust his braces. The Shriners provided transportation to the hospital with a van that Raymond and his mother met in Warsaw. "It made it real nice that I didn't have to try and drive in Chicago myself," Elizabeth says. "They were really good about it."

Now that his long ordeal is over and the braces are off, Raymond will still need to continue to visit the hospital every three or four months so the doctors can monitor his progress.

Raymond was first diagnosed with Perthes in his right hip after his mother noticed him limping. Because it was caught quickly he only needed to wear the brace for a year. Shortly after its removal, Elizabeth noticed Raymond was limping on his left side. She immediately took him back, but the doctors said there was no sign of the disease and he must be limping because of the strain of wearing the brace. However, six months later they discovered they had been wrong and Raymond did indeed have Perthes on the left side as well. Because so much time had elapsed, he was forced to wear the brace for three years.

Last spring, because he wasn't healing as fast as the doctors had hoped, he underwent surgery and spent a week in the hospital. He was placed in a cast that he said covered both legs "from the tippy tops of my toes to the tops of my thighs." A metal bar imbedded in the cast under his knees kept his legs spread. He wore the cast from March through May.

But in typical Raymond style, he didn't let the cast keep him from doing the things he normally did. He even went to the woods behind his family's farm house to hunt mushrooms. "My dad said he'd give a quarter to whoever found the most mushroom and guess who got the quarter?" he asks proudly. "Me! I found 39 mushrooms!" When Raymond would tire from the weight of the cast his father, Randy, who is a yard supervisor at Pike Lumber, would carry him.

A delightful, dark-haired nine year old, Raymond is a very friendly and outgoing young man. He says very few other children ever teased him about this braces. When he was in third grade, last year, another boy gave him a little trouble but Mrs. Gearhart had the other boy try on the braces to see what it was like.

According to Raymond, the biggest problem he had was adults worrying about him too much when he ran and played hard. "And then when I got my braces, off, my teacher got even more worried," he says. "The first day I came to school without my braces I was outside playing tag football and soccer and stuff and everyone kept yelling at me to be careful!" The doctors had told Raymond to take it easy, but in his eyes he was!

Because he was so active, Raymond frequently broke his braces. He went through five different sets and too many repairs to count. His mother says, "I was always in Day Hardware looking for screws or rivets to fix them. The Days were great, they always tried to help. I must have driven them crazy." At one point Elizabeth even had the braces welded but Raymond broke that too.

This year Raymond is in Little League and plays on Jeff's Automotive team. He wants to be a pro-baseball player when he grows up and the Cubs are his favorite team.

When asked what his favorite things to do were, Raymond replied, "Riding my bike and eating pizza!" He's always loved to climb trees and finds it much easier now without the braces. One of his favorite spots to play with his brother, Rory, 8, and his sister, Adair, 5, is in the tree house their father built.

The Zimpelman family lived in Mentone before moving to the farm south of Akron owned by Elizabeth's father, Tom Daniel, who has moved to Georgia.

Much of the credit for Raymond's wonderful attitude must go to his mother. Elizabeth felt it was important to keep life "as normal as possible" for him. She never let Raymond feel sorry for himself and reminded him there are "always people in worse shape than you are." She also feels the time he spent at the hospital has made Raymond more aware of certain aspects of life than other children his age. "Raymond has seen a lot of things other children haven't seen. He's not shocked to see a child without an arm or a leg."

Raymond's courage and refusal to let his medical problems get him down could serve as an inspiration to us all. With his spirit and determination he just may play ball in Wrigley Field someday.

Valley reinstates 5 teachers

Five teachers who had been laid off were rehired at the Tippecanoe Valley School Board meeting on July 8. The cuts had been made earlier because of uncertainty about state funding. At this time funding from the state appears more favorable. Those rehired are Deborah Whistler, Kirby Stearley, Darcy McDaniel, June Yazel and Brenda Vanlaningham.

The board also reinstated the high school industrial arts program which it had cut earlier.

Jeffrey Tilden was installed as the new representative from Henry Township. He replaces Mike Bowers.

Also during the meetings all previous officers were reelected. They are Fred McSherry, president; Joe Crill, vice president; and John Mellott, secretary. Michael McFarland is the fifth board member.

Judy Hively was reappointed treasurer with Linda Murphy as her deputy.

Akron resident Richard Day questioned the need for a secretary when he did not take minutes of the meeting. Day was informed a secretary was necessary to sign official documents.

The board also reappointed Dr. Pat Silveus as corporation physician. Silveus had requested a $500 increase in his fee, however the board approved only a $250 increase to $2,750 per year. His duties include administrative testing, presentations to classes and being present at ball games.

In other matters the board:

- * Voted to meet with the owners of Creighton Brothers concerning their proposed hog operation near the school.

Exchange Bank Completes 50 Years-The Akron Exchange Bank is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary this week.

Founded in July, 1891, the bank first opened its doors for business on July 6, in a frame building near the spot where the Post office now stands.

The founders were Fletcher Stoner, Martin L. Patterson, Norman S. Stoner and William A. Patterson, the bank was capitalized at $10,000.00. It was a private institution, with Norman Stoner acting as cashier, W. A. Patterson, president and Fletcher Stoner, vice-president.

Clients came to the bank because of the conservative and sound policies of the board, and it was soon necessary to move to more commodious quarters in the front end of a brick building now occupied by the Winona Cafe.

This move was soon followed by another, into the front end of the furniture and undertaking establishment operating on the Fleck corner.

After fire had destroyed the building on the present site of the bank, the stockholders purchased the lot and built the building which is still in use. In the meantime Norman N. Stoner had resigned his position to become treasurer of Fulton County, and Hubbard D. Stoner had replaced him as cashier.

Hubbard has been with the bank since that time, now more than 44 years, and he has had a big part in the successful management of the institution. His conservative sound policies and community spirit have been an important part in keeping Akron one of the best towns in Indiana. Alert to community needs, he has ever been in the vanguard of forward-moving events. Through his sound knowledge of banking, he has piloted his bank through the years without any banking trouble whatsoever. The bank has weathered the years, and today has total assets of $922,836.95.

In 1911 the bank was consolidated with the Citizens bank and the capital increased to $25,000.00. In 1922 the institution became a state bank and the capital was again increased, this time to $50,000.

Today the Akron Exchange State Bank enjoys a fine reputation as a strong, conservative institution-one of the best in northern Indiana. It is known for its ability to meet the needs of its many clients, and for its position of leadership in the community. It has a distinguished record over the past fifty years and the good will and best wishes of the community for another fifty years of operation.

The present board of directors is composed of: H.D. Stoner, president; Willis Leininger, vice-president; Jay R. Emahiser, cashier; J. Fred Sommer, Karl B. Gast, Ray Wildermuth, and L.L. Patterson.

Employees at the bank, in addition to Mr. Stoner and Mr. Emahiser, are: N. Clair Moore, assistant cashier; Harold Groninger, assistant cashier; Goldia Bright, bookkeeper; and Ruth Belt, bookkeeper.

Mrs. Oyler Wins Again-Mrs. Ann Oyler, of Mentone, who won the $1.50 in the "Live Wire" contest in the News last week, was the winner again this week.

The judges last week had an easy task in selecting the winner as Mrs. Oyler was the only one to send in the name of the firm represented in the picture. Likely almost anyone could use the $1.50 that is given away absolutely free each week and everyone has equal opportunity. Identify the picture in this issue, write a short note about the firm and send or bring it to the News office by Friday noon. The judges might select your entry as the best and send you the $1.50.

Home Economics Club Meets-The Mentone Home Economics club met Thursday, July 10 at the Geo. Rans home for the annual pot luck picnic dinner. Seventeen members were present and responded to roll call by giving "Clever Sayings of Children." The meeting was opened by singing "Sweet Genevieve" and repeating the club creed. Everyone enjoyed the picnic dinner and the program of entertainment was then given with a debate by ten members on the question: Resolved that the safety pin is more useful than the needle. The affirmative won the debate.

The meeting adjourned to meet for the annual ice cream festival some time in August to be held at the Mentone high school Home Economics rooms.

Sponsors of Mentone Community Band-The following is a list of the business and professional men who sponsor the summer band by contributing to the Mentone Community Band Fund:

Shafer & VanGlider, F.R. Burns, Tombaugh Furniture Mart, Hill & Lemler, Leroy Cox, Mentone Cafe, Paulus Bros. Max Smith, H.V. Johns, Chas. Madeford, W.W. Whetstone, Clark's Store, Farmers State Bank, Dr. Dan Urschel, C&C Hardware, Joe Baker, Lake Trail Cafe, Dr. F.B. Davison, No. Indiana Co-Op Association, Dr. T.J. Clutter, Ernsberger Lumber Co., Tucker's Standard Service, R.G. Reed, Conda Walburn, Jones Barber Shop, Blue Barber Shop, Merl Linn.

Their donations make it possible to maintain the band during the summer months. The band is planning to attend the Chicagoland Music Festival again the year. This outstanding musical event is held each year at Soldier's Field and those students who qualify by their attendance and interest are given a free trip to the music festival.

Mentone Wins at Milford-The Mentone baseball team won over the Milford team at Milford Sunday by a 7 to 15 score. No game has been scheduled for Sunday but is hoped that there will be one.

Personals-Mr. and Mrs. H.V. Johns and son David, Margaret Swick and Betty Norris spent Tuesday in Indianapolis. Miss Swick and Miss Norris took their final beauty culture examination.

O & R Buildings

By Tonia Weller

O & R Buildings, of Akron, was originally started by Jim Ramsey and Louie Overlander. The current owner, John Ramsey, worked for the firm for a couple of years before buying his brother Jim's share of the business in 1981. In 1981, he bought Louie Overlander out and moved the business to its present location on St. Rd. 14, just west of Akron. The office, according to John, is open "from about 5:30 in the morning, 'til about 6:00 at night."

O & R is truly a family enterprise, employing three generations of the Ramsey family. John, his wife, Midge and their daughter Deb, do most of the pricing, figuring and selling. Sons, John Jr., Verlin and Mark, head the building crews and this summer, three grandchildren, Kent and Angie Owens and Verlin Ramsey Jr., are also working for the company.

In addition, O & R employs Dennis Struck, Greg Livengood, Jared Wilhelm and brothers John and Wes Smith. "They're all good kids," John says. "Denny's been with me six years."

"They're all about like family," Midge adds. While O & R specializes in post building construction, they are a full service general contractor, offering building design and also constructing steel buildings, houses, doing concrete work and remodeling. "We'll build anything they want, anyway they want it," John says. O & R has built buildings of all sizes, from 3' x 3' sheds to 100' x 300' barns.

Post building construction first became popular in the early 50's. There have been some changes since that time. The round poles of the earlier buildings have been replaced by square posts. Unlike some builders, O & R does not use laminated beams in the construction of their buildings. "We always use full solid posts," John explains. The versatile post buildings are now used as houses, factories, museums and stores in addition to barns. "Really, post buildings can be used for anything that any other kind of building can," John says.

John feels the biggest advantages to erecting a post building are their versatility and the reduced cost compared to other types of construction. Midge adds, "We provide a good building at a fair price."

O & R usually has two man crews working at four different job sites at any given time. The company has six radio equipped trucks and works year around.

In addition to construction work, O & R Buildings also sells building materials such as dimension lumber, steel, siding, roofing and overhead doors for the do-it-yourselfers.

John and Midge have been married 33 years and have seven grandchildren in addition to their four children. They live southwest of Akron, and with their sons, farm about 350 acres. The Ramseys hope, someday, to have all their grandchildren involved in the family business. "That is, if we can keep our heads above water that long!" John jokes. "But, it's up to them," Midge adds.

Except for two years spent in Vincennes, when they were first married, John, and Midge, who is originally from Rochester, have lived in this area all their lives. They are big Tippecanoe Valley basketball fans and attend all of the games.

With over 25 years experience in the construction business and his well-trained crew, John Ramsey and O & R Buildings offer Akron and the surrounding communities quality buildings at reasonable prices.

Whatever Happened To...

Dona Kay Van Gilder Pineda, Tegucigalpa, Honduras, enjoys visiting with friends and family in Mentone, usually twice yearly. This year she and her family came back for the 50th Wedding Anniversary celebration of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Van Gilder.

Dona Kay Van Gilder Pineda

by Leafy Hudson

Dona Kay Van Gilder Pineda, who grew up in Mentone, has lived twenty-two years in Honduras, Central America. Although the culture and problems of the small Central American country concern her daily, Mentone remains home in her heart.

Dona Kay says she always studied diligently, which paid off when she was named valedictorian of her class, but she had fun, too. She remembers how much she enjoyed Indiana winters and one dangerous winter activity she and the three Lindas in her class did. They would hold onto the back bumpers of friends' cars and slide in the snow. "We could have harmed ourselves, but it was so much fun!"

"A most exciting high school memory is of being Miss Mentone in the Mermaid Festival. She rode on an award-winning float designed by classmate and still good friend, Reed Riner. And the Mentone Band marched in the parade, led by her cousin, Drum Major Chip Gast.

Another exciting memory of her senior year is of chanting "Hoogenboom" (the coach's name) and doing the bunny hop around the bonfire uptown on the street after Mentone won the basketball sectional. "We went on to the regional, where South Bend Central beat us by only one point."

Dona Kay attended Manchester College, where she majored in Spanish, and minored in English and Psychology. "My fondest memories are of my sophomore year. I lived in the Brown House, with my philosophy professor and his wife, Kenneth and Viona Brown, as house parents. Dr. Brown is presently Head of Peace studies at Manchester College. Their friendship has deepened with the years. Dr. Brown performed the marriage ceremony in December, 1969, that united Dona Kay to Ibrihim Pineda in the Petershime Chapel at Manchester College. The Browns and their Peace Studies group have visited the Pinedas three times in Honduras, on their way home following Church of the Brethren building projects in Nicaragua.

Dona Kay graduated from Manchester College in 1965, whereupon she went to Columbia, South America, for two years as a Peace Corps volunteer. "It was one of the best experiences of my life." A Rural Community Development volunteer, she worked with peasants, building schools and aqueducts. "They are very humble and appreciate everything you do for them. They are poor in material possessions but so rich in generosity and high moral values."

Dona Kay remembers she would sometimes ride seven hours on horseback to reach the eighteen mountain-top communities she served, each one made up mostly of one extended family. A banquet of about eight plates of food, lovingly prepared from donations collected from every house, would await her. She soon learned she wasn't expected to eat it all. Leftovers were enthusiastically finished off by the village children. Sometimes there would be only one bed in the village, belonging to its oldest resident, but that bed was always made available to Dona Kay. A wooden plank affair, Dona Kay would spread her sleeping bag on it to use it. She was honored to be godmother to fifteen children, a custom at first opposed by the local priest because Dona Kay was Protestant, but finally allowed as long as the godfather was Catholic. "I learned that poverty is more than a dearth of material wealth—it's a love for one another and family unity."

The work Dona Kay participated in is being continued yet today with plans proceeding for a nursing home. They need donations of used clothing and money.

Dona Kay and Ibrihim met, following her Peace Corps experience, at a Peace Corps/College Degree Program at New York State University, Brockport, NY, where he was an educational consultant for students going to Honduras and she taught Cross-Cultural Studies and Spanish to Peace Corps volunteers going to Honduras.

A native Honduran, Ibrihim had graduated from Buffalo State University, Buffalo, NY, in 1969. They lived there two months following their marriage, then started their momentous trip to Stanford University, and on to Honduras.

Dona Kay remembers that trip well. They drove together through Mexico in her new Camaro. Then, because of hostile feelings that remained toward Hondurans in El Salvador following fights over a 1969 soccer game, Ibrihim couldn't drive through El Salvador. He had to fly on to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, and Dona Kay continued the trip alone by car. "I took the car through rivers where bridges had been bombed out and I didn't think it would make it up the embankment on the other side. I was stopped many times by men in uniform, and I didn't know if they were guerrillas or regular police. It was a most harrowing experience."

But, she arrived safely in Tegucigalpa, where she, Ibrihim and their eleven year old daughter, Karla, now have a "comfortable little home" high in the mountains surrounded by the natural beauty of Honduras.

"We still have that twenty-four year old Camaro I bought from Bill Boardman," she laughs. "It doesn't have any rust, but it has sentimental value because of what we went through getting it to Honduras!"

Dona Kay teaches Spanish, English and Social Studies at the Honduran School in Tegucigalpa. Ibrihim was Academic Dean of the National University of Honduras from 1974-1978. He has been lauded by many authorities for his contribution to the Honduran educational system through the Mathematics textbooks he and two colleagues have authored.

Ibrihim's textbooks emphasize Honduran culture and feature illustrations using Honduran people. Dona Kay feels one of the biggest problems in Honduras today is the average citizen's lack of pride in and knowledge of their own culture, which Ibrihim's textbooks were written to foster. They are distressed that a new political regime, recently voted in, stresses American culture rather than that of Honduras. Dona Kay and Ibrihim see the new emphasis as serving economic ends rather than cultural needs.

Dona Kay and Karla came back to the United States for the school year of 1988-89 and lived in Rochester, where Dona Kay taught high school Spanish and English. It is their fervent hope that they, along with Ibrihim, can someday make their permanent home here.

Dona Kay enjoys the friendliness of Mentone people when she returns. She attends the Mentone United Methodist Church, and likes just walking around town with Karla, pointing out family and childhood landmarks. "When I sit on the present Mentone School playground with Karla," she says, "I feel a link with the past. Although the playground equipment is new and the location is changed, this is still the place where I stuck my tongue on the monkey bars that were so cold, my tongue stuck to them and I pulled the skin off. This is where I played girls' softball. There are many things I like about South America, but I value my family and my home. My family is here. Mentone is my home."

New books at Akron Library

Ryan White: My Own Story, by Ryan White—Many people believe that one person can't make a difference. But Ryan White proved that just isn't true.

Forgiving, by LaVyrle Spencer—America's best-loved storyteller spins a moving tale of innocence lost and regained—and of a love so powerful it is destined to overcome all odds.

The Magnificent Masquerade, by Elizabeth Mansfield—A new large-print novel of romance.

Instant Empire, Saddam Hussein's ambition for Iraq, by Simon Henderson—Henderson traces Saddam Hussein's path from his birth in a mud hut village through his defeat in the war over Kuwait, and set against the backdrop of Iraq's political history.

Hero In Disgrace, by Howard Abramson—Frederick Cook was the first person to reach the North Pole—not Robert Peary or any of the other host of pretenders to the title. This book presents new evidence which finally sets the record straight on one of the century's most long-standing and bitterly fought controversies.

Grand Canyon Country, by Seymour Fishbein—A new book on its majesty and its lore, by National Geographic.

Gallant Bride, by Jane Peart—No. 6 in the Brides of Montclair series.

PROTECTING FIRST PERMANENT MOLARS

If you have a child whose first permanent molars are now in place, it is important to keep these teeth free of decay. Permanent molars help determine the position of the child's other permanent teeth as they replace his primary teeth. One method your dentist may recommend to protect his first permanent molars from decay is the use of an adhesive sealant.

This is a painless procedure that requires no drilling. After the molars have been cleaned, they are etched with a mild solution to remove bacterial plaque and other surface material. This treatment also makes the tooth enamel more porous so the adhesive bond or sealant will be as strong as possible. The sealant acts as a barrier against the accumulation of bacteria that causes decay on the chewing surfaces of the teeth.

Adhesive sealants provide a long-lasting protective film. When the sealant becomes worn, further applications can be made as needed to protect the tooth from decay.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C. 1329 Main St., Rochester, Ph. 223-3121.

YOUR HOUSE OF WORSHIP IS 20 DEGREES COOLER INSIDE

Has the midsummer heat been getting you down? Not to mention the humidity factor, which can only add to the oppressiveness of the soaring temperatures. Of course, being a sensible person, you dress right, live right and do what you can to offset the discomforts of the season. You spend as much time as your lifestyle will allow in air conditioned places, and maybe at the ol' swimmin' hole. However, there is one more place you might add to your itinerary in search of a pleasant environment— your House of Worship. More than just a haven of refuge from the heat, it's a place for all seasons. However, in summer the only warmth you will feel there is the comforting assurance that God's love is with you all the year 'round, no matter what it says on the thermometer.

"To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven."
— Ecclesiastes 3:1

Now God comes to thee...and all times are his seasons.
— John Donne

TV School Board learns about pigs

The special meeting of the Tippecanoe Valley School Board drew a standing room only crowd on July 16 to hear representatives of Creighton Brothers of Warsaw explain the waste management system for their new hog raising complex.

The large confined operation, which was approved earlier this month by the Indiana Department of Environmental Management, will be located about one mile west of Tippecanoe Valley High School.

Plans call for the operation to include a 17,545 square-foot breeding/gestation building to house 1,160 sows; a 26,134 square-foot farrowing/nursery to house 152 sows with litters and 2,800 nursery pigs; and four 14,800 square-foot finishing buildings that will each house 1,600 grower/finishing hogs. Approximately 22,000 pigs a year will move through the facility.

Terry Vanlaningham, manager of hog operations and Ed Creighton, owner, assured the concerned citizens who had gathered in the administration building that Creighton Bros. wanted to be "good neighbors".

A three stage impervious earthen waste storage pit system will be constructed to handle the waste generated by the operation.

Each of the six buildings will have slatted floors to allow manure to drop through and be flushed from the buildings and into the first stage lagoon every four hours. The waste would then overflow into the second stage lagoon and then into the third lagoon where it would then be ready to be applied to cropland, as fertilizer.

Creighton representatives assured the board they had no plans to use the water for irrigation. Any excess water would be transported to other Creighton Bros. farms.

Vanlaningham told the board that water from the third stage lagoon would have very little odor. "I'm not saying I would drink it," he said, "but we've been told in this stage we could raise fish in it." Vanlaningham also said the prevailing southwest winds would carry most of the remaining odor into a woods located on the property.

Creighton, Vanlaningham and farm manager Homer Ousley visited a similar hog operation in North Carolina. Vanlaningham told the crowd that after touring it, they boarded a plane and flew home without changing clothes and there was no odor. Board president Fred McSherry agreed, saying that he'd also visited a similar operation and left without needing to shower or change clothes.

Kosciusko Extension Agent Vic Virgil stated that this sort of thing has to be accepted in an area zoned for agriculture.

Area residents were notified by the IDEM on July 5 that they would have until July 23 to file written appeals of the approval. Many of those present at the meeting objected to the idea of only being able to appeal after approval had already been given. Board member John Mellott said, "We have the right to appeal, but it's just a formality."

Creighton reminded the crowd that his organization had followed state codes and that it was the state that set the procedure, not him.

Dale Ladson, who owns an adjoining farm, expressed concern about the effect on real estate values.

The board also learned:

*The site would not be run like the Creighton Bros. operation north of Mentone which uses a manure pit instead of the lagoon system.

*There is very little chance that the complex would be expanded.

*The operation will be fenced and trees will be planted to block the view of it from the road.

*Two four-inch wells will be drilled to provide the necessary water.

Creighton asked that members of the community contact him if there is a problem.

Board member Mike McFarland stated that he hoped Mr. Creighton would still be considered a good neighbor a few years down the road.

Creighton responded by reminding board members that his three children had graduated from Valley, that he also had an interest in the community and that he would "hate more than anyone to do anything to hurt" the school corporation.

Girls State

Every year, the American Legion Auxiliary selects a girl to attend Hoosier Girls State. Each auxiliary and co-sponsor contacts its area high school for junior girls who qualify for this honor. Girls chosen from all over Indiana then spend one week in June at Indiana State University, Terre Haute, where they learn about government systems.

Mock elections are held from Dog-Catcher to Governor. The girls then serve in their elected office for the week.

Tippecanoe
Valley's representatives this year were Rebecca Kelley, daughter of Dan and Irene Kelley, Etna Green, sponsored by American Legion Auxiliary Unit 425, and Ruth Kissinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kissinger, Mentone, sponsored by La Donas, Akron.

Rebecca, a varsity cheerleader, is in the Advanced Placement U.S. History class and served on the Prom Committee. She is a member of the Harrison Center Church Youth Group, works at Teel's and babysits. Rebecca says, "I love children and hope to work with handicapped children or go into law."

Ruth's activities include: The Academic Team, Class Treasurer, Honor Roll, Key Club, Vice President of National Honor Society, Prom Committee and she was in the top ten of her junior class. She's a varsity tennis player and attends the Mentone Christian Fellowship Church in Atwood.

I had a chance to ask Ruth about her week in Terre Haute.

She says it was very illuminating.

She felt "scared" when she arrived, but soon relaxed. To her surprise, she recognized some girls there that she had known from other activities. They were all as "scared" as she was, and friendly.

When she went to the lobby, after unpacking, Ruth was selected by a TV newsman to introduce the weatherman for the Terre Haute Evening News.

Ruth, a Nationalist, opposing the Federalist Party, ran for state Senator and was elected. In her campaign speech, in front of the whole city, (her residence floor), she referred to Babe Ruth. "He was a power hitter in the early days and I want to be a power hitter for you." She knocked on each girl's door, saying simply, "I'm Ruth Kissinger, and I'd like your vote for Senator." She says, "I was totally shocked when I won!" They were inaugurated in front of everyone. I didn't realize until then how important it was.

After the elections, the girls were given a packet of real issues facing the Hoosier Legislature. They had to draw up bills concerning them.

An impressive speaker was Barbara Bush's Chief of Staff, Susan Porter Rose, who is a former Indiana Girls Starter herself.

Ruth was most impressed by the flag-raising ceremony each morning, performed along with the Pledge of Allegiance and daily devotions. "They told us everyday that, as leaders of our state, we're special, one of a kind. I had not thought of myself before as special."

Ruth is excited about being a senior. She hopes to attend Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky, probably to prepare for a business career. Although she doesn't plan to go into politics, she has paged in the Indiana State Legislature three times and she says, "I love government."

Whatever Happened To...

Pedro and Veronica Boardman relax while visiting Pedro's parents, Bill and Miriam Boardman, and their family in Mentone. Since joining the Navy, Pedro has been awarded: the MUC Ribbon (Meritorious Unit Accumulation), Sea Service Ribbon (with bronze star), Presidential National Defense Ribbon and Medal, Southwest Asia Ribbon and Medal and NUC Ribbon. In addition, he will receive five ribbons and three medals for action in the Persian Gulf.

Pedro Boardman

by Leafy Hudson

Seaman Radioman Pedro Boardman, who participated in Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm, and his wife, Veronica, recently visited Mentone relatives and friends.

A Chicago native by birth, with a Puerto Rican background, Pedro was adopted by Bill and Miriam Boardman, Mentone, in 1975. His sister, Maria, was adopted soon after by Dave and Lu Teel. Pedro and Maria quickly adapted to Mentone, growing up here and attending the Mentone United Methodist Church. "I thought it was great here and I never changed my mind," he says.

Pedro played saxophone in the high school band and learned to play drums on his own. He was active in choir and drama and enjoyed playing parts in "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" and "West Side Story." He was also on the swim team.

One of his most exciting high school memories is of harassing a neighboring football team. This particular team had damaged Tippecanoe Valley's football field. So, to retaliate, "we put a huge sheet across the gate to their football field showing a Viking stabbing their mascot. Our football team was all worked up - and in the game we destroyed them."

Following graduation in 1987, Pedro enlisted in the Navy, September 9, and left one week later. After attending Boot Camp and A School in San Diego, California, he was assigned to the aircraft carrier, Coral Sea in Norfolk, Virginia, in April, 1988. Trained in Communications, Pedro works mainly with computers. He often uses the teletype to talk to other ships, planes overhead and bases on shore. He says, "With today's technology, the Morse Code, so important to Navy communication in the past, is rarely used these days."

Pedro was on shore leave in Turkey when America bombed Lebanon in 1989. Called back to his ship immediately, he says, "We left--full steam." The Coral Sea launched over sixty planes in five minutes. "Our pilots are good," he says.

The cruise he enjoyed the most was a week spent on St. Thomas Island. "The people were very nice, polite and helpful. They provided anything we wanted." There were banners to welcome the ship, the first aircraft carrier to stop there in quite a while. They threw "humongous" cookouts on two beaches. "It was real nice."

In 1990, the Coral Sea, forty-three years old, was decommissioned and Pedro was assigned to the Aircraft Carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt, based at Norfolk, Virginia.

At a party in Norfolk, given by one of Pedro's friends, he met Veronica, an Atlanta, Georgia native. After a whirlwind courtship, they were married.

A high school football cheerleader, active in drama, Veronica had always wanted to join the Navy, which she did in July, 1989. As a sailor, she visited Greece, Italy, France and Spain. She attained the rank of Quartermaster Seaman. Bad luck struck, however, in Spain. While there, she contracted TB and consequently was discharged February 4, 1991.

Just married Pedro left Norfolk December 18, 1990, earlier than planned, because of Operation Desert Shield, and headed for the Persian Gulf for six months. At first, mail came fast, he remembers. But, the farther they went, the slower it came. "When you're at sea, mail is everything." But, even then, "a letter can only say so much. At first, everyone was anxious to go, we'd been in port so long. But, you miss out on good times with family at home when you're gone. By March, the men were tired. They worked twelve hour shifts, sometimes longer. But, between everybody, I saw more brotherhood on this six-month cruise, than usual. When the men could finally call home, they had a different attitude. Their eyes glowed and they smiled totally. Then the cruise went faster and they helped everybody."

"We were behind in getting news briefs aboard ship. People back home knew what was happening before we did. When news came, it was broadcast all over the ship and during that time there was total silence."

One thing Pedro and Veronica agree on is that news briefs should not tell of Naval disasters if they can't identify the victims. Veronica stayed in Atlanta during Desert Shield and Desert Storm, where she has five sisters and one brother. "It was pretty awful," she says, referring to the limited amount of news. "They reported two ships had hit mines and injuries had occurred, but didn't give names. Thousand of people (including her) were wondering if it was their loved one."

After the war was declared over, Pedro went on TAD (temporary duty) aboard an Argentine ship that has American equipment. "We picked up the ship at Muscat Oman, Saudi Arabia. It's the nicest place I visited in Saudi Arabia. The Emperor had spent millions to improve it. It has paved streets and huge copper falcons, the National Bird, are continuously being shined."

After two days there, he went into Bahran for several days, then to Kuwait City, which had been demolished. "We were surprised at the lack of bitterness of the people. They were very polite and helpful."

The best thing about TAD was that he could finally call Veronica. "I called continuously," he says.

While on TAD, Pedro saw the burning oil fields. He also spent a night in the desert in Muscat Oman. He says, "Although I wore sweats and all my other clothes, by morning I was really cold. They (the infantry) had it tough. I don't know how they did it for six months."

He laughs when he recalls returning to the USS Theodore Roosevelt. "When we left it, it was in the Red Sea. But, while we were gone, it moved back to the Mediterranean. We had a hard time finding it!"

Pedro plans to re-enlist in September, 1991. He will qualify for three years of shore duty and he and Veronica hope that will be someplace Stateside, preferably in the South.

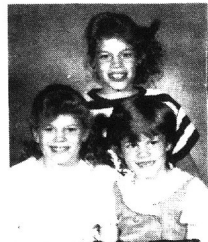

Pedro and Veronica enjoy hiking and the many recreational activities available on the Navy Base. Soundproof rooms are provided for music, and Pedro plans to take his sax back with him. They both enjoy classical music and have future musical ambitions--Pedro of playing the violin and Veronica of playing the piano. "Classical music is soothing to the mind," Pedro says.

Veronica is also an avid reader and they both are very fond of their many nephews and nieces.

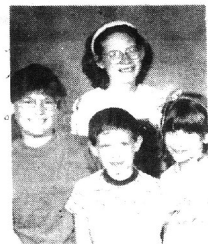

Pedro appreciated all the mail he received from Mentone people during the war. "I enjoy being back and seeing all my old friends who are around," he says. "Mentone looks great, cleaner and prettier than ever."

Who's Who at Tippecanoe Valley

Eric Biddinger prepares to launch one of the rockets he has designed for his 4-H Aerospace projects.

Eric Biddinger

by Tonia Weller

This is an extremely busy week for Tippecanoe Valley Senior, Eric Biddinger and his family. "Fair week is the high point of the summer," Eric says. "Everything has to fit around it. If something else comes up during the fair, well, forget it."

Eric, 17, has nine projects entered in this year's Fulton County 4-H Fair, which runs through Saturday. He is also one of four candidates for the title of Duke who were selected on the basis of their 4-H Jr. Leader work, achievement records and community and school activities.

His father, Virgil Biddinger is on the fair board, co-chairman of this year's fair and president of the Pork Producers Association. Eric's mother, Phyllis and his brother, Todd, are also very involved with the fair.

While Eric has enjoyed working on his Swine, Beef, Photography, Corn, Soybean, Bicycling and Jr. leader projects this year, it is his Electric and Aerospace projects that he has found most exciting.

For his electric entry, Eric, who plays keyboard instruments and "writes a little" of his own music, has built a circuit changer for his electronic synthesizer keyboards. The changer will enable him to switch back and forth between the two computerized instruments while playing one keyboard. "It can also be used for CD's or radios," Eric says. At last year's fair his electric project was selected as Grand Champion. "That was a shock," he says.

This is Eric's seventh year in the aerospace program. For the last five years, he has designed and built his own rockets. "I got bored very quickly with the kits," he explains. This year's project is a copper colored, hexagon shaped, finless rocket that he hopes will reach "800 or 900 feet, if it doesn't blow up!" Eric also helps younger kids prepare their aerospace projects. "I enjoy helping the kids out, it is something when they get that first rocket to fly," he says.

"I can't say enough to promote 4-H", Eric says enthusiastically. "The kids put in more time on their projects than people realize. I'd like to encourage both kids and adults to visit the fair and to become involved in 4-H. We need more willing adults to volunteer to help. 4-H is trying to keep up with the times. There are many new projects, like 'Do Your Own Thing'. I've seen kids do everything from comics to model airplanes and collections. I think kids don't realize the possibilities that exist in 4-H in the higher years. I took an all expense paid trip to Washington D.C. and attended an aerospace workshop at Purdue. There are a lot of neat trips out there! And you get to meet a lot of interesting people." He goes on to say, "I would encourage everyone who has the opportunity to attend 4-H Round-Up." This is a gathering, at Purdue, of 3,000 14 and 15 year old 4-H'ers from throughout the state. "I love all the activities," Eric says.

According to Eric, "There are four main interests in my life: 4-H, FFA, marching band and research."

He has been very involved in the latter through the Science Research Class under the direction of Ivan Schuler at Valley. "It's a class a lot of people don't know a whole lot about. Basically you come up with a research project idea you're interested in and then you're on your own. You work a lot with other previous research," Eric adds, "Mr. Schuler is great because he never says he doesn't think something will work, he always says, 'let's do the research and find out'."

For the past two years, Eric's project titled The Effects Of Hydroponics Compared To Soil On A Species Of Glycine Max, has compared the growth rates of soybeans grown in nutrient solutions in both water and sand to others grown in soil. He used four ten gallon aquariums for his research, carefully monitoring the temperature, light humidity and water and nutrient additions. The height of each plant was measured daily and photographs were taken once each week. Eric concluded that while soybeans could be grown hydroponically, more research would be needed to determine if they could out grow and out produce soil grown plants.

His work earned him the top research award at Valley and his project was shown at the Fort Wayne Regional Science Fair.

In the future, Eric hopes to combine his love of science and research with his family background in farming by working in the field of agriculture research and development. He plans to attend either Michigan State or Purdue after graduation from Valley.

Last year Eric was vice president of his FFA chapter and in November attended the FFA National Convention in Kansas City, MO. "It was great," he says. "You never saw so many blue jackets in your life!" He also competes as a member of the FFA Soil, Farm Business Management and Livestock Judging Teams.

Starting first with the trumpet and, later, switching to the baritone, Eric has been in band since sixth grade. He especially likes the marching aspect of the band. "I enjoy the self-discipline that is required to memorize the music and your places," he says. "We've got a great group. It'll be interesting to see what next year brings. We lost a lot of seniors and over half of the band will be freshmen this year." Eric is very proud of Valley's seventh place finish in the ISSMA State Finals after winning the Northern Indiana Regionals.

This is Eric's eighth year in 4-H and he has found it very rewarding. "Sometimes kids just starting out get discouraged," he says. "My first Grand Championship didn't come until my fifth year in 4-H. You can't give up the first few years. You have to stick it out. 4-H offers so many opportunities."

If you haven't already visited this year's Fulton County 4-H Fair, make plans to go to Rochester and see the results of all the hard work of the Biddingers and all the other area adults and kids involved with the fair.

New principal hired by Valley board

Mills, a 46-year-old native of Wabash County has been with the Central Noble School District in Albion since 1967. He served as high school principal there for the past three years. Before becoming principal, he taught history, biology, science, sociology, government and economics. Mills had also been curriculum director and assistant principal.

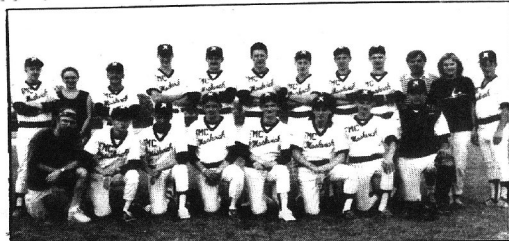

Mills was raised on a farm near Roann. He graduated from Huntington College in 1967, received his master's degree from Purdue in 1970 and his professional certificate in 1977.

In addition to his work in education, Mill has worked on livestock and dairy farms, helped build the I-69 bypass near Huntington, managed a blueberry farm, worked in a factory, built and painted houses, and for three years, owned a lumber and hardware business.

Mills and his wife have three children: a son, 23, who is a graduate of Ball State and works in Evansville; a daughter, 21, who is a senior at Manchester College; and an 18-year-old son who lives at home. After their home in Albion is sold, the Millses will be relocating in the Tippecanoe Valley area.

During his career Mills has received several awards including the 1987 Toastmasters International Toastmaster Award, a 1989 National Junior Achievement Teacher Fellowship Award, 1989 Foelinger Award for Excellence and a 1989 School Improvement Award.

The terms of Mills's contract call for him to receive $53,398 for a 220-day school year, plus 3 percent as retirement benefits. His first duties will include hiring an assistant principal, an English teacher and filling several non-teaching positions.

Russians Play Ball in Warsaw

by Leafy Hudson

Fifteen members of the Moskovich Baseball Team, ages 15-18, sponsored by the Moskovich Car Factory, Moscow, which is owned by the Russian government, visited in Warsaw this summer. The purpose of the trip was twofold: to help them prepare for the Russian Championship Games held in August, and to enrich the relationship with America.

"We came here to find out what problems we have--our strengths and our weaknesses," says Coach Sergei Kurchenko. Playing the American teams, they feel, helps them improve their playing as well as their interior relationships. "It helps us gel as a team."

Baseball is relatively new to Russia, says the coach. Soccer, hockey, basketball, and volleyball are still more popular, in that order. But, "someone" sold "Anatoly," president of Moskovich Car Factory Sports Club, on the idea that baseball is an interesting game. So, he came to Westchester, Mass., to see if it's worth it. And they decided to try it. The sport is growing fast in Russia. For example, where there were about 50 teams last year, there are about 100 now. They hope to develop it eventually at the high school level.

Kurchenko pointed out that while American players grow up with baseball, seeing it before they play it, the Russians have to be taught. But, he feels some of his players, over time, have developed instinctive movements, citing especially his pitcher, 1st baseman and left-fielder. The nucleus of Kurchenko's team is made up of members of the soccer team he coached before turning to baseball. The team was very excited about receiving their first cleats, a gift from Dana Corp. Syracuse, and feel that will help them.

While staying in Warsaw, the Moskovichs played Concord, Plymouth, Dekalb, Kokomo, Warsaw, Columbia City and Whitko High Schools. They were delighted to be winners of a tournament played with those teams.

Other activities while in the Midwest included visiting the Museum of Science and Industry, Sears Tower and Cedar Point. The adults liked the museum best, but, just like American kids, the team's favorite place was Cedar Point.

This summer's trip to Warsaw is the second one for the Moskovich Team. They have also played in Philadelphia. Their future plans are to go to Florida in March, then Philadelphia next July, then to come back to Warsaw in two years. In the meantime, a Warsaw sponsored team has visited them in Russia and plans to return there next year. "We have developed a good relationship with the two teams (Philadelphia and Warsaw) and want to keep it," Kurchenko says.

The boys work hard while on tour, practicing four hours a day. Sunday is their day off. They stay, two by two, in American homes, so they have an opportunity to experience our culture close up.

The boys find American girls quite different from Russian girls, especially in appearance. They feel Russians tend to be more reticent than Americans--"We would be looked on as idiots

GOD GAVE US THE TECHNOLOGY TO INVENT THE COMPUTER

God gave them wisdom that have it...let them use their talents.
— William Shakespeare

"These things are good and profitable unto men."
— Titus 3:8

Among the greatest inventions of this century is the computer. It has become a necessity to businesses, government, medical facilities, etc., and many a home now has one. It performs a mind-boggling array of useful functions, like retrieving case histories in seconds. It serves as a typesetter, an artist, a composer, a photo processor, and a planner of achievements beyond the imagination of most of us. The computer is indeed a marvel of modern technology. Our House of Worship teaches us that God created man and endowed him with the ability to invent something like this. There is no finer example of the good that can be accomplished by human ingenuity, or of God's wisdom in making all things possible as a result of it.

Aquatic Club

The Tippecanoe Valley Aquatic Club participated in two dual swim meets in July and were victorious in both.

On July 9, TVAC swam against the Marion Aquatic Club and won the swim meet by a score of 297-101. And on July 23, TVAC defeated the Rochester Royals 203-202.

Of the 51 events swam in the TVAC-Marion meet, TVAC won 43 events to Marion's 8 victories. First place winners in the 8 and under category for TVAC were Lacey Stump, Amber Dudge and Hilary Vanlaningham. In the 9-10 division, winners were Carrie Whetstone, Lucas Cox and Kevin Cooksey. TVAC winners in the 11-12 category were Eve Boggs, Shanna Dunnuck, Jason Paris and Scott Whetstone. Winners in the 13 and over category for TVAC were Rebecca Flora, Jill Hunter, Natasha Stiver, Shawn Dunnuck and Ryan See. TVAC also won 8 of 10 relays swam in this meet.

Special recognition for effort in this meet go out to Brianne Walgamuth and Matt Baker. Brianne, who is only 5 years old, swam her fastest times ever in the 25 and 50 free and the 25 butterfly events. She was also a member of the 8 and under 100 free relay, which cut 2 seconds off its previous fastest time. Matt, swimming his first season with TVAC this summer, also swam an excellent meet. He cut 5 seconds off his previous best 50 free and 50 back and cut 15 seconds off his previous best 100 free. TVAC would like to commend Brianne and Matt for their hard work and super effort!

The meet between TVAC and Rochester exhibited a great comeback effort by TVAC. Rochester led almost the entire meet, but TVAC, through the super effort of our 13 and over boys relay, won the last relay and thus won the meet by one point.

First place winners for TVAC were Amber Dudge (25 and 50 free, 25 back); Kevin Cooksey (50 fly, 50 back, 100 free); Carrie Whetstone (50 breast, 50 and 100 free); Eve Boggs (50 fly, 50 breast, 50 free); Shanna Dunnuck (50 back); Reba Roach (100 free and 200 IM); Jason Paris (50 breast, 50 back, 50 free); Scott Whetstone (50 fly, 100 free, 200 IM); Jill Hunter (100 breast, 100 free, 200 IM); and Rebecca Flora (100 fly, 100 back, 50 free).

In the dual meet portion of the summer season, TVAC ended up with a record of 2-1. The Rochester-TVAC dual meet marks the end of the summer season for most of the swimmers, but we would like to take this opportunity to mention some of our hardest-working swimmers, who may seldom receive first place ribbons but come in with the second and third place points which assure us a victory. They are also consistently at practice working hard and supporting TVAC in any way possible. In short, they are the true backbone of our club.

Thanks for all your hard work-Derek See, Melissa Monk, Elizabeth Stavedahl, Matt Baker, Ryan See, Natasha Stiver and Brianne Walgamuth.

He is being fed through the veins of his body.

Named Navy Editor-At the suggestion of Secretary of Navy Knox, Mr. Cullum, editor of the News has been made Navy editor, to help the Navy in giving ambitious local young men information about the opportunities the "Two-Ocean Navy" offers them for technical training and advancement as they serve their country in this emergency. According to an announcement made public in Washington, a limited number of additional men between the ages of 17 and 50 will be given a chance, by enlistment in the Navy, to get to the top, with big pay, in jobs which by their aptitude and as a result of examination they show themselves fitted, from among nearly 50 different trades and vocations. These include such callings as aviation machinist, dental technician, photographer, diesel engineer, radio technician, welder, stockkeeper, and baker. Enlisted men may also qualify for commissions as officers.

Beginning this week the Navy plans for a limited time to accept new qualified men for training. These men will be sent to one of four Naval training Stations and may have a chance to go to a Navy Trade School even before assignment to the fleet. During this period they will be given regular Navy pay and the Navy's free schooling is valued up to $1500.

As Navy editor, Mr. Cullum has received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for all men interested and, in addition, will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into the new and greater opportunities the Navy now offers for training for future civilian careers as they serve their country now in its emergency.

Scenes Around Town

by Leafy Hudson

Everyone is enthusiastically aware of springtime, bursting with new life on every side and the invigorating fall, with its crisp leaves, breathtaking color and Halloween fun. But, mid-summer, in all its fullness, is a time we don't usually give much thought to. Yet, it's a time we should appreciate as much as any other.

In our back yard, the Rose of Sharon bush bends under its load of beautiful white blooms. Birds present lovely concerts, swooping gracefully from tree to tree. A young, speckled robin joins its older relatives, splashing in the birdbath. Hummingbirds dart to and fro between feeders and flowers, pausing just long enough to take nourishment and leave the observer in awe. Picnics, Little League, "kids" who grew up here back home to visit, swimming parties trying to beat the heat, corn fields fully developed and prayers for rain are all a part of this hot, lazy, sunny season.

Another indication that summer has reached its height is the feverish activity of 4-H member and leaders.

I went along with Honey and Nicole to watch some 4-H clothing judging the other day. It had been a long time since I had seen anything like that and I was pleasantly surprised. Classes of little girls trooped onto the stage impressive and poised, showing off the aprons, skirts and jumpers, looking remarkable good, they had made with their own hands. For Consumer Clothing, they lined up for the judge in carefully selected, tasteful outfits and explained why their purchases were wise buys.

The really surprising part, to me, was the senior division girls. Bill Patrick's (Whitko's basketball coach) daughter, Michelle, appeared in her own creation, a riding outfit, complete with chaps! Betsy Bammerlin (Teacher Wayne Landis's sister-in-law), appeared in a two piece outfit, intense with color, with the various colored pieces perfectly joined. Some other outfits modeled included: a perfectly fitted cocktail dress and accessories fit for a queen, a tailored wool dress which would take her creator into any elegant situation, and a beautiful bright red wool suit made and modeled by TVHS's own Dawn Burch.

Speaking of Dawn, our sincere congratulations are due to her for her recent honor, winning Queen of the Lakes at the Mermaid Festival, another midsummer event.

These lush, "lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer" are really a very special time that should be savored by everyone.

Farmers Day Parade entry deadline nears

August 2 is the deadline for entries to the Indiana State Fair Farmers Day Parade. The parade, featuring floats, bands, hitches and pets is slated to begin at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday, August 21, in front of the grandstand.

This year's parade theme is "Proud To Be An American..." and trophies and prize money totaling $6,000 will be awarded. The farm hitch class is open to any size oxen, mule or horse team. Trophies through fifth place will be awarded with entries judged on harness, team, driver appearance and appropriateness of vehicle pulled. ## Beaver Dam U.M.W.

Sixteen U.M.W. members met at the home of Donita Barbola on July 16, 1991. 31 cards were signed for friends in thought.

Alice Balmer reported that the curtains and ice cream freezers were welcomed with open arms at Camp Lakewood.

Best wishes were extended to Alice, Donita Barbola, and Edy Barber as they attend the School of Christian Missions and DART weekend in July.

"Love in Action" was the title of Donita's program. She stressed the importance of the Love of God and putting that love in action by showing love for our neighbor. Donita shared and expressed appreciation for the neighborly deeds shown to them since moving to the community.

The next meeting will be held September 17 in the home of Diane Pontious.

Sherry Smalley closed with a circle of prayer. Jackie Cumberland and Donita treated the group with summertime refreshments.

Honors Program

Jeff Grindle, son of Bruce and Judy Grindle, Syracuse, and the grandson of Mary Luckenbill, Akron, was among the outstanding high school students to attend the Honors College Summer Program at Ball State University, June 16-28.

To be accepted in this program, a student must generally be ranked in the top 20 percent of the junior class and have a grade point average of 3.0 (or B) or better.

The Honors College invites juniors to enroll in one of the seven classes offered and to add three to four hours of college credit to their academic records. Students accepted are granted University Scholarships. Jeff chose the Architecture (CAP) 198 course, consisting of an introduction to architecture, landscape architecture, urban planning and development.

Classroom lectures were supplemented by a one-day study tour to Columbus, the "Athens of the Midwest," to examine a variety of noteworthy examples of contemporary architecture, landscape architecture and urban design projects, and also a trip to Indianapolis.

Jeff plans to attend Ball State University upon his graduation from Wawasee High School in the spring of 1992.
