Cumulative building fund rate set

by Sherry Blankenship

Tippecanoe Valley School Board members voted Monday night to set the proposed cumulative building fund rate at one dollar ($1.00) per one hundred dollars of taxable property. The proposed cumulative building fund, if adopted, is to be used to build a middle school, auxillary gymnasium on the existing high school, an administration building, and to remodel the Akron and Mentone schools. Monies in the neighborhood of $5,000,000 will be required to erect the new facility and to renovate the existing ones.

Board members Con Shewman, Don Snipes, Everett Besson, Vernon Meredith, and Lee Norris approved the sale of the building trade class's house in Akron. Members rejected the first bid for $37, 800. This figure was 90% of the average appraised value of $42, 000. 90% of the average appraised value is the lowest legal amount the board can accept for the house Board member, Lee Norris, stated that this amount was too low and suggested the board ask for $39, 900 bid. Bidders, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Allison agreed upon the price and the house was sold to them. They were the only bidders on the property.

Superintendent Dr. Lloyd W. Harrell informed the Board that the State Board of Tax Commissioners had given him over-the-phone assurance that the additional bus bond appropriation had been approved. "The money should be coming," he stated, "and would be invested as soon as it arrived."

Dr. Harrell also informed the Board that he had sent ten applications to architects and had already received one reply. He recommended that Board members set aside free days at the end of June to interview at least three applicants.

TVHS principal, Loren Skinner, gave a brief report on the beginning of summer school. He informed trustees that the majority of anticipated students had showed up. He also stated that the drivers education class and the swimming classes were filled for the summer. Recreation classes are also filled. Skinner informed the Board that a good percentage of the math and reading students had also showed up. "I was happy to see that," he emphasized.

Dr. Harrell reported to the Board that bids would be received for the conversion of the track field to the metric system. Specifications had been mailed to five or six companies, and Dr. Harrell was confident that several would respond. The trustees listened intently as a representative from the Honey-well Corporation, David Manck, discussed the preventative maintenance system the company offers. The Honeywell concept of preventative maintenance is one where a company inspects, maintains, and provides the replacement parts for the cooling and heating system. The representative contended that the Honeywell maintenance system would save energy and would keep the present system working at maximum efficiency. They maintained that their company could save the school system $9,000 annually over the present system. The cost of the entire package was $51,204 annually.

Board members rejected the Honeywell proposal and opted for a less expensive one offered by Johnson Control. Johnson Control however, only inspects the systems and changes the filters. Their figure does not include any parts or maintenance, other than filter changes, or labor costs incurred for installing new parts or for repairs. Johnson's price was $9389 for approximately 234 hours of work.

By unanimous vote the trustees authorized Dr. Harrell to write letters to the Editors of local newspapers to clear up misleading statements the press had made. Trustee Besson stated that the press had led the public to believe that the principals would receive one 'thousand dollars in addition to their regular salary. He also stated that they had indeed accepted the lowest bid on the buses. When shipping charges were added to the lesser bid, it was no longer the low bid. He also noted that one bus bid did not meet board specifications.

Ordinance signed for Commission withdrawl

by Renee Norlander

An ordinance to withdraw from the Kosciusko County Area Plan Commission was signed Monday evening by the members of the Mentone Town Board in their regular monthly session at the Board president Frank Hardesty, and trustees Wayne Tombaugh and Gerald Romine had agreed earlier this year to withdraw from the Commission because it was their feeling that local control would be more effective. For several months they have been reviewing town ordinances that had been established in 1961, prior to the towns joining of the Commission in 1975.

It was town attorney Lee Bazini's recommendation that they sign the withdrawal, as he sees no reason for their not having the town ordinances in order within sixty days.

In accordance with withdrawal procedure, the trustees now have sixty days to: approve of a set of local ordinances; appoint a five member local Board of Zoning Appeals; and form a Town Plan Com-

Attorney Bazini explained the requirements of persons to serve on these boards, and stressed that the terms should be staggered. The trustees will recommend persons for the positions at their next regular session.

According to Water and Street

Superintendent Harry Sullivan, all of the paint and repair work that was contracted to be done on the town water tank has been completed. The total cost of the project was $10,174.50, with $5,224 for repairs and $4950 for painting. According to the contract with Leary Construction, the repair work (welding) is warrented for ten years, so long as the paint (inside and out), is kept new every three years.

John Hart, who was hired as the new Marshal to replace the resigning Earl Beattie, at a special session last month, was sworn in at Monday evenings meeting and a six month work agreement for Hart was signed by the trustees. After a six month probation period, a contract will be signed upon Board approval.

In other action:

Board president, Hardesty, asked for board approval for the town to contribute their share towards the purchase of a new grass truck for the fire department. As members of the Mentone-Tri-township fire department, Mentone would contribute 32% of the cost, which Hardesty approximated at $3200. The three townships would then give their share with Harrison at 32%, Franklin at 20%, and Newcastle with 16%.

According to Clerk-Treasurer Catherine Whetstone, there will be approximately $7000 in the Federal

Lions are remodeling ball diamond

MEMBERS OF THE Mentone Lions Club were hard at work last Wednesday evening as they began renovation of the baseball diamond at Mentone School. They are going to donate a new backstop in exchange for use of the diamond this summer.

Festival this week

The Mentone Egg Festival, the town's annual salute to the poultry industry that made it the "Egg Basket of the Midwest," opens Thursday, June 7.

Attractions, contests, and events are published with their scheduled times. See special insert of this weeks NEWS.

The Festival, sponsored by the Mentone Chamber of Commerce, will run for three fun-filled days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 7, 8 and 9. Along with the attractions, many of the merchants in Mentone will be having sidewalk sales as well as many special sales on merchandise in the stores.

The Mentone Lions Club was busily engaged in renovation of the baseball diamond at Mentone School on Wednesday, May 16. The Lions deviated from their usual dinner meeting format to a

The old Mentone "Bulldog" diamond was disced and graded to smooth out the rough spots and removed enchroaching weeds and grass. It was then measured for softball dimentions and foul line markers were placed. The outfield area was improved by filling in and rolling out the deep holes and tire marks created over the

In the near future a new backstop will be erected. It is the intention of the Lions to make the diamond useful for adult softball leagues during the summer months. Many church and adult groups have expressed an interest in the use of the diamond. It is hoped that those interested in its use would contact the Lions Club, so that a schedule could be established.

Reach halfway mark

The Mentone Fire Department announced today that it has reached 50% of its goal of $7000. The money is being used to purchase radio equipment for the department. Deadline for donations is June 15 in order to meet a purchase deadline on a special discount offer by the manufacturer which ends June 30. Any donations will be appreciated.

Our "Sound Off" column last week caused some concern for members of the School Board who are concerned that we may be misleading people with improper information. It is the purpose of "Sound Off" to give persons a chance to express their opinions, but, of course, these do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the NEWS staff.

When I read the "Sound Off" in question, I realized the person was incorrect in regards to the principals bonuses, and I should have written a footnote below stating the correct facts. The fact is that the principals were not granted the bonuses by the TVSC board. This was published correctly in my coverage of the March 19 meeting of the board.

Members learn of Amish ways

Twenty-one members and guests had dinner at the Triple A's Amish home near Nappanee preceding the monthly meeting of the Anthony be the receipients of the Good Citi-Nigo Chapter, DAR. The business meeting and program was held at the home of Mrs. Glenn Clauss, with Mrs. Jeff Bormet serving as

The National Defense reports were given by Mrs. Glenn Clauss and Phyllis Shaffley on the Pana-ma Canal, and the resolution on Ethics in Congress was given by Mrs. Paul Shireman. The president General's message of Mrs. George Baylies was read by Mrs. Ernest Igo which presented the theme for next year, "A Tapestry of Service".

The program, given by Mrs. Geo. Slaybaugh, was on "The Amish I Know". According to Mrs. Slaybaugh, the Amish traveled from Switzerland to the United States and settled mostly in Penrsylvania. Their clothing is very simple with no buttons or helts and plain co.

They do not believe in picture taking and will turn their back when approached by a person with a camera except for the small children who cannot resist being a ham. Mostly they farm but they also have handicraft shops. The Amish work also in factories but not as a supervisor. All are taught to work hard at a very young age.

They worship at different homes. One Sunday is Church and the next is Sunday School. Most do not join the church until they are mar-ried. The host family always fur-nishes the food and it is an all day affair. They do not have pastors; the lay people do the preaching. They are baptised by pouring of water when they join the church.

The family buggy now costs as much as a compact car. Bikes are also used for transportation. Homes are started small and added on to as the family grows. Store bought furniture and even curtains are now permissable for home de-coration. They will spend money when necessary, but not for frivilous things.

The schools are usually one room and children are only educated un-til they reach full workable age. Their social time is spent visiting and they travel extensively.

Mutual Aid is their means of help with both medical and household necessities. They travel from many states to help raise a barn or house that has been destroyed. They believe in strict medical help, especially around this locality. They prefer large families.

Brides wear white with bridesmaids dressed alike and groomsmen. It is usually a morning cere-mony on a Thursday that lasts all day. They go on honeymoons, sometimes to great distances. Most stay in groups where they can be

The pictures and comentary were of great interest to all present. The next meeting will be on June 12, in the home of Mrs. Eldred Paulus.

Hart looks forward to role as new marshal

by Sherry Blankenship

When asked about his recent appointment as Marshal of Mentone, John Hart modestly replied that he was surprised that he was chosen as the other applicants were older than himself and more experienced.

and more experienced.
Although only 24, Marshal
Hart is not shy on experience himself. He has always been interested in a career in the law enforcement field and got his first experience with the county.
He served as a Kosciusko County reserve officer for one and onehalf years. While a reserve officer he took three months of law enforcement training and schooling.

The schooling entailed learning the basics of law enforcement such as arrest and search and seizure procedures. He learned about the law itself and the classification of crimes and also learn-

Marshal Hart, who has lived in Mentone all his life, also gained practical experience as a parttime deputy for former Marshal Earl Beattie. In January the Marshal will further his schooling with a ten-week intensive course at the Indiana State Police Academy in Indianapolis.

Before becoming Marshal and when not on duty as a deputy, John worked with his father, Russel, in the family construction business. He indicated that his future was in the law enforcement field, however, when he stated, "I plan on going further

(in police work) if I can."

The Marshal's job is not an easy one as he is on call 24 hours a day for the city of Mentone. Should all the county policemen be covering a major accident or busy on calls elsewhere, he can also be called upon to cover a call outside the city. He admitted that the job ties him down but he stated that was part of the job and it did not bother him. Marshal Hart's wife, Becky, is on call 24 hours a day too. She answers the phone if he is on patrol or whenever he is not near the phone. Becky must be within hearing distance of the phone at all times. As the Harts have a charming 14 month old daughter named Carmen, who likes to play outdoors, this can be a chore. John said that he planned to install a buzzer in the garage that would ring when the phone did. As they could then hear the phone outside, this would give Becky more freedom.

Becky had to learn to use the dispatch system so she could contact John when he was on patrol. I asked how she felt about staying at home and being on call. She replied, "I don't mind it at all as I was staying home anyway to care for Carmen."

The Harts are both flying enthusiasts and both have taken the required ground schooling. John is a member of the Mentone Flying Club and plans eventually to obtain his pilots license. "I have only a few more hours of flying time before I can get my pilot's license, plus, of course, taking the written exam and oral flight test," he stated. Becky commented that she had not taken the actual flying hours yet, but said that she could take those anytime.

Go-cart racing is another pastime of the Harts. It appears to be more than just a hobby though as Marshal Hart has won four trophies this past year. Becky does not race but is an enthusiastic backer and fan of John.

siastic backer and fan of John.
The Harts bowl and John also enjoys hunting and fishing when he can find the time in his busy schedule. Becky is an inactive member of Beta Mu Tri Kappa Club in Rochester and is the daughter of William Freyburg, the editor of the RochesterSentinel.

WHAT IS A

GIB PHONE ?

First, it's the phone company . . . it's General Telephone!

The GTE Phone Mart is a comparatively new idea . . . available to serve you with the most up-to-date communications equipment and service.

Most Marts are conveniently located in shopping areas with adequate parking.

Some have extended hours; we're usually open when you want us to be.

What services can you enjoy at a GTE Phone Mart? Visit your nearest Mart to:

Order new telephone service.

Transfer telephone service from one address to another.

Remove telephones or change service.

Add telephones, or just exchange your telephones for different styles or colors.

Repair telephones (if we have predetermined the problem is with the telephones themselves).

Pay your telephone bill.

In fact, almost any reason you might have to call or visit General Telephone can be a reason to visit a GTE Phone Mart. One of the best reasons . . . you can save a "trip" charge which means money in your pocket.

It's the place where you can color match (or contrast) with your decorating theme all the beautiful phones you've been hearing about.

Disagree with article

DEAR EDITOR:

Indiana Rural News, (IRN), a magazine received by people whose electricity is supplied by REMC, printed two articles about nuclear energy which I disagreed with and I telephoned the editor to discuss my opinion. Since many other people here receive the paper and may have read the articles. I would like to point out a few things IRN published the statements of some officials, saying that exposing yourself to the amounts of radio-activity leaking from a damaged reactor is equivalent to two and one half chest x-rays. That's decep-tive. A diagnostic x-ray focuses zation. Therefore all retired teachers radioactivity on only a part of the body, while radioactive fallout covers the whole body. Whole body radiation, especially of young and unborn children, is much more damaging than partial radiation, even with the same total dose. Re search studies have shown that mice given whole body doses of radiation got leukemia more readily than did mice that had as small a part of their body as their tail or legs pro tected from the radiation exposure.

> Their biggest deception however, in my opinion, was a statement printed in this manner:

Fact: No radiation death or proven injury has resulted to any mem-ber of the public from the operation of any commercial nuclear power plant.

Maybe that statement is true because of the qualification "commercial", maybe Russia does not have "commercial" nuclear power plants. But the fact is that a waste collection site exploded in Russia in 1958, killing hundreds of people and contaminating a large area.

The articles project that electricity would be too costly for the consumer in the future without nuclear power. It was not taken in-to consideration that in the future solar energy could be used to decrease our growing energy needs. Nor was it considered that even us ing overly optimistic safety studies such as the Rasmussen report, which has been discredited, if nuclear energy production expands as planned, there will be a melt. down somewhere in the world down somewhere in the world every four years by the year 2050. Just imagine what would happen to the price of food if every four years large areas of land were con-taminated so they would no longer be suitable for growing food. Pre-sently an arid region in New Mexi-co has been so polluted by the du dumping of nuclear waste from bomb tests that no humans can fire there.

Also, some of the safety precau-tions for nuclear power have not been proven. For example, the Emergency Core Cooling System (ECCS) was not tested until 1973, then it was on a small replica reac-tor, and the system failed. A larger-scale test was planned, but never conducted for reasons of cost. No one knows to this day if squirting water into a 600 degree pile of malfunctioning uranium will cool it down effectively. So just how safe is the "peaceful use of nu-clear power?"

Not safe enough by any stretch of the imagination, is my answer. I am ready to do without the approximate 13 percent of electricity that is supplied by nuclear power and enjoy the healthful benefits of a less pampered way of life.

Sincerely, Charlotte Hammond Akron, Indiana

"Sound Off" unkind

DEAR EDITOR:

We feel the "Sound Off" articles are very poor and unkind. If people are not willing to sign their name to their slanderous insinuations, then you should allow the person or organization involved to answer the accusation in the same publication. How many people read the initial comment and never catch the corrections or editorials? I doubt many every follow up - people that enjoy this quality material are not really looking for answers!

Sincerely, Marcella Meredith

"Before you trim trees around power lines, give us a call.

Charles Miller, system forester

Trees and limbs can become electrified if they contact power lines. Serious injury could result from touching a tree near the point of contact. For your safety, we urge you to call us before trimming trees that are near power lines.

Treehouses also pose a threat. Never build one in a tree that has power lines near it. And be sure children are aware of the dangers of playing in trees, too. It's important that they look for power lines before climbing, and never climb trees near power lines.

Play it safe this summer. Follow these tips and you may avert a tragedy.

Tippecanoe Valley Board approves $12,620 bid to convert track field metric

by Sherry Blankenship

In action taken Monday night, June 18, the Tippecanoe Valley School Board members voted unanimously to adopt the Cumula-tive Building Fund Resolution and tax rate. The tax rate will be $1.00 (one dollar) per $100.00 (one hundred) If annoved by (one-hundred). If approved by the State Tax Board, the tax wil be levied in 1979 to be payable in 1980. The money is to be used for a middle school, auxiliary gymnasium, ad-ministrative building and to repair Akron and Mentone schools.

Akron and Mentone schools.

Board members, Con Shewman, Don Snlpes, Everett Besson, Vernon Meredith and Lee Norris gave Dr. Lloyd Harrell, superintendent of Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation, the nod to offer Daniel Kramer, West Lafayette, the posi-tion of principal at Akron. Kramer will be offered a salary of $18, 000. He was chosen from approx-imately thirty applicants.

Leslie Brothers, Indianapolis, submitted a bid of $12,620.00 for marking the track field with metric markings and for coating the track field. They also submitted an alternative plan which called for coating the track with two coats of acrylic for an additional $2750. Dr. Harrell recommended that board members choose to have only one coat of sealer and that the sealer be black. They acted up-

In other action taken by the board, Mike Hoyt, present industrial arts teacher at Mentone and Akron, was transferred to Men-tone. He will also help with the football team at Mentone. Dr. Harrell recommended that only one sweeper be hired at Men-tone for an eight hour day at the starting wage of $4.22. Previously, two sweepers were hired for a five hour day. The name was approved by the Akron Town Board in their regular monthly meeting held Tuesday nig-ht in the town hall. The approval was given after representatives of the Akron Chamber of Commerce suggested Woodlawn Avenue be officially designated so that a new str-eet sign project by the Chamber could be completed.

Present at the short meeting were

The views expressed in SOUND OFF do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the NEWS.

"I think it is unfair that our queen candidates did not have booths during Mentone's Egg Festival. In the past, the candidates have worked very hard to raise money for the town--what did they receive?? Just the title of being queen. They brought friends and relatives to the town. I think it is a shame that the girls who ran this year were not enough interested to have a hooth." enough interested to have a booth.

"Why is there no woman on the school board? Why is there no Parent Teacher Assoc. in the Valley school system? Why is it, the children today, are not taught proper grammar-and they are not-for I correct our children everyday. The use of past tense verbs is deplorable. I realize there is teenage slang-but they are only teen-agers a very short time, and they are supposed to be getting their education, for their future jobs and careers. Not enough emphasis is put on good grammar-and it is just as important as the sports programs. Good grammar is not difficult, it was taught to us, when we were in school. It should be taught, now. A good grammar teacher should be hired-this is a "Back to Basics" request. There is no excuse for such sloppiness, or "It's not important attitude". They can't even carry a daily conversation-without a correction.

(Editor's Note: Two women candidates have run for election in recent School Board elections. Both were defeated. It is up to the voters in the district to choose their School Board...A reliable source informed me that Akron and Mentone had Parent-Teacher Organizations at one time, but were discontinued upon the lack of parent involvement. Perhaps interested parents would like to start a PTO... Mr. Skinner assured me that the school corporation is doing its best to educate the students in the use of our language. Tests for ability and skills were started this year and will continue in the upcoming years. The administrators hope to set standards within the next three years. If students fail to perform up to par they will be recommended for remedial reading programs.)

"I feel that 'Sound Off' is an ideal way to express an idea or opinion without fear of condemnation or criticism. In a small community it is often hard to express yourself without 'stepping on someone's toes' I don't feel that it is fair to criticize the entire colun, for one editorial slip-up. Come on, not everyone delights in seeing their name in print!"

"We'd like to know if anyone else in the area is receiving a lot of crank phone calls from kids. The phone company says there is no way to trace all calls."

(Editor's Note: If anyone else is having problems with phoney calls, please let us know at the NEWS office and we will forward your name to the above person.)

Reunion in honor of 50 years was happy success

Submitted by a 1929 Graduate -

Our 1929 Akron High School class 50th anniversary party on June 6 was a happy and pleasant success. Being the smallest class all through high school made us a strong knit class as we worked hard to succeed with our goals, so we became more close to each other. When we graduated in 1929 there were only 23 of us. 1929 there were only 23 of us. Since that time we have lost four classmates, Harold Leininger, Jim Riley, Olive McGee and Jim Shimer. Out of the 19 left, 16 attended with their mates or guests, plus 7 of our teachers whom we all enjoyed. They were Dale Litchenwalter of Rochester, Ben Rufe of Peru, Lloyd and Mary Carpenter of Winamac, Imogene Zartman Austin of Greencastle and Bernice Bowen and Willis Bowen of Akron. We had letters from our sponsor We had letters from our sponsor Hubert Dickson of Lapel, Indiana and Wendall Godwin of Topeka,

As we each told of our past 50 years, which is a long time, the years seemed to roll back and time got shorter making us a class working again together. We all had a very good and enjoyable time. Each class member and teacher on arriving was given a name tag with their picture as they looked in 1929 made and presented to them by Doris Arter Osborn. And each one received a silk carnation, their class flower, and a silk rose for each teacher from Juanita Boswell. Dr. Ferry took pictures and we are all expecting to get some of these later.

When you ask Elmer Hammond, Mentone about stonemasonry his eyes sparkle and he immediately begins to talk animately about this almost lost art he says should be preserved for its historical value. Mr. Hammond, a 69 year old retired bricklayer, comes from a long line of stonemasons. His great-grandfather settled in the Beaver Dam area in 1842 and started a brick yard making handmade bricks

The art of stonemasonry and brick laying has been passed down through pulled a house trailer with them to six generations of the Hammond family. At one time Mr. Hammond The lively couple, who one would and seven brothers were in the bricklayer's union. The tradition is being continued as Mr. Hammond has grand-nephews who are present-ly working on a cobblestone veneer at a hone near Mentone.

Stonemasonry is an art that is prehistoric in origin and requires great skill and an educated eye to match perfectly the stones used for buildings. Due to the natural coloring of the stone it is an art that affords aesthetic possibilities that are not available with other materials.

Various sized hammers were used Mr. Hammond refers to as the pretty side. He says, "They are really prettier inside than out." Then the irregular stones were made to fit perfectly so that the results were a

Examples of stonemasonry built in this area can be found near Olive Bethel Church, Three homes there have verandas that are stone. There is also one near the county line on State Road 19 at the job, north of Akron. This particular one was built in 1917 by Clem Hammond. It has the added attraction of having unexposed mortar in the joints.

Mr. Hammond started in the bricklaying business at 16, working 10 hours a day for 35 cents an hour one summer. He commented nour one summer. He commented that he liked the pay so much that he didn't return to school. Ruth, his wife of 51 years, jokingly commented that he was going with me at the time and just couldn't quit; the job paid so well.

As Mr. Hammond was a free lance bricklayer, he and Ruth have traveled all over the United States. From New York to New Mexico, from Gary and East Chicago, to the Dakotas he has lined glass tanks and rotary kilns. He has built coke ovens and relined blast furnaces in the steel mills and worked on the Madison, Indiana power plant. Ruth, 70, says she has tagged along wherever he went. "Doing the cooking," she laughs, "and occasionaly working in a department stay over the property in the "She ment store or at some job. explained that many people were not anxious to hire her as her hom was on wheels. The Hammonds many jobs.

The lively couple, who one would not guess to be near the age they are, have two children. They commented that the children were grown when they started traveling to the various jobs. The Hammonds will both tell you that they had a lot of fun during their travels.

During the Depression years, Mr. Hammond worked on what was known as the Silver Fox Farm in Ohio. Silver foxes were raised for their pelts. The Hammonds cared for as many as 166 pairs of foxes on the farm. Mr. Hammond said that he could skin a fox in seven minutes in those days.

Mr. Hammond also has a h he refers to as "junking". He ex-plained the term in this manner. When you have several articles by themselves they may be termed as "junk". Put these same articles to-gether and make something useful it is then referred to as "junking". One of his more unusual creations

The base is part of a piano with the three pedals and the top was an end from a bar in Mishawaka. Hanging in the middle is a wooden pulley. Suspended from beneath the table is a small bell and a screw of some sorts. The crowning touch is a bi-cycle pedal jutting from the back of the table. It was unique to say the least, but not nearly as unique as the man who made it.

Writing is another of Mr. Hammonds pastimes. I asked what he wrote and he said he writes anything. "I write letters if nothing else. I write to congressmen, representatives, and to companies ex-pressing my feeling on a particular

He wrote a letter to the President of South Korea when the Korean's wife was shot and received a book from the Korean Consulate. Others will reply or send information to

He commented that he wrote as a release for the energy in his hands Bricklaying had taught him to be quick and efficient with his hands and though retired he still likes to keep his hands busy. He has also written a story about the Silver Fox Farm.

Mr Hammond has turned his writing abilities towards recording the art of stonemasonry. He said, "It is important that people know that the art of stone masonry exists and be aware of the skill required to produce the works of art. It is also important historically to Kosciusko County and to the surrounding areas," he emphatically states.

Consider many factors before purchasing treezer beef

With the prices of beef predicted to rise into next fall, many consumers are considering buying a freezer and filling it with beef.

Jan Armstrong, Extension consumer marketing specialist at Pur-due University, says that, before buying in large quantities a number of factors should be considered For instance, the typical family of five will eat the meat from an entire beef carcass in one year. However, the freezer life of various cuts of beef ranges from three months to a year. If the beef you wish to purchase contains some of the more perishable parts, a half or quarter carcass for freezing may be the best option.

Another consideration is family eating habits. A typical 1000 pound steer will yield about 55 pounds of round steak, 80 pounds of ground beef, 87 pounds of rib (T-bone, and 100 pounds of chuck roast. The rest of the carcass is miscellaneous cuts, such as rib and rump roasts, stew meat and short ribs. (About 185 pounds of the steer consists of fat, bone, and waste which are trimmed away.) If your family eats only steak, it will be disappointed with the 80 pounds of ground beef and other less choice cuts.

If you already have a freezer, the amount of meat to buy should be geared to the space available

One square foot of freezer space will hold about 30 pounds of meat. "Leave some room for other frozen foods," suggests Armstrong.

Of course, price plays a large part in the decision to buy a freezer and a beef. The initial cost of the and a beef. The initial cost of the freezer and operating costs can off-set any savings from bulk purchases of beef-even when that savings is pro-rated over the life of the freezer.

On purely economic grounds, it is difficult to justify bulk purchases of beef; however, the convenience may make the purchase worthwhile.

An alternative to the purchase of a side of beef is to take advantage of sales and seasonal trends in beef, says Armstrong. Many markets of-fer specials on certain cuts of beef at intervals which tend to be fairly consistent. For instance, chuck roasts and steaks may be on sale every four weeks, while hamburger is on sale very three weeks in a particular store. The alert shopper can buy enough beef to last between anticipated sales and store the meat in the freezer. The savings realized from this type of shopping can be considerable

Also, money can be saved by purchasing "out of season" cuts Roasts usually do not sell well during the summer, so specials are common. Mean which is more suit-able for grilling out-of-doors (ribs and steaks for instance) is often on sale during the winter months.

"So, before being lured into making a costly purchase of a freezer and beef just to beat inflation, take a long look at the economics of bulk purchase," suggests Arm-

rich in stately art of stonemasonry Heritage

North Central Indiana was strewn with granite boulders and stones of granite from the glaciers in the ice age. Early timberman were plagued by their presence when removing logs. Homesteaders and farmers regarded them as a menace while at the same time finding while at the same time finding them very useful for foundations and retaining walls of barns and other buildings. No doubt they were cursed when hit by a plowshare and blessed when used in a wall or building, for this was a time when concrete was unavailable for foundations.

Stones mentioned in the Bible of course are not alive. It is just how they relate to living things, includ-ing man, who has gathered them, piled them in corners, along fence rows and around trees. At times he has even brought one home as a pet rock when fascinated by its unusual shape or intriguing color. Wherever they may be piled they are sometimes considered sacred because a man, woman, or child has touched them to place them in that particular spot.

The stones shelter little forms of life from the heat of the day and at the same time provide them with warmth for the night. They are also shelter from the rain, yet they provide moisture for living things as well.

Placed in gullies and ravines, stones also stop erosion. Some stones were heated in ovens to provide for a winters ride in a buggy or sleigh. No doubt smaller stones were gathered in the farm wagon to make plowing and hoeing easier. no make prowing and noeing easier. Many farmers, however, built dry land flatboats to help move the larger stones. The larger stones that were too heavy to lift could then be rolled onto the flatboat. Flatboats were usually made of four oak planks with a cross member at planks with a cross member at front and rear. The bolts were re-cessed on the bottom of the flatboat to keep them from wearing off. Such a boat was also used to

Many stumps and stones were lifted from the field with small charges of dynamite.

Some boulders were fired in the winter and then quick chilled with a band of snow. Several licks with a 20 pound hammer would then be applied to lay the stone open. Hammers used to split stone ranged in size from two and one-half pounds up to twenty pounds. Some were wedged shaped with a concave head for trim purposes. The master craftsman could generally look at a stone and know where to strike for best results. Close observation of the stone art will reveal rosettes, butterflies and various other creations many of which are now shielded from view by shurbery.
It seems worthy to note that many bottom units or starter corners were two feet high and tapered to shape.

Only the masons with the most skill laid the cobblestones. They fit the stones close together with the mortar to the back. This could be likened to a bunch of grapes and was done for greater beauty.

Excellent examples of the field stone art that incorporate many raidial arches are the Studebaker (Tippecanoe Place), the Oliver Man-sion, and the Peoples Church all on west Washington Street in South Bend. Tippecanoe Place has a cob-blestone wall surrounding the estate. There are other foundations and large chimneys of fieldstone in that area also. Some of the skilled masons who worked on those pro-jects were brought from Europe specifically for that purpose.

Verandas became a trend in the early years of the 20th century and the field stones were used in and the field scores were used in tapered posts for roof supports and for forming the walls to sup-port the floor. Some porches were built of cobblestone which requires much less labor and skill of the mason. Broken, dressed field stone, while requiring more labor and skill, show off the beauty of the stones better. Breaking the stones exposed the interior beauty and enabled the mason to trim the edges for a uniform close fit.

In Mishawaka the butter brick In Mishawaka the butter brick Victorian home built by the Shillingers sits on a fabulous field stone foundation. It is located at 802 Lincolnway West. It was built in 1902 in front of the old Kamm and Shillinger Brewery. The basement walls are 24" thick at the bottom and 18" thick at the top to lessen the frost pressure on the outside. This is a simple rule that is sometimes left behind by todays archimes left behind by todays architimes left behind by todays archi-tects and builders, thus causing ruptured walls and broken planters from the frost.
Other excellent field stone art is found in and around the towns of Plymouth and Argos including some cobblestone work. It is possible that a stonemason named Fokker was the creator of some of this work. In Silver Lake, cousins of the Akron Hammond craftsmen were active in stone art.

Fence and cemetery posts, mausoleums, and tomb-stones located in Palestine, Akron. stones located in Palestine, Akron, Sycamore and So. Pleasant are other examples in this area.

Someday most of this art will be gone except for what is captured in color photographs. Even though we are a small community, our heritage is very rich in stately old homes, round barns, little brick school houses, and the stone art and it should be preserved. Preservation of some buildings in other areas have already met with many obstacles. John Ruskin ex. pressed it well when he said: "When we build, let us think that we build forever. Let it not be for present delight nor present use alone. Let it be such work as our descendents will thank us for, and let us think as we law stone on stone that a as we lay stone on stone that a time is to come when those stones will be held sacred because our hands have touched them, and that men say as they look upon the labor and wrought substance of them. "See this, our fathers did this for us."

I don't know if anyone in the area has experienced any problems in getting gasoline at the pumps, but my Mom told me the situation in South Bend is rough. Due to the truckers strike, it's almost impossible to get no-lead, and regular is scarce too.

The situation is getting worse and closer to home. So what are we Americans going to do? Apparently we're still driving too much and too fast, but I can't help but wonder what the gas companies are up to.

Whether the problems are real or not--we need to change. Anyone out there with suggestions on saving gasoline and energy? Unique ways we might be willing to try? Send them to me. We're all going to have to pitch in and lick this enormus problem of shortages. And it will help our wallets too!

Old building in Mentone comes down

The old building located next to the Mentone United Methodist Church, finally came down Monday, when wrecking crews from Warsaw came in to finish the job.

The Church had purchased the old structure from Vincent Goodman of Mentone in December, 1978. The Church is planning on using the vacant area to lay a parking lot.

The building, most recently used seven years ago as a laundromat, has been empty for seven years. It was originally moved to Mentone when the first railroad came throu-gh, at the "Little Chicago" site where the first settlement here was

The building, most recently used as a laundromat seven years ago. originally was located at the "little Chicago" settlement just west of town. It moved into Mentone when the first railroad came through. According to Harry Sullivan, city water supervisor, that is approximately where the Harold Lucht residence now sits at County Road? dence now sits at County Road 1200 west. The building at one time belonged to the uncle of Rosalind and Annabelle Mentzger, E.A.Blue. Mr. Blue operated a general store in the building.

Time marches on!

Meet Deputy Charles Clawson

by Sherry Blankenship

"My idea of a police officer is being there to help people. Being a police officer is not how many tickets I can write," emphasizes Akron Deputy Marshal, Charlie Clawson.Clawson has been a deputy in Akron for the past four years. He has devoted a large share of his adult life to police work and has been a deputy in both Milford and Akron. He points out that Akron is really home to him though.

In response to some questions about his work he stated that he felt he got along well with the young people in the area. He said that he had no problems with them. His rapport with the younger generation could be due in part to the fact that Deputy Clawson worked for the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation for six years. During this time he also worked as a part-time deputy. He gave up his work with the corporation when he became a full-time deputy.

became a full-time deputy.
When asked what job he held for the corporation, he replied that he did several jobs. Some of his duties included janitorial work, helping the cooks and coaches if needed, picking up the mail, checking the boilers on the weekends, and driving the bus if needed. "I was a jack of all trades," he said, "whatever needed doing, I was there to help."

I asked Deputy Clawson what schooling and training he had taken to become a deputy and he replied, "I became a deputy before schooling was required for the job." he told me that he reads books on law enforcement and keeps up on the new rules and regulations. "The law changes pretty regular," he stated. He also informed me that an officer has to be careful what he does and how he does it. "An officer has to use his head," he affirmed.

"I first developed an interest in law enforcement when I was in civil defense," the quiet talking deputy informed me. He also said in the law enforcement field there is something different all the time.

The "something different" almost proved to be Deputy Clawson undoing recently. On April 8 he was making his rounds and stopped in front of the Akron Church of God. A huge tree fell across the patrol car barely missing Deputy Clawson who was in the car at the time. He said, "I heard something and only had time to look around. I couldn't move. It totaled the car. I had to crawl out through the windows." I asked Clawson if the incident frightened him and he replied that at the time he didn't think much about it.

He does find time occasionally to build cars from models however.

He showed me a model that he was working on that had caught my eye when I walked in. He pointed out that the model was a metal one and that he had painted it with a brush. He was obviously proud that no brush marks were visible. The car was a miniature replica of an antique one. He and his son share an enthusiasm for building the models.

Deputy Clawson said that he liked to fish but didn't have the time anymore. He stated that he wasn't fond of hunting as "I don't like to kill anything." Clawson's wife, Joanne, works at

"There are some people in Akron who think they own everything, especially the ball diamond downtown. They want to use it every night, even if they are told that they have to take turns, because there are other teams that want to practice too. And when it comes time to clean it up or work in the concession stand during a tourney, they refuse to help. Explores new form of energy

DEAR EDITOR:

I am writing this in response to your column of June 21. Obvious-ly the so-called "energy shortage". specifically gasoline, affects all of us. We are fortunate that this area has not bee troubled with lines at the gas pumps as yet; but I'm confident we'll have our turn in line before a solution is found.

I recently became aware of an alternate solution to gas, oil and nuclear energy that is both safe and economical if the federal gov-ernment would explore it. I refer to a form of solar energy, the photovoltaic cell.

In May this year I heard a tape of a guest lecture by a Professor Barry Commoner given at the University of Minnesota. In his lecture, Professor Commoner explains the photovoltaic cell and how it is used to manufacture electricity. These cells are literally indestructable. When the sun hits the cell, it manufactures electricity. What electricity is not used is stored in a battery, so when the sun isn't shining, the battery supplies the energy needed. A photovoltaic cell never needs replaced. At the present time the cost of the cell prohibits home use, as there are no plants in the U.S. set up to mass produce the cells. However, according to Professor Com-moner, he has researched the ise; and for an initial expenditure of $400 million by the federal government, the cost of the cells would be reduced to 50 cents a cell, and there would be plants for mass production. At this price, it would cost the "average American" about $1,800 to totally convert their homes to solar energy and no more gas/oil/electric bills! When you consider our federal budget, $400 million is not unreasonable for a safe, permanent solution to the energy problem.

I then found an article in the April 30, 1979 issue of TIME on these cells that ran along similar lines as Professor Commoner's lecture. However, according to the TIME's article, the only people currently researching the photovoltaic cell for mass production are the oil companies; Shell, Exxon and Mobile. It is my theory the oil companies will not make the cells available for home use until they find a way to put a meter on the

I have written to both President Carter and Senator Birch Bayh urging the federal government be the one to produce these cells, and I urge others to write them also. It is senseless to endanger our entire existence with nuclear power plants when there are other, easier solutions. As a young mother I am concerned, and I'm sure you and other mothers share my concern.

Although this letter is long, it is only half what I wrote to the President! Thank you for your time and an opportunity to express my views.

DEAR EDITOR:

On the clear morning of June 7 two state highway trucks were rolling on an interstate enroute to a highway repair area. Each truck was driven by a highway worker. A Also riding in the trucks were three college student summer work ers - two boys and one girl. A large arrow was flashing on the rear highway truck.

Suddenly, without warning, the highway was filled with crashing and flaming vehicles.

About an hour later the report was given to me in Indianapolis. A semi-truck had struck the rear high- ments is Monday by 5 p.m.

way truck and burst into flames. The highway truck exploded into flames and went off into the ditch. The semi careened forward striking the other highway truck ending up on top of the highway truck. The semi tractor broke loose and went on into the ditch.

Of the six people involved, the two in the rear truck were critically burned. The three people in the other truck were treated for in-juries and shock. The semi driver was also injured.

We have had two highway worker fatalities already this year. We n the help of every driver. In construction and maintenance zones. please slow down and give our peo-ple a chance to live. They are out there working for you. We have done about all we know to do. We try to make each construction zone safe with proper signs, flashing ar-rows, flashing barricades, etc. We spend several million dollars each year for traffic control. Each time you enter a maintenance or construction area you may encounter slow trucks, equipment, and flag-men. Please be attentive and ready to stop if necessary.

It's for your safety, too. Our safety experts report many motorists were killed or injured last year in construction and maintenance

Sincerely, Roger F. Marsh Executive Director Indiana State Highway Commission

Special citations for great dairy activity go to the following Akron dairymen who qualified for grade A permits in the last month, Mrs. D. T. Keim, Earl Penrod, H. H. Griggs, Jack Morris and Estle Bryant. It takes faith and a young spirit to tackle grade A improvements. The patron list at the Pralle plant in Akron will show that the "old boys" have just as much of what it takes as the young men.

A truck parked in front of the Milo Cutshall residence blocked traffic on state road 14 about an hour Monday evening when its brakes failed to hold and it coasted into the Don Noyer corn field. The traffic was blocked while a wrecker pulled the truck out of the field. A hard rain impeded the progress.

To millions of Americans, camping in the wilderness for a few days is one of the most pleasurable of ways to spend a summer vacation. But precautions should be taken against health hazards while you are out and about.

Before leaving for your selected campsite, be it the sandy beaches of the Great Lakes or the rocky terrain of the west, be sure to examine your equipment carefully. Bedding, tents, cooking equipment, fishing gear, clothing and food should be checked. Sleeping bags and air mattresses provide more warmth and comfort than cots, and your vacation will be much more enjoyable if you get a good nights sleep each ni-

Select clothing with regards to the weather and conditions of environment at your campsite. Include rain gear, good walking shoes, materials to protect you from insects, clothing to protect you from brush (if such is indicated), and sleep wear.

Adequate meal planning for a camping trip is also of paramount importance. Precautions must be taken for the preservation of all foods, so be sure that you have the proper eq uipment for the refrigeration of foods. And be sure that you have plenty of food to keep you going, lest you inhabit an area not near to a supermarket. You may think of yourself as the "great outdoorsman", but the fish you catch may not

And remember! Running water may not indicate clean water adequate for drinking. (There are not always the remains of dead animals next to poison water as the movies always indicate!) Campers should only use water from wells and springs that have been declared safe.

Select your route for the trip in advance and stick to it! And don't forget your first aid kit, matches in a waterproof container, compass, and an ax or hatchet. And oh yes, lots of jigsaw puzzles---just in case it rains! Happy camping!

"We're always shopping for power bargains.

It's our job to provide customers with the lowest cost energy available.

Charles M. Crane, system operator

We generate almost all of our own electric power but we buy from our neighbors when it's cheaper. People like Charles Crane in our system control center at Plainfield are always on the lookout for a bargain power buy

Load supervisors continually monitor and compare costs of generating our own power with buying surplus power from neighboring utilities.

When neighboring utilities offer to sell energy at lower cost than our own, we buy," says Crane. In 1978, such economy purchases helped trim power costs by almost a half million dollars.

Electricity is costing you more than ever before. Because it's costing us more to produce and deliver it. But it's still a fair value when compared with anything else you can buy today

Ray marks 30 years in business

The year 1979 marks the 30th anniversary of Doerings TV and Appliance store in Akron. As part of nance store in Akron. As part of their anniversary, owner Ray Doer-ing has set up a special display in the front of their display windows. The display consists of a 1955 col-or RCA television.

What makes the TV special is not only the fact that it is a color TV of 1955, bu the set is one of the very first mass-produced color sets ever built by RCA. And RCA was the first, as it was and is the parent company of NBC. The serial number of the TV reads 000938, making it one of the first 1,000 color sets sold commercially in the world.

Ray pointed out that the set had only a 12" screen on it, yet it sold for well over $1,000, nearly triple the price of a 12" portable color set of today. And it had over 2,000 components in it, or more than double the parts of today.

He thinks color TV would have been here much sooner if World War II hadn't interupted all projects. Ray recalled the time back in 1955 when a station out of Indianapolis colorcast the Indy 500, live, as it happened. Back then, he said, just having a black and white set was quite a thing, so quite a crowd sho-wed up to catch a glimpse of the race. He thinks it was the last time the 500 was shown live on TV.

Besides having just the rare set, Ray has a few copies of the 1949 "Television Forecast", the forerunner of "TV GUIDE" magazine. We've reprinted a section of the "forecast" below. See how many of the shows you can remember.

Some say leeks around the house help keep it from catching fire.
