The second annual "Miss Kosciusko" Pageant will be held on Friday evening, June 5th, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Tippecanoe High School commons. Present to crown the new "Miss Kosciusko" will be last year's winner, Christine Rhoades, who was chosen one of the top ten contestants in the State's Miss Indiana Contest held at Michigan City last June.

Entered in this year's pageant are: Tracey Simpson, Debbie Bartow, Kelly Earleywine, Larrairie Kae Powers, Lesa Brubaker, Lisa Walker, Kimberly Ross, Margie Gans, Denise Vaccaro and Teresa Ogden.

Reverse decision on School projects

After a great deal of discussion with the financial advisor and attorney, the Tippecanoe Valley School Board of Trustees, at their meeting on May 26th, at the high school, made a decision to continue with part of the proposed building projects at the Akron - Burket - Mentone schools.

Trustee Don Snipes, saying, "it would be the best thing for the taxpayers," made the motion to "get it over with and proceed with the total program as presented, to remodel all three schools and add-on as drawn up an planned." His proposal when voted on, met with disapproval from Long, Norris and Shewman, Meredith voted along with Snipes for the complete project.

After the motion made by Snipes was defeated, discussion and comments from the other board members took place with Superintendent Paige stating that undoubtedly the cheapest thing to do would be to do the whole thing. "I don't think you can get it cheaper, regardless of interest rates," he said. "If interest rates should drop, construction costs are going to rise."

Paige said he thought the Akron-Burket portion of the proposal should definitely be done. Discussing how to go with a split project, Mr. Paige summed up some of the things to be remembered: the present Akron remodeling project would not be adequate for the present enrollment unless the Burket project is completed, as there was a plan to transfer students from Akron to Burket; the old building is not economical to operate and is inefficient.

Trustee Meredith said if the total program was voted down, the only way to go would be a split program.

The board will proceed with planning the work on the Akron-Burket schools and consider renovation of the Mentone School. The board was informed by the financial advisor, Mr. Umbaugh, of H. J. Umbaugh and Associates, Plymouth, that even though the board should decide to go with a split program, if the interest rates on the bond sale is favorable, the board would have the option to go back and take all of the proposed projects at all three locations. The board would also have the option, even after awarding contracts, drop the whole project, if the interest rates are too high, as long as the general obligation bonds have not been sold.

He also informed them that splitting the project would certainly increase the price of the building project by approximately $70,000 because they could not use the combined bids.

At the time of the bid opening in April, the bids were valid for 150 days from date. Fred Rakestraw, attorney for the corporation, reminded the board that there is less than 120 days left of that time and said he needed 2-30 day periods to advertise the legal notices. He said the time for needing a lease is approaching and contracts should be awarded so as to "lock-in" the contractors to the bid prices. If the project goes over the original 150 days, the next 60 days will cost $377,663 and a 210 day delay will cost $516,333, added on to the original $7 million plus.

Financing the project, the board discussed as a possible way to go was to use common school money, but Rakestraw noted this was too uncertain. A division of cumulative funds to Burket-Akron schools or Mentone School was decided, the board deciding to apply $500,000 of cumulative school funds to Mentone renovations and leave $200,000 of the fund in reserve. Part of the energy conservation funds from the state would be used at Mentone School also.

Norris made the motion to

Polish prisoner addresses the Historical Society

Leon Szponar, Leiters Ford, former prisoner of the Nazis during World War II, spoke to the Fulton County Historical Society on Memorial Day. Szponar was prisoner for six years, from age 19 to 25. He went from 150 pounds to 92 pounds while in the Auschwitz prison. Then he went to work on a farm and got more to eat. He joined the U. S. Army in 1945 and came to America in 1949.

Szponar also told of Poland's problems today. He showed pictures and German money. FCHS and the Senior Citizens will sponsor an informal reception for the Western Saddle Club of Rochester, England, after the Round Barn Festival. The reception will be July 13 at 7:30 in the Civic Center Cafeteria. The Golden Agers Symphony will perform. The public is invited. Tickets for the drawing of English china are on sale at the museum. Proceeds of the drawing are to pay for the bus to bring the British from the airport to Rochester. Tickets are two chances for $1.

FCHS directors decided to keep the prices of Buffalo burgers, ham and beans, and drinks the same as last year for the Round Barn Festival.

They voted to ask FCHS members for donations of $2 each to help pay for food supplies during RBF. It was felt that most members would rather give a donation than bake cornbread and that this saves gasoline too.

Refreshments were served to the Reese, Elsie Turner, and Vivian Overmyer.

proceed with a lease rental issue. Board members voting with him, with exception of Richard Long, who voted no.

Mr. Umbaugh notes that a 15-year lease rental program would amount to approximately $1,262,000 at an interest rate of 10% percent. Over a 20 year rental time, the cost would be approximately $1,174,000. The school board authorized him to draw up a lease agreement for the 15 year period, awaiting authorization from the state agencies before going ahead with the agreement.

Attorney Rakestraw said he would have to get legal descriptions of the school properties from the Kosciusko and Fulton County surveyors, and asked, and received permission to go ahead with the work that has to be done to get the bond issue started.

Rakestraw also gave petitions to the school principals for help in getting signatures of patrons. The petitions say that the patron would like the school to enter into a lease agreement.

The construction managers, ProMaCon Inc., of Indianapolis, asked that the school board decide on the contracts to be accepted so they may contact the contractors and get the bids pinned down.

Representative of the architects for the project, Davenport Associates of Grand Rapids, said after a study of the bids, based on a single project, the estimate of the total cost for the complete project for all three schools would total $7,580,681, including special equipment.

Since the decision to split the project was made, the board had to look at the bid proposals again, accepting and rejecting the proposed work for each separate location. The architectural firm gave some recommendations as to the needs and left the board to decide the basic and essential items required.

One of the main items the board decided upon, was the use of regular brick in the remodeling projects, matching the brick of the present buildings. Paving of play areas and walks at all schools was recommended, and aggregate paving for parking lots. Mr. Rakestraw, reminded the board that with the large number of contracts to be decided upon, the board should have made up their minds and be ready in a week's time for him to get the contracts ready.

As to the special equipment contracts, Mr. Paige requested the architect to get the bidders ready to have their equipment inspected by himself before deciding on what equipment to recommend. Since the bids submitted to the board were the lowest bids received, he was reminded that to get the best equipment, the board might have to spend $75,000 to $100,000 more. Paige said the need for good quality equipment is essential.

Mr. Rakestraw, suggested that representatives of the construction managers and the architects coordinate their efforts along with him to get the contracts ready. The school board directed ProMaCon to get contracts drawn up and present them to the board

C.A.R.E. patrols credit given to troopers

Indiana fared quite well traffic wise over the long Memorial Day weekend if you take the projections into consideration. Safety officials had predicted 24 traffic deaths would occur in 18 accidents over the holiday period. The final toll was ten traffic deaths, five of those were motorcycle fatalities. Indiana State Police Superintendent John T. Shettle believes much of the credit is due to the C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) patrols that were in effect.

Indiana is annually deluged with one of the largest traffic movements in the United States as race fans converge on the Indianapolis 500 track.

The C.A.R.E. patrols kept traffic flowing at a constant 55 mph on the Indiana Interstates and REACT (Radio Emergency Associated Citizens Teams) aided State Police in moving traffic into and out of the tract area on race day.

Statistics compiled by State Police indicate 2,294 arrest tickets were issued over the holiday period, 2,107 of them were moving arrests, 37 motorists were charged with driving under the influence and 3,278 motorists received warning tickets. The statistics also show that State Troopers provided 1,424 police services in aiding stranded motorists during the holiday and patrolled 115,528 miles.

Superintendent Shettle was pleased with the actions of his troops during the busiest traffic weekend of the year and gives much credit to the C.A.R.E. project that originated in Indiana four years ago.

HIGH COURT RULINGS

The Supreme Court gave criminal suspects two important new tools recently for preventing their own words from being used against them. The court ruled that murder defendants must be warned about their rights to remain silent and to have a lawyer's help prior to psychiatric testing if the test results are used after conviction to help choose life or death as punishment.

To The 1981 Graduate

June, 1981, is to be the first month of post-school life for millions of young Americans. In view of their responsibilities as citizens, it's an appropriate time to comment upon the origin and development of the American way of life.

Our country's constitutional republican form of government has survived in its present form longer than any other constitutional system. The founding fathers, when they established the system, were ahead of their time; they built a system flexible enough to change with changing times.

There are imperfections in the system and injustices in all government and governing, but taken as a whole, the average citizen in the United States has something closer to an equal chance, economically and socially, than in any other major country. That is saying much for America, because we are a melting-pot nation of many races and religions.

We are an experimental nation in this sense. At our beginning, over two hundred years ago, many European scholars and philosophers predicted the idealistic principles and laws on which the new republic had been founded and would operate could not possibly survive; they felt a country composed of so many divergent nationalities and beliefs could not coalesce into a united nation.

Looking back on history, what has been the record? It is not perfect, but the people of this country have built the richest nation in the world, a nation of individual freedom for all, a nation which has never lost a war, a nation which constantly seeks to improve itself, to uplift the disadvantaged.

We have a long way to go, but that is not a bad start. Every newly-graduated young citizen should not casually accept these many blessings without an humble sense of thanksgiving and appreciation of the effort and accomplishment of those who have gone before—who have done so much for all those starting out in 1981.

Bees & Snakes

Not only does June usher in the drowning season, it ushers in the season of bee stings, snake bites, etc.

Bee stings, more common than snake bites, can be very serious. If several bees sting—especially children—the effects can sometimes be fatal. A second bee sting is sometimes fatal to the allergic, even though a first sting at an earlier date had little effect.

Parents in certain areas should consider an insect bite kit. Snake bite kits are also available, often on a doctor's prescription. But the horse serum used to counter the effects of snake bites is itself sometimes highly dangerous. One should be tested for allergy to this serum before it is used—unless it is the gravest emergency.

Allergic children can die after a bee sting in fifteen or twenty minutes. The barb should be brushed aside immediately with fingernail or knife, because it goes on injecting venom after the bee has been killed or brushed away.

Tourniquets are sometimes used for stings and bites, to stop the spread of the poison, but must be loosened every few minutes. A syringe is included in both insect and snake bite kits. Parents should learn how to use them beforehand.

One vitally important consideration is to keep the stung or bitten calm. Excitement stimulates the heart, which spreads the poison faster. The best solution, if there's time, is to apply tourniquet and calm the stung or bitten, getting him or her quickly to a doctor or an anti-venom center.

***** B. J. Crowley's HOROSCOPE

Week of June 7, 1981

GEMINI -- Those born under this sign love everyone. They are usually very well liked by their peers, although conformity is not an important word in their vocabulary. Lucky day is Friday, lucky number is 2 and best color is blue.

GEMINI -- May 21 to June 20--This week should bring much enjoyment, both with people and your work. Your fine talents will be in the limelight. Spruce up your wardrobe.

CANCER -- June 21 to July 22--Complete one project before moving on to another. You will then feel freer to undertake the next exciting challenge.

LEO -- July 23 to Aug. 22--Financial transactions are favored this week. But you must not act in haste in any circumstances. Carefully weigh the possible results of your action.

VIRGO -- Aug. 23 to Sept. 22--Stop working long enough to plan a vacation. You need and deserve one. Your outlook will improve with a refreshing change of scenery.

LIBRA -- Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--Think twice before putting your name on the dotted line. Even though confusion seems to reign at the present time, you can look forward to a leveling off period very soon.

SCORPIO -- Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--Don't permit a personality clash with someone to hamper your good times. A tendency to feel resentment because of your dependency on others should be avoided.

SAGITTARIUS -- Nov. 23 to Dec. 21--If you can't say something nice about someone, then for heaven's sake, say nothing at all. Your image is weakened in the eyes of others when you criticize.

CAPRICORN -- Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--Are you neglecting your family? Spend some time with them in an enjoyable activity. A family outing, a trip to a movie or another event to be shared can strengthen family ties.

AQUARIUS -- Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--Go to the church of your choice. A new significant breakthrough in understanding could come through to you, opening a new dimension of awareness.

PISCES -- Feb. 19 to March 20--Home improvement is a must. Take the time to beautify your surroundings. The net worth on property you own will then take an upward swing.

ARIES -- March 21 to April 20--Extremely good rapport can be expected with mate, friends and business associates during this period.

TAURUS -- April 21 to May 20--Let your family emerge by carrying their share of the load. Assign chores. Don't expect perfection. You will then have time to pursue an interest of your own.

NIPSCO requests gas rate adjustments

Northern Indiana Public Service Company filed two petitions with the Public Service Commission of Indiana to (1) reduce gas rates for customers whose usage is exempt from incremental pricing provisions of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 (NGPA), and (2) reduce electric rates to its electric customers as a result of a refund and a reduction in purchased power costs.

The new gas rates reflect a reallocation of $2,737,097 collected from certain large industrial customers under the incremental pricing surcharge for boiler fuel uses in January, February and March of 1981, in accordance with the NGPA and orders of the Public Service Commission of Indiana.

If the gas rate reductions are approved, the average NIPSCO residential customer using natural gas for homeheating and other purposes (147,600 cubic feet per year) would realize a decrease in gas costs of approximately 80 cents in the three-month period June through August, 1981.

The average residential customer using natural gas for purposes other than homeheating (39,800 cubic feet annually) would realize a reduction of about 43 cents in the same period.

The new electric rates are the result of both a refund of $5,405,343 and a reduction of purchased power costs of $2,070,576 annually.

As a result of the proposed reduction in electric rates, a NIPSCO residential customer using 1,000 kilowatt-hours a month will pay about 56 cents less a month upon approval of the petition.

Fuzzbusters legal

An Indianapolis appellate court ruled this week that the state's portable police radio law does not apply to radar detectors, devices commonly referred to as Fuzzbusters after a brand name device. The reversal handed down in State V Lawrence W. Wallman marks the first time the issue has been addressed at the appellate level in Indiana and follows the defeat of a bill in the past session of the state legislature aimed at prohibiting radar detectors.

Enforcement of the Indiana statute #35-44-3-12 has been erratic over the past two years and has included confiscation of some motorists' radar detectors. The statute, which refers to portable police radios and police scanners, carries a criminal penalty. The appellate decision backed defendant Larry Wallman's contentions by calling the statute "unconstitutionally vague." Citing the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution and the Supreme Court interpretation, the appellate opinion states that "a law forbidding or requiring conduct in terms so vague that men of common intelligence must necessarily guess at its meaning and differ as to its application violates due process of law."

A radar detector is a passive device tuned to the frequencies used by police radar and as such do not interfere with its operation.

An audio tone and light on the radar detector signal a warning to the motorist when in the range of police traffic radar. Although the appeals court overruled the defense contention that the statute does not strictly apply to radar detectors, they conceded that the word "signals" used within the statute is intended to mean "voice transmissions." Within the court's opinion brief it was noted also that the statute was enacted in 1933 while traffic radar was not put into use until 1940.

It is anticipated that the Indiana appellate decision will be cited in several other state courts where police radio and scanner laws are presently used to apply to radar detectors, although initial drafting of these laws generally preceded police use of traffic radar.

Electrolert, Inc., manufacturer of the Fuzzbuster and the force behind many such court tests and legislative action pertaining to radar and radar detection, aided defense attorney Richard Tandy, of Van Valer, Wicker and Tandy, on the Wallman appeal.

The State of Indiana has twenty days in which to appeal the Wallman decision, however, sources close to the case believe it is unlikely that they will do so.

What's NIPSCO Doing About Efficiency And Productivity?

At Corporate Headquarters, our Planning department is working to increase productivity. Paul Erickson, manager of planning systems, tells how...

"Here in corporate planning, we compile financial estimates, energy forecasts and other projections. Utilities must invest more money per dollar of revenue than any other industry. As you know, interest rates, fed by inflation, are really high now, and we must try to determine as accurately as possible, the energy requirements of our customers in the near-and long-term, and the least expensive manner possible.

"In this department we use the latest computer modeling technology to investigate various alternatives to assess our customers' gas and electricity needs, the best methods to acquire them and then plan accordingly. We're seeking the most dependable, reliable service for the industries, businesses, schools and homes of northern Indiana at the lowest possible cost to ourselves and our customers."

Workshops on "Home Rule" offered June 3-23

Local elected officials, town managers, county and municipal attorneys who will be affected by a "major transformation of Indiana county, city and town laws beginning September 1" should attend one of six workshops in June, announced State Representative Steve Moberly (R-Shelbyville).

Moberly is chairman of the Local Government Study Commission (LGSC) which fashioned the new laws based on an extensive two-year study of current law and testimony from local officials about their needs and problems.

Moberly said the seminars will answer such questions as: What is "Home Rule" and how can we use it? What changes will affect my office? Will we need to pass new ordinances and how do we do it? What is reorganization?

The workshops are scheduled from June 3 to June 23 in population centers around the state and will serve as "technical training for local officials and their non-elected legal counsel," Moberly said.

A separate meeting, specifically for news media and interested citizens, is set for June 24 in Indianapolis. Moberly said its agenda will be similar to the workshops for officials, but will offer time for less technical, more public-interest-oriented questions.

Dates and locations of the technical workshops are:

Wednesday, June 3 - Merrillville Holiday Inn;

Thursday, June 4 - Fort Wayne Marriott Inn;

Wednesday, June 10 - Jasper Holiday Inn;

Thursday, June 11 - Scottsburg Ramada Inn;

Tuesday, June 16 - Indianapolis Sheraton Inn East;

Tuesday, June 23 - Lafayette Howard Johnsons East.

Officials who cannot attend the day sessions from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m., may register for a mini-seminar in the evening from 7 to 9 p.m. In Fort Wayne, Scottsburg, Indianapolis and Lafayette, the evening session will be the date of the full day workshop. In Merrillville and Jasper, it will be the evening before.

Pre-registration through the Academy in the Public Service is required ten days prior to the workshop. A $10 fee to defray costs is charged for the day session, which includes lunch. The evening session costs $5 a person, with no meal provided.

Applicants should send a check payable to the Academy in the Public Service, 3737 N. Meridian, Suite 403, Indianapolis, Indiana, 46208, with an indication of which seminar or evening workshop they wish to attend. Name, title, governmental unit and address should be included with the check or claim. Registration for the June 24 citizens and media seminar should be completed through the Public Affairs Division of the State Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade Building, Indianapolis, Indiana.

June Brides

This is the month of weddings -- brides in white, marked-up cars, rice, honeymoons, magic dreams.

For most Americans traditional wedding vows are still desirable and sought. And marriage as an institution remains the fabric on which stable, orderly societies are built.

Unfortunately, other forms of living together, without marriage, have been championed recently in the media. Marriage as an institution has been criticized. But thousands of years of history and experience has shown marriage to be the best system for man and woman, the most productive of happiness and contentment.

June and marriages, then, are a happy omen, a hope for a stable future.

New heart procedure introduced at Lutheran

Angioplasty, a revolutionary procedure that often eliminates the need for coronary bypass surgery, is being performed at the Lutheran Hospital of Fort Wayne.

According to Cardiologist Robert E. Swint, M.D., angioplasty is relatively new to the United States. Since its initial application in Zurich, Switzerland, in 1977, approximately 1,000 procedures have been performed in the world.

Dr. Swint, who studied the technique in Zurich and Atlanta, performed the angioplasty procedure for the first time in Northeastern Indiana on April 9, 1981, at Lutheran Hospital. He was assisted by Cardiologist William E. Baltes, M.D., who now also performs the procedure locally.

Dr. Swint explained that the technique alleviates the symptoms of coronary artery disease by opening the clogged vessels that surround the heart.

In coronary artery disease, vessels that normally carry oxygen-rich blood and nourishment to the heart muscle are unable to completely function. A buildup of soft fatty deposits along the vessel wall begins to obstruct one or more of the 3 major coronary arteries. Blood flow to the heart muscle is impeded. The resultant reduction of oxygen often causes an intense chest pain referred to as angina.

"When the patient experiences chest pain which is incapacitating to life, requires medication, or is life-threatening, angioplasty may be considered," explained Dr. Swint.

Performed in the Radiology Department, angioplasty begins with the insertion of a long, thin catheter (tube) into an arm or leg. The catheter's position is viewed on a television screen, while being slowly advanced to the blocked area within the artery. Once in place, a small balloon at the tip of the catheter is inflated, compressing the obstruction against the arterial wall. After the artery is cleared, blood flows more freely alleviating the debilitating symptoms of coronary artery disease in 80-90 percent of the cases.

Costing much less than bypass surgery, the entire procedure takes only one or two hours while the patient remains awake. In two or three days the patient is discharged from the hospital and can resume work activities shortly thereafter.

However, not every person with coronary artery disease is a suitable candidate for the angioplasty procedure. Currently, angioplasty is performed locally only on patients who have severe narrowing of one of the three major coronary arteries. Bypass surgery would still be indicated if more vessels were involved.

Calling angioplasty the "most exciting procedure in the field of heart disease in the past 10 years," Dr. Swint concluded that further study and evaluation will be required to determine the long-term effectiveness of the procedure.

Degree Time

This is the time of year our colleges and universities bestow degrees on selected individuals, degrees which once were awards for significant intellectual or artistic accomplishment, but which -- in America -- have often become publicity stunts, or bids for financial support, or a response to financial support.

Perhaps the weirdest of awards this year came at the University of South Carolina, where two astronauts were given degrees as having "unsurpassed mastery of the sciences of aeronautics" -- an understandable play for publicity.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

We had a lot of trouble with our boy when he lived with us in our home but he seems to be a different person since he left us and is living in a different state. People who live there think he is a wonderful citizen and he has had all sorts of prominent positions. Why should he change like this?

Mother--Pa.

Answer:

He was probably not appreciated at home for what he could do. Did you criticize him and keep telling him how much trouble he was to you and convince him that he was a bad person? That is the quickest way you can make a bad boy out of a good one.

A child needs to know that the parents believe in him and expect him to be good. We usually try to live up to what people expect of us.

Louisa

Dear Louisa,

My boyfriend and I would like to get married but neither of us has finished school. We truly do love each other and always will but he has to finish school and he has no way to make a living. All of our parents think the idea is ridiculous as he has no way to make a living. If each one of them would give us an allowance we could make out very well. Don't you think they should help us?

N.B.--Colo.

Answer:

No, I do not and I would suggest that you not see as much of each other as you apparently are doing now. You are too young to take on the responsibilities of a home and family.

Before a crowd of 1200 people attending the Eleventh Annual Spring Fun Show for Walking Horses, Mister Delight H, entered in Class 15, the Amateur Lady Riders on Walking Geldings, performed and won first prize of $100, a trophy and ribbon.

The Spring Fun Show was an all Walking Horse show with thirteen championship stake classes. During the five day long show, over 500 Tennessee walking horses paraded before the judges and more than 10,000 people in a sneak preview of the horses to be competing through the show season leading up to the National Celebration, August 27 thru September 5 of this year.

Shown awarding the ribbon and trophy are Donna Leggs and Jill Stephens, Shelbyville, Tennessee.

NIPSCO requests

Northern Indiana Public Service Company on May 21, filed two petitions with the Public Service Commission of Indiana seeking permission to pass on to the utility's customers, (1) an increase in gas storage and storage transportation costs, and (2) an increase in gas supply costs as authorized under the provisions of the National Energy Act of 1978.

The net effect of the two petitions is a $32,618,606 increase in gas costs to customers, reflecting a $31,941,239 increase in purchased gas costs from one of the utility's suppliers, and a $677,367 increase in gas storage and storage transportation costs.

Changes in gas supply costs and gas storage and transportation costs are passed through to retail customers with the approval of the Public Service Commission of Indiana once the costs have been allowed by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC).

As a result of the proposed adjustments, the average NIPSCO residential customer using gas for homeheating (147,600 cubic feet a year) and other purposes will pay approximately $1.44 more per month or $17.23 more per year for gas service beginning in July.

NIPSCO residential customers using gas for purposes other than spaceheating (39,800 cubic feet annually) will pay about 43 cents more a month or $5.14 more per year also beginning at that time.

Adjustments in gas rates to NIPSCO customers, usually upward and sometimes downward, have occurred and will continue to occur as rates from NIPSCO's five pipeline suppliers change, as they have and will under the provisions of the National Energy Act. All of the changes are regulated by FERC and must be approved by the Public Service Commission of Indiana.

This is the first gas storage tracking adjustment filed this year.

The purchased gas adjustment filed today is the fourth such tracking filed this year. The net result of these four trackings is a $54.42 a year increase for the average NIPSCO customer using natural gas for homeheating and other purposes (147,600 cubic feet a year). If the petitions filed today are approved, the average customer's annual cost would be $578.63 compared to $524.21 at the beginning of the year.

The average NIPSCO residential customer using natural gas for purposes other than spaceheating (39,800 cubic feet a year) will pay $184.47 annually, compared to $169.29 on January 1, 1981.

NIPSCO said that in spite of rising costs, natural gas continues to be the least expensive fuel for homeheating in northern Indiana, as the price of other heating fuels are also increasing.

NIPSCO explained that it does not realize one cent of profit from these tracking adjustments. The money, the company said, goes directly to suppliers to pay for the increased cost of natural gas delivered to the utility under rates authorized by the FERC.

Reading Club

Madeleine Fisher, librarian at Bell Memorial Public Library in Mentone, announces summer reading club activities for children entering grades one through six this next fall. The theme for this year is "float free - read." Dates for the club are June 1 through July 3.

Parents are urged to encourage their children to participate in this year's non-competitive program. Each child will be able to decide upon the number of books he or she wishes to read. Since there will be no race or contest involved, Mrs. Fisher hopes the young readers will choose books they are truly interested in regardless of length.

One's contract-to-read may begin anytime after June 1st, so family vacations should not discourage prospective members from joining. Forms will be passed out to children in the local schools, and of course, there will be forms available in the library.

All participants will be invited to a party after the club ends. There will be refreshments, door prizes and a special reward for everyone who fulfills his or her contract. There is also to be a surprise guest.

Plans are also underway for a story-hour later this spring. Mrs. Fisher will be meeting with preschool children once or twice a week, depending upon the response. If you have a pre-schooler who you feel would enjoy participating, please contact the library. Those indicating an interest will be contacted when plans are finalized.

Recent G.E.D. graduates

Night classes held at Burket U. M. Church have the following people studying ABE/ESL: Pictured, not in order, are: Thien Trinh, Mark Haywood, Sylvia Stone, Coleen Nlne, Bauson Oudonsak, Pheung Raravong, John Engle, Brenda Engle, Son Trinh, Merdina Bechtol, instructor, and Rick Phillips, aide. [Photo by Rick Ralston].

A reception held recently at the Burket United Methodist Church honored four of the most recent GED recipients, Marti Bruner, Louise Meade and Rosa Griggs, all of Palestine Lake; and Cheryl Phillips of Mentone, were entertained with cake and punch by their teachers, Eula Smith and Joann Ralston.

There were twenty-four people who received G.E.D. diplomas from July 1, 1979 to July 1, 1980; and were 110 students enrolled in classes during that time.

Teacher for the day classes at Burket is Mrs. Eula Smith of Mentone, her assistant is Mrs. Joann Ralston. Instructor for the night classes is Mrs. Merdina Bechtol of Burket with Rick Phillips assisting as aide.

In talking with the graduates, we found that most of the people had quit school some years before and were coming back for the purpose of getting their diplomas and being able to find jobs in the areas in which they have become interested. Some of them spoke of getting some more education or training. They all said they had a lot of help from their families, and think the classes and help they received should help other people realize that getting the general education diploma is a worthwhile effort.

Mrs. Ralston also teaches the Adult Basic Education Classes. English as a Second Language for the students enrolled who are learning to speak, write and read English. She has an enrollment in the program of 12 people in the day classes on Saturday at the Akron Church of God. There are eight Vietnamese and one Spanish speaking student enrolled in ESL night class at Burket and one student in the day class.

Notice to all churches in the Akron-Mentone area

We are in the process of developing a Church Page in the Akron-Mentone News. The only thing we have at present is the Church News below that the former publisher printed.

We believe that a Hometown Newspaper like this one deserves better. Please help us by sending us your weekly church hours and news. We welcome all pictures of church events. No charge. Thank you.

Deadline approaches on hazardous waste sites

Less than three weeks remain for owners and operators of current or former hazardous waste treatment, storage or disposal facilities to report these sites to the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) under provisions of the recently enacted Superfund legislation.

"This information must be submitted to the EPA by June 9 as part of a national survey to pinpoint and evaluate hazardous waste sites which may pose a threat to human health or the environment," said Valdas V. Adamkus, acting EPA Midwest regional administrator.

Willful failure to notify can result in a $10,000 fine, a one-year jail term or both.

Notifications are required from past and current waste site owners and operators of facilities no longer in use or operating without federal authorization. Haulers must also disclose sites which they have used to dispose of hazardous wastes.

Facilities which responded under terms of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act are not required to submit new notifications.

Information reports on hazardous waste activities in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin should be submitted to: EPA Region V; Site Notification; Chicago, IL, 60604.

For assistance in the six-state EPA Midwest region call (312) 886-3500.

To request notification forms call toll-free (800) 424-2723.

Adamkus also encourages citizens with information on past or current hazardous waste facilities to inform the EPA or complete a site notification form.

How about some mushrooms? Some mushroom hunters go to Michigan and come back with coolers full of the sponge delicacies, also called morels. In early May you may have found these elusive fungi near Akron. But no matter if you go to Michigan or stay here in Indiana; no matter if you find the black sponges (Morchella Angusticeps), the yellow sponge (Morchella Esculenta) or any of the other choice and edible mushrooms, you or someone did a lot of tramping through woods looking for the camouflaged fungi. You do not come by these tasty morsels without expending energy! Usually much energy!

No matter how tasty the mushrooms, eating is only a part of the pleasure. Roaming around in a woods on a warm sunny spring day has all sorts of by-products. Just getting out into the woods after a long confining winter is exhilarating. The spring beauties, violets, May apples, dutchman's breeches, squirrel corn, trillium, adders tongue, the beautiful bird sounds, squirrels and all the other sights, sounds and fragrances of the spring wildlife is a treat in itself. I'm afraid I've returned from mushroom hunting many times with a handful of flowers, a weary set of shanks horses and an empty mushroom sack. These excursions were very enjoyable. Hope you can remember such an experience!

There won't be mushrooms for lunch at the June Birthdays party on Thursday, June 11 at the Akron Lions Club but I am sure you will find a memorable experience. Why not join us for the blood pressure clinic from 11 to 12 and stay for all the festivities of the day? There is a carry in lunch at noon, followed by activities such as singing, poetry, and autobiographies by those having June birthdays. It is short but lots of fun! See you at the birthday party.

50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miller of Rt. 1, Claypool, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, June 7th, with an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Burkett United Methodist Church. Hosts will be their children, Mrs. Phyllis Cook, Birmingham, Alabama; Mr. Gene Miller, Akron; Mr. Bob Miller, Claypool; Mrs. Janet Woods, Mentone, and Mrs. Sue Weaver, Warsaw.

Kenneth Miller and the former Irene Marshall were united in marriage June 6, 1931, at Paxton, Illinois. They resided here until moving to the Burkett area in 1952. They request the presence of their friends and relatives instead of gifts.

May was Oldest Hoosier month. Area V, a group of 6 counties, had a contest on May 8, which honored the oldest Keen-Ager attending each site. These names and ages were sent to the main office and the three oldest "youngsters" in the area were given special prizes. Our "youngster" was Ray Whitcraft, who will be 95 in October and he brought the second prize to our site. Ray lives with his daughter, Maxine Conrad during several months of year year. Congratulations, Ray and best wishes for many more years of happiness.

We all love you and miss you when you are away from Akron. Don't forget to bring memories of the past with you especially during June. June's theme is "Do You Remember When?" Bring in pictures, souvenirs or whatever to help us remember the past. Several trips are planned for various times during the summer. Ask about them and sign up to get more information if you are interested.

For information or reservations, call 893-7204 or 893-7263.

Scheduled menus for the week of June 8 - 12 are:

Monday: Roast Pork and Dressing, Gravy, Broccoli, Applesauce, Roll, Vanilla Pudding, Milk, Coffee.

One More

Every few years one of the Navy's or the Air Force's, stunt flyers is killed while performing dangerous, but exciting and impressive, close formation exhibitions.

The latest was an Air Force Thunderbirds pilot--the one before that was a Navy Blue Angels pilot. The process continues, as the years go by. Each time officials explain that the accident was a freak accident, or that the equipment malfunctioned. If possible, the pilot is made out to be a hero, to ease the pain inflicted on his family.

The hard truth is that these spectacular air shows are good promotion for the services, for recruiting and for public relations. They are continued because of that, even though they are marginally dangerous for the pilots involved.

The question is where to draw the line, on how close and how precise these aerial formation exhibitions should be. In light of post-war history, it seems the precision demanded of these pilots might be lessened somewhat--so that more of them live to enjoy retirement.

Missing The Point

Although it's likely to make little difference in the emotional squabble over selling AWACS radar-monitoring aircraft to Saudi Arabia, the main point is being missed.

If the U.S. doesn't sell the Saudis these aircraft, they'll buy similar ones from Britain. There, members of Parliament are not as handily manipulated as are most members of Congress by the Israeli lobby.

Second, those who have taken up the convincing-sounding theme that before we sell the Saudis these aircraft, they must demonstrate what they will do for us, also miss the point.

The Saudis are already--and have been doing so for years--shipping us most of our imported oil. And they have helped hold down price increases. If they are alienated, and cut off the oil, this country will experience economic chaos, which will directly affect every American.

The way things are going, that's probably what will happen sooner or later, since we are shipping massive amounts of military equipment, and the latest jets, to Israel, economically and militarily dependent on us, while haggling over every sale to Saudi Arabia. We are even giving much of the aid to Israel in the form of grants. Objections from Arab countries, to this sponsorship, go almost unheard in the media.

ITALIANS & ABORTION

ROME -- Italian voters recently rejected overwhelmingly a church-backed attempt to scrap the country's liberal abortion law. The steady tide of "no" votes dealt a sharp defeat to Pope John Paul II, a strong public supporter of a proposition that would have forbidden abortion in almost all cases.

ON BABY FORMULA

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND -- In a stinging rebuke to the United States, the World Health Organization voted almost unanimously for a set of intricately drafted guidelines that propose strict regulations on how baby formula is marketed.

FREE ICE WATER

WALL, S.D. -- For the last few years, free ice water was more than just an advertising slogan at Wall Drug. Not only were customers getting free water, the drugstore was, too. Five million gallons have been used since 1976, at a cost of $9,000.

JOINT EXERCISES

TOKYO -- Japan and the United States agreed recently to cancel the final two days of joint naval exercises in the Sea of Japan following public indignation over damage to commercial fishing gear during maneuvers, Japanese authorities said.

Warsaw High freshman Mark Howard, formerly of Akron, Indiana, has completed a week of baseball instruction at the Ft. Lauderdale Baseball School in Boca Raton, Fla. Dick Geiger, formerly of Akron, is the school's general manager.

New theory on child brain growth

The manner in which children are able to learn is revealing some shocks these days with the introduction of a new theory on brain development.

Herman Epstein, a Brandeis University biophysicist, believes that the human brain undergoes most of its growth in two-year spurts, not through continual growth as has long been the belief. Epstein bases his assumption on studies of both human and dead brains.

That concept has now been translated into theories on how a youngster learns by Conrad F. Toepfer, Jr., associate professor of middle school education, University of Georgia.

"Up to this time, the process of schooling has been organized on the assumption that the human brain grows on some sort of continuum, and that the task of education is to challenge the learner," says Toepfer. "Although regarded as fact, no data exist to support the reality of this assumed brain growth."

According to the new theory, the brain develops in spurts between the ages of 2 to 4, 6 to 8, 10 to 12, and 14 to 16-plus years. During each period the brain grows between five and 10 percent in size in 85 to 90 percent of humans, according to Toepfer.

Just as the brain grows during two-year periods, there are two-year plateaus where no significant growth is found. These plateaus come between ages 4 to 6, 8 to 10 and 12 to 14 years.

"During these plateau periods, it becomes almost impossible for youngsters to initiate and develop new and higher level thinking skills," contends Toepfer.

What this means for parents and educators is that higher level thinking skills should be taught children during the growth periods and reinforced during the plateaus.

"Learning experiences during the plateau intervals should focus upon helping youngsters to consolidate, refine, and mature the new and higher level thinking skills they initiated during their just completed brain growth spurt," according to Toepfer.

Two early thinking skills are learning to name an item and recall its name. According to this research it would be appropriate to introduce those skills during the 2 to 4 year spurt. Parents and teachers could expand among and reinforce those skills during the following plateau period.

When the next growth spurt comes, between 4 to 6 years, higher level skills, such as explaining and discussing, should be introduced.

Extension Notes

James E. Franks

Fulton Co. Agriculture Agent

Extensive rains have given rise to lush lawn growth in the Fulton County area. Homeowners can now readily identify special lawn problems which need attention. Memorial Day Week, is vacation time for many, and an ideal time to give attention to many of those lawn maintenance or repair jobs which have come to light this spring. The following lawn care guides should make those jobs easier.

SOD MAY BE THE BEST ANSWER for repairing damaged spots in your lawn. Sod is readily available from numerous growers and landscapers.

SEED A BLEND OF BLUEGRASSES in your new lawn. A blend will provide more disease and wear tolerance than any one variety used alone.

SEED A MIXTURE of 50 percent ryegrass and 50 percent bluegrass for late spring lawns. This mixture will produce early cover and long-term stand. Never plant ryegrasses alone, but always with bluegrass.

FERTILIZE TURF to produce the growth rate desired. Lawns which have been fertilized in early spring can respond to a second fertilization during late May or early June. Fertilizers high in nitrogen are preferred for turf use. These should have at least 50 percent of the nitrogen in a slow release form.

SKIP A CUTTING and mow high under shade trees where thin grass cover is a problem. These areas may require additional fertilizer to support turf growth. Extra growth may mean healthier grasses currently available for shady sites. These include Nugget, Glade and A-34.

SHARPEN THE TIPS OF ROTARY MOWER BLADES for better cut of vigorously growing grasses. The outer quarter inch of blade does 99 percent of the cutting. Sharp blades cut cleaner and make a better-appearing turf. Remember too, this is an ideal time to change lawn mower oil, clean filters and attend to needed maintenance.

CRABGRASS PREVENTERS are usually applied before the magnolia blossoms fall to stop earliest germination of crabgrass. Later applications, even up to the first of June, may prevent late crabgrass infestation.

CUSTOM LAWN SERVICES are usually programmed for four applications of fertilizer plus timely use of pesticides. Their services are available to start at any time period.

"Energy Hotline" new state info center

Lt. Governor John Mutz will answer the first phone call on the statewide Indiana Energy Information Center's "Energy Hotline."

The information center will provide a toll-free telephone service for Hoosiers with energy-related concerns. According to Mutz, the caller will be put into direct contact with the state energy office where an exceptionally wide range of information about energy conservation and renewable resources is available. Mutz is director of the Indiana Department of Commerce, which houses the state energy section.

The lieutenant governor noted the energy hotline was a success in tests conducted in four northwestern Indiana counties.

"The hot line prove to be popular and helpful and we're enthusiastic about being able to offer the toll-free service on a statewide basis," Mutz said. "We found out that there are a number of Hoosiers concerned with conserving energy and saving dollars."

Over 100 calls were received during the one-month test period.

The most frequently asked questions concerned solar energy, wind power and energy tax credits. Other questions ranged from general conservation to home weatherization.

The hotline staff is "on call" Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. CST and will be equipped to handle requests from residential energy consumers; agricultural producers; small business owners/operators; senior citizens and low income households. The center will make routine contact with local government officials/planners, librarians, media representatives and other information specialists so that it can continually offer the most up-to-date information available at no-cost to the caller.

Persons with energy-related inquiries should call toll-free 1-800-382-4631. The hotline is supported by an Energy Extension Service grant from the U. S. Department of Energy in Washington.

Women have unique eye problems

Indiana women, like other women throughout the United States, have certain eye problems not shared by their male counterparts, according to Daniel Evans, M.D., president of the Indiana Academy of Ophthalmology, (IAO), an association of eye physicians and surgeons.

Dr. Evans said ophthalmologists see three women for every two men. Birth control pills, pregnancy and menopause can cause eye-related problems in a small percentage of women. The underlying culprit is too much or too little of the hormone, estrogen, according to Dr. Evans.

It is a medically established fact, according to Dr. Evans, that a small percentage of women experience changes in the vascular system as a result of taking the pill and that these changes can be reflected in serious eye problems. Loss of vision can result from clotting of small blood vessels in the retina or optic nerve. Fortunately there is usually an early warning signal of blurred vision and the condition may be reversible if it is detected early, he said.

This same problem can also arise during pregnancy, according to Dr. Evans. In addition, as a result of changes in the eyes during the last trimester of pregnancy, some women may have difficulty wearing contact lenses during that time. Any eye problems during pregnancy should always be described to the obstetrician, he said, who may then refer the patient to an ophthalmologist.

"Dry eye syndrome" can be a problem for post-menopausal women, Dr. Evans said. In their 50's and 60's, some women experience a dry, burning feeling in the eyes caused by insufficient tears. The medical name for this condition is keratoconjunctivitis sicca, or Sjogrens syndrome.

Some of the remedies include applying artificial tears, protecting the eyes from the wind with side shields on glasses and keeping the air moist in the house with the aid of a humidifier. Dr. Evans said that permanent soft contact lenses have also helped some women with this problem.

For a very small percentage of women, about one percent, Dr. Evans said, Sjogren's Syndrome can be somewhat difficult to treat and can be extremely debilitating.

Farmers to be surveyed

Just how many acres have been or will be planted this season and how many livestock are on hand? Earl L. Park, of the Indiana Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, notes that as of March 1st, farmers planned to boost acreages going to wheat, rice, barley, and oats, while maintaining corn acreage and cutting back on sorghum, soybeans, cotton, and sunflowers. Since that time, changes in grain prices, mounting costs of production, international trade developments and local weather conditions have caused farmers to take another look at how much they should plant. Cattle numbers stood at 115 million head on January 1, marking the second year of upturn in the current cattle cycle, and hog numbers this winter and spring were down from the high levels of a year ago. Producers indicated in March that they'll continue to reduce farrowings this spring and summer. Have those plans changed recently?

A nationwide survey in late May and early June will develop estimates to show the current crop acreage and livestock inventory situation so as to guide farmers in their future production and marketing plans. This information will also help policymakers and those dealing with farmers make better decisions.

Representatives from Mr. Park's staff will interview a cross section of farmers and mail questionnaires to others to gather data for the estimates. Similar surveys will be carried on in all States. Farmer cooperation, he adds, is the key to developing dependable estimates.

Final national and State estimates will be published by USDA's Crop Reporting Board. A report on 1981 spring planted acres will be available on June 29, followed on July 10 with estimates of yield and production for most crops. Estimates of hog and pig numbers will be reported on June 22, and cattle numbers on July 27.

For more information, contact: Earl L. Park, Agricultural Statistician, in Charge, 317-749-2429.

There are eleven subspecies of the Canada goose. The largest, known as maxima, or giant, was thought to be extinct until 1962. ## Sullivan resigns position

During an executive session on Monday, May 18, the members of the Mentone Town Board accepted the resignation of Harry Sullivan as Water Department Superintendent. Sullivan stated the effective date as of July 31st. His last day will be June 30th, in order that he take vacation time due.

Replacing Sullivan will be Steve Shand, a present town employee. Shand has acknowledged that he will be taking the schooling needed for this position, so he can be certified. The effective date of his new job will be July 1st.

At the regular board meeting on June 1st, the board appointed Russell Hart as the new Building commissioner for the town. Hart is presently employed on the police force and will continue in this position along with his duties as building commissioner. The board advised him as to his duties and informed him his new duties begin on July 1st.

Virginia Conliff of Tucker Street, Mentone, appeared as representative for the people in her area to lodge a complaint about some dogs owned by a neighbor who allows them to run loose. The dogs make a nuisance of themselves by chasing people. Jim Miller, board president, said one of the town's biggest problems is with dogs being allowed to run loose. Town attorney, Lee Bazini stated that a new dog ordinance is being prepared and should be ready for the next board meeting.

During the meeting other business discussed was the receipt of the new spotlight and tires for the police car. The board decided to get estimates on a new car for the police department as the old one has 76,000 miles on it and has developed a cracked block.

The board will take care of placing more trash containers at the park area and arrange for pick up. Bob Whetstone is to arrange for the cement slab for the park shelter, and get estimates on lumber to repair and replace some of the picnic tables in the park. He is also to get an estimate for construction of two new restrooms to be placed at the main building at the park.

Replacing some of the concrete slabs and straightening some of the stones in the old part of the cemetery was discussed by the board. A report about some people riding motorbikes in the cemetery was given.

Frank Hardesty moved to have Secrist Builders replace the roof on the pump house at a cost of $625. The motion carried.

Board president Jim Miller, was given permission to purchase a new weed cutter and also a new gasoline roto-rooter for the town. The board made an appointment to a four year term on the Area Plan Commission of Richard Dickerhoff. Mr. Dickerhoff has been a one year member of the commission.

NIPSCO is to be contacted about trimming some of the trees in town, so the street lights can be seen.

Wayne Tombaugh made the motion that the town furnish insurance to Russell Hart through veterans insurance at a cost to the town of approximately $19 per month, more or less. Hart is to decide which program of health and life insurance he wants of the several offered.

The board decided to ask that a screen and grate over the open catch basin at the Dickerhoff property be taken care of, as the trash washing into the basin has plugged the sewer.

There three water shut-offs ordered by the board, as the residents have not paid the last two or three water billings.

The town board will meet in executive session on Monday, June 8 at 7 p.m. to interview a person for the opening on the Water Department crew, as to his qualifications for the job.

The executive meeting will be followed by an open meeting, the board will be planning the 1982 town budget.

A plaque was presented to the Grand Marshall of the Parade, Ethel Whetstone, in appreciation of her years of dedication spent helping the veterans of this state.

Winning categories in the parade were: Kosciusko County Shrine Club Mini-Bike Patrol; Antique Autos and Trucks - Kurt Robinson with his 1955 Ford Thunderbird; Band - North Miami Crimson Guard; Float - Past Winners of the Little Chick and Mr. Rooster Contests; Theme Float - Sarah Romine's Betsy Ross Float; Novelty groups - Microlight Aviation of Warsaw; Commercial Floats - Laketrails Valley Furnishings; Horse Groups - Covered wagon with a horse team driven by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kammerer.

Valley Furnishings move

Valley Furnishings at Mentone are already in their newly remodeled building at 105 East Main Street which was formerly the L & B Food Store, the remaining work to be done will be to refurbish the front of the building.

Owners Jack and Rita Simpson moved the store from its old location at 112 W. Main in order to have a larger display area. The Simpsons purchased part of the old store in 1978 from Darrell King, who also had a furniture store at this location, the other part of the store was purchased from the owners of Brown Jewelry in 1980.

Jack Simpson will be opening a new Western Apparel Shop in part of the old location sometime during July, the remainder of that store will be used for carpet display and possible used furniture.

Akron News

by Onda Good

The Lord gave the Akron Keen-Agers a beautiful day for their recent outing to visit Elizabeth Good on Diamond Lake. Fishing and relaxing near the lake were the activities of the day. Dorothy, the two Marys, Eva and the others, enjoyed the antics of the mallard ducks as they came in for a landing, the feeding of the birds a few feet away and that wonderful take off of the graceful birds. Elizabeth, Florence, Ruth and the others, were amazed at the "skippers" just off shore. Skippers are a seemingly jet propelled fish that darts out of the water or very near the surface and stirs up the water. Fascinating to watch. Flossie and Ruth were the champion fishermen. But you must ask them about their special cooperation while catching their fish! Everyone got their share and more of fish at the table during the early evening carry-in meal featuring fish caught by Elizabeth and Ray in Diamond Lake. Thanks for the nice visit and the good eating, Elizabeth. You have a great place to live. We all envy your facilities to fish before breakfast. But we will all be happy to have you back here in Akron. See you here soon!

The June Blood Pressure clinic and the June Birthday Party will be on Thursday, June 11. A carry in dinner and other activities will honor those with June birthdays.

New books at Akron library

Abigale, by Lois T. Henderson. In the exotic setting of David's world, the author spins her fascinating tale of Abigale, the bright and beautiful wife of the warrior monarch.

Lover's Knot, by Janet Templeton. The Waynfletes were shocked and outraged at the slander. So too, was Reginald Goodburn, so shocked that he lost no time in breaking off his engagement with Berniece Waynflete. Lord Denby's innuendo has served its purpose well, but he had not reckoned on the anger of Honoria Wyandflete, Berniece's outspoken older sister.

Go Underground and Save, by Gary A. Rickman. This is a unique concept in housing, geared to meet or beat ecological requirements of the Government. Its most important advantage is a saving of money in building and living.

God and Vitamins, by Marjorie Holmes. How exercise, diet and faith can change your life.

The Hill of Summer, by Allen Drury. A powerful story of the clash of minds, purpose and ultimate national aims represented by the unyielding and grimly determined new leader of the Soviet Union and the farm born, easy going, grandfatherly new President of the United States.

Answer As A Man, by Taylor Caldwell. The powerful odyssey of a man of passionate principles in a decadent age. Rich in character as it is in drama, deeply moving as it is always compelling. It is both a powerful moral testament and a great saga of love, both carnal and divine.

The Regensburg Legacy, by Jack M. Bickham. Racing from the streets of Paris, Stuttgart, Washington, D.C., and New York to the jungles of Africa, The Regensburg Legacy is a super-charged novel of international intrigue; a take of modern-day espionage that is terrifying in its implications.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

My mother-in-law lives in the same town as we do and she thinks my husband or the children should visit her every day.

Don't you think she is unreasonable? After all we have something else to do besides visiting.

mother missed many things when he was small in order to care for him. While it does seem unreasonable to expect a visit from him every day, he should, at least, have a certain time each week to pay her a visit if she is well. If she is an invalid, several times a week would not be too much.

Common Sense

It's refreshing to hear words from an Attorney General who isn't politically catering to the various segments of the population, but speaking to all Americans on an equal basis.

That is the case with William French Smith, and his recent appeals for less emphasis on forced busing in the schools and rigid hiring quotas. School busing, Smith says, is opposed by a majority of both blacks and whites--because it hasn't achieved what it was intended to achieve.

The Reagan Administration offers a different approach--financial incentives to those who would bus their children but not legal coercion and force in establishing quotas in schools.

As to hiring quotas, Smith says they sometimes themselves discriminate. They sometimes force employers to hire unqualified employees, because of race.

The goal of the present Justice Department is the same as it has been, Smith says. The difference is that instead of punitive laws other incentives will be used to get a higher quality of education in the schools and more jobs for minorities. The new approach is, at least, worth a try.

Going Under

The financial strain of borrowing money at excessive interest rates, raging inflation and uneven business conditions--a recession in some industries--are forcing many U.S. businesses to close their doors.

One source (Dun and Bradstreet) reports that already this year about six thousand American businesses have folded--a 47 percent increase over the 1980 rate of business failures.

What is disturbing is the trend. In one week in May more than 434 U.S. businesses went under, the highest number for any week in twenty years. It's suspected that high interest rates, which traditionally hurt and which began to increase again in May after a long-awaited decline, was the straw that broke the back of many businesses.

The Reagan Administration's official view is that the most recent news--prices are rising much slower--means interest rates are in a long-term downward trend. This, it is said, will prevent so many failures in the future.

But for some who worked a lifetime building a business, the policies of the federal government in recent decades, which brought on today's inflation, rising costs and spotty economic growth, have done them in. They deserved better from the politicians in Washington.

HOROSCOPE

Week of June 14, 1981

GEMINI -- Those born under this sign love everyone. They are usually very well liked by their peers, although conformity is not an important word in their vocabulary. Lucky day is Friday, lucky number is 2 and best color is blue.

GEMINI -- May 21 to June 20--New ideas for gain will bring solid future rewards. During this period you have a virtual storehouse of such thoughts. The Geminiian, with his twin signs, possesses an equal amount of business and artistic talent.

CANCER -- June 21 to July 22--Although you are able to make money with ease, you are equally talented in spending it. Use self-discipline.

LEO -- July 23 to Aug. 22--For many born under the sign of Leo, a journey to the place of their birth can be expected. Happiness abounds when the opportunity to greet family and friends arrives.

VIRGO -- Aug. 23 to Sept. 22--Plan a reunion with family, friends or old classmates. If this is not possible, have a get-together at your home, inviting those friends whose company you enjoy the most.

LIBRA -- Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--Self-image is important to you. When you learn to like yourself better, others will have a better opinion of you.

SCORPIO -- Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--Study and plan! Most Scorpios are not intellectually. Generally, they are exceptionally bright or extremely dense.

SAGITTARIUS -- Nov. 23 to Dec. 21--Self-motivation is now a problem with you. Your desire to do well comes from wanting self-gratification.

CAPRICORN -- Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--You would do well to cultivate the friendship of a Taurean. His conservatism will modify some of your overly-aggressive traits.

AQUARIUS -- Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--Schedule your time, so you can pursue a pleasurable hobby or sport. With planning you can accomplish much more in a shorter time.

PISCES -- Feb. 19 to March 20--Be patient with loved ones. You have their full respect. Expect to be rewarded for your generous nature, even though you are not one who seeks praise.

ARIES -- March 21 to April 20--Control that temper that flies off the handle so easily. You can arrive where you want to go, if you keep your cool.

TAURUS -- April 21 to May 20--The current trends allow you to generally sell anything to anyone. Whatever you wish to sell should be put on the market now.

NOTICE:

The Akron-Mentone News will accept Letters to the Editor if the letter is signed, however you may request that your name be withheld. We will not be accepting "Sound Off" items any longer. The Editor

Editor, Akron News:

Dear Sir: As you know from our publicity release about six weeks ago, the Akron Park Board has ordered a brand new spiral slide for the Akron Park. This slide, standing over 12 ft. tall, is the Cadillac of park equipment and should provide entertainment and recreation for youngsters (and guys like me) for decades to come.

In order to pay for this park equipment, the members of the Park Board, who are Clair Ellis, Kim Lewis, Bill Lynn, John Weida and myself, have signed a personal note at the Akron Bank and are now in process of raising funds throughout the community to pay off the note.

At this point in time, we have received contributions from Women for Progress, Akron Lions Club, Akron Women's Study Club, Sonoco Products, and the Town of Akron. These contributions added to those left over from last year, total $2,033.57, leaving us $1,301.10 yet to raise before the end of the year.

Bill Lynn tells me we would expect delivery of our equipment sometime this month and just as soon as it has been received and installed, we will send you a picture. In the meantime, we would certainly be grateful for any publicity you could give us on our project and encourage any of your readers who wish to help with the financing to contact Kim Lewis at the Akron Bank.

Sincerely yours

Channing Utter
President Akron Park Board

LETTER TO THE ED

When saving is automatic, anyone can do it. People who thought they couldn't save a dime have become downright thrifty with the help of the Payroll Savings Plan for United States Savings Bonds.

With Payroll Savings, a one-time decision to save assures that something is set aside from each paycheck, without fail. Saving is automatic, dependable and, perhaps most important, regular.

Savings Bonds and the Payroll Savings Plan together make building financial security easy for millions of Americans. Won't you publish these new ads soon to remind your readers that bonds can work for them, too?

Your help in bringing the Savings Bonds message to the men and women of our community is appreciated.

Attention:

I had a gray cat (long haired) with red collar - gold charm with my name and phone number on it. All of a sudden it came up missing. I'm sure if it had gotten hit or killed, it would have been reported to me somehow. So, if anyone has taken or disposed of my cat, it will be your conscience that will bother you, if you have any. I probably will never know but God Does.

What's NIPSCO Doing About Efficiency And Productivity?

At Corporate Headquarters, our Planning department is working to increase productivity. Paul Erickson, manager of planning systems, tells how...

"Here in corporate planning, we compile financial estimates, energy forecasts and other projections. Utilities must invest more money per dollar of revenue than any other industry. As you know, interest rates, fed by inflation, are really high now, and we must try to determine as accurately as possible, the energy requirements of our customers in the near- and long-term, and the least expensive manner possible.

"In this department we use the latest computer modeling technology to investigate various alternatives to assess our customers' gas and electricity needs, the best methods to acquire them and then plan accordingly. We're seeking the most dependable, reliable service for the industries, businesses, schools and homes of northern Indiana at the lowest possible cost to ourselves and our customers."

Strategic planning — one more way we are increasing efficiency and productivity.

Schuler Apartment complex construction begins

The ground breaking for the proposed Schuler Addition to the Town of Akron took place on Tuesday, June 1. Plans for the 16 unit garden apartments have been in the planning stage for the last sixteen months.

Contractors for the apartments are Heckaman Homes of Indiana, Inc., of Nappanee, Indiana. Located between the Akron Park and the extension of Rural Street, in the northeast section of Akron, the new apartments will be a welcome addition to the community.

The first of the three buildings, it is hoped, will be set in place by the end of June. The Schulers hope to have the job completed and rentals taken by late August or September.

The complex will have two-six apartment buildings which will face the east; one-four apartment building will face the west, with the street between the buildings for plenty of parking and ease of movement for trash and snow removal. There will be twelve one-bedroom apartments and four two-bedroom apartments in the total 16 apartment complex.

The buildings will be built of wood frame construction and sided with white siding, trimmed in brown with brown shutters. Natural gas heat and central air will be used throughout.

Ned and Joan Schuler noted that unlike some complexes in surrounding areas, their apartments will be available to all age groups and will not have to be subsidized. They intend to start taking applications for the apartments by the middle of July and will run notices in the paper at this time.

Shown cutting the fence to the area recently annexed to the Town of Akron, is Ned Schuler, who with his wife Joan, will be building an apartment complex in the northeast section of Akron. The interested onlookers are from left to right: Kim Heckaman, representative for Heckaman Homes of Indiana, Inc., who will be building the complex; Troy Schuler, Joan Schuler, Onda Good, Mary McKenzie, Harold Groninger of the Akron Bank, Ron Fenimore and Ernest Smith, Akron Town Board, Randall Leininger, Akron Bank. Dale Kelly, Forst Dunnuck, Eddie Creighton, Billy Reed and Roger Creighton returned this past week from a week's trip which took them to the Lionel Green Camp on Crow Lake, Ontario. At the beginning of the school year last September Mr. Kelly had promised the trip to the senior boy who proved most outstanding during the year. When it came to the final voting, Dave Johns and Forst Dunnuck tied for honors. In the "toss-up" Forst came out winner, so he received the trip to Canada.

Silver Lake Man, Woman of year contest planned

The Silver Lake Lions Club has initiated an annual program to recognize outstanding persons of the Silver Lake community. A committee was formed to prepare guidelines for the 1980 "Lion of the Year," "Youth of the Year," and "Man and Woman of the Year."

Names of candidates for "Man and Woman of the Year" must be submitted by a person within the Silver Lake community along with a letter listing the activities of the nominated person and why you feel this person should be honored. Suggested items of interest: community leadership, years in the community, family relationships, ideals, and church and business activities.

Judging will not be limited to any or all the suggestions. Other observations may become necessary to make the final decision. A panel of five judges shall make this decision.

Nominations for the "Youth of the Year" shall be submitted by residents of the Silver Lake community and shall list the activities of the person they nominate and why they think they should be honored. Items of consideration can and should be community school work, 4-H projects, scouting, sports, and church work. The youth shall be 15-20 years of age unless one has accomplished some outstanding feat at a younger age. Anyone older than 20 will be placed in the adult category.

Judges Selected

Judges will consist of three persons from the teaching, ministry or business profession. Judging will not be limited to suggestions presented only, but must select from the names submitted. Other observations may become necessary in making the final selection.

The "Lion of the Year" will be chosen by three Lions from neighboring clubs who will review letters submitted by members of the Silver Lake Lions Club only.

Committee members began accepting nominations on May 10 and will stop taking the forms on June 10. Judges will make their decisions by July 1. Selections by the judges shall remain secret and will not be revealed until an awards night is held at the end of July. At that time, each winner will be awarded a plaque in the name of the Silver Lake Lions Club.

The awards night will be held locally, if possible, with a banquet and entertainment. Members of the Silver Lake Lions Club will sell tickets for this event.

Nominations should be sent for "Man and Woman of the Year" and "Youth of the Year," to Box 1, Silver Lake, Ind., 46982.

All nominations will be given to the proper people and will remain sealed until the judges are ready to make their selections.

I'm The Same Old Flag!

Hello! Remember me? Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Stars and Stripes; I have also been referred to as The Star Spangled Banner. But, whatever they call me, I am your flag, or, as I proudly state . . . the Flag of the United States of America. There is something that has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you . . . because it's about you and me.

I remember some time ago, I think it was Memorial Day, people were lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade. The town's high school band was behind me, and naturally, I was leading the parade. When your daddy saw me coming along waving in the breeze, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that his right hand was directly over his heart. Remember?

And you. Yes, I remember you. Standing there straight as a soldier. You didn't have a hat, but you were giving the correct salute. They taught you in school to place your right hand over your heart. Remember little sister? Not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you. Oh, I was very proud as I came down your street. There were some soldiers home on leave and they were standing at attention giving the military salute. Also, some V.F.W. veterans with their caps at jaunty angles were saluting smartly. Ladies as well as the men, paid me the reverence I deserve.

Now, I may sound a little conceited. Well, I am. I have a right to be, because I represent the finest country in the world . . . the United States of America. More than one aggressive nation has tried to haul me down, but they all felt the fury of this freedom loving country. Remember . . . many of you had to go overseas to defend me.

What has happened? I'm still the same old flag. Oh, I've had a couple more stars added since you were a boy. A lot more blood has been shed since that Memorial Day parade long ago. Dad is gone now. The home town has a new look. The last time I came down your street, I saw that some of the old landmarks were gone, but in their place, shining majestically in the sun were a number of new buildings and homes. Yessir, the old home town sure has changed.

But now . . . I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street, you just stand there with your hands in your pockets and give me a small glance then look away.

When I think of all the places I've been . . . Anzio, Guadalcanal, Battle of the Bulge, Korea, and Vietnam; I wondered what's happened? I'm the same old flag. But now I see children running around and shouting as I pass by. They don't seem to know who I am. I saw an old man take his hat off, and then look around. He didn't see anybody else with theirs off, so he quickly put his back on.

Is it a sin to be an American patriot anymore? Have you forgotten what I stand for? Have you forgotten all the battlefields where men fought and died to keep this nation, your nation free? When you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Take a look at the Memorial Honor Rolls sometime. Look at the names of those who never came back, and are resting 'neath white crosses on a far away shore. Some of them were friends or relatives of yours . . . maybe even went to school with you. That's who you're saluting . . . when you reverence me.

Well, it won't be long until I come down your street again. So when you see me, stand straight, place your hand over your heart, and you'll see me waving back. My salute to you. I'll show you that I, too, remember!

NIPSCO asks elimination of restrictions on natural gas sales

HAMMOND, IND. - Northern Indiana Public Service Company has requested the Public Service Commission of Indiana to allow the utility to sell natural gas to its customers without limitations.

Citing improved gas supply, increased peak load storage capacity, and elimination of curtailments by suppliers, NIPSCO on April 30, 1981, asked the Public Service Commission of Indiana to allow the unrestricted sale of natural gas to all residential, commercial and industrial customers throughout its 30 county service area, thus lifting restrictions that were established in 1977 and amended upward in 1979 and 1980.

In making the request, Edmund A. Schroer, NIPSCO chairman and chief executive officer, said, "Natural gas continues to be a most sought-after fuel for prime residential, commercial and industrial uses, including space-heating."

"Lifting the restrictions on gas sales will allow us to intensify our industrial development efforts in the communities and rural area we serve, assisting them in attracting new industry and expanding businesses already located there, thus creating more jobs for the people of northern Indiana," Schroer said.

"Although the cost of natural gas will continue to increase on a phased-in basis until 1985 under the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978," Schroer said, "NIPSCO residential customers using this clean, efficient fuel for homeheating during the fall and winter months benefit from the utility's ability to efficiently utilize its system by balancing and blending their needs with the gas supply needs of industrial and commercial customers who use the service on a 12-month basis."

"If the petition is granted, it would permit the utility to provide unlimited service to new customers as well as existing customers, including those currently being served under limitations established in 1977, 1979 and 1980," he explained.

Fire damages home and barn in Akron area

Fire hit the Akron area on both sides last week. Damage was estimated at over $30,000 to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry J. Howard, Co. Rd. 250S, and an estimated $20-25,000 damage was sustained to a barn on the Larry Murfitt, Windmill Farm, on Co. Rd. 1000E.

The cause of the blaze at the Howard residence is known to be the lightning during the storm the area was hit with on Monday evening; the cause is yet unknown for the blaze at the Murfitt farm. The Howard family was not at home at the time the lightning started the blaze. By the time they returned, the fire was smoldering, causing the entire house to be heavily smoke damaged. It is believed the house would have been a total loss but for the fact it had been shut up because of the storms in the area. Fire charred sections of the floor on the main floor in a bathroom and bedroom above the water heater and pump area. The basement contents were a total loss.

The Akron Fire Department kept the fire contained to the basement by using the water from the swimming pool after the water truck was emptied. Heavy smoke made the fire fighting a difficult job.

It is estimated it will take two to three months for the home to be renovated.

The blaze at the Murfitt farm which destroyed a 40'x40' two-story barn was discovered around 1 a.m. early Thursday morning when Mr. Murfitt awakened to find the building totally engulfed. The barn contained hay, feed, saddles and all of the families horse equipment.

Silver Lake "drops" consulting firm, then gets bill

SILVER LAKE - Trustees of Silver Lake probably believed that a $3,375 payment in March, 1980, to Snell Environmental Group ended the town's association with the Indianapolis-based group.

Thus, it must have been to board member's chagrin when the town was presented with another bill from Snell for approximately $2,500 this month.

Town trustees instructed town attorney Max Reed, at Saturday's regular meeting, to advise Snell Environmental Group the town does not feel it owes this fee.

Board members George Hopkins, Norman Krichbaum and Louis Kinch met last February with two representatives of Snell, who reported they had completed Phase I of the sewer project study. The next month, however, town trustees decided to table the sewer project and jointly agreed the townspeople could not afford to pay for the construction of a sewer plant.

They decided then to pay the engineering firm for work on the first phase and then drop the project. The other $18,000 was supposed to have been paid by state and federal funds.

Review Water Rates

In other business, Reed talked with Michael Givler, of Umbaugh and Associates, Plymouth, about reviewing water rates for the town. Permission was given to the firm to review the water rates.

Reed is also investigating an annexation request by Don Wireman pertaining to annexing land on Peru Rd. into the town limits. Wireman wants to build an auction board and install a trailer at the site. The land borders on Jeff Arter's property on Peru Rd., just inside the southwestern side town limits.

Reed is checking into the possible cost for the town and the procedures that will be required.

The town attorney is also checking to determine if the town's insurance policy will cover fire damage to the fire station building when an old tank is removed. The tank has developed a leak and will have to be cut into pieces for removal.

Eddie Smith, Silver Inn owner, sent a letter to the board requesting permission to place a canopy over the northwest side of his business. The board issued him a permit to conduct this work.

No replacement has been named for clerk-treasurer Patricia Spratt, who has submitted her resignation effective July 1. She gave a verbal resignation at the May 9 meeting.

A meeting will be called at a later time to choose a replacement for Mrs. Spratt. The next regular meeting is set for Saturday, July 11, at 1 p.m., at the town hall.

Vacations "in" this summer-AAA

It's going to be a banner summer auto travel season, according to a tabulation of travel routings prepared by the AAA-Chicago Motor club.

On the national level, auto travel was up 10.9 percent during the first quarter of the year, according to American Automobile Association statistics.

During the same period, however, auto travel was up 19.6 percent in the AAA-CMC's 72-county area of Illinois and 24-county area of northern Indiana.

Statistics are measured through the compilation of Triptiks requested by members of AAA-affiliated clubs throughout the nation and represent a barometer of overall U.S. motor travel activity.

Triptiks are individualized routings consisting of detailed strip maps adapted to fit each member's travel needs. AAA distributed 161 million strip maps last year.

Tabulations in April in AAA-Chicago Motor Club territory showed travel up 21 per cent over the same month last year, and May's final compilation was expected to reflect an even higher percentage of gain.

Auto travel increases are attributed in large degree to the excellent availability of gasoline and higher airline fares, according to Dorothy Derezynski, AAA-CMC acting touring manager.

"Many motorists are telling us that while they may be driving less generally due to the price of gasoline, they're not going to forego vacation trips this year," Mrs. Derezynski said.

Mrs. Derezynski said it is too early to determine whether more motorists are planning trips closer to home this year than last. This pattern, she said, would probably begin to emerge with the closing of schools and the start of the summer vacation season.

The most popular destinations thus far in the year for AAA-CMC members, based on Triptik requests, are mid-Atlantic locations such as Washington, D.C., Virginia and Maryland.

Second most requested routings have been for areas of the Southwest and West, primarily California, and heavy travel to Florida during the first quarter of the year.

first.

There's more to getting good TV reception than meets the eye.

For instance, the first thing to remember when putting up or taking down an antenna is to make sure there isn't a power line nearby. The slightest touch of the antenna or its guy wires could cause a fatal shock. So be sure to look carefully in all directions, even if you're removing the antenna, making new connections for cable television or simply adjusting for better reception.

Clearance is the key to safety. Check to see that the antenna is at least twice its length away from a power line. Then, if it should fall, it won't fall onto the power line. This important safety rule applies to CB antennas or any long metal poles too.

Why are we telling you all this? Because our business is making electricity. But our purpose is to help people. So we want to make sure you get a clear picture of the hazards and safety precautions in removing, installing or rewiring an antenna.

Varying-Interest Mortgages

The home buyer today faces a mortgage market that's increasingly making loans on a projected schedule of varying interest rates. If national rates increase, mortgage interest increases; if they decrease, the mortgage interest decreases.

This is a fair system, provided decreases are provided for as well as increases. It offers today's buyer the hope his home payments will decrease when interest rates decrease--which seems inevitable.

It's necessary because many of the nation's savings and loan institutions have been hard hit, holding long-term low-interest real estate loans while having to borrow at today's very high rates.

For the home buyer, current high interest, plus inflation, which often necessitates long term mortgages, has raised the price of a new home to unheard-of levels. The interest paid on a thirty-year mortgage is today often far more than the price of the home! That means, in effect, that the poor pay more, while those with the cash buy at half the price, or less.

Varying interest rates offer the hope that, when interest rates subside to more normal levels, the buyer of a home might save thousands and thousands of dollars in interest payments, and thus it would seem varying interest payments are very much in the interest of buyers--especially so because interest has been at an all-time high and is almost certain to move downward.

***** B. J. Crowley's HOROSCOPE

Week of June 21, 1981

CANCER -- Those born under the sign of Cancer are emotional and sensitive. A gift of extra sensory perception seems to be more predominant with those of this sign. Best day of the week is usually Monday.

CANCER -- June 21 to July 22--A chance remark enlightens you on something that has been vague in your mind for a long time.

LEO -- July 23 to Aug. 22--Whatever you do, avoid the tendency to eat or drink excessively. You have a great deal of self-discipline when needed. Show family and friends how much you care about them by being a good listener.

VIRGO -- Aug. 23 to Sept. 22--A strong hunch you have could be right. If your load is heavier than you seem able to bear, change your lifestyle.

LIBRA -- Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--Spend time alone. If you are surrounded by people, sometimes your thinking can seem cluttered. For the Libran who is a loner, he would do well to try the opposite approach.

SCORPIO -- Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--Take care of your possessions. Keep your surroundings as orderly as possible. Carry through on projects you have begun.

SAGITTARIUS -- Nov. 23 to Dec. 21--Curb any tendencies to be fickle. During this period you can get by with nothing, so don't try. You could end up singing the blues.

CAPRICORN -- Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--Follow your own instincts. Advice from others right now isn't worth much. A difficult period should level off now.

AQUARIUS -- Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--Your efforts seem unappreciated. Don't let this worry you. Those who are really important to you know.

PISCES -- Feb. 19 to March 20--Drastic changes are not recommended now. Ride with the tide. Success in your endeavors seems assured. Your hard work pays off.

ARIES -- March 21 to April 20--Expect a fun week. Although life is seldom dull for an Arian, during this period exciting surprises may be expected.

TAURUS -- April 21 to May 20--Your good intentioned efforts at being honest can lead to complications. Watch out for situations where you could put your foot in your mouth.

GEMINI -- May 21 to June 20--Someone who is jealous of your achievements will try to get your goat. Ignore them. You have too much on the ball to be concerned with pettiness.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the Akron-Mentone News for their publicity regarding the Mentone Egg Festival Parade.

Thanks so much to all the people, organizations, and bands who participated in the parade.

Also, a special "Thank You" to the Parade Committee: Lana Mitchell, Linda Montel, Joann Bush, Kate Whetstone, Jerry Smith and Rita Price. Thanks to the announcers, judges and anyone else who helped in any way.

A big "Thank You" to the Grand Marshall, Ethel Whetstone. Again "Proud To Be an American."

Sincerely,
Orabelle Meredith and Darrell King, co-chairmen, Mentone Egg Festival Parade.

Dear Editor,

The Mentone Days parade committee should be congratulated. It was one of the best yet. The only thing was the TVHS band's lack of spirit and class.

The past bands under Mr. Bush were so colorful and really marched. Does all the money go for sports at TVHS? We think our community deserves a more exciting band. North Miami's band really stood out in the parade as well as Huntington's Jr. High band. Come on Valley, try harder next year for Mentone's Centennial.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

This week I start my 12th year in Muncie. "I am here and I am glad!" I came to Muncie to preach the good gospel of Christ. That I have done about 500 times a year. I also have written over 300 articles to our newspaper and have fed and clothed hundreds of people. I have raised a good garden each year.

I was forced to retire officially from the Methodist Church because of age four years ago. I didn't retire. My wife has had a good job at Ball State. She now starts her eleventh year.

Hundreds of people have called and written me and came to see me to thank me for my pieces in the paper. I have had several little labor jobs which I use the money to buy food for the hungry. People have brought in tons of food to give out. I have found at least 200 jobs for people and many places for them to live. I have never charged anyone for anything.

99 and 44/100 percent of the people have been good to me. Some, a very few, have called me a Pollyanna, a communist, a publicity seeker. I have never returned an unkind word, nor answered anyone.

I love people. There is nothing I want but to help people. July 25th I will be 70 years old. I am pastor of two beautiful churches. I do much guest speaking and preaching. I hold two part-time jobs, am president of "My Little Bible School," and director of "Luick Center." I love everyone. I love Muncie.

I have my life planned for or until 2000 A.D. I am a happy man. I never turn anyone away. God bless Muncie and you all. I will never quit!

Dearest dads, when we were youngsters,
You were kind and brave and strong;
Still we knew we must obey you,
When you told us right from wrong.

How it pleased us when you'd join us
In our study, work or play.
Partners you became and heroes
As we grew from day to day.

Yet, until we left our childhood,
Little did we ever know
Of the working, saving, planning
That it took to make things go.

And for all your care and kindness
And the joy your love imparts
On this Father's Day we thank you,
Dearest dads, with all our hearts.

Study heart attack victims

"Can heart attacks be prevented by lowering cholesterol?" That is the question posed by a team of doctors conducting a national study on the relationship between cholesterol and heart disease. "Heart disease is the leading cause of death and disability in the United States," said Dr. Henry Buchwald, head of the Twin cities based study. Nearly all heart disease results from atherosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, the tubes which must continually supply blood containing life-giving oxygen and nourishment to the heart and other organs. Atherosclerosis gradually thickens and narrows arteries until blood can no longer flow through them; the result of this narrowing is usually acute illness, the most prevalent of which is a heart attack. According to Dr. Buchwald, cholesterol, a fatty substance, is found in diseased arteries and may represent a clue to the cause of atherosclerosis. Also, the amount of cholesterol found in our blood can predict, somewhat, how likely we are to have heart attacks. Facts such as these have led many doctors to use various means to lower blood cholesterol in their patients; it is still uncertain, however, whether such lowering can actually prevent heart attacks. The University of Minnesota research team is now seeking individuals from 29 through 64 years of age who have had only one heart attack in the past 5 years with no history of heart surgery, diabetes or stroke. Such individuals may obtain more information about the study by calling the University of Minnesota Hyperlipidemia Study collect at 612-376-4494.

USDA adjusts food stamp eligibility limits

Food stamp income eligibility limits will rise, reflecting increases in the cost of living, by approximately 13 percent beginning July 1, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Mary C. Jarratt announced today.

The 1977 Food Stamp Act requires the U. S. Department of Agriculture to adjust income eligibility standards annually to reflect increases in the cost of living. The Office of Management and Budget's poverty line is used as the standard for food stamp income limits. After allowable deductions are taken, the maximum net income limits a family of four must meet to qualify for food stamps will rise from $621 to $705 per month. The maximum gross income for a family of four without elderly persons will rise from $1026 to $1131 per month.

From July 1, 1981 through June 30, 1982, the maximum net monthly income for the continental United States, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands for households of various sizes will be: one person household, $360; two person household $475; three person household $590; four person household $705; five person household $820; six person household $935; seven person household $1050; eight person household $1165.

For each additional member over eight, add $115 per month.

The new income eligibility limits listed here as well as those for Alaska and Hawaii appeared in the May 22 Federal Register.

Higher Lamb Prices Received Before July 1

West Lafayette, Ind. Sheep producers who can market their lambs before July 1 generally receive higher prices for them, says J. B. Outhouse, Purdue University extension animal scientist.

"In recent years, market lambs have usually brought higher prices in May and June than at other periods," the specialist points out. "Therefore, lambs that have enough finish to grade choice and weigh 90 pounds or more should be marketed at this time," he adds.

Younger lambs or those that need more finish should be shorn by July 1, as they will finish better in hot weather without their wool. They can be finished in confinement if clean legume-grass pasture is not available, says Outhouse. Or, they can be placed on a temporary pasture with adequate shade and a concentrate mixture. In either case, fresh water and a salt-mineral mixture should be available free-choice, he says.

Sudangrass, planted in June, will supply adequate pasture during the hot summer months, the specialist continues. It should be rotationally grazed to prevent over-grazing and to allow for adequate regrowth of 6 to 8 inches before regrazing. To extend the pasture season, the sudangrass pasture can be plowed or disced in early September and seeded to wheat for fall and early spring grazing and then reseeded to sudangrass the following June.

Five tons of alfalfa hay contains 1,800 pounds of protein - the same amount of protein found in 356 bushels of corn or 74 bushels of soybeans, Purdue University extension agronomists point out.

When the first cutting of alfalfa hay is removed, give the second cutting a boost by topdressing with potash, Purdue University extension agronomists recommend. Apply according to soil test recommendations or 60 pounds of 0-0-60 for every ton of expected hay yield for the remainder of 1981.

The publicity itch gets a lot of people, sooner or later, but it usually gets them.

1981 State 4-H FFA judging contests

West Lafayette, Ind. Future Farmers of America teams from North Miami, Rushville and Clinton Central High Schools and a 4-H team from Oak Hill (Miami County) won the state poultry, crops, forestry and entomology contests, respectively, recently at Purdue University.

Nearly 500 4-H and FFA members representing 151 teams participated in the contests. The teams had qualified earlier for state competition by winning area eliminations.

For two of the contenders, victory was an old story.

A North Miami High School entry (Team No. 13) won the poultry judging event, giving the school its sixth title in the last eight years. Another entry from the Miami County school (Team No. 14) finished fifth. Keith Overton is the coach. The school is located near Denver.

Another perennial winner, Oak Hill 4-H, from the Converse area (Miami and Grant counties) took home the first place entomology trophy for the eighth straight year. In fact, it was the 17th time an Oak Hill team has won the state entomology contest in the last 20 years. Marvin Green is the coach who built the Oak Hill dynasty. Oak Hill teams also finished second and third.

Trophies were presented to the top four teams, three high individuals and the winning coach in each judging category. The trophies are donated annually by the Indiana Crop Improvement Association, Indiana Hardwood Lumbermen's Association, Indiana Pest Control Association, and Indiana State Poultry Association.

The contests are sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction and the Indiana Cooperative Extension Service at Purdue.

Trophing winning teams and individuals were: POULTRY, North Miami High FFA (Team 13), first, with 3,834 of a possible 4,200 points. Team members: Greg Pottenger, Vince Knauff, Brad Keith, and Bob Mongosa. Wood-lan FFA, Woodburn, second; Heritage High FFA, Monroeville, third; and Jay County FFA, rural Portland, fourth.

High individuals: Greg Pottenger North Miami, first, with 1,332 of a possible 1,400 points. Steve Burchardt, Woodlan, second; and Curt Emenhiser, Woodlan, third.

ENTOMOLOGY, Oak Hill 4-H (Miami County) Team 21, first, with 436 of a possible 460 points. Team members: Trent Austin, Brent Smith and Brian Ferrand. Oak Hill (Grant County) Team 20, second; Oak Hill (Grant County) Team 19, third; New Palestine High FFA, fourth.

High individuals: Alan Perucca, Vigo County 4-H, first, with 221 of a possible 230 points. Todd Helt, Oak Hill 4-H (Grant County) Team 20, second; and Trent Austin, Oak Hill 4-H (Miami County) Team 21, third.

CROPS, Rushville High School FFA (Team 19), first, with 2,566 of a possible 2,700 points.

"It has recently been found that the human body contains sulphur," said a lecturer on physiology to his class.

"Sulphur?" exclaimed a blond student. "And how much sulphur is there in a girl's body?"

"The amount varies," replied the speaker.

"Oh!" said the girl, "I suppose that's why some of us make better matches than others."

"Now, Harry," asked the teacher, "to what family does the whale belong?"

"I don't know," replied Harry. "Nobody in our neighborhood has one."

Rain plagues state mowing

The rain that has plagued Indiana farmers and delayed planting this spring, has also caused considerable delay in another springtime job, that of getting the first cycle of mowing done on the state's highway system, according to Gene K. Hallock, executive director of the State Highway Commission.

Hallock says that the exceptionally heavy rains have caused the mowing to get as far behind as he can remember its being in the recent past, and, while crews are now working to get caught up, they have also been hampered by the water-soaked sod even when the rain has abated for awhile. With the ground being so wet, the mowing tractors, which weigh hundreds of pounds, often cannot work even on dry days because they either get stuck or cause rutting of the soil.

About half of the mowing on the state highway system is done by contract crews, with the rest being done by the Highway's own crews, Hallock explains. Both operations have fallen behind, he adds.

Normally, by this time, the first cycle of the contract mowing would be nearly completed, Hallock says, and the department's own crews would be well into their own mowing, too. Because contract mowing has gotten behind, the commission's own crews, in a majority of areas, have foregone their own regular mowing and have mowed for sight distance and safety at areas where grass might obstruct vision.

This has delayed the department's own mowing, Hallock says, but crews are now nearly caught up on the sight distance mowing and are getting back to their regular mowing they normally do. That includes mainly the roadsides along rural, secondary routes and on state lots. Interstates and primary routes in urban areas are contracted out, Hallock explains.

With a little cooperation from the weather, and a little extra work, the first round of mowing should be done soon, he estimates. He notes that contract mowing crews may be working overtime, as weather permits, in order to get back on deadline.

Although the exceptionally wet spring is the immediate cause of the high grass right at the moment, Hallock does point out that because of the highway funding crisis, the department had to cut back on all mowing by about 25 percent. Despite this cutback, he says, they are still spending over $1.2 million for 27 mowing contracts this summer, along with another over $600,000 for mowing by department crews.

In the past couple of years, crews have mowed median areas and from the pavement all the way out to the fence line. This is called a full width mowing and it was done on at least one of the cycles of mowing each summer. That full width practice has been stopped now because of the cutback of funds. Crews now will be mowing the medians and from the pavement just out to the ditch lines in most areas. They will continue to concentrate on spots such as intersections and cross-overs where safety is a factor, though, Hallock emphasizes.

He notes that there has always been a concern about the appearance of highway roadsides, but now that money is so tight, the department must spend what is available in the most cost-efficient way, so highway beautification will not have the priority it once enjoyed. Highway repair and maintenance are the top concerns, he adds, and the new monies generated by the recent gas tax increase will be going on the roads in the form of resurfacing of additional miles that would not have been possible without the increased revenue.

Hallock points out that the department has been working on some other options for grass control, in lieu of mechanical mowing. One of those is the development of a strain of grass that grows no taller than eight to ten inches. This can be used on new projects, but would not apply to areas that are already planted. Another is the development of a chemical growth retardant which has been used on a limited trial basis already. The experimental application was not 100 percent successful, Hallock says, due partly to application problems caused by weather. A more economical product is also being researched at this time.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

I have a neighbor who would be very nice if she would keep out of the children's arguments. Our children play together and naturally have their differences but she goes out everytime they raise their voices and tries to act as judge and jury to the situation. It is not that she is unfair to my children for I do not think she is but I don't think it is a good plan for people to interfere with children when they are playing unless someone is getting hurt or being mistreated.

Children can usually work out their problems if they are left alone, and it makes them more independent not to have some adult settling all the questions.

What do you think?

S.S.-La.

Answer:

I agree with you that children should be allowed to work out their problems unless there happens to be a bully in the crowd who mistreats others. In that case the bully should be taken aside and talked to.

On the other hand, some parents go to the other extreme and expect shy, frail children to defend themselves from more aggressive playmates when they are not physically able to do so. A parent should step in on an occasion of this kind.

Energy awareness brochures available

With Indiana's hot and humid summer fast-approaching, need to be aware of ways to cool their homes and livestock buildings without spending a great deal of money. The Indiana Energy Information Center (IEIC) currently has available several brochures entitled "40 Ways to Cool Your Home This Summer," "And Save Money in the Bargain" (#10466), "Natural Ventilation For Livestock Housing" (#1097), "Cooling Systems For Livestock" (#1103), "Keeping Home Heating and Cooling Equipment In Top Shape" (#15237).

Energy Dispatch: No More Hot Air About Room Air-Conditioners (#7001), "Back To The Fan - Bringing In Those Summer Breezes" (#7002). These publications provide tips on how to reduce temperatures and energy costs during the coming summer months.

Single copies of these publications may be requested from the IEIC office by calling the toll-free Energy Hotline number 1-800-383-4631, Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. CST. These materials are provided at no-cost to the caller. Written requests may be sent to the:

Indiana Energy Information Center, 440 North Meridian St., Indianapolis, Indiana 46204.

These should include a telephone number where the person can be reached during the day. Each person who contacts the IEIC will also receive a copy of the Center's publications list. It categorizes, by energy-related subject (Solar, Wind, Weatherization, etc.), over 200 printed materials which are available.

The IEIC is a part of the Indiana Department of Commerce/Division of Energy Policy and is supported by a grant from the U. S. Department of Energy.

Nursing alumni meet for dinner

Mrs. Fred Haney, Sr., was hostess on Thursday at a dinner at Steer Inn for 32 members of the Alumni of the Elkhart General Hospital School Nursing, honoring the class of 1931, which was the last class to be graduated before the closing of the school that year.

Decorations were carried out with the hospital theme in mind. Miniature bouquets of garden flowers in plastic pill boxes, the nut cups, which were miniature glass bed pans, and figurines of doctors and nurses graced the tables. An exhibit of equipment used around the 1930's was displayed on a table centered with a china doll, dressed in the student uniform, with cap, pin and black shoes and stockings.

Corsages were presented to the guests of honor, also to Clara Tilley, who was celebrating her 60th year of graduation.

The oldest guest present was Cilia Kuhn, a graduate of 1918. She is 90 years young, from Pierceton, Indiana.

A program presented by Bobbie Glingie, soloist, and Wanda Swick, pianist, was enjoyed by all. The group went to the home of the Fred Haney's for a social hour where they were served cake and punch.

Corn planting date extended for insured farmers

William Badgley, Regional Director, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, announced recently, that the final corn planting date was extended to June 15, for most counties in Indiana. The counties not included in this extension are: Lake, Porter, LaPorte, St. Joseph, Elkhart, Newton, Jasper, Starke and Marshall. All counties other than these had the new final planting date. The decision was made to extend the final planting date for corn to June 15 as the recent rains, along with the earlier persistent rainfall, has made it virtually impossible for farmers to get into the fields.

Badgley also stated that "farmers are facing rain-saturated fields, that may take a week to dry enough for the soil to be worked."

Farmers are making decisions as to plant soybeans instead of corn or to exchange their seed for corn of a short season hybrid variety with a shorter growing season. The situation is very precarious for the farmer as he faces difficult decisions.

Mow or let grow?

By Joe Scheidler

With the advent of the growing season we greet the roaring and whining of mowing machines. Somewhere we Americans developed a "mow-all" mentality which directs us to believing that most grasses and weeds, if more than a few inches in height, are extremely unsightly. When we see areas covered with tall, ground-covering vegetation we may categorize the landowners as having little pride in their properties or as being just plain lazy.

This mentality is a bob white's nightmare. It doesn't take a Biologist to realize that two inches of grass will not provide all the food and shelter requirements for quail and other wildlife. But yet we sometimes see birds and mammals occupying short-grass areas, particularly when a woodlot or brush is located nearby. Wildlife often use mowed areas to dry off following rainstorms or heavy dews and feed on the lush growth which shoots up after an area is mowed.

We need to recognize a balance between areas mowed and areas not mowed. Let's remind ourselves that the greatest variety of wildlife occurs in areas with the greatest variety and interspersed of habitats. There is more variety of habitats when part of a naturally developing area is mowed, and there is more interspersed of habitats when several strips are mowed rather than one large block.

I sometimes recommend, when managing an abandoned field for wildlife, that the owner mow meandering strips as if a giant grass-eating snake had slithered through the area. The size of the area mowed varies, but is generally no more than 1/4 of the area managed.

In determining when to mow, landowners have two choices. One is to mow once a year after the first of August to minimize destruction of ground nesting bird and mammal nests, and the other is to mow routinely every week or two so nest building will be discouraged in the mowed areas. When mowing for the first time in June or July, try to leave a 20-foot strip where the grassland borders a field or woodlot.

We need to re-evaluate our "Mow-all" mentality. I agree that a mowed area has eye appeal, but I also believe by mowing strips only, an acceptable, managed appearance can be achieved. A manicured lawn meeting tall grasses adds a dimension to any rural landscape and is certainly more beneficial to wild-life than complete mowing. This is not to mention the savings in fuel, time and labor required in any mowing operation.

I think if we all take a look at how we're managing our properties we can find ways to improve it's wildlife potential, and mowing is one management tool which is often necessary to maximize habitat quality.

Homemaker Help

Congressmen Carroll Campbell (R-SC) and Paul Tribble (R-Va) have introduced legislation which would allow the nation's thirty to fifty million homemakers to establish individual retirement accounts.

At present the homemaker has no retirement plan recognized by law. The proposed legislation would allow them to set up individual retirement plans (IRS's) and to contribute $1500 annually, tax-free, to these accounts.

Self-employed workers outside the home now have this privilege; there is no reason it should be denied homemakers, especially in view of the fact that many homemakers work 72 hours a week at their job, the most admirable of all occupations.

State Police issued directive on slow-down

State Police Superintendent John T. Shettle issued a statement today concerning the Alliance slowdown. The following message was sent to all Indiana State Police Districts.

The time has arrived for me to clearly state my position with respect to the ticket-writing slowdown sponsored by the Alliance."

"The slowdown has been successful as a publicity stunt, mostly because the appearance of conflict always attracts attention. Calmness and professionalism in times of stress are much less likely to achieve notoriety.

"As Superintendent, I am concerned that the slowdown tactic has diminished the trust and confidence placed in the Indiana State Police force by those who hold the keys to our future -- the people of Indiana, the members of the General Assembly, the Governor and others. Our personal and professional goals and the objectives of the force are dependent upon their good will.

I see the slowdown as gradually destroying the credibility which took us years to build. See the public now questioning our image as a professional law enforcement agency, which fairly and impartially enforces the laws of the State. I see our reputation as a group of men and women who place service above self eroding away."

"These losses -- of credibility, trust and confidence -- are far greater losses from a long-range perspective than is any near-term shortfall in salary and benefits.

There is no question that the General Assembly, the Governor and John Shettle would prefer better salary increases for members of the force. However, it also is true that money for larger increases is not there. Further, it is true that the decisions about salary increases for all State employees, including members of the Indiana State Police, were made weeks ago by the General Assembly. Continuation of the slowdown is not going to change that."

"If the slowdown continues, however, it will tell the people we serve that some members of the Indiana State Police are unwilling to accept the decisions of our elected representatives and officials, who did the best they could in difficult circumstances. Such an attitude is not in keeping with Indiana State Police traditions, and some elements of the public already view with dismay what is being done.

I appreciate the fact that many members of the force are not participating in this ill-advised job action. My hope is that those who are participating now will consider their point made and will return to the full performance of their duties as law enforcement officers.

While it is not my desire to use discipline in this situation, it will become necessary for me to take corrective action against those who, at some point in the near future, still are participating in this kind of unprofessional activity. We must return to the job we are entrusted to do and get on with the task of rebuilding confidence in our Indiana State Police organization.

"Commanders and supervisors are instructed to communicate this to all enforcement personnel. Personnel who fail to comply are to become the subject of command attention with corrective supervisory and/or disciplinary action where appropriate."

RECORD WHEAT CROP

Farmers are expected to harvest a record wheat crop of 2.08 billion bushels this year, the Agriculture Department said recently. That would be the second record-breaking harvest in a row, topping last year's 1.89 billion bushels by 10 percent.

Farmers can receive rates

Farmers now can receive federal loan and purchase rates for 1981-crop grain and soybeans for their individual county, according to an official of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Everett Rank, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said copies of the rates have been sent to state and county ASCS offices and also are available from the price support and loan division, USDA-ASCS, P. O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Rank said county rates are based on a national average rate for each crop and vary from county to county to reflect differences in the value of the crop, production trends and, for some commodities, transportation costs to terminal points. The national rates were announced earlier.

He said some minor adjustments have been made from the 1980 rates to reflect slight changes in area-to-area relationships and he urged farmers to check with their county ASCS office to see whether their county rates have been affected.

USDA commodity loans give producers an opportunity to obtain cash while holding their crop for later sale. By holding a crop, producers minimize market glut, extreme price swings and transportation bottlenecks, by spreading commodity markets over the entire year.

THANK YOU FROM ROBIN ENGLE

I've tried and tried to think of the right words to say, but have had a little problem writing the words, since "I'm only one year old." So I asked my Gramma to help me. You see, when I was born, my mommy and daddy told me that I was a very "Special Baby" and they said how "Lucky" they felt that God had chosen them for my parents. And since I've been with them for a whole year now, I know why God sent me to them and my brother and sister. They really give me lots of love, and tell me how much they love me and really take super care of me. Then when they told me of all the nice people that made the Mentone Firemen's Benefit a great big success, I knew I was "really lucky" then. That "all" these people loved me also, and want my surgery to be a big success. And I want to say "thanks" for loving me so much to care -- Thanks Everybody, I hope God will bless each one of you. I love you!

Quayle resolution opposes UNESCO press rules

A resolution introduced by U. S. Senator Dan Quayle (R-IN) today will "oppose efforts by the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization" (UNESCO) in its attempts to "regulate news content and to formulate rules and regulations for the operation of the world press."

Quayle's resolution stems from attempts by Eastern Bloc and Third World nations to institute rules which would control the activities and the stories of media representatives.

"No matter how they try to disguise it," Quayle said, "what UNESCO is trying to do is to codify and legitimize world-wide censorship."

Quayle said that freedom of the press has "had more positive impact on the development of the United States than any other single right guaranteed by the Constitution."

"Without the First Amendment," Quayle said, "it is probable that few, if any, of the later personal freedom Amendments would have been adopted."

Quayle said the "concept of UNESCO or any other world organization attempting to establish -- what it calls a New World Information Order -- smacks of an Orwellian nightmare."

The resolution states that the U. S. Senate "strongly opposes" the attempts by UNESCO to control the media and "also opposes efforts by some countries to further control access to and dissemination of news."

Notice to all churches in the Akron-Mentone area

We are in the process of developing a Church Page in the Akron-Mentone News. The only thing we have at present is the Church News below that the former publisher printed.

We believe that a Hometown Newspaper like this one deserves better. Please help us by sending us your weekly church hours and news. We welcome all pictures of church events. No charge. Thank you.

Mrs. Merley guests U.M.W.

The Gilead U.M.W. met in the home of June Merley with Marie Berger and Mamie Golden as hostesses.

Marie Nestlerod told us "How to live in an age of Tension," for the opening of the prayer circle, and each joined hands and prayed.

Mrs. Rosalene Young conducted the meeting. Mamie Golden gave the opening prayer and the group sang "I Am Thine O Lord."

For devotions, Carol Ann Lowe read the first nine verses of Gen. 10. Mrs. Glendon Reed gave the lesson, "What Makes A Community?" Mrs. Marie Berger gave a lesson on global concerns. Mrs. Carol Ann Personette read the secretary report and roll call was answered by giving your favorite meal.

We voted not have guest day anymore and to eat out for dinner on that date.

"What A Friend," was sung and Mrs. Marie Long dismissed with prayer. Delicious refreshments were served.

Others attending were Margaret Young, Marie Coon, Lucille Personette, Bonnie Jean Bahnney, Pauline Miller and guests, Sherie Moore and her niece.

Mentone Brownies visit Brookfield Zoo

Pictured is Aisha Hashem on the left and Rachel Stone, right, our top cookie sellers. Julie Cleveland was unable to make the trip.

Brownie Troop # 142 of Mentone at Brookfield Zoo in Chicago.

It was sprinkling rain at 7 a.m. on Wednesday, May 27th, but the Mentone Brownie Troop #142 was bright and cheery. Sixteen brownies along with their leaders, Mrs. Ron Secrist and Araminta Gross, and five guests, Mrs. Melton and daughter, Mrs. Wise, Penny and Tim Secrist, boarded a Tippecanoe Valley school bus for their trip to Brookfield Zoo, Illinois.

Don Poyser was our bus driver, and Mrs. Poyser came along to keep Don out of trouble.

We arrived at Brookfield Zoo at 10:30 a.m. along with around 30 or more other school buses. It was a bright sunny day.

Everyone enjoyed our sack lunches and then we started our tour of the zoo. Goat Island and Monkey Hill were a big hit with the girls. Also, a peacock opened its tail just for us. After walking around the zoo for a couple of hours, we took a train ride through it. It was 2:45 now and everyone was excited about which items they wanted to purchase at the souvenir stand. Stuffed animals and charm necklaces were the most popular items.

It was now 3:30 p.m. and everyone was ready to begin our journey back to Mentone.

We stopped at a fast food place on the way home, and the girls played at the park beside it for a few minutes before getting back on the bus again.

We arrived back at Mentone School at 7:45, tired but very excited to tell everyone about their trip.

The trip was made possible from the money the girls earned for their troop selling Girl Scout cookies in January. The girls sold 2,316 boxes of cookies this year.

Aisha Hasem was the top seller in our troop, and also for our association with over 300 boxes. Julie Cleveland and Rachel Stone also sold over 300 boxes.

The brownies wish to thank Mr. Baxter Paige for the use of the school bus. Also, thanks to Don Poyser for such a good driving job he did for us.

Our brownie troop will be meeting in September to begin our troop meetings for next year.

Some people are very cautious about paying bills.

Electric rate increase authorized by commission

A general increase in electric rates that will affect all residential, industrial and commercial customers of Public Service Indiana was authorized yesterday by the state regulatory commission.

Residential rates will increase an average of 24 percent while industrial rates will rise an average 21 percent and commercial rates will go up 19 percent.

Specific rate schedules were submitted to the state Public Service Commission today and the new rates will go into effect immediately upon approval for usage on or after such date.

Company Chairman Hugh A. Barker said the rate action was fair both to Public Service Indiana and its customers. "We realize that this increase will not be good news to those already financially hard hit," said Barker, "but we simply could not continue to pay 1981 costs of running our business while charging 1978 rates."

He pointed out that while double digit inflation forced the increase, the boost in electric rates is less than the annual rate of inflation since the previous rate increase in September 1978.

"Smaller, more frequent increases in the cost of electric service would certainly be less burdensome to our customers," said Barker. "That's why we continue to work for legislative action to allow rates to reflect all costs on a more current basis."

Because the elderly and those on fixed incomes may feel the impact more than others, the company said it would work with them in finding ways to help cope with higher bills.

"The hard fact for all of us is that in the decade of the 1980's, the cost of all forms of energy will continue to climb," said Barker.

The increase approved by the Commission will produce $112.7 million in additional revenue. Public Service Indiana has requested an increase of $119.6 million.

Fewer Gas Stations?

The Department of Commerce predicts another decline in the number of gasoline stations this year--of more than 6,500. A spokesman for the Service Station Dealers of America (SSDA) says the number of stations--something over 150,000--will decline by twenty percent!

The decline has been in progress for several years. As recently as 1972 there were about 226,000 service stations in the nation. The SSDA claims major oil companies are engaged in an effort to take over independent stations, but this is denied by the oil companies.

Whether the charge is justified or not, Iowa Democrat Berkly Bedell has introduced legislation in the House which would prohibit most of the large refiners from operating retail service stations. Meanwhile, the number of independent stations and the number of company-owner stations continues to decline.

What that seems to mean is that in rural areas, stations will become harder to find. And in some states, the number of stations is declining sharply. For example, North Carolina Service Station Association membership is down to about 185, from 600 members a few years ago!

Motorists, therefore, must look harder and longer for stations, and as their number decreases, the potential for higher prices due to less competition is ever-present. The trend, in other words, is disturbing, especially since the number of cars on our highways continues to increase annually.

Appreciation to "Ed"

"We want to make an acknowledgement of the good work and years of service given the town of Akron by Marshall Ed Hauser," said Ron Fenimore, President of the Akron Town Board, during the regular meeting Tuesday. "Ed has given 21½ years of fine service and we appreciate it very much."

These statements were made as the board discussed Ed's retirement this month from duty as Akron Chief of Police. Ed has worked for the Akron Police department since January 1, 1960.

Announcement has already been made of the employment of Buck Murphy to replace Ed and another announcement was made during the meeting of the employment of Dave Kruger as Murphy's assistant. Mr. Kruger is well known in Akron, having had an electrical service, Akron Electric, for some years, and employed as a Fulton County E.M.T. at Woodlawn Hospital. Kruger's employment will become effective on July 1, 1981.

During the meeting, Joe Day asked the board for help on the problem of standing water at the trailer court. The board decided to contact the town's street contractor, Walt Gerald, of Rochester, and see what his recommendations for solving the water problems would be, then take action Gerald's advice. Day also said he was having problems with the water getting into the sewage system and the pressure from the water forcing the entrances open.

Larry Howard attended the board meeting and asked what was holding up the answers to the questions he has asked about his proposed apartments to be built on the extension of Walnut Street to the west. He was informed by board president Fenimore, that the board has been advised by their legal assistant, Jess Brown, that the project would have to be handled as a new addition. If Howard wants a street extended, he will have to stand the cost of doing it with the board having the option of giving him the specifications. He was informed that there are no appropriations allocated for these improvements in the town budget, so the street, sewage and water lines would have to be installed with his funds. Mr. Fenimore requested that Howard and his attorney meet with him and the town's attorney to discuss and resolve the problems. Howard expressed concern that he would lose the loan for the project if it is not started soon.

In other business the board members discussed:
**request from the Akron Women's Club they be allowed to paint the benches at the park as a civic project.

**report on clipping from newspapers about birds carrying diseases and problem around town with mosquitoes since heavy rains. Board member Charles Miller, is to check with Rochester to make loan of their fogger so the town can spray for insects.
**Fenimore reported the work on water lines to the new Schuler Addition is complete and work has begun on the extension of the sewer lines.

**report made about complaint on water meter readings.

**trash barrels at park being used by people to get rid of household trash.

**report of new sand needed for sand boxes at park; will contact the park board.

Clerk Ernest Smith reported that an increase of $5,000 life and accidental death and dismemberment insurance with the town carrier, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, for all employees would cost an additional $23.30 per month. A motion was made to add this to the policies.

Smith also reported the town has now received their NPDES permit. The permit has one stipulation that the town must comply with, within the next 90 days, the Stream Pollution Control Boards ruling that a flow gauge must be set up in the stream into which the town dumps the water from their lagoon. Val Duggins, Akron's sanitary engineer and Fujiwara, the representative of Boyd Phelps Co., Michigan City, will proceed with the stream profile and flow meter before the deadline.

There was a special request by the board to town residents that they refrain from putting rotten, or wet foods, or bodies of animals of fish in their trash bags for pickup. These articles should be buried, there is a problem created by these articles, when they are placed in the trash compactor.

Dale Sheetz chosen parade Grand Marshall

Dale Sheetz, a retired Akron businessman, former owner of Sheetz Funeral Home, has been chosen by Akron's 4th of July Committee to be this year's Grand Marshall of the 4th of July parade.

Dale has lived in Fulton County all his life and graduated from Akron High School in 1935. After graduation and before entering embalming school, he worked at Bidwell's Grocery. Armour's Creamery at Rochester and helped Ed Case at the Case Funeral Home when it was located at the site of the present Akron Supermarket.

He entered Embalming College in 1938, came back to Akron and opened Sheetz Funeral Home in 1940. In 1942, he joined the U. S. Navy and served for three years, returning to Akron and his business in 1946. Since 1940, Dale has provided the community with ambulance service when the need arose. He retired from the funeral business in 1978. The Indiana Funeral Director's Association presented him with his 40 year pin in 1979.

Dale and his wife, Edith, have one daughter, Mrs. Duane (Janet) Hackworth, and a 5 year old grandson, Marcus.

During his years of service to the Akron community, Dale was a member of the old Akron Fair Board when the fair was held in the town parking lot, held the office of secretary during some of this time; he is Past President of the Akron Lion's Club, in which he is still very active; Past President of the Akron Chamber of Commerce, presently serving as secretary. He is a Mason and is Past Master of the Akron Masonic Lodge. For thirty years he has served the community as a volunteer fireman with the Akron Fire Department.

School Board approves appropriation of funds

With the approval of an additional appropriation of $250,000 and the presentation of contracts for successful bidders, the Tippecanoe Valley School Board in their regular meeting Monday, continued to move slowly forward on the building projects they propose.

The appropriation for the Cumulative Building Fund of $250,000 will go toward architectural and construction manager's fees in connection with the building project.

The Daverman and ProMaCon firms, prepared to discuss the letting of contracts on the building project, presented the board members with copies of the bid summaries for the projects, stating that they felt the listed bidders were the best firms to go with on the program. Figures shown on the summary sheets as the totals for the proposed projects, show the Akron-Burket project cost at $3,905,936.00; the Mentone project $2,967,974.00.

Superintendent Paige recommended three areas in the bidding be excluded until further study could be made of the quality of materials and equipment; areas being carpeting, kitchen equipment and special equipment.

Board members voted unanimously to accept the contracts as presented by ProMaCon, exempting the three areas noted above.

In other action by the board, an auction was held for the purpose of selling the building trades house in Saner's Addition at Akron. After receiving two appraisals, the medium price arrived at by the board was $55,400.00. Paige stated the board must receive 90 percent of the appraised value or more in order to sell the house, lowest acceptable bid being $49,860.00. As there were no bidders present, and Paige reported he had received no sealed bids, the board decided to keep bidding open. Upon receipt of a bid, the board decided they would call a special meeting to consider the sale. The board members and Mr. Paige commended the building trades class and their instructor, Ken Murphy for their excellent work on the project.

Larry Floor attended the meeting to express his displeasure at the use of firecrackers by some of the graduating seniors during commencement exercises this year. Floor said his daughter was burned when a firecracker was set off. He said, "it was the most disrespectful thing I've ever seen." He noted it is against the law to do these things in a public building and thought the school officials should do something about it.

School Board Reminder to motorists

complete as yet and will be taken into consideration at the next board meeting.

Other business during the meeting was: the signing of the extension of the school lunch agreement for 80-81, good until December 31, 1981; adoption and updating of a due process manual of school regulations containing student code of behavior, forms and the responsibilities of school officers, making the laws more easily understood; signing a contract of maintenance with Johnson Controls for $9,859.00. Member Lee Norris said he thought the building could have a more evenly controlled atmosphere than at present, it would help on the utility bills.

The board approved the $400 salary for Bob Hinkle, the summer baseball coach and approved a $225.00 enrollment fee for Marsha Teel to attend a LaSalle Workshop at Madison, Wisconsin on July 13-17, a workshop for school readiness.

GED diplomas were signed for Esther Louise (Engle) Meade and Cheryl Ann (Schooley) Phillips.

The next meeting of the Tippecanoe Valley School Board will be for the purpose of reorganization. The meeting set for Monday, July 6, 1981 at 7:30 p.m. will be held in the high school lecture rooms.

Now that school is out for the summer months, the AAA-Chicago Motor Club reminds motorists to watch out for the vacationing youngsters.

Nels L. Pierson, AAA-CMC president, said children often forget about traffic safety rules when they're at play.

"Even though the children might become careless, it's up to us, the drivers, to keep a watchful eye on their safety."

"When a ball rolls onto a street, we've got to recognize it as a warning that there will be a child in hot pursuit," Pierson said.

Children darting out from behind parked cars is one of the leading causes of pedestrian-vehicle accident fatalities, according to the AAA-CMA president.

"Any driver -- even the most careful -- cannot avoid hitting a youngster who darts into the immediate path of the car," Pierson said, urging drivers to reduce speed where children are present.

He also noted that drivers should be especially careful when backing out of a driveway.

"A bicycling or skating child can be hidden from sight by a hedge or a tree. Drivers should stop and look both ways as they prepare to enter the traffic flow," he said.

important things
to know (and teach your kids)
about power lines

The most important thing to know and remember is to stay away from power lines.

If your children fly kites, be sure they fly them in open areas away from overhead power lines. And remind them to never try to retrieve a kite from a power line, pole or tree.

If you're installing a new TV or CB antenna, be sure it is at least twice its length from the nearest power line. If not, call us. Clearance is the key to safety. Look in all directions, including overhead, before you begin. And don't try to do the job on a windy day. If the antenna should fall on a power line, don't touch it! Call us immediately.

If you're trimming trees near power lines, don't! We urge you to call us first before you begin. And be careful when you're working with long metal objects such as tree-trimming shears, ladders, pipes, gutters or metal poles—they're all conductors of electricity.

Caution the kids about climbing trees near power lines. It's important they they look for power lines before climbing and that they never touch a line under any circumstances.

We hope you'll play it safe this summer by following these simple safety rules. If you have questions, call us. Our business is to provide electricity. But our purpose is to help people.

Extension Notes

James E. Franks
Fulton Co. Agriculture Agent

Mid June with its intense humidity, high rainfall and warm temperature has provided uncommon insect and plant disease problems on the farm and in the home garden as well. Being observed early gives everyone a chance to make decisions about needed control measures. Insects and disease conditions doing much damage in our area are noted as follows:

Apple Scab:

In early summer it is common to see the leaves of crabapple trees turn yellow and drop off. Already many crabapples are showing this condition. The cause of yellowing leaves is apple scab, a fungus disease which is especially widespread this year because of the wet spring.

Crabapples are generally affected to some degree every year with apple scab, however, this year scab is especially bad. Trees will not be killed by the fungus but they will look sickly for the remainder of the year.

The only practical solution is to spray trees with an appropriate fungicide. But the sprays are needed most in early spring, not mid-summer. However, homeowners can still do some good by spraying now to prevent further spread of the disease.

Captan (commonly sold as Orthocide) and Benlate are two fungicides which do a good job in preventing apple scab. As with all fungicides it is critical that they be applied thoroughly and before rains occur. Sprays should be applied at least every two weeks during the wet months. During summer scab is less active and sprays need only be applied if prolonged wet weather occurs.

Many crabapple cultivars are now available that are resistant or partially resistant to scab, some of these include: Centurian, David, Dolgo, Donald Wyman, Indian Magic, Red Jewel, Robinson, Sargentii, and Silver Moon. When purchasing your next crabapple remember to consider disease resistant varieties. They will make life a lot easier for you and your crabapple.

Armyworms on Wheat, Corn -- Pasture:

Economic levels of armyworm continue to cause damage to wheat, some no-till corn fields, pastures and other grassy areas. Infestations continue to be reported from widely scattered areas of the state, and all fields should be examined immediately to detect the presence of armyworm and to determine if controls are needed. Weather conditions continue to be favorable for the continued development of armyworm infestations in field crops. As grain fields ripen and/or the food source is depleted the armyworm may

"march" in great numbers to corn plants in adjacent fields. If movement out of one field into another occurs, spraying the margins of fields and fence rows will help prevent damage to corn, and lower insecticide costs; however, sometimes whole fields may require treatment. Extension Bulletin E-57 insecticide and control rates for individual affected crops. These are available without charge at the County Extension Office.

Not included in E-57 was Lorsban, registered for use on corn, and Lannate for use on small grains. Disease and parasites are killing many caterpillars, and pupation has begun. Consider these aspects when determining need for control.

Cucumber Beetle:

Striped cucumber beetle is present in most parts of northern Indiana as of June 6-9. People growing cucumber and cantaloupe should be reminded that the only way to prevent bacterial wilt is to control striped and spotted cucumber beetles, control cucumber beetle populations with Sevin (carbaryl) or Malathion, according to label directions.

Root Maggots:

Some serious infestations of root maggot on cole crops have been seen in northern Indiana. These maggots have been feeding for 10 to 15 days and will continue for a total larval period of 19-32 days. Growers should protect new seedlings or transplants from serious attack by this insect. Lorsban is now labelled for use for root maggots on cole crops. Check label for details.

Remember, always follow label directions and cautions for insecticide application, avoid completely contact with skin and eyes. Note especially, wind direction and intensity. Avoid spraying under windy conditions (pesticide particles may drift) and always spray away from yourself, never into the wind. This should provide for effective application safety and effectiveness on the target pest.

Menachem Begin, prime minister, Israel:

"We were absolutely sure that Saddam Hussein, the tyrant of Iraq, has an ambition to develop an atomic bomb."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

This letter is being written in regard to the letter printed in the June 17 edition signed TVHS Band Booster concerning the TVHS band's lack of spirit and class.

Several important factors were left out of this letter. The most important one is that we now have a new band director, Mr. Kim Metcalf. Mr. Metcalf started working for TVHS on June 1, on June 2 he had a meeting with parents and band members, and on June 4 we had our first rehearsal. This two hour practice was the only one we were able to have before the Egg Festival Parade on June 6. How many bands do you know that can practice for two hours with a new director, who has completely different methods and ideas, and still put on a show? Granted, we weren't super, and we knew we wouldn't be with so little practice, but we didn't give up and we didn't quit. The fact that we came shows we have at least some spirit and pride.

Another fact that the letter failed to mention was that between Mr. Bush and Mr. Metcalf, we had another director, Mr. Campbell, for four years. How can you expect our band to look like that of Mr. Bush when all of his training has been forgotten? Most of the current band members have never even been taught by Mr. Bush.

All in all, we'd like to say, know the facts before you criticize! Mr. Metcalf is an energetic director with new ideas and ways to make them work. Watch out for TVHS, band in the future!

Several Band Members

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank everyone who participated in the recent bike-a-thon for St. Jude Children's Hospital, and a special thanks to Pepsi Cola Company for donating pot for the ride. We collected approximately $500 for the hospital. Thanks again to everyone.

Democratic Senator Offers Reagan Tax-Cut Plan To Balance Budget

By Senator Ernest F. Hollings (D-SC)

For years, the U.S. government has been encouraging borrowing and discouraging saving. In other countries, saving is encouraged. In the U.S. if you borrow, you can write off the interest. But if you save and earn interest, you pay an outright income tax on the interest you earn--or on the dividends you receive from investing. In other countries, the taxpayer receives an exemption for these.

Accordingly, in Japan, much more money or capital is readily available for business to borrow and expand, and there is less inflation.

President Reagan says: If you don't like my plan then submit an alternative. This is the kind of politics I understand. I submitted an alternative solely on the supply-side, limited to $20 billion, rewarding savings and stimulating investment. It's really up to the President. He's proved he has the votes, and now he has the responsibility to make sure that whatever plan is adopted, works.

A different tax plan must be adopted. Everybody is worried about inflation. And you can't stop inflation with deficit spending. The budget adopted by both houses of Congress with the President's tax cut plan promises at least a $50 billion deficit each year for the next three years. This is why Wall Street is shaky. This is why Henry Kaufman of Salomon Brothers, the most respected of investment counselors, stated that the President's tax plan was too expansionary, that under it inflation would continue and interest rates would rise.

I asked Dr. Arthur Burns, former Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, if he would favor an across-the-board personal income tax cut of $44 billion. He answered, "No." Dr. Herbert Stein, former Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors for both President Nixon and President Ford, has testified against the Reagan tax plan. Even the President is having second thoughts. Originally, he had called for the personal income tax cut to take effect in January of this year, but realizing the inflationary nature of the cut, he has asked for a delay until July. Even David Stockman who has stonewalled any suggestions different than the stimulative across-the-board income tax cut now says: "No one writes a sacred text for budget, tax or any other policy."

And Secretary of the Treasury Regan is shopping around for alternatives. I hope he is successful because I favor President Reagan's program for economic recovery. I favor his spending cuts, his regulation cuts, his increases in defense and I favor a tax cut.

For the program to be successful, the tax cut must be small to begin with, and phased in so that we can eliminate deficit spending. Otherwise, the taxpayer will lose more from inflation and high interest than he'll gain from a tax cut. For the individual, for the small business operator, for the farmer--this is critical.

Test alternatives to donations

WASHINGTON -- The U. S. Department of Agriculture will test two alternatives to the current practice of donating agricultural commodities for the National School Lunch Program in 60 schools over the next three years.

One alternative, cash-in-lieu of commodities, will provide school food authorities in 30 schools with cash equal to the value of commodities they would be entitled to under the present commodity donation program, said G. William Hoagland, administrator of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service.

The other will give 30 participating schools letter of credit allowing them to purchase specific food items from local sources, Hoagland said.

"In each case, the cash of letters of credit will be provided in place of donated commodities," Hoagland said.

"The study will examine the cost effectiveness of the two alternatives, their impact on school food procurement patterns, their effects on school lunch quality and lunch program participation, their impacts on government price support and surplus removal programs and their administrative feasibility," he said.

Hoagland said an additional 30 schools will be selected as control sites and will continue to operate under current regulations on the commodity donation program. All 90 schools will be selected by the end of August.

"Schools chosen as demonstration project sites will participate for four school years beginning in September 1981," Hoagland said. "The demonstration projects will be evaluated during the first three years and USDA will report to Congress on the project by December 15, 1984."

Title III of the Agriculture Appropriations Act for fiscal year 1981 mandates these demonstration projects, he said.

USDA is now soliciting applications from school food authorities wishing to participate in the study.

School food authorities may apply to be part of the study by sending a letter with a brief description of their food service operation. Applications are to be postmarked no later than July 24, 1981, and should be sent to: Ronald Vogel, program evaluation staff, room 622 GH1, Office of Policy, Planning and Evaluation, Food and Nutrition Service, USDA 500 12th St., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20250.

What's NIPSCO Doing About Efficiency And Productivity?

At our Training Center in LaPorte, we teach our employees new service techniques and help them develop their skills. Tom Callison, manager of training and utilization, explains...

"The increasingly complex nature of the utility business makes it essential that many of our employees receive specialized training to improve basic skills, keep them abreast of technological changes and make them aware of new and better methods available to provide safe and dependable service to our customers."

"We have a well-equipped facility here, and most of all, we have excellent instructors—people who are not only very qualified, but anxious to pass on their expertise to employees who are trying to improve their capabilities."

"We have always felt that with proper training we are developing a safer, more productive work force. Normally, about 1,200 employees receive classroom instruction here a year, while about 2,500 others are given field training to acquaint them with the latest methods and equipment needed to serve the customer and provide efficient service. We want to furnish more and better service per dollar to our customers."

More and better service per dollar from properly-trained employees—one way NIPSCO is improving productivity.

MENTONE Our Home Grows

By Linda L. Oden

In honor of the upcoming centennial celebration for the town of Mentone, this paper will be running reprints of news stories starting in 1885. These articles are taken from the reference files of The Bell Memorial Library, Mentone, and are submitted for reprint by Linda L. Oden, researcher.

Although the town was begun in 1882, its first newspaper was the Mentone Gazette, owned and published by C. M. Smith. It was in direct competition with the Akron Echo at its inception.

We will be reprinting big stories of such events as fires, new projects, etc., as well as articles that strike us funny in the research, and some obituaries of pioneers. Strange as it seems, almost all obituaries were front-page news at that time and a person's life story was usually included in his obituary. It's hard to give you any sort of outline of what we will be finding in these old copies of The Mentone Gazette and The Tri-County Gazette because it depends a lot on what was originally deemed newsworthy.

We hope you will enjoy this column and look forward to it. As we near the centennial celebration next June, we hope to make it a weekly feature of The Akron-Mentone News.

The oldest newspaper in the Bell Memorial Library reference files is The Mentone Gazette, dated November 14, 1885. Because of the age of these issues, they are very fragile and hard to handle without tearing. THE MENTONE GAZETTE, November 28, 1885.

DEATH OF HENDRICKS

Thomas A. Hendricks, Vice-president of the United States, died very suddenly at his home in Indianapolis last Wednesday evening. His funeral will take place Tuesday, December 1. A nation mourns. (How many times lately has a public figure died with only this sort of notice appearing on the front page of the local paper?)

THE MENTONE GAZETTE, January 2, 1886 HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Take fine white sugar and put it 1/4 of an inch thick on top of your jellies and they won't mold. (Want to chance that one?)

THE MENTONE GAZETTE, February 20, 1886 ANOTHER BOOM

Not all Wind Either. But Windmills are to Be Manufactured At Mentone By the Thousands.

John Bond, T. J. Colbert, and John Brubaker, the partners of the firm who own the invention known as the Bond Fanning Mill, were in town Thursday, and gave an exhibition of the merits of the mill, which completely captivated all who witnessed its work. The nice exactness by which it removes every particle of rubbish from the grain, and separates wheat into four or five different grades according to size and weight of the berry, are the points of big interest to the farmer. But the fact that the owners make their factory headquarters for the manufacture and sale of the mills, is what especially interested the people of Mentone and vicinity, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan and all the western states will be supplied from this point. This will necessitate the employment of a large force of hands, two or three hundred, perhaps, which will be a big help to business of all kinds in Mentone. Our people, no doubt, will give the enterprise solid encouragement.

Taking trip in the old days

Today, families think nothing of packing up the children, swimming attire and a few towels and heading for the beach.

It wasn't always so easy.

In the early days of motoring, a trip to the beach, the Indiana Dunes, for instance, was a full-scale expedition over uncharted, mostly dirt roads.

The AAA-Chicago Motor Club, celebrating its 75th anniversary this year, found in its files this routing from Chicago to Dunes Park, Indiana, dating back to 1917:

Deadline for State Fair entries announced

Entry deadlines for the 1981 Indiana State Fair, Aug. 20 through Aug. 30, have been announced by State Fair President Walter H. Barbour.

"The State Fair offers Hoosiers a chance to display their talents in a wide variety of competitive categories," Barbour remarked. More than 4,000 exhibitors participated in open class competition during 1980's 11-day exposition and nearly $211,000 in premiums were awarded.

The deadline for most entries about one month away, entries are flowing in steadily, according to Cora King, who is in charge of the Fair's Entry Department.

Approximately 100 exhibitors have already entered the Fair by returning entry forms to the fairgrounds. King said her office receives the bulk of entries for Indiana's exhibition of state-wide interests between July 1 and July 15, but encouraged exhibitors to return the forms as early as possible.

Premium books and entry forms are available from the State Fair Entry Department and also at county cooperative extension offices.

July 15 is the final closing date for all open class entries, including those for poultry and rabbit, home and family arts, agriculture/horticulture and livestock exhibits. Open class entries should be addressed to the Entry Department, Indiana State Fair, 1202 E. 38th St., Indianapolis, 46205 and must be postmarked by midnight July 15.

Deadline for entries in the Western Horse Show, featuring the Hoosier Futurity and the All Breed amateur Versatility Sweepstakes, is July 6.

Nominations for the Horseman Futurity No. 75 harness race, sponsored by the Indiana State Fair, are due with the $10 payment on July 15.

In addition to open class entries, 4-H members from around Indiana make a welcome addition to the variety of exhibits at the Fair. 4-H exhibits in 1980 totaled 17,546.

Entrants in the 4-H Horse and Pony Show are asked to register before Aug. 9 or three days following their county shows, whichever is later.

The 4-H Fashion Revue, which emphasizes selection, construction, accessory choice and modeling of handmade garments, is designed to encourage fashion awareness. County winners are urged to enroll for the show before Aug. 10.

All 4-H exhibits, including meats and special occasion foods, should be entered on Aug. 14 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or Aug. 15 from 8 a.m. to noon.

Also on these days, talented Indiana 4-H members will participate in activities involving demonstrations, public speaking, tractor operators, rabbit royalty, rabbit posters, a chicken barbecue, poultry science and poultry display boards.

All foods, excluding meats and special occasion foods, must be entered on Aug. 19 between 8 a.m. and noon. Additionally, flower, garden, potato and beekeeping exhibit entries are due at this time.

Entry forms should accompany arrival of beef, dairy, dog, pigeon poultry, rabbit, sheep (including wool and trimming contest), swine water fowl and dairy goat entries in the 4-H category.

King said she expects the number of entries to increase in home and family arts, which includes crafts, cookery, clothing and many other categories related to the arts.

"With the fair a little later this year there will be a longer growing season for the entrants in the agriculture/horticulture division," Barbour added. "Overall, we expect a large number of entries. I'm sure we'll have a big crowd and a full schedule."

Groenleer re-appointed

Don Groenleer, 1302 Lakeview Bend, Rochester, has been reappointed to the Fulton County Library Board by Circuit Judge Douglas B. Morton. Groenleer's term is for four years beginning July 1, 1981.

He was first appointed to the Library Board on August 25, 1980 to complete the unexpired term of Jesse Brown who had resigned to avoid any potential conflict of interest arising out of the planned building project. This will be Groenleer's first full term on the board.

Fireworks can be fun -- but dangerous

Every Fourth of July, children ask the same old questions, and parents grapple for some new answers and reasons why fireworks are off limits to youngsters.

Before you surrender to their pleas, you might want to explore some evidence of why fireworks can be dangerous: on July 3, 1979, three persons died when homemade fireworks exploded in the basement of a West Philadelphia, Pa. home; three explosions ripped through the structure. A few days later, a 16-year-old Texas youth died when his homemade firecracker exploded. Last July 4, an 18-year-old Bremen, Indiana man died from a fireworks accident; a four-year-old East St. Louis, Illinois boy was killed when a roman candle misfired in a home fireworks celebration.

Many thousands of fireworks' displays on Independence Day are uneventful except for the festive holiday spirit that results from "the bombs bursting in air." Cities, towns and villages across the nation stage the displays because residents are less inclined to set off their own fireworks after having their fill of the public celebration.

Firework injuries last year amounted to 9,424. Product abuse appears to be the most frequent cause for fireworks injuries. A study in 1979 showed that over 60 percent of the injuries from legal or illegal fireworks were due to product misuse, not product malfunction. Furthermore, the malfunctioning fireworks were, for the most part, banned fireworks under the federal law. In those cases where malfunctioning legal fireworks were involved in accidents, the injuries were minor and did not often require hospitalization.

For July 4, 1981, the federal law permits only the sale of Class C firecrackers which contain no more than 50 milligrams of explosive powder. Some state laws are more stringent. Among the other class C fireworks permitted by federal law are fountains, roman candles, wheels, California candles, spike and handle cylindrical fountains, sparklers, toy smoke devices, helicopter-type rockets, party poppers and illuminating torches. Our State of Indiana allows only sparklers and/or snakes.

To help use fireworks more safely, the U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission offers the following recommendations:

--Do not allow younger children to play with fireworks under any circumstances. Remember that fireworks are not toys for children. The sparkler, considered by many the ideal "safe" firework for the young, burns at very high temperatures and can easily ignite clothing. Children cannot appreciate the danger involved and cannot act correctly in case of an emergency.

--If you permit older children to use fireworks, be sure they use them only under close adult supervision. Do not allow any running or horse play while they are being used.

--Before using any fireworks, read and follow all warning instructions printed on the label.

--Light fireworks outdoors in a clear area away from houses and flammable materials (gasoline cans, etc.).

--Keep a bucket of water nearby for emergencies and for dousing fireworks that don't go off.

--Do not try to relight or handle malfunctioning fireworks. Soak them with water and throw away.

--Be sure other people are out of range before lighting fireworks.

--Never ignite fireworks in a container, especially a glass or metal container.

--Store fireworks in a dry, cool place. Check instructions for special storage directions.

Flyers with Flair

By Joe Scheldler

Throughout time man has looked toward the sky and marveled at the one characteristic demonstrated by almost every living bird -- the power of flight.

How is it that birds fly? The answer lies in numerous structural gifts such as powerful wings, feathers, warm blood, hollow bones and a strong, efficient respiratory system. Or, looking at it another way, birds fly because they demonstrate perfectly the two requirements necessary for any flying machine: a lot of power with little weight.

Skeletons of birds make up a much smaller proportion of their total weight than do skeletons of mammals. The magnificent frigate bird, which may winter along the California coastline, has a wingspan of over seven feet but its skeleton weighs only four ounces! Strength is not sacrificed in this ultra-light framework. Bones are thin-walled and either hollow or reinforced with bony struts similar to the reinforcements in aircraft wings. Bones must be strong to tolerate stresses associated with wind gusts and aerial maneuvers.

When considering flight in birds, we can't overlook the beautifully functional feathers. Perhaps stronger for their weight than any man-made substitute, feathers are a light-weight means of streamlining and insulating the body. Furthermore the tips of wing feathers are flexible, so each wing beat provides both lift and forward propulsion.

Most birds conserve weight by the foods they eat. High calorie seeds, fruits, insects, etc., provide more energy than do bulky leaves and grasses. Relatively high body temperatures and metabolic rates quickly consume available calories so that food may pass through digestive tracts of birds in a half hour or less.

Powerful wings are driven by strong breast muscles which may account for as much as one-half the total body weight in a strong flying bird. Have you ever wondered why a chicken or turkey has white breast meat? White meat indicates a lack of oxygen-carrying blood vessels, so white-breasted birds are not capable of flying long distances.

The respiratory system of a duck makes up 20 percent of the body volume, compared to 5 percent in man. A bird's lungs are connected to a series of air sacs which spread throughout its body, allowing a better use of available oxygen and serving as a cooling system.

Man uses certain muscles to inhale, while birds use muscle power to exhale. Each wing stroke taken by a bird in flight causes rib compression which allows easy breathing. Instead of "running out of breath" as man and other mammals do, birds "fly into breath."

Man has far to go to equal the efficiency of a bird in flight. As an example, consider the golden plover, a strong flyer, which fattens itself in the autumn before striking off across the Atlantic on a non-stop flight to South America, 2,400 miles distant. It arrives weighing two ounces less than it did on departure, which would be equivalent to flying a small airplane 160 miles on a gallon of gasoline, rather than the usual 20 miles.

Most of the above information, plus much more, can be found in a most interesting book by J. C. Welty, entitled, The Life of Birds. The book is published by the W. B. Saunders Co., Philadelphia and London, 1962.

Rochester fireworks set for 4th

The Rochester community will have its Fourth Annual Independence Day ceremonies under the sponsorship of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

The Fourth of July program will be at Barnhart Field, next to Rochester High School, with bleacher seating available.

It will begin at 8:30 p.m. with a 30-minute musical presentation of outstanding recorded patriotic melodies. Promptly at 9 p.m., the colors will be posed on the flagpole at the west end of the field by a special color guard composed of members of the Rochester American Legion and the Manitou Veterans of Foreign Wars posts.

The fireworks display, conducted by the Rochester Fire Department, will follow.

The Collins-Schmieg concession stand will be at hand with soft drinks, popcorn, hot dogs, etc., with a major portion of the profit to be donated toward the program costs.

All persons participating in the ceremonies will do so on a voluntary basis, but the cost of the fireworks, transportation, insurance, and related expenses will be borne by the Rochester business community. Letters of solicitation are now in the mail.

Chamber president, Larry Carr, stated that, "due to the condition of the economy, we almost dispensed with the annual celebration; however, there was such an expression of disappointment by many that our officials have chosen to proceed. Now, we must hope that the usual donors will come through with their usual generosity."

DIVORCES IN 1979

More American marriages than ever broke up in 1979 as the number of divorces nearly tripled what it was 20 years before, the government reported recently. Some 1.18 million divorces were granted in 1979, 4.5 percent more than the 1.13 million of 1978 and almost three times the 395,000 granted in 1959, according to the National Center for Health Statistics.

SALE OF SACCHARIN

The Reagan administration endorsed legislation to allow the sale of saccharin for two more years. An exemption expires June 30 that has allowed the popular artificial sweetener to be sold despite tests indicating it is a weak cancer-causing agent.

ON CUTS

Acting with unusual dispatch, House and Senate committees completed work recently on more than $35 billion in specific cuts across the breadth of government to comply with President Reagan's fiscal 1982 budget ceiling.

Energy Series

From the Indiana Petroleum Council

Q. Are Americans really consuming much energy?

A. Americans have substituted more ingenuity in place of some imported oil -- scaling back their use of energy intensive products and services while sustaining living standards surprisingly well. Last year was the second time in 22 years that domestic energy consumption declined. Oil consumption dropped 8 percent below the 1979 level -- the largest year-to-year decline ever. Gasoline consumption dropped even more and continues to fall. In March of this year, American motorists used less gasoline than in any March over the past ten years -- about 18 percent less than the 1978 peak and about 5.6 percent less than year-ago levels.

Oil imports, which mushroomed in the 1970's, also dropped. Today we are importing 35 percent of our oil supply. Two years ago more than 45 percent came from foreign countries. This decline in imports will save us over $30 billion this year in our bill for imported oil.

Q. If the United States needs all its oil, why are we shipping crude oil from Alaska's North Slope to Japan?

A. That rumor has been around for some time, but it is just as false now as when it started. No oil from the North Slope is sent to Japan. The federal law that allowed the Trans-Alaska pipeline to be built forbids any oil pumped through it to be sent to any country other than the United States, Canada or Mexico. To change that would require a finding by the president that such a shipment was in the national interest. To date, no such change has been ordered. In addition, there is a newer law that makes the controls on exporting United States crude oil even tighter. Alaska's North Slope oil winds up in American refineries only and nowhere else.

Q. Why should United States oil companies get $35 or more a barrel for domestic oil that costs only a few dollars to produce?

A. The amount of oil that can be produced today for a few dollars is extremely limited. The oil needed to replace it and keep the future market supplied is hard to find, hard to produce and expensive. Oil producers today are drilling deeper in more hostile terrain. The cost of installed oilfield equipment has gone up much faster in recent years than the nation's overall inflation rate. Labor costs have also soared and if you drill a dry hole, there is no refund. The only way to recapture that cost is in the price of oil that is found. And if we are to cut oil imports, we must find and produce more domestic oil and other kinds of energy.
