The new owner is a first-class printer and strictly up-to-date in all lines of printing. He is a very fine young man with a nice family and will make a valuable addition to our community.

Citizens of Mentone and vicinity should give the new owner their business when in need of printing as we are quite sure that they will be pleased with his work.

We take his opportunity to thank our friends for their patronage in the past, and trust that they will continue to cooperate with our successor.

Scenes Around Town

by Leafy Hudson

Rumor has it that certain players in the Thursday night softball game have questioned--or even objected to--the term "Old-Timers." Rita Price Simpson advises, "Anyone over twenty-two is an 'Old-Timer'. And if you're not one yet--just wait--you will be!"

I wonder if anyone not involved in preparing for the Egg Festival realizes how much work goes into planning it. I'm just beginning to see, myself. For those working, there are meetings to attend, phone calls to be made, signs to draw, costumes to fashion, extra lighting, road signs and detours to be arranged for, supplies to be bought, ads to be run, applications to be processed, cleaning to be done, spaces to be allotted--the list goes on and on. It would be impossible to compile a complete list of the helpers, because there are too many. It's a fine example of people working together, with community spirit--something Mentone seems to have lots of!

"Then, if your grandfather was my dad's brother, that makes us... first cousins once removed?" "Oh, I remember your Aunt Ella. We used to go to her house when I was a little girl. She was Grandma's cousin." "But, if Mom's Uncle Frank Rowen's name was spelled with an 'e' and Leafy Jane Rowen's obituary spelled her name with an 'e', and she was Mom's cousin, then the 'a' in Rowan on her tombstone must be in error." Conversations like this probably took place in cemeteries all over the country last weekend as people discovered relatives and relatives of relatives visiting the same grave markers. Aunt Retha and I experienced the first conversation at the Gilead Cemetery last week with Krieg relatives, and Jerry and I experienced the last one with Uncle Frank's wife's relatives at the Pine Village Cemetery the next day.

Trying to keep the names and lines of relationship straight, those we already knew and the new information gleaned from the new friends in the cemeteries, sometimes became so confusing, I felt like I could identify with the old Forties tune Jerry played for some of our grandchildren recently, "I'm My Own Grandpa." (Remember that Guy Lombardo song?)

Memorial Day is certainly a good custom. Besides all the hoopla in Indy, it's great to remember and honor our deceased friends and relatives, to consider the ties that bind us to our past as well as to our futures.

"North American Indian Trails"

"North American Indian Trails" is the title for the summer reading program at Bell Memorial Public Library in Mentone this year. Young readers (next fall's first through sixth grades) are invited to join the fun. There are no special meeting dates during the seven weeks, June 3 through July 20, but there will be a party July 23rd for all who participated. Children enrolled may also participate in the library's annual "Trading Post Day", a junior flea market, June 7.

Summer reading club is not a contest. Each member is free to decide the number of books he/she will attempt to read, and then proceeds to do so at his/her own pace. As books are completed the individual's flag is moved around one of the trails on a map featuring special landing spots such as the "Nootka Village" and the "Apache Camp," where prizes are earned.

The program emphasizes devoting some quiet-time each day for reading those books that appeal to that particular person, as well as trying books from new categories. The fact that this keeps reading skills sharp for the next school term is an added benefit!

Akron To Dedicate New

By Tonia Weller

On Sunday, June 9, from 2 to 4 p.m., the Town of Akron will hold an open house to celebrate the dedication of its new Town Building. The 80' x 120' brick faced, steel beamed metal structure was actually completed in October of 1989, but the open house was delayed until all the interior offices were finished.

Planned by a committee made up of Jack Miller, Ann (Kindig) Allen and Pat Mitterling, the open house will feature tours of the building, refreshments, demonstrations of the new Jaws equipment, and speeches by public officials. Guests will even be able to view the two old jail cells, kept as keepsakes, that were moved to the building from the old fire station.

The attractive modern facility now houses the Akron Clerk-Treasurer's Office, the Akron Police Department, the Henry Township Fire Department, the Akron EMS, the Henry Township Trustee's Office and contains a 26' x 50' meeting room for use by the public.

In April of 1985, the Akron Town Board, then comprised of Board President Jack Miller, Clerk-Treasurer Sarah Jane Sutton, Jerry Hudson and Dick Drudge, began discussing building a new town hall and fire station. At that time, the Clerk's office was in the building on the corner of Rochester and Mishawaka Streets now occupied by Akron Video, the EMS was headquartered in the old water building, and the fire department was just west of Viking Foods. The fire station was badly in need of repair and was so crowded that the firemen had to climb into the passenger side of the fire truck and crawl over to the driver's side.

Dr. Kenneth Hoff, of Rochester, had donated four lots on West Rochester Street to the town on the condition that he be informed of their intended use. It was decided those lots should be used for the new town hall and Dr. Hoff made a stipulation that the building be completed within 50 years or the property would revert to him or his estate.

Jack Miller had drawn three sets of plans for the building and after discussions with department heads and other board members, they were consolidated into a single set which local contractor John Ramsey used to estimate building costs. After discovering that blueprints by an engineer would be needed to obtain a loan, the board advertised and received seven bids. On Sept. 16, 1986, Mike Strang of Strang and Associates, of Plymouth, was selected. On Oct. 30, Strang presented the board with preliminary floor plans. After incorporating suggestions made by department heads, the plans were approved in Dec. of 1986.

In January of '87, Mike Strang delivered the figures on the cost of the proposed building and Town Attorney, Robert Peterson, applied for a grant from the state to cover construction costs. The grant application was turned down because Akron had too much capital and because the existing fire station was still standing. An FHA loan was also denied.

For a time the future of the building was in doubt, but Attorney Peterson suggested forming a holding company, which would pay for building the structure and the Town of Akron would then purchase it from the holding company on payments.

The New Town Building

owning property within the Town of Akron were contacted about forming the holding company. All seven of them accepted the responsibility and the Akron Town Building Corporation was formed. The original members of the holding company were: Howard Van Scoy, president; Ann Allen, Leon Kindig, Kevin Deardorff, Mike Tilden, Anita Stephens and Mark Hartzler. Later, Dick Drudge replaced Kevin Deardorff and Joe Day replaced Mike Tilden. The holding company actually owns the building, with the town making a payment every six months. After 21 years, the property will be deeded to the Town of Akron.

With financing secured, the board was able to continue with plans for construction. They advertised for bids in July of '87, and received four. Ziolkowski Construction, of Mishawaka, was selected in August to build the structure.

At about this time the board encountered its only real public objections to the building. Three large, stately oak trees grew on the property along Rochester Street and controversy arose concerning their removal. According to Jack Miller, the building's engineers and tree experts were consulted and the board concluded the trees must come down.

The fall of 1987 brought the election of a new town board comprised of Bob Allen, president; Rod Conner and Chuck Sterk. Sarah Jane Sutton was re-elected but because of health problems later resigned and was replaced by Jean Conner. This board took over the building project in January of '88 and saw it through to its completion.

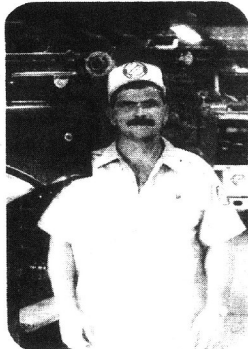

The ground breaking for the structure was held on June 6, 1988 and construction actually began on June 13.

The building was completed in October 10, 1989, well ahead of Dr. Hoff's stipulated 50 years, and occupied by the end of that year.

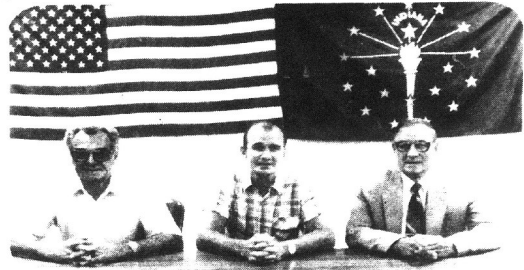

Having the fire department, police department and EMS headquartered in the same building has proven to be a great asset to these emergency services. All agree that the three departments benefit from their proximity to each other and are better able to serve the community. Akron Town Marshall Tim Fleck has said, "The new building makes it easier for the three departments to work together." The fire department runs with the police on personal injury accidents, and the police accompany the firemen on runs to assist with traffic control. Each of the three departments are always aware when the other has a call and is available to help if needed.

Completion of the new town building required a great deal of dedication and hard work on the part of all involved. Jack Miller reports that during his presidency the town board held eight meetings concerning the building in 1986 and twenty-eight in 1987. He says, "I'm very proud to have been able to serve the community. It was a good experience and I'm proud of what we accomplished." All members of both town boards, the holding company, the department heads and all others who were involved with the project deserve a big pat on the back for a job well done. The people of Akron have a town hall they can be proud of for many years to come.

Who's Who In Mentone

by Leafy Hudson

Of Mentone, Mike says, "I've really enjoyed living in this area. It's special, a good place to raise a family. I've never regretted moving here."

Profile of Mike

Mike Hoyt, Industrial Arts teacher at Mentone, has been teaching and coaching in Tippecanoe Valley School Cooperation since 1974. During that time, his students have turned out an impressive array of hand crafted furniture, including fine tables and chests. Usually displayed during the Christmas and spring concerts, Mike says they used to display the best pieces in the window of Valley Furnishings downtown, but they decided to stop because the students were bothered by too many phone calls from would-be customers requesting to buy them or to have duplicates made. "It put them on the spot," Mike says. "It was a compliment that people would like them that much, but the kids didn't want to go into business. They just wanted to show what fine carpentry work a junior high student, given the time and instruction, can do."

Mike feels the present Industrial Arts program at Tippecanoe Valley is exceptional but he fears for its future. "It's in jeopardy," he says. "We have one semester classes now, but, depending on funding, the classes might be cut to nine weeks. We just can't accomplish in nine weeks what we do in a whole semester."

Mike feels it's important to continue the present program because "the kids get experience and have pride in their projects. It's exciting to me to see the kids develop and draw their own plans, to see them build a project from the beginning. It builds a lot of pride in kids, and that's what so many kids are lacking today. I think they need this. I'd like to see it continue."

A 1963 graduate of Nappanee High School, where he grew up, Mike says he learned responsibility by helping his dad on his milk route. "I had to get up early and tussle ten gallon milk cans six days a week. I also had a lawn-care service. I mowed twenty-five yards a week. Those jobs kept me out of trouble!"

In spite of his heavy work schedule, Mike had time to participate in football, basketball and track in high school. He remembers the 1963 basketball season as special. "That year we beat Elkart Central in the sectional!"

Mike began college at Vincennes, where he was a distance runner. But, after a year, he moved on to Indiana State University at Terre Haute, and he gave up running to spend more time on studies. Two fine Industrial Arts college instructors, Guy Conrad and Calvin Stutzman, greatly influenced his future by encouraging him to major in Industrial Arts. Mike graduated from ISU in 1968.

Mike's first teaching job was at Jackson Township School near Valparaiso. The following year they consolidated with Chesterton and remained Chesterton High School. He taught there until 1973.

Mike had met his future wife, Diane, at Tippy Dance Hall. A graduate of Mississinewa High School, Diane had received her bachelor's and master's degrees in Home Economics from Ball State University.

By 1973, although they were settled comfortably and Mike had tenure in one of the highest paying school corporations in the state, Mike and Diane felt they were facing a tough decision. With two small children, Jeff and Jennifer, they were living in a high crime urban area. It wasn't what they wanted for their children.

So, with a lot of faith, and without another job, Mike resigned from his secure position at Chesterton. "I knew if I didn't do it then, I never would."

After teaching the next year at Argos, Mike says, "Robert Forbes (then TVSC School Superintendent) called me on the last day of school. He was very persuasive. I never applied. He knew exactly how many miles I drove to school and what sports I coached. I told him 'I'm not looking for a job.' He said, 'You will be when I'm done talking to you!'"

"I came here the same year Charlie Smith was hired. I helped coach football and had seventh grade basketball. I taught junior high shop one-half day and high school shop one-half day-- in the old school bus garage."

One of Mike's most vivid memories of those years is April 3, 1974. "I was waiting for Don Craig to pick me up for independent basketball practice at the Talma gym. When Don didn't show up, I started on alone. But, I never made it to the gym." What he did do was barely miss the devastating tornado that destroyed, among other things, Don Craig's home and the Talma gym. "The next day I couldn't find a direct route to Argos. There were trees over the road everywhere. So, I helped clean up the mess at Don's place."

Through the years, Mike and Diane, who has taught Home Ec at Tippecanoe Valley for several years, have had a variety of schedules. Both have taught divided days between the various TVSC schools. Mike has coached a variety of sports and classes. He is presently seventh and eighth grade football coach as well as sixth grade girls' basketball coach. "But," he says, "that will probably change next year. I've been involved with coaching every year since I've been here and I really enjoy it."

Mike's other interests are painting houses and farming. He hires about five men each summer for a painting crew. "I really enjoy the summer painting," he says. "The contacts with people and the opportunity to see the countryside."

The Hoyts raise cattle on their farm. The biggest advantage of farming has been the whole family's interest in and participation in 4-H. "It's always been a real family activity. But, Diane takes the brunt of it. When a wife teaches full-time, raises a big garden and still has to cook and clean, it's really not fair. It's hard for the working mother. She's busier than I am and deserves a lot of credit."

The Hoyts are having the satisfaction now of seeing their way of life pay off for their children. Jeff, who worked for U.S. Air and in the fire restoration business since high school graduation three years ago, is going to attend Cedarville College full-time this fall, with an interest in Christian Counseling. Jennifer, a student elementary classroom aide in her senior year, will attend Vincennes University, preparing to follow her parents into teaching.

The whole family is active in the Bethlehem Baptist Church on the Athens Road. Mike is Sunday School Superintendent and Diane is Sunday School Treasurer.

Of Mentone, Mike says, "I've really enjoyed living in this area. It's special, a good place to raise a family. I've never regretted moving here."

DETECTING OTHER DISEASES

When you go to your dentist for periodic checkups to maintain the health of your teeth and gums, he will also be on the lookout for other signs of health problems. Your mouth often acts as the "laboratory of the body," revealing early signs of systemic disease long before symptoms prompt you to seek help.

Early detection of any disease is important in preventing serious consequences. Cancer is a good example. For instance, swollen, pale, and bleeding gums may be an early sign of leukemia. Widening of the connective tissues around teeth may indicate bone cancer or scleroderma, a disease in which the connective tissues or surfaces of internal organs harden.

Dry mouth and sudden development of periodontal or gum disease may be an early sign of diabetes. Your dentist is trained to be on the alert for other signs of ill health in addition to dental disease. That's another good reason for making sure you have your teeth and gums checked regularly, even if you have dentures.

Akron Business of the Week

Steven Sloane, owner of Sloane's Fine Foods & Spirits, and his partner, Mary Coe, look forward to welcoming the people of Akron to their new business. (Photo by Tonia Weller).

Sloane's Fine Foods & Spirits

by Tonia Weller

The newest member of Akron's downtown community, Sloane's Fine Food & Spirits, opened for business May 20th. Located in the building formerly occupied by the Polish Pub, Sloane's offers a fine selection of dinners and sandwiches in addition to beer and wine.

The specialty of the house is Bar-B-Que Country Style Ribs. Prepared according to owner Steven Sloane's secret recipe, the ribs are served in either a single portion dinner or all you can eat. The menu also offers steaks, pork chops, shrimp and catfish. "All my meats are cut fresh, never frozen," Steve says. He also plans to serve an all you can eat, broasted chicken special on Wednesday evenings. For the lunch hour, daily specials such as beef and noodles, meatloaf, spaghetti, or lasagna will be featured. "I have a rotating menu of 20 different specials, so customers won't see the same things week after week," Steve says.

Something new Sloane's is introducing to the Akron community is free delivery of lunch items to businesses and factories within a couple mile radius of the downtown area.

Having worked in a factory, himself, for several years, Steve understands how short a lunch break can seem. "People don't have the extra 15 or 20 minutes it takes to get some place," he says. "Now they can call their order in and I can have it there for them. It gives them a little bit more of a break." All menu items are available for carry out.

While the 107 East Rochester St. location has housed a bar for several decades, it had been closed for over a year when Steve purchased it. He and his partner, Mary Coe, did a great deal of work on the interior, before opening. New ceiling tiles, fresh white paint and several lush green hanging plants help to create a pleasant atmosphere.

"I want to bring a nice bar with a good atmosphere to Akron," Steve says. "I want to give the people the opportunity to have a good steak or catfish dinner without having to drive 20 miles. I want to run the kind of place where a guy can stop for a cold beer after work and not be ashamed to bring his wife back later for dinner." He adds, "I'm not going to tolerate rude behavior. I'm going to run a nice clean place for people to come to."

If everything goes as Steve hopes, he would like to remodel the old fire station, which he purchased along with the bar, and turn it into a family dining room.

While this is the first bar Steve has owned, he has several years experience in the restaurant business. He cooked for a number of years at Wabash's Mike's Little Italy and tended bar at the Warehouse, also in Wabash, for three years.

Steve, who was born and raised in Wabash, graduated from Vincennes University with a degree in Machine Trades Technology, and is a tool and die maker by trade. After working for a time in Fort Wayne, Steve spent about six months searching for a bar to buy.

"I enjoy people and I wanted to own a bar," Steve says. "I've always liked smaller communities and when I saw what a nice, well-kept small town Akron was, I was very impressed."

Steve currently lives in Sidney, but has plans to move to the Akron area in the near future.

Along with shuffle board and a jukebox for entertainment, Sloane's will also be offering all day drink specials. However, Steve says, "I'm against people getting plastered and driving. I've got family out there on the roads, too."

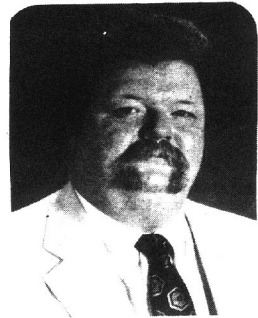

With a seating capacity of 70 people, Sloane's is open Monday thru Thursday from 10 a.m. to midnight, and 10 to 2 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. "My kitchen is always open anytime the front door is," Steve says. In addition to local employee, Angie McAllister, Steve and Mary are being assisted, in running their establishment, by family and friends. He says either he or Mary will be in the business anytime it is open and they are looking forward to getting acquainted with more local people.

"I hope I can bring a decent facility to the area. I want to give people a good place to eat without leaving town, with quality food as good as any in the area and not expensive either."

Steve has heard that, in the past, his location has had different atmosphere than the one he wants to project. "I want people to know they can come here and enjoy themselves and not be afraid of what they'll find."

So far, the people of Akron have made Steve feel right at home. "People here have been real friendly," he says. "I'm very impressed with the attitude of the people and with the welcome we've received." He mentions that Randall Leininger, Dick Day and Terry Randall have been especially helpful to him in getting his business started. "I think Akron has real strong potential," Steve says. He is pleased with his decision to locate here. "I think Akron is one of the nicest communities its size around!"

Old-Timer's Softball Game

by Leafy Hudson

The Mentone School Teachers beat the Mentone Chamber of Commerce, 14-12, in the Old-timer's softball game Thursday night, in a closely fought contest. Hersch Linn, a local softball star of years gone by, opened the game with the first ball thrown to catcher Junior Fore. Fore then took over the pitching duty, with Jack Simpson catching, walking the first batter, Wayne Landis.

After Kim Eiser made it to second base and Dan Kramer's hit was caught by Mike Whetstone, Steve Patterson thrilled the crowd with a home run. Catches by Mike Whetstone of balls hit by Bill Leininger and Darcy McDaniel ended the top of the first inning with three runs.

Raymond Grubbs pitching to Darcy McDaniel (who was scouted and recruited by both teams) in the bottom of the first inning allowed a hit by Christy Price. Jack Simpson's hit was caught by Dan Kramer. Anne Utter and Linda Schenlaub, scored while Bill Wohead's hit was caught by Wayne Landis and Bill Leininger caught Dawn Rose's hit. Jay Woodruff was out, but Mike Whetstone gave the crowd another thrill with a home run. The Chamber of Commerce scored four runs in the first inning.

Lots of excitement followed in the final six innings. Steve Patterson scored another home run, so his third time at bat, in what announcer Rita Price Simpson described as a "tactical move," the wised-up pitcher walked him.

Bob Hinkle, Scott Bibler and Scott Tilden all delivered home runs.

Jay Woodruff caught Darrell King (water boy) in the act of throwing a dipperful of water on Kate Whetstone in the dugout.

Orabelle Meredith jumped up and down with glee when she was declared safe on first base.

Kate Whetstone, at one point was heard to observe, "The women are doing pretty well at getting on base."

Bill Leininger was advised by someone, "Run on your toes, not your heels, Coach."

One player was heard to "encourage" another with, "My dad always said a blind sow in the woods will find an acorn sooner or later. So, hang in there, you'll get a hit sooner or later."

Lake City Bank customers would have been surprised to see demure Dawn Rose stick her tongue out at Darrell King, who, not satisfied with throwing water, ended up creating a stream by spilling the whole can on the ground.

Although flashes of former "glory day's ability" were seen throughout the game from many of the players, the game proceeded in fun, and everyone, it seemed, enjoyed it tremendously.

Study recommends middle school for Valley

The possibility of a building program to construct a centralized middle school next to the high school was discussed at the special public meeting of the Tippecanoe Valley School Board on June 3.

Dr. Alex C. Moody and Dr. Robert Boyd of the Bureau of School Services of Indiana State University presented the results of a study commissioned by the board last fall. The study was based on demographic factors including projected enrollment, the academic program, the existing facilities and the financial status of the school corporation.

They recommended a 77,500 square foot structure to serve 500 sixth, seventh and eighth grade students, with completion to coincide with the pay-off of the current high school bond issue in 1994.

The building could be either a separate structure or be built to "wrap around" the high school. The study proposed using the high school lunch room but building a separate gym for the middle school.

In the discussion period following the presentation, several Akron residents questioned the accuracy of the study and the need for the school.

Board members said they would not be making an immediate decision and that all aspects of the study would be closely examined.

Boyd and Moody also recommended that Valley continue its Prime Time program and reduce class size, monitor enrollment at all grade levels, and include additional music, art and physical education programs in its future plans.

While the Akron School and TVHS buildings were rated as adequate, the study found both the Mentone and Burket buildings to be no longer suitable.

Superintendent Baxter Paige said any plans for a building program will be discussed in future public meetings.

C of C plans Airport improvement project-Honorary memberships to the Mentone Chamber of Commerce were presented Wednesday night to Robert Reed, Earl Shinn, and Conde Walburn.

Scholarships, Parkarama, and airport improvement were the main items of business at Wednesday night's dinner meeting of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce. Approximately 40 members attended the meeting which was held at Teel's Restaurant.

Macy Nelson, secretary, in giving his yearly report stated that the Mentone Airport would be the Chamber's 1967 project. A recent report by the Aeronautics Commission revealed the need for improvement to the runways at the Mentone Airport. Nelson said it was not common knowledge that $122,000 worth of airplane were kept at the airport and that traffic there is very heavy, citing a recent week with 218 landings. He said the improvement would keep Mentone abreast with the times and would benefit the community. Some discussion was held concerning costs, and the matter will be re-searched fully.

Plans for this year's Parkarama were discussed. The yearly event will be held in the Mentzer Memorial Park on July 29. Robert Hibschan will be general chairman for the day. Tentative plans include a chicken barbecue with the chicken fried by the volunteer firemen, bingo, an old timers ball game, a boys league ball game, a greased pig contest, a sack race, square dancing, muzzle loading rifle shoot, antique autos, and a drawing for merchandise prizes.

Teaching contracts with Scott Johnson, math; Dave Billiter, shop; and Eleanor Mares, elementary, were signed.

A new state law that goes into effect July 1 state that the treasurer of a school corporation cannot be the superintendent or a board member, and in compliance with this ruling Maude Thompson was named treasurer. Mrs. Thompson, secretary to the superintendent, will have a bonus of $100,000.

THANK YOU

Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
Or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a floral piece,
If so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
As any friend could say;
Perhaps you were not there at all,
Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much
Whatever the part.

C of C plans Airport improvement project-Honorary memberships to the Mentone Chamber of Commerce were presented Wednesday night to Robert Reed, Earl Shinn, and Conde Walburn.

Scholarships, Parkarama, and airport improvement were the main items of business at Wednesday night's dinner meeting of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce. Approximately 40 members attended the meeting which was held at Teel's Restaurant.

Macy Nelson, secretary, in giving his yearly report stated that the Mentone Airport would be the Chamber's 1967 project. A recent report by the Aeronautics Commission revealed the need for improvement to the runways at the Mentone Airport. Nelson said it was not common knowledge that $122,000 worth of airplane were kept at the airport and that traffic there is very heavy, citing a recent week with 218 landings. He said the improvement would keep Mentone abreast with the times and would benefit the community. Some discussion was held concerning costs, and the matter will be researched fully.

Plans for this year's Parkarama were discussed. The yearly event will be held in the Mentzer Memorial Park on July 29. Robert Hibschan will be general chairman for the day. Tentative plans include a chicken barbecue with the chicken fried by the volunteer firemen, bingo, an old timers ball game, a boys league ball game, a greased pig contest, a sack race, square dancing, muzzle loading rifle shoot, antique autos, and a drawing for merchandise prizes.

Teaching contracts with Scott Johnson, math; Dave Billiter, shop; and Eleanor Mares, elementary, were signed.

A new state law that goes into effect July 1 state that the treasurer of a school corporation cannot be the superintendent or a board member, and in compliance with this ruling Martha Thompson was named treasurer. Mrs. Thompson, secretary to the superintendent, will have a bond of $100,000.

Scenes Around Town

By Leafy Hudson

Well, Mentone Days are over for another year and my mind is a-whirl with a kaleidoscope of images from the three busy days.

Some years it seems we aren't involved in too many things and we can just kick back, relax and enjoy the sights, sounds, and smells of the activities and people.

This year we were involved in so much, like lots of other Mentone people always are, we just went from one thing to another the whole time.

All of the kids who can, of course, come home for the big weekend, and our quiet old house comes alive with grandkids and their friends running in and out. In the midst of all the excitement downtown, the little ones still find time to pull out their dressup clothes and have their tea parties in the house.

For seven years, now, to compound a busy time, we've had to slip away on Friday night and run to Warsaw for Nicole's ballet recital--no we wouldn't have to, but we wouldn't miss that for the world.

One of the best aspects of the Egg Festival always is running into old friends. This year, after Vi, June and I set up the balloon stand for Street Scene, I discovered we were situated next to old friend and artist, Joe Brower. Joe was one of Jerry's L.M. Berry artists in Warsaw many years ago, but he and I go back a lot farther than that. He went to school with my brothers and sister, as well as with Mary Fran Hudson, at Piercetown, so we always have lots to talk about.

One of Jerry's most talented artists, Joe was transferred to the Dayton, Ohio home office, where he was made an art supervisor before he decided to branch out on his own and earn his living doing portraits. His artistry went over so well here at the Egg Festival that he has been booked to come back to town again soon.

How very special to have had a progressive, cheerful library serving the community faithfully for seventy-five years!

When we came to Mentone, I would take Honey and Bud to the library on Main Street, in what is now part of Farmer's State Bank, every Saturday night and I remember how dedicated and helpful Pearl Lackey was. She loved the kids.

Since Pearl Left, Eileen and Madeleine have become an important positive influence in the lives of Mentone kids. Can we ever thank them enough for their dedication to enhancing all our lives?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

This last weekend, we were deeply moved by running onto Marty Gearhart and Company, composed of Marty, Rodney Wright and Tim Fleck, who were, at their own volition, without pay, cleaning up the burned out elevator which has been dead in the water for three or four years.

When Helen and I saw this happening, we went over and inquired, and they told us that on their own volition, without pay, they had taken it upon themselves to start cleaning the place up. They went on to explain:

"This is our town and we're proud of it. We own property here, raising our families and hold jobs, so why shouldn't we want to eliminate this ghetto."

We owe a deep debt of gratitude to these men.

Sincerely,
Pike Lumber Co., Inc.

Whatever Happened to . . .

Herb King

by Leafy Hudson

Herb King, son of Darrell and Mary Ann King, Mentone, will be remembered by high school football fans as one of Tippecanoe Valley's football All-Staters on the Championship team of 1980.

Today, Herb is Head Football Coach and Athletic Director, responsible for all athletic events, at North Putnam Junior-Senior High School in Roachdale, Indiana, where he lives with his wife, Nancy, and children, Ashley, a third-grader and Jordan, one year old.

Herb is rightfully proud of the record he has compiled in his short time at North Putnam. "The past season we had the best record in the school's history. We were 10-3, won the school's first sectional, first regional, and lost in the semi-state to the eventual State Champs, S. Decatur, by three points.

Herb says, "It's been very interesting at N. Putnam. "When I interviewed for the job, a board member told me, 'You do realize you won't win any ballgames with the team coming up?'"

"We lost the first five games to state rated opponents. Our competition is very strong, similar to the Tippecanoe Valley area. We were rated fourth, which is where we ended up." In two years, he's won more ballgames than N. Putnam had won in the previous six years combined.

Herb notes he had three All-Staters on his team, besides the quarterback, who threw the ball for over 1800 yards. All four are returning seniors. So, although they have moved up from 1A to 2A, putting them into one of the toughest sectionals in the state, he believes they have excellent potential for next year.

Herb says his present position is very challenging, but he misses teaching. He expects to teach a computer class next semester, in addition to his current duties, and, although he intends to stay in coaching, he says, "I enjoyed the classroom and someday I will return to it, just coach and teach."

As a child, Herb sang with his family, "The King Family," Darrell, Mary Ann, Herb, Kathleen, Marilyn, Phil, John and Sam, all over Northern Indiana and in Georgia and Florida. "We would sing at churches on the way when we went on vacation," he recalls. Relatives who knew we were coming would make arrangements for us."

Vivid childhood memories for Herb are playing catch with Hersh Linn in the front yard and playing back-yard football with Greg and Allen Utter.

Herb graduated from Tippecanoe Valley High School in 1980. He has many good memories of his years there. He played sousaphone in band, belonged to the FFA, National Honor Society and participated in many plays and musicals, as well as being an All-Stater on the team that beat Hamilton S.E. for the State Football Championship. Other All-Staters on the that team, he notes, were: Tim Alspaugh, Greg Utter, Mark Shireman, Greg Cumberland and David Rhodes.

Upon graduation, Herb entered Bluffton College, Bluffton, Ohio, which he attended three years. There he played football and was player/coach one year, played junior varsity basketball, was active in Student Government and played James, the eldest brother, in the musical, Shenandoah.

Herb switched to Grace College, Winona Lake, Indiana, for his final college year and was graduated in May, 1985. Coincidentally, Jerry Goshert, a Grace classmate and fellow alumnus of Tippecanoe Valley, is a colleague, teaching English related subjects, at N. Putnam today. (Another 1985 graduate was Herb's neighbor, Leafy Hudson).

Teaching at Triton his first two years out of school, Herb was Defensive Coordinator in their football program and coached seventh grade basketball one year.

From there he went to Covington, Indiana, for four years, where he taught basic business courses, accounting and was Assistant Varsity Football and Basketball Coach.

At Covington, Herb met his wife, Nancy, who was an elementary teacher there. A graduate of Covington High School and Valparaiso University, with a Master's degree from Indiana State University, Nancy has presently taken time off, after seven years teaching, to devote time to her family. She misses the classroom, but feels caring for the children and helping Herb is more important right now.

Herb spends an inordinate amount of time in his job, but when he can, he and his family enjoy doing things together. Although they now live in Roachdale, they still own the home they restored in Covington. "I enjoy doing carpentry work around the house," he says.

The Kings are members of the Roachdale Christian Church, where Herb occasionally sings solos.

Herb still holds an auctioneer's license, which, he says, "helped me get through school."

Herb hopes to complete his Master's degree, probably in Secondary Administration, at Indiana State University, through summer school before too long. He's about half-way finished with it now.

Looking back, Herb credits his early training at home for much of his success. He says he was taught that dedication, hard work and perseverance pay off. "That you should always strive for excellence in everything you do."

Herb also remember his high school coaches as "guys to look up to. I really enjoyed Charlie Smith, Mike Hoyt, Jon Parker and Phil See. If I patterned my coaching after anyone," he adds, "it's Charlie Smith and his program. Although I have to be myself, I know he was good, and that's part of my background." One of his biggest thrills was when a group of his former coaches, along with some present TVHS coaches, showed up at N. Putnam to watch his team play.

Herb enjoys his infrequent visits home. "But, it's different coming home and not having the house filled with brothers and sisters."

As for Mentone, "Certain parts of town are just like I left it. It's great to come back and see how friends and neighbors are getting along. But, it's tough seeing people I knew getting older and having problems."

Herb says, "I considered myself just an average player in high school," but for Tippecanoe Valley fans who still savor the thrill of seeing a State Championship brought home to their school, Herb will always be much more than just an "average player."

Summer Safety

Now that the weather is warmer and children are spending more time outside, the postal service is reminding parents of the importance of safety rules for children to use when near mail vehicles and on postal service property. Mentone Postmaster Mike Skoczylas urges parents to assist the postal service in its safety efforts by going over some basic rules with their children. "Please be aware of the great interest children have in mail trucks," says Mr. Skoczylas. "We know that they love getting mail for mom or dad, and this can be a fun and safe experience for them if they are made aware of and observe a few simple safety rules." Postmaster Skoczylas recommends that the following rules be adopted by every family with children:

Never send children out to get the mail from the letter carrier.

When children are outside they should never walk in front of, or come from behind the mail truck.

Children should stand behind the mailbox until after the carrier drives away.

Children should be discouraged from using bikes and hot wheels as a "ladder" to reach the mailbox.

Children should not follow the mail truck on their bikes, skateboards, or on foot.

Children should not play on postal property at any time.

If asked to pick up mail for their family from the post office box section, children should either be given the key for the family post office box; be taught the combination; or if necessary, be given written authorization signed by parents. Children should not play in the lobby area; nor should they attempt to open any other post office boxes.

Who's Who in Akron

Bud and Martha Waymire enjoy being able to help people through the township trustee's office. (Photo by Tonia Weller)

Vernon and Martha Waymire

by Tonia Weller

Vernon "Bud" Waymire and his wife, Martha, both retired in January of 1990, but in January of '91, they both returned to work: Bud as Henry Township Trustee and Martha as his secretary.

"I like to get involved," Bud says. "I'm no politician, but I like to see good government. If I can help in any way, shape or form, well I guess, that's my goal. I want to be honest. I'm not in this for the money. I'm not indebted to anybody," he says with a smile, "other than my parents and my wife."

A township trustee has many responsibilities. "There's a lot more involved than I thought," Bud says. "I'm a rookie yet, but I'm willing to learn!" He has been attending a series of training sessions designed to teach township trustees the necessary information on real estate.

Each spring from March 1 to May 15, the assessments must be handled for the township. Individuals, farmers and businesses must all file Individual Tangible Personal Property Assessment Returns with the township trustee covering such items as farm machinery, business equipment, mobile homes, etc.

Former Henry Township Trustee, Claire Ellis, has been helping with the assessments, as he has done since 1972. "We've had help from the past three trustees," Bud says.

The trustee also handles the financing of the fire department. "The fire department is our biggest expense," Bud says. "The insurance costs are terrific." Funds are collected from other townships that the department provides service to and the firemen are paid once a year.

Administering poor relief is another of the trustee's many responsibilities. This includes helping needy citizens who meet specific guidelines with their rent, utilities and medical payments as well as distributing surplus food commodities. The food items are made available through Real Services of St. Joseph County and include items such as butter, cheese, flour, green beans, raisins and rice. Eligibility to receive the surplus is determined by income and age. Bud has visited local factories to explain the program and the eligibility requirements. The commodities are received and distributed at the trustee's office in the Akron Town Building. Volunteers assist the Waymires with the program and Martha says, "It all goes pretty fast."

Any excess food that is not handed out is donated to the Ministerial Assoc., local food bank or Helping Hands.

Concerning poor relief, Bud says, "We're fortunate here, that we don't have the problems of other places. We want to help people. That's why we're here."

In some instances, community service is necessary to qualify for relief. In that case, the trustee must coordinate the program.

Managing the Dog Fund is the trustee's job as well. Dog taxes are collected from people who own dogs and payments are made to farmers who experience a loss of livestock from dog attacks.

In addition to these and other duties, the trustee must also prepare the township's budget and file quarterly reports with the State Board of Accounts.

"Being trustee is almost a full-time job," Martha says.

This is not Bud's first experience with local government. Previously he served on the town board for eight years. "I think it's everybody's duty, at some time, in some capacity to serve the public," Bud says. "I've seen government in other countries and this is sure better!"

Before his retirement, Bud worked for several years in a machine shop and for 18 years at Miller and Sons in Silver Lake. Martha worked at Chamberlins for 17-1/2 years and then at Wen from 1983 until her retirement in '90.

A native of Frankfurt, Germany, Martha met Bud when he was in the army and she went to work at the mess hall. "I didn't know any English," Martha says, "but I learned it real quick in the mess hall. Of course, it was all the wrong words." She adds, "The people in my neighborhood sort of looked down on my mother for awhile when Vernon and I started dating because he was in the military police and they weren't sure what was going to transpire." But he won them over by bringing fruit and candy to the neighborhood children. "And right up to the last day, my mother didn't think he was really going to marry me."

"She was a war bride," Bud says. "I liberated her or maybe" he chuckles, "she captured me!"

Because Martha was a German citizen and Vern was American, the wedding required an enormous amount of paperwork and red tape. In fact, the Waymires were married twice, once on August 6, 1948, in a civil service and again on August 7, in the church.

Martha wore a dress that her mother had sewn for her from a parachute Bud had provided. His mother sent the thread and zipper from the states because they were not available in Germany.

When she married, Martha knew she would be leaving her home and her mother behind. (Her father and two brothers had been killed in the war.) But she had no idea how soon. "He came home on Friday at 5:00 and said, 'Can you be ready to go at noon on Sunday?'" Martha remembers. So only 22 days after the wedding, the Waymires left Germany.

They lived in both Wabash and Miami Counties before moving to Akron in 1971.

They have three sons: Kurt and Max both live in Akron, and Kerry lives in Phoenix, Arizona. A fourth son, Michael, was killed in Viet Nam on the Fourth of July in 1971. They also have two grandsons and a granddaughter.

The Waymires have a large garden and Martha does a lot of canning.

In spite of the fact that she lost the fingers on her left hand in an accident several years ago, Martha also enjoys knitting and crocheting. "Knitting is better. I can hold a needle here and a needle here," she explains. "I have to crochet on my lap because I can't hold the stuff that I already have done. I love to knit!" But adds, "She probably does more needlework now than before she had the accident with her hand."

The Waymires enjoy their work through the township trustee's office. "We get to meet a lot of nice people," Martha says. The office in the town building is open every Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and other times as needed. "I think it's nice we can be here. It's handy," Martha says. "Everyone knows where the fire station is." Bud reminds township residents that they are also available by telephone at home, if needed when the office is closed.

Bud and Martha like living in Akron. "We enjoy sitting on our front porch and watching all the world go by. Especially the kids," Martha says. "We love kids," Bud adds.

The Akron Public Library has the following new books:

Pathways to Discovery, Exploring America's National trails, by the National Geographic Society.

The Wingless Bird, by Catherine Cookson-- a new novel by this well-known author, with all the wonderful qualities her readers have come to expect, of gripping drama, tender romance, and rich, true-to-life characters.

Mean Spirit, by Linda

Hogan-- a historical novel of the discovery of oil in Oklahoma in the 1920's that made many American Indians very rich; but what is not widely known, is how it spurred a vicious campaign of fraud, intimidation, and murder on the part of white businessmen, law officers, and their henchmen, eager to take their property, rights, and even their lives.

A History Of The Arab Peoples, by Albert Hourani-- despite the turmoil of Arab nationalism and fundamentalism, Middle East wars, and oil crises, the history of the Arab world has been little known and poorly understood by the West, until now.

Emily Post's Complete Book Of Wedding Etiquette, revised edition, by Elizabeth Post.

Multiple Sclerosis, by Labe Scheinberg-- a guide for patients and their families.

Loves Music, Loves To Dance, by Mary Higgins Clark-- another new novel by this master of suspense. In it, a killer enacts a bizarre dance of death, his victims drawn from among the women who answer his personal ads in New York's trendy weekly magazines.

Indy, Seventy-five Years Of Racing's Greatest Spectacle, by Rich Taylor-- Memorial Day weekend, 1991, marked the 75th running of the Indianapolis 500. INDY is the official book of that race, a beautifully-illustrated, well-written history that racing fans will treasure.

Galaxy I Satellite to move

Due to the scheduled launch of other replacement satellites over the next two years, the Galaxy I Satellite will move from its present location. This move is required by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) (ORB1988) to accommodate G.E.'s new C-4 satellite as well as to avoid unacceptable interference from G.E.'s C-1 satellite which is scheduled to be moved in the summer of 1991.

The Galaxy I move will start June 21, 1991 at approximately 10 a.m. and will be completed on June 28, 1991. The move will consist of a seven day drift with a small thrust on the spacecraft to initiate drift on June 21 and again on June 28 to stop Galaxy I at its new location.

This move could possibly cause interference on the channels received from this satellite, such as CNN, ESPN, WGN, The Discovery Channel, HBO, Cinemax, etc. due to realignment of the Sammons Communications dish to coordinate with the change in Galaxy I's position.

A Tribute to Dads-

Dearest dads, when we were youngsters, you were kind and brave and strong;
Still we knew we must obey you,
When you told us right from wrong.
How it pleased us when you'd join us

In our study, work or play;
Partners you became-and hero's
As we grew from day to day.
Yet, until we left our childhood,

Little did we ever know of the working, saving, planning
That it took to make things go.
And for all your care and kindness

And the joy your love imparts
On this Father's Day we thank you,
Dearest Dads, with all our hearts.

Scenes Around Town

by Leafy Hudson

Neighbors around the Broadway and Jackson Streets corner were mystified Sunday when they spied seven little ducklings strolling along in Doc Van Gilder's yard. No mother presented herself to claim them and there was no evidence to explain where they came from. One of the neighbors gathered them up in a cardboard box and took them to a friend's farm pond. Dean Meyer speculates they must have come from a nest somewhere behind Doc's house.

It was a happy Father's Day for Pastor Will Lawson. Daughters Lori and Lynn, and Grandson Tony came from the South Bend area to Sunday Church Service. Son Bill, just across the state line in Kentucky, also a pastor, lives too far away for weekend visits.

Pastor Will was the recipient of a special pie for being the "youngest pastor present" at Church. Other winners of pies were Mott Bryan, for having the most children and grandchildren, Bill Eppleman, for being the youngest father, and Paul Haist, for being the newest grandfather. Paul and Eva Mae's daughter, Jackie Craig, gave birth two days earlier to Meredith Mae, who weighed in at 8 lbs. 14 ozs.

None of the Methodist fathers were left out. Each one was presented a small pie, baked by "gourmet United Methodist Women," as they left the Church.

When I wrote about the first monthly Riley Read-Around in Indianapolis a few weeks ago, I was hoping I might reach someone who would be interested in taking part in the next one. I received a welcome phone call the other day from Jerry Smith. She and Frank have become avid Riley fans, collecting his books. Although the second meeting, scheduled for the end of June, comes at a time when neither they nor I can attend, they are hoping to go to some in the future. Jerry, a busy real estate lady and always an active clubwoman, says she used to present programs on Riley.

Letters to the Editor

Thanks from the Mentone Chamber of Commerce.

On behalf of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce, we would like to thank everyone who worked and participated in the Mentone Egg Festival this year. Especially all of those who worked on the tractor pull track. It took weeks of work to prepare the track and the park. From beginning to end, all events were successful and hopefully enjoyable. Small towns have to work together to live and survive and Mentone and her people are survivors in every sense of the word. Great things are already being planned for next year and your suggestions are welcome. Again, thank you, and we look forward to seeing you at the Kosciusko County Fair Stand.

Pete Simpson, President and your entire Chamber of Commerce Board

Akron Business of the Week

Akron Taekwondo, USA

By Tonia Weller

Located upstairs, behind Harris Drugs, Akron Taekwondo teaches its students courtesy, control, self-respect and how to work with others, in addition to the Korean form of karate.

When owner Suzi Caudill started the school five years ago, one of her first students was her husband, Jack. He proved to be a very capable student and is now an instructor at the school. "We like working together," Suzi says. "We have a lot fun teaching together."

Taekwondo is a family affair for the Caudills. Suzi, who will test for her fourth degree black belt after completing the required waiting period, and Jack, who just received his third degree black belt on June 14, have been married 22 years and have three children. Dustin, 17, has a second degree black belt and Brian, 19, and Jennifer, 14, both have earned first degree black belts.

Taekwondo, which in Korean means "way of the hand and the foot", uses 70% foot action and 30% hand action. Karate, on the other hand, which means "empty hand", relies mostly on hands. Suzi says, "Taekwondo uses the fancy high kicks. We use the feet because the legs are longer and stronger and give you the element of surprise."

Besides the school in Akron, the Caudills also teach classes at the YMCA in Warsaw and give demonstrations at area schools. They teach eight classes each week to approximately forty students, from age five through adults.

Affiliated with the American Taekwondo Association, headquartered in Little Rock, Arkansas, Akron Taekwondo is one of 200 schools nation wide. The organization has a total of 150,000 members.

The comfortable uniforms used for taekwondo resemble white pajamas. The "belts" refer to the ties at the waists of the wrap style jackets, with different colors being awarded as skills increase. Students begin as a white belt and work their way up through orange, yellow, camo, green, purple, blue, brown, red, 1/2red-1/2black and finally, to a black belt. This is not the end of the process, however; there are nine degrees of black belts to be earned. After achieving each degree, students must wait the specified amount of time before they are allowed to test for the next degree: one year between first and second, two years between second and third, three years between third and fourth and so on. The process requires at least 36 years to advance from a first to a ninth degree black belt.

Akron Taekwondo holds testing for advancement every eight weeks. Students perform before a panel of five to seven judges, sometime including school principals and others from the community. In addition to their performance on test day, students are also evaluated on their classroom performance, ability to work with others and overall attitude. A student can advance to the next belt color with either a "recommended" or the slightly better "decided" ranking.

"Testing is a very good thing for the students," Suzi says. "They learn how to handle pressure and stress. One of the best things about taekwondo is the improved self-confidence and testing is a big part of that. You're very proud of what you've accomplished."

In the lower degrees, students primarily work on their "forms". These consist of controlled movements and are the basic techniques for blocks and punches. The first form has 18 movements.

Students also learn "one-steps", which involve working with a partner to learn distance and control. They work on learning how close they can come to their partner without making contact. "I always tell the kids, 'Anybody can kick someone and hurt them, that doesn't take any skill' but it does take skill and practice to be able to kick full power and stop an inch from somebody's nose without touching them," Suzi says.

As students advance to the camo belt, they add "free-sparing". This is limited contact fighting and again teaches control. "No one gets hurt," Jack says. Suzi adds, "It wouldn't be any fun coming to class and getting hurt. Then you wouldn't want to come back. The contact is very controlled."

After achieving a ranking of brown belt, students learn to break boards. In order to advance to a red belt, a student must break at least two stations of boards, one by hand technique and one by foot. The school runs through a lot of boards. Suzi jokes, "We could have built a house with all the boards we've broken!" Jack adds seriously, "It gets pretty expensive."

Courtesy plays a big role in taekwondo. Students are required to call their instructors "sir" and "ma'am" and everyone is expected to be polite and helpful to everyone else. "The higher ranks help out with the lower ones," Jack says. "Everybody helps everybody."

In order to become an instructor, you must first attain a first degree black belt and then complete 200 hours of assistant teaching under a certified instructor. Suzi did her assisting in Rochester with Michael Barnett, where she first began taking classes seven years ago. In addition, she spent a week in Arkansas training with Master Lee. Both written exams and physical skill testing was involved. "It was a rough week!" she says.

Recently, Suzi received her certification as a rape prevention instructor. She will be giving programs and demonstration to various groups on how to prevent rape.

The Caudills and their students also attend several tournaments each year, as the numerous trophies lining the wall of their workout room prove. Already ranked third in her division, Suzi again competed in the World Championships on June 14, 15 and 16 in Little Rock, AK. While Suzi prefers the forms competition, Jack enjoys the competitive fighting aspect of the sport the most. "It's just a lot of fun," he says. "I've always said when I quit having fun, I'll quit doing it."

Suzi, who has helped over 30 students to receive their black belts, feels taekwondo is especially beneficial for kids. "Most of my students have shown an improvement in their school work. Learning forms helps to improve concentration. And it helps keep kids out of trouble. It teaches them to be big enough to walk away from a fight. They don't feel they have to prove anything," Jack adds, "It teaches kids to control their temper."

"A shy child learns self-confidence and an overconfident or cocky child can take the same class with completely different results. He'll learn control and humbleness," Suzi says.

While students must be at least five years old to enroll at Akron Taekwondo, Suzi says, "You're never too old!" she knows of one woman who earned her black belt at the age of 81. Classes can be started at any time and anyone wanting information can contact the Caudills at 893-7273.

The Caudills also have other jobs in addition to teaching taekwondo. Jack, who was raised in Silver Lake, works at Cargill in Mentone. Suzi, who was born and raised in Akron, teaches nursery school at the Akron United Methodist Church during the school year.

Unlike other exercise programs, Suzi feels the benefits of taekwondo last even if you stop being actively involved. "It's a way of life. It changes your character. You gain a level of self-confidence that lasts a lifetime," she says.

New Blood Warmer at KCH

A new Rapid Infusion Blood Warmer in the Kosciusko Community Hospital Emergency Department will allow physicians and nurses to administer a bag of blood in two to five minutes, a major improvement over previous manual procedures.

A single unit of blood or intravenous solution is warmed to body temperature and infused in 30 seconds. This means 1000 cc's of fluid can be given in five to eight minutes.

Kim Finch, R.N., Emergency Department Director, says this is especially important in multiple trauma with blood loss and/or shock. She says it improves monitoring capabilities and better allows surgeons to stabilize patients before a transfer.

Previous infusions could take as long as 20-40 minutes.

The warmer alone can be used for hypothermic patients. The warmer/infuser can also be used in surgery to pump in blood as fast as it is being lost.

Who's Who In Mentone

After serving twenty years in the U.S. Air Force, Terry Reed and his family are happy to be back in Mentone. Terry says, "I just want to settle down and become a real-life citizen of the community. Now we can say, 'this is home.'"

By Leafy Hudson

After serving twenty years in the U.S. Air Force, Terry Reed, his wife, Deb and their family have returned to Mentone to make it their home.

Terry started school in Warsaw, at Center Ward on Main Street, where the new Zimmer building is presently going up. When he was in the third grade, his family moved to the country, into the Milburn School, a one-room brick schoolhouse, "where Grandpa Brown went to school," that was converted to a house.

Terry has happy memories of living in the school house. "I enjoyed the country," he says. He remembers having to heat water on the stove and helping his dad fill the fuel tank with kerosene for the heating stove. "We had the best drinking water there that I've ever tasted," he says. "We kept a tin cup hanging by the pump. The County Highway men used to stop when they went by just to get a drink from that well. And I remember how the wind used to howl. I miss those days. It seemed like we enjoyed life more then."

When Terry was a sixth-grader, the family moved to W. Jackson Street in Mentone and lived there until after his high school graduation in 1968.

Terry enjoyed high school at Mentone, taking part in basketball, baseball, track and volleyball. His most vivid high school memory is of the 1968 basketball sectional game against Akron. "We thought we had won it," he says. "Dennie Meyer made a last second shot from the left-hand corner, but the referee didn't count it. You always wonder, 'what if . . .'"

Married to Debra Bowser in 1969, Terry and Deb lived in one of Denton Abbey's apartments on East Jackson Street and Terry attended a computer programmer school in South Bend. Those were war days, and Terry soon received "an invitation" from Uncle Sam. He immediately went to see the Air Force recruiter, passed the battery of tests and, two days after graduation from computer school, May 7, 1970, Terry joined the Air Force.

"Debbie wasn't thrilled," Terry says. "She never liked service life too much. But, now, she misses the security of living on an Air Force Base."

Following basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, Terry was stationed at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Illinois, where he received training in Aerospace Ground Equipment--"basically mechanics." Luckily, he was home visiting Deb in Mentone on a weekend pass when their first son, Eddie was born. Deb soon joined him in Rantoul and they stayed there until November, when he was transferred to Beale Air Force Base in Northern California.

In July, 1971, Terry was sent to S.E. Asia and Deb returned to live in Mentone until July, 1972. Terry was never in the fighting in S.E. Asia. "We launched the airplanes," he says. "We experienced one four hour invasion through the Gulf of Siam, but it wasn't serious."

Terry's next assignment was at Lockbourne Air Force Base, Columbus, Ohio. While there, he was sent for six months TDY (temporary duty), arriving back home in June, 1973, just three days after their second son, Dathan was born.

Sent back to Chanute Field, Terry instructed in Tech School there for the next five and one-half years. From there, he went to Germany. Deb joined him in Germany in May, 1979, and they lived there until April, 1982.

Terry says he and Deb have fond memories of Germany. Both boys attended the base school there. Ed learned to play soccer from their German neighbor boys. "The boys attended German holiday festivals with their German friends and we took the German boys to American holiday celebrations on the base."

Both their parents, George and June read and Wayne and Phyllis Bowser, visited them in Germany and Terry and Deb showed them the sights. They have gotten to know the "twin towns" of Traben and Trarbach, located across from each other on the Mosel River quite well. A bridge connected the two identical towns. "On Sunday afternoons, we would sit on benches and watch the barges go by."

One memorable trip was along the Rhine River from Coblenz to Frankfurt, where, during World War II, the French had burned as much as possible, destroying or damaging historic castles. Each year that event is commemorated in a festival, the "Rhine in Flames," when the restored and rebuilt castles along the Rhine are lit in sequence with red lights, as a reminder of the tragedy of war.

But, the most impressive to Terry, was their visit to the restored concentration camp at Dachow. "The ovens are still there, the barracks have been restored. It's unbelievable how people were crammed together and marched to their deaths. They show pictures of skeletons stacked up to be buried. You can't believe it until you see it. It makes history come alive."

"The German people don't want to talk about it. Our landlady, Marie, can remember hiding from the Nazi Soldiers and waving white handkerchiefs to the American Soldiers, who gave them candy bars. Her father, who was an SS officer, didn't want other GI's to know it, but he told Terry and Deb stories of rounding up the Jews. He personally had nothing to do with their deaths."

The Reed's daughter, Tara, was born in Germany in August, 1980, just one day before Grandpa and Grandma Reed arrived to visit.

When Terry and Deb returned to Germany, they went to Nellis Air Force Base, Las Vegas, Nevada, where their son, Ryan was born in January 1983. Terry was assigned to the F117A Stealth Fighter Project, "the one that performed so well in Panama and the Gulf. My job was to help maintain it," he says. "We did all pilot pre-training. It was all nighttime flying over the desert."

Finally, in 1985, Terry was assigned to the B1 Program, the "latest and greatest Air Force Bomber," at Ellsworth Air Force Base in South Dakota. While stationed there, Terry had an unusual experience. He happened to be on hand when another Airman grabbed some hot wires and Terry, seeing he was about to be electrocuted, "reached down to pull him off, just wrapped his hands around his rib cage, yanked and away we went." For his act of bravery, he was awarded The Airman's Medal, given for an act of bravery involving the endangerment of one's life.

In May, 1990, Terry was honorably discharged and the family at last returned to Mentone. Terry is employed at Autoworks in Warsaw, and Deb works at Mentone School. The family is at home on N. Broadway Street.

Terry and Deb's son, Dathan, graduated from Tippecanoe Valley High School this spring. Eddi, a member of the Air Force Reserve, and his wife, Amy, are expecting their second child soon.

Terry's plans for the future include running for the Mentone Town Board. "The whole family is glad to be back here," he says. "After the military lifestyle, we find Mentone a little laid back, but we're enjoying it. This is home. We plan to stay."

IMPROVING YOUR APPEARANCE

Whether you're conscious of it or not, your lip line can have an impact on how pleased or dissatisfied you are with your appearance, especially when you open your mouth to talk or smile. If you have a high lip line, for example, this means large areas of your upper teeth are exposed when you smile. If your upper teeth are uneven or reveal unattractive spaces between teeth, this can detract from your smile and make you want to smile less.

The same inhibition can exist if your upper teeth have had a lot of dental work that shows. With today's dental techniques, however, decayed teeth that have been restored can be made to look as natural and healthy as your other teeth.

Improper or uneven spacing between teeth can be corrected through the use of plastic or porcelain veneers. Also, any teeth that are now showing wear can be reshaped with crowns to improve your appearance.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C. 1329 Main St., Rochester, Ph. 223-3121.

Who's Who In Akron

Roy Meredith to Lead 4th of July Parade

By Tonia Weller

Retired educator Roy Meredith has been chosen a Grand Marshal of this year's Fourth of July parade.

During his 43 year career in education, Mr. Meredith, 85, served as a teacher and principal at Akron High School. From 1963 until his retirement in 1971, he was the assistant superintendent of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation.

Born and raised in the Beaver Dam area, he graduated from Beaver Dam High School in 1924 and from Indiana University in 1928. He received his Masters degree from IU in 1934.

His teaching career began in Illinois, where he served as a teaching principal for 12 years. When the position of principal at Akron High School became available, Roy and his wife, the former Evelyn Blesch, returned to their home town.

During World War II, Roy served for three years as a captain in the U.S. Army. As a cargo officer, he made eight trips across the Atlantic during the war.

When the state mandated the consolidation of schools in the early 60's, Roy acted as the "unappointed co-ordinator" of the movement to consolidate Akron, Mentone and Burket Schools. "It wasn't whether we wanted to or not, it was a forced affair," Roy remembers. "This corporation wasn't founded on love of each other. Mentone didn't want to go to Warsaw and Akron didn't want to go to Rochester," he recalls. He feels the success of the athletic teams and the swimming pool at the high school were the unifying forces that forged a successful school system from the former rivals.

Besides his work with the schools, Roy has also been very active in other community organizations. He is the charter president, and still an active member, of the Akron Lions Club, which he helped form in 1947. He is a past-president of the Akron Chamber of Commerce. He is a director of the Fulton County Local Housing Authority, on the Board of Directors for the Council on Aging, the legislative chairman of the Retired Teachers Association of Fulton County and a member of the Manchester Chapter of the Phi Delta Kappa Education Fraternity. Roy is also the president of the Fulton County Hospital Association, the holding company responsible for Woodlawn Hospital.

A wall in his Akron apartment displays some of the awards and commendations he has received from IU, Phi Delta Kappa, the Lions, Tippy Valley and others for his work on their behalf.

He and Evelyn, who is also a retired teacher, have two children: a son, John, in Fort Wayne and a daughter, Marsha Morris, of LaPone. The Merediths have four grandchildren and a great-granddaughter.

Surprisingly, Roy doesn't miss teaching. "I enjoyed being a

Roy Meredith

teacher, but when I was through, I was through," he says.

While he was certified to teach both math and social studies, it is American History, especially the pre-civil war era, that interests him most. Roy feels the best way to keep history from being boring to students is to teach the interesting incidents that happened and were important but weren't necessarily recorded in the history books. One of his favorite bits of history involves the 1859 Republican Convention, and Abraham Lincoln and his opponent Seward. "Lincoln's followers hired the champion hog caller in Illinois to lead cheers at the convention," Roy says. "The cheers were loud enough to convince the delegates that Lincoln was the one the people wanted!" If it weren't for the hog caller, history might have been different.

Recently, Roy spent some time tape recording recollections from his youth for the oral history program at the Akron Library. One of his memories involves driving cattle and sheep through downtown Akron. "My grandfather was a stock buyer, way back when. He bought livestock during the week and then on weekends, my cousin and I would drive them down the main streets of Akron to the railroad stockyard," Roy adds, "There weren't any big trucks then, it was the only way you could get them to town!"

The best advice Roy has for teachers today is the same advice he received during his first year teaching from the superintendent at Danville, IL. "He said, 'There are just three F's in teaching, be friendly, be fair and be devilishly firm!' I always gave that same advice to others," Roy adds, however, "There have been too many restrictions put on teachers to have discipline in the classroom today. Too many laws and too many regulations. Of course it's an entirely different social environment now." He feels the enormous increase in single parent homes and too many hours spent watching television are causing many of the problems with today's students. "You don't see kids out playing like you used to," Roy says. "Now they come home and watch TV."

Roy was surprised to learn he'd been selected as Grand Marshal for the parade. "I was sitting in Harris Drugs, when a young lady came up to me and told me," he says.

Although his wife, Evelyn, jokes, "They probably couldn't find anyone older, who hadn't done it before," it is certainly a fitting tribute to one of Akron's most distinguished and deserving citizens.

Scenes Around Town

by Leafy Hudson

"You can't go home again," claims author Thomas Wolfe. Well, forgive my impertinence, Mr. Wolfe, but I believe we can.

It all started last year. I called at the funeral home when the mother of my girlhood chum, Marilyn Klauk Hulet, died. Marilyn and I had only seen each other briefly two or three times after we married and went our own busy ways. But, somehow, that funeral home visit was different. We agreed to meet again when we would have more time.

Following a couple of very enjoyable afternoons together, Marilyn and I decided to spend a day "walking the streets of Sidney," where we grew up.

Through the years, I have made an occasional foray around Sidney, past my old home, when something took me that way, but this day of Marilyn's and mine was different.

We parked uptown and walked, our eventual goal being the places where both our homes used to stand. Past the house where my sister once lived; past the property owned by Sidney's Prohibition bootlegger; past the houses that used to be spotless, with open, inviting porches and neatly trimmed lawns. There was the house that had been the jewel of the town, with its kidney-shaped lily pond backed by sturdy evergreen trees and stocked with busy, slithering goldfish. Past Sidney's eighth "wonder of the world," the brick mansion that took about thirty years to complete. Past the spot where our white frame, shuttered church had stood and the house that was built for our parsonage when we were in high school. Past the old garage Marilyn's Uncle Arley ("Switz" Sisk) used to run, where when we each had a nickel, we braved his teasing of us by calling us "Maryland" and "Cabbage Plant" to splurge on candy bars on our way to school. And up the hill to the erstwhile heart of the community, the school-or what's left of it. The main part is gone now, but to our surprise, the front steps are still there, hidden in the grass, beckoning the sentimental visitor to travel through time "back to those golden days of yesteryear."

But, the exciting part of the day was the walk west down Arthur Street to the sites of our old homes. Only huge stumps remain now of the lofty maple trees that shaded the Klauks' little dollhouse home. After some thought, we were able to determine approximately where their house sat.

Then-on down the street to my house. It's a full city block away from the nearest house, at the end of the street. A GTE building sits there now. I mentally blocked that building out, and there, before us, seemed to stand again the snug little two story house with its tin roof and curved, wrap around porch, the woodshed, barn, hen house and-of course-outhouse, all connected by little sidewalks. Of the many trees around, I could only identify one walnut as having been there when I was-and I wasn't sure about it. The huge old weeping willow that Mom started by sticking a switch in the ground is gone, but the stump remains. The old apple trees "back in the orchard," which once hosted so many kids in happy hours of climbing, are gone.

The nearest neighbor, a block away, who by simple coincidence is Jerry's cousin, Donnabelle Hudson Rider, invited us in for coffee.

Marilyn and I both had spent many jolly hours in that kitchen, which hasn't changed appreciably, with the Kehoe family (Esther Wise's aunt and cousins), and as our conversation turned to the inevitable, Marilyn grinned at me and asked, "Did you ever think that someday we'd be sitting in this room talking about our grandchildren?"

Sometime through the morning, we scrapped our plans to drive into N. Manchester for lunch, and instead, after a long visit with Barbara Delaughter Slater, another old-time school pal, we bought the makings of a picnic at Slater's Fruit Market (the old feed mill), returned to "my shady side yard" and ate our lunch.

Sitting there in my favorite childhood spot, in the crystal pure air, surrounded by green fields and verdurous trees, under a blue June sky, puffed with cottony white clouds as ethereal and lovely as I remember from so long ago, for that special day, at least, I did go home again.

New Books at the Akron Public Library

Life Is Too Short, by Mickey Rooney-- An autobiography of Mickey

Aspen Gold, by Janet Dailey-- The breathtaking terrain of Aspen, Colorado, once a frontier town, now a playground for the wealthy and powerful--serves as the backdrop for the enthralling story of a beautiful "urbane cowgirl" who must decide between a glamorous career and the handsome man she has secretly loved all her life.

Healing Herbs, by Michael Castleman-- The ultimate guide to the curative power of nature's medicines, and remedies for over 200 conditions and diseases.

Raising Worldly-Wise But Innocent Kids, by David Wirtzen-- This book spotlights the three major areas of battle where your children either succeed or fail: money, sex, and leadership. mixing eye-opening passages of Scripture with riveting true-life examples, he shows how God rejects the extremes of over-protectionism and live-and-let-live parenting.

Bright Captivity, by Eugenia Price-- From the writer of popular historical fiction, here is the first volume of her eagerly awaited Georgia Trilogy. Her most powerful and unforgettable story of the richness and color of life on Georgia's St. Simons Island.

Papa, My Father, by Leo Buscaglia-- A celebration of Dads, that invites all readers to recapture their fondest childhood memories. Given to the Library in memory of Roland Lukens, by his family.

Whatever Happened to . . .

Steve Yates poses with Dale and Vi McGowen in their front yard recently. He has good memories of life in Mentone and always appreciates his sincere welcome when he returns.

Steve Yates

by Leafy Hudson

Steve Yates, of Melbourne, Australia, who came to Indiana recently to attend his son, Shawn's, graduation from Warsaw High School, and to visit Mentone friends, lived in Mentone and attended school here in the early 1970's.

When asked what brought him to Mentone originally, Steve replied, "I was a seventeen year old spoiled brat." His family's impending move from Puerto Rico to Adelaide, Australia between his junior and senior years in school had upset him. "I felt bad because I couldn't graduate with the people I'd gone to school with so many years. So, I ran away from home."

Steve's parents were brought together when his father, Air Force Sgt. Gene Yates, from Kansas, met and married his English mother, Pauline, in England in 1950. "American soldiers were really popular over there," he says. "They had chocolate bars and nylons to give away, and besides, my father stood 6'5".

After Steve's birth in 1954, they were relocated to Omaha, Nebraska, then to Madrid, Spain, and from there to Roswell, New Mexico.

Although Steve's memories of those early years aren't vivid, he remembers he spoke fluent Spanish while in Spain, from ages 4 - 7. "I do remember castles there," he says. "And we used to go to the Riviera on the Mediterranean, where I got third degree burns from too much sun." During that time he also had eleven stitches taken in his head from wounds received while diving into the bathtub!

It was their next assignment, at Ramey Air Force Base in Puerto Rico, that Steve liked best. He liked the beaches, weather, surf and the people. "My teenage years were the most fun of my life," he says. "Although my grades were good, I majored in sports and girls."

It was in Puerto Rico that Steve met Mentone's Larry Flenar family, also in the Air Force, and became fast friends with their son, Rick. "We were very close. They considered me another son, and always told me to come and see them when they came back to the States. But, I'm sure they never dreamed I would come so soon."

It was 1971 when Steve's father retired and chose to move his family to Australia. "He saw it as the 'land of opportunity,' as people used to see the Old West." Steve went along, but only for six weeks. With only $100, "I ran away from home," he says. I stayed in the YMCA in Sydney. I 'rang' my mom in the morning and asked for bus fare home. Then I 'rang' her in the afternoon and said I wouldn't be there. I was going to America. I didn't see her again for three and one-half years. It nearly killed her."

After arriving in New York, where he met with a friend, Steve hitchhiked to New Orleans, then to Indianapolis and on to Rochester. I 'rang' the Flenars from Rochester and said, 'I'm here.' They said 'You are what!' But, they more than made me welcome. They are very nice people."

The Flenars picked Steve up in Rochester, took him home with them in September, 1971 and he enrolled in Mentone High School. Steve's first impression of Mentone was that it was comfortable and the people were friendly. "Everyone sort of took me to their bosoms. It was a big change, from traveling with the Air Force, to a more domestic life."

Steve worked at M&R Egg Company, then, after marriage to Sherry McGowen, her uncle helped him land a job at Boise Cascade, a trailer factory, where he worked two years. Steve remembers that as "good pay and good companionship." He worked "lots of overtime," but still found time to form softball and basketball teams with his co-workers.

But, after son Shawn was born, Steve had a great desire to return to Australia. "We were saving money for that," he says.

The young family arrived in Melbourne, Australia in 1974. At first, Steve worked shifting pallets and loading trucks in a store. After about a year, Sherry and Shawn returned to the United States and Steve moved to Perth, where he did industrial cleaning for a year. Then, he returned to Melbourne and, for seven years, ran his own industrial cleaning business.

Steve's business finally became "too successful," causing him back trouble. So, he went to work for the chocolate factory where his father had worked before his death in 1976.

The last four years of Steve's employment with the chocolate factory, he traveled for them as Marketing Manager, getting to see many places most people wouldn't see in a lifetime. New Guinea, Tahiti, Fiji, Midway, Guadalcanal and most of Asia are just some of the places he has visited.

Steve has also seen most of America. Through the years he has come over to be with Shawn as often as possible, visiting with the Dale McGowen's, Flenars, and other friends while here and touring the country. Dale and Vi McGowen accompanied Shawn on one of several trips to Australia, and they all have seen much of that country.

Although Steve retains his U.S. Citizenship, he is a permanent resident of Australia, which means he is compelled by law to vote in their elections. Anyone who doesn't vote is assessed a $20 fine. Two other laws of note are that both adults and children must wear helmets when riding bicycles and Australia passed the first seat belt law sixteen years ago.

Steve says Australia is a beautiful country, with much to see and do. Melbourne's climate compares to that of Los Angeles. But, because there is more public transportation, without so many cars, there isn't much smog. "With population made up of Spanish, Chinese, Japanese, Greeks, Italians, English and more, Australia is today's 'melting pot,' as America used to be."

Steve says the recent American movies he's seen, including the Crocodile Dundee shows, The Man From Snow River, and the TV show starring Linda Evans, have portrayed Australia very realistically.

After looking up old friends from Puerto Rico, now living all over America, Steve will embark on the thirteen hour flight from Los Angeles back to Australia, to return to his present job at Ormond College in Melbourne.

Steve feels family is all important in anyone's life, and he's already looking forward to Shawn's next visit to Australia.

Tippecanoe Valley Aquatic Club Has First Dual Meet

Tippecanoe Valley Aquatic Club hosted its first dual swim meet of the summer season on June 18. In a closely fought contest, TVAC was defeated by the Manchester Aquatic Club by a score of 233-226. TVAC was victorious, however, in the number of events won, winning 33 of the 60 events swum to Manchester's 27 victories.

First place winners in the 8 and under division were Lacey Stump (25 back, 100 IM), Hilary Vanlaningham (25 fly, girls 25 and 50 free), and Casey Wise (25 back, boys 25 and 50 free). Winners in the 9-10 division for TVAC were Carrie Whetstone (50 breast and 100 free), Lucas Cox (50 breast, 100 IM), and Charlie Wise (50 fly, 50 and 100 free).

In the 11-12 year old category, there were several TVAC victories. For the girls, first-place winners were Eve Boggs (50 free and 200 IM), and Shanna Dunnuck (100 free). For the boys, winners were Jason Paris (50 fly) and Scott Whetstone (50 back, 50 and 100 free). Scott, in his three victories, set three new team records. He improved the times of his own previously held team records in the 50 and 100 freestyles while breaking the team record in the 50 back, previously held by Scott Beery since 1983.

First place winners for TVAC in the 13 and over category were Shawn Dunnuck (100 fly), Ryan See (100 back) and Jill Hunter medley relays.

TVAC would like to welcome several new swimmers to the team and congratulate them on the great job they did in their first dual meet. New TVAC swimmers this summer are Matt Baker, Ryan See, Melissa Monk, and Amber Drudge. We would also like to welcome back three former swimmers to the team--Jill Hunter, Reba Roach, and Amy Heckaman. Due to the efforts of these new and returning members and all the other hard working members of TVAC, we were almost victorious in one of the most exciting, closely-contested dual swim meets in recent TVAC history.

The next dual meet for TVAC will be on July 9 at Tippecanoe Valley High School at 6:00 p.m. against the Marion Aquatic Club. The public is always invited to attend; your support for our swimmers is truly appreciated!

Inventory of soil to be taken here this summer-A physical inventor of all land lying within the Akron Soil Conservation District is to get into full swing, now that Mr. Thomas Longwell has been transferred to Akron to carry on this phase of the work.

Mr. Longwell will transpose the soil type, slope, and erosion on aerial photographs from his studies in the field. This will necessitate his wading over almost each field on every farm. He will welcome the company of any farmer in going over his farm and will be glad to answer any questions.

These maps as complete will be available to the supervisors for study and will remain in this district office where anyone interested may study them.

There have been eighteen farms mapped so far and farm plans have been worked out on fourteen of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Longwell are staying at the Akron Hotel.

Voris Davis and Clarence Marsh appointed to view Township Ditch-the county Commissioners have appointed Voris Davis and Clarence Marsh as reviewers for the Harris-Royer-Sperra ditch, which is located in this township.

At the same meeting, the commissioner allowed bills which had been presented, and awarded Dean Neff a contract for a new hayloader for the county farm. The new implement was obtained for $110.

Water tower is Refurbished- The Mentone water tower underwent its first major refurbishing job last week as the Leary Company of Greencastle cleaned it inside and out and applied a coat of blue paint to the previously light green structure, the five-year old tower also had its bracing tightened and is guaranteed to be in good condition for another five years.

Sell restaurant- Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Friesner have announced the sale of Arlo's Coffee Shop to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Finlay of Columbia City. The Friesners closed the restaurant last Friday. It will be reopened soon by the new owners. Mr. Friesner plans to resume the carpenter's trade.

Sherry Thompson Accidentally Shot- Mrs. Orvin (Sherry) Thompson was released from Murphy Medical Center this week after being hospitalized with gunshot wounds sustained late Friday when she was accidentally wounded in a "rat shooting" incident at the Thompson's Claypool home.

The .22 caliber rifle bullet struck Mrs. Thompson in the left side of the neck and the shell exited below the left shoulder blade. According to the sheriff's department, Mr. Thompson and Mike Summers, Akron, were inside the barn shooting rats. Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Summers, and Ronnie Gagnon, Akron, were standing outside the barn approximately 25 feet away when a bullet came outside and struck Mrs. Thompson.

Joins Husband In Japan- Mrs. John Zolman, the former Beverly Leckrone, and her two month old daughter, Tina Dellin, are now in Tokyo, Japan where they joined their husband and father, John D. Zolman, who is serving in the U.S. Navy. The Zolmans will live in Japan until October, 1968. Zolman has been there since October, 1966 and had not seen his daughter until this week. Mrs. Zolman and Tina were accompanied to Chicago's O'hare Field by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zolman and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Leckrone. Fifteen hours later, after one stopover in Anchorage, Alaska, they arrived in Japan where they were met by Mr. Zolman.

Mentone Beats South Bend Cubs in First Game-The South Bend South Side Cubs ended up on the short end of a 11 to 10 score in the baseball game at Mentone Sunday. The game was close throughout but at no time was the home team in any particular danger. A good crowd was present.

Smith and Teel formed the battery for the locals the first six innings while Creakbaum and Linn relieved them in the last three stanzas. At the present writings no game is scheduled for Sunday but the boys are hoping to get a game arranged.

Motorcycle Races at Burket Sunday-The Tourist Trophy motorcycle races will be held at the Burket race track on Sunday afternoon June 29. The Burket track is located just north of that place.

Motorcycle racing, according to the officials is making its appearance for the second time in the county on a greatly approved track. It provides an entirely new form of amusement and thrills for the sports loving public.

The track is oiled dirt, built on an irregular oval with a straight-away long and smooth enough to allow the wild-eyed daredevil to let their iron steeds show some speed. There are hairpin turns that really make the riders show their stuff and hills so steep that a man on foot can scarcely climb them. This new form of cycle racing gives the race fan an entirely new form of racing that has provided speed, thrills and spills beyond words.

Locals- Wayne Tombaught and Earl Shinn left early Monday morning on a trip to Michigan to see about a load of fresh fruit.

Chester Manwaring and son, Chas, are on a fishing trip to the Lake of the Woods district. They expect to be gone about two weeks.

Mrs. Bessie Bivvins left Saturday with her daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mollenhour, for a week's trip in Alabama, in and around Mrs. Bivvin's old home town.

"In the name of God we will set up our banners."
- Psalm 20:5

LET'S HONOR OUR FLAG
AND THE FREEDOM IT REPRESENTS

It's just a piece of cloth, they say.
Who don't appreciate the way
Our precious banner came to be
The symbol of our liberty.
Its colors and unique design
Were brought together to define
The sacrifice and high ideals
That even now our flag reveals.
The freedom it will signify
As long as it's allowed to fly
Enables us to live the way
Our founding fathers in their day
Established, using God's own laws,
Adapting them to freedom's cause;
So that our flag, the way they planned,
Will wave forever in our land.

- Gloria Nowak

A thoughtful mind
...sees not the flag only, but the nation itself.
- Henry Ward Beecher
