TVHS student asks: "Are you guilty?"

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The following essay was submitted to the NEWS by Sherry Blankenship, a journalism student at TVHS. Sherry is a regular writer for the RUNIC REVIEW, the paper published by and for high school students at TVHS.)

By SHERRY BLANKENSHIP

I was at a public gathering recently and they said we will now rise and sing the National Anthem. We stood, but few people sang. I did and my voice sounded awfully small. I wondered why no one sang. Didn't they know the song, or were they ashamed to sing? I couldn't imagine why anyone would be ashamed to sing as their voice would be completely anonymous in such a large crowd. I could hardly think all those people were unpatriotic. Perhaps it was because it has become such an empty ritual. Perhaps the feeling behind the waving of the flag and the "Oh say can you see" has been lost.

see" has been lost. Yet, some young men came to mind that I had spoken to not too long ago and their views were certainly not unpatriotic. They were in favor of keeping armies to protect our nations freedom and willing, it seemed, to fight as well should the need arise.

A young woman I had spoken to said, "I don't wear patriotism on my sleeve, but I have it deep within me." She was evidently very proud to be an American. On the other hand, I have also heard the views of an older generation, some World War II veterans. They were sure if we had another war to fighi that no one would fight. To prove their point, they pointed to the Vietnam War. A time when so many young men protested, went to Canada rather than fight, and burned their draft cards. Unfortunately, they failed to mention the thousands who did go and the thousands who did go and the thousands who did we heard so much about the protesters that the ones who fought got very little recognition. There was no fanfare when Vietnam veterans returned as there was when WW II vets returned.

There was no response and backing of the Vietnam War because the majority felt our national security was not threatened. There is a great difference. During WW II we fought to perserve our way of life and of millions of others. I, for one, firmly believe should our way of life, our freedom, and our very lives be threatened, there would be plenty of men to fight and protect us. While 1 am not an advocate of war, sometimes our patriotism is tested most when we are asked to go and fight for our country.

There are so many middleclass people, the backbone of America, who are never heard from except when they are needed. They will be there to fight, to work and to protect their way of life.

As for the reason people don't sing the National Anthem, I don't know. Maybe it is the time in which we live, there are so many things being questioned now. It is a time of unrest; the future is so uncertain. I do know one thing: I am going to teach my children about being patriotic and tell them it is no shame to sing the National Anthem at ballgames and other places. I also have faith in the coming generations that they will have the same faith and respect the majority of us do in America. If you are one of those who don't sing. I certainly hope you are singing in your heart because on matter how uncertain our future, we still live in the greatest land in the world. I am going to continue to sing and perhaps those around me will join in.

Why is it that every time one of the car's windshield wipers goes haywire, it's the one on my side and directly in the line of vision...We see the government has announced it will be revising the method it uses to come up with the consumer price index. Too bad. I don't understand what it is now ... Have you seen the price of comic books? The size that used to be a dime a few years ago are now 35 cents, and the "giants", formerly a quarter, are now a buck. (Maybe comic books are part of the consumer price index)...Basketball tourney time seems to always mean bad weather, no matter what part of the country you live in. Maybe sweat socks do something to the atmosphere...Does anyone know what the three dots that begin and end these sentences are called...Donny and Marie Osmond each receive $15,000 for each television show they do. ABC is getting ripped off. Renee and I would do each show for only $10,000 each. Would someone left ABC know? (we'll split the $20 grand with you) ...

DEAR EDITOR: In my opinion your new "Sound Off" column is petty, cheap and unprofessional. It caters to those small minds who wish to take cheap shots with-out having the decency or the nerve to sign their names. All reputable newspapers that I know require a signature even if they do not publish it. You are contributing - no, soliciting - the kind of pettiness, ill feel-ing and hatred that has been evi-dent in the Akron/Mentone area in the past, but that had seemed to be occure lath! Unchard of to be easing lately. Instead of printing this sort of bitterness, why don't you find all of the many positive and loving things that occur in our area. As it is, you are making a mockery of the fine reputation of the Ak-ron/Mentone News with this column.

Last week in my column I did a short look at the "baby blues", or depression in a new mother. This past week, I have been looking at an interesting book called THE BOOK OF HOPE by Helen A. DeRosis, M.D. and Victoria Y. Pellegrine. It is a book written by these two women to aid people in overcoming depression, loneliness, anxiety, shyness, boredom and inertia.

In the book, it is stated that an estimated eight million people a year in the U.S. suffer from depression. And in a national study covering hospital admissions for depressive disorders, it was found that for every 100 men suffering depression, 175 women are affected. That's ALMOST two women to every man.

What does this mean? DeRosis and Pellegrino feel that women suffer depression more often than men because of cultural difference, not genetics. Women have learned helplessness and self-effacement over the ages, and the new woman looking at her changing role in society now faces many conflicts.

However, there is help for the depressed person, male or female, but realizing you are depressed is the first step.

Some questions DeRosis and Pellegrino raise are: Are you tired even when you've had enough sleep? Do you have trouble getting going?

- Are you restless?
- Have you lost interest in things?
- Are you unable to make decisions?
- Are you continually angry and resentful? Do you have bouts of anxiety?
- Are you a chronic complainer?
- Are you self-destructive?
- Do you spend a great deal of time daydreaming?

Are you critical of yourself? Do you have "up" and "downs" weeks? These are symptoms of chronic, lowgrade depression, and although not as severe as clinical depres sion, its enough to keep you down. You KNOW there must be a better way to live! Now I'm no expert, but I think anyone who is depressed should do something about it, and I personally recommend this book. It may not be enough perhaps counseling or therapy is needed, but it may be a start. And as the title says, bring "hope" to someone who really needs it!

Surprising to some American homeowners is the fact that electric heat is not only fact more efficient than gas or oil heating systems—it can save heating systems—i you money as well.

* * * Unique to electric heating is the fact that you can control the heat in each room of your house. This is called a zonal system. By turning down your thermostat to, say, 60 degrees in rooms not being used, you not only protect your budget, but conserve energy, too. * * *

* * * You can save energy further by having a temperaturo-sensing thermostat in each room. Saviour's Servants

at Talma

The Saviour's Servants, heard for the past seven years over WROI Radio on Sundays, will be at the Talma Bible Church Sunday evening, March 5 at 7 p.m. The church is across the bridge in Talma and everyone is cordially invited.

Psi lota Xi

The February social meeting of Psi Iota Xi sorority was re-cently attended by twelve members and two guests at the home of Jeanette Mollenhour. The guests were Judy Wise and Phyllis Risner

After a short business meeting the rest of the evening was spent playing bridge. Prizes were won by Pauline Riner, Mary Utter and Iris Anderson The next meeting will be March 7 with Karen Baum as hostess and Barb Riner cohostess.

Omega Club

The Omega Club recently met in the home of Emina Burns in Akron for the Feb. meeting. Zenofia Burdge opened the meeting by reading a poem en-titled "I am the New Year." Two patriotic songs were sung with Ruth Bowen accompany-ing on the organ. The collect was repeated in unison. Roll call was answered by naming "My favorite radio or TV program.

Gloria Bowen stated that due to the larger number of gradua-Valley, more money was needed to supply Bibles for them. So the Club agreed to increase their contribution an extra $5.

Jarice Stubblefield gave devo tions ending with a prayer. Fern Bowen read two Helen Steiner Rice poems. The pledges to the flags were given with Caleb Hucks as the flag bearer. Then the group played games with everyone winning a prize. Refreshments were served.

Henson retires as coach

Floyd Henson, head basketball coach at Tippecanoe Valley High School, has announced his resignation from that position. Hen-son has been head coach at the Valley for the past four years and accumulated a fine 70-19 won-loss record during that time. Prior to TVHS, Henson coached at Akron (11 years); Linton (4 years); Odon (3 years); Effingham, Ill. (3 years); Tolono, Ill. (3 years); and Montezuma (2 years). Over this span of thirty

421 wins

213 losses

(30) years as a varsity coach, Henson has accumulated a re-cord of 421 wins and 213 losses Henson feels his coaching career has been both enjoyable and satisfying yet feels much gratifica-tion in seeing his ex-players be-come teachers, coaches, community leaders and good citizens. He states "I hope that some of the teanwork, sportsmanship, dedi-cation and hard work we tried to instill in our players will help them in some small measure to achieve their goals in life". Henson plans to remain at Tippecanoe Valley as an instructor in the industrial arts department.

Single Copy Price 15t Bloodmobile at TVHS

on Monday

The American Red Cross Blood-mobile will pay its annual visit to Mentone area on Monday, Mar. 13. The unit will be located at the Tippecanoe Valley High School gym from 12 noon until 6 p.m. Quota for the visit is 125 pints and donors between ages of seventeen and sixty-six birthdays are eligible to give. Paula Howard, student council president, and Chris Baker, vice-president are in charge of student recruitment. Wayne Cumberland. Loran Skinner, George Welch, and Juna Graham, faculty members, are co-ordinating student and faculty participation. Mrs. Howard Horn, Mrs. Geo. Reed, Jr., Mrs. Clifford Ehern-man, Mrs. Loyal Sparks and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bechtol, Red Cross area representatives are arranging for canteen needs and volunteers for the visit. They also are contacting prospective donors. Those wishing to make an appointment may do so by calling any of the above persons or you may call 267-5244, the Red Cross office. Since 1964 the Mentone-Tippecanoe Valley area "teen-age" donor participation has high-lighted the Kosciusko County Red Cross blood program and nas topped other county schools with highest number of donors. Last year over eighty students pre-sented themselves to share a pint of blood so that others might live. Many "teen-age" donors are now regular supporters of this vital program. Dwight Bechtol, when he was Built bechcor, when he was Red Cross Chapter Chairman in 1964, had a "teen-age" plaque designed which recognizes the "teen" donor. He is now seriously contemplating a "teen-barrell" plaque to recognize the magnifi-citate scremes of the teon donors plaque to recognize the magniti-cient response of the teen donors. Mr. Bechtol reminds everyone in the area, that Mentone was the first community in Kosciusko County to begin a "blood bank", and it is important that the area live up to the terrific tradition again this year.

125 pints are needed, and the students at TVHS should be joined by their parents in giving blood. It may save your life!

Milbern School is being restored

By Marsha Scott

On July 14, 1888, Austin Milbern sold ground to Harrison Town-ship for a school. Harrison Township sold the land back to Lillie D. Eaton on April 18, 1925. Between these dates classes were held in a typical brick one-room school, located three miles East and one mile North of Mentone on Shilling Road at the corner of Road 775 W. After the school was closed it was used to store farm machinery, and then it was partitioned off and made into a house. In 1975, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Severns, of Mentone, donated the school to the public to be restored and kept as a historical site. Even though it has stood empty and neglected many years it is in very good condition. The Milbern School Historical Association, sponsored by the Men-tone Bicentennial Commission, was formed in 1976 to accomplish the job of restoration.

the job of restoration. Even though our progress has been slow our interest is still strong and growing. A few things have been done. A new wood shingle roof has been put on. All the partitions that had been put in to make the school into a house have been torn out. The old coiling has been torn out and is ready to be replaced. Our biggest problem was finding someone to make new windows to replace the ones that had been window is not a standard size anymore and we needed six of them

We finally located a man north of Nappanee to make them for us. They were delivered in late September but old man winter arrived before we were able to install any of them. Our next project is to have the windows put in as soon as the weather warms up. When this job is done we can have the ceiling put in and plastering finished

Once it was the first color television on the block, and the first family to get a Cadillac.

About 17 years ago those were the kind of things that impressed the neighbors, both old and young. But now they just won't do.

Most families have a color TV and with the price of gas who wants a gas-guzzling car?

What is "in"

The "in" symbols of the 1960's have been transformed into the "out" symbols of the 70's. According to "U.S. News and World Report" there's a free-for-all with people vying for secondary symbols of success.

this week? What makes the going tough is there is nobody to say exactly what is "in" and what isn't.

Have you ever noticed how news reports of world wide or national happenings occur in what almost appears to be spurts?

Not long ago oil spills made the news, then the train derailments. Later it was earthquakes or ship mishaps. Lately it seems vogue to have a train load of poisonous gas spill over a town causing loss of life. The freaky weather has caused untold concern and loss across the country this winter. Next it may well be floods. We haven't had a rash of plane crashes or hi jacking lately.

I've often wondered how elevator explosions all of a sudden seemed to happen in so many places. I wonder what will be next?

How many of these 1968 Mentone fifth graders can you identify? The boys shown were members of the basketball team that was coached by Rex Bowser when they defeated Burkett in their annual battle. The 1978 version of the same team will meet Burket Friday in the annual "classic"

TVSC School Board candidates file

Five candidates have filed for the May 2 primary election in Kosciusko County for positions on the Tippecanoe Valley School Board.

Those filing before the noon deadline on March 3 are: Richard A. Harrold, R. 1, Mentone; Lee E. Norris, R. 1, Men-tone; and Richard Dickerhoff, Mentone, fore representation of Franklin Township, Kosciusko County. The three-way race is in pursuit of the seat now occup-ied by Fred Kindig who will not be a candidate for re-election.

For representation of Henry. Township, Fulton County, those who filed are Carol Sue Cumberland, R. 2, Akron, and William E. Gearhart, Akron, who are challenging incumbent Connie J. Shewman, R. 2, Akron.

Unopposed to represent New-castle Township, Fulton County, is incumbent Don Snipes, R. 5, Rochester, who filed earlier.

The election is non-partisan and one candidate from each of the three districts will be elected directly in the primary.

Huntington's

Dean's List

Huntington College students were recognized for outstanding academic achievement Thursday morning, Feb. 9, at the annual Spring Honors Convocation

One of the scholars recognized was Sheila Shewman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Shewman, Akron, who was named to the Dean's List.

To be eligible for the Dean's List, the student must enroll in at least three courses and achieve a grade point average of 10.5 or higher of a possible 12 points. Miss Shewman, a freshman, is majoring in business administra-tion. She is a 1977 graduate of Tippecanoe Valley High School.

"Please write something nice about the young people of Akron. Yesterday I was stuck on the ice in the parking lot by the Telephone Building and two nice teenagers pushed me out without being asked."

"Wby doesn't the flag fly in front of the Mentone Junior High School? I don't remember seeing it raised since Dec. 1. I've had many relatives in uniform and it burts not to see it fly each day. Let's get the Stars and Stripes flying again and sing out!!"

"SOUND OFF is great!! If it's the truth, what makes the difference who says it? If it's not the truth, it doesn't make any difference...... The comments that have been made in SOUND OFF have been sincere thoughts or comments expressed by many others before they appeared in print. These comments, positive and negative, reflect feelings that exist in our community, regardless of being printed, unprinted, or who's feelings they are. We should not be afraid to look objectively at the sentiments of our community. Opinions should be considered opinions and the truth, good, bad, or indifferent will stand along – even without a name tagged onto it. Keep sounding off!! It's healthy."

"I would like to congratulate our high school basketball team and coaches for the fine season they had. We'll get'em next year."

"The paper is being improved every week. SOUNDOFF is just the added spice a small community needs. It is good to see it is being used for praise (where due) as well as criticism (where needed)."

What happened to all of the what happened to all of the sports reports in your paper? That was one of the reasons we started getting the Mentone/Ak-ron News, at first you still had some reports - now there are none. This is about the only paper that would give reports on what is happening at the Jr. High School level. There does not seem to be much about the school activities at all any more. Water bills

should be paid

The Town Board of Mentone made an appeal Monday that certain town residents begin making prompter pay-ments on their water bills or be fac-ed with stricter enforcemnet of the town ordinance that allows shut off of water service for non-payment of the water bill. Town Clerk-Treasurer Catherine Whetstone noted in the board meeting that was held Mon-day, that there has been a noticable increase in the number of delinquent accounts with regard to the water service.

service. The Board noted that several citizens are always late in paying and they will be the ones most closely watched in the future.

Being the new owners of a newspaper is not always as easy as it may seem. Being new in the area makes the job even tougher.

Bob and I have always felt that a weekly newspaper should be about the people in the area that it services. Both Akron and Mentone are serviced by daily papers who cover national and state news quite well. Although we are interested in this news, it is not our primary purpose to print it. What we want is local news!

Because we have just moved here, we are not as familiar with our local organizations, as we want to be. This is what we want to print, and we think this is what you want to read. With our new son, and the move, etc. we have not had the time up until now, to really cover the news as we wanted to. We are beginning to find more time ourselves to cover events, but we wish, also, that you, our readers, would contact us often. Special events, advancements, honors or awards, local concerns are important to all of us. We want to make the News more of a paper about YOU! Many times we read in other papers of events, awards, etc. that we have not been contacted about. We really do want to know what's going on in our area, and we hope we'll be able to cover everything once the word is spread. So...the next time you think, "that should be in the paper", call us. The AKRON/MENTONE NEWS is for you. And we'll do our best.

In Akron call 893-4433.

In fwientone call 353-3985 or 353-2853. Or write: P.O. Jox 427, Mentone, IN 46539 or P. O. Box 277, Akron, IN 46910.

Rock Lake Rockettes

On February 19, 15 members of the Rock Lake Rockettes Rollerskating Club participated in a three-way meet hosted by Midway in Marion. The third club competing was from Frankfort Skaters who placed in the different divisions were: Tom French.

Lori Heeter, Tom Klutz, Pat Wolfe, Pennie Peterson, Janet French, Paul Prater, Tina Kissinger, William Edwards, and Sheri Urschel A short meeting followed the meet, and the next competition in Terre Haute was discussed.

All clubs are asked to bring the used foil their members have col-lected for one year. There is a contest to see which club collectd the most. The foil will then be recycled. A Club-Women of the Year will be chosen and new county of-ficers will be installed. Miss Beth Sutton a senior from Francesville will present the af-ternoon program entitled "Beth and Her Friends". Miss Sutton is a ventriloquist.

The district music and art contest held by the Indiana Federa-tion of Clubs will be on March 12 at 2:30 p.m. in the North Liberty Methodist Church on state cross roads 23 and 4. For more infor-mation contact Louise Moore at 223-3088.

Register early for beef show

Early registration is almost mandatory for the 1978 Hoosier Beef Show, one of the Midwests largest, since entries are limited to 200 animals.

"Right now we are hovering at this figure and we may exceed 200 this year since premiums have been increased to $3,285. It is very possible we may have to refuse some entries made at the last minute" Bill McClamroch, Crawfordsville, show man ager, said.

To anticipate earlier than usual requests, the rules brochure with entry blanks have been printed and are ready for distribution. A brochure mailing is also plan-

Taken from the March 14, 1951 issue of the Northern Indiana Co-Op News:

Fire Thursday afternoon badly damaged the upper part of the two-story home of Carl Zolman, three miles southwest of Mentone. The alarm was turned in at 1:30 p.m. and members of the Mentone fire department responded. They fought the blaze for three hours, but the roof of the house was destroyed.

> Burt Holloway has reported the theft of 20 white leghorn chickens from his farm, east of Mentone, last Saturday evening. The thieves cut the fence and reached the chicken house that way. Sheriff Latta is investigating the theft.

Ray Dillingham is able to be out and around after being confined to his home with a badly injured knee. The knee was injured while moving some restaurant couloment.

jured while moving some restaurant equipment. E. H. Kinsey reports that a grass fire north of the railroad Monday afternoon of last week burned over 40 acres of ground and some on the Arthur Kendall farm. Thursday afternoon another fire started and burned over about two acres before being put out by the Mentone fire department.

Monday evening the Jolly Janes club met at the home of Mrs. John Ellsworth in Mentone, Mrs. Harold Markley gave a discussion on this history and background of household plastics. Following the business session a quiz game was conducted by the co-hostess Mrs. Markley. The prize was won by Mrs. Harold Utter. Mrs. Dwight Reichard received the door prize.

Pvt. Floyd Nicodemus, of Camp Breckinridge, Ky., spent Saturday evening and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nicodemus, and family of Mentone. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Shambarger and family of

Macy, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Long, and family of Warsaw. Bud Wise was home on a threeday leave last weekend. Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roser, Robert Miller and Miss Wilma Overholt. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoffman,

The Fulton County Development Council has a program to help the residents of Fulton Co. with their fuel bills. Persons interested in this program will need to bring with them verification of all types of income. This may include three (3) check stubs or your W-2 form. Also all other types of income including child support, Social Security, unemployment, etc. Also needed are your fuel bill or bills. We are allowed to pay up to $150.00. However, if your bill is less than $150.00 the remaining amount is not carried over as credit onto your next bill. The program is set up on a onetime help basis only. We are only allowed to pay a one month bill if it is set up on a budget. We can pay two month bills. All bills must be past due. We cannot pay a current bill. You must qualify within the Community Services Guidelines.

Any person with questions or needing advice please feel free to call the Development Council at 223-3701 or stop in for further information. There is also a representative from the Development Council at the Town Office in Akron every Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and in Delong at the Gospel Lighthouse Church Recreation Center every Tuesday from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Girl Scout birthday observed

Sunday, March 12, opens a week long observance of the birthday of Girl Scouting. Akron's Junior Troop under the leadership of Ms. Pat Trippedi will attend Sunday morning mass at St. Joseph Church, Rochester. Posters and good deeds are also planned. The troop will host several Brownie-age gifts who hope to organize and participate in the spring and summer activities.

Girl Scout cookie orders are now being delivered. Chairman Mrs. Byrdie Smith distributed each scout's order at the troop meeting Tuesday in the Lion's Den. Monies are to be in by March 20. After final tabulations the troop will have $160. 50 from the sales.

Spring Camporee is scheduled April 15-16 and Keep America Beautiful day is April 22. Day camp is June 24-30. The troop is registered for a session at Kokiwanee Camp this summer.

The annual Girl Scout Week square dance scheduled for March 15-16 has been postponed due to the energy shortage at Columbia School, Rochester.

Chuckhole repair may cost $3 million

With memories of the Blizzard of '78 still in mind, the State Highway Commission is now working on another product of winter - chuckholes. Highway's Executive Director Roger F. Marsh says that estimates show that chuckholemates show that chuckhole-filling expenses may run in the neighborhood of $3 million this year. "That compares to last year's costs of about $2 million to repair the winter's damage," Marsh says.

Maintenance Division Chief. Ken Mellinger, says that he anticipates that chuckhole damage to the state's 12,000 miles of state routes will be as much as 50 per cent higher than last win-ter. Mellinger attributes this to the fact that this winter there have been more freeze and thaw cycles and road bases saturated from the melting snow. He says that crews are working on filling the holes as weather permits and that it is a first priority. The higher costs for chuckhole repair, Director Marsh says, are coming in a winter in which the Highway Commission has already exceeded by several million dollars its anticipated total budget for snow removal. He says that the original budget called for a hout $6 million, but that estimate has already been exceeded by about $3.5 million.

Marsh adds that the chuckhole problem will be compounded not only by the severity of this win-ter but also by the Highway's unmet resurfacing needs. "If we had enough money to do the recommended resurfacing and maintenance, winter breakups would not be as bad," Marsh says. "The winter damage always will be a problem for us, but with our not being able to do the recommended resurfacing, it will take its toll even more He urges motorists to continue using extra caution as they drive and to be alert for scattered ice patches which may develop as snow melts during the day and refreezes as temperatures dip at night. Marsh also notes that drivers should be on the watch for pedestrians who may be walking in the roadways because accumulated snow has blocked sidewalks.

^Epidemic hits Mentone and Burket

By: NANCY ANN ETTINGER

Even the Russian flu has not been able to overtake a greater virus which affects many in the state of Indiana. "Hoosier Hysteria" has been known to strike not only the very young but the middle-aged and older persons as well. On March 10, 1978, Burket graders will demonstrate their abilities as future stars both on the court and along the sidelines as basketball players and cheerleaders. Boys' and girls' teams have been formed with cheerleading squads for both schools. Plenty of popcorn, pep and plaudit will be found starting at 6:30 p.m. in the Mentone gym.

the only lead that valley had during the game was in the first quarter of play, and that was only by one-point, 5-4. At the end of the quarter, Rochester's Zebras had pulled it to 14-11 in their favor, and by half-time, they held the lead at 28-21.

The Vikings, with their taller players, were not able to make close shots during the game because of the Zebra's tough defense. Coach Galen Smith's Zebras forced the Viking's 6'6' Eric Alspaugh to jump for passes, and they kept close guard on threatening Jeff Leckrone and Rick Shepherd. However, the Zebras could not keep Viking Im Conrad down, and he played one of his best games ever, scoring 18 points. Alspaugh too, played a great game, scoring 20 points, followed by Shepherd with 6.

In the third quarter, both teams were playing well. The Zebras hit a 78.6 percent of their shots and the Vikings hit 9 of 16 from the floor. But it wasn't enough for Valley. Rochester lead 50-39 going into the fourth quarter, and as Valley Coach Floyd Henson said of his players, "they were kind of tired out in the fourth." Alspaugh and Conrad continued to play well, but it wasn't enough Even though Rochester didn't score until there was 1:03 left in the game, Valley had only 3 points in the last quarter, until Conrad scored in the final seconds. This is the fourth year that the Valley Vikings have entered Triton secional play with the best season record, and it is the third time that they have made it to the final game. However, all three times, something has gone wrong. And luck would have it, it happened again Saturday night.

Blackouts and brownouts are not unique to the energy crisis. Many homes are without electricity at some time during the winter because power lines are down or power transmission equipment fails.

Everyone should be aware of what to do if the power goes out or is reduced. Knowing what to do can help avoid costly repairs to electrical appliances and speed the return to normal electrical service.

Two conditions are possiblea blackout or a brownout. A blackout is when the electricity to an area is cut completely. A brownout is when the electricity is supplied but at a reduced rate. Each condition requires different precautions.

During a blackout, unplug all electrical heaters and appliances. Turn thermostats as low as they will go or turn off the heating unit completely. Even gas or oil powered units have an electrical blower to distribute heat and should be turned down or off. Leave one light bulb on to determine when the electricity has been restored.

A brownout can occur after a blackout if there is heavy demand for electricity and generating facilities cannot keep up with the demand. It can also occur if the power company cuts back on its power distribution. Do not use appliances with electrical motors

COMBINING THE AKRON NEWS AND THE MENTONE NEWS Volume 88, No. 10 Thursday, March 16, 1978

Bloodmobile is great success

The excellent leadership of Tippecanoe Valley Student Co-uncil president, Paula Howard, and vice president, Chris Baker, along with the participation of the students, faculty and per-sonnel resulted in the surpassing of the quota collection of blood, at the Red Cross Bloodmobile visit to the Mentone area.

Sixty-five Tippecanoe Valley students and eleven schoolaffiliated donors and other community donors netted a total dred and forty-nine persons pre-sented themselves at the visit, with fifty-two being first-time donors. Three-gallon pins were presented to Russel R. Retenpresented to Russel K. Reten-hour, Mentone. Three joined the one gallon donors: Sally Leinin-ger, Akron, Alicia L. Kuhn, Clay-pool, and Robert D. Norris, Men-tone. Sixteen B-Positive donors responded to a special need for donor of this turns donors of this type. Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bechtol, Mrs. Clifford Eherenman, Burket, and Mrs. Howard Horn, Men-tone, Mrs. Loyal Sparks, Etna Green, and Inez Devenney, Warsaw, were in charge of all the ar-rangements for the day. Mrs. Ehereman and Mrs. Horn served as co-chairmen

Canteen needs for donors and volunteers were supplied by the United Methodist churches of Mentone, Burket and Beaver Dam. Also assisting were Men-tone Reading Club, Mothers of World War II, Burket Fireman Aux., Mentone D.A.R. Home

Aux, Mentone D.A.K. Home Economics clubs helping were: Mentone Merry Mollies, Jolly Good Neighbors, Friendly Nei-ghbors, and Seward Twp., needs were also supplied by Tip-E-Tac. Nurses Aids helping for the day were Mrs. John Huff, Mrs. Del-ford Nelson and Mrs. Robert ford Nelson and Mrs. Robert Whiteneck

Whiteneck. Physician providing coverage for the day was Dr. Wymond Wilson of Mentone. The Red Cross wishes to express their appreciation to the Tippe-canoe Valley School Corpora-tion for the use of their facili-ties. Also a special thanks to ties. Also a special thanks to Loren Skinner, George Welch, Wayne Cumberland and Juna Graham for their work in coordinating the recruitment of donors and those setting up and dismantling equipment. The bloodmobile will visit Grace College, April 6, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mentone and Burket fourth and fifth graders demonstrated some of their athletic prowess last Friday night when they met in competition on the basketball court in the Mentone School gym.

Traveling trophies provided in-centive to basketball players and cheerleaders from both schools. The annual event, sponsored by the Mentone Chamber of Commerce, was well attended, accord-ing to Chamber member Bill the 5th grade boys, also from Burket, won their game. Coaching the Burket boys teams was Mr. Oliver England, principal, and the girls' coaches were Ina Schulenburg, and Jean Smith. Bill Leininger was coach for the Mentone boys, and

Referees were Kay Hively and Cathy and Deanna Welch for the girls games, and Greg Utter Bruce Hill, Jeff Murphy, and

ames. In the cheerleading contest, the Mentone 4th grade girls and Burket 5th grade girls walked away with the trophies.

Help with the event was given to the Chamber of Commerce by the Mentone Youth League and the staffs of both schools.

The special education class held a cake sale for the 'special olympics', and apparently did quite well.

Appeal for Easter Seal Society

DEAR FRIEND: Any organization that helps hundreds of thousands of per-sons annually and has been re-lying on public contributions for most of its support for 59 years must be doing something right.

That organization is the Eas-ter Seal Society, the world's oldest and largest voluntary ag-ency serving the disabled per-sons through its nationwide net-mark of cosilities and encounted work of facilities and programs. Last year, the Indiana Easter Seal Societies provided services to 17,747 handicapped indivi-duals. These services include rehabilitation therapy, orthope-dia applicance compare complex dic appliances, summer camping, wheelchairs, braces and crutches. The words Easter Seals mean help for youngsters and adults who are handicapped, Easter Seal achievements in the area of rehabilitation, have and con-tinue to benefit those for which we feel such a responsibility. Rights and wrongs of using credit --Using credit with the expecta-tion of future salary increases or windfall cash. --Gambling on a risky venture,

Using credit wisely requires a careful eye for credit danger signals, as well as a thorough aware-ness of your needs and financial situation, reminds Jan Armstrong Stuation, reminds Jan Armstrong Purdue University extension con-sumer marketing specialist. "There are two sides to the credit argument," says Armstrong. "A credit purchase may be perfectly justifiable in one instance, but extremely unwise in another. To help consumers analyze their credit usage, Armstrong has prepared a list of "right" and wrong" reasons for using credit. Right reasons: --Establishing a household or starting a family. --Making a major purchase. "Few of us can buy a car, furniture or major appliance with-out credit," says Armstrong. --A genuine emergency arises and you haven't had the time or opportunity to accumulate an emergency fund.

--You need money for college or other educational expenses.

"But if you have to borrow for the school lunch program, you're in trouble," asserts Armstrong.

-There are attractive seasonal sales or specials on which you can save money if you use a charge account/time payment plan. This assumes you really need the product.

-The price of an item you will need in the future is sharply ris-ing, and it would be ridiculous not to beat the price rise.

Mrs. Lana Young who must work for her living has knitted sixteen pairs of socks for the soldier boys and her daughter, Miss Ada, has knitted two scarfs and a sweater. Here are two most patriotic ladies and their labors and sacrifices will certainly help save life and our country. For this work we trust both have a satisfaction of heart and soul that they have helped do their "bit". Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Johnson moved this week into the property they recently bought of Henry Meredith, and will become Akron citizens. We trust the change will result in bettering his health which has been poor for some time. Miss Cleo Wachter came home Sunday evening from South Bend with a case of measles which kept her at home a couple of days

Miss Cleo Waechter came home Sunday evening from South Bend with a case of measles which kept her at home a couple of days returning Wednesday morning. Postmaster Fultz has received a supply of forms and he is to act as agent for the United States Employment Service Dept. of Labor. Those seeking employment should see him for blanks. Those needing help may also fill a blank showing their needs. This service is for those who really need work or need help. This is no time for idlers. Just as we go to press Jacob Utter came in to announce his name as a candidate on the service for towning needers.

a candidate on the republican ticket for township assessor. Mr. and Mrs. Quimby Lowe have bought a property from Roy Leininger on Main St., owned years ago by the late Daniel Hoover. Mr. and Mrs. Lowe expect to move to Akron early in April and be-come citizens with us all.

39 YEARS AGO

39 YEARS AGO Bids were opened this morning by the town board for the re-con-struction of the Town Lake ditch, but awarding of the contract was postponed until a week from tonight, at which time a special meet-ing of the board will be called. The ditch in question is a storm and sanitary ditch, and is in bad need of repair and reconditioning. The epidemic of flu which has visited the entire state has several victims here in Akron. Among those who were ill last week but are recovered now are: Nellie Middleton, Goldia Bright, Clair Moore, Mrs. Carrie Hahn, Loder Patterson, Irvin McHatton, Connie Jo Sing-piel, Mrs. Homer Kiser. This week's victims include: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Boswell, Joe Bolley, Mrs. Clair Moore, Mrs. Chris Branning, Miles Martin, Bette Jane Showalter, Genavee Moore, Phyllis Kiser, Laura Waechter, Ted Smith, the Elmer Hartzler family, Ralph Se-verns and son Herbert, the Waiter Young family, and Mrs. Russell Tilden. Illness at the grade school reached the peak Tuesday when forty-four youngsters were absent. Wednesday was the worst day for the high school students with forty pupils absent. Frank Madeford, Ted Jontz, and Cloyde Leininger attended a ban-quet at Monticello Tuesday night which was given by the U.S. Tire Company for dealers and their guests.

25 YEARS AGO The Sonoco Paper Products Company of Hartsville, South Carolina, will open a branch factory here in the 'True Temper buildings, accord-ing to present plans. The Sonoco company manufactures paper tub-ing in many sizes and operates factories throughout the United States. A son, Gregory Lee, was born Feb. 25 at the Wabash County Hospi-tal to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Groninger. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clark of No. Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Groninger are the grandparents. Mrs. Ruth Bammerlin was elected president of the Henry Township P.T.A. Monday night. Other new officers are: David Smith, first vice-president; Mrs. Walter Waechter, second vice-president, Mrs. Ernest Smith, secretary, and Mrs. Garland Shriver, treasurer. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Merley and daughters have moved from the Clyde Kuhn farm to the S. Earl Rouch farm west of Rochester.

10 YEARS AGO Starring in the role of Mrs. Walsingham will be Cathy Love, while Marna Stephen will be portraying Mrs. Botting in the musical comedy Half A Sixpense which will be presented by Akron High School. Mr. and Mrs. Don Love, Akron, announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Kay, to Mr. John R. Loer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Loer, Akron. Both Miss Love and Mr. Loer are 1965 graduates of Akron High School. Miss Love attended Anderson College and is a graduate of Warner Beauty College, Ft. Wayne. Mr. Loer is a graduate of South Bend College of Commerce, So. Bend. Both are presently employed by Sonoco Products Company, Akron. No date has been set for the wedding. Easter eggs

During the Easter season, eggs take on added importance in family meals. Marcile Allen, Purdue University extension food and nutrition specialist. reports that many cooks seek information about eggs and egg preparation during this time of vear

In the United States about two-thirds of the eggs prepared in the home are cooked in the shell, poached, fried, scrambled, baked or used in omelets, says Allen. For the best results when cooking eggs use low or mode rate heat and never overcook, she advises. This rule applies to cooking any type of eggs. Heat sets the protein, and the egg becomes firm. A properly cooked egg has a tender white while an overcooked egg has a shrunken, tough white, and a green discoloration forms between the white and the yellow of a hard-cooked egg. A low temperature is especially important when using eggs to thicken a dish such as custard. Too high temperature can cause an egg mixture to curdle, so use a double boiler and keep the water just below boiling. When over cooking, set the baking dish in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven and remove egg mixture from the heat promptly when done. In sauces and puddings a starchy, thickening agent -- flour, cornstarch or tapioca -- is often combination with egg. Because starch needs to cook longer than egg, combine the starch with the liquid first and cook thoroughly before adding egg.

Public Service Indiana: the continuing energy emergency

As the nation's longest coal strike passes its 100th day, the impact deepens for electric energy customers in many parts of the country.

Our half-million customers were ordered to cut back on electric energy use beginning February 20. The situation has been uncomfortable and inconvenient at best. In some cases, it also has been costly.

We feel a strong responsibility as your electric company to minimize the adverse effects of the continuing energy emergency. And we believe you deserve answers to your questions about this emergency.

Q: Is Indiana in worse shape than other parts of the country?

A : No. Indiana is actually in better shape than many other coaldependent states. The reason is that in Indiana energy cutbacks began early in the game--voluntary while coal stocks were at 50-day levels, mandatory at 40-day levels. In other words, we started saving coal when it was important to start saving, so our reserves would stretch much further. Coal supplies in other states, including West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Ohio, have dwindled to much lower levels. And their mandatory cutbacks are just now beginning at more drastic levels, 50% in some cases.

Q: Why aren't all Indiana utilities cutting back?

A: All Indiana electric utilities do have voluntary programs. Three have mandatory cutback programs. The Indiana Public Service Commission ordered mandatory cutbacks when a utility's coal supply reaches 40 days. Our supply dropped to 40 days on February 19 Public Service Indiana is the largest utility in the state and, by far, the largest coal user. Coal is used to produce 98% of our electricity. It follows that the prolonged coal strike has had a tremendous impact on our ability to produce and deliver power.

Q: Why didn't Public Service Indiana prepare for the strike?

A: We started stockpiling coal a full year before the strike. When the strike began, we had 3 million tons of coal, twice our normal reserve and the largest stockpile in the company's history. It was more than enough to last through the longest previous coal strike, and there was little indication that this one would drag on so long.

Q: Are mandatory cutbacks being enforced?

Yes. In fairness to the great number of customers who are A: fully cooperating with cutbacks, effective Monday, March 13, we will begin disconnecting service to those commercial and industrial customers who have not complied with mandatory cutback levels despite repeated notification and offers of assistance. We are not taking this severe state-ordered step lightly. We realize jobs and paychecks will be affected. But the energy cutbacks must be complied with if this coal conservation program is to be fair and effective.

Q: When will the energy emergency end?

Only the Public Service Commission can authorize the lifting A: of mandatory energy cutbacks. However, we would expect this action to be taken as soon as there is assurance that coal production and shipment will resume. We cannot predict when this will happen. We can only hope that it is very soon.

We thank our customers for their cooperation. Through your efforts we have stretched our coal supply and may have avoided more drastic cutbacks. You are our greatest ally in a war against time. The longer we can conserve, the longer jobs and paychecks will continue.

In an article that I read recently in Good Housekeeping magazine I found that many things I believed true about animals are not. The short guiz showed me that many beliefs held by many pet owners are false.

See how you rate as a pet owner.

-The best way to pick up a puppy or kitten is by the neck. False. Only the mother animal really does this properly. The best way to carry your cat or dog is with one arm under the chest and one under the hind legs.

-If a dog's nose is hot it means he is sick. False. The temperature of the nose has nothing to do with your dog's health. Diarrhea, convulsions, trembling. loss of appetite, listlessness, inflammation of, or discharge from the eyes, are some signs of illness.

-Cats always land on their feet. False. Cats can land the wrong way like any animal causing broken bones or sprains. So don't test your cat't balance by dropping her from high places.

Clipping a dog's fur in the summer keeps them cooler. False. Your pet's coat keeps the heat out by acting as an insulation. Besides, cutting may cause itching. It's better just to brush often, and let your pet find his own cool corner.

-A ball of yarn is a great toy for a kitten. False. A piece may end up in the kittens mouth and be swallowed getting caught somewhere in the digestive system. Toys that can't be swallowed or torn apart will keep your pet from harm.

-Feeding a dog garlic will cure worms. False. The only thing it will do is give your dog bad breath. The best thing to do is take your pet to a vet and let him take care of the problem

How did you do? A few old wivestales put to the dust, I'd say.

For more information on the proper care of your pet, write: KIND, The Humane Society of the United States, 2100 L St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037. Ask for 'Caring for your cat' and/or 'Caring for your dog.' And please send a self-addressed, stamped, long envelope along. Only you can care for your pet lovingly and safely!

Terrycloth steps out of the bathtub and into the fashion world this spring. Look for big sportswear tops, smock jackets, blousons, and beach cover-ups -- all of terrycloth. "Terrycloth also brings fabric variety to the homesewer, but a few sewing tricks are needed,' says Lois Gotwals, Extension clothing specialist at Purdue University.

Shrinkage has always been one of the biggest problems of terry-cloth, no matter what the fiber content. Check the fabric label when purchasing the material. Fabrics which state "maximum shrinkage 3-5 percent" will shrink one or more sizes after laundering and should be laund-ered or preshrunk before cutting. Stitch the ends of knitted terrycloth together before laundering. Otherwise, the fabric will roll, curl and present problems during cutting and sewing.

Terrycloth is easy to sew but creates two problems for mac-hine stitching -- surface loops catch on the "toes" of the machine presser foot and loops from the cut edges shed or ravel.

To keep loops from catching, use a special presser foot such as a roller foot or wrap the pro-truding toes with masking or transparent tape so the front of the presser foot is continuous.

To prevent shedding or raveling of loops from cut edges, sew the garment with flat-felled seams or cover the raw edge of the seamline with close zigzag stitches.

Because it is warm, absorbent and breathes, terrycloth is enjoying year-round popularity. These advantages coupled with easy-care and moderate prices make terrycloth a fashion frontrunner.

Discipline and the child

Discipline can be one of the most difficult, confusing and frustrating areas of childrearing for parents. "Of all the responsifor parents. Of all the responsi-bilities of parents, many parents have the least confidence in their ability to discipline their children," says Raymond T. Co-ward, Extension child develop-ment specialist at Purdue Univer-city. sity.

March 16, 1978

Many factors contribute to this unease, not the least of which is conflicting advice from child experts. Coward says that parents are often confused by the apparent lack of clear dirthe apparent lack of clear dir-ections. "One expert advises that spanking is okay; another says never spank! One writer says that communication is the key to discipline; another argues that mutual respect is the critical element. In the end, many parents don't know which way to turn and end up using methods with which they are not happy."

Discipline has been complicated by the search for "the one right way" -- more an ideal than a reality. Experienced parents know that the disciplining techniques that worked for the first child don't always work for the second. "What works at one stage doesn't necessarily continue to work as the child grows older -- just as the discipline that works in one situation does not always work in all situations."

"Parents need to be able to dip into their bag of tricks and pull out a variety of ways of puil out a variety of ways of dealing with different children, different behaviors and different circumstances," says Coward. To discover these alternatives, Coward suggests that parents turn to those around them - relatives, friends and neighbors -for ideas

Critics argue that sharing bet-ween parents is "the blind lead-ing the blind" or "swapping old wives' tales." Coward replies that danger exists only if parents accept advice without question. Parents should take advice, whether from a friend or from a an "expert" and carefully examine it before deciding it is

But how does a parent decide whether a particular way of dis-ciplining is appropriate? Coward suggests, that, for a beginning, parents ask themselves the following questions:

- Is the discipline appropriate for the age of my child? Obvious-ly parents don't discipline an

THE LOCAL PRINTER Phone 219-893-4758

18-year-old as they would a 2year-old. Yet many parents are frustrated because they use a discipline technique that is not appropriate for the age of their child. The use of such techniques reduces the effectiveness of the parents' discipline.

-- Does the discipline reflect the values which are important to my family? Parents some-times use discipline which communicates messages and sets examples that the family does not value. In part, it is the old not value. In part, it is the ofu "Do as I say and not as I do" problem. Discipline teaches children a great deal about life through the nonverbal and under-lying messages. Couples need to decide what values are important to them and which values they want to pass on to their children. Then, they need to examine their disciplining to be sure it is consistent with these values.

-- Is the discipline appropriate to my child? Some children re-spond to certain types of discipline when others need a different type. Many parents who have more than one child try to treat them exactly the same. They have confused the concepts of "fair" and "equal." A parent can be fair to two children without treating them equally. Pa-rents must be convinced that the same discipline does not have to be used with all children. Discip-line can become more effective when it is tailored to fit the individual child.

Mentone/Akron News

-- Does the discipline match the - Does the discipline match the motivation of my child? Deter-mining the motivation behind a misbehavior is perhaps the most difficult part of discipline. The same behavior coming from two different motivations may be handled most effectively by two widely differing disciplining techniques. In most cases parents know their children the best and, therefore, will be able to deter-mine the motivation of the child. In order to do so, however, parents need to be sensitive to their children's actions and be haviors and listen closely to what the child is saying -- verbally and nonverbally. Disciplining is very complex.

and many parents benefit from discussing ways of guiding childdiscussing ways of guiding child-ren with other parents. Parent discussion groups are now being planned and sponsored by the Indiana Cooperative Extension Service. Parents interested in such discussion groups should call their county Extension of-fice for further information.

Fulton County Republican Women meet

The Fulton County Republi-can Women met recently in regular session at the county headquarters. Kaleen Kehoe, presi-dent, called the meeting to or-der, after which Lucille DuBois led the group in the pledge of alligence. It was announced that a statewide meeting for Republi-can women will be held at the Indianapolis Stouffer's Inn on April 19. Orpha Herendeen and Pat

Hoehne discussed the member-ship contest that is presently underway. Prizes of elephant jewelry and free 1979 member-ship will be awarded to the two individuals who bring in the most individuals who bring in the most new members; a plaque will be awarded to the township show-ing the greatest increase in mem-bers. Women present at this meeting for the first time were then introduced, along with the member who brought them. Committee reports were given. Norma Smith, chairman of telephoning, asked if each member is receiving a call each month. Grace Carr pointed out the ta-bles and chair caddies/coat racks that had arrived and were being used; this completes the furniture that was ordered for the room. Members have donat-ed other items needed at the headquarters and these were all on display. Kathryn Hartzler, reporting for Cantral committee, said that the slate of candidates for the pri-mary election in May has been almost completely filled. The Lincoln Day dinner will be held March 23 at the high school March 23 at the high school (energy crisis allowing). Earl Butz, former secretary of agri-culture, will be speaker. The women will be actively helping with many activities that evening.

Program for the evening was a legislative information session. An articles, "Your Right to Write," by Morris K. Udal was given to each member and the contents were reviewed by Sandy Sawyer. The main point of the article was that legislators do read and pay attention to the letters from their constituents Kathryn Spice gave a state legis-lature report. She explained such things as the short session, the three-faceted budget, and some "legislation before this legislature, such as the juvenile code revision. Kathryn Hartzler presented some interesting pieces of news she had gathered from much of the correspondence she receives. She related stories of Gov. Bowen and mayors of several big cities helping during the snow crisis in Indiana; how Senator Richard Lugar has a 98% attendance re-cord, highest of any Indiana senator since 1946 when records were first kept. She also discuss-ed the social security tax and President Carter's proposed bud-get with a $60 billion deficit. In-formation on the labor reform bill, passed by the U.S. House and soon to be voted on by the Senate, was given by Sandy Saw yer. Discussion followed each of these presentations and members were urged to form a conclusion and then write our congressmen accordingly. Committee for the meeting in-

Committee for the meeting in-cluded Lucille DuBois, Joanne Bunn, Dorothy Cross, Mary Anne Lybarger, and Lois Conrad. The next meeting will be March 27 with Union Township in charge and Jean Urbin as chairman. The April 24 meeting will be a 'Meet the Candidates' program, with all primary candidates present.

SAFETY SENSE

WATER Federal Occupa-tional Safety and Health Act (OSHA) regulations require that drinking water be avail-able within 200 feet of any place where employees are working regularly. Installing quality bottled domestic water at the legendary "water cooler," according to the American Bottled Water Association, saves an em-ployer the costs of moving water pipes and fixtures, and related construction expenses.

FIRE: Water serves another vital function in the work area: fire fighting. Never pile anything within 18 inches of sprinkler heads. Also, be sure exits are kept clear at al times, and don't stack mater all ial where it can block space required by fire and fire equipment. aisle

TVHS winter TVSC School Board met in regular session

In the regular monthly meeting Monday night, the Tippe canoe Valley school board dis-cussed several topics including: the resignation of Coach Floyd Henson; energy conservation; adult education; lawyers for the school system; resignation from two teachers, and an updated financial report. Highlights:

-The board heard Coach Floyd Henson's letter of resig-nation dated March 6, as Dr. Lloyd Harrell, superintendent read it aloud to the members. The board accepted Mr. Hen-son's request to resign as head basketball coach and accepted his request that he be retained as an industrial arts and driver education teacher. (TVHS prin-cipal Loran Skinner and Dr. Harrell will be responsible for interviewing potential replace-ment coaching candidates, but so far have not seriously considered anyone for the position.) -Dr. Harrell reported to the board that "it will be close"

Sound Off!

Tell us what you think about anything. Call between 9 a.m. Monday and 2 p.m. Friday. No need to give your name. Selected opinions will appear in this column each week.

"I would like to commend the school teachers who were responsible for entering their students in the Fort Wayne Gazette spelling contest. We used to have students represent our schools some years ago and I wondered why we did not keep it up. There is so much talk of our schools allowing students to get through without learning to read, getting their math, and so on. I feel that spelling is most important and by entering the contest is has to create a special interest. An old fashioned spell-down would help all classes."

"What about Akron baving a spring clean-up?"

"About the energy crisis. My great grandmother used to say that if you burn a light in daylight, you burn a hole in daylight. I think this is a good policy to follow for everyone, and more should do it."

"Why do we need all these rigid, bureaucratic controls in our rural, farming areas that aren't close to any lake or main bigbway? It seems to me that we are paying taxes to belp these government agencies going so they can stab us in the back with their fees and regulations and then fine us and put us in jail if we don't conform. People are losing their initiative to better themselves. They will regress rather than progress. What will our young people do in the future. They will have to go back to cave dwelling if they can find a cave."

If There Really Is

No Need For Continuous Advertising

MINISTERS-should preach only one sermon or so a year. People are against sin anyway, so why harp on it?

TRAFFIC LIGHTS-should be turned off at dangerous in-tersections to save electricity. Everybody knows it's a dangerous spot and that is sufficient.

TEACHERS-shouldn't review lessons. Tell children just once and they'll never forget it.

HIGHWAY POLICE-should stop driving up and down the high-ways. No need to caution drivers by patrolling highways. Drivers know the law and obey it.

OUT OF TOWNERS-that advertise in the "big City" papers and mail order firms that send out catalogs are wasting their money. Everybody knows what is sold in stores in Akron and Mentone and they'll all shop here.

But if you are one of the foolish kind-like the Notre Dame Cathedral that has stood for six centuries but continues to ring the bell every day to let people know it is still there-and believe in continuous profitable advertising, then your advertising belongs in the

New books at Akron Library

New books recently received at the Akron Carnegie Public Lib-rary include the following:

HOW TO BE BORN AGAIN by Billy Graham. This is at once universal and personal, for the new Christian and for the Christian along the way - an irresistable primer for finding salvation, a guidebook for continuing growth.

YOU ARE MY SUNSHINE, THE JIMMIE DAVIS STORY by Gus Weill. This is the story o a man who has faith in himself, faith in God, and faith in his nation. "If you have faith", Jim-mie says, "if you'll work with all your heart and might, if you love your fellowman and hope he loves you too - no man, no thing, no system, no minus sign will ever stop you." That's Jimmie's secret - and it can be yours as well.

THE WINDS OF LOVE by Ag-nes Sligh Turnbull. This is the absorbing story of a woman facing the crisis of a broken marriage.

WITHOUT A TRACE by Charles Berlitz. The author of the in-ternational best seller "The Ber-muda Triangle" has written another book that investigates a series of new and baffling inci-dents which took place in that mysterious section of the Atlantic Ocean also known as the Devil's Triangle - incidents brought to light by the worldwide reaction to his first book.

CAMERON'S LANDING by Anne Stuart. This is another novel of romantic suspense.

HIDE OR SEEK, SELF-ESTEEM FOR THE CHILD by Dr. James Dobson. This book culminates in a discussion of the values which parents should impart to their children in place of the false con-cepts of society. Dr. Dodson asserts that only Christian values free us from the tyranny of "the self" and offer dignity and respect to every human being on earth. Parents who implement this "bet-ter way" will give their children the courage to seek the best from their world rather than hide in fear and sorrow.

New books at Bell Library

New books received at the Bell Memorial Public Library include the following:

GOODBYE CALIFORNIA by Alistair MacLean. A novel about the ultimate blackmail weapon - Earthquake.

BLESS ME, FATHER by Neil Boyd. The warmhearted adventures of a parish priest.

THE PANAMA CANEL by Walter LaFeber. The crisis in historical perspective. LIFELINES by Lynn Caine.

Learning to live alone without being lonely.

ACT THIN, STAY THIN by Dr. Richard B. Stuart. The author, Psychological Director of Weight Watcher's Internat-ional, shows how acting like a thin person can keep you truly thinking, feeling, and looking like the thin person you want to be.

CHANTER'S CHASE by Jill Tattersall. Chanters Chase - the foreboding, wild and mysterious wood, once a part of the sprawl-ing Montaque estate, is the set-ting for this novel of gripping suspense and romance, that takes place in 1800 provincial England.

I will pick them up on May 5, 1978 ____

Just the other day, I was talking to an area retailer about Easter traditions, and I got to thinking about the change in fashions.

When I was a little girl, my great aunt would take me shopping every Easter for a new outfit-dress, shoes, hat, gloves, purse, and so on. It was really a big deal to get all dressed up on Easter Sunday and go to chur-ch. Everyone had new clothes for Easter!

In the afternoon, we would go to my grandmothers for dinner, and my brothers and I would have to pose for pictures. We pretended that we hated it, but it really was fun to get all of that attention from everyone.

Easter was one of the fanciest holidays of the year. And not just for children-everyone was dressed in their best.

Today, it seems that things have really changed. No one dresses up like they did, and it seems sad to me. Part of the tradition was dressing up. Not that that is what Easter is really about, but it seemed that we did it out of respect too.

This year I have a son, and I can tell you -- a tradition in our family is going to start this Sunday i f I have to force it. Everyone is going to be dressed. Maybe not in brand new clothes, but we are going to dress for the occasion.

You are going to think that all I do is sit around talking to people, but last week I was talking to another aquaintance about education. I have a teaching degree in elementary education so I know a little of what I am saying, and I think it is a little sad that we push our children so much now days.

I was thinking about Robby going to kinder-garten someday, and it hit me that I would really have have to push him out of the nest sooner than age five. Not because I want to, but because if he does not attend nursery schhol, he will probably be so far be hind everyone else that he would look slow.

Remember when kindergarten was for learning to play with other kids, and tieing shoes, and telling It is not that way anymore.

Most kindergartens are teaching reading, math-ematics, and some social studies. Kids learn the bas-ics in nursery school, and I can't help but feel that we are pushing to hard. I know they have to keep up, but I would like to see my son stay a little boy for as long as possible.

Anyway! I want to wish all of you a Happy Easter. I hope it will be as wonderful as the ones I remember!

If you value your shrubs and trees

Hoosiers who value their shrubs and trees can prevent many plant pests from causing problems next summer by applying sprays while plants are dormant, according to Donald L. Schuder, Purdue University extension entomologist. Sprays can help prevent some mite, asphid, scale, leaf hopper and gall problems later.

Many plant pests overwinter in the egg state. By eliminating the eggs before they have a chance to hatch, serious problems may be prevented.

Common dormant sprays in clude oil emulsions, superior oils and line sulfur. Sprays should be thoroughly applied so that all surfaces of the plant are covered. Dormant sprays will kill only those insect eggs with which they make direct contact

Growing your own tomatoes

There they are in the produce section. Those palid, pink rocks called tomatoes. But if you have ever grown your own you know what a tomato should be. And it makes you think about the time when those home-grown toma-toes will be on the table again. Tomatoes need fertilizer to grow well. But they will drop their buds if there is too much nitrogen in the soil. Your best bet is to get the soil tested by the county agent or the state ex-periment station. This test will also tell you whether you need to add lime to your soil. Again, se only the amount the test shows you need. If you life in an area with a long growing season, you can probably start your tomato plants directly in the garden. But for most of the country, it's best to start them indoors and transplant the seedlings outside when the last danger of frost is past. The best method for seeding in-doors is in small pots and growing containers about five to seven weeks before you expect to put them outdoors. Plant two or three seeds per pot and thin to a single plant.

To help maintain the proper to neip maintain the proper temperature and moisture while the seeds are germinating, cover the pots with a sheet of glass or plastic until the seedlings are a-bove the soil. Then take off the cover and water the pots just enough to keep the soil moist to the touch.

When there is no danger of frost, it is time to plant your tomatoes in the garden. Set the plants in the garden at about the same the garden at about the same depth as they were growing in-doors. If they are in peat or pa-per pots, you can just stick them in the ground, pot and all. But if they are in clay or plastic pots, remove the plants from the pots before planting them.

After transplanting, press the soil firmly around the plant to make a slight hollow to hold water. Add 2 tablespoons of 5-10-5 fertilizer to a gallon of wa-ter, and give each plant about 1 pint. If you plan to stake your plants, put the stakes in soon after transplanting so you don't hurt the roots. Wire fencing form-ed into a circle to support the

by Renee Norlander

The next time you are hang-ing for dear life off the edge of a jagged cliff and need saving desperately, call for Earl Beat-tie, Mentone's own Marshall. tie, Mentone's own Marshall. He not only has the equipment for such a task, but also the training.

While stationed at Mountain Home Air Force Base in Idaho, Beattie was sent to Fort Carson in Colorado to learn to climb for the Base Search and Rescue Team. Not only did Beattie do well, he was later chosen to do exploration in underground ca verns in Idaho.

At 400 feet under the ground, Beattie said "it was beautiful. People always say you climb things because they are there. It's really because you feel you may be the only person who has ever been in that place . . . I'm almost positive that we were the only people who have ever been that far down in those caves."

It sounds exciting doesn't it!? Climbing 300 or 400 feet back up a sheet of ice, though, does... not intrigue me! Must take a special sort of person. And Earl Beattie apparently in the source of the Farmers sign-up for set-aside program

"Even those Fulton County farmers who may still be undecided about planting a set-aside crop in 1978 should sign up in the set-aside program", Steve Rodenberg, Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Commetting Cond and Conservation Service (ASCS) office, said.

Rodenberg said: "There's no penalty if set-aside participants decide not to plant a program crop, such as barley, wheat, corn, or grain sorghum. But, by signing up there is an assurance of program benefits for farmers who decide to plant set-aside

"The sign-up period ends on May 1. The program calls for talking out of production one acre for every ten (10 percent) planted to barley, corn or grain sorghum and two acres (20 per cent) for every ten planted to wheat for grain.

Farmers who participate will be eligible for price support loans, target price and disaster payments. To receive more de-tailed information and to sign up, farmers should come to the county ASCS office in Rochester.

Applicants for ASCS programs will be given equal consideration without regard to race, color, sex, cred or national origin.

Your aging parents are asking accusing questions: "Why do you let your daughter live with that boy without marrying him? That is sinful, so why don't you do something about it?"

something about it?" You are middle-aged, and that's just where you're caught: in the middle. "The middle-aged person catches it from both sides," said Beulah Compton, professor of social work at the University of Minnesota. "Many of them find that they stand on very in-secure ground. They are so vul-nerable to criticism from the oth-er generations in the family." In a fast-changing world, she

In a fast-changing world, she said, the role of advice-giver to young adult children becomes very difficult. Parents can no longer say: "Do as I do, and when yoù are my age you will stand where I am standing." Even while the accusations are coming from the younger and older generations, Compton said, so are the demands. Children may expect support through increasingly extended periods of education. Parents are living long-er and making their own demands. If you send them off to a nursing home, you may feel guilt and something even more unsettling: the knowledge that 20 years from now that's where you will be. "In the last 100 years the life span has increased enormously.

span has increased enormously, Compton said. The result has not been simply to add years onto the end of life. Years ago, she said, people fit into three age groups: children, adults, and old people. Now two more stages have been added: adolescence and middle see. "We've noneed up the life age. "We've opened up the life cycle," Compton said.

Compton doesn't have any firm ideas about when middle > age begins or ends. It may come at different ages to different people. "My own tendency is to have it keep starting later and later and going longer and longer," she said. Although she wouldn't want to argue with anyone who set different years for middle age, she usually thinks of it as start-ing at about 40 and ending at re-

"Middle age may either sneak "Middle age may either sneak up on us or come as a crisis," she said. Most often, she said, the recognition comes when people's bodies give them hints - or their deateneities them merions their doctors give them warnings - that they need to slow down. In middle age, Compton said, men and women become "aware as they haven't been earlier of the mortality of their bodies." For a woman, menopause may be the sign that she is well into middle age. A man may have problems with his weight or his heart or his blood pressure. And Compton said that "increasingly

Compton said that "increasingly in the literature you see articles about the male menopause." Whatever the specific physica changes may be, beople see that their bodies are changing and that "the changes are no longer forward-moving and developmental," Compton said. "They're moving in the other direction." People start taking care of their health not out of a desire to develop their bodies but in an attempt to ward off negative changes.

to ward off negative changes. Another reason for the new awageness of martality, Comp-ton said, is that "by the time you're in the mi ddle of middle age you will have lost significant others through death." People then begin to ask themselves: "If I have only so much time left, how do I add up my life? When I look back 20 or 30 years When I look back 20 or 30 years from now, will I be able to say I did some things I'm satisfied with?

Just at the time people are ask-ing these questions, events in their lives may erode their sense of worth. A woman who has stayed home and poured herself into her family may be hit hard when her children leave home. Often this jolt coincides with the physical changes of menopause. One resolution of the crisis, Compton said, might be for the woman's wife role to expand. "She can go on business trips with her husband, play golf with him.

For a middle-aged man, Comp-ton said, the crisis may come when he sees a younger colleague promoted over him. All of a sud-den he knows that he will not rise any higher. From now on, his job responsibilities will be diminishing instead of expanding.

Even worse, a middle-aged Even worse, a middle-aged man or worse, a middle-aged a company turns to younger em-ployees. "If you're a university professor and you have tenure, you may not have to worry," Compton said. In industry, it can be tough: "Society is saying, "We have no use for you."

A marriage may be thrown off balance as a woman, freed from any worries about child-bearing, becomes more interested in sex just as her husband is wor-rying that he is losing his sexual capacity (whether or not his fears are based in reality). "Men and Women may be out of sync," Compton said. In an attempt to deny that he is middle-aged, a man may turn to a younger woman. This may mean a severe crisis for his wife, especially if he divorces her to marry the other woman. The loss of a marriage partner through either death or divorce is a pain-ful crisis faced by many people in their middle age, Compton

ed. Our youth culture makes it difficult for these women to socialize with younger groups. They tend to find their social group among women who are similarly alone."

The middle years can be bleak. But, Compton said, they can also be a time of creativity and growth. For people who have the sources, middle age may be a time to go back to school, travel, start a new career, run for the school board, discover art or music

Some of the elements of a happy middle age, such as good health and financial security, are beyond the individual's control. But to a large extent, Compton said, a satisfactory middle age rests on the relationships and in-terests that the person has culti-vated earlier in life. "Being active and curious about life is something the person brings to middle age," she said. Martial or friendship ties to meaningful others are usually es-tablished before middle age, she said. "If not, you'd better get busy." Compton said, too, that relationships with children ion't get built in middle age." One of the joys of her own middle age is sharing with her young adult children. "My kids and I an kick around a lot if issues.

Personality is influenced by order of birth

Marueen Smith University News Service

How could two children in the same family be so different? Why is Johnny so much more serious than his younger brother Jimmy? Questions like these have often puzzled parents. One thing parents might remember is that Jimmy came into a family that differed in at least one important way from the fam-ily Johnny entered. Jimmy had an older brother.

an older brother. Children's personalities and ways of viewing the world may be affected by whether they are first or second or third to be born into a family. Alan Ander-son, associate professor of psy-choeducational studies at the University of Minnesota, and Jerrome Rach a child neychiatris Jerome Bach, a child psychiatrist with whom he has worked, have observed some of the differences

In their work with children and families over the past eight or nine years, Anderson and Bach noticed some patterns. As they talked about what they were seeing, they began to make more systematic observations

"First kids were the first ones we noticed," Anderson said - "not we noticed," Anderson said - 'not as much in how they behaved as in how they seemed to think a-bout things. They had more of a need to be right. They seemed to feel - not necessarily to take, but to feel - more of a sense of respon-sibility for what was going on in the family."

Anderson and Bach have now observed 1,100 or 1,200 families, some in therapy, some in schools, some as volunteers to give a crosssection. They have made observa-tions about four birth orders, but the evidence still seems to be strongest on first-borns. "What we have found, and we don't understand why, is that birth order seems to recycle in fours," Anderson said. "There are four roles that seem to be played. A fifth-born child, though not exactly like a first-born, seems to be more like a first-born than like any other birth order." The typical first-born is highly conscious of the family's image, Anderson said. He and Bach the orize that the first-born tends to identify with the father - not be-cause he is the father, but because in our culture a family's image is most dependent on the father's position in society.

First-borns tend to see it as their job to maintain the family image, Anderson said. But in some cases, if a first-born is angry enough, he or she might do a flip and actively violate the family rule system. One way or another, image is important to the first

"First kids have a fairly strong internal need to be told they're doing well," Anderson said. "They depend on expert opinion. They have a difficult time assess-ing their own worth. They may be very confident about their competence but insecure about their self-worth." Another quality of first-borns is that they are typically rational and analytical.

Second-borns tend to tune in to the underlying emotional needs of the family, Anderson said. Again, they might not do anything about the needs, but they tend to be aware of them. And because mothers in our cul-ture are generally seen as the nur-turers of the family, second-borns tend to identify with their mothers.

"Second kids probably have more difficulty in being confi-dent that they're seeing the world accurately, because they're tun-ing in to a level that other peo-ple aren't tuning in to," Ander-son said. "They need some reas-surance that they aren't crazy."

If the emotional load becomes too heavy, Anderson said, second-borns may "try to ignore all the underneath stuff and become very literal. When they do that, they tend to look a lot like first kids.

Anderson and Bach theorize that third-borns don't form a strong alliance with either parent because those slots have already been taken by the older siblings. Third-borns, they say, tend to identify with the marriage itself and become very conscious of how family members are connect ing. Third-borns are often good mediators, Anderson said. In de-cision-making they tend not to take a strong stand but instead try to identify the issues and help others reach a consensus. others reach a consensus. Anderson illustrated with a story about his third-born child, a son. One evening the boy left with four friends to see a movie. An hour later they were back -they had failed to decide on a movie to see. Each had been try ing to figure out what the others wanted. It struck Anderson then that there were five third-borns in that group.

"Third kids tend to process things mentally more privately than others do," Anderson said. "It's harder to know what a third kid is thinking." In a relationship, he said, a third born may give the appearance of not being emotion-ally involved, but in reality the third-born is highly involved emotionally.

Fourth kids tend to identify with the family as a whole, An-derson said. "They're systems experts. Think of a catcher on a baseball team, who can see all the other players. That's the role of the fourth kid.

"If there is too much tension in a family, a fourth kid will vir-tually absorb it. Fourth kids often feel overwhelmed. It's more than they can handle or should be ask-ed to handle - not that anybody has asked them to handle it. "Fourth kids are very useful in team planning. They are not necessarily good in leading a team, becuase they don't generally want that much responsibili-ty. Many of them are good lead-ers, but they tend to distribute the responsibility. "In teaching fourth kids, we have to be careful not to over-load them, not to overblame." Anderson is a little uneasy

Anderson is a little uneasy about discussing his birth order studies. "It can sound so much like astrology," he said. One thing to keep in mind, he said, is that hardly anyone is a perfect example of one birth order or another.

RELAXATION ODDITIES HELPFUL TIPS

By Joy Mille

A game that strikes millions of Americans as a good way to relax is bowling. Right now there are some 8,640 bowling establishments, with 147,237 lanes used by about 65 million bowlers in the U.S.

A good way to determine whether your thumb fits the bowling ball properly is to place the thumb in the ball and turn your hand back and forth, clockwise and counter-clockwise. If you feel the slightest bit of friction, the thumb fit is a good one A-popular after game drink is an ice-cold glass of James Foxe Canadian whisky and soda.

Bowling, like every sport, has a set of DO's and DON'TS. The rules are based on common sense, and ex-press courtesy and good press courtesy and good sportsmanship, such as, "bo yield the right of way." When two bowlers are on adjacent lanes and simultaneously ready to bowl, the bowler on the right delivers first.

ENERGY SAVING IDEAS Helpful Tips

You can save energy cool-ing your house by using the same things that help you save when heating your house: storm windows. Kept on windows not needed for ventilation, they help keep cool air in, warm air out.

The Department of Energy has estimated that proper at-tic insulation can save up to 30 percent of heating and cooling bills, since heat tends to rise and escape through an insufficiently insulated root. The same insulation reduces the need for cooling by keep-ing out the sun's heat.

* * * You can find a number of energy wise suggestions in a new booklet "Energy and Your Home." Edited by famed science writer Isaac Asimov, it's available from York Heating and Air Condi-tioning, Department 14, P. O. Box 1592, York, Pa. 17405.

Leininger announces new vice president at Akron Bank

J. Randall Leininger, President of the Akron Exchange State Bank of Akron, announces the selection and appointment by the Board of Robert F. Taylor to the position of vice president of the local bank.

Mr. Taylor comes to the Akron Exchange State Bank from Lin-coln National Bank and Trust Company of Fort Wayne where he served as Assistant Vice President and Agricultural Re-presentative since 1971.

In his new capacity as an exe-cutive officer of the Akron bank. Mr. Taylor will work with Mr. Leininger and the bank staff in an administrative capacity and will specialize in serving the fi-nancial needs of the agricultural community. Mr. Taylor comes to the Akron Bank with a broad experience in farm and agri-financial ma-nagement. Since 1971, under his guidance, the agricultural loan portfolio at Lincoln Bank grew threefold.

He was raised on a general dairy/hog farm in Whitley Co., Indiana. He holds a B.S. and M. S. degree in Agriculture from Purdue University. During his professional career he has taught vocational agriculture and the sciences in the Whitley and Kosciusko County schools. He was a farm management extension agent in Allen Co. for ten years. and later moved to Purdue University to supervise farm and home management programs throughout the state. During this period he received state and national recognition for the development of management teaching techniques. Mr. Taylor is active in many civic and professional organizachairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Indiana Bankers Association. He is past presi-dent of the Indiana Agricultural Bankers Society and the Allen County Purdue Agricultural Alumni Association and immedi-ate past chairman of the Rural ate past chairman of the Rural Affairs Committee of the Great-er Fort Wayne Chamber of Com-merce. More recently he was ap-pointed to serve a six-year term as a member of the Board of Directors of Bethel College lo-cated at Mishawaka. Mr. Taylor is an active mem-ber of the American Institute of Banking, the International and Indiana Flying Farmers Associa-tion, and the AOPA Air Safety Council.

Council.

He is a graduate of the 1973 Indiana Agricultural Banking School and a graduate of the Bankers Business Development Institute of Chicago. Midway in his professional career he moved into agri-business and financial management

Wow! A Michigan paper reports information about an ADC case in its county.

It concerns a woman with three children and a boyfriend who lives with her. She used to live in Indiana, but she moved to Michigan because ADC payments are higher there.

Something is wrong

She draws $418 monthly base allowance for ADC. In addition, she gets $66 for her boyfriend, plus $16 each in food stamps for herself, her three children and her boyfriend. There's also $110 shelter allowance and $120 babysitter allowance. Her boyfriend serves as the babysitter while she works part-time, so the $120 stays in the family, She gets that allowance because she works part-time. She can earn up to $139 a month without losing any of her government aid.

It adds up to $794 a month tax-iree income, plus whatever she picks up working part-time. Figuring roughly, this woman would need a job that paid at least $7 an hour in taxable wages to do as well.

You can't blame this woman for taking the money if it's available. Neither can we blame the bitterness on the part of the working woman who is raising a family on half that money.

But there's got to be something wrong with a system in which a person can do better sitting at home than at work.

By BOB NORLANDER

If the countryside looks a little cleaner this year as you drive along the highway it may be due to the fact that a grow ing number of area youth are now stopping to pick up are now stopping to pick up many of the cans that have been tossed out on the roads by non-thinking clods Are today's kids more ecology minded that than those of yes-teryear? Well maybe so, but many have an additional rea-son to retrieve those empties. Many of those cans are valued treasures to collectors like Brent and Troy Hoffman of Akron.

Troy and Brent, whose par-ents are Miles and Pat Hoffman, were both hit by the urge to collect beer cans just over a year ago. Brent, , and Troy, , have accumulated over 200

cans together of all different brands, sizes and types. (They estimate they have over 100 estimate they have over 100 different brands alone in their collection!) The boys have cans from Canada, as well as from all parts of the United States. Their father, Miles, said ironically, it seems easier to find cans the farther away you travel from a brewery. On a tave from a offewery. On a recent trip through the southern states, they had to go to Nash-ville "To locate a can of beer produced by a Florida brewer." The Hoffmans relatives and friends have helped the boys hobby grow, by picking up an unusual can or two here and there and "donating" it to their collection

Pat, their mother, says that Brent and Troy have become near experts at their hobby and "Can spot and identify a cans brand while in a moving car on the highway." (The boy's didn't deny the claim.)

Troy, left, and Brent Hoffman have collected over 200 cans, since they first started their collection, just over one year ago

The Hoffman brothers display their favorite beer cans. Troy's beer can has a label which reads (coincendentaly?) "Hoffman House", and Brent's big container is "Octoberfest", a Canadian product.

Troy and Brent, of course, don't get all of their cans along roadsides and from friends. They sometimes purchase or trade them at Hobby Shops, and with Antique dealers in South

Miles said there is a growing problem of "Counterfeit cans being offered as originals" by unscrupulous or unknowing dealers. He said to watch out if the price is too low and not sold at values shown in authoritative beer can publications The brothers are continually gaining more interest in their hobby and are currently working on collecting the complete set of Sterling Beer's limited edition of derby winning horses They have 6 different horses, but need a few more to complete their set.

They also are looking for old-er cans with screw top lids, that resemble STP cans of today. (If you have any you want to get rid of, I'm sure Brent and Troy would be more than happy to pick them up.)

tible to flooding. "Although the last two springs brought abnormally good drying conditions, this year's March has been cool and wet," the meteorologist says, adding: "The April outlook indicates that temperatures and precipitation will be near normal. With soils saturated, this prediction strengthens the chance that planting will be later than last year's schedule."

"The short-term outlook indicates that air temperatures should be fairly warm the last week in March," he reports. "Most southern Indiana soils have thawed, and thawing will continue in the northern part of the state."

And advice for farmers? "I recommend utilizing field time to its maximum," Bruns says. "When the weather is good, get
