County EMS problem is discussed

Fulton County Commissioners Brown, Lease and Smith listened to an audience of several Fulton County EMT's, Woodlawn Hospital Administrator, Robert Kelsey, and EMS Director, Ernest Anderson, during their Monday morning meeting, trying to iron out misconceptions about EMS funds caused during last month's County Council meeting.

The statements made by Mike Simpson, an EMT, trained at the hospital, but seemingly not working at any level as an EMT, private or public, charging inefficiency in handling EMS funds were inaccurate. The statements made were one of the reasons the County Council turned down a request of $28,000 asked by EMS for purchase of a new ambulance to replace a 1970 model now used at the hospital.

The statement that EMS was operating with a deficit of $104,849.70 for 1981 was misleading to say the least. That amount was the cost of the operation for the EMS for 1981 -- not a deficit. This included $96,184.89 for personal services, $7,838.76 for expenses - phone, repair of equipment, legal services, etc.; supplies $11,588.14; $26,838.53 for insurance and fringe benefits, and $2,000 for parts and repair on vehicles.

Akron EMT volunteer Phil Allen presented the commissioners with the following information:

Year	Cost of Operation	Co. Funds plus EMS revenue	Balance due	Budget Cut made by Co. Council
1977	$48,413.87	$43,773.00	$ 4,640.87	-----
1978	$62,886.40	$52,082.00	$10,814.40	$26,308.00
1979	$67,971.52	$59,400.00	$ 8,571.52	$23,737.00
1980	$80,905.27	$66,434.00	$14,471.27	$39,743.00
1981	104,849.70*	$71,464.00	$33,385.70	$69,397.00
1982	(estimates)
	113,518.76	$91,609.00	?????	$21,400.00
1982	Appropriation	$85,009.00
1981	Unpd. Account pd. to hospital	$71,883.76
1982	Operating funds available	$13,125.24

The EMS in Fulton County is supported by taxpayers in the county and is a service the state requires the county to furnish its residents, whether through county taxes or through private ambulance service backed by the county.

Attorney Robert Peterson noted the county would be liable for a law suit by any private individual in the county if the county does not abide by the state law and discontinues the service.

Kelsey and Dr. Anderson provided a survey to the commissioners and members in the audience showing a comparison between Fulton County EMS and service in surrounding counties. Fulton County was next to lowest in a six-county area in budget, and county funding; charges $55. per run for ambulance service; has the average wage paid hospital based EMT's - $5.51 per hr; has the next to highest operating costs per run and the least number of runs projected for the year.

Budgets in surrounding counties included: Cass, $227,480; Pulaski $250,000; Miami $184,000; Huntington $243,700; LaGrange $105,500 and Fulton $160,495.

In a statement made by Ken Cook, volunteer EMT at Kewanna, he said he did not believe county residents realize what the volunteers' service at Akron and Kewanna do for the communities. Kewanna has a total of 30 volunteers and drivers and Akron 19. These people during the year save Fulton County residents a total of $193,070. in tax monies, by serving free of charge (based on a $5.51 hourly wage). They donate hourly wages plus all travel expenses and time spent - 20 hours yearly in in-service meetings to keep their state EMT certification. They spend many hours on duty, which means they must be within a two mile radius of the ambulance in case of a call - thus cutting into family outings, etc. Local EMT's provide free services to members of the communities training them to do CPR and life saving tactics. He stated the town of Akron and Kewanna also donate the heated garages for housing ambulances, and private citizens and local businesses also donate money for equipment to

State evaluation of highways going on

Between snowstorms and subzero cold spells, the state's Department of Highways (DOH) has had a chance to evaluate how they've fared against the winter elements so far and to take a speculative look at what is yet to come, even to what lies beyond snow removal days.

"As Hoosiers fight what they've come to expect as weekly, regular battles against deep snow and bitter cold, perhaps they've wondered how we stand at the Highway Department with respect to money and supplies still available for snow removal," says DOH director Gene K. Hallock.

"At this point, we have used about 80-85% of the total amount we had budgeted for this season. Actual amounts have varied from point to point around the state, of course. This 80-85% estimate is for the whole picture statewide and includes everything from labor to salt."

Highway's Maintenance Division chief, Ken Mellinger, says that the department has a budget of about $9.6 million for snow and ice removal, with labor and materials, such as salt, calcium chloride and abrasives, being the two major items in that amount. "At this point, we have used about 200,000 tons of salt. We normally use about 234,000 tons per season," Mellinger says. Costs for equipment repair and fuel have also been higher than normal this season, he adds.

To illustrate what most Hoosiers already know, that January was a winter record-breaker, Mellinger says that through December the department had used only 25% of the salt it purchased for this year's operations. By the end of January, however, they had used 80-85% of the stock. They also are reporting expenditures of about $1.3 million in overtime pay so far for snowplow drivers and other support personnel.

With several weeks of official winter weather yet to go, what is the outlook for the budget for this year's snow removal and what will it mean to Hoosier drivers? "Obviously, supplies and money go shorter with each storm," director Hallock says, "But the clearing of the highways is our number-one priority in the winter so drivers do not need to worry that the job will not get done, even if the budgeted money runs out. If we do overshoot the planned budget, we will draw money from other areas in our maintenance budget. In the long run, something will have to suffer, but we will continue to place clear and safe highways as our top priority."

Hallock says that an overrun on the budget would mean he would have to look at all options available to decide what would have to be shorted, but that final decision would not be made until we see how the rest of the winter goes. Possible options are, of course, under consideration now, though.

One item that will not be shorted is the repairing of the chuckhole damage that has begun to crop up in the wake of the winter weather. According to Maintenance Division chief Mellinger, this winter's chuckhole damage will easily rival that of the winter of 1978, the winter of the blizzard. Mellinger notes that the past couple of seasons have been relatively mild, with cold but constant temperatures, so chuckhole damage was less severe. This season, however, as was 1978, has been bad because of the severe freeze-thaw cycles. "We had lows of -20 degrees and highs of 40 degrees. It is this type of up-and-down cycle of freeze-thaw that causes the great chuckholes and pavement breakup," Mellinger explains. When the snow melts, water seeps down into pavement where it becomes trapped and then freezes with the next cold wave. When it freezes and expands, it causes pavement damage from within. DOH tries to prevent as much of this seepage as possible by preventive maintenance pavement sealing in the summer, but the problems have been compounded this year because of so much snow stacked up at pavement edge where it can melt and seep in.

In order to help with the immediate chuckhole problem, Highway crews have been doing as much patching as weather has permitted. DOH has a budget of about $3 million planned for chuckhole patching this year.

Director Hallock assures motorists that chuckhole patching and highway repair is also a top priority for the department and it too will be done even if the planned budget must be exceeded. Again, money would have to be drawn from other areas if actual costs exceed planned amounts, he says.

"We have a responsibility to the Hoosier driver to provide the safest and best highway system possible and we will work to the maximum to meet the responsibility in the most economical way possible," Hallock says. "We must offer the public the best usage of their tax dollars and the best return of service to them for that money."

Reduced acreage sign-up begins

Farmers who wish to participate in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's reduced acreage programs for wheat and feed grains may begin signing up.

While the programs are voluntary, only farmers who participate in the program will be eligible for program benefits such as government price support loans and target price protection and the farmer-owned grain reserve, according to Everett Rank, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

County ASCS offices will handle the sign-up, which continues through April 16, Rank said.

To be eligible to receive program benefits, feed grain producers must reduce their acreage planted to feed grains (barley, corn, oats and sorghum) by at least 10 percent from an established base. Rank said two bases will be set: one will include corn and sorghum and one will include barley and oats.

Participants in the wheat acreage reduction program must reduce their acreage planted for harvest by at least 15 percent from their established acreage base.

Rank said the base for those crops generally will be the higher of the 1981 crop acreage or the average of the 1980-81 crop acreages. However, he said, for farmers that have been following a definite crop rotation pattern, the base will reflect such rotation.

Farmers who sign up may change their minds up to the time they report their acreage, Rank said. State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees will establish reporting dates for each crop, he said.

USDA will issue its first sign-up report about March 16 and will report weekly sign-up progress until registration is completed.

The Alamo

On the sixth of March in 1836, Mexican General Santa Anna committed an error which made certain the independence of Texas. Texans had proclaimed a revolution (with an eye on later admission to the United States) and Mexican soldiers were seeking to put down the insurrection. The Mexican Government had a good legal case.

General Santa Anna arrived before the Texas-manned mission, which had been converted into a fort, with several thousand troops. It was ten days before he assaulted it. During this time he bombarded the Texans but failed to breach the fort's walls. During this time, also, thirty-two volunteers arrived to bolster the defenses.

On the 6th of March, the Mexicans attacked in overwhelming force. The Texans and other U.S. defenders turned them back. The Mexicans attacked again and were repulsed a second time. But Santa Anna persisted and his third wave of attackers overran the fort. Only five defenders were taken alive, one of them being David Crockett. Santa Anna ordered them executed.

This cold-blooded murder infuriated Texans and U.S. residents everywhere. Six weeks later a revenge-minded force of Texans and others met Santa Anna in the battle of San Jacinto, sweeping his forces from the field to the cry of "Remember the Alamo," and winning independence for Texas.

Toland & Holocaust

John Toland, one of the nation's best historians, recently addressed the subject of the extermination of Jews in Germany before and during World War II, and films about that tragedy in the U.S.

Writing in TV Guide, Toland says many of the films are inaccurate but that some are quite well done, and that Americans should be reminded that not only Jews but other races and religions have been ruthlessly persecuted.

Toland lists the Russians, Poles, Greeks, Gypsies and Yugoslavs in World War II (in addition to Jews), the Americans in World War I, the Ukrainians (millions murdered by the Russians), etc. In reminding us of these historic tragedies, TV renders a service.

It can also be said, in this connection, that the Jews have the longest history of persecution of anyone. They have been expelled, ghettoed, murdered and persecuted for hundreds and hundreds of years, in country after country. Hitler exterminated from four to six million of them, as the leader of the most cultured nation in the world.

It would be worthwhile for some of the documentaries on the Holocaust to carefully examine the reason for all this collective resentment and hatred over the centuries. The best way to avoid blood baths and persecution, or mere discrimination, in the future, might be to reduce the cause of resentment, if possible.

THE PENTAGON'S RITES OF SPRING

by James J. Treires

When you've been in Washington as long as I have, you sometimes get the feeling that today's hot news is just the latest blooming of a hardy perennial. To illustrate my point, I will predict that three stories will appear in your daily paper sometime this spring.

The first will be an alarming report from the Pentagon showing how those dastardly Russians have attained, or shortly will attain, superiority over the United States in almost every weapons category you can think of. It will demonstrate that the military balance is tilting heavily against us, and that any attempt to cut the requested defense budget will doom our Armed Forces to permanent inferiority.

The report will feature the basic Pentagon upward tilting "X" chart. The ascending line is always the Soviet weapons count, the parallel or descending line is that of the U.S. The current year is always somewhere near the middle of the "X," indicating that the Soviets are, or shortly will be, in the lead—especially if we don't appropriate more money.

The second story will come out of the CIA's statistical wonder works. It will present manufactured proof that the Soviets not only produce more weapons than we do but they also spend a lot more money on defense. In an unobtrusive note far down in its sober report, the CIA will warn that these "dollar cost estimates" should not be used for direct comparisons of expenditures, even though the whole point of the report is to make such comparisons. If a Senator or Representative has any pride at all, he will not keep his hands in his pockets when the Pentagon's collection plate is passed, knowing that those raggedy Russians, with an economy half as big as ours, are actually spending more.

The first two articles are addressed to our lawmakers in general and will carry great weight with them, despite heavy pressures to keep overall federal spending down. But for the few brave souls who are still not convinced that more must be spent for defense, the third perennial article can provide the clincher. This one is called "Closing the Bases," and it first appears as a Pentagon press release.

Note the dates on these headlines: "16-State Coalition to Battle Base Closings," April 27, 1977; "Pentagon May Cut Bases," April 27, 1978; "Pentagon, Citing Costs, Announces Base Closings, Transfers," March 30, 1979; "Military Sends Reagan 'Hit List' of Bases That Could Be Closed," May 12, 1981.

Spring is the season for cherry blossoms on the Tidal Basin and budget battles on Capitol Hill. And by a convenient coincidence, spring is the time when the military establishment always chooses to reveal its plans for closing bases.

It takes a lot of courage for any Senator or Representative to resist the Pentagon's demands, even if he or she is convinced economic bankruptcy is now a greater present danger than a Soviet attack. And even those few mavericks who might oppose military expansion on the basis of their honest evaluation of national priorities are vulnerable if there is a military base in their state or district.

When former basketball great Bill Bradley became the freshman Senator from New Jersey, he was not too impressed with some of the Pentagon's grandiose spending plans. But when the Department of Defense announced that it was planning to close Fort Dix, brutal political reality forced the Senator to oppose the closing vigorously. Later that year, the Pentagon somehow found it within its heart to keep the base open, but in the meantime Senator Bradley learned a lot about the dimensions of Pentagon power.

With the military establishment in control of all information about Soviet weapons and military expenditures, and all decisions about locating, manning and closing military bases in the United States, is there any hope of slowing the Pentagon's drive for more and more tax revenues? I don't think so. Only a major economic crisis will induce the Congress to regain control over military spending. I don't know whether to call it the bad news or the good news, but I believe such a crisis is not far off.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

My uncle is a widower but is in good health and is about fifty years old. His wife died this past year and as I have always been his favorite niece he told me that he would leave me his house when he died.

Now my husband and I have gotten awfully tired of living in an apartment and we had bought a lot and were planning to build a small home. Now we don't know what to do. My uncle still lives in his house and has a good housekeeper and he hasn't asked us to live with him.

What do you think we should do? Do you think he will change his mind if we build?

that you know he is fairly young and that you feel sure and you hope that he will live to be an old man--that in the meantime you will build a small home, knowing that later on you will have his larger one. You may add that you are tired of paying rent, etc.

Your uncle may mean what he says now as to what he intends to do but one never knows what people will do as they grow older. He may decide to marry again if he becomes very lonely or any number of things could happen to cause him to change his mind.

My advice would be for you to go on with your plans for building.

Wrong Advice

The worried patient was visiting his doctor for a checkup.

Said the doctor: "Do you smile at your troubles as I advised?"

The patient replied: "Yes, and the boss warned me three times to wipe that silly grin off my face and get to work."

Challenged!

A man, returning home in the small hours of the night found a burglar jimmying the lock on his front door. Thinking quickly, the man whispered to the prowler, "I'll open the door if you go in first."

ARIES -- March 21 to April 20--You are on the right track with ideas of better organization in your use of time. Take time from your work for relaxation.

GEMINI -- May 21 to June 20--Stop being so quick to point out the defects of others. Evaluate your own needs for personality improvement. Read more about current events.

CANCER -- June 21 to July 22--You may not feel like it now, but you are sure to have the last laugh. The little cruel joke someone has played on you backfires.

NIXON'S TAPES

WASHINGTON -- A federal appeals court ruled recently the public can eventually listen to Richard Nixon's White House tape recordings, except those restricted on grounds of national security and personal privacy.

1982's Economic Question

The most important question facing government officials and taxpayers today is how to restore vitality to the U.S. economy and end the recession. The chorus of protest with which Republicans and Democrats greeted President Reagan's proposal for another huge federal deficit, and more after that, shows a majority in Congress feels inflation is the greatest threat to the American economy and the American way of life.

Liberal Democrats, minority group leaders and others argue that unemployment is the greatest threat. They believe the supply of money must be enlarged and that make-work jobs created to reduce unemployment.

Which approach is used will go a long way to determine the health of this country for years to come. And while reducing unemployment is vitally important, it's nevertheless true that the root cause of today's crisis is inflation. For more than a decade, soaring inflation has undermined the American standard of living (It's no longer the world's highest but about sixth highest.)

It has weakened the dollar badly, hiked the price of everything excessively, and put many U.S. companies out of business, since the cost of production rose too much. (The automobile industry is the most evident example.) This has caused widespread unemployment.

It is good to keep this in mind as Washington struggles to curb inflation and restore order and stability to the American way of life and the American standard of living. All sympathize with those out of work. But unemployment is unfortunately necessary if unions are to come to the bargaining table in a cooperative and constructive mood, which they are now doing.

Some unemployment and hardship is necessary if the anti-inflation effort is to succeed and if production costs don't continue to escalate. Politicians don't say this but many of them know it. The availability of labor holds costs down and the fear of losing one's job, and perhaps not being able to find another, aids productivity.

Currently, inflation in this country is well below 10 percent for the first time in years. Unemployment may rise to nine percent before the economy turns the corner and resumes growth but the battle is being won. All of us have compassion for the unemployed (only a part of whom actually can't find work if they look hard enough--many won't take tough or menial jobs) but inflation is the cause of our present problem, inflation and overspending which produced it.

Checking inflation is the primary goal. President Reagan probably erred in proposing large deficits and Congress seems likely to correct his course. But he is right in realizing that inflation is the number-one enemy of the people, and not unemployment, as painful as that is to many as a cure.

It's funny how some people thrive on politics. Most reformers are satisfied with themselves.

JUNE FULLER THE COUPON CLIPPER

Ever want to peep into neighbors' garbage?

By June Fuller
 The sport of "trashing" is not yet listed in Webster's dictionary. Neither has it become an Olympic event. But just give it a little time and the devotion of refunders across the nation. I define trashing as the search for refundable proofs of purchase in other people's trash.

Many refunders start trashing by asking to look through a neighbor's discarded newspapers for an "article" that they missed. Of course, they are really after whatever is left of the neighbor's food section and color coupon inserts.

Once you have become a familiar sight at the neighbor's trash can, you need only a little courage to quickly wrap a Birds Eye box in a Sunday newspaper insert.

If the hairs on your neck begin to tingle at the thought of such "devious" behavior, you will understand one of the reasons trashing is really catching on. It has elements of danger and excitement!

Soon you won't be content with your neighbor's trash.

The trash cans in the local laundromat or the dumpster behind some nearby apartments will become a temptation that you will find difficult to resist. The prospect of bringing home hundreds of valuable box tops and labels will become more than you can bear.

Now comes the planning. If the attempt is to be made in broad daylight, a disguise may be in order. I have been told that "Dumpster Disguise Kits" will soon be available in most areas.

Lines must be rehearsed and every possibility considered. What do you say to a fellow who spots you working your way through the trash? "I lost one of my contact lenses" isn't bad for starters.

Equipment must be readied: rubber gloves, trash bags, a flashlight for after-dark operations and "combat" boots for wet or knee-deep terrain.

You know that your spouse really cares when he or she attaches a pointed nail to the end of a long broom handle so that you can comfortably remove trash without falling into the dumpster.

Trashing has already produced some strange stories. A motorist in a Midwestern city recently passed a dumpster late at night and was horrified to see two human legs sticking out of the top.

Certain that foul play had been committed, he notified the police. The short report in the following morning's newspaper said that the search had not produced a body. We refunders suspect what happened!

Here's a refund form to write for: Gillette Razor Refund Offer, P.O. Box 9224, St. Paul, Minn. 55192. This $1 or $2 offer expires Dec. 31, 1982.

Here is this week's list of

DEERS

DEERS is the Defense Enrollment Eligibility Reporting System. It is a new way of verifying who is entitled to health care at military and Public Health Service Hospitals and clinics. It will also verify who qualifies for CHAMPUS benefits.

Participation in DEERS is mandatory to receive future health benefits for active duty military, retired military, dependents and eligible surviving dependents of deceased members. Inactive duty reservists and their dependents will be affected by DEERS upon the members reaching age 60 and becoming entitled to retirement pay.

The DEERS system will aid planners to determine requirements for medical staffing, supplies, and equipment to better tailor the health care system to your needs. It will also, reduce ineligible persons receiving care thereby saving tax dollars.

Most qualified veterans should be receiving DEERS ENROLLMENT forms in the mail at this time. Assistance in completing the forms or to obtain extra/replacement forms is available at the Fulton County Veterans Service Office in the Court House from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Monday through Friday; telephone 223-2217.

County EMS

their EMS units.

Cook stated he thought people in the other townships other than Union and Henry, who are covered by the service but not situated so as to serve as EMT's should be willing to help the service through their tax dollar.

The policy of the Sheriff's Department and the Rochester City Police Department, concerning what ambulance service is to be called, when the need arises, was questioned, as it costs the county taxpayer unnecessary money.

Both departments are tax supported services, yet they are calling a private service every other month, with the private service billing the patient for the run, not the County EMS. From records it is estimated that this shows a total of $14,445.00 to date and a projected amount of $8,250 for the year 1982, goes to the private service. That estimated amount will show on the EMS deficit each year. Each time a call goes to the private ambulance service, the tax payer is still paying for the hospital based EMT, the ambulances (4) and the extra equipment to just set, plus the cost of the run. The taxpayer pays double.

One of the questions asked of the commissioners was why the police departments were allowed to call anyone they wish every other month. The answer came from Attorney Ted Waggoner -- he stated the commissioners nor the council could not order the sheriff to do anything or tell him what his job is -- but it may be brought out in the coming election as to what choice the new sheriff will use.

The choice remains for a private citizen to ask for a certain ambulance service, but a tax supported office such as the sheriff or police department should not be able to make the choice. The choice does not remain of which fire department or which police department to call when needed.

Dr. Anderson stated that the ambulance service is a non-profit service offered the county residents, not like other county offices, which do not bring in any revenues.

He advised the board to look at the outlying areas of Kewanna and Akron if they were at all thinking about disbanding the EMS and going to a contract with a private ambulance service. The problem of dispatching calls, volunteers or people to man the service, might be costly to the county since a private ambulance service would have to be backed by county funds the same as the EMS.

The commissioners did not answer the question as to whether they thought it would be cheaper to have a private ambulance service run the service in Fulton County.

Mr. Kelsey was asked why the hospital had a "blank check" aspect with the EMS and why hospital allowed EMS to operate on funds from the hospital instead of the Ambulance Board coming to the council and requesting more funds. It was suggested that the contract between the Ambulance Board and the hospital be revised with new clauses, since the money loaned to pay expenses for EMS from the hospital has, to this time, been interest free.

Some of the suggestions made to help retain the EMS and lower the costs given were the non-acceptance of the volunteers in both Kewanna and Akron of the appropriated $6,487.00 in pay, which they were willing to forego to help with the operation costs. Kelsey said there could be a transfer of funds from the building program, noting the building authority has authorized a transfer of $38,000 to the county to help pay for new ambulances and the EMS board has raised the basic run fee to $55.

Anderson said the object of the discussion was to obtain a new ambulance for the hospital as No. 4 was needing repairs and it was going to be costly. The crew driving No. 4 has been stopped several times by police about having no tail lights, and crews are hesitant to drive it because of its deficiencies. He said he could only advise it be used on local runs and only during the daytime hours.

The EMS asked the commissioners for permission to go back to the Fulton County Council in their next meeting to ask for the appropriation needed to purchase another ambulance to be based at the hospital, with the thought that the other ambulances would all need to be replaced during the next few years.

The fate of the Fulton County Emergency Medical Service seems to be hanging -- depending on the county taxpayer to voice their opinions as to whether they want to keep the service or disband it as being too costly, and try to find an alternative of equal quality, for less money.

March brings in spring and ends the winter. Spring in the northern half of the world begins with the vernal equinox, which almost always occurs on March 21. On this day, the sun rises directly in the east and sets directly in the west, so that the length of the day is exactly equal to the length of the night.

March can be both wintry and springlike. Blustery, windy days occur as frequently as mild, sunny days. Many animals and plants awaken, or come to life again. Sap flows in the trees and green buds begin to appear. The first pussy willows and wild flowers can be found in the woods. The flower for March is the violet. Wild geese and ducks begin their northward flights. Early songbirds appear and people look for the first robins as a sign that spring has really come.

There are many superstitions about March—we often hear that "March comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb." This means that the first day of March is often stormy and the last day is mild and warm.

Robert Browning said it so beautifully--

The year's at the Spring
And day's at the morn.
God's in his Heaven
All's right with the world.
And the Spring arose on the garden fair.
Like the Spirit of Love felt everywhere.
And each flower and herb on earth's dark breast

Rose from the dreams of it's wintry rest.

Pioneer Day enjoyed by Mentone 4th graders

Mrs. Smith's class shown during the old song session. (News Photo)

Studying Pioneers in Indiana in the Indiana History books enable these fourth graders at Mentone School to get a taste of what it might have been like if they were students in a school in the Pioneer Days. Students in all three classes took part in a day long program which included making butter, cornbread and funnel cakes. They took part in "cipherin" match, spelling bee and Blab school, and as an end to the day, sang old pioneer songs, square danced and arm wrestled. The girls dressed in long dresses and sunbonnets, the boys wore floppy hats, vests, and there was even a Raccoon skin hat. At the end of the day, they all adjourned to the cafeteria to eat the goodies they had participated in making.

FOOD CO-OPS SAVE YOU MONEY!

More than likely there's at least one food co-op operating in your hometown. These democratic, consumer-owned businesses had a heyday in the 70's... and by 1980 it was estimated that there were over 3,000 separate groups of people in the U.S. getting together to buy their food.

Folks may form "victual fellowships" to obtain groceries inexpensively (co-op members often save from 15 to 50% on food items!)... To secure healthful, wholesomely grown eats... to practice participatory democracy as a first step in taking political control of their own lives... to share and experience cooperation... or for some combination of such goals. Food co-ops can be as small as the four-family Morgan City Buying Club in Louisiana or as large as California's 96,000-member Consumer Co-op of Berkeley.

The reason for this diversity is simply that food co-ops are consumer owned. Their guiding purpose is "food for people, not for profit". And that motto also describes the basic advantage of participating in a food co-op: The members themselves create, shape, and regulate their organization. As a result of this membership control, each individual co-op becomes a unique food-buying institution.

In Atlanta, Georgia, for example, there's a co-op named Sevenanda, and it's perhaps the largest food buying cooperative in the southeastern United States. The store provides over 4,000 weekly shoppers with an amazing array of victuals.

Sevenanda (the unusual name is the Sanskrit term meaning "Service is Blessedness") was founded on the ideals of nutritional and spiritual service. On the other hand, Weaver's Way, a prosperous middle-class food co-op in Philadelphia, was established solely to provide bargains. Jules Timmerman, Weaver's founder, created the moneysaving members-only food store through a lot of dedication... an ability to corral new membership fees to cover ongoing debts... and a remarkable talent for finding suppliers of inexpensive food.

Most food co-ops are not such prosperous, large-scale institutions as Sevenanda and Weaver's Way. Many serve smaller groups of people out of part-time storefronts. For example, Tahlequah Foods Co-op, an Oklahoma operation, is made up of a self-described "scratching to get by" membership... in a town so rural that bears occasionally stroll down Main Street.

The simplest, most economical, and perhaps most truly "cooperative" manifestation of the food co-op movement is the small buying club. Such organizations are almost "invisible co-ops"... because they don't operate a storefront at all. Instead, the clubs consist of groups of people (sometimes as small as four families) who pool funds so that they can buy food in quantity.

If you're not already a member of a food co-op, look into the possibilities offered in your neighborhood. And if there isn't such an organization in operation, you may want to think about starting one. It's not always simple, but anytime people can get together to save themselves money, and have more control over their lives, it's usually worth the effort!

VALLEY BAND ON IT'S WAY: The "Pineapple Project" the TVHS Band members chose to get them on their way to St. Louis to participate in the University of Missouri's "Gateway Concert Band Festival" is almost completed. The sale of pineapples began February 10th, by 43 band students has been a big success. Their band director Kim Metcalf stated that the students had sold 350 cases of pineapples-1750 to be exact, at a price of $3.95. Of that amount the student got 95 cents credited to his band account and Mr. Metcalf matched each 95 cents with a 5 cent donation of his own, so the band account has over $1700 ready and waiting for April 16th to roll around.

Band members Ed Rose and Bill Cornell, members of the band are shown helping unload the pineapples from the Pineapple America delivery truck.

It is still possible to order the fresh pineapple (only 48 hours from picking to delivery) if you are interested. You may call 893-7221 or 353-7888 to order. (News Photo)

Claypool scene of train derailment

A 17-car Con Rail train derailed last Saturday morning that blocked the railroad crossing in the town of Claypool for three and one-half hours caused quite a bit of excitement in that small rural town.

The derailment occurred at 8:06 a.m. on the north-south tracks, approximately a mile north and three-fourths of a mile south of Co. Rd. 550 South, just east of State Road 15.

The 17 cars which derailed were part of a 139 car north-bound train loaded primarily with auto and truck parts, county police reported. No toxic chemicals were being carried and there were no injuries.

ConRail officials had given no cause for the derailment as laboratory results had not yet been received.

Clean-up crews were on the scene all day Saturday and most of Sunday. The tracks were clear enough to allow another train past at approximately 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Traffic in Claypool was completely stopped for about three and one-half hours Saturday as the rear of the train extended more than a mile beyond the derailment. The 17 cars derailed were behind eight cars attached to the engine of the train.

Loss of arm . . . . only temporary setback

By Brad Ellis and Jerry Landrum

Editor's Note: Brad Ellis and Jerry Landrum, directors of the Mentone Youth For Christ Basketball League, compiled this story after witnessing the inspirational comeback of Ron Shewman.

For the Beaver Dam United Methodist basketball team, the season is over. But for Ron Shewman, it's just starting. You see, he is learning to shoot right-handed.

Shewman, a member of the Beaver Dam team that plays in the Mentone Youth For Christ league, lost his left arm in a farm auger accident last December. But, incredibly, Shewman, who was left-handed, missed only one of his team's games, taking to the court less than one month after the accident.

"I've always been left-handed, now I just figured I needed to learn to play with my right hand," explained Shewman understanding the amazing transition made by the former Tippecanoe Valley High School football stand-out.

The accident occurred on Dec. 7. It was early evening, around 6:30, and Ron Shewman and a friend, Jack Burke, were doing the nightly chores that they have done for years. Then in a horrifying second, Ron got his arm caught in the farm auger which immediately began to eat away the flesh and bone in his left arm.

With the help of Burke, Shewman was able to free himself and saw that the machine had damaged the middle of his forearm to his elbow, leaving his hand and fingers intact. Burke rushed him to Woodlawn Hospital in Rochester. It was decided there was little to be done for him there, so he was transferred via ambulance to Kosciusko Community Hospital.

The time was 8 p.m. and by then, Shewman had lost all feeling and motor control in his forearm and hand. Upon examination, he was told there was no way to save his arm, that the only course was to take the arm at the elbow.

After being in the hospital two weeks and going through a series of four major operations, on the night of Jan. 5, only 30 days after the accident, Ron Shewman was back on the basketball court for Beaver Dam United Methodist. He scored two points in that contest while playing his usual aggressive, all-out defense.

"I laid on my back for two weeks and got bored, so I figured I have got two good legs and one good arm. I want to keep in shape," Shewman said. "I'm just lucky to be alive and not permanently crippled."

Those who know Shewman probably are not surprised by his quick and determined return to sports. As a football player at Valley, the hard-working Shewman started for three years. In his senior year, Valley reached the 1977 Class A playoff finals and he was named first team all-state linebacker.

"Sports has always been a big part of my life and Coach (Charlie) Smith has been a big influence on me and I think some of that determination comes from him," said Shewman. "He always told us that if you could look yourself in the mirror and know that you gave 100 percent, win or lose, you had nothing to be ashamed of. I really think that somehow I was being prepared for this situation by things I did earlier—sports and hard work go hand in hand."

Shewman, who was averaging 10 points per game before the accident, played in eight games following the mishap, scoring 33 points for a 4.1 average. Amazingly, he made five of seven free throws with his new shooting hand following the accident.

His team was eliminated from the league tourney this week, but it is a good bet that Shewman will be perfecting his right-handed shooting this summer in preparation for next year's play.

Mishler files for State Representative in 22nd District

Bremen, Ind.—Gregory Mishler, 35, a Bremen funeral director and long time member of the business community, announced today that he will seek the Republican nomination for State Representative in the new 22nd District. The 22nd District consists of 3 townships in Marshall County, 7 townships in Kosciusko County and 5 townships in Wabash County.

Not a newcomer to politics, Mishler was recruited in 1980 by the 18th District G.O.P. leadership to fill a vacancy created by ill health. He accepted the candidacy for the 18th District House Seat on August 1, 1980, three months prior to the general election. His opponent, three term incumbent G. Edward Cook (D), Plymouth, won the election in a hard fought contest. Commenting on the brief race against Cook, Mishler stated, "It was a tremendous opportunity to get my feet wet and learn the ropes in conducting a campaign for a state level office. We accomplished a great deal in a very short period of time, but now we are looking at a brand new district with no incumbents." Mishler received strong endorsements in 1980 by then Governor Otis R. Bowen and Lt. Governor Robert Orr and attributes much of the closeness of the 1980 race to their tremendous support and confidence.

Mishler served on the 1972 and 1976 committees to elect and re-elect Governor Bowen, a fellow Bremenite. He feels the exposure working with the Bowen Campaigns kindled his extreme interest in the political process. He states, "There could never be a finer example of a good, conscientious politician and human being than Doc."

In June, 1981, Mishler was appointed by Speaker of the House, J. Roberts Dailey to serve on the Legislative Interim Study Committee on Nursing and Retirement Homes. That committee met the entire summer and proposed various fines and sanctions for nursing home deficiencies within the facilities and health care areas. They also dealt with the protection of investments by senior citizens entering retirement homes. He feels the committee assignment was a great asset in learning some of the processes involved in serving as a legislator.

Mishler is a strong proponent of the Property Tax Relief Program and feels some top priorities of the General Assembly should be getting 270,000 Hoosiers back to work. He also feels adopting accelerated depreciation practices would be one excellent method in assisting the agricultural community, business, and industry. He also believes certain tax exemptions on interest earned from personal savings accounts would be another excellent stimulant for the Hoosier Economy. He feels the next couple of years are going to be very crucial ones for the General Assembly. "The sagging state revenues, due to the high unemployment, are creating tremendous headaches for members of the legislature." He also feels the "New Federalism" program proposed by the Reagan Administration will create many great challenges for the legislature during the next 8-10 years and says, "I most definitely wish to be a part of that challenge."

Mishler is a Kosciusko County native and has owned the Mishler Funeral Home at Bremen for 13 years. He is married to the former Brenda Schramm and they have one son, Ryan (age 13), a student in the Bremen Public Schools. He is a graduate of Milford High School and the Indiana College of Mortuary Science, Indianapolis. Mishler is also a member of the Board of Directors of Bremen Glas, Inc., a Bremen company

Hickle to run for Sheriff

Thomas G. Hickle, Rt. 1, Kewanna, has announced that he will seek the office of Sheriff in Fulton County on the Democratic ticket.

He is a lifetime resident of Fulton County and a member of the Kewanna United Methodist Church. Tom has been active in scouting, 4-H, Saddle Club and sports. He is a graduate of Kewanna High School.

Hickle was a volunteer ambulance driver for the Kewanna

EMT group. He has been employed with McGill Manufacturing Company of Culver, Kewanna Implement Co., worked as a deputy for Fulton County Sheriff's department. He resigned end of June to devote more time to farming and has been engaged in farming for the past six years.

Hickle says his main goal as Sheriff would be to have close contact with the public at all times. He believes an important aspect of a county official is to gain the support and respect of the public by letting them know, "we are working for you and with you."

St. Patrick's Day

St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, died on March 17, 493. The anniversary of his death has been celebrated for centuries not only by Irishmen but by those of other races, and not only by Catholics but by those of other faiths.

In fact, the New York organization in memory of St. Patrick, the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, was organized by both Irish Catholics and Presbyterians, and its first president was a Presbyterian.

The most famous tale about St. Patrick is the one which tells of his banishment of snakes from Ireland. Yet Cardinal Moran, who some years ago wrote an article on St. Patrick for the Catholic Encyclopedia, fails to mention it. He does mention the ordeal of St. Patrick when he was surrounded by demons in the shape of vultures, and tells of the drowning of the demons in answer to his prayers.

Whatever the tale, and there are those who believe several different versions, a great number of people enjoy celebrating the anniversary of the death of St. Patrick, in the middle of this month, every year.

Irishmen, particularly, take pride in the occasion, and on some occasions in the past they have even brought pieces of the "ould sod" from Ireland to observe the occasion.

March Presidents

Four early American presidents were born in March.

James Madison, fourth U.S. president, was born at Port Conway, Virginia, on the 16th in 1751. Madison steered the nation through the War of 1812 with England successfully (having been secretary of state before becoming president) and helped found the University of Virginia.

Andrew Jackson, seventh president and known as Old Hickory, was born near the South Carolina-North Carolina border March 15, 1767. He once threatened to use force if one or more states seceded. He was the hero of the victory at New Orleans over the British and when he took office a herd of common people moved into Washington, and some into the White House. He was a controversial (especially in financial affairs) but successful president.

Grover Cleveland, the only president to serve two terms interspaced with four years out of office, was the 22nd and 24th president, being born on the 18th in Caldwell, New Jersey, in 1837. Cleveland was a man of character and a statesman. Having opposed the free coinage of silver, he left office in 1897 somewhat unpopular but time vindicated his wisdom.

John Tyler, 10th U.S. president, was born at Greenway, Virginia, on the 29th in 1790. Tyler was the first Vice President to move into the White House because of the death of a president, William Henry Harrison, in 1841. He broke with the Whigs, however, and was not renominated by them in 1844. He voted for secession years later when Virginia seceded from the Union and was elected to the Confederate House but died before he took his seat, in 1862.

A CORPORATE TAKEOVER OF AMERICAN POLITICS?

by Philip M. Stern

The directors of the Mobil Oil Company are gathered around the boardroom table. The question: whether to buy up yet another oil company. One of the directors—a big-thinking Texan—became restive.

"How much you fellows reckon this li'l ole company's gonna cost?"

"At least six billion, J.R. Maybe eight."

"And what do you figure will be the return on our money?"

"Somewhere between eighteen and twenty-four percent, J.R."

"Hell. We don't need to spend any six to eight billion. I know a way we can spend a piddling couple of million—and get a five hundred percent return on our money—maybe a thousand percent, who knows?"

"How would you go about that, J.R.?"

"Just by going out and buying us a couple of Congressmen and a few Senators."

"Buying them, J.R.? You mean with bribes?"

"Shoot, no. That's crude. I mean put some of the company money into their campaigns."

"But you can't use company money for that, J.R. That's against the law—has been since 1907."

"Not since last week. The Supreme Court took care of that. Ruled that old law violated the free speech rights of corporations. Now we can dip into the company treasury any way we want."

"That's great, J.R., but aren't we limited to a thousand dollars per campaign, just like people are?"

"Not if we give money without talking to the candidate. If we do it that way, the sky's the limit. I tell you fellows, it's a new day for us. Why do y'all want to spend six or eight billion dollars when just a teensy fraction of that will buy the whole cotton-pickin' Congress?"

"If that sounds like pure fantasy, think again. For it could well happen—and soon. A small corporation in Athens, Georgia, has filed a lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of the law that for nearly 75 years now has prohibited corporations from taking money out of the company treasury and putting it into political campaigns. The lawsuit argues, just as J.R. said, that corporations ought to be treated as "natural persons," with the same free-speech rights as other people.

But a corporation, far from being a "natural person," is nothing but a legal entity and a creature of the state. Even if you ignore that fact, the question remains: who is this corporate "person"? The chairman? The president? The board of directors?

More importantly, whose money would they be spending? The shareholders' money, certainly; but also, in part, customers' money, that contributed to the corporate profits. Who has a right to speak for all those people, to decide which candidate or cause to support? Does anyone have that right? Do you want the president of General Motors making political decisions for you, just because you bought a GM car, or happen to own a share of the company's stock?

Whatever the merits of the case one thing is clear: if the Court rules that corporations do have the right to dig into corporate coffers and pour profits into political campaigns, the face of American politics will be radically changed. Just think about the billions that Mobil Oil and DuPont and U.S. Steel have had available to buy up other companies. J.R. was absolutely right: with a tiny fraction of that, they could buy the whole Congress.

It's a frightening thought. Yet the Court has been sliding in that direction. And this case could come before it soon. Watch for it: the Athens Lumber case.

A li'l ole company from Athens, Georgia could revolutionize American politics.

Lawrence D. Bell Museum dedication announced

Dedication of the Lawrence D. Bell Aviation Museum in Mentone will be held on Sunday, June 6. The dedication will kick off Centennial activities planned for the week of June 6-12.

Once again, Mentone museum officials are hoping that Charles Yeager, the retired United States Air Force Colonel who piloted the X-1 jet designed by aviation pioneer Lawrence Bell and broke the sound barrier for the first time, will speak at the dedication. Bell, who is a native of Mentone, founded the Bell Aircraft Corporation in Buffalo, N.Y. prior to World War II and then established Bell Helicopter Company in Texas. Memorabilia of Bell will be displayed in the museum.

Col. Yeager is currently a technical advisor in the making of an aviation movie, "The Right Stuff." The movie may contain parts about Bell and his company. The filming began last week and will continue through August. Producers of this new movie also made the box-office hit, "Rocky."

Thanks to R.J. (Bob) Hill, a Bell Museum official and Mentone resident, for this information.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
One year ago this month, the President of the United States was nearly killed with a "Saturday Night Special." Thank God President Reagan survived.

But during this past year over 20,000 other Americans were shot with handguns. They were not as fortunate as the President. They died.

It's easy to blame the politicians in Congress who should be doing something to stop America's handgun violence. But the Congress works for us. What have we done? What have you done?

The gun lobbyists are puny compared to us. Polls show that nine in ten Americans want tougher handgun laws. But the politicians hear from the gun zealots every day. It's time they heard from us.

Our goal is to find ONE MILLION AMERICANS who care enough about handgun violence to stop it. And if becoming ONE MILLION STRONG isn't enough, we'll find ten million more until our handgun laws are strengthened. And if Congress won't change the law, we'll change the Congress.

Every time a John Lennon or a Ronald Reagan is shot, America is called a sick society. A handful of kooks doesn't make us a sick society. But what is sick is for the rest of us to let this handgun violence continue.

You can do something to stop America's handgun violence. Contact us. We'll show you how.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

SUNDAY
Sunday is a good day. It is a day set aside to worship. I was taught to not buy or sell on Sunday. We went to Church and Sunday School. Mother fixed most of the Sunday dinner on Saturday, what dinner we had. How we did enjoy those dinners. We ate what was left over for supper. By six o'clock we were back at the church for youth meeting and Sunday night church. Every fourth Sunday the preacher came home with us for the noon dinner. That was a great privilege. He told stories of his early life. Just before he left, we would all gather into a circle and the preacher would pray. Then to church.

We all wore our best to church. We loved Sundays. It was there we met our friends and boys and girls got together. We had special programs, lots of music, anniversaries, 50th wedding celebrations. And could the preacher preach. At least you felt like you had been to church. It almost makes you allergic to some of the things passed off as sermons nowadays. The Bible and Christ were the center of their sermons.

This winter we missed three Sundays due to the weather, and I will miss today because I am in the hospital. I am writing this in the lobby of Ball Hospital, 10th floor, at 2:30 a.m. I was to preach three times today. Someone will take my place. If I get my new hip, I will make up the back services, I love Sundays. I go to Church and I am glad!

"TAKE MY YOKE UPON YOU..."

The Lord always used things with which people were familiar in order to bring forth spiritual truths. Everyone knew that a yoke was used to join two animals (usually oxen) together to the shaft of the plow by a yoke which was around the breast of each. It was always a double yoke.

In order to be yoked to Christ, we must come unto Him as sinners. His invitation is still good today but time is running out before the Tribulation judgment sets in on a world still in its sins and rejecting Christ. So, His arms are outstretched and His voice is pleading for He is "not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance." (2 Ptr. 3:9) Hear Him calling: "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." (Matt. 11:28) He is able to save them to the uttermost (forever) that come unto God by Him." (Heb. 7:25) "...and him that cometh to me, I will in no wise cast out." (Jn. 3:37) And when you say, "I come to you, Lord, I am a sinner, please save me!," you are born again and are yoked to Christ and are a part of His body, the Church.

Now the people in those days were burdened with such high taxes that they could only eke out a meager living even though they worked from sun-up to sun-down; ineffective religion was a burden; and the yoke of slavish obedience to the old Mosaic Law was a heavy one to the Jewish people. Through physical burdensome yokes, Jesus was trying to say that sin weights one down. It is heavy within you bringing darkness into your life, making it one of despair, hate, wars within your mind, selfishness, meanness, unhappiness, and the like. When one receives Jesus into his heart, he is freed from all that; for "If the Son therefore shall make you free (from sin), ye shall be freed indeed." (Jn. 8:36)

Jesus tells the next step after sins are removed and peace and rest are given. "Take My yoke upon you and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For, my yoke is easy and my burden is light." (Matt. 11:29-30)

When two oxen pull together, the burden is light; but when one of the oxen wants to go his own way and pulls against the other, the yoke chafes and galls him. Our own selfish and sinful ways will hurt us for the ways of Jesus are right, not that of the devil and sin. Furthermore, "Can two walk together except they be agreed?" (Amos 3:3)

Also, as a carpenter, Jesus knew that if the yoke were too heavy, the oxen would be so uncomfortable that they could not work.

Truly, the burden of a dedicated and obedient Christian's life is light for Jesus has taken on Himself the heavy part of it. He has lightened our yokes by conquering the devil so that we, too, might be conquerors through the Lord. We can overcome the devil with the blood of the Lamb (asking forgiveness, of sins) and by using the words of the Bible. (Rev. 12:11) By reading, studying, and hearing the words of the and hearing the words of His Bible, we learn of Jesus and our yoke is one of doing His will; and this is light because we love Him. Jesus is the light of the world and He gives us light, too; for with His Holy Spirit inside us there is no darkness but only love, peace, joy, goodness, etc., and these are light yokes. Our Lord has overcome the world for us, too. All our needs are supplied (Phil. 4:19); when we are weak, He gives us strength (Ps. 27:1 and Phil. 4:13); if we need wisdom, He will give it to us liberally (Jas. 1:5); in sorrow, we have a comforter (1 Thess. 4:13-18); there is nothing to fear (2 Tim. 1:7); we can count on Him when we are facing danger (Ps. 91); and, in fact, just cast all your care-everything upon Him for He careth for you. (1 Ptr. 5:7).

Charles P. Jones used this scripture in composing his song, "Come Unto Me." "Hear the blessed Savior calling the oppressed, 'O ye heavy laden, come to Me and rest; Come, no longer tarry, I, your load will bear. Bring Me every burden, bring Me every care.' Come unto Me: I will give you rest; TAKE MY YOKE UPON YOU, HEAR ME AND BE BLESSED! I am meek and lowly. Come and trust My might; Come, My yoke is easy, and... My burden is light."

While everyone's health is endangered by lengthy exposure to very cold temperatures that can occur in the winter months, older people are particularly vulnerable, according to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). Even mildly cool temperatures of 60 to 65 degrees can trigger a condition known as accidental hypothermia, a drop in deep body temperature that can prove fatal if it is not detected and treated properly. To combat this condition HEW recommends that all older people, especially those over 75, should avoid prolonged exposure to even mild cold. A room temperature of 70 degrees is suggested along with the wearing of adequate clothing.

In addition, says HEW, people taking medication to treat anxiety, depression, nervousness or nausea should consult with their physician to determine if the drug is a phenothiazine. These drugs hamper the body ability to regulate temperature. Finally, susceptible individuals should try not to be alone for too long or should ask neighbors to look in on them daily, particularly after a cold night.

The Akron Keen-Agers invite all senior citizens to join us for a well balanced meal and fellowship with your friends and neighbors. ## LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
My dining room table will seat eight people but my sister has written that she is bringing four people home for dinner. There are five of us here. How will I manage this?
D.N.--R.I.

Answer:
Serve your dinner buffet style and put up two card tables or use separate TV tables. People are much more casual in serving meals today than they were in the past.
Louisa

Dear P.B. (Colorado):
From the limited information you give, it's hard to offer advice. Generally speaking, though, it is wise and fair to date other boys if your boyfriend is dating other girls, and this will probably make you more attractive to him also. If that doesn't succeed, the other course almost surely would not have either.
Good Luck,
Louisa

Hoax involves State Police

Indiana State Police Superintendent John T. Shettle wishes to make citizens aware of a sales scheme circulating throughout various communities in the state.

The scheme is to approach, either by phone or in person, businesses and individuals and ask them to purchase advertising space in a "State Police Magazine", or contribute to a fund for widows and orphans of State Police officers.

The Indiana State Police does not have such a magazine that it sells advertising space in and does not authorize solicitation in its name. Widows and orphans of State Police officers are provided for by means of insurance and pension benefits.

If you are approached by someone asking for money for such purposes, obtain complete information and then call your nearest State Police District with the information.

New Fulton County Folks books going fast

Only a thousand copies of the new hard-cover book, "Fulton County Folks vol. 2," were printed, and almost half of them are sold already. This book has 668 pages and weighs five and a half pounds. It has 70 chapters on Fulton County history and families.

The book contains much that is of interest to people outside Fulton County as well. There are four stories about the Cole Brothers-Clyde Beatty, Circus in Rochester 1935-40. Jorgen Christiansen trained horses and other animals to perform in a Liberty act. History includes his trip through Russia in 1919 written in his own words. Al Bailey worked with circus elephants and tells exactly how to care for them, such as shaving them with a blow torch, Jack Morris of Akron supplied horses for several circuses. The Johnny Zoppe family still lives in Rochester and many of the Zoppe family members are still circus performers. Johnny Zoppe Jr. received top billing with his aerial act in the Ringling Circus in 1981.

Most of these family histories were never published before. They represent many years of work by dedicated persons who wanted to compile and publish a family genealogy.

One such dedicated researcher was Byron Hudkins of Kewanna. Byron became interested in gathering Hudkins history over 30 years ago. He began writing his Hudkins history in 1973, intending that it be included in "Fulton County Folks vol. 1." But ill health prevented his completing the history, and he died in 1977. His son John inherited the boxes of genealogy material Byron had amassed, and he and the editor of the book, Shirley Willard, finished Byron's story, so it could be printed in volume two.

Dr. Charles Richardson's story is that of a World War II doctor, written by his widow, Ruth. She kept a trunk full of his war papers and mementoes, enabling her to write a detailed and accurate history of his experiences. However, Ruth died last year and did not live to see the book published.

Oliver Powell was known as the Pacing Farmer. For over 60 years he raised horses on his farm near Green Oak and raced them. His horses set four world records: 1912, 1924, 1939, and 1950, but the name of the yearling that set the record c. 1912 has been lost and remains a mystery. Many old-timers recall seeing the horse set the record at the Rochester half mile track (now the oval drive at the city park) and that Ike Wile offered to buy the colt for $1500. But they all remember different names and none of them could be verified by the U.S. Trotting Association or any of the harness horse magazines that keep such records. The other three records are verified and two of them are still standing as unbroken records.

Spiritualism has a long history in Fulton County. Something about Lake Manitou seems to encourage seances on dark nights. A suspected murder was confirmed by old Doc Hoffman who tested a cake to see if it had poison in it by setting it on the floor for the mice to eat. The mice died so the cake must have been poisoned. This chapter of the book is very interesting to read.

These family histories are not just genealogy but county history as well. Walter Carpenter included a history of the Interurban in Akron in his story. Harry McPherron included memories of Richland Center School in his story. Lloyd Eherenman, another researcher who passed away before his story was printed, wrote about Talma. The Hizer and Herrold stories tell about Grass Creek.

Amplly illustrated with photos, the book also contains some unusual drawings. A diagram of the floor plan of Harrison Crabill's general store at Bruce Lake Station by Catherine Crabill Kough shows how the old time general store was usually arranged. The floor plan of a klavern of the Ku Klux Klan by Wade Bussert illustrates that hidden part of history.

A map of the long-gone town of Wagoner's Station by Fred Van Duyn is especially interesting because it lists all the people who lived in each house. Only a lone pine tree still stands on the site of this busy little village a half mile south of the Fulton-Miami county line. A map of Marstowntown by J. Herrold Lease gives an aerial perspective of the tiny town in Wayne Township.

This new book contains many chapters about Akron and Talma: Samuel Lane-Akron's Revolutionary Soldier, the Chippewanuck Medal, the Governor's Ancestor-Constant Bowen, Akron-The New Ark, That Busy Hoover Family, Talma-The Blooming Burg, Athens and Disko, and Joaquin Miller-Fulton County's Famous Poet.

Also chapters about the following families from Henry and Newcastle townships: Arter, Bowman, Carpenter, Churchill, Copen, Cutshall, Davis and Wilhoit, Dawson, Drudge, Eherenman, Feece, Hoover, Hosman, Leininger and Krause, Long, Neff, Powell, and Wagoner, Rittenhouse, Secor, Sippy, Smith, Whittenberger and Morris.

Perry E.H.C. have breakfast meeting

The Perry Home Improvement E.H.C. met at the Akron Snack Shoppe where a breakfast was enjoyed. Ruth Bammerlin and June Merley were the hostesses. Ruth gave thanks for the meal. Emma Burns was Lucky Lady. A business meeting was then held at June Merley's home.

Alice Teel presided. She read 3 poems as the devotional part of the meeting. Ruth led the group singing of "America" and "Happy Anniversary" to Emma Burns and Marie Nestleroad. Reports were given by Secretary, Arlene Gearhart, and Treasurer, Pauline Miller. Greetings from Marie Long and from Pauline Shoemaker were read. Roll call was answered by telling "How I spent my time when I was snow-bound."

Ruth Bammerlin brought the lesson on "Home Remedies." Marie Coon gave each lady a generic drug leaflet. Alice Teel brought the report from the County Council.

Coming events include District meeting, Past Presidents Luncheon and Achievement Day. A vote was taken on the choice of methods for honoring perfect attendance at meetings. Option 1 was the unanimous choice.

Alice will discuss a plan for entertaining the Hoosier Homemakers as she talks with their President at the Council.

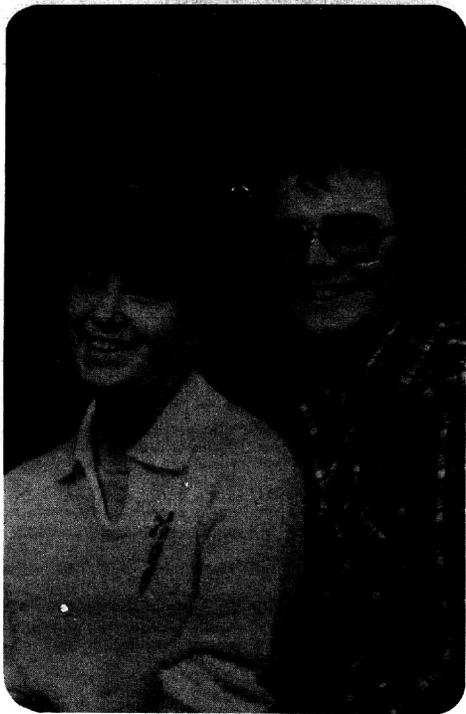

The new officers elected are: President, Lucille Personet; Co-Vice-Presidents, Alice Teel and Ruth Bammerlin; Secretary, Arlene Gearhart; and Treasurer, Pauline Miller.

Arlene auctioned some foods donated. The poem "You" was read to dismiss the group. Others present were guests: Pauline Ryman and Grace Waechter and members: Marie Berger, Faye Eaton, Arlene Gearhart, Helen Miller and Aurel Musselman.

Rogge files for State Representative

Wabash County native, Bill Rogge, announced last week his candidacy for Republican nomination for State Representative in the new 22nd District. Rogge is a retired teacher and coach who taught for 26 years in the Metropolitan School Corporation of Wabash County.

Bill believes that District 22 is a "good place where good people love to live," and people in the district deserve a State Representative who has time to work for the District - one who seeks no personal gains. He believes the District 22 Representative should successfully try to bring more jobs and economic growth for all.

Rogge has been a successful teacher and Sports Director-responsible, conservative -- and believes in working for a strong, free American economy and the preservation of the family farm. He thinks problems can best be solved locally, and that if government must be involved, it is important to use the most local level of government possible and use the government as a partner.

A sports broadcaster at local radio station W.K.U.Z., Wabash and North Manchester, he broadcasts Manchester, Northfield, Southwood and Wabash basketball and football games. He has been in this capacity for the past 18 years.

Bill is a U.S. Army veteran of World War II; a graduate of Manchester College, North Manchester, with a Bachelor of Science Degree; and a Master's Degree from Ball State University. He and his wife, Phyllis, have two daughters; Debbie, a Special Education teacher in Fort Wayne, and Marianne, a senior in college.

Marketing club

A marketing club is being formed in Fulton County to help members keep updated and informed on marketing farm commodities.

The first meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 10, in the basement of the PCA building. A film provided by the Chicago Board of Trade on hedging and futures will be shown. Wayne Esserman of Stotler Commodities at Delphi, Indiana, will also be present to give a presentation and answer any questions.

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Set up a system for filing coupons

By June Fuller

DEAR COUPON CLIPPER - My husband often does the shopping.

It used to be that he would rarely use the handful of coupons that I always gave him for the items on my shopping list.

Finally, I decided to stop getting angry and try to figure out how I could change his behavior.

The solution was easier than I thought, because my husband helped me set up a new system for filing our coupons. We took a large shoe box, made our own divider cards cut from cardboard and labeled them alphabetically.

Items we use frequently get their own divider card. For instance, here are the divider cards at the end of our shoe box: Van de Kamp, Vanilla, Vanish, Vegetables (canned), Vegetables (frozen), Vegetable Oil, Vinegar and Vitamins.

Our system works well for us because it is so flexible. We add and eliminate categories as necessary.

Our portable coupon file goes with us on shopping trips tucked in a tote bag. We wouldn't leave home without it.

Now when my husband goes to the supermarket alone, he gets such a kick out of using our filing system that he finds a coupon for nearly every grocery item he purchases.

Dimes and quarters add up. I hope that your other readers will be interested in our system.

Phyllis Koshewitz, Hollsopple, Pa.
DEAR PHYLLIS - I have found that most men are very good about using coupons once they have a "system" that makes sense to them. Your experience is a good example of how to do it.

Before sending your spouses to the supermarket with the coupon file, however, be sure to put your name, address and phone number on the outside of the box.

My smart shopper award goes to Mrs. E. Pecukonis of Norway, Maine. She found three large boxes of Cheerios, Corn Flakes and Rice Krispies marked down to 79 cents each in the damaged-merchandise cart.

"They were just a little squeezed," says Mrs. Pecukonis, "but the packages were unbroken. I had three 25-cent coupons, one for each, and this brought the cost down to $1.62."

"When I arrived home, I carefully peeled the proofs of purchase from the packages and sent for a Kellogg's $1 refund offer. So, the three large boxes cost me only 62 cents!"

Mrs. Pecukonis and other readers whose smart shopping experiences appear in this column receive a copy of the refunding publication, The National Supermarket Shopper. Write to me in care of this newspaper.

Here's a refund form to write for: L'Eggs Control Top Refund Offer, P.O. Box 4194, Monticello, Minn. 55365. This offer worth 50 cents to $2 expires May 31, 1982.

Weather causes accidents

Tuesday's snowfall in Kosciusko County caused a rash of automobile accidents—three of which resulted in minor injuries.

Warsaw police officers were busy investigating 10 auto accidents, while Kosciusko County police officers investigated three mishaps.

The personal injury accidents investigated as a result of the slippery conditions included:

•A Mishawaka youth was injured as a result of a two-vehicle accident at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday on State Rd. 15 at the Milford overheard pass north of Milford.

Clifton Johnson, 17, of Mishawaka, was treated and released from Goshen General Hospital after he received facial lacerations and neck pain.

Johnson's auto collided with the back end of a trailer being hauled by a truck driven by Jerry Yeiter, 24, Rt. S, Warsaw. Yeiter was not injured.

Both vehicles were northbound on State Rd. 15 when Yeiter attempted to make a right turn and Johnson struck the back end of the trailer. Damage was set at $2,500 to Johnson's auto and $400 to the Yeiter trailer, according to state police.

•A pickup truck driven by Aden L. Moore, 40, Rt. 2, Warsaw, slid on snow into a car operated by Mary E. McKinney, 29, Rt. 2, Warsaw, on County Rd. 100 South near State Rd. 15 at 3:28 p.m.

Mrs. McKinney complained of neck pain and Moore complained of head pain. They were examined at Kosciusko Community Hospital.

There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to McKinney's vehicle and less than $200 damage to Moore's truck.

•Barbara J. Miller, 35, of 714 Southside Dr., Warsaw, was traveling on North Lake Street when her car slid on snow and ice into a guard rail near North Union Street at 6:03 p.m.

A passenger in the Miller vehicle, Larry A. Reed, 12, of 714 Southside Dr., Warsaw, suffered a bruise on the head.

There was between $1,001 and $2,500 damage to the car operated by Miller.

Area police investigated the following property damage accidents Tuesday:

•Garry L. Smiley, 77, Rt. 5, Warsaw, was traveling north on Lake Street and when he started to proceed around the curve, his pickup truck slid into a guard rail near North West Street at approximately 9:54 a.m. When his truck came to a halt, he started to step out and his vehicle was bumped in the rear by a car operated by Donald K. Wiesehan, 32, Burket.

Smiley complained of neck pain, according to city police. There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to each vehicle, police reported.

•David G. Spangler, of Wabash, told city police that he observed the accident on Lake Street, so he stopped and backed up to make other drivers aware of the mishap. He stepped out of his car and started walking toward the accident when he observed a vehicle slide into his car. Dawn

M. Gable, 18, Warsaw, told city police she was proceeding around the curve, stepped on the brake pedal and her auto slid into Spangler's vehicle at 9:59 a.m.

Police cited Gable for false registration.

There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to each vehicle.

•Jack W. Layne Jr., 28, of 1918 Fox Farm Rd., Warsaw, started to turn right from Detroit Street onto Pope Street and his auto slid on ice into a vehicle occupied by David L. Montague, 44, Rt. 2, Warsaw. The mishap occurred at 11:15 a.m.

There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to Montague's vehicle, and less than $200 to Layne's auto, police reported.

•Phillip C. Brown, 40, Rt. 7, Warsaw, started to turn right just as David A. Shepherd, 16, of 615 West Center St., Warsaw, was passing on the right. The two vehicles collided on South Buffalo Street near Boydston Street at 4:35 p.m.

There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to each vehicle, according to police.

•Almost at the same time as the Buffalo Street mishap, a car operated by Kay M. Clune, 35, of 1510 Rivercrest Dr., Warsaw, slid off North Lake Street into a guardrail. There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to her vehicle, police said.

•C. Scott Drumm, 19, Rt. 2, Syracuse, told Warsaw police he attempted to avoid a collision with another vehicle, so he steered his truck over a curb. Just as he came to a halt, a car operated by John M. Hite, 25, Rt. 2, Claypool, slid into Drumm's vehicle.

There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to each vehicle, police reported.

•A truck operated by Harold L. Gelbaugh, 57, Rt. 9, Warsaw, slid into a car driven by Donna L. Bibler, 17, of 1814 Rd. 225 West, Warsaw, on Frontage Road at 7:20 p.m.

There was between $1,001 and $2,500 damage to Gelbaugh's truck, and between $200 and $1,000 damage to Bibler's car.

•A car driven by Sandra S. McKenzie, 33, Rt. 3, Warsaw, slid into a fence on Pierceton Rd., three miles west of Pierceton, at 12:15 p.m.

The driver said she pulled over to the right for oncoming traffic and snow and icy road conditions pulled her auto off the edge of the pavement. The vehicle slid across the road into a fence.

Damage was set between $200 and $1,000 to McKenzie's car and less than $200 to fence posts owned by Estena Swonger, Rt. 3, Warsaw.

•An auto driven by Henry E. Hershberger, 44, Rt. 1, LaGrange, slid into a guardrail at 11:30 a.m. at the State Rd. 15 and U.S. 30 intersection.

Damage was set between $200 and $1,000 to the auto, which was owned by Josey Bontrager, of Shipshewana. The guardrail had less than $200 damage.

"Gladys," said the boss, "who told you that you could neglect your office duties because I gave you an occasional kiss and pat?" "My attorney," replied Gladys.

A speed-fiend we know bought a new car painted red on one side and blue on the other. "What's the idea of doing your car up like that?" we asked. "It's fox when I get hauled up before the judges for speeding," said our young-man-in-a-hurry. "You ought to hear the witnesses contradicting one another."

"Don't you know what I mean when I hold up my arm," hollered the traffic cop as an old lady was about to cross the street against the lights. "I ought to," she replied. "I was a school teacher for twenty-five years."

"Mind nagging me a little? I'm starting to fall asleep." 20

Hillis asks for Senior participation

Washington, D.C.: 5th District Congressman Elwood H. (Bud) Hillis, has announced that he is accepting applications from 5th District residents who are interested in participating in the 1982 Congressional Senior Citizen Internship Program.

This special Washington internship was started by Hillis ten years ago. The goal is to bring active senior citizens to the nation's capital under the sponsorship of Congressional offices. While in Washington, the interns attend seminars and briefings by Congressional leaders and administration officials.

"The purpose of this program is to inform active senior citizens of the various government programs which directly affect older Americans," Hillis stated. "We have found this to be a very useful program and one which provides an excellent learning experience for the interns."

In order to qualify for the internship, an individual must be at least 65 years old and a resident of the current 5th Congressional District. In addition, a physician's certificate attesting to the individual's good health is also required.

"We are looking for a person who has been active in senior citizen activities," Hillis said. "We think it is very important for the person chosen to be someone who is willing to go back to his or her community and share the information they have gained."

To apply for the program, a letter must be sent to Hillis' Washington Office by March 15. That letter should state the applicant's activities and background in senior citizen programs. Two letters of recommendation should accompany the letter of application. Hillis' Washington address is: 2336 Rayburn HOB, Washington, D.C. 20515.

OLD-TIME BEAUTY SECRETS

For centuries, herbs were the main source of beauty aids... then along came the big cosmetic companies, and the world of beauty was swamped with (sometimes dangerous) chemicals. Lately, however, as we rediscover organic recipes, homegrown herbs, fruits, and vegetables have found their way back onto many makeup tables.

Shirley Sipp sent us an interesting list of beauty tips that her grandmother had once written out for her daughter (Shirley's aunt).

We're passing her collection of old-time dressing-table advice along to you:

IN THE MORNING: Mix a handful of oatmeal with enough spring water to make a paste, and put this mixture on your face and neck. When it dries, rinse the paste off with whey, then with water, and dry your skin with a soft rag.

AT NIGHT: Rub a mixture of honey and glycerin onto your face, then wipe it off gently—after a while—with a soft cloth.

ONCE A WEEK: Add a teaspoon of honey to one mashed apple, mix them together, and put this "cream" on your face and neck. Leave it in place for half an hour, and then rinse with whey or cold milk.

TO HEAL CHAPPED HANDS: Rub them with damp table salt.

FOR BRIGHT HAIR: Add vinegar to the rinse water after washing your hair, or make a rinse of mullein, nettle, sage, or burdock tea.

TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR: Boil an ounce of chamomile or sage in a quart of water for 20 minutes. Rinse your hair with this brew, and use a hairbrush dipped in strong chamomile or sage tea.

FOR A RELAXING BATH: Hang a bag of dried comfrey or rosemary in the bath water.

FOR PERFUME: Fill a jar with pressed rose petals (or any sweet-scented flowers), add as much glycerin as the container will hold, and cover it tightly. After three weeks, you can pour the perfume off into a bottle.

TO MAKE A SACHET: Combine one ounce each of powdered cloves, caraway seed, nutmeg, mace, and cinnamon with six ounces of powdered orrisroot. Put the mixture in fancy bags and place them in closets and dresser drawers.

FOR SOFT HANDS: Shake a half cup of glycerin, a half cup of rose water, and a quarter cup of witch hazel in a jar. Apply this to your hands after they've been in water.

Most beauty-conscious grandmas foraged or grew many of their ingredients. But if you don't have your own garden, you can often find the natural aids in health food stores, supermarkets, and pharmacies... or even growing wild along the roadside.

Ms. Sipp says she's started to use some of her grandmother's old-time recipes and has found that comfrey does make a nice skin softener... while oatmeal leaves the skin silky and is especially good on oily teenage complexions.

However, a word of caution: Anyone can be allergic to almost anything, so check out any unfamiliar substance before you rub it all over yourself. To do this, just place a small amount on the tender skin of your inner arm, and cover the area with an adhesive bandage. Then wait 24 hours and have a look. If the patch shows any reaction, such as redness or obvious irritation... that ingredient just isn't for you.

Rochester defeats Valley in sectional

By Jerry Kindig II

Spurred by uncanny 69 percent field goal shooting, the Rochester Zebras defeated Tippecanoe Valley 74-57 during the first round of action at the Triton Sectional Wednesday evening.

Outscored 8-19 in the initial quarter, the Valley squad found itself in a hole that it couldn't climb out of. The Zebras only increased their lead by one as the Vikings almost doubled their first period scoring output during the last section of the half, 35-23.

Valley pulled within 10 on four different occasions but were never allowed to break the double figure barrier in third period action. After the Vikings were brought within 10 for the last time by Todd Leckrone with a long jump shot, 43-33, Rochester sent the ball through the bucket nine unanswered points and ended Valley's hopes for a comeback.

The Zebras took command in the fourth quarter and, leading by as much as 21 points, coasted to an impressive 74-57 victory which ended the Valley season at 6-15.

Senior Todd Leckrone led the Vikings as he did during most of the season, with 18 points on eight field goals and two free throws. After missing 2 1/2 games due to an injured foot, Andy Alsbaugh, along with point-guard Jeff Webb, were next in line with 10 points each. Valley missed the services of forward Pat Lafferty as he twisted an ankle during practice.

The Zebra duo of Aaron Hoover and John King were the significant factor in the contest as they combined for 50 points and 18 rebounds. Hoover with 19 and King with 19 were the only Z's in double figures.

Looking ahead to next season, Valley will lose three seniors, Don Studebaker, Todd Leckrone and Ray Davis. The Vikes will have returning at least seven players who have started at various times during the season. With these factors and an excellent coaching staff, a winning record is just around the corner.

Mentone School plans Science Fair

The students in grades 1 through 8 at Mentone School will be getting projects ready for their Science Fair during the month of March.

Students in grades 4-8 are required to do a project for the fair, while students in grades 1-3 may participate if they wish.

Although these projects are being done through the school, the school is encouraging parents to help their child with the science project. Most of the project should be done at home.

Information can be obtained from the classroom teachers or Mrs. Brumfield, junior high science teacher.

The projects will be judged prior to March 24 to select finalists. From the finalists picked, the winners will go to the Fort Wayne Regional Science Fair.

Projects will be on display at the school on Thursday and Friday, March 25 and 26, during parent-teacher conferences.

4-H'ers learn skills

Owning an animal brings with it an obligation to learn to keep it healthy. In the 4-H Veterinary Science and Dog Care and Training programs, conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, young people are learning a broad range of skills.

4-H'ers in the dog care and training program supported by the Purina Dog Foods Group, Ralston Purina Company, learn about more than 100 breeds of dogs in America and how to choose a dog most appropriate for their special pet. They learn proper care and training techniques to increase their understanding of what's involved in making their pet healthy and a well-adjusted family member.

The Fulton County 4-H Dog workshops will begin March 16 at 7:30, Community Building at the Fairgrounds. Any child ages 10-18 interested in 4-H and the dog obedience project is welcome to attend.

Update class lists for A.H.S. reunion

It takes a lot of interest and a lot of people to help get ready for the "Old Grad's" reunion which is being sponsored again this year for graduates of Akron High School, by the Kappa Delta Phi Sorority.

The addresses for approximately 2000 graduates of Akron are on the class lists, so it is a big job to update addresses for all these people. Helping with the update this year are people in the community who have made and are making lots of phone calls and talking with a lot of people to get the new addresses and check on old ones.

Helping with the lists for 1908-1911 and 1913 - 1919 is Kate Jennings; 1912 - Cora Coplen; 1920 - Marie Hand; 1921 - Lamoin Hand; 1922 - Selena Gerig; 1923 - Treva Klein; 1924 - Thelma Barnett; 1925 - Joe Day; 1926 - Trella Bastian; 1927-1932 - Alma Haupt; 1928 - Helen Nichols; 1929 - Juanita Boswell; 1930 - Lonzo Meredith; 1931 - Esther Smith; 1933 - Emelyn Fites; 1934 - Elizabeth Gray; 1935 - Dale Sheetz; 1936 - Irene Baber; 1937 - Mary Irene Rager; 1938 - Mary Louise Drudge; 1939 - Dick Drudge; 1940 - Alice McFarland; 1941 - Shirley Craig; 1942 - Gloria Bowen; 1943 - Jackie Groninger; 1944 - Mary Ann Cox; 1945 - Norma Jean Burns; 1946 - Iva Van Doren; 1947 - Marion Hunter; 1948 - Shirley Gray; 1949 - Bob Runkle.

MENTONE GAZETTE, JANUARY 10, 1891
EXPLORED A WONDERFUL CAVE

The Mummified Remains of Prehistoric Men Discovered.
The wonders of Hundred Dome cave, which lies about six miles east of Mammoth cave in Kentucky are destined to produce a sensation when they shall have been known to the world. Peter Brizendine, of Litchfield writes concerning it as follows:

"In connection with some gentlemen from New York, who are here buying asphaltum lands, I have explored some of the noted caves of this (Edmonson) county. Yesterday I explored what is known as the Hundred Dome cave, about six mile east of Mammoth cave. In it I found undoubted evidence of a race of human beings of a great antiquity. In niches of the cave I counted over 200 mummified skeletons or bodies of what must have been a large and superior race of men, evidently dating back beyond Adam and the Garden of Eden many thousands of years. The bodies were in excellent state of preservation and I intend to remove about ten of them to Boston for the benefit of the scientific world. The Hundred Domes cave is one of the greatest curiosities in the known world. As its name implies, it consists of hundreds of domes in some places over 100 feet in height. Beautiful pillars of alabaster, and stalagmites and stalactites add to the embellishment. Then there is a vast subterranean lake fed by a subterranean river of many miles in extent. The lake is filled with eyeless fish and eyeless turtles. I have secured several specimens, which I now have in a tank at the house of T.B. McBeatts, the circuit judge of this district. Litchfield, Kentucky, is his address. Dr. Woods, the postmaster at Litchfield, Kentucky, near here, and M.J. Cunningham of Cannon, and Cunningham, merchants of Litchfield, accompanied me on my tour of exploration of these ancient caves, and will cheerfully testify to all the facts above mentioned."

MENTONE GAZETTE, SATURDAY, JANUARY 17, 1891
"Black Beauty" is the name of a book published by the American Humane Education Society, of Boston. It is frequently called the "Uncle Tom's Cabin of the Horse" and it is attracting fully as much attention in this country as did its name sake. Three hundred thousand copies have already sold. Every horse-owner should read it. Send 12 cents to Geo. T. Angell, Boston, for a copy.

MENTONE GAZETTE, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1891
There is a family in Mentone consisting of seventeen members, including the old man and woman, all of whom are said to be web-footed.--WALKERTON INDEPENDENT

Just because we once inadvertently referred to the Independent Editors diet of frogs, he has, with a green-eyed persistency, labored assiduously for over two years to convince the world that Mentone is located in a tadpole bottle, when the facts are that this is the finest section of farming country in northern Indiana. Newspaper men, especially, should never cultivate a jealous spirit.

MENTONE GAZETTE, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1891
POWER OF WILL

The influence of a powerful will in arresting or retarding the progress of a disease apparently fatal is one of the most wonderful of all mental phenomena. A person of feeble frame, but of a determined and hopeful spirit, sometimes keeps death at bay for weeks, months,--even years, and finally, in defiance of the physicians who have sat in judgment on his case and pronounced it utterly hopeless, recovers and returns to his customary vocations. On the other hand, a man strong of physique but infrequently wilts and dies under a comparatively controllable ailment simply from a lack of the mental energy which enables the strong-willed weakling to repel the Destroyer.

Andrew Jackson, when physically a wreck and carrying lead enough in him to kill a weak man, was able to by the force of his will, to triumph over disease and at the same time hold a regiment of mutinous soldiers in check.

With a cheerful disposition, indomitable resolution and courage and a firm trust in the Being who helps those who help themselves, it is astonishing to what extent the gravest physical evils can be ameliorated, and how often they may be overcome.

(On this date, the name of our local newspaper changed. I haven't been able to find any notification of reason for the change because the ownership was still held by Mr. C. M. Smith.)

TRI-COUNTY GAZETTE, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1891
EPITAPH OF A MR. PECK

An English journal complacently prints the following ingenious lines:
"Here lies a Peck which some must say
Was first of all a Peck of clay;
This, wrought with skill divine, while fresh,
Became a curious Peck of flesh.
Through various forms its Maker ran,
Then adding breath, made Peck a man.
Full fifty years Peck felt life's bubbles,
Until death relieved Peck of his troubles;
Then fell poor Peck, as all things must.
And here he lies, a Peck of dust.

He moved back to Akron a little over two years ago from Wauseon, Ohio, where he was employed as an engineering we have and spend more money on education since buildings don't educate our children.

supervisor for United Telephone.

He and his wife Linda, an employee of United Telephone in Warsaw, have a daughter, Jennifer, 10, who is a fourth grade student at Akron School.

The family are members of St. Johns Lutheran Church, Rochester.

CHARLES DRUDGE

canoe Valley School Board from Henry Township.

He is a lifetime resident of Akron and a 1968 graduate of Akron High School. He graduated from Purdue University in 1973 with a B. S. degree in forestry. Charles works at Sonoco Paper Products in Akron as a cost analyst.

"I would like to see a greater emphasis on their understanding of our economic system and would like to see us increase our emphasis on the learning of the trades."

"My ideas on taxes may sound true but is simple truth; we need to hold tax rates as low as possible while still providing our school system with good facilities and quality personnel. This requires the outlay of money from all of us, but if we spend it wisely, we can keep our taxes at a reasonable rate."

"If elected, I would make this simple promise: to study each issue very carefully and have my decision not on what's best for one area or group of people but on what's best for the education of ALL of our children."

DON SNIPES

Presently a two term member of the Board of Trustees of Tippecanoe Valley School Corp. and running for a third term, Don Snipes, Rt. 5, Rochester, filed for a position on the board from Newcastle Township.

Mentone police to get new radio

The Mentone Town Board members, during their regular March meeting in Town Hall, gave approval for the Police Department to purchase a new 4-channel radio for the department's use. The estimate on cost for the new Motorola radio was given as $4,300., including parts and installation. Police Chief John Hart stated he was told it might take six months from the time the order is placed until delivery. He was asked to check of a trade-in value on the old radio.

Town Clerk Kate Whetstone, was asked to send letters of thanks to Manwarings and Richard Dickerhoff for the use of their equipment in hauling away the snow this winter.

Board members gave permission to replace the doors on the town pump house, instructing Steve Shand, department superintendent, to get prices on steel doors and jamba. He was instructed to contact Secrist for the installation.

Discussion took place on the blacktopping project of Mentone streets this spring. The trustees refused all bids submitted last fall as the bids did not state specific costs for hourly charges on equipment usage. The decision was made to send specifications to several companies in the area and have them submit estimates on the work to be done before the board decides on the correct action to be taken to get the work done.

In other action the board:
•gave permission to have town truck repaired, on the request of Shand.

•gave approval for a contract to be drawn-up between the board and Joe Miller for mowing the cemetery and park this summer.

•noted a complaint about a clogged drain.

•gave permission for the lights on the snowplow to be replaced at a cost of $30 each.

Chamber reviews many problems

The Board of Directors of the Akron Chamber of Commerce met last week with several interested business people to discuss the possibility of contacting a business or industry which would be interested in locating in Akron, as a first step to be taken in the search for an industry to move into the building being vacated by Chamberlin Products. It was suggested board members contact Mr. John Bruce, President of Automotive Products Division of United Technology in Dearborn, Michigan to ask for help in locating businesses who might be interested in the building set-up and the work force available in the Akron area. Chamberlin Products has, in recent years, employed approximately 140 people.

Charles Miller, a town board representative, stated he would be willing to make an appointment to talk with Indiana Lt. Governor Mutz, and bring up the question about help on locating interested parties. Randall Leininger stated he had already contacted a local business to see if there was any interest in the building.

Members discussed upcoming Farmers' Appreciation Night to be held at Tippecanoe Valley High School on Thursday, March 25. The free pancake and sausage supper was the idea of the FFA members and sponsor Forrest Kantner, as a way for area businesses to show their appreciation to the farmers of the corporation area for their business. The business people in the area will be helping to cook, serve and sponsor the event, along with the FFA members.

The Annual Easter Egg Hunt was set for Saturday, April 10 at the Akron Park. This event is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and The Women for Progress Club has taken over the job of coloring the eggs.

Arrangements are being made for a Chamber "Ladies Night" during the month of April. As soon as arrangements are complete, the date will be

Lower use of electricity reflects sagging economy

Public Service Indiana says its customers used six-tenths of a percent less electricity in 1981 than in 1980—a drop that reflects a sagging economy and milder weather conditions.

According to the company's recently released annual report, residential sales dropped 3.5 percent and industrial usage declined a fraction of a percent. Usage by commercial customers, REMCs and municipal utilities each increased slightly.

The average residential customer used 861 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month, down 40 kilowatt-hours from the average a year before. The average price per kilowatt-hour paid by residential customers in 1981 increased from 4.32 cents to 5 cents.

Despite lower total sales, both summer and winter peak demand figures were higher. The summer peak was up 1.2 percent to 3,942 megawatts. The winter peak for 1981 (3,895 megawatts) was an increase of 9.6 percent over the previous year.

Despite lower total sales, both summer and winter peak demand figures were higher. The summer peak was up 1.2 percent to 3,942 megawatts. The winter peak for 1981 (3,895 megawatts) was an increase of 9.6 percent over the previous year.

About 4,600 new customers were added in the company's 69-county service area, bringing the total to almost 541,000 at year-end.

Earnings per share of common stock increased from $3.21 to $3.42. The 5.3 percent increase only partly made up for the 15 percent decline in earnings in 1980. The increase was attributed to higher revenues, tight controls on operating expenses (up only 4.4 percent) and an increase in non-cash credits to reflect the cost of money borrowed to finance construction.

The company had $1.47 billion of net plant in service on Decem-

ASCS advises

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service provides pre-measurement and other producer services to help farmers obtain and report accurate crop acreages.

"At the request of the producer, we will stake and measure acreages before crop planting time," county ASC official Steve Rodenberg said. To be assured of program compliance, farmers are required to plant within the stakes that are placed when the land is measured. After planting, they are required to report their crop acreages to ASCS.

"We will begin accepting pre-measurement service requests immediately," Rodenberg said. The service is offered for $12.00 and includes measuring, referencing and marking one field or subdivision with stakes prior to planting. Each additional field is measured, referenced and marked for $3.00.

ASCS producer services include measuring total cropland, field or subdivisions to be planted and land areas for other purposes. Fees vary, based on the type of service rendered.

The ASCS official said accurate certifications cannot be over-emphasized. "Pre-measured acreage is guaranteed and producers who take advantage of the service will avoid unnecessary worry over the possible loss of 1982 farm program benefits."

To request pre-measurement or other producer services, call or visit the local ASCS office at 513 Main St., Rochester; Phone 219/223-3398.

Orientation set for Valley Freshmen

The administration and guidance department of Tippecanoe Valley High School will host a meeting for incoming freshmen and their parents on Thursday, March 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the commons area of the high school.

The purpose of the meeting will be to hand out and discuss scheduling information. Graduation requirements, courses of study, specific subject areas and extra-curricular plans will be presented. After students and parents have had an opportunity to read and study the materials, guidance counselors will be scheduled to meet with students and their parents at the junior high schools to set up programs for the 1982-83 school year. All eighth grade students and their parents are urged to attend this important meeting.

Loans on small grain available until Mar. 31

Farmers may obtain loans on their 1981 wheat and oats until March 31, according to Steve Rodenberg, an official of the Fulton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. Corn and soybean loans are available until May 31.

"Many farmers use our commodity loan program to obtain interim operating capital or hold their grain for future delivery," Rodenberg said. As of March 1, local farmers had obtained federal price support loans on more than 1,994,719 bushels of their 1981 grain crops.

County loan rates per bushel are: wheat $3.21, oats $1.35, corn $2.45 and soybeans $5.05. Ordinary loans have a nine-month maturity date with variable monthly interest rates.

The interest rate on loans disbursed in March is 14.875%.

Rodenberg said wheat and corn under loan are eligible for immediate entry into the farmer-owned grain reserve. "This program offers farmers three-year loans and storage payments in advance for isolating grain from the market until prices rise," he said. It is designed to provide a reasonable degree of stability in prices and supplies in times of exceptionally strong or weak demand and during times of unusually good or poor harvests. Currently, the reserve contains over 1,008,744 bushels of Fulton County grain.

The agency has offered commodity loans to farmers since 1933. In most cases producers satisfy their loan obligations by repaying the money before the loan matures or by forfeiting the crop to the Commodity Credit Corporation if the prices at loan maturity are below the loan rate.

Additional details on commodity loans may be obtained from the local ASCS office.

Franklin Township assessments begin

The Old Corps

General Bob Williams, retired Marine, has written a short book about the old Marine Corps. It tells how life was for young officers (and others) in the decade before World War II, when the Corps was small and times hard. (The Old Corps--Naval Institute Press.)

Expansion, which came with the war, ended many of the traditions, parochial and cohesive features of this small elite, which was the old Marine Corps, though it persists to some degree to this day.

The Marines have always been a favorite of he-men and the red-blooded. Their fighting and military tradition is unexcelled. Their peacetime life before the war was colorful. In those days the Corps contained but a thousand officers and 19,000 enlisted men.

The Marines then not only protected embassies and consulates and sailed on warships, but settled brushfire wars in Latin America, patrolled in China, as far inland as Peking, and were the smartest, best drilled units showing the flag. They exhibited superior morale.

In war, this paid off. The Marines were gung-ho. They didn't fail. Maybe it will never be the same again. This is now a different country, with complications. But the Old Corps was special—a part of the fast-disappearing past when the United States was supreme among countries of the world, its fighting Marines reflecting that character and strength of citizenship.

The Message Of March

There's something about the days of March which moves even cynical newsmen.

Whether it's the new life and first green of another year, the first southern winds, the longer days, the different shading of the sun's light, baseball, or even the first lightweight dresses on cute things—March stirs nostalgia of other springs.

March ushers in springtime flowers and colors; it is a forerunner of summer, holidays and the best time to plan 1982's vacation.

It's the last month, until October, when nights average being longer than days. Because the weather is highly changeable, plus the fact that winter has taken its toll, March is the month in which most deaths occur, so extra attention to one's health is called for.

MONEY =
TV = POLITICAL
MONEY

by James J. Treires

What do you need most if you want to be elected to high political office? The answer is simple: Money. Nobody questions the fact that a great deal of money is required to campaign for a seat in the U.S. Senate or House of Representatives, and, as recent campaigns in West Virginia and Virginia demonstrated, even a governor's mansion is now priced up in the millions.

Money talks, as it always has in our free-swinging, free-enterprise society. But never before in my memory has the U.S. government been so clearly at the service of the moneyed minority, so indifferent to the unmoneyed majority.

Can anyone who understands the democratic process really believe that a majority of the American people want what they're getting from Mr. Reagan and the Congress? When the Washington Post reports that a group of private lobbyists wrote the basic business tax cut bill that the Administration pushed through Congress, a law that will give business an additional half trillion dollars by 1990, can anyone doubt that this is a special interest administration?

"Fiscal feedback" is a term I use to describe a system in which a federal law promotes the concentration of a lot of money in a few private hands, and some of that money is then "fed back" to legislators to insure that that law—or something even better—remains in force. A good example is the old "oil depletion allowance," a tax break that allowed oil producers to keep a lot more of their income than others in the same income bracket. Even though only a tiny minority benefited from this loophole, its grateful beneficiaries spread enough money around Capitol Hill to keep it on the books for several decades.

What is relatively new in national politics is that the absolute necessity for access to expensive television time has made political candidates much more dependent on the financiers. And to make a bad situation ridiculous, the legalization of corporate Political Action Committees a few years ago made it possible for big companies to pour money directly into the political process.

That's how we've come to this vicious cycle: Money equals TV time equals political power equals money, etc. And that's why it is no exaggeration to say that the current Congress is the best that money can buy.

For those who still believe in one-man/one-vote rather than the dollar-weighted scheme once proposed by a Texas oil millionaire, there is an obvious solution to the present money-dominated political process. It's not a new idea, but it's one you won't hear much about from your local for-profit television station: Provide free television time to all candidates.

A federal law, similar to those already in effect in many Western democracies, could require that free access to television be provided to all candidates who meet the few requirements necessary to screen out cranks and crackpots.

Such a proposal will bring outraged cries from stations and networks that have been cashing in on the electoral process. But they should be reminded that they are public utilities who have been given the use of their channels and have an obligation to the general public. In many areas, a TV license that cost its owners next to nothing is now worth millions of dollars.

The second essential reform is a reduction in the length of campaigns. Democracy does not profit from two-year presidential campaigns that test perseverance and physical stamina more than fitness for high office, or Congressional contests so lengthy they make actual service in Washington a brief interlude in a perpetual campaign.

In politics, money talks mainly because a great deal of it is needed to buy TV time and run a long campaign. Free TV time and short campaigns would sharply reduce the amount required to run for office. By making candidates less dependent on the only source of big money—a few business—these reforms could give Democracy a new lease on life. At the moment, the old girl is in danger of suffocating under an avalanche of cold, hard cash.

Bill-Would Deny A Constitutional Right

President Reagan has yielded to pressure, from some liberals. He has sent to Congress a proposed bill, (S. 2024-HR. 5313) which would deny tax exempt status to organizations maintaining schools with racial discrimination policies.

This proposed bill will, also, apply to the inseparable Churches. The Church-School will be presumed guilty, until proven innocent, and could be required to pay taxes on contributions for the past twelve years, because the bill is retroactive.

Apparently, President Reagan has acted so hastily, he overlooked the power this bill would give the I.R.S., in assuming tax exempt status is Federal Aid. One of America's foremost, Constitutional Attorney, William Ball, called it "the most dangerous piece of legislation ever affecting Church-State separation."

Wake up Americans! Please remember, if Government can Deny one of our Constitutional Rights, it can Deny others. Wake up Christians! If Government can Deny tax exempt status to one Church, because of a religious belief, it can Deny tax exempt status to another Church, for a different religious belief.

The issue here is: Can the Federal Government regulate and/or tax a Church, simply because their belief conflicts with public social policies? Will public social policies take precedence over religious beliefs? I feel, if we would all do a thorough study, most would find both to be clearly Unconstitutional. Our First Amendment would be meaningless, if we had only the right to execute or practice our belief.

The Church belongs to God. Will Caesar judge and tax God? Daniel Webster stated, "The power to tax, is the power to destroy."

If you value just one of your Constitutional Rights, there's a great need for us to protect them all. Please write to President Reagan, Senator Robert Dole, and your U.S. Representatives, expressing your views. For a copy of the Bill, and more information, send a stamped, self-addressed, envelope to Chauncey Bennett, 72850 C.R. 23, New Paris, Indiana 46553. Letter to the Editor:

We would like to take this time to thank some very deserving people that volunteered their time and efforts, in trying conditions, to help make a 4-H project get started for our 1982 county 4-H Fair.

On Friday, Feb. 5, the following people helped to set up for the following days work by setting gates, scales, cattle chutes and generally getting the area ready: David Easterday, Norman Frasa, Jeff Kissick, Richard Sadler, and Bob Overmyer.

It looked very promising weather-wise, that we would get the job done after four weekends in a row of cancellations due to bad weather. On Saturday morning at 7:00 my crew started to assemble for what turned out to be a very long day in trying conditions. The temperature was about 5 degrees below zero when we started and got up to a high of 10 degrees. We were very glad the wind was calm.

Cattle started to arrive at 7:30 for our yearly job of marking our 4-H members beef calves for our fair and also the State Fair. The crew consisting of Jane Shriver, my assistant and the following beef committee members and helpers: Deb Whistler-Youth Agent, Steve Whistler, Jeff Kissick-Ag. Agent, David Easterday, Jerry Frasa, Norman Frasa, Bob Overmyer, Phyllis Overmyer, Steve Hartzler, Mick Belcher, David Leininger, Bob Tobey, Greg Smith, and Joe Crill.

Also, for these Jr. Leaders that stuck it out all day and night until we were done and also the three hours it took to finish up on Sunday: Tina Shriver, Jeff Shriver, Kelley Easterday, and Kathy Easterday. These people worked in the cold horse barn at the fairgrounds from 7:30 a.m. until 11:00 p.m. Saturday night. Also, 3-4 hours on Sunday morning to finish.

I would like to thank the following people that furnished the equipment: Dr. John McKee-vet. chute, Bob Bridge-Genetics Plus for the liquid nitrogen, Don Kline-cattle chute, and Joe Crill-oil and two heaters. Also, Barb and Bonnie Halterman and the foods committee for preparing food. A big thanks goes to the parents, and the 4-H members for their patience and fine cooperation in bringing in their cattle.

I hope I have not forgotten someone for their help and support. Completing a task as large as this shows that the volunteer help is what keeps 4-H working in Fulton County.

Plan to attend our 4-H Cattle show on July 20, 1:00 p.m. It promises to be better and bigger yet. There were 166 cattle marked this year.

Also, I would like to thank the Sentinel for its fine coverage of the events at the 4-H Fair. A picture in the paper is worth a thousand words to those kids. Thanks again to everyone.

LETTER TO EDITOR

AUTHOR REVEALS THE ULTIMATE TAX LOOPHOLE
[Editors Note: The following article was submitted by Dr. A.W. Steever, 203 Shore Road, Linwood, N.J. 08221.]

The new book by Irwin Schiff is not a hoax...its a "revelation!"

By delving into the mysterious IRS Code, he's come up with a new light on the American tax system and has competent authorities in agreement.

Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black has stated, "The United States has a system of taxation by confession."

Surprisingly, the statements of three (3) past Internal Revenue Commissioners all support the premise by Justice Black. Recently retired IRS Commissioner Jerome Kurtz is quoted in a 1980 Report: "The IRS's primary task is to collect taxes under a voluntary compliance system;" Mortimer Caplin, in 1975, said the tax system, "...is based on individual self-assessment and voluntary compliance;" and, back in 1971 Commissioner J.M. Walters reportedly said that taxpayers "voluntarily file their tax returns..." Apparently these former IRS Commissioners believe in permitting citizens to "volunteer" in various ways and are following the Supreme Court's edict of 1959 (Flora v. U.S.) wherein the Supreme Court of the Land stated, "Our tax system is based upon voluntary assessment and payment, not upon distraint."

The Schiff book suggests most dictionaries define the word "voluntary" as "something done of one's own free will and without legal obligation," or words of similar definition. Therefore, Schiff admonishes ordinary citizens to remember that they are subject to filing tax forms as a matter of free choice and not with a legal obligation according to this 1959 Supreme Court ruling. That strikes most people with a bit of disbelief, chagrin and raging anger! Author Schiff claims 93 million Americans were thusly "tricked into filing and paying federal income taxes, when legally they didn't have to do either," in 1980. According to the statement by IRS Commissioner Walters in 1971, Americans have been doing this "voluntary" act for many years-just as the serfs of the middle-ages paid 1/4 of their crops to the exalted land-owner and Castle-Lord.

Schiff states that United States courts have "consistently held that those who submit tax returns are witnesses against themselves within the meaning of the 5th Amendment and the United States government cannot require that anyone be a witness against himself within the meaning of the 5th Amendment." He points out that those persons who do file tax returns are effectively voiding their rights; that such tax returns are signed under penalty of perjury and are routinely used against the taxpayer because the taxpayer has deliberately waived, voluntarily, the constitutional right not to be a witness against themselves!

The landmark Miranda decision by the Supreme Court held that ANY individual cannot be "compelled" to be a witness against himself. This applies to various citizen situations, civil and criminal. The Privacy Act Notice found in the instruction book of 1040 Tax Return data is a "comparable" warning in regard such constitutional rights just as the Miranda warning given by a police officer at the time of an arrest for various causes. Ignore the Privacy Act Notice/Miranda-type warning and you are waiving your constitutional rights, making any statement subject to use against the individual in all manner of criminal or civil proceedings.

The Schiff book relates Internal Revenue Code Sections 6201, 6203, and 6303 as if they were "Secret Sections" of the Code. Actually, most citizens don't bother to read the "Code" - they're busy completing the 1040 Form, giving up their constitutional rights, and becoming subject to IRS "audits," harassment, and tyranny to bother examining the Code data. The book reproduces the three Code sections, indicating the "Secretary" is authorized and required to make the inquiries, determinations, and assessments of all taxes...imposed by this title." Schiff claims this means the Secretary of the Treasury is required to make the assessments, not the taxpayer, unless the taxpayer willingly and "voluntarily" self-assesses himself via the 1040 tax return.

Schiff notes that the Secretary must determine the citizen's tax liability, must officially record such liability, and supply a copy of the assessment upon the taxpayer's request. That, essentially, is in Section 6203. Thereafter, the Secretary is called upon to give notice for the unpaid tax and present demand for the payment due, assuming a tax sum is truly due and owing.

Since no one can possibly be officially liable for any taxes until ALL items of income and deductions are received, and the taxable year ends, it follows that no portions of a 1981 income tax are lawfully due until 1982. When you get the Secretary's bill of his assessment for taxes due, less deductions, it will then be up to you to either contest the Secretary's assessed sum or pay the sum demanded. If, perchance, you don't owe a Tax there will be no reason for the Secretary to go through the process of the various Code sections. If the sum stated by the Secretary is apparently incorrect, the taxpayer would, of course, contest the Secretary's figures and arrange a conference for further discussion. Schiff believes few Americans are knowledgeable about their tax liability; he calmly is attempting to educate them in this remarkable book. The book details the preceding statements.

He terms the Code as a "masterpiece of deception." He cites Sections 6011 and 6012 detailing "the erroneous inference that, if some people 'are not required' to file, then others must be required to file." Schiff explains various "Code Mysteries" as he uses the Code itself, various court decisions, and plain, simple language to continue the education process in this book of 179 pages.

The current IRS Commissioner, Roscoe Egger, Jr., is quoted from the April 20, 1980 issue of U.S. News and World Report, when asked, "What would happen if millions of people got sore and refused to report their income voluntarily?" Eggers answered, "If taxpayers in those numbers refused, the system simply wouldn't work."

Schiff chides the U.S. citizens not to complain about being fleeced by the federal government, since they can stop "the fleecing any time they want."

The Irwin Schiff book is called, "How Anyone Can Stop Paying Income Taxes" and he continually cites IRS code sections, U.S. Supreme Court decisions, and other law decisions to fully prove the determinations stated in this book.

This amazing book reveals by government documents, many reproduced on its pages, that the annual filing of 1040 forms is a voluntary, self-assessment act. Furthermore, the book reproduces Section 342.12 of the IRS's own "Handbook for Special Agents" in which the necessity to exhibit books and records is officially denied citing the 4th and 5th Amendments of the U.S. Constitution. The entire 6th Chapter of the book deals with IRS regulations and court cases that block the compulsory production of an individual's private books and papers-if the person is knowledgeable of the facts revealed in this chapter.

The following chapter pinpoints IRS publications that do not present the law but merely the Agency's "interpretations" of law. The front cover of IRS "Publication 17" is reproduced and the disclaimer noted wherein the publication "covers some subjects on which certain courts have taken positions more favorable to taxpayers than the official position of the Service." Schiff states it simply, "IRS does not tell you the law, but only its interpretation of it." The question is posed: Do law decisions by the Supreme Court or mere edicts of the IRS carry more weight in applying the tax laws of the nation?

Schiff believes tax accountants customarily prepare tax returns on the basis of IRS interpretations, instead of tax law, in the multi-billion dollar tax industry. Tax lawyers, being familiar with law terminology, are presumed "to know the law" and have "a professional obligation to explain the laws more fully...than an accountant might." He cites five questions that might be advanced to a Tax Specialist in the realm of professional responsibility.

Would the nation "fall apart" if the majority of Americans "stopped assessing income taxes on themselves?" Schiff indicates corporation taxes, duties on imported items, and less costly/excise taxes comprise a return of 60% of government claimed revenue; getting the federal government back to its proper functions would virtually eliminate the need for the current income tax. Eliminating foreign nation give-aways and a "roll back" of federal government size would ease the nation's economic and social problems. Schiff believes.

Chief Justice John Marshall said, "the power to tax involves the power to destroy." Will Americans "stand up and assert (their) constitutional rights" to restore our nation's integrity and economic wealth?

Irwin Schiff, author and patriotic American, believes you still have a choice! His book, and his viewpoints, warrant serious consideration. Inquire at a local book store for, "How Anyone Can Stop Paying Income Taxes." Its a real eye-opener!

Rick Ralston has been nominated to attend the State Leadership Seminar for outstanding high school sophomores. The seminar is conducted by the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation. Rick will represent Tippecanoe Valley at the seminar in Indianapolis this spring March 19-21.

One boy and one girl will be chosen to represent Indiana at the International Leadership Seminar, from those attending the state seminar.

In 1958 Hugh O'Brien returned from Africa inspired by his visit with Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Later that year, while portraying the legendary lawman, Wyatt Earp, on television, Mr. O'Brien decided to make his own contribution to society by establishing the Youth Foundation.

Its purpose is to seek out, recognize and reward leadership potential in high school sophomores.

Mentone War Mothers meet

The Mentone Mothers of World War II met at the home of June Reed for their March meeting. In absence of the president and vice president, Mrs. Pearl Horn presided with the usual opening. A silent prayer was offered for Dora Norris. Lois Perry prepared the altar and presented the colors. June Reed gave the invocation. One verse of the National Anthem was sung followed by pledges to the American and Christian flags.

Roll call was answered by nine members and communications were read by Ethel Whetstone and Maude Romine. A motion was made and seconded to furnish bread for sandwiches for the blood bank at T.V.H.S.

The district meeting at Akron on March 17 was discussed.

Marilyn Stafford of Akron installed the new officers who are president, Ethel Whetstone; 1st vice president, Dora Norris; 2nd vice president, Jeannine Nellans; recording secretary, Pearl Horn; financial secretary, Mildred Grindler; treasurer, Maude Romine, and Sgt. at Arms, Lois Perry.

Dora Norris, a past president, retired Marilyn Stafford as installing officer.

The meeting was closed with retiring of the colors, closing of the Bible and singing "God Bless America." Undraping of charter was by Dora Norris.

Two Burket officials resign

David Kuhn and his wife, Suzanna, turned in resignations at Burket's Town Board meeting held Monday, March 8th at the Civic Center.

Kuhn has served for a year as a board member and Mrs. Kuhn has been clerk-treasurer for the past three years. Kuhn, in the past surgical instrument business, has been transferred to St. Louis and the family will be moving within the next few weeks.

Other business included discussion of new town ordinances.

Board members William Griffith and Matt Shafer were also present at the meeting.

Too many people know all the answers.

Extension Service to charge for publications

For some 70 years, the Indiana Cooperative Extension Service has provided the public with free educational materials in many subject areas. Beginning in March 1982, however, some extension publications will be priced to recover part of the costs.

Rising manufacturing expenses (printing and photographic processes, paper and labor), postal rate hikes, and distribution costs have caused universities and extension services across the nation to re-examine pricing policies. The demand for publications in recent years has exceeded production budgets.

Indiana's director of the Cooperative Extension Service, Howard G. Diesslin, recently announced the policy for sales or free distribution of publications. The policy was developed after six months of meetings by an extension publications committee, headed by Richard Duncan, CES Area Administrator, of Fort Wayne.

"We have a responsibility to make this information available to the citizens of Indiana, and to ensure the continuing availability of educational material in all areas where extension has the knowledge and where there are citizen requests," Diesslin explained. "Although some publications will be priced now, a large part of our list will still be available free to Indiana residents. Major distribution is through the extension offices in the 92 counties."

Extension publications were first developed for programs to help citizens benefit from university research. The oldest of these programs is agriculture and marketing. Publishing areas expanded to include family living education, 4-H and youth, and community development. Besides this publishing program, with university Cooperative Extension specialists and researchers as authors, the Department of Agricultural Information at Purdue provides press, radio and television news service to state, regional and national media.

Eldon E. Fredericks, department head of Agricultural Information at Purdue, emphasized that covering some manufacturing costs would enable county Extension offices to obtain publications in quantities to meet their needs. "This will enable us, in turn, to continue sharing the expertise of scientists and specialists in these program areas with Indiana citizens," he added.

"Our total current list of Extension publications is around 1,500. Publications to be priced for sale make up only 15 percent of that list," Fredericks said.

Stratton-Hood marriage

Barbara Elaine Stratton and Lyle Dean Hood were married Sunday, Feb. 14, at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Wayne Johnson in the Athens United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Charlotte Stratton, Athens, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hood, Rochester.

Attending the couple were Shelly Anderson, Tippecanoe, and Bill Morris, Bourbon.

THE COUPON CLIPPER

How to remove those pesky labels

By June Fuller

DEAR COUPON CLIPPER — The companies seem to be using super glue to attach labels to their bottles. But I now have a method that removes labels from tough bottles such as Downey and Lux.

I wet a cloth, wrap it around the bottle or jar and seal the whole thing in a plastic bag. I let it sit overnight, and the next morning the label slides right off. — Marge B. from Chester, W.Va.

DEAR MARGE — I have used your method and can testify that it works on several especially difficult-to-remove labels. Because glue formulas differ, it won't work every time, but it should be tried when other methods fail.

DEAR COUPON CLIPPER — I buy my groceries from a small store and charge my purchases. I get a monthly bill, but not the register tapes that are required by most refund offers.

Even if I were to get a tape, I often purchase several items at the same time that all require the tape as a proof of purchase. I want to get in on refunding and would appreciate your advice. — Willie W. from Chinnville, Tenn.

DEAR WILLIE — You could go to the grocer when you pay your bill at the end of the month and ask him to ring up a small tape for each of the purchases for which you need a register tape. This would seem to be a reasonable request in return for your business.

My smart-shopper award goes to Carol Bare of Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

Kraft La Creme topping was on sale at her supermarket for 39 cents a bowl. "I had recently clipped out of the newspaper a 'Buy One, Get One Free' coupon," she says, "so I got two bowls for just 39 cents. Then I sent in the proofs of purchase from the two bowls for a $1 refund."

Property Damage Accidents

The following property damage accidents were investigated by Kosciusko County Police:

•Damage between $200 and $1,000 occurred to a Department of Administration jeep Thursday afternoon on State Rd. 15 when some falling ice damaged the vehicle.

Indiana Conservation Officer Lyle L. Eneyart, 32, Rt. 1, Silver Lake, was traveling on the highway, about four miles south of Warsaw, when a piece of ice fell from a pickup truck with topper and damaged the state vehicle's left front headlight and grille.

•An Ohio man escaped injury shortly before 8 a.m. Thursday when his auto collided with a ConRail train at the railroad crossing at County Rd. 200 North.

Glenn L. Shappie, 52, of Versailles, Ohio, was traveling west on the county road when his auto slid into the third engine of an 89-car train. Damage to the auto, owned by Jabin Industries, Rt. 7, Warsaw, was set between $2,500 and $5,000.

The conductor was Richard A. Shortaw, 51, of Marion.

•Thomas A. King, 23, Rt. 1, Warsaw, reported to City police that he had jacked up his car to repair a tire, and his vehicle was struck, damaging the left front door, estimated at $175. It was parked at the rear of Dr. William Walker's office, 121 North Parker Street.

•An accident Thursday afternoon on State Rd. 15, three-fourths mile north of Warsaw, involved a car driven by Dennis S. Coffman, 19, of Warsaw, and a truck operated by Delbert E. Hauptert, 58, of Rt. 1, Roann.

Coffman was reportedly leaving a parking lot and failed to see Hauptert's truck, striking it in the right rear fender. Damage to both vehicles was between $200 and $1,000.

•A mishap Friday morning in the parking lot of Tippecanoe Valley High School occurred when a car driven by Timothy Richardson, 17, Rt. 2, Rochester, struck an auto owned by Sharon L. Chaney, Rt. 5, Rochester. No damage estimates were given.

•Damage was set between $200 and $1,000 to a car driven by Christine L. Landis, 30, of 748 East Fort Wayne St., Warsaw, in a one-car accident Friday morning on Old Rd. 30, just north of Warsaw.

•Stanley Gordon Salyer, 31, of 1105 East Sheridan St., Warsaw, was arrested for public intoxication following a mishap Friday night, three miles south of Atwood. He was released early Saturday on his own recognizance.

Salyer's truck hit a fence and corner post and a junction box before it landed on its top. Salyer left the vehicle and reportedly began to run down County Rd. 650 West before he was stopped by County Patrolmen Richard Monk and Burdell Blackburn.

Salyer's truck went out of control at the T-road intersection of County Roads 650 West and 100 South. The vehicle, owned by Tracey Quier, of Mentone, had damage listed between $1,000 and $2,500. Both the GTE junction box and the fence and corner post, which were owned by Charles Hammer and Ralph Douglas, had damage of $200.

•Paul M. Heppé, 58, of Salineville, Ohio, was traveling west on U.S. 30 when the wind apparently caused him to lose control of his tractor-trailer rig. The semi-truck jackknifed on the highway one-half mile north of Etna Green at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday. There was approximately $2,500 damage to the trailer registered to Esber Beverage Co., Canton, Ohio.

•Carl S. McKinley, 31, Rt. 1, North Webster, was making a right-hand turn on County Rd. 500 North when his car slid into a vehicle operated by Carl J. Elward, 57, Wabash. The mishap occurred at 5:50 p.m. Monday one mile south of North Webster. No damage estimates were listed on the police report.

•Linda C. Baumgartner, of Milford, was traveling north on County Rd. 175 East Friday afternoon when she lost control of her auto because of slush and ice and hit a fence owned by Leon Tucker.

Damage was placed at $1,200 to Baumgartner's 1981-model auto. An undetermined amount of fence damage occurred.

•Milford Marshal David Hobbs reports there are suspects in a hit-and-skip incident at 10:40 p.m. Friday on Emeline St., next to Campbell's Market.

A green van with two men inside reportedly backed out of a parking space and struck an auto owned by Toni Woods, of Emeline Street. The van then left the scene. There was $100 damage to the Wood's car.

•A collision at 9:19 a.m. Saturday in the 100 block of South Main St., Milford, occurred when a car driven by Thomas J. Wollman, 18, of Milford, backed out of a parking space and hit an auto owned by Felipe Flores Jr., of Milford.

The Flores auto was stopped behind another vehicle waiting for traffic to clear. Damage was estimated at $200 to Wollman's vehicle and $700 to Flores's car.

•A car driven by Sherry M. Smith, Rt. 2, Claypool, received between $200 and $1,000 damage Wednesday morning as a result of the driver trying to avoid another vehicle at the intersection of County Farm Road and County Rd. 200 South.

Smith swerved her auto in an attempt to avoid hitting a truck operated by Rickie P. Snyder, 29, of 911 Country Club Rd., Warsaw, but in doing so the Smith car slid off the road into a fence.

Snyder's truck came down a hill at the intersection but could not stop because of the slippery road. The truck went around a corner at the same time that Smith tried to miss the vehicle.

Other damage of less than $200 each occurred to fence posts owned by Ralph Frantz, of Warsaw, and to county highway sign posts.

•A car operated by Lynn A. Frantz, 22, of 803 Terrace Dr., Winona Lake, was damaged less than $200 in a single-vehicle mishap Wednesday afternoon at Piercetion and Packerton Roads, one mile east of Winona Lake.

The driver told police her auto skidded and went off the road on the north side of Piercetion Road as she braked to avoid a red-colored Pinto which failed to stop. Frantz's car struck a county highway road sign and UTS box, causing less than $200 to the sign and between $200 and $1,000 damage to the junction box.

•Magdalene Good, 42, of Silver Lake, was traveling north in the 600 block of Buffalo Street when she stepped on the brake pedal and her car slid into a parked truck registered to J & J Marthon, 601 South Buffalo St., Warsaw. The mishap occurred at approximately 6:28 a.m. Wednesday. There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to each vehicle, according to Warsaw police.

•Walter A. Hamilton, 46, of 1807 Hepler Dr., Warsaw, was traveling west on U.S. 30 when he fell asleep and his van veered off the left side of the road, striking a state highway sign. Hamilton was awakened by the impact and steered his van to the right and came to a halt. There was between $2,500 and $5,000 damage to Hamilton's van, city police reported.

•City Patrolman Paul Schmitt was traveling through a residential district when his squad car slid on ice and struck a garbage can. The officer reported that the trash can was extensively damaged. It belonged to Ted Ward, 120 Argonne Rd., Warsaw. Ironically, Ward is also a city policeman.

•Christine L. Landis, 30, of 748 East Fort Wayne St., Warsaw, told county police a piece of ice fell off a truck and went through the windshield of her auto on Old Rd. 30 West near Fox Farm Rd. at 1:11 a.m. Friday.

•Vehicles driven by Shari Shafer, 21, Piercetion, and William Lee Peden, 33, of Fairdale, Ky., collided on private property one-half mile east of Piercetion at 3 a.m. Thursday. There was between $1,001 and $2,500 damage to Shafer's auto, and less than $200 to Peden's tractor-trailer rig.

•High winds caused a semi-truck operated by Chester Young, 52, Larwill, to skid off State Rd. 13 and roll over at 6:05 a.m. Tuesday. The mishap occurred one and one-half miles south of Sidney, according to county police. There was between $5,000 and $10,000 damage to the tractor, and $3,500 damage to the trailer.

•Warsaw Fireman Patrick R. Morgan started to turn right from Center Street onto Cleveland Street when the rear of the city fire truck was bumped by a vehicle operated by Stephen M. Doyle, 16, Rt. 6, Warsaw. The mishap occurred near the east side city fire station at 8:55 p.m. Monday.

There was between $1,001 and $2,500 damage to Doyle's auto and between $1,001 and $2,500 damage to the Warsaw fire truck.

•County Patrolman Jeffrey A. Bronsing was investigating a two-car collision when the squad car he occupied was struck in the rear. An auto operated by Lynne K. Coyle, 37, Rt. 3, Warsaw, attempted to stop when she saw the red lights on the police car, but her auto slid sideways, bumping a southbound Warsaw School bus operated by Victoria J. Sellers, 32, Rt. 1, Silver Lake, and then hitting the rear of the police car. The mishap occurred on the county Farm Road approximately two miles south of Warsaw.

There was between $1,000 and $2,500 damage to the police car and Coyle's auto. The investigating officer, County Patrolman Richard Monk, said there was only minor damage to the school bus.

•Jennifer L. Scott, 19, Rt. 1, Claypool and David A. Creighton, 39, Rt. 2, Warsaw, were involved in an auto accident at 12:35 p.m. Tuesday. Scott said she turned left onto Center St., Warsaw, from Detroit Street, and did not see the Creighton vehicle. Damage to both cars was estimated between $200 and $1,000. City police investigated.

•The West Market Street underpass was the scene of an accident at 6:25 p.m. Tuesday investigated by city police as cars driven by Richard J. Sechrest, 23, Mentone and Ruth Ann Metzley, 45, Rt. 2, Warsaw sideswiped. Damage to both vehicles was estimated between $200 and $1,000.

•Gary D. Cotner, 17, Rt. 4, Warsaw, told county police he was passing another vehicle when he lost control of his car and it traveled into a ditch, striking a fence on U.S. 30, just two miles west of Warsaw.

MENTONE Our Home Grows

By Linda L. Oden

TRI-COUNTY GAZETTE, SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1891

An exchange has the following:
"Lift your hat reverently when you meet the teacher of the primary school. She is the good angel of the republic. She takes the little bantling fresh from the home nest and full of pouts and passions—an ungovernable little wretch whose mother honestly admits she sends him to school to get rid of him. This young lady, who knows his business, takes a whole car load of these anarchists, half of whom, single handed and alone are more than a match for both their parents, and at once puts them in the way of being useful and upright citizens. At what expense of patience, toil and weariness? Hers is the responsible position and if her salary were doubled she would yet receive less than she earns."

TRI-COUNTY GAZETTE, SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1891

THE GAZETTE PRINTING HOUSE Another Stone Added to the Foundation of the Newspaper Business in Mentone.

A few weeks ago we mentioned in these columns the facts that we had in view an improvement to the GAZETTE establishment which would add considerably to the success and importance of the enterprise. We are now ready to announce to our readers that the paper will hereafter be published under its own roof. We have completed a trade by which we become owner of the building in which our business is located. We have in view a number of improvements which will, when completed, greatly facilitate our work, by better adapting the building to the publishing business. We greatly appreciate the help of our friends whose liberal patronage has so materially added to the success of our work.

TRI-COUNTY GAZETTE, SATURDAY, MARCH 28, 1891

The TRI-COUNTY GAZETTE of Mentone, announces that it has purchased the building in which it is now located. The GAZETTE is a vigorous paper, an honor to Mentone and we are glad to see its prosperity.—ROCHESTER TRIBUNE

The above is a sample of numerous notices from our exchanges for which we extend our thanks.

A writer offers some wholesome advice when it says, "If you have a little farm or a little business, and are out of debt, don't worry yourself and wife to the grave for the sake of making money. You have one life to live and it is very hard at best. Take a little pleasure and comfort as you go along day by day, and try to do good to others. Morbid, unsatisfied desires to grab everything in sight are the foundation of more misery than most any other thing. Wealth alone will never keep your memory green after you are gone—a good life and kind actions will."

TRI-COUNTY GAZETTE, SATURDAY, APRIL 4, 1891

Every boy who is smoking cigarettes ought to know that he is probably robbing an old man who will some day bear his name, unless bad habits kill him sooner.—(EX)

The dollar sign is not as some suppose a corruption of the monogram "US"; but is a relic of the times when the transfer from the old Spanish to the more modern monetary system was made and accounts were for a while kept equally in dollars and reals. One dollar equalled eight reals and amounts were written: One Dollar/Eight Reals. Later on the eight was placed between the parallels /8/, and afterward the perpendicular lines crossed the eight. Then, with a little changing the present sign ($) was evolved.

TRI-COUNTY GAZETTE, APRIL 11, 1891

TRI-COUNTY NORMAL

A Normal School will be opened in the public school building in Mentone, on Monday, July 20, 1891. Competent teachers will be employed to assist in the work. There will be special instruction in the theory and practice of teaching for the benefit of any who expect to engage in that profession. The County Superintendent will be present a few days and assist in the professional work. The term will continue for six weeks, closing with an examination for teachers licenses, immediately before the opening of the county institute. A primary department will be opened for the benefit of younger pupils. For full particulars address the undersigned or enquire of the president of the school board.

MENTONE SCHOOLS

How's this for an eye catching advertisement?

In a few days we will introduce to our friends a very HANDSOME GRASS WIDOW and when you make your bow we wish you to particularly notice her charming grace. Rich in merie, beautiful in appearance and symmetrical in form, she is strictly private, no common low down tenement house, 6 for a quarter concern, but a strait fiver, both wrapper and filler of the best Puritan stock; very emotional, and the tuck just right to draw easily. Neither too soft or solid to respond pleasantly to a gentle squeeze. She don't cater for the trade of the dudes, bald heads or two for a nick shapes. She is too good for that. ## Kosciusko County Unemployment rate jumps

For the fourth straight month, Kosciusko County has set an all-time unemployment rate high with a figure of 10.9 percent in January, released this week by the Indiana Employment Security Division, Research and Statistics, Indianapolis.

This is up 1.1 percent from the 9.8 percent unemployment rate recorded for December, 1981. Out of a labor force of 28,450 persons in the county, 3,100 are unemployed while 25,350 hold some type of job.

The hardest job we know is trying to be impartial.

Gov. Orr, other officials to visit nutrition sites

Governor Robert D. Orr will be one of hundreds of officials to visit one of Indiana's 415 congregational meal sites for the elderly on the third annual "Nutrition Awareness Day," Wednesday, March 24, according to Jean Merritt, executive director of the Indiana Commission on Aging.

The observance is one facet of activities planned for March, which the governor has proclaimed "Nutrition Month."

Nutrition sites for the elderly are funded by the Indiana Commission on Aging and 16 area nutrition projects. Approximately 17,500 hot noon meals are served at the sites five days a week to those who are 60 years old and older.

Each meal provides at least one-third of the daily nutritional requirements for adults. Funded under the Older Americans Act with local matching funds and "in-kind" support the nutrition program has operated in Indiana since 1972.

"Nutritional needs of older persons are basically the same as for all adults," comments Janet Eigenbrod, registered dietitian who is state coordinator for the program. "However," she continues, "older people are usually less active than younger people and should choose foods that provide necessary nutrients without unnecessary calories."

Mrs. Eigenbrod emphasizes, "Nutrition needs are important no matter what your age. But many older people tend to ignore them."

She recommends a daily diet which includes: two eight-ounce servings of milk or milk products; four servings of bread or cereal products; four servings of vegetables and fruit; two servings of meat or meat-substitutes such as eggs, cheese, peanut butter, or dried beans, lentils or peas, and six to eight cups of fluid.

Jolly Janes meet

The Jolly Janes met at the home of Phyllis Bowser for their March meeting. Grace Lewis was co-hostess.

God Bless America and the pledge was led by Alice Hardesty, our president. Song of the month "Bring Back My Bonnie" was led by Phyllis Bowser, song leader. Rosemary Bazini reported for citizenship to start your dress for the Centennial. Grace Lewis read meditations of "Be." She also said to "be" kind and understanding to all.

It was voted to give the blood bank money instead of food this year.

Wayne Bowser showed us their pictures taken in Germany while visiting their daughter Deb. They were very beautiful.

Delicious refreshments of a colorful green for St. Patrick's Day were served by the hostess and co-hostess.

I wish to thank all my friends, neighbors and family for the visits, cards, flowers and help given while in the hospital and since coming home after my fall on the ice in Rochester. Also a special thanks to the couple who assisted me until my husband came to help. We failed to get their name.

MOTHER'S AMAZING FIN PRESS

Here's a simple-to-build device that'll enable you to construct all the heat-catching fins you'll need for most any homemade solar water heater... out of free-for-the-gathering tin soda or soup cans! (Actually, even if you decide to make your sheeting out of more expensive copper, you'll still want to use our research staff's clever invention—MOTHER'S Fin Press—to help you establish the maximum heat-transferring surface contact between your water pipes and your collector's fins.)

MOTHER'S Amazing Fin Press was invented to help those people who want to build homemade sun gatherers achieve good efficiency without having to hire a machinist to groove the fins. The bottom section of MOM's two-piece unit consists of a seven-inch length of 3/8" copper pipe (or 1/2" wooden dowel) that's been set—to a depth of slightly less than half its diameter—into a side-walled block. The top piece is little more than another block that's been grooved to fit over the baseboard's projecting pipe. To work the fin shaper, simply position a flat, precut piece of copper or tin on the base, put the cap over it, and push down. Presto! You have one grooved fin ready to cradle a bit of collector pipe!

MOTHER'S Fin Press can be made in only a few minutes out of scrap pipe and lumber bits, and is simplicity itself to construct. The accompanying illustrations show you what the "Fin Form" looks like so you can construct your own. However, if you need a more detailed diagram, the free reprint mentioned at the end of the column will provide you an in-depth plan for constructing the fin form (as well as directions for actually using the fins to make a solar collector).

To turn free soup or soda cans into sun-snagging fins, just cut both the lids and the end rims off your scrounged cylinders with an electric—or manually-cranked, wall-fastened—can opener (hold the tins in a horizontal, rather than vertical, position when you do this). Then—using steel wool or a propane torch—buff or burn off the metal's protective coating. Cut each can down the middle (see illustration 1), trim the sheet to a flat 5-1/2" X 6" shape... and groove it on the fin press (see illustrations 2 and 3).

When you're ready to secure a fin to some pipe, just lay the shaped tin on two fireproof boards (or blocks, or bricks) placed side by side with a pipe width's space between them (see illustration 4). Nestle the fin's curved center section into the gap, set your collector pipe into position, hold it in place with any heavy—nonflammable—weight (to increase sheet-to-pipe contact), and then solder the two metals together. Add more fins to your pipe—by laying out the grooved sheets, weighting, and soldering—until you've completed your platemaking... then buff off any extra flux along the length of the pipe.

When all that's done, you'll have finished a crucial (and often the most expensive) step of your home-designed solar collector assembly... and the cost for all your fins will be a grand total of zero dollars and zero cents!

LEE NORRIS

Lee E. Norris, presently the Tippecanoe Valley School Board member from Franklin Township, has held the position for one term.

A farmer and owner of B.N.W. Industries at Mentone, he manufactures Belt-O-Matic dryers.

He and his wife Norene, live on Rt. 1, Mentone. They have five children, Dan, Connie and Cindy, all graduates of Tippecanoe Valley High School Corporation; Angie, a junior at Valley, and Aaron, a fifth grade student at Mentone.

They are members of the Mentone First Baptist Church, for which Norris acts as moderator.

Norris expresses the belief that the school board should seek to develop school policies to create higher academics. He sees a need to work for better arts, vocational and physical education programs while maintaining extra-curricular activities and maintaining discipline. He said maintaining and upgrading equipment and buildings without over-burdening the taxpayer is the main goal.

WENDELL SCOTT

Wendell Scott, 41, Rt. 5, Rochester, filed as a candidate for the Newcastle Township seat on the Tippecanoe Valley School Board of Trustees.

He is the father of six children: Duane, Shawnta and Shartrina, students in the Warsaw Community School system. Sharissa, a student at Purdue; Amy, a sixth grade student at Mentone, and Shanna, 5, at home.

Rogers noted he would like a position on the school board to try to keep corporation expenses down on the building programs. "I think we can keep up on maintenance in most buildings, but might do some extensive work on the Akron Junior High Building."

He is interested in keeping the tax rates down and sees the need to provide a well-balanced program for our children.

Mentone Extension Homemakers meet

The Mentone Extension Homemakers met March 11th with Mrs. Pearl Tucker and co-hostess Mary Norris. Vice president Genevieve Warren opened the meeting with the pledges to the flags, the creed, singing of America the Beautiful and When You Wore a Tulip. Mary Norris read several lovely quotes by Helen Steiner Rice and Helen Marshall. Esther Sarber read about treatments of different injuries and on sleeping habits for health and safety. Eula Smith talked of the services the Bowen Center offers for her citizenship. Cultural Arts leader

Arma Eckert read an article about Grace Beaman and Mamie Braddock.

Roll call was answered by ten members to a "housecleaning tip."

President Pearl Horá reported on the president's council meeting. She stated that the Blood Bank would be at the Tippecanoe Valley High School on March 30th. membership plans were made.

Arma Eckert gave a lesson, "recreational resources." Our state is 14th in attractions. Take a look at Indiana with all of its beauty, parks, roads, rest stops, lakes, fishing, skiing and sporting events. Much is here to invite tourism.

Grace Sullivan also presented a lesson on "probing the will." Everyone should have a will and a good lawyer. The executor should know where the will is located or have a copy of one. Deathbed wills are unwise.

Eula Smith talked about making bonnets for the Centennial in June. The anniversary committee made plans to meet at Teel's Restaurant April 8th at noon.

The meeting was closed with the club prayer song and collect. An auction was held and St. Patrick refreshments were served.

Farmers can now qualify for insurance

Farmers who can verify a record of higher than average crop yields can now qualify for higher than average insurance guarantees. Francis Hudkins, District Director, representative for the All-Risk Crop Insurance, said today.

An Individual Yield Coverage program being introduced this spring will result in increased insurance protection for those farmers who are able to show that their past yields have been above average for the area in which they farm, he added.

Mr. Hudkins explains that the change applies to All-Risk crop insurance policyholders who produce corn, grain sorghum, barley, wheat, or soybeans.

To qualify for insurance based on individual yield experience, each farmer must have documented production and acreage records for at least the three most recent years.

All-Risk Crop Insurance, which is available nationally starting this year, can be purchased from any authorized local agent who will begin yield verification procedures upon request.

The expanded and improved insurance program is designed to provide farmers with an economical way to protect against a loss of the record-high sums of money they will have to invest in their crops this spring. Francis Hudkins points out.

In order to encourage maximum participation, the Federal Government pays up to 30 percent of the premium cost for farmers who carry insurance.

Bussard draws two jail terms

James Bussard, 22, Akron, was sentenced to terms of five years and 10 years in the Indiana Department of Corrections in connection with a robbery at Berkway Supermarket and burglary at the Dam Landing.

Bussard was sentenced in Fulton Circuit Court Monday to 10 years in the Department of Corrections with credit of time already served in the Fulton County Jail for conspiracy to commit robbery while armed with a deadly weapon in connection with a robbery at Berkway on Jan. 27.

He was sentenced to five years in the Department of Corrections for burglary at the Dam Landing in December 1981.

Fulton Circuit Court Judge Douglas Morton ordered the sentences to be served concurrently and ordered Bussard to pay the court costs in each case.

A partner in both incidents, Stephen Kruger, 21, Akron, pleaded guilty of robbery while armed with a deadly weapon and burglary in connection with the Berkway robbery and the incident at the Dam Landing. He will be sentenced March 15.

Both men remain in Fulton County Jail.

Fulton County Players production March 19-20

The Fulton County Players will present their spring production, "The Last of the Red Hot Lovers" Friday and Saturday, March 19, and 20, at 8:00 p.m. in the Rochester High School Auditorium, Rochester, Indiana.

Neil Simons play is of a pompous middle aged would-be lothario, trying to join the sexual revolution in three hilarious acts. Some adult language.

Director Rich Baker has cast Gene Hart as Barney Cashman, Ann Hoover as Elaine, a frustrated housewife, Kathy Neff as Bobby, a hippie-type kook, and Linda Sayger as Jeanette, a depressed best friend of Barney's wife.

Tickets for the performance will be available at the door. Patron and Season ticket holders may contact Janet Burkett at 223-3814 after 6:00 p.m.

GOOD NEWS

Barry Peterson Accepts Crow's Dealership

Here are Barry's comments about Crow's:

"It is with pride and enthusiasm that I have accepted a Crow's Dealership. Frankly, I've been real impressed with the Company's first-name approach with their dealers and customers. I like it that Crow's is still independent in a world of business that grows larger and starts to lose touch with the folks who buy their products. Finally, I'm sold on Crow's energetic interest in building better hybrids, and the fact that you can get a choice -- high capacity Normal Hybrids for a cash crop and outstanding, new Hi-Lysine Hybrids for feed. I'm anxious to talk with you about Crow's, because as a Seed Corn Dealer I feel I've committed myself to helping you do a better job. If I don't get to see you soon, call me."

Kosciusko Co. Sheriff race set

Kosciusko County Sheriff C. A'an Rovenstine last week received a challenge for office when North Webster Town Marshall Charles Parker, a Democrat, filed his candidacy papers in the county clerk's office.

Two more Republicans created races for county council seats in last minute filings. Robert Hartzell, Etna Green, announced he will run against incumbent Carl Latta in District II, and L. Dennis Ducey, R. 1, Warsaw, will face incumbent Larry Teghtmeyer in District I. Of the incumbent councilmen up for re-election, only Norman DeGood in District III has no competition in the primary.

Also joining the political arena were Republicans Layne Warren, running for southern district county commissioner, and Fred McSherry, running for District IV county councilman. They become the third GOP candidates in each of those races.

Parker, 45, of Rt. 6, Warsaw, has been North Webster marshal since 1978. He said he had been considering running for county sheriff for almost five years, since he retired from the army after more than a 20-year stint.

He becomes the only Democrat to file for a major county office. Rovenstine, who was elected to his first term in 1978, has no opposition on the Republican primary ballot.

Workable Schedule

Parker says he is "still researching" some of the changes he would propose for the sheriff's department, if elected. However, he feels officers should have "a workable schedule to get more exposure to the public." He says he will run primarily on his record in North Webster, and notes that despite the difficulty in running against an incumbent, he has already received support from residents in the northern part of the county.

A native of Illinois, he has lived in the Kosciusko County area since 1973 when he was named army recruiter for Whitley and Kosciusko counties.

While in the service, he received the Vietnam Cross of Gallantry with palm, Vietnam service medal with four Bronze stars, Republic of Vietnam Campaign medals, five Good Conduct Medals, three Army Commendation medals, two National Defense Service medals and an expert rifle and pistol medal. He served in Korea, Japan, Germany and Vietnam. For 10 of his years in the army, he was with the military police.

He points out he has taken courses at the Plainfield Police Academy, as well as five separate courses at the South Bend academy. In addition, he attended Columbia College for three years and has other management and administrative training through the army.

Parker is a member of the North Webster Lions Club, where he is a two-year director and along with his wife Susanne, will be co-chairman of this year's Mermaid Festival. He also is a member of the Warsaw Elks Lodge, North Webster American Legion and Lakeland Snowmobile club.

Commissioner Candidate

Warren, a lifetime resident of Claypool and the town's fire chief for several years, admits "I'm no politician." But he nonetheless hopes to defeat fellow Republicans Charles Lynch and Dale Beery in the May primary, then win the general election to succeed Gerald Smalley.

Unlike Parker, Warren just made up his mind to run last night. "I had a lot of people encouraging me to do it," he said today after filing the necessary paperwork.

Warren, a 57-year-old dry wall contractor, has never run for political office before. He has been a member of the Claypool Volunteer Fire Department for 37 years. He is also an active member of the Claypool United Methodist church, where he has chaired several committees and teaches Sunday school. He is presently president of the Claypool Lions Club, is a past district governor and serves on the cancer control board. He is also a member of the American Legion.

A 1943 graduate of Claypool High School, he served in the U.S. Navy from 1943 to 1946.

Warren and his wife of 31 years, the former Janet Carr, have three children: Jack, 30, of Claypool; Jill, 27, of Warsaw and Judi, 24, of Claypool.

Although he must live in the southern district, the election for that office is county-wide. No Democrats filed for the seat prior to today's deadline.

In the District IV council race, McSherry also said his candidacy also came after encouragement from several residents. He will oppose incumbent Eldred Metzger and Warsaw accountant George Klinger in the primary. No Democrats filed for the seat.

McSherry, 44, of Burket, has served the past five years on the Kosciusko County Board of Zoning Appeals and several years ago, served two terms on Seward Township Advisory Board.

McSherry, along with his brother, Steve, and father, Wilbur, farms some 1,200 acres approximately a mile east of Burket. He has been a full-time farmer since 1973 and prior to that, was in feed sales for six years.

A lifelong resident of the area, he is a 1956 graduate of Beaver Dam High School. He and his wife, the former Marilyn Lackey, have two children: Kevin, 23, of Rt. 1, Claypool and Keith, 17, at home.

The clerk's office was busy throughout the morning with last-minute filings- the final one coming at 11:59 a.m. when Betty Ann McConkey, Rt. 2, Rochester, filed for District V Tippecanoe Valley School Board. Her opponent is Wendell Scott.

Perry Hathaway elected local SWCD chairman

Perry Hathaway, a Seward Township dairy farmer, was elected chairman of the Kosciusko County Soil and Water Conservation District at its February business meeting.

He succeeds Myron Metzger, the owner of Metzger Farms in Jackson township, who has led the local SWCD for the past 17 years. Metzger, who has served as an SWCD board member since 1959 and was elected chairman in February, 1965, has chosen not to run for chairman again. He will continue to serve as a board member of the five-man board of supervisors.

Robert Norris was elected vice chairman and Marguerite Hoerr was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

In other business, the members heard a soil survey status report from Larry Staley, a local soil scientist. There are 36,000 acres remaining to be mapped of the 345,600 acres in Kosciusko County. The goal for 1982 is 26,000 acres.

Extension notes....

By: Patricia M. Rathbun
Extension Agent, Home Ec.
Fat, despite its bad press, is an essential part of your diet. Although too much fat, especially the wrong kinds, may be bad for your cholesterol level, your body still needs some.

Fat is the source of vital fatty acids, such as linoleic acid, needed for growth and healthy skin. Fats and oils carry some vitamins into the body, including A, D, E, and K.

Cholesterol has an important role to play in the body. But cholesterol can also cause fatty deposits in the inner linings of the arteries in some people. The result is that the artery wall thickens, thereby becoming less flexible and less able to adjust to the flow of blood. A narrowed or clogged artery can lead to heart attack or stroke. There is evidence that the type of fat you eat may make a difference. Studies show that polyunsaturated fats, generally higher in vegetable rather than animal fat, can actually help keep blood cholesterol low.

To help keep your cholesterol levels down, avoid too much saturated fat by choosing lean meat, fish, poultry, dry beans and peas as your protein source. Moderate your intake of butter, cream, hydrogenated margarines, shortening, coconut oil, eggs and organ meats.

And, read the labels carefully to determine both the amounts and types of fat contained in foods. Trim excess fat off meats and broil, bake or boil rather than fry your foods.

It's a poor brain that has to be fired by alcohol before it can function.

Area residents, Harold and Janice Shewman, Rt. 1, Akron, were recipients of two awards presented to them at the annual meeting of the Indiana State Dairy Association held Monday evening in Warsaw.

The certificate awarded by the State Association was in recognition of improvement in average milk production. The rolling average milk production of the dairy farm herds receiving recognition, in September was 2,000 or more pounds of four percent milk, higher than the previous year. Only 43 of the 1,047 herds on Dairy Herd Improvement tests were able to show this improvement, the association noted. The Shewmans had 49 cows on test.

The trophy presented the Shewmans by the Kosciusko County Association was for the most improved herd in butterfat.

Akron Bank co-sponsor T.V. documentary on American agricultural exports

Akron Exchange State Bank, through its membership in the American Bankers Association (ABA), will support American Agriculture Week by co-sponsoring a television film documentary which is scheduled to be aired on March 18, the day President Reagan has designated American Agriculture Day.

Prosperity in the Balance, a half-hour show hosted by veteran actor Rex Allen, and produced by Elanco Products Company, will be shown on WSBT-TV, channel 22 CBS, at 8 p.m. on March 18. The program takes an in-depth look at the role of American agricultural exports in the international balance of trade, and how several U.S. commodity groups have developed foreign markets for American Exports.

Highlights of the show, which was shot on location, include segments on how several commodity groups have successfully developed foreign markets:

- In Korea, the U.S. Feed Grains Council (USFGC) has increased pork consumption with the help of the president of the Korea Food Institute, who appears several times a month on Korean television to promote positive attitudes toward pork.

- In Germany, the American Soybean Association (ASA), through in-store cooking demonstrations and a communications program that targeted food editors, helped increase soybean oil consumption by 50 percent.

- In China, where the commercial baking industry is almost non-existent, U.S. Wheat Associates, Inc. (USWA) promoted the consumption of bread and noodles with a demonstration bakery near Beijing, where bakers were trained using modern baking equipment.
- In Italy, Cotton Incorporated

(CI) engineers toured the textile mills of a large manufacturer, examined fibers and machinery and offered expertise to reduce costly production down-time by using more American cotton in the fiber mix.

Prosperity in the Balance also examines the Reagan administration's position on exports, and it looks at the American consumer's point of view.

Annual stockholder's meeting

Highlights of 1981 were reviewed by J. Randall Leininger, president of Akron Exchange State Bank, at the annual stockholders' meeting on March 8. ## Agriculture Day to be celebrated Agriculture Day 1982 will be observed March 18 kicking off its ninth year of celebration. The day marks a recognition and celebration of the achievements of the entire U.S. food and agricultural economy, the world's largest commercial industry, with assets exceeding $1 trillion.

The theme for Ag Day is "Agriculture: It's Your Heartbeat, America!" Ag Day is directed nationally by the Agriculture Day Foundation and administered by the Agriculture Council of America.

Secretary of Agriculture, John R. Block, will serve as honorary national chairman of Ag Day 1982. "Every American should be proud of this nation's tremendous record of agricultural achievement," Block said. "It's a vital part of what makes America the great country that it is."

According to Robert Lanphier, president of the Agriculture Day Foundation and board chairman of the DICKEY-john Corp. in Auburn, Illinois, last year, President Reagan and the governors of 48 states proclaimed Agriculture Day an official observance, primarily at the urging of the many volunteers at the state and local level "who are the real keys to Ag Day's success. . . . Already this year, similar proclamations have been issued or are scheduled to be issued in Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and Tennessee (the serving territory of the Fourth Farm Credit District; and more than 40 other states. Legislation is moving through Congress to authorize a 1982 presidential proclamation.

Old is beautiful. The old create themselves. They create themselves by living in the eternal now; by seeking to get the most out of each precious moment, and by having open hearts and minds and sharing their love and happiness with others.

Positive constructive attitudes make their spirits so radiant, no one ever sees their wrinkles. Apparently creative aging adds to the length of life. Most certainly it adds to the quality of life. Age is a sign and proof of triumph over the forces of dissolution. Every added year is further evidence of the force of life you possess. It demonstrates that you escaped infant mortality, the diseases of childhood, the illnesses and accidents of middle life and the threats prolonged exposure to risks bring.

Some of the techniques for bringing us to full life span potential are not medical but social. We must all age. It is how we age that is important.

A simple prayer-God make me loving. God make me helpful.

You can help the ageing by being a volunteer--get involved in your own hometown nutrition program.

All senior citizens are welcome to join us for a well-balanced meal and fellowship with their friends and neighbors. Please call in your reservations between the hours of 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. prior to the day.

The Akron Keen-Agers enjoyed a film "Scottish Symphony" shown by Lisa Laymen. The celebration of Ted Waech's birthday took place with everyone enjoying the cake. He gave an interesting talk about his life.

Additional appropriation is adopted

The Tippecanoe Valley School Board members during their regular March meeting unanimously adopted a resolution of additional appropriation to the Cumulative Building Fund in the amount of $96,500 as advertised. Superintendent Baxter Paige presented proof and notice of publication and a motion made by Trustee Don Snipes made it a part of the minutes of the meeting. There were no comments from patrons attending the meeting about the appropriation.

Specifications on new buses were discussed at length with questions being asked on the cooling systems to be used and tire specifications with regard to tube or tubeless and brands used. Board approval was given with revision of specifications to include an alternate of Michelin tires.

During audience participation, patron Fred McSherry said he heard there were some school buses during the cold weather which had lost the transmission fluid, having it replaced with 10-40 oil instead of transmission fluid. He stated one bus driver noted he could not keep his bus in members as they meet to begin plans for the annual celebration. Committee members this year are (not in order) John and Debbie Gray, Dick Day, Bill Hively, Pat

Akron's 5th of July theme is "American Holidays on Parade"

Committee members for Akron's 5th of July celebration announced last week the choice for the theme for the parade as being "American Holidays on Parade." The gears were shifted into high-speed as the committee got things rolling to assure everyone who attends the annual event a good time.

A huge parade is being planned with invitations going out to bands, color guards, clubs and organizations to participate for trophies and prize money for floats. Plans are incomplete as yet but some changes will be made in the day's program over last year's events.

There will be lots of activity going on at all times. Entertainment, beauty and cutie contests, contests, games and some fun surprises and to top it all off, the usual great display of fireworks to end the day.

Committee members will be working on getting letters mailed, advertising ready and plans set for entertainment in the next few days, along with sponsoring the annual grade school basketball games as the first money making project for the 5th.

Miller family gifts Akron with adjoining park property

For the second time in a period of three months, Akron has been the recipient of property within the corporate limits. This time the property will be incorporated into the Akron Park in memory of the late Dr. and Mrs. V.C. Miller.

The gift is a three-quarter acre plot adjoining the park known as Evergreen Plantation and belongs to the five Miller grandchildren. In a meeting with the Akron Park Board, Sherri Miller Anglin, Scott Miller and Dr. Charles Miller discussed the plans for the property noting they wished the property cleaned up and maintained as a natural area, hopefully with paths and benches installed, but kept in its natural state with no buildings. It was agreed that a plaque would be installed in the area commemorating ating the many years of service that Dr. and Mrs. Miller gave the community.

The announcement of the Miller gift came in a regular meeting of the Akron Town Board as it met last week.

The first property acquired this year was the four lots on West Rochester Street donated by Dr. Kenneth Street.

Discuss Possible Negotiations
Akron Town Board members Charles Miller and Vernon Waymire and President Ron Fenimore along with Clerk Ernest Smith listened to Bill Hively, an interested Akron business man, as he suggested the board come up with some items of negotiation in anticipation of inquiries about the Chamberlin building which is being closed. Hively stated it would be a good idea to get the matter decided before too much interest is shown by businesses wishing to locate. He noted several items which could be negotiable for a stated period of time such as property tax relief, water and sewage.

Fenimore noted that it hadn't been a practice before to do this, and Hively told him that before there hadn't been the problem of empty buildings and people laid off work, and in order to get industry to locate, the town might have to make some concessions. Board member Miller agreed that competition is keen to get business to locate and the board should do anything in their power to get one to come to Akron.

Jobs and energy work together.

That's good to know!

Energy is the muscle of our economy. It's the most important ingredient for jobs, productivity and progress. That's why if we're to regain our industrial vitality and increase employment, we're going to need more energy.

So, it's essential that we plan and build now for the future. We know it's costing more; but we've got to stay ahead of your energy requirements as well as the needs of industries, businesses and farms. Conservation alone won't do it.

Granted, nobody likes paying higher prices, but higher priced energy is better than an unstable or inadequate energy supply.

At NIPSCO, we're doing our best to provide energy to protect everyone's job today and help create more jobs for tomorrow.

That's good to know.

Department of Highways open bids

The Indiana Department of Highways opened sealed bids on 70 contracts Tuesday in the Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge downtown Indianapolis. Official acts on the contracts will follow this Thursday. S. and Indiana highways in Wabash, Fulton, Miami and Kosciusko counties.

The Senate

Had the U.S. Senate failed to expel a New Jersey member found guilty in a court of law and sentenced to jail, it would have lost the respect of the nation.

The House managed to rid itself of its members convicted in the Abscam scandals and the controversy over New Jersey Democrat Harrison Williams was the Senate's only chance for vindication of its self respect and honor.

Williams was never one of the more popular members of the upper legislative body and his conduct disappointed many members there. His defense, by fellow Democrat Alan Cranston of California appeared to some as more of a political action than anything else. One doubts if Cranston helped his weak hopes for a presidential nomination in 1984 by his action, even in New Jersey.

Spring's Growing Hopes

Now is the time of year seed catalogues produce expansive hopes for summer. The pictures of lush vegetables, fruits and nuts stir one's imagination, and deplete one's pocketbook. It's all good, clean fun--and sometimes, even productive.

Experts say the biggest mistake garden enthusiasts make is to plant too big a garden, to fail to prepare the soil with enough mulch, fertilizer and lime. The pH factor simply indicates acid and alkaline content. If above 7, it's too alkaline and if below, too acid--for most crops.

Onions planted with carrots will often save the carrots from destruction. Peas must be planted very early. Corn can be interspersed with beans. A drop of mineral oil in the first corn ear silk will discourage worms. Etc.

Fruit and nut trees need spraying, several times a year usually--unless one is planting native wild cherries, plums, nuts, etc. The black walnut's trunk should be wrapped in aluminum foil in its young years, to protect the bark. Filberts should be trimmed liberally to produce a good center stem or trunk--they tend to grow into bushes.

Lime helps plants utilize fertilizers. Mulch is a must to keep the soil moist and porous and two bushels for every 100 square feet is a good minimum in garden planting.

If in doubt, the experts advise one to plant a small garden first, in well prepared soil, not so large that upkeep becomes a great chore in summer.

A tiller helps tremendously and rows of one's garden should be spaced for the tiller. Lastly, remember that fruit and nut trees like spring fertilizing (April is the best month usually; and well mulched soil).

They also should be sprayed in early spring and several more times before fall. By following these guidelines one is less likely to be disappointed in the future, after this month's high hopes and gourmet dreams.

Motherhood

The primary miracle on this earth is motherhood--loving mothers who day after day, tiring hour after tiring hour, feed, clothe, clean and care for their children. It continues day after day, week after week, month after month, year after year.

Mother love is so deep she sacrifices practically everything to properly, tenderly care for her children. Enjoyment of this noble duty stems from upbringing, training and natural inclination.

The strongest, most successful countries, those with the highest standards, are almost invariably countries where the care of children by their mothers is revered and respected. The communist system is for working mothers to turn over their children to central care centers. There, others take the little children in hand, not their mothers.

If necessary, and it often is, little children must be left in the hands of others. All mothers must sometimes be freed from this duty. Kindergarten and school, of course, take over as children grow older. But, generally, the care of babies and younger children has been by mothers in our non-communist world, and the miracle of loving mothers is still a miracle.

Why, then, do so many Americans seek to run mothers out of their homes, to portray a factory job, or business office job, as a step up the ladder from motherhood? Does anyone seriously believe little children are as well cared for, with as much love, by others?

Are working mothers themselves happier without their children? Is society, the future generation, aided by destroying the traditional motherhood concept? Glance at today's crime statistics for the answer.

VIRGO -- Aug. 23 to Sept. 22--Get off your high horse and stop being so contrary. You gain nothing by it. It serves only to make others around you miserable.

LIBRA -- Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--Avoid associates who bore you or get on your nerves. Cultivate friendships with those you enjoy.

SCORPIO -- Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--Work to develop a greater sense of compassion. You have a great deal to offer humanity with your above average capabilities.

CAPRICORN -- Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--Think positive! When you wish to make a point, talk softly. People will listen more willingly with a more receptive attitude, than if you loudly proclaim your wishes.

AQUARIUS -- Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--If you feel tired, it is because you are fighting life too hard. Relax! Those things you constantly fret about are beyond your control anyway.

PISCES -- Feb. 19 to March 20--You can reach the pinnacle of success if you will learn to delegate authority and stop trying to do everything yourself.

THE PEOPLE CALLED METHODIST

Every Methodist speaks for him/her self, or salvation is a personal relation between the person and God. We do not answer, only to God. We can choose our mode of baptism. We only put stress on the day-to-day walk with God.

We get some very strong, and some very strange, people in the Methodist Church because we are so different. The men who try to be bishop get elected to a much-too-high salary post, but the bishop does not speak for the membership of the church. I have been a member of the Methodist Church 62 years. No one, I say, no one speaks for me. I love Bishop Armstrong but when he speaks, he speaks for himself. No one else. He makes my appointments and can put me down, which some bishops have done. That is on their conscience, not as mine. I love the Methodist Church but that does not mean I go along with things I cannot say amen to.

We do not turn people out of the church, for we feel God will have the final judgment, and God is fair. I work in every denomination. I served a Missionary Church two years. I now serve a Community Church, also a United Methodist Church. People are people. They are all the same to me. A man said the other day, "I do not love God." I said, "That's all right. God loves you."

I have given 54 years to the Methodist Church and I plan on giving 21 more. I love every Methodist, as well as everyone else. I am glad that I only need to answer to God. He loves me. I will leave the final judgment to God. He does everything well. The Methodist Church has a free pulpit. No one tells a Methodist preacher what to say, except themselves. We hope God helps each minister.

The Struggle

Life is a struggle. We live. There are many things in our lives. We start out with just our bare skin. We don't own anything. We do not know anything. The time for us to start, so some of us never get to the starting signal. We wait for someone to do something for us; and after we run awhile, when we reach 65, we look for the government or some company to furnish our living.

First, no one owes us anything. Our parents gave us life, and as long as we breathe, we owe the world. All of our life we must be a productive member of society. We do not have the right to retire or to sit idle.

We have Sunday to go to church and to rest. The rest of the time we must work, and work is beautiful. I am writing this down at the Claims Department of the State Employment Office. To work is the only salvation for people. We used to call the older men that loafed around the court house, the Board of Trade; but they lived a very useless life and were not happy.

Children should have chores to do. The old need to work until they pass on. The only way the world moves is when we have full employment, both the young and the old. One-half of the world cannot support the other half. We need to return again to work. Then we will produce enough to put everyone to work. Then we will have a happy people.

The greatest enemy is the one who says, "Retire!"

VOLUNTEERS FOR REAGAN

by James J. Treires

President Reagan has dedicated himself to saving the American people from their government. People with problems who have had to seek help from faceless bureaucrats spending taxpayers' hard-earned money will be liberated from that embarrassing necessity in the future.

The President is not cutting these federally funded programs because he has no sympathy for the poor, the sick or the handicapped. On the contrary, he wants to return the country to the good old days when these unfortunates depended for help on the kind hearts of their neighbors.

That's called voluntarism, and Mr. Reagan insists it's the American way. Why should people depend on government to do what they can do for themselves? Our communities are filled with friendly folks who will voluntarily provide help to the less fortunate, without bureaucrats or forms to fill out or other intrusions by the federal government.

That's how the President sees it, at any rate. I must admit that I don't like the idea of voluntarism. It's too much of a guilt-trip for me to decide exactly how much of my time and money I owe to myself and my family and how much I owe to others. It's something like buying a gift for a friend's birthday, wedding or anniversary. You want to do the right thing and you want to be generous, but you also don't want to spend a lot more or a lot less than others in the same position. That's where a discreet telephone survey comes in handy. "I think $50 would be about right," or "Marjorie is spending $100, but I can't afford that much."

These decisions can be painful for everybody, the cheap and the generous, because there is no accepted standard, and outsiders never know to what extent the size of your gift has been determined by your affection for the recipient or the state of your finances. But these are private matters that must be dealt with privately.

Providing for public needs through voluntary contributions is nothing but a system for rewarding the mean-spirited at the expense of the warm-hearted. Maybe that's why taxes were invented.

If we want law and order, we don't pay for a police force by passing the hat. We vote for taxes that force everyone who will benefit from the service to help pay for it. It's a lot easier to pay your share when you know other people are paying theirs.

Taxes also allow your community to tailor your tax bills to the amount of benefit you receive and your ability to pay. If you live in a big house, you pay more than if you live in a small one. And if your income is large, you're required to pay more. To my way of thinking, taxation and public employees are the only fair and sensible way to deal with public problems like sanitation, fire protection, road maintenance, crime, water supply and welfare.

What is least defensible about Reagan's voluntarism is that it is so selective. He wants to relieve the taxpayers — especially the wealthy ones — from the burden of helping the sick, the poor and the disadvantaged, but he insists that the massive costs of his military build-up be paid for the hard way — by mandatory federal income taxes which now fall even more heavily on the middle- and lower-income groups.

Imagine what would happen if President Reagan applied his voluntarism idea to national defense. Would the average American family voluntarily give more than $2,500 a year to support the Pentagon? That's how much we are now paying.

If the President is confident that the people are solidly behind his effort to regain military supremacy, why doesn't he turn over Pentagon financing to voluntary private contributions? That would really get the government off our backs.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

I Have a very serious problem. I'm hoping you can help me.

I have to slip and go with a boy, whom I love very much. My father doesn't want me to go with this boy. Mom likes the boy, and knows we're seeing each other.

Dad says he and his family have a bad name, and won't work. I'll admit he comes from a family who has some people related to them with a bad name. But his family treats me nice, every time I go about them, and I like them. He works on about the hardest job around here, and his family works too and are honest. He's not like Dad thinks he is. He treats me nice when I'm with him.

I love him a great deal. We're planning on getting married in June if we can convince my father we love each other. Dad just doesn't seem to look at things like we do. What do you think about this?

H.J.--Tenn.

Answer:

You do not tell me how old you are and that would have a great deal to do with my advice.

A boy who is hard working and morally good should not be put in the same category with relatives who have a bad name but a man usually knows more about other men than women do and it is just possible that your father has some justification for his attitude towards this young man.

I certainly do not approve of a girl slipping off to meet a friend and if I were in your place I should try to have my mother talk with my father and arrange for this boy to visit you in your own home. If there is anything very bad about this boy your father should tell you what it is. And if there is nothing wrong he should keep an open mind about him and try to learn something about him.

Louisa

Flood victims might be eligible for tax break

Severe weather has recently caused flooding through many areas of Indiana.

The Internal Revenue Service reminds flood victims that any losses caused by flooding could lead to a tax break on their federal income tax returns.

People with losses should make a list of things damaged or destroyed and determine what the items were worth just before and after the loss. Before-and-after photographs could be helpful in documenting the losses in case tax returns are examined.

The Internal Revenue Service can answer casualty loss questions, as well as other federal tax questions, over a toll-free telephone system, weekdays, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at 1-800-382-9740. In addition, Internal Revenue Service offers a free Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualties and Thefts", which may be ordered over the toll-free number.

JUNE FULLER

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Here's a hobby the whole family can enjoy

By June Fuller
DEAR COUPON CLIPPER - We work together as a family on our couponing and refunding. For all of us it is a time to plan, to help each other and to share in the fruits of our labor.

What more could we ask from a hobby the entire family can enjoy?

Our couponing and refunding is exciting and there is always something to talk about. The children - ages 2, 5, 9 and 15 - all help in finding refund forms, saving box tops and labels, preparing refund requests for mailing and keeping a record of the refunds we send for.

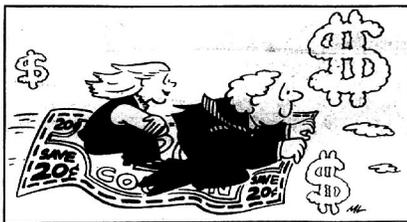

The 2-year-old looks for wrappers on the ground and holds them up as if to say, "Is this a good one, Mama?" Their involvement doesn't stop there. The children watch the mailbox every day for a refund check, a dollar bill, a gift or something else that's free.

In addition to these rewards, our refunds have paid for two family trips. What a joy it was to know that they were made possible because we all worked together. - Cheryl Ann Ritter and Family, Eugene, Ore.

DEAR CHERYL ANN - Thank you for your lovely letter.

I hope that other readers, especially those with young children, will make their couponing and refunding a family activity. It is truly a pastime that pays off in more ways than one.

DEAR COUPON CLIPPER - When a refund offer is made jointly by two companies, such as Nabisco and Nestle, who do you complain to if the refund doesn't arrive? - Clara W. from Bellows Falls, Utah.

DEAR CLARA - Based on your past experience, pick the company that you feel will be most responsive to your problem.

It doesn't pay to write complaint letters to both, since you will be doubling your cost to get the same refund. Stick with one company and pursue your inquiry all the way to the top if need be.

The Smart Shopper Award goes to Mrs. W.A. Suffridge of Nashville, Tenn. She saw a supermarket advertisement offering Pillsbury Plus cake mix for 48 cents. Then she used two 10-cent coupons to purchase two boxes for a total cost of 76 cents.

The following week I found a refund form in the store offering me a free box for sending in two box tops," says Mrs. Suffridge. "Since the cake mix is usually 99 cents, the company paid me 23 cents for trying out its product."

Mrs. Suffridge and other readers whose smart shopping experiences appear in this column receive a copy of the refunding magazine, The National Supermarket Shopper. Write to me in care of this newspaper.

Here's a refund form to write for: Tylenol, Band-Aid, Johnson's, Stayfree, Free Paperback Offer, P.O. Box 4213, Monticello, Minn. 55365. This offer of a paperback book worth up to $3.95 expires May 31, 1982.

for third grade students. They are (center) Julie Ralston and (right) Rayme Larimer. These students are in Mrs. Gearhart's class at Akron. She noted that she also has thirteen students who know all the states and their capitals. (News Photo)

STUDY AND WRITE RESEARCH PAPERS: Mrs. Rader's fifth grade class at Akron School has been participating in situations and events similar to those experienced by pioneers who headed west in early wagon trains. The would-be homesteaders made numerous individual and small group decisions (e.g., what to do about a lack of water, how to cross a flooded river, how to handle hostile Indians, and which trail to take.) Students learned how to take notes and write a brief research paper. Pictures were drawn, conestoga wagons and forts were made as challenge projects. These projects helped to provide the students with a realistic view of what pioneer life was really like. Some of the projects will be on display at Day Hardware, Akron, during the next few weeks. Pictured above are the students in Mrs. Rader's class along with some of the projects. The students are: (not in order) Jennifer Ogan, Terry Barnes, Chad Brouyette, Laurie Bowyer, Ashley Conner, Kerri Defibaugh, Randy Fields, Mike Harsh, Holly Howard, Sondra Johnson, Diane Lester, Jeff Lester, Craven Lynn, Keith Mims, Jana Murphy, Warren Ousley, Alicia Parker, Kristy Quinlan, Jimmy Sheetz, Joey Shepherd, Scott Smith, Shawn Spence, Sori Stavedahl, Aimee Vojtasek, Gary Wagoner, Cathy Bailey, Trisha Bennett, Mike Heffner. 5th gear and had to hold it in by hand. Board president Con Shewman, told McSherry the board had been told by International, the manufacturer, to use 10-40 oil, after 5 buses had to have transmissions repaired. McSherry suggested this should be considered when school buses are purchased. Shewman noted it had already been considered as International made no allowances for damage repair to the transmissions on the buses now in use.

Fuel Oil Quotes

A motion was accepted by the board to reject all quotes received on fuel oil by suppliers. The decision was made due to fluctuating prices. Superintendent Paige suggested the corporation go on all month-to-month basis. Calling suppliers on the list when needed, to get the most recent quotes.

Interested suppliers may get their names on the list by calling the superintendent's office.

Project CASE

A review of Project CASE proposed by Fulton County Judge Douglas Morton during last month's board meeting was made. The project was to be used as an alternative to expelling a student from school. CASE is to be funded by the Fulton County Council if approved by the school corporation, therefore, could only be offered to residents of Fulton County.

Superintendent Paige said he could not recommend the project on this account. He said it could be considered on a special basis and the outcome with other schools having students from more than one county, would be watched. Trustees Meredith and Snipes noted they would like a follow-up on the success or failure of the program.

Other Business

During other business the board:
•set teacher evaluations by principals for April 12.

•approved a contract with the Mentone Youth League for June 7 and 8 for a B. J. Thomas Concert in conjunction with Mentone's Centennial Week.

•approved a contract for Robert Shumaker, chief negotiator for the school board, with the same provision as 1981-82 contract.

•accepted the resignation of James Gilmer, social studies teacher at Akron School to allow him to work in a Christian School near Plymouth.

Principals' Reports

High School Principal Robert Meyers, told the board activities at the high school included the Athletic Banquet on Wednesday, March 17; the 8th grade orientation on Thursday, March 18 for students and parents; of the participation of seniors and juniors in an employability course through the Youth Employment

Council of Kosciusko County. He informed the board the music department would be hosting the Auxiliary Corps contest on Saturday, March 27.

Mr. England noted Burket 4th grade and kindergarten students would be taking part in a General Telephone Company program on use of the phone. He announced parent-teacher conferences to be held March 25 and 26, and noted Burket would be participating in the 4th annual tornado exercises.

Mentone Principal Jack Fisher announced Mentone's Athletic Banquet, and their Science Fair for grades 4-8 to be judged on March 24, would be open for the public on March 25 and 26 during parent-teacher conferences. He noted there has been a lot of work done in the school restrooms and on drains, with more work planned on the boys' locker rooms.

Akron Principal Dan Kramer, noted they would be taking part in the tornado exercises and also holding parent-teacher conferences during the same time as Mentone School. March 23 is the National Honor Society induction at Akron School. The annual basketball games for students, grades 2-5 will be held in the gym on Thursday, April 1, beginning at 6 p.m.

Public Hearing

The next meeting of the school board will be on Monday, March 29 at the high school at 7:30 p.m. for a public hearing on a proposed $4 million construction and remodeling project at Burket and Akron Schools. This will begin the public hearings on the lease rental proposal between the school corporation and the Tippecanoe Valley Elementary School Building Corporation.

The next regular meeting of the board will be Monday, April 19.

Miller

Hively asked if the board could make a decision on the matter so it could be used as an incentive to get a business interested. He noted that he had been told that United Technology which owns the Chamberlin building will be turning the property over to a realtor to be sold.

Trustee Miller made the motion to offer, for a period of time, free water as negotiable item to any business interested in locating in Akron. Fenimore made an amendment to the motion in that the town would be willing to negotiate water and sewage utilities with any incoming business interested in the Chamberlin building. Miller withdrew his motion in favor of Fenimore's. The vote was unanimously in favor of the motion to negotiate water and sewage utilities.

Hively told the board the Akron Chamber of Commerce was to contact people in Indianapolis and the United Technology, Dearborn headquarters to get any help available in locating businesses willing to come to Akron.

Parking Problem Discussed

Akron's on-street parking problem was an item of discussion again. Since the notice placed in the local paper did not do the trick of clearing parking space for out-of-town shoppers, the board discussed other possibilities.

There is no parking ordinance concerning time limits for a parking space, which can be used, and board members agreed if the town had an ordinance, the time it takes to enforce it plus the fact that the town would receive none of the revenue from parking tickets was a negative factor.

It was suggested the board have police contact people who park on streets for long periods of time. Fenimore noted there could be more parking space made available at the EMS ambulance shed lot with special places marked for emergency personnel. He also noted the need to line the town parking lot to increase the parking area.

New Ordinance Adopted

Board members voted to law a new ordinance (No. 1-82) on licensing and riding of bicycles and motorized bicycles prepared for the town by the police department, to become law 60 days from date and upon advertisement.

The ordinance sets registration and licensing of all bicycle and motorized bicycles as described in the ordinance within Akron Town limits and sets a license fee of $2.00 per bicycle, non-transferable.

On provisions in the ordinance, the bicycle or motorized bicycle must be registered at the Akron Police Department within the 60 day limit. On registration the owner will receive a metal license tag to be placed on the bike. This will make it easy to identify if the bike is lost, borrowed or stolen and turned over to the police, and will give the owner a positive means of identification.

The ordinance also outlines the riding and parking of both type bicycles and recovery, impoundment and auction of unclaimed articles.

Other Business

During other business the board:

•approved the motion made by Fenimore to pay a $256.10 indebtedness of the Park Board from the funds to be received from sale of a park lot to Mike Tilden. The funds from the sale of the lot will be placed in the town's Park Fund.

•discussed replacing the light bulbs in the park shelters which are seemingly always missing or broken, with shatter-proof fixtures, price for the fixture is being determined.

•passed a motion by Fenimore to raise the rental price on the park shelters for private use to $10.00 for use of half the shelter and $20.00 for use of a full shelter.

•acted on a motion to put into the General Fund the $150.00 held in an escrow account at the Akron Bank on account with the Bear's Den and former owner Shambarger as insurance for payment of removal of an enclosure made over a walk-way between the two buildings composing the business. This agreement was dated March 1975.

•noted Saturday, April 3 has been set as the first work day on the new addition at the town park. Project engineering chairman Bill Lynn and Ross Burdge, President of the Akron Lions are to coordinate efforts. The work is set to begin at 8:30 a.m.

•decided to have attorney file claim in bankruptcy court to recover any money available, owed by Wayne Sorg on water and sewage bills.

•heard Clerk Smith on a letter from State Board of Accounts in respect to new laws passed by state legislature during the last session with concern for need of a new ordinance concerning employee's fringe benefits, vacation and sick leave.

•passed on a motion made to accept the $5.00 service charge by Standard Oil for service of deducting state and excise tax off the monthly billings to the town.

The next meeting of the board will be April 20, at 7:30 p.m.

TAKEN FROM THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP NEWS
APRIL 1, 1942
40 YEARS AGO

The Mentone Lions club bowling team, which competed with 35 other teams at Terre Haute March 15th, has been notified that it placed eighth in the state. The Mentone team, composed of Raymond Bare, Philip Blue, F.R. Burns, Everett Long and Merl Linn, knocked down a total of 2987 pins-54 pins behind the second place winners.

The members of the Mentone High School class of '42 who last year caused a sensation with their presentation of "One Mad Night," have chosen as their senior play a riotous farce entitled, "Aunt Tillie Goes To Town." Cast members include: Mary Esther Smith, Grace Rans, Barbara Creighton, Flossie Mikel, Iola Tucker, John Tucker, John Besson, Bob Anderson, Wayne Bowser, Juanita Baker and Frances Nettrouer.

Corp. Earl Rush was present at the Mentone Lions club Wednesday evening and answered a number of questions regarding life in the Marines and about the people of Iceland where he has been stationed.

Chet Manwaring, who has been enjoying the Florida weather the past few weeks, writes that "he sees that grapefruit is just as cheap in Mentone as in Florida." Advertising in the Co-Op News goes a long ways--and trading in Mentone saves going a long ways to spend more.

Receives 15 year sentence

Stephen Kruger, 21, Akron, was sentenced Monday afternoon to 15 years in the Indiana Department of Corrections after he pleaded guilty to armed robbery and burglary.

Fulton Circuit Court Judge Douglas Morton sentenced Kruger to 10 years imprisonment for the armed robbery charge, stemming from an armed robbery at Berkway Supermarket on Jan. 27, and to five years in prison for burglary in connection with the theft of cash and liquor from the Dam Landing in December 1981.

Morton ordered the two terms be served consecutively and Kruger was given credit for time already spent in jail since Jan. 27.

Kruger was also ordered to pay the court costs.

Morton gave Kruger the standard sentencing for the two charges.

A partner in both incidents, James Bussard, 22, Akron, was sentenced to terms of five years and 10 years in the Indiana Department of Corrections after he pleaded guilty of conspiracy to commit robbery while armed with a deadly weapon in connection with the Berkway robbery and burglary at the Dam Landing. Bussard was ordered to serve the sentences concurrently.

Bussard is now serving both sentences in the Indiana Department of Corrections.

Food is one of our most important daily needs. It gives us energy to work and to play; makes us grow and keeps our bodies strong and healthy. Without food, we die. All living things, plants, animals and man need food to live and grow, but only plants make their own food. They also provide food for animals and man. All foods that we eat come from plants and animals.

Customs and religion influence what people eat. Millions of people in the Orient eat little else but rice. Eskimos live almost entirely on meat and fish. Some people in Central Asia live mostly on milk and milk products. The San Blas Indians of Panama eat mostly fruit and vegetables. Some people eat foods that others would not eat. Examples: dried powdered grasshoppers, broiled octopus, duck tongues, fish bladders, fried butterfly cocoons, python soup, birds nest soup, rooster combs and shark fins.

The kinds of food that people eat depend largely on what plants they grow and what animals they can raise. It also depends on what foods they can buy from other countries. Bread is the largest single food item used throughout the world, but all bread sweet or sour, brown or white, heavy or light is made from flour and all flour comes from grain. We often eat other grains, cooked rice, oats, corn.

Weekly food requirements vary according to age, sex, and kind of work a person does. Nutrition experts agree that the average adult should eat these kinds of foods: cereals, breads, milk, meat, citrus fruit, potatoes, leafy green and yellow vegetables, other fruit and vegetables, eggs, dried beans, peas, nuts. Foods today give the world a better diet than even the wealthiest of families could have enjoyed during the late 1800's.

The Akron Keen-Agers invite all Senior Citizens to join them for a well-balanced meal at the Akron Nutrition Site. If you would like to join us please call in your reservation the day before, between the hours of 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. If you would like to be a volunteer for the nutrition program, please let me know, for it is through your time and effort this program is working.

Scheduled menus for the week of March 29-April 2 are:

Monday-Ham, Au gratin Potatoes, Lima Beans, White Bread, Fruit Jello, Two Cookies, Milk.

Tuesday-Meat Loaf, Green Beans, Parsley Potatoes, White Bread, Fruit Cobbler, Milk.

Wednesday-Turkey and Dressing with Gravy, Cranberry Sauce, Cole Slaw, Hot Roll, Apricots, Milk.

Thursday-Cubed Ham with Great Northern Beans, Spinach, Buttered Carrots, Cornbread, Pears, Milk.

Friday-Smoked Sausage, Mashed Potatoes, Sauerkraut, Wheat Bread, Fruit Jello, Milk.

OFFERS NEW HOPE

BOSTON -- Doctors giving the first detailed account of how they cut into a woman's womb and operated on her 5-month-old fetus say such surgery "offers new hope" for the unborn who may otherwise die or be malformed because of physical defects.

The motorcycle cop stared in astonishment as the tiny foreign car sped down the road; it was jumping two or three feet into the air every half minute or so. The policeman sped after it.

"What's the matter with the puddle-jumper?" he shouted at the driver. "Not a thing, officer," said the man. "It's me. I've got the hiccupes."

Upon the birth of their first child, a young father was asked if he did not think the new baby would bring him and his wife even closer together.

"Certainly will," he said. "Now we have a common enemy."

The fellow on the crowded bus could stand it no longer. "Madam," he began politely, "you are standing on my foot."
"Put your stupid foot where it belongs," snapped the woman.
"Don't tempt me," murmured the man, "don't tempt me!"

By looking into any woman's pocketbook, one discovers that money isn't everything.

"Of course I spend more than you make, dear! I have confidence in you!"

POLICE INVESTIGATION: The Akron Police Department, along with the Fulton County Sheriff's Department, are investigating leads in the vandalism done early Friday morning in Akron to the Akron police vehicle, the Fulton County Sheriff Deputy's car and the window at Murphy's Furniture.

Farmers' Appreciation Night at Valley

The idea of area merchants and the TVHS Future Farmers of America co-sponsoring an "Appreciation Night" for area farmers was a new one, but after the turn-out for the free "whole-hog" sausage and pancake supper held last Thursday evening at Valley, it probably will be given approval as an annual event.

Approximately 500 area farmers, their families and business people enjoyed the free meal and visiting with their friends and neighbors. The F.F.A. members, their parents, and business people from the Mentone, Akron, Burket and Talma areas joined forces to cook and serve the meal, and even had some fun doing the work.

Businesses donating to the first "Farmers Appreciation Night" at Valley were: Frank Mfg., Akron Supermarket, Craig Welding, Akron Farm Supply, Millers Hardware, Burket Elevator, South End Motors, Delft-Blue, Akron Feed and Grain, King Memorial Home, Day Hardware, Doering TV and Appliance, Burket Agri-Service, B.J.'s, Kralis Bros., Powell's Market, Southside Repair, Akron Auto Parts, Bakers Electronics and Appl., Akron Concrete Pro-

Buying computer?

Use of a computer on the farm probably won't save much production or management time, but it probably will improve the day-to-day managerial control of the farm business. That is the advice of Craig Dobbins, Purdue University extension agricultural economist.

"With the development of new electronic technologies, the cost of computer hardware has declined drastically, making computer ownership possible for small businesses and individuals," Dobbins pointed out.

"The publicity surrounding the use of these small computers leads one to believe that they are capable of doing almost anything," he said.

"Small computers are capable of doing many things, but that does not mean that the computer you buy will do what you want it to do." Dobbins said that farmers considering using a small computer in their farm business should decide what tasks they want the computer to perform, then find out if computer programs exist which will do the desired job.

Having the programs you need to get the computer to do what you want is essential for making it a useful management tool. Computers will do only what they are instructed to do. Without programs to give the instructions, the computer is useless.

Advice on on-farm computer use will be available in a special three-day conference planned at Purdue Nov. 22-24. The conference, which will also include a trade show, is being sponsored by the Purdue School of Agriculture.

Refunds to NIPSCO will reduce cost of gas to customers

Refunds totaling $10,642,421 from Northern Indiana Public Service Company's five pipeline suppliers, including $1,125,657 earned from an interest bearing escrow account established by the utility for the exclusive benefit of its customers, will be passed on to NIPSCO customers, the Company said today.

The utility filed a verified statement with the Public Service Commission of Indiana on Thursday, March 25, 1982 requesting a decrease in the cost of gas to customers to reflect the refunds it received from the pipeline companies. This decrease will reduce rates beginning in April, 1982, for all the utility's residential, commercial and industrial gas customers.

If the new rate schedules are approved by the Public Service Commission as requested, the average residential customer using gas for homeheating and other purposes (147,600 cubic feet a year) will be paying 50 cents per month less or approximately $6.02 per year less than he would have been paying prior to the downward rate revision.

NIPSCO residential customers using gas for household purposes other than homeheating (39,800 cubic feet annually) will pay about 13 cents per month less or approximately $1.60 per year less for this service under the new schedules.

Adjustments in gas rates to NIPSCO customers, usually upward and sometimes downward, have occurred and will continue to occur as rates from NIPSCO's five pipeline suppliers change.

This adjustment petition is the fourth filed by NIPSCO this year. One has been an increase and three have been decreases.

The net effect of all adjustments filed this year is to bring the annual cost of gas for the average NIPSCO residential customer using natural gas for homeheating and other purposes (147,000 cubic feet a year) to $613.80, beginning in April, compared to $598.35 at the beginning of the year, if this petition is approved by the Commission.

The average NIPSCO customer using natural gas for purposes other than spaceheating (39,800 cubic feet a year) will pay annual costs of $193.47, compared to $189.29 on January 1, 1982.

Ask federal aid

Indiana Civil Defense Director William Patterson has asked Federal officials to make Small Business Administration assistance available to those people in Kosciusko and Fulton counties, who had flood damage during the recent flooding.

The paperwork to release state and federal funds to help flood-ravaged Allen County has been signed, but Governor Robert D. Orr wants federal officials to extend President Reagan's flood disaster declaration to Stark, DeKalb, Marshall and LaPorte counties. If approved, residents of these counties will be eligible for most of the public assistance programs currently available for Allen County, which was declared a presidential disaster area.

Patterson forwarded Governor Orr's request to Ron Buddecke, the FEMA coordinating officer in Fort Wayne, where it will be forwarded to the FEMA regional and national offices for review.

Included in the request for SBA assistance were Adams, Elkhart, Huntington, Jasper, LaGrange, Noble, Porter, Pulaski, St. Joseph, Stueben, Wells and Whitley counties which border the counties requesting funds for disaster assistance.

Kosciusko County Civil Defense Director Sonya Creighton, set the damage estimate for roads and bridges in the county at $400,000. A door-to-door survey of homes was being made by the Red Cross to determine damage, but no estimate has yet been given. Earlier, an estimate had been set at $500,000 to $1 million.

REMOVING NAME

NEW YORK -- The New York Times is withdrawing its name from the title of a controversial new college guidebook compiled by the newspaper's education editor, it was learned recently.

Jobs and energy work together.

That's good to know!

Energy is the muscle of our economy. It's the most important ingredient for jobs, productivity and progress. That's why if we're to regain our industrial vitality and increase employment, we're going to need more energy.

So, it's essential that we plan and build now for the future. We know it's costing more; but we've got to stay ahead of your energy requirements as well as the needs of industries, businesses and farms. Conservation alone won't do it.

Granted, nobody likes paying higher prices, but higher priced energy is better than an unstable or inadequate energy supply.

At NIPSCO, we're doing our best to provide energy to protect everyone's job today and help create more jobs for tomorrow.

Media Bias

What most Americans don't realize is that there are two medias in this country. One is the traditional small and medium-size newspaper in the non-metropolitan areas of the nation. The other is the national circulation media.

There are also two medias in the broadcast world. The small and medium-sized radio stations are in the same boat as small and medium sized weekly and daily newspapers. Television stations, however, are all in the "national" boat. Their most-watched news programs come from national networks. In effect, they are not really local stations, though they often feature an editorial and also local news.

Newspapers are different in that they select from national news services what they will print. TV stations just turn a dial and the network takes over; network newsmen decide what stories are to be presented. So there's quite a difference.

At the beginning of the seventies Vice President Spiro Agnew lashed out at the media elite, charging liberal bias. He was right, of course. It didn't take the media long, digging into Agnew's past, to find enough to get him out of office. And a few years later the national media contributed greatly in hounding President Nixon out of office. (Mr. Nixon also did his share.)

Now comes a scientific study which proves just how biased the national media is. The study was commissioned by the Research Institute On International Change at Columbia University. The researchers concentrated on national newspapers, news magazines and television networks. They talked with 240 journalists and broadcasters.

They found that two fifths of them hail from three states--New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. They usually come from well-to-do families and were overwhelmingly liberal, and Democrats. For example: 94 percent voted for Johnson in 1964, 87 percent for Humphrey in 1968, 81 percent for McGovern in 1972 and 81 percent for Carter in the last presidential election.

That being so, how can anyone expect their overwhelmingly "pack" virus not to spread into news presentations? That would be expecting the impossible. And, of course, it does. The survey also showed: over half these liberals feel the U.S. is "exploiting" the third world (in spite of years of financial aid); 86 percent of them never or seldom attended any religious service, and when asked to rate their colleagues as conservatives or liberal, only eight percent were said to be conservatives!

This explains--in the national media--why news is often worded like it is, with built-in prejudice and loaded questions and statements. It explains, to some extent, the bad press President Reagan is now getting (after a honeymoon period) and will inevitably get--as will any other conservative.

Responsible?

The Washington Post recently front-paged a covert operation of the CIA in Central America.

Is this responsible journalism? The Post and New York Times, which printed stolen secret documents about Vietnam, obviously feel their editors can decide when to print intelligence secrets and when not to.

Such a policy can be fatal to fellow Americans. In 1942 The Post printed a secret about an agent calling on President Roosevelt. Author Ronald Lewin (The American Magic) says if anyone in England had done that he would have soon found himself in the Tower of London.

Jim Kilpatrick reprimanded The Post in the latest incident, but few others in the fourth estate mentioned it. In 1942, The Chicago Tribune revealed U.S. decrypters were regularly reading secret Japanese codes and ciphers. The Japanese, fortunately, didn't pick this up; if they had, it would have likely cost thousands of U.S. soldiers, sailors and airmen their lives.

B. J. Crowley's HOROSCOPE

Week of April 4, 1982

ARIES -- The Arian has tremendous drive. He is almost always successful. He is often an over-achiever. Seldom is he a quiet person, talking so much he has few secrets. He likes people and wants them to like him. Best color is red, lucky numbers are 2 and 4 and lucky day is Sunday.

ARIES -- March 21 to April 20--If you feel someone has dealt you a cruel injustice, harbor no malice. The time is near when they must suffer the consequences of their act.

TAURUS -- April 21 to May 20--The old saying "all work and no play" applies to you now in reverse. Stop playing so much and start working.

GEMINI -- May 21 to June 20--Worry about the second impression as much as the first. If you lay it on too thick, you may find the sledding a little rough on the second encounter.

CANCER -- June 21 to July 22--Better forget the idea that "what's mine is mine" and "what yours is mine." You must be tolerant of the needs and feelings of others.

LEO -- July 23 to Aug. 22--Keep goals realistic. Before making a major change in your lifestyle, be certain the situation is one you can live and be happy with.

WHY DECONTROL NATURAL GAS PRICES?

by James J. Treires

To an economist, the fascinating thing about the campaigns to decontrol prices of oil and natural gas is that the only arguments in favor of these measures are based on abstract theory, not practical problems.

When President Carter decided to decontrol petroleum prices, there were no real shortages and all the producers were making excellent profits as a result of the OPEC-induced rise in world prices. But the industry's economists insisted that the free market and competition always work better than government controls, and it was on that theoretical basis that decontrol was sold to Congress. Despite overwhelming evidence that the U.S. market for oil products has been something less than a model of free enterprise ever since John D. Rockefeller tried to monopolize it back in the 19th century, President Carter turned the nation's consumers over to the tender mercies of the oil giants by phasing out control of petroleum prices.

What has happened since is not what the theorists predicted or the oil companies promised. Their full-page ads told us they needed billions to finance new exploration and drilling, but decontrol has done a lot more to increase their profits than it has to increase domestic supplies. As for prices, the wonderful forces of free competition have sat on their hands while the cost of gasoline has been pushed up to the point described as the "monopoly price" in the textbooks.

To use plain English, today's gasoline prices are based on what the market will bear, not costs of production and competition. And the only reason we are paying $1.50 a gallon and not $2.00 (aside from the Reagan recession, of course) is that even monopolies must cope with the fact that more total income can be reaped at the lower price. The Washington Post may describe the oil business as "fiercely competitive," but the massive profits of the industry as a whole tell a different story.

For the consuming public, decontrol of oil prices has brought none of the promised benefits, but it has confirmed the "worst case" predictions of its harmful effects. Millions of families are suffering in cold homes because heating oil has been priced high above any justifiable level. The U.S. auto industry has been seriously damaged, and many small businesses have been pushed into bankruptcy by escalating energy costs.

The only beneficiaries of oil decontrol have been the companies themselves; their profits dominate industrial statistics, and they are being used mainly to buy up other companies.

Now we see evidence of a powerful campaign to decontrol natural gas prices. President Reagan is strongly in favor of it, and his reason is the same one Carter used--the abstract principle of the free market. Since there is only one gas pipe coming into each home, it is a little harder for the free-market ideologists to explain how decontrol will create more competition.

In practical terms, nothing is "broke" in the natural gas industry, and nothing needs to be fixed. No company is losing money at today's prices; in fact, profits are better than ever.

But there is a problem in the White House. Faced with a monstrous deficit due to his ill-advised tax cut and massive Pentagon expansion, President Reagan is desperate for new revenues. Some of his advisers are telling him, as columnist Joseph Kraft wrote recently, "... deregulation (of natural gas) is probably the best thing the President can do." What Kraft means is that deregulation accompanied by a windfall profits tax would bring in another $20 billion a year, and thus help to reduce the deficit.

The Free Enterpriser in the White House is, unfortunately, on record as being for decontrol but against a windfall profits tax. The clever way out of this bind may be to let President Reagan take credit for decontrol and let the Democrats take the rap for the windfall profits tax. In any event, it will be the consumer who gets the shaft.

To the Editor:

It's A Race!
Having won a one-minute shopping spree at one of the Marsh Stores, I find it has generated a lot of pep. I am waiting, because of my hip, while my son runs for me. We may not get much but whatever we get, it will help me feed some hungry person.

A man brought me two bushels of turnips. Someone else brought 400 lbs. of candy. I have given away 200 pounds of the candy already and most of the turnips. I am planning dinners around Easter to shut-ins. Deviled eggs. Boiled eggs. A dozen eggs to cook as they like. Each will get a Ding-Dong and an apple. It's fun to watch old people. Some are different.

I will have an egg hunt for the children. We all know eggs are not Easter, but the beauty of eggs came out of Easter. So many beautiful things have come out of Christmas and Easter. God is so good to his people. If it weren't for our special days, life would be dull. God made the smiles. The beautiful babies. The tenderness. He made Muncie with its fine people.

Monday I get to plant my garden, if it doesn't rain. Our flowers and our turnips are coming out. Spring is here. I am glad. No place is as beautiful as Muncie in the springtime. Leaves, flowers, new foals. Frisky calves. It's God's world. Bless you and yours.

Garrett H. Phillips
P.S. We got $409.00 worth in the one-minute run. Thanks!

Farmers more than doubled their base acreage enrollment last week in the 1982 feed grains, rice, upland cotton and wheat acreage reduction programs, according to Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block.

Block said he is pleased at the sign up participation which as of March 12 had enrolled 25.4 million acres of base acreage, increasing from 11.2 million reported March 4. However, Block once again urged farmers to take a serious look at the acreage reduction program as it affects their operations and sign up before the April 16 deadline.

Base acreage enrolled through March 12 includes 11.5 million under the feed grain program, 756,000 under the rice program, 1.8 million under the upland cotton program and 11.3 million under the wheat program.

Farmers who sign up to participate in the acreage reduction programs for upland cotton, rice and wheat agree to reduce their base acreage of these commodities by at least 15 percent while feed grain producers will voluntarily reduce their base acreage by 10 percent. The acreage taken out of production will be devoted to a conservation use.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I have always lived in a large city but my husband's business has recently caused us to have our headquarters here in a small town. The people are unusually friendly but they frustrate me by their informality. None of them ever think of calling to tell you they are going to pay you a visit or ask if it suits you for them to come. They simply drop in. I may be in the midst of making a cake or doing my cleaning but that doesn't seem to worry them. People always called us before they came when we lived in a city. Do you think I should let them know how I feel?
J.J.--Miss.

the formality in large places is the fact that one has to travel much farther to see friends and doesn't wish to make the trip and then find no one there. It's no great discomfort in a small place to go a block or two and find people not at home. Distances are so short that the visitor can make several trips during the afternoon.

You could possibly suggest to your new friends that you would like for them to give you a phone call before they come as you could then arrange your work so that you could enjoy their company rather than finish up some chore that you have started.

Personal Injury Accidents

Area police officers have investigated the following personal injury accidents:

Jerry A. Warren, 33, of 719 South Union St., Warsaw, stopped at the corner of Prairie and Columbia streets, then started across Prairie Street, and his car collided with an auto driven by Jerry D. Bradley, 22, Rt. 1, Etna Green. City police said Warren was northbound on Columbia Street and Bradley was westbound on Prairie Street when the mishap occurred.

A passenger in the Warren vehicle, Diane S. Warren, 34, Warsaw, complained of neck pain. After Warsaw fireman used "jaws" to open a car door, Mrs. Warren was removed from the vehicle by Multi-Township Emergency Medical technicians and transported to Kosciusko Community Hospital, where she was examined.

Police cited Warren for an obstructed (frosted) window and failure to yield the right-of-way, and ticketed Bradley for an obstructed window.

There was between $1,001 and $2,500 damage to each vehicle, according to police.

Jodi L. Jamison, 16, Rt. 1, Claypool, was northbound on County Rd. 450 West when her vehicle hit a hole and she lost control. The auto struck the corner of the bridge as it went off the west side of the road and came to a halt in four feet of water in a stream.

Miss Jamison suffered an abrasion on her face, but declined treatment at the scene.

There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to both her car and the county highway bridge, according to county police.

Daryl A. Sand, 19, Rt. 8, Warsaw, stopped at the intersection of Center and Adams streets in Warsaw, and as he started to proceed onto Center Street, his auto collided with a vehicle operated by Jill M. Yarger, 16, of 2822 East Patterson Rd., Warsaw. Sand told city police he did not see Yarger's westbound vehicle.

A passenger in the Yarger vehicle, William S. Yarger, 49, of 2822 East Patterson Rd., Warsaw, complained of pain in his arm. He declined treatment at the scene.

There was between $200 and $1,000 damage to Sand's vehicle and between $1,001 and $2,500 damage to Yarger's auto, police reported.

A truck owned by David A. Lewis, 17, Rt. 1, Mentone, collided with an auto driven by Willy E. Willson, 56, of 1004 Country Club Ln., Warsaw, on the Wooster Road. Willson's car traveled several feet, swerving back and forth on the road and came to a halt against a pole. According to county police, Lewis pulled out of a side street and his truck hit the side of Willson's car. Willson was westbound on the Wooster Road.

Warsaw firemen were summoned to the scene and used "jaws" hydraulic extrication equipment to open a door. Then, Multi-Township emergency medical technicians removed a passenger from the front seat of Willson's auto.

Willson was treated at Kosciusko Community Hospital for lacerations on his face and hand. There was approximately $2,000 damage to Willson's car, and no damage estimate listed for the Lewis vehicle, police said.

Incident Reports

Local law enforcement officials have investigated the following incidents:

The automobile stolen following an armed robbery last Tuesday in a Warsaw home was recovered by city police one day later. The car owned by Joe Perkins, 430 North Parker St., Warsaw, was found abandoned at the corner of Park Avenue and Clark Street around 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Perkins was held at knife-point by a man who took his billfold, keys, pocket watch, and piggy bank full of coins. After taking the items, the robber and his accomplice drove away in Perkins' vehicle. No suspects have been apprehended.

John Garthee, Rt. 1, Claypool, Beaver Dam Lake reported to county sheriff's office that someone had apparently turned off the electricity in his home while he was gone for three weeks. A pump in the home froze and cracked, causing $200 damage.

Donna F. Shelton, 17, Rt. 7, Warsaw, told city police that a leather coat worth $250 was stolen from her car while it was parked behind the local bus station in downtown Warsaw.

Paula Calhan, 18, of 240 Gilliam Dr., Warsaw, reported the theft of two stereo speakers, a cassette tape player and three tapes, valued at $153. The items were taken from her car, between 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. last Thursday while it was parked at Warsaw Community High School.

Clarence H. R. Bock, 25, of 935 East Main St., Warsaw, reported to city police that the janitor at Penguin Point, 408 North Detroit St., where Bock is employed, had found two bowling balls on March 10 in the trash bin.

The incident was not reported earlier because the janitor, John Church, had forgotten to tell Bock. The bowling balls are in possession of the City Detective Division.

Robert and Francis Maynard, of Marion, were advised by County police that their cottage, near the Jot-Em-Down Store, Barbee area, had been entered recently. A determination of possible stolen items will be made at a later date. Bill Hawn, a neighbor, noticed the intrusion, and reported it to county authorities.

Local law enforcement officials have investigated the following accidents:

John McKim, Rt. 1, Leesburg, told county police that thieves siphoned approximately 18 gallons of gasoline from his motor home while it was parked next to his Irish Lake home.

Ken Kendle, Rt. 7, Green Acres Trailer Court, Warsaw, discovered an attempted break-in of his mobile home last Tuesday. He noticed pry marks on the door.

Thieves took a bicycle belonging to Gene Young, 42, of 509 East Lyon St., Warsaw. The bike was taken from a shed on the Young property sometime Monday or Tuesday.

Attention residents

As you are well aware we are rapidly approaching that season of the year when we must be ever alert to rapidly changing weather conditions/conditions that spawn TORNADOS.

On the 18th of March at approximately 1:30 p.m., local Law Enforcement agencies in co-operation with the National Weather Service in Indianapolis conducted a Tornado warning exercise. In just 2 1/2 minutes the Fulton County Sheriff's Department had radioed the alert to all police departments and owners of scanners and had telephoned some 25 fire departments, schools, businesses and so forth advising them of the exercise.

In the event of a real tornado, the same warning procedure will be followed. A real problem exists at night when people are sleeping and at all times for those who may not be listening to scanners or may not have weather radios where they can get the warning. To help all of us the following warning procedures will be used in Akron as a further aid. Upon receipt of a Tornado Warning--which means a tornado has been sighted and we are in danger:

1. The Fire Department will sound the fire siren. This signal will be three (3) one-minute blasts with a 15 second pause between blasts.
2. The Police Department (assisted by the Fire Department in the grass truck) will make circuits through the town sounding their sirens and announcing the Tornado Warning over their Public Address Speakers.

Upon hearing this warning you should:

1. Immediately head for shelter in your basement or other secure place within your home.
2. DO NOT leave your house and drive around to see what is going on. You may get hurt or killed for your curiosity and you will impede the progress of those whose duties require them to be on the road.
3. When you hear the "All Clear" signal on the fire station siren which is one thirty-second blast, you may then leave your place of safety. If at all possible the "All Clear" will also be given by the Police and Fire Departments on their public announcing systems.

U.S. MAY RESUME AID

Peaches gone

We may not have any peaches this year, but we hope to have peach trees, according to Paul Pecknold, Extension plant pathologist at Purdue University. If unprotected, cold-injured peach trees could be damaged further by peach leaf curl, a fungus disease which attacks peach and nectarine trees. A single spray of fungicide before buds swell will prevent the disease.

The severe winter cold which froze peach blossom buds and wiped out this year's crop also badly damaged and weakened the trees. Spring rains could wash spores of the disease-causing fungus into opening leaf buds of cold-injured trees. Then, if weather is cool and wet, peach leaf curl fungus could rapidly infect, defoliate, and possibly kill affected trees.

Opening leaves of infected trees are red-flushed, puckered, thickened, and curled. They mature to a leathery yellow or brown and fall early, as do infected flowers and fruits.

Copper fungicides (sold under trade names such as COCS, Zinc coposil, etc.), Zinec, ferbam, or liquid lime sulfur effectively control peach leaf curl. Timing of the spray is the most important factor, sprays must be applied before bud break. To be on the safe side, spray two to three weeks before buds swell (early March). Choose a calm day with temperatures above 45 degrees F. Wind and colder temperatures (40 degrees F and below) destroy the effectiveness of the fungicide sprays.

For more information on peach leaf curl, call the Cooperative Extension Service, 223-3397, and ask for publication BP-3-6.

COLOR AND DESIGN BEAUTIFUL EASTER EGGS...NATURALLY!

To create your own softly colored, imprinted Easter decorations, you'll need some make-em-yourself dyes, cotton, cheesecloth, string, and a selection of green leaves and colorful flowers.

The most common foliage available around this time of year will probably be the leaves of roses, violets, columbine, parsley, wild carrots, clover, and ferns... but any attractive small fronds work well. You can usually find leatherleaf fern scraps and chrysanthemum leaves among florist shop discards. Furthermore, such flowers as hyacinths, violets, bluebells, and lilacs will—when used in the manner described below—often even leave some hint of their colors on the eggs. The natural dyes—in turn—can easily be made from ingredients found in your kitchen or pantry: beet juice, yellow onion skins, coffee, red cabbage juice (which, surprisingly, creates a blue tint), blueberries, and blackberries.

Once your materials are together, put the dye source into any non-aluminum pot and cover it with water. Let the liquid cook until it starts to color, then add a teaspoon or two of vinegar to the water to help the coloring adhere to the eggshells (exception: do not add vinegar to the onion skins). Clean off the eggs with cotton and cut the cheesecloth into pieces large enough for each to be wrapped about a single Easter treat, twisted, and tied with a string.

Lay one square of the material flat out on a table and arrange the leaves and/or flowers on the cloth... keeping in mind how the decorations will be positioned when the wrapper is folded about the egg.

Now, being very careful not to wrinkle the foliage, pull the cheesecloth tightly together at the top... twist the corners a little bit... and then tie the material securely in place with string. (The idea is to have the greenery held so tightly against the eggs that the dye solution won't touch the protected portion of the shell.)

Next, put the little packets in the dye bath (be sure the liquid covers them) and bring the water to a boil for 10 to 20 minutes... cooking and dyeing the eggs in one step. (Of course, you can boil your eggs first and then just dip them into the dye. The longer you submerge them in the coloring, the deeper the hues will be.)

When you remove the Easter symbols from the water, cut the strings so you can reuse your cheesecloth and imprints for other eggs. Finally, let the ornaments cool till they can be comfortably handled. Then enhance the beauty of your colored spheres by giving them a glossy finish and protecting the water-soluble colors from running: Just rub a little butter, margarine, lard, or mineral oil on your hands... and coat the Easter decorations with it.

Historical Society receives three grants

The Fulton County Historical Society has received three grants, it was announced at the society's March 28th meeting. From the Indiana Committee For the Humanities, FCHS received a grant of $800 to gather folklore about the Cole Brothers Circus which had its winterquarters in Rochester 1935-40. Folklorist Linda Tuley-Welch, of Rochester, will interview and tape record persons who remember the circus, make a slide and tape program, and write an article to be printed in the Quarterly. Rochester Community Schools is the co-sponsor of this project. The program will be shown to the public and to the schools during American Education Week, November 15-20.

Anyone with memories, photos or memorabilia of the circus is asked to contact FCHS at 223-4436 or after 5 p.m., call 223-2352.

Two grants were received from Indiana Tourism Development Division of the Indiana Department of Commerce. Up to $500 was awarded for the printing of brochures to advertise the Trail of Courage Rendezvous and the four FCHS museums, and $150 was awarded to pay for an airplane to advertise the Trail of Courage. The airplane has lights across the underside which spell out ads and belongs to Midwest Air Service, Rochester. The airplane will fly over the Elkhart County Fair, South Bend shopping centers, and other large gatherings of people in August and September.

The Trail of Courage Rendezvous steering committee met March 28 and set the admission price for this year's rendezvous at $1 for children and $2.25 for adults. Booth rental will remain the same at $15 per booth and $10 per space if one provides his own set-up. The Trail of Courage Rendezvous will be Sept. 18-19.

The annual membership drive is almost completed and the number of sponsors is down because of the economy. FCHS members are urged to ask clubs, service organizations and lodges to become sponsors, and also for individuals to become sponsors.

Don and Lois Colburn of North Manchester, presented "Kaleidoscope," a slide and tape program they made of American history and philosophy.

Refreshments were served to 27 people attending the meeting by Bertha Waltz, Lois Wagoner, Phyllis Whitmore, and Marie Swartz.

High hopes at Mentone School

The countdown to the Great Balloon Race began April 24th as students in Mentone Elementary School launched helium-filled balloons as part of the nationwide Writing Pals Balloon Contest sponsored by Weekly Reader, the classroom newspaper.

"A message attached to each balloon explains the project and asked the finder to return it to Mentone School," says Principal Fisher. "Weekly Reader will present a $500 prize to the school that gets back the message that has traveled the farthest distance. In addition, 100 runner-up prizes will be awarded," adds Fisher.

Since the annual balloon launch began, Weekly Reader has furnished about one and a half million free balloons to schools participating in the Weekly Reader Writing Pals program, a pen pal program in which Weekly Reader pairs classes across the country. According to Principal Fisher, the balloon launch will be the climax of Mentone's year long participation in Weekly Reader Writing Pals. The goal of the program is to motivate children to write to, and to become familiar with, students in other parts of the country.

The Mentone students sent up balloons on Wednesday, March 24 and Thursday, March 25th, with notes attached saying they will write to every person who sends back a message card from their balloon.

April Fool's Day

There is no general agreement on the origin of April Fool's Day, although it is a day which is observed in most areas of the world.

It is customary in various countries of the western world to attempt to trick friends with foolish pranks or jokes on the first day of April. Anyone fooled by such pranks in France is called a "Poisson d'Avril." In French that means an April fish.

In Scotland, those caught by April Fool pranks are called April "gowks." The gowk is a cuckoo. In the United States, there is no particular term for anyone fooled on this day.

Little children are delighted to "fool" their elders. A word of caution for those who receive homemade candy and cookies--they may contain some strange ingredients. Even adults are not immune to the temptation of a practical joke.

Limburger Bits

By: Any Mouse

From Whence cometh the Clods???

You know who I mean - the jerks who take delight in destroying the property of others. The one who drives his car in such manner as to lay drainage ditches through your lawn, his neighbor who waits 'til 4:00 a.m. when no one's around to catch him and then lays rubber as he speeds around town awakening everyone, or their second cousin who thinks it's great fun to write graffiti on garage walls in words of length comparable to his I.Q. You see and hear examples of this pre-kindergarten age activity almost everyday in and around town, but what's to be done about it?

Discrete inquiries of the Police Department tell this Mouse that these clods, for the most part, are probably local residents and that some are from out of town. But to enforce the law the Police must obey the laws and can't simply deal with the problems in the most direct and, to them, satisfactory way. (Something about having to account for their bullets, or something like that, I would suppose.) If the entire town would keep an eye on their neighbors' houses as well as their own maybe we could help nab these culprits and make the town the peaceful place it once was.

If you'd like to help clean up the streets, drop a line to "Any Mouse" at the Akron-Mentone News. All of us working together will help put these miscreants where they belong.

In case you're wondering about "Limburger Bits" ...it will be a sporadic column which our resident knot-hole peeping reporter "Any Mouse" will slip in under the door. The Mouse's bona-fides include slaying sacred cows and making shoes that fit futility fees as well as airing viewpoints which might not otherwise be heard. Who knows what will appear next time--the Mouse does!

A farmer's prayer

The farmer is a patient man - patient, determined, and proud. He has to be patient. He'll lose a crop and come right back next spring with a grin and an 80 hour week. He battles the weather and machinery breakdown to get the crop planted. He spends hundreds of dollars per acre for seed, fertilizer, and pesticides, knowing full well that frost or drought may get it, and if not, the bugs will - and if there is any left, a hail storm will probably finish it off. So he has to be a patient and determined person to be a farmer.

But there are some things he just doesn't understand.

I've seen wall plaques entitled prayer for a housewife, golfer, and even one for a Sunday afternoon driver. Perhaps we need a prayer for the farmer to help him understand. It might go something like this:

"Help me to understand, Lord, why a person will pay $1.50 for a 4 oz. cocktail in a bar and say 'Gimme another one', but you charge him $1.85 for a whole gallon of milk and he'll say 'boy, that's expensive.'"

Help me to understand why a Japanese autoworker will pay $17.00 for a lb. of steak in a grocery store and a U.S. autoworker who draws wages of $8.00 per hour more than the Japanese worker will look at steak in the meat counter at $3.25 per lb. and say food costs are just too high.

And help me to understand, Lord, why when I borrow $5,000 to paint my barn and put a new roof on my house, the tax assessor raises my taxes even though I don't have any more equity in the place.

And maybe, Lord, you can help me to understand why some people shake their heads when a farmer pays for power steering and air conditioning on his tractor, which he uses 12 to 14 hours a day in a hot dusty field, when they buy the same thing on an automobile to drive down a smooth blacktop road for less than an hour a day.

And, Lord, help me to understand why the weeds always grow the fastest in my corn field at a time when my city cousins says the fish are biting the best, and invites me to go along fishing on his weekends off, or after he gets out of work at 3:30 p.m.

And could you help me to understand how the raccoons know exactly when to raid my sweet corn the night before I think it's ready for the freezer?

And please help me to understand why the output per worker in our factories has gone down to a point that unit labor costs have doubled in the last 5 years, while efficiency of the American farmer has increased to a point where each farmer feeds himself and 67 other people.

And, oh yes, Lord, with half of the world's population going to bed hungry every night I just can't understand why people aren't more thankful that our main problem in the USA is, with so much food on the table, why can't I stay on my diet.

Now, I'm not complaining, Lord. I'm used to hard work and disappointment. But I've read in my favorite book that you also had trouble with human nature at times when you were here, and I will be so grateful if you can help my understanding in these matters about which I am so confused."

Lugar files bill to save funds

Senator Dick Lugar (R-Ind.) has filed legislation to limit Social Security benefits to non-resident aliens, saving the American taxpayers upwards of $700 million a year.

"At the present time we are paying about $1 billion each year in Social Security benefits to people living outside the United States," Lugar said. "Seventy percent of these recipients are aliens. These people have all previously worked in the U.S. and have paid into the Social Security system before leaving the country. This bill would provide for payment of benefits to these non-resident aliens, only up to the amount that they have contributed to the Social Security system."

Lugar explained that many individuals living outside the U.S. paid only minimal amounts into Social Security, yet collect substantial benefits for themselves and their dependents. "In one case a person who was not a U.S. citizen paid $25 into Social Security, but has collected more than $11,000 in benefits after moving back to his native country," Lugar explained. "Another paid $397 in Social Security and has collected $42,000 in benefits."

"I don't believe we can afford to drain off Social Security funds to support aliens living outside our country," Lugar said. "The intent of Social Security is to provide a retirement benefit to assure that the elderly who live in our country can live with dignity. Yet many foreigners, because of the low standard of living in their native countries, can live in comparable luxury by going home and collecting Social Security benefits."

Lugar said that many of these non-resident aliens have married younger individuals and adopted others so that they too can receive undeserving amounts of Social Security benefits from American taxpayers. "The Government Accounting Office says we can save as much as $700 million a year by restricting Social Security benefits to the amount actually contributed by non-resident aliens," Lugar said.

"This bill is a small, but significant first step that Congress can take this year in the effort to preserve the integrity of the troubled Social Security system," Lugar said.

Illogical Admission Fees

Psychology works in strange ways. One of the strangest is reflected in the profusion of admission fees to various exhibitions and shows.

At boat shows, auto show, or even antiques shows by church groups, the idea is to get people to come so that, immediately or eventually, they'll buy items displayed.

Why, then, charge an admission fee? It's partly because of the strange psychology among much of the public that if one must pay to see something, it must be worth something.

Not true for exhibitions and shows, necessarily. If getting all the various products together is time-consuming, and if renting a hall or site is expensive, that cost should be borne by those selling their wares.

The public shouldn't be gullible enough to pay admission fee to a commercial show by dealers selling. In some cases, the show itself makes money--from admission fees paid by those being solicited.

Suppose salesmen calling on homes organized and came in a group and asked a fee--to listen to them. What would be the reaction?

Notice Town of Akron Citizens

Due to the increased cost in trash pick-up, we urge all citizens to burn all of their paper products, which makes almost one-half of the trash volume. All cartons should be flattened and tied in bundles. Burning of paper products in barrels or wire cages is permissible in town before sundown. This will help us in making only one trip to the county landfill. If these rules are not obeyed we will have to take away free trash pick-up. Newspapers tied firmly in bundles may be left at the Scout Cabin.

Please, help us keep the free trash pick-up for you. For use of the town dump see the clerk or a board member for permission to dump debris not permissible to be hauled in the compactor.

Thank You
The Town Board

FAMILY FLOCK HEADQUARTERS

Incredible record

Two hundred and ninety-five years of married life is represented by five daughters and one son of the late George and Edna (Gross) Bennett family. The Bennett family were former residents of Tipton County living in the Sharpville and Prairie areas. All their children received their education in Tipton County Schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Miller reside in California. Mrs. Miller is the former Eva Bennett, eldest of the Bennett daughters. The couple are both retired. Mr. Miller formerly worked as a mechanic and during the war times worked in the country of Arabia as a millwright mechanist in defense construction. The couple have three children. Mrs. Rosemary Blackwell of San Jose, Calif.; Mrs. Susanna Miller of Santa Rosa, Calif., and Russell Miller, Jr., of Petaluma, Calif. They have several grand and great-grand children. Mrs. Miller is 78 and her husband is 83 years of age.

The couple were married on January 23, 1922 in Tipton, Indiana by the Justice of the Peace.

The second of the Bennett daughters is Miss Garnet Bennett and she is married to Mr. Luther Gluff. Mr. and Mrs. Gluff were married on December 13, 1920 by the Rev. Oscar W. Bowman in Sharpville. The couple now reside in Indianapolis. Mr. Gluff is 93 and Mrs. Gluff is 77.

Mr. Gluff was a plumber by trade before his retirement and worked at the Indiana State Fair grounds for many years. Mrs. Gluff was a former clerk at the G. C. Murphy Department Store in Indianapolis.

They are the parents of five children. Mrs. Mary Louise Admas, Bargersville, Ind.; Mrs. Thelma Lucille Page, Everett Gluff, Gail Gluff and Rev. Ross Gluff, all of Indianapolis. There are several grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

The third daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bennett was Miss Lydia Bennett. She married Carroll Broadley on December 6, 1924 in the Main Street Methodist Church, Kokomo, by the Rev. P. E. Greenwalt. Mr. and Mrs. Broadley now live at Rt. 1, Akron. Mr. Broadley is 79 and Mrs. Broadley is 75 years of age.

Mr. Broadley is a former farmer in Clinton, Tipton and Miami counties. He, at one time, was employed by the Mayfield Construction Company of Kokomo, from where he retired.

They are the parents of eight children: Mrs. Helen Boring, Kokomo; Jack Broadley, Bend, Oregon; Mrs. Wanda Berlin, Georgetown, Georgia; Mrs. Martha Harding, Roann, Ind.; James Broadley, Kokomo; Mrs. Rosalene Young, Akron; Mike Broadley, Tickfaw, Louisiana and Mrs. Carol Ann Lowe of Macy.

They also have a number of grand, great-grand and great-great-grandchildren.

The fourth daughter is Miss Margaret Bennett. She was married to Mr. Frank Kelly on June 24, 1930, at the First Baptist Church in Greentown. The couple now reside at Rt. 5, Kokomo. Mr. Kelly is a retired worker from Continental Steel in Kokomo and they now spend the winter months at their winter home in Ft. Myers, Florida.

The couple are parents of five children. They are Mrs. Frances Graham, Park Forest, Ill.; Keith Kelly, Bloomington, Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, Kokomo, Mrs. Vera Scott, Sharpville and Albert Kelly of Houston, Texas.

They are also honored by having a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Also members of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bennett are two more children. Mrs. Hazel (Bennett) Spay, widow of the late Earl Spay. They were married August 23, 1935. Earl passed away October 6, 1955.

Mrs. Spay now resides in Kokomo and is a retired Delco employee.

Also a son, Chester Bennett is married to the former Dorothy Wilson. The couple were married on February 17, 1937 and they recently celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary this year. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett reside in Yoder, Indiana.

Each of the individual families have had an anniversary celebration party. This many representing one family is a rare occasion. At this date, Mr. and Mrs. Miller have been together 60 years; Mr. and Mrs. Gluff 61 years; Mr. and Mrs. Broadley 57 years; Mr. and Mrs. Kelly 52 years; and the Bennetts 45 years. This is incidentally, an "incredible record" for a family.

APRIL FOOLS DAY

The first of April, some do say is set apart for All Fool's Day. But why the people call it so, neither I nor themselves do know.

The first day of April in English speaking countries, men, women, and children play absurd but harmless jokes on April Fool's Day. The victim is called an April Fool. April is named for Aprilin, a Latin word meaning "to open." The appearance of the outdoors world usually changes more in April than in any other month of the year. Grass grows green and leaves appear on bushes and trees.

When proud-pied April, dressed in all his trim has put a spirit of youth in everything.

***

The special flower for April is the sweet pea. Special days are Arbor Day-for planting trees; Easter, Palm Sunday, Good Friday, the Jewish religious festival of Pesah (Passover), Holy Week.

The Akron Keen-Agers will celebrate all April birthdays.

Thursday the 8th. Blood pressure clinic will also be held on the 8th.

Please call in your reservation the day before between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. Scheduled menus for the week of April 5-9 are:

Monday-Macaroni and Cheese with Ham, Spinach, Three Bean Salad, Wheat Bread, Cranberry Sauce, Milk.

Tuesday-Fried chicken, Escaloped Potatoes, Tossed Salad, Brown Bread, Cranberry Sauce, Milk.

Wednesday-Breaded Pork Cutlet, Mixed Vegetables, Sweet Potatoes, White Bread, Pineapple with Cheese, Milk.

Thursday-Salisbury Steak, Green Beans, Cole Slaw, Brown Bread, Fruit Jello, Milk.

Friday-Goulash, Peas, Brown Bread, Applesauce, Milk.

Motorists must prove financial responsibility

Indiana motorists will no longer be required to pass a written driver's test upon renewal and will be required to show "proof of financial responsibility" under the provisions of two new laws passed this session by the Indiana General Assembly, according to State Senator William F. Justice (R-Logansport).

Justice said that the law repealing the written test for Indiana motorists will go into effect on Thursday, April 1. Under the new law, persons over the age of twenty one and who have five or less active points on their driver's license will not be required to pass the written test at renewal time. Motorists would still be required to pass the vision test, however.

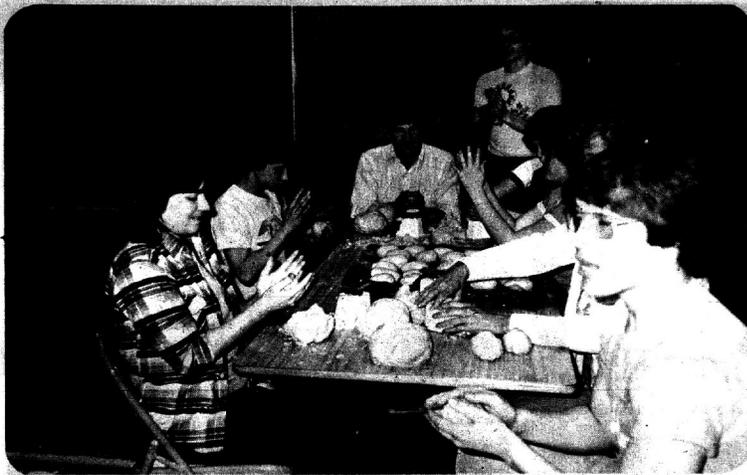

Justice explained that the new law requiring motorists to provide "proof of financial responsibility" was an attempt by the legislature to deal with the growing problem of the uninsured motorist.

Under the provisions of the law, if a motorist is involved in an accident and cannot prove financial responsibility, he will be subject to a Class C misdemeanor. Forms for motorists to fill out showing the proof of financial responsibility are presently being developed by the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles, and will be ready for use when the new law goes into effect, January 1, 1983.

Financially irresponsible drivers are involved in three times as many accidents as those who are responsible, and are a major cause of increasing insurance rates. This new law puts the state on record as demanding financial responsibility from all its drivers.

Two fools meet when one runs another's life and the other permits it.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP PROJECT: The Akron Church of God Youth Fellowship are undertaking a project to make and sell decorated Easter Eggs to raise funds to send 18 youths and their sponsors from the Akron Church to the International Youth Convention at Miami Beach, Florida, during August. Several of the church's young people participated in the "Egg Project" along with their adult supervisors. During the trip, they will also spend some time at the World's Fair at Knoxville, Tenn., and Disney World. (News Photo)

MIX, MIX, MIX: That was the name of the game when the Youth Fellowship of the Akron Church of God met several times during the last two weeks to make chocolate covered Easter eggs to sell as a money making project. The powdered sugar, butter and flavoring, after being thoroughly mixed and weighed, was then covered with chocolate and decorated. The eggs will be placed in grass lined boxes, all ready for the Easter Bunny to deliver to kiddies of all ages for the Easter season. The eggs are of three different flavors - peanut butter, cherry and maple. They will be available at several local businesses during the next weeks, or you may purchase them from the church youth, or call the Akron Church of God, 893-4121 to order. Each egg weighs 6 ounces and will sell for $1.50 each. (News Photo)

Clarification

In the news article in last week's Akron-Mentone News, on the Mentone Chamber of Commerce meeting, it was stated that Gerry Smith, reported the DAR, Mentone Reading Club and Milburn School Historical Society would NOT be having a style show or be in charge of the beard judging contest during Mentone's Centennial Week.

We were right in one instance -- they will NOT have charge of the beard judging. The Anthony Nigo Chapter of the D.A.R., Mentone Reading Club and Milburn School Historical Society WILL have a Style Show -- it will be held Monday night of Centennial Week at the Mentone School Gymnasium.

Hey kids!!

Mentone YFC All-Stars lose

The Mentone Youth For Christ Church League all-stars went cold in the second half and lost 92-81 to the Larwill Church League all-stars at the Victors floor.

Trailing only 46-45 at halftime, Mentone's cold spell left it 18 points behind before coming back to the final margin.

In a fine effort for Mentone, Mark Sumpter tallied 21 points on 10 field goals. The only other players in double figures for Mentone were Eric Alspaugh with 14 and Jeff Pfeifer with 12.

For the Larwill stars, Mark Rehlake, former Columbia City standout, netted 36. The Mentone stars will play game two of a four game series Sunday against the Bourbon Church League.
