Exceptional Children's Week

The week of February 23-March 1, 1986 was Exceptional Children's Week in Indiana. In honor of this special week, Akron Schools recognized it's faculty and staff members who are involved in the education of exceptional children.

Akron Schools offer four distinct programs for exceptional children. Kathy Weaver is the teacher of the special education program. She is assisted by instructional aides. Kelly Barden in the morning and Bobbi Glingie in the afternoon. Teacher Sharon Miller directs the activities in the resource room with assistance from aide, Karna DuBois. Alona Leininger is Akron School's teacher of remedial reading and Priscilla Burdge is the full-time aide. The recently begun program of gifted education is taught by Cynthia Caswell.

These people constantly strive to meet the needs of our exceptional children.

Flyers Streak At 12!

On Tuesday, February 25, Akron 8th grade girls basketball team handed North Manchester girls their first defeat for this year, 42-21. It was a hard fought defensive battle with Akron girls scrapping hard. A well executed full-court press netted 27 turnovers to the Flyers. Aggressive board work gave the advantage to the Flyers with 32-24 rebounds.

A super effort from Jenny Doud led the team with 14 rebounds and she shared the top scoring honor with Katie Ramsey for 13 points each. A balanced contribution of 4 points each was tallied for Jill Butts, Tricia Tilden, Barb Burdge, and Shelly Miller. Chris Bowers scored 3 points. Playing well but not scoring were Lori Baker, Lori Watson, Sara Miller, Amy Kline, and Mary Ann Randall.

On Thursday, February 27, the Akron 8th grade girls handed the Warsaw orange team their first defeat of the season 35-33 on Warsaw's floor. The Akron girls ended the first quarter with a 12-7 lead; it was 20-13 at halftime. Warsaw responded by adjusting to Akron's press in the third quarter for a 30-20 margin in favor of Akron. A very physical last quarter with poor foul shooting from Akron, 3 of 14, allowed Warsaw to finish within 2 points of the Lady Flyers.

Another balanced scoring effort paid off for the offence with two girls with 8 points each, Jenny Doud and Tricia Tilden respectively. Tricia also led the team with 6 rebounds. Katie Ramsey and Jill Butt each netted 6 points for the team. Chris Bowers added 5 points and Barb Burdge finished the scoring with 2 points.

Mims Named National Award Winner

Keith Mims

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Keith Mims, a freshman at Tippecanoe Valley High School, has been named a United States National Award winner in science.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% OF ALL American high school students.

Mims was nominated for this National Award by Mr. Schuler, a science teacher at the high school. He will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States

Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Keith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mims. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Humphreys of Liverpool, England, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mims of Timmonsville, South Carolina.

Notice

The annual Blood visit will be at Tippecanoe Valley High School on Thursday, March 6.

THE SECRET

I met God in the morning, when my day was at its best, and his presence came like sunrise, like a glory in my breast. All day long the presence lingered, all day long he stayed with me, and we sailed in perfect calmness, o'er a very troubled sea. Youth Exchange Program

International Christian Youth Exchange, a program founded in 1955 that has worked with some 15,000 International Exchange Students, is now recruiting American exchangees and host families for the 1986-87 school year. Both high school enrollment and voluntary service settings are available.

The U.S. Program is divided into twenty regions with a volunteer staff for each region and a national staff in New York. This means that trained people and resources are immediately available in all areas. While ICYE has been recognized and is accredited through the U.S. State Department, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, the program has purposefully remained small. This way personal attention can be given to each exchangee or host family.

Opportunities are available for exchange with over twenty-five countries and with all type of living situations; big city, small town, rural, single family homes, apartments, townhouses, etc. The backgrounds and interests of the exchangees can be as varied as the people of the world.

The coordinators for ICYE Region 8 (Indiana, Michigan) are asking for your help. If you know of an American student interested in spending a year abroad or if you know of a family that would like to expand their horizons by hosting an international exchangee, have them contact the coordinators. Persons interested in working indirectly with exchangees are also needed and welcomed. Contact the following for more information:

Small Business Conference Slated

Officials with the White House Conference on Small Business recently announced formation of the local steering committee to assist in planning Indiana's conference for small business men and women.

The Indiana White House conference, scheduled for Tuesday, April 1, will be held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Indianapolis. It will consist of forums where small business people from across Indiana can discuss concerns and propose solutions to problems they face.

Issue areas will consist of taxation, regulation and paperwork, small business education and training, economic policy, procurement, finance, innovation, the future of an agency for small business, international trade, and payroll costs. In addition, delegates will be elected at the day-long meeting to represent Indiana at the National White House Conference in August 1986.

According to Jack L. Courtemanche, Executive Director of the White House Conference on Small Business, "We are excited and pleased to be working with the people on our Indiana steering committee. These are the people who will make a difference -- the real grassroots behind a successful small business conference."

Members of the steering committee include: Ed Bowman, National Federation of Independent Business; Gvido L. Burgis, Indiana Department of Commerce; John Evans, Indiana State Chamber of Commerce; Bob Gastineau, Small Business Administration; Bob General, Small Business Administration; Gregg Gordon, Indiana Department of Commerce; Joyce Martello, Indiana Society of Association Executives; Randy Meadows, Indiana State Chamber of Commerce; Juanita Pierman, Small Business Administration; Victoria Rivera, Hispanic Chamber of Commerce; Linda Wolfe, National Association of Women Business Owners.

In addition, Courtemanche cited the dozens of local Indiana business and trade associations that are also assisting in preparation for the conference.

Those interested in attending the White House Conference on Small Business meeting in Indiana can write for more information to 1801 K Street, N.W., Suite 1101, Washington, D.C., 20006, or

STAY FIT AT WORK

Physical fitness programs at the workplace benefit both the employee and the employer.

Worker productivity can be increased significantly by programs that promote positive health habits and eliminate negative ones.

Wellness pro-

employee morale by reducing stress.

The physical fitness pro-

Planning Can Save Substantial Sums

Schedule A—Itemized Deductions		1985

2. Charitable, medical, nursing, hospital, insurance premiums
3. State and local taxes (not including property taxes)
4. Transportation and lodging
5. Other (See instructions for details, exclusions, and limitations)
6. Total (Sum of lines 1 through 5) and enter the total here
7. Subtract the amount on Form 1040, line 23 (or 1041)
8. Subtract line 7 from line 6. Enter the result on line 10 of Form 1040

Knowing how to plan correctly can help save you money in every tax year, say the experts at H&R Block.
There are a number of things to remember.

Most important is to keep yourself informed of any changes in the tax law during the coming year that might affect your particular situation. Keeping up to date with the tax laws will allow you to plan various transactions to take advantage of new provisions in the law and minimize the taxes you pay.

Overwithholding and un-derwithholding are two problems that can be avoided with proper planning. If when you file your return you are owed a large refund, that means you're letting the government use your money interest free.
Conversely, if you have a balance due of more than 20% of your total tax liability then you may have to pay a penalty. In either case, you can adjust the amount of your advance tax payments—either through estimated taxes you pay or the taxes your employer withholds from your pay—so you neither owe nor are owed any money.

An important technique in tax planning is year-end planning. Toward the end of the year you may be able to exorcise options that lower your taxes. Some examples are: some itemizing deductions every other year if you can't do it every year; selling stock after December 23 will get you money in five to seven days and let you wait to report the gains until you file your next year's return or deduct a loss on the current return; and you can guarantee dependent exemptions by making sure you provide over half of each dependent's support for the year.

Other tax planning tips and information can be found in the 1986 H&R Block Income Tax Workbook. One of the best ways to plan properly is to have the proper record-keeping documents at your fingertips. The tax preparation company also offers The 1986 H&R Block Complete Personal Tax Record Book, which provides all the record-keeping forms necessary to keep accurate records of both income and deductible expenses. Both are published by Collier/Macmillan. Each book sells for $6.95 and is a tax deductible expense.

Planning for the future makes sense in many areas of your life. In tax planning, however, it's easy to add up the results.

Groundbreaking!

Last Friday, the first part of a ceremonial groundbreaking took place at Akron School. Due to a lack of cooperation by Mother Nature, with chilling outside temperature, the "groundbreaking" took place in the Akron gymnasium. This kicked-off a three school (Burket, Akron and Mentone), $4 million construction project.

Children Learning Music

You: the parent of a budding Mozart, Gershwin or Leonard Bernstein? Could be, if you take the time in your child's early years to make learning about music fun and exciting.

Your child's earliest introduction to the keyboard can seem an enjoyable game with the help of two new electronic music toys. Child psychologists say a youngster is more apt to absorb what he or she studies quickly and easily if learning is made fun.

Little Maestro, designed for three to six year olds, is a battery-operated portable device that could be a perfect introduction to the wonderful world of music. The ten notes, Little Maestro plays are all natural—no sharps or flats. They're arranged on a musical staff in an ascending line, visually reinforcing the basic concept of "higher" and "lower" notes to the child. Through each activity, a friendly and patient human voice coaches the child, rewards success with approval, and responds to failure by encouraging the learner to try again. This makes it quite easy for the child to master new skills by working and playing unassisted. An activity booklet offers several games that can be played by children. With suggestions for adult interaction.

Designed for seven to 11 year olds. Speak & Music, also from Texas Instruments, is a battery-operated portable device about the size of a looseleaf notebook. It features a 20 note keyboard covering the full chromatic scale.

The first automatic pop-up electric toaster was marketed in June, 1926. It received one slice of toast at a time.

Daffodil Days

Daffodils -- thousands of them -- will bloom in and around Fulton County on Friday and Saturday, March 21 and 22. On those days the Fulton County Unit of the American Cancer Society will present the bright spring flowers to everyone who donates funds for cancer research, education, and service. The daffodils, which will be shipped fresh to Fulton County from the Canadian fields where they are grown, have been chosen by the American Cancer Society as a symbol of hope for cancer patients.

The need for additional funds for cancer control is grave because of reductions in federal spending for this purpose.

The American Cancer Society has applications approved for over $44 million in research projects which cannot be funded for lack of money.

Advance orders may be requested for residents in Kewanna, Akron, Fulton and Rochester by sending your tax deductible contribution with the attached order to: The American Cancer Society, c/o Glenda Bode, Route 1, Kewanna, IN 46939. Presale orders must be received by March 15, 1986. The suggested donation is $3.00 for a bouquet of flowers.

Tam To Speak At Olive Branch Church Of God

A man who considers God the owner of his business will explain to the public why he turns 100% of the annual profits over to missionary and Christian work.

R. Stanley Tam, founder of the States Smelting & Refining Co., Lima, Ohio, will speak at Olive Branch Church of God, Miami Co. Rd. 1200N - Rt. 1, Roann, on Friday, Mar. 14, 7:30 p.m.; Saturday, March 15, 9:00 a.m.; and Sunday, March 16, 9:00 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

"It is simple," he says. "I give 100% of the profits to Christian work because that is the covenant I made with God in 1940. He lived up to His bargain twenty fold and I will live up to mine."

Tam's business is reclaiming silver from photographic solutions. He began his unique enterprise after reading that the emulsion used on film contains silver and that over 16 tons of the metal is washed away each week in photographer's fixing baths over the nation.

His first try in 1936, the business failed. He learned that four others had also tried and failed. It happened in Columbus, Ohio, turning towards home, defeated, driving alone in his car. Tam was praying to God about his disappointment. Suddenly the Spirit of God spoke to his heart. "It doesn't need to be a disappointment. You don't need to go broke, turn the business over to me and I will make it succeed."

This happened three years after an Ohio farmwoman had converted him to Christianity. He tried again, determined to work in partnership with God.

With $37.00 he set up a "factory" in a spare bedroom in his home to manufacture "silver collectors" for the wasted silver concentrate. Photographers and x-ray technicians who he visited happily agreed to his proposal to split fifty-fifty on any silver he retrieved from the collectors he placed in their darkrooms.

Today Tam's collectors are installed in photographic and x-ray departments all across the country in almost every State of the union.

God's share of the business is distributed to some 26 organizations through the Stanita Foundation, derived from the first syllable of Tam's first name and the last portion of his wife's name, Juanita.

Feeling that money alone is not a sufficient contribution, Tam fulfills speaking engagements, as many as five in a weekend, in cities across the country, stressing the importance of Christianity in everyday work. He has traveled around the world several times speaking as a Christian layman in over 20 countries.

Tam is also President of the United States Plastic Corp., a firm he founded in 1955, which has grown to a nationwide business with over 53,000 customers grossing over 15 million per year.

Faces

A face is the thing that gives you away, the expression you wear can spoil a day.

One smile and the sun comes out on your lips, one frown and the whole world suddenly frowns.

Inside down with clouds where the sun should be, a face can do things for you.

The clearest people wear masks, I'm told, the sad can be gay, the young can look old.

Doubt and wisdom can mix, beautifully, a face like a greeting car's poetry. Can catch a warm heart or paint a cold war, a face can be dull or bright as a star.

It's the power to cast a magic spell, my advice to you is to wear it well.

The Akron Keen-Agers will celebrate all March birthdays Thursday, March 13, also blood pressure clinic will be held through the services of Ruth Bammerlin.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Elizabeth Good. Before moving to Rochester, she gave many volunteer hours to the Nutrition program. A welcome was given to Evelyn and Dale Krieg. They are back from Florida. Warm get well wishes goes out to Mary Mijerling, she is one of our regulars and missed by all.

Establishing Drug Standards: Who Does It?

The first U.S. Pharmacopeia was published in 1820.

Each of us has taken a drug in one form or another whether prescribed by a physician or personally selected from the many over-the-counter varieties available to the general public. However, most of us are unaware of who is responsible for establishing national drug standards which help assure Americans the drugs we take are of consistent strength, quality and purity.

In the United States, responsibility for establishing drug standards lies with the U.S. Pharmacopoeial Convention, Inc. It is known to most people by the initials USP and is an independent, non-profit organization established by Congress in 1820. Its members are representatives of government, industry, and academia. The USP is responsible for establishing national drug standards which help assure Americans the drugs we take are of consistent strength, quality and purity.

In 1906 the first U.S. Food and Drug Act recognized USP as the legal standard of identity, strength, quality and purity for drugs. In 1938, USP requirements for packaging and labeling were made official. Today the U.S. Pharmacopeia stands as the world's oldest regularly revised national compendium of drug standards.

The signing of the historic license branch reform bill on March 5 by Governor Bob Orr. Pictured are (front row, left to right) Rep. William Cochran (D-New Albany), Rep. Richard Dellinger (R-Noblesville), Governor Bob Orr, Sen. William McCarty (D-Anderson), Rep. Dan Stephan (R-Huntington); (top row) Rep. Earline Rogers (D-Gary), Sen. Patricia Miller (R-Indianapolis), Sen. Michael Gery (D-West Lafayette), Sen. William Soards (R-Indianapolis), and Rep. Jeffrey Espich (R-Uniondale).

License Branch Reform

Flanked by legislators of both parties, Gov. Bob Orr recently signed into law a bill to end Indiana's 50-year-old system of politically controlled license branches.

"This is truly an historic occasion for the State of Indiana," Orr said as he signed the license branch reform bill (House Enrolled Act 1400) mandating a state takeover of the system by July 1, 1988.

Orr made license branch reform his top priority for the 1986 legislative session. He proposed the bill last year, and with his strong backing, it was passed Feb. 28 by the Indiana General Assembly.

The House of Representatives approved the governor's vote of 83-27 and the Senate by a 37-12 margin.

The bill has five major features:

- *Establishes a five-member, bipartisan Bureau of Motor Vehicles Commission to manage the state's license branches. The Commission becomes effective July 1, 1986.

- *Calls for a pilot program beginning after Jan. 1, 1987, to project costs for the total state takeover. Ten license branches will participate in the pilot program.

- *Deposits all fees and service charges collected by the pilot branches and the new state system into a State License Branch Fund to be used for the operations of the new system, including the pilot branches.

- *Subjects all license branch records after the state takeover to the Indiana open records law and mandates annual audits of license branch operations by the State Board of Accounts.

- *Prohibits political candidates from accepting contributions from license branch bank accounts after Jan. 1, 1987 (this prohibition applies to the current license branch system).

The bill also requires that there be at least one license branch in each county, permits the Commission to establish a separate personnel system (including a separate pay scale and benefit package) for license branch employees, and permits the Commission to increase or decrease existing license branch service charges and to establish new service charges by rule after Jan. 1, 1989.

The bill prohibits the use of license branch facilities and equipment for political purposes.

The Commission also is required to study alternative forms of branch operations such as franchises and competitive bidding and report its findings to the 1988 General Assembly.

The current system operates on a franchise-like basis with license branch operations in each county controlled by members of the political party of the governor. That system has been in place since the 1930s when it was established by Democrat Gov. Paul V. McNutt.

"The license branch issue resolved, we can now refocus our attention to the most critical issues—education and continued economic growth—as we rush toward the end of this century," Orr said.

Pre-school Testing

Free pre-school testing will again be conducted by staff members of Manitou Training Center in three Fulton County sites on March 19 and 20. The free developmental screening tests will be for children from birth to 4 years. Children eligible for kindergarten will not be included.

Tests in language, self-help, social, academics and motor skills will be conducted by speech therapists, social workers and teachers from the pre-school staff. Added to this year's agenda will be visual testing. The purpose of these screening sessions is to give parents the opportunity to discover if their children are talking, walking, or learning like other children their age.

Parents are advised to note the time and place for testing in the area nearest their home. The sites for this spring pre-school testing by Manitou Training Center are at DeLong, Rochester and Akron:

1. On Wednesday afternoon at the DeLong Christian Academy the testing will be held from 1:00 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

2. On Thursday morning, March 20, testing will be from 9:00 to 10:30 a.m. at Manitou Pre-School, 330 Lucas Street, at their new address.

3. Thursday afternoon, March 20, testing will be at Akron Elementary School Cafeteria from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

This testing service is offered free of charge to all Fulton County families. Any questions may be directed to Manitou Training Center, phone 223-6963.

Postal Service Handles Record Mail

The U.S. Postal Service handled a record 140.1 billion pieces of mail in 1985—an average of 589 for every American—to climax the biggest growth decade in the nation's postal history.

The 140.1 billion total was 6.5 percent higher than the amount of mail handled in 1984 and marks the 10th consecutive year of volume growth starting with 1976. In the ensuing decade, mail volume has risen by 50.3 billion pieces.

To get this record amount of mail to its destination in 1985, the Postal Service daily made a possible 73.8 million city deliveries, a possible 17.4 million rural route deliveries and serviced 16.1 million post office boxes. The Postal Service also handled 40 million changes of address.

With the addition of 773,571 new rural deliveries last year, 19 percent of all deliveries service is now rural delivery.

In fiscal 1985, the Postal Service operated a fleet of 145,811 vehicles, 9,776 of which were leased. It owned 4,388 facilities containing over 113 million square feet of interior space and leased another 29,678 with a cumulative interior square footage of 91 million.

Breaking down the huge volume of mail last year, 83 percent was generated by businesses, 11 percent was sent to businesses and six percent was personal correspondence. Also, 39 billion postage stamps were issued last year, enough to encircle the globe 25 times.

Despite the scope of this vast undertaking, the Postal Service got a good report card, according to an independent Roper Report poll. It showed the Postal Service ranked highest among 14 services in terms of "value for the dollar" and was rated best among 12 federal agencies.

The population of the American colonies in 1610 was 350.

TOTAL FINANCIAL PLANNING

Financial planning used to be simple. You had a job, put a little money away in a savings account or savings bonds, built up a little nest egg for education and retirement. Your income was steady. You educated your children and, upon retirement, lived happily ever after.

Simplicity, however, passed with the Sixties, when inflation became a national and personal concern.

As the tide of inflation swelled, you found you were earning more money, but keeping less. Rising energy prices, continued high government spending and no real tax relief pushed inflation levels higher year after year.

Financial planning came of age in the Seventies. Individuals realized they needed a comprehensive plan to succeed financially: proper asset management during one's lifetime.

With the advent of the Eighties, the money management concept evolved. A plan, prepared professionally, presented personally, and executed over the years to reflect changing individual financial needs - is the answer investors are seeking. Total Financial Planning is the ultimate strategy, by identifying investors' current and future needs and matching them to any one of the 100-plus investments alternatives available.

What's Cookin'

Our family always had the tradition of having ice cream with the works on Friday nights. All of our friends (as we were growing up) loved staying with us on Friday nights so they could have ice cream too. On Friday afternoons, Mom would make this chocolate sauce and we'd be able to smell it when we got home from school. It would still be warm for the ice cream, which made it even better.

ICE CREAM CHOCOLATE SAUCE

Mix together in saucepan:

- 2 Cups Sugar
- 1/4 Cup Flour
- 2/3 Cup Cocoa
- 1/4 Teaspoon Salt
- 1/4 Cup Margarine
- 2 Cups Water

Heat to boiling, lower heat and cook for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Progress for Heart Patients

If you often experience sharp pains in your chest after some type of stress, see your doctor. You might have angina pectoris.

Angina pectoris is the pain or discomfort that occurs when oxygen demand of the heart muscle exceeds the supply provided by the blood. It is usually triggered by physical activity or emotional stress that increases the workload on the heart.

Angina is not a disease itself, but a symptom of coronary artery disease. It's usually caused by narrowing of the coronary arteries, the vessels that supply blood to the heart muscle. This narrowing results from hardening of the arteries (atherosclerosis) due to the build-up of fatty material (cholesterol or calcium plaque) on the inner walls of the artery. This reduces the flow of blood, thus decreasing the amount of oxygen available to the heart.

Increasing the workload of the heart increases its need for oxygen. When arteries cannot respond by increasing blood flow to provide the heart with the needed oxygen, a range of symptoms is produced, from a feeling of tightness or heaviness in the chest to an intense, searing pain.

Although angina is not curable, treatment relieves pain. Nitroglycerin is the most frequently prescribed drug for acute angina in this country. A new nitroglycerin product, an aerosol spray called Nitro Inghal Spray, marketed by William H. Rorer, Inc., is has several advantages over the most common form of nitroglycerin, sublingual tablets. That is, those put under the tongue. The spray is easily administered directly into the mouth, under the tongue, during the onset of an acute attack. The spray is in a small, portable container which begins to deliver the drug within three minutes after the bottle is opened.

The spray container is also more easily handled than are bottles of tablets, even in emergencies. By patients in pain and arthritis might be impaired on other excessive incapacitated patients. By simply pressing the button on the spray, a patient can deliver a metered dose of 0.4 mg. nitroglycerin. That's the same dosage used by 80-90 percent of all sublingual tablets. Now people who have chest pain that may be angina can see their doctor about this simple form of treatment.

Statewide Tornado Test March 20

Tornadoes are a relatively rare and unexpected event. When one occurs many actions, rarely taken, have to be swiftly and flawlessly executed in order to save lives and reduce injuries.

Many people have to know their jobs and know it well - Tornado Spotters, who sight the tornado; National Weather Service employees, who operate the radar and issue warnings; The Indiana State Police Communications Dispatchers, who fan the Warning to County Warning Points; City Police; County Sheriffs; and County Civil Defense personnel who sound sirens, alert schools, hospitals, and pass the Warning on; and the radio and TV announcers who broadcast the Warning.

Newspapers play a vital role in promoting community preparedness plans and education of the public in tornado safety rules before disaster strikes.

If anyone of the above group fails to do its part, the possibility of needless deaths and injuries when a tornado strikes is greatly increased. So a state-wide drill to test the whole system makes sense.

Indiana is one of the highest ranking states in tornado frequency. The three worst tornado disasters to hit the United States all affected Indiana: the March 1925 Tri-State Tornado, the April 11, 1965 Palm Sunday Outbreak and the April 3, 1974 Super Outbreak.

On March 20, between 9 and 11 a.m. EST the National Weather Service Forecast Office at Indianapolis will initiate a Tornado Warning Exercise message. The test message will be distributed through the National Warning System hotline, the Indiana NOAA Weather Wire Service, and the NOAA Weather Radio.

The exercise test message on Weather Radio and the Weather Wire will be similar to an actual Tornado Warning message. This message should be read by radio and TV announcers who are not simulcasting the NOAA Weather Radio or Emergency Broadcast System (EBS) test warnings.

The Eight Annual State-wide Tornado Warning Drill will be conducted between 9 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. EST on Thursday, March 20, 1986. The drill provides a way of testing the warning systems and educating the public at the onset of the Indiana Tornado Season.

Governor Orr has proclaimed the week of March 16-22 "Tornado Preparedness Week." This would be an excellent time to do reporting on how much effort has been put forth by your community to protect its citizens. Many of the warning preparedness activities are done by volunteers who could use the encouragement and assistance of the media. Information sources are School and Hospital Administrators, Civil Defense, Police Chiefs, County Sheriffs, Local Amateur Radio Operators, and National Weather Service.

The following are recommended general safety instructions:

Seek inside shelter, preferably in a tornado cellar, underground excavation, or a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building of substantial construction. Stay away from windows. Do not waste time opening windows, seek shelter immediately - the tornado will "open" the windows well before the pressure difference can cause any structural damage.

In cities or towns: In office buildings and steel reinforced masonry structures, lie down in an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably in the basement.

In factories, post a lookout. Workers should move quickly to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection in accordance with advance plans.

In homes, the basement usually offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under a sturdy workbench or heavy table, if possible. In home with no basement, take cover under heavy furniture in the center part of the home. Stay away from windows.

House trailers are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds. Trailer parks should have a community shelter. Appoint a community leader responsible for constant radio monitoring during threatening weather or during Watch periods.

In schools: Whenever possible, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Avoid auditorium and gymnasiums or other structures with wide, free-span roofs, especially those which are not steel and concrete reinforced structures. Students should assume crouched position on floor along a wall with hands covering head.

In open country: If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building, or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat. Move away from the tornado's path at right angles. If there is not time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

Keep listening to the radio or television for the latest advisory information. Call the local law enforcement office to report a tornado.

Remember, Tornado Watch means tornadoes are expected to develop. Tornado Warning means a tornado has actually been sighted.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

One can't say too much about Ginnie Maes these days. They are pool mortgages backed by the U.S. Government.

With interest rates down, these secure instruments seem highly attractive to many. A return of 10 or 11 percent is not unusual, and a friend recently bought one paying over 12 percent.

There isn't much around these days, guaranteed by the U.S., that pays that well. But, of course, one must wait to get his or her money - the mortgage pools pay interest regularly but principle may be years in coming.

NEWS

Here are some hints on eating right for your health: Fresh fruits and vegetables are high in fiber and vitamins and low in sodium.

Vitamin A is necessary for vision in dim light, healthy tissue, and helps in increasing resistance to infection. Good sources of Vitamin A include carrots, sweet potato, winter squash, pumpkin, apricots, peaches and cantaloupe.

Vitamin C is necessary for healthy tissue, wound and bone healing, and helps in increasing resistance to infection and utilizing iron. Excellent sources of Vitamin C are citrus, oranges, grapefruit, lemons, strawberries, kiwi, baked potatoes, tomatoes, green peppers, and cabbage.

Look to get iron vitamins with a small amount of lipid (oil) over a high temperature for a short time by steaming, boiling or stir-frying. Suggest the experts at the Food Market Institute. Rather than fried or in a salad with mayonnaise, potatoes can be boiled or baked for optimum nutritional value.

National Poison Prevention Week

March 16-23 is National Poison Prevention Week. The theme for that week is "Children Act Fast...So Do Poisons!" This means that parents must always be watchful when household chemicals or drugs are being used. Many accidents happen when adults are using a product, but are distracted (by telephone or doorbell) for a few minutes. Children act fast, and adults must make sure that household chemicals and drugs are kept away from children at all times.

There are presently some 400 Poison Control Centers in the United States that maintain information for the physician or the public on necessary treatment for the ingestion of household products and medicines. They are familiar with the toxicity (how poisonous it is) of most substances found in the home, or know how and where to find this information. Their phone number can be found on the inside cover of the telephone directory. Place a Mr. Yuk sticker on your phone so that the Poison Center's telephone number is readily available in an emergency. (These stickers are available from your local Hooks Pharmacist.)

Good housekeeping rules to prevent poisoning accidents include:

1. Keep all household products and medicines out of reach of youngsters and preferably locked up when not in use.
2. When these products are in use, never let them out of your sight-even if you must take them along when answering the telephone or doorbell.

3. Store all medicines separately from household products.

4. Keep items in their original containers.

5. Leave original labels on all products, and read the labels before using.

6. Always leave the light on when giving or taking medicine.

7. Avoid taking medicines in front of children, since youngsters tend to imitate adults.

8. Refer to medicine as "medicine"--not "candy".

9. Clean out the medicine cabinet periodically, and safely dispose of unneeded medicines when the illness for which they were prescribed is over.

10. Use safety packaging properly--by closing the container securely after use.

Youth Athletes Need Awareness Of Alcohol, Drug Effects

Much publicity has been given lately to athletes with alcohol/drug problems or hints of same.

The New England Patriots' drug hulaaloo is well-known to readers of the sports pages. Michigan State basketball star, Hoosier Scott Skiles, had had his run-ins with the law on three occasions, two of which involved alleged driving while under the influence.

The National Football League is in a big sweat about voluntary or mandatory urinalysis for team members to determine drug use. Coaches in high school and college are becoming more concerned about the devastating effects of drinking and drugging on their athletes. Cocaine, for example, has now invaded high schools and the nationwide use of the white power is on the rise.

What to do? Start early. Not only with high school but junior high. Not only for athletes but the rest of the student body as well. In my opinion, athletes are not special, other than they get more publicity.

But the field of athletics has coaches who make rules and can help. Coaches know young athletes are under pressures, tensions and stress far beyond those which the "typical" teenager encounters. But most coaches, according to Chris Carr, counselor supervisor at Koala Adolescent Center, Indianapolis, and most parents are reluctant to admit that alcohol/drug dependency occurs in athletes other than professionals.

Carr, a former Muncie North High School and Wash College football player, has a traveling workshop to help coaches recognize and deal with alcohol/drug abuse by athletes. A coach, says Carr, often has the most contact with a teenager during the course of a week and might well be the first to notice a problem.

Carr recently attended a series of seminars sponsored by Assistant Commissioner Pat Roy and the Indiana High School Athletic Association. Carr has consulted with two high school football teams and has spoken with coaches and athletes about drug and alcohol abuse problems within the athletic community.

"I'm interested in making the young athlete aware that there can be problems," Carr says, "and that if he makes the decision to get drunk or high, he is hurting himself AND the team. I'm never preachy or on a soap-box. I just try to show them alternatives."

He urges coaches, teachers and parents to avoid playing the see-no-evil game. "When the coach is in the locker room and hears talk about a party, don't turn and walk out. Typically, the coach will lay down strict rules on alcohol/drug use at the beginning of the season, then not mention it again, unless a tragedy occurs. By then, it's too late."

Carr adds, "Accept that partying is bound to occur, but remember, that as parents and coaches, you can control the atmosphere to a greater extent than you realize. Know where the party is. Give your son or daughter some rules. Stand by them."

"Be consistent with enforcement," he insists. "A coach will kick a third-stringer off the team if he gets caught at a party, but if he's your leading scorer..."

Let's face it, High school students, for the most part, have experimented with alcohol and/or other drugs. They have been around people who have used drugs. Some have been offered drugs and refused. Any other conclusion, Carr says, is unrealistic.

It's time to realize young athletes aren't special. ALL young people are special.

Treasurer's Farm Program

Indiana farmers might see a better forecast for the spring planting season because of a program offering lower interest rates on operating loans.

Through the Indiana State Treasurer's Farm Program (TFP), qualified farmers can obtain Production Credit Association (PCA) financing at a reduced rate. On the maximum loan of $50,000 which is available, that means participating farmers could save about $1,000 on their annual interest expense.

The treasurer's program, now entering its second year, was conceived as a way of helping struggling farmers who feel the pressure of high interest rates. Last year some $33 million was loaned to farmers through local banks which participated in TFP.

This season, both the dollar amount of loans and the number of farmers participating in the program are expected to increase. The reason is the Farm Credit System, through its network of Farm Credit Services in Indiana, is participating as a TFP lender for the first time.

In fact, Farm Credit Services has been allocated half of the $50 million available. Those funds will be split evenly among the eight (8) service centers serving Indiana, so farmers in every area of the state have the opportunity to participate.

The first loans should be made early March when the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank (FICB) of Louisville -- Farm Credit Services' source for short-term money -- will purchase U.S. Treasury securities and deliver these to the State of Indiana as collateral in a repurchase agreement. The FICB will earn a greater return on the investment than the rate paid on the repurchase agreement. This will enable the FICB and Farm Credit Services to pass through a lower rate to farmers.

TFP loans through local banks will be funded directly by the state, which will result in a different interest rate being charged by the banks from that offered by Farm Credit Services.

For most farmers, the No. 1 question about TFP is what kind of interest rate will be available.

According to Bill Lankswert, treasurer for Farm Credit Services, the rate will be set at 9.75%. That's 2.25 percent under the regular loan available from Farm Credit Services.

Indiana treasury officials hope the lower rate will help financially stressed farmers, particularly younger ones. To assure that group is reached, treasury officials have put eligibility guidelines in place which restrict participation.

For example, in order to qualify for a loan, applicants must have a net worth of under $250,000; make 75% of their income from the farm; and have 45% or less equity in their farms. Farmers under age 40 are exempt from the equity provisions.

Another stipulation sets the maximum loan amount at $50,000.

Though RFP is a state program, the treasurer's department is not responsible for credit decisions. Its only role is determining if applicants meet eligibility guidelines.

Loan applications, credit decisions and servicing the account are all done through the local Farm Credit Services center.

Phil Kimmel, assistant vice president of credit for Indiana with the Farm Credit Banks of Louisville, says funds won't last long because farmers in financial stress need to take advantage of every economic tool at their hands. He expects Farm Credit Services will quickly disperse all of its $25 million allocation.

The Treasurer's Farm Program is authorized on an annual basis. On Jan. 23, 1987, all TFP loans are due. At that time, farmers can either pay off their loans, or convert them at normal rates charged by the lending associations.

For more information about the Indiana Treasurer's Program, persons can contact the Farm Credit Services center in their area.

Farm Credit Services, Fourth District, is located in Louisville and made up of one consolidated Federal Land Bank Association and one consolidated Production Credit Association. In December, stockholders of 53 FIBAs and 30 PCAs voted to consolidate into the one FIBA and one PCA. Now through a network of more than 200 service centers, 51 of which are in Indiana, Farm Credit Services provides credit and financial services to farmers in Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee.

Farm Production Report

Indiana's laying flocks produced 483 million eggs during January 1986, 2% more than in January, 1985. The average number of layers on hand during January increased 1% from December 1985 and 3% from January 1985. The rate of lay at 2.160 per 100 layers during January was 1% below last year. Indiana hatcheries produced 4.14 million egg-type chicks during January, 18% more than in January 1985.

Nationally, egg production for January totaled 5.86 billion eggs which includes 5.22 billion table (or commercial-type) eggs and 639 million hatchery eggs. Indiana egg production during the year ending November 30, 1985, totaled 5.54 billion eggs, up 11% from the same period a year earlier. This ranked Indiana 2nd in the Nation, behind California, in number of eggs produced. The December 1, 1985 inventory of all chickens in the State totaled 28.62 million birds, up 3% from a year ago. Of this total, 21.88 million were hens and pullets of laying age, 40,000 more than a year earlier. Potential layers (birds of laying age plus those not yet of laying age) totaled 24.6 million, up 1% from December 1, 1984, with 89% of the birds of laying age. The remaining 11% were pullets 3 month old and older not of laying age.

Nationally, egg production during the year ending November 30, 1985, totaled 68.4 billion eggs. The 1985 production was up fractionally from 1984. The inventory for all chickens on Dec. 1, 1985 (excluding broilers), totaled 368 million, down 2% from the 374 million on Dec. 1, 1984. Potential layers (hens and pullets of laying age, plus pullets 3 months and older not of laying age) on hand Dec. 1, 1985 totaled 317 million, down 2% from the 325 million on hand Dec. 1, 1984. Of the 317 million hens and pullets, 88% were of laying age and the remaining 12% were pullets 3 months and older not of laying age.

Indiana's milk production totaled 203 million pounds in January, up 6% from a year earlier. The average number of milk cows on Indiana farms totaled 205,000 head, 8,000 more than a year ago. Average production per cow was 990 pounds, an increase of 20 pounds per cow from January 1985.

U.S. milk production during January was a record high at 12.2 billion pounds. This was 8% more than the January 1985 production and was 6% above the previous January record set in 1983. January production per cow averaged 1,091 pounds, 47 pounds above a year earlier. During January total milk cows averaged 11.2 million head, 3% above the same month in 1985 but was 22 thousand head less than December 1985.

U.S. milk production during 1985 totaled a record high 144 billion pounds, 3% above the previous record high of 140 billion pounds set in 1983. Output per cow in 1985, at 13.0 thousand pounds, is 525 pounds above 1984. The annual average number of cows is 11.0 million head, 2% above the 1984 average of 10.8 million head.

TVSC Adopts Curriculum

The Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation came one step closer to adopting social studies curriculum during its board meeting last Monday night.

Superintendent Baxter Paige stated that a language arts curriculum has already been approved and that work was being done on a mathematics guide. The guides being adopted for the school system outlines what should be covered at each level, including goals, objectives, instructional strategies and evaluations. This will make for a more uniform structure in the TVCS schools.

In other moves, the board:

*Approved a request for an additional appropriation of $20,000 in the cumulative building fund to reseat the high school parking lot and drives.

*Appointed Gary Lafferty as the new assistant high school boys track coach.

*Appointed Deborah Thompson as head high school track coach and named Lewis Goodwin as assistant high school girls track coach.

By the end of the 1986-87 school year, the TVCS hopes to have curriculum guides established for the four major subjects.

WHAT ARE ZERO COUPON BONDS?

They're relatively new investments that offer exceptional growth and a high degree of safety for your money.

Zero are notes issued by corporations, government and municipalities. Unlike conventional bonds which sell at or near their face (maturity) value, zeros sell for a fraction of their face value - perhaps as little as 10%. In other words, a $1,000 zero coupon due to mature in 20 years might be purchased for only $100!

Instead of paying you interest periodically, the interest is automatically reinvested at a guaranteed rate and compounded over the life of the zero coupon bond. When it matures, you receive the full face value - $1,000 in the example cited above. Of course, you may sell the bond at any time prior to maturity, at its then current market value.

Zero coupon bonds - except for matured municipals - are subject to federal and state taxes. In fact, the interest paid is reportable as income as it accrues, even though you receive no actual payment at the time. This is why zeros are especially attractive for tax-deferred retirement plans or for gifting to your children, where the income will be taxed at a much lower rate.

If you have, or are considering, an IRA or Keogh Plan, or if you would like to make a gift to your children for education or other purposes, zero coupon bonds are a logical choice.

Without clouds and other constituents of the Earth's atmosphere, the surface of our planet would reach a temperature of 176 degrees at the equator by day.

High blood pressure is often called "the silent killer" because it can affect a person's health even though he feels fine. There are no symptoms of this disease but certain factors can predispose one to the problem. They include heredity, excess weight, stress and smoking. In addition to changing your lifestyle, today there are, fortunately, several medications that doctors can prescribe to control high blood pressure.

Whether or not your doctor has advised a drug for blood pressure problems, he may want to monitor your readings regularly. It's now possible to regularly and accurately check your own blood pressure right at home. The brand-name quality and reliability of Norelco appears on four accurate blood pressure meters for home use. They utilize the latest state-of-the-art technology and precision electronics designed to meet the needs of today's health-conscious consumers.

If you have any of the pre-disposing factors affecting blood pressure or have questions about the problem, see your doctor.

SEE YOUR DOCTOR

KEEPING A STEP AHEAD OF STREP

For the first time, strep throat can be diagnosed in a doctor's office in just five minutes.

It normally takes 24 to 72 hours to confirm the presence of group A streptococcus, a bacterium that causes some 20 percent of sore throats—the majority of these in children between ages two and ten.

Now, a doctor can verify a strep throat diagnosis in his office with a simple color test. If the culture specimen turns blue the results are positive.

A fast, accurate diagnosis is necessary when dealing with a very contagious infection such as strep throat, which can lead to heart and kidney damage if not treated promptly with penicillin. Patients will know whether or not he or she is infected before leaving the doctor's office, and will not be given penicillin unnecessarily.

Symptoms of strep throat include sore throat, fever, headache and, in some cases, chills, nausea and vomiting. Untreated cases may last two weeks. If you or your child experience such symptoms it might be a good idea to see your doctor and ask for a test. This new test kit by Ventrex Laboratories Inc., of Portland, Maine known as Ventrex-screen™ Strep A Test, is available to doctors everywhere.

Akron 4th Of July

The 1986 4th of July and sesquicentennial celebration will have to be moved from the School site due to new school construction. The festivities will be located in the town parking lot behind the telephone building.

The move will make many changes in the traditional 4th of July organization. However, in our 150th year remembrance it seems fitting to go back to the "old fair grounds". Hopefully the participants and community will bear with the committee as it makes the necessary changes.

The 1986 4th of July Committee consists of Larry and Bernadean Howard, Chairpersons; Miles and Pat Hoffman, Lyle and LaVada Butt;

John and Debbie Gray; Mike and Ruby Bowers; Gary and Susan Rensberger; Mike and Pam McFarland; and Dick and Judy Day. In the past, the celebrations have cost between 4 and 5,000 dollars. This year of the dual 4th of July and sesquicentennial plans, the committee intends to raise $10,000 to conduct the celebration including the largest parade ever and a spectacular fireworks display.

A total community support will be needed to carry out this goal.

This year's Queen Contest will consist of 1¢ per vote competition. The girl crowned Miss Akron will be the girl raising the most money followed by a second and third princess. An entry blank for queen competition can be found elsewhere in this issue.

A 4-mile run is scheduled for June 28, the Saturday before the 4th. A one-mile fitness run will also be held in conjunction. Special sesquicentennial T-shirts will be awarded to the first 75 entrants in each race. Other activities are being planned for throughout that day. This day will kick-off the sesquicentennial festivities.

One major goal of the committee is to roll back the clock to simpler times and to kinder the close-knit community spirit that was so evident in times gone by. It should be a great celebration.

Akron Town Board

The following items were covered during the last Akron Town Board meeting on March 18:

- Board President Jack Miller on a recent trip to Pierceton, to observe a system of rust removal. The Board plans to hold a public meeting late this spring to inform citizens of the benefits and costs of such a system.

- Jim Barnhart, a local resident and member of the Police Reserves, has been engaged to help out the town while both police officers attend Police Academy. Barnhart comes highly recommended from Kosciusko County, where he was previously employed.

- Town Marshall Rodney Fisher presented quotes for a new radio for the Police Department. The Board decided on a radio from Culver Communications and an effort will be made to sell the old radio. Marshall Fisher will also be attending a seminar on bank robbery on March 26 at South Bend.

- Church of God trustees requested a larger water meter to deal with problems of water pressure. Superintendent Marty Gearhart was instructed by the board to deal with the problem. The church will then be charged for the difference in meter price.

- Discussions were held regarding the placement of handicapped parking signs in vicinity of Methodist Church. Signs will be placed there to allow parking on Sundays.

- Spring Clean-Up Days were set as follows: May 14, Precincts 1 and 3; May 15, Precinct 1. A notice will be published in the NEWS at a later date.

Kindig Heads Bike-A-Thon

The Central Regional Office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced recently that Mrs. Rosemary Kindig has agreed to chair the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-a-Thon in Akron.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at the Hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude Hospital, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle cell anemia, and other child-killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-a-Thon program is dedicated to "Jaime". Jaime is from Ohio and was diagnosed with leukemia in May of 1983, and began treatment at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Today, her cancer is in remission and she is doing quite well. Jaime is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this interna-

Letters To The Editor

Letter to the Editor:

Over the past few years, America's public schools have received sharp criticism from parents, the community and the news media. The problems of the 1980s have placed a great deal of stress on parents of school age children. Many times those problems are transformed into problems that fall on the shoulders of America's classroom teachers. The teacher has become the scapegoat and it's not right.

The Indiana State Teachers Association is announcing a program to help parents, school administrators and teachers work together to solve the modern day classroom problems.

April 4-5, ISTA is sponsoring a workshop entitled "Understanding the Roadblocks to Learning" which will help parents and school employees deal with the problems that kids bring to today's classrooms.

Latchkey kids, Teenage Suicide, and Nutrition are a few of the topics to be examined. We know how important these problems are. They can inhibit the learning process. As a team—parents working with teachers and school administrators—we can come closer to finding ways to deal with our children's problems and help them to cope with today's pressures.

I invite you to attend our workshop. It will be held at the Ramada Inn-South at 4514 South Emerson Avenue in Indianapolis. For more information contact Barb King, Indiana State Teachers Association, 150 West Market, Indianapolis, (317) 634-1515.

Let's all work together to make education better for our children. They deserve it.

Sincerely,
Damon P. Moore
President

Dear Editor,

On March 7, the Public Service Commission of Indiana authorized an additional 8.2 per cent rate increase on top of the recent 5 per cent increase.

Its purpose was to bail out the stock and bondholders of Public Service Indiana for their Marble Hill fiasco.

This is perfectly illegal because of the Indiana State Supreme Court ruling last November. The ironic thing is that to take care of the stock and bondholders of P.S.I., the P.S.C. blatantly disregarded long-standing Indiana law.

It is very interesting to note that no bondholding investor will lose a dime. Though dividends are suspended for three years, P.S.I. reserves the right to pay dividends if its new financial consultant suggests it would be in the company's best interest to do so.

The agreement does not allow for any rate deductions during the period should Federal Income taxes or other costs increase.

No intervening group endorsed the settlement - only the state office of Utility Consumer Counselor and P.S.I.

Our betrayal by the U.C.C. and the P.S.C. will result in our light bills going up again.

The $195,000 plus per year Chairman Barker still remains to mismanage the company.

The deal, in summary, is going to require 543,000 people to pay an additional $100 million per year on their light bills.

The thought curiously occurs to me... why doesn't P.S.I. use its approximately $90 million per year profits to pay off its $1,250 million long term debt?

Oops—I forgot—DIVIDENDS!

I must go for now, it's getting too dark to write.

Yours truly,

Floyd Coates, Chairman

Fulton County Residents:

My mother is writing this letter for me because it's Easter Seal Month and with appreciation I'd just like everyone to know that when you give to Easter Seals it does help Fulton County children. Since I was born a lot of people in Fulton County have helped my parents and me. The Shriner's tried but my needs go beyond orthopedic care at this time. I'd like to thank Easter Seals for buying me a special chair and stroller so I can sit up like a little lady.

So when you see Mommie and I for Grandma and I out for a walk remember Easter Seals.

I'm going away to Riley for a couple of weeks to visit the nice people there. So, I won't be home for Easter. But, if you would for me please say a special prayer at your Easter meal for me and all the other children in Fulton County who need your special prayers.

So, a special thanks to Easter Seals, Manitou Training Center, Akron United Methodist Church, and all other people who helped or donated to my benefit.

IT'S A FACT!

America is running out of landfill sites to dispose of garbage. Some communities have found an efficient and economical form of waste disposal: incineration. Plastics have proved to be especially helpful in this process.

Discarded plastic materials in the solid waste stream produce energy when they are burned, according to the Society of the Plastics Industry.

Pointers
For Parents

It may just be the "common cold," but it still distresses many parents to see their youngsters suffering from fever, coughs and congestion. When colds hit your household, here are some tips that may help your little one feel better faster:

- You don't need to call the doctor every time a mild cold begins, but you should call the doctor every time an unusual symptom appears, or a high fever occurs.

- Keep your child warm and comfortable as he or she rests in bed. Light meals and plenty of liquids keep up the child's strength and help reduce the adverse effects of fever. Games and read-aloud sessions may help the time spent convalescing go faster.

To relieve the cough that often accompanies colds, it may be a good idea to give your child a cough suppressant product that comes in chewable form. That way, you can be sure of exactly how much medication your child is getting and avoid messy spills. A good tasting, chewable product such as Medi-quell Chewy Cough Squares from Warner Lambert, can make it easier to get a child to take medicine. Medi-quell Chewy Cough Squares can provide up to eight hours of cough relief, twice as long as regular strength liquid products without the mess, and in accuracy of teaspoon dosing. If coughs are accompanied by nasal congestion, there's new Decongestant Formula Medi-quell. Both Medi-quell formulas are non-narcotic and contain no alcohol.

- If a cough or cold continues with fever for more than a few days, see your child's doctor for expert advice.

MEETING YOUR RETIREMENT OBJECTIVES

IRA - Individual Retirement Accounts are an ideal way to provide for your own retirement, since contributions to the account are TAX DEDUCTIBLE AND THE FUNDS ACCUMULATE AND GROW TAX DEFERRED.

The deadline for establishing and funding an IRA is April 15 of the following tax year. Withdrawals from an IRA MAY BEGIN AT AGE 59½. Any distribution prior to 59½ years old will be subject to ordinary income tax plus a 10% tax penalty.

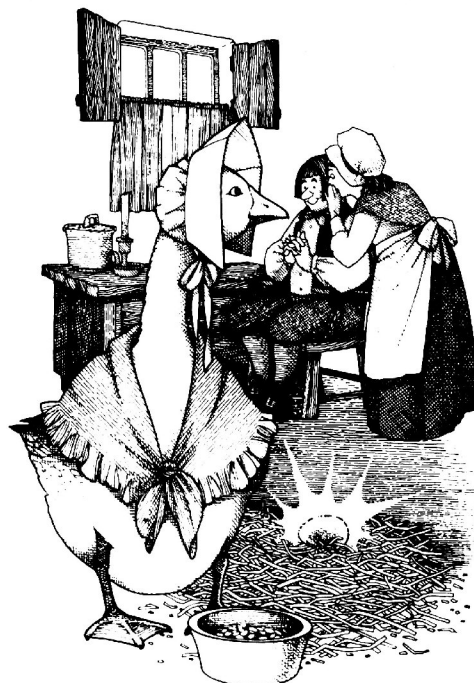

IRA Rollover. There are times when an individual receives a lump sum distribution of his interest in a company retirement plan, due either to retirement, plan dissolution, or termination of employment. Unfortunately, an income tax liability is created with this distribution. The IRA Rollover serves as a means to postpone any tax payments.

To take advantage of the IRA Rollover an individual "rolls over" this lump sum distribution into an IRA within sixty days from the date of receipt.

The next step toward a successful program is making the correct investment choices. This can be a difficult decision considering the volatility of financial conditions and the inevitable changes in investment objectives. A bank will offer a CD, an insurance company an annuity, a no-load mutual fund group will offer you professional management of your funds, but the personal attention to customize your plan is lacking. A full line securities broker offers you the widest possible range of investment approaches for your retirement account.

Corn Rootworm Worst Pest

Corn rootworm is the worst corn insect pest in Indiana, according to a survey of the state's county extension agents.

The survey asked agents in 11 states to identify corn insect problems and controls. Out of 37 Indiana participants, 35 listed rootworm as a damaging insect in corn in 1985. All 37 agents named rootworm the worst insect in corn year-in and year-out.

European corn borers and cutworms were ranked the second and third most damaging insects in corn.

The survey was conducted by Stauffer Chemical Company. Stauffer's Bill Pagano says that unlike corn borers or cutworms, rootworms can cause yield losses that aren't visible above ground.

"By feeding on roots of growing corn, the larvae impair plants' ability to take up water and nutrients," he says. "Damage won't show up unless it is severe or conditions—such as wet soils and high winds—favor lodging and goose-necking of stalks."

Because rootworms thrive on corn and overwinter in Indiana, they will almost always be present in fields where corn is grown for two or more years in a row, Pagano points out. Unless you scouted for adult beetles last summer and found low populations, you should use an insecticide this year where corn follows corn.

Careful application of the insecticide is crucial for effective control of rootworms, Pagano stresses.

"Taking the time to check your equipment, calibrate and do the job right will pay off in the form of a better return on your insecticide investment," he says.

Start by applying the insecticide granules in a 7-inch band centered over the row, he recommends.

"No matter what rootworm product you use, it'll work better banded," he says. "Studies show banding gives you a wider zone of insecticide protection, which means less root damage when the plants are under attack from rootworm larvae."

The same band application can control other insects as well, Pagano says. This includes cutworms, which are less predictable than rootworms but can be devastating when they do strike.

"If you're treating for rootworms and you want cutworm protection as well, just use a product that controls both," he says. "Make sure it's labeled for cutworm control, not just suppression."

The county agents surveyed rated Dyfonate and Lorsban the top two soil insecticides for cutworm control. For rootworms, Dyfonate and Counter were the two highest rated products.

You shouldn't count on a band application to control corn borers, however, Pagano says. Some manufacturers have promoted this concept, but it's not the most cost-effective approach.

"You're better off waiting, scouting for corn borers, then treating if the infestation justifies it economically," he says.

Dyngus Day Origins

The origin of Dyngus Day can be traced to the coming of Christianity to Poland over a thousand years ago.

Through the centuries, the spirit of Dyngus continued in the hearts of the people of Poland, celebrating their self-liberation from the rule of paganism.

Polish forefathers brought to the United States the tradition of Dyngus—the coming of Christianity and the spirit of fellowship.

In the early days of the growth of the U.S., aside from the religious overtones, Polish-Americans would visit their neighbors on the Monday following Easter and exchange gifts, such as sausage and boiled eggs, ham and pastries.

The boys would switch the girls' legs with twigs and the girls would retaliate by throwing water on the boys. Perhaps this is a throwback to the wholesale christenings at the time Dyngus began.

This isn't done much anymore, perhaps because of women's liberation, or maybe as someone suggested, because the advent of the mini-skirt convinced young males that they would rather look than switch.

The Poles of South Bend and St. Joseph County have carried on the tradition of Dyngus—this hard-to-define spirit of fellowship and sharing. It is this spirit—this frame-of-mind, which has been adopted by all people of all creeds and nationalities as being their day—from the heart of River Bend Plaza to the outermost boundaries of St. Joseph County—The day to visit about the community and enjoy the fellowship and respect of one another.

Dyngus Day Celebrations in South Bend and St. Joseph County reach the hearts of all its citizens, to an extent greater than any community in the United States.

South Bend, St. Joseph County, Indiana is truly the Dyngus Capital of the World.

Sharing With Him

Some people do not relish prayer, to them, it's "ritual".

They tell themselves that no one's there, but their mistakes are dual.

For prayer should be a private time, a constant, joyful search.

And not an empty pantomime, you only do in church. It helps you through each stressful day, it warms, when hearts are cold.

You needn't make a big display, for comfort to take hold.

So when your life is in a mess, and everything looks dim, a whispered prayer can make it less, you've shared it all with him.

Senior Citizens, a reminder, will be closed March 28 for Good Friday.

Mary Mitterling is in the Miller Merry Manor at Warsaw. She would enjoy cards or letters from her friends. She is one of our volunteer workers. Kenneth Bright has been elected as Volunteer of the month. Kenneth gives many volunteer hours to this

With tax season upon us, a growing number of accountants are turning to computerized methods of processing Internal Revenue Service forms in an effort to save both time and money.

SCS Computer, a computerized tax preparation service, is one company that offers a solution to time-consuming tax calculations and the ever-present need to keep updated on tax legislation.

Accountants with computer equipment that access the SCS Computer service merely enter an individual's yearly income data into the computer terminal, which is programmed to request all information included on standard federal and state tax forms. Once entered, the information is then transmitted via telephone lines to a central host computer for processing. When processed, the accountant receives copies of standard tax forms with the information incorporated for presentation to federal and state tax authorities.

NEWS Warning Labels Sought

Calling drug usage a monumental national problem which is "sapping the vitality of our youth and endangering the very future of our nation," the National Association of Secondary School Principals is seeking warning labels in advertisements for movies that glorify drugs.

We believe that movies are having a dramatic impact on young people's attitudes about drugs," said Scott Thomson, NASSP executive director. "Parents need to be aware of movies in which drugs are promoted. Our aim is not to inhibit free expression in movies, but to spread information, to identify movies which could encourage youngsters to try drugs."

The NASSP is calling for federal legislation which will require all advertising, theater displays, billboards, or other printed advertising to include a warning which reads, "This motion picture contains portrayals of the use of illicit drugs in a manner which may reasonably influence minors to experiment with illegal and harmful substances, it is therefore rated D."

"The use and abuse of illegal drugs has become one of the most pernicious and persistent problems faced by American society in the 20th century," Thomson contended. "During the past two decades this plague has spread downward from the adult population and college-age students into our high schools, junior high schools, and even into the elementary grades."

"The NASSP has become increasingly concerned that drugs are promoted to our students not only by adult pushers and by peers who are users, but also by representatives of certain legitimate elements of society.

The most insidious of these, because they reach youth so effectively, are motion picture producers. Next to television, the motion picture industry probably has the greatest influence on youth of all sources of information and entertainment."

The problem becomes especially serious when films portray the use of illegal drugs in an attractive and sometimes even glamorous manner, because this suggests to youth the desirability of their use," he indicated. "To make matters worse, many of these films, such as "Animal House" and "Fast Times at Ridgemount High", are specifically directed at the younger audience."

When students see such a movie with dramatic visual effects and appealing music, the teacher who is responsible for instruction about the dangers of drugs and has only a piece of chalk and blackboard as a usual aid is at a great disadvantage, according to Thomson.

"Clearly, the Constitution does not permit, and we would not favor, any effort to prevent film makers and writers from expressing their ideas or opinions even if we find them disagreeable or offensive," Thomson said. "At the same time, we firmly believe that parents have a right to know something of the nature of the content of films being presented to their children."

"This right to know certainly has been objective of the Motion Picture Association's voluntary rating program, and we commend that. But where a film presents the use of illegal substance like cocaine in such a manner as to promote usage, we believe that a greater effort must be made to ensure that parents are fully advised."

What's Cookin'

A recipe I have used for many years... it was once published in the paper.

CARROTS HAWAIIAN

6 to 8 Large Carrots (cut in fourths lengthwise then into 1 to 1 1/2 inch pieces - 3 cups)

1 Cup Tidbit Pineapple
1 Medium Green Pepper
1 Large Onion, Chopped
1/2 Cup Pineapple Juice
1/2 Teaspoon Salt
2/3 Cup Brown Sugar
1 1/2 Tablespoons Flour

2 Tablespoons Butter or Oleo

Cook carrots for 5 minutes. Add green pepper, onion and salt. Cook to just tender. Don't over cook. Add pineapple juice. Mix sugar, flour and butter until smooth. Add to carrot mixture, cook and stir until thickened. Serve hot.

Two tablespoons vinegar adds zest. Freezes well. Canned and sliced water chestnuts may be added.

This recipe was given to me a few years ago by my special friend and neighbor, Nora Hoffman, who recognizes my weakness for cookies. (Yum).

I entered these in the Fulton Co. 4-H Fair and won a blue ribbon in the open class division. For this reason, this recipe, and my friend, will always be special to me.

NORA'S OATMEAL COOKIES

3/4 Cup Soft Shortening
1 1/2 Cups Sifted Flour
1/2 Cup Sugar
1 Cup Brown Sugar
1 Teaspoon Soda
1 Teaspoon Salt
2 Eggs
2 Teaspoons Cinnamon
3 Cups Oatmeal

Stir together flour, soda, salt and cinnamon. Add shortening, sugar, eggs and beat until smooth and creamy, approx. 2 minutes. Stir in oats. Chill dough. After chilled, roll dough into quarter inch thickness on board which has been lightly dusted with powdered sugar. Cut with a cookie cutter. Bake on greased cookie sheet at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes.

PSI Restores Power

Teamwork and long hours restored electricity within 36 hours to most of the 34,390 Public Service Indiana customers affected by outages tornados and high winds caused March 10. But restoring the utility's 23,000-mile network of transmission and distribution lines to their original condition will continue well into 1987.

Worst hit was a 230-kilovolt transmission line connecting Gallagher Generating Station in New Albany to the Five Points substation in southeastern Marion County. First in Scott County, and then again in Johnson County, winds cut down a total of 18 of the 120-foot towers supporting these lines. Electricity normally running through them to substations had to be rerouted as PSI crews from around the state worked triple shifts to restore power.

"Storms are nothing new, for sure, but this was much more," said Dwight Moody, PSI's operations superintendent at Franklin. "This is the worst storm damage to our transmission lines that I've ever seen."

Crews from Terre Haute, Noblesville, Carmel, Columbus and Greensburg pitched in to help PSI's Franklin district. Linemen worked 24-hour shifts after the storm hit, while other employees manned phones and equipment stockrooms around the clock.

Johnson County fire departments helped line crews by providing temporary lighting, and sheriff's deputies worked to control traffic and limit sightseers in the hard-hit Stones Crossing area at St. Rd. 135. Red Cross workers also stood ready with coffee and doughnuts as work continued through the night.

Tales of long hours and teamwork were common throughout PSI's service territory. Martinsville District Manager Jay McCoskey worked 30 hours straight, directing PSI line crews from Brazil, Bedford, Bloomington and Spencer.

"Our worst damage was in the north end of Martinsville, where we practically had to rebuild our distribution system," McCoskey explained.

Martinsville businesses also helped where they could. Free food and coffee provided by Just-Rite Hamburgers and distributed by A.I.D. Ambulance Service arrived late Monday night. And early Tuesday morning, Fred's Family Restaurant refused to take any money for food which line crews ordered there. Schwab's IGA helped citizens by offering to freeze meat for anyone whose service was out.

Nelson Tree Trimming worked from about 4 p.m. Mon. through 11 a.m. Tues. clearing downed trees so crews could get utility poles and lines back up.

PSI crews from Carmel, Noblesville and Plainfield/

Danville helped New Castle crews restore power after trees and debris took down transmission and distribution lines near Greenfield. And Kokomo, Wabash and Clarksville pitched in to help Seymour crews working near Austin replace more than 50 poles the storm had uprooted and snapped.

Indiana by Thomas Aylesworth and photos by John R. Savage. Of all midwestern states, Indiana is the smallest, but to many millions of people, it is the most beautiful. Indiana tells the story of this magnificent state and its proud heritage -- in words and pictures. This was donated to the Library by John and Dorothy Savage.

Trevor's Place by Frank and Janet Ferrell. Trevor's efforts will challenge the hearts and minds of those who think individual action no longer make a difference. Trevor and his family are making a difference, and by inspiring through example, thousands of people in many countries of the world are coming to realize that personal commitment to help is the answer to many of today's pressing social problems. This book was given to the Library in memory of Marie Bright by the Service Guild of the Akron Church of God.

Index to Indiana Wills, Phase I Through 1850 by Charles M. Franklin.

The Road Unseen by Peter and Barbara Jenkins. In 1973 Peter Jenkins began a walk across America with his dog Cooper. Peter also found the answers to an inner search when he became a Christian. Soon after he met and married Barbara Pennell, a graduate student living in New Orleans, and together they walked the remaining miles to the Pacific Coast. Their story of their journeys are told to two bestselling books, A Walk Across America and The Walk West. In The Road Unseen, they tell of their spiritual journey, until now, an untold story.
