Scenes Around Town

By Leafy Hudson

Once upon a time in the dim recesses of antiquity, families lived a strange, wondrous lifestyle and the mother presided over the home in a strange and wondrous way--and it was good.

In those days of long ago, the mother stayed home while the father went to work and children went to school--and it was good.

Mothers, in those days of yore, bid children to arise from bed at an early hour. The country mother directed her children to their chores of milking cows and feeding hogs at dawn. The town mother supervised as her children brought in firewood or helped prepare breakfast. Then, the whole family breakfasted together--and it was good.

Life was not easy for the mother in those halcyon days. While her children learned reading, writing, arithmetic, and respect for their country and others in school, the mother carried water to heat on the stove to wash dishes in a pan and to wash clothes on a washboard, so her family would be clean. She prepared hearty meals on an iron range for the evening meal, when the family sat down to sup together--and it was good.

The town mother's day was interrupted at noon when her children walked home for lunch (how else would they get there?), and she presented them with a noon repast. The country mother packed ample lunches each morning with extra cookies for other children--and it was good.

In those long ago days, the mother arose ahead of her family to weed the garden before the heat of the day. As she harvested the food, the mother served delicious dishes with fresh fruit and vegetables, then canned the excess until her cellar was full of preserved food for the winter--and it was good.

In those days of yore, the mother sewed clothes for herself and her children, for missionaries and for the neighborhood needy--and it was good.

That was long ago mother didn't fret for a career outside the home. She accepted the responsibility that she recognized came with giving birth. She honored her husband, loved her children and took immense pleasure and pride in caring for her home.

For such mothers in that long ago time and for those who still accept their maternal responsibilities today, Anna Jarvis, of Grafton, W. Virginia and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, initiated the movement that resulted in the establishment of Mother's Day--and it was good.

Gothan and Zachary of Bourbon. Close family friends who also shared in the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bishop of Muncie, and Fran Jennings of Ligonier. A delicious buffet meal was enjoyed, plus lots of visiting, reminiscing, gift giving and picture taking.

Who's Who In Akron

Ned Smith to retire from miniature harness racing

by Tonia Weller

"All good things come to an end," rural Akron resident Ned Smith says of his decision to retire from the sport of miniature harness racing. "I'm going to miss it, but I made my own decision. I just decided the time had come."

Ned has been breeding, training and racing ponies and miniature harness horses since the early sixties. "We'd had horses on the farm when I was a kid. I had a relative who had a race horse and he'd come to our place and then go to Bourbon to race and I'd go along. As a kid I always wanted a race horse," Ned says.

In miniature harness racing, small horses measuring no more than 51-1/2" high, pull a special two-wheeled racing cart around a 1/4, 5/16 or 1/2 mile oval track. Originally the races were fun for trophies, ribbons or blankets. "Now we run for money," Ned says. "The purse runs from $150 to $2000 with stakes races at about $2000." When Ned first started racing the height limit was 48". "Then they raised the height and we were able to go to the Standard Bred to breed our ponies. They're a lot faster now than they were before." He says, "The horses now can do a half mile in a minute."

Ned is a member of the racing club at the Nappanee Raceway. He has raced throughout Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania. "I've traveled all over," he says.

Last year, at the young age of 76, he raced every weekend from the last of May until fall, when an accident brought his season to an end. "One weekend, Joe Heddington, from Palestine, was driving my mare, Crossroads, when she went on her head and so did Joe. Broke his leg. So the next weekend," Ned says, "I drove her and she dumped me too. Boogered up my arm and I couldn't race anymore that season."

On March 25, Ned underwent surgery for a brain tumor caused by being kicked in the head by one of his horses years ago. "I'd had a little bump on my head for a long time," he says. "But it started to get bigger." He spent a week at the IU Medical Center in Indianapolis, several days of which were in intensive care. "That's what made me decide to get out of racing. I didn't want to bust my head again. You never know when you're going to get in a wreck. That opportunity is there every time you race."

Luck has been on Ned's side though. In over 25 years of racing he's only been in two wrecks. "I never even got hurt the first time. I lit on my feet and started running," he says with a chuckle. "I had a hard time staying up behind the horse. I thought I might end up on my head but I managed to keep up!"

During Century Week at the Nappanee Raceway, in July, Ned will auction off his two broodmares, four colts, three racing carts, two training jogs and all the rest of his equipment. "I've got two very good two-year-olds I hate to give up. They're real hot dogs! But you can't get married to them. I'm getting rid of everything. Now that I've decided to hang it up," he says, "I don't want anything around to agitate me."

The horses should bring a good price. Ned is well known on the circuit for breeding and training good stock. Many of the horses he's raised have been big winners. Spendthrift was one of the top two-year-olds on the circuit and Scrubbrush went to the top in the "free-for all" which is top speed racing. One of Ned's favorite mares, Silky Sue, who died last October at the age of 22, was a winner who produced several good colts. "Whenever I wanted a win with her, I could get it," he says proudly.

Ned broke and trained all of his own ponies and horses on the 1/4 mile track next to his Ft. Wayne Road home. "I always start when they're yearlings. They're easier to manage, you don't have to fight 'em. You start by getting 'em in the crosssties and trimming their foretops and you curry them good a few times. Then you slip 'em into the harness and start what we call 'long-lining' them. You walk behind and drive them without the cart-just the harness. You're teaching them to turn. Then when you think they're ready, you slip on the cart. Once you start, you work them everyday. It's not a haphazard job. Once you start training, you don't mess around. You usually work them one or two hours a day. Some of the colts break easy," he says, "others'll fight you to the last ditch. You get your training breaking the colts!" Even after the horses have been trained, they still must be worked every day.

Ned feeds his horses a special feed mix formula. "When they're off the feed and on grass," he says, "you can really see the difference in their coats."

The shoes on a race horse are a special type used to correct any variance in the animals' gait. The bottoms of the shoes are studied for uneven wear and then corrections are made. "You use the shoes to balance the horse," Ned explains.

For racing, the miniature horses are fitted with a special harness with hobbles at the tops of their legs. "The harness has to be free and clear and fit comfortably or the pony will falter," Ned says. All of his ponies also wore blinders when racing.

The drivers also wear special apparel, including white pants, boots and jackets displaying the driver's "colors". Ned's colors are yellow, brown and green. Helmets are also required, "Which is a good thing," he says.

Ned has lived on the same farm, north of Athens, for 60 years. He now rents out his farmground and is retired from the county highway department. He and his wife, Mildred, have two sons, two daughters, nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

After selling his racing equipment, Ned still plans to visit the track regularly as a spectator. He is also looking forward to having more time for another favorite pastime--fishing.

Ned has made a remarkable recovery from his recent surgery. Although he is still not allowed to drive, he usually makes it in to town for coffee, and takes a walk each day. The scar from the incision is still visible above his forehead but he says, "I feel better now than I have for the last three or four years."

Letter to the Editor

Townpeople of Akron;

I am sure all of you enjoy the Fourth of July Celebration in Akron as much as I do. It gives all of us the opportunity to show off our community. In the past years, there have been activities for all ages to enjoy. Hopefully this year will be no different. We are planning a parade, talent show, carnival rides, Miss Akron Pageant, street dance, fireworks, arts and crafts fair, beard growing contest, children's games, Miss Sparkle and Mr. Firecracker, flea market, volleyball tournament, tennis tournament, and other fun and exciting events.

Obviously it takes a lot of people to put this all together. At this time we have four committee members. This is a job way too big for only four people. We have asked several groups to find one person to represent them on the committee and still we have no one. There are all sorts of jobs to be done. Some include just calling different people and groups or businesses to get estimates and set things up. Just let us know what you can do and we will find something that needs to be done.

Our next meeting is Wednesday, May 13, at 7:00 p.m. at the Kindig Realty office. Please, take pride in our town and get involved!! We cannot do it alone. It is hard work but isn't Akron worth it?! I think so.

Thank You

TREATING GUM DISEASE

If you have a gum disease problem that is serious enough to threaten loss of teeth, your dentist may recommend one of several options in treating this problem. If the teeth are beyond saving, there may be no alternative but to extract them and remove diseased gum tissue so the condition will not spread to other teeth.

When the gum disease is in its early stages, however, your dentist may recommend more conservative treatment, such as subgingival curettage. In this procedure, he will concentrate on cleaning the root surfaces of the teeth and scraping the inside of the soft tissue next to the teeth. By doing this, he may be able to restore your gums and teeth to a healthy condition.

Another treatment that may be recommended is called the modified Windman-flap surgery. This involves separating the diseased gum tissue from the teeth and cleaning it as thoroughly as possible. Then the gum tissue is sutured back to the teeth and allowed to heal.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES WEEK

MAY 10 - 16, 1992

Provided by Gene Hughes

I was talking to a friend of mine the other day who had just recently gone into the monogramming business. I asked him how his new business was doing and he replied that he has had some initial success.

Studying to become an Emergency Medical Technician is a lot like the monogramming business.

First you are taught all about "EMS" and the vital role an "EMT" plays.

Then its back to your kindergarten days to learn your "ABC's". I soon found out that taking a "BP" was much easier than pronouncing that thing-a-ma-jig I used to take it with.

Some patients we were told might suffer from "CHF" and could develop an "MI" during the trip to the hospital. That might mean we would have to do "CPR". Now we are about to learn how to read an "EKG" so that we can "D-Fib" if needed.

We must also know how to maintain an "IV" line with "DSW" or whatever in it.

We practiced lifting and moving so that anyone with a "CNS" injury would not be injured more. We discovered how important "TLC" was in caring for someone who had had a "CVA".

We learned to extricate people from a "PI" using a "KED" and how to use some inflatable pants called "MAST" to help prevent shock. We were taught the importance of using the correct "O2" flow with or without "H2O" in treating a patient with "COPD". Of course it goes without saying that an "OB" patient has an "ETA" to the hospital "PDQ".

We have many patients whose problems are a direct result of "ETOH" or the "DT's" from a lack of it. We were reminded that the "FCC" would be monitoring our conversations when on "IHERN". So with that the thought in mind I will "END".

Emergency Medical Services: It Starts With You

The emergency medical services teams that serve our communities devote their lives to saving the lives of others. They include dispatchers, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, emergency nurses, firefighters, educators and administrators. And whether they're volunteers or professionals, they're all specially trained to care for you when you need it most.

We urge you to join us in saluting these dedicated men and women during National Emergency Medical Services Week, and take time to learn how you can be part of this lifesaving team.

Nearly one out of three Americans will visit an emergency department this year. In fact, the number of emergency department visits—an important measure of EMS utilization—continues to rise dramatically, from under 66 million visits in 1973 to more than 90 million in 1990, according to the American Hospital Association.

In many ways, the growth of the nation's emergency medical services (EMS) is the result of public demand. Prehospital care didn't surface as a national concern until the 1960's. Prior to that, the victim of a medical emergency didn't receive much medical assistance, other than transportation to the hospital. Often staffed only by a driver, ambulance services at that time offered little in the way of lifesaving care.

Today in the communities of Akron and Mentone that has changed and both areas are served by an EMS unit in their own area. Both units are manned by volunteers, dedicated to serving their communities. A recent problem both have suffered is lack of volunteers. Akron and Mentone are both in need of more dedicated people to help keep these services in their hometowns.

When to Call an Ambulance

When should you call an ambulance instead of driving to the emergency department? Ask yourself the following questions:

- Is the victim's condition life-threatening?
- Could the victim's condition worsen and become life-threatening on the way to the hospital?
- Could moving the victim cause further injury?
- Does the victim need the skills or equipment of paramedics or emergency medical technicians?
- Would distance or traffic conditions cause a delay in getting the victim to the hospital?

If the answer to any of these questions is "yes," or if you are unsure, it's best to call an ambulance. This is true even though you can sometimes get to the hospital faster by driving than by calling an ambulance. Paramedics and emergency medical technicians communicate with the physician in the emergency department by radio. They are trained to begin medical treatment on the way to the hospital. This prevents any delay that could occur if the patient is driven to the emergency department. The ambulance can also alert the emergency department of the patient's condition in advance.

If you live in a community with a single emergency number, calling for help is easy. Just dial 9-1-1. If your community does not have the 9-1-1 emergency number, keep the numbers of the fire, police, and emergency medical services near your telephone. When you call for help, speak calmly and clearly. Give your name, the address, phone number, location of victim (such as upstairs in the bedroom), and nature of the problem. Don't hang up until the dispatcher tells you to. They may need additional information or need to give you instructions.

Who's Who in Mentone

Orabelle Meredith in the Boggs and Nelson Insurance Agency, where she celebrated her 30th anniversary this year. Orie has worked hard on the Chamber of Commerce for many years and enjoys looking over the many souvenirs she has kept of the various Egg Festivals, especially Mentone's 1982 Centennial Celebration.

Portrait of Orie

by Leafy Hudson

Office Manager Orabelle "Orie" Meredith celebrated her thirtieth anniversary with Boggs and Nelson Insurance Agency April 1, 1992.

Orie recalls when she started with the agency. Her father-in-law, Frank Meredith, came home on evening with the news that Boggs & Nelson were looking for a secretary. "Mr. Nelson wants to talk to you," he said.

Orie went in the next day, April 1, 1962, interviewed with both Macy Nelson and Joe Boggs and began working that day. "I've been their April fooler ever since!"

"I learned so much from both of them," Orie says. "I have such wonderful memories of Macy. He was so humorous. He never met a stranger. He taught me how to meet the public—to always have a smile on my face."

"I've also learned a lot from Joe," she says. "He always tells me, 'Don't get stressed. Life's too short.' He also says, 'If you can't say something good, don't say anything'—he says his dad taught him that. I've had the best two bosses anyone could have."

Orie was born to George and May Jane Kottelman in a farmhouse between Macy and Deedsville in Miami County. When she was four, her family, including her brother, Chester, moved to another farm near Akron. An inveterate saver, Orie treasures a picture of her first school, the building on Maple Street in Akron that many years earlier had been Akron's first high school.

Her sixth grade class was the first one to go into the high school building when they had to vacate the grade school to accommodate builders working on the present elementary school.

Always musical, Orie cherishes memories of her music teachers those years: Bernice Bowen (piano), LaDonna Rader and Imogene Mavis. "They influenced me greatly," she says.

Very active in high school, Orie played clarinet in the band, sang in the chorus, and acted in plays. She worked at the Winona Cafe and has wonderful memories of people like the Leiningers, Tom Hauptert and Charlie Moyer. They teased me. It was so much fun."

Orie was an early "Miss Fulton County" in 1953 (she still has the banner and ribbon), and was High School Basketball Queen in 1954. "I still love basketball," she laughs. Her graduation and senior trip (to New York City and Washington D.C. on a train) were memorable because she shared it with her brother, Chet. Never strong, he had lost school time because of ill health. "We had so much fun," she says. "We just got a big bottle of Ginger Ale and had a ball!"

Orie's Senior Prom turned out to be an important milestone in her life. The music that night was provided by Jimmy Meredith's Band. When Orie met Jim that night, it was, as they say, kismet.

Orie graduated, and went to work at Rochester Telephone Company. "I always wondered about the people on the other end of the line," she says. "What they looked like and where they were."

Jim and Orie married in December and lived in a trailer near his parents' family farmhouse. Married to Jim, Orie wanted to join the band, "But, I couldn't. They all had such marvelous talent. They would just hear a song and they could play it. I couldn't do that. So, I sang with the band." They appeared many years all over Indiana.

Although Orie rarely sings now, one song and setting is very special to her. At age six, she sang "In the Garden" at the Athens EUB Church, walking as she sang, to stand in a flower bowered trellis. About two years ago, she sang the same song for that church's homecoming. After singing, she told them why she had chosen that song. "It's very special to me," she says.

About three years after their marriage, when Jim's parents moved into Mentone, Orie and Jim moved into his family home, which was built in 1874. "I'm still on the farm," she says. "I like it."

Orie took a job Berkway's Grocery Store, on the south side of Main Street, and then was hired to do payroll at Frank Mfg. where she worked five years with her present colleague, Kate Wheatstone. "When we were needing someone else here about ten years ago," she says. "I hollered at Kate across the street that I wanted to talk to her. I told her what I wanted and she's been here ever since."

During the five years at Frank's, their son, Gary, now of Central City, Colorado, and daughter, Diana were born. Diana lives in Rochester with husband, "PeeWee" Smith and sons, Shayne and T.J.

It was when work at Frank's slackened off and Orie was laid off, that the invitation to be interviewed by Macy and Joe was received.

One of Orie's saddest memories is of her beloved brother Chet's death in 1966 at age 31. "We were very close," she remembers.

Orie is very proud of her many years as a member of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce and of her accomplishments as a member.

"Macy and Joe were involved in it," she says. "Somebody talked me into doing the parade and I've been involved ever since." She has held every office and was the first lady president.

Still keeping everything, Orie has a large collection of Akron-Mentone News articles and pictures of former Egg Festivals and other chamber activities. Her prize possession is a program from the Sixth Annual Egg Festival, Friday, April 18, 1941. "Dinner Music" is listed as presented by Frank Meredith's Orchestra. Also listed is "Music" by "Red Foley, WLS Radio Artist."

But, Orie's favorite memories are of Mentone's full week Centennial Celebration in 1982. "No one knows how much work it was," she says, "but it was worth it."

Orie loves to take out the old clippings and the scrapbook she made of that week and travel down memory lane. "Many of them are gone now," she says. A favorite memory is of the men's beard contest. She laughs, describing R. J. Hill as he arrived with a bandana over his face. When he took it off, he revealed a beard on one side of his face and the other side clean shaven.

Orie enjoys working with all the activities of the chamber: the fairstand, the Egg Festival, the Mentone-Burket basketball game, working with Helping Hands, buying the town's Christmas decorations, and donating to the many organizations they do, including Mentone Firemen, EMT's and Street Scene. "It's all for the good of the town and helps bring us together into one happy family."

When thinking about her chamber activities and Mentone in general, Orie says she is reminded of Garrett Phillips, a former Mentone Methodist pastor. "Remember what he always said?" she asks. "It's how I feel. 'I was there and I am glad.'"

FAITH SHOWS YOUR MOTHER WAS RIGHT ABOUT MANY THINGS

Your mother had to be alert
To help you through each childhood hurt;
And times when you were sick in bed,
No matter what the doctor said,
You loved the stories that she'd tell,
That always seemed to make you well.
Then, with your childhood left behind,
Your mother always was inclined
To worry when you had a date,
And frequently came home too late.
But later on, you saw the light,
And realized that she was right.
As lessons of your faith attest,
Your mother did her very best;
So if she's here, or gone away,
Let's honor her on Mother's Day.

Class of 96' Dance

The Drug-Free Schools and Communities Local Advisory Committee of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation will sponsor the second annual dance of eighth grade students from Akron and Mentone Schools. This year's event is titled, the "Class of 96' Dance", and will be held in the commons area at Tippecanoe Valley High School on Friday, May 15, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Tom McKean, well-known radio talk show personality and speaker from Fort Wayne, will be this year's disc jockey. Admission to the "Class of 96' Dance" will be free with food and soft drinks served at no cost to students. Pictures will be available for a nominal fee. $250 worth of items will be given away during drawings and activities throughout the evening.

The "Class of 96' Dance" is a dress-up dance and absolutely is not to be considered a formal activity. Students are discouraged from renting or purchasing formal dresses or tuxedos. Shorts, blue jeans, or tennis shoes are not acceptable attire for the dance. Girls are expected to wear dresses, skirts, culottes, or split skirts. Boys may wear dress slacks and sports shirts or dress shirts. Suits and ties are acceptable attire.

The purpose of the "Class of 96' Dance" is to allow the eighth grade students from Akron and Mentone Schools to get to know each other better, easing their transition into a single ninth grade class at Tippecanoe Valley High School. A second purpose is to provide students with an enjoyable and substance-free activity.

The "Class of 96' Dance" is being organized and supervised by a number of parents and students from Akron and Mentone Schools and the principals of both schools.

Should there be questions concerning the "Class of 96' Dance", please feel free to contact Principal Daniel V. Kramer at Mentone School (353-7465) or Principal Brett R. Boggs at Akron School (893-4646).

Scenes Around Town

By Leafy Hudson

Interviewing friends, old and new, to write profiles of Mentone personalities is always interesting and surprising. Everyone has a story, each one very different from the last, and it's a privilege to hear these stories first-hand. But, interviewing Orabelle Meredith this week struck me as, in a way, the most unusual and inspirational yet.

The thing, that makes Orabelle's story so distinctive is that, not only has she been present on Mentone's Main Street thirty years, but, for many of those years she has devoted time, thought and hard work to the good of the community by becoming and remaining a mainstay of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce.

And for what? Through the fairstand, the Egg Festival and dues paying members, the Chamber raises money each year to help the EMT's, the Mentone Firemen, protecting our lives and homes; Street Scene and things like new Christmas decorations to esthetically improve our already pleasant town, striving always to make it better; to help such organizations as Helping Hands, aiding those in our community who are experiencing bad times; to sponsor the kids' Easter Egg Hunt, the Mentone-Burket basketball game and Santa Claus' appearance at Christmastime just to make life in Mentone more fun for everyone.

These are just some of the accomplishments of the Chamber. Is there anyone in Mentone who hasn't benefited in some way from these activities? Whether we realize it or not, probably not.

No one but those who have helped can know how much work goes into the fairstand and the Egg Festival. It takes an incredible number of willing workers to successfully execute these activities and, fortunately, we have that. Many others besides Orabelle work hard and faithfully annually to accomplish these things, as well as many who help just when they can. They're a blessing to the community because, as Orabelle says, "It draws the community into a family."

When the Chamber was established in the mid-forties, its list of dues-paying members was lengthy. Every businessman in Mentone belonged. Now, although the dues are nominal, many businesses, benefiting along with everyone else, are not dues-paying members.

How much stronger we could be if each business would join. Serving on the board is an experience each business person should experience. But, without that, just the act of paying dues would give each business a sense of belonging--a real joining into the Mentone family.

Former Akron resident's likeness on greeting card

Jack Slaybaugh as a greeting card cowboy...

...and as a real life Brown County deputy.

If you are browsing through the Leanin' Tree greeting cards and think you see a familiar face, you just might be right.

Akron High School graduate Jack Slaybaugh posed for a painting by western artist Mike Scovel that was chosen to be used as both a greeting card cover and a poster by the Leanin' Tree card company of Boulder Colorado. The painting features a rugged looking cowboy with twinkling eyes wearing a battered hat and bandana.

Slaybaugh, who is chief deputy for the Brown County Sheriff's Department, resides with his wife Georgianna in Nashville, IN.

It was Georgianna who first noticed that her husband's features had the same type of character as the cowboys used on the cards. She had long been a fan of Scovel's work and when he moved to Brown County a year ago, she commissioned a painting of her husband.

The artist then submitted the painting to the card company who "snapped it up." Scovel says Slaybaugh was an easy subject. "When you look in a person's eye, there is something that twinkles, and Jack has that twinkle. He has the character and the lines. When he smiles, his face turns into something really neat."

Slaybaugh is the son of Mrs. Lewis Slaybaugh and the brother of Richard Slaybaugh, both of Akron.

The card is available in stores now and the poster will be out after the first of the year.

Immunization Requirements

Indiana law requires that all school children shall be fully immunized against diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, measles, rubella, and polio. Any child who did not complete grade one before July 1, 1985 must also be immunized against mumps. The only exception to these requirements are children for whom the vaccines are medically contraindicated, or children whose parents have filed a written statement of objection with the school, for each child in the family, each year. No child in the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation will be permitted to enroll in kindergarten without a completed immunization record or the schedule for completion.

All students entering 6th grade in Indiana schools are required to have received at least two doses of measles vaccine, preferably M/M/R, and both doses must have been administered after the first birthday. The second dose may have been administered anytime during the child's life, as long as there were 30 days between doses. This requirement is in addition to the requirement for the other vaccines. No student in the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation will be permitted to enroll in 6th grade without providing proof of having received two doses of measles vaccine, in addition to the other required vaccines.

Parents are urged to seek the vaccines for their children now, from their family physician. If they cannot obtain it from a physician, they should contact their county health department. The school should be notified of the administration of any vaccine.

4th of July Double Dollars

It's the 4th of July and everyone lines the streets to watch one of the best parades in the area. As we sip our lemonade and watch the parade go by, do you ever think about how much hard work and planning goes into this event? Or where the funds come from?

One way that funds have been raised in the past is called Double Dollars, formerly the 50/50 Club. For a donation of $20 up to a $100 donation, you will have a chance to double your dollars once a month for a full year. This drawing will begin on August 1st and continue until July of next year. Without the funds from this event, several activities would have to be cancelled.

Letters have been sent out to area individuals and merchants asking for their support. If you have not received a letter and would like to contribute, contact Frances Utter 893-7179 or stop by Kindig Realty.

Everyone donating will have their names on posters that are placed in area businesses in both Fulton and Kosciusko counties.

The deadline to have your name be on the poster is May 29th.

McEvoy trial postponed

The trial of former Akron Town Marshal James H. McEvoy, scheduled for May 12 in Fulton Circuit Court has been postponed pending a plea bargain agreement.

Fulton County Prosecuting Attorney Rick Brown was scheduled for a two day trial and was unavailable for comment.

McEvoy was charged in December of 1991 with Obstruction of Justice for ordering then Deputy Marshal Daniel Butt not to file a report on a theft from the impound lot at Gagnon Chevrolet.

Court documents allege that a 16 year-old Akron boy broke into Gagnon's impound lot, that McEvoy was aware of the theft, and that he instructed Butt to inform Gagnon Chevrolet if a theft report was filed, they would lose their impound license.

McEvoy was also charged with Contributing to the Delinquency of a Minor for allowing the youth to live in his (McEvoy's) home and for refusing to report the theft.

McEvoy was arrested and lodged in jail on Dec. 13. He posted $5,000 bond and was released on Dec. 19.

The Akron Town Council had suspended McEvoy prior to the charges being filed because of numerous complaints about his conduct. He was fired after the charges were filed.

On January 13, 1992 a third charge of theft was filed against McEvoy in Fulton Circuit Court. That count alleges that McEvoy had failed to return vacuum cleaners, attachments, accessories and training kits to the Electrolux Company in South Bend. He had been employed by the company as a salesman for approximately one year. The Electrolux office manager said in court documents that she had tried for eight months to contact McEvoy through the Akron Town Marshal's office to get him to return the equipment. A search warrant was issued and when police searched McEvoy's home they found several of the vacuum cleaners and other pieces of the equipment.

McEvoy is being

Valley Superintendent and Burket Principal Resign

Baxter W. Paige, superintendent of schools at Tippecanoe Valley for the past 12 years, has submitted his resignation, effective June 30.

At the May 11 school board meeting, board president Fred McSherry read a letter from Paige requesting early retirement, which the board then approved.

Paige, 56, has worked in the education field for 32 years, 23 of which were as an administrator. His letter stated that he felt "it was time to move on to other pursuits." Paige said that although he has had other offers of employment, he has no immediate plans, other than to "take it easy." He and his wife, Judy, will continue to reside in the area.

Paige said he was reluctant to retire in the midst of debate over junior high facilities and that he hoped his decision would not have any effect one way or another. He praised the school board and advised them to "consider the children" when deciding on the building program.

The board will consider applications from within the school system first for the position of superintendent. If no one is found, the search will continue outside the corporation. Paige urged the board to act quickly in selecting his replacement.

The board also reluctantly accepted the resignation of Burket principal and TVHS transportation director Oliver England. England has been with the Valley school corporation for a total of 33 years, serving as both a teacher and administrator.

A good portion of the board meeting was again spent debating the junior high building plan.

Terry Menzie reported that he had spoken with 52 fellow Mentone residents who were unaware demolition of Mentone's three-story building was being considered.

Akron resident Joe Day urged the board to take care of business first and the frills later.

Mike Yazel, Mentone, questioned the need for two gyms for the elementary buildings.

Patrons and board member John Mellott, who was recently defeated for re-election, expressed concern over inequities in plans for Akron and Mentone. Mellott pointed to plans for two gyms and a cafeteria at Akron but only one gym and a multi-purpose room at Mentone. He said he felt it was not fair.

The board voted to meet again Monday, May 18 at 7:30 p.m. to discuss building plans with the architect. The regular meeting was followed by an executive session to discuss personnel. See next week's News for a report on that meeting.

In other matters, the board:

- * Adopted math textbooks for all grade levels and approved the 1992-93 Prime Time plan.

- * Approved the high student handbook, which will be included in a daily planner to encourage organization to the students.

- * Voted to implement Channel 1 a 12-minute television news and advertising program at the high school. Students are required to watch the ads, which has caused the program to be rejected at other schools. The programs will arrive at the school early enough to permit previewing and editing, if necessary.

- * Accepted the resignation of Akron third-grade teacher Amy Swihart.

- * Approved a list of 113 teachers for the 92-93 school term.

- * Extended the contract of head coaches Greg Sciarra, boys' basketball; Scott Bibler, football; and Duane Burkhart, girls' basketball.

- * Set May 21 at 1:30 p.m. as the time for ground breaking ceremonies for the new auxiliary gym.

- * Authorized Paige to apply for a temporary loan in anticipation of tax revenues. This has been done for the past several years.

- * Approved advertising for bids for a 1980 66-passenger school bus the corporation has for sale.

- * Heard principal reports.

Seven years have passed since God called for you.

To part with one we loved so dear.

Akron Business of the Week

Owner, Chad Hartzler and employees Deb Bollhoefer and Sue Ellen Gagnon are shown with just a few of the many samples on display in Tic Toc Trophy Shop's display room.

Tic Toc Trophy Shop

by Tonia Weller

The Tic Toc Trophy Shop was originally opened by Loyd and Doris Saner in Fulton, in 1956. In the early 60's, the Saners moved the business to Akron and in the early 70's, they remodeled a two-story chicken house and moved the business to its present location, just east of town on St. Rd. 114.

Current owner Chad Hartzler recalls, "I started working for the Saners in 1971, when I was a freshman in high school. I did a little bit of everything, in fact, that first summer I painted the buildings. After I graduated, I went to work for them full time. About 12 years ago Loyd had to retire because of bad health and I bought the business. So this is really about the only work I've ever done."

The trophy shop not only sells trophies, but manufactures them as well. The attractive, well-stocked showroom contains over 500 samples of trophies, plaques and awards, but because they are assembled individually on the premises, a trophy can be customized in any variation the customer desires. The storeroom is filled with shelves lined with boxes full of trophy parts, including: walnut, marble and pressed wood bases; 4' and 5' lengths of wood, plastic and extruded metal columns; sheets of aluminum to be cut into various size engraving plates and an endless variety of figures in both gold and silver color and male and female styles. "At one time," Chad says, "we had over 30,000 figures in stock. We keep all the sports and animal figures in stock all the time. The reason we keep such a large inventory is so we can provide same day service to our customers if necessary."

Besides trophies, Tic Toc Trophy Shop also sells jackets, T-shirts and sweat shirts which can be customized with durable direct screen printing or embroidery. Baseball style caps are available in all colors and can be individualized with names or company logos. In addition, the shop sells foil printed ribbons, chenille letters, desk sets, corporate awards and small stuffed animals and novelty items.

They do engraving, not only on the items they sell, but on customers' items, as well. "We engrave silver trays, pens, wedding knives, all kinds of things," Chad says. "As long as we can hold it in the machine, we'll engrave it." Tic Toc also provides engraving services for several jewelry stores in the area.

Through a process called sublimation, Chad is able to print logos, pictures, wording, line drawings or almost any "camera ready" art work on hats, jackets or engraving plates for plaques or trophies.

The shop is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, or anytime by appointment. Besides Chad, the shop has two other employees. Deb Bollhoefer does the engraving, waits on customers and answers the phone. She works full time and has been with Tic Toc for 11 years. Sue Ellen Gagnon works on a part-time basis and does most of the trophy assembly.

A good portion of the shop's business is done over the telephone and then shipped through the mail. "We even have our own paper shredder to make packing material. We have shipped trophies and awards all over the United States and to several foreign countries," Chad says.

Tic Toc is the national supplier of trophies for the Chester White Swine, United Duroc, American Berkshire, Spotted Swine and Palomino Horse Breeders associations. The swine breeders associations helped design a mold for a new leaner style hog, which now graces the tops of their trophies. Chad owns the mold and no other trophy company can use it. Tic Toc custom paints the molded hogs to match the individual characteristics of the various swine breeds.

The shop also provides the trophies for baton twirling contests throughout Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana. "We do a contest almost every weekend from the middle of January to the first of June," Chad says. "We usually go the night before and get set up, then the day of the contest, we'll engrave 100 to 150 trophies and deliver them to the contestants on the spot." The business has two portable engraving machines to use for this purpose.

"Summer is our busiest season," Chad says. The shop provides the trophies and awards for numerous 4-H fairs.

Chad grew up in Akron and enjoys living in the community. "I've never lived anywhere else," he says. He lives with his parents, Larry and Beverly Hartzler, on a farm near town. Chad served on the Fulton County 4-H Fairboard for six years and is a member and past-president of the Akron Lions Club. He has been a very active member of the Akron Church of God, serving as Sunday School Superintendent, chairman of the church council and as a member of its building committee. This year, for the first time, Tic Toc will sponsor a team with the Akron Youth league. "We're very happy about that," Chad says.

His hobbies include collecting model John Deere farm equipment and memorabilia, and family antiques.

"I really enjoy living in Akron," Chad says. "We have a real nice little community with a nice selection of stores. I get around to a lot of different schools with my business, and we have an excellent school system here, with good people to work with. Being close to Warsaw, I see Akron becoming a bedroom community for them, but I think that's alright."

Although he currently has the largest trophy business in this area, Chad is thinking of possibly expanding his business in the future by adding a shop in Warsaw. Chad has no regrets about going into business for himself and really enjoys the trophy business. "It's a fun business," he says. "It makes people happy. Everybody likes to get a trophy." He is understandably proud of the service, selection and quality he is able to offer his customers. "Trophies are not a sideline with us," Chad says. "They are our business. We offer a better product, with better service, at a better price."

RSVP to manage free garden plot program

RSVP has agreed to manage a free garden plot program that is being sponsored by the Mission of Mary prayer group. The program is open to anyone and everyone at no cost to the gardener.

Original plans call for garden plots to be 25 feet by 25 feet, however, the number of plots per gardener or the number of gardeners per plot or whatever—can be worked out between the gardeners and the garden manager.

Gardeners must furnish the labor and should be able to furnish the seed for planting and the tools for weed control. Toxic chemicals will not be allowed for use in these garden plots. The plots, fertilizer and the soil tilled ready for planting will be furnished.

The hope is to get a good mix of senior "expert" gardeners and young (or not so young) "green thumb" hopefuls and that these categories of people can combine their strength and wisdom into a successful operation. There is no restriction by age, ability or anything else. Come and learn and/or come and teach.

Disposition of the produce is at the sole discretion of the gardener(s). You may eat it, sell it, can it, freeze it, give it to your neighbor or donate it to your favorite charity. No one should go hungry.

For more information or to sign up for a plot please stop in at the RSVP office at Society Bank Bldg. 913 Main, Suite 106, Rochester, IN 46975 or call 223-3716 and ask for Phyllis and Fran.

National Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Jamie Phillips has been named a United States National Award winner in History and Government.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Jamie Phillips, who attends Mentone Junior High, was nominated for this National Award by Phil Prat, a history teacher at the school. Jamie will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

Jamie is the daughter of Rickie and Martha Phillips. Her grandparents are Evalene Phillips of Delphi, and Casimir and Leona Bozek of LaPorte.

Scenes Around Town

By Leafy Hudson

Spring has hit Mentone with a vengeance. Brown bunnies are hopping around back yards, bird's nests seem to spring up everywhere, kids are out playing ball and, to everyone's delight, the snowbirds have come home for the summer.

Another sure sign of spring is the many meetings going on around town, planning for Mentone Days. 1992 should be the best in a long time.

Jerry tells me we are edging toward the deadline for photos for the slide show in Saturday night's Variety Show. He'll have to have them by May 30. Just as a reminder, we've asked to borrow old photos of early Mentone businesses and industries, with the people involved with them, for the show, in keeping with the parade theme saluting Mentone business and industry. We need a lot more than we have so far, both old and not so old. It's a way to share memories of early Mentone as well as more recent happenings. So, please dig out those photos and share them with everyone.

Last week, when I made a pitch for the Chamber of Commerce dues-paying members, I totally overlooked an important point. While businesses are the backbone of the Chamber, and we need each one to belong, it should be pointed out that it isn't necessary to run a business to belong. Individuals can join too. Anyone living here, interested in the progress of Mentone, is welcome and urged to join the Chamber.

did you notice the benches on Main Street mysteriously disappeared? Be patient, they will reappear soon. A "bunch" of people have pitched in to help make them beautiful again, along with a surprise, another item to help improve Main Street. When we're all finished, I'll try to list everyone who has helped. It will be a long list!

Meantime, we're back to watering flowers again. Peg Stutzman has filled planters, as usual, and we could use more help with watering them. If you are willing to volunteer to water for a week, call me at 353-7340, Vi McGowen, 353-7348 or June Reed, 353-7439. Thanks!

Views On Dental Health

H. RAY HAZEN,
D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C.

NEED FOR
DENTISTRY

Maybe you're envious when you see a beautiful person in a TV commercial or a movie star smiling away with perfect teeth. But in all likelihood that person did not have perfect teeth at all when he entered the profession (few people do). He or she probably had the benefit of cosmetic dentistry to make those teeth and smile look beautiful. You can do the same.

Perhaps you hesitate to think about it because you assume it will be expensive. Any expense is a matter of priority, isn't it? New cars are expensive, so are vacations, so are many clothing and furniture items that you may decide you want and can afford. Cosmetic dentistry is also affordable.

For example, suppose you have a chipped front tooth that you've been ignoring. This doesn't help your appearance or your smile. But you could probably have it repaired and restored for less than a night on the town. If you have any dental problems that are detracting from your appearance, ask your dentist what he can do to make your teeth and smile look better.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C., 1329 Main St., Rochester. Phone 223-3121.

"Old Grads" Reunion

Leon Kindig

The class of 1942

Lydia Anderson

Kappa Delta Phi Sorority would like to thank everyone for helping to make the "Old Grads" Reunion, held last Saturday night, a success. 525 people were served a delicious meal prepared by Janice Yeager and the cooks of Akron School. Afterwards everyone retired to the gymnasium for visiting and a program hosted by Gary Sriver of Akron.

A plaque was presented to the graduate who came the farthest. James Flohr, class of 1936, traveled from San Diego, CA. The plaque for the largest family in attendance was accepted by Leon Kindig. There were seven graduates from the Kindig family attending. The oldest graduate from Akron High School was Lydia Anderson, class of 1917. In addition to the awards that were presented, each member of the 50 year class of 1942 in attendance was recognized with a yellow carnation. Besides the fifty year class being represented, the 60 year class of 1932 and two members of the 70 year class of 1922 were also recognized. The evening ended by having a call for all cheerleaders to come forward and lead the audience in the Akron High School fight song.

The "Old Grads" Reunion collected $236.08 for the payment of the brick at the Basketball Hall of Fame in New Castle, IN.

For those who are not aware, the Hall of Fame has made a brick walkway in the shape of Indiana. On each brick you can order an engraving. The brick for Akron High School says:

Akron Flyers

1912-1974 (which are the years of the B.B. tournaments)

Sectional Champs

1957 1968 1974

All the bricks from the high schools in Fulton County have been paid for with the exception of Akron High School. The cost of the brick is $500. If you would like to make a donation or request more information you can contact Sharon Miller, Box 475, Akron, IN 46910 (893-4959).

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The Farm Bureau says that they didn't endorse Jim Jontz because of his "votes for tax increase," but it turns out that there was only one bill they have in mind and that is H.R. 4210, the tax bill that recently passed the House.

And it turns out that this bill doesn't raise taxes for anyone at all except for those in the highest tax bracket (over $145,000 for a couple), or millionaires.

For most people, the bill would provide some important tax relief: it would provide a credit for Social Security tax paid of up to $300; it would reduce capital gains taxes for those in the lower income brackets particularly (something that the Farm Bureau has been supporting for a long time); and it would extend the tax deduction for health insurance costs (which is about to expire) for farmers and other self-employed individuals; among other provisions.

Am I mistaken about the farm economy? Are there really that many farmers with taxable incomes over $145,000? It seems to me that the overwhelming number of farmers fit into the middle and even lower income categories which would be the ones to benefit from the bill Jontz voted for.

I don't know why Farm Bureau sees its job as defending the richest 1%, but it seems like those types have enough people defending them in Washington already. I would day, let's keep Jim Jontz there: we need more like him who are trying to get farm income up, and get some help for farmers and other middle income people who have been neglected too long.

Sincerely,

Charles Fear

Consolidated Jr. High Ok'd

In a surprise move, the Valley school board voted 4-1 to build a combined middle school facility. The meeting was held prior to Thursday's ground breaking ceremony for the new auxiliary gym.

The board had planned to vote on the decision at their next regular meeting, but said they decided to move quickly in order to get a project number from the state sooner and to take advantage of lower interest rates. Although Thursday's meeting was public, there were no patrons in attendance.

Board members Fred McSherry, Mike McFarland, John Mellott and Joe Crill voted for the proposal, with Jeff Tilden casting the lone opposing vote. The board then voted to call a 10-28 hearing on the project at which time patrons can express their opinions. Tilden again voted against the motion, saying that he opposed the building program and that "most people in my community are not for the building." Tilden, who resides in Akron, stated that he thought the Mentone school should have been the next building program.

The project has been under consideration for 18 months and has met with strong opposition. The 83,450 square foot building will cost about $7 million. Construction will begin in the spring of 1993, if the public hearing is successful. The one-story building will include a gymnasium, a media center, a cafeteria, and an auditorium with carpet risers to accommodate desks or chairs.

Mike McFarland made the motion to build. In doing so, he asked that a long range plan for the Mentone school be developed and that it be reviewed in five years.

Retiring superintendent Baxter Paige commended the board on their vote, calling it a "wise and prudent decision."

A study will be conducted on the high school's wastewater treatment plant to see if it can adequately handled the addition of the middle school.

A report on the earlier school board meeting is on page 2.

George Welch To Retire

By Tonia Weller

After 45 years in education and 30 years with the Tippecanoe Valley school system, TVHS Guidance Director George L. Welch is retiring at the end of this school year. Valley sports fans, however, will be relieved to know that George plans to continue to serve as the announcer at basketball, football, baseball and track events as he has ever since the high school was built.

Although he recovered quickly, a stroke he suffered November 1, 1991 was the determining factor in George's decision to retire. "I'm sure I'm going to miss the communication with all the students and other faculty members," he says. "I'm still going to be around here a great deal because of the announcing, but it won't be quite like being here all the time. I'll have more time now to work around the house and play golf."

Although he still has some stiffness in his fingers and toes, George has made a remarkable recovery from his stroke. "Sometimes you get impatient when things are going slower than you'd want, but I've been real fortunate!" He says, "I was really lucky actually. It could have happened when I was in the car driving. I was getting ready to go to a football game at North Manchester, in the sectional. We stopped at my wife's sister's for supper and then I was going to go on to the game. It didn't give me much time to realize what was happening. It just came all of a sudden." George spent two weeks in Kosciusko Community Hospital and three weeks in Fort Wayne's Parkview Hospital before returning to Warsaw for physical, occupational and reading therapy. "I had one course of physical therapy they said would take until the first of February to get through, but before Christmas they said there was no use for me to come back because I'd progressed so well."

While he was hospitalized, George was shocked to pick up a newspaper and discover he could no longer read. "I could see the words there, but I just couldn't read them," he says. "I didn't realize a stroke could cause that. So I had to take therapy to learn how to read again. That came back real quickly, but that first time, I just couldn't understand why I couldn't read."

George had completed his therapy and returned to his duties at the high school on January 10.

After growing up in North Manchester, George graduated from Manchester College. He received his master's degree from Purdue University, earning nearly twice as many credit hours as required.

His career in education began in 1947, even before he graduated from college, when he was named acting principal of Linlawn Grade School, near Wabash. In 1962, when George became guidance director at Mentone, he and his wife, Joanne, a Valley typing teacher, moved to the house at the edge of Mentone, where they still reside. He later served as principal of the Talma Junior High and when Valley's new high school was built, he became the guidance director and also served for a time as assistance principal. Most years, in addition to his guidance responsibilities, George has also taught one class, such as Introduction to Algebra or this past year's Business Arithmetic.

George describes his job as guidance director as doing "a little bit of everything". He worked primarily with junior and senior students, helping them to select their classes and checking records to be sure all graduation requirements were met. He supervised students taking correspondence courses through Indiana University and provided scholarship information and applications. "I think there are more and more scholarships available each year," he says, while indicating a file drawer full of different applications. "Most are from the private sector and a lot of them are specific, requiring learning in a certain area. Of course, college prices have gone up and students need a lot more money than they used to."

George feels the new auxiliary gym being built will be very beneficial to the school. "It's going to help a lot," he says. "We have so many activities that need the gym. Some students have been having to come in at 5:30 or 6:00 a.m. in order to get practice time. We have bigger and better facilities now than we used to and it gives the students more opportunities."

One of the best changes George has witnessed during his 45

George L. Welch will retire as TVHS guidance director but will continue to be the announcer at Valley sporting events.

years of working with students, is the addition of more trade courses to the school curriculum. "The students have a better opportunity to learn more things. In the first years a lot of students who couldn't do the academic courses would just quit. Now there are different types of courses they can take to learn a trade. That's been real helpful," he says. "I think a bigger percentage of students are sticking it out and getting their diplomas. One thing I've noticed, though, is that students don't like to read as much as they used to."

The general consensus seems to be that there are more discipline problems in high schools than there used to be. George doesn't feel this is necessarily the case at Valley. "It's a little different type of thing than it used to be. Of course the things you can do to stop them have been cut down. But you find good students and bad students all the way through. I don't think you can say students today are much worse than they used to be."

Last month the staff and faculty at the high school commemorated George's retirement by presenting him with a plaque, a jacket and a lifetime pass to Valley sporting events. His four children marked the occasion by hosting a surprise dinner for him at Teel's Restaurant.

After his retirement, George plans to spend more time gardening, golfing and "building things". Being a big sports fan, he also hopes to watch more ballgames. His son, Alan, who is on staff as a computer programmer at Purdue, gets George tickets to the Purdue football games, which he greatly enjoys.

George and Joanne's other children are Brian, who lives in Brownsburg; Dee Anna, who lives in Lafayette; and Cathy, who lives at Winona Lake. The Welch's also have a total of seven grandchildren.

If George could leave behind one piece of advice to the students at Valley, it would be this: "Don't give up so quickly. You have to be willing to help yourself and work to find your own answers. Be determined and don't give up too easily."

The community has been very fortunate to have a man of George Welch's caliber sharing his experience with and giving direction to its youth. He will be greatly missed.

Gym given final approval, Jr. High debate continues

At a special meeting of the Tippecanoe Valley school board, held May 18, final plans for the auxiliary gym were approved and board members listened to patrons' opinions on junior high options.

The board had voted in February to build the $1.8 million gym. Since that time, board members have been working with the architects to include modifications based on discussions with school personnel and the public. According to architect George Clinton, the plans will now be printed and sent out for bids.

A ground breaking ceremony for the new gym was held Thursday, May 21.

Patrons favoring a consolidated middle school and those opposed both expressed opinions at the meeting.

Valley teachers attending the meeting expressed the need for more space and an expanded curriculum that would include computer labs.

Julie Teel, an Akron teacher, said the Akron school simply has "too many children".

Mentone teacher Pam Smith spoke against adding on to the Mentone school, citing an inadequate septic system, already jumbled floorplan, and lack of space for a playground.

Chris Cox, a Rochester Middle School teacher whose children attend Akron school, said middle school children have needs that are not being met.

In response to Mentone resident Gail Law's question about cost estimates, Clinton said remodeling the Akron school would cost $2.9 million. Renovating the Mentone school would cost $3.9 million, while replacing the existing three-story building would add another $2.1 million to the cost. A new combined 7th and 8th grade building would cost between $6.2 and $7.03 million, if the current wastewater plant proves adequate. That figure does not include parking lots or driveways.

Even if a new junior high is built, the existing schools will require work. A second gym will probably be added at Akron and the Mentone school will need major work. Board members and the architect agreed that the cost of renovating the three-story former high school portion of the Mentone building ($2.55 million) would make it impractical.

Akron resident Joe Day, an opponent of the consolidation plan, questioned the savings of eliminating the second gym at Akron. He was told tax payers would save about a million dollars. Day also questioned the difference of the cost between renovating and new construction. Clinton, who said about 40% of his firm's business is renovation, explained that remodeling costs more because of working around students and existing structures.

Board president Fred McSherry said there were advantages to a new middle school in that it would enable the school system to offer more to the children. He also said the board was trying to be open to opinions. "This is not over yet."

Scenes Around Town

by Leafy Hudson

It's interesting to note that, while Larry Pyle grew up in central Indiana the other three who share the Grand Marshal honors in the Mentone Egg Festival parade were all in school at Mentone about the same time. They all disclaim taking any special notice of the others, although they, of course, knew who each other was. There was no indication then that they would someday all work over twenty years together and all be honored in one "fell swoop."

The Farmers State Bank history book, so treasured by Forrest and other employees of the bank, is certainly worth a few minutes perusal. If you have a chance, go in, sit down with Freeda or Joann a minute and look through it, (I'm not sure if that's permissible, but tell them I sent you!)

Interspersed among the dry facts of who the founders were, and the many board members through the years, this fascinating book details things like beginning assets ($20,000--present day assets are over $53,000,000), and the other banks the Farmers Bank, as it was known first, purchased. They were the Citizen's Bank of Mentone and First National Bank of Mentone.

There's a letter dated April 13, 1932, to President Kenny Riner from the United States President's secretary praising the bank's work "in connection with the citizen's Reconstruction Organization."

Another letter to "friends of the bank," dated 1942, written by President Riner, notes the stability of the bank through the various hardships of the 50 years just past and presents each "friend" a reprint of an oil painting of "America's hero, General Douglas MacArthur."

A 1948 newspaper clipping explains why Farmers State Bank won't follow the lead of two Warsaw banks in increasing interest rates on time certificate deposits from 1% to 2%.

Another newspaper clipping proves the bank has had its share of notoriety. The December 26, 1958, "Ripley's Believe It Or Not" column tells that, "The huge vault door of Farmers State Bank, Mentone, Indiana, was jammed shut for 24 hours by a single grain of popcorn!"

The names of founders we never knew and the statistical facts of assets, the days' business volume, and annual growth are naturally very important issues. But, it's the anecdotes that have been recorded one way or another through the years that make for interesting reading and helps this lofty institution suddenly become real and human to us--a vital part of our community in every way!
