TVHS STUDENTS FAVOR REAGAN

Tippecanoe Valley High School students favor Ronald Reagan as president. Several classes recently participated in a presidential straw poll conducted by DEADLINE DATA ON WORLD AFFAIRS, a well-known weekly news service. Overall results of the poll, conducted among DDWA school subscribers in the United States (with over 30,000 students participating) indicated that Republican nominee Ronald Reagan, with 41.7% of the total vote, was the preferred presidential choice. President Jimmy Carter received 30.4% of the total vote and independent candidate John B. Anderson 27.2%. Students in the following classes participated: Mr. Robert Igney, Grade 12, and Mr. James Yunker, Grade 12.

PRESIDENTIAL LEADERSHIP

by David Tucker

Dr. Tucker is an instructor at the University of Chicago and is writing a book on Thomas Jefferson.

© Public Research, Syndicated, 1980.

We have heard a great deal so far in this presidential campaign about leadership, but very little about what it is. Some seem to equate it with youth and vigor, others with new ideas, and still others with getting things done. Without telling us what it is, President Carter's opponents accuse him of lacking it and assure us that they will not. Mr. Carter and his various spokesmen do not tell us what it is either, but insist that he has supplied it and that his opponents will not. Before the 1980 campaign comes to a close we might do well to pause and consider what Presidential leadership is.

The demand that the President be a leader combines two different views of what the President ought to do. The first view is that he should be an executive, and carry out the wishes of the people. The second is that he ought to lead, to find solutions to the nation's problems, to point the direction in which the nation should go. The description of the office of the President in the Constitution contains both of these views, but emphasizes the first.

Charles Smith
Head Football Coach
Tippecanoe Valley High School
Mentone, IN 46539

Dear Coach Smith, Assistant Coaches, Eaton, Parker and See and Members of the 1980 Viking Football Team:

Congratulations to the coaches and players of the 1980 Tippecanoe Valley Viking Football squad for their excellent 8 - 2 record and the TRC Conference Co-championship.

The character and pride which this team displayed during the season has shown the dedication of the coaching staff and players to continue the successful football program that has been established in the previous years. I am proud, as I am sure the members of our communities are, of the representation that this team has presented.

I congratulate you on retaining, for a 4th time, the TRC championship. I hope that next year's Vikings can continue to uphold the pride, spirit and unselfish attitude that the previous Viking teams have displayed.

I would like to wish each of you the very best of success in your continued endeavors. I am extremely proud of the program that has been established for the youth of this community.

Sincerely,

Jack & Jill Nursery School

Jack & Jill Nursery School teachers, Bev Surface and Paula Arbuckle reported in their recent newsletter that fall and Halloween have been the main theme of discussion projects at the school during the month of October.

Three year olds have been making a book of colors. The four year old class have been continuing practice of the alphabet and printing their own names. Both classes carved Jack 'O Lanterns and roasted pumpkin seeds for snack.

The newsletter said that the school has been emphasizing that Halloween is a time for fun and that the ghosts, goblins and spooks in their stories are not real.

The classes have also been talking about the subject of being oneself. The newsletter suggested that parents send an extra sweater or light jacket with their child to be left at school, due to the coolness of the church basement. Jackets should have the child's name in them.

The newsletter included the following recipe for play dough:

COOKED PLAY DOUGH

Combine in large saucepan:
1 cup flour
1/2 cup salt
2 tsp. cream of tartar.
Gradually stir in: 1 cup water mixed with 2 tbsp. oil & 1 tsp. food coloring.

Cook over medium to high heat, stirring constantly until a ball forms.

Remove from heat & knead until smooth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Historical Research

DEAR EDITOR:

I am making a new historical map and manuscript, covering a radius of 200 miles with Plymouth being in the center.

I need to pinpoint all Indian village sites, burial sites - both mound and natural, smoke signal hills, sugar camps, home sites and the Indian trails.

Please write to me giving all the details of your subject, where you got your information, how authentic you think it is, also a statement giving me permission to use your letter as part of my manuscript. With the price of gasoline, it is imperative that I use this method to get the job done. I will answer all letters and follow up on all leads, even as I did in the Chief Aubbeaubee story.

Thank you.

Mr. Boggs' 4th grade class thanks volunteers

Dear Editor:

We would like to publicly thank the Akron Volunteers for the Halloween party they sponsored Saturday night, October 25 in the Akron gym. Everyone present had a real good time. We would also like to thank the Volunteers for the cash prize we won as a class. With this money, we bought three new games to use at recess time when we are inside because of bad weather. Our Halloween was especially happy because of these fine folks! Thanks again.

Friends of the Bell Memorial Library

Friends of the Bell Memorial Library met October 28 at the library for their monthly meeting.

Reports were given by the Secretary and Treasurer, and were approved as read. The Treas. reported a money donation given to "Friends" and of another member joining.

Discussion then turned to the purchasing of a "love seat" size sofa for the area vacated by the Bell Museum articles. Marsha Scott and Debi McFadden reported on their findings. Fabric samples and pictures were passed. It was finally voted on to let Marsha and Deb use their judgement in the purchase of the sofa. An approximate number of dollars they are to spend was stated.

Ruth Tucker reported that the carpet for the area being discussed had been ordered.

By a unanimous vote it was decided to have a wooden chair dipped and let David Bowser put the finish on it.

The final details of the up-coming rummage and bake sale (Nov. 8, 9-5) to be held at the Youth League Building were taken care of.

Next meeting to be Nov. 25.

How school closings will be announced

There may be times when the Tippecanoe Valley Schools may be closed or have a delayed start because of bad weather or mechanical failures of heat, water, etc., in the school buildings. If such conditions exist, school officials will notify the radio stations who have offered to make "No School" announcements.

These stations are WRSW - (107.3 FM and 1480 AM), Warsaw and WROI - (91.5 FM), Rochester. We do ask that students plan to attend school each day. Announcements will be made EACH day there will be no school. In case of a delayed start, there will be announcements either for a one or two hour delayed opening time according to conditions. We also ask that neither students nor parents call schools or school officials as this ties up the telephone lines and delays the calls that must be made to reach bus drivers and other necessary personnel.

Mentone 7th & 8th grade Volleyball

by Eula Smith

"I've got it!" cried a Mentone Junior High girl. She ran to meet the oncoming volleyball and hit it with both forearms. The ball sailed over the net, but the girl landed on her kneepads.

This scene was repeated many times during the 1980 season, and it helps to show that power volleyball, which became popular about ten years ago, is quite different from the open hand, two-hit-person game of a generation ago.

Mentone Eighth Grade won three of the eight scheduled matches this season. (The first team to score fifteen points and have a two point lead wins one game. The team that wins two out of three games takes the match.) The players were Kathy Helmreich, Jenny Johnson, Shana Woods, Tina Zolman, Betty Smith, Kim Webster, Shelley Utter, Eric Fitzpatrick, Sherry Irons, and Dana Simpson.

The Seventh Grade team consisted of Kelly Waddle, Shelly Warren, Wendy Sparrow, Julie VanDeWater, Amy Breeding, Amy Dickerhoff, Sherry Hamilton and Tabitha Evans. They finished 2-6. Both teams were coached by Bonnie Kramer. Bedelia Weirick and Barbara Eaton officiated all the home games.

Burket Fifth graders pumpkin face contest

Fifth graders in Marcia Ousley's class carved and decorated all sizes of pumpkins in a big Halloween pumpkin face contest. Several used hats, bows, straw, marshmallows, foil, wigs, feathers, paints and jewelry to create a person, animals or thing. Pumpkins were decorated as Star War characters, witches, little old women, Indians, clowns, football players, pigs, scary monsters and vegetable heads.

Winning pumpkins were on display at the Burket Bank from October 27th - Nov. 1st.

Mrs. Ousley's kindergarten class participated in a "spooky costume parade" through the school. Prizes were awarded for the scariest, prettiest, and most original. Refreshments and a "special trick or treat bag" full of goodies was given to each child.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid

OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and is worn completely in your ear.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This new hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of one of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to Hear, Box 360, Garrett, IN 46738.

You will follow her along the yellow brick road and discover with her, the Brainless Scarecrow (Tony Robertson), the Heartless Tin Woodman (Chuck Cullison) and the Cowardly Lion (Roni Baker). Then you'll enter the green gates of the Emerald City with the five of the, to ask the Wizard of Oz (Mark Kline) for their individual desires. The T.V. H.S. AKRON SENIOR CITIZENS

by Onda Good

Managing the Akron Nutrition Site for the past two years has been a pleasure. Senior citizens are a joy to work with.

Before managing the Nutrition Site I taught school. We live in the country with a woods and pond where wild life is abundant. Akron is a great place to live and I love my work. What else can you expect from life?

Senior citizens have a right to retirement with health, honor and dignity. They have contributed many years to the community, society and the economy.

My goal is to make life as pleasant and comfortable as possible for the senior citizens of the community. Nutrition, transportation, interesting activities, information about legal assistance, fuel assistance and taxes and many other facets of life are several ways used to reach the goal.

Probably the most important part of this program is the senior citizens getting together and encouraging each other. What we do for them is secondary to what they do for each other.

The Lions Club Site provides tasty, nutritious hot food to any senior citizen wishing to accept the service. Not only can you get good food at the site but it can be carried to you if you cannot get to the site.

If you have a special diet this can be provided for also. It is so easy to let your menu lack variety when you feed only yourself. It is difficult to make some foods in very small portions. It is difficult to have all the ingredients on hand for a great variety of foods. There are many reasons why senior citizens get in the habit of "just a snack."

One hot, balanced meal a day is very important and I would encourage you to enjoy it with us at the site. Come everyday, come once a week or as often as you can. We are looking forward to your visit.

Tuesdays are craft days. From 10 to 12 some craft work is provided free to the group. Many times left over materials are used to make crafts for sale to provide funds for materials used. "Loony Birds" have been made the last week. Everyone enjoys the fun with crafts. Come join in the fun!

Wednesday is poetry day. A lot of the school days poetry is read or recited. Many humorous poems are enjoyed also. Come, bring your favorite poem.

Thursday features carry-in meals. That is, you may carry in a dish of food for your donation or you may donate money as you wish.

Thursday, November 13 is the birthday party and blood pressure clinic. Come help celebrate all the November birthdays.

The new Akron mini-bus is getting a good start. If you wish to go to the doctor, bank, grocery or wherever, just call 893-7204 or 893-7263. The "bus" can soon be at your door. This service is provided for you for a "small change" donation. Feel free to use it.

For information or reservations please call 893-7204 or 893-7263.

Local families invited to host exchange students

Families in this community who are interested in hosting international students for a second semester of study in local schools, are urged to contact their Youth for Understanding (YFU) regional office, NOW!

YFU, a non-profit student exchange program, seeks responsible, caring host families who are willing to open their hearts and homes to South American exchange students, from January to July, 1981.

Students (aged 14-18) will be carefully matched with local families and will attend high school during the exchange experience.

Host families provide room and board for the student, welcoming him or her as a family member, not as a guest.

Youth for Understanding program fees and personal expenses are provided by the student's natural family. YFU international students are highly motivated, have studied the English language and are eager to learn about the American way of life by firsthand participation.

Host families come in all shapes and sizes, and all types of families are welcome to apply for this unique venture into cross-cultural sharing.

Since its inception nearly 30 years ago, YFU has arranged for the exchange of more than 70,000 students in 24 countries.

With a philosophy based on increasing global understanding through the host family experience, YFU is supported by hundreds of dedicated volunteers and professional staff members throughout the world.

Won't you become part of this unique program?

Opposed to Building Fund

Editor

Dear Editor:

Please publish this letter in your newspaper. It is important that it be printed before November 12, 1980. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Chairman, State Tax Board
State Office Building
Indianapolis, Indiana 46206

Gentlemen:

We are opposed to the proposed Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation Cumulative Building Fund for the following reasons:

1. We feel that this additional tax will place an unfair burden upon property tax payers unable to afford it; persons being in low income families, families in which one or more breadwinner may be unemployed, and fixed income families. It is unrealistic to expect families already stretched to the limit to have to absorb an additional tax of this proportion. The School Corporation encompasses an area which is made up largely of farms. This tax will be imposed at a time when farm prices are depressed, there has been a reduction in crops, and credit increasingly tight for production.

2. We feel that every child has a right to quality education at the tax payers' expense. We believe that in an increasingly competitive world that education is essential. We do not, however, believe in the equalization of sports and academics. We are not against sports for we believe that sports and extra curricular activities are an important part of the learning experience and interpersonal relationships, but we do believe that the extravagant spending by the School Corporation on the sports program is wasteful. We feel that this money could be put to better use in maintenance and repair of the existing buildings in the school system, i.e. the schools at Mentone and Akron. We also feel that further unnecessary building will only add to the cost of maintenance and repair in the future.

3. We feel that in light of the declining birth rate, further building at this time will only be creating a greater tax burden in the next two or three decades. We ask that the School Corporation be asked to justify additional building at this time. We feel that it is unnecessary.

4. We feel that in an economy gone haywire by people unable or unwilling to live within their means, that unrestrained spending on the part of the School Corporation is setting a bad example for our young people. "Let the taxpayers take care of it" is not an example of financial responsibility. It does not serve as well to have a School Board bent on spending more than we can afford to pay. We ask that the State Tax Board consider our request to keep the Cumulative Building Fund Tax at its current rate of $.50.

Respectfully,
Lara E. & Pamela A. Turner

Join Boy Scouts

DEAR PARENTS:

Your son and his friends will have fun and adventure as Boy Scouts. As a Scout he will learn valuable skills and will be an important part of a team called the Patrol. As a boy progresses in Scouting, his accomplishments are recognized at the Court of Honor where badges of rank are awarded. Sharp young boys who develop leadership ability will have the opportunity to test their skill by being elected to Junior Leader positions.

There is a registration fee of $2.00 per year which your son should have at this meeting. He will also be given the opportunity to subscribe to Boys' Life Magazine at 1/2 price at this time. Half of the subscription rate is $4.20 for 12 issues. Boys' Life is good reading for boys of this age and we recommend it highly.

You (Mom and Dad), and prospective Boy Scout son, and any other family members are invited to attend the information meeting where all of you will learn more about the Boy Scout Program. An adult should, if at all possible, attend with every prospective Boy Scout.

The meeting will be Thursday, November 13, at 7:00 p.m. at the Akron Lions Den. Ed Armbruster, Scoutmaster, 893-7276.

Very truly yours,
Sagamore Council
Scouting, U.S.A.

Rochester Depot Museum repaired

DEAR EDITOR:

The foundation on the Rochester Depot Museum was repaired by volunteers. Repair work was completed last weekend. The foundation had become cracked and the building sloped toward the north.

Work began July 30 with SPEDY employees Fred Shepherd and Steve Clark digging beside the foundation. Forms were later made and concrete poured by Bill Willard, Harold Reese, and Vincent Berwanger.

Six supporting beams were installed under the depot and then they jacked the building up so it was level again. Safway Steel Products donated 12 jacks. These jacks will remain under the building permanently so that it can be leveled up again as often as needed, but it is hoped that the new wide cement footing will stop the building's sinking.

Repair on the foundation was done by the following: Mrs. Adrian Egbert, Dr. Ken Hoff, Dr. Joe Richardson, Shirley Tobey, Kenneth Bright, Mary Helen Ault, Willis Bowen, Anna Kathryn Centner, Howard Wertzberger, Jane Miller, Mary Utter and Marjorie Fred. These donations totaled $132.50. The rest of the cost was paid from the Federal Revenue Sharing Funds allotted to the historical society by Fulton County.

Wood used under the building was donated by Walter Van Meter, Ralph Bryant and Bill Willard. Cement blocks were purchased. Larry Green donated a bag of cement mix. Steel rods to re-inforce the poured concrete were donated by Harvey Jackson and Bill Willard. Ready-mix was supplied at cost by Morry Utter.

We thank all these good people for their assistance in repairing the museum foundation.

Shirley Willard, pres.

ICCHE opposes "Religious New Right"

The following statement was made at a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Indiana Interreligious Commission on Human Equality, October 16. Rabbi Jonathan Stein, President; and 3 Vice-Presidents: Sister Ann Welles, Bishop Edward Jones and Dr. Marcia Goldstone were the speakers.

The climate the campaign 80 has raised the issue of the role of religion in American political life.

The Indiana Interreligious Commission on Human Equality (ICCHE), a coalition of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faith groups is alarmed at the theological position taken by the "Religious New Right."

ICCHE is a religious coalition dedicated to human equality and human rights in Indiana. As such, they said "Religious, cultural, social, and political pluralism are indispensable bases upon which our society rests. Further, we affirm the right of all groups to organize and advocate their point of view through the political process."

However, as religious leaders, the ICCHE Board of Directors said they were deeply distressed that "the religious new right" attempts to imply that divine approval belongs to their political perspective alone.

Therefore, ICCHE urged the citizens to look critically at this potential for imposition of a particular "moral" point of view that these groups may inflict on pluralistic society.

DAVE & SHERI TEULING

Black-light Artist—Musician—Youth Speaker

You are cordially invited to attend a series of special services at the SIDNEY GRACE BRETHREN CHURCH, located in Sidney, Indiana. The meetings will begin Wednesday evening, November 12, and end on Sunday evening, November 16. Services will be at 7:00 nightly and 10:30 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. on Sunday. Dave and Sheri Teuling will be our special guests for this event. They come to us from Davidsburg, Michigan, and present the Gospel in a unique way through music, message and "Blacklight" chalk drawings. Dave and his wife sing to taped orchestrated music as well as playing the guitar to accompany many songs written by both Dave and his friends. It is music that will be a delight to both young and old alike. Then Dave gives a short message as an introduction to his picture. A portion of the picture, Dave has drawn earlier in the afternoon. During the service he will draw the foreground, then, using colored lights, he reveals the hidden picture to show the spiritual message of the drawing.

You will be both awed by the picture's beauty and message, and intrigued by the artists' skill and special effects. The pictures will be given away the last night to the individuals who have invited the most friends to attend throughout the week. Be sure to come the first night, so you can come back each and bring a friend. You may qualify to win one of the drawings for your home.

Check prices

"Check every item on your grocery receipt, especially if you want to avoid getting short-changed on sale items by a computerized cash register." So warned Indiana Attorney General Theodore L. Sendak after personal experiences at a grocery store and a gasoline station.

The Attorney General went grocery shopping with his wife on two different occasions recently at a Kroger store on the north side of Indianapolis. Both times, the cashier's computer register ignored marked sale prices and charged the higher coded prices. Both times the cashier would have ignored the overcharge if it had not been brought to her attention.

At a Standard Oil Station in Kokomo, the sign on the pump said $1.20.9 per gallon. The pump carried dials in liters. The total price in liters, when converted back into gallons mathematically, revealed an actual charge of $1.25 per gallon.

"If consumers are shy about standing up for correct arithmetic, they are going to lose money. Computerized registers at grocery stores, like computerized pumps at gas stations which register in unfamiliar liters instead of gallons, will only add to consumer confusion and potential rip-offs."

The Attorney General noted that despite all laws, real life experience indicates that nothing protects like being alert. "Despite the fanfare about technological change, some retail computer set-ups and the metric confusion have really reverted to the old rule of 'Caveat Emptor,' or 'Let the buyer beware.'"

Hoosiers with consumer questions can reach the Attorney General's Consumer Protection by writing the State House or by using this toll-free phone number: 1-800-382-5516.

The Gravel Pit

Early settlers found our area to be a region of hostile wilderness but they were determined to overcome all obstacles.

With optimism and vigor, they attacked the pests, cleared the forests and drained the swamps. All of these natural hazards of this hostile environment were enough to try the patience and fortitude of families. At last, planting could begin with the uncertainty of rainfall through growing and harvest, followed by trials of marketing grains and produce.

Routes that existed were barely passable. Trips were long and time consuming. The use of corduroy over logs with strips of timber across the ends, weighted down with stones and dirt to prevent floating off with rising swamp waters.

Then came the railroads with Chicago as the hub. Steam was America's dream and heralded the dawn of modern commercial agriculture, stimulating higher prices for the many farm products.

Indiana became the first state to build gravel roads of extensive mileage. Oram, Hill, Birdsell and Studebaker were all building wider wagon tires which held up better under heavy dump beds of gravel. The Model T's were coming, criss crossing buggy and wagon ruts. Wallowing through mud after the spring thaw, automobiles bogged down and horses were brought to the rescue.

Progress would continue, dependent upon the farm gravel pit, the horse drawn wagon and dump bed, for dump trucks were many years away.

About every two miles along my road, was at least a small gravel pit. One larger pit near Akron, northwest, was the Hammond pit. It also yielded the fine, sharp, masonry sand for many brick and stone buildings, including the Akron State Bank, when washed sand was non-existent. There were few teamsters, so after spring planting the farmers filled in with their equipment.

Upon the pit rim, was a panoramic view of teams and wagons lined up waiting to be loaded up by hand. A sight to behold were the horses and harness of red, white and blue celluloid rings and spacers, some colorful bridal tassels, many brass studs, some with leather ply nets.

Now and then there were a set of hames with brass knobs and sleeves and some leather rain shields with brass initials over hames and collars.

The water jug usually hung on the harness hame since the dump boards would be totally dismantled in unloading.

Just across the boat log (over the creek), was a fresh refill from the spring, and horses could drink from the creek.

Cool air came out of the woods up on the pit rim but temperatures must have reached well over one hundred degrees down in the pit with its south exposure.

by Elmer E. Hammond

Loading was done from the side with the teamster up front, near the lines and the pit man at the rear of the wagon.

The pull out around the horse shoe bend was kept fairly level by using the slip scoop, a steel scoop about three by three with sides, back and two handles. It worked off a wishbone with a double tree attachment for two horses.

The teams were usually rested before the pull up (about a seventh of a grade) to grade level leading to the road.

It was like the middle ring of a three ring circus. Each teamster that made the grade waited for the next, for many times it would be necessary to hook on to the wagon tongue and give assistance.

The behavior of some horses frustrated the teamster to the use of profane language and many times he crossed over to get on the side where a horse refused to try.

Perhaps here at the gravel pit was partially where the horse pull sporting event originated. For there was a great deal of pride in having an evenly matched team that would pull together.

A ride to the roadway dumpsite by invitation of a teamster was quite a thrill for a young lad. He sat up front with him and the gravel felt cool. When we reached the dump site the grade man was there to direct the unloading, which was pretty much in one place, with hand spreading done when we pulled away.

First the rods were loosened at both front and back. The grade man went to the rear so the teamster would be near the lines or reins.

Sometimes a shovel was needed to start the side board lift. Then came the bottom 3" by 3" to be lifted by the tapered ends, tipped over and laid back. Half way through the load the wagon might be pulled ahead depending on the desired thickness of the spread.

Then it was all re-assembled for the trip back to the pit. For several years, this method was basically how the foundations for our roads got there.

Even when St. Rt. 14 was first paved, slip scoops about four ft. square between two wagon wheels, with a Johnson bar for loading and dumping, were just about the most modern piece of equipment. There again it took a teamster and a man on the scoop to build a grade.

Much of our modern day equipment did not come until during and after World War II. The hardiness, optimism, hard work and ingenuity of our forebears has left us a rich heritage from the good earth and the gravel pit.

giv'n unsought is better."

CARE launches $7 million food crusade

"This fall, with hunger endemic in developing countries around the world, we are launching the CARE Food Crusade to provide nourishing food for more than 31 million hungry people, mostly children, in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East." Dr. Philip Johnston, Executive Director of the international aid and development organization, announced.

In an appeal to the public, Dr. Johnston set a $7 million goal, "to meet this urgent need." Explaining that the CARE package has expanded over the years to include self-help development and medical aid through CARE/

MEDICO, he stressed that "giving food to victims of poverty and disease remains our major task."

Pointing out how CARE stretches its aid, Dr. Johnston said, "As little as $5 provides 600 nutritious biscuits to school children. Only $15 supplies a nourishing bowl of porridge for 300 school children for a week, and often this supplemental food makes a significant difference in a child's health and survival as well as learning ability."

Most of the food will go to needy children at schools, hospitals, health clinics, day care centers, and other institutions, many of which CARE helped communities build. Malnourished pregnant and nursing mothers will also receive CARE food, plus nutrition education. In food-for-work projects villagers will receive food for themselves and their families while working to increase agricultural production. Emergency food will be rushed to survivors of natural and other disasters.

Formed to help World War II victims in Europe, CARE shipped millions of food packages to destitute families. As Europe recovered, CARE turned its attention to needy millions in other areas of the world.

Contributions may be sent to the CARE Food Crusade, 660 First Avenue, New York, NY 10016, or any regional CARE office.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid

OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and is worn completely in your ear.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This new hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of one of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to Hear, Box 360, Garrett, IN 46738.

Dairy cow's future to be discussed at MABC Seminars

Imagine your cows producing 30,000 pounds of milk per year, or having eight healthy calves from only one breeding. Sound impossible?

Through the use of embryo transfer and improved management techniques, both of these goals can become a reality for dairymen in the near future.

The Michigan Animal Breeders Cooperative (MABC-Select Sires) annual dairy breeding seminar will feature four specialists discussing embryo transfer and high production goals, relating them to "The Economic Future of the Dairy Cow."

The seminar series will be held in eight different locations throughout Michigan and Indiana, December 1-10.

Dr. Tom Spike, dairyman from Owosso, Michigan, has 250 head of Holsteins averaging over 20,000 pounds of milk. He is managing his herd to be one of the first to reach 30,000 pound goal. At the seminars, he will elaborate on how he hopes to accomplish this goal.

Also discussing production goals of the future will be Dr. Glynn McBride, professor and extension specialist in Agricultural Economics at Michigan State University. He will talk about the economic practicality of producing 30,000 pound of milk or 1,000 pounds of fat.

In addition to getting more milk from their cows, dairymen of the future may also be getting more calves per cow. Blaine Crosser, sales and service manager of Select Embryos, Inc., will explain the process of embryo transfer and how dairymen can utilize this new technique.

Bonnie Summe elected Noble Co. Treasurer

Bonnie Summe, Democrat Candidate for Treasurer, was elected by 177 votes and prevented a GOP shutout in Noble County on November 4th.

Bonnie, formerly of Akron, is the sister of Jack, Raymond and Jim Adams. She now lives at Albion, and is the widow of Robert Summe. She has one daughter and four grandchildren, also from Albion.

In the lobby of the Noble County Courthouse, a quiet contingent of county Democrats huddled around Bonnie Summe, who was locked in a very close race for the treasurer's office. When the final precinct - number 12 from Rome City - confirmed she would be the only Democratic candidate to win anything this year, she was mobbed with congratulations with the fervor of a football player who had just scored the winning touchdown.

take the sting out of this winter's heating bills.

Among the most unpleasant things that come with winter are heating bills. But, this winter you can take the sting out of paying those rising heating costs with the help of our Equal Payment plan.

This free service will level the highs and lows of your monthly electric bills. Based on estimated annual use, we'll tell you just how much you'll be billed for each of 11 months. Then in the 12th month, your bill will be higher or lower depending on the electricity you have actually used during the entire year.

To find out more about the Equal Payment plan, just call or stop by our local office. We think you'll find it's an easier way to pay for your electricity.

Interview with TVHS Head Basketball Coach NEW COACH USES COLLEGE EXPERIENCE TO BUILD VIKING BASKETBALL TEAM

by Barbara Ann Lynn

Tippecanoe Valley High School's new head coach, Roland Fletcher hopes his many years of experience as a high school and college coach will help build a winning team from the mostly fledgling roster lined up for the Viking Varsity basketball squad this season.

"Everybody's going to play on that team. In fact we only have three kids that have lettered," John Dorsey, Rex Holloway and David Stavedahl are the only three lettermen returning from last season's varsity team.

"We're coming though," Coach Fletcher said. "We got our rosters pretty well set. We've had to cut twice and that plowed things down a lot."

"We've looked pretty good; our first five have looked real good," Coach Fletcher plans to more or less use the techniques he employed as head coach at Manchester College.

It's not a lot of difference between here and college. I really don't think a small college is that much different."

"We're basically doing pretty much the same things we would have done there. We'll just have to see if they work on the high school level like they did in college."

Reflecting on his college and high school coaching experiences, Fletcher said, "I have enjoyed it (high school) much more than I have in college because I think you have to teach more in high school than you do in college."

"You know you can't take anything for granted. You have to cover every phase of basketball. I enjoy that aspect of it."

"And I think one other thing—they don't have a lot of bad habits going up that you have to break like you do in college, so I think they're more coachable. They want to learn. At least the kids that we have do. That's the thing that I really enjoy most about it."

Fletcher hopes that the squad will be in good shape by sectional time, saying the team will have to fight it's way through this year. By the time upcoming freshmen and sophomores are juniors and seniors, Fletcher said "we should be on the other end of the scale."

"The main thing is to get them into shape to get up and down the court," he said.

"This year we're trying to do a lot of running with the ball," Fletcher continued. "They're doing a good job. Our running game is coming along well. I just wish the other phases like our defensive, our match-up and our man-to-man and our press will come as well. We're just a little bit behind defensively. A lot of it's different things that they didn't do. Last year they were just strictly man-to-man. This year we're trying to mix it up a little bit and so now they're still thinking instead of doing it instinctively. It's going to take awhile."

Coach Fletcher comes here from Manchester College where he had been head coach since 1976. Prior to that time, he coached basketball at Greenville College in Illinois from 1972-1976. His coaching career began in the Warsaw Community School Corporation where he was assistant coach in track and football. He resigned his position at Warsaw to join the FBI, but the Seven Day War broke out in Israel, canceling the training program he was about to begin, so he accepted a position at his Alma Mater, Grace College, as assistant coach until 1972.

Valley's Varsity basketball schedule opens this Saturday night, Nov. 22 at Argos.

RECKLESS DRIVERS IN AKRON

Some motorists we've seen at the four way stop in downtown Akron, (junction of 19 and 14) have no respect for the safety of pedestrians. Apparently those drivers don't know (or care) that pedestrians have the right of way. I've seen motorists speed up to race across the intersection while pedestrians are already crossing the street. Those of us who are young and fleet of foot can probably save our necks from irresponsible drivers, but for the sake of the children and elderly, I'd like to see some of those birds get a ticket.

EDITOR OF THE WEEK

Artley Cullum, Full of Pioneer Spirit, Likes to Keep Things 'on the Hook'

Life started for this editor in Noble County, Ind., near Albion, April 14, 1907, and sometime after the birth was reported to the proper officials, he was given the name "Artley."

In 1911 his father secured an original homestead of 320 acres in Eastern Montana and the following year Mrs. Cullum and son, Artley, joined the husband to live in a one-room shack near Horse Creek, Montana.

Schools were non-existent on the prairies, so this future editor was nearly nine years of age before a one-room school was established at the upper end of Horse Creek.

Nine years later, after many interruptions because of snow and blizzards in the winters and two trips to Indiana, he was graduated from high school at South Whitley, Ind.

The first high school attended was at Circle, Mont., and as this was a new school, he was the first boy to attend, along with a group of 17 young ladies.

The depression period that followed the drought and then the terrifically cold winter of 1919 when thousands of livestock perished forced many homesteaders to travel elsewhere. The Cullum family ended up at Chubbuck, Ind. in early 1922.

This future editor had been an invalid for many months with rheumatic fever, but managed to complete the year of schooling there.

The family again moved to South Whitley, Ind., where on Sept. 3, 1923 he started in as a 20¢ an hour "devil" at the Tribune with W. J. Miller, publisher.

After many months of a hand-set weekly, Mr. Miller installed a Model 15 Linotype and hired an operator.

Ten days later this operator went home and never returned, and the responsibility of operating the new-fangled piece of machinery was placed in Mr. Cullum's hands.

In the 30 years that followed, an issue was never missed because of the failure of mechanical equipment.

July 4, 1925, Mr. Cullum was married to the former Ruth Gardner, of South Whitley, and she has been of great help throughout the years that followed.

Editing experience really began in 1925 when L.W. Yeiser, then publisher of the Tribune, spent the summer as an employee of the Indiana State Highway commission leaving 18-year-old Cullum in charge.

In early 1928 the paper was leased by Mr. Cullum and it was operated until the spring of 1931 when some of the old timers at Circle, Mont., sent an appeal for help.

They wanted another newspaper so on Aug. 13, 1931, the first issue of the McCone County Sentinel went into the mails at Circle, and Mr. Cullum became its editor and publisher.

The depression, drought and the hordes of grasshoppers that attacked eastern Montana made some very difficult years in the county seat town.

In early December of 1939 the publication was sold and the Cullums returned to Indiana with their son and daughter, who were born in Montana.

In April 1941, the Country Print Shop was purchased at Mentone, Ind., where the plant has been enlarged and handles about 50 thousand dollars worth of printing a year.

Mr. Cullum who has always been intrigued by the pioneering spirit, is satisfied only when something new is "on the hook."

The years have brought innumerable public responsibilities in clubs and organizations and as a town official.

Mr. Cullum published his first issue of the Bourbon News-Mirror on December 6, 1962 and retired from the newspaper and The Country Print Shop on January 1, 1975.

MAN OF MEN Grandfather above Grandfathers

Mr. Artley Cullum passed away Tuesday, November 11, 1980, but the greatest treasures of his life still remain fresh in our hearts.

He was a pioneer, homesteader, printer, inventor, but most importantly to me: my grandfather.

Grandfather Cullum loved the Lord, his family, his country and his fellow man. It is not inconceivable then to realize that before going into the hospital unexpectedly, his last project was trying to share with people he didn't even know that still loved about dehydrated foods. His intent was not selfish for all of Grandfather's life was given to others. His intent was motivated by love. A love only learned through years of giving and caring for others.

Yes, I miss Grandfather immensely, but I know that all of us who knew him are all so much richer within ourselves because of his life.

Someday, by God's grace, he will welcome us when we get to Heaven's gates, also and say "Welcome home, Children."

His loving grandson,
Tim Harman

For Artley Cullum

He was like a mountain here, snow capped, raising in graduer. Like a breath of fresh air on a high mountain morning. He was a prairie pilgrim with a pioneer heart.

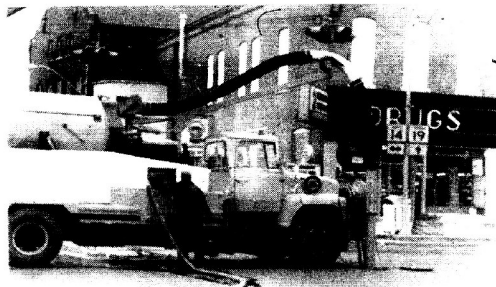

Blazing a pathway by example for we who are yet on our journey. He's passed over the divide and entered the gates of paradise.

Beholding even now the face of Him. To whom he prayed these many long years. And is now embraced within the arms of pure and perfect love.

Organic and conventional farmers share same concerns

"For many years organic farmers and conventional farmers seemed to be traveling diverging paths--yet both were searching for answers to the same serious and continuing concerns for human well-being," said Anson R. Bertrand, director of science and education for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Speaking at a seminar on organic farming at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Bertrand said these common concerns include hazards to health and food safety from heavy use of pesticides, the steady decline in soil productivity, and degradation of the environment.

"Today, events such as the increase in the price of fuel and nitrogen fertilizer have brought conventional farming and organic farming closer together in many areas of farm management," he said.

Farmers in general are seeking multiple approaches to deal with crop pests. Today's integrated pest management includes many approaches borrowed from organic farming. Farmers are scouting for pests, introducing selective predators and parasites, rotating crops, and timing their operations to beat the pests' own timetables in nature, Bertrand said.

"Much can be learned from the experiences of organic farmers. We need to look at their cropping and cultural practices--the kinds of systems they use for rotating crops, preparing and planting seeds and harvesting, the kind of equipment used," he said.

To be successful, Bertrand said, organic farming requires the fine tuning of a number of variables, including an appropriate mix of deep rooted and shallow rooted crops, the right selection of seed varieties, proper weed and insect control strategies and available markets.

Bertrand said USDA's Science and Education Administration and cooperating state universities are doing important research that has major implications for organic farming.

Such projects, he said, include research on the utilization of sewer sludge as compost and on the role of nutrient cycling in plant growth--to learn how plants get nitrogen from the soil, in what forms, and how nitrogen is held in the soil by organic matter.

"I am convinced that we will never again see organic and conventional farming as far apart in their approaches and in their perceptions as they have been in the past few decades," Bertrand said.

"We hope to implement research and education programs that will assist farmers who want to practice effective organic farming methods even more efficiently in the years ahead."

National Book Week to be observed at Akron library

BOOKS ALIVE is the theme of National Book Week which will be observed at the Akron Library November 17-23, 1980.

Books are something the whole family can enjoy. With the breakdown of the family one of the main concerns of our country today, why not visit the Library with the entire family. There are books of every kind and description giving new ideas and concepts to subjects of interest to the entire family. Books also take you anywhere in the world, even to Outer Space and perhaps you can visit some country in one evening without costing you one cent. There are many advantages in visiting your Public Library.

Maybe you only want to play records and enjoy a magazine, whatever your literary needs are, you can find them at your Library.

The Akron Library recently joined Wabash Valley ALSA, which broadens the material that is available to the Library.

Visit the Library and become aware of its many services!

Thomas Edison introduced the use of "hello" as the standard telephone conversation opening. At first, people would preface phone calls with such phrases as "Are you ready to talk?"

November named Twp. Trustees' month

Governor Otis R. Bowen has proclaimed November 1980 "Township Trustee Month." 1980 marks the 90th Anniversary of the Indiana Township Trustees Association.

The Township Trustee's will be holding their Convention at The Quality Inn Airport November 20-21-22, starting at 6:00 P.M. November 20.

Township Government began before the Indiana Territory was organized in 1800 with such offices as Appraisers, Constables and Road Supervisors.

The word Trustee has had a very honorable application throughout the long course of Historic Development in Law, Government and Education.

Governor Bowen recognizes the Office of Township Trustee is continuing to serve the needs of the People, and is the Office closest to the People.

Township Trustees have Community Responsibilities of Poor Relief, Fire Protection, Assessing and other community services such as Senior Citizens Programs.

Mentone DAR

The November meeting of Anthony Nigo Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution was held at the home of Mrs. Bud Paulus, Rochester.

Miss Annabel Mentzer, Regent, conducted the opening, after which she announced the program for the evening, "When the Frost is on the Punkin...James Whitcomb Riley," by Mrs. Frank Smith. Mrs. Smith traveled the life of Riley and recounted his triumphs in the field where he reached national acclaim. She also narrated a number of Riley's popular poems, some of which were "Our Hired Girl," "Prayer Perfect" and "Little Orphant Annie."

Mrs. Worley Spitler read the November message from the President General of the National Society, in which she stressed the meaning of the approaching Thanksgiving holiday. President George Washington issued the first proclamation for a day of Thanksgiving on Thursday, November 26, 1789, and that day was set apart "to be devoted by the people of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being who is the beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be."

National Defense by Mrs. E. W. Igo was centered on Veteran's Day, November 11 and she urged all citizens to express gratitude for the service of veterans, to our country.

Mrs. Charles Tucker announced that 19 boxes of clothing have been shipped to the Tamassee DAR

School in South Carolina. Also Christmas gifts, given by members, for the children at Kate Duncan Smith DAR School at Grant, Alabama, will be mailed within two weeks.

Changes made in the DAR Good Citizens Contest conducted in the High Schools, were announced by Chairperson, Mrs. Wayne Smalley. Opinion and essay will be equally divided for qualifying, accompanied by a conscript of grades. The winner at Tippecanoe Valley High School will be entered in the Kosciusko County contest.

"A Military Leader of the Battle of Yorktown" was announced as the title for essays in the American History Essay Contest to be judged in February during American History Month. Lafayette, Washington and Cornwallis were some of the suggested leaders given by Mrs. Tom Fugate, Chairperson.

Mrs. Bud Paulus, Chairperson of Conservation, presented a State project in which the Chapter is urged to participate. Plans are being formulated to add flowering shrubs to the landscaping at the Benjamin Harrison Memorial Home in Indianapolis.

The December meeting will be at the home of Miss Lil Tucker, Mentone, on December 9. Members are asked to bring a "Christmas Treasure."

Solar Hot Water

If you want solar hot water, you don't need to convert your whole house to a solar heating system.

A solar hot-water system can easily be installed without altering or disrupting your standard heating and cooling system. A solar hot-water heating system is simple, involves a relatively small investment and offers consistent, year-round benefits. Exxon Solar Domestic Hot Water Systems, for instance, are designed to provide 50 percent or more of the thermal energy needed to produce hot water for an average family of four.

Furthermore, federal, state and, in some cases local tax credits make solar affordable and economically feasible in most areas of the country.

4-H News

Contrary to popular belief, the Mentone United 4-H Club did not waller with hogs Sunday! The club met at 2:00 and were given a guided tour of the hog operation on Miles Nellan's farm. Nellan's Farms Inc. runs a large operation, many 4-Hers discovered, as Mike Smith explained the details. Sites ranged from hogs weighing much more than any 4-Her, to 3-week olds everyone wanted to take home. However, the sows wouldn't have allowed this, and I'm sure many parents are glad of that!

Laura Cochran led the American pledge, and Amy Jo Dickerhoff led the 4-H pledge. Treasurer's report was given of a balance of $95.92.

New business was discussed including the County Achievement Banquet on November 18 at 6:30 p.m. and Officer's Training on December 1 at Washington Elementary School in Warsaw.

The next meeting will be on December 17, at 7:30 p.m. We will meet at the Youth League Building and then go Christmas Caroling. There will be a $1.50 gift exchange, and a lot of fun. Join us in 4-H, we're "making the best, better."

A quick analysis of the presidential election

by William Smith, Jr., Akron

The people have spoken, right? Wrong! A landslide victory for Ronald Reagan, right? Wrong again! Let us look at a few of the facts.

Point one: less than sixty percent of the registered voters in the country cast ballots. More than forty percent evidently chose not to vote for one of the Three Stooges. The sad fact is that registration covers little over one-half of the people eligible in all other requirements.

Point two: only slightly over one-half the voters cast ballots for Mr.

Reagan. The popular vote was much closer than the electoral vote. Not so much of a landslide, as a close race.

Point three: taking into consideration points one and two, approximately slightly over one-quarter of the people in this country chose Ronald Reagan to be our next president.

The people of this country chose NOT to choose. This is, of course, the right that they have, but, it is also a perfect way to lose the right to vote. A concerted effort by a group of Nazis, or some other extremist group, can, without any trouble, take control of this land, and turn it into a prison camp.

Republican Women meet candidates

She then presented the Fulton County Republican Women's Club Life Membership Award for 1980 to Mary Jane Van Duyn. 4-H News

Contrary to popular belief, the Mentone United 4-H Club did not walter with hogs Sunday! The club met at 2:00 and were given a guided tour of the hog operation on Miles Nellan's farm. Nellan's Farms Inc. runs a large operation, many 4-Hers discovered, as Mike Smith explained the details. Sites ranged from hogs weighing much more than any 4-Her, to 3-week olds everyone wanted to take home. However, the sows wouldn't have allowed this, and I'm sure many parents are glad of that!

Laura Cochran led the American pledge, and Amy Jo Dickerhoff led the 4-H pledge. Treasurer's report was given of a balance of $95.92.

New business was discussed including the County Achievement Banquet on November 18 at 6:30 p.m. and Officer's Training on December 1 at Washington Elementary School in Warsaw.

The next meeting will be on December 17, at 7:30 p.m. We will meet at the Youth League Building and then go Christmas Caroling. There will be a $1.50 gift exchange, and a lot of fun. Join us in 4-H, we're "making the best, better."

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS INDIANA ADOPTION WEEK

Thanksgiving is a traditional time for family reunions, a time to share special moments with children and families. Thousands of Hoosier children await that precious moment when they, too, have a family that is loving and caring, a message emphasized by Governor Otis R. Bowen's proclamation of November 23-29, as Indiana Adoption Week.

Indiana Adoption Week focuses public attention on the need for more adoptive homes for Indiana's "waiting" children. In addition, Governor Bowen's proclamation recognizes those children with "special needs".

Children with "special needs" have additional adoption barriers, such as race, physical handicaps, age or mental disabilities. Mrs. Patricia Vesper, Indiana Adoption Resource Exchange (IARE) Coordinator for the State Public Welfare Department, indicated that some of these "special" children have been abused, neglected or abandoned, which has left them with a limited view of the meaning of "family."

IARE is a referral and information service designed to promote and ease the placement of any child who could be best served by adoption. Established in 1975, IARE cooperates with the state's public and private agencies in bringing together those waiting families and children. More than 300 "special needs" children have found permanent and loving homes to date.

Many prospective adoptive parents experience positive results when they adopt one of the "special needs" children. Mrs. Vesper says the reasoning is simple. "These people love children and they are willing to accept the child's problems because many of these youngsters need a good home environment just as much as a so-called "normal child".

IARE Assistant Coordinator, Miss Joanne Ratcliffe adds that many applicants are surprised to discover that there are not specific financial requirements involved in child adoption. "Some people have been told that they must have at least a $10,000 bank balance. An adoption worker is interested in how a family uses its resources, not how much the bank balance is. Certainly, we want to make sure that each adopted child is in a home where he or she can be supported without creating a hardship for family members already present, but the most important factor is determining whether the home offers a comfortable, stable environment in which the child can grow and mature."

Miss Ratcliffe points out that the misconception about a bank balance is not the only one many people have about the adoption process. Other misconceptions are that applicants are ineligible if they do not own their own home, go to church regularly, have a separate room for an adopted child if the couple has natural children, or if a previous marriage ended in divorce. According to Miss Ratcliffe, "In all cases, the most important qualification is that both parents should be motivated by genuine love and respect for children."

Nationally up to three quarters of a million (750,000) children are living in foster or institutional care. In Indiana there are over 10,000 children not in their own home. One out of three of these youngsters are available for adoption.

THANKS FROM BOY SCOUTS

November is traditionally a time of thanksgiving, and the Sagamore Council, Boy Scouts of America, wants to take the opportunity to extend a special expression of thanks to the many volunteers who make the Scouting program come alive for the youth in 15-county North Central Indiana.

"Young people would not receive the many benefits of the Scouting program were it not for the continuing efforts of 2967 adults in this area who give unselfishly of their time and talents," said Julian V. Sectors, Council President. "Since its very beginnings in this country, Scouting has recognized the importance of the involvement of men and women in the activity of young people."

Volunteer service takes many forms, Sectors pointed out. Many adults serve as Scoutmasters, Cubmasters, Explorer Advisors, and unit committee personnel, key leaders of the three phases of Scouting. Others serve as den leaders, guiding small groups of Cub Scouts. Many others give of their time by serving as Merit Badge Counselors in more than 110 career and hobby fields.

Supporting the units and chartered organizations are district and council committee members.

Other volunteers work to bring Scouting to handicapped or disadvantaged persons. Still others work with young men and women, helping them to explore career choices and special interests.

"This community is fortunate to have volunteers who continue to believe that Scouting resources give young people a strong foundation on which to build their lives as responsible citizens," Sectors said.

CARE holiday cards aid needy overseas

"You can turn your holiday greetings into help for destitute people overseas by sending special CARE cards to your friends, relatives and business associates," said Dr. Philip Johnston, Executive Director of CARE, the international aid and development organization.

"The message on the card lets the recipient know that you have given a contribution to CARE in his or her name to help needy people throughout the world. Thousands of families who were helped by your donations last year are now living a better life. Millions more want to become self-supporting but they need your help," he said.

CARE conducts feeding and a wide variety of self-help development programs in more than 35

Third World countries throughout Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East. Disaster aid as well as medical and health care training through MEDICO are also vital components of the organization's work.

Dr. Johnston gave examples of what donations accomplish; $5 serves 100 school children a nourishing bowl of porridge for one week; $10 provides 36 bundles of millet stalks to protect trees in an African desert soil erosion program; $15 supplies weight scales, charts and nutrition booklets for a health center in an East Asian country; $25 furnishes materials and tools to rebuild a house destroyed by a hurricane in a Caribbean country.

"For every dollar that you, the public, donated last year CARE provided $6.73 worth of aid. We were able to do this through stringent economy measures and by combining U.S. Food-for-Peace commodities with contributions from domestic and foreign governments, private individuals and companies. The beneficiaries provide labor and locally available materials for the self-help projects," he said.

To order, at a minimum contribution of $3 per cards, write to CARE, Dept. HOL, Box 570, New York, N.Y. 10016 or to any regional CARE office. Cards will be sent to you, or if you want CARE to mail the cards for you, please send the names and addresses on your gift list and indicate how each card should be signed. Order early for delivery before the holidays.

Winter bird feeding

by Joe M. Scheidler, Wildlife Biologist

Winter bird feeding is becoming more and more popular each year. In fact, some 20 million Americans annually take advantage of the educational opportunities and entertainment provided at bird-feeders. But, more importantly, winter feeding is good for the birds! In some cases, they would not make it through the lean winter months without our help.

The best way to attract a variety of birds to your residence is by offering a variety of feeders and food, plus cover. There are many bird feeders on the market today and some simple models can be home made. The cylindrical design of the "Yankee Droll" feeder has become increasingly popular in recent years. Automatic feeders have been around for some time, and are quite effective. Some birds prefer feeding on the ground; a simple platform or a split log with a trough or cavity to hold the food works well for doves, sparrows and juncos.

Numerous bird feeds are also available commercially. Hemp, millet, sorghum, cracked corn and sunflower seeds have all been used successfully. Thistle seed in outdoor feeders is extremely effective in attracting finches. This seed is not actually thistle seed, but Niger, a tiny black seed imported from India and Africa. It was sold as canary food for years, but its value in bird feeders was not realized until fairly recently. Niger's main disadvantage is its cost. Finding a source offering the seed in bulk should help cut the price.

Suet, the hard fat available from your butcher shop, is a high-energy food used by several insect-eating birds including blue jays, nuthatches, titmice, chickadees and at least six species of eastern woodpeckers.

You can put suet in an old onion bag or in a commercial suet feeder and hang it against a tree.

Some people put out small chunks of fruit to attract robins, mockingbirds and cedar waxwings. Other birdwatchers come up with their own concoctions using ingredients such as peanut butter, cornmeal and suet.

Placement of feeders is an important consideration. Some birds are hesitant to leave an area of cover and fly directly to a feeder several yards away. Placing feeders near shrubs or small trees allows the birds to approach slowly, surveying the area for danger before landing at the feeder. If you lack shrubs, make a temporary brush-pile, or, later on, prop up your used Christmas tree nearby to help provide the necessary cover. Then plan on establishing permanent backyard wildlife habitat next spring.

Once you have started bird feeding, it's a good idea not to stop until spring. Birds will become accustomed to the free and easy food source, and if it is stopped abruptly, it can cause birds to suffer. However, don't hesitate to start a feeding program simply because you are planning a vacation in mid-winter. If you can't find a neighbor to keep the feeders stocked, gradually cut down on the rations before you leave, so the birds will be forced to seek other feeders or natural food supplies.

If you will write, I'll send you a free publication entitled "Winter Bird Feeding," published by the Division of Fish and Wildlife. Address your request to P. O. Box 764, Logansport, IN 46947. Now is the time to start your winter bird feeding program. It can make the winter more enjoyable, while keeping you in touch with nature.

Report crop losses

Due to the extensive damage incurred this summer from extremes in weather conditions, all crop policyholders should be reminded of their responsibility to give prompt notice of loss or damage to their FCIC office, states Francis G. Hudkins, district director for Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

The burden of proof rests with the policyholder and the best evidence of loss may be in the field. Accurate records of production which include storage, feeding of grain or any other disposition of production by units is required.

Hudkins pointed out that any policyholder having questions concerning their obligations or on their crop policy should contact their FCIC office, located at 513 Main Street, Rochester, or call (219) 223-6516.

1981 Roadside market directory

Next year's roadside market and u-pick farm directory is now in the making and anyone who wants to be listed must contact the State by December 1, announces Lt. Gov. Bob Orr, Indiana Commissioner of Agriculture.

Only Hoosiers who sell Indiana grown products through roadside operations will be listed in the 1981 Directory to Roadside Market and U-Pick Farms, says Orr, director of the state commerce department which publishes the directory.

"This directory, in its fourth printing, has become a valuable

No-till planter available

The benefits of no-till farming were demonstrated during the 1980 cropping season through a program of the Kosciusko County Soil and Water Conservation District. To encourage farmers to try no-till in the future, the SWCD has purchased a no-till planter and will offer it for use.

Why should you farm with no-tillage? Soil and water conservation have always been concerns of most people. The no-tillage method keeps plant residues on top of the ground surface which helps reduce soil erosion and maintains water quality. The no-till method allows a field to be farmed with a more intense rotation (more row crops), than conventional tillage, while staying within soil loss standards.

Energy cost is a critical factor to consider in planning cropping systems. The no-till planter requires a small tractor (10 horsepower per row) to pull. There is no field preparation needed. In some cases, corn stalks are either chopped or lightly disked. Thus, fuel costs are reduced through the use of a small tractor and fewer trips over the field. Less labor is required. With fewer trips over the field, there is less time required to plant the crop. This is especially important if there are wet soil conditions which delay spring field operations. There is also the economic benefit of not losing applied fertilizer along with the soil. Again, this will become significant as fertilizer costs continue to rise.

No-till, however, is not suited for all soils. Nor should you attempt no-till in a field with a perennial weed problem. No-till should be tried on well-drained soils and started on a few acres. Once the technique is learned, no-till can be used on more acres.

The 1980 cropping season was the first year for the District's no-till program. The benefits in fuel and labor savings and soil conservation were proven. A 50 percent savings in man-hours and 85 and 91 percent savings in fuel, were documented on two plots. The District will continue their no-till program in the coming years. For those who are interested, they should contact the SCS office at 303 E. Gilliam Drive in Warsaw or call 267-5726. Technical help will be given by Ortho Chemical Company and the Soil Conservation Service.

On Sunday November 30th, additional enforcement personnel will be on Patrol from 1-10 p.m.

Operation C.A.R.E. is a joint effort between citizens and the Indiana State Police to reduce accidents on the interstate systems.

To insure a safe trip, be safety conscious by taking 10 minute rests every two hours on long drives, buckle up, check your entire car condition and obey all traffic laws.

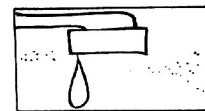

Road condition information

Beginning December 1, the Indiana State Police will place their road condition phone numbers into operation.

The number for the Northern and Central part of the state is 232-8300. Covering the Southern and Central part of the state is the number 232-8298.

The information on the recordings is gathered by the General Headquarters dispatch from a computer. This computer contains road conditions sent in from all the districts through the state. The State Police Operations Center is open 24 hours and will be able to answer road condition questions and can be reached by dialing 232-8248.

Four times a day the information is updated, at 6 a.m., noon, 6 p.m., and midnight. In an extreme weather condition, the information is updated more frequently.

America's first waterworks was built in Boston in 1652.

Christmas tree directory

Over 40 farms are listed in the 1980 Choose and Cut Christmas Tree Directory published by the Indiana Department of Commerce for those Hoosiers interested in getting their holiday greens the old-fashioned way.

The commerce department's director, Lt. Gov. Bob Orr, notes that approximately three fourth million trees are marketed in the state at Christmas and that one third of those trees are sold through choose and cut operations.

The selection process varies at Christmas tree farms. Some allow consumers to tag trees prior to the holiday season, while others allow consumers to "choose" while the farmer "cuts."

For a copy of the free directory, persons should contact the Indiana Department of Commerce, Division of Agriculture, 440 North Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind. 46204; (317) 232-8770.

NIPSCO assists coordination of international scholarship competition

Northern Indiana Public Service Company is assisting in the coordination of an international scholarship competition for high school students in this area, according to Edmund A. Schroer, NIPSCO chairman and chief executive officer.

An opportunity for high school seniors to win a Thomas Alva Edison-Max McGraw Scholarship worth $5,000 and an all-expense-paid trip to Egypt is available through the Edison and McGraw foundations, named after the famous inventor and a corporate leader in the electric supply industry, he said.

"Recognizing the scientific accomplishments of high school students is one way the foundations hope to motivate more young people to become interested in science-oriented careers and to help revitalize invention and innovation in this country," Schroer said.

The National Science Supervisors Association and the Council of State Science Supervisors are coordinating the overall program. Entry deadline is December 1, 1980.

Applications are being invited from graduating high school seniors who most nearly demonstrate the creativity and ingenuity exemplified by the lives and accomplish-

Liquor license opposed

It's disgusting that Super X Drugs at Rochester was granted a liquor license, especially against the protests of so many people. Moral requirements are more important than the so-called "legal" requirements. You can't find hardly any drugstores or groceries to shop at that don't sell the sleazy liquor. We don't need alcoholic beverages anywhere. A lot of crime, sin, broken homes and traffic accidents could be prevented if alcohol was not used. Here's hoping people will go through with plans to boycott Super X.

Mentone E.M.T. Trail of Courage course scheduled in January

At the recent 4-Way Ambulance Service Inc. Board of Directors meeting it was decided to hold a course for new E.M.T.'s. The course which will be instructed by Dr. Wilson will begin in January. Exact class dates, course fee, and times will be announced at a later date. Anyone interested in becoming an E.M.T. should contact Anne Utter at 353-7260 as soon as possible.

It was announced that the recent Lions Club Sausage Sale netted $600.00 which will be applied toward a new, more powerful base radio. Lectracom, Inc. of Bourne will have a trial unit ready for the local E.M.S. unit to use in about 30 days. Allen Metheny, President of Lectracom, Inc. was present at the meeting and fielded technical questions from Board members and discussed various ways to alleviate some radio problems that now exist. One of the solutions was a more powerful base radio which will be used on a trial basis.

The Board of Directors are now in the process of taking legal action against individuals with delinquent accounts.

The next scheduled Board of Directors meeting will be Jan. 7, 1981, 7:30 P.M. at the Mentone Town Hall with the following items on the agenda:

- 1) Election of officers
 - 2) Appointment of 1 new Board member (anyone interested should contact Frank Manwaring)
 - 3) Report of legal action on delinquent accounts
 - 4) Report of base radio use, improvement, etc.
 - 5) Final report on E.M.T. class.
- It was also noted that as of Nov. 18 the ambulance had made 150 runs as compared to 112 all of last year. Two recently certified E.M.T.'s are working as 4-Way volunteers, they are Bob Heckman and Lou Ann Pyle.

Wisconsin leads the nation in milk and cheese production.

The Trail of Courage Rendezvous and memories of Henry Township schools are subjects of the new Fulton County Historical Society Quarterly, now on sale at the Rochester News Stand, Hardesty Printing, all county banks, Akron and Rochester libraries, and the Civic Center Museum, open Monday through Friday from 9 to 5. The words to two songs about the Potawatomi Indians, Menominee and Aubbeenaubee, composed by George Schrieker of Plymouth, are in the booklet, along with the guitar chords. Schrieker sang these songs at the Trail of Courage Rendezvous.

Henry Township schools featured are Athens, Millark and Antioch. A story about the very first school in the township by Marie Hand is also included. Also a list of teachers listed in the "Akron News" 1896-1904, compiled by Gloria Bowen. Ruth Bowen wrote about three schools: Millark, Antioch and Sugar Grove. Paul Bowen and Lon Zimmerman wrote about Millark one-room school. Ira Baker told about Athens school. Photos, rewards of merit, teacher's license, graduating program, and end-of-school souvenirs are printed in the booklet as illustrations.

Another special bonus is the script for the canoe landing enacted at the Rendezvous. This skit contains much interesting history about trading between the first white men and Indians along the Tippecanoe River.

Other articles in the 60-page booklet are an interview with Jerry Lewis, the Potawatomi Indian who spoke at the Rendezvous; winners of the muzzle-loading contests, prizes donated for the shoot and the addresses of the donors, winners of the Rendezvous Run, Aubbeenaubee family reunion, and FCHS news. Genealogy queries and letters from members complete the booklet.

This booklet may be purchased through the mail by sending $2.50 to Fulton County Historical Society, 7th and Pontiac, Rochester, IN 46975.

Public Notice

A petition which included the signatures of more than 600 taxpayers from the five townships, were given to the Tippecanoe Valley School Board members at its regular monthly meeting, Monday, Nov. 17, at the high school. More signatures are expected to be turned in at a later date. Any property owner who has not been contacted may sign this petition and mail to P. O. Box 515, Akron, Ind. 46910.

To The Tippecanoe Valley School Board:

We, the undersigned property owners and taxpayers in the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation believe it unwise to create an additional indebtedness estimated to be $17,000,000 more or less, for the remodeling and construction of grade schools at this time.

Due to the state of the economy at this time and the decrease in the enrollment, we strongly recommend these remodeling projects to be completed one at a time, separately as needed, with limited new construction.

We submit to our school board the following recommendations for remodeling of grade schools at Akron, Burket and Mentone.

We recommend that approximately $2,000,000 more or less be spent to remodel the Akron School. At Burket and Mentone, we should have available a combined total of approximately $1,000,000 for upgrading their facilities. The total remodeling expenditure should not exceed $3,000,000 including all costs, architectural, legal fees, and equipment costs.

Bayh bill on newsroom searches signed into law

President Carter has signed a bill authored by Senator Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on the Constitution, which will preserve the confidentiality of reporters' sources and thus, the free operation of the nation's news media.

The bill, authored by Bayh in the Senate and sponsored by Rep. Robert Kastenmeier (D-Wisc.) in the House, was introduced following the ZURCHER VS. STANFORD DAILY decision handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1978. In its opinion, the Court ruled that law enforcement officers could search newsrooms -- and indeed all innocent third parties -- when armed with a search warrant.

The new law prohibits surprise searches by all law enforcement officers of newsrooms or the premises of those engaged in their "First Amendment" activities. Instead, the legislation provides for a "subpoena first" rule which permits those members of the press believed to be in possession of evidence relating to a criminal investigation -- but not themselves suspected of any criminal wrongdoing -- to either produce the information or to present arguments before a judge as to why the evidence should not be turned over.

The legislation also includes a provision which says that if there is reason to believe that the evidence sought may be destroyed or somehow concealed, that a search with a warrant is allowed.

"This legislation is of no small significance in terms of preserving the freedom of the press in this country," Bayh said. "Thomas Jefferson once remarked that the price of freedom is eternal vigilance, and clearly the news media performs an important function in this regard."

"A free press is critical," he continued, "and a reporter cannot perform his or her duties effectively if there is always the possibility that confidential sources or information might be made public as a result of a surprise search sprung on an unsuspecting newspaper, radio or television station."

The Senator pointed out that instances of this kind are not isolated, noting that since the ZURCHER VS. STANFORD DAILY case was handed down by the Supreme Court, several more instances of newsroom searches have occurred.

Bayh said he would have preferred a stronger law, extending the "subpoena first" rule to all innocent third parties. He pointed out that doctors, lawyers and other professionals come into possession of confidential information on their clients -- people who, it is important to note, may not themselves be the target of a criminal investigation or anyway involved.

Under the bill as amended by the Judiciary Committee, the senator noted, the Department of Justice is required to formulate guidelines which cover areas where federal law enforcement officers are seeking evidence from innocent third parties, with particular emphasis given to instances involving doctors, lawyers or other professionals.

The "subpoena first" rule on First Amendment activities, however, applies to all law enforcement officers.

Bayh originally introduced the "Stanford Daily" bill -- officially called the Citizens Privacy Protection Act -- on June 6, 1978. Although Bayh held extensive hearings during the 95th Congress (more hearings were held again during the 96th Congress), no final action was taken on the bill. Bayh then re-introduced the measure in the 96th Congress on September 21, 1979.

The bill received its final passage from the Senate on September 29, 1980, and from the House of Representatives on October 1, 1980.

you've just bought our product.
did you really need it?

The cost of electricity is up. If that's getting you down, we'd like to suggest that you think about electricity the way you think about other products. Because every time you switch on a light or an appliance, you're buying some of what we sell. And like anything else, if you buy more than you need, it's too expensive at any price.

So with winter approaching, how do you conserve electricity and still maintain your standard of living? Here are a few of the most effective ways:

- Check your insulation. Does it meet current standards for your size and type of home? If you're unsure, contact your local Public Service Indiana office for advice.
- Make sure all storm doors and windows fit snugly. Weatherstrip them if you haven't done so already.
- Furnace filters should be clean for efficient operation. Change them if necessary and check them this winter.
- Caulk joints between masonry and wood, as well as around windows and doors. The old caulking may be cracked and need replacing.
- Set the thermostat at the lowest comfortable setting and open drapes during the day to let the sunshine in; close them during the evening. If possible, close off and don't heat unused rooms.

Remember, the less you buy the less you pay for. And only you can decide how much of our product you really need. Conservation can help. For more energy-saving ideas, visit our local office. We'll be glad to help.

Farm Bureau Co-op reports increased sales

Sales of $1.2 billion have been reported by the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, Inc., Indianapolis, for fiscal year 1980. According to Philip French, executive vice president, "This volume is a 20-percent increase over 1979, which was the first year the Cooperative's sales surpassed $1 billion." The Cooperative's consolidated pre-tax net savings for 1980 were $2.8 million, a 75-percent increase over 1979.

Although inflation contributed to some of this increase in sales, the Cooperative recorded higher unit sales in grain.

French describes the past year as being "one of dramatic change for the Cooperative and agribusiness in general." Within the Cooperative, French was named executive vice president replacing Glenn Franklin who retired after 33 years of service. The consolidation of two divisions allowed the Cooperative to begin to shed low-yield operations and to develop new ag-related thrusts to generate cash for future growth.

Changes in the Cooperative's environment had a dramatic impact on operations in 1980. Fertilizer markets experienced a significant turnaround with nitrogen going from surplus to short shortages in a few months. The Russian grain embargo changed normal trading patterns and resulted in higher overall costs.

GRAIN MARKETING

"In spite of the embargo, grain marketing volume in 1980 was a record 199 million bushels, 51 percent of which moved into export," states Louis Johnston, vice-president-Grain Marketing. Environmental factors—costly government controls through the Federal Grain Inspection Service, OSHA, and EPA regulations—significantly increased operational expenses in fiscal 1980. Government-mandated improvements at the Cooperative's Locust Point, Md. export terminal have reached $20 million, adds Johnston. In addition to complying with federal regulations, the improvements will double throughput capacity by spring, 1981.

PETROLEUM

The Cooperative's competitive position in petroleum deteriorated in 1980 as domestic crude oil was bid up to foreign crude spot prices. According to Petroleum Division Manager Rudy Schornhorst, "In 1980, the Cooperative chose to secure domestic crude oil production in face of lower-priced foreign oil. The Cooperative chose long-term security over short-term opportunity and it paid the price. The result was an overall loss in petroleum operations.

During the past year, the Cooperative continued its crude oil production in Ghana, West Africa, through Agri-Petco International, a joint venture with the National Cooperative Refinery Association and Texas City Refinery.

"Foreign oil exploration and purchases continue to be necessary," states Schornhorst, "because the Cooperative is not able to get its full requirements from the Illinois Basin and other domestic sources."

CROPS

"During fiscal year 1980, the Cooperative experienced one of the most dramatic changes in fertilizer markets in its 54-year history," according to Charles Coons, manager, Crops Division. A weak U.S. dollar caused foreign demand to push the domestic price of diammonium phosphate from $150 per ton to $215 per ton in eight months. The Russian grain embargo stopped the entry of more than 500,000 tons of Russian ammonia into the United States. Coons states that, "This turned nitrogen supply from a surplus situation to one of spot shortages." However, despite these changes in price and supply, the Cooperative's fertilizer supply is stable.

FOOD AND FARM SUPPLIES

Another major change within the Cooperative was the organization of the Food and Farm Supplies Division. The new Division comprises six strategic units—manufactured feed, turkey operations, hatchery operations, animal health, stores, and farm and home supplies—from the former Livestock and Poultry, and Farm and Building Supplies divisions. "The consolidation," according to Hugh Moore, manager Food and Farm Supplies Division, "represents the Cooperative's efforts to develop new business initiatives, to diversify, and to spread its risks beyond cash grain and livestock agriculture."

"The Cooperative, along with two member co-ops, made an initial commitment to food processing with the acquisition of a one-half interest in Bartley Brand Foods," states Moore. This acquisition secures an outlet for Co-op contracted turkeys, complements the Co-op's feed business, and will extend Indiana farmers' control of feed production further into the marketing chain.

The Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, Inc., with headquarters in Indianapolis, is a major, federated wholesale agricultural marketing and supply cooperative. The Cooperative is owned and controlled by 71 member cooperatives, which are owned and controlled by their farmer-members.

Juveniles admit theft

The Fulton Juvenile Court announced the results of three juvenile cases which resolved a series of thefts in rural Rochester Township during the months of September and October. Approximately 30 thefts were involved.

Three male juveniles, ages 15 and 16 were found to be delinquent as a result of admissions to the thefts. The oldest, whose vehicle was involved in most of the thefts, was sentenced to the Diagnostic Center for Juveniles for examination and recommendation to be commenced January 5, 1981. Until that time he has been placed on probation on the condition that he report to the probation officer weekly, that he surrender his operator's license to the probation department and that he participate on a prorata basis with his co-respondents in making restitution.

The second boy was sentenced to the Indiana Boys School until he reaches the age of 21 years and ordered to pay the costs of this action. The sentence to Boys School was suspended and he was placed on probation on the condition that he serve four days in juvenile detention, that he be removed from his home and placed with his uncle in Delaware County and that he obtain professional counseling as a result of these proceedings. He has also been ordered to participate in restitution.

The third boy who was involved in less than half of the thefts was also sentenced to boys school until he reaches the age of 21 years and ordered to pay the costs of this action. His sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation on the condition that he report to the probation department regularly, that he serve two days in juvenile detention, that he participate for two weekends in community service as directed by the Rochester Police Department and that he participate on a prorata basis with restitution.

The Akron Keen-Agers have been very happy with the beautiful fall weather. The group has enjoyed trips, many different craft projects, the Public Service Indiana program, playing nutrition bingo, birthday parties, blood pressure clinics, reading poetry, doing exercises, having a garage sale, watching movies and other things besides the usual eating and visiting. It has truly been a busy and happy fall and we are thankful for the health to enjoy activities. It is a true joy just to be able to walk across the room, to see a beautiful sunset, to hear and converse with our friends, to enjoy the aroma of the Thanksgiving dinner and to eat the tasty morsels of that dinner. These are given to us by God to be used, enjoyed and shared with others. If you have no one with which to share them, come share with us. We would love to have you.

Thursdays are carry-in lunches with games afterward. Thursday and Friday, November 27 and 28, the site will be closed in remembrance of Thanksgiving. The next birthday party and blood pressure clinic will be Thursday, December 11.

Tuesdays are craft days. From 10 to 12 on Tuesdays a small craft is made by those attending. There is no charge for the craft.

Gun control: possibility or pipe dream?

by William Smith, Jr.

At one point in my life, I had the idea that if all the firearms in the country were confiscated and destroyed, the crime rate would drop automatically, and stay down. I never gave it very much thought for a number of years.

Just lately, I took the time to sit and apply the logical thought processes that come into play when I'm not too lazy to use them. Here is the results of my inner debate.

Point one: not all firearms are registered, and quite a few are stolen. This, in itself, would make confiscation not only difficult, but practically impossible.

Point two: the outlawing and confiscation of firearms does not guarantee their non-availability. Anyone with a basement workshop can build a cheap, single-shot pistol in less than two days. With practice, a passable revolver can be turned out in two weeks.

Point three: the fact that something is invented, and in general use is the greatest drawback. You can't uninvent a car, or a television, let alone a gun.

Handguns will always be with us, legally or illegally. The most that anyone can do is to choose, for themselves, whether or not to own one.

Oh well, it was a nice dream, while it lasted, but that's all it was, just a dream.

Managing family farm

"Managing the Family Farm in the '80's" is the topic to be discussed on Tuesday, December 2, from 7-10 p.m., at the Atwood Community Center, according to Vic Virgil, county agricultural agent. He says that Ed Carson and Dave Bache, Purdue Agricultural Economists, will lead the discussion.

The primary objective of this meeting is to help moderate-sized family farmers size up their problems and opportunities and appraise alternatives. Specific kinds of questions to be discussed include:

What are our family goals? How to survive the cost-price squeeze? Will I be able to compete in 1985? 1990? How much debt can I service? How can I protect myself against inflation? How can I make another $1,000? How can I improve crop profits? How much can I afford to invest in livestock facilities? What can I do to cut machinery costs? How can I do a better job of buying and selling?

All discussions will be aimed to the moderate-sized family farm.
