

MUTZ & HILLIS AT GOP RALLY

by Barbara Ann Lynn

Speaking at the Fulton County Republican fall rally at the 4-H fairgrounds at Rochester, Thursday evening, State Senator John Mutz, Indianapolis, and Congressman Elwood Hillis, R. Kokomo, did not have any kind words for President Carter in particular, or Democrats in general.

Both speakers openly criticized the President for his economic and foreign policies.

Mutz said Carter "is trying to tell us that the basic issue is not the economy, not the recession, not the question of our prestige and respect abroad, but rather what may or may not happen if Ronald Reagan is the next president of the United States."

Blaming Democrats for the current high inflation, high unemployment and high interest rates, Mutz said the key issue is the economy of the United States and its impact on Indiana.

Hillis sternly criticized President Carter, calling him "a master of politics of the lowest level" for implying that Reagan is a racist and a war monger.

John Mutz

Hillis criticized Carter for refusing to participate in the League of Women Voters' televised debate and said the president is trying to obscure the issues by attacking Reagan.

Hillis's harshly attacked the administration for the "state of our defense" and for the leak about the highly secret U. S. Stealth aircraft. Hillis is a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

He accused the Carter administration of purposely leaking information about the secret weapon to the news media to offset criticism of national defense capabilities.

"This shows that Carter feels nothing stands over re-election. Jimmy Carter has hit the gutter," Hillis said.

The 5th District congressman claimed that "the Navy has slipped, our bombers have grown old" and that America's military strength is so weak that we can't do anything about the Iraq-Iran war, which he said, threatens world oil supplies.

"We can't even get our hostages home," he said.

"This administration just reacts to crises," instead of using forward-looking policies, he stated.

Hillis accused the Democrats of causing inflation and opposed the

Elwood Hillis

Democratic national platform's spending plans.

Hillis accused the U. S. Department of Agriculture of being more of a consumer agency than one concerned about farmers, and said he is sure Reagan would appoint a secretary of agriculture "who is interested in the farmer for a change."

Hillis made objection to Carter's grain embargo imposed on the Soviet Union after their invasion of Afghanistan, saying "grain embargoes should be limited to acts of war."

In addition to national issues, Mutz's speech also focused on the race for governor-lieutenant governor. He mentioned that he and GOP gubernatorial candidate, Robert Orr have a combined 20 years of experience in working with the General Assembly.

Mutz said Hoosier's property taxes have been reduced, corporate gross income taxes have been cut and personal income taxes have been decreased during the last eight years of Republican administration.

He said that Hoosiers pay the lowest percent of their disposable income in taxes than residents of any state.

Mutz is the Republican candidate for Indiana lieutenant governor.

In addition to owning and managing a 460 acre farm, Mutz, age 44 currently is vice-president of Circle Leasing Corporation which leases and finances business equipment. He also serves as vice-president and part owner of Circle Financial Corporation (a real estate investment firm) and the Fast Food Management Corporation which operates 30 Burger Chef restaurants in Indiana and Kentucky. He is also an instructor on Budgeting and Taxation at IUPUI in Indianapolis in the School of Public and Environmental Affairs.

He and his wife, Carolyn have two children, Mark, 18, and Diana, 17. They are members of the Church of the Saviour, United Methodist.

Mutz is and has been affiliated with numerous organizations and served on a number of committees, both political and otherwise.

Hillis is seeking re-election to his sixth two-year term as 5th District congressman. The 5th District includes Fulton County.

Fulton County GOP Chairman, Howard DuBois introduced Republican office holders and candidates at the rally.

Other speakers included: Betty Rendel of Mexico, state GOP vice-chairperson; Richard Regnier of Tipton, 5th District Republican chairman; and Charles Loos, state auditor, elected on the GOP ticket.

DuBois Criticizes Commissioners

Howard DuBois, Fulton County GOP Chairman criticized Fulton Board of County Commissioners regarding the sale of the old Woodlawn Hospital site during the GOP fall rally at the 4-H fairgrounds at Rochester, Thursday evening.

The Board consists of 2 Democrats and 1 Republican.

DuBois said, "After being told how to sell the old Woodlawn Hospital, the Commissioners deleted the clause from the deed that would have saved the county from a most atrocious eyesore and hazard."

The site was auctioned Sept. 18, 1979, but DuBois said no maintenance has been done by the new owners, and the site has gone into a state of disrepair.

The County Council's ordinance regarding the sale of the property stated that the deed should contain a clause requiring maintenance of the property, "...in such an order that it shall not create a nuisance in the neighborhood in which it is located."

The required clause was not included in the deed.

Two letters to the owners about the property's disrepair brought no response. So commissioners filed a complaint in Circuit Court on Sept. 10.

Board member, Democrat Raymond Rentschler is seeking re-election in November.

George Craig, Republican, is retiring from the Board this year. The 3rd seat, held by Fred Brown, Democrat, is not up for election this year.

The meeting is open to the public. Everyone is encouraged to attend.

DUTIES OF LT. GOV.

The office of lieutenant governor is established in the Constitution. The term of office is the same as that of the governor (like those for the office of governor and for U.S. senator), formerly nominated at party conventions, now are selected by primary election. The party's nominees for governor and lt. governor run as a team, insuring that those elected will not be of opposite political faiths. Like the governor, the lt. governor takes office on the second Monday of January following his election.

Only one function and one potential function are conferred on the lt. governor by the Constitution. These are to preside over the Senate during its sessions and, in the case of a vacancy in the office of governor, or his inability to discharge his duties, to act as governor for the unexpired term.

1980 Kosciusko County Fireman of the year Lyman Mollenhour benefit

On Saturday, Oct. 18, the Mentone Fire Department will sponsor a benefit carry out fish fry and community bake sale for Lyman Mollenhour.

On Aug. 4, Mr. Mollenhour had the misfortune of falling off a roof and has since been hospitalized at Lutheran Hospital in Fort Wayne.

The retired Mentone fire chief was named "1980 Kosciusko County Fireman of the Year" Sept. 25 at the county fairgrounds in Warsaw.

The 1961 Fireman of the Year, Ario Friesner of Mentone, accepted the award for Mr. Mollenhour.

Mr. Mollenhour served as chief of the Mentone Fire Department from 1958 until his retirement in 1975. He was also active in the county association, and was vice-president in 1963 and 1964. Mentone Fire Chief, Joe Good and other firemen in his department wrote that Mollenhour "led the department for many years in the direction of a good department and received the respect of the community by serving it to the best of his ability."

Officers for next year for the county firemen's association include: John Huff, Burket, president; Everett (Butch) Warren, Mentone, vice-president; Rex Mast, Piercetown, secretary; and Ellis Shepherd, Mentone, treasurer.

DUTIES

By statute the lt. governor is made commissioner of agriculture.

In this position he is charged with the administration of laws relating to agriculture, to the encouragement of farm organization activity and in particular to the conduct of the Indiana State Fair. An additional responsibility of the commissioner of agriculture is to administer the Indiana Commodity Dealers Licensing Agency, which regulates grain trading firms.

When the legislature is not in session, much of the lieutenant governor's time is devoted to direction of the Department of Commerce. The department is concerned with development of new and expanding industry, and promotion of international trade, the development of small minority business activity, the encouragement of agricultural and rural development, and the promotion of tourism in the state, and analysis of the state's economic conditions.

The lieutenant governor serves as vice chairman of the Executive Council for State Planning, and, by appointment of the governor, as director of the State Planning Services Agency.

The lieutenant governor is an ex officio member of the State Fair Board, the Commission on Interstate Cooperation, Stream Pollution Control Board, the Natural Resources Commission, the State Soil and Water Conservation Committee, the State Office Building Commission, the New Harmony Commission, and the Standardbred Board of Regulation, for which his office is required to establish a standardbred registry.

By virtue of his office, he appoints members of the Senate to represent that body on the Commission on State Tax and Financing Policy, the Indiana Conservation Advisory Committee, the City-County Traffic Safety Programs Advisory Board, the Indiana Education Council, and the Water Resources Study Committee.

It Happened In Mentone

Taken from the Sept. 23, 1953
issue of The Northern Indiana
Co-op News

Miss Audrey Sellers, of England, is spending three weeks at the Delford Nelson home. Audrey is an exchange student, her trip is being sponsored by England's Young Farmers Club, an organization which is similar to our 4-H.

Corporal Wayne K. Baker, 22, of Mentone, husband of Mrs. Bonnie Baker, recently was promoted to his present rank at the Signal Corps Training Center, the army's largest signal installation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Good of Rochester, and Mr. and Mrs. James Good and family of Elkhart, were Sunday guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Good.

Dr. Dan Urschel was recently notified of his appointment to the Research Foundation. The committee is headed by Dr. Kenneth Kohlstaedt, Research Director of Lilly Laboratory. This committee will be in charge of the allocation of Heart Foundation funds for medical research within the state of Indiana.

The Oct. issue of Copper's Farmer has a feature article on the egg industry in the Mentone area.

Mrs. Gerald Ballenger is shown as she grades eggs and Adam Carper's smiling face protrudes from under his cap as he is about to mark the weight on a case of eggs.

MUTZ PROPOSES AGRICULTURAL ADVISORY BOARD

Senator John M. Mutz of Indianapolis has proposed creation of a State Advisory Board on Agriculture to provide policy guidance on agricultural issues to Indiana's next lieutenant governor.

Mutz said his proposal envisions the advisory committee as including representatives of all major farm organizations, the Division of Agriculture in the Department of Commerce, Purdue University and individual farmers.

"The lieutenant governor in Indiana's system also functions as the state commissioner of agriculture," Mutz said. "I see this body as providing input to the lieutenant governor on such issues as foreign or corporate ownership of farmland, revision of the state law regulating grain dealers, preservation of prime farmland, revision of water rights and drainage laws and other agricultural issues."

Creation of the advisory board was one of several initiatives related to agriculture which Mutz unveiled. Others are:

-A proposal for a feasibility study on construction of new buildings and remodeling of existing facilities at the Indiana State Fairgrounds in Indianapolis. Mutz said "special attention should be given to the possibility of constructing a large livestock showing building which could be used by state and national livestock breed associations for shows."

-A livestock show promotion fund. "A foundation for this fund was established by action of the 1980 General Assembly," Mutz said, "and seed money now is needed for livestock promotion efforts. Indiana is a leader in the production of high-quality breeder livestock and its position could be enhanced by major livestock shows which offer top premiums. Such shows would attract breeders and participants from throughout the country and even the world."

out the country and even the world."

-State initiatives to eliminate noxious weeds. "Johnson grass and Canadian thistles are gradually taking over public lands on roadsides and in parks and proliferate on unused property such as vacant lots or unfarmed land. We need to make a stronger effort to bring these noxious weeds under control if we are to avoid long-term effects on farmland and on crop yields."

-Assistance by the state with promotion of agricultural exports. "Marketing of our agricultural products is best handled by the private sector," Mutz said, "but the state should be helpful in marketing, particularly in the export field, by gathering and disseminating information about export opportunities. Similarly, the state should promote its Lake Michigan and Ohio River ports and accelerate their development in order to facilitate greater penetration of foreign markets by Indiana-produced livestock, grain and other agricultural products."

-Encourage development of on-farm energy production. Mutz said this program should involve two elements. One is to provide an ongoing research program in the state universities on alcohol fuels, bio-mass conversion and other non-petroleum sources of energy. The second is to provide a tax incentive to Indiana farmers to encourage them to set up on-farm alcohol fuel distilleries or other energy-producing equipment.

Mutz also noted that he and Lieutenant Governor Robert D. Orr, the GOP nominee for governor, are committed to maintaining the property tax control program. "This program has been a significant benefit to farmers and to all Hoosiers and we are not going to permit it to be abandoned," Mutz said.

Indiana's primary, intermediate and junior high students are achieving higher test scores in reading, writing and spelling than are their counterparts on a nationwide basis, it was learned today in a study compiled by the Indiana Department of Public Instruction and reviewed by a panel of education specialists from Indiana University, Ball State University, Purdue University and Indiana State University.

Test scores were collected statewide on more than 216,000 students in reading, more than 185,000 students in composition, and over 183,000 students in spelling.

Dr. Harold H. Negley, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, said that more Indiana students performed above average than was nationally projected; and not as many Indiana students scored below average as was projected.

"The primary grades did particularly well as a group, with Indiana pupils clearly out-performing national expectations. At the high school level, however, test scores were more nearly in line with national projections," he added.

According to national projections, 23% of all Indiana test scores should rank above average; 23% of the scores should fall below average; and the remaining 54% of test scores should constitute average performance.

Negley attributed much of the success of the test scores to the strong emphasis placed on the "basics" at both the local school and state levels since 1975. This emphasis has included a continued program of teacher development in language skills, and support from the Division of Reading Effectiveness, which was established in 1973 and is the first of its kind in the nation.

Study statistics came from reports submitted by Indiana-accredited elementary and secondary schools which include all public schools and almost half of the private schools. Since a variety of standardized tests are used by these school corporations, this study included only those nationally-normed tests which were taken by at least 1,000 students statewide.

A complete report of this study is available from the DPI, Kathleen Lane, study coordinator, room No. 229 State House.

ACTIVITIES: The Other Half of Education-- Is It Worth the Price?

According to statistics, the average secondary school is spending less than 1% of its budget on interscholastic activities. Yet, more than half of the nation's high school students are involved in at least one extracurricular activity program.

Two separate studies covering 15 high schools from disadvantaged, middle class and the more affluent neighborhoods of Cleveland, Ohio and New York City bear out the holding power of activities. In Cleveland, only 1.2% of the dropouts were in activities programs, while in New York City, 1.3% of the dropouts were in activities programs.

Further, a study conducted by the American College Testing Service (ACT) compared the value of four factors in predicting success. Of the factors used--high grades in college, high grades in high school, high scores on the ACT test, achievement in extracurricular activities--the only factor which could be used to predict success in later life was achievement in "extracurricular" activities.

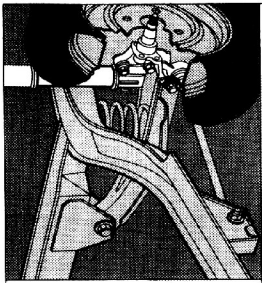

Agnew R. Ewing, M.D., commented, "...as everyone who has any intimate contact with youth or our schools knows full well, the maintenance of discipline is one of the prime problems our schools are having today. It was Horace Mann, one of history's greatest authorities on education, who said, in essence, 'He who tries to educate without inspiring the student is hammering on cold steel. The main virtues of sports require discipline, cooperation, teamwork, self-sacrifice, conditioning and obedience to rules. Consequently, the GOOD coach exerts a powerful, even inspirational, influence on those in his charge. The disciplines of sport oftentimes carry over into the classroom and ultimately into life.'"

Dick Stickle, Executive Director of the Idaho High School Activity Association, put it this way: "Activities are important for the total education of our youth. We cannot sit around any longer and tell each other what's wrong. We need to become evangelists to the people we call upon to support the programs. We need to become spokesmen--not apologists--for the Activity Program."

The Indiana grade 9 through 12 high school enrollment figures for 1978-79 totaled 344,981. Of this number 150,000 participated in interschool athletics.

Providing a well-rounded exposure to values, as well as to intellect, means educating the total person. Half an education is worthless--thus, is it worth the price for the "other half of education?"

Escort's new manual transmission with fourth gear, overdrive comes standard, and an all-new automatic transmission with patented split-torque design is also available. More about mileage. Use these figures for comparison. Your mileage may differ depending on speed, distance and weather. Actual highway mileage will probably be lower.

Outstanding fuel economy should be a natural result of a precisely engineered engine, not its sole reason for being. Escort has a new design compound valve hemispherical head (CVH) engine that focuses the incoming combustion charge for power efficiency. The result is a power plant that delivers high mileage combined with power for freeway driving.

World class technology makes Escort the new World Car. Top Ford engineers from around the world pooled their expertise to create the 1981 Escort. They tested, compared, evaluated and experimented--their goal: to design a revolutionary new automobile combining excellent fuel economy with outstanding performance and safety features. Four years and three billion dollars later that automobile is here. The 1981 Ford Escort.

Escort's front-wheel drive puts the winding road where it belongs... safely behind you. Today with more and more cars on the road, the need for precise handling and dependable traction has never been greater. Escort's surefooted front-wheel drive system meets this need completely, providing excellent road response under all types of weather conditions.

Escort's four-wheel independent suspension leaves the rough road to the rough riders. For those who think that all small cars have a "small car" ride, Escort provides refreshing enlightenment. Its smooth road gripping four-wheel, fully independent suspension handles the bumps and jabs with ease. Escort's independent suspension lets you enjoy the ride instead of worrying about the road.

High-strength steel gives Escort the brawn without the bulk. There's no sacrificing solid construction with Escort. By combining high-strength steel with other strong weight-efficient materials, Escort achieves high mileage while maintaining structural integrity. In addition, Escort has a safety-designed roof and front end, plus steel guard rails in side doors, an energy-absorbing steering column, split service hydraulic brake system, and more.

That's because "Lassie" stars in the zoo's "Animals In Action" show by performing dog obedience actions such as retrieving a dumbbell, leaping over a barrier and sitting in the heel position.

Historical Society offers trip to Fort Wayne

The Fulton County Historical Society is offering a trip to visit the reconstructed military frontier fort at Historic Fort Wayne and the new city hall museum. A bus has been chartered for Oct. 5, to leave the east side of the courthouse at Rochester at 7:30 a.m. The group will visit the fort in the morning, eat lunch at Hall's Gas House, and tour the city hall museum in the afternoon, returning to Rochester about 7 p.m.

Cost per person is $15 which includes bus and admission tickets, but does not include meals. Reservations are to be made by sending check to Fulton County Historical Society, 7th and Pontiac, Rochester, IN 46975.

Oct. 5 is the War of 1812 weekend at the fort and will feature military units from other states and Canada in battle re-enactments and displays of colorful uniforms and marching units with life and drum. The War of 1812 at Fort Wayne is significant for Fulton and Marshall counties because Chief Aubaenaubee was in the siege and built a wooden cannon to fire on the fort.

Historic Fort Wayne consists of 11 log buildings erected for the Bicentennial, including a museum in the Enlisted Men's Barracks which depicts the colorful history of the Fort Wayne and northern Indiana from the Ice Age to 1819.

The fort is operated by costumed personnel playing the roles of real persons who actually lived at the fort. Watching them perform daily chores such as baking, dipping candles, spinning wool, gives the visitor the feeling of actually being in the 1812 era.

The old city hall was recently converted into a museum by the Fort Wayne-Allen County Historical Society. This building has 10 times the space of the former museum and is already one of the major museums in Indiana. It does not officially open until the following week, so this tour will be a preview ahead of the general public.

We had two more outhouses this year. One was donated by Kate Jennens, Akron, and one from Thelma Kanouse, Richland Township.

For the first time we had Trader's Licenses, researched by Historic Fort Wayne and designed by James Zimmerman, Rochester. Trader's licenses were issued by the Indian Agency in Fort Wayne to give permission to traders to trade with the Potawatomi along the Tippecanoe River in "their towns."

This is an example of the work that went on behind the scenes to make the Trail of Courage as authentic and historically accurate as possible.

A job well done and a pat on the back to all involved! Let us know your ideas on how to improve for next year. The 1981 Trail of Courage will be Sept. 19-20, always the third weekend.

And let's get started now making pioneer costumes so we can all be dressed appropriately next year. Pioneer costume are neither hard to make nor expensive but lots of fun.

Enjoyable event

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

I would like to take this means to say I thought the reunion of the Akron High School 1930 class was a very enjoyable event. It was so good to see and fellowship others not seen for up to 50 years. Some of us had to guess on the identity of a few. It was good to hear of the number of children, grandchildren, present interests, etc. As you who knew them would guess Mr. Hubert Dickson, Mary Maby Carpenter, Dale Lichenwaller and Imogene Zartman Austin can still be the "life of the party." We recommend such reunions. Mention was made of another such reunion at the end of the next fifty years. Miss Zartman A. said to count on her. That is the spirit we can appreciate.

DAN TALBOT ON PUBLIC EDUCATION

"Pull them out" has been the poignant answer given by the Reverend Dan Talbot, in response to questioning of his views on public education. And "pull them out" he did as he discussed with pride the opening of his private Christian School near Plymouth, Indiana.

"The key problem we face in our society is a breakdown in morality," he stated, "Not only sexual morals but in honesty, respect, business ethics, and personal cleanliness. You can't teach morality without God as God is the basis of morality. And you can't teach the word of God in public schools because it's against the law."

The Reverend Talbot, fulltime minister of the Church of God in Plymouth, was nominated as a candidate for U.S. Senator by the Indiana American Party in the Fall of 1979. He started his school and his campaign with the goal of teaching Christian standards.

His candidacy for the Senate is a means to reach out with his message. The basic theme of his campaign is the family structure. "The family is the most basic governing unit," he states. "If it fails or is destroyed, so goes the freedom of our nation and our right to express our religious beliefs."

"Public education was originated as an extension of parental education," explained Talbot. "Today it is deteriorating rapidly, primarily because of federal bureaucratic interference. Parents have little input into the education process as big government monies bring big government guidelines that direct local curriculum."

"Pull 'em out now" is my position," he stressed. "If future generations are to maintain our liberties they must revert to basic moral standards. Private education can lawfully teach those standards."

His program is based on the Accelerated Christian Education (A.C.E.) approach, where students are able to progress according to their individual ability under controlled supervision. This program is in use nationwide and is a big part of the ever-increasing growth of private education. According to Reverend Talbot private schools are opening up at a rate of 1,000 per month.

"It takes effort and desire," he states, "but it is not as hard to do as you might think, especially with the type of support you get once you start."

What is the price of cheap food?

In these days of double-digit inflation it's difficult to think of anything as cheap.

Energy, housing, medical care, credit. We all know the list, and each day our economic discipline is put to the test. We're left wondering: How long can it continue? But let's keep in mind that cheap is not necessarily good. Consider food for a moment.

Rising food prices get a lot of attention. But how high are they compared to the other things we buy? Over the 12 month period ending May 31, 1980 food was the least inflationary major category in the Consumer Price Index - less than one-half the general rate of inflation. And compare the six percent for food to what happened with other necessities: medical care up 12%; home financing, taxes and insurance up 35%; and energy up 39%.

How high are food prices? Did you know that today we spend a smaller share of our disposable income on food than ever before?

Whether we like to admit it or not, this country has a cheap food policy and has had one for a long time. Occasionally it brings temporary relief at the check-out counters. But the long term costs are very high indeed, and the dangers of continuing this policy are great. For one thing, it threatens one of the real basic strengths of our economy: our ability to produce food and fiber better than any other nation in the world. Our nation's freedom is based on a strong and independent agricultural system. Today that system provides jobs for nearly one out of every five Americans employed in the private sector. It fights inflation with a productivity growth five times that of non-farm industry in the past five years. And it strengthens the dollar as the leading positive factor in our balance of trade. (Farm exports are projected to exceed $38 billion in 1980.)

Despite this record, our agricultural system is in trouble. Simply put: the prices the farmer has been receiving have not kept pace with the prices he has been paying. As a result, the purchasing power of income earned from farming is likely to fall to its lowest level since the Depression days of the 1930's. And the return the farmer is getting on his capital investment (4% or less) is only one-third of what manufacturing industries get.

This situation cannot continue. Not if the U.S. farmer is going to continue to out-perform his competitors worldwide.

It should be no secret that the farmer has to make a profit - and receive a fair return on his investment - to stay in business. Uniting behind the farmer is in the interest of every American because a successful U.S. farmer holds the key in many ways to a successful U.S. economy. In 1776 the nation's economic well-being and vitality depended on a healthy and productive agriculture. To a great degree, it still does!

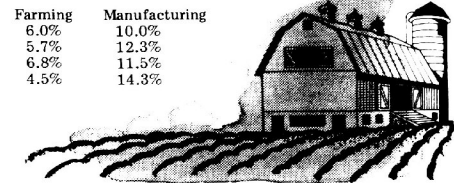

Net farm income prospects are down a staggering 25% for 1980. Boosting farm income back to $33 billion, the level earned in 1979, would increase the Consumer Price Index only about 0.6%. Such an increase would add:

*Less than 2 cents to the price of a 1 lb. loaf of bread
*Only a nickel to the price of a half-gallon of Grade A whole milk

*About 4 cents to the price of a 1 lb. package of sliced bacon

New long distance dialing for Atwood

General Telephone customers in the Atwood area will have a new long distance dialing service available on October 1. Called "Zero Plus Dialing" (Expanded Direct Distance Dialing), the new service allows customers to dial their own person-to-person, collect, bill-to-a-third number, and credit card calls.

According to Ed Knafel, district service manager for General Telephone, another service also will be initiated for one-party telephone service customers on Wednesday. These customers will be able to direct dial station-to-station long distance calls without operator intervention. "Automatic Number Identification" records the calling party's telephone number and other relevant information for billing purposes. All individuals with party-line service will still be required to identify their telephone number when placing long distance calls.

"Prior to Zero Plus Dialing, such calls as person-to-person, collect, bill-to-a-third number, and credit card calls were placed through an operator who manually establishes connections for these special billing calls, dials and times the call, and records billing details," said Knafel. As of Wednesday, these calls will be processed by a computer in a fraction of the time presently required.

Knafel said that all Atwood customers have received a letter and a brochure explaining in detail what the new services are and how they work. Customers with questions concerning the two new services are asked to call the Wabash Business Office by dialing "0" and asking for "Enterprise 4181."

Air Force multi-image story of aviation

The U.S. Air Force Orientation Group will present a fast paced multi-image story of aviation entitled "Pioneers of Flight" at Tippecanoe Valley High School Oct. 15. The program will be shown in a 45-seat mobile theater from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The 15-minute presentation highlights the progress of American aviation from the beginning of powered flight through today's space age and provides a preview of aerospace plans for tomorrow. The story is told by using exploits of key aviation pioneers, with their voices adding a special dimension to the program. Viewers will see and hear Jimmy Doolittle describe his record setting experiences and the 1942 Tokyo air raid. Jackie Cochran, the first woman pilot to fly faster than the speed of sound, tells of her commitment to flight and the place women have made for themselves in aviation. Astronaut Charles Duke describes his sensations when he walked on the moon. The show concludes with a brief reference to Air Force people and job opportunities in the Air Force.

Artwork, photographs and an original musical sound track provide visitors an aviation experience. Fifteen programmed slide projectors, five screens and a stereo sound system are used for the presentation.

Mr. George Welch, in cooperation with the Air Force, will sponsor the show.

Avoid these plants while walking in the woods

Hikers Beware

Poison Oak

Celandine

Manchineel

Lady-slipper

Nettle

If you're planning a walk through the woods to enjoy the autumn foliage, here's a reminder from National Wildlife magazine that the familiar three-leafed poison ivy isn't the only irritating plant to avoid.

The National Wildlife Federation's bimonthly publication warns hikers to keep their eyes open for these other plants that cause rashes and skin irritations.

Poison Oak. Similar in appearance and effect to poison ivy, this erect shrub of dry, sandy coastal woods has three leaflets which are distinctively lobed.

Poison Sumac. Still another relative, this large shrub or small tree bears drooping clusters of small ivory-colored fruits and shouldn't be confused with harmless red-fruited sumacs. The poison variety prefers a swampy environment.

Celandine. This plant's deep yellow flowers invite picking, but the bright orange juice that drips from the broken stems can cause an irritating skin inflammation.

Lady-slipper. One of the nation's most handsome native orchids, the regal showy lady-slipper inhabits northern bogs. Handling the plant can result in an affliction resembling poison ivy rash. Unfortunately, this unpleasant property has not kept it from being picked to near extinction in some areas.

Nettle. This plant makes bare-legged hiking an ordeal, for its entire stem and leaves bristle with spiny-tipped hollow hairs which contain a variety of histamines and other proteins. Brushing against a nettle causes these hairs to penetrate the skin where they break off and release the fluid. Immediately, the affected area stings and itches fiercely. The sensation lasts only a few minutes, and an application of juice from the jewelweed usually relieves the itching.

Manchineel. One of the most notorious U.S. plants is this small tree of southern Florida and the Keys. Its sap causes severe blistering after contact and the crab-apple-like fruit is extremely poisonous when eaten.

"Symptoms of external poisoning vary with a person's sensitivity and with the species of plant," explains National Wildlife. But by recognizing potentially hazardous plants, hikers can avoid unpleasant encounters.

Vikings vs. Whitko

Tippecanoe Valley shut out Whitko with a 21-14 Viking victory during their homecoming game played here Friday night.

Valley prevented the Whitko Wildcats from scoring any touchdowns until the second and third quarters.

The opening kick-off gave Valley 61 yards on five plays. Scott Bibler, Doug Dickerhoff, Keith Paige, David Leckrone and Marlin Meredith were instrumental in giving Valley a 21-0 lead. The Wildcats managed to score 6 points in the second quarter and 8 points in the third quarter, but the Vikings prevented them from taking the lead.

Scott Bibler carried the ball 35 times during the game and responded with 159 yards rushing.

Fullback Gilbert Martens, who injured his ankle in the game against Culver two weeks prior to this confrontation returned to action on a modified basis, playing as a blocking back more than a running back.

Marlin Meredith led Valley with 23 tackle points. Todd Peterson and Jerry Bickel each had 15 tackle points, making a tie for second place.

The Vikings are currently 4-2 and 2-1 in Three Rivers Conference games.

Friday, TVHS meets Culver Military Academy in a non-conference football game here.

Fire Prevention Week

Fire Prevention Week is October 5-11, and Scout Troops in the Sagamore Council, Boy Scouts of America, will emphasize the importance of fire prevention, fire protection and fire escape planning for every home.

"Statistics indicate that nearly 80 percent of all deaths from fire occur in the home," according to Julian Seltzer, Council President. "In addition, after falls, burns and fire-connected deaths are the major causes of home deaths in all age groups between 5 and 65." Cooking fires are the most common types of home fires, followed by smoking-related types of fires.

Seltzer pointed out that Scouts learn how to draw up a safety plan that can be used by individual boys and their families to examine potential fire hazards in the home and to prepare for the possibility of a fire.

As part of their regular training,

Scouts are able to answer questions relating to home fire safety. Among these questions are the following:

+Where is the location of the fire-alarm box nearest your home?

+Do you know how to turn in a fire alarm?

+What is the telephone number of your local fire department?

+Is there a plan of escape from your home in the event there is a fire, and is there a prearranged place to gather once you are outside?

+Do you hold regular fire drills in your home?

Cub Scouts in the Sagamore Council also will participate in fire safety at their den meetings by talking about the major causes of fires in the home.

Seltzer urged adults to follow the example set by the Scouts and practice planned escape procedures from fires that might break out.

Fithian's toll free number

Constituents of the 2nd District of Indiana who want to call Representative, Floyd Fithian, have a toll free number available for their use. The 800 line is useful for citizens needing help or information concerning legislation, problems with government or consumer problems. Copies of government publications may be obtained by calling the toll free line, or citizens might wish to express their ideas or point of view to the Congressmen's office. This is the only Congressional office in Indiana with a toll free line, according to Fithian's office. The number is 800-382-7517.

New telephone procedures for Bippus

General Telephone customers in Bippus will need to dial "1411" beginning October 4 at 5 a.m. to access Directory Assistance (information) services.

Also on Saturday morning, Bippus area customers of General Telephone will have a new long distance dialing service called "Zero Plus Dialing." The new service allows customers to dial their own person-to-person, collect, bill-to-a-third number, and credit card calls.

"Currently such calls are placed through an operator who manually establishes connection for special billing calls, dials and times the calls, and records billing details," said Ed Knafel, district service manager for General Telephone. With the new service these manual functions will be processed by a computer in a fraction of the time presently required.

The Zero Plus Dialing service, according to Knafel, provides customers with a faster and easier method of placing their special calls, while giving operators more time to provide personal assistance when required.

Any Bippus customers with questions concerning the change in the Directory Assistance access code or the new long distance dialing service are asked to call the Bippus Business Office at 982-8551 (residence customers) or 982-8591 (business customers).

Indiana Political Action Committee for Education endorses Bayh

U.S. Senator Birch Bayh

The Indiana Political Action Committee for Education (I-PACE) officially announced its endorsement of incumbent U. S. Senator Birch Bayh for re-election, October 4 at a news conference in Fort Wayne. "Based on his excellent voting record, his sponsorship of landmark legislation, and his success in lobbying additional support for crucial legislation, Birch Bayh has few equals in the entire Congress," stated I-PACE Chairperson Kathy Smith, classroom teacher from New Albany.

Senator Bayh's leadership on the Senate Appropriations Committee has achieved equal educational opportunity and academic excellence I-PACE said. He has fought for all the following teacher-supported legislation:

- Funding for the Right to Read Program to improve reading skills among our students.

- Dollars for local school districts to meet the educational needs of special education students.

- Funding for expensive but necessary vocational education programs so that students enter the work force with marketable skills.

- Compensatory education funding for school districts with high concentrations of disadvantaged students.

- Funding to provide equal educational opportunity for female students under Title IX.

- Preservation of impact aid funds which come back to local school districts without strings attached.

The United Teaching Profession encourages and assists educators in continuing their education and professional development. This is important in an area like special education where teachers of long experience have not had recent college training to meet the needs of special education children who are now in the traditional classroom setting. Birch Bayh led the

BURKET KIDS STUDY FIRE PREVENTION

Dick Shepherd, Burket volunteer fireman, brought the fire truck to show the kindergarten class. Each child saw the various equipment used during a fire. Many looked inside the fire truck and got to hold the hose. Mr. Shepherd talked about fire safety around home and at school.

Burket fifth graders participated in a fire prevention poster contest. Slogans included: "Please, for the sake of the trees; Split wires cause fires; Don't play with matches; Learn not to burn; Don't Smoke; Try to prevent a flaming event; Smoking is not cool, don't be a fool, and Prevent Forest fires. Donnie Fellows received 1st, Lisa Huffman, 2nd, Heather Cook 3rd, Doug Frey 4th, and Royetta Presley 5th. Posters were judged on neatness and creativity. The record, Fire Our Friend and Foe, and various handouts were also used during fire prevention week.

Akron Notice

Starting about October 8 or 9, 1980, the water tower will be drained so that the interior can be coated. This will take about 4 or 5 days. Our water supply will be coming directly from the pumps so there may be some fluctuation in the pressure during this period. We trust there will be no inconvenience caused by this maintenance procedure.

GTE to lay cables in Mentone

The Mentone Board of Trustees met Monday evening in the Town office. Board President Frank Hardesty presided over the meeting with Jim Miller, Wayne Tombaugh, Kate Whetstone and Lee Bazini. Also attending were Harry Sullivan and Marshal John Hart.

Hardesty asked the NEWS to remind Mentone residents that the town will no longer provide free trash removal service after Dec. 31.

General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc. has requested permission to place cables under the ground (1) on the southside of Harrison Street from Morgan St. to the alley between Broadway St. and Tucker St., (2) in the alley North of Harrison in the alley between Tucker and Franklin Street, and (3) along the west right-of-way of Walnut Street, south of Harrison Street to the southside of Jackson just west of the intersection.

General Telephone Co. promised in a letter addressed to the Board of Trustees that all rights-of-way will be restored to their original condition upon completion of the work. The Trustees agreed to permit GTE to lay the cables, but Kate Whetstone will write to GTE, reminding them that the town has received some complaints in the past about the phone company's failure to make proper restoration of all rights-of-way to their original condition after digging up the streets to lay cables.

A job is available because Albert Hiers has resigned his position as assistant in the Water and Street Department of Mentone. Hiers will resign as of October 10.

Curfew in Mentone

Marshal Hart reported that a curfew will be enforced in Mentone, beginning Saturday, October 11, and will continue through Oct. 31. All persons age 18 or under shall be off the streets of Mentone by 9:30 P.M. Trick or treat night will be October 31 between the hours of 6:30 P.M. and 9 P.M.

Curfew in Akron

During the month of October the following curfew hours will be enforced in the town of Akron. All persons age 18 or under shall be off the streets by 10:00 P.M. on Monday through Friday nights and by 11:00 P.M. on Saturday and Sunday nights. Any acts of Halloween vandalism shall result in the arrest and conviction of the perpetrator.

Trick or treat night will be designated as Friday night, October 31, 1980 between the hours of 7:00 P.M. and 9:00 P.M.

PHONE RATES HIGHER

Residential and business customers of General Telephone Company of Indiana will start seeing increased charges for their basic monthly telephone service and other specific charges with billing statements received on Oct. 7 and afterward. The increases are the result of a Public Service Commission of Indiana (PSCI)-approved rate increase totaling $12.9 million which involves all monthly local service rates, monthly charges for certain types of business telephone systems and services, reclassification of five exchanges, and 20-cent rates for coin-operated telephones.

According to Albert E. Beckwith, president of General Telephone, the new rates became effective Oct. 1 following approval by the PSCI. "Customers will see a fractional charge on their bills received on or after Oct. 7 for the increase accumulated between Oct. 1 and their billing date, plus the new monthly rate for the forthcoming billing period," said Beckwith.

He explained that recurring telephone charges are billed one billing period in advance.

The telephone exchanges of Valparaiso, Winchester, Bippus, Sidney and Woodburn have been reclassified to higher rate groups because they have grown beyond their allowable rate groupings. Rates for telephone service are determined for each exchange according to the number of telephones accessible within the local calling area.

The monthly rates for a number of business telephone systems and services also have increased. These include a majority of key systems, certain PBX systems, CENTREX access lines, a number of specific rates for certain special circuits and mileage charges for telephones located off-premise.

Monthly rates for business one-party, business key trunk, business PBX trunk, business joint user, and semi-public services have been increased by approximately 12 percent.

The charge for coin-operated telephones will increase from 10 cents to 20 cents and will become effective as coin telephones are converted to "coin-free emergency or operator dialing."

The monthly rate for basic residential telephone service has increased also. The representative rates listed below reflect minor modifications made to the rates announced last week.

According to Bob Ditslear, North Central Division manager for General Telephone in Elkhart, one- and two-party residential rates in Millwood, Bourbon, Tippecanoe, Mentone, Burket, Claypool, Akron and Atwood have increased from $7.80 and $6.70 to $8.73 and $7.50, respectively.

For Silver Lake, Wabash and North Manchester the rates for these two grades of service would increase from $8.35 and $7.00 to $9.34 and $7.85, respectively.

Bippus and Sidney customers will experience increases for one- and two-party residential service from $7.80 and $6.70 to $9.34 and $7.85, respectively, because of the increase in rates and reclassification.

Ditslear indicated that these rates are for the basic service area and do not include "zone charges."

Educators endorse Bayh

successful effort in the Appropriations Committee, on the Senate floor, and in the final deliberations of the Conference Committee to secure historic first-time funding of teacher centers. These centers are run by teachers to meet teacher-selected in-service educational needs. After lobbying passage of this landmark legislation, Bayh lobbied the bureaucracy to secure four teacher centers for Indiana educators. No other state in the entire nation received as many centers, with the single exception of California which also received four centers.

Birch Bayh has been a successful leader in the fight to funnel more of each appropriated dollar to its intended destination—the classroom. True to his campaign promise of 1974, Birch Bayh cosponsored and actively lobbied for passage of the Separate Department of Education bill which mandated the following provisions:

—An initial savings of $100 million by reduction of 500 federal administrators and elimination of duplicative programs.

—A ceiling of 113 super-grade positions to curtail future bureaucratic sprawl—fewer super-grade positions than any other department of comparable size.

—A statutory prohibition of prolific rule-writing and the requirement that any new rule must include a financial impact statement exposing the implementation costs for local school districts and listing all alternatives to the proposed new rule.

—Strict prohibition against federal mandates on matters traditionally left to local schools, including curriculum and textbook selection.

Perhaps nowhere is the choice more clear between Senator Bayh and his opponent than on this issue, I-PACE states.

In 1976, J. Danforth Quayle also promised local teacher interviewers his support for this legislation. He proceeded to make bureaucratic sprawl and administrative overhead a central theme in his Congressional campaign.

Fourth District teachers were understandably shocked, said I-PACE, when Mr. Quayle assumed a completely different posture in Washington, D.C. He joined forces with those leading the effort to defeat the Separate Department in the House of Representatives. He has publicly underscored his opposition to creation of a new bureaucracy. Yet during his fight to defeat the Department, he introduced amendments to increase the size of the Department of Education. (See Congressional Record, September 29, 1978, pages H 11259 and H 11260.)

On final passage, Mr. Quayle voted against the leaner and streamlined consolidation of federal education programs. However, the Department of Education passed both Houses.

Chairperson Smith noted that endorsements for federal candidates require concurrence from local, state and national teacher PACs. All three levels enthusiastically concurred on the Bayh endorsement.

Historical newspapers sought

DEAR EDITOR:

We will be taking the old newspapers from the Kewanna and Fulton libraries and from the county recorder's office to Indianapolis to be microfilmed soon. To make our files and therefore the microfilms as complete as possible, we ask that anyone with old newspapers (other than Sentinels and Akron papers which are all already microfilmed) contact the Fulton County Historical Society at 223-4436 or call me after 5 at 223-2352. Tell us the dates and names of old newspapers you have and we will check to see if they are among the missing. If they are among the missing newspapers, we will want to borrow them to be microfilmed. They will be returned afterward.

The microfilm has a life of 300 years, much longer than the old newspapers which are fast deteriorating. So to give perpetual life to an old newspaper, let us microfilm it.

Another advantage is that the state library will keep a copy of the microfilm and it will be available all over the U.S. through inter-library loan.

Fulton County's old newspapers will be microfilmed by the Indiana State Library, sponsored by the Indiana Historical Society with a grant from Lily Endowment, which pays half of the cost. Fulton County's half is being paid by many local clubs and individuals, whose donations total $2320. It is estimated that the microfilming will cost $5000, and Fulton County's half will be $2500.

We thank the following donors for making possible the microfilming of the old newspapers.

An Old Story

DEAR EDITOR:

I have heard of poor and sad congregations, but the saddest preacher I ever knew went from Posey County, Indiana, to Pike County, Missouri (where John Hay discovered little Breeches and Jim Bludsoe). He was starving to death on donations of catfish, possum, and a hundred-dollar salary. Finally he made up his mind to go away. With wet eyes, he stood up in the prayer meeting to bid good-bye to his weeping congregation.

"Brothers and sisters," he said, wiping his eyes on his red bandanna handkerchief, "I've called you together tonight to say farewell. The Lord has called me to another place. I don't think the Lord loves this people much; for none of you seem to die. He doesn't seem to want you. And you don't seem to love each other; for I've never married any of you. And I don't think you love me; for you don't pay me my salary - and your donations are mouldy fruits and wormy apples. By their fruits ye shall know them."

"And now, brothers and sisters, I am going to a better place. I've been appointed chaplain to the penitentiary at Joliet. Where I go ye cannot come; but I go to prepare a place for you."

EPA toll free number to report hazardous wastes

If you have any information on improper hazardous waste treatment, storage or disposal, call the Environmental Protection Agency's toll free number, 800-621-3191 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Chicago time (CST) Mondays through Fridays. CAUTION: Do not investigate hazardous waste yourself.

Since EPA launched the Seek and Find program last February, EPA has received 527 hotline reports on specific site complaints.

Of the 527 reports, about 235 were found on follow-up to be either sites that were already under investigation or false alarms.

At least 100 reported hazardous waste sites were previously unknown to EPA. These are being investigated.

A result of EPA and State staff investigations of "new" hazardous waste sites, many of the sites have been referred to EPA's Enforcement Division for possible legal action.

About 35 of the new sites are still under investigation.

Public Grants available

A limited amount of money is available from the Environmental Protection Agency for grants to non-profit organizations for the development of programs that would involve citizens in solving local or regional problems dealing with toxic substances.

Any organization interested in more information should contact Jane Kenneally, Office of Public Participation (5XPP), U.S. EPA Region V, 230 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, IL 60604; (312) 886-6587.

Results of Indiana Consumer Protection Division

Observing "National Consumer Education Week" (Oct. 5-11), Indiana Attorney General Theodore L. Sendak reviewed the accomplishments of his Consumer Protection Division, now in its 10th year. Since its creation by the General Assembly, the Division has returned to individuals nearly $2,500,000.

Almost 31,000 formal complaints have been investigated in the Division's 1st decade, according to figures compiled by Assistant Attorney General David A. Miller, director of the Consumer Protection Division. Records show $3.23 returned to consumers for every dollar budgeted to operate his office.

More than 1,000,000 pieces of consumer literature have been mailed or handed out...newspaper, radio and television interviews have exceeded 1,000...and the staff has made more than 250 speeches to schools, clubs and organizations in the past 10 years. Telephone inquiries have topped 250,000.

In addition to handling consumer visits and calls at Room 215 of the Indiana State House, in Indianapolis, Consumer Protection Division staffers visit every county in Indiana at least once a year, the larger counties more often, to help people with their consumer problems. The Division's red van has become a familiar sight at county fairs. And the Division operates a booth at the Indiana State Fair.

Complaint forms must be filled out to be formally filed, but inquiries may be made by telephone by dialing 232-6330 from the Indianapolis calling area, or by calling 1-800-382-5516, toll free, from elsewhere in Indiana.

Adult Basic Education team needs new members

by Eula Romayne Smith

The Tippecanoe Valley Adult Basic Education team needs new members. Adult Basic Education (ABE) is designed for the one person in five who started to high school but did not graduate, the one adult in five who never entered high school, and those who are learning English as a second language.

According to Richard K. Ralston, more than one hundred adults, ranging in age from late teens to senior citizens, participated in the program last year. Some people enroll in ABE to brush up in one area, such as Math, while others are preparing for the General Education Development (GED) test.

With the new curriculum people can also spend part of their time on some of the problems of daily life. A driver's test in one example. A few weeks ago Sue Pyle, Jo Ann Ralston, and a district advisor collected and organized materials to help a person prepare for the written driver's test.

Recently someone in the daytime class asked how to register to vote. The information obtained from county clerks' offices and newspapers by Eula Smith was of interest to most of the group and at least four registered. The next step was learning to vote on a Vote-a-matic by using a demonstrator from the Kosciusko County Clerk's office.

Although some of last year's group still attend, many have completed their work. Of course, a person cannot learn to read one week and receive a diploma the next, but many highly motivated adults progress rapidly because they can work at their own pace.

In the past many of the class came from Warsaw and other parts of the county, and they are still welcome. However, this year Jo Ann Ralston has been recruiting in the Tippecanoe Valley district, and she reports that 10-12 new students have enrolled already.

ABE is a continuing program, so a person can start anytime during the year. There is no charge for tuition or books.

The evening class meets on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7-9:30 at the Burket School. Merdena Bechtol is the teacher and Rick Phillips is the aide.

Day time classes are held at the Burket United Methodist Church on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 9 until 12 with Eula Smith teacher and Jo Ann Ralston aide.

Adult Classes to Begin

Indianapolis Gasohol Exposition

A report prepared by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) at the request of Senator Birch Bayh (D. - Ind.) says that as many as 300 large and small scale alcohol fuels plants may be constructed in Indiana by 1985.

The report, entitled "Fuel Alcohol Opportunities for Indiana," projects the construction of several hundred production facilities within five years representing a potential of 109 million gallons production of fuel-grade ethanol.

The report is the result of a study of the Hoosier State's potential for alcohol fuels production, and was prepared at the request of Sen. Bayh, who serves as chairman of the National Alcohol Fuels Commission.

In releasing the report, Bayh also announced that he will sponsor a Gasohol and Alcohol Fuels Exposition, to be held in Indianapolis on Oct. 17.

Bayh said the exposition will feature detailed "how to" sessions for potential ethanol producers, a competition among still manufacturers and workshop sessions on methanol produced from Indiana coal and wood resources.

The exposition will be held at the Indiana State Fairgrounds Agricultural and Horticultural Building.

The DOE report presents a very optimistic message to the people of Indiana," Bayh commented. "I have long been saying that our state can be a leader in the alcohol fuels industry, and this study confirms that. Indeed, Indiana is a leader in the movement to achieve energy independence for the United States, and I am proud of that."

Bayh explained that the study is divided into sections including facts on Indiana's resource base, potential for energy uses of industrial waste, a discussion of available and future technology, economic and policy development, and other related areas.

"The study clearly shows that Indiana has an ample resource base, industrial capabilities and an excellent transportation system," Bayh said. "These are all factors which will have an effect on how successful we are in developing our alcohol fuels resources."

Bayh pointed out that among the immediate economic benefits for the state from an expanding alcohol fuels industry is the potential for new jobs. He noted that, based on the study, the projection of 300 new alcohol fuels plants equals more than 1,100 new permanent jobs involving direct employment at the plants. He indicated that if these firms carry out their plans, 300 million gallons/year in additional production capacity in Indiana could be realized, representing 3,000 new jobs and 27,000 support jobs.

Bayh said copies of the study are available by contacting his office at 363 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Our Power

WHAT'S WATT

Electric power is measured in units called watts. One watt is such a small amount of power that the measurement generally used is the kilowatt - 1,000 watts.

Watts are what electricity is measured in.

We buy electricity in kilowatt-hours. The Edison Electric Institute, the association of America's investor-owned electric utility companies, points out that kilowatt-hours are determined by multiplying the number of kilowatts used by the number of hours they are in use.

Home Vision Safety

Almost a million Americans have been permanently affected by accidental eye damage. Most such vision-impairing accidents occur during everyday activities. Forty-five percent happen at home.

Safety precautions and proper eye protection can prevent 90 percent of such accidents. The National Society to Prevent Blindness offers these tips on common eye hazards and how to handle them:

1. Watch out for ammonia, lye and other harsh chemicals in household cleaners and garden sprays. Read package instructions. Direct spray nozzles away from people. Keep all cleaners out of children's reach.
2. Use safety eyewear. Goggles can be real eye-savers for everyone - for those who don't normally wear glasses as well as those who wear prescription glasses or contact lenses. These inexpensive eye protectors can fit over regular glasses and may be found in hardware stores.

Valley wins 21-7 victory

Tippecanoe Valley High School's varsity football team marched to a 21-7 victory in non-conference play over Culver Military Academy Friday night at TVHS.

The Vikings made improvements in their playing, being charged with only three penalties. The team previously averaged five penalties per game. The team lost one fumble and one of their passes was intercepted by CMA. Tailback Scott Bibler led in rushing, with 159 yards on 33 carries. Bibler would have ended up with 170 yards, but lost 11 yards during a punt snap play. Doug Dickerhoff rushed 57 yards on seven carries. TVHS totaled 243 yards in rushing, compared to CMA's 163 yards.

Tippecanoe took the lead in the first quarter, 7-0.

Tom Cornelius, fullback at CMA, made a TD in the second quarter, making a 7-7 tie. Marlin Meredith, for Valley, caught a touchdown pass with ten seconds showing on the clock and Keith Paige's kick gave the Vikings a 14-7 halftime edge.

A 55 yard drive during the third quarter gave the Vikings their third TD.

Brent Arvin led the Vikings in defense with his total of 21 tackle points. He made three solos, six assists, a fumble recovery and blocked a pass. Scott Bibler and Ray Davis made interceptions.

TVHS hosts Manchester in a conference game here Friday night. The game with Manchester and one with North Miami, will determine whether Valley ties for the Three Rivers Conference crown. Currently the Vikings stand 5-2.

USDA Veterinarians trace exotic bird disease

Shipments of birds exposed to exotic Newcastle disease, which originated at a Miami, Fla., wholesale establishment, have now been traced to 42 states, the District of Columbia, Canada, the Bahamas, the U.S. Virgin Islands and the Netherlands Antilles.

Shipments have been traced to all states except Idaho, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont and Wyoming.

Jerry Mason, U.S. Department of Agriculture veterinarian who is directing disease eradication efforts from headquarters at Hyattsville, Md., said nearly 7,000 birds were shipped from the wholesaler between Aug. 1 and Aug. 31, when he voluntarily suspended shipment of birds due to suspected disease. Some 1,500 more birds were shipped by two other infected dealers in the Miami area.

More than 13,600 infected and exposed birds have already been destroyed throughout the country to prevent further spread of the disease, Mason said. Their owners will receive about $620,000 to compensate them for their losses.

The disease has now also been diagnosed at pet dealer facilities in California, Missouri, Texas and Minnesota. Mason said birds sold by these dealers are being traced by personnel from five task forces set up to combat the disease.

"Anyone who bought a pet bird since Aug. 1 and sees any signs of illness in their bird should contact their veterinarian or animal health officials at the nearest state-federal exotic Newcastle disease task force," Mason said.

Locations and phone numbers are: Miami Springs, Fla. (305) 593-1814; Topeka, Kans. (913) 295-2704; Austin, Texas (512) 397-5551; Hyattsville, Md. (301) 436-8644; and Santa Ana, Calif. (714) 836-2974.

So far, Mason said, there has been no known exposure of infected pet birds to commercial poultry flocks.

"However, since no effective vaccine exists to protect poultry from exotic Newcastle disease, and because of its extreme contagiousness, we are taking every precaution to assure that there is no further spread," he said.

Exotic Newcastle disease is not a health hazard to those who eat poultry and eggs. However, persons handling infected birds may suffer minor eye inflammation or flu-like symptoms, which should be treated by a physician, Mason said.

October Events in Hoosierland

The sallying forth of Autumn's brilliant hues inevitably signals a cornucopia of merrymaking festivals in Hoosierland.

According to Lt. Gov. Bob Orr, director of the state commerce department which includes tourism, there are historic festivals, Indian festivals, craft festivals, pumpkin festivals, sorghum festivals—and, festivals for no particular reason.

To polish off this fall smorgasbord, there are pioneer fairs, literary celebrations, farm week-ends, Halloween fright nights and Oktoberfests galore, Orr notes.

During the Stoney Creek Farm Pumpkin Festival in Noblesville, October 1-31, you can ride to the pumpkin patch on horse-drawn wagons, pick out your own pumpkin and transform it into a magic jack-o'-lantern. The $1.00 per car admission charge also includes access to a bluegrass music show each Saturday and Sunday from noon - 2 P.M. Other activities include pony rides, a haunted barn, arts and crafts and an area where you are encouraged to pet the animals.

Craft demonstrations and delicious food prepared from a bountiful harvest herald the advent of autumn at Amish Acres. The reds, yellows and browns of autumn provide a perfect setting for a leisurely day at the farm. Step back in time and experience the pleasure of simple things, the aroma of apple butter in an iron pot over an outdoor fire, the art of candle dipping and the skill of quilting a coverlet. This is all a part of the Fall Craft Days at Amish Acres in Nappanee, each weekend in October.

Downtown New Albany overflows with a burst of festivities during their Harvest Homecoming celebration that includes a harvest ball, pumpkin contests, car rally, antique show, farmer's market and music festival. Festival "booth days" are held October 9-12 with an avenue of flags lining the entrance to specialty booths of needlework, homemade pastries and various arts and crafts. In addition, a tour bus will be available to tour New Albany's mansion row.

Franklin Street in Evansville comes alive for a week-long celebration of autumn. Nightly live entertainment, marching band competition, parades and a street carnival featuring rides and booths offer a wide variety of food, fun and games to make the West Side Nut Club Fall Festival, October 6-11 an exciting annual event.

Each day of the Foliage Festival in Martinsville is filled with things to do and see, including games, musical entertainment, bus tours, a flea market and art show. Mayor's breakfast, grand ball and several days of harvest markets around the Square. The highlight of the event is a giant parade through the streets of Martinsville. The event is held October 9 - 12.

"Appreciation of the old fashioned way" surfaces naturally in Parke County where there are more covered bridges than any other county in the United States. Annual Covered Bridge Festival activities, October 10 - 19, include guided bus tours to more than 30 covered bridges, a farmers' market, and melodramatic performances of yesteryear. In conjunction with the countywide festival, Billie Creek Village offers visitors active examples of turn-of-the-century life in Indiana. Here one can view life as it was, as villagers demonstrate weaving, chair caning, broom making, candle dipping and other early crafts.

During Farmfest, October 11 - 12 in Lowell, the Buckley Homestead, a turn-of-the-century working farm, will have exhibits of harvesting, blacksmithing, woodworking and farm cooking. This provides an opportunity for city folk to spend a beautiful Indian summer day "down on the farm."

During Autumn Indiana Week-end, October 11 - 12 at Conner Prairie Pioneer Settlement in Noblesville, the year is 1836 and it is time to prepare for the upcoming winter by drying the preserving foods and securing the buildings from the cold winter winds. Trained interpreters will recreate autumn activities and customs of more than 140 years ago.

Hay rides through the pumpkin patch, a pumpkin pie sale and competition in pumpkin carving, scarecrow making, fiddling and corn shucking are just a few of the activities scheduled at Indianapolis' Eagle Creek Crafts Center for Days in the Country, October 11 - 12.

In the dark deserted floor of an old abandoned building at the Evansville State Hospital, there is plenty of scary, but safe, fun for everyone. The Phantom Theatre, October 17 - 31, raises funds for the renovation of the Hospital's entertainment center.

"Goblins and ghosts and things that go bump in the night" are sights often seen from the Haunted Train as it travels through the Indianapolis Zoo during Fright Nights, October 18 - 30. Friendly costumed characters hand out treats to the children.

During Fort Vallonia Days, October 18 - 19, residents of Vallonia celebrate the days in 1811 when the town was the site of a fort in the Indiana Territory. While enjoying the parade, craft booths and flea markets, visitors may observe the construction of a replica of the old fort and preservation efforts of other historical sites in the community.

The Crawford County Arts and Crafts Association offers an Indian Summer welcome to visitors at their sixth annual Sorghum Festival between Leavenworth and Marengo on Highway 66 where regional artists and craftspeople display and sell their wares. In addition, potters, woodworkers, jewelers, painters, weavers, leatherworkers and other artisans join in the festivities. Sorghum made in the area will be sold, as well as delicious homebaked items made with sorghum. Tours will be available of the county's sorghum mills.

Wooden toys, decoupage items, macrame hangings and pottery will be among the arts and crafts on display and for sale at the J.E. Ober School Auditorium in Garrett during Kaleidoscope, October 19. Psi Tota Xi sponsors the event which brings artists to the community from Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. The sorority's outstanding cooks will offer homemade soups, pies and sandwiches in the Country Kitchen.

Visitors are invited to come in costume and "trick or treat" at various animal exhibits at the Fort Wayne Children's Zoo during Great Zoo Halloween, October 23 - 30. Beware when you ride the Erie Express Train, for it will take you past such sights as the Creature from the Black Lagoon, the Voodoo Village and the Haunted Shop. Of course, it's all in fun and takes place outdoors in a zoological environment where children and grown-ups alike can enjoy and learn about our animal friends.

From October 24 - 26, the Indiana Convention-Exposition Center is where cultural displays from around the world will carry out the theme, "Around the World in '80," during the International Festival '80. Visitors are invited to participate as native entertainers demonstrate their countries' music, songs and dances. Ethnic foods will please the palate and interesting imported and handmade bazaar items offer an opportunity to learn about the cultures of different lands.

Frankenstein, Dracula, the mummy, ghosts and goblins will be running amok in the Franke Park Woods, October 24 - 30, when the Fort Wayne Parks and Recreation Department sponsors their Haunted Forest.

Webster defines the word "callithumpian" as a noisy, boisterous celebration. However, in Decatur, callithumpian means Halloween. Since 1926 the city has hosted ghosts and goblins, floats and bands, antique cars and fun for all in the form of the Callithumpian Parade held annually on Halloween night. Among the other activities scheduled during the Callithumpian Week, October 24 - 31, are a children's fall festival, spook house, bazaar, fireworks and theatre presentations.

During Trapper's Rendezvous, October 24 - 25 in Fort Wayne, trappers, traders, voyagers and Indians join the inhabitants of the Old Fort to celebrate the last days of autumn as they were celebrated in the year 1816. Some of the activities include frontier games and firearms demonstrations.

Hoosier author Lew Wallace's world-renowned novel, Ben Hur, was published one hundred years ago on November 12, 1880. The Ben Hur Centennial Celebration, October 31 - November 12, honors Wallace and the continuing popularity of his novel. Wallace family memorabilia will be on display as well as the original manuscript of Ben Hur. Both the 1926 and 1959 film versions of the novel will be shown. Wallace historians and biographers will present papers during a two-day symposium at Wabash College in Crawfordsville.

For further information about these festivals or to obtain your free copy of the Indiana Fall-Winter Calendar of Events, please write the Tourism Development Division, Box FR, 440 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, IN

Milk to be supported at 80% of parity

Manufacturing milk will be supported at 80 percent of the Oct. 1 parity price, according to Ray Fitzgerald, executive vice president of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation.

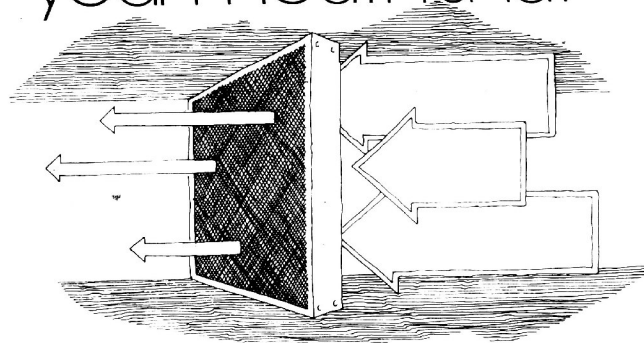

Fitzgerald said USDA economists expect the support price will be about $12.73 per hundredweight for milk with a milkfat content of 3.5 percent, compared with the present support of $12.07. The $12.73 support price is equivalent to $13.03 for milk with 3.67 percent milkfat, the U.S. annual average, compared with the present support of $12.36 at average test, he said.

Fitzgerald said the law requires the price of milk be supported between 80 and 90 percent of parity in order to assure an adequate supply of milk, to reflect changes in the cost of production, and to assure dairy farmers an income that will enable them to maintain sufficient productive capacity to meet anticipated future needs.

To enable manufacturing plants, on the average, to pay producers at least the support price for their milk, the government offers to buy butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk at announced prices. The government purchase prices will be announced at the same time as the milk support price, Fitzgerald said.

Dirty filters can choke a furnace.

A clean filter helps your furnace run efficiently. To make sure your furnace isn't gasping with a clogged filter, check it regularly this winter. If the filter looks dirty, replace it.

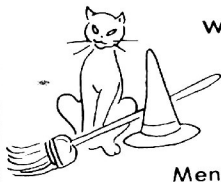

The cost of new filters is small compared with the benefits of cleaner heat. Clean air means less dusting, cleaner drapes and furnishings. And clean filters mean you'll be using less energy too.

Now's the best time to check your furnace filters. Before your furnace starts coughing inefficiently.

TOUGH QUESTIONS FOR ACKERSON & HILLIS

Nels Ackerson fields questions from Akron 6th graders.

by Richard Lynn

Students in Mrs. Jeri Holloway's sixth grade class at Akron Middle School are studying the American system of selecting public officials to be leaders at local, state and national levels. The students are researching the various candidates and learning to understand the function and responsibilities of the campaign coordinator, county chairman and precinct committeemen. Attention is being given to the three major political parties.

Last Friday afternoon, Nels Ackerson of Noblesville, Democrat candidate for Indiana 5th District congressman, visited the class. On Monday, Ackerson's opponent, Elwood Hillis, Kokomo Republican, who is running for re-election to his 6th two-year term as the 5th District representative, visited the students. Other county candidates, including Mrs. Joyce Good, are scheduled to speak. The Republican and Democratic parties of Fulton County have donated posters, bumper stickers and other information to hang on classroom walls to aid the students in their project called "Decision 80".

The class project will prepare the students to vote in their own voting booths, November 4. Judging from the range of questions the children put to Mr. Ackerson during his visit to the school, the sixth-graders may be better prepared to vote than many adults.

The kids asked some very heavy questions about major issues that cloud their future and the future of all humanity; questions about chemical warfare, the draft, drafting women, and the problem of nuclear waste.

Ackerson introduced an element of humor by reading from a student's T-shirt: "It's hard to be humble when you're a Viking."

"Do you have any commercials on television?" Ackerson said no, because he doesn't have the money to pay for prime time TV. He has been interviewed on television after attracting attention by conducting a "running" campaign in which he literally ran from house to house.

Ackerson is a lifelong Hoosier, born and raised on a family farm in Hamilton County. He became a Noblesville attorney and practiced law for nine years. He was state and national president of the Future Farmers of America, Purdue student body president, outstanding male graduate of 1967; and honors graduate of Harvard Law School. He served as U.S. Senate counsel for two and a half years and has specialized in constitutional law and the court system.

"What do you think about taxes?" "They're awful," said Ackerson, "for all the people who have to pay them." "What do you feel about teenage pregnancies?" Ackerson said he didn't think congress could do anything about it.

Monday morning, 5th District Congressman Elwood Hillis discussed national political issues with the Akron 6th grade students who questioned Nels Ackerson on Friday afternoon. Both of the candidates campaigned like gentlemen; each said nice things about the other, but each explained that he had a different political philosophy than his opponent. One of the students asked Mr. Hillis the following question: "What do you think of Ackerson? Do you think he has a chance of making it?" Hillis replied, "I hope not."

DuBois: on old Woodlawn Hospital Akron Town Board changes meeting date

Howard DuBois, Fulton County Republican Central Committee chairman, has told the News his response to a statement made by County Attorney, William Dennison, who is a Democrat, regarding the sale of the old Woodlawn Hospital site at 7th and Pontiac Streets in Rochester.

Dennison made a statement on Oct. 8 answering charges made by DuBois on Sept. 25 that the Fulton Board of County Commissioners omitted a clause in the deed requiring adequate maintenance of the property and that a lawsuit filed against the new owners by the Board was a political ploy. DuBois' latest statement follows: "I was quite surprised to learn that the county attorney decided, after due deliberation, to delete the clause from the deed for the old hospital site, and then made no mention of it to the commissioners before they signed and delivered it to the buyers. I am also surprised that he made no mention of that decision to The Sentinel on Sept. 3, when he discussed that clause at length in the newspaper. He also stated at that time that if the ownership of the property reverted to the County, 'there is a feeling among the commissioners that if that happens, the grounds will be turned over to the Fulton County Library Board, if they are interested in the site."

"The reason I stated that the lawsuit was political and a smoke screen, is because there is not a thing the commissioners or the county attorney can do to rectify a problem of their own making, a problem that is a health and safety hazard, and a blight on a neighborhood where property values are depreciating as long as the old hospital remains in its present condition.

"The cases that were cited in The Sentinel on Oct. 2 concern a private nuisance and have nothing whatever to do with a governmental agency bringing suit to abate a nuisance. The recitation by the county attorney that was printed in The Sentinel clearly defines what constitutes a nuisance, but it did not indicate who may take action against the perpetrators of the nuisance. I have been advised that the commissioners have no such right under the circumstances.

"The fact remains that the commissioners have lost effective control of the old hospital grounds and they have not made that part of the record clear, so that the people of Fulton County can truly understand what is really happening."

EMS to benefit from sausage sale

At a recent Board of Directors meeting of the 4-Way Ambulance Service, Inc. it was learned that the Mentone Lions Club have agreed to donate ALL proceeds from their November Sausage Sale. This money as well as a possible fund raising event put on by the E.M.T.'s as well as any donations from other individuals or groups will be used to purchase some new, more powerful radio dispatching equipment which is sorely needed by the E.M.T.'s. The projected cost of this equipment would be between $1,000 and $2,000.

In other board action it was decided to purchase a new multi-level cot as required by Medicare for it's patients. This new cot will cost approximately $350-$450.

With over $3,000.00 in outstanding accounts, much of which is tied up in Medicare/Medicaid, the board will be taking some definitive action on delinquent accounts not paid by the next meeting.

No action was taken at this time on the purchase of an electronic door opener.

There will be an E.M.T. course given in Mentone as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made. Dates to be announced later. It was reported that in Sept. 4-Way made 16 runs making a total of 127 for the year.

"Zero Plus Dialing" now available in Mentone

General Telephone customers in the Mentone area have a new long distance dialing service available since Oct. 18. Called "Zero Plus Dialing" (Expanded Direct Distance Dialing), the new service allows customers to dial their own person-to-person, collect, bill-to-a-third number, and credit card calls.

According to Ed Knafe, district service manager for General Telephone, "prior to Zero Plus Dialing, such calls as person-to-person, collect, bill-to-a-third number, and credit card calls were placed through an operator who manually establishes connections for these special billing calls, dials and times the call, and records billing details." Since Saturday, these calls will be processed by a computer in a fraction of the time required.

Also on Saturday, coin-operated telephones in the exchange which were provided on a post-pay basis will be changed to a pre-pay operation. Calls made from these coin telephones to the operator in emergency situations will be "coin-free."

In connection with the Zero Plus Dialing service, Knafe stated that all Mentone customers have received a letter and a brochure explaining in detail what the new service is and how it works. Customers with questions are asked to call the General Telephone business office listed in the front of their directory.

Report FCIC

Losses

Extremes in weather and growing conditions in Northern Indiana on crops now being harvested have put many insured farmers in a position to collect damages, according to Francis Hudkins, district director for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Hudkins indicates the Northern Indiana area is expected to receive a estimated $1,400,000 in indemnities for insured losses on corn, soybeans, and wheat.

"This condition," he says, "makes it imperative that all insured farmers report possible damage to their local FCIC office as soon as possible to permit accurate determination of claims."

Hudkins indicated early notice of possible loss to FCIC will assure prompt appraisal and claims payment.

Those insured producers who complete harvest and fall short of their production guarantees should maintain accurate records of production by insurance unit including storage, feeding, or any other disposition of the crop prior to inspection by the Corporation, he adds.

Other considerations that will speed payment of claims, Hudkins says, include keeping production separate from uninsured acreage and not commingling production from individual units. He advises any FCIC insureds who may have questions regarding their policy to contact their nearest FCIC office at Room 7, 513 Main Street, Rochester, or telephone 219-223-6516.

Notice

A report on the use of Revenue Sharing funds for the year 1979 is available for public inspection at any of the Trustee's office according to Clair Ellis, Henry Township Trustee.

by Richard Lynn

Bullies are a common breed and they have one thing in common - they always select a victim who is smaller than themselves. I'm small and thin. I've often noticed how little courage bullies have. They love to adopt a macho image and strut their stuff when there's no one around who is big enough to whip them.

A big bully was in my office last week, acting tough and making threats like a typical gangland hood trying to shakedown a merchant. When his efforts to intimidate me failed, he marched out.

For that's the way of bullies. The bigger they are, the bigger the yellow streak down their spine.

Viking

Freshman 8-0

Tippecanoe Valley's freshman football team moved within one game of an undefeated season as the Vikings blanked Caston 14-0 recently.

The Vikings, 8-0, scored in the first quarter on a 34-yard pass from Chad McConkey to Dan Boyer and tallied again in the second period on Lee Swihart's 16-yard run. Swihart added the two-point conversion.

Swihart was the game's top rusher with 116 yards on 16 carries and he netted 32 yards on two pass receptions. McConkey completed four of seven aeriels for 75 yards. Chris Griffis led the defense with 30 tackle points, followed by Steve Salmons and Greg Vanater.

New books available at Akron Library

New books received at the Akron Carnegie Public Library include the following:

HOW TO BUY AND ENJOY A SMALL FARM, YOUR COMPREHENSIVE GUIDE TO THE GOOD COUNTRY LIFE by George Laycock.

THE COURAGE OF CAROL by Robert and Arvella Schuller. On Sat. July 7, 1978 while Dr. and Mrs. Schuller were in Seoul, Korea, completing a three week ministry to chaplains and ministers in the Orient, word was received that their thirteen year old daughter Carol was gravely injured in a motorcycle accident in Iowa where she was vacationing with cousins. Her left leg had been amputated. They moved into troubled and untraveled paths of human grief which would see their family's possibility thinking faith tested as never before. They want the world to know that the right kind of faith turns tears into pearls of priceless spiritual value.

HOW MANY MOUNTAINS by Russell S. Schultze and Willetta J. Balla. This is a story of triumph - of how a person, wed to a wheelchair, can design and build a series of eleven cars and special equipment to make life a little easier; how he can face countless dangers; how he can love and find romance; and how he even worked as an undercover agent to break up narcotics sales.

BEYOND THE CLOUDS by Chip Ricks. This is Connie Engel's inspiring story. It tells how an attractive young woman plunged herself into the harsh rigors and testings of a male-dominated world, and not only triumphed but through it all maintained her identity, sense of purpose and femininity. You'll read here how Connie swapped a lucrative (and safe!) career in nursing for a pilot's life, a life fraught with risks and challenges.

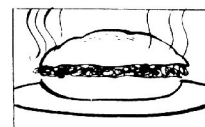

CALABRIAN SUMMER by Marjorie McEvoy. Lisa returned to her birthplace only because there were questions that needed to be answered, but the outbreak of the war put her life in danger. This is an interesting romance.

AT HOME WITH SOLAR ENERGY, A CONSUMER'S GUIDE by David Dvorkin.

Moyer Fund update

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Re: Richard Moyer Fund
Again, I want to take this opportunity to inform you of how the Richard Moyer Fund is progressing. To refresh your memory, Richard is the man who lost both his hands last year in a corn picker mishap.

I have been overwhelmed with your response of kindness and concern as checks are coming in almost daily. As of today, $8,288.23 have been given towards this effort. The total hospital bill is $12,322.39.

Again, individuals and many churches have just responded in a great way and we are so close to victory.

I would like to suggest that the churches set aside a Sunday for a special offering. For example, at the close of your worship service, place an offering plate somewhere in the back so, as people file out, they will have the opportunity to give towards this fund.

Thanks again for your continued support. Victory is close at hand!!

In Christ,
Lowell E. Burrus
Pastor, Olive Branch Church of God

DAR meeting at Teel's

The October dinner meeting of Anthony Nigo Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was at Teel's Restaurant, Mentone, with Tippecanoe River Chapter, Bourbon, as guests.

Mrs. Fred Koenig, Vice Regent, presided, conducting the opening ritual. Mrs. Frank Smith read the message from the President General of the National Society, in which she brought to mind that Saturday, October 11, 1890, was the organizational meeting of the DAR, held in Washington, D.C.

The resolution pertaining to maintaining the strength of the family unit was given by Mrs. Kenneth Riner.

Mrs. Koenig introduced Mrs. Joy Buckner, Northern District Director of Indiana DAR, who briefly related activities of the recent State Conference of DAR in Indianapolis.

The Regent of Tippecanoe River Chapter, Mrs. Dale Becknell, presented Sgt. Bob Usher of the United States Marine Corps. Sgt. Usher is at present the Recruiter for Kosciusko, Marshall, Fulton and Starke Counties, encompassing ten High Schools. He emphasized in his message that the Marine Corps remains very strict in their selection of recruits for their branch of service to our country. The basic training in the Marines is longer and also more intense than any of the other branches of service. Sgt. Usher said that, in his opinion, what the Marines needed most for preparedness, was added technical equipment. Jacqueline Castro, who recently graduated from the basic training program, was introduced by Sgt. Usher. Miss Castro told the group that one reason that she joined the Marines was because they have separate basic training programs for men and women. She said that she wanted to compete on her own level and the Marines made that wish possible. A most informative question and answer period followed.

Mrs. Charles Tucker set a deadline of October 28, for the collection of used clothing to be sent to the Tamassee DAR School at Tamassee, South Carolina. She emphasized that shoes for students from 5 to 18 years are needed. She also reminded members to bring Christmas gifts for the students at Kate Duncan Smith DAR School, Grant, Ala., to the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Bud Paulus, Rochester.

$100 REWARD OFFERED TO STOP THE AKRON ARSONIST

MENTONE DEPUTY TO GRADUATE FROM POLICE ACADEMY

Deputy Marshal Russell D. Hart of the Mentone Police Department and Deputy Sheriff Jon D. Fultz of the Fulton County Police Department will be graduating from the Indiana Law Enforcement Academy at 1:00 p.m. this Friday, October 31, 1980.

Former U.S. District Attorney John E. Hirschman will be the principal speaker. Colonel Arthur R. Raney, Jr., the Academy's Executive Director, and Deputy Ronald

L. Hudnut of the Steuben County Sheriff's Department, class president, will also address the graduating officers, their families and guests.

Ninety-nine officers will be participating in the ceremony—a culmination of 400 hours of training during ten weeks in residence at the Academy.

Indiana requires all non-elected law enforcement officers within the state to successfully complete basic training within their first year of service. Failure to do so results in the officer losing the power of arrest.

All who graduate Friday will have met the minimum standards of education, physical, mental and moral fitness established by the Law Enforcement Training Board and will be certified as law enforcement officers.

A $100.00 reward will be paid for the first information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who set fire to the concession stand at the new Akron softball field, October 22. The reward money has been posted by a prominent Akron businessman. Anyone having information about the arsonist should contact Larry Howard, president of the Akron Volunteers (893-4306) or David Bussard, vice-president and treasurer (893-4791).

The Akron Fire Department was called to the scene and extinguished the blaze after Henry Hartman discovered the fire at 5:30 a.m., last Wednesday.

According to an investigator from the Indiana State Police, the fire was started by an arsonist.

Akron Town Board Meeting

CITIZENS SIGN PETITION

Dean Baker, 408 East Rochester Street, Akron, presented a petition from 39 Rochester Street residents to the Akron Board of Trustees at their meeting Thursday evening in the Town office. The petition requests the trustees to establish a regular program of preventive maintenance for the town sewer system.

Board President Ron Fenimore said, "We know there is a problem with the sewer. Jim Smelser will be here from Rochester on next Monday (Oct. 27) to fix the sewer."

Fenimore explained that the city of Rochester has a machine for the job which small towns can't afford to own, because the price of the machine is $75,000 to $85,000. Rochester has to pay for their machine, so they do work for small towns who need the service.

The trustees, Ron Fenimore, Ernest Smith, Vernon Waymire and Dr. Charles Miller, voted to adopt Ordinance number 80-10.

The town's attorney, Jess Brown was present at the meeting to answer questions about the procedures to be followed in obtaining permission from the Indiana Public Service Commission about the procedures to be followed in petitioning the Indiana Public Service Commission for permission to increase Akron's utility rates. Adopting the new Ordinance was the first step in the procedure. Next the town will petition the Public Service Commission, and if permission is granted, utility rates will be increased.

Vandalism

A stop sign is missing -- and two young people die. A new home's windows are broken -- and the young owners spend days cleaning and repairing the damage. A car left in the driveway unattended is smeared with eggs and grease.

Vandalism, some serious, some not so serious is on the rise. As Halloween (the major season for vandalism) approaches, adults wonder, "Why do kids do it?" And with the next breath many of the same adults ask, "And why do they steal and get involved with alcohol and drugs?"

Judith Myers-Walls, Extension human development specialist at Purdue University, surveyed 170 Indiana young people to find out what they thought about vandalism, crime, and drug and alcohol abuse among youth.

Their answers were quite revealing. The majority of the young people participating in the survey felt that juveniles got involved in vandalism and crime -- especially stealing -- because they wanted ATTENTION. The other two categories which were popular responses were STATUS or PEER PRESSURE and PROBLEMS AT HOME.

Another answer category of note which dealt specifically with stealing was financial need. Ten percent of the respondents felt kids stole things because they needed them.

Similar answers were given to a question asking why young people got involved with alcohol or drugs. The reason given by almost one-third of the respondents was status or peer pressure. Three other common answers were: 1) because of boredom, for fun, or for kicks; 2) to escape from or drown problems; and 3) to get attention.

The young people were also asked what could be done to combat these problems. In dealing with juvenile vandalism and crime, the most popular suggestions were to give the offenders attention, trust, understanding, and "help in looking for a job."

Another popular answer was to provide them with more acceptable activities. One other suggested solution was to change the offenders'

Three previous area fires appear to be the work of an arsonist. A bridge near Disko burned sometime ago; an easychair left outside to air in the alley behind Cooksey's Furniture and Carpet store burst into flames several weeks ago; and an implement trailer burned in the town parking lot behind Akron Implement Company's building.

Local authorities have a bench warrant for one of the persons who is alleged to have started the fire on the implement trailer, but the suspect has fled to Kentucky. A school boy has confessed that he and another boy set the trailer fire, and other fires.

The Akron Volunteers' clubhouse has been burglarized three times. Larry Howard said the Volunteers have no insurance to cover the loss of the clubhouse which served as both a concession stand and scorekeeper's office.

Howard said, "We had some new fence in the building. It was ruined. The fire will have cost us $2000.00 by the time we build a new clubhouse. The town doesn't have money to help us rebuild. We don't have to have a concession stand at the ballpark, but we must have a place for the scorekeepers to sit during the games. We'll have to rebuild."

Howard notified the NEWS that a local businessman has offered the reward for information leading to the capture and conviction of the arsonist.

"We need to stop them," Howard said, "before they burn down someone's house with someone inside, or a business here in town. If the town would catch fire, the whole town could burn down in an hour! Hopefully, if it was a kid who burned the clubhouse, he may have told another kid, and we can find out and get it stopped."

The U.S. has about 1,250,000 newspaper carriers, according to the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

Burket Fourth Graders Study Indians of Indiana

Indiana History
by Janet Lynch
Kris Pery
Angie Seeley

The Burket fourth grade class has been working very hard on a unit called Indians of Indiana. They have studied about the customs of the Indians, where they lived in Indiana, important battles the Indians fought and many other interesting things. Some famous Indian chiefs were Little Turtle and Chief Godfrey.

They read story cards and answered questions from them. There was a booklet used to record the questions and it also had puzzles, facts and fun things to do. There were also lots of projects to do about the Indians and they had a lot of fun.

The boys made spears, bows and arrows, tomahawks and head bands. They also made a teepee that everyone has lots of fun using.

The girls made Indian paper dolls, pottery, necklaces and other jewelry. A couple of the girls made Indian wampum belts and necklaces out of buckeyes. They used buckeyes, got nails, hammers, needles and yarn. They hammered the nails through the buckeyes and strung them on yarn. It was fun!

Several Burket School fourth graders pose beside a miniature Indian scene, showing Indian paper dolls made by the girls and headbands made by the boys. The craft work was part of a project called Indians of Indiana. NEWS PHOTO BY RICHARD LYNN.

VANDALISM

attitudes. One of these answers was "help them see that life is more than what you can buy" and another was "not make it so cool." Four methods for reducing alcohol and drug abuse among young people were popular among the answers. The first was to provide intervention programs, rehabilitation clinic, or counseling.

A second was to improve parent-child relationships, perhaps through better communication or deceased child abuse. A third solution was to increase the amount of education about drug and alcohol abuse.

The fourth solution, similar to one suggested for the juvenile delinquency problem, was to provide more activities for youth.

Some unique answers were, "if it could be made to seem less desirable," and "Make alcohol taste worse." One poignant answer was: "If it wasn't so lonely being young."

Myers-Walls draws three recommendations for communities, adults in general, and even young people themselves from the responses.

Teach general communication and problem-solving skills in the schools, churches, community centers, youth groups, or other appropriate places. "The young responding to this survey believe breakdowns in communication contribute to delinquency and drug abuse among young people. They also believe such problems are sources of difficulty in families, in schools, and in international politics. Teaching these skills could help to attack a number of problems in a preventive way," says Myers-Walls.

Increase support for family and individual counseling programs because counseling was seen as one way to deal with a number of youth and family problems.

"Communities can provide two kinds of support for these programs," says Myers-Walls.

Financial support would allow all families to take advantage of the services, while "ideological support" would involve convincing the public that counseling is not only for "crazy people" but is also effective in enriching strengths or preventing problems for basically healthy individuals or families.

Be sensitive to young people's needs for attention, understanding, and acceptance by peers.

"Parents can help by recognizing their children's positive accomplishments and by allowing them independence as they mature," says Myers-Walls. "Young people can help by supporting their friends' accomplishments. If they decide that creating is more fun than destroying or that driving home safely is 'cooler' than getting drunk, peer pressure could become a positive influence."

REAGAN WINS SCHOOL VOTE

by Richard Lynn

Sixth grade students acted as sheriffs, clerks, inspectors and judges in a mock election held at Akron Middle School, Tuesday.

Grades six, seven and eight voted for their choice of presidential hopefuls. Sixth graders also voted for their choice of men running for the offices of senator and governor.

REAGAN

In the presidential race, the votes were 5 for Ed Clark, 12 for John Anderson, 50 for Jimmy Carter, and 104 for Ronald Reagan.

For Indiana Governor, there were 32 votes for Bob Orr and 25 votes for John Hillenbrand.

Dan Quayle defeated Birch Bayh, 34-26, giving the Republicans a total victory in the Akron Middle School's mock election.

CARTER

SONOCO NAMES TWO VICE-PRESIDENTS

H. L. Gandy and J. C. Rhodes have recently been named vice president - operations in the general products division of Sonoco Products Company, according to J. G. McGee, Jr., vice president - general products division. The promotions are effective November 1, 1980.

TVHS STUDENTS FAVOR REAGAN

Tippecanoe Valley High School students favor Ronald Reagan as president. Several classes recently participated in a presidential straw poll conducted by DEADLINE DATA ON WORLD AFFAIRS, a well-known weekly news service. Overall results of the poll, conducted among DDWA school subscribers in the United States (with over 30,000 students participating) indicated that Republican nominee Ronald Reagan, with 41.7% of the total vote, was the preferred presidential choice. President Jimmy Carter received 30.4% of the total vote and independent candidate John B. Anderson 27.2%. Students in the following classes participated: Mr. Robert Igney, Grade 12, and Mr. James Yunker, Grade 12.

PRESIDENTIAL LEADERSHIP

by David Tucker

Dr. Tucker is an instructor at the University of Chicago and is writing a book on Thomas Jefferson.

© Public Research, Syndicated, 1980.

We have heard a great deal so far in this presidential campaign about leadership, but very little about what it is. Some seem to equate it with youth and vigor, others with new ideas, and still others with getting things done. Without telling us what it is, President Carter's opponents accuse him of lacking it and assure us that they will not. Mr. Carter and his various spokesmen do not tell us what it is either, but insist that he has supplied it and that his opponents will not. Before the 1980 campaign comes to a close we might do well to pause and consider what Presidential leadership is.

The demand that the President be a leader combines two different views of what the President ought to do. The first view is that he should be an executive, and carry out the wishes of the people. The second is that he ought to lead, to find solutions to the nation's problems, to point the direction in which the nation should go. The description of the office of the President in the Constitution contains both of these views, but emphasizes the first.

PRAISE FOR VIKINGS

Charles Smith
Head Football Coach
Tippecanoe Valley High School
Mentone, IN 46539

Dear Coach Smith, Assistant Coaches, Eaton, Parker and See and Members of the 1980 Viking Football Team:

Congratulations to the coaches and players of the 1980 Tippecanoe Valley Viking Football squad for their excellent 8 - 2 record and the TRC Conference Co-championship.

The character and pride which this team displayed during the season has shown the dedication of the coaching staff and players to continue the successful football program that has been established in the previous years. I am proud, as I am sure the members of our communities are, of the representation that this team has presented.

I congratulate you on retaining, for a 4th time, the TRC championship. I hope that next year's Vikings can continue to uphold the pride, spirit and unselfish attitude that the previous Viking teams have displayed.

I would like to wish each of you the very best of success in your continued endeavors. I am extremely proud of the program that has been established for the youth of this community.

Sincerely,

TIPPECANOE VALLEY SCHOOL CORPORATION
