Trust Corp. buys local Rochester bank

Patrons of the former Liberty State Bank were met at the doors by Indiana State troopers and federal authorities.

The troopers turned away customers telling them the bank would not be open at all on Monday and hoped to re-open under the new ownership on Tuesday.

Customers were assured that deposits are insured. A Kosciusko Superior Court document, stating that the bank was closed until further notice, was posted on the door of the bank.

Before the federal authorities assumed control of the institution on Monday morning, owners of the bank tried to stop the closing. They filed a petition in Fulton Circuit Court Monday morning asking Judge Douglas Morton for an order restraining the Indiana Department of Financial Institutions from taking possession of the bank.

Morton denied the petition.

According to J. Philip Goddard, attorney for the Indiana Department of Financial Institutions, the state had been trying to work with the owners of the bank for quite some time to work the difficult areas in the financial status of the bank but to no avail.

The attorney stated that the state moves to take over a bank on one of two grounds. One is unsafe and unsound condition of the bank. The other is imminent danger of closing.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,

On behalf of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, I wish to express my appreciation for your contribution during Telethon '88. You helped make our task easier and truly more pleasant.

With your continued support, one day soon we'll find the answers for which we diligently seek and muscle disease will become a dim memory in the distant past. Thanks for caring!

Something's Fishy

This column is for the fisherman and his wife. A true fisherman is a person who fishes for the sport of it, not for the catch. A person who might sit in a boat most of the morning just for relaxation. I know the real reason they relax while catching the fish, they have to save their energy for the cleaning and filleting of the fish!

First, the fish are kept alive in a fish basket beside the boat, so most of the fish are alive. The fish must be scaled first using a spoon or a scaler, a utensil the size of a spoon with an oblong head and jagged teeth made for gripping the scales. Next, the removal of the head. This isn't so bad when the fish is frozen, such as after ice fishing. However, during the summer, the fish lays on the board with one eyeball watching as the knife descends for its final cut as the fish knows it. I still have to psyche myself up to stare the fish down during this part! Next, the filleting knife. This is the most awkward piece of paraphernalia yet! The handle fits your hand quite nicely but the blade seems a foot long. Sharp, too! This is, of course, necessary and it works like a dream...once you get the hang of it.

Here we go, a step by step instruction of cleaning and filleting.

Here come the fish. They arrive at the cleaning table or board. They jump in the bucket, I jump at the table! Not to be intimidated, I take my boxer's stance, the scaler gleaming in the sun. A firm grip is needed on the slimy rascal as you run the scaler up and down his sides to remove the scales. He flips in protest! (Well, how would you like it if someone was running a spoon along your sides?) Next, the head removal. For this, I change my stance to two firmly set feet on the ground with jaws clenched. The fish is laying helplessly on the board in his own scales staring at the knife. I, at once, grab the fish's head pushing hard so I can make one swift cut and cause less pain to the fish. (I have in the past put my finger in the fish's eye. (Gross, very gross!) After a loud crunch, I throw the head to the side and notice his gills waving as if saying "Bye". I turn my back and continue on. Next step, using the 6" filleting knife to remove the bones and leave the meat. Take note of the blood from the fish and hope you don't add any of your own. (This is easy to do with a razor sharp filleting knife.) Someone nearby will show a piece of perfectly filleted fish. Relax, you can do the same. Nothing to it! After maneuvering the fish several times, the knife that seems too long to control goes its own way. Your elbows jab the next person but you at last show your piece of fillet proudly. You hold it in the air and it waves like a thin, holey, fringed flag sadly showing the wear and tear of the procedure. You quickly convince the others, as they stare at the fillet, that you purposely arranged for this piece to be shredded because, "it's easier to chew". So you begin on the next fish.

Eventually, the procedure becomes a quick, smooth and skilled operation leaving only uniform pieces of fish ready for the skillet. As awkward as this seems in the beginning, it makes for more enjoyable fish if you once master the art. Don't forget the boxer's stance, it's important, too.

Remember...this is what they call "Good, clean fun!"

Kosciusko 4-H Council explained and defined

The Kosciusko County 4-H Council is the organization that serves as a directory group for the guidance of affairs of the Kosciusko County 4-H program. The 4-H Council established policy for the 4-H program and controls the allocation of money for many 4-H activities. The 4-H Council is an important group of individuals in administering and improving the 4-H program.

The official body of the 4-H Council consist of one person representing each organized club, each organized project or activity committee, the 4-H Leaders Association and the 4-H Junior Leaders. Although anyone is welcome to attend 4-H Council meetings to express their concerns, the representatives of the county 4-H clubs and committees, 4-H Council members, are the only individuals who have voting privileges.

Volunteer 4-H leaders are being asked to inform the Extension Office of the name, address and phone number of their 4-H Council representative. This assistance will allow the Extension Office to update their 4-H Council member list so that all 4-H Council members can be kept well informed of council activities.

Dear
Betty
Crocker

Q. What can I do to make cornmeal coating stick to fried or broiled fish fillets?

A. Pat fish dry. Dip fish in a mixture of beaten egg and a tablespoon of milk or water. Then, roll fish in cornmeal, bread crumbs or cracker crumbs.

Q. Why does pancake or waffle batter turn blue/green when stored in the refrigerator?

A. Leavening (baking soda) or baking powder reacts with the bran in flour causing discoloration. The Betty Crocker Kitchens do not recommend storing batters.

Q. What's the secret for evenly distributing raisins in breads?

A. For breads add raisins with the second addition of flour, allowing 1 cup per 2-loaf batch. For batter recipes, finely chop raisins. Batter isn't strong enough to support whole raisins.

Q. Why won't yeast dissolve well in whole milk?

A. Fat in whole milk tends to coat yeast and prevent it from softening. For best results, use water or skim milk for dissolving yeast.

Q. Where does saffron come from and how can I use it?

A. Saffron comes from the orange stamen of crocus flower. Use a tiny amount of its threads of powder (flavor is strong) for poultry, rice, rolls, sauces, seafood and Spanish dishes.

Q. What will help sesame seeds stick to homemade Italian bread?

A. Just before baking loaves, brush them with a mixture of beaten egg white or a beaten egg yolk mixed with 2 tablespoons water. Sprinkle with sesame seeds and press seeds in lightly.

Q. Does white chocolate contain caffeine?

A. A small amount. White chocolate is usually made from cocoa butter (which contains traces of caffeine), sugar, milk and other flavorings.

Do you have a question? Write Dear Betty Crocker, Box 1113, Dept. Betty, Minneapolis, MN 55440.

Being a Volunteer

by Karen S. Lowry, Extension Agent

One of the most rewarding things you can do for tomorrow's leaders is to serve as a 4-H adult volunteer today. Volunteers not only give leadership to 4-H experiences for youth, they keep the program relevant to local community needs and interest. Many volunteers help 4-H groups conduct educational programs throughout the year while others serve as camp counselors, trip chaperones, judges, committee members and in numerous other ways.

Volunteers do not have to be experts in specialized subject matter areas. They can rely on the Cooperative Extension Service at Purdue University and the U.S. Department of Agriculture to provide them with training, educational materials and resources to use in the 4-H program. The land-grant system makes 4-H uniquely qualified to meet both the constant and every-changing needs of young and older people alike.

The 4-H volunteer corps is 600,000 strong nationwide. Volunteers are the backbone of a basic and cost effective system which delivers practical educational experiences to some 4.3 million 4-H members in the United States. The time, travel and support volunteers contribute is valued at $1 billion annually.

The 4-H program provides many opportunities for growth and stimulation for adults and helps them attain enjoyment and self-fulfillment. In Kosciusko County volunteers are always needed to serve as leaders. Organizational and tractor program leaders are presently needed.

Radon gas test kit available

The American Lung Association of Indiana/West Central Region has announced the availability of a low cost radon gas testing device for those who wish to assess the radon gas level in their home.

The Lung Association, in cooperation with Glenwood Laboratories, Glenwood, Illinois, is offering an alpha-track detector to residents of West Central Indiana at a discounted price of $24.95 for a kit containing one alpha-track detector. The regular price is $34.95 for the single detector.

In announcing the program, Christopher Kelley, Regional Director of the American Lung Association of Indiana/West Central Region said, "Radioactive radon gas occurs naturally in the ground and seeps into homes through cracks in foundation or basement walls and through other openings.

"The U.S. Environmental Protection believes that exposure to high levels of radon gas occurs naturally in the ground and seeps into homes through cracks in foundation or basement walls and through other openings.

"The U.S. Environmental Protection believes that exposure to high levels of radon gas over a long period of time is associated with an increased risk of lung cancer. The EPA estimates 5,000 to 15,000 annual lung cancer deaths result from exposure to excessive levels of radon gas."

After the homeowner has had the detector in place in the home for a period of two weeks to three months, it is then sent back to Glenwood Laboratories in a postage-paid container provided in the Kit. Glenwood will then analyze the detector, determine the level of radon gas present, and send a confidential report back to the homeowner.

If radon levels in excess of EPA guidelines for safety are found, Glenwood will also include the EPA booklet "RADON REDUCTION METHODS" with the report. In most cases, inexpensive remedial action can be taken.

The two-week to three-month monitoring period was selected because the level of radon gas in a home can vary substantially from day to day. Therefore, the longer period is necessary to insure that a false low or high reading is not obtained from a sampling. The longer the detector is in place, the more accurate the reading.

The radon testing identification kit contains the alpha-track monitor/monitor seals, identification control cards, monitor hanger strips, return container and an easy-to-read instruction booklet.

"Since radon poses a potentially significant health risk," said Kelley, "we wanted to provide this service to the residents of our area. Preliminary tests have shown that as many as 26 percent of homes in Indiana may have levels of radon gas above acceptable guidelines established by the EPA. Therefore, we wanted to offer a testing service the average homeowner could afford."

Requests for the kit are now being accepted by phone at 317/742-1659 or mail to the American Lung Association of Indiana/West Central Region, 300 Main Street, Room #412, Lafayette, Indiana, 47901. A check for $24.95 payable to the American Lung Association of Indiana, should be included with each request. Be sure to include your name, address and phone number with each order. Please allow 4 weeks for delivery.

Valley Vikings fall to Rochester

Some were calling it the game of the year, others referred to Friday's football game as just another game on the schedule. Whatever you called it, Friday's Homecoming game with Rochester was a disappointment for the Valley Viking fans. Rochester defeated the Vikings 21-13 to take away the chance of a TRC championship for the Vikings. There is a slim chance Valley could tie for the title, depending on the outcome of the next two games that both Valley and Rochester play. The teams will alternate playing Whitko and North Miami over the next two Fridays.

Rochester's strong defense stopped the Vikings from making important plays at the 4- and 9-yard lines in the final 6:47 of the game.

Valley found it hard to run the ball throughout the game. The Vikings also were not able to control

Rochester's all-state candidate Steve Ruckman who caught four passes for 142 yards and led Rochester by running for 48 yards on 11 carries.

Dale Cave entered the game as the area's leading rusher with 803 yards. He gained 71 yards in the first half, but was held to 14 after halftime.

Both teams played hard hoping to obtain the win but when the final seconds went off the clock it was the Zebra who could ring the bell.

Akron Spikers open season

The Akron Flyers opened their volleyball season against South Whitley. The 7th grade team fell to the opponent 1-15, 15-10, 2-15. The 8th grade team held strong but couldn't start to win. The Flyers lost 10-15, 16-14, 5-15.

The tide turned against Manchester on September 29. The 7th grade team lost 6-15, 4-15. The second game of the season showed the team making important improvements. The 8th grade team got their game together and won impressively 15-10, 8-15, 16-14.

The next match is Thursday, Oct. 6, at Pierceton, followed by a match Monday, Oct. 10, at Caston, and a home match will be played Oct. 11 against Triton at 4:30.

There are no masterminds, regardless of the myths built up.

Bremen takes tennis match

Tippecanoe Valley's tennis team fell to Bremen on Monday, September 26, in all three single matches and took the No. 2 doubles match.

Viking Skip Smythe was defeated by Bremen's Perry Mann 6-0, 6-0. Valley's Chad Bradley was defeated by Tim Lawmaster in two sets in the No. 2 spot, winning the match 6-0, 6-1. Shane Gamble was lost to Bremen's Trent Newcomb 6-0, 6-1.

TV Spikers fall short

Tippecanoe Valley's volleyball team came up short in the battle with Southwood in the TRC match. Southwood defeated the Vikings 15-4, and 17-15.

Leading the way for Valley with 10 for 12 in serving was Amy French. She had four aces and six points. Valley finished 42-46 overall in hitting.

In Thursday's action with Culver, the Vikings were defeated 15-6, and 15-9.

The Vikings were led by Lael Leininger and Jenny Doud who each had four kills. B.J. Ross added a pair. Doud and Chrissy White each added a block.

Balloon burst for Spikers Computer seminar offered

Tippecanoe Valley girls' volleyball team had its five-game winning streak burst by Oak Hill Monday, Sept. 26, 15-5, 15-5.

Lael Leininger led the team with an 8 for 8 serving effort and had two kills. She also scored seven of the 10 Valley points.

Frosh Vikes still undefeated

Tippecanoe Valley's freshman football team remains undefeated after topping Logansport 28-0.

Tyson Silveus led the running effort with 155 yards on 21 carries, all of which included touchdown runs of 5, 2, 22 and 60 yards.

Silveus also led the way in defense with 21 tackle points and was credited with causing one fumble. Josh Smithson tallied 15 tackle points for Valley's defensive effort.

Quarterback Jeff Gray went 2-2 in passing for 34 yards. One was a 9-yard strike to Dave Shelton, and the other a 25 yarder to Dave Bussard.

To celebrate October, designated "Computer Learning Month", Advantage Computers, Warsaw, will be conducting a free Computer Seminar Series.

Scheduled for the four Wednesday evenings in October, the topics to be covered include "Computer Dissection--No Need to Be Squeamish" (October 5), "Word Processing--Quick and Easy Recipes for Beginning Word-Chefs" (October 12), "Spreadsheets--You Don't Have to Be Einstein to Figure Them Out" (October 19) and "Data Bases--Home Runs, No Strikes, No Errors" (October 26).

The seminars are designed to introduce the basics of computing, reduce some of the fear "computerphobics" may have and encourage further interest in the use of computers at home and on the job.

The number of participants is limited. Reservations are required to assure sufficient seating, equipment and materials are available for the sessions.

For details on the "Computer Learning Month" Seminar Series and to make reservations, contact Advantage Computers by calling 269-6898 or stopping by the showroom located in the North Gate Shopping Center, U.S. 30 and State Road 15 North in Warsaw.

Tips for insulation

Attorney General Linley Pearson says consumers can check their homes to determine if they are properly insulated. Often, homeowners can complete much of the work themselves.

"If you live in a home with an attic, make certain the attic is well insulated," Pearson says. "Home heating and cooling costs comprise about half of a consumer's utility bill, costs which can be reduced with proper insulation."

When checking home insulation, begin with the attic, Pearson advises. Check to determine if there is insulation between the floor joists or the rafters. If the attic is unfinished or is simply a crawl space above the ceiling, a do-it-yourself insulation project can be easily accomplished. Rolls or batts of insulation, or loose fill insulation, can be laid between the uncovered ceiling joists.

If your attic has a floor, walls and ceiling but is not insulated, you might want to consider hiring a contractor to perform the task.

"As in any home improvement project, make certain you select a reliable firm to perform the work," Pearson advises.

If you live in an older home, you might want to check the walls for insulation. Most newer homes are properly insulated as they are constructed.

You can determine if your home is well insulated by conducting several simple tests, Pearson says.

Homeowners can check the walls of the home by comparing the temperature of the inside walls to that of the outside walls. If your home has adequate insulation, the exterior walls will feel just slightly cooler than the inside walls during winter weather.

Another way to check the exterior walls is to remove the switchplate (make certain the electricity is turned off) and look in the wall structure.

"Proper insulation does not include just walls, attics and roofs," Pearson says. "Windows and doors must be properly insulated or heat loss will occur."

Weatherstripping that can be applied by consumers can be a solution to drafty windows. Applied around windows of doors, weatherstripping gives a tight fit between moveable parts of windows and doors. Caulking around the outside of doors and windows will also reduce the amount of heat loss during winter months. Make certain you select a product you can use and follow directions before you begin the project.

Pearson says insulation is rated with an "R" value. The "R" value tells the consumer the product's resistance ability, or how well the product resists winter heat loss or summer heat gain.

The higher the "R" value, the greater the product will insulate the home, Pearson says. And, different areas in the home require insulation with varying "R" degrees. Insulation basement because of the greater potential for heat loss through the roof.

Pearson says the Federal Trade Commission requires disclosure of information concerning insulation and the "R" value on fact sheets and product labels. If that is not available, ask the store manager where you shop for the information or write the manufacturer.

"Again, if you believe your home needs insulation from floor to ceiling, check with reputable contractors before embarking on the project yourself," Pearson says. "If you decide to hire a contractor, make certain you obtain written estimates from more than one company and make certain the materials to be used list the 'R' value of the insulation."

Pearson says reputable contractors will not exaggerate the savings on heating and cooling costs or misrepresent the "R" value of various insulating materials.

Many utility companies will perform studies in homes to determine the effectiveness of the insulation. If your utility company offers that service, inquire about having your home examined.

Fire prevention studied

Students in Marcia Ousley's third grade class at Burket are studying about fire prevention in science class. They are writing reports, making colorful posters, and viewing filmstrips. Standing by the fire fighter are Jake Rucio and Sarah Buck. Some students are creating fire safety pictures on the computer with the help of a new program called Dazzle Draw. (News Photo)

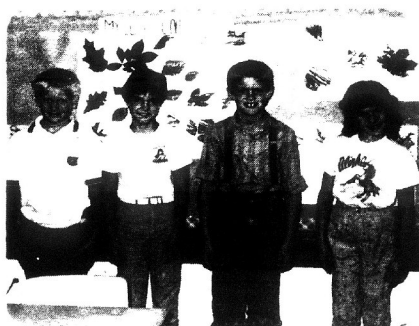

Collecting leaves

Pictured below are fourth grade students at Mentone who have also been doing leaf collections. They are Scott Egolf, Rachel McDaniel, Brandon Holloway, and Alisha Ryman. (News Photo)

October

Blessings on thee, old October with your crisp and bracing air;

And your trees of brownish color, with a green one here and there.

Mystic's haze that o'er the meadows and the woodland seems to dwell;

Parting incense to the songsters who will soon bid farewell.

Nature comes to join October, comes to claim again her own;

Comes to reap the golden harvest of the things which she has grown.

But it brings a touch of sadness, when the summer starts to wane and we hug her closely to us hoping that she might remain.

Senior Citizens, come join us for a well balanced meal and fellowship. For your meal reservation, please call 893-7204 the day before you plan to join us between the hours of 9:00 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday except for holiday closing.

The menu for the week of October 10 - 14 is:

Monday - BBQ chicken, potato salad, peaches, white bread, peanut butter cookies, milk or coffee.

Tuesday - Ham slice, parsley potatoes, pineapple/cheese, dinner roll, chocolate pudding, milk or coffee.

Wednesday - Cannelloni, lettuce/tomato salad, creamed peas, French bread, cherry tart, milk or coffee.

Thursday - Swedish meatballs, mixed vegetables, fruit salad, rice, whole wheat bread, milk or coffee.

Friday - Hamburger, potato salad, spinach, bun, apple cobbler, milk or coffee.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF ALL IS THE JOY OF FAITH

Since men had sailed the seven seas,
All manner of discoveries,
Like ways in which to fight disease,
Have helped us to progress.
We generated heat and light,
And learned the way to read and write;
In all these things, achieving quite
A measure of success.
But now we've come to recognize
The helping hand our faith supplies,
With each constructive enterprise
We've asked the Lord to bless.
So let's give thanks each Sabbath day
For blessings we cannot repay;
Then we'll discover in this way
A life of happiness.

Leaf-line operating

Although experts can't agree how the drought will affect the fall foliage season, the Department of Natural Resources isn't letting the drought affect its efforts to make the season more enjoyable. The DNR is offering a 24-hour fall-color hotline, free fall foliage packets and a children's writing contest to make this season the best ever for fall foliage viewing.

As of October 1, the DNR began providing leaf-line reports telling travelers where to see the best leaf colors, as well as filling them in on exciting fall events. Twice a week, foresters from the DNR's Forestry Division collect detailed information from statewide, then relay this information to the special phone line in Indianapolis.

Leaf-line can be heard by calling 317-232-4002. The call is not toll free.

In addition to leaf-line, the DNR is offering free fall foliage packets containing a brochure explaining why leaves turn colors, a leaf identification guide and a state highway map. The packets can be obtained by writing to Fall Foliage Packet, 612 State Office Building, Indianapolis, IN 46204.

Children, ages 12 and under, are invited to enter the DNR's "Drop Us a Leaf-line" contest. Entrants should send their most colorful autumn leaf, along with an essay of 100 words or less on why trees are important, to Leaf-line, Division of Forestry, 613 State Office Building, Indianapolis, IN 46204. All entries must be received by October 31, 1988.

Mentone sister and brother rolling in skating trophies

Melissa and Eric Nellans, Mentone, have been roller skating for two years. They have earned many awards and trophies in a short length of time and are setting their sights on the future of roller skating. Both Melissa and Eric hope to skate in the World Classic competition and Eric hopes to see roller skating become an Olympic event in the future. (News Photo)

6:30 a.m. on Saturday morning--most teens would be sound asleep, relieved they did not have to get up for school. But not Eric and Melissa Nellans of Mentone. The Tippecanoe Valley freshman and junior are at the Eastlake Dance and Figure Club, Warsaw, ready to start roller skating.

Melissa and Eric, children of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Nellans, have been roller skating for two years. The desire to skate without falling and to learn the safety aspects of skating were the only desires of the Nellans teens when they began. But soon both Eric and Melissa found themselves fascinated with the beauty of skating.

"We started taking lessons, and I just wanted to learn more and more", commented Eric. And learn more he did. This fall Eric competed against 14 skaters from all over the United States to win the title of 1988 National Junior Olympic Figure Gold Medalist in the age 13-35 category. The competition was held in Troy, Michigan.

He also won the Great Lakes Regional Figure title and was the Bronze medalist in solo dance earlier this summer in Cincinnati.

Melissa also has had her share of wins. She placed 7th in a field of 16 competitors at the Nationals. In all, Melissa has participated in six competitions over the past two years and has placed in five with standings of first through seventh.

Eric has participated in seven different competitions with placings from 3rd to first in all of them.

The Nellans children practice 15 to 18 hours a week at the Eastlake Skating Rink in Warsaw. Part of that time is spent with the instruction of their coaches Joe and Carol Chester and Jim Yergens. Improving their routines and hours of grueling practice leads to the medals.

Both Melissa and Eric do their routines with the American style of dance. According to Eric, American style is more rigid and has less freedom of arm and hand movement than the International dance. Eric hopes to be able to try the International dance technique as he advances in skating.

You might wonder where Mom and Dad fit into all of this. As many parents do, they keep the road hot between home, the skating rink, and the competitions. Judy Nellans also makes the children's costumes for the competitions. Milo and Judy Nellans support Eric and Melissa 100% in their skating endeavor. "There is great discipline in the sport of skating", said Judy. "The kids must first do their homework and chores. It takes dedication on their part to stick with the busy schedule they have. It does not allow for much idle time."

Editorial

It could happen to you..

This is the time of year when people are being asked for donations of all kinds: Christmas toys, clothes for the needy, donations for special campaign drives, and blood. Yes, even your blood.

A public announcement on television depicts a small child sitting on the parent's lap and the television audience is asked to put themselves in the scene with their children and then decide if they should give blood. This commercial hits home with me.

Our son was four years old when he developed a bleeding ulcer following surgery. He would have died if it were not for someone donating blood. He received the necessary transfusions and recovered with God's help. The point-it was there when my son needed it. You never plan on needing a pint of blood for your children, but the day may come when you will need it.

This isn't an emotional plea, it is just fact. Sometimes it does happen to your family. I cannot give blood; but if you can, won't you consider doing so for your own peace of mind. The blood bank will be at the Akron Church of God on Wednesday, October 19, from 12:15 p.m. until 5:15 p.m. Someone will truly appreciate it!

Waste worries----

Good Morning!

At 8:50 a.m. this Thursday (October 6, 1988) morning, another, white, semi-truck marked..."Special Waste Hauler" headed west through Akron. The last information we had was that this is toxic waste coming out of the eastern states to be unloaded here in Fulton County.

It's time we stopped this problem and we need your assistance in getting the job done!

Thank you for your help.

Sincerely,

Howard M. Utter

'Cause it's Autumn

Ma's in the kitchen cookin' an' I know without lookin' 'Tis the Heavenly smell of catsup an' there'll be no let up, 'cause it's Autumn.

Apple butter Ma'll be makin' an' little samples I'll be takin' spicy, tangy an' delicious ma watches me so suspicious, 'cause it's Autumn.

Ma cans peaches sweet an' yellow, pears so tasty an' so mellow. Soon she'll make pumpkin pie, It's so good to be alive, say I, 'cause it's Autumn.

Football Hero

To be a football hero, and to make a tackle, and hear the pretty girls on the bleachers cackle.

The bangs and bruises I don't mind, I roll and run and kick, for with the pretty girls I find, I really have my pick.

I wonder if I break my leg, or maybe just my jaw, will the gals all come and hold my hand, or leave that up to ma.

Barnyard Smells

While drivin' down the country roads, there comes those barnyard smells, takes me back to farmin' days that I loved so well.

Now, hogs have odors all their own, as any hog man knows well, I remember cleaning hog pens more times than I can tell.

Now, some can't take the horsey smell, say it makes them sick, and the odor of cows and chickens can give you quite a lick.

There's a fragrance of new mown hay, an' the clean smell of straw, all takes me back to yester year when I used to help, my pa.

A new beginning...

By: J.D. Moore

Antiques Or Heirlooms

In the past, people have asked if I liked antiques. For the most part I answer no. Then I explain that I have some family heirlooms and instantly they say, "Well, then you DO like antiques?" This has made me search for the proper, yet simple explanation.

Antiques and heirlooms are not necessarily the same. Anything that is old is considered an antique, but only old things passed down through the family are heirlooms. So, you can have antiques that are heirlooms (which is what we have) or you can have a love for generalized antiques.

As you enter our home, you will find a cradle. This is something I wouldn't look for but something I wouldn't think of giving up. This certain cradle was made by my great grandfather with square nails for my grandfather to sleep in as a baby. It so happened that the cradle was given to my grandfather for his children to use. However, my grandmother didn't like the cradle and it was placed in the attic where it remained until Doug and I removed it for our son. We estimate the cradle to be about 118 years old. We took a picture of C.J. laying inside, and he cried at the top of his lungs. It would seem he and my grandmother would have been in agreement about the cradle!

Mom gave me a dish years ago. I can remember the dish being on display in her corner cupboard, but never being used. This particular dish has been handed down to each daughter for five generations. I might buy such a dish but it wouldn't carry the importance of this one. Mom carefully wrapped this dish each time we moved to make sure it would arrive unbroken and would each year help me wash and dry it along with other dishes. She remembered seeing plates used, jelly dishes on family tables, deep dishes used for fruit, a deep dish belonging to her aunt who used it as a potato dish, etc. I catch myself doing the same thing. When Mom passed away, my sisters-in-law and I each picked a dish for our children that belonged to her. I remember each of us saying "Here's Mom's applesauce dish," "I'll save Mom's deep dish she used at Christmas for Rob," and "Rick would like Mom's celery dish to keep".

These dishes aren't just on the woman's side of the family. Jenny kept a dish belonging to Grandma Moore for me. It's a small dish edged in gold. Although I don't know what it was used for, I remember Grandma Moore and proudly display it along with the other dishes.

The pride and joy of our home is a bedroom set belonging to my grandparents. My grandfather was 80 years old when I was born and purchased the suit when he married at the age of 30. You can imagine the age. I wouldn't dream of buying it, but I would hate to give it up.

Oh, there are several small things that Doug and I both value mainly because they belong to our families. We intend to keep the heirlooms with us until the boys learn to appreciate them and pass along the stories that go with each one. I intend to ask the boys what they might like. I know Doug likes watches, not for value, but sentimentality. And I'll bet each of the boys will want something that has a special meaning for them.

Do you have something special? Be sure and share the history and memories with your family during the holidays ahead. Afterall, that's what makes a family a family.

The Mentone Lion's Club will sponsor a Halloween celebration on Saturday evening, October 29 on the streets of Mentone. Several years ago a barbecue was held and hundreds of people enjoyed the free sandwiches and participated in the costume parade and contest. It is planned to again put on a program of this kind, so plan now to attend this celebration, and tell your neighbors and friends.

A five year accumulation of rain "deficits" in America makes it an odds-on-bit that fall and winter will see plenty of downpours and flooded basements, business analysts declare after a study of weather bureau statistics. Though as a rule rain is detrimental to retail trade, merchants handling galoshes, over shoes, non-skid tires and umbrellas may expect to be in for a good year. The hall closets of the nation are poorly stocked for the stormy weather ahead, as indicated by sales figures for the rainwear industry. In the nine years since 1929, when $12,303,000 worth of rain coats were manufactured, production has averaged only slightly above $3,000,000 annually. This low inventory situation plus new fabrics such as a silk garment "Duranzized" by the application of what scientists call korecel should help to make the coming season a banner year, increasing sales and employment in both the manufacturing and retail divisions of the rainwear industry.

Ten Commandments of Human Relations

1. Speak to people. There is nothing so nice as a cheerful word of greeting.
2. Smile at people. It takes 72 muscles to frown, only 14 to smile.
3. Call people by name. The sweetest music to anyone's ears is the sound of his own name.
4. Be friendly and helpful. If you would have friends, be a friend.
5. Be cordial. Speak and act as if everything you do is a genuine pleasure.
6. Be genuinely interested in people. You can like almost everybody if you try.
7. Be generous with praise - cautious with criticism.
8. Be considerate with the feelings of others. There are usually three sides to a controversy - yours, the other fellows, and the right side.
9. Be alert to serve. What counts most in life is what we do for others.
10. Add to these a good sense of humor, a big dose of patience, and a dash of humility, and you will be rewarded many fold.

Senior citizens, come join us for a well balanced meal and fellowship. For your meal reservations please call 893-7204 the day before you plan to join us between the hours of 9:00 A. M. - 12:30. Thank you.

Second of four local seminars confirms success

The second in a series of four seminars concerning community right-to-know, sponsored by the Greater Warsaw Area Chamber of Commerce, confirms success. Approximately 12 people, representing 10 area businesses, attended the presentation.

Dr. Bill Beranek of the Indianapolis Center for Advanced Research gave the three hour long presentation. Dr. Beranek is the Director of the ICFAR Environmental Program. In addition, he chairs the Indiana Advisory Committee to State Emergency Response Commission, the Marion County Local Hazardous Materials Planning Committee, and the National American Chemical Society Task Force on Chemical Risk Communication.

This program provided a basic outline of the responsibilities of small and large quantity generators for classifying, shipping and overseeing their wastes. A booklet providing the essential lists, forms, and information for assisting generators and persons new to the waste area added to the explanation on the basics of compliance.

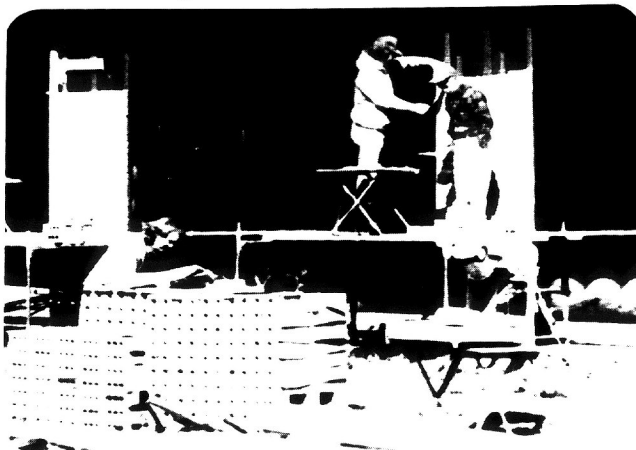

Dr. Beranek began the presentation by reminding the industries represented that they are each liable for any problem that results from their waste. He defined hazardous waste as those wastes listed by name or exhibiting characteristics covered in RCRA 1976/1980.

He also addressed such issues as general procedures for waste disposal, possible on-site treatment of waste, when to fill out manifests, on-site contingency plans, and worker training. The seminar was concluded with a discussion of the special waste approval procedure and Indiana waste disposal sites.

The next seminar, titled LOCAL PLANNING COMMITTEE AND THE COMMUNITY RIGHT TO KNOW, will be held November 3, 1988, at 8:00 a.m. If you are interested in receiving information, please contact the Chamber Office at 267-6311.

The Farm in the Green Mountains by Alice Herdan-Zuckmayer. This book was not supposed to turn into a book at all. It grew out of a series of letters that the author wrote after the end of the war to her husband's parents. An editor saw some of them and they suddenly appeared in his magazine section so the author put together the present account.

Final Summer by Angela Vivian. Melissa's return to St. Simons Island marked a new beginning. She had found love once, and never expected to find it again. An exciting romance of love, determination, and suspense.

Evidence Not Seen by Darlene Deibler Rose. This is the gripping story of an American Missionary and woman of great faith who endured four years of forced labor and cruel deprivation at the hands of the Japanese army during World War II. She was the first white woman to enter the Balicem Valley of New Guinea, a Stone Age world of cannibals and hardships. Interned by the Japanese, Darlene lost her husband but retained her missionary calling. Remarried to Jerry Rose, she returned to New Guinea where she lived for nearly thirty years before moving to a new mission field on a remote ranching settlement in the Australian Outback.

Seasons May Affect Ulcers

As the earth rotates around the sun, the weather changes, seasons rotate, and outdoor life goes into hibernation. It's fall. Time for raking leaves, shoveling snow, football... and ulcers. For some reason, ulcers flare when the seasons change, especially during the fall and the spring.

"No one has pinpointed an explanation for the recurrence of ulcer disease during the fall and spring," says Gordon McHardy, M.D., emeritus professor of medicine at Louisiana State University. "Ulcer disease itself is still an unexplained medical problem. We have refined ways to treat ulcers, but we still don't know the cause of the disease," says Dr. McHardy.

It is generally accepted that ulcers develop when the lining of the stomach and small intestine is unable to protect itself from gastric acid. The body produces gastric acid to break down food and convert it into energy. If there is an overproduction of gastric acid, it can actually eat through the lining of the digestive system, which can cause an ulcer. Ulcers can result from cigarette smoke, alcohol, caffeine, stress, and aspirin.

There are many medications available to treat ulcers today. One class of drugs is the histamine-2 blockers. They are designed to enter the bloodstream and reduce the amount of acid in the digestive tract. Another type of medication is called sucralfate or Carafate. Carafate does not enter the bloodstream; it forms a protective coating over the duodenal ulcer wound and allows it to heal without changing the environment of the digestive tract.

Because sucralfate does not enter the bloodstream, it has few interactions with other medications a patient may be taking. This is especially important for elderly patients who may be taking a variety of medications for other ailments.

Although there is no definitive reason for the recurrence of ulcer disease during the fall and spring, Dr. McHardy thinks there are two possible contributing factors. "During the fall and spring people are more active physically; they may not monitor their diet the way they should." The second possibility is that many people increase their intake of allergy and cold medications, as well as aspirin, when the seasons change. "This could irritate the lining of the digestive system," says Dr. McHardy.

With modern medical treatment, most ulcers heal in six to eight weeks. Doctors advise that by eating a balanced diet, not smoking, and limiting your intake of alcohol and caffeine, you may avoid ulcer disease recurrence. Remember, if your ulcer reacts to the changing of the seasons, your physician can prescribe medication to help heal your ulcer.

TRC title hopes for Valley Vikes turn sour

Tippecanoe Valley's hopes for a Three Rivers Conference title turned to a pumpkin as the Vikings were defeated by North Miami in football action on Friday, October 7.

The Vikings had their final chance for a victory come up short on the last play of the game at the Warriors' four-yard line. A fourth down snap was bobbled into the air and the Vikings were hit with an illegal motion penalty as time ran out.

Although Tippecanoe Valley outgained North Miami 272-223, the Warriors took advantage of special teams play to set up two of their touchdowns. North Miami blocked a punt to recover the ball at TV's 20, which led to a five-yard touchdown for the first score of the game.

The Vikings took their only lead at 8-6 with 25 seconds left in the first quarter on Pat Jamison's three-yard run and Dale Cave's conversion run.

Cave rushed 24 times for 164 yards, with Ben Anderson adding 21 yards on six carries and Jamison rushing eight times for 29 yards.

The Vikings, now losers of two straight, fall to 4-2 and 5-2 on the season. The Vikes will meet Whitko on Friday at home.

DON'T IGNORE CAVITIES

"Look, Ma, only two small cavities!" Sounds good? Don't kid yourself. If you could look THROUGH each cavity-marked tooth, however, you'd probably see that a lot more damage has been done than meets the eye. When a cavity first appears, the enamel of the tooth has already been damaged, but below the enamel, the bacteria that caused the cavity in the first place may have multiplied and begun attacking the dentin or core of the tooth.

If you continue to ignore the cavity, the disease process continues until the bacteria start attacking the pulp or nerve of the tooth. By this time you will begin to realize the extent of the damage because you will begin to feel the pain of toothache. Unfortunately, by then it may not be possible to save the tooth.

Don't ignore any cavity, no matter how small and inconsequential it may appear, not if you want to save your teeth. Early treatment by your dentist and regular checkups are the only ways to protect your dental health.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C. 1329 Main St., Rochester, Phone 223-3121.

Area hospital receives honors

Lutheran Hospital's CAPD (continuous ambulatory peritoneal dialysis) program has gained national recognition by being honored as a "Center of Excellence" in peritoneal dialysis by the Baxter Healthcare Corporation. Members of the dialysis team will receive the award at a luncheon on Thursday, October 6, at the Holiday Inn Hotel in downtown Fort Wayne. Several CAPD "pioneer patients" who have been on peritoneal dialysis for five years or more will also be honored at the luncheon.

The Baxter Healthcare Corporation supplies a majority of CAPD supplies and equipment to Lutheran and its patients.

In June of 1980, Lutheran Hospital offered CAPD as a new alternative to Fort Wayne patients with chronic kidney failure and the customary sessions on a kidney dialysis machine. The method has grown in popularity and is now the treatment mode used by 70 of Lutheran's approximately 190 dialysis patients.

With CAPD, a permanent tube is implanted in the patient's abdomen through which a special solution is instilled from an attached, changeable bag. This fluid stays in the peritoneal cavity for approximately five hours or overnight. During that time period, waste materials and water diffuse into the fluid through the peritoneal membrane which lines the stomach and intestines. When the fluid is inside the body, the bag remains attached, but is folded and comfortably stored in a pocket or elsewhere in the clothing. After a designated time period, the solution and waste materials are drained back into the bag which is then exchanged with a fresh bag and solution. The process is then begun again.

Many patients feel that CAPD allows them to lead a freer, more independent lifestyle, since the conventional method requires patients to be attached to a dialysis machine for up to four hours a day, three days a week. However, CAPD patients can encounter peritonitis (a serious disease resulting from infection) and exit site infections (infection of the site where the catheter tube is placed).

Lutheran's CAPD team has made great strides in their fight against peritonitis and exit site infections which had led to their "Center of Excellence" status. After conducting research from May of 1986 to December of 1987, the CAPD team was able to lower their patients' exit site infection rate by 40 percent. These findings were then presented nationally at the Eight National Conference on CAPD recently held in Kansas City, Missouri. In addition, Lutheran's peritonitis rate, with an average rate of occurrence of only once in 30 patients, is far below the national occurrence norm of one patient in 10 or 12.

Soil judging held on Buhrt farm

The 1988 4-H/FFA Tri-County Soil Judging Contest for Elkhart, Marshall and Kosciusko counties was held on Tuesday, October 4, at the Don Buhrt farm in Kosciusko County. Seventeen FFA members from three FFA chapters participated this year.

Contestants judged three soil sites for their use in agriculture production and one site for its use as a home site. Contestants evaluate soil properties such as slope, potential for flooding, erosion potential, natural drainage, soil and water management practices and homestead management practices such as site improvement, foundation improvements and information on septic systems.

The top three teams were as follows: first place team - Brian Wuthrich, David Schafer, Steve Davis and Dave Rosenberry - Wawasee FFA Chapter; second place team - Fevin Eiler, Travis Knot, Ryan Wilson and Rick Wilson - Whitko FFA Chapter; and third place team - Tom Decker, Randy Riddle, Andy Spangle and Terry Gunter - Warsaw FFA Chapter.

The top five scoring individuals in the contest were as follows: first - Brian Wuthrich, Wawasee FFA; second - Kevin Eiler, Whitko FFA; third - Tom Decker, Warsaw FFA; fourth - David Schafer, Wawasee FFA and tied for fifth - Randy Riddle, Warsaw FFA and Travis Knot, Whitko FFA.

Members of the top three teams will advance to the Area 10 Soil Judging Contest which will be held on Wednesday, October 12 in Porter County.

The efforts of Don Buhrt and the Kosciusko County Soil Conservation Service in conducting the Tri-County Soil Judging Contest were greatly appreciated.

Pet Care

by Cleo & Brad Conrad

Zoo attendants at Tampa's Busch Gardens are having twice the fun caring for twins "Reggie" and "Archie," a pair of gangly, shy reticulated giraffes currently on display at the park's Nairobi Field Station animal nursery.

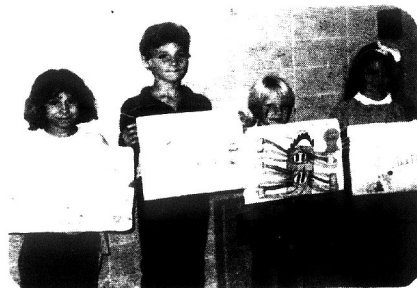

The male giraffes, which are Busch Gardens' first set of twins, are the fourth and fifth born to a breeding herd since January, 1988. They were born Aug. 19 to a female who is part of Busch Gardens' original herd, and a specially imported male.

The male was brought to Busch Gardens from native Kenya in 1985 as part of a translocation project designed to establish a viable new gene pool for captive breeding of this spectacular species.

The twins weighed in at about 69 pounds and were a little over five feet at birth, making them slightly shorter and lighter than the six feet and 85 pounds of the average newborn giraffe. The height and weight of the two males and one female reticulated giraffe born earlier this year fit these more typical dimensions.

Warsaw theatre to present "Barefoot in the Park"

"Barefoot in the Park," which was described by Life Magazine as "One of the funniest comedies ever," will be presented at the Wagon Wheel Theatre on October 21, 22, 23 and October 28, 29 and 30.

Written by Neil Simon, one of the most highly praised playwrights ever, "Barefoot in the Park" has the credentials of one of the biggest smash hits in American stage history, running on Broadway for over three years. Other comedy hits by Neil Simon include: "The Odd Couple," "Plaza Suite" and "Brighton Beach Memoirs."

"Barefoot in the Park" is the uproarious comedy about a charming, but scatter-brained bride who, after six days of wedded bliss, begins to worry that her groom may be a fuddy-duddy because he won't walk barefoot in the park on a February night. Their attempts to begin their new life together in an old apartment are further complicated by the bride's mother and an odd-ball neighbor from the attic above.

Susan Dohan, known for her leads in Wagon Wheel productions of "Annie Get Your Gun" and "42nd Street," will star as the flighty young bride. Rick Meads, who portrayed the father in "A Wonderful Life," will play her ultra-conservative husband, fresh out of law school. Kathy Allison, who portrays the bride's unadventurous, widowed mother, learns how to experience life to the fullest from Jonathan Saylor, the wacky Hungarian neighbor. Also featured in the cast will be Troy West, known to Wagon Wheel audiences from "The Royal Family" (Tony Cavendish) and "Annie Get Your Gun" (Buffalo Bill).

The production of "Barefoot in the Park" is currently being directed by the new winter season's Artistic Director, Steve Grill. Steve made his directing debut at the Wagon Wheel Theatre this past summer with the highly successful show, "The Royal Family." He will also be directing the musical version of "A Christmas Carol" to open in mid-December.

"Barefoot in the Park" is one of several events scheduled for the Wagon Wheel Theatre's new winter season including: The Charlie Daniels Band (Nov. 13) and the classic holiday show, "A Christmas Carol" (Dec. 9-11 & 16-18). Tickets for all of the events are on sale now and selling fast. For ticket and dinner reservations, call the Wagon Wheel ticket office at (219) 267-8041.

About Antiques

Afternoon tea, well-beloved by our British cousins, was also an important ritual here in the Colonies, having come over here with the English settlers. This is why the tax on tea caused so much resentment. It is inconceivable to imagine a Boston Coffee Party since any tax on coffee beans would not have caused most settlers any inconvenience.

To set apart the afternoon tea from "regular" meals, tea was served from a special set of dishes with the proper porcelain pot and cups placed on a special tea table. Early 18th-century tea tables were rectangular. However, by the 1750s, the tripod leg with ball and claw feet was used. Many tables were ingeniously designed with tilt tops, allowing the table to be kept near a wall and tilted out of the way when not in use. Some were constructed with a "birdcage" bottom which allows the top to be rotated when tea was being served. With the dawning of 1800, a new century, tea table tops were generally oval or square.

While few of us today indulge in "high tea," the tea table has remained with us as an end table or small lamp table.

A LACK OF FAITH IS A HANDICAP WE CAN ALL OVERCOME

We try to help people who are handicapped in some way, by reserving convenient parking spaces for them and building special facilities to accommodate them. In some less visible ways, however, we are all handicapped. It may be by unwarranted fears and superstitions, insensitivity to others' feelings, a weakness that allows us to succumb to temptations, and so on. Regardless of our physical condition, perhaps the worst handicap of all is lack of faith. Whether we realize it or not, we should all learn what God's love can do for us. As we grow older, various infirmities will begin to chip away at us, and we will need help and courage that only faith can provide. Not knowing the joy and comfort of faith is the worst handicap of all, but it is one that each of us can overcome, if we try.

Public Service offers help to area farmers

Farmers seriously hurt by this year's drought can now put off paying their Public Service Indiana electric bills until after next year's harvest.

The Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission has approved PSI's deferred payment plan for farmers. Eligible customers can defer payment on part or all of their electric bills, now through Aug. 31, 1989. The unpaid balance will be due either in one payment on Nov. 30, 1989, or three payments in November and December, 1989, and January, 1990.

Farm customers of PSI who qualify for the federal Emergency Feed Program, the Emergency Feed Assistance Program or the Drought Assistance Program are eligible for the deferral plan. Under the Drought Assistance Program, farmers must have suffered at least a 35 percent crop loss to qualify for the PSI plan.

To apply, a farmer must first visit the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office. If the farmer is eligible for federal assistance, he must then bring the approved ASCS forms to the nearest Public Service Indiana office.

To qualify for the PSI plan, a customer must already have a good payment record and their PSI account must be in the same name as the name on the ASCS forms. Public Service Indiana has more than 10,000 farm customers.

Working to qualify

National Junior Olympics was a highlight for Eric but not the climax of his skating dream. Already Eric and Melissa are dreaming of becoming a part of the World Class team. The World Class competitions would allow Eric and Melissa to try different styles of International dance. Qualification is the key for Eric and Melissa at this point.

Another dream of Eric's is to see roller skating become a part of the Olympic games. Rumors are beginning to circulate that Eric's dream may come true since more Eastern countries are becoming interested in roller skating. Since Eric is 14 he would have a chance to tryout for an American team before he is too old. Melissa may never have the opportunity to skate in Olympics, but she could coach if the dream materializes.

A sense of accomplishment and knowing their sport is unique means a lot to Melissa and Eric. They truly love skating and would encourage anyone to at least try skating before giving up on the idea. "It's really fun, I am not under team pressure and I can win as an individual. I just love it," said Melissa.

Eric and Melissa would encourage everyone to "try it--you might like it!"

Fire Prevention Week observed

Area firemen spent much of last week teaching area school students fire safety steps in observance of Fire Prevention Week. Joe Day of the Henry Township Fire Department familiarized children with fire equipment, he also gave students the opportunity to play "ball" with the fire hose. He is pictured above with Jennifer Hartzler and Dusty Linn, students of the Akron United Methodist Nursery School. A picture of the Mentone Fire Department efforts are pictured on page 16. Bussing procedures questioned by Tippecanoe Valley parent

The time a child spends on a school bus per day has always been an issue with parents who send their children to school in a consolidated school system. The problem surfaced, again, at the October 10 Tippecanoe Valley School Board meeting when Ron Dittman of Akron questioned the board why his child must ride the bus for 37 miles around the county when the Dittmans live 15 blocks from the school.

Questioning the school corporation's procedures of bussing, Dittman asked the board to review the bus routes to see if there would not be a more cost effective method of getting children to the schools.

The corporation now runs one route for both high school and elementary students to get children to the various learning facilities.

According to Superintendent Baxter Paige, there are over 200 square miles in the school district and that it would be impossible to run two separate routes. High school classes start at 8:10 a.m. and end at 3:10 p.m.

Elementary classes start at 8:25 a.m. and end at 3:25 p.m.

Reminding Dittman that no student wants to be the first on the bus and that his children are not required to ride a school bus, Paige quickly was reminded by Dittman that the his (Dittman's) tax dollars help provide the bus transportation for his children.

In other business, Paige reported to the board that traces of asbestos were found at Akron, Burket and Mentone schools, with all the problems considered minor. There were no findings at the high school or in the administration building.

The asbestos was found in floor tiling and pipe wrappings in all three of the specified schools. There were also traces of asbestos located in the tunnels of the elementary schools.

Those conducting the $6,000 inspection, suggested the purchase of respirators for the maintenance people in case they must go into the tunnels.

In other matters:

Plans for the new Mentone offices were approved and bids are to be taken as soon as possible.

A change in employee insurance company was approved. The board voted to switch from American States Insurance to Key Benefit Administrators Inc. by the Equitable Insurance Company. Coverage will remain the same but Paige said cost per member will drop from $41 to $20.41 per month.

A teacher and administrative evaluation system was approved. At least one-third of the teachers in each school will be evaluated each year using several class observations.

Only the top five are allowed to advance to the finals. Also advancing were Winchester, Maconaquah, Lewis Cass, and Knox.

The Valley band is scheduled to perform at 2:26 p.m. at the Hoosier Dome.

If you have not seen the Viking Guard's performance this year, you will have the opportunity to see them in action this Saturday during the Festival of Champions to be held at Tippecanoe Valley High School beginning at 1:00 p.m. Tippecanoe Valley will be hosting the band competition which will include many of the first place band from across the state.

The Viking Guard will perform as an exhibition band only. The host band is not allowed to compete in its own competition.

Wayne Bode of Kewanee, the Fulton County Farm Bureau president, will welcome Farm Bureau families from Lake, LaPorte, Marshall, Porter, Pulaski, Starke and St. Joseph counties. Presiding over the meeting will be Wayne Emigh of Knox, the district director.

A report of the district director election will be made during the evening. Door prizes will be awarded.

A way to help

Have you ever looked into the empty, lonely, aching eyes of a child, and known they would receive nothing for Christmas? Perhaps not, we think of children going without laughter and joy at Christmas, and parents experiencing frustration at not being able to provide a Christmas beyond their dreams in far off places and in big impersonal cities. Unfortunately, this reality is also present in our community.

Now here is the good news: YOU can help alleviate that helplessness, hopelessness, dread and replace it with joy and laughter. How can you help? Simple. The Tippecanoe Valley Kiwanis Club is collecting toys for the needy children, and food for the elderly. Collection boxes will be placed at various stores in the Akron, Mentone, and Burket communities. Now is the time to enter into the spirit of giving and sharing, now is the time to give birth to the Christmas Spirit. Bring a new, or slightly used, toy or canned food to the following locations: In Akron - Harris Drugs, Arier Drugs, Viking Foods, and Stephen's Garage. In Mentone - Frank & Jerry's Market, Miller Hardware, Teel's Restaurant, and The Pill Box. In Burket - The Burket Grocery.

Give the gift of laughter.

Larry Barr and Trisha Busch,
Co-Chairpersons

Dear Joe:

I saw where you've gotten some of your corn picked. How is the yield? Harvest looks like it is going well. If the weather holds, you should make short work of it.

When I passed I saw your tractor parked in the corner of the field with the plow hooked to it. I know the conditions are just fine for plowing and with your acres, getting some of your tillage done this fall will make for less work next spring. But, Joe, I'd like you to think it over a little before you turn any more under.

The lack of rain has not only effected yields, there just isn't any soil moisture--which you've probably already noticed. What you've turned over is like powder.

I've got a question for you Joe. Have you ever made gravy? Yeah, gravy - like you ladle over your mashed potatoes. To mix the four and water you need to combine the two in covered container and shake the snot out of it. Every wondered why? The flour is ground so fine and the particles are laying so close together that water cannot get between them. So you have to shake it to separate the particles which allows them to mix.

Once you plow your field, you destroy the worm holes, root canals and the natural soil structure. The plow turns that dry soil into dry powder which will act like the flour in the gravy thickening. Water just won't soak into it. If it don't soak in, it runs off, unable to recharge the already depleted water table. What little does penetrate will evaporate quickly because there's no surface crop residue.

With no moisture and no residue, by next spring your soil will be in prime shape to blow away. And it will, it does every year. I trust you remember May 31, 1985. Next year could be a whole lot worse if you and your neighbors do a lot of fall tillage. The Dust Bowl started the conditions like this. Nobody wants another one.

How you treat your land effects more than just you. give it some serious thought before you take that tractor and plow back out there. Leave the stalks on top. Let them intercept the raindrop. Let them allow the rain to move slowly into the soil through the many pores and openings and let the rain follow those openings deep into the earth. It is then that your soil will return to you and the crops that make you your living and the crops that sustain us all. For all of us, Joe, leave the plow in the barn this fall.

Sincerely,

Daniel M. Rosswurm, District Conservationist

A new beginning...

LET'S WALK TO NEW YORK!

One day while conversing with several ladies, it occurred to me that between only a few of us, we had managed to come up with solutions to obesity in various ways. Oddly enough, we all needed to lose weight. Then why haven't we employed some of these methods? That's what I wanted to know.

After saying, "If these things all work, why don't we do them?" Kim (one of the girls) said, "Because they work." We just looked at one another. Sadly enough, she was right. Sue, another lady, said she knew how to lose weight but for some unknown reason, hadn't brought herself to remedy the situation either. I thought to myself that something had to be done.

Between the three of us, we decided that you needn't choose one type of exercise for life, you should vary the kinds from time to time to avoid boredom and to necessitate the change in seasons. Then Kim related a plan for the early fall season that I thought was really unique.

Walking was the best all around exercise for all ages and Kim and her mother-in-law decided to give it a try. They quickly tired of just walking the same route. However, convinced that walking would "do the trick" they set about finding an inventive, imaginative way to help keep the excitement in their walks. They gathered up maps and decided they would choose a place they both would like to visit. They both decided on New York. Next, they figured the miles it would take to get from their homes to New York. Being quite serious about their endeavor, and not to be taken lightly, they purchased a pedometer. (A device much like a speedometer but used when walking to count the miles walked.) They were on their way!

With new excitement, and a goal in mind, they began their walk to New York. Of course, you understand they weren't actually walking to New York, they were walking 4-5 miles several times a week around their neighborhood and after each walk would tally the miles and mark their progress on their map. What a clever idea.

I'm sure the new craze to walk has started since the let up of the 100 degree weather this summer when it was almost too hot to walk. I even decided to give it a try. My neighbor, Bonnie and her sister Bernadine, have walked most of the summer with me watching enviously. I decided to give it a try. I have really gotten into it and enjoy every minute of it. When I can't con someone into joining me on my walks, I enjoy the quiet of country walking, the animals, woods and scenery not to mention waving to neighbors I haven't talked with in some time.

Don't say you can't do this. At first, you should start slowly and work your way up to a decent speed for your height. I remedied the problem of learning how fast to walk by having Chris pace me a couple of times at 3-4 miles per hour. I even take my watch and check to make sure I'm keeping my pace. (Besides, there is a lot of talking during these walks, which is nice!)

I imagine you are wondering what I'll be doing when this becomes boring. I've thought about that. I either go alone for quiet, ask for company, take Ginger, our dog, or have borrowed C.J.'s headset and listen to my 60's music. When the weather gets cold, I intend to ride my stationary bike with the headset. As for Kim and her mother-in-law, they have walked to Cincinnati, Ohio and intend to go on!

HALLOWEEN, HERE COMES THE CARNIVAL! "Bingo!" "Hold your cards, folks, there may be a mistake! It's O.K. Take your choice of these lovely prizes, Madam." "Daddy, may I have a nickel?" "Lady, you weigh exactly 121 pounds. Oh, I'm wrong again." These are some of the things you may hear at the colossal carnival to be sponsored by the senior class our own old Akron High, on the eve of October the 31st between the hour of 6:30 and 9:30. The proceeds will go for a most worthy cause; namely, to be paid either toward the purchase of the motion picture machine or for such things as films or blinds to block out light in the gym. You boys mustn't forget to send some of those good-looking girls telegrams, and I'm sure the basketball boys will shine at the free throw or what ever they call it. Any way it's where you try to get that ball to go through that hoop. I guess you know what I mean. Or do you? Oh, and you really must have your weight guessed and your fortune told and see the minstrel, and don't forget to eat - above all things. (Oh, I'm running out of breath). Mr. Stephens has volunteered to order some short reels, - I'm not sure what ones, - but something on the order of Popeye, Mickey Mouse, etc. to show to the kids, and we'll all be kids that night, everyone from 2 to 102. Let me see is that everything? (Think! Think!) My goodness, I mustn't forget the Carnival King and Queen!!! We are choosing both a King and a Queen this year so vote for your favorites, folks. We have had each class choose a girl and a boy for its representatives and here they are: Seniors, Marcille Fleck and Dick Drudge; juniors, Alice Groninger and Jack Morris; sophomores, June Slaybaugh and John Klise; freshman, Mary Lue Fisher and Ricky VanLue; eight grade, Marilyn Deering and Earl Rogers; and seventh grade, Jo Ann Heeter and Kenton Gast. So pick and vote for your favorites to reign over the carnival. You get one hundred votes for one cent. The winners will be crowned at 9:15 sharp and each will receive a suitable prize. Tickets will be on sale at several places in the gym and these will be good at any booth, but no money will be accepted at the booth, only the tickets available at the small sum of one cent or one-tenth of a little thin dime. Well, bye, guess I'd better move on. See you at the carnival. "Bingo."

Local Pastor shares archaeological dig experiences

Four a.m. comes early no matter what country you're in. I realized this as I climbed out of bed that morning in anticipation of my first day on the "dig". The summer weather in Israel can be brutal, even in the northern area of Galilee. So work at an archaeological site begins early in order to beat the mid-day heat. We left Nahalal by bus at 4:40 a.m. and arrived on site shortly after 5 a.m., just as the sun was ready to crest the horizon.

Nahalal, residence for the workers, is an agricultural moshav near Nazareth. We actually were housed in the Nahalal Youth Village and Agricultural School within the moshav, staying in dormitories otherwise vacant during the summer.

A moshav is similar to a 'kibbutz' except that in a moshav families own their own homes and work their own land, buying and marketing cooperatively. In a typical kibbutz the land is both owned and operated cooperatively.

Sepphoris, the site of the dig, is located about 4 miles northwest of Nazareth. In New Testament times, it was a thriving city actually the second largest city in Palestine next to Jerusalem. It was built by Herod the Great to be the capital of the province of Galilee beginning in 40 B.C. The historian Josephus called it the "ornament of all Galilee".

According to Christian tradition, Sepphoris was the residence of Joachim and Anna, parents of Mary, and birth place of the mother of Jesus.

Netting is used to shade workers from the intense summer sun. Rev. Cox is standing in front of the net. Next to him is Beth LaRocca, also a United Methodist minister, and PhD student at Harvard who served as the supervisor in this area.

While there are no references in the New Testament to Sepphoris, we find many references elsewhere, especially in rabbinic literature. Sepphoris continued to play a prominent role in Jewish history after the fall of Jerusalem, when it was for a time the seat of the Sanhedrin, the governing body of all Judaism. And in the third century a prominent rabbi known as "Judah the Prince" led in compiling the oral tradition of Judaism into a collection known as the Mishnah.

So Sepphoris was well known in the circles of both

Judaism and Christianity during the first centuries of the Christian Era.

Therefore some have speculated as to why such it is not mentioned in the New Testament writings. A couple of reasons could be suggested. First of all, while it was obviously a major city, it was not an early major Christian center. Secondly in Jesus' day it may have also been suspect to some Jews as a "heathen" city because of the Roman and Greek influence. It may have therefore been considered off limits by many of the Jewish community of Nazareth.

A couple of questions naturally come to mind: Was Jesus aware of Sepphoris? Did he ever visit there?

The answer to the first has to be positively "yes". A city set on a hill cannot be hid, and that is exactly what Sepphoris was.

From the top of the north ridge in Nazareth you could not have missed it. You can still see it clearly today from the same spot, and the old road leading to Sepphoris still winds around the top of the hill and across the valley.

Did Jesus visit there? That of course we can't say, but it seems unlikely that a curious young lad would have missed it without the specific prohibition of his parents, nor would a mature young man learning about his own world and its people have scorned it totally for reasons of "purity".

Today, there is little on the site to indicate it was Carol Meyers of Duke University, and Ehud Netzer of Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Some 65 workers, mostly college students and volunteers, were involved in the day to day digging under the watch of area supervisors.

Many of the students had been in Israel since the beginning of summer as a part of a study program. The "dig" itself was a four week project from the week of June 21 through the week of July 28. Other volunteers, such as myself, came in for the last two weeks.

A question I'm often asked is "Did you find anything?" There answer is, "Yes, a great deal".

Digging is done in carefully chosen "loci" or squares about 15 feet across. All materials at a given level are removed by hand and contents sifted and carefully labeled.

It seemed that nearly every stab into the earth yielded up some sherd of pottery or artifact. Underneath nearly every area, many of which had been residences, we found cisterns, large cavities hewn out of the limestone and plastered to hold water. A sophisticated hydraulics system pumped water collected near by into these cisterns during the rainy season allowing them to sustain a large population through the long dry summers.

Over the years, these cisterns also collected great amount of pottery, probably no small part was due to broken dishes or an occasionally burned dinner that was summarily tossed out.

In the particular area where our small sub-group was digging, we were in fact finding more Roman pottery than any other place in all of Palestine. We were also finding animal bones, small perfume vials, and Roman oil lamps.

Although "treasure hunting" is an interesting part of an archaeological investigation, the true purpose is to shed light of mankind's history. It is the study of the evidence laid down over time in order to help us piece together and understand how people lived in ages past.

It is amazing what a trained archaeologist can "read" from the evidence that to most of us would be meaningless. They can tell by an examination of tools and coins and bones and pottery not only when people lived, but to a large degree, how they lived what they ate, how they worked, even what they may have believed.

In order to do this, special methods have been developed to carefully and systematically explore the evidence in a given area.

Today, before any digging begins, the area is carefully surveyed. A grid is marked based on the Israeli survey system with grids of 100 by 100 meters. Elevations are taken and the topography (the lay of the land) carefully sketched and photographed.

A plot or square is then located and designated as a "locus" for the actual digging. These may vary in size, but at Sepphoris the squares were about 15 feet across.

The squares are carefully arranged so that a "balk" exists between them. A balk is a three foot wall that remains intact and untouched. On the one hand it serves as a walkway among the various squares, but more importantly it allows one to examine the vertical face of a square, looking for changes in layers or "strata" indicating a specific era or time frame.

It also is a way of leaving evidence for future generations with potentially better methods and tools to examine.

The digging itself is mostly hard, dusty, and dirty work. There is no other way to get the job done properly except by hand. You have to be able to discriminate and decide on the appropriate tools at any given time.

Modern heavy machinery is of little use, although some modern technology such as radar and ground sonar can be helpful in mapping an area.

The tools for the actual digging include items as delicate as a pick and back hoe and as delicate as a brush and dental pick. One of the primary tools is a small hand pick called a patish.

Most of the debris, the soil and the articles it contains, is hauled out in rubber buckets call gufas and taken to where it can be sifted for significant items.

Such artifacts and other materials are carefully tagged and identified according to their exact location (square) and stratum (layer). Any failure to do this properly will potentially contaminate the evidence and give misleading information, invalidating the whole week.

The pottery and other items we sorted and saved were later cleaned and then examined by the Meyerses and other supervisors. Ideas and theories are tested by the evidence and new ones put forth.

It is a bit like putting together the pieces of a puzzle, or predicting the ending to a mystery novel by studying the clues left by the author. Some items might significantly clarify the picture, while others only further add to the mystery.

If such an excavation is done properly, a person many years later can study the drawings and the materials found and possibly see relationships and meanings that were not immediately apparent even to those involved in the dig. It is indeed a discipline and not simply a matter of chance.

An old citadel that crowns the peak of the hill at Sepphoris dates back to medieval times and was probably built by the Crusaders. In recent years it has been used as a school by the local Arab Village.

This doesn't mean that archaeology is all dusty and cerebral. Exciting things do happen! Even the "ordinary" events of uncovering vases, perfume bottles, lamps and pottery that real people used in their daily life give a feeling of bridging the gap, of somehow being "in touch" with people in the distant past. And sometimes in the course of the routine finds, the extraordinary does happen.

In the summer of 1987 workers came across an unexpected and remarkable find. Not far from the Citadel, they uncovered a large Roman Mosaic. It was on the floor of what was probably a "triclinium" or dining area in one of the ancient public buildings. Considered one of the finest examples of Roman mosaic art in the middle east, it depicts scenes of the life of Dionysus, the god of wine and festivity.

Since the mosaic art was found near the end of the dig period, the mosaic was covered again under tons of sand to await further study and a decision by the Israeli Department of Antiquities concerning its fate.

This summer it was again uncovered and some additional panels discovered. It has now been removed to Jerusalem where it will be put on display.

The discovery of the mosaic art caused quite a media stir around the world, including coverage from major TV networks here in the states and a recent article in the New York Times.

Such findings are exciting and satisfying, but they are merely markers along the way of reconstructing history. The enduring satisfaction of working on an archaeological site is not so much whether one can make such a spectacular kind, but the fact that one has contributed an infinitesimal small part to that ongoing work that makes history live again for all future generations.

Being involved in such a project, while it has satisfied a long held desire to be involved, has at the same time whetted Rev. Cox's appetite to learn more. According to Cox, he will continue to be a student of archaeology the rest of his life, and now feels more involvement along will the lively knowledge he has obtained.

And that includes a more intimate knowledge of the time and places in and around where Jesus lived.

Life as an Earthworm

Life as an earthworm would be fun. I could play in all the dirt and soil. When it rained I could get all wet. I could also be able to be slimy and I would not even get yelled at. When all the little kids pick me up I could gross them out. I could also get right out of their hands because I'm so slimy.

How I do wish I were an earthworm. I would eat many different things. For instance, I could eat the minerals in the soil.

There is one thing that I would worry about. If a little kid came and picked me up and if I couldn't gross him out he might put me on a hook and feed me to a fish. That would be so horrible. It would also be horrible if a bird came down and fed me to her kids or ate me herself. It would and wouldn't be fun to be an earthworm. But if I has the chance to be an earthworm, I would. The test tube skateboarder

One day a nerd was walking to school suddenly two tall black men stepped out from behind a large bush. The men were dressed in nothing but black except for their Nike Air shoes. The nerd yelled "What do you want!"

The first black man said "We want to try test on you that have never been tried on any living thing." The nerd was surprised when the black men clubbed him on the back of the head knocking him silly.

When he woke up he looked in the full-length mirror across the room. He was surprised at what he saw. He was wearing cut-off leather gloves, Levi's 501 bluejeans, a Rude Dog T-shirt, and he was holding a skateboard which read, "TINGLER" on the bottom. By Brandon Biltz; Mentone

A Sweet Test

Doughnuts, doughnuts, doughnuts! Imagine the taste and the mouth watering scent of nice, hot, fresh, doughnuts. There is a way you can get them in sixth grade. Everyone in the class has to get an A+ on their Spelling test all in the same week. It is really easy to do if you study.

Here are a few tips on how to get an A+ on your Spelling test. One is to take your Spelling book home, and let your mom, dad, sister, brother, or a friend read you the words. Then you can spell them. Think of some clues to help you remember how to spell the words. For example, we remember how to spell the word together by remembering the words to get her. Vikes prepare for sectional game after losing to Whitko

Pre-game warmup. That is the way some fans would describe last Friday's football game between Whitko and Tippecanoe Valley. Although Whitko managed to come out on top 14-6 at the end of the fourth quarter, the Vikings game it all they had and will again give the Wildcats a run for the money in this Friday's first round of football sectional action.

The battle zone will move to Whitko for sectional action giving the Wildcats an edge in the game. But the Vikings have played well away from home and will not hold back because of unfamiliar turf.

The Vikings managed to control Whitko's power game and controlled the clock in the first half of Friday's game. The Viking defensive front game up 195 yards on 43 rushed.

The leading rusher for Valley was Dale Cave, who went for 64 yards on nine carries and one touchdown. Cave should have more strength in the sectional contest since he will have fully recovered from a round with the flu by then.

The season games are over with only memories left behind. Friday's game starts another course of football action. With both Valley and Whitko claiming to have given the regular season game 100%, the sectional game could belong to either team. Defense, offense, and a little good luck will determine the outcome.

BEAUTY AND STRENGTH

If you want both beauty and strength in a restored tooth, you CAN have your cake and eat it too. You find it in a technique called porcelain fused-to-metal.

This is a crown that's made with an alloy core. This gives the restoration strength and durability. Then porcelain is baked onto the metal crown to give it the beauty and stain resistance of porcelain. When your tooth is prepared and fitted with the porcelain-fused-to-metal crown, it will look like a perfectly healthy, natural tooth.

That doesn't mean your new tooth is care-free. You still have to practice good oral hygiene to keep the bacteria away from the restored tooth as well as from all of the other teeth in your mouth. But you'll have a tooth reinforced with the strength and durability of the alloy and capped with the natural appearance of porcelain.

Because of these qualities, the porcelain-fused-to-metal technique is often recommended for teeth in the front of your mouth when they need restoration. Ask your dentist about it.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C. 1329 Main St., Rochester, Phone 223-3121.

BY FAITH WE ADJUST TO THE LOSS OF MATERIAL THINGS

In their small town, it had never been thought necessary to lock a house or a car. The town was growing, however, and the crime rate along with it. One night, after dining out, they found their car gone from the parking lot. It had contained a camera and some new clothes. Although the car was later found, it is not likely that the items in it will ever be recovered. Meanwhile, the couple's reliance on faith had given them a philosophical attitude toward their loss. "It's only material things," said the wife. "Our family members are in good health, and that's really important." Most of us will never have our cars stolen, but some form of disaster will eventually occur. We should let our House of Worship remind us of our priorities, so that we may be better able to cope with whatever life brings.

Student writings explained

Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation was one of 12 schools in the state to be awarded an initiative technology grant of $55,000. The purpose of the funded project is to improve writing skills of students in grades 1-12 with the support of local businesses in the community.

The funds were initially used to purchase computers and software for use throughout the school corporation. In addition, teachers and administrators were trained in the use of the equipment and software applications.

The elementary grades 1-6 will learn word processing and graphics and be able to write and illustrate stories. Local newspapers have shown their support by agreeing to publish the students stories.

In addition to word processing and graphics, junior high students will use a data base and a spread sheet software for business applications with the school—i.e. bookstore operations, cataloging and inventories. The schools are supportive to the junior high programs as results will make the school run more efficiently.

High school students will learn advanced skills on the computer. They will apply those skills as they work with businesses in the community in writing reports and research papers. Businesses will assist the school in evaluating the papers for technical accuracy. Papers will be cataloged and used in the school library for future reference.

Prime season for deer/auto accidents

Department of Natural Resources officials caution Hoosier motorists to watch for deer along highways during the fall months, a period when deer-vehicle collisions are highest.

Craig Albright, deer management biologist for the DNR's Division of Fish and Wildlife, reports that about half of the total annual deer-vehicle accidents occur during October, November and December. During this time, deer are attracted to roadsides to feed on green vegetation. In addition, deer movement increases during the fall breeding seasons. Accidents are most frequent from dusk to 9 p.m. and just prior to sunrise.

The following tips could avoid collisions with deer:

Akron seeking applicants for position of marshal

Jim Moore has resigned as the deputy marshal for the town of Akron. The letter of resignation submitted by Moore was read at the recent meeting of the Akron Town Board. Personal reasons were cited as the reason of resignation.

Rod Connors, president of the board, told the board that several applications for the position of town marshal have been received and will be reviewed. A decision is expected in the near future on the hiring on a new marshal.

The town has purchased a van from Eaton Controls. The van will be used by the water department and will provide access to the necessary work tools. Terry Randall also told the board he has purchased the old green building at the edge of his parking lot and will be tearing it down. He asked permission to haul the cement to the town dump. He was given permission to do so. Residents are reminded that the only materials that can be taken to the dump are rocks, bricks, concrete or dirt. Anything else constitutes a violation and anyone caught dumping items in violation will be prosecuted.

Concern was voiced about the unsafe crosswalk at the corner of Center and Rural Streets for school children. Citizens have told the board cars do not stop since there is no stop sign. The school board will be contacted to see how much the town can do to help correct the problem.

In other business: Suet. Gearhart was given permission to purchase a hand grinder and cordless drill for use in the maintenance department.

Gearhart reported he has purchased four new tires for the truck and the new truck bed would be put on the first week of November.

The town clerk has been instructed to contact two realtors for appraisals on the old fire station and the water house both of which will be offered for sale.

The board reminds citizens the burning of leaves is prohibited on the town streets since it will damage the street surface.

"Get out the vote"

Once every four years, Americans are given the opportunity to determine their destiny in a way that exists in no other country on earth.

Through our unique system of primary and general elections, we exercise a precious right that was fought for and won by patriots who jealously coveted the blessings of freedom. They believed in a basic right without which all others are meaningless; the honest and independent exercise of our own franchise...a trust confided to us - not for private gain - but for the public good. In short, the right to vote.

The ballot has been described as the rightful and peaceful successor of bullets. Those of us who have fought for the right to continue to cast our ballots cherish our public trust. We meet the first duty of democracy, we cast our votes, and since our founding following World War I, The American Legion has encouraged each American to do the same.

This year, as in years past, the American Legion is sponsoring its "Get Out The Vote" campaign. Legion posts across the Nation have distributed registration information and are offering assistance in an effort to encourage voter turnout. This patriotic gesture is not in support of any particular candidate, but an effort to remind American that, in order for our democracy to work and for our Republic to remain strong, its citizens must voice their opinions through the device designed for maintaining in perpetuity the rights of the people - the ballot box.

We urge you to support this endeavor by registering for and voting in the primary and general elections this year. And we would remind you, just because this is a presidential election year, this does not detract from the importance of all other elections. It merely emphasizes them.

Not Just A Chair Anymore

It's funny how things change. It's also funny how things can tie together and a person not realize it.

While Chris was in school for photography, he took a picture of a chair belonging to my aunt. The chair had a cane bottom that had long since given way and was in need of repair. Doug's father caned chairs and had offered to fix the chair like new. This didn't seem any more special than anything else at the time. But it proved to be something I can't quite forget.

The chair had been handed down through the family and, as with all old furniture, Charlie looked it over and could imagine the finished product. I had a little trouble seeing how it would look like anything but a worn chair, but I had seen near miracles take place in the work shop with some purchases Charlie and Jenny had made and figured if anyone could help this chair, they could.

I had always been fascinated with caning. It was such a neat job when finished. Since the chair was from my family, I finally asked Charlie if I could watch him cane the seat. I think he was flattered. He assured me he would call when he was ready. I couldn't wait.

Sure enough, the time came. We all went to Jenny's and both the boys made themselves at home. Doug and I went to the basement where Charlie had his shop. The patience involved in caning the chair and having it perfect was really something. Although the process didn't take as long as I had anticipated, it was done slowly to make sure everything was right and the chair didn't crack or split. He was quiet except for the explanation of the caning bending and looking as he went. It was as if he could see what it would look like before it was finished.

Next to Charlie's platform, Doug was sharpening knives. He too was quiet. I couldn't help but think how much he resembled his dad bending and looking at his project. He also took time to make sure his job was done well. It's funny, Doug doesn't cane and doesn't have the hobbies his dad had, but there are still some similarities just the same.

When the chair was done, it look 100% better with the cane seat, a little repair and the finish touched up. My aunt was thrilled. The chair meant a lot to her and now it was in fine shape once again. She had told me I could have the chair someday.

The next summer Charlie passed away. I've looked at the picture of the chair standing in the shop waiting to be fixed with the basement light causing a shadow. This chair will be something that will mean a great deal coming from my aunt as a family heirloom and because of the part it played in Chris' life (although it seemed small at the time) and the opportunity it gave me to see a side of Charlie that I hadn't seen before. I think I know why Aunt Ruth wants me to have the chair. It certainly holds a lot of mixed memories for us both.

Cause for celebration

4-H...A Cause for Celebration was the theme for the 1988 Indiana 4-H Leaders' Conference held October 14-16. Kosciusko County was represented by Forrest Bouse, Kay Hatfield, Cathy Smith Sue Sidams, Linda Stroup and myself. Forrest, Kay and Linda served on the conference planning committee and task force.

The leaders' conference truly was a celebration. The conference allowed 4-H leaders and agents to meet other people from across the state, to share and gather ideas, to learn from the skill sessions, to be motivated by the speakers and to be appreciated for the important work they do. A couple of important work they do. A couple of important thoughts that were presented at the conference were: don't plan things for 4-Hers, plant things with 4-Hers; and can only care about those things that we know about. I encourage all 4-H volunteers to remember these thoughts when working with our 4-Hers.

The sponsors for the conference were the Indiana 4-H Foundation, the Lilly Endowment, Inc., Farm Bureau Insurance, Farm Bureau, Inc., Indiana Beach, Hillenbrad Industries, Dana Corporation, Payless Supermarket, Inc., Whirlpool Corporation, Citizens Fidelity Bank and Trust and Kraft Foundation.

A speech, written but not delivered, does no harm.

Magical Halloween Creations

This year serve "Trick or Treaters" festive Halloween goodies like Goblin's Crunch pieces, topped with a variety of sweet ingredients including delightfully colorful "M&M's" Plain or Peanut Chocolate Candies. Before the costumed guests arrive, have some extra fun helping your kids decorate the Happy Pumpkin Faces and create tasty Trick or Treat Ghosts with "M&M's" Chocolate Candies.

TRICK OR TREAT GHOSTS

White fabric or tissue paper
"M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies
Thin orange or black ribbon
Black felt or black marker

For each ghost, cut two 8-inch squares of fabric. Place both squares of fabric flat on top of each other and place 1 tablespoon candies in center. Gather fabric up and around the candies; tie with ribbon. The candies become the head and the fabric is the body. Cut eye shapes from felt and glue on the head (or color onto the fabric with marker).

HAPPY PUMPKIN FACES

2 cups brown sugar
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup solid shortening
2 eggs
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
2 cups uncooked quick oats
1 cup "M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies
1 can (16 oz.) frosting, tinted with food coloring if desired
"M&M's" Plain or Peanut Chocolate Candies for decoration

Preheat oven to 350° F. In large mixing bowl, beat sugar, butter and shortening until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in flour, baking soda, salt and cinnamon; fold in oats and plain candies. On baking sheets, place heaping tablespoons of dough, about 3 inches apart. Shape dough into an oval. Add a bit of dough for a stem. Bake 12 to 14 minutes or until golden.

Remove cookies to wire rack to cool. Spread with frosting; decorate with plain or peanut candies. Makes about 2½ dozen cookies.

GOBLIN'S CRUNCH

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup light brown sugar
¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ teaspoon salt
24 graham cracker squares
½ cup "M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies or 1 cup "M&M's" Peanut Chocolate Candies
½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Preheat oven to 375° F. Line a 15 × 10-inch jelly roll pan with foil; lightly grease foil. In 3-quart saucepan, combine butter, sugars, corn syrup and salt; bring to a boil over medium heat. Continue to boil gently 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat; pour half the mixture onto bottom of prepared pan, spreading evenly to cover. Immediately press graham crackers into pan, creating a single layer. Pour remaining mixture evenly over crackers, spreading evenly to coat. Bake 8 minutes. Sprinkle with candies and nuts, pressing in lightly; cool thoroughly. Remove from pan and remove foil; break up into pieces. Makes one 15 × 10-inch pan of crunch.

Heads-of-households who are under 60 years of age are now allowed to apply for Project SAFE assistance. These individuals must apply only at Community Action Agencies.

Households received an average benefit of $255 from Project SAFE during the 1987-88 heating season.

For the 1988-89 heating season, renters may also qualify for Project SAFE assistance. Individuals whose rent includes fuel and electric services must present an affidavit from their landlords stipulating that facet when they apply for Project SAFE.

Individuals do not receive payment from Project SAFE. Rather, they will receive a credit on their fuel or utility bill.

Income guidelines for those under age 60 are 125 percent of the Office Management and Budget (OMB) poverty guidelines. They are:

Number in Household	Annual income
1.....	$7,213
2.....	9,663
3.....	12,113
4.....	14,563
5.....	17,013
6.....	19,463

If there are more than six people in a household,

$2,450 should be added for each additional person.

Persons 60 years of age and older and individuals with disabilities who are receiving Social Security Supplemental Income began applying for Project SAFE assistance September 20 at local gas and electric utilities, Area Agencies on Aging and Community Action Agencies.

All applicants must present their most recent utility bill and proof of income when they apply for Project SAFE assistance. Heating and electric credits for approved applicants will begin in January, 1989.

For more information, individuals may call 232-7003. Those living outside the Indianapolis area may call toll-free 1-800-622-4973.

Area woman's family recipe in cookbook

A family recipe, submitted by Honey Hudson Kuhn, of the Mentone Reading Club, has been selected for inclusion in the General Federation of Women's Club's recently published cookbook.

The recipe for corn bread passed down from Mrs. Nellie Kercher to her daughter, Mrs. Alta Hudson, and on to her granddaughter, Mrs. Kuhn.

Of the over 12,000 recipes submitted for the cookbook, only 847 were chosen to be published. Mrs. Kuhn will receive a plaque to commemorate her honor. The cookbook is for sale and can be ordered from the Mentone Reading Club President Lea Hudson, Treasurer Mary Ann King, or from any member of the club.

The Piggies

Once upon a time there was a group of ugly piggies. They were ugly, very ugly. They were rude, crude and real bad dudes. There was one cute pig. That pig was cute, real cute. The ugly piggies rolled in mud and smelled. The cute pig ALWAYS took showers and ALWAYS used deodorant. He ALWAYS wore a tie and suit wherever he went. The ugly piggies NEVER wore ANYTHING.

One day the cute pig got dirty and smelled. Before he got a chance to shower he saw a beautiful pig. He ran home to shower. BUT he forgot to use deodorant. The beautiful pig noticed.

All the dirty pigs showered and remembered their deodorant. Suddenly all the pigs came running to the beautiful pig and trampled the cute pig over. He was all dirty again. The beautiful pig hid from all the ugly piggies.

Soon the beautiful pig came out and helped the dirty, cute, and smelly pig up and kissed him. They got married, lived happily ever after, and were clean. By Cassey and Tami; Akron

The Mouse in the Computer

"Hi! My name is Ralph. I live in Mentone School. I love to prow around at night. I had a terrible time in a computer one night. Can you believe it? A computer. It was real scary. I'll tell you what happened."

"One night, when I was looking around, I found what the teachers called a computer. I flipped on the switch and the computer turned on. I found a small hole and leaped in."

"When I went in, I was surrounded by gears and little poles. Suddenly these T-shirt, and he was holding a skateboard which read, 'TINGLER' on the bottom. By Brandon Biltz; Mentone

The Invisible Man

Once upon a time there was an invisible man. No one knew who it was. They have been trying for seven years to find out who it was. It was a mystery to the people.

Who ever it was they were nice and polite. That is why people were not afraid of him. Who ever it was helped people carry groceries, clean houses, sweep porches, and even helped the police catch burglars.

Then all at once he had not been helping people. They would call for him but he would not come. They say he has not been around for three years. Some people say he jumped into the Mississippi River. Where ever he is no one knows.

My Magic Lamp

One day when I was in my grandparent's attic digging through stuff, I found a magic Arabian Lamp. You know, the one like Aladdin had. Well, this thing was dusty so I tried to rub the dirt off, when all of the sudden, a genie appeared. Now this genie, I mean this guy looked like something out of Dance Fever. He had ripped Levi's, a Spuds Mackenzie shirt, orange socks, and Reeboks on.

I thought he didn't speak English, so I said what Arabian I knew (which wasn't very much) and he said to me "You got a problem, man." I almost passed out. Then when I regained my wits I said, "Are you a real genie?" He looked at me kind of funny and said, "Of course I'm a real genie," he said, "I've been in that thing for about 100 years. I got out in 1987 and got some decent clothes." "Oh, I said, "It must be awful crowded in that thing." "Yes," he said, "It is, but you let me out and now you get 3 wishes."

At first I thought no way but then I said, "Okay, I wish for all the money in the world. Second, I wish that I could win every contest I entered. Last I wish for 100 more wishes." The genie said, "You may have your wishes." Then 2 days later everything happened just the way I wanted it to. I was very happy, but I was sad that the genie couldn't stay very long. I kind of liked him.

The Ghost

One night we were at the table eating dinner. We heard some footsteps going up the stairs. We were very scared. We hid under the travel. Mom made me go check out the stairs. So I went. There was no ghost. Mom said it was our imagination.

We went to bed because it was 11:30. At 12:00 I woke up because I heard a noise. I got a flashlight I hid earlier that night. I woke Mom up. I checked out the upstairs and it was all right. I went downstairs into the kitchen and there was Dad getting a midnight snack! He said he came home early and went up the stairs onto the roof to fix a leak. he was using a special tar that had to be put on in the evening.

The Lonely Horse

There once was a lonely horse who wanted a friend but no matter how hard she tried she couldn't find one. Finally she said, "Tuesday I will set out before dawn looking for a friend." When Tuesday came she set out before dawn like she'd promised and before long it was light. She found a male horse that looked sad so she asked, "Will you be my friend?" He said, "Yes I'll be your friend."

If you keep trying, some day you will find what you are looking for. Jessica Craft

My Future Dog

My future dog's name is Spike. He has sharp teeth, big eyes, and a collar with spikes on it. He also wears shoes. On Halloween, I'll tie him up to our tree so no one will teepee us.

Spike doesn't like other people. He only likes me and my mom, dad, and my brothers. When I'm in trouble I whistle 3 times and he comes running. He's so tough he could fight off a bear, and even hurt the bear bad. But when we have friends over, we put him in a big cement cage. if it were a wire cage, he would tear a hole in the fence, get out, and probably hurt my friends.

Even though Spike is ferocious, he will be a good friend to me. Who knows, he may even come "trick or treating" some day!!!! Matt Tucker

Once upon a time there was a little girl. Her name was Lisa. Her neighbor's name was Liz. One night they decided to run away from home, but they didn't know where to go. They talked it over and decided to go to the Haunted House. That night they packed their bags. As they were walking down a dark alley, a boy jumped out in front of them. They both screamed. Lisa said, "Get out of here dummy." They walked a little bit longer. Then Liz said, "It's just over this hill."

When they got there they went in. Liz said, "It's spooky in here." They looked at each other and Lisa pointed up stairs. As they went up the noisy steps they heard weird noises. Liz said, "It might be ghosts." After they got upstairs they went into a room. They wandered around for awhile then they decided to go home. When they got here, their moms were scared to death and they were grounded for three months.

Burket students write about being president

Students in Mrs. Ousley's third grade class, Burket School, have written stories in their creative writing class entitled "If I Were President"...wonder if it is too late to get some of these kids on the ticket for the November election!

If I were the President, I would...Grab my flag and try to settle all the wars because I want peace. Then I would travel across the states and see how they are doing

Jonny Hampshire
If I were the President, I would...like the schools to have lots of books so the kids could learn. I would like the poor to have money and live a right life. I would like for all people to laugh and play.

Lori Overmeyer
If I were the President, I would...have money trees. Money would fall from the sky. I would make laws so Christmas would be six times a year and summer would never end.

Jamie Yates
If I were President, I would...free the slaves, make more jobs, and lower the cost of machinery and bills.

Aaron May
If I were the President, I would...make no taxes and no homework. I would keep the rule for safety belts.

Sarah Buck
If I were the President, I would...clean the lakes and rivers, stop wars, and put the end to drugs. I would make laws so no person would shoot animals.

Scott Cox
If I were the President, I would...make a lot of roads. The do nots would be: don't smoke, don't drink alcohol, don't throw trash, don't go with strangers.

Charlie Slone
If I were the President, I would...be rich and live in a beautiful house.

Tiffany Wolfe
If I were the President, I would...put a stop to drugs, try harder to make peace, cut down on taxes, build shelters for the poor, make jobs for the jobless, make life easier, and make the world a better place to live.

Brian Jones
If I were the President, I would...vote to save the earth. Then I would go see Washington's house. I'd like to see his bedroom, kitchen, and one of his wigs.

Brandi Fisher
If I were the President, I would...make sure all the boys and girls go to school and have a nice teacher like we do.

Brandy Manns
If I were the President, I would...have the Star Spangled Banner changed to America. I think the song America tells more about our world. I would also give the poor $1,000, because they need money too.

Heather Blackburn
If I were the President, I would...make sure the people that do and sell drugs would be stopped. I would take all the cigarettes and cigars off the market. I would take everything off that would kill you. I'd tell the schools to keep the hot lunches. I would keep the robbers in jail.

Jake Rucoi
If I were the President, I would...like to see Columbus. He was a good sailor. I would like to steer the boat. Then I would sail to England.

Dainon Lowman
If I were the President, I would...live in a big white mansion, have a big blue bed, go to a big school, and eat a big breakfast. I would also be in the Olympics every year.

Dawn Beery
If I were the President, I would...work in my office and pass out the papers.

Missy Moyer
If I were the President, I would...try to give houses to the homeless, cut down on taxes, fix the roads, stop pollution, give a good education. I'd fix the community!

Tim Flora
If I were the President, I would...keep the world safe, clean, and protected.

Nikki Crosley
If I were the President, I would...do anything I want. I could be very famous. I would rule the world. I could be on every television station. Any way I'm just not quite ready to be a real President yet.

Chris Scott
If I were the President, I would...bring all the orphans to the White House and let them live there forever.

Vikes advance in football sectional

The Tippecanoe Valley Vikings turned the table on the Whitko Wildcats in the first round of sectional football action last Friday. The Wildcats had defeated the Vikings the week before in regular season play, but the Vikings were not ready to quit playing football this year. The Valley team defeated Whitko 20-14 to advance to round 2 of sectional action. The Vikings will host Friday's game with Fort Wayne Dwenger.

The first Valley touchdown last Friday was the start of the few plays that hurt Whitko badly. After the score, Valley recovered a fumble on the kickoff return. On the next play, Dale Cave rumbled 37 yards to make it a 12-0 game.

The second half opened with Whitko starting at their own 44, the best starting point for them up to that point. But the Wildcats drove to the Viking 40 when a clipping penalty pushed the ball back into Wildcat territory. Whitko eventually punted from their own 50, and Valley took over at their own 13.

But the Whitko defense stopped Valley at the 15, the ensuring punt went to the 40, and was returned back in to the 23. Four plays later, Scott Hull forced it in from the five. Jerry Hall's kick made it 12-7 with over 16 minutes of playing time left.

Whitko reacted on that series. But Valley's possession after the kick led to a missed opportunity for Whitko.

The big play came with 9:27 left, and was the last score for the Vikings. But the Wildcats punched it in only one last time after Valley had controlled the line of scrimmage.

The Vikings controlled in the first half, taking possession of the ball for over 16 of the 24 minutes. Cave rushed 31 times for 130 yards, and Pat Jamison rushed eight times for 100 yards behind the big 79-yarder in the fourth.

Volleyball season ends

The Tippecanoe Valley Lady Vikings were ousted from sectional action in the first round of play last Thursday evening. Winamac defeated the girls 15-8, 15-6.

Valley's only lead in the sectional opener came in the early stages of game 1. The Vikings built a 5-1 lead on the strength of four straight serves by Chris Bowers and a stuffed block by B.J. Ross.

Valley never got its offense going and that proved to be the difference. With only 19 sets on the match, the Lady Vikes attempted just 20 spikes. Winamac scored 14 of the final 17 points in the first game and 14 of the first 15 points of the second game.

Valley closed out its season with a 10-10 record.

The Lady Zebras of Rochester went on to win the sectional tourney.

Vikes defeat Wawasee

Tippecanoe Valley completed one of its most successful seasons in the school's history as it ended with a 10-9 record for the regular season by defeating Wawasee 16-14, 11-15, 15-12.

The Vikings were led by the play of B.J. Ross and Jenny Doud on the front line and Chris Bowers, Amy French and Chrissy White on the backline. Tips for little ghosts and goblins Halloween can be a big treat for small children and it can be a great time for parents, too, if they follow the right precautions. The following advice will help assure that your little ghosts and goblins have a happy and safe Halloween.

*Trick-or-treaters should travel in groups with an adult escort.

*After dark, trick-or-treaters should wear reflective strips and carry a flashlight.

*Masks and hats should not restrict a child's vision. Applying make-up to your child's face is a safer idea.

*Make sure your child's costume does not restrict his/her movement. Fire-retardant costumes are recommended.

*Attach your child's name, address and phone number to his/her sleeve in case he/she gets lost. Don't display this information openly on the child's costume.

*Encourage children to trick-or-treat only in the nearby neighborhood.

*Look through your child's goodies before he/she is allowed to eat them. If the candy is not commercially wrapped, or if it has loose wrappers or broken seals, it should be thrown away.

*Give your children a snack or meal before they leave. If their stomachs are full, they'll be less likely to dip into their treat bags.

*Any fruit your child receives should be washed and sliced into small pieces to check for anything inedible.

You can promote Halloween safety by giving trick-or-treat visitors at your door commercially wrapped candy, or trinkets.

Another suggestion to avoid the possible dangers of trick-or-treating is to hold a Halloween costume party for the neighborhood children. Decorations, food, games, and scary movies can be even more fun than trick-or-treating. Many parents are happy to trade the time it requires to put together a party for the peace of mind of keeping their children safe.

Halloween — A Time for All Ages

Halloween means a festive, magical celebration for children, teenagers and adults alike.

It's that bewitching time of year when images of ghosts, goblins, and witches dance in children's minds — time again to hang the cardboard skeleton on the front door, carve your pumpkin and retrieve your favorite costume from the Halloween box in the basement.

Apples and Halloween go hand-in-hand. Harvested in the fall, a wide variety of premium quality Washington apples are in plentiful supply to use for making caramel and candied apples, as an ingredient in Halloween cookies and cakes, or for a game of bobbing for apples.

Use Washington state Golden Delicious for bobbing for apples at Halloween time. Little teeth can sink into their tender skins much more easily.

Red Delicious apples are ideal for caramel apples. The golden-colored caramel complements the apple's ruby red skin, and sticks easily. For an extra special treat, roll the apple in melted caramel*, then swirl it in melted chocolate and chopped nuts. Let set on waxed paper. It can't be beat!

When all of the ghouls and goblins chime in "trick-or-treat", serve up colorful Washington state Granny

Smith and Red Delicious apples for a healthy switch from sugar-filled candy. They're just as tasty!

*To melt caramel, place a bag of caramels and two tablespoons water in microwave-safe pan. Microwave at high for 3-4 minutes. Or, allow about 20 minutes to melt caramels in a 1-1/2 quart heavy saucepan over a conventional rangetop. Stir the caramel gently with a wooden spoon when it starts to melt.

To make sure the caramel sticks, wash and dry apples thoroughly.

If the apples are extra juicy, dry them again after inserting the sticks into the stem end.

Scrape the excess caramel off the bottom of each apple before setting them on the waxed paper.

Store the caramel apples in the refrigerator.

NOT DYING FOR LACK OF LOVE

It has been said that "the world is dying for the lack of a little bit of love." When this statement is examined in the light of Scripture, however, it is found to be the exact opposite of the truth. Listen to what God's Word says about this:

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16). "God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:8). "In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent His only begotten Son into the world that we might live through Him. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins" (1 John 4:9, 10).

Many about us are dying in their sins, but not "for the lack of a little bit of love." It is rather because they reject the great love that God has manifested to us in His Son. We are told in John 1:10, 11 that "He was in the world, and the world was made by Him, and the world knew Him not. He came unto His own, and His own received Him not." This is the problem: Men are rejecting His love. "And this is the condemnation," says John, "that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light..." (John 3:19).

But while others reject Him, you may accept Him as your Savior and know the joy of sins forgiven and of everlasting life, for "as many as received Him, to them gave He power [Lit., right] to become the sons of God, even to them that believed on His name" (John 1:12).

"The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into His hand."

"He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life, and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on Him" (John 3:35, 36).

Improvement of instruction sought

Late last month, a 35-member Geography Education Task Force met for the first time to begin laying the groundwork for a three-to-five year plan for the improvement of geography instruction in Indiana.

The Task Force meeting was one of several geography-related initiatives launched this year by the Department of Education and/or the Geography Educator's Network of Indiana (GENI), a private group of educators and citizens formed to improve geography instruction and education in the state.

We've read too many horror stories about the state of geography education in our nation. Newspaper articles indicating that 95 percent of college freshman at one school being unable to find Vietnam on a map, that one in five students identifying Brazil as the United States, and that two-thirds of one group of students not knowing that the Seine River is located in France have become all too commonplace.

A recent United Nations study of 30,000 10-14 year-olds in nine countries found Americans next to last in their comprehension of foreign cultures. Another recent survey of 5,000 high school seniors found that 25 percent of the students in Dallas could not identify the country that borders the United States to the south. In Baltimore, 45 percent of the students could not shade in the area where the United States is located on a world map.

The Task Force will begin reviewing a wide variety of policy issues and options on such issues as student outcomes, teacher preparation, curriculum development and community involvement, and will report back to the State Board of Education next year. Legislative support, if any is needed, will also be discussed by both the Task Force and the State Board in upcoming months.

But as the Task Force embarks upon its mission, I wanted to communicate with the parents of our students to ask them to get involved in this effort to improve our "geographic literacy". The truth is that all of the policy changes, rule changes and legislation will probably not have the impact or positive effect that parents can have in the home, working with students in a variety of geography-related activities.

In a recent issue of Leadership News, Roger Mark Selya, an associate professor of geography at the University of Cincinnati, listed ten activities for student to help make them more geographically literate. These are simple, direct, and inexpensive ways. parents, I hope you can get involved and, more importantly, get your children involved as well.
