Republican Women's Club met recently

The Fulton County Republican Women's Club met on September 30, 1992 for a shopping trip to Borkholder's in Nappanee. After an afternoon of shopping, the 44 members and guests met at the Triple A Restaurant in the evening for an Amish supper.

After supper, Shirley Tobey, president, called the group to order for a short business meeting.

Pat Thompson was appointed campaign publicity chairman for the November election.

Shirley also announced that the Republican Women's District luncheon will be October 17th at The Carousel in Logansport. The meal will be followed by a vintage style show. Tickets are available from Carolyn Hiatt.

It was also announced that the Republican Women will be sponsoring recycling day on October 24th and the county candidates will be working.

The G.O.P. Fall Rally will be Sunday, October 25, from 4:30-7:30 at the fairgrounds. The meal is free with donations being accepted, but not required. Entertainment will be provided by the singing group Light Force of Rochester.

Linda Rusie then closed the meeting in prayer.

Who's Who in Akron

Marian Hunter enjoys driving bus

by Tonia Weller

"I guess my shirt just about says it all," says Valley school bus Number 14's driver, Marian Hunter, referring to her sweatshirt which says, "God made little children for school bus drivers." "I think all the kids on my bus are special. They all have special talents and charms. They are a gift from God," she says.

Marian has been a bus driver at Tippecanoe Valley for 22 years, the last 20 on the same route. "I'm hauling the kids of kids I hauled in the beginning, so I guess you could say I'm a grandmother bus driver," she laughs.

One would think keeping 56 kids, ranging in age from kindergarten through high school, in line would be an enormous challenge. Marian, however, says the kids on her bus don't give her much trouble. "I'm blessed on my route with parents who want their children to grow up to be good citizens. Good parents make good kids," she says.

Marian picks up her first child at 6:55 a.m. each morning. She makes 35 more stops before driving to TVHS where the high school students are dropped off. She then drives back to Akron arriving at 8:15 to unload the elementary students. At 2:30 each afternoon she picks up the L.A.M.P. (gifted and talented) students at Akron Elementary and drives them to TVHS. At 3:10 she picks up her high school students and returns to Akron to pick up her elementary students. She delivers the 56 children to their 36 different homes and arrives back at her home west of Akron on St. Rd. 14 around 4:30 p.m. having driven 66 miles.

"It's an ideal job for a mother with children," Marian says, "because you have the same days, hours and vacations as your children. Plus you have the middle of the day to take care of your home." Marian's own three children (now grown) were in school when she started her bus driving career.

The children do present some challenges, though. Marian recalls one particularly cold morning when a small boy stuck his tongue on the bus window and it froze fast. She sent a little girl back inside at the next stop to get a warm washcloth, which she used to thaw the boy's tongue from the glass. "There's never a dull day!" Marian exclaims.

The addition, five or six years ago, of radios to keep the buses in touch with the school was a major improvement according to Marian. "The weather's not that much of a challenge anymore," she says. "If we do have a problem, we just radio in and we're just as close to help as that radio is to us. Help is not more than 20 minutes away."

"We have good bus mechanics and they keep the buses in good shape. It's our responsibility to let them know if something is going wrong or sounds funny. I think I know more about that bus than my car," she laughs.

Marian is very pleased with the school corporation's attitude toward the bus drivers. "Our corporation has always stressed safety first. If the weather's bad, they're good about delaying or calling off school. And if the roads are bad, and you get in half an hour late, they don't care as long as the children get there safely. They're real cautious about trying to protect all these children."

The last few years have brought several improvements in the buses themselves. "This is my third new bus," Marian says, "and every one gets nicer and better. We have power everything anymore. It's as easy to drive as a car except you have to make wider turns." The bus seats are now more padded and have higher backs. There is an escape hatch in the roof and on each side of the bus. The long seats across the back of the bus have been replaced with an open space to allow more room in case of a rear end collision. "You just hope and pray you never have an accident," Marian says.

From 1977-87, Marian baked, decorated and sold special occasion cakes and also taught an adult cake decorating class at Rochester. "It used to be kind of nerve wracking delivering a big wedding cake. You couldn't exactly just run back home and make another one. I remember once we had to slam on the brakes for a dog, and I expected to have cake all over the back seat, but it didn't slide off. I always took an emergency repair kit, some extra icing and flowers." Marian still decorates cakes for fun and will be baking her grandson's wedding cake, but she no longer bakes commercially. Over the years, the board of health rules have become too complicated and she adds, "When something begins to be a job, you don't enjoy it as much."

For several years the Hunter family was involved with showing quarter horses. "We leave that to our daughter Deb now," Marian says. They still own Jan Dar Cedar, a 20-year-old, black quarter horse who won the State American Quarter Horse Halter Championship. "I ride off and on, but mostly the grandkids ride her. She's retired from the show circuit now and is the family pet."

Marian and her husband, Howard, put out a large garden and Marian cans and freezes a great deal of produce. They also have apple, cherry, English walnut, hazel nut and heart nut trees and grape vines. They recently purchased a dehydrator to use for drying fruit.

Marian has several other hobbies including reading and sewing. She has made many of her own clothes, curtains and quilts.

"My favorite hobby is enjoying my seven grandchildren," she says proudly. Her son, Larry, who works for Pike Lumber, lives in Akron with his family. Her older daughter Shirley is a homemaker in Indianapolis and youngest daughter Deb now lives in Ohio with her family.

An active member of the Akron Church of God, Marian teaches the church's Homebuilder Sunday School class. "My family and my church are the most important things in my life," she says.

Concerning the recent controversy over building a new middle school, Marian says, "I feel someone paid taxes so my kids could go to school, now it's my turn to pay taxes so someone else's kids can go to school. I think Akron is a real nice place. It's a community that really cares about everybody. We have schools we can be proud of and kids need to feel proud about their schools."

FAITH SAYS A HANDICAP IS A CHALLENGE TO OVERCOME IT

Physical handicaps come in many forms, and so do the opportunities for overcoming them, even in sports. There are blind skiers, as well as one-legged skiers and mountain climbers. Those confined to wheelchairs have many chances to join in athletic events. Moreover, there are other avenues of achievement for the handicapped besides sports. Everyone knows of the incredible accomplishments of the paralyzed young woman artist who learned to paint beautiful pictures with a brush held in her teeth. Handicapped employees are dedicated to their work, determined to be worthy of the trust placed in them. God gave man the ability to perform to his fullest potential, with an added boost if he has a handicap to overcome. So let us thank Him for this extra love He confers, wherever it is needed.

Although the world is full of suffering, it is also full of the overcoming of it.
—Helen Keller

"God was with him, And delivered him out of all his afflictions."

A Family Farm

Mike and Karen Nelson

by Rosa Hatfield

The Nelson farm, owned by Mike and Karen Nelson, of Burket, has been in the family for over 120 years. It belonged to Mike's grandmother when he was growing up. His dad ran Nelson Trucking in Burket. Mike and his brother decided they liked farming better than the trucking business and they farmed together until 1980. Mike has since bought most of the farm.

For a short period of time, Mike worked in a factory and spent a couple years in the army. Since then, he has farmed.

Karen was raised on a farm in Tipton. She was familiar with the ups and downs of farming before her marriage and has always enjoyed the life style.

The Nelsons own 825 acres and farm an additional 840 acres, either cash rent or share crop. They have 230 sows and raise 4200-4500 hogs, farrow to finish each year. They also raise about 30 head of beef cows, finish calves and sell them for 4-H, and finish out a few feeder calves. Mike also sells Pioneer seed corn and Karen teaches at Burket School.

They have two sons, Todd, who graduated from Purdue in Ag Economics last January and is working full time on the farm, and Scott, a senior in Ag Business at Vincennes, who hopes to come back to work on the farm in the spring.

Karen helps with the farm work in the summer by going for parts and during harvest she helps the men change fields, driving them back and forth.

"I don't do as much on the farm as I would like," said Karen. "But working full time at school for nine months out of the year, there's just more going on here than I can keep up with."

The Nelsons concentrate mostly on corn and soybeans, and some wheat. They are trying minimum tillage in the soybeans and some no-till in the corn, but not too much yet.

No-till saves time with fewer trips over the field, but Mike said he finds it hard to change the way he has always done things. There is a slightly smaller yield but hopefully the cost savings will offset that.

This year, the chemicals didn't work as well to kill the weeds because the amount of rain in July weakened the chemicals and the weeds came back on faster. More weeds cause a dock when selling grain in addition to a smaller yield. They also make it harder to combine.

In the spring and the fall, the Nelsons hire seasonal help. On a full time basis they have Marty and Deb Gall to help out on the farm. Marty is in charge of the hogs and Deb takes care of the baby pigs. The Galls live in a house on the farm that was once homesteaded by Mike's grandfather. It is the home where Mike and Karen lived when they were first married and Mike's father before him.

They have hogs in five different locations and grind all of their own feed. Living just outside Burket, they don't feel they can keep all the hogs there because of the smell, but it takes a lot more time to get the chores done this way.

"The boys will probably bring a little diversity to the farming and that's OK with us. We want them to try their things too," said Karen.

"Since the prices of grain aren't very good right now, it helps to diversify and hope something else makes up for it," said Mike.

Mike said the difference in farming when he first started out and now is amazing.

"The biggest difference is in the size of the equipment," he said. "When I first started out, I took care of a couple hundred acres by myself. We've grown a lot. It seems like you'd have to have a lot more help now but you don't. The equipment is so efficient now that you can take care of a lot more by yourself."

The Nelsons keep their records on a computer but are finding it difficult to get used to. Learning to understand the terminology and placing their trust in the computer is the most difficult.

"It has to gain your confidence and show you it can do it," said Karen. "The boys find it easier than we do because they have been raised in the computer age."

"With computers and agriculture both, you have to have a positive attitude," said Mike. "We're so vulnerable to weather and government restrictions. More management is required all the time and change has to be gradual. The boys would like to do more no-till now but I can't justify taking that gamble yet. We've always had a pretty good yield in the soybeans and you hate to think of losing a few bushels. But costs keep going up and you have to find a way to help that."

"Farmers are told in a certain way how they have to farm. For instance, if you have sloping ground, the farm program requires no-till farming. You have to keep a ground cover. That's probably another reason we find it hard to change," said Mike. "Everyone likes to think it is their own idea."

The Nelsons hope their sons choose to keep the farm in the family. If so, over the next five to ten years, Mike and Karen will phase out and turn it over to them.

"There's a lot of enjoyment in farming. You are in competition with your neighbors and with your own past performance," said Mike.

Mike's plans for retirement are to help the boys farm. "My dad helped us. It gave him something to occupy his time and made him feel needed. I take a lot of pride in what I'm doing and it would be hard to just quit."

The Nelson sons will be the fifth generation on the farm. The home that Mike and Karen live in was built by Mike's grandfather, who worked on the railroad.

"We want the boys to choose their own lifestyles," said Karen. "But, of course, we hope they choose to keep the farm and someday hand it down to their own children."

Local workshops teach a difficult skill

Many people with children would agree that parenting is one of the hardest jobs in the world. How do you coolly and calmly stop a three-year old from throwing a tantrum in a restaurant? How do you keep your nerves from rattling while your ten-year-old keeps interrupting your telephone conversation? How do you make your teenager understand that he should have called if he was going to be late without a yelling match?

These are common problems that cause parents to lose patience and confidence. After all, no one has ever taught parents how to handle these situations...they are just expected to know. What parent doesn't sometimes worry that it might be something they have or have not done that continues the cycle of misbehavior, and perpetuates their own responses of "Don't you dare!"

Now there is a six-week workshop called "Active Parenting" that may break this cycle by giving parents lessons and confidence via the media of videotape.

The workshop is offered by the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation. The workshops will be held in both the Akron and Mentone School libraries this fall and again next spring.

The sessions will be taught by a team of educators and parents trained in Active Parenting techniques. This method includes the use of guidebooks and workbooks by students of the course, and features video segments which outline typical family conflicts to help parents learn to handle everyday problems.

Active Parenting teaches parents not to "react" to their children by yelling and punishing. Attention to the child's negative behavior reinforces that behavior, and the cycle tends to continue endlessly. Instead, parents are instructed in how to "act" instead of "react", by giving their child respect and "choices within limits". The child is given responsibility for making a decision, and therefore must accept the logical consequence for his/her decision.

By not becoming angry, by maintaining control, and respecting the child by them the choice and making sure they accept the consequence of their decisions, parents can successfully influence the behavior of their children at any age. As the child grows older, the choices expand. As the child gains responsibility, the more comfortable both parent and child will be when the decisions become more difficult.

Like anything else in life, parenting can be easier. It can also be more satisfying and enjoyable if parents are given sufficient information, skill, and support.

Cost of the course is $25.00 per family but financial assistance is available. Pre-registration is requested but walk-ins are welcome. Dates for the fall session at both Akron and Mentone are Oct. 13, Oct. 20, Oct. 27, Nov. 3, Nov. 10, Nov. 17. Dates for the spring sessions are Feb. 23, Mar. 2, Mar. 9, Mar. 16, Mar. 23, and Mar. 30. All sessions are from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Free child care will be available at the schools.

Dr. Michael Popkin is the founder and director of Active Parenting, Inc., an innovative video-based education program used for parent/child relationship enrichment. Dr. Popkin has served as Child and Family specialist for Buckhead Mental Health Center in Atlanta; and Child, Adolescent and Family Coordinator for Northside Community Mental Health Centers, also in Atlanta.

Mentone Business of the Week June's Upholstery Shoppe

June Calhoun

by Rosa Hatfield

Mentone's business of the week is June's Upholstery Shoppe, whose obscure location has kept many residents from knowing of its existence. The shop is located behind Valley Furnishings and Classroom Connection and can be reached by driving through the alley behind the Pill Box.

Owner, June Calhoun, has been upholstering furniture for about 20 years, something that started as a hobby for her.

"The chairs to my dinette set needed recovering and I decided to try doing it myself," says June. "It turned out well and I really had a lot of fun doing it."

After June ran out of her own projects, she started recovering furniture for family and friends. One of her most challenging projects was recovering the seats in a truck.

"I didn't know if I could do it," she said. "But it wasn't really much different than anything else I had done."

After seeing her work, people began calling June about jobs they needed done. Finally deciding to turn her talents into a money-making venture, June opened her upholstery shop in March of 1992.

June spends about 30 hours a week in the shop, with shorter hours in the winter and longer ones in the summer. Most of her customers call for appointments, enabling her to vary the hours to suit the needs of the business.

In addition to recovering sofas, chairs, recliners, and "most anything that needs recovered", June also makes throw pillows and tie-on cushions for chairs.

June is a single parent. Daughter, Jessica, 11, is a fifth grade student at Mentone School. They moved to Mentone from Warsaw in December of 1991. June says she prefers the small town lifestyle.

"It is so much easier to raise a child in a small town like Mentone. Jessica can get out to play more without me worrying about her. I've never liked to leave her with a babysitter, so when she is out of school, I bring her to work with me. Sometimes, when I come in real early, she curls up on a sofa and goes back to sleep," said June.

June is a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Warsaw. She devotes her evenings to studying to become an EMT. After seeing a feature story in the paper about Mentone's need for EMT's, June enrolled in classes at Woodlawn Hospital in Rochester. She plans to take her state finals in February.

"This is a very rigorous course," said June. "I listen to the lectures, then study a lot at home. It's something I really want to do."

"One of the best things about living and working in a small town is having people know you well enough to notice something out of the ordinary," said June. "Everybody looks out for each other."

June said she expects to have more free time during the winter months because most people start thinking about remodeling in the spring. Her experience in upholstery makes June's Upholstery Shoppe a welcome addition to Mentone.

Akron School conferences/open house

Parents of students in grades seven and eight at Akron School are invited to attend Parent-Teacher Conferences followed by an Open House on Wednesday, October 7.

Conferences will be held in the school cafeteria from 1:00 to 6:30 p.m. Teachers of grades seven and eight will be available in that area for individual conferences. Specific conference times are not being scheduled as parents need only appear to hold a conference with the teacher(s) of their choice.

Open House for grades seven and eight will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a brief orientation meeting in the gym. Parents will then be dismissed to go through the daily class schedule of their son/daughter. Class periods will be seven minutes in length with four minute passing times between classes. Classroom teachers will be sharing briefly with parents items of importance regarding the daily operation of their classroom. Open House will conclude at 8:00 p.m.

Parent involvement and interest in a young person's education is of vital importance. The faculty, staff, and administration at Akron School recognize the importance of parental involvement in the educational process and invite each and every parent to attend.

Kindergarten parent-teacher conferences have been scheduled for Wednesday, October 7 and Thursday, October 8. Grades one through six will have conferences on Wednesday, October 7. Kindergarten students will not attend school either day, while students in grades one through six will be dismissed at 11:50 both days.

National School Lunch Week

by Rosa Hatfield

Jackie Gible and Chris Haussmann are ready for National School Lunch Week. Gible has been the cook at Burket Elementary School for 14 years. This is her 21st year with the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation. Haussmann, assistant cook at Burket, is in her fourth year.

These ladies prepare about 100 lunches per day and have come to know the students' likes and dislikes pretty well. They said Burket School has some really good eaters this year. Some of the favorites on the menu are tacos, pizza, taco salad, spaghetti, turkey, and tuna. Gible said the kids will eat tuna in about any way they can think of to fix it.

The cooks have instituted an incentive program this year called "Mission Nutrition". Students receive a small surprise gift on their lunch trays once a month as a special treat.

For National School Lunch Week, October 12-16, each student will be allowed to invite three guests to have lunch with them at school. Each class will have its own special day and the cooks will serve some of the students' favorite foods for lunch. They are doing surveys of each class to determine the menus.

Burket students brag about the food served at their school saying, "We have the best lunches of all the schools in the Corporation."

Gible sent letters home to Burket students promoting the "Mission Nutrition" lunch program. She said, "We will prepare meals from the 'four' food groups because we want you to grow up strong and healthy. There will be days when you will love your lunch and days when you will frown at your tray or us, but that's alright. Please try to frown quietly!"

So far, there haven't been too many frowns.

A new face at Mentone School

by Rosa Hatfield

Charles Kitchell is getting in the swing of things at Mentone School as the new assistant principal. At the end of his first week, he said, "Things have really gone well for me so far. I have enjoyed my first week. The people have been super. It's a little difficult coming into a school after the school year has already started. I am getting to know some of the students well, since I am in charge of discipline. I am real pleased with the incentive program here at Mentone. I like the idea of rewarding students for good behavior instead of just punishing them for wrong behavior."

Kitchell graduated from Central High School in 1974 and from Oakland City College where he received a B.S. majoring in physical education and health in 1986. He received his masters degree in 1986 in secondary education and his administration certification in 1991, both from IUPUI in Fort Wayne.

Kitchell taught physical education and health for grades six-twelve in the Central Noble School Corporation for six years. He then took a job as a plant supervisor in a local company in Albion and stayed out of education for a year, an experience that he says taught him how much he really wanted to get back to teaching.

"When I returned to teaching, it was in the Michigan City area working with the emotionally handicapped," said Kitchell. "I taught sixth and seventh graders. It was a very challenging experience."

Kitchell was in his seventh year as a physical education teacher for grades one-six at Culver Schools when he was approached about a job in the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation. He has also coached varsity basketball for two corporations and helped with many other sports as well.

He and his wife Julie, who teachers freshman and sophomore English at Culver School, do a lot of traveling in their free time. They have traveled to Canada and to various locations in the U.S. but prefer going out west.

Kitchell enjoys watching most sports and recently got hooked on playing golf. He also works with wood, plays basketball in adult leagues, and enjoys doing most outdoor activities.

Although the Kitchells currently live in Culver, they plan to relocate to the Mentone area soon.

"I have always been a rural person," says Kitchell. "I like the small town atmosphere."

Teacher Feature

by Rosa Hatfield

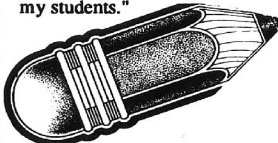

Jennifer Kline is a first year music teacher, teaching grades K-Five at both Burket and Akron Schools. She is taking over for Julie Baxter, who is on an adoptive leave.

Kline graduated from Warsaw High School in 1988 and went on to Taylor University to receive her B.S. in 1992.

In addition to teaching music, she is coaching volleyball for the seventh and eighth grade girls at Akron. Kline has sung in the choir and played the piano at church since high school. She has a license in elementary education and hopes to teach in the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation after her temporary position has ended.

Kline is single and lives in Bremen where she likes to shop, attend sporting events and listen to all kinds of music in her spare time.

"I am really looking forward to teaching music," said Kline. "I think it is going to be an exciting year for me and for my students."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Evelyn Krieg's letter to the editor on 9/17/92 about Jim Jontz's record is so full of errors that it must be challenged.

Jim Jontz has consistently voted against taxes, most importantly in his vote against the 1990 budget agreement which increased taxes by billions.

Jim Jontz did not vote for "quotas"—the civil rights bill he supported specifically outlawed quotas.

Jim Jontz did vote for a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution, both this year and in 1990. In fact, he has been a co-sponsor of this proposal.

Jim Jontz did not vote for taxpayer funded abortions in overseas military hospitals. In fact, this vote was only to allow abortions at private expense to be performed in military hospitals similar to other hospitals.

Jim Jontz voted for the legislation to outlaw the funding of pornographic art by the taxpayer.

And not only did Jim Jontz vote against the Congressional pay hike; he used his to start a scholarship program for graduating high school seniors in the Fifth District.

Ms. Krieg has been given a great deal of misinformation and if she would check the record on these votes, she would see that Jim Jontz has been doing a good job representing the people of this great Fifth District.

Sincerely,
Barbara J. Schrier

Dear Editor:

I picked up a flyer that Jim Jontz was handing out at the Marion Labor Day Parade. I read it along with other brochures handed out by various candidates seeking political office.

Jontz's was a disappointment though. It wasn't a biography or a list of his accomplishments. It described why he opposes the North American Free Trade Agreement. It also contained a cartoon showing a laughing man in a car marked 'big business,' dragging Hoosier jobs to Mexico. I found this quite disturbing.

Disturbing that our Congressman must stoop to a negative strategy of treating his constituents like third graders. Rather than run a campaign based on his accomplishments, Jontz relies on scaring people for their votes.

Congressman Jontz opposed the Agreement long before it was released. To form an opinion before having all the facts is pretty ignorant if you ask me. Now that the 2000 pages of the Agreement have been released, I would suggest that the Congressman read it thoroughly himself and then form an opinion. Then he should report to his constituents on the facts, not his own interpretation.

I want details from my Congressman, not scare tactics. It's a shame Congressman Jontz thinks we're so ignorant that a cartoon will fool us into voting for him. It's a shame Jontz can't run a campaign based on accomplishments.

Sincerely,
Tim Gray

Dear Editor:

One of the most important issues in this year's election is health care. Citizens are concerned with the soaring costs and are basing their decisions on who to vote for on the candidates views on health care reform.

With that rationale in mind, I am putting my support behind Jim Jontz. He is actively supporting changing our problematic health care system for the better.

It is not socialized medicine, it is not Canadian-style, and it is not going to take away the patient's choice of doctor.

What it will do is give everyone insurance, regardless of income or health. It will put a control on costs and eliminate wasteful paperwork. It will give the American people, who are currently putting $800 million a year into health care, what they pay for and deserve. Thanks Jim.

Sincerely,
Gladys Reece

Dear Editor:

My family and I had a wonderful time last week at a rally for Fifth District Congressional candidate Steve Buyer in Kokomo's Highland Park. It was a thrill to meet Senator Richard Lugar who was there to make an endorsement for Steve. Senator Lugar spoke of the commitment and integrity that Steve would take to Washington. I agree wholeheartedly.

Steve shares the values and ethics that my husband and I are raising our family with. Steve has served his family and community well throughout his life and now hopes to do so in Congress. I only hope that for the good of rural Indiana he has that chance.

It's not often that one can have total confidence in someone who is seeking to serve the public. In Steve Buyer I have that confidence.

Who better to be our one voice in Washington than a family man who understands the needs and desires of the community which he was born and raised in. If we truly desire a change in Congress and a reforming of our government, than it is best that we begin here at home and Steve Buyer to help clean up the mess.

Sincerely,
Lisa Metz

Dear Editor:

An angry debate has been going on across the country over the issue of logging what little is left of the ancient forests of the Pacific Northwest. The debate has become a campaign issue here in the Indiana Fifth Congressional District. This has reminded me of opportunities I have had to see first hand the results of logging without restraint similar ancient evergreen forests in two different parts of the world.

The first opportunity came on a visit to the Middle East in the summer of 1974 when I made several trips across the Lebanon Mountains. Before visiting Lebanon I knew that in ancient times the Lebanon mountains were covered with magnificent evergreen forests like those of our Pacific Northwest. The Cedar of Lebanon forests flourished due to rainfall blowing in from the Mediterranean Sea just as the Douglas-fir forests in the mountains of the Pacific Northwest flourish due to rainfall blowing in from the Pacific Ocean. I also knew that the forests of Lebanon were logged for many centuries in ancient times.

Logging in the Lebanon Mountains began nearly 5000 years ago and developed into a major industry that endured for 4000 years. The Bible in I Kings 5-7 tells how King Solomon of Israel contracted with King Hiram of the Phoenician city of Tyre on the Lebanon coast to buy timber to build a temple and other government buildings in Jerusalem. Solomon's largest building was supported by great cedar beams resting on rows of cedar columns and was named the House of the Forest of Lebanon. To carry out his ambitious project Solomon conscripted three crews of ten thousand men each. These crews took turns working month-long shifts alongside crews provided by King Hiram. They dragged logs down from the Lebanon Mountains to the Mediterranean coast, fastened them together into rafts and floated them south along the coast, and then dragged them inland nearly 40 miles, and up 2500 feet, to the top of the mountain ridge where Jerusalem is located. The whole project took nearly twenty years to complete. Similar methods were used for over 3000 years to transport timber from Lebanon to Egypt which had no forests of its own. And the Phoenicians living along the Lebanon coast used timber from these same ancient forests to build the fleets of ships that made them the greatest sailors and sea traders of the ancient world.

During my 1974 visit to Lebanon I had hoped to see at least one surviving grove of ancient cedar trees, but I was totally disappointed. The Lebanon Mountains are now completely deforested and looked like a barren brown desert under the hot summer sun. I was told that the only ancient cedar trees left are around a few old monasteries where they have been protected from the ax, but I had no opportunity to see them. So the only large Cedar of Lebanon trees I have ever seen were in the Cambridge Botanic Garden in England where three or four were planted a century or more ago. Seeing them there instead of in Lebanon was like seeing them in a museum.

There is no possibility the ancient forests of Lebanon that used to be so magnificent will ever grow back again. No reforestation could begin to restore them. So one of the great natural resources and one of the great natural wonders of the world is gone forever. They lasted as long as they did because the people who logged them for so many centuries lacked the modern technology of chain saws, bulldozers, cranes, and logging trucks. But they are now gone because they were logged faster than new forests could grow and no government had the wisdom and foresight to conserve anything for future generations.

My second opportunity to see first hand the results of logging ancient evergreen forests like those that used to thrive in Lebanon came in the summer of 1985. I drove up to Oregon coast and then east across the entire length of the state through one national forest after another. Seeing an ancient forest of giant Douglas-firs was one of my hopes. So I drove up from the coastal highway into the mountains on a side road looking for a stand of old-growth Douglas-fir. What I found instead was mile after mile of stumps with a narrow strip of trees left standing along the road that could not hide the devastation. I was reminded of the barren mountains I had seen in Lebanon. I did not have time to hunt out any of the few large stands of ancient Douglas-fir forest that still survive in remote areas. Instead, following highways through national forests all across Oregon, I mostly saw scrubby looking second-growth forest and other clear-cut areas with only stumps. So, with modern technology, we are wiping out in a few generations a national resource in the Pacific Northwest greater than the one in Lebanon that took 4000 years to exhaust.

The ancient forests of the eastern United States were wiped out between 1800 and 1900 by careless and wasteful logging practices uncontrolled by any kind of government regulation. Then in 1905 the United States Forest Service was established under the wise and far-sighted leadership of the great Republican conservation president, Theodore Roosevelt, to protect our western forests from the same fate. The purpose of this system was to ration the use of the forests in the mountains of the West so they would remain a perpetual resource for future generations. But in recent years that purpose has been almost forgotten. The administration, the Forest Service, and Congress, under pressure from the timber industry, have been allowing the ancient forests of the Pacific Northwest to be cut so rapidly that they are begin lost as a resource for future generations. The old policy of conservation, careful rationing, and protecting wildlife is referred to scornfully as "locking up natural resources" or as "putting owls ahead of people" by those who want unrestrained logging.

The Indiana Fifth District is fortunate to have a far-sighted congressman, Jim Jontz, who is working hard to change these short-sighted policies. While serving the many other interests of our district, he still finds time to lead the effort to preserve some of what is left of the ancient forests of the Pacific Northwest. He also seeks to end below-cost timber sales by the Forest Service that waste taxpayer money, compete unfairly with private timber growers here in Indiana, and promote the destruction of all our national forests. These ancient forests remnants in the Pacific Northwest are a great national treasure owned by all Americans. Saving them will benefit our entire county, including Indiana.

It must take courage for Jontz to lead this effort since the timber industry in the Pacific Northwest is pouring a great amount of money into a campaign to defeat him in the coming election. We need more far-sighted political leaders like Jontz who will put the long-term interests of our country ahead of short-term profits and political advantage. So I urge all Fifth District voters who value forests and wildlife, and who are concerned for our children and grandchildren, to support Jim Jontz by voting for him on November 3.

All charges against McEvoy dropped

Fulton County Prosecuting Attorney Rick Brown filed a motion to dismiss on all criminal charges against former Akron Town Marshal James H. McEvoy. Fulton Circuit Court Judge Douglas Morton granted the motion.

According to court documents "the state believes that prosecution at this time is not appropriate."

McEvoy, who lives in Rochester and is now working at a South Bend mall, was charged in December 1991 with obstruction of justice and contributing to the delinquency of a minor stemming from an incident at Gagnon Chevrolet in Akron. He was also later charged with theft. He was suspended and later dismissed as Akron Town Marshal after the charges were filed.

Jay Hirschauer, Logansport, McEvoy's attorney said the charges were dropped because the state had no probable cause to file the charges.

The Akron Police Department with Marshal Dan Butt, has recently hired a new Deputy Marshal, Tom Baize.

Baize served 15 years in the Marines from 1978 to 1992. He became interested in law enforcement about eight years ago and decided to look for employment in the field after leaving the Marines with early retirement. While in the Marines, Baize was involved with Air Wings and was a Legal Chief. Tom graduated from Franklin High School in Brookville, IN. Tom and his wife, Jane, a long time resident of Akron, have two sons, Joshua, 5, and Jared, 2. Baize and his family bought a home in Akron about a year ago. When he heard of the position as Deputy Marshal in Akron he applied. He will spend the next six months in training with Marshal Dan Butt and the Fulton County Sheriff's Department, and plans to attend the Academy in March.

Also joining the Akron Police Department in K-9 Officer Mars. The police dog has now been certified as an officer graduating on September 30, 1992 from Edelheim Police K-9 Academy at Bunker Hill. A tradition since 1959, 33 princesses are selected to serve as ambassadors for the 500 Festival in May. From the 33 princesses, a queen and court of four are chosen. The queen and court receive scholarships to help further their education, and all of the princesses receive prizes.

To be eligible for the 500 Festival Princess selection, women must meet the following requirements: must be single and never married, must be at least 19 years old but not yet 23 years old in 1993, must be a legal resident of Indiana, one parent or legal guardian must reside in and be a legal resident of Indiana, and must currently be enrolled as a full-time student taking a minimum of 12 hours in an accredited Indiana college or university.

The deadline for submitting applications is midnight

December 31, 1992. Everyone who submits an application is interviewed by an independent judging panel during the Princess Selection Competition on January 23, 1993. The 33 princesses will be determined by the end of that day. Last year 259 women participated in the interviews.

The queen and court of four are chosen at the Queen Selection and Coronation Pageant on March 27, 1993 at the Indiana Roof Ballroom. The Queen's Ball will take place May 28, 1993 at a yet undetermined site.

To obtain an application, interested women should send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: 500 Festival Associates, P.O. Box 817, Indianapolis, IN 46206 or pick one up at the 500 Festival office, Suite 130 in the Hoosier Dome.

The Festival consists of eleven major events including the United States' largest mini-marathon and second largest parade.

officers for the price of one. Mars patrols with Marshal Butt and is trained in the control of individuals, drug detection, and tracking. Marshal Butt comments, "Mars is a big help. It may take police back-up 8 to 12 minutes to arrive on a good day. Mars can help control multiple subjects or individuals too aggressive to be handled by one person."

Marshal Butt has found that Mars is a great way to get through to kids. He has taken Mars to the Manitou Kinder Club and plans to visit Akron Nursery later this month. "Many people have misconceptions of K-9 units. I would be interested in speaking to any adult group or children. Mars has an excellent disposition, and is very well disciplined, and the public should have no fear of him," comments Butt. "Folks should use some caution when approaching the police car, and using any inappropriate behavior towards me," adds Butt. "With the addition of Mars and Officer Baize, I have a lot of confidence in my department," concludes Marshal Dan Butt.

Mentone Town Council sets October curfew

The Mentone Town Council agreed to set curfew hours for the month of October. At the Monday, October 5 meeting, it was decided that all people under the age of 18 will be required to be off the streets by 9 p.m. for the entire month unless accompanied by an adult.

Trick or Treat night was scheduled for October 31 from 6 to 8 p.m. Also, the outside entrances to the town hall will be locked for the month to prevent vandalism.

In other business, the council agreed to wage increases for the town employees. Salary for Barb Ross, town clerk, will be increased to $19,344 per year. Lynn Phillips informed the other board members that blue collar workers are required to be paid an hourly wage instead of salary. Brian Reed received an increase to $12.66 per hour and Darrel Miller, an increase to $9.50 per hour with an additional $.25 per hour after he receives his water certification.

Part time help will continue to receive $6.50 per hour.

It was also decided to have overtime paid to employees after 40 hours per week instead of over 8 hours per day.

Curtis Ebersole was hired as the town marshal at an hourly wage of $9.567. Ebersole will be sworn in at the November 2 board meeting and will begin working for the town on January 1, 1993. The hiring of a deputy will take place at a later date.

Ross advised the council of the need to deplete some funds before the end of the year and a discussion followed on the best use of the money.

Ebersole reminded the council of the equipment needed for the police department and advised using part of the funds for that purpose. He also advised the council of the need for two police vehicles and said he could purchase both of them for the money that has been budgeted for that purpose.

"If we buy one and it goes down, you will have police officers on foot," said Ebersole. "Also, if the car is in use by the reserve officer, the marshal and deputy can't respond to a call for help. I would like to have one unmarked for daytime use and one marked for nighttime use."

Ebersole also pointed out that the town can get a better deal by buying two cars at the same time and cut down on the wear time for both vehicles by using them in 8 hour shifts instead of 16.

The council was agreeable to the idea and gave Ebersole permission to start looking at prices.

It was reported that only 13 of the 48 persons served notices about junk cars have not complied. Also 5 persons served notices still have not removed weeds and trash from their properties. These people are in violation of town ordinances and legal action will be taken if necessary.

Reed reported that the dog problem at the Prater residence on North Franklin Street has cropped up again. Town attorney Lee Bazini informed Reed they are in violation of a court order. Reed reports seeing 3 or 4 dogs outside and hearing another inside at different times. He said on weekends there are even more dogs at the residence.

Reed was given permission to attend the 56th Annual IWPCA conference on November 10-11 sponsored by the Indiana Water Pollution Control Association. The convention will provide updated information in the waste water field and allow him to earn the Continuing Education Units needed to maintain his certification. The council agreed to also allow Darrel Miller to attend if he chooses. The convention will cost $100 each plus expenses.

Valley board decides to refinance bond

The Tippecanoe Valley School Board agreed to refinance the outstanding bond obtained for Akron Elementary School renovation, a move that will allow the corporation to save at least $420,000 in interest payments.

Dr. Don Patton had provided details of the plan at the October 5 special board meeting. He told the board at that time they could either choose to retire the bonds four years ahead of schedule or lower the tax rate.

Joe Day of Akron questioned at both meetings why there was $1.2 million remaining from the bond issue and the board seemed to be unaware of its existence until now.

Patton explained that the money had been earning more than the corporation was paying and it had to remain in the account until they were certain all work had been completed and all bills paid.

"We aren't hiding anything," said Patton. "It's all very open."

Of the original $3,875,000 bond, $3,110,000 remains. The interest rate on the existing bonds is currently 7.85 percent. The estimated rate for the new bonds will be 4.25 percent, resulting in a net savings of as much as $558,542.45. Out of this savings will come approximately $60,000 for professional fees and a 2% penalty for early payment of the current bonds.

Dr. Don Patton Associates, Inc., was named financial advisor, Traub and Co. Inc. and Dain Bosworth, Inc., underwriters, and Bose McKinney and Evans, bond counsel.

Members of the holding corporation along with Steven Meno of Traub and Co. and Melvin Bredemier, trust officer of Lincoln Bank, and Patton retired to another room to discuss the plan in detail.

Barry Peterson, president of the holding corporation, said the funds need to be refinanced because it will save money for the taxpayers but the holding corporation still has questions and will do more investigating.

He was specific about not wanting the funds used in any way for the construction of the middle school.

Besides decreasing the overall amount to be paid, the resolution will allow the bond to be retired almost four years early.

In other business, the board approved the color scheme for the new gym and the design phase drawings for the junior high, with the understanding that the plans aren't cast in stone.

Acting Superintendent Karen Boling asked, "If we approve

On Friday, October 30, to culminate Red Ribbon Week, the students at Tippecanoe Valley High School and grades 3-8 at Mentone and Akron Schools will hear a motivational talk from Shelli Yoder, Miss Indiana 1992.

Miss Yoder was recently seen competing for the title of Miss America where she became second runner-up. She will be speaking at TVHS at 9 a.m., Akron from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon, and Mentone from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Patrons are also invited to come hear Miss Yoder. The Pirates crew consists of guitarists Rich Alves and Bill McCorvey, drummer Jimmy Lowe, bassist Dean Townsend and steel guitarist Pat Severs. Together they will open a treasure chest of musical jewels for you, including: "Honky Tonk Blues", "Rollin' Home", "Feed Jake" and "Speak of the Devil." Beneath their pure country themes and images, you'll discover the Pirates are unrepentant rockers!

Tickets are now on sale at the Wagon Wheel Ticket Office. Call (219) 267-8041 for concert and dinner reservations.

One designs as they are now, will we have time to make changes? The representative from G.W. Clinton and Associates assured them that changes could still be made. Boling and assistant superintendent Dr. Dan Kramer set up a meeting to review possible changes.

One of the possible changes is the parking area. Forrest Kantner pointed out that the current plans called for only 72 parking spaces. With the junior high gym capacity at 1,000, he determined there would have to be 13 people per car. The architect said he thought additional parking could be worked into the plan.

Another matter of concern is the waste water treatment plant, constructed in the mid-70's when the high school was built. In trying to provide adequate drives, a problem brought up at the October 5 meeting, the architects are having difficulty placing the new building far enough from the treatment plant to meet state requirements. They will provide numbers at the next meeting.

The firm of Alt and Witzig was approved to provide the topographical drawings to complete soil borings.

In other action, the board:

* Heard from the Akron School improvement team regarding its accomplishments.

* The corporation enrollment was reported at 2,085 for the 1992-93 school year. There are 1,153 students in grades K-six, 335 in grades seven and eight, and 598 in grades nine-twelve. Of these, 126 are at Burket, 619 at Mentone, 701 at Akron, 577 at TVHS, 13 in cooperative and AIMS programs, and 49 taught at home.

* Commencement was set for May 28. Principal Charles Mills said this is the earliest date possible and he felt that is what the seniors would want. It is on a Friday night, which worked out well last year.

* The board granted permission for Mentone Principal Jon Parker to escort students on a skiing trip to Michigan in February as part of his incentive program.

* Approved Adult Basic Education contracts for Rick Phillips and Eula Smith.

"Caring About Kids"

by Rosa Hatfield

"Caring About Kids" is the motto of Burket School under the leadership of J. Theodore Straiger. Straiger was recently hired by the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation to fill the vacancy at Burket School created by the retirement of former principal Oliver England.

"I want kids to look upon the school environment as safe and exciting," said Straiger. "I want them to feel good about coming to school."

Straiger, 45, came to Burket School from the Whitko County Consolidated School, where he taught fifth grade, coached middle school girls' sports at Etna-Troy, and acted as assistant to the principal.

In that capacity, he was responsible for the Etna-Troy School in the absence of the principal, planned and coordinated activities for the teaching staff and students, managed staff and student problems, and worked to maintain a conducive academic atmosphere.

Straiger received his certification as a K-8 principal at Indiana University-Purdue University in Fort Wayne in May, 1992. Prior to that, he earned his Master of Science in August, 1976, majoring in Elementary Education, also from IUPUI in Fort Wayne. He received a Bachelor of Science in May 1973 in Elementary Education and a Bachelor of Science in June, 1969 in Biological Sciences and Chemistry, both from Manchester College.

Regarding his personal philosophy on education, Straiger said, "I believe all students can learn and all students want to learn. All students think and can learn ways to think better. No matter how competent students may or may not be, they must organize their ideas and their time. They must learn to solve complex problems and think critically. Everything we do in education should be to better the ability of students to learn and improve. A student is the most important person in any school. He is a person who brings us his educational needs. It is our job to be caring and fill those needs."

"We must ask ourselves: are we meeting the needs of all students? Do we have high quality instruction and content? Are we setting high expectations for all students? They need a diversified learning environment that encourages exploration. We need to use a variety of teaching styles, methods, and materials. Students need to experience independence, responsibility, and opportunities to take initiative and make decisions that determine their roles in school and society."

"The most important trait students can acquire in school is a positive attitude toward themselves and life. Since our goal is to have students perform as well in the classroom as they can, I believe that helping them feel good about themselves and the work they are doing will help accomplish that goal. We can do this by treating students as worthy individuals and by reinforcing the positive aspects of their school responsibilities."

"I want to create, nurture, and shape a school environment in which professional responsibilities are accepted and shared among the staff. This will raise morale, commitment, and achievement of teachers and students alike. When individuals feel good about themselves, they effectively help to create an environment conducive to learning."

"I believe a school needs the presence of effective teaching with teachers that are creative and inspired. Teachers must look at the whole student and expect everyone to succeed. Effective teachers need to adjust to the individual student and be willing to teach to the students in the modality in which they learn best. Students need to be challenged. When motivation is provided, learning is meaningful, and teachers become excited about teaching, everyone in education will be winners."

"It is very important to get the faculty, staff, students, and the community involved in as many activities as possible. If they feel they are part of any decision making process, they will work harder to meet the goals that have been established. Everyone must feel they are important players on the educational team."

"To effectively meet the needs of students, greater collaboration must be promoted between schools and the community, families, educators, and administrators. I want to produce a culture that is positive oriented. I want to create an atmosphere where students want to learn, be given some responsibility and feel at ease to learn, not threatened to get their objectives accomplished. I want students to be treated as individuals, to build their self-esteem, and feel safe. Each student should be treated as if they are the greatest miracle in the world."

Straiger and his wife, Caryl, live in North Manchester, where she is a first grade teacher at Manchester Elementary School. They have two children, a son, Steve, who graduated from Indiana University and is currently working in Indianapolis, and a daughter, Suzanne, junior at Manchester High School.

Straiger enjoys all spectator sports and is an avid IU basketball fan. He plays golf and both he and his wife enjoy dining out, visiting different restaurants and sampling many kinds of foods.

Born and raised in Long Island, New York area, Straiger came to Indiana to get away from the hustle of big city living. He is especially looking forward to the small rural atmosphere of Burket School.

Students of the Month

Each month, Tippecanoe Valley will honor a Student of the Month from each grade level. Jo Gamble, counselor, said Student of the Month is not necessarily based on academic achievement.

"These students are chosen by teachers, staff and administrators in a number of ways. We may notice that a student is doing a really good job of defensive driving. Or perhaps a student who has trouble getting assignments in one time, begins meeting all the deadlines. Maybe someone is especially courteous and helpful to others. When these things are noticed, students are given a merit slip. The student from each grade level with the most merit slips on record, is chosen as Student of the Month."

Mentone fourth graders study skeletons

The fourth grade students at Mentone School have been learning about skeletons in an unusual way. Students in Mrs. Rock and Mrs. Sander's classes were each given a sterilized owl pellet and asked to carefully take it apart, separate the bones it contains and put them together to find out what kind of diet the owl had.

Owls deposit the bones of small rodents and birds they can't digest in a compartment below their stomachs and deposit them as pellets. Sanders said a bird skeleton is a rare find as most of the skeletons belong to rodents. Brooks Blanton was lucky enough to find and identify a complete bird skeleton.

TVHS has foreign exchange student from Germany

by Rosa Hatfield

Students at Tippecanoe Valley High School have a chance to learn about the culture and customs of Germany up close and personal this year by exchanging ideas with Madeleine VonObstfelder.

Madeleine is a foreign exchange student from Bad Blankenburg, Germany, where she lives with her parents Joachim and Karin, her sisters, Julia, 14, Linda, 13, Katharina, 10, Melissa, 5 and her brother, Cornelius, 2.

Madeleine arrived in the United States during the first week of August. She is living in the home of Jerry and Rita Jenkins of R. 5, Rochester for the school year. Being used to the atmosphere of a large family, Madeleine fits in well with her American family. Rita and Jerry have four children, Jennifer, 10, Amy, 16, Lisa, 15, and Garrett Cherry, 14.

Jennifer approached her parents with the idea of sponsoring an exchange student last year. They requested a student from Spain because Jennifer has taken Spanish at school. The exchange program tries to match students with families whose interests and lifestyles are similar, consequently Madeleine was chosen.

Madeleine was excited at the chance to study in a different country, an opportunity that didn't exist for her until the removal of the Berlin Wall.

"We couldn't go to other countries before the Wall came down," said Madeleine, "except other communist countries. I wanted to go to either Australia or the United States. Since Australia is not in the program this year, the choice was easy."

Madeleine said her family was excited about the opportunity also, but when the time came for her to leave, it was difficult for them to let her go. She had never been away from home before except for holidays.

One of the biggest differences Madeleine has found in the two countries is the educational system. She feels Germany's is better. Students who don't do well in school, only attend for nine years, average students for ten years, and better students for twelve years. Madeleine said the classes are harder in Germany. Instead of taking the same classes every day, they use a block system, taking, for example, a three hour session of English a week.

Students don't have a choice in class scheduling until their 11th and 12th year. Then they can choose to take two subjects for five or six hours a week. Their school day consists of about five hours a day, five days a week.

When Madeleine returns to Germany in July, she will be ready for her 11th year. She plans to go to a university after her 12th year but hasn't decided yet which one to attend. She had planned to become a lawyer but that is a field that is becoming more difficult to get into because there are so many lawyers in Germany.

A difference that Madeleine is really enjoying is the food. She much prefers American food. Her favorites are pizza, lasagna, and ice cream cake.

"I love the food here," said Madeleine, "I can't stop eating it. We have pizza in Germany but it is so different here. I am gaining weight."

Madeleine was surprised to see that many houses here are made of wood. She is used to seeing houses made of stone. She lived in a mountainous area in a small village. The houses are much closer together and most things are within walking distance. She doesn't drive because in Germany, you must be 18 years old to drive. But at home, if she wanted to go to a movie, she walked or rode a bus so driving wasn't really necessary for her.

Jennifer said it was scary at first to have a foreign exchange student in their home.

"We didn't know if she would like us or the way we lived. But it's like having a friend stay with you. We share clothes and everything."

Madeleine enjoys dancing, reading, writing letters, and making clothes. She said she writes a lot of letters to friends in Germany. She admits to being a little homesick, especially when she makes her monthly call to her mother, but she is enjoying her stay here.

Rita and Jerry have enjoyed sponsoring Madeleine.

"We would like to keep her," said Rita. "She fits right in with our family. We are very open with each other. I think that's why we get along so well."

The Jenkins have planned several trips to different areas of the United States so Madeleine will get the chance to see that even here, things change from one area to another. They don't want her to go home to Germany thinking Rochester, IN is all there is to see.

Rita said they will consider sponsoring another student in future years but it is not something to go into lightly. Madeleine fits in so perfectly, it will be hard to find another like her.

Akron Business of the Week

Shewman Auto and Truck Sales

by Tonia Weller

Although Shewman Auto and Truck Sales opened in February of 1992, owner Con Shewman has worked in the automobile business for over 35 years.

"It's all I've done all my life. I don't know anything else," he says. "I worked at my dad's dealership (Shewman Motors) for 32 years and then I sold cars wholesale for a couple years. I grew up in the repair shop at the dealership. I hung around the shop from the time I was five years old. I started out washing the cars. I had to use a stepladder to get the top. And I went on from there. Cars have always been my livelihood."

Located on St. Rd. 14 at the west edge of Akron, Shewman Auto and Truck Sales specializes in late model, low mileage used cars and trucks, and new utility trailers. In the spring, Con plans to expand his business to include rentals of both autos and trailers.

The business is open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. daily except Thursdays, when Con is purchasing the cars and trucks that will be placed on his lot or sold wholesale to other dealers. He is also available most evenings by appointment.

The high cost of new cars combined with the fact that people are just plain driving more is making Con's job more difficult. "I prefer to sell cars with less than 50,000 miles. Less than 10% of the cars out there fall into that category," he says. "It's getting to be a real challenge to find low mileage cars. The hardest part isn't selling cars, right now, the biggest job is getting the stuff bought. The average mileage on a car used to be about 10,000 miles a year, now it's more like 18,000. It takes connections to find low mileage cars." He adds, "But I do think the lifespan of today's auto is longer than it used to be."

Many of the cars on Con's lot are still covered by factory warranties, and those that are not include a 30 day 50/50 warranty from Con. "My cars are gone through mechanically before they are placed on the lot," he says.

Con prefers running an independent lot to running a dealership for a specific auto maker. "You don't have the fixed costs of operation. You don't have to put out big money for advertising. Nobody says 'you have to take 15 of these cars'. You're your own boss. And," he adds, "I can sell cars a little cheaper." Most of the cars and trucks on the Shewman lot are from American manufacturers. "The repairs on foreign cars are more expensive and parts are difficult to get," Con explains.

If a customer is looking for a certain make or model of car, Con may be able to help. "I can get most any year or model," he says. "If I have a little time, I can find almost anything. I have vehicles available that are not on the lot."

Government regulations and stipulations have made some changes in vehicle sales. "There's a lot more paperwork than there was 25 years ago. But if you're an honest dealer the new stipulations don't bother you any," Con says. "Like any business, one bad dealer can reflect on others. The stipulations, like those on odometers, keep those few bad dealers in line and helps correct the image of used car dealers."

In his spare time Con enjoys deer hunting and attending Valley football games. "I'm a real strong Viking fan. I've only missed three games since they started. Of course, my son, Ron, coaches," he says proudly.

He has also taken up walking for exercise since having back surgery a few years ago.

Con served on the Tippecanoe Valley school board for eight years and is a member of the Indiana Auto Dealers Association. "I don't have time to belong to much else because I spend so much time traveling to buy cars," he says.

Con and his wife, Sherri, who is an aide at Akron School, have been married 33 years. Besides Ron, they also have a daughter, Jennifer Fraser, who lives in Akron. They have three grandchildren.

Con says he decided to start his own retail lot because so many people were aware he was dealing in cars on the wholesale level and would ask him to find used cars for them. He has provided the people of Akron with another opportunity to make their community stronger by supporting local businesses.

Student of the Week

Brandy Meredith, 17, a senior at Tippecanoe Valley High School has been named Academic Student of the Week. She is the daughter of David and Brenda Meredith of Akron and Jerry and Peggi Benson of Silver Lake.

Meredith has attended Tippecanoe Valley Schools during her entire educational career. She is active in the marching band, girls' swim team, academic team, and the school newspaper. She is a member of the Mentone United Methodist Church.

Brandy carries a grade point average of 10.988 at this time. She is undecided about her choice of colleges but does plan to attend and major in French. Her favorite subject in school is band and the one she finds the most difficult is calculus. Therefore, it comes as no surprise that she counts as her most recent academic accomplishment understanding an ISETL problem in calculus. The News congratulates Brandy on her academic accomplishments and wishes her the best of luck in college.

Eye of the Storm is the new dramatic movie from World Wide Pictures starring Connie Sellecca and Jeff Conaway, with Deborah Tucker.

Jeff Conaway plays Tom Edwards, a TV journalist returning from the Gulf War, and Connie Sellecca plays Patricia "Pete" Peterson, Tom's producer. Both struggle with wars of their own, from family problems to keeping the ratings high.

Eye of the Storm addresses vital, timely issues very relevant in today's society. Families will be captivated by this contemporary story of what faces many single parents and their children as careers are juggled with personal relationships.

Pastor James Malbone and the members of The Akron Church of God invite you to attend this outstanding new film on November 1 at 7 p.m. For more information, please call the church office at 893-4121.

Niles family raises huge pumpkins

This huge pumpkin was raised by Skip and Lori Niles with the help of their two daughters, Angela, 16, and Debbi, 14. The Nileses live on State Road 19 north of Mentone.

This pumpkin measured 90 inches around and weighs 180 pounds. It is currently on display at the Farmer's State Bank in Mentone. Another slightly smaller pumpkin may be seen in front of Ace Hardware.

The Nileses' pumpkin patch yielded at least five of these large specimens and more are growing. Lori Niles said she was very surprised.

"We had never grown pumpkins before," she said. "We just bought some seeds from Ace Hardware and planted them, never dreaming they would grow like this."

Skip said they have talked to others who raise pumpkins and learned a few tricks to try for next year.

"Our pumpkins have a flat side," said Skip. "Next year, I will set them upright where the stem is at the top so they will be round. We definitely plan to grow them again."

Flashing lights at Akron School

The children of the Akron community will travel to and from school more safely thanks to the recent installation of school zone warning flashers. Flashers have been installed and are now operating each school day from 8:00-8:30 a.m. and 3:15-3:45 p.m. at locations north and south of Akron School on State Road 19. During those periods of time, the speed limit in the school zone has been reduced from 35 to 30 miles per hour.

The purchase and installation of the flashers came about as a result of school-community efforts. Contributors to the project were Wen Products, Sonoco Products, Pike Lumber Co., the Akron School Parent Support Council, Mr. Robert Allen, the Akron Town Council, and the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation.

TVHS senior performs in Color Guard

by Rosa Hatfield

Jennifer Jenkins, 17, a senior at Tippecanoe Valley High School, has enjoyed her first year as captain of the Color Guard.

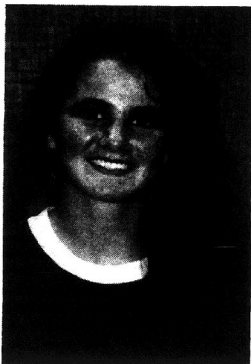

The Viking Guard recently ended their season with regional competition at Marion where they placed seventh in a field of 16 and took a first division. Unfortunately, they missed going to state competition by two places, as only the top five units go on.

Jennifer will start practicing with the Winter Guard soon, to be ready for competition which begins in early February. She is co-captain of the Winter Guard.

She started in Color Guard her sophomore year at Valley. She was a member of the Tigerettes at Warsaw High School during her freshman year. Since the season had already started when she moved to the Valley school district, she had to wait to join the Viking Guard unit the next year.

Jennifer said practice for the Viking Guard is intense, requiring about six hours a week plus one all day Saturday session per month. She also attends summer camp for a week each summer and participates in competition every Saturday.

Jennifer plans to attend college and study fashion design after she graduates from high school. She also plans to join the "Star of Indiana," a drum and bugle corps which originated in Bloomington, IN and travels all over the United States.

This school year has been a little different for Jennifer with the addition of an exchange student to her home. She persuaded her parents, Rita and Jerry Jenkins to apply to the program last year. As a result, Madeleine VonObstfelder from Bad Blankenburg, Germany joined the family in August.

Jennifer said she was a little concerned at first, wondering if Madeleine would like living with them. But now, she says it is like having a friend stay with you. The girls share clothes and experiences, though they are both busy with their own activities.

Jennifer has two sisters: Amy, 16, and Lisa, 15; and a brother, Garrett Cherry, 14.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:

Once again, the young people of the Akron community will benefit from the efforts of a school-community project. Recently installed and now operating daily along State Road 19 are school zone warning flashers. These warning flashers will reduce traffic speed significantly in the school zone area as children are going to and from school.

Contributors to the project have been Wen Products, Sonoco Products, Pike Lumber Company, The Akron School Parent Support Council, the Akron Town Council, and the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation. Special recognition goes to Mr. Robert Allen who was a key individual in seeing this project to completion. Without the contributions and efforts of these parties, the project would not have been possible.

On behalf of the young people whose safety will be enhanced through the placing of these flashers, I thank all those who contributed to this project. Schools are a reflection of the communities in which they reside, and I cannot help but believe our reflection is a very positive one.

Sincerely,
Brett R. Boggs
Principal

Teacher Feature

by Rosa Hatfield

"I don't think kids do enough reading for fun," said Pam Smith, this week's featured teacher. Smith teaches sixth grade reading, english, and spelling at Mentone School. Smith tries to encourage her students to read by reading to them. She feels many kids substitute television for reading.

"I think they watch too much TV," said Smith. "A lot of them watch the wrong things and some of it can have a very bad influence on them."

She finds that sixth graders still enjoy being read to and eagerly look forward to their daily chapter. Smith believes that if parents would read to their children regularly, even as they grow older, it would help instill in them a love for reading.

Smith grew up in Salem, IN, a small town in the southern part of the state. She graduated from Salem High School in 1972. In 1976, she received her B.S. in elementary education from Indiana State University, where she met her husband, Tim.

Her first teaching job was at Salem Elementary School. Smith taught kindergarten under the man who had been her principal from grades one through six.

After their marriage in 1977, the Smiths moved to Mentone, Tim's home town. Smith has taught first, second, and sixth grades at Mentone School.

Moving into sixth grade was a real adjustment for her. She is now teaching some of the same kids she had in second grade and finds it interesting to see how they have matured.

"There is a change in their attitudes," said Smith. "Second graders have a deep desire to learn. By sixth grade, some of them just don't have the same desire to do a good job. I have to try harder to get them interested in learning. I hope reading to them is one way to do that."

The Smiths have three children. Adam is in sixth grade and in some of his mother's classes. Derek is in fourth grade and Erin is in kindergarten.

In her free time, Smith does a lot of grading papers. She is also a part-time organist and sings in the choir at the Mentone United Methodist Church. She loves to read but says she finds it hard to find enough time to finish a novel. She enjoys watching sports and tries to watch television with her children to help control what they watch.

"Teaching each age has its own benefits," said Smith. "I don't find teaching sixth grade harder, just different. Of course, having 30 kids instead of 20 doesn't help."

Smith said her students have a good rapport with her. They know their limits but, like all kids, try to get away with as much as possible.

Burket fifth grade studies Maya Indians

Mrs. Riedel's fifth grade class at Burket School enjoyed a slide presentation in conjunction with their study of Maya Indians.

Ann Chubb, media specialist for the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation, showed slides of the Tulum Maya Indians in Mexico. She and her husband visited there in February of 1991. Chubb also presented the slides to students at Mentone and Akron Schools.

Phillips is Academic Student of the Week

Mindy Phillips has been chosen as Tippecanoe Valley's Academic Student of the Week. She is the daughter of Rickey and Martha Phillips, Mentone.

Mindy is a member of the Spanish Club, FEA, Student Government, and the Euchre Club at Valley and a member of the Sacred Heart Youth Group.

She plans to attend college, majoring in either elementary education or psychology, but hasn't decided on a school yet. Mindy carries a grade point average of 11.2. Her favorite subject is History, and Trigonometry is the most difficult for her. Mindy is employed at the Bell Memorial Public Library.

LADY VIKING OF THE WEEK

Ann Francis, daughter of Charles and Toni Francis of Mentone, has been selected as Lady Viking of the Week.

Ann, 17, is a senior at Tippecanoe Valley High School. She belongs to BPOA and Sunshine Society. She has participated in golf for four years and basketball for one year. She considers golf to be her favorite sport. Ann's most recent sports accomplishment occurred during a practice round when she broke 50.

Ann plans to attend Indiana/Purdue in Fort Wayne and major in accounting.

The News congratulates Ann as Lady Viking of the Week and wishes her success at IPFW.
