Breath of Life March set

There are millions of reasons why people are marching in the Community March for the Breath of Life September 8-15. These reasons are the millions of little boys and girls who have lung diseases like cystic fibrosis, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and asthma.

School tax adopted

The tax rate advertised by the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation--$3.46238 for general and 82 cents for cumulative building, a total of $4.28238-- was adopted without protest Thursday night. The levy will raise $1,011, 129.20, according to the advertised budget. No remonstrators were

No remonstrators were present at the time allowed on the agenda, although Dr. Donald Van-Gilder, a former board member who arrived ten minutes late, said he had wanted to speak.

The board took no oth-

back in news Roberts case

The case of missing Brown County business-man Clarence R. Roberts who formerly owned grain elevators in Akron, Mentone and Claypool was again in the news this past week.

In the latest development of the strange case, Jack Bond, Brown Co. coroner, says results of Internal Revenue Service laboratory tests on handwriting samples of Roberts do not give sufficient convincing evidence to place Roberts' name on the death certificate used to bury a man's corpse found inthe rubble of a burned garage on the Roberts property on Nov. 18, 1970.

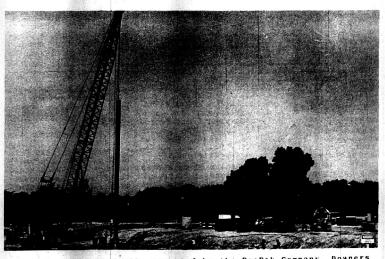

Insurance companies have refused to pay a million, dollar claim by Geneva Roberts, wife of the missing man.

Bond had hoped the tests could determine if the writing on an autoposible dayiver's license. In the latest develop-mobile driver's license, credit cards and other identification was really as old as would be suggested by the dates. The report said the type of ink used was available to the public in 1964, so Roberts could have done the writing. However, the inks are still available to the public.

Teacher

Negotiations

Dear Editor:

I want to challenge publicly the statement by the local teacher union head, Phyllis Gearhart, regarding all three items with which the board was charged.

Item 1: That the sc-ool board has violated the law by refusing the association use of the school facilities for communication and organ-ization purposes. This communication and organ-ization purposes. This is absolutely false. The law specifically says that the school corporation shall not co-ntribute finanical or other support to any school employee organi-zation and if we did so, it would be considered an unfair practice. There is also the questo whether or not the taxpayers should furnish school facili-ties to union organizers and for union activiti-es. Businesses do not es. Businesses furnish meeting ha mions, but halls to the unions, but in-stead the unions are required to go outside and get their own facilities when discussing u activities or when union ing to organize a union.

Referring to the second charge: The board has violated the law by promising raises in an attempt to discourage membership. I state that there has been no discussion at a board meeting with reference to promising raises to discourage membership. I believe that Phyllis Cearhart should specifically say which board member promised raises in an attempt to discourage membership.

Item 3: The board has violated law by dismissing three association members without a legitimate reason. I deny this. The school board fully abided by the law in the termination of any contract, which was done. This is one of the reasons why in other states, the union has not only brought higher cost, but poorer quality education because of the unions demand to keep poor teachers and attempts to thwart the school boards in raising the quality of staff members. I have attended National conventions and heard speakers from Michigan, Ohio, Pennyslvania and other states and this is the chief complaint, that when the unions move in, the standards of education go down, mainly because of the pressure to keep poor teachers and then the better ones see no point in doing a quality job. There are several the ings that we should debunk right to start off with. The statement that the TVCTA is not a union is strictly bunk. Those TVCTA members who think otherwise are being very naive. The law that was passed for them is a labor law. All cases are compared to the National Labor Relations Board. Their objectives might not quite be the same. The normal union wants more money, shorter hours, job security. The teachers union wants the same thing, but in addition wants one other thing, complete control of the schools.

Another item we might as well debunk is that the union's goal is the welfare of the students. I attended meetings where speakers from other states told of second grade boys and girls on the picket lines placed there by their teachers and then the union said that they were striking for the welfare of the students. This is bunk, pure and simple.

I also note that Ms. Wallace said, "You can't have merit raises, it's unfair." What is so unfair about rewarding people for a job well done and not rewarding those who have a slogan "S to 4 and no more." Instead of the title "Teacher get off your knees", Ms. Wallace might have been better off to tell the teachers to get off your something else.

A final note, as a school board member I recognize that 75% of our personnel are sincere and want to do a fine job and really want no part of these union agitators. The public should not be led to believe that the majority of our teachers have the attitude "8 to 4 and no more" because this is only a small clique and in no way represents the attitude of most of our fine teachers.

Fulton Co. Folks

Dear Editor:

"Fulton County Folks" has been so well received that I am writing on behalf of the publishing committee to thank the many people who praised the book and our efforts. We have received many letters and phone calls of congratulations. The book was truly a community project and there were almost a hundred people involved in collecting information, lending pictures, typing, writing, editing, etc. No one could have done it alone in that short a time (18 months).

There are not many copies left, and I urge those who really want one to hurry up before they are all gone. If the demand is great enough we can have more printed, but it will cost more.

The printing bill for 665 copies was $4,118.97. The Historical Society incurred about $200 expenses for telephone, paper, Xerox copying, mileage, etc. The Society will clear about $600 on the project. This is no great sum, and perhaps we should have charged more for the book, but we wanted to make it available at a price the average person could afford.

A few errors have been found in the book, and I am keeping a list of these for another letter in the near future. So if anyone finds an error, please notify me as to page number and correction. Then when it comes out in the newspaper, everyone can clip it out and put it with their copy of the book.

For those who want to buy a book, it costs $7.50 and is on sale at The Rochester News Agency, Akron Library and the Historical Society museum, which is open every Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. Those who have pre-paid should pick theirs up at the museum.

ODDS and ENDS

By Ann Sheetz

State Fair broke all the statistician's attendance records and was considered a huge success. Every family has a

Every family has a different approach to attending the fair. Some years ago, we determined we were happier if Loren and the boys spent the day on the machinery field while I studied quilts and art, resting my feet at style shows. They could marvel at new combines and farrowing arrangements while I examined the works of Hoosier photographers. It worked beautifully.

And this year, when notice of a meeting I wanted to attend at the Indianapolis Zoo came, I determined to really see the fair sensibly. No more of the litter and debris. No more aimless wandering. In fact, no more day-long odyssey. I would leave my family at the fair, go to the zoo and return refreshed to see my favorite exhibits in a leisurely two hours and we would come home, all happier for the uncomplicated day.

The meeting at the zoo as interesting the

The meeting at the zoo was interesting; the speakers stimulating. The luncheon was good, even when I discovered I'd eaten the entire meal a scant two feet from a pair of gigantic boa constrictors.

In spite of my avowed intentions, I found myself clock-watching. A tour of the zoo was announced; I declined. "Have to meet my family at the fair." A camera safari with one of the state's top photographers was likewise declined; my camera was at home and besides, I dim't have time.

With an hour to spare before time to meet my family, I parked the car and took off at a semitrot for the manufacturer's building. One quick look (quick? how can a line move so slow-ly?) and I put that building behind as I loped off to meet the clan. I was already exhausted from the near trot, but they were rested. Loren had escaped the burning sun by sitting in a display corn crib while the boys examined tractors and stone pickers. They were delighted by what they'd seen; he was relaxed. It was a good combination. They granted me my second hour, which I spent rushing back across the infield to the horticulture building and then back to the 4-H building. I met them precisely at the time specified, and we left.

In the two hours I'd allowed myself, I'd crossed the fairgrounds three times, been in four buildings an average of 15 minutes each, and I hadn't seen the quilts, the art, a single style show and not only had I missed the

And then I knew why it takes a day to see the fair and why it makes sense to sit through style shows or in corn cribs. Some things can't be rushed, and the state fair is one of them.

Wheat Seeding Reminders Given

As time for wheat seeding draws nearer, several items need to be considered by area farmers, notes Robert E.Cox, extension agent. These are quality, supply and price of seed wheat.

Cox said farmers should place orders for certified seed early. Those not planting certified seed should arrange to have their seed cleaned, treated and tested for germination. Cox also urged farmers to have an up-to-date soil test. High fertilizer costs, short supplies and need to detect acid conditions that would reduce fertilizer efficiency are important reasons for having current knowledge about the fertility situation in each field, he said. He reminded that soil

He reminded that soil testing, supplies and information, as well as seed testing information are available at the County Extension Office.

Bus Inspection Stepped Up

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Harold H. Negley has announced a stepped-up program for the safety inspection of all school buses in the state used to transport children.

He said a new regulation adopted by the State School Bus Committee requires the mechanical inspection of school buses by a properly license motor vehicle inspection station between June 1 and September 1 of each year.

He said the inspection is the same as that required for a truck of comparable size and is in addition to the annual inspection of school buses by state police previously required. Regular state police inspections will be held in the fall.

In addition to regular inspection procedures, the new regulation calls for bus owners to ask that one front wheel be removed so that brake components can be inspected closely.

Negley said the new rule is designed to re-

Negley said the newrule is designed to reduce the number of traffic accidents involving Indiana school children. He said local schools have been informed of the new requirements and have been very cooperative in making arrangements to observe it.

As another part of its effort to improve school traffic safety, the Department of Public Instruction has conducted 84 safety training programs for school bus drivers during the past three months.

More than 651,000 Indiana students are currently transported to and from school each day on more than 7,600 buses

Those who plan to use drought stricken corn for silage are reminded that the weather condi-tions may cause nitrate accumulation in the corn. This is not a sufficient reason to prevent it from being made into silage.

Cox says making the crop into silage is beneficial because the plant leaf enzymes are freed during the ensiling and reduce the total nitrate. The addition of 10 pounds ground limestone per ton when filling the silo also aides in reducing in nitrate content as a result of ensiling. He cautions farmers not to add more than this amount because the limestone acts to neutralstone acts to neutral-ize the preserving acid and the silage could spoil.

Thanks Mr. Goshert

Dear Editor:

I wish to publicly thank Mr. Goshert for his recent editorial. his recent editorial. However, most of the information mentioned had already been expressed by Mr. Forbes, The quote "8 to 4" was taken out of its context. It was mentioned that teachers in Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania igan, Ohio, Pennsylvania igan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and other states had used this technique when a "stay to 4 with no exceptions" rule was strictly enforced. I didn't challenge this statement because I thought you knew us better. Now, I say, SHAME thought you knew us bet-ter. Now, I say, SHAME on you Mr. Goshert. You've been so busy at-tending those big Nat-ional conventions (incidently, planned by your board or superintendents organizations) you forgot to visit our local schools. Wouldn't it have been nice if you would have taken the it have been nice if you would have taken the time, gas, and energy to have stopped by our buildings...just to see if you could be of service here. When you wanted our vote.you work does to deep to vote..you door. Now went door to door. Now another thing, you want me to give my source of another thing, you want me to give my source of information when you and the board , have solidly refused to tell why you fired those teachers. Those teachers had been publicly recommended their principal a their superior superintendent. Other teachers not re-commended were given a chance to resign. But the recommended teachers were fired? Now, you say, these principals were to evaluate us-to write nothing down?? Are we to believe you're to be fair or will there be another "secret sesthose poor teachers and does it take 5 years to discover a poor teacher? Our Classroom Teachers Organization has always worked with the board.

Now because its a law. you refuse. Why? August 6th we asked that you sit down and just talk with us. Maybe talk with us. Maybe there are no differences --when we can't even meet with the teachers or the board--then we are to assume there is lack of communication. When you said we could not say prayer I stopnot say prayer I stop-ped our morning prayer. When we lost our play-ground teacher, our art teacher, our gym teacher, our nurse, and many other fine teachers we should have complained, but we didn't. Instead we filled the gap and did so willingly.

know, we almost lost our speech and hearing therapist and we probably wouldn't have special apist special education except for state aid. The only time a "Union" is nec-essary is when the people elected to power --suppress the little people. Do you think we need a "Union"? The AFT is ready and willing to step in...A final note, since both the board and teachers are abiding by the law, let's leave the "childish" name-calling to the children misuse that power to suppress the little peocalling to the children. It isn't very becoming very becoming to an adult.

Phyllis Gearhart, Pres. Classroom Teachers Association.

Re The Union

Dear Editor:

I write this letter to correct a few items in last week's (Aug. 29) paper as put out by un-ion director, Karen Walion director, Karen Wal-lace, and the local un-ion president, Phyllis Gearhart. In answer to her statement "you can't give your time to char-ity, make your slogan 8 to 4 and no more" I ity, make your slogan 8 to 4 and no more," I want to make the following comment: The teach-ers do not work for ers do not work for charity, our poorest paid teacher makes $42.91 a day up to approximately $70.00 a day, with the average being over $50.00 a day. In addition, teachers are given $125.00 toward addition, teachers are given $125.00 toward the purchase of a hos-pitalization, surgical pitalization, surgical and life insurance policy. They receive seven to ten days of paid sick leave a year. They have workman's compensation. They have liability insurance. They sation. They have liability insurance. They also have a pension plan that could be the envy of everyone, mostly with tax dollars. They are paid for a whole bunch of extra work, which is sometimes considered by the board to be beyond the call of duty. I doubt if this can seriously be called charity. Ironically, a large ty. Ironically, a large number of the people in the $60.00 to $70.00 dollar a day bracket are not doing as good a job as the $43.00 to $50.00 dollar a day people.

Another statement that was made was "that according to Public Law 217 everything is status quo until it is negotiated." This is a This is false statement, be-cause no negotiation is required with the union until there is proof that the union has won the election. There are fourteen votes of people contested because they were leaving the corporation and in order for teachers to be thrown into the union, they will have to have ten of these fourteen votes and until this is done and they receive the votes, which they may or not not receive, the statement that was made is a false statement.

is my contention to force a union the teachers of upon this corporation with vote of absentee teachers is unfair and illegal. I challenge the union to another "yes or no" vote with the or no" vote with the present existing teach-ers in a vote taken at least thirty days prior to May 1. The way to end the controversy ov-er whether we should be in the union or not in the union is to establish, prior to the vote, the eligible people and then stick with it and not change the rules after the vote is taken.

Last Monday the daily newspapers reported a German aviator had dropped bombs on the city of Paris. This war seems to be on about three floors, one in the air, one on the land and sea and one in the bottom of the seas with marine bombs. Fighting on land and seas formerly sounded awful to the ear, but when we say war in the air, war on sea and land and war by submarine explosives, our heart quakes with terror and with pity for the poor souls who must get into any one of these three spheres.

not necessary that they have previosuly belonged to Scouts. The latter group will meet after school each Monday, also at the Lions Den.
Girls in grades seven,
eight and nine will move eight and nine will move into Cadet Scouts which meet on Thursdays.

Girls in the second and third grades who are new to Scouting have received permissions slips in school. These should he school, these should be returned to school or taken to Joey's Discount Store. Further information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Joey Madeford, 893-4588.

Girl Scouting helps girls grow into inform-ed women able to achieve their potential in a world where the emerging role of women is so im-portant. But none of this is possible without this is possible without dedication, enthusiasm, and help of concerned and help of concerned adults. Help girls and help yourself by becom-ing a Girl Scout leader or assistant leader. It is worthwhile, it's fun.

Tax Board okays TVSC rate

Members of the Kosciusko Co. tax board approved the Tippecanoe Valley school budget Monday afternoon after hearing one protestor.

James Goshert, a Frank-lin township resident, said the school budget and advertised tax rate of $3.46 for the gener-al fund were both too high. In particular, he objected to a $1,000 salary increase for the superintendent's secre-tary who is also school tary who is also school treasurer and also for driver education expen-ses, summer school, stu-dent buses and operation and maintenance costs for Tippecanoe Valley High School. He sug-gested the board lob $150,000 from the budg-

Superintendent Robert Superintendent Robert Forbes said a reduction in the budget would not affect the tax rate but would increase the working balance since the school tax levy is frozen and that amount will be raised by taxes whether it goes into the actual budget to be spent or into the working balance.

Asked by a board member if he had attended the school board's public budget hearing, Goshert said he had not although a friend of his, Dr. Donald VanGilder, had appeared at the hearing but had been denyed the opportunity to protest since he was late.

The adjusters agreed to accept the budget and tax rate as advertised and also adopted all other school rates and those for other taxing

Football has come to Tippecanoe Valley, and although the sport is still new here, it has generated a lot of enthusiam among team members and fans.

The Vikings, who are charles The Vikings, who are coached by Charles Smith, formerly head coach at Triton, went into Wednesday night's game with a record of two wins and no losses. The Vikings will play at the junior varsity (jayvee) level for the next two years before joining the Three Rivers conference and beginning varsity play.

In the meantime, they are getting a lot of experience and thorough training in regularly scheduled drills and practices.

How To Help Your Child Learn

Young children learn as naturally and as constantly as they breathe, just by observing and exploring the world around them. But many parents feel that "real" learning is something done only in school, and they eventually pass this feeling on to their children. Learning this feeling on to their children. Learning then becomes a chore performed at certain hours in a certain place to please adults, instead of a continuous, exciting process of "finding out" in one's own way about the world and everything in it.

As a parent, you can children.

As a parent, you can help keep your young child's curiosity and child's curiosity and delight in learning alive as he grows, and help him build at home on what he learns at school. The suggestions that follow are for various age levels and interests; choose those that best fit your child.

-Listen to your child.

child.
-Listen to your child, and don't stifle his curiosity. If you laugh at his questions, or brush them off, he'll soon stop asking them. Don't worry if you don't always know the answers; go with him to the lib rary or a good child-ren's encyclopedia, and find out together. Help your whole family get the "let's look it up"

habit.
-Be subtle in helping your child learn. Keep your child learn. Keep things lighthearted and fun, never grim or tense. Don't give him information in such a way that it sounds like a lesson, and don't drill him or quiz him to see if he's "learned" it, or he may come to think of learning as giving answers to please -Don't give the impression that school is just for kids, that adults already know everything. Try taking some adult education classes.

-Give your child plenty of opportunities to put his writing skill to work in useful, "real life" ways; let him write your grocery lists, send for brochures and other advertising offers, write his own thank you notes and party invitations.

-Work games like Ghost, Hangman, and Scrabble are a great way to improve vocabulary and spelling. They can even be played in the foreign language your child is studying.

-Give your child options whenever you can:

Table motion to dismiss Forbes rorpes or his duties" climaxed Monday night's Tippecanoe Valley school board meeting. Seconded by Dr. John McKee, the motion was tabled on a 4-1 vote after memon a 4-1 vote after members met in executive session. The motion to table Kindig's motion was made by Dr. Wymond Wilson and seconded by Don Snipes. Kindig cast the lone no vote.

Kindig's request for Forbes' removal followed a meeting marked by exchanges between Forbes exchanges between Forbes and teachers and an accusation by a patron, Clyde Alderfer, that Forbes was not doing a satisfactory job. Alderfer's specific complaint was that his son had been denied lunch last Friday because he had forgotten his money. Told by board members Told by board members that he should first have contacted the principal and then Forbes before coming to them, he retorted he thought "it was time Forbes himself checked into some of the things that went on at school."

The only other member of the audience to speak during the time alloted was Robert Duzan who represented a number of Newcastle township residents desiring to obtain the ground from the Talma school. Duzan presented Forbes a list presented Forbes a list of statute numbers pertaining to transfer of property from one governmental boby to another, but no action was taken pending further investigation.

Supplemental contracts were approved for David Creighton, $209.89 for four days of summer program, and basketball coaches Michael Holt, $450; Robt. Igney, $350, Jerry Eaton, $500; Phil Pratt, $650; Wm. Ruppel, $500; Wayne Cumberland, $350, and Creighton, $450. Reah Lee was given a bus driver contract. Supplemental contracts

Equipment contracts for the new high school approved included cafeteria and laundry, three pianos, overhead projectors, wall screens, furniture and carpet cleaning. Total amount of the contracts was of the contracts was $85,110.76. Questioned about the need for a grand piano, Forbes replied, "Most schools have green."

The first 13 items of the agenda were quickly passed over, but the 14th item, other business, prompted a barrage of questions, mostly directed at Forbes. The first concerned surface water from the south edge of the new school site that is draining across SR 19. Forbes said the state highway department would raise the road a little as it was lower than the catch basin. "But," he said,

Fred Kindig's motion to "immediately relieve superintendent Robert are first class, and we the problem." He Forbes of his duties"

The first 13 items of added, "The State Highhave the padded, "The State Highway will have to do more than it's doing. I tried to get them to cover the tile (in an open ditch that bounds the northtile (in an open ditch that bounds the north-east corner of the site) but all they would give me was a guard rail." Asked by holding company member Paul Fites, a member Paul Fites, a Fulton Co. commissioner, why he did not see a member of the county drainage board, Forbes said he did not know who

Mentone Club Goes To Manchester

Twelve members of the Mentone Extension Home-makers Club visited the Peabody Home in No. Manchester on September 12.

Invited to the chapel by the superintendent, William Visser, they were told the history of the home and the costs of the home and the costs and benefits were des-cribed. He conducted the club women on a tour of the home, after which they toured nearby Heck-aman Bindery where Mr. Dills showed them how books are bound.
They had dinner at the

The guys in green and old were ours; the ones in blue were the opponents. Armed with this bit of knowledge and a camera, I went to the second football game of my life a few weeks ago. All I could remember of the first game--my good-ness, was it really 25 years ago?--was the cute drum major whose auto-graph I got. I had a drum major whose auto-graph I got. I had a dim recollection of re-porters dashing up and down the sidelines trying for action pictures. Now I was that reporter, sent off to the gridiron by my devoted family with the calm assurance,

"You'll do fine."

The game was in progress; the scoreboard showed our guys were ahead. I watched as they ran east. Then they ran west. Sometimes come guys in blue ran with chased them. When they weren't chasing each other, they got togeth-er in gossipy huddles and then lined up fac-ing the other team with one guy throwing the ball between his legs to someone else on his team.

didn't understand I didn't understand th, but I did know that sooner or later someone would try to make a touchdown. "Which goal post is ours?" I whispered to a friend. She gave me a funny look and motioned to the west

I re-focused my cam-a muttering to my-I re-focused my camera, muttering to myself, "If I could just see the ball, I'd be happy." All of a sudden, I saw one of our guys with the ball under his arm. I took his picture just as he ran off the field. The fans went wild. He hadn't went wild. He hadn't even run between the goal posts so I figured it didn't count, but someone slapped me on the shoulder and yelled, "It's a touchdown!" Then someone tried to kick the ball between the goal posts. It was the only time I ever saw a foot connect with the ball, and I wondered ball, and I wonder.
how the game got its name.

I'd taken pictures of our guys the night be-fore and had been impressed by their friend-liness and politeness. I couldn't recognize I couldn't recognize them now in their hel-mets, but they looked like the same fellows I'd seen do calisthenics, run and jump. I watched them with somewatched them with something akin to motherly pride, and when one of our guys jumped at a guy in blue just because he had the ball, I cringed. Nice boys don't act like bullies just because they don't have a ball. That'll be a charging foul, I thought. The fans went wild. "Atta way to go!" someone fans went wild. But when they developed the film, I saw the horrible truth: the boy not only ran off the end of the field, he al-so ran right off my film. The only good picture I had was one of the scarf (and they told me it's called a flag) up in the air. I think I'll put it with the drum major's autograph and learn to tat.

One of the great myths of America is the friendliness of the small town. Anyone who has escaped from the pettiness and institutionalized boredom of a small town knows that for sheer intolerance and resentment of differences, the small town is as savage and as implacable as a primitive placable as a primitive tribe of headhunters.

CHEVROLET FOR 1975. CARS THAT MAKE SENSE FOR TODAY.

GM

MONZA 2-2 The small car of tomorrow will probably be a little more powerful, handy and comfortable than ever. The 1975 Monza 2+2, shown above, offers this today. It has advances like recrangular headlights set in a soft front end, fold down rear sear, and a new 4,3-litte V8 engine available.

NOVA In the background above, our new Nova LN Sedan. A luxurious Nova with thick carpeting and wide-back reclining front seats. For 1975, all Novas have been emphatically refined along the lines of elegant European sedans. Nova's always been good. Now it's beautiful.

CAMARO Our sensibly sporty compact. It looks like a million and drives like it looks.

IMPALA America's favorite car continues to provide the room many families need plus plenty of quiet and comfort. Still the great American value.

CHEVELLE Mid-size, easy to drive, room for six, mid-priced, strong reputation for value. America's most popular intermediate.

MONTE CARLO Its special ability: making wan feel good. About the way it looks and drives. you feel good. About the way it looks About your own taste and judgment.

CHEVROLET'S NEW EFFICIENCY SYSTEM

FFRICIENCY SYSTEM
FOR 1975 It's the key part of a program annel at belying our new cars run leaner (more occommendly), run cleaner—and save continuously), run cleaner—and save continuously every mile.

The Hithaeney System is standard on all 1975 the thouses with V8 or 6 cylinder engines. It's a series of significant engineering improvements working together for the very first time. Components include High Energy lighton, rather connecture, Early Fuel Exaporation and steelighted radial ply tires. In sim, the System is designed to incident on the pleasure and lower the cost of driving a 1975 Cheryolet to bring your story comming car in many ways, along worth ingreased fuel economy, more miles between commended maintenance and an engine that stays cleaner internally because of medical rule.

By this time Loren had joined us. I expendim to laugh because I expected en to a confirmed miniature nut, the house in its present state is quite ugly. Instead, he checked the way the rafters were notched to fit over the plate, noted with satisfaction the space for a bathroom, kitchen, living room, dining room and two bedrooms. "A person could have a lot of fun with something like that," he said, admiring the tiny cross-pieces that he said, admiring the tiny cross-pieces that hold the floor joists apart. "We could set it on a table with an open top to give it the

The little house has likewise mesmerized others. "Have you ever thought of wiring it?" a friend asked as he joined us in crawling around the house where around the house where it now sits in the middle of the dining room. We said we had but did not know how. He found a way and later sent a sample light bulb that was about as big as a baby's thumb nail.

"I can cut a neat op-I can cut a neat opening in the roof and make the stairs," Loren promises, and the boys think they can help shingle the roof. All that remains for me to that remains for me do is devise a wav devise a way to do open the sides so I can get into the rooms to add walls and floors and to acquire skill to make furniture since my collection is too large for the six-inch ceilings

Inflation and the cost living are the major pics of conversation topics of conversation these days. Regardless of your income, inflation is beginning to affect your style of living. The price of everything from antifreeze to sugar is ristopics

ing. Obviously Obviously families simple must learn to cope with rising prices. Most workers do not have the power to raise their own wages and if a raise does come through management it is smaller management it is smaller than the rise in the cost of living. So it seems that our present incomes even though they are higher than they were three or four years ago - now buy less.

Every family should have a spending plan. If you don't know where all your money is going keep track of every pen-all your money is going keep track of every pen-ny you spend for one month. Then you'll know exactly where it month, then you'll know exactly where it goes. With that record as a guideline plan a monthly budget. Be practical. Allow enough money for miscellaneous expenditures.

Of course, a spending plan won't eliminate all plan won't eliminate all money problems. It won't increase income or eliminate emergen-cies. But it is a start toward good management. All families should set goals and establish priorities. Savings college costs are in your future plan for them now. Setting goals and priorities should be a family matter. If the children are old enough let them help. It is easier for them to accept the fact that they cannot have a new bicycle if they know what the family financial picture looks like.

No budget will work if you don't ever plan to stick to it. If you are serious about setting up a sound spending plan for your family, the Extension Service has a bulletin entitled

Take your problems to Church this week -

THE COCK CAN TEACH US A LESSON

When a new day dawns the cock announces it with a lusty crow. No lagging, slothful bird, the cock. He calls his mates to awaken and enjoy each new day. The human family can take a lesson from him. We can, if we will, meet each day with a song or shout in our hearts and defy the things which seem a drudgery.

There are aids which give the kind of spirit needed to meet each dawn with a lilt. Attendance at the church of one's liking is such an aid. It assists in putting most people in the right frame of mind and spirit for meeting each day. For one thing, church attendance helps dispel resentments-great drawbacks to meeting the day in the proper spirit. Learn to use the Church as a source for joyful living. It is well worth your trial.

Take your problems to Church this week -

Little Shoes Follow Big Shoes

It is the natural thing for LITTLE SHOES to follow in the path already broken by BIG SHOES. There are exceptions, but more often than not, parental influence is strong. This being the case it behooves BIG SHOES to watch his or her steps.

BIG SHOES have a big order to fill. They must be great without pomp. They must be brave without ambition to conquer. They must be a friend to the weak and a foe to none but those who plan their greatness on their brethren's woes.

Church attendance helps BIG SHOES to live up to this big order. LITTLE SHOES follow and will usually continue to attend if BIG SHOES do not drop by the wayside.
