by Richard Lynn

Helen Utter and her daughter, Lynne Utter Northrop, rode prize-winning horses at the 42nd Annual Tennessee Walking Horse National Celebration in Shelbyville, Tennessee. The show concluded Saturday after some 1,700 Tennessee Walking horses from all parts of the nation had paraded before the judges for ten days and nights. Promoters estimated that over 100,000 persons paid the price of admission to see the show and cheer their favorites. Lynne Utter Northrop, from Akron and Huntington, Indiana, was in the winner's circle three times. Her horse, Mister Delight H, won a total of $650, two trophies and two ribbons. Lynne also showed her father's Tennessee Walking horse, Star of the Show, winner of $150, a trophy and a ribbon. Star of the Show is owned by Howard Utter, Akron.

The show was attended by 4,874 persons on Thursday, August 21 when Northrop's horse, Mister Delight H was the winner over thirty-nine other entries in Class number five: Owner-amateur lady riders on walking geldings, of any age. The prize was $150, a trophy and a ribbon.

On Monday evening, August 25, Star of the Show was the winner of Class number 37: Three amateur riders to judge, walking stallions, mares or geldings. Fifty-eight other horses were entered in the class. Star of the Show won $150, a trophy and a ribbon. Eight thousand, one hundred and five persons were attending the show that day.

Saturday evening, August 30, Mister Delight H competed with seventeen other horses in Class number 63: Owner-amateur lady riders on walking mares or geldings, Championship Stake. The prize was $500, a trophy and ribbon. Lynne has won this class three times and retired a challenge trophy.

Helen Utter was riding her horse, Mister Wilson's Major, August 26th, when 8,590 persons attended the show. Mister Wilson's Major won $150, a trophy and a ribbon, competing with 44 other entries in Class number 44: Owner-amateur riders on walking stallions, over 15.2.

VIKES WIN 7-6

by Richard Lynn

When the game ended Friday night at Rochester's Barnhart Field, the Vikings had defeated the Zebras 7-6, the first Valley victory of the season.

Gleeful football players from TVHS gathered around Head Coach Charles Smith. Finally they quieted down so Smith could be heard, as he yelled, "Hey! You tell me what feels better than being so exhausted you can hardly move..."

"Whee!"

"It's just gotta be winning!"

"...and you look up at the scoreboard and you see a victory!" Smith continued, "I am not satisfied. You have some mistakes and this is only one of the next nine that I want to win!"

"Valley pride!" was their cry.

"Next week," the coach said, "we're squarin' up in the Three Rivers Conference with Northfield." Whatever else he said was lost to my ears amid the victory chants of the TVHS team.

Will Northfield be a tough opponent for the Vikings?

"Well," replied Doug Makula, assistant backfield coach, "they beat Southwood in the first game, thirteen to nothing, so they're not pushovers, that's for sure. We figure Southwood to be one of the top teams in the conference, so next week's game will be a tough one."

Drudge Family Reunion (after 40 years)

by Richard Lynn

The ten children of Clarence and Chloe Drudge finally got together again for a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Drudge in Akron, August 27th. It was the first time the 4 brothers and 6 sisters had gathered in one place since they posed for a group portrait in 1940. Nine of the Drudge siblings were together in 1964. On another occasion there were eight of them at a reunion, but it was only last week that all ten of the Drudge brothers and sisters assembled together. They wanted to have a group portrait taken, but since a professional photographer couldn't be found at a moment's notice, they had to settle for a polaroid snapshot.

Dick's youngest brother, Dale, is now 52 and their oldest sister will be 75 years of age, September 18th. They all live in Indiana, except Opal and Robert who reside in Arizona.

VIKINGS WIN 7-6

"Oh, boy," Makula exclaimed, "It's nice to get a victory! That'll give the team a little confidence - a little fire!"

Viking fullback Gilbert Martens carried the ball seven times, averaging seven-yards per carry and had a touchdown run called back on a clipping penalty. He also made the longest run of the night (23 yards).

Roger Burton made a 4-yard run to score a touchdown for the Zebras, but his team was penalized five yards on the point after play. The extra point kick by teammate John McLochlin missed the right upright.

The Zebras were ahead 6-0, until Viking tailback Scott Bibler scored a touchdown with 56 seconds left in the third quarter. Keith Paige scored the extra point kick that put TVHS ahead of the Zebras.

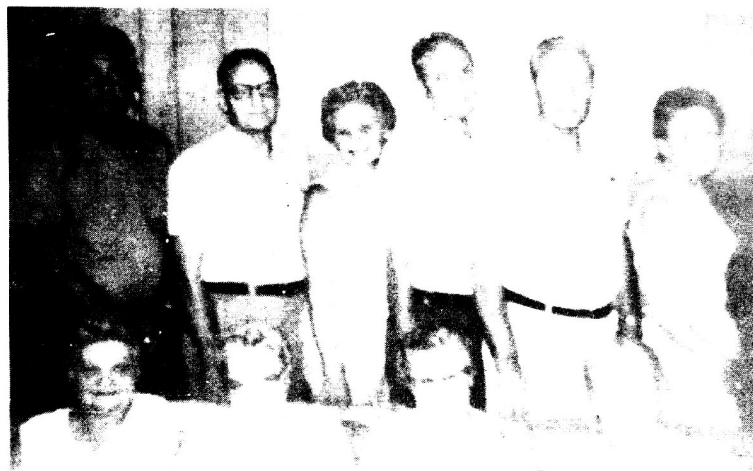

Viking Todd Peterson intercepted two passes hurled by Rochester's sophomore quarterback Jeff Zent.

The most effective runner of the game was Bibler with 106-yards on 19 carries. Burton gained 86 yards in 19 runs. Martens lugged the ball 50-yards on seven carries.

Next Friday, Rochester will play at Wawasee in its Northern Lakes Conference opener. Valley will meet Northfield at TVHS, 7:30 p.m., Friday.

Mentone item

Mr. and Mrs. Zanna Hammer, Mary Teel, Alta Nellans and Marie Coleman, of Mentone, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, of Mariou, have returned from a very impressive and interesting trip to The Holy Land and The Passion Play at Oberammergau, Germany.

In Israel, the land is very rocky and arid, but with equipment they are removing the rocks and by irrigating, the soil is fertile. They raise beautiful fruit and vegetables; each day five planes leave for Europe with this produce. Their average of rain per year is only three inches.

The main industry is diamonds, which are imported from Africa. The group toured a workshop at Netanya; second is tourism. The Government controls all the land and buildings; farmers lease the land with restrictions and raise cotton, wheat, corn and sunflowers.

They also toured Tel Aviv, Ashkelon, Nazareth, Tiberias, Jericho, Jerusalem, Setheleham, Masada, Galilee, Dead Sea and many other interesting places.

In 1873, St. Louis established the first public kindergarten in the United States.

New furnishings at Mentone Library

Friends of the Mentone Bell Memorial Library met at the library for their August meeting. Everyone walked on the new carpet runner and saw the newly painted ceiling and walls. These along with getting the draperies cleaned have been done with funds received from the letter campaign and Mentone Days activities.

There was discussion on what to do about the area where Lawrence Bell's things are. It was decided to get prices on furniture and to have two chairs recovered.

For a fall money making project "Friends" will be having a bake and rummage sale on November 8 (tentative date), and possibly will be selling poinsettias.

A special "Fall" meeting will be held September 23 with cards being sent, requesting all members be present so the by-laws can be voted on. Copies of the by-laws are available at the library.

Sound off

"Why raise Akron Water Rates just because the department is only breaking even. With employment as is some of us are not even breaking even due to cost of high utility bills. I thought the water rates were to go down as time went on. I could understand keeping the same rate if there isn't a possibility of them decreasing. Explain. I definitely am satisfied breaking even! Wish we all could."

Financial Ache

I know that summer is over, folks — I received my fee statement from Purdue a few days ago. This is just a little something the University sends me before the beginning of classes to remind me that I'm destitute.

Really, it's pretty sad when I have to beg an envelope off my roommate, and a stamp off the girl across the hall just so I can write home and beg money off Mom and Dad. No, seriously, I don't write home for loans. For something that important, I call .... COLLECT! I guess I could always resort to the "sheet-sign" method of mooching. I think it would be very nice to see my father's name on T.V., don't you? Just once, as the camera scans the crowd at a football game, I'd like to see it focus on a big white sheet with these words emblazoned across it: "Hey, Rudy, — Your Polish Scholar needs a dollar!"

Maybe I should try to save more money, but I have a very expensive habit, — clothes. I don't know why, but I have this strange craving for designer labels. I would just love to have "Calvin Klein" or "Gloria Vanderbilt" walk out of my closet every morning. If I were independently wealthy, would I buy a Porsche,.... or a yacht? Are you kidding? I'd splurge and buy TWO pairs of "Sassoon" jeans! I can just see myself in a clothing commercial. There I am, standing by the campus fountain, wearing my Oxford shirt, Alligator sweater, cheeno pants, and Bass shoes, and saying "... yes, and for a substantial portion of your income, you too can dress 'preppie'."

I suppose I could give up eating. That wouldn't be too hard, — what with the price of my staple food these days. Did you know that a package of Twinkies costs 40 cents now? That's 20 cents a Twink!

Oh, I don't want you to think that all college students are as poverty-stricken as I am. One of my suitmates, for instance, lives in a house with FIVE bathrooms.....and there are only four people in her family! "Roughing it," to them, is when the chauffeur goes on vacation and they have to drive the Mercedes themselves.

During finals week this spring, a group of us gathered in my room to scream, shout, convulse and complain about various things, and somehow the question "What are you doing this summer?" crept into the conversation. Immediately faces brightened.

"We're flying to Italy to visit my mother's family," Emily began. If I had been smark, I would have slipped quietly out of the room right then. But no, — I stayed for more punishment.

"A month-long cruise in the Caribbean...."

"A cross-country bike trip...."

"Mountain climbing in Colorado...."

To these girls, a "job" was something their toy poodles did on newspapers in the corner.

"I won't be able to go anyplace this summer," Jenna said.

I let out a little sigh, relieved to think I wouldn't be the only one joining the ranks of working women for the next four months. What a presumptuous thought!

She continued, "My cousin from Michigan will be staying with us. I guess we'll just lay out in the sun all day, and maybe catch some shows at night." Now, when she said "shows" she didn't mean "Rocky Horror." This girl lives 20 minutes from Broadway.

I couldn't start it! I decided this would be an excellent time to make my get-away. Unfortunately, before I reached the door, it flew open and Tara bounded in.

"Three glorious months in Miami," the words dripped from her mouth like melting ice-cream. "My best friend from high school just moved to Florida, and she's invited me to spend the summer with her ....FREE! Isn't that terrific?"

The rest of the group quickly agreed, as I tried to hide in the closet. "Hey Teresa," Linn called. "What are you going to do over vacation?" (Boy, if that wasn't fighting dirty—asking me a direct question!) I tried to cough and yawn at the same time to cover my mumbled "Work at a dime store." It was as if E. F. Hutton had just spoken. "Excuse me," Linn cleared her throat. "Did you say 'WORK'?" — The word had the same effect on them that the bubonic plague might have had.

"Yes," I replied, hanging my head. But then, with intended sarcasm, I added, "Don't think that I need the money though. I only do it for the glamour."

Baffled expressions bounced around the room for a moment until Linn decided the topic of "work" was too depressing to discuss. "I really feel like a pizza," she said with that starving child look.

Again, an immediate mood-change occurred. All my friends suddenly forgot my terrible fate, as they dipped into their pockets and began making out the menu. I reached into my money jar and pulled out two lint balls, a broken pencil, and a family of furry creatures.

"Actually, I'm not that hungry," I smiled as they filed out of the room.

Amie, the only suitee who kept me company in my sinking financial boat, walked in and caught me gazing out the window.

"You know life is getting rough," I said, gesturing down at the parking lot, "when your folks make you drive such a small car."

She joined me in a growing circle of envy, as we watched Linn take off for Pizza Hut in her Corvette.

"I only wish I had it so rough!"

By the time you read this, I'll be back on the big campus, beating the books (and, probably, the wall....my mailbox....my roommate ....etc....) Before I close out "The Other End," however, I'd like to say something in seriousness (what do you mean - you don't think I can???)

Not only was this something new and different for me and the Akron/Mentone NEWS, but it was something different for YOU. Satirical fiction sometimes doesn't work because people take it too seriously. We took a bit of a risk here, and I was pleasantly surprised at your response. To those of you who smiled and enjoyed my first endeavor, I must say "Thank you." Your many compliments and your support were GREATLY appreciated. If I offended anyone with my flip, self-directed humor, I'm truly sorry. I assure you, that was never my intention.

Again, thank you all — especially you, Mr. Lynn, — for giving me a chance.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Pastor asks support for drive to help local family

DEAR EDITOR:

I am writing to you to inform you of a very definite need concerning this family in our community. Last fall, Richard Moyer got both his hands caught in a corn picker and lost the use of those limbs. There seems to be difficulty with his insurance that he had with the company he worked for and he has accumulated several thousand dollars worth of bills with the Logansport and Louisville hospitals. I realize that many of you have been aware of this situation and have already helped either financially or with other acts of kindness toward this family. But, at this point, there is more needed and I believe that with a joint effort on our part in our area, but without any one of us sacrificing too greatly, we can take care of this concern for this family. Richard has a small farm and is doing everything he can to support his family but with added burden over his head it is going to be difficult for him to continue on.

On Wednesday, September 10, there will be an area-wide drive. Many churches in the area are going to take part in this drive to collect these monies. Anyone collecting for this drive will have the proper identification. The Olive Branch Church of God will be the receiving agency and all monies collected will be forwarded directly to the Logansport and Louisville hospitals. There will be a later notice in the paper as to the outcome of this effort.

We thank you for your help and consideration in this matter and we know the Lord will richly bless you.

In Christ,
Lowell Burrus, Pastor

of God

Crop loss can be seed of business failure

"Farmers have always prided themselves on their ability to 'land on their feet' and continue farming even after a bad crop year, but a number of developments may be changing that," says Francis G. Hudkins, District Director of USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corporation in northern Indiana.

"The major development is the modern farmer's increasing reliance on borrowed capital at a time when most agricultural lenders are experiencing tougher competition for their available funds," according to Hudkins. As a result, the FCIC official points out, the farmer who finds himself in a financial squeeze as a result of crop loss can have difficulty obtaining the expanded credit line to recover from the loss.

"It's a real 'Catch 22' situation," says Hudkins. The very circumstances that cause the farmer to seek more credit also make the lender reluctant to provide as much credit. "The lender's viewpoint is understandable," he adds. "When a crop disaster leaves a farmer with a lot of unpaid bills and overdue loans, he becomes a greater loan risk and is thus likely to have difficulty getting the additional credit he needs."

"Many of the farm business failures we're seeing today had as their 'seed' crop loss from which the farmer was unable to recover," Hudkins observes. He notes that the difficulty in getting money to finance a recovery is often compounded by the slowdown in the rate at which land values are rising. "It used to be that soaring land prices provided ever increasing amounts of collateral that could be borrowed against, so that even a farmer who had a bad year could still get ample credit. This is no longer the case."

On the brighter side, these same developments are prompting many farmers to discover and use other financial management tools such as insurance on growing crops, Hudkins explains. "The flexibility that has built into FCIC policies for 1981-crop wheat enable a grower to insure up to the full amount of his investment and, if he elects to, pledge any proceeds from the insurance to his lender as loan collateral. In this way, the farmer is not only able to cover his crop investment against loss but he is able to protect his ability to borrow the money he will need in future years."

Wheat growers interested in finding out what it costs can request a specific insurance proposal for their operation, without obligation, by contacting The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, 513 Main Street, Rochester, IN 46975. 219-223-6516.

Purdue University's Eight Week Winter Course

Purdue University's 95th annual Eight Week Winter Courses in Agriculture will be held Jan. 5-Feb. 26, 1981, and are expected to again attract some 250 young men and women for studies in plant, animal and general agriculture, and pest management.

Dr. Jack Long, assistant dean of agriculture and winter courses coordinator, said that 51 Hoosiers have already applied for admission to winter courses. New winter courses catalogs containing descriptions of the 23 courses offered, applications and enrollment forms have all been distributed throughout the state. Long said the catalogs are available from Purdue's School of Agriculture, Indiana Cooperative Extension offices, high school vocational agriculture teachers, Soil Conservation Service offices, and most member banks of the Indiana Bankers Association, Inc.

Long said the winter courses are designed for people who want to learn more about the science and business of farming, but who are unable to participate in a four-year college program. Applicants should have a good high school education, he added. Winter courses graduates may return a second or third time without repeating required courses.

The cost of attending the winter courses is about $850 for residents, $1,200 for non-residents of Indiana. The costs include a registration fee of $237, room, board, supplies and transportation to and from campus.

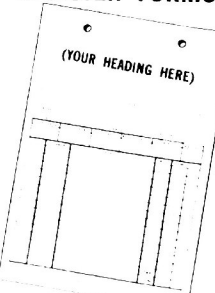

Financial assistance is available to many students through scholarships sponsored by member banks of the Indiana Bankers Association, Inc., the Indiana Farm Bureau, Inc., and other local organizations. Residents interested in obtaining a scholarship should contact any county Extension office, a local banker, a Farm Bureau representative, or Dr. Long, at the School of Agriculture, Agricultural Administration Building, West Lafayette, IN 47907.

School Days Program highlights luncheon

The Perry Home Improvement Club entertained the DD Doers Club on August 21 at the Ebenezer Church. In charge of everything were Betty Keim and Marie Berger. The tables were colorful with flowers and place settings for the noon salad luncheon.

Grace for the meal was by Ruth Bammerlin. Following the meal, Alice Teel, president, welcomed the guests, including special guest, Zella Bowman, who accompanied all singing with accordion music. A few announcements were made and a September trip was discussed.

The president then introduced the substitute teacher for today's School, Betty Keim. Together, the school girls sang, "School Days." Pledges to the flags of nation and church were led by Aurel Musselman. The Lord's Prayer was prayed in unison as the teacher began the daily devotion. She told how pearls, when shut away from light, isolated from living, will lose their luster. She said so do people and that we need to constantly serve others.

June Merley for the Family Life lesson, spoke about "School: Then and Now." Then boys and girls had discipline, and fun games for everyone, instead of group athletic competition. Reading, writing and arithmetic were stressed, and vulgarities were neither seen nor heard.

Roll call by the school secretary, Arlene Gearhart, was answered by "Where I Started to School."

Marie Berger's citizenship lesson was "Behavior: Then and Now." The group was lead by Bea Fites in singing "God Bless America" and "Shine On, Harvest Moon." Emma Burns won the Spelling Bee.

Arlene Gearhart sat on the Duncce Stool, wearing the Duncce Cap for chewing gun in school; and Marie Long and Marie Nestleroad, for whispering and giggling. The School Day closed with all singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Ruth Bammerlin spoke of "Events in a One Room School Year" from the Cloak Room, using one water bucket and ladle for all, to the Annual Box Social.

The teacher was awarded a bag of apples for work well done.

Other prizes were awarded to: Mary Glasford for the lucky lunch cup; Lucile Enyart for mistake on her slate (name tag); Helen Miller for special mark on her program; and to Rachel Jane Angelina Correll for most letters in her name.

There were 17 members and 13 guests present.

IN KOKOMO WITH THE REAGAN CAMPAIGN

by Richard Lynn

Monday afternoon, Ronald Reagan's presidential campaign focused on Kokomo, Indiana, scene of heavy unemployment in automotive industrial plants. Reagan aides staged a rally at Kokomo Mall, adjacent to the Delco Electronics and Chrysler Transmission plants — a logical place for Reagan to hammer away at President Carter's economic policies. Reagan's speech was promoted by campaign strategists as "a major economics address."

Milan and Diane Cumberland meet Rita Moreno LIGHTS OUT ON THE LOVE BOAT

by Barbara Ann Lynn

Local residents, Diane and Milan Cumberland, R. 2, Akron, got more of an adventure than they bargained for when they recently set sail on a week long cruise in the Caribbean Sea, aboard the world's largest cruise ship, the SS Norway. The Cumberlands left Miami on Sunday, August 17 expecting to spend a romantic week aboard ship, but two days after leaving port, the cruiser's boiler room lost all power, leaving the luxury liner unable to generate running water, air conditioning and electricity. An emergency generator provided electricity for refrigeration of food, but was not sufficient for other uses.

"The ship automatically prepared for sinking" when the total blackout happened at 1 a.m. August 19, Mrs. Cumberland said. She remarked that some of the passengers on board became distressed, but crew members made efforts to calm their fears and make them as comfortable as possible for the next 36 hours.

For two evenings, many of the travelers slept under the stars, on the ship's deck.

Because of the lack of air conditioning, staterooms were oppressive from lack of ventilation, but even so, some of the travelers made their way through the dark corridors to sleep in their own rooms.

Many of the guests were dressed in evening wear at the time of the breakdown, so later the ship's crew led them to their rooms where they could change into more comfortable clothes.

The luxury liner was scheduled to make stops at the ports of St. Thomas and Little Salvador, but most of the time, were adrift north west of Grand Caicos Island, at the furthestmost part of the Bahamas chain which is north of Haiti.

Valley Vikings Football

What's her phone number?

The Vikings won again last Friday, 14-7, over visiting Northfield.

There were pretty girls, lots of insects, ambulances, crutches and big tough guys tromping on each other.

Three Vikings were injured. Scott Bibler and Brent Arven suffered minor injuries and are returning to forthcoming battles, but sophomore tailback James Holloway is out for the season. He bravely endured the agony of a dislocated finger, while waiting several minutes for the ambulance to arrive.

RON PETERS, out in front, races to the finish-line!

BIG BRENT ARVEN receives first-aid for his battle wounds.

It is rumored that ARVEN eats raw meat before each game to toughen up. Head Coach Charles Smith says, "Brent is a super blocker, a super bitter and if he continues to dedicate himself to the game of football, he could be a real terror both defensively and open up some big holes for us as an offensive tackle." Does anyone know what Arven is drinking?

Area boy earns national title

Cameron Kissinger

An area boy recently earned national championship honors when he and his partner won first place in the National Roller Skating Competition held at the Central Arena Roller Rink in Toledo, Ohio.

Cameron Kissinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kissinger, W. Main St., North Manchester, and partner Angela Miller captured top honors in the juvenile dance competition at the meet, which was held July 20-26.

Kissinger, 10, skates with the Rock Lake Skating Club and Miller is a member of the Eby Pine's Skating Club. This was the first appearance at the national meet for the pair, who earned the privilege by winning the Indiana Skate meet earlier this summer.

Kissinger, who has been skating for only two years, said he practices eight to 12 hours per week. He competes in about one meet per month.

Although it is a long way off, Kissinger said his roller-skating goal is to compete in the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles. Presently roller skating is not an Olympic sport but attempts are being made to have it included in time for the 1984 games.

Kissinger is the great-grandson of Mrs. Ernest Bodkin, North Manchester, who attended the competition in Toledo, Ohio, and the nephew of Mrs. Ray Doering, Akron.

REAGAN CAMPAIGN

Reagan said, "Carter tries to tell us that we're only in a recession, not a depression, as if definitions were to relieve our suffering. I have talked with unemployed workers all across this country. I've heard their views on what Jimmy Carter has done to them and their families. And I've talked to some more today. They're not interested in semantic quibbles. They're out of work and they know who put them out of work and they know the difference between a recession and a depression."

Reagan went on to explain the difference as defined in an old joke.

"A recession is when your neighbor loses his job. A depression is when you lose yours. And recovery is when Jimmy Carter loses his."

Governor Reagan arrived at Kokomo Municipal Airport shortly after noon. Accompanied by Gov. Bowen and 5th District Congressman Elwood "Bud" Hillis, Reagan departed from the airport enroute to Kokomo Mall. On the way, he made an unscheduled stop on a country road at Howard Township School where children were playing at the noon recess.

I was riding in bus number three with approximately forty other Hoosier newsmen. Buses two and one were carrying reporters from the national media. Everyone jumped out and tried to take photographs of Reagan with the children. In a few minutes, it was over, and we had to hurry back to our bus so the motorcade could continue to the rally at Kokomo Mall. The children were running alongside the schoolyard fence, following the reporters as we scamped back to our bus.

One of the kids exclaimed, "I touched him four times!"

SEPTEMBER SAFETY CORNER

SUNDOWN SAFETY

Farm work is often continued into the night, especially at this time of year as the days grow shorter. To avoid sundown safety problems:

- Have good farm vehicle lighting. . . . keep it clean and replace burned out bulbs. . . . Keep SMV emblems clean, bright and visible. . . . Keep tail lights working and reflectors clean. . . . Use your flashing amber lights on the highway. . . . Keep cab windows clean. . . . At night, watch for obstructions and other hazards in the field. . . . Drive with special care in rainy, snowy or foggy weather.

Letters to the Editor

Volunteer workers needed

DEAR EDITOR:

If you have never attended the Trail of Courage Rendezvous, attend this year and see why thousands of people come from miles around. It will be Sept. 20-21 at Kern's pine woods on the corner of New 31 and the Tippecanoe River. It is well worth your time, being both entertaining and educational.

We really need to make good during the Trail of Courage Rendezvous this year in order to be able to pay the museums' bills next year because our food sales during the Round Barn Festival were down $500.

A crew of volunteers is calling all Fulton County Historical Society members for $2 donation to buy the cornbread and buns and supplies and most important: to get volunteer workers.

With the Trail of Courage Rendezvous getting bigger every year because of crowds coming from all over Indiana and neighboring states, it is crucial that we get enough help to be able to do it right. If we don't have enough help we lose money. For instance, people can slip in without paying if we lack workers to guard the entrances.

Several old faithfuls work all day both days. So if others can possibly say yes to working a half day shift, please do. And interested persons in the community are welcome to help too.

Volunteer workers and their immediate families are admitted free. They should report to the information booth to get badge and work assignment.

The work shifts are 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 1 to 5:30 Saturday. On Sunday the work shifts are 8 to 1 and from 1 to 6 because of pioneer worship in the morning and clean up after we close.

All workers and interested persons are invited to the pioneer worship service at 8:30 a.m. Sunday and the community carry-in supper at 6:30 Saturday night. Hamburgers will be provided by the Rochester Chamber of Commerce. Bring your own table service, two covered dishes of food to pass, chair or blanket to sit on for the campfire after supper.

The campfire singing has been blessed with lovely moonlight in past years. Come and enjoy an evening of old-time singing with guitar and fiddle.

Shirley Willard

Register to vote

© 1980 by Eula Romayne Smith
Who should register to vote?

According to Kosciusko County Clerk, Jean Messmore, anyone who will be 18 or older by November 4 and has not already registered.

Do I have to be a citizen of the United States?

Yes, either native or naturalized. What about people who have moved?

They should check to be sure their registration is transferred.

If a girl marries, does she need to change her registration?

Yes, marriage or any other legal name change should be reported. If not, the person may lose his vote.

If I voted in the last presidential election, haven't moved, haven't changed my name, I'm OK. Right?

No. The law has been changed. If you voted in this year's primary or in 1978, you are on the list. However, both Mrs. Messmore and Fulton County Clerk, Kathryn Spice, have sent cards to people who have not voted since 1976 reminding them that their name will be purged if the card is not returned.

When and where should a person register?

A person can register at the County Clerk's office in the county where he lives until October 6. Also precinct committeemen from each party and vice-chairmen have been deputized to help with local registration. (See list of names at end of article.) These people will turn in their lists and supplies by Sept. 19 or 20.

Do I have to tell the registrar which political party I prefer?

No, they only ask for your name, mailing address, date of birth, place of birth and signature.

What if I have other questions about registering or voting?

Call or go to your county clerk's office. Kosciusko County Court House is open 8-4 Monday through Thursday and 8-6 Friday. Call 267-4444 and ask for the Clerk's office.

The Fulton County Clerk's Office is open 8-4 Monday through Thursday and 8-5 Friday. The phone number is 223-2911.

College students, servicemen, or people going to Florida in early fall can apply now to receive an absentee ballot by mail after October 6. However, ballots cannot be mailed to addresses within the county.

Truck drivers, salesmen and others who expect to be away from home on Election Day can vote in the Clerk's office during a certain time period.

People with special problems, such as shut-ins, or those who cannot go up steps to the voting place, can arrange to vote at home with a representative from each party present. In Fulton County, Mrs. Spice said the shut-in voting will be done the last Saturday before the election. It will be done during the week before the election in Kosciusko County.

Mrs. Messmore recommends that people "stay put" between October 6 and Election Day. Just moving from the north end to the south end of either Mentone or Akron could make a citizen ineligible to vote. Special forms are available which allow a mover to vote for president and vice president only. Mrs. Spice explained that the state highway is the precinct dividing line in Akron and the west part of the township, but not in the east part.

Here are some of the people helping with voter registration. Kosciusko county, Harrison Township Precinct 1 (Crystal Lake area): Henry and Ora Hackworth, Cathy Decker, Chester Clappitt, Jr. Harrison 2 (north part of Mentone and north): Wayne Tombaugh, Ethna Scott, Gene Hughes. Harrison 3 (Palestine): Steve and Bonita Bruner, Richard Morrison, Beverly McClone.

Seward Township (north): Agnes Huff; (south) Max Weller.

Franklin 1 (south part of Mentone): Kathryn Teel, Gilbert Griffith, Nellie Reed. Franklin 2 (south): Richard and Bonnie Whittenberger, Elmer Dickey.

Fulton County, Henry township 1 (north): Anne Kendall, Mildred Harper. Henry 2 (south): Richard Adamson, Diana Bucher.

Newcastle Township: Keith White, Pat Greer.

White, Pat Greer.

Injustice in U.S. Pension Program

by Dr. John Ahrens and Dr. Fred Miller

Dr. John Ahrens and Dr. Fred Miller are Professors of Philosophy at Bowling Green University.

(c) Public Research, Syndicated, 1980.

There is a modern nation which has instituted a cruelly unjust pension plan for its elderly. A person who retired in 1970 with a pension of $20,000 (based on a salary of $30,000 per year) now receives less than $10,000. And by 1995, this pensioner will receive less than $1,500, unless he or she is lucky enough to "leave the system" in the meantime.

The country is the United States. The figures are the real dollar values based on the decline in the purchasing power of the dollar due to government-fueled inflation.

These figures, drawn from the May 12 issue of BUSINESS WEEK, should surprise no one. It is well known that inflation causes severe economic hardships for most people, and especially for those on fixed incomes. Almost everyone has had to give up some of the luxuries that Americans have come to take for granted. Many retirees cannot even afford necessities like decent food and housing.

What may not be so obvious is that inflation causes other and equally serious ETHICAL dilemmas.

For not everyone suffers equally from the effects of inflation. Retired federal employees, for example are protected from inflation by special laws which increase their pensions each year to keep pace with inflation.

Thus, a federal civil servant who retired in 1970 with a final salary of $25,000 is now drawing a pension of approximately $35,000. But the private pensioner's income has increased much less dramatically, if at all.

The private sector, itself a victim of inflation, simply cannot absorb the cost of including automatic cost-of-living adjustments in its pension programs. But the federal government has no such problems. It can simply raise taxes.

The inflationary spiral makes it all the easier for the government to increase its revenues without appearing to increase taxes. The federal income tax structure does not adequately reflect the impact of inflation. As inflation forces businesses to grant more and more wage increases, people find themselves pushed into higher tax brackets at the same time as the real value of their incomes is decreasing. The government can then divert these increased tax revenues into such areas as federal pension programs.

Social security payments are increasing at the same rate as inflation. But it is a mistake to think that social security will pick up the slack in private pension programs. For social security payments are barely above the poverty level. Many Americans hope to combine them with their private pensions in order to stay at a more comfortable standard of living, but these hopes are being dashed as inflation destroys private pension plans.

Increased reliance on social security certainly will not help the economy. It will do nothing to encourage productivity or saving. It will also require increased government spending, which will mean either larger deficits or increased taxes. Neither of these alternatives can have a desirable effect on inflation.

Nor will increased reliance on social security cure the inequities that result from continued inflation. Higher social security taxes are an increasing burden on the most productive members of society, those who produce goods and services. These individuals are struggling to pay for their own pensions, while they also have to pay taxes for the generous pensions of government employees.

What is perhaps most noteworthy is that inflation is driving the nation unconsciously toward one of the socialist's dreams. As the real buying power of private pensions decreases and the importance of social security increases, there will cease to be any parity between an individual's level of productivity and his or her level of reward.

Society's wealth will not be distributed according to merit or contribution. It will be distributed according to the dictates of the state.

The injustice of this to retirees is clear. Those who made the most valuable contributions to our current level of well-being cannot count on being appropriately rewarded.

But it is also an injustice to those who are not yet retired. For they are deprived of the means to ensure their own security and well-being in retirement. The transfers of wealth that inflation brings about force the productive members of society into a condition of dependency on the state. This is an odd state of affairs in a free country.

Inflation does not create only economic problems; it creates moral problems as well. And a country that allows inflation to continue unabated faces more than economic hardship. It faces broad and far-reaching political and social changes. If inflation is to be effectively attacked, we must understand what these changes are.

We must learn who benefits from inflation and who loses. A serious social problem such as the plight of the elderly can be solved in only one way: by putting a stop to the policies of our government which are causing it.

Hartzler recent graduate

Mark Hartzler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hartzler, Akron, was graduated on Friday, August 29, from the Mid-America College of Funeral Services in Indianapolis. The Commencement exercises were conducted at 10:30 a.m. in the Abundant Life Memorial Church.

John B. Hutchins, chairman of the American Board of Funeral Service Education, gave the commencement address to the twenty-eight graduates. Class members were from Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Iowa, Missouri and Indiana.

LIGHTS OUT ON THE LOVE BOAT

The cruise wasn't a total disaster, though. Aside from not getting to visit the ports, Mrs. Cumberland said that she and her husband managed to see and do all the activities they had planned aboard ship, despite the power failure. On Monday evening, prior to the blackout, the Cumberlands met the well known television star and actress, Rita Moreno who was seated at the next table during the Captain's Party. Miss Moreno was on board to supply live entertainment.

A production of "Hello Dolly" was running, as well as an original stage show entitled "Sea Legs" which took place in a theater seating 665 persons.

Two dining rooms and a street of shops were among the attractions the ship offered. The craft measures 1,035 feet long.

Occasionally, the captain came to the deck and made announcement of what was being done, but much of the time, the passengers were in the dark, both literally and figuratively. On the evening of August 19, the Captain informed the guests that the Coast Guard was coming to the rescue and would begin shuttling passengers off the vessel, 50 persons at a time.

At 7 a.m. August 20, however, the pleasure craft regained power and began moving, making the rescue mission unnecessary.

Mrs. Cumberland, who is a broker with Red Carpet - Larry Nellans Realtors in Warsaw, said that everything was back to normal aboard the cruise ship, once the power was restored. The ship returned to Miami two days ahead of schedule on August 22.

Norwegian Caribbean Lines, owners of the SS Norway, gave the passengers a 100 percent refund, including air fare, plus certificates good for 50 percent off a future cruise on the Norwegian line, if taken within the next year. An estimated total of $2.5 million was refunded, Mrs. Cumberland reported.

Mrs. Cumberland remarked that despite the discomfort, most passengers took the inconvenience well and that one young couple even thought it was fun.

Mrs. Cumberland said that she and her husband had no complaints. She called the Norwegian Lines "the best" and thought the line was more than fair in their refunding of customer's money.

This was the Cumberland's third cruise with the Norwegian Caribbean Lines and they hope to take advantage of another cruise if they have the time.

Mr. Hartzler received an Associate of Applied Science in Mortuary Science Degree. He is employed by the Gundrum Funeral Home in Logansport.

A reception honoring his graduation was held on Sunday evening at the home of his parents hosted by his sisters, Mrs. Stephenie Heinzmann and Mrs. Melinda Overmyer, and his parents. The 85 guests attending were from Silver Lake, Roanoke, Logansport, Markle, Kokomo, Ossian, Argos, Columbia City, Rochester, Bourbon, Albion and Akron.

Electricity, the household servant, can also become the household hazard, if you don't use it properly.

Faulty appliances, overloaded extension cords, and amateur home wiring jobs can all lead to danger if you're not careful. To keep you and your family safe, be sure there are no electrical hazards in your home.

Avoid using any appliances near water. Make sure an appliance is turned off before unplugging it. And look for the Underwriters' Laboratory seal on every appliance you use. It's your assurance that the product is manufactured to the highest safety standards. Remember to keep your appliances in good condition too. And replace all worn and frayed cords.

At Public Service Indiana, our business is to provide electricity. But our purpose is to help people. So be extra safe by using your appliances wisely.

Potawatomi Indian to speak at Trail of Courage Rendezvous

The Potawatomi Indian historical researcher, Jerry Lewis of Midlothian, Ill., will give a speech at 12:30 a.m. both days at the 12th annual Trail of Courage Rendezvous Sept. 20-21 at Rochester, Ind. Elected each year at the tribal council of the Citizens Band of Potawatomi in Shawnee, Okla., Lewis' topic will be "The Removal," the tribal term for the forced migration of the Potawatomi from northern Indiana to Kansas 1837-51, which includes the Trail of Death in 1838.

The Trail of Courage Rendezvous, an annual two-day event of the Fulton County Historical Society, commemorates the courage of the Potawatomi during the Trail of Death. The rendezvous will be held in the pine woods on the corner of New U.S. 31 and the Tippecanoe River north of Rochester.

This year the Trail of Courage received a $400 grant from the Indiana Arts Commission to bring visiting artists to demonstrate pioneer crafts such as coopering, spinning wheel, dyeing of the yarn with weeds, candle dipping, etc.

The grant will also pay for the twice daily performance of the Pendragon Puppets of Indianapolis in 18th century costume. And the grant will pay Lewis' travel expenses.

The Trail of Courage Rendezvous is a historical re-enactment of the days prior to the removal, when the Potawatomi was the ruling tribe in northern Indiana. It features a tipi village, muzzle loading and tomahawk contests every hour by Menominee Muzzle Loaders, Indian dances by Order of Arrow at 2:30, canoe landing by Kekionga Longrifles at 10:30, storyteller's lean-to, pioneer crafts and food.

Several additions will be seen for the first time this year. Proctor's Artillery of Illinois will fire their cannon and play fife and drum. A five-mile cross-country mini-marathon, the Rendezvous Run, will begin at 11 a.m. Sunday. A pioneer fashion show will conclude each day's activities.

The Trail of Courage Rendezvous will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children 6-12, and free for children under 6 years. Group rates are available if arranged ahead of time. Write to Fulton County Historical Society, 7th and Pontiac, Rochester, IN 46975 or phone 219-223-4436.

The Indiana Arts Commission is a State agency created by the Indiana General Assembly in 1969 to encourage and stimulate the arts, cultural resources and artistic freedom in Indiana. Not-for-profit organizations are eligible to apply for matching grants. For further information about the Commission and its programs, contact the Indiana Arts Commission, 155 East Market Street, Indianapolis, IN 46204, 317-232-1268.

TRAIL OF DEATH

The Citizens Band of Potawatomi, Shawnee, Oklahoma; and the Prairie Band of Potawatomi, Horton, Kansas, are direct descendants of the Indians removed from northern Indiana. So many died on the infamous forced removal of 1838 that it is called the Trail of Death.

The Fulton County Historical Society has been exchanging information with both of these groups to aid in genealogy research. Both bands have been invited to the Rendezvous and it is hoped that some will be able to attend.

The history of the Trail of Death begins in 1836 with the signing of nine treaties negotiated by Abel C. Pepper, Indian agent. The Potawatomi ceded their land for 50 cents to $1 an acre and agreed to move west in two years. Most of the Indians had signed the treaties only because they realized it was unavoidable.

The two years were up Aug. 5, 1838, but there were many bands of Potawatomi remaining, the largest of which was Chief Menominee's at Twin Lakes, south of Plymouth. Anticipating their removal, squatters had already moved onto the reserve and built cabins. Fearing an uprising, white settlers petitioned the governor for help. Gov. David Wallace asked for 100 volunteers and put Gen. John Tipton in charge of removing the Potawatomi forcibly.

Chief Menominee had not signed the treaty and claimed he had not sold his land, thereby becoming the center of resistance. Menominee's peaceful village was suddenly invaded Aug. 30. Part of the Indians were in the log chapel at prayer with Father Benjamin Petit when Tipton announced his arrival with a volley of musket-shot.

Squads of soldiers were sent in every direction to bring in all the Potawatomi from other villages. About 1,000 Indians were gathered for removal.

As they sadly left Menominee's village early on the morning of Sept. 4, the last view the Indians had of their village was the smoke of their burning huts and cabins. This burning was purposely done so they would know they had nothing to come back to.

They marched down the Michigan Road, now Old U.S. 31, camping the first night at the Tippecanoe River north of Rochester. The next day they marched single file through Rochester, stretching from one end of town to the other. That night they camped at Mud Creek five so constituted that the members of each should have as little agency as possible in the appointment of the members of the others...

"...it is equally evident that the members of each department should be as little dependent as possible on those of the others for the emoluments annexed to their offices..."

"...but the great security against a gradual concentration of the several powers in the same department consists in giving to those who administer each department the necessary constitutional means and personal motives to resist encroachment of the others..."

"The provision for defense must in this as in all other cases be made commensurate to the danger of attack. —Ambition must be made to counteract ambition. The interest of the man must be connected with the constitutional rights of the place."

"It may be a reflection on human nature that such devices should be necessary to control the abuses of government. But what is government itself but the greatest of all reflections on human nature? If men were angels, no government would be necessary. If angels were to govern men, neither external nor internal controls on government would be necessary. In framing a government which is to be administered by men over men, the great difficulty lies in this: you must first enable the government to control the governed; and in the next place, oblige it to control itself. A dependence on the people is no doubt the primary control on the government; but experience has taught mankind the necessity of auxiliary precaution."

"This policy of supplying by opposite and rival interest the defect of better motives might be traced through the whole system of human affairs, private as well as public. We see it particularly displayed in all the subordinate distributions of power; where the constant aim is to divide and arrange the several officers in such a manner as that

Dear Elected State Officials:

This letter is in response to your request for an opinion as to whether elected state officials have authority to establish salaries or compensation for employees in their respective offices, subject only to legislative approval of their biennial budget.

ANALYSIS

The Federalist Papers numbered 47 through 51, authored by James Madison and Alexander Hamilton, supply the fundamental background on the separation and distribution of powers in our form of government to provide a constitutional equilibrium as a defense against tyranny. They say in essence that "a mere demarcation on parchment of the constitutional limits of the several departments is not a sufficient guard against those encroachments which lead to a tyrannical concentration of all the powers of government in the same hands." This is the watchword.

Hamilton, in particular in Federalist Paper 51, describes what must be borne in mind in analyzing your question:

"In order to lay a due foundation for that separate and distinct exercise of the different powers of government, which to a certain extent is admitted on all hands to be essential to the preservation of liberty, it is evident that each department should have a will of its own and consequently should be

Students' autos to be frisked School Board adopts locker search

The TVHS School Board met Monday night and adopted a resolution, subject to legal review, authorizing school officials to search students' lockers and automobiles parked on school grounds, for the purpose of seizing alcohol, drugs or weapons, if any are in the possession of students. The move was prompted by the recent passage of a state law which permits searches by school officials on school premises. The School corporation's attorney, Mr. Rakestraw, was requested to study the legal ramifications of the proposed search and seizure policy.

In other business, the School Board trustees tentatively authorized the architect to proceed with topographic surveys and soil boring tests on the building sites for the proposed remodeling of Burket, Mentone and Akron schools. Construction of a new multi-purpose building at TVHS was also studied. Charles Posthumus, a design architect for Daverman Associates, presented architect's sketches of floor plans for the remodeling of the three schools.

Constitutional Trail of Courage defense

each may be a check on the other; that the private interest of every individual may be a sentinel over the public rights."

The Indiana constitution follows the Federal Constitution in this framework. It is that background which further serves to reinforce the relative independence of independently-elected state officials acting within the limits of their own constitutional and/or statutory authority.

While the Budget Agency Act (Indiana Code Chapter 4-12-1) gives the Indiana Budget Agency the duty to establish guideline classifications and schedules for fixing compensation, salaries, and wages for employees of state agencies (Indiana Code Section 4-12-1-13 (b)), the movement of employees within those classifications and schedules by elected state officials using those classifications and schedules is NOT within the prerogative of the Indiana Budget Agency.

The Indiana Court of Appeals interpreted this statute in STATE v. BARGER, 144 Ind. App. 2, 242 N.E. 2d 529 (1968) and held:

"The budget committee (agency) does not...have the authority to select the person who shall fill... classifications, nor does it have the authority to determine who may be promoted within any of the agencies."

Thus, with specific exceptions enacted by separate legislation outside the appropriation bills (e.g. IC 4-7-12-1 and IC 20-1-1-6), all elected state officials have authority to establish salaries or compensation for employees in their respective offices, subject only to legislative approval of their overall decisions of the elected officials in the hands of the lower level appointed Indiana Budget Agency which was neither the intent of the Legislature nor the holding of the Courts, and would bring separate elected branches and officers of government under control of the appointed Indiana Budget Agency, which was not the intent of those who drafted the Constitution of Indiana.

CONCLUSION

It is, therefore, my Official Opinion that, with only the specific exceptions alluded to in the above analysis, all elected state officials have authority to establish salaries or compensation for employees in their respective offices, subject only to the legislative approval of their overall biennial budgets. Under our system of government in which elected officials are responsible to the electorate, a subordinate appointed officer or employee cannot dictate policy matters to a state official elected by the people.

Respectfully yours,
Theodore L. Sendak
Attorney General of Indiana

Trail of Courage

miles south of Rochester on the present state road 25. There the first death occurred, an Indian baby, who was buried beside the trail. A historical marker placed by Boy Scout Troop 285 now marks the spot. This was the first of about 50 deaths on the Trail of Death which crossed Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, and ended in Kansas Nov. 4, 1838.

The trip took 61 days, arriving at the Osage River in Kansas with only 756 Indians. Many deserted and many died and were buried by the trail. On his way back to Indiana, Father Petit died at St. Louis from malaria and exhaustion, another casualty of the Trail of Death. His body was brought back for burial at Notre Dame.

Many times in the history of our world one group of people has uprooted another group in order to get their land. "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." Must history be repeated over and over? Can't we learn from the past?

Let's forget...The Trail of Courage serves as a yearly reminder of our Indian heritage and a great tragedy that occurred here. We commemorate the courage of the Potawatomi at the annual Trail of Courage Rendezvous.

MENOMINEE VILLAGE

The best way to remember Chief Menominee and the courage of the Potawatomi is by recalling their days of glory. Return with us to the days when Indiana was truly Indian land, the territory of the powerful Potawatomi.

Menominee's village is a living history exhibit. Buckskinners and their wives and children live in the village in tipis (Indian word for tepees) and lean-to's, cooking over wood fires, sleeping on furs around campfires. Exhibits of pioneer living may be seen while walking through the village.

The Menominee Muzzle loaders are in charge of the tipi village and shooting contests held every hour on the hour at the Trail of Courage. Only fixed oversight muzzle-loading guns with roundball ammunition will be allowed in the shooting contests. Primitive costume is required. For information on how to participate, write MML secretary, Rob Askins, 400 E. Liberty, Bourbon, Ind. 46504.

Buckskinners offer authentic Indian and Mountaintain crafts and trade goods. These items are offered for sale spread out on blankets in the oldtime trading style, hence the term, "blanket trading."

Trade goods: turquoise and silver jewelry, furs, black-powder rifles, leather pouches and clothing, beadwork, knives, tomahawks, Indian pipes, etc.

KEKIONGA CANOE LANDING

The Kekionga Longrifles will stage a trapper's landing by canoe at 10:30 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday. Representing trappers from the north country arriving to trade, they will be welcomed by Proctor's rifle and drum corps and a Catholic priest playing the part of Father Petit, the missionary who lived with Chief Menominee's band and accompanied the Potawatomi on the Trail of Death.

Kekionga Longrifles is a muzzle-loading club at Fort Wayne. The Miami Indians named the area at Fort Wayne "Kekionga" meaning blackberry patch.

Fort Wayne Indian Agency controlled this area of Indiana, which was still Indian Country until the treaties of 1826-36 stripped the Potawatomi of their land and forced them to move west on the Trail of Death.

Rivers were the main arteries of transportation in those days of undrained marshes and rough trails instead of today's paved roads. The fur trade opened up the territory to the first white men. Even little rivers like the Tippecanoe provided easy transportation to the many Indian villages along its banks.

As early as 1821 Alexis Coquillard had a contract with the American Fur Company to trade with Chief Aabbeenaubee. This powerful chief had 46 sections of land in Fulton and Marshall counties. He died in 1836 but his son Pau-koo-shuk and many other descendants went west on the Trail of Death.

PROCTOR'S ARTILLERY

Proctor's first Pennsylvania Artillery Regiment will bring their cannon and life and drum corps. Named for the only artillery General George Washington had at Valley Forge, this group is based in Illinois and was organized in 1972. Proctor's also fought with General Anthony Wayne at Brandy Wine, General Sullivan against the Iroquois, and with General Lafayette at Yorktown. It was the Revolutionary unit that came the farthest west, which was a factor in choosing this name for the group in Illinois.

Commanded by Captain Gary W. Raber, the group will set up a military encampment, bringing wives and children to show how the soldiers lived during the Revolutionary War, War of 1812, and to the end of the pioneer era.

They will fire the cannon every hour on the hour to announce the beginning of each muzzle-loading contest. When firing the cannon, a replica of a 5 1/2 inch Irish Howitzer, they demonstrate the Von Steuben drill. This field piece is served by a crew of six men. The cannon is loaded with black powder but no lead.

Their life and drum corps will provide period music in the Indian dance arena at various times. At 10:30 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday they will accompany the priest, traders and Indians as they march from the arena to the riverbank for the canoe landing. They will provide historic music for the Pioneer Fashion Show at 4:30 p.m. in the arena. 8:30 Sunday only, pioneer worship service, arena. 10:00, 11:00, 1:00, 2:00, 3:00, 4:00 Proctor's Artillery cannon firing to announce muzzle-loading contests, tipi village, Saturday and Sunday.

10:30 Kekionga canoe landing, starts at arena with Proctor's rifle and drum corps, leads to riverbank for historical skit, Saturday and Sunday.

2:30 Indian dances by Order of Arrow Tipicon Lodge, arena, Saturday and Sunday.

4:30 Pioneer Fashion Show, arena, Saturday and Sunday.

CHIPPEWAY VILLAGE

Chippeway was the first village and post office in Fulton County. It was located on the south bank of the Tippecanoe River on Old U. S. 31 north of Rochester. This location is a mile east of the Rendezvous site. Chippeway was established in 1832 by William Polke, the first white settler in Fulton County and the first postmaster, having the post office in his trading post. The village also had a blacksmith shop and a few cabins.

Our model Chippeway village consists of a blacksmith shop operating by Don Van Duyn, fourth generation blacksmith in Fulton County, and several rustic stores which offer delightful pioneer food:

BUFFALO BURGERS — Bite the bison and try this real taste treat. Don't be scared. It tastes even better than hamburger. Buffalo meat has a higher percentage of protein and is good for you. That's why the Indians were so strong and healthy! Our buffalo burgers come from Oleson's Buffalo Ranch at Traverse City, Michigan. The meat does not taste wild because the buffalos are fed like cattle, hence the similarity to beef flavor.

HAM AND BEANS — cooked in an iron kettle over a wood fire and served with home-made cornbread. Umm good. Lots of ham to make it really good.

SASSAFRAS TEA — tastes like root beer without the fizz because that's what it is. Originally it was made from sassafras roots, hence root beer. Federal law requires that we use store-bought sassafras mix, but we brew it over a wood fire and it tastes like the old-fashioned sassafras. Our COFFEE is made from handground coffee beans so you know it is fresh.

APPLEBUTTER — what a job to stir it until it turns buttery, but how delicious when the job is done! Old timers say for best results use a copper kettle.

CIDER — no preservatives because it is made while you watch. Try your hand at turning the hand-crank cider press and watch the cider run out of the spout. Tastes and smells delicious.

LEMONADE — made in a 20-gallon crock like they used to do for the Fourth of July picnic when our nation was young.

POPCORN — one of the American Indian's gifts to the white men and what a wonderful gift it is! We pop corn in an iron kettle over a wood fire.

FRENCH PASTRIES AND CANDLES — made from old recipes neatly displayed in big glass jars with wooden lids in Lasley's Country Store, Fresh fried crullers and donuts for breakfast - what a delightful smell wafting through the pine woods. Everything tastes terrific when cooked outdoors.

HOG ROAST — cooked outdoors by Andy Leabo. Did the pioneers really have it this good? Be sure to bring a big appetite to the Chippeway Village!

PIONEER CRAFTS

A rendezvous was a meeting place for the fur trappers and traders and Indians to get together and trade, buy and sell, feast and dance. The last true rendezvous was in Wyoming in 1840.

Today's rendezvous is not like other festivals where anything and everything may be seen and purchased. Only old-time handicrafts done in the old-fashioned way are allowed here. No modern materials or techniques or power are used, just the hands and hand tools.

Craftsmen from all over the Midwest, as well as local persons, will demonstrate and sell pioneer crafts in primitive booths erected by the Fulton County Historical Society.

Powder Work
Horse shoeing
Spinning wool and flax
Vegetable dyeing of yarn
Weaving
Beadwork
Silversmithing
Basketry
Candle dipping
Leather work
Feather crafts
Primitive antiques
Cornhusk weaving
Cornhusk dolls

Pioneer clothing
Wood carving
Dulcimer and guitar music

And much more. All booth workers and craftsmen wear 1830's costumes.

INDIAN DANCES

Order of the Arrow Tipicon Lodge will perform Indian dances at 2:30 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday:

Leni Lenapi Dance
War Dance
Devil Dance
Buffalo Dance
Rope Dance

STORYTELLER'S LEAN-TO

Entertainment in the Storyteller's Lean-to will include Indian legends such as "How the Turtle Escaped From the Wolves" and stories of the daily life of Potawatomi children. Beadwork and Indian accountments will be shown by Phyllis Whitmore, wearing a Potawatomi dress with hand-applied ribbon-work.

Information About Electricity From Experts ELECTRIC CHARGES

Electricity costs are not rising nearly as fast as most other household expenses.

In 1978, the average annual residential electric bill was $356.61, or $29.71 a month about 98 cents a day. Average home use of electricity in 1978, according to Edison Electric Institute, the association of America's investor-owned electric utility companies, was over seven times that of 1945, but prices were only about eight and a half times that of 1945, much less of an increase than on most other items.

Over 30 pioneer crafts will be demonstrated and displayed at the Trail of Courage Rendezvous Sept. 20-21, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. All the booths are rented and many of the spaces between the booths will be filled too.

Their rifle and drum corps will also be present to play period music such as "Yankee Doodle," "Chester," "British Grenadier," and "Amazing Grace." Proctor's Artillery is from Bartlett, Ill.

Mentone D.A.R.

Anthony Nigo Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mentone, met on September 9, in the home of Mrs. Worley Spitzer.

Miss Annabel Mentzer, Regent, presided. Mrs. Kenneth Riner introduced Austin Stewart of the R.E.M.C. who spoke on "Energy."

His opening statement was that "there actually is an energy shortage and that to cope with the problem we must conserve energy."

He reminded the group that we are yet dependent on the Opec countries and their high prices. He stated that our waste of energy is equal to all the oil that we import.

Indiana has enough coal to last a long time but pollution is the problem in that energy area. There are twelve government agencies in the field of regulation and restrictions.

Mr. Stewart said that we need to practice better conservation in our own homes and be proceeded to conduct an Energy Conservation questionnaire. He gave the following as energy savers....tremendous savings in the use of Micro-Wave ovens; water heaters set at 120 degrees instead of 150 degrees (unless a dishwasher is used); 40 W fluorescent bulbs put out as much light as a 100 W bulb; more energy for air conditioners than used for heating; small appliances more energy efficient than a range stove.

Mr. Stewart answered numerous questions posed by the group and closed by commenting on the interest shown in energy conservation.

Miss Mentzer announced the dates for the Indiana State Conference of DAR as October 2, 3 and 4. The theme will be "Informing Educates and Involves."

Mrs. E. W. Igo, National Defense Chairman, gave a resume of an article entitled "American Farmers Deserve Respect of Nation," stating that American housewives might get a better perspective on food costs if supermarket carts were divided right down the middle with only groceries on one side and everything else not related to food, on the other. She said that when the housewife frowns at the amount of the check she simply writes "food" on the check stub, and the American farmer has caught another haymaker in the middle of his image. No matter what the shaving cream and the paper cups cost, high quality food is still a bargain in America. Americans are the best fed at the lowest price of anyone in the world.

USE SUN SENSE

The right sunscreen for your skin should protect you in and out of the water, says noted skin expert Dr. Stephen Mandy. Read package labels carefully for the sun protection factor your skin requires, and make sure the product is water-resistant.

But even if you use an excellent sunscreen such as Sundown Moderate, Extra or Maximal protection formulas, take the sun in moderate doses, Dr. Mandy advises.

"Don't risk sunburn or even worse skin damage by over exposure" he says. "Use sun sense, apply sunscreen properly, and you can enjoy outdoor sports and water activities while developing a tan."

Wheat Insurance can be tailored to needs

Recognizing that not all farmers have the same need for insurance protection, Federal Crop Insurance policies for 1981-crop wheat enable you to virtually "write your own insurance."

Francis G. Hudkins, District Director of USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corporation points out that Fulton County wheat growers can select not only the yield level they want to be guaranteed but also the amount of indemnity they want to be paid for each bushel a damaged crop falls short of the guaranteed production. The cost of the insurance depends upon the amount of protection selected. In any case, Hudkins adds, the insurance premium is a fully tax-deductible business expense.

"With the flexibility that this year's policies provide," Hudkins notes that a wheat grower can insure up to the total investment in his crop or he can insure some portion of the total investment. Some producers, for example, may want to carry only enough insurance to cover specific expense items such as fertilizer and chemicals, or their mortgage payments on land, or their current loan and interest obligations.

Depending on his financial circumstances, one farmer may choose a policy that combines a high yield guarantee with a relatively low indemnity payment for each bushel lost. Another may prefer a lower yield guarantee with a higher payment for each bushel of loss. Still another might choose a policy with both a high yield guarantee and high indemnity payment.

"While it's obviously a matter of getting what you pay for," says Hudkins, "It's a matter of getting what you want." For more information on FCIC insurance for this year's wheat crop, including a no-obligation explanation of the various protection options, contact the District Office, 513 Main Street, Rochester, Indiana 46975 or call (219) 223-6516.

what a difference a Bilco Door makes!

Here's the way to add new beauty to your home. Replace that wooden hatchway with a modern, all-steel Bilco Door. It's ruggedly built, weather-tight, and so easy for everyone in the family to use! What's more, it will make your basement more secure against intrusion. And it will pay for itself many times over by saving repair and replacement costs.

If your home was built without the convenience of a direct basement entrance, ask us for Bilco's new handbook "How to Add Valuable Living Space to Your Home."

Stop in and see our display. We'll give you free literature on how to do it. Or, we can suggest a contractor to install it for you.

Needed:

Volunteer drivers

Many Kosciusko County clients of the Bowen Center for Human Services may not, or cannot, drive. To continue therapy these clients must have regular transportation from their homes to Warsaw. The Center has a transportation network, but more volunteer drivers are desperately needed.

The Center maintains insurance for all drivers while they transport clients and provides mileage for those who wish it. When the network is fully staffed, the clients get the therapy they need, and the drivers get the satisfaction of helping others. If you would like to drive, call Volunteer Services at the Bowen Center - 267-7169 or their toll free number - 1-800-552-2545.

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS

Experts recommend that if you intend to give your baby a play pen, you start putting her in it each day from about three months of age. If you wait until the baby starts to crawl (usually around six to eight months) she may resent the restriction.

milestones in medicine

Early in the 19th century, a French doctor making his hospital rounds, happened to think about some children he had seen making noises at one end of a hollow tree while playmates listened at the other end. Rene Laennec rolled a sheet of paper into a tube, applied it to a patient's chest and invented the stethoscope!

The good news now for some 30 million Americans is a new medicine that's been successful in the treatment, relief and control of the symptoms of asthma, emphysema and bronchitis. Phyllocontin Tablets, a prescription medicine developed in England, is being introduced here by Purdue Frederick Company, an international drug research firm. Twice-daily dosage can provide around the clock breathing relief.

Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs to emphasize conservation and cancer education

Conservation and cancer education will receive special emphasis during the coming Indiana Federation of Women's Club year. Fulton County clubwomen will join with those across the state to inform and promote these two major areas of interest to all citizens, according to Mrs. Virgil (Phyllis) Biddinger, president of the Fulton County Council, IFWC.

Leaders from the three county clubs met in a Council session Aug. 28 in the Bethlehem Baptist Church hall. Department chairpersons were named. Call-to-the 13th District Convention in Elkhart on Oct. 15 was issued. Mrs. Charles Rauschke, president of Rochester Women's Club, will give the response and Mrs. Biddinger will present her President's report.

Akron Women's Club, Rochester Women's Club, and Pleasant Valley Club were challenged to add one new member during Mrs. Biddinger's two-year term. They will also participate in the collection of aluminum. Betty Crocker coupons and Campbell's labels. Mrs. James Fritts and Mrs. Delbert Hunter will coordinate these activities.

Senior art students who plan to major in Art at the college level are being sought for the District Art Contest. An $800 scholarship is offered to the State winner with a $450 second prize. Two of the last three winners have been from the 13th District Contest. Special emphasis is being given the Latin American Fellowship fund with the suggestion that each club give 25 cents per capita. Mrs. Myrl Lichtenwalter and Mrs. Steven Utter are heading these two efforts, respectively.

Mrs. Lloyd Jefferies, State Conservation chairperson, reported about two seminars on conservation where she learned about new technology being developed by Shell Oil Co. and Owen Corning, the seminar sponsors. Mrs. Jefferies is a past county and District president. She is serving as a District Trustee this term.

President of the Akron club is Mrs. Vernon Stutzman. Mrs. Ronnie Utter heads Pleasant Valley. Mrs. Manuk Eryman gave the secretary-treasurer report. The Council thanked Mrs. Biddinger for her courtesy.

Mentone Extension Homemakers

New books at Akron Carnegie Public Library

New books received at the Akron Carnegie Public Library include the following:

THE RISE AND FALL OF THE SHAH by Amin Saikal.

TERRY BRADSHAW: MAN OF STEEL by Terry Bradshaw. Terry Bradshaw is the only quarterback to earn three Super Bowl rings. At the height of his triumph as pro football's most valuable player of 1978, he says candidly, "It was the best season of my life, but it was the worst too." This is his own story of that bittersweet season of professional glory and personal anguish.

SOMETHING FROM NOTHING CRAFTS by Anne Orth Epple. SWEET MEMORIES OF 'OLD INDIANIE' IN 1870 by Sarah Brown DeBra. These are personal experiences and memories of the author, written around 1940.

SHAMAN'S DAUGHTER by Nan F. Salerno and Rosamond M. Vanderburgh. A moving, evocative saga of life seen through the eyes of an unforgettable woman struggling to survive as her world falls apart around her.

SIGNS OF SPRING by Laurel Lee. This is an account of what has happened to Laurel Lee in the two years since she passed through the critical stages of her illness (Hodgkin's Disease) and into a state of remission. With wisdom and always a sense of humor, she describes her life now - as a divorced, single parent raising her three children alone; and as a Christian whose great strength derives from her religious faith.

THE BOOKS OF RACHEL by Joel Gross. A dramatic, richly detailed saga of an indomitable Jewish family spans five centuries. The origins of the modern diamond industry, the inquisition in Spain, the incomparably beautiful Venice of the seventeenth century, and a pilgrimage across nineteenth century Palestine are part of the backdrop for a sweeping novel of family, of passion and of faith.

500 THINGS TO DO IN CHICAGO FOR FREE by Jim Hargrove and Patrick K. Snook.

Vikings Defeat Culver

Tippecanoe Valley Vikings are preparing for a crucial game this Friday at Southwood after defeating Culver last week, 41-8. TVHS's chances for the playoffs and a fourth straight Three Rivers Conference title hang on the outcome of the Southwood game. The Vikings are 3-1 at the present time.

Two TVHS players, Jerry Bickel and Gilbert Martens were injured during last week's confrontation with Culver. Bickel injured his knee in the second quarter of the game. Martens sustained his second ankle injury this season, not long after scoring two touchdowns early in the first quarter. Scott Bibler led the team with 111 yards on 22 carries.

Valley prevented Culver from scoring in the first three quarters, but in the final minutes of the game, Culver slipped by to score eight points.

Culver had five turnovers and TVHS had none.

Dan Roberts led Valley players with 24 tackle points. Todd Peterson was second with 19; Jerry Parker, third with 17; and Brian Carnes, fourth with 15.

Akron Benefit Softball Tourney

The public is invited to attend a slow-pitch softball tourney scheduled for September 18, 19, 20 and 21 at the old diamond behind the Standard station in Akron. Baked goods and other foods will be sold at the tourney to raise money for diamond improvements.

General Telephone building new switching center in Sidney

Sidney, Ind. - General Telephone Company of Indiana has begun construction on a new 820 square-foot telephone switching center designed to house a highly advanced, computer-controlled switching system to serve the Sidney exchange beginning next year.

Ed Knafl, the company's district service manager here said construction on the new building, located on Arthur Street, is scheduled to be completed in January 1981 and the new system is scheduled to go into service in July 1981.

Knafl said the system will utilize digital technology. This advanced process electronically "chops" each individual telephone voice into "bits" at an ultra-high rate of speed. To further speed transmission, each individual voice may be scrambled with as many as 23 other voices on the same telephone line. At the destination of each telephone call these bits are put back together in the right order so that every word sounds clear and natural.

The system was designed with two identical computers that constantly cross-check each other for any program errors, diagnose any service troubles and print out reports describing the nature and location of the trouble for a technician to read and correct.

"In addition to providing better overall switching service, the system will make available several new and convenient service features in Sidney," said Knafl. One of the service features will be Touch Calling, which permits the placement of a telephone call by means of push-buttons instead of a rotary dial.

The new system will provide Sidney telephone customers with a feature called Expanded Direct Distance Dialing (EDDD). This long-distance service allows telephone customers to dial their own person-to-person, collect, bill-to-a-third-number and credit card calls. Knafl noted that such calls are currently made through an operator who must manually establish connections. "With EDDD, these manual functions will be processed by a computer in a fraction of the time," stated Knafl.

The system will also provide Automatic Number Identification (ANI) in the exchange. "With ANI, one-party customers will no longer be required to identify their telephone numbers when placing a long-distance call. Special equipment will automatically record the calling party's telephone number for billing purposes," explained Knafl. "This system will switch calls much faster and more accurately than traditional equipment and will eliminate the background "clicking" inherent in conventional switching systems."

Knafl emphasized that the high-speed computer control and the digital switching technology built into the system were designed to meet future increases in communication needs.

Mr. and Mrs. Con Shewman host Italian exchange student

SILENA FARALLI attended the Beaver Dam Ag and Beaver Dam Better Daughters' achievement supper for 4-H Club members Sept. 15 in the Beaver Dam Church basement.

by Richard Lynn

Miss Silena Faralli, a 4-H exchange student from Italy, was a guest last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Con Shewman, Akron. Her hometown is Castiglione Fiorentino, in the province of Arezzo. Miss Faralli's home is about forty minutes by automobile from the city of Florence, and two hours from Rome.

Silena has been in the United States since June 22. When she arrived, she stayed three days in Washington D.C. with the National 4-H Council. She went to North Dakota for a month, and visited friends in Canada for a week. Later, she visited Lafayette, and Chicago.

Silena is a college student, preparing to teach languages to Junior High and High School students. She says, "I am learning English and French."

"Is English hard to learn?" "I think it's easy for the grammar," she said. "The verb doesn't change, but it's odd because you have many idiomatic expressions. One word has many meanings, and you have many words to say one thing."

The 4-H program has been in Italy for about 23 years.

"4-H is called '3-P' in Italy. It's adult 4-H."

I asked Silena if she had found life in the United States to be as she had expected.

"It was like I expected. In Italy we are influenced by American culture. For example, the most popular records in Italy come from the United States. When we listen to the radio, we hear more American records than Italian."

She said that movies and television programs give Italians knowledge of life in America, so they know what to expect when they come here.

I questioned her about life in Italy.

"It is a predominantly Catholic country. We don't have other churches, except maybe in the largest towns there are a minority of other churches."

"I think, in Italy, we are more... in U.S.A. everything is modern. In Italy, we like our traditions. We cannot leave them. For example, even if we have sweets, cakes in boxes, we make them. We like the things we have always done, maybe because our life goes more slowly..."

"Not as hectic?"

"In fact," she said, "in Italy, farmers are mostly traditional. In U.S. there's no difference between the farmers and the people who live in the cities."

"In Italy, nobody wants to be a farmer, because the farmers have always been the lowest class in the society. Since the middle ages, the land was owned by one, and many farmers worked there. Now, it's not like this, but this custom is still alive - the way we think about farmers. For example, the workers have their own unions, but not farmers. Nobody fought for them.

"So, this is one problem. Not many young people want to work as farmers."

"It's hard work!" I said.

"Yes," she laughed.

Her father's company, Faralli Costruzione Macchine Agricole, manufactures implements for farmers.

"Are dating customs much the same in Italy?"

"In the United States the women are more aggressive. In Italy, men are more aggressive."

"No Women's Lib in Italy?" I asked.

"Yes," she said, "there is - but the tradition is strong, so it's hard to break it. I find that in the United States, the women are more aggressive."

"Do you think that's good or bad?"

"I think women and men should be aggressive in the same way, no one more than the other."

"So, you'd kind of like to change Italy a little bit in that way?"

"Yes!" she affirmed.

After visiting with the Shewman family, Silena will stay with another family in Wells County. She is leaving Indiana on October 19, going to Washington D.C., and departing by airplane for her home in Italy.

The fifth annual TRAIL OF COURAGE RENDEZVOUS attracted several thousand persons to Kern's Woods along the Tippecanoe River north of Rochester last weekend. The Indian Village above, was just one of many displays of pioneer activity at the Rendezvous, sponsored by the Fulton County Historical Society.

"People ask you for criticism, but they only want praise."

JACK & JILL NURSERY SCHOOL began September 2 at the United Methodist Church in Montone. The teachers are Bev Surface and Paula Arbuckle. There are 20 children in the class of four-year olds who meet Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Three-year olds meet Monday and Tuesday mornings. The students are (seated, left to right) Patricia Locano, Andy Risner, Tabitha Kleinert, (standing) Lindsay Wuehbrink, Caleb Jones, Jamie Phillips and Ryan Baumgartner. NEWS photo by Richard Lynn.

Letters to the Editor

Richard Moyer fund

Dear Editor:

A few weeks ago I had an article in this paper indicating a need to collect monies for Richard Moyer who lost both his hands in a corn picker.

I just wanted to let you know that we are real excited about the things that are happening. People are giving in a great way and we see a hope of reaching our goal and of seeing this man's expenses paid.

If you have the desire to give, I would just like to encourage you to go ahead and do so! You can mail your checks to the Olive Branch Church of God, R. R. 1, Roann, IN. 46974. Make them payable to the Richard Moyer Fund.

Tim Alspaugh seeks spot at Purdue

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Tim Alspaugh, former gridiron standout at Tippecanoe Valley High School, figures to add depth to an already impressive flock of running backs at Purdue. Alspaugh's credentials are impressive. While leading Tippecanoe Valley to a 13-0 record and the Indiana class "A" football title, last year the two-time all-Indiana choice (AP) accumulated 1,989.

Showing a nose for the goal line, Alspaugh set an Indiana state scoring record by amassing 326 points in 13 games. Throughout his career, the National High School Athletic Coaches Association prep all-America reached paydirt for 70 touchdowns and 23 two-point conversions for an incredible 466 points.

Purdue, the Big Ten's winningest team the past two years, is a strong candidate for a third consecutive bowl appearance after season-ending victories in the Peach and Bluebonnet bowls the past two seasons, respectively.

Led by Heisman Trophy candidate Mark Herrmann at quarterback, the Boilermakers are being mentioned with Ohio State and Michigan as the pre-season favorites of this year's Big Ten chase.

Herrmann's favorite receivers—tight end Dave Young and split end Bart Burrell—return, as does a corps of experienced and talented running backs. Dependables Henry Feil (tackle) and Pete Quinn (center) anchor the offensive line.

Defensively, the Boilermakers are led by a potentially outstanding secondary. Tim Seneff and Marcus McKinnie return at strong and free safety, respectively, as does Bill Kay at cornerback.

Kay tied for the Big Ten lead in interceptions last season with seven, while Seneff and McKinnie are considered the equal of any safety tandem in the conference.

Linebacking also is strong with the return of starters James J. Looney and Mike Marks.

All-America tackle Calvin Clark and outside linebacker Tom Kingsbury, the latter Purdue's leading tackler one year ago, anchor the defensive front.

Purdue's home schedule consists of Miami, O. (Oct. 4), Minnesota (Oct. 11), Michigan State (Oct. 25), Iowa (Nov. 8), and Indiana (Nov. 22).

Combat in the classroom

"The show 'Combat in the Classroom,' which aired on nationwide television on September 13, offers insight into a very real problem facing American schools today," said State Superintendent Harold H. Negley. "Realizing that a school under siege is one in which learning cannot take place, teachers have to be ready to prevent problems before they start."

"At the same time, however, it is important to realize that Indiana schools have an impressively lower incidence of this type of problem than the national average," Negley said. Steps have already been taken to identify and correct problem areas which might lead to outbreaks in Indiana schools.

When the National Institute of Education commissioned the National Safe School Study in 1975, the Department commissioned the same research firm to study the issue in Indiana schools and correlate the findings with the national study. It was found that Indiana was significantly lower in the areas of trespassing, break-ins, school thefts and property destruction. As a result of the study, potential problem areas were identified and measures were taken to offset the problems.

Department efforts have included a series of 305 school discipline institutes for educators, parents and students. DPI has sought to integrate current legal and education research into policies and programs which school corporations can draw on and revise to meet their specific needs.

As the TV program points out, school violence is also related to the reading ability of the students. Indiana was the first state to set up a Division of Reading Effectiveness, making the promotion and enjoyment of reading skills a top priority for Indiana students. The division also pioneered a Department-wide effort to include and involve parents in their child's learning process. Both efforts have been used as models by other state education agencies.

"While the potential for discipline problems and violence exists, the Department is willing to work with any school corporation to design programs to meet perceived areas of concern," Negley said.

Australia student exchange opportunity

Are you a high school student (14-18) who always dreamed of spending a high school year in another country but were afraid to apply because of the language barrier?

Well, now's your chance to make your dream come true...

Youth for Understanding International Exchange Program (YFU) is offering high school students in your community the chance to attend school while living in a foreign country where English is the primary language! Australia - land of the Outback and Koala bear - can be your host country for the academic experience of your life.

YFU, one of the largest non-profit exchange programs, has just a limited number of openings available for the upcoming cycle, so you better apply fast. Because of the different academic year (from January to December) student applications must be received no later than November 1.

Interested in going to Australia but worried about the expense?

Stop worrying - YFU has financial aid scholarships available to those who qualify, based on scholastic ability and need. But don't delay - financial aid applications must be received by YFU no later than October 15.

Accepted student applicants are matched with carefully selected host families in Australia, and are treated as family members, not guests.

Since its inception nearly 30 years ago, YFU has arranged the exchange of more than 70,000 students in 40 countries, supported by a dedicated professional and volunteer staff throughout the world. YFU receives an annual grant from the federal government's International Communication Agency (formerly the Bureau of Education and Cultural Affairs) in addition to foundation and corporate donations. With an underlying philosophy based on improving cross-cultural relations through its unique host family program, YFU maintains program offices (in the U.S. and abroad) which offer guidance and support services to all involved, throughout the exchange experience.

YFU also sponsors other exchange programs (summer and academic year) in countries including the Far East, Europe and Latin America.

What are you waiting for?

Deadline set for crop insurance

Wheat growers interested in insurance against the possible loss of their 1981-crop investment should apply for coverage no later than September 30, according to Francis G. Hudkins, District Director of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. The FCIC office serving Fulton County is located at 513 Main Street, Rochester, Indiana 46975.

Hudkins points out that the policies being offered this year provide maximum flexibility for the farmer to tailor his insurance protection to his individual financial situation. By carrying the maximum amount of insurance, it is possible to protect the total crop investment against loss. On the other hand, the policies permit carrying lesser amounts of insurance (at a lesser cost) in order to cover specific investments. For example, enough insurance to cover unpaid seed, fertilizer and chemical bills. Or enough to repay outstanding loans and interest.

In any case, the FCIC policies provide all-risk coverage, Hudkins notes. In the event the insured crop falls short of the total production guaranteed by the policy, the insurance indemnity makes up the difference in cash. Hudkins adds that the cost of the insurance is fully tax-deductible as a business expense.

New books at Bell Memorial Library

New books at the Bell Memorial Public Library include the following:

THE CRADLE WILL FALL by Mary Higgins Clark. A shocking thriller from the author of "Where Are the Children?"

SOLO by Jack Higgins. A specialist in the psychology of terrorists and violent revolutionaries finds herself involved with the most accomplished terrorist at large anywhere.

THE FIFTH HORSEMAN by Larry Collins and Dominique LaPierre. Blending history and fact, this novel takes the reader through a day and a half of suspenseful, anguished terror, from the White House to the streets of Brooklyn and Manhattan; from the elegant ministerial corridors of power in Paris to the vast deserts of Libya and to Jerusalem where the Israeli government must make a final, agonizing, life-or-death decision.

SINS OF THE FATHERS by Susan Howatch. A big multi-generational novel taking place just after World War II.
