Junior Achievement receives Honors

It was recently announced that Junior Achievement of Northern Indiana is ranked 13th in the nation for number of students reached with Junior Achievement's economic education programs. This same organization ranks #1 in student penetration. The work that they do in promoting economic literacy in school classrooms is among the likes of Chicago, New York City, Los Angeles, Detroit, Denver, St. Louis, Atlanta, and Milwaukee, towns of considerable larger size. The area office is located in Fort Wayne and has a professional staff of twelve which services twenty counties in Northern Indiana.

During the 1989-90 school year Junior Achievement of Northern Indiana had 18,300 students involved in their economic education programs. The primary programs are 12th grade Applied Economics, 8th grade Project Business and 6th grade Business Basics.

Each county in Northern Indiana has a local board of directors comprised of its top business leaders and top school administrators. This board makes decisions on which Junior Achievement programs to carry, and to how many classes it will be offering. The boards also raise funds for the materials, training, and administration for the programs, and recruit business consultants who visit classes weekly to share their business know how.

Junior Achievement is a non-profit organization which promotes economic literacy through exciting classroom instruction. Junior Achievement intends to improve the skills and business understanding that high school graduates have to bring to the work force in order for the United States to remain competitive in our global economy. They go about their mission with the help of thousands of business volunteers to bring the positive story of free enterprise to our youth.

Mentone Nutrition Site

Game Day at the Mentone Nutrition Site.

When you walk into the room where the Mentone Nutrition Site is held each day, you can't help feel the love and warmth in there.

Bedelia Weirick is the Nutrition Site Director. She says, "Senior Citizens need a place to gather and do things just as much as the young people do. That's what our program is all about. We have special programs that reach beyond the meal each day."

The Mentone seniors do keep busy. They have Chime Choir and the Scrambled Egg Band that tour around the area and give concerts. They have three already planned for September.

Each day a special activity is planned for the seniors. This includes, of course, practices for the choir and band, book reviews from the Mentone Library, a minister comes in to give devotions, game day and once a month birthday parties for the months birthdays. There is always something exciting going on.

"The goal of the Site is to provide one hot square meal a day for the seniors, but our program is more than that, it also helps the folks to have something to look forward to each day," says Bedelia.

The seniors all agree with that. One lady said, "After my youngest daughter died, I didn't even want to get dressed each day. I came to the site and found so many friends and people who understood what I was going through." All the seniors agreed that if they didn't have the program they probably wouldn't even get dressed each day.

"We all gripe and laugh together and I have learned a lot from these people," says Bedelia.

The program is kept alive by volunteers. Three area churches take turns each month volunteering to help set-up, clean up and serve meals. The room where the site is ran each day is donated by the Trustees of Tri-Township of Harrison, Franklin, New-castle and the Town of Mentone.

"All the volunteers deserve a great big thank you for helping make a worth while place for the seniors in our community," says Bedelia.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I saw in the Indianapolis Star the other day that Congressman Jim Jontz's opponent thinks that his town meetings are a waste of time.

I've attended several of these town meetings and I think they are great! It is an excellent way to get to know your congressman. They are well advertised and well attended.

I truly appreciate the fact that Congressman Jontz cares enough about our community to come here and listen to our concerns and to keep in touch. Perhaps Mr. Johnson, his opponent, thinks he has all the answers and doesn't think he needs to listen to us.

Sandy Tyler,
Rochester

Dear Editor:

I am a logger in the Pacific Northwest. I am also an environmentalist. This may surprise some people; that a logger can be both, but he can. I belong to Green Peace and The Nature Conservancy. I am very concerned about global pollution and the destruction of the Rain Forest.

Although, there are several huge myths going around today; which people seem to believe. They are not true. First, that we have cut all trees down in the Pacific Northwest. Wrong—come out to Western Washington and see for yourself. Washington State is not called the Evergreen State nothing.

Second, myth is that we do not replant our trees when we harvest them. Not correct, by federal and state law we are required to replant. We replant four trees for each one we use. We have been replanting trees for over 50 years. Come see for yourself and look at our beautiful tree plantations. We have tree plantations in every stage of development. They are quite amazing and beautiful to look at.

Third, myth is that we harvest every tree and it goes overseas. Once again not true. Three out of four trees cut down in this country are processed in this country. How would you like to have those odds if you were gambling. One log out of four goes overseas. If a politician won by 75% of the votes, he or she would call that a mandate; and that is what it is. A mandate of logs stay in the United States to be processed.

Fourth, myth is that we have not set aside land in the state of Washington for camping and hiking. Not true we have 5.4 million acres of preserved state wilderness areas.

I would like to invite anyone who is concerned in America to come to Western Washington; and look at our magnificent trees. Look how green and lush it is around here. Western Washington does grow trees and it is quite a sight to see. Stop by the Chamber of Commerce in Aberdeen, Washington; or call either of these phone numbers for information 206-532-1924 or 1-800-533-6618; they will put you in touch with tours, videos and literature or how we grow trees here.

So make plans for a vacation and come see our area this summer. Also if you get a chance stop and see the Tall Ship. It was made from wood grown in the Pacific Northwest. Have a nice summer and enjoy a vacation in the Pacific Northwest.

Jim Apukka

Dear Editor:

I want a congressman that represents the people. Jim Jontz has already proven that he has the peoples best interests in his mind.

The other candidate's proposed health care plan would increase taxes by 13% and would increase the complexity of an already too complex bureaucracy.

Thank You

Dear Editor:

I was raised in northern Indianapolis and received a B.S. degree in Forest Management from Purdue University. I have worked in the forest products industry in the Northwestern United States for the past 18 years and currently work and reside in Coos Bay, Oregon.

Several weeks ago my relatives from Indianapolis sent to me an article from the 'Indianapolis Star' concerning Indiana's U.S. Representative Jim Jontz. I would like for the people of Indiana (particularly his district) to get a former Hoosier's opinion of this man's activities.

People like me live and work here because we love the outdoors; the forests, fish, wildlife, and open spaces, and want to raise our families in these surroundings. However, there are some drawbacks. Property taxes are high, transportation to large metropolitan areas and airports is cumbersome and the job market is very limited.

The livelihood of this area centers around the forest industry, i.e., planting, growth and harvest of timber, and manufacture of timber products. No one cares more or understands this environment better than those of us who live here and chose to work in the forest products industry. Trees are our survival. That's why we practice "sustained yield" and responsible stewardship of public and private timberland. We also have laws to protect forests and provide for regeneration.

A simple example of sustained yield in forest management goes like this: If we have 100 acres of timber which is economical to harvest at age 100, then each year we would cut and replant 1 acre. This process would go on forever. Our Northwest federal and private forest lands were basically managed this way. However, along comes Jim Jontz and his radical environmentalist buddies who want to take 50% of our sustained yield land base away. That means we can only harvest and plant half the acres and have half the volume forever. That also means that industry can only support half of the families and lumber output will be lower with higher prices for the consumer.

He is doing this by writing legislation to protect the "ancient" forests and using the Spotted Owl as a tool. The "ancient" word is used to fool the public. Douglas-fir old-growth is not ancient. By age 300, it is old, rotten and dying, to be replaced by a less glamorous species. Naturally it was regenerated by fire.

Presently there are over 7.5 million acres of old-growth forests on federal land in Washington and Oregon. Over 4.2 million acres are already preserved as wilderness areas, national parks and other land set asides where no timber harvesting is allowed. The sustained yield forests are managed for multiple use, i.e., timber, water, wildlife and recreation. The timber element should not be removed. We do not need, nor can we afford to set aside or take away from the sustained yield timber growing base any more land.

Jontz is the legislative leader of this radical environmentalist movement to take away the sustained yield base. He has already made several trips out to this area, so he claims to be an expert.

I appeal to the people of Indiana to keep your Jim Jontz at home. I believe you voted him in to help work on your own local problems. Please tell him so. If our Oregon representatives go to Indiana to tell you how to raise corn and manage your affairs, we will call them back or vote them out as well.

Thank you for your consideration
Scott Starkey
Coos Bay, Oregon

GRANDPARENTS STAY YOUNG LONGER THAN EVER BEFORE

Thanks to better living habits, advances in medicine, and a wider variety of appropriate activities, people are not only living longer but staying active longer. The so-called "generation gap" is a lot narrower than it used to be, because Grandma and Grandpa no longer sit at home in their rocking chairs. They go to senior citizen lunches, play bingo, and organize political action groups to secure better health care, insurance, etc. Some continue working, or even find new careers for themselves. In any case, we can learn much from their ability to enjoy and make the most of every day that remains of their lives. At our House of Worship, our children will learn to love, respect and communicate with their elders; a rewarding experience for all.

The older you get,
the more important
it is not to act
your age.

Making school lunches more fun

Remember the kid in your elementary school who always seemed to bring the best sack lunches from home? Everyone wanted to swap lunches with this kid, because he or she usually had something much more interesting than the standard peanut butter and jelly or bologna sandwich.

Times haven't changed. With the start of school parents are still struggling to pack lunches their children can brag about. If the fare you prepare for your child is met with a response such as "Do I really have to eat this?" don't despair.

A school lunch does not have to be boring. All parents need to do is use a little creativity to pack a lunch their children will be excited about.

It's not hard to pack a lunch your child will open with enthusiasm. New crush-resistant packaging improvements in the food industry now make it possible to include items that previously would have been inconvenient and messy to eat on the go, and are ideal for packing in school lunchboxes.

Some children have small appetites and require snacks between meals to sustain their energy level. Several school districts have recognized this need and allow students to bring snacks for recess or other breaks during the day. Thanks to the miniaturization of many popular foods, parents can include a variety of small snacks to keep energy up without spoiling appetites.

Although it's important to use ingenuity when making a lunch, you never should compromise safety. When packing a lunch, place all foods that are not prepackaged in clean, air-tight containers. Vacuum bottles for hot and cold beverages or foods, thermal bags, and re-usable plastic containers keep foods fresh at the right temperatures. Never use glass and be sure to clean the containers between each use.

Remind your children not to store their lunches next to radiators or in direct sunlight and to try to keep them in a cool place. In addition, children should know the hazards of trading lunches with their classmates.

SAVING BABY TEETH

Many parents underrate the importance of caring for their children's baby teeth. After all, they're going to be lost and replaced soon enough. Often they don't take their children to see the dentist until the child complains of a toothache. Yet even at this point, it may be possible (and advisable) to save the tooth if it is not too badly decayed.

When decay has not destroyed too much of the baby tooth, it is important to try to save it. It is important because it helps the permanent tooth to erupt into the proper space. If the tooth were extracted, the remaining teeth might crowd together to fill the space, and thereby block out the permanent tooth.

Your dentist will have to evaluate the situation to see if it is possible to save the tooth. Often with baby teeth, even when the nerve is dead, they can be saved through a relatively simple procedure called a pulpotomy.

Business of The Week

Insurance 1 Services

Behind the blue door at 112 N. Mishawaka Street in Akron, the new office of Insurance 1 Services is ready to accommodate its customers.

Insurance 1 offers its clients a full line insurance agency plus investment opportunities. Began by Dennis Helvey in 1972 and joined by his son, Todd, in 1985, the firm serves its customers with a total of 23 years experience in the insurance business. Through membership in the Independent Agents Association, on a national, state and local level, they are able to offer their customers insurance with six major companies; Meridian Mutual, Ohio Casualty, Pekin Insurance, Auto Owners, Brotherhood Mutual and Buckeye State Mutual. Insurance 1 is also a member of the National Association of Life Underwriters. They provide auto, home, health, Medicare Supplement and long-term care insurance and in addition, investment opportunities through mutual funds, bonds, stocks, etc. According to Dennis, "We can meet all the needs of our clients from auto insurance to financial planning for retirement." Dennis is a registered representative of the Titan Value Equities Group, Inc. and Insurance 1 began offering financial planning about six months ago. Dennis has received schooling in life insurance and is a LUTCF (Life Underwriters Training Council Fellow) and Todd has attended Product and Marketing seminars in order to better serve their clients.

The agency has drafting authority to process claims in their office. This avoids the use of a company adjuster and speeds things up considerably. In some cases immediate claims service is available. Dennis and Todd stress that it is their responsibility to see that all claims are handled properly to the satisfaction of their clients.

The firm has grown steadily since the beginning. In 1983, Dennis purchased the Akron Insurance Agency and merged the two businesses. Insurance 1 has a marketing area with a thirty mile radius, serving customers in Wabash, Huntington, Columbia City, Rochester and Warsaw in addition to the Akron area.

The renovation of the former dentist's office of Drs. Miller, Pampel and Hazen, was a huge family project. Dennis' wife, Connie, was the interior decorator selecting tasteful shades of mauve and blue for wall coverings and carpet. The Helveys' daughters Talisha, Trista and married daughter Trina Semler all pitched in. Russ Dunbar was also an enormous help. The entire project was completed in just five weeks and the office was occupied August 1st.

An open house, with refreshments, is being planned for September 14th and 15th. The Helveys invite everyone to stop in and view their beautiful new office. Dennis says, "We feel the new location will better accommodate our clients and enable us to better meet their needs."

The business is open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9:00 to 12:00. In addition to Dennis and Todd, Insurance 1 also employs Sheila Wildermuth as a secretary/receptionist on a part-time basis.

Both the Helveys feel their strength lies in personal service coupled with honesty and integrity.

This past week has been an exceptionally busy one. Todd spent almost all day Monday on the phone with clients and insurance companies concerning water and lightning damage from the recent storms.

Dennis and Todd are both very community minded. Todd is the President/Treasurer of the local Lions Club, an Advanced EMT, on the board of the Chamber of Commerce and head usher of the Faith Baptist Church of North Manchester. Dennis is a member and past Secretary of the Akron Lions and is Deacon of Faith Baptist.

Life's not all work for the Helveys, though. Todd enjoys hunting, target shooting, basketball and motorcycles in his spare time.

Dennis has become interested in bicycling and is planning a tour through northern Michigan, including a ride across Mackinaw Bridge, with the Christian Adventures group. The tour will also include a century (which means peddling 100 miles in a single day). He completed an 80 mile day last year and has been getting in some time on the saddle so he feels ready to tackle the century.

From their modern new office, Dennis and Todd Helvey and Insurance 1 are able to meet the insurance needs of the community now and in the future.

Business of the Week

Jay and Donna Woodruff behind the meat counter at the Frank and Jerry's Grocery. Friendly greetings can always be heard between customers and employees at this small town grocery store.

Frank and Jerry's Grocery by Leafy Hudson

Jay and Donna Woodruff, owners of the Frank and Jerry's Grocery in Mentone, are perhaps two of the busiest people in town. Their twelve hour days begin at 5:30 a.m., six days a week. Checking inventory, stocking shelves, keeping books—the list goes on and on. They're always busy.

Jay and Donna's partnership goes back a long way. They met in third grade at Claypool School and later became high school sweethearts. Married now for many years, they have one son and one daughter. Son, Mike, manager of the Foot Locker in Springfield, Illinois, and his wife, Brenda, are the parents of a daughter, Ashleigh, thirteen months old. Daughter Tina, recently married to Dan Warren of Mentone, is the mother of seven year old Elissa and has three stepsons, Scott, fourteen, Bryan, eleven, and Mike, eight.

The couple was well prepared to run the retail business when they purchased the grocery store ten years ago this November. Jay had just sold his share of the two gas stations he had owned in partnership with Denny Conley of Warsaw. Donna had worked for Marsh Foodliner, Inc., in Warsaw, twenty-three years, where she has done "everything." She was head bookkeeper when she left. Although the grocery business was new to Jay, he "took to it well," and they find the transition to store owners too difficult. Always known for its outstanding meat products, the Frank and Jerry's Grocery is still a popular source of fresh meat throughout Northern Indiana and even beyond. Customers come regularly from South Whitley, Fort Wayne, Huntington, Anderson—even Michigan—to stock their freezers with Frank and Jerry's meat. They supply meat for several Kosciusko County fair stands, and many local area restaurants.

Jay and Donna like to do as much local business as possible. Eggs are purchased locally, just as they are needed, so they are always fresh. Apples are supplied from a local orchard each year. In the summertime, as many homegrown tomatoes, sweet corn, cantelope and watermelon are purchased as possible. "If it's good quality and we can sell it, we buy it. We can sell cheaper and it's better."

They also patronize the local restaurants and other businesses as much as they can.

Weekly specials are an important feature of marketing for nay grocery store. Each week, Jay and Donna run specials on approximately nine meat and thirty other items. Some of them are dictated by specials passed on to the customers from the wholesaler. The astute shopper soon realizes Frank and Jerry's grocery prices are highly competitive with the larger stores. When asked how they can do this, Donna says, "All products arrive with suggested retail prices. A lot of things come in with one-hundred percent markup. The markup percentages are different on various kinds of the same item. We refigure our own price. We're our own boss. That's what great about having your own store. We are free to figure our own percentage of mark-up, instead of having to go by the suggested retail price."

Presently, it takes ten people to run the store. Officially, Jay is manager, Donna, bookkeeper, and daughter Tina Warren is meat department manager. But, as the three are very flexible, each can fill in for the others as needed. Other faithful employees are Rose Drudge, Betty Zimbleman, Robin Stephen, Karen Bently, and high school students, Chad Secrist, Scott Warren, and Netha Long.

Jay and Donna have no idea how many customers pass through their store each week, but it's enough to prove to them that running a grocery store in Mentone provides a worthwhile service to the community.

Serving the community isn't something new either to the Frank and Jerry's Grocery or to the Woodruffs. According to the Mentone Centennial book, six owners have run grocery stores on the property, beginning with Ray and Della Dillingham in 1928. The Dillingham's sold the business to Russell, Annetta, and Martha Armsberger in 1936, who in turn sold it to Ernest and Lena Igo in 1940. Frank and Jerry Smith bought it from the Igos in 1947 and ran the store for thirty years. They sold the business, retaining the real estate, to Royal and Karen Baum, who sold it to Jay and Donna in 1980. Frank and Jerry's became so much a part of Mentone culture, that the subsequent owners chose to keep their well-established name.

Part of the building itself is over hundred years old. The oldest, south part of the building was moved in from Sevastopol by the Lloyd W. Dunlap family. Frank and Jerry added the middle, and later the north part of the building. Many people have lived in the pleasant apartment upstairs, the present home of Rusty and Amy Zimbleman.

Jay and Donna also serve their community. Jay used to keep time at track meets, help with school sports trips and coached Little League. With children out of school and time at a premium, he had to curtail these activities. However, grandson Scott plays on Tippecanoe Valley's football team. "With three grandsons coming up, I foresee getting back into the school sports scene."

For now, he still finds time to bowl in a weekly league. But most of his spare time these days is given to his position as president of Mentone Kiwanis and to the Warsaw Wesleyan Church. In September, he will go to Barbados with a group from the Church to aid in building a second story onto the Wesleyan Church in Barbados. He made two similar trips in past years to Encinada, Mexico.

Donna is too busy at the store for hobbies, but she helps Jay in his mission. She says, "One thing about this business, he can leave and I can run it. It's the only business I know!"

Jay and Donna enjoy running the grocery store. Jay says, "The store has been good to us. The Lord has taken good care of us." Although there are things they would change now, they feel they would still buy the store if they had it to do over again. "But not at the age we are now," Jay quickly adds with a laugh. They hope to travel in retirement, to be able to relax and not be so busy.

They both enjoy bus tours and hope to take many more of them in the future.

About Mentone, Jay says, "Mentone is a nice place. But we need to work to get more businesses back into the community."

"A smaller community is a friendlier community," Donna adds.

Jay and Donna's welcoming smiles make their store a friendly place to shop.

Who's Who in Mentone

Amy with her daughters, Melea and Brittany, in the Mentone home of her parents, Dave and Eileen Bowser. While in Indiana, they got to visit with her two brothers' families: Rex and Kathy Bowser, Jarrod and Justin, of LaGrange, and Reid and Patty Bowser, Matt and Kasey, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Profile of Amy by Leafy Hudson

"How do your girls get to school--by dogsled?" This question, asked several times, astounded Amy Bowser Williams, who, with her two daughters, Melea Nicole, eight, and Brittany Ann, five, visited five weeks this summer with family and friends in the Mentone and Rochester area. The answer, of course, is "by school bus, just like your children do. We aren't 'dog-mushers' yet!" laughs Amy.

After living over six years in Wasilla, Alaska, forty miles north of Anchorage, where her husband, former U.S. Air Force Captain Ryan Williams was stationed, the misconceptions people here have of our forty-ninth state surprises her.

Marriage to Ryan, following his graduation from the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs Colorado, has led her through some interesting travels and experiences. They lived first in Colorado Springs, which was "very pretty, with so much to do," then in Wichita, Kansas which Amy describes as, "friendly, but hot." In those days, Amy says, "Never in my wildest dreams did I expect to go to Alaska."

But the couple chose that tour of duty because it seemed like a good place to fulfill their overseas obligation. Having recently resigned from the Air Force, Ryan has accepted a civil engineering position with General Electric in Anchorage, so, for now, the family will remain in Alaska.

Alaska isn't so much different from here," Amy observes.

Summers get hot, as ours do "It was 88 degrees the day we left to come to Indiana." The winters are similar to Indiana's--sometimes warmer.

They do, however, usually have more snow. "It comes down softly and quietly--it's dry and powdery--a real winter wonderland--once it comes, it usually stays all winter."

An extreme difference, however, is the length of Alaskan days. In summer they have about two hours of dusk, from 1:00 a.m. to 3:00 a.m. The rest is daylight. "I have to use room-darkening shades so the girls can get to sleep." Conversely, winter days have only five-six hours of daylight.

Still laughing about popular misconceptions of life in Alaska, Amy says, "We don't live in the eighteenth century there. Our schools are just like here at home. We have shopping malls, fast food chains and hospitals, just like here."

Although she didn't like Alaska at first, now Amy praises its beauty. "The scenery is the best there is. It is magnificent." She especially likes to watch the reactions to visitors when they first see Mt. McKinley. It is so big, it seems to hover over Anchorage, although it is really four hundred miles away.

"Everything is so much bigger up there." Farmers get eighty pound cabbages, twenty pound turnips, and rhubarb grows four feet tall. The soil is richest in the world, with thirty-two inches of topsoil. Three million lakes dot Alaska's landscape, surrounded by large colorful wild flowers. The petunias and geraniums are three times the size of ours. "Everyone has lots of flowers. It makes up for the whiteness of the winter."

Wild animals are common there, too. "Bald eagles fly around like robins do here. Owls grow to one and one half feet tall. Both prey on pets."

While our jogging one day, Ryan heard crackling in the bushes near by. Thinking a friend was joining him, he looked to discover his jogging partner was friendly moose. It is common in winter of find this largest member of the deer family in the yard, snacking on tree leaves, or peeking at the family scene through the window. Amy recalls neighbors who were adopted by a lonely moose. He acted as their guard dog and resisted their suggestions that he leave. They aren't dangerous as long as one doesn't get between a mother and her calf.

Although Amy's family hasn't tried it yet, she says dog-sled racing, or "dog-mushing" is the most popular sport in Alaska, comparable to basketball here.

An important annual event in Anchorage is the Fur Rendezvous Festival in February. The festival with its carnival-like atmosphere, commemorates the heritage of long ago when trappers would congregate to sell their furs. Amy remembers when they attended the fur festival their first year in Alaska. Still used to Wichita's heat, they all took terrible colds.

Surprisingly, air travel is the transportation of choice in Alaska. The spaces are so vast, it takes too long to go any other way. The planes convert from regular landing gear to pontoons or skis, as needed. Merrill Field in Anchorage, according to Amy, is as busy as O'Hare Field in Chicago. "Even the Eskimos fly," she laughs.

The most impressive sight in Alsask, in Amy's opinion, is the Northern Lights. "A spectacular show of nature, in all different colors. It's unbelievable. Like God is up there with a paint brush."

About Mentone, Amy says, "Not much has changed. But I want it to still be the same when I come back. I tell everyone about the big egg in Mentone. I tell them it's the friendliest little town anywhere!"

Notice Public Hearing

Indiana's Human Service Delivery System. What can be done to improve delivery by State Agencies.

At the request of the Governor's Interdepartment Board for the coordination of Human Service, Subcommittee on Reorganization, a meeting will take place to collect specific recommendations for improving the service delivery at both the local and state level. This is an attempt to give the service recipients and the service providers, line service workers, public officials, businesses, unions, and funding organizations an opportunity to make constructive suggestions for improvement (not air complaints).

Help is being sought to improve Indiana's Human Service Delivery System. Ideas for changes to the current system will be solicited. What can be done to provide better services to the citizens of Indiana? What barriers exist and how can they be eliminated?

Everyone is encouraged to come and speak September 6, 1990 at the Civic Center, 7th and Pontiac at 7:00 p.m. If you are unable to attend, but have suggestions, you may submit them in writing. Send them prior to September 6 to: Lawrence Seiwert, Director, Fulton County Department of Public Welfare, 100 West Ninth Street, Room 100, Rochester, IN 46975.

Please join this meeting, if you so desire, make a presentation at this meeting. Your input will be greatly appreciated.

From the past.....

Miriam Drudge found an ad that was in the Akron Paper from September 9, 1937 which read: An interesting mileage record was established on the recent vacation trip which the Dershem girls, Elizabeth Arter and Willodean Ball took. The statistics are in an advertisement of the Akron Motor Company.

Four Akron girls, the Misses Miriam and Muriel Dershem, Elizabeth Arter, and Willodean Ball recently completed a 6400 mile trip to the west coast.

Driving a 1937 FORD V-8, (The Economy Car in the low-priced field), they averaged 24.3 miles per gallon. Oil was changed at each 2000 miles, but none was added. Water was added only once, at an elevation of 9,000 feet. The combined weight of car, passengers, and baggage, was 3200 pounds.

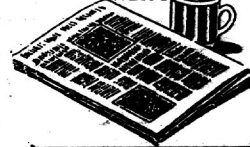

For proof of actual performances, ask any one of the 200 purchasers of 1937 Ford V-8's we have sold this year.

1,000,000 Ford V-8's were built in the United States in the first 8 1/2 months this year.

Featuring One Of The Oldest Entertainment Traditions, "The Circus"

Volume 2, 1990

Franzen Bros. Circus Big Hit in United States

Everyone loves a circus, that is, everyone loves a "good" circus. Well, forget what you have seen in the past. The Franzen Bros. Circus is coming to town. Out of the 19,211 cities in America, yours has been chosen as one of the 225 cities the Franzen Bros. Circus will perform in this year.

Entrepreneur, Wayne Franzen started his circus from scratch. In 1974 the Franzen Bros. Circus was born in Rosholt, Wisconsin. Since that time, the Franzen Bros. Circus has grown in leaps and bounds by adding more elephants, tigers, lions, camels, horses, exotic birds, domestic mules and goats. Almost 50 head of circus animals are coming your way.

To date, it costs Mr. Franzen approximately $25,000 per week to keep his show running. With the rising cost of animal feed, fuel, equipment, insurance, just to name a few of the many daily expenses, the Franzen Bros. Circus continues to prosper.

What Mr. Franzen is selling is not a tangible item as a usual business would sell. What he is selling is excitement. Enthusiasm. When you go to the circus, your everyday troubles vanish and every one becomes young again.

Mr. Franzen's philosophy is simple. When asked why his show is so successful he answered, "I'm no different from any other businessman. I have to give the public what they want. If they don't buy tickets, I'm out of business."

Of course, cost is always a factor. While the cost of live entertainment continues to soar, a family of six can still see the Franzen Bros. Circus for only $17. Imagine your whole family enjoying a 90 minute whirlwind of high-line entertainment and exotic trained animals from around the world, for less than the cost of a meal at a typical fast food restaurant.

In America today, the term "3 Ring Circus" is thought by most people to mean bigger and better. This would be the same as saying "More is always better." I think you will agree that this is not always the case.

Wild animals will always be a part of the circus. Franzen Bros. Circus brings you one of the fastest moving wild animal acts in America. Six Bengal Tigers and two African Lionesses will thrill you as they jump through fire, walk on their hind legs, and more. This is just a small part of the excitement coming to you soon.

Send In The Clowns

No circus would be complete without those funny old clowns.

The Franzen Bros. Circus clowns will keep you laughing as they perform several times throughout the circus.

A circus tradition, elephants are trained and presented by circus owner Wayne Franzen. Okha, Kosti and Megu will be waiting to entertain you and your family when the Franzen Bros. Circus comes to your town.

We anticipate about 2000 to 2500 will be attending. Lines will be long at the circus box office. You will not have to stand in line if you purchase your tickets in advance. You will be able to enter directly into the main tent with your advance tickets.

Also, don't forget . . . tickets are $1.00 cheaper when you purchase them in advance.

The truth of the matter is when a good act is going on, it doesn't need a low quality act on each side of it.

(Would you enjoy watching three different television programs at one time?)

The Franzen Bros. Circus has done a lot of growing in the last fifteen years. One thing has not changed. Franzen Bros. Circus is and will always be a One Ring European style circus. The management of the circus has run numerous surveys to pin-point exactly what it is the public wants to see. The question of three rings has been discussed long and hard. Our surveys always come back with the one ring set up, a favorite of all spectators.

A Free Show You Will Not Want To Miss

The Franzen Bros. Circus will roll into town early on circus morning. It is a show in itself, to watch the animals unloaded, the large tents stretched out on the ground, and all of the trucks rolled into place.

Okla the elephant, doubles as a performer and tent crew worker. She helps everyday in pulling the Big Top high into the air. A crew of approximately 15 men work under the direction of Eric Jaeger, circus tentmaster. It is their job to get the big top into the air and set the 1,200 bleacher seats into position.

Curtis Cainan, a long time animal handler is in charge of the Franzen animal department. The Franzen Zoo will consume about 25 bales of hay, 100 gallons of water, 200 lbs of sweet feed and 90 lbs of fresh meat every day. Feeding and watering is only a small part of the job. Constant grooming of the animals and cleaning of the cage areas keep these men forever busy.

This is a sight you will not want to miss. Thousands of people across the country have witnessed the Franzen Bros. Circus coming to life in their city. You and your family are cordially invited to see all of this in place right in your own home town.

Mentone's Finest Citizens in the Military

Khanh Trinh, pictured here, who came to Mentone from Vietnam as a refugee in 1978, recently received the rank of Private First Class in the United States Marine Corps. He graduated from boot camp at Parris Island, fourth in a class of seventy. A squad leader in boot camp, Khanh will enter Mechanic School soon.

The Trinh family was sponsored in the United States by the Darrell King family and the Nappanee Mennonite Church, through Church World Service. Khanh attended Triton Schools. His family now makes their home in Florida.

Who's Who in Akron

Ralph Shewman Gardener Extraordinaire

Located north of the Freezer Fresh on St. Rd. 114, Ralph Shewman's one acre, L-shaped lot has got to be one of the prettiest in Akron. Filled with a profusion of multi-colored flowers and plants, the yard is a vibrant testament of Ralph's gardening skills.

Although his wife, Edna Mae, claims the gardens are Ralph's project, it is quite apparent that she contributes her share of time also.

Just a corn field, when the Shewmans purchased it and began constructing their house, in 1946, the property now contains two large gardens, several smaller flower beds and an orchard. Edna Mae planted the first gardens, but Ralph's interest grew and gradually, he took over the project.

Although they have vegetable as well as floral gardens, according to Edna Mae, "With Ralph, the flowers come first."

In addition to the common garden flowers such as marigolds, asters, begonias, snap dragons, dahlias, geraniums, impatiens, Gerber daisies and cannas, Ralph also grows some less common varieties. Some of these are nicotiana, a decorative tobacco plant with pink, rose or white flowers, purple globe thistle (like a wild thistle, but with no stickers) and campella (or cups and saucers) which is a biannual, blooming only in its second year. The gardens also contain several decorative plants that do not flower such as caladium (or elephant ears), silver mound and plume grass.

Although he likes them all, Ralph does confess to having a favorite flower. The delphinium, a member of the blue flower family, is favored because it is somewhat unusual and a bit more difficult to grow. A native of Great Britain, the tall spiky delphinium favors high humidity and lots of water. This year's rainy weather has been perfect for them, some growing to six feet. The multiple florets have been so heavy, the plants have had to be staked and when cut for bouquets, they've needed to be wired up to keep from pulling the vase over.

While it has been a good year for delphiniums, it's been a pool year for gladiolus. And then there are the mosquitoes! "Boy, they're terrible this year," Ralph exclaims. "I don't believe I've ever seen them this bad."

Ralph's gardening has changed some over the years. He used to grow mums commercially, but no longer seems to find the time for it. He's also phasing out his roses. The Japanese Beetles seem to attack them first and they require so much fertilization.

Ralph's generosity with his flowers is well known. Many a porch in Akron is graced by the achimenes hanging baskets he has given to friends. The achimenes, sometimes erroneously called California fuchsia, produce an abundance of purple, blue, rose, or white flowers and will bloom all summer long, if placed in the shade. Ralph also provides the flowers for the Church of Brethren throughout the summer.

The rows of canning jars and the filled freezer attest to the abundance of the Shewmans' vegetable garden. They grow tomatoes, peppers, green beans, cabbage, carrots, corn, asparagus, beets, rhubarb and melons. They also grow strawberries and Ralph plans a change in them for next year. He's going to try the raised bed method favored in Europe.

In the orchard are apple, peach, plum, pear and cherry trees. The wet summer has caused some problems here also. Some of the plums are molding on the trees.

Ralph starts his plants from seeds, in a "greenhouse" in the basement, lit with twelve, eight foot strips of fluorescent lights. He runs the lights 12 hours a day through the winter. He keeps geraniums flowering through the winter and one plant of each color of impatiens to use for cuttings in the spring. In February, he sows the seeds for his spring plants. He uses 20 flats of 36 peat pots each and stores them on several three foot wide benches in his basement greenhouse.

It doesn't happen too often, but when a gardening question comes up Ralph can't answer he checks his gardening encyclopedias or consults with the county agent.

The Shewmans have four grown sons, Stanley, Harold and Con live in Akron and Royce lives near Muncie. They also have nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. A love of flowers must run in the family. Grandson Dwight's wife Penny, owns "Penny's Silks and Scents", a flower shop in Akron. The other member of the Shewman household is Corky, a four month old Lab puppy, that Ralph says, "acts his age."

Ralph ran South End Motors for 44 years before retiring and now works a couple days a week at Viking Foods. Although Edna Mae does not work away from home, Ralph jokes, "She works for me, but I don't pay her."

It is quite apparent from looking at the well groomed, virtually weedless garden that Ralph puts in many, long hot hours in his yard, but it is just as apparent that he gets a great deal of pleasure from it in return. It's always nice when someone has a hobby that they enjoy, but so much the better when that hobby can provide so much beauty to be enjoyed by others.

Checkers Day

"First dogs" have been prominent throughout the course of American politics, and Sept. 23 presents the opportunity for everyone to recognize the important role of dogs in political America. It is "Checkers Day," the anniversary of the famous, nationally televised "Checkers Speech" given by then vice-presidential candidate Richard Nixon in 1952. Nixon had been found "clean as a hound's tooth" in connection with a private fund for political expenses, and declared that he would never give back the beautiful cocker spaniel, Checkers, who had been a gift to his daughters.

Checkers later took his place among a distinguished roster of well-known White House pooches. Others include: Abraham Lincoln's dog, Fido; Franklin D. Roosevelt's terrier, Fala; Harry S. Truman's two dogs, Mike and Feller; Dwight D. Eisenhower's dog, Heidi; Lyndon B. Johnson's beagles, Him and Her; and Ronald Reagan's dogs, Lucky and Rex. President and Mrs. Bush's spaniel, Millie, is the most recent in the long succession of presidential dogs who have stolen the spotlight and the hearts of the American people.

Realignment in the NFL

The National Football League recently announced that it will expand by two teams in 1993 and begin realignment in 1992. Complete realignment would take place in 1994. I am in favor of these moves, but I think more must be done by the powers that be in the NFL to hold teams in place once the realignment has occurred.

Realignment — a reorganization of the divisions and conferences — would be done along geographical boundaries and hopefully would have several benefits. First, it would solve the dilemma of teams like the Phoenix Cardinals who play in the NFC East Division, despite the fact that they are three time zones away from most of the division, and the Atlanta Falcons who are in the NFC West, clear across the country from their time zone. That makes for some hard road trips.

Realignment also would, ideally, create some natural rivalries that should exist now and don't because of current alignment. It would be great to see teams like the Houston Oilers and the Dallas Cowboys in the same division. Right now they aren't even in the same conference and rarely play a regular season game. Their annual preseason games are always great, with the winner promised "the bragging rights to Texas." Regular division play between these two teams could create one of the hottest rivalries in football. The same situation exists with the Miami Dolphins and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers who rarely see each other during the regular season.

But a true rivalry is built on more than geographical location; it is built on great players playing against each other year after year. One of the great rivalries of all time is the Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears. I was lucky to be playing for Chicago and feel what that rivalry was like during its heyday. Players like Dick Butkus, Bart Starr, Ray Nitzschke and Paul Hornung lived for football and great competition. Fans want to hang their hats on players, and it's tough these days with everyone jumping from team to team. Great football traditions are built on guys like Walter Payton. I couldn't imagine Payton pulling the business that some players do, always looking for a better deal somewhere else.

Some team owners are even worse. Guys like Cardinals owner Bill Bidwell, who pulled out of St. Louis for Phoenix, and Robert Irsay, who left Baltimore for Indianapolis, will cause problems for realignment if they are allowed to pull up stakes at any time. Again, rivalries are not built on greed, but love for the game, and a city and a team that stick together. The NFL must, when studying realignment, find a way to better control an owner's right to move a team. There has to be a commitment to NFL cities. Without a lasting commitment, the game will be in trouble, and realignment will have been for nothing.

Gale Sayers is considered one of the greatest running backs of all time. The former Chicago Bear is a member of the National Football League's Hall of Fame.

Soviets Protest Shortage

Soviets are used to standing in line to purchase everyday goods, but a recent shortage has caused a crisis marked by more than long lines. A chronic cigarette shortage in the Soviet Union has sparked rallies, strikes and even violence.

Official explanations for the shortage include a failure by the Soviet government to satisfy demand, a huge drop in tobacco production due to outdated equipment in desperate need of repair, the closing of plants that are no longer workable, and refusal of laborers to work in tobacco fields without proper equipment.

Ethnic strife in Armenia also has been a contributing factor, as Armenia is the leading Soviet manufacturer of filters. And a shortage of hard currency has led to a decrease of imports. Cigarettes have become a No. 1 item on the black market, with prices rising to at least 10 times the official, state-subsidized prices.

Despite the problems, Soviet officials are promising relief in the near future.

Understanding Your Pension

Facts From The U.S. Dept. Of Labor

Q. What is vesting?

A. Vesting is your right to the benefits you have accrued, or some portion of them, even if your employment under the plan terminates. This relates to money contributed by your employer. Voluntary and mandatory employee contributions are always fully vested. Most plans allow you to vest after five years. Union plans usually require 10 years of service while seven year graded vesting is prevalent among endowments and foundations.

Q. What does it mean when my pension benefit is integrated with Social Security?

A. Normally, only plans in which the monthly benefit is defined are integrated with Social Security. When you retire a percentage of expected monthly Social Security benefits is subtracted from the private annuity. Any type of plan, however, may provide that lower pension accruals be applied to an employee's earnings below a specified wage base, generally the Social Security wage base.

DNA: ID For Lost Kids

The pattern on the computer screen pictured above is a DNA print, a new and more reliable way to identify your child in case of disappearance or catastrophe. No two people, except identical twins, have the same genetic pattern. That makes DNA far more accurate than fingerprints or other traditional ID methods. Now parents can store their child's DNA. Their own doctor simply takes a blood sample. For newborns, the sample is collected at birth. The service is being offered by doctors across the country, with sample storage at Lifebank Inc. of Bridgewater, N.J. In addition to helping identify a missing child, DNA samples may be used to take advantage of future medical breakthroughs. For details, consult your family doctor.

Excellence recognized at Akron School

During the 1990-91 school year, Akron School students in grades K-5 will be rewarded for excellent behavior and/or outstanding classroom performance. Each week, classroom teachers will nominate students who have exhibited excellence in the previously mentioned areas to eat Milk And Cookies With The Principal (Kindergarten only) or Lunch With The Principal (grades 1-5). Akron School Principal, Brett Boggs, will eat lunch each Friday with 15 very deserving students. A special area in the school cafeteria will be prepared, certificates awarded and a variety of items donated by area businesses given to the students. The participants will also be photographed for publication in the Akron-Mentone News and will be recognized school-wide during morning announcements.

Mr. Boggs and the students of Akron School look forward to this opportunity to get to know each other better while also publicly recognizing the students of Akron School for excellence.

OUR LAWS ARE THE BEST PROTECTION OF OUR FREEDOM

We live by a constitution: a set of laws designed to keep order, define the jurisdiction of each level of government, and protect our citizens from any unwarranted intrusion into their lives by government itself. It is firm but also flexible, so that it can be amended by a majority demand to meet any need that arises. The concept of it did not originate with modern man, but in the Bible. you will learn that at your House of Worship, which you were allowed to choose because of this document. We owe all of our rights to our country's laws, which were patterned after God's Scriptural decrees, and we must do whatever is necessary to preserve them for ourselves and for future generations, as it was done all through our history.

Any government is free where the laws
rule and the people are a party to the laws.

Mentone Business of the Week

Jerry and Mary under the arbor he built for their fall wedding two years ago. Jerry's artistic talents are evident in his woodworking as well as in the decor of his lovely home. (Photo by Hudson).

Niff-Tone

By Leafy Hudson

Niff-Tone, just south of Mentone, founded by Jerry Secrist in 1975, is a distributorship for Niff-Corr Products of Tippecanoe, Indiana. "We sell everything for a building but lumber," says Jerry.

Jerry's enterprising spirit was apparent when he was still quite young. At about age nine, he gathered wild horseradish, ground it, and sold it door to door. He still makes it occasionally, and is willing to share the secret. "Grind it fine—the finer it is, the hotter it will be—and use white vinegar."

About the same time, he would walk along the railroad tracks and pick up stray pieces of coal to sell. He also sacked corn cobs for kindling at the Valentine Elevator and delivered them to customers for 5¢ a bag.

While still young, Jerry remembers he accompanied his father on construction jobs. He remembers, at about age twelve, sometimes working with his father until midnight. "My father was a genius at woodworking," Jerry says. "He taught us that woodworking was satisfying—a challenge. That's what's great about my present business. It's a challenge to satisfy people."

Jerry worked with his father and some of his brothers in construction for nineteen years. He says he and his brothers have worked at some time on almost every house in Mentone.

It was while Jerry was constructing a building for the Niff-Corr Company that the idea for Niff-Tone was born. He noticed trucks often had to wait for their loads of siding, roofing and other pole-building materials. Realizing their need, an official of Niff-Corr suggested that Jerry become their distributor. He liked the idea, and started the business, working from the Niff-Corr buildings the first year. For the next two years, he moved the business to the garage of his new home on a small plot of land he had purchased from a local farmer, Art Golden. Finally, having secured more land from Mr. Golden, he built his present office and warehouse. The business has grown steadily, from seventy-five customers the first year to over six-hundred now. His business depends on farmers, and his customers come from all over Northern Indiana. He employs five people.

Jerry admits to missing construction work, but says he "loves this business because he meets lots of people." His wife, Mary, adds proudly, "He doesn't just send his men out, but goes out himself. He trouble-shoots and delivers products. That's much better than just sitting behind the desk."

Jerry and Mary, his wife of just two years, share his attractive antique-filled house with her mother, Margaret Walker, and her sons, Troy Bulick, twenty, and Jamie Bulick, sixteen. Troy works in construction in Logansport and Jamie is a junior at Tippecanoe Valley High School.

When they married, Mary had been a lab technician at Logansport Memorial Hospital for over twenty years. Jerry, however, believes a mother's place is in the home, so she retired from her job. It was in her search for something to keep busy that Helping Hands was born. Although they had some assistance from the local Kiwanis and Key Clubs, Helping Hands was, for the most part, a joint venture of Jerry and Mary.

Having noticed many needy people in the area, they started their organization with clothes of their own, then purchased new things at flea markets, making them available in a trailer on the corner just east of their house to any needy person. The enterprise soon outgrew the trailer, and Jerry erected the present building to house the merchandise.

Now clothes come by donations from private individuals as well as other benevolent organizations. Doris Haney, of the Beaver Dam community, dresses dolls and makes comforters for them, to give away. The Burket Consignment Auction donated new toys at Christmastime last year. Zimmer employees gave twenty-four new children's coats last year. Frank and Jerry's have a drop-box to receive goods for Helping Hands.

"No money changes hands," says Mary. But monetary donations are used to purchase food, soaps, toothbrushes and like items.

Jerry, Mary and Mary's mother keep Helping Hands open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2:00-5:30. "Now lots of people come in all the time," Mary says. "Sometimes people just want to talk. They pour their hearts out to me." She especially remembers one lady who was thrilled to receive a comforter. "She had nothing to put on her bed."

Community service isn't new to Jerry. He served as the first Kiwanis President, Chamber of Commerce President and was active in establishing the Mentone Youth League. His favorite position, though, is coaching the seventh grade girls basketball team. He's been their coach for seven years, and boasts a record last year of eleven-zero.

The father of three sons, Jerry's son Jeff, lives in Nappanee. Joe works with Jerry, and Jay works in Warsaw, but still lives in Mentone.

Mary and her family are very impressed with Mentone. "Even though I don't know people here," Mary says, "they still speak!" Her sister, accompanying them to the Egg Festival, called Mentone "unique, the homiest little town she had ever seen." She especially liked the Variety Show—and Teel's!

To their praise, Jerry adds, "It's a friendly little town. I'm proud to be from Mentone."

REMINISCING WITH THE NEWS TAKEN FROM THE AKRON NEWS AUGUST 3, 1917 73 YEARS AGO

Can them tomatoes, and by saying tomatoes, we mean for the housekeepers of all this country to "can" everything possible. We are going to give our reason right here and issuing that admonition: Uncle Sam is a pretty smart old fellow. He is kind and considerate. He has been using the newspapers all over the country, all free of charge, warning the people to raise truck, preserve it, save it. That is a warning, from our wise government, given at an early stage of the game. It is a warning to his people to guard against want and high prices. Uncle Sam knows that he will have a couple of million soldiers to feed all next winter. Do you hear that statement? And here is another. Uncle Sam has his buyers at the office of every canning factory in all this country buying and contracting for the entire output. Hence, his warning to his people. If Uncle Sam has two million soldiers to feed, he will do it and you can depend on it, if it takes all the canned goods from every American factory. If he gets 5 million cases of tomatoes for his boys what kind of a chance do you suppose the grocer will stand in getting some of them for you or for his trade. What is true of tomatoes will be true of all other fruits and truck. Hence, our warning to our readers. Make an effort to put your living in the cellar this summer and fall and then you can live easy and well fed, wholly satisfied. Then, too, this is good finance for the laboring man's family, in peace or in war.

Willie Bower and son were over from Tiosa Tuesday visiting his mother. Farming makes a pretty rugged looking man out of Billie.

Valley falls against Knights

Friday, Sept. 7, the Vikings played against the Southwood Knights, but the turnout wasn't good for Valley.

"The team didn't play that well at all. There were some breakdowns in assignments defensively and our passing game needs improvement on passing block and pass routes," said Coach Scott Bibler. "We have the ability to move the ball, but we need to cut down on errors," Bibler said.

Scott Johnson made one touchdown that was a set-up Mervin Jones interception.

Mervin Jones scored the defensive tackle points and Pat Jamison and Scott Johnson scored rushing points for the offense.

"Sickness and injuries knocked us down a little and

Day of Peace

In 1981, the third Tuesday of September was designated as the International Day of Peace by the U.N. General Assembly. This date marks the opening of the regular sessions of the General Assembly and is proclaimed by the United Nations to be "devoted to commemorating and strengthening the ideals of peace both within and among all nations and peoples."

This year, International Peace Day falls on Sept. 18. With the expansion of democracy into the Communist bloc, the lifting of the Iron Curtain and the recent strife in Africa and the Middle East, it seems a fitting time to reflect upon the ideal of peace.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

My wife, children and I attended the Akron School Open House last Thursday night September 6, between 7:00 and 8:00 p.m. The school was hot! One teacher told us the temperature in her classroom at that time was 95 degrees. Why isn't the Akron School air-conditioned? Why is the high school air-conditioned and not the Akron school? Can we expect the children to learn their lessons when they are too hot to concentrate? Can teachers do their best work under these conditions?

Many of the classrooms had the windows open in an effort to get a breeze flowing in, even though no cool air was coming into the room. What was coming into the rooms were mosquitoes by the dozens! I was bitten by these insects several times throughout the evening. Mosquitoes can carry disease. Should the children and teachers be subjected to these hot, humid conditions and also be at risk of disease?

Since the State of Indiana has mandated a longer school year, we are starting school earlier in August and ending later in May and, with weather related make-up days, even scheduling into June. Almost one-third of the school year is held during months when the weather can be quite hot and humid. The Akron school needs air-conditioning! Can you imagine how hot it is in the kitchen and cafeteria area when the cooks and maintenance people work? One teacher told me that the kitchen, during meal preparation, had to be 110 degrees, I doubt that even that estimate is high enough.

This letter is intended to be an open letter to all school board members. Each member needs to be fully aware of the miserable conditions faced by the students and staff at the Akron school during these frequent hot spells. Action needs to be taken to make Akron school a comfortable place for students to learn and for all of the staff to work.

Sincerely,
Mark Wilcox

RAP, Indiana

Prevention of Child Abuse, the Indiana Chapter of the National Committee, announces the first of a three part fall workshop series. This first workshop will introduce a national program called RAP, or Raising Adolescent Pride. RAP works with groups of adolescents to confront the issues of family violence, drug abuse and poor self-esteem. The workshop will train adult facilitators in using RAP in their community. Included will be discussion of program objectives, funding and hands on experience in conducting the program. It will be held on Thursday, September 13 in the auditorium of the Public Service Indiana, 1000 E. Main, Plainfield from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

RAP has been successfully implemented in other areas of the country. It enables teens to achieve the knowledge and self confidence they need to realistically resist pressure towards violent behavior or substance abuse.

The leader of the workshop will be Colleen Dumas, RAP National Program Director. Ms. Dumas works with People Against Child Abuse, the Maryland Chapter for the National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse. Both the Maryland and the Indiana Chapter are statewide members supported organizations, dedicated to the prevention of child abuse in all its forms. The goal is to stop the pain before it happens.

For more information on registration, call Sue Pope at 317/634-9282.

Books by Ralph Hollenbeck

CLEOPATRA: HISTORIES, DREAMS AND DISTORTIONS, by Lucy Hughes-Hallett (Harper & Row: $27.50).

The Egyptian queen, Cleopatra, British journalist and critic Lucy Hughes-Hallett notes, was "To the Romans and their successors ... a callous if fascinating vamp, famous, as Boccaccio was to write in the 14th century, 'for nothing but her beauty.'" That would explain the casting of Theda Bara, Claudette Colbert, Vivien Leigh and Elizabeth Taylor as the nubile Nilotic creature in films.

Plutarch, on the other hand, writing two centuries after Cleopatra's death and drawing on accounts of some who had seen her in life, according to this fascinating biography "asserts that she was not particularly good-looking, but that her voice was musical and her charm and 'force of character' such as to render her company delightful. Her coins (minted on her order...) show a strong, bony face with a hooked nose and a jutting jaw, pretty neither by the standards of Cleopatra's own day nor by those of ours."

What then was this Egyptian monarch who has so beguiled poets, prose writers, painters and the public? There is no aspect of legend or history that the author of this intriguing, multi-faceted study apparently hasn't examined. Here is a "Cleopatra" as thoroughly depicted as never before.

Who's Who in Mentone

"I have such pleasant memories of my childhood. It helped having both sets of grandparents." Annabel Mentzer wonders doubtfully if today's kids are building such happy memories. (Photo by Hudson).

Profile of Annabel

by Leafy Hudson

A diminutive lady who will be eighty-four years old September 29, Annabel Mentzer has many pleasant memories of the past. Except for two years during World War II, when she worked at Studebaker in South Bend, and a short time at the now defunct Elkhart University, where she took a medical secretary's course, Annabel has lived her entire life in Mentone.

Some of Annabel's earliest memories are of Mentzer's Store, on the present Post Office corner, still remembered by many Mentone people. It was first established in 1898 when her grandfather, Samuel Mentzer, purchased the grocery store of John Dunlap. He called the new business S.S. Mentzer and Son, the son being Annabel's father, Mahlon. After a devastating fire, her grandfather rebuilt the grocery, adding merchandise to make it a general store. Annabel recalls a story her father told about the fire: "Dad was calling on Mother (then Minnie Blue) when he heard the fire alarm. He tore uptown, broke the door down, and saved the books."

Annabel remembers how nice the salesmen always were to her. The dry-goods salesmen would have trunks of samples that would be delivered from the depot to the store by Clark Ernsberger's dray service. Her father and aunt, Ersie Cole, who also worked there, would order from the samples. Then, she smiles as she remembers, the salesmen would give samples to her.

Annabel especially remembers Christmas at the store. "We always gave away prizes. And once at Christmas, Dad had a Santa Clause stand in the upstairs window to throw oranges down to the kids."

During the depression of the 1930's, tramps often came through town on the Nickel-Plate Railroad. "Dad could never turn any of them away. He would give them meat, potatoes, onions and bread. They were allowed to cook stew and sleep in the old town hall."

She remembers that Chet Manwaring and Clark Ernsberger told him he shouldn't have to pay for all that himself, so they would come into the store every Saturday night and donate money to help him.

"When I was a little girl, I spent a lot of time at the store." As she grew up, she also worked there. "I always liked people and I liked working at the store."

Annabel, her sister, Rosalind (Rosie to all who knew her), brother Jim and sister Peg were all born in the home on N. Tucker Street now belonging to Pauline Riner. The summer before she was fourteen, her parents purchased the present Broadway Street home of the Jim Brazos. Having already sold their N. Tucker Street home before the other was ready to move into, they lived above the drugstore that summer. "I loved being a Main Street kid," she laughs.

Remodeling the new home to their taste was an exciting project for the whole family. They had an open oak stairway and ordered matching oak colonnades through Clark Ernsberger's Lumber Company. Jim, just a little boy then, would go to the Lumber Company every day to check for the arrival of the colonnades.

Another memory of that house again involves the homeless of the Great Depression. Annabel's mother had died when she was sixteen, and their Aunt Anna Blue had become their stepmother. "One Sunday, we were having dinner when a tramp knocked at the door and requested food. My stepmother fixed him a bountiful plate of food and served it to him in the laundry room. He was insulted because he wasn't invited to sit with the family!"

Annabel attended all twelve years of school in the school building that was located where Dr. Wilson's office is now. When she started school, it was a town school. Most children attended one-room country school houses then. But the school became too expensive for the town to maintain, so they turned it over to the township, which enlarged it to include country children.

"I always liked my teachers." Two she especially liked were Oliver Teel and Ethel Smith, whom she credits gratefully with teaching her good grammar. "I liked school, although I wasn't nearly as good a student as the others," she says modestly.

Annabel is justly proud of the accomplishments of her siblings. Rosie, deceased since 1986, earned a PhD in Home Economics and reached the position of Dean of Economics at Michigan State University. Jim graduated Cum laude with a B.S. in business and is now a bank president in Park Ridge, Illinois. Peg Mentzer Foltz, now a resident of Miller's Merry Manor in Warsaw, has a B.S. in nursing and, for many years, worked as a school nurse in South Bend, mostly at Central High School.

When her father, Mahlon Mentzer, died, the family requested memorials, in lieu of flowers, be sent to Mentone's fledgling town park. "He always loved kids," Annabel says. "When he was in the hospital, we were surprised that so many 'kids' who had grown up in Mentone and moved away remembered him with cards and letters." Quite a lot of memorial money was received and, as a result, the park was named Mahlon Mentzer Memorial Park.

Annabel worked as medical secretary for Dr. Dan Urschel in Mentone from 1947 until 1968. She remained in the family home until 1966, when her family persuaded her to opt for smaller quarters. She moved to the spacious apartment above Cooper's Store on Main Street and lived there until 1976. "I liked it up there," she says. "It was right across from the office and they carried groceries up from the store (Lemler's Market) for me. It was the best thing I ever did. But it was hard to give up the family home."

Upon retirement, Rosie came back to Mentone in 1973. She lived in the apartment across the hall from Annabel for three years. Then, in 1976, when Peg decided to return to Mentone, the three sisters purchased the Dick Manwaring property, where Annabel still lives today. "I've never been sorry," she says of that move.

Always active in community affairs, Annabel is a charter member of Psi Iota Xi Sorority, Past Matron of Eastern Star, Past Regent of DAR and a member of Mentone Reading Club.

She used to love to knit and play bridge. Today she's more interested in walking for exercise and playing the grater in the Scrambled Egg Band.

"It's much easier to live here than in a city," Annabel notes of life in Mentone. "Errands can be done in half the time it would take in a city. It's nice to go to a city, but nice to come back here. I'm glad," she says with her engaging smile, "that I spent my life in Mentone."

Kosciusko Community Hospital News

Someone asked me the other day why KCH has a pastoral care department and just exactly what it is. I was happy to answer that question, and perhaps the answer I gave will answer some questions others may have.

The Pastoral Care Department has been around a long time, but little was done in development until Wayne Hendrix joined KCH as president. As a hospital administrator, he has a holistic approach to the healing process. Therefore, we at KCH are concerned with the well-being of the whole person, medically, spiritually and emotionally.

Our president began meeting with the local Ministerial Association, and together they formed a Chaplaincy Task Force in 1989. As a result of these meetings the Pastoral Care Department was strengthened, and I was appointed the first staff Chaplain of KCH.

One of the first things we did was to develop some spiritual prayer literature for the patients and institute a Dial-A-Prayer for the patient rooms. Then we started training classes for our Chaplain Associates Program. As a result we have volunteer chaplains, who are local ministers on call seven days a week, 24 hours a day.

Who do we minister to? Many times a doctor or nurse will refer us to a troubled patient. KCH is admitting a growing number of patients who live outside our immediate area. Some are visiting others choose to come to KCH because of the facilities and medical staff, and some are vacationing. We in the Pastoral Care Department deal with emotional and spiritual trauma because we really care.

Mrs. Cyndy Light, assistant to the chaplain, coordinates between the patients and their local pastors, and refers patients without a pastor to the chaplain.

Firemen work towards Jaws of Life Unit

The Henry Township Fire Department has been working extremely hard to get what they want. The department is working towards a "Jaws of Life Unit."

The circus in Akron was sponsored by the firemen to raise money for this project. Fire Chief Joe Day said, "It was a good fundraiser, the folks had a good time."

The Jaws of Life Unit has been ordered. Right now the firemen are doing training courses on using the unit. "And there will be continuing education even after we put the equipment to use. The firemen will always have the latest knowledge available to keep up with any changes or better ways to do things" commented Fire Chief Day.

The department has begun Firehouse Bingo, to be held at the Akron Fire Station every other Saturday night.

Many people within the community have contributed to help the bingo get off the ground, 12 area merchants bought advertising spots on the bingo cards, which helped pay for them. The 4th of July Committee purchased the ball machine and part of the cards. Hartzler Funeral Home donated the use of chairs.

"Many folks in the community have really come out and supported us in one way or the other, to help us get a life saving tool that will benefit the entire community," concluded Fire Chief Joe Day.

Wuertenberg to hold lecture

Jacque Wuertenberg is a language arts consultant whose speciality is teaching children, parents and teachers how to become actively involved in language production--reading and writing. Through lectures and workshops, students are motivated and encouraged to compose, illustrate, revise, edit, and publish their own books. Teachers and parents learn strategies to help student-authorship become an essential, continuing part of the curriculum.

Wuertenberg will be at the Lakeview Middle School, East Smith Street, Warsaw, formerly the old Warsaw Sr. High, on Tuesday evening, September 25th, 7:00 P.M. The first section she will work with students to get them started writing a book. After a break she will address the group on other points of working with students to help them read and write.

Everyone is invited to attend. Cost is free to members of the Tippecanoe Valley Council or other area reading councils. Membership will be available that evening. Those not wishing to join the council may pay $5.00. All children are invited to attend free with an adult.

Area man killed in accident

Timothy W. Woodcox, 23, Rochester, was killed and two other people injured, in a three vehicle accident in front of the Dairy Queen in Rochester, Friday evening.

Rochester police said Woodcox struck the rear of a pickup driven by James R. Gundrum, 30, Rochester, and knocked it into a car driven by Angela K. Lambert, 35, North Manchester. Police said all three vehicles were headed east with Gundrum and Lambert stopped, waiting to turn left into the Dairy Queen.

Woodcox was pronounced dead shortly after the 6:15 p.m. accident, at Woodlawn Hospital. Gundrum and Lambert were treated and released.

Woodcox had attended Tippecanoe Valley Schools and is the son of Lonnie and Sharon Woodcox, Athens. Obituary on page 2.

See a face you know?

Do you know any of these people? We think this was taken at the Mentone School that was where Dr. Wilson's office is now.

The Mentone High School Graduate Picture Committee is hoping to get these people identified so the picture can be included in our Mentone High School History wall.

Two, eight foot oak cases have been built and are now filled temporarily with pictures from the early 1900's through early 1950's. If you haven't seen them, stop in during the day and take a look.

The committee is still looking for pictures and accepting donations. Contact Marsha Scott, Rt. 1, Box 208, Mentone, IN 46539 or call 353-7460.

New Success In Fighting Ulcers

About 30 million Americans suffer from peptic ulcer disease. Fortunately, there are medications available which offer effective ulcer healing.

Ulcer sufferers should be aware that taking their ulcer medication with other drugs could cause troublesome side effects. Common drugs that one might be taking with their ulcer medication are cardiac drugs, antidiabetics and tranquilizers.

Some drugs have a lower potential for interaction than others. If you are being treated for ulcers, make sure you let your doctor know what other prescription and non-prescription drugs you may be taking.

Needs more volunteers

A program called "Farming the Classroom" sponsored by Indiana Farm Bureau's Women's Department needs more volunteers as it enters its ninth year. The program, designed for children in grades K-4, depends on volunteers from the agriculture industry to supply these youngsters with a basic understanding of farm life.

"This is one of our most important programs," said Carol Hegel, second vice president, Indiana Farm Bureau, Inc. "More than 700,000 students have been able to learn more about Indiana agriculture through this program," she added. Currently there are about 125 volunteers in the program but Hegel says that more are needed due to the demand from area schools.

People interested in becoming new volunteers for the program should plan to attend a training seminar October 16. To register for the seminar or obtain more information contact Shirley Baugh at (317) 263-7830.

Mentone Business of the Week

Mary at the grill in Teel's Restaurant. When Mentone people tell new acquaintances where they are from, it's not unusual to hear, "Oh, I've been there--to Teel's Restaurant. (Photo by Leafy Hudson).

Teel's Restaurant by Leafy Hudson

Teel's Restaurant, owned and operated by Mary Teel, has been an institution in Mentone for 24 years. People flock from all over northern Indiana to enjoy Mary's Friday and Saturday night salad bar. One couple comes every weekend from Mishawaka, bring various friends along.

The Mentone Lions and Kiwanis meet regularly at Teel's, and many groups come to Teel's for special parties. Wedding rehearsal dinners, anniversary dinners, retirement dinners, Christmas parties and Mother-Daughter Banquets are just a few types of celebrations held at Teel's. Tour busses often stop there, including many headed for Warsaw's Wagon Wheel Playhouse.

One of Mary's most famous customers, Indiana University's Bobby Knight, was just looking for a quiet, "out of the way place," for "home-cooked food" after a day last summer of golfing, with Burket's Jerry Nelson. He was so delighted with Teel's, he promised to come back--a promise he has yet to keep. But he posed for a picture, with Mary, that now hangs on the wall, and Mary says, "So many people notice that picture."

Teel's location has a history as a restaurant site. For many years, it was Pete's Lunch, run by Byron Peterson family. It started out, the first room of the present restaurant only, as a coffee shop to augment their hardware store to the east. Mrs. Peterson expanded the business, adding the second room. Old-timers around Mentone can remember when the present second room was an empty lot where "free shows," (outside movies), were shown one evening a week. Carl and Bea Lozier, of Bourbon, purchased the restaurant of Mrs. Peterson in 1964 and ran it for two years, selling it in 1966 to Mary and Hody Teel.

Mary was well experienced in the food industry by then. Starting in 1949, she cooked at the Mentone School thirteen years, serving under Principals Walter Kent and John Frederick. After two years helping Lillian Witham, she was appointed supervisor, and held that position eleven years.

With consolidation, Mary reminisces, came the school federal lunch program. "I didn't believe in it and so I quit." Two years cooking at Murphy Medical Center, in Warsaw followed, until Loziers persuaded her to cook for them during their tenure in Mentone.

When Loziers decided to sell, Mary realized the fulfillment of a dream. She and husband, Hody, "mortgaged everything we owned, including the family dog" to buy the business and establish Teel's Restaurant.

"Business was good from the beginning," Mary says. "People have been very kind. Growth has been gradual and steady."

There were many parties, from the first. "It seemed like we were always tearing up the second room. I thought 'if we could just have a third room.' So when the building next door to the west, which had housed restaurants owned by Mildred and Arlo Friesner and Boyd Blue, became available, Teels bought it for another dining room.

Hody, who still worked for Endicott Furniture in Warsaw at that time, took vacation and did most of the remodeling himself. After a hole was cut in the wall, he did the carpentry work, laid carpet and installed new lights.

Teel's soon became busier than ever, and required more kitchen space. While adding the new kitchen, squaring off of the building provided additional space at the north end of the third room, structuring the building as it stands today.

Mary has never opened on Sunday for regular business. "If I can't make it in six days," she says, "I won't do it. I like the day off and so does the help." She does, however, make exceptions for special occasions. In 1981, to celebrate 15 years in business, she served over 300 people at a Sunday smorgasbord. Another Sunday celebration in 1986 honored her 20th anniversary.

The responsibility of the restaurant has been Mary's alone since Hody's sudden death in June 1978.

But it has helped that some of Mary's employees have been with her for many years. Vi McGowen and Audra Tombaugh have worked for her since April, 1967. Daughters-in-law Lu and Janie Teel have helped off and on for many years, as have several grandchildren. Several other loyal employees have worked for her for a number of years.

Four of Mary's five sons work at R.R. Donnelley and Sons. Larry and Juanita are in Willard, Ohio. Jim and Barb live in Warsaw. Dave and Lu live at Beaver Dam Lake and Dick and Janie live near Mentone. Tom, deceased since 1982, was retired from the United States Air Force. His family resides in Warsaw. Mary has 20 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Mary enjoys traveling and has visited much of the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, as well as Israel and much of Europe. As a special highlight of her travels, she saw The Passion Play at Oberammergau in Bavaria, West Germany.

Still going strong at (almost) 72, Mary says, "Work is what has kept my spirit up."

Asked about Mentone, Mary says simply, "Mentone is a good place to live." Teel's Restaurant helps to make it that way!

4-H News by Karen S. Lowry

As the official end of summer, Labor Day, has elapsed, it is a good time to reflect on the summer of 1990. Our 4-Hers grew this summer from involvement in county and state 4-H activities. Our 4-Hers agained knowledge and skills from participating in a demonstration and public speaking contest, 4-H Camp, State Junior Leader Conference, Animal Science Workshop, project workshops, 4-H club meetings, Citizenship Washington Focus, 4-H Roundup, REMC Achievement Trip, an interstate exchange, 4-H Fun Day, LABO exchange, Mini 4-H Day Camps, Camp with a 4-H Twist, livestock building work days, fashion revue, county fair and state fair.

After a very busy summer, it is great to have an opportunity to relax and to recognize those individuals that followed through on their 4-H commitments by giving them a boost. 4-Hers will be recognized in their local 4-H clubs this fall for their 1990 4-H achievements. Recognition also occurs at the county level for 4-H members and leaders.

It is super that we take time in the fall to recognize our 4-H youth and volunteers, but we should remember that we need to work year round at giving a boost to others. Holle Smith, an Extension Home Economist says, "By helping someone else learn to like themselves, you can help them reach their fullest potential." She outlines four ways to give someone boost. 1.) "Give responsibility. This tells people your respect and trust them, and you believe they can succeed and be responsible for themselves." 2.) "Show appreciation. This says, you and what you do are valued." 3.) "Ask for opinions. People feel a sense of effectiveness when they have a chance to contribute." 4.) "Accept mistakes. Learning takes place through making mistakes. Expect the best rather than demanding perfection."

Scenes Around Town

by
Leafy Hudson

Barbara Holloway called the other day with two messages from the Mentone EMT's.

First: Last week was EMS Week. To celebrate, our local EMTs sponsored a safety poster contest for the Mentone Elementary fourth grades. Judging was Thursday evening, and all winning posters were displayed at Friday night's Tippecanoe Valley football game. The winners will receive a $10 prize for first place, $7 for second and $5 for third, all contestants will be treated to ice cream. Watch for the winner's picture in next week's paper!

Second: The Mentone EMS is in desperate need of more help if it is to continue ambulance service to the community. A class will be scheduled as soon as enough volunteers come forward. This new class, about five months in length, will be paid for by the EMS, thus free to participants. The EMS does request a commitment of one year's service from each new EMT.

When I interviewed Fire Chief Butch Warren, he asked me to mention the Fire Department's fund-raising campaign.

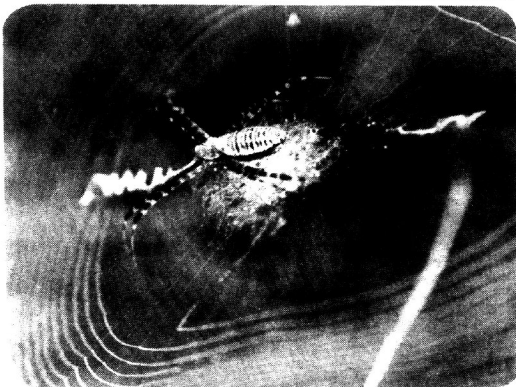

When Kosciusko County goes to E911, within the next few months, as soon as the county house numbering program is completed, all fire calls will be dispatched through Warsaw, no longer by telephone, but by special pagers. It will be necessary for all firemen to have one. Mentone's goal is to buy twenty-seven pagers. The businesses in town have already contributed enough to buy twelve. Each fish fry nets enough to buy about one and one-half pagers. Any donations toward this project will be greatly appreciated. It is for the benefit of us all.

Mentone Reading Club

Members and guests opened the 1990-91 season of the Mentone Reading Club with a carry-in dinner in the social room of the United Methodist Church. Nostalgic music, sing along tunes and old familiar hymns, by Sue Shively at the organ and Evelyn Tinkey at the piano, highlighted the evening.

GED on TV Enrollment deadline nears

As the September 28th enrollment deadline nears, over 6,000 Hoosiers, ranging in age from 18 to 85, who weren't able to finish high school, have called to enroll in the innovative GED ON TV home study program. Because of the extremely large volume of calls, some students have been getting a busy signal. Students are urged to keep calling. The toll-free telephone, 800-248-7999, will be available for enrolling from 8:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and on Fridays from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

The series of 42 half-hour programs is designed for adults to watch from home and will be broadcast on all eight Hoosier public television stations beginning in October. Enrollment in the program costs $18 and includes a pre-test, three workbooks, newsletters, the official GED Practice Test, and at the end of the series, a Test Free Voucher that will pay the $18 fee for the student's GED test at a local testing center.

Adults wishing to enroll have called from throughout the state. The programs will be aired on PBS stations in Bloomington, Evansville, Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Merrillville, Muncie, South Bend and Vincennes. Louisville Public Television will also offer the programs.

The GED test was first used in 1942. In 1987, more than 729,000 adults from all over America took the GED and over one half million passed. The GED is recognized by many employers, many colleges and universities, and by some military services as the equivalent of a high school diploma.

"It takes over eight hours to take the GED tests and they are not easy," said Molly K. Robertson, director of the program. Robertson urges employers to consider employing people who have earned a GED. "Any adult who has taken the initiative to prepare for and pass the GED should be considered right along with those who were able to go straight through school."

Adults who want or need to study at home for the GED test may enroll until September 28.

For more information: Molly K. Robertson 317/747-5353.

Study Tracks Associations' Spending

For those who wonder how associations use charitable contributions, a recent study may shed some light on the subject. According to the United Press International news service, the study, conducted by the Capital Research Center, found that at least three of the nation's largest health organizations spend less than a quarter of total funds raised on medical research.

The organizations — the American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association and the American Lung Association — spend significantly more on public relations, salaries and political lobbying than they do on actual medical research. The study named the American Lung Association as spending the least income of the three on research — only 4.1 percent of its $103.6 million income in 1987. During that same period, the association spent 33 percent of its income on fund-raising and administration.

Said Dr. James T. Bennett, the George Mason University economist who headed the study, "They like to be regarded as at the forefront of the war on various diseases, but play only a minor role in supporting the research needed to find cures," the UPI reported.

National Pet Peeve Week

Are you sick and tired of your mate routinely leaving the top off the toothpaste? Do you get utterly frustrated at people who leave their turn signals going for hours, especially after they have cut in front of you with no wave of appreciation? How many times have you been in the express line at the grocery store and noticed that the three people in front of you have at least 20 items in their baskets?

If these or other bothersome situations get your goat, you have five whole days to make your peevess known, because the second week in October has been designated National Pet Peeve Week. This year, the week to gripe falls on Oct. 8-12. So, if you've always wanted to yell at your neighbor for never mowing his lawn, yell away. Just be sure you haven't done something to make him peeved at you!

Charlie Brown Turns 40

Good grief, Charlie Brown! Can you believe that 40 years have passed since Charles M. Schultz's "Peanuts" comic strip made its debut in seven newspapers on Oct. 2, 1950? Charlie Brown, Snoopy and the rest of the Peanuts gang are celebrating "40 years of happiness"—the theme of the anniversary year.

Today, 2,300 newspapers feature the "Peanuts" comic strip. And with over 200 million readers in 68 countries, "Peanuts" is the most widely syndicated comic strip in the world.

Although there may be disagreement over which Peanuts scenario is the favorite — Charlie Brown's tireless efforts to kick the football, his pursuit of the little red-haired girl or Snoopy's ongoing fight with the Red Baron — one thing is certain: Americans have been nuts about "Peanuts" for 40 years.

Recycling Update

Well, Akron, you're doing it and you are to be congratulated. Your response to the recycling effort has been phenomenal. Thanks to you, trash output in Akron has been reduced by nearly a third! That's something to be proud of. This should be more than enough incentive to get those of you who are not recycling to begin now.

But there's more! Some Akron residents are reporting a two-thirds reduction in weekly trash output. This means they are paying one third of what they used to pay for trash removal.

Once again we would like to remind you of some of the recycling instructions, future recycling dates, and the location of the Akron Recycling Center.

Viking Victory

Friday, Sept. 14, the TVHS Vikings played the Northfield Norseman and the victory was great for the Vikings.

"During the 1st half, we didn't play that well because of mistakes and penalties, but the 2nd half, they played hard, they were very aggressive. They worked well and had a lot of enthusiasm," said Head Coach Scott Bibler.

"They did a better job of handling and controlling the ball," Bibler said.

Senior Pat Jamison suffered an injury to his knee.

"Overall the team had a good win, we fought back during the 2nd half and one of our goals is to get better each game and I feel we went one step forward in the right direction," said Coach Bibler.

Valley won the game 34-6.

Views On Dental Health

H. RAY HAZEN,
D.D.S., M.S.D., P.C.

NUTRITION AND TOOTH DECAY

Have you ever wondered why some people have loads of cavities and lots of problems with their teeth and gums while others have little or no difficulties? Genetics do come into play. Any tissue in the body, including teeth, is in part a product of its genetic inheritance. However, these same tissues are also influenced by nutrition -- both during formation and afterward.

The cells of most tissues are constantly metabolizing, frequently regenerating, sometimes dying and being replaced. Nutrition is directly involved in all these reactions, supplying the materials -- amino acids, vitamins, minerals, etc. -- necessary for growth, repair and renewal. That is why nutrition is so important for good dental health. It starts with the mother's diet during pregnancy and continues with the infant's diet, both before and after teeth enter the mouth. While it's true you can't do anything about your genes, you certainly can control your diet.

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: H. RAY HAZEN, D.D.S., J.S.D., P.C. 1329 Main St., Rochester, Ph. 223-3121.

Akron Business of The Week

Viking Foods

Viking Foods, Akron's small town supermarket, has been owned by Terry and Chris Randall for almost seven years. At one time owned by the Kroger Company, there has been a grocery store at the location for at least 40 years. The store passed through several owners before the Randalls, originally from the Russiaville area, purchased it from Roger Cooksey in February of 1984. One year later they remodeled, replacing and upgrading equipment and adding a bakery. This proved to be an excellent business investment. Within another year, business had increased 200%.

The store is open seven days a week from 7:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. for the shopper's convenience.

Terry provides his customers many extras not often available in a small town grocery. The bakery features fresh baked rolls, doughnuts, cookies, cheese cakes, bread, pies and custom decorated cakes for any occasion. There are also deli items such as sandwiches, salads and pizzas. In addition, Terry offers a catering service that can provide a complete hot or cold meal, or snacks. He has catered large picnics, local industry events and school functions in addition to private parties and weddings. Terry has often been told his food is so good he "should own a restaurant instead of a grocery store."

Along with Michigan produce, Terry purchases fruits and vegetables, in season, from local farmers whenever possible, to provide his customers with the best product.

The fine meat department at Viking Foods is well known. Terry feels the meat department is "the heart of the store." It features high quality meats expertly cut by Terry or his son, David. Viking provides the meat for the popular restaurant at Rosella Ford Golf Course in addition to the many customers who come from all over the area.

The meat department may be the heart of the store, but the employees are its soul. Store manager, Stanley Shewman, has been working at this location for 28 years. Terry refers to him as "my right hand." Stan is in charge of ordering all grocery and dairy items and frozen foods. In addition, he's been known to serve as maintenance man, cook and janitor.

The title of "left hand" goes to Wanda O'Donnell, who has worked at Viking Foods for six years, starting as a part-time cashier and working her way up to assistant manager. Roberta Hatfield is the bakery manager and Terry's son, David, manages the meat department. Chris Randall handles the health and beauty department along with the payroll, taxes and accounting. Concerning his wife, Chris, Terry says, "Without her I wouldn't be nearly so successful. She really covers for me and keeps things going."

Both Stan and Wanda stressed the family atmosphere at Viking. "Everybody gets along with everybody," Stan said. "We treat each other like brothers and sisters," Wanda added.

"What we have here, goes beyond a supermarket," Terry said. "It's a real family atmosphere. We all care deeply for each other." All totaled Viking Foods has five full-time and thirteen part-time employees.

Terry has extensive experience in the grocery business. He started his career as a carry-out boy, at the age of 14, at Waddell's Grocery in Russiaville. He soon began to learn meat cutting and continued to work there through Jr. High and High school.

He worked for a time at Wilson's Meat Packing in Logansport before returning to the grocery business at Whitacre's Market in Kokomo. After about six years, Mr. Whitacre decided to build a large supermarket. Terry then worked 45 to 60 hours a week at the market and spent many additional hours helping to design and construct the supermarket. Mr. Whitacre, having recognized Terry's potential, sent him to schools and seminars covering all aspects of the grocery business. Terry took two, four day courses from Cliff Bowles, a well know meat expert from Chicago, at a cost of $100.00 per hour.

When Mr. Whitacre retired, Terry had intended to purchase the supermarket. Unfortunately, he was out bid by a large corporation.

Terry's search to buy another grocery led him to Akron. "I honestly feel God led me here," says Terry. "I felt very strongly about this community the first day I saw it. Akron seemed like a great place to raise my family and it reminded me of my home town of Russiaville."

Terry has purchased the lots that formerly belonged to Dr. Miller and the Akron EMT and two adjoining lots. Within the next two years, he plans to construct a new 8,000 square foot supermarket.

Some people have told Terry he is crazy to make that kind of investment, but he doesn't think so. "If people aren't willing to make a commitment to make the community grow, business will be lost to the Rochester and Warsaw areas. Akron will go the way of other small towns and fade away. Akron has been here over 150 years and I want to do my part to see that it is still thriving 50 years from now. The people of this town have been good to me and I'm more than willing to take a gamble on my friends and neighbors."

The new store will give Terry greater buying power, so he will be able to offer his customers better prices and a wider variety of merchandise. Terry also has plans to have a large meeting room in the basement of the new store that can be used for parties and meetings.

The only drawback Terry finds in the grocery business is a lack of time for weekend activities with his family. The store does 75% of its business on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Besides his wife, Chris, and son, David, who work with him, Terry also has a son, Mark, a senior at Tippecanoe Valley and a daughter, Jennifer, a sixth grader at Akron. Jennifer is looking forward to being a cashier at the store in the near future.

Terry does manage to find time for several community activities. He is most proud of his work with the school wrestling program. He works with students in the sixth grade and up at Akron and Mentone and is Head Wrestling Coach at TVHS. He is also very active with the Henry Township Fire Department and the 4th of July Committee. He has served as Vice President of the local Chamber of Commerce and as President of the Akron Lions Club. In addition, he serves on the Advisory Committee for the Building Trades class and is the football statistician at TVHS. With all this he still occasionally finds time for fishing or a round of golf.

Viking Foods was named for the Tippecanoe Valley Vikings and is not associated with other grocery chains.

The weekly specials offered by Terry rely on suppliers specials. Viking Foods is an independent contract store affiliated with IGA and Super Foods from Ohio. They set up the advertising used by the store weekly.

Terry's philosophy for a successful grocery is the same one Mr. Whitacre taught him several years ago. "Give your customers the freshest and best quality product at the best possible price." It certainly has worked for Viking Foods as Terry's ambitious plans for the future prove.

WE WELCOME GOD'S MOST COLORFUL SEASON OF AUTUMN

When summer fun begins to pall
And cooler winds pervade the night,
The temperatures will start to fall
And frost will paint a brilliant sight,
In which the leaves turn red and gold;
A truly colorful display
That signifies a year grown old,
Against a sky of cloudy gray.
It's harvest time from tree and field,
For food on which we all rely;
By reaping what the earth will yield,
Before the snow begins to fly.
Our House of Worship makes it clear:
God shows His love in many ways,
From indications that appear
With autumn's beauty all ablaze.

Recipe of the Week

by Bonnie Dunbar

Both parents are working more these days and a good meal is hard to prepare in a short time. So I found this Crock Pot recipe great. You put it all together before leaving for work and when you come home all you do is add baked potatoes done in a microwave and fix a green salad to finish off your complete meal.

Polynesian Spareribs
2 lbs. Country Spareribs
1/3 cup soy sauce
1 T. ginger
1/4 cup cornstarch
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup water
1 T. salt
1/2 t. dry mustard
1/2 t. ginger (again)

Cut spareribs into individual pieces, mix soy sauce, 1 T. ginger and cornstarch till smooth. Roll ribs into this, set aside. Combine remaining ingredients in pan and warm through. Now put ribs into crock pot, pour sauce over them, cover and cook on low for 6 to 8 hours (all day) Will really be brown and good.

This is a family recipe and I won 4th place in a cooking contest in Downers Grove with it.

"I Take Advantage of Lake City Bank Certificates of Deposit."

Don has a long-standing relationship with Lake City Bank. More than 30 years ago when he moved to the area, he opened a checking account. Since that time, Don's come to Lake City Bank for mortgage and auto loans and to invest his money.

"I think people my age are more inclined to use Certificates of Deposit than to invest in, for example, the stock market," Don said. "What motivates me to buy certificates at Lake City Bank is the safety and knowing what they're going to yield in advance. The interest has always been good."

"Lake City offers a variety of certificates with different terms. That makes it easy to plan how to invest."

"It's nice, too, to come into the bank and be greeted with a smile. Everyone is so easy to work with, I consider them friends rather than bank employees."

If safety and high interest on your investments coupled with the friendly, expert advice of financial professionals is what you're looking for in a bank, take advantage of Lake City Bank's Certificates of Deposit. Stop in the office nearest you.

Who's Who in Mentone

Butch Warren, with his fire-fighting memorabilia, holds an old iron fire truck, a childhood gift from Germany. He's had it so long, he can't remember when he got it.

Profile of Butch

by

Leafy Hudson

"This will be a fire fighter's story," laughs Mentone's Fire Chief, Butch Warren. That turned out to be true.

An original "Burket Bum," Butch grew up in Burket and attended Mentone High School. Shortly after graduation, he married his high school sweetheart, Diane Barnhart. They have three children. Son Kreg, and wife, Rhonda, live in Mentone. Daughter Shelli and husband, Bill Kelly, live in Burket, and their third son, Kris, lives at home.

"We are a four generation fire-fighting family," Diane points out proudly. Butch's grandfather, Everett Brown, was a fireman in Warsaw early in this century. His fire-fighting career ended when he was injured by a falling beam while courageously fighting a fire in the Chinworth Building north of the Court House in the 1920's. Butch's father, Everett A. Warren, was a fireman in Burket for many years.

Butch's career started with the Burket Fire Department at age sixteen. Because of his youth, all he was allowed to do was drag the hose. In Atwood, where he and Diane made their first home, he was old enough at last to be a full-fledged fireman. Moving to Mentone in 1970, he joined the Mentone Fire Department and has been a member since, filling an office every year since 1975.

Butch has had extensive training as a fire-fighter. The first rating of 2nd Class comes after 100 hours of training. An additional 60 hours earns the fire-fighter 1st Class Rating. Individual Masters Categories follow 1st Class. Butch has three Masters Ratings: Fire Investigator, Tactics and Certified State Fire Instructor. He has actually earned the Tactics Rating twice. It was awarded to him under a grandfather clause, for having a specified amount of time on the fire department, but he didn't feel he had really earned it that way, so he took the training, earning it again.

Butch praises his employer, Midwest Spring, for their cooperation with the Fire Department. In fact, Butch says, "Midwest Spring is almost Mentone's daytime fire department." Butch and three other firemen, Fred Mellott, Ellis Shepherd and Dave Alderfer, work there. Although not required by law to pay them during fires, or cooperate with them, Midwest does all that, they even have a fire phone. When a call comes in, they take directions and announce it to the fire-fighters over the loud speaker.

In return, the firemen employees take care of Midwest's fire regulations, fire extinguishers and sprinkling system. They even do the talking to insurance inspectors. "But," Butch adds quickly, "We get more benefit from them than they do from us."

Butch is just leaving the office of president of Kosciusko County Fireman's Association, after serving seven years.

He's a member of Squad 70, the Kosciusko County Fire Investigator's Team. He estimates he has helped train 150 firemen, most of them still in our general area. "After the first 100 hours," Butch says, "many come back for further training. But," he adds, "I want to be a fireman first."

Butch's sons and son-in-law are the fourth generation of fire-fighters in the family. When Kreg was 16, he wanted to join the fire department, but was told he was too young. So he approached several Mentone firemen to propose a Junior Program, to which the firemen agreed. From ages 16-18, they are very limited in what they can do. During a fire, they report to the station, sweep the floor while the trucks are out, make coffee and help fill tanks. They also help with fish fries. But they can't go near the fire. From ages 18-20, they can help fight fires, but can't drive the trucks. They usually begin the 100 hours certification training as Juniors. Several young men have gone through this program since its inception. Right now Eric Secrist and Jamie Wallace are in the program.

Kris was also a Junior Fireman. Kreg and Kris are now both members of the department. Son-in-law, Bill Kelly, joined the Burket Fire Department shortly after his marriage to Shelli.

Butch credits Diane, a U.S. Postal employee, for her help and support. "She's the backbone of the bunch," he says proudly. Diane Comments, "You never know what to expect—you don't know from one minute to the next if they all will be here or if they all will be gone to a fire. There's never a dull moment. But it's kinda neat in a way. Sometimes I feel like it's me on the fire department."

Among Butch's extensive collection of fire-fighting bijouterie, is a framed case displaying his first two badges; two awards he received, the 1985 Kosciusko County Service Award Winner and 1980 Kosciusko County Fireman of the Year Award; and his father's and grandfather's badges. He has left a space for his present badge to be added—a long time from now.

The other items displayed around the fireplace are enough to start a small fire-fighting museum. For example, a figure of Emmett Kelly wrapped in fire-hose stands beside a fireplug; painting by Wanda Shand of Mentone's 1929 Dodge firetruck; pictures, carvings, figurines and many more. "Everyone I know gives me fire-fighting things," he says. They have enough small figurines representing various types of fire-fighting men and equipment to almost totally decorate the Christmas tree.

Butch and his family practice fire safety. He emphasizes the need for smoke detectors and fire extinguishers in the home and in the car. "You pay for insurance to protect your house and car," he points out, "but what do you do to protect your life?"

Butch's other interests include electrical and carpentry work—he and the family have completely remodeled their home themselves—and he icefishes and deer hunts some. But these things don't seem to be very important to Butch. His story is, indeed, a fire-fighter's story.

About Mentone, Butch doesn't hesitate. "Mentone Fire Department is a 1990 Fire Department. We're not behind the times, we're on top of things. Our guys attend training. All that is largely possible because so many people patronize the fish fries. We spend all the money earned of fire-fighting equipment."

"Mentone," Diane adds, "is a caring community and it will continue to be—even get better!"

Mentone High School Alumni Banquet

One hundred eighteen alumni of Mentone High School enjoyed a banquet dinner at the Mentone school gymnasium Sunday, September 9, 1990. Heston Creviston, class of 1935, gave the invocation.

President Grace Lewis presented special recognition certificates to the class of 1940. Fifty year alumni attending were: Dale Beeson, James Beeson, Josephine Blackwell, Leatha Walters Hamman, Loa Jean Fleck Johnson, Eldred Paulus and Dean Shirey. The oldest class represented by Gerald J. Fretz was 1923.

Connie Teel Hancey stirred up nostalgic memories when she led the group in singing "Up Mentone High, Arise," ably assisted by the Mentone Bulldog mascot, characterized by Angie Berg.

Linda Cochran read a history of the Mentone school beginning with 1883, and Grace Lewis reminded everyone of the changes experienced with a humorous reading. Bryan Frushour, a Tippecanoe Valley high school student, entertained with his puppet, played the piano and sang a catch comical "fishy" pun song and his rendition of "Great Balls of Fire," for the rockers present.

Following the program, all were invited to tour the classrooms, view an old Mentone film from the collection of Dale Kelley, longtime Mentone school principal, or browse through the many pictures and memorabilia provided by the Mentone High School Alumni Historical Committee.

Officers for the coming year were voted in as follows: Marsha Scott, president; Steve Tucker, vice President; and Jenny Hart, secretary/treasurer.

Several joined in the afternoon to visit.

Church News

The Silver Creek Church of God invites the community to attend a unique demonstration of the Jewish Passover feast on Sunday, September 23 at 10:20 a.m. Rev. Galen Banashak, representative of the Chosen People Ministries, will be on hand to present this look backward to the first Passover in Egypt. The special Passover foods and equipment will be examined as Rev. Banashak explains the reason why Jesus Christ established the "Lord's Supper" out of the Passover feast. "Christ in the Passover" not only makes Christian communion alive and meaningful, but also heightens awareness and appreciation of the Jewish roots of Christianity.

Chosen People Ministries is one of the oldest and largest organizations sharing the gospel of Messiah Jesus with God's "chosen people." Although international in scope, the majority of its work is located in the United States, and programs which create a love and understanding of the Jewish people, like "Christ is the Passover," are presented in churches nationwide.

Akron Town Council Meeting

The regular Akron Town Council meeting was called to order on September 18 at 7:00 p.m. Minutes were approved from the August 21 meeting.

Notices of proposals to adopt a Cumulative Capital Development Fund and Additional Appropriations of $3000.00-Snow Plow-$2000.00-Software for computer-and 10,000.00-Police Car were read to the public. On the CCD Fund Charles Sterk made a motion to accept with Rod Conner seconding. Both proposals passed with votes of 3 to 0.

The second reading of Ordinance 90-1 to abolish 3 wards for election of Council members to members at large was given. No one in audience objected to above three proposals. The ordinance was passed on a 3 to 0 vote.

A complaint was registered about a trash barrel being too close to a light pole. Marshal Tim Fleck said he would contact the person responsible again.

It was mentioned that an addition to the ordinance on the use of skate boards needs to be addressed. Marshal Fleck was going to look into it.

Robert Allen attended the TVHS School Board meeting to express concern about children being picked up at the Fire Station. There has been trash left behind the town building and there has been problems at the Akron Mini Mart. The Asst. Principal, Mr. Gaylor, said he would contact the children involved. It was implied that, come winter, the Fire Station would be open for these children. He told them this would not happen, except on a specific request for a specific day or two, but not forever. If the weather gets nasty and it's a hazard for the children to be out, we will make an adjustment and there would be someone available to monitor, but as a routine the town is not set-up for this and they don't intend to do it. There is also some question as to whether liability insurance would protect the Town in case someone were to get hurt.

Marshal Tim Fleck read his monthly police report. There was an complaint from an anonymous business person in regard to parking of personnel all day with no places left for customers. Marshal Fleck said he would also watch this matter.

Superintendent Gearhart reported that he has completed the forms in regard to the Signage Grant and it should be sent in by October 1.

The Town set October 31 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. as Trick or Treat night in Akron for children and also recommended that small children be accompanied by adults. Parents are also reminded that 10:00 p.m. is the curfew for children under 18 years old for the month of October.

Regarding a fish kill at Town Lake during the storm that occurred in August, several Town Lake residents were concerned because of the massive amounts of fish killed. The residents asked the Town to do water samples. Charles Miller got the available samples and reported to the IDEM. There was a term used called "Bacterial Bloom," which is caused by rising water as a result of washing nutrients into impounded water, and the biological activity just flops. It was found that suspended solids were in the range of 9-11 parts per million at the entrance and 4-5 parts per million in center part of lake. The samples were taken grab-type at 1 foot below surface. All information has been sent to the Department of Natural Resources. Nancy Johnson has been assigned to the problem and has been sent all information that the town has this far. The water did rise to 4 1/2 foot and the town has no idea what could have caused the problem. The State has yet to complete their investigation.

Jack Miller stated that many of residents in town would like to have an "Open House" of the new building. Mr. Allen said he would try and get some folks together and make a plan and go from there.

The Town office is finding that it needs a way to communicate with the Town Maintenance men in the field. A multi-channel-raido system would involve an outside antenna. The cost would be about $1200.00 for radio, not including the crystals.

The 8' and 12' alley discussed at last months meeting has been surveyed. The East section of Akron Concrete Products' fence of the 8' alley encroaches 6-9" into the Town alley. Gene

Meeting

Chudzynski started at SR 14 and established a section line. There is some litigation in progress from the residents in the area, but the Town does not know if the residents have made any progress. All they know at this time, is that a lawyer from North Manchester has been contacted. Superintendent Gearhart has been asked to compile figures on what expense is involved in making the 12' alley a one way street for now. The Council is concerned about emergency vehicles and the need for this section to have more than one access in and out. The alley as described is approximately 350' long. Another problem is with the stop signs at the intersection of Rural and Johnson Streets. It was proposed that the stop sign on Johnson be moved to Rural Street, so they stop the traffic going north or south on Johnson. It was decided the stop sign on Johnson would stay, and the school would be contacted about a stop sign from the school parking lot.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:30 p.m.

Mentone Business of the Week

J & J Sales

by Leafy Hudson

J & J Sales, a Mentone business since June, 1968, is a jobber--wholesaler--for automotive parts. They give complete service on any item for engine and drive train.

The founder of the organization is Roy Jeffers, a native of Warsaw. Roy grew up on a farm and worked for Sears two years before joining the service. He was in the United States Army, attached to the United States Air Force. He has been in the automotive business since 1955, when his service duty ended.

In 1959, Roy bought a gas station on Old Road 30W in partnership with Forrest Tinkley. Soon they owned a station south of Warsaw on Road 15, also. Their business name was Tinkley Oil Service.

Then, in 1968, having sold his interest in the stations, Roy looked for an "open area" with an available building to start the business he had always wanted to in, the automotive wholesale business. He settled on a building south of Mentone on Road 19, opened and ran the business in that building until 1972, when he moved into the old Ed Bach building on Oak Street. Finally, after two more years, Roy moved the business, in 1974, to Mentone's Main Street, where it is today. It occupies the building in which Lyman and Jeanette Mollenhour had their dry cleaning shop.

J & J Sales runs a sales route to dealers in all four directions. It covers an area as far as Etna Green, Claypool, Macy and Leiter's Ford. The biggest percent of the business is wholesale, people who will use the products either for resale or custom repairs. They sell to many garages, including the local ones. "We supply people you would never think about," says Roy, naming a local factory who buys all their paint from J & J.

J & J has a machine shop with a hot tank, where they can do such work as grinding valves, rebuilding engines, calipers, carburetors, press work and turn rotors.

The J & J building is bigger than it looks, with a well-stocked back room. Rows and rows of neatly stacked shelves, an auto enthusiast's dream, hold such items as: wrenches, ignitions, plugs, seals, bearings, alternators, automotive transmission parts, filters, exhaust equipment, mufflers, tailpipes, and oil filters, not to mention the many kinds of hand cleaners and many more items too numerous to list. These same items are displayed attractively and handily in the store. In addition to all that, there is a full line of paint and paint equipment and supplies.

Although it's mainly a wholesale business, Roy says, "We draw walk-in customers from fifteen miles in every direction. We create quite a lot of traffic with customers whose only initial reason to come to Mentone is our store."

The business had grown gradually and steadily. Every year sales have increased. Two years ago they opened an Akron Branch, which is going very well. "We set record sales last year, and we're ahead of that now for this year."

As a result of their steady growth, J & J has recently added another employee, their fourth. Roy, his son, Roger, and Janet Black of Akron, are all experienced enough to work interchangeably on any job. They expect that their new employee, Harvey Ohmstead, of Claypool, will soon be able to do that too. Roy says, "The three of us couldn't keep up any longer. We've spent the last few weeks since Harvey came catching up on projects we should have done a long time ago."

Roy has four children Juanita, Mrs. Jerry Saner, lives in Mentone. Gary, a graduate of Manchester College and Valparaiso University, is a lawyer and a CPA. He lives in Washington, D.C., where he works for the Office of Treasury Thrift. Roger, who's been with Roy in the business since high school graduation, and his wife, Bonnie, live in Tippecanoe. Mary, a Whitko High School student, lives in Larwill. He also has seven grandchildren.

Both of Roy's boys share his interest in cars. Gary has worked for the past two years on a just completed project, an old Jaguar kit car. "Roger was involved in the project all the way," says Roy. They rebuilt the engine here, and many of the parts came from J & J Sales. The Jaguar body sits on a Mustang 2 frame with a Ford engine. Gary only recently drove it back to Washington, D.C.

Roy's main hobby is bowling. He started in 1945, and has bowled steadily since 1974. He carries a 173 average. J & J Sales sponsors two bowling teams at Gilliam Lanes in Warsaw.

Looking ahead to retirement, or at least to slowing down, Roy advises, "The key to successful business is learning to buy, knowing where and when merchandise is available."

"I enjoy being on Mentone's Main Street," Roy says. It's been very successful. But he sees a need in Mentone for more aggressive leadership. He sees the town as desperately in need of business expansion. "Mentone's future," he says, "depends on whether we can attract more small business."

4H NEWS

Although 4-H is a youth organization, it provides opportunities for adult development. Adult development is a part of 4-H because 4-H fosters involvement of adult volunteers to extend its programs to our youth. An excellent development opportunity for our adult leaders is the Indiana 4-H Leaders' Conference. The 1990 Indiana 4-H Leaders' Conference will be held November 16-18 at the Holiday Inn-Airport in Indianapolis.

This year's conference theme is "4-H Looks Good on You". The conference will feature Dr. Joseph Finnell presenting "Looking Good Means Taking Today's Risks", Vic Bardonnier discussing how "4-H Looks Good on You as You Listen to Youth" and Dr. Tony Jurick explaining that "4-H Works --- Looking Better than You May Think". Along with hearing these speakers, leaders will have an opportunity to attend four skill sessions and share experiences with other leaders during the many conference activities.

Registration for the conference will be on a first come, first serve basis for up to 10 participants. Leaders interested in attending the conference must register with the Extension Office by Thursday, October 11.

I encourage leaders to take advantage of this opportunity to learn more about working with 4-H youth, to gain new ideas and experiences from meeting other conference participants and to recharge themselves to meet the demands of another great year of 4-H work. Why not attend the conference as you continue to make "4-H Look Good on You"?

Who's Who in Mentone

Chet Coplen loves to tease his wife, Hildreth, but he says seriously, "She's a great lady to live with! (Photo by Leafy Hudson)."

Profile of Chet and Hildreth by Leafy Hudson

Chet and Hildreth Coplen, married for 61 years, enjoy looking back on a lifetime of memories.

Chet couldn't start school in September before his sixth birthday in December, at the schoolhouse where Dr. Wilson's office is today, because they had too many other students. But, start he did, the next year, and he remembers fondly that Rachel Kretcher taught him his first two years, with Von Jenkins for his third grade teacher.

Speaking of the old Mentone School, Chet says, "On Halloween the school yard would be piled high with wagons, sleighs, carts anything the kids could think of to bring there--- and most of the outhouses around town would be upset."

Still remembering Halloween, he adds, he never figured out how it was done, but the next morning there would always be a pair of lady's drawers hanging from the lights that crisscrossed over the center of the main intersection uptown.

Natural disasters were part of life then as now. Chet recalls several devastating fire when he was young. A grocery store on the south side of Main Street, run by Von Jenkins' family, was destroyed in a big fire. The L.P. Jeffries furniture store, in the two buildings now occupied by Garrett's Sports Salon and Valley Furnishings was also destroyed by fire.

"Mentone didn't have a fire department then, Chet recalls. They had a hose cart with a bell and a tongue. Two people would grab the tongue, one on each side, and run as fast and as far as they could toward the fire. When they were exhausted, two others running alongside would relived them. Chet was one to the runners. "It worked pretty well," he says. "We got the fires out."

Other disasters stand out in his memory. One is the day a construction worker fell to his death from Valentine Elevator. And he remembers that during the famous flood of 1913, when the city of Peru was flooded, water rose high enough in the creek south of Mentone to cover the land for an entire block north.

After high school graduation, Chet worked as a section hand on the interurban Railroad, for a time, then painted for Charlie Meredith.

Through her sister, Thelma Johnson, who lived here at the time, Hildreth came to Mentone from her Peabody, Indiana, home in Whitley County. She did housework for Ersie Manwaring.

It was her sister, Thelma, who arranged a blind date for Chet and Hildreth, to double date with herself and John Bowman. John's grandfather, Frank Bowman, Hildreth recalls, was a Mentone lawyer.

Thelma and John didn't marry, but, of course, April 27, 1929, Chet and Hildreth did. By then Hildreth was working for the A.I. Nelson on Main Street. They made their first home in a small house on the corner of the present Mentone School property.

In 1931, Chet was offered the opportunity to work for Manwarings. The offer included a house to live in. When Chet asked Hildreth what he should do, her answer was quick and simple. "Well, tell him yes," she said.

Hildreth had never lived on a farm before, but they both enjoyed life there. With his move to Manwarings, he went from making $12 per week to making $50 per month, plus rent. He got every other Sunday off, if he was lucky, and one week vacation.

Chet started in the incubator room, but before retiring, he had "done everything" there. Hildreth worked in the egg basement for two years. Although it was depression time, Chet says, "We were among the lucky ones."

Chet and Hildreth have many happy memories of their days on the farm. Two neighbors were Dick and Bess Manwaring, and the Ralph Severns family. Chet chuckles about Dick and Bess' first Christmas. They bought a vase for a Christmas gift to the Manwarings. When Dick and Bess were gone, Chet went into their house, laid white cardboard footprints from the door to the Christmas tree, and deposited the wrapped gift under the tree. Santa's telltale marks greeted the Manwarings on their return home.

While the Coplens were gone one day, the Severns, aided by some company, drove some roosters into Coplen's enclosed back porch. Chet has to coop them up to get them out---and they left "lots of feathers behind." So, not to be outdone, Chet made a spider of wood and cork, painted realistically with yellow spots. When Severns were gone, Chet put the spider into their bed. Scared them!

Chet and Hildreth mostly raised their family on the farm, staying there until 1951, when they moved to the south end of Mentone, into the house now owned by Freeman and Viola Gruenewald. In 1953, they bought the present Joe Good home, and stayed there until 1957. Wanting a smaller house, they bought the former home of Jack and Arvilla Van Gilder, where they still live today.

Following their move to town, Hildreth worked fourteen years at Cooper's store on Main Street.

Members of the Mentone Baptist Church, Chet has served as both a deacon and a trustee. They "always went" until Hildreth's health precluded her climbing steps.

Chet and Hildreth have two daughters, Velma, Mrs. Victor Lantz, of Mentone, and Donna, Mrs. John Mellott, of near Etna Green. They have four grandchildren, and expect, by the time the paper is printed, to have six great-grandchildren. They are waiting breathlessly for the announcement of the new one.

The Coplens have both kept busy in retirement. Hildreth has always done lots of handwork, especially crocheting. She's crocheted dollies, collars, afghans, even a bedspread for each daughter.

She's made quilts for most of the family members. She's presently working on two quilts for great-grandchildren. She recalls fondly the pioneer dresses and bonnets she made for Velma and her daughter-in-law, Diane, for the Baptist Church Centennial.

Chet has done lots of woodworking. A brightly painted wooden Pinocchio adorns their kitchen wall, alongside a towel holder and a calendar holder he created. But, more unusual is his latchhook hobby. He has hooked a 4' x 3' lion with over 15,000 pieces and a colorful owl.

Now 90 (Chet), and 84 (Hildreth), they describe themselves as "just fair." They both have some hearing loss, and Chet no longer drives, but they "get around pretty well."

Velma, who lives nearby, does their shopping and errands. "We couldn't get along without Velma and Vic, they're so good to us," they say.

Although they say they never will forget this summer, with the sewage system installation, Hildreth says, "Mentone's the best place to live." Chet says, "You wouldn't find any better little town." They both say, "You've got the best people in Mentone."

These young ladies won the fourth grade safety poster contest sponsored by the Mentone EMT's. (L to R) Carrie Lowe, 3rd place ($5), Mrs. Hunn's class; Jenny Sanders, 2nd place ($7), Mrs. Rock's class; and Angela Cook, 1st place, ($10), Mrs. Rock's class. After the awards presentation, all participants enjoyed ice cream.

Viking Victory

Friday, Sept. 21, the Valley Vikings played against the Oak Hill Eagles.

Jeff Gray and Mervin Jones led the offense, while Tyson Silveus and Tim Sleeth led the defense.

Touchdowns were made by Tyson Silveus with a 1 yard run and Mervin Jones with a 40 yard pass reception from Jeff Gray. They also had 2 safeties.

"I feel that our players are starting to believe in themselves more, and when we have our backs to the wall or when an opponent scores on us we know we can answer back," said Coach Bibler. "We still need a lot of work on fundamentals, but I feel we are taking strides forward," said Bibler.

Valley won the game 17-12. This Friday, Sept. 28, is Valley's Homecoming. They will play the Rochester Zebras.

Who's Who in Akron

Brett Boggs - Akron Principal

Brett R. Boggs, Principal of Akron School, feels the most important part of his job is impressing on his students that "Mr. Boggs is your friend, not your enemy." He strives to know each of the 681 students by name, and wants each child to know that they are special. "I want the kids to know that we care, and that we like having them here."

Brett grew up in the Palestine area and graduated from Mentone High School. He received his bachelors degree from Grace College at Winona Lake, where he met his wife, Sarah. He studied for his Master's degree at Manchester College and holds an Administration License from Ball State University.

Brett first came to Akron School as a substitute teacher while still in college. He was hired full time in 1978 and taught for seven years. During the seventh year he was promoted to Assistant Principal, when that position was created and served in that capacity for three years. This is his third year as Principal.

Sarah, who is from Warsaw, taught first grade in Mentone for a year and a half before her own children were born. Brett and Sarah have two daughters, Eve, age ten, and Elyse, who will be five in October, and a son, Evan, who is eight.

The Boggs live near the park and Brett rode his bike to school until his job as Principal made driving a car necessary. Their social life centers on their children. They do everything together as a family, going to sporting events, attending Palestine Bible Church, visiting family and following the aquatic team, of which Eve is a member.

Brett feels his children may feel a little pressure about attending the school where their father is Principal. He enjoys it though, feeling it enables him to spend more time with them.

Brett first became involved in working with children through a basketball clinic while attending Mentone High School. He decided on a career in education while in college, and has "never regretted it on bit."

"I can't imagine doing anything where I don't work with kids," Brett says. "There is no better place on earth to work than a school. There are so many good people."

Brett feels it is important to stress the positive approach to education. He feels, "If you try to catch kids doing things right, you'll catch them doing less things wrong." He believes strongly in incentive programs and awarding certificates for positive behavior. He has implemented the "Flyer Dollar Program" in which each adult in the school is given ten "Flyer Dollars" each week to hand out to students when they do something positive. The "Flyer Dollars" resemble dollar bills and are printed by the graphics arts classes at Tippecanoe Valley. The students can then use the "dollars" to purchase items at an Auction at the end of the year. Plans are being made to let the students use their "dollars" to get into sporting events and purchase concession items.

Brett also has started the "Lunch with the Principal" and "Milk and Cookies with the Principal" programs. For Kindergarten students, milk and cookies with the Principal makes their first visit to the school office a very positive experience. Mr. Boggs will frequently read them a book in addition to just talking and getting to know one another. "Lunch with the Principal" is the same concept, except for older students.

Students who make the Honor Roll (All A or All A & B) four out of six times per year, in grades three through eight, can look forward to a "Pig Out" roller skating party in Warsaw. The scholars are treated to all the hot dogs, soft drinks and candy they want, in addition to the skating, as another means of rewarding the positive.

The only part of his job that Brett doesn't like is administering discipline. "It is so much more fun to reward for good behavior than to discipline for negative behavior," explains Brett. But sometimes he's forced to. He hopes any child who leaves his office after being disciplined will always feel he was treated fairly.

One of Brett's recent projects involved working with the Parent Support Council to get the 20 station fitness course installed at the school. He and school custodian, Bill King, along with other volunteers, put in many hours on Saturdays preparing the ground for the mulch that is used on the trail and under the exercise equipment. The fitness course is open to the public in addition to being used for P.E. Classes. A fence has been installed along St. Rd. 19 for the children's safety.

The Parent Council also raised the $20,000 necessary to purchase the 50' x 50' piece of multi-use playground equipment the students refer to as "Disneyland." Through their efforts, Akron School now has "one of the nicest play areas around," according to Brett.

Brett serves on the Board of the Akron Public Library and is chairman of the Drug Free Schools and Community Advisory Committee, which has developed the Parent's Network and the Student Assistant Program to identify troubled students. The committee has selected the "Quest" program, which stresses self-esteem and self-concept, as a drug prevention program. This program gives kids all the facts and centers on responsible decision making rather than just saying "don't." Quest is being used in grades five through nine this year and will be expanded to include Kindergarten through grade twelve in the 1991-92 school year.

For the future, Brett feels the school board needs to make some tough decisions. The Middle School concept is very strong in this area and the board will have to decide if Tippecanoe Valley will follow that trend toward consolidation or stick to the separate system it now has. Brett feels there is no danger of ever having a consolidated elementary program, though. "The newest recommendations are for smaller schools with more individual instruction," he says.

"I can't say enough about rural values. You can't beat the small school atmosphere," Brett says. "We have a lot of very, very good kids and good parental support." He adds, "Schools should be a reflection of the community and its values, and our school is."

The Akron community is very lucky to have someone as Principal, who is so dedicated and clearly cares as much about children as Brett Boggs obviously does.

GIVE THANKS TO GOD FOR OUR FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

People will buy a newspaper for many reasons. Some scan it for the world and national news and the sports scene. Others are more concerned about local issues, such as crime, drugs, community problems, etc. They usually read the letters to the editor, and occasionally write them. Then there are those who just turn to the entertainment section, the comics, the crossword puzzle and the advice columns, before consulting their horoscope. All of these things are symbols of our precious freedom of the press, which allows us to report the news fairly and accurately, and also comment on it. Thank God at your chosen House of Worship for this great liberty, and for the world we live in, which through your newspaper you are now holding in your hands.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It has been brought to the attention of the Rochester Post 1343 Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States the question of their stand on troops being sent to the mid-east.

We stand for Americanism which is an unfailing love of country loyalty to its institutions and ideals; eagerness to defend it against all enemies; undivided allegiance to the flag; and a desire to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and posterity.

WE DO NOT CONDONE ANY WHO BELIEVE THAT OUR COUNTRY IS NOT WORTH FIGHTING FOR!!!

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States is founded upon true comradeship of men bound by experiences, interest and everlasting patriotism. We know that neither time or events can separate those who have joined in common defense of our flag and country.

Down through the years we have heard the slogans and phrases - "ONE NATION UNDER GOD", "WITH LIBERTY AND JUSTICE FOR ALL", "IN GOD WE TRUST", "GOD BLESS AMERICA."

The decade ahead promises to be one of the most exciting and challenging in human history. The complexities facing our nation and the world are enormous. The perils facing mankind are monumental. The needs and the crises demand our maximum efforts at making the decades ahead the best possible for future generations. The political arena will continue to be an important area in which major decisions will be made, policies shaped, and future directions charted. May God grant us the courage and perseverance as AMERICANS to make this world a better place in which to live.

John W. Campbell Chaplain
Post 1343 Rochester, IN
Veterans of Foreign Wars

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank those people who supported us on Sunday, September 16 at the Armory in Peru at our Jamboree for our Cancer Fund.

Grand prize winners were: Gary Weaver of Elkhart, $100.00; the Jewell Family of Rochester, $75.00 and Rick Himes of Peru, $50.00.

Special thanks to our dealers who set up also, those in attendance were Randy Fumival, Rochester; Bonnie Marshall of Akron; Girards of Kokomo, Aunt Bee and Uncle Dee of Noblesville and Charles Allen of Bloomington.

Gary W. Brinson

Editor:

We also would like to thank you for the family pass to the circus. We all enjoyed the circus very much. We were really impressed with the quality of their performances and also their cleanliness and efficiency.

Thanks too, go out to the Henry Township fire department for bringing the circus to town. It was so exciting to look out our front door and see the tent and hear all the music and applause. It's a day our family will not soon forget!

Sincerely,

Editor: Sarah Boggs & family, Akron
I really don't know what Mr. John Johnson is thinking of when he proposes a 13% federal sales tax.

He must not know, or care, what that would do to the poor working class or the people on retirement or on social security.

Sending Mr. John Johnson to congress would cost all of us money we cannot afford.

Voting for Mr. Jim Jontz won't cost us anything.

Sincerely
Eugene F. Stipes Peru, In.

NOTICE

Below is the Policy Statement for Akron Water and Sewage Utilities. This is nothing new, but we are enforcing what is already on the books.

A. Sec. 2-5-3 for the water rates and Sec. 2-3-6 for the sewer rates as listed in the Akron Municipal Code are part of this statement.

B. All charges are billed once per month and are due when billed. Payment is required by the 20th of the month. Bills not paid by the 20th of the month are subject to a warning of a cut-off of service if the bill is not paid by the 20th of the following month along with any new charges.

C. If unusual quantities of water show on the bill, payment is still due by the 20th of the month billed, however, a complaint can be registered at the time the bill is paid and this will start an investigation into the possible cause of the high usage. Errors in the reading will be corrected by the next billing and a credit given as necessary to correct the bill. Leaks will occur on occasion and water metered will be charged. If the sewer system is not involved in the leak, a credit for the sewer portion of the bill will be given. The sewer portion will be determined by the average usage as calculated from the usage history.

D. The billing for multiple users on one meter will be determined by the water used, but at no time will the bill be less than the number of possible users times the minimum for both water and sewer.

E. Vacation or winter rates will be charged at the minimum or based on the actual usage if the usage exceeds the minimum, for both water and sewer. If the service is disconnected for the winter period, no charge will be made except for the reconnect charge of TEN (10) DOLLARS when service is restored.

F. Payment of the bills during vacations or through the winter months will be the same as for any other billing. Penalties will be charged and service disconnected if payment is not made when due. Customers who leave town for the winter should notify the Town Office where the bills should be sent so the bills can be handled properly. It is not the intent here to cause any problems, but the water and sewage department are like any other utility such as PSI or NIPSCO. The town has costs which must be paid and the only revenue is through the billing procedure.

G. No credit will be given for lawn, garden or pool water use. The sewer fees will be charged since the water for those uses will get to the sewer either directly or by way of the street drains.

H. Only Town meters will be read and will constitute the official meter-reading. Users may install meters for their own use but those readings will not be considered as readings from which the billing is derived.

Scenes Around Town by Leafy Hudson

A lot of interesting information comes my way as I interview people for the paper. I learned from Bev Surface, who will be featured in a future issue, that the Jack & Jill Preschool is having an apple fund-raiser again this year.

The apples cost 50 cents per pound. There are three kinds: Red Delicious, Golden Delicious and Ida Reds. They will be delivered fresh from Teel's Orchard, October 13. For more information or to order, call Bev at 353-7357, Lisa Hooley at 353-7150, any preschool student, or call the Jack & Jill Preschool at 353-7802.

Have you seen the glamorous Peg Severns with her svelte new image lately? My daughter dragged me, kicking and screaming, to a meeting in Warsaw presided over by the lady who has been Peg's inspiration and guide. To our surprise, many of the women there were from Mentone. If we all succeed in this painful business, Mentone will have a lot less "lard" floating around! By the way, if you see Peg, be sure to tell her how great she looks!

Dick and Iris Dickerhoff have realized a longtime dream. They are finally grandparents. Daughter, Alicia, and her husband, Dean Cervenka, blessed with a new daughter, Calan Danielle, who weighed in at 8 pounds, 5 ounces. They can be addressed at 10214 N. Forrest Drive, Peoria, IL 61615.

Beaver Dam News

The birthday of Doris Haney, a Beaver Dam Resident of 46 years, was wonderfully observed by members of her family when they met at the Beaver Dam Park on Sunday, September 23, 1990. The co-operative dinner was hosted by her children and was enjoyed by the 88 guests, who came from several states.

The large number of young children and the many babies assure the continuance of the Jennings family in future years.

Mrs. Haney's children are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haney, Dr. and Mrs. L.E. Haney, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Haney, all of whom co-operated to make the celebration of their mother's 85th Birthday such a joyous event.

U.S. Senator Richard G. Lugar has announced that Robert Reichard of Rochester will be serving as his Indiana Ambassador in Fulton County.

As an active senior citizen, Robert will be seeking information and communicating the needs of seniors in the community to Senator Lugar and his staff. The goal of this position is to provide expanded information and service to older Hoosiers.
