ONLY ONE OF THE $5 PRIZES CLAIMD

There Were Three Other Prizes of Like Amount Muffed by Some of Our Readers.

DOLLAR PRIZES FOR THIS WEEK.

Dean Carleton Bowen, 9 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Bowen of this place was the only one who won in the $5 advertisement reading contest in last weeks issue. Dean is a gentlemanly and bright youngster and when given the prize money he was sure stepping high in the air. We suggested that he could now equip himself with new skates, etc., but he showed his good judgment by saying that he thought that a pair of new shoes would be better. The advertisement that contained the winning prize was that of L. P. Jefferies.

There were three other subscribers to the Farm News who muffed five dollar prizes, as there were four papers in all that went out in that issue with hidden prizes in some of the ads. The other prizes were in Konjola, Stern & Brauner and H. V. Johns' advertisements.

This week the hidden prizes will be one dollar each and will be inserted in a large number of papers. If you are lucky enough to get one of these papers and locate the advertisement containing the hidden dollar bring the paper to this office not later than Saturday noon April 5, and get your dollar.

CUPID'S RULE UNSHAKEN

By WILLIAM F. OGBURN, University of Chicago.

This hard-boiled generation, generally supposed to be cynical and disillusioned, is still sentimental about marriage. What's more, it's more sentimental than ever, for in the old days marriage used to be a business proposition, while today it's entirely a matter of sentiment.

A man picking a wife used to ascertain that she could make soup, weave his clothes, tend to him when he was ill, and teach his children. He got a doctor, a factory, a drug store, a teacher and a general handy man. Now he gets only affection.

There used to be seven ties holding families together—the economic tie, ties of protection, education, religion, social status, recreation and affection. Today there's only affection, for the others have become comparative non-essentials in marriage.

In 50 years the cooking stove, like the spindle and the loom, will have left the home.

City life has removed recreation from the home. We have football, basketball, dances, until the family fireside is little more than a tradition.

Whether the single tie of affection will keep families together I am very doubtful; from my own studies I should say that in 50 years one out of every five marriages will end in divorce.

WAGE INCREASE TO BOOM TRADE

By SOLOMON LEVITAN, Wisconsin State Treasurer.

There is enough money in this country for all of us. Raise wages, stimulate trade and bring about general prosperity. This country will then pull itself out of the tailspin into which it started just before the recent stock market crash.

There is the possibility of serious economic depression unless business executives get together to remedy conditions. Perhaps the American public can stand another price increase. Perhaps it can stand even a second one. But can it stand a third and have wages remain at their present level?

There is an economic line you may call the sustenance line of the American public. When prices are increased so they are above this sustenance line those responsible must expect a demand from the people that conditions be remedied. The American people do not submit in silence to that sort of dominance to which people in some other countries bow; they are independent, freethinking people, given to expressing their sense of justice.

The main thing necessary to avoid unrest is to have the three factors play together—the producer, the laborer and the consumer. The producer should have a reasonable profit, the laborer must receive more than a mere living wage, and the consumer should get full value for his dollar.

COLLEGE MEN RANK HIGH

By DR. JOHN M. THOMAS, President Rutgers University.

I am an optimist on America because of what I know concerning the quality of the young manhood of the nation. By and large they are clean, manly and honorable. They will tell the truth, almost all of them even in a tight place. They are neither yellow, nor red, nor even pink. They have much to learn, but they are learning it faster than any generation of any people on record. They prefer hard games to easy ones, difficult jobs to soft snaps. They will attend to the work that needs doing and the problems that need solving fully as well—and I honestly believe a little better—than we of the older generation have attended to ours.

The college student of today has a pretty hard time of it, for he is asked to continue the preparatory stage of life at an age when his parents were out in the world and when his grandfathers in most cases had families.

It is hard to be always getting ready to do something by and by. It takes a good deal of patience and grit to stick at it through the long years of preparation necessary for superior service in this complex world. In youth it is the itch to get away and to get at something practical and real. Parents may well be patient, sympathetic and encouraging. Don't blame the boy for being restless and unappreciative of his opportunities. College is probably the first thing he has undertaken; challenge him to make a success of it.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MENTONE EGG PRODUCERS.

The annual meeting of the Mentone Egg Producers Association was held at the Mentone Community Building on the afternoon and evening of March 25th, 1930.

Good crowds were present at both sessions despite the freezing weather which made all driving dangerous. However the crowds were small in comparison to what they would have been, had weather conditions been favorable for the over 400 shippers and their friends to have gotten to the meetings.

Chairman Harry Cooper called the afternoon session to order at 1:30, and the program was opened with two appropriate musical numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Edson Vandermark.

Next on the program was Dr. Frank Tucker of Claypool, who gave an interesting and instructive talk on poultry.

Dr. Tucker showed the enormous volume of the U. S. poultry industry by comparing its size with the volume of the swine, cattle, horse, sheep, wheat, corn, potato and many other farm products.

He then showed how the profits from this vast poultry business were effected by various poultry diseases, most of which were preventable and responded to proper treatment should flock become infected.

Following his talk the Dr. proceeded to kill the birds and diagnoses diseases in about twenty diseased fowl that had been brought in from as many farms surrounding Mentone.

The posting of these birds showed symptoms of nearly all known poultry diseases, and resulted in finding about all known internal parasites to which poultry is subject to.

During this work Dr. Tucker showed his audience how to locate and recognize about all poultry diseases, and explained treatments for them.

So interesting was this feature of the meeting that the audience discarded their chairs and formed a series of large circles around the twenty foot table upon which the Dr. worked, and the men and women alike stood watching the work and asking questions about it for two hours, until chairman Cooper called a halt and announced it was chore time at his farm, and the meeting would have to break up for the afternoon and the other musical numbers by the Vandermark's and the talk on Sanitation by J. S. Johns would have to be postponed until the evening session.

Farmers then hurried home to do their chores and were back in their places with many of their neighbors in time to start the evening session at 7:30.

First on the evening program was the talk by J. S. Johns on Sanitation in which was emphasized the Purdue 10 point sanitation program.

People were thus shown by Johns that by proper sanitation practise they could avoid many of the poultry troubles Dr. Tucker had explained to them during the afternoon session.

Next came two selections by the Talma Sod Busters, a four cylinder machine that knows how to sing.

This was followed by a talk by E. R. Menefee of Purdue Poultry Department. Menefee's subject was "What Determines the Value in Eggs," and he ably showed the reasons why some cases of eggs sell higher in New York than other cases produced on adjoining farms.

He explained the work he has been doing, and will continue doing this summer to help the producers who gets a lower price than his neighbor, overcome his handicap and have eggs arrive in the New York market in the same good selling condition as do those of producers who get high prices.

Following this talk the Talma Sod Busters quartet entertained with some popular songs.

Irvin Nelson was next on the program with a talk on "Community Welfare". Irvin gave all some thoughts for study, and made them realize this big community is a place in which living is truly worth while.

In the rear of the hall during the afternoon and evening, there was conducted an egg judging contest by Mr. Menefee and some local assistants.

Eggs in various stages of evaporation, and some which had been subjected to good or bad conditions were arranged on a table upon which had been placed egg candlers, and the contestants were to properly place the six distinct grade of eggs that were on the table in their respective selling value places, 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th 5th and 6th.

The 30 ft. table where this contest was held was a busy place part of the evening as contestants vied with each other for the 5, 4, 3, 2, and 1 dollar prizes for the winners.

The contestants prepared their own score cards which were later judged by a committee appointed by chairman Cooper with Ora Beeson as committee chairman.

The committee awarded 1st. prize to Edward Kimes, Etna Green, 2nd prize Ora Anderson, Rochester; 3rd. prize to Raymond Weirick, Tippecanoe; 4th, prize to W. R. Long, Rochester and 5th prize to Mrs. Ed Kimes, Etna Green.

The need of value in a contest of this kind was shown by the fact but two parties had correct score cards and all others from one to six mistakes.

The evening program was concluded ed by a playlet entitled "Mother Pulls The String" given by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Newcastle Township Farm Bureau.

This play was presented by six ladies, three of them in male character, and was splendid story of how a faithful wife secured justice for herself and children from her husband a stingy, selfish farmer.

It all started over a leaky hen house roof, and you maybesure the roof was repaired before the end of the play, therefore if you see your neighbors making hen-house repairs you are privileged to suppose his wife saw this playlet and has pulled the strings.

The meeting adjourned at a late hour with all wishing annual meetings weren't so far apart or that the association would change that annual to some other word.

Where Are the Passengers?
Germany's Victory.

Surprising the Greek.

The Billion Dollar Age.

San Diego, Calif.—Officials of the Santa Fe road, gathered in convention, were told by their president, Mr. Storey, that something is happening to railroad passenger business in the United States.

In 1922 the Santa Fe carried 15,000,000 passengers. In 1923 the number had dropped to 4,200,000.

That means a good deal to railroads, to owners of railroad stocks, and to the automobile industry.

Automobiles, privately owned, and public automobile bus lines, have made the change.

And Mr. Storey's figures will change again soon, when fully developed air travel takes 90 per cent of long distance travel from railroad and motor bus lines.

Do not hurry to sell your Santa Fe or other sound railway stock, however. Railroad now is really railroading, not stock jobbing. And better methods, bigger locomotives, longer trains, better yards and a thousand improvements, including, especially, loyal co-operation by railroad union workers, have more than made up for the drop in passenger travel. Freight is the thing now, and that depends on prosperity.

Germany lost the war, but wins in other directions. Recently the German Bremen, lowering the record across the Atlantic, took the "blue ribbon" from the British.

Now the North German Lloyd liner Europa has beaten the Bremen's record.

The Europa, magnificent 50,000 ton ship, according to builders here and in Britain, would be too expensive for American or British lines. The investment of $50,000,000 could not be profitable.

Germany, beaten, is able to do what the winners of the war cannot do.

A Greek philosopher was exiled because he said the sun was probably bigger than all of the Greek islands. We know now that the sun is a million times bigger than the earth, and in distant space other suns are a million times bigger than ours, making them one million million times bigger than the cosmic grain of sand we live on.

An Italian, Professor Bendant, announces discovery of the fact that our solar system is fifty times bigger than astronomers thought. What would the old Greek have said to that?

This is the billion dollar age. The old plain million, once revered, is as unimportant as the extinct hansom cab.

Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, foresees expenditures by his company in the next ten years amounting to ten billions of dollars.

Ten thousand millions is a good many dollars.

The Pennsylvania has already spent six thousand millions.

The running time from New York to Chicago will be cut to fourteen hours within a few years.

Trains will carry passengers' automobiles with them as ocean steamships now carry them. Radiophones will enable travelers to talk to their offices and to their homes.

The house of representatives voted to increase the national contribution to good roads from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000 a year for three years, beginning next July.

This will mean, in three years, $375,000,000 for better roads alone, good news for all citizens, for the automobile industry, its employees and for the unemployed.

On April 6 the Mormon church will be one hundred years old. Plural marriage has gone, but the church remains powerful, with numbers increasing, after a century of struggle and opposition. Nearly one million Mormons will celebrate the day; the main celebration at Salt Lake City, others all over this and nearly all European countries and in Mexico, Australia, Hawaii and the South Sea Islands.

The late Lord Balfour was powerful in establishing and guaranteeing Jewish rule in Palestine. To honor his memory, every Jewish child born in Rumania next week will be named for him, the boys Balfour, the girls Balfouria.

Andrew Mellon, now seventy-five years old, is the head, through ownership, of half a dozen of the greatest corporations in the world. Under three Presidents he has shown himself to be one of our greatest secretaries of the treasury, reducing the public debt by thousands of millions each year.

If Mr. Mellon were a railroad conductor they would tell him he was too old and he would have to give up his job.

If he were a workman, seeking employment, he would have to get his hair dyed black and lie about his age.

The best years of a man's life, for useful work and for intellectual enjoyment, should come after seventy. At ninety, a man should rest.

SEE FLECK'S ADVERTISEMENT.

In this issue you will note an advertisement of C. F. Fleck & Sons. They are out to meet any competition and you will find their prices equally as cheap if not cheaper than dealers ask in other towns.

SOMETHING TO BE PROUD OF.

Mentone can be justly proud of her local bank institution. A look at the bank's statement in this issue shows that the Farmers State Bank of Mentone is in a very fine condition. This coming as it does just after dozens of banks in the small towns around us have closed their doors during the past few months, surely speaks more plainly than we are able to write as to the solidity of this organization and the integrity of its officials.

We dare say that there has not been a bank in the country that passed through the past few months and can make the showing that our bank can.

Print Frocks Flaunt Capes of Self-Fabric

A peek under the little flaring cape in the picture would reveal the quaintest puff sleeves ever. It is the way designers are making gay prints for spring—with cunning wee sleeves, hidden under graceful matching capes, adding soft bows, featuring skirts that flare, and high waistlines.

Hats Matched to Frocks in the Juvenile World

For little girls, fashion favors hats which match their frocks. The first model pictured is of starched printed linen. Wee ribbons are run through button-hole slots. Smart youngsters will wear quaint little sunbonnets like the one in the picture to match their frocks of dotted swiss or dainty organdie. A wee straw hat with a felt rosette is just the thing to wear with the tiny tot's spring coat. A wide-brim leghorn is shown in the oval.

SPRING CARE OF ROSES.

Purdue News Service.

A high percentage of the more tender varieties of roses were badly winter-killed in many parts of Indiana, reports R. B. Hull, special ist in landscape extension work at Purdue University. A little extra care will be necessary, thinks Mr. Hall, with the spring pruning of roses in this section, on this account.

The budded roses will have to be watched carefully, when new canes appear this year, as the killing back will often result in the appearance of new suckers from the roots. Doubtful shoots should be followed back to their source and if from the roots should be removed clean. When the roses were killed and covered the situation is not so bad.

The time for the spring pruning of roses is just when the buds begin to swell. This will be in early April for Indiana, as a rule.

Ramblers should be pruned just after flowering.

Severe pruning of any rose produces the largest flowers, but fewer. Less severe pruning produces many flowers of average size, while medium pruning produces a large crop of smaller blooms.

Severe pruning: Thin out to the base all but three to five shoots with two to three buds on each shoot.

Less severe pruning: Thin out to the base all but three to five shoots with five to ten buds on each shoot.

Medium pruning: Thin out to the base all but four to seven shoots, each cut back to half its length.

Always cut the stem from one fourth to one half inch above a strong bud which points out from the center of the plant. In pruning roses, select shoots equidistant from each other and arranged about the center to give a balanced appearance on all sides.

Climbing and pillar roses should have about one third of the old wood removed in the autumn and all unusually long canes should be tied up at the same time. The principal thing to remember in pruning climbers is that this year's blooms are produced on last year's wood.

Rugosas, Bourbons, Ramblers, Wichurianas and Austrain Briers need but little pruning. The wood should be removed to the base of the stem as it grows old.

Navy or Pastel Cape-Coat a Foremost Spring Mode

It is plain to be seen that this coat with its brief shoulder cape and double-breasted fastening reflects napoleonic influence. A very practical, wearable and modern coat type this, destined to become a general favorite. It may even be correctly classed as a staple for spring, since it is repeated again and again, achieving distinction through varied fabrics and colors, especially navy or pastels.

Wants a Boost.

What Will The Voters Do—Boost Him In Or Boost Him Out?

Our readers, especially those who are telephone patrons will be pleased to note that George Alexander, of Claypool, has entered the race and filed for the democratic ticket at the coming primary.

To be sure everybody has forgotten that Georgie was heartily in favor of the recent rate boost in phone rentals, even to the extent of writing the editor of the Farm News a letter containing veiled threats, if we continued our attacks on the rate boosting phone company.

To be sure Georgie is a good booster, especially if he is to be the recipient of any benefits from the boost, and we are of the opinion that the voters at the coming primary will give him such a boost that he will land way beyond the office to which he aspires, and when the votes are counted he will find himself comfortably seated at the head of the retired list.

By all means give Georgie a boost and then boost again.

...YOU...

With the New Science of Syllabics

By C. J. COFFMAN

Dean of All the Enumerators

Beatrice

"Ask and it shall be given to you, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

Full Lips of Beatrice.

It is curious that the first syllable of Beatrice, BEA, should also begin with the word beatitudes, in which is included the famous saying quoted above. Yet this first syllable of your name, BEA, literally means to ask, to seek and to desire.

Few people are blessed with a name that means more. for in your second syllable, TRICE, you indicate our modern word three or thrice. In other words, your ability to express desire in three ways, and get three answers, is again multiplied three times by that last syllable, Trice.

If Beatrice does not live long, as has sometimes been stated, it is because this ability to ask and to seek, has been lowered too closely to the animal plane. That is, it descends into her eating.

This tendency, if not checked, may cause you to "BE-AT-RICE" or starchy foods too often. There are better things than that for you, I feel sure you will find them.

To really find the highest things for your life, it is necessary for you to move everything in the direction of the spiritual. You must aspire to make more and more of your heartfelt desires take in spiritual truths.

With your fine, full lips and rounded features, you readily attract those who desire the mothering of a good woman. You may even move great poets, as the beloved Beatrice moved Dante in his writings. You have the power to make any man glad to do his utmost for your favor.

You can do your part by merely following the significance of the first two letters of your name, BE, and be his real mate.

752 FARMERS HAVE SOIL TESTS MADE. Purdue News Service.

Lafayette, Ind., April 1.—A total of 752 farmers in the northern half of Indiana had soil samples from their farms tested for acidity by Purdue University specialists on the lime-legume train operated over the Big Four and New York Central lines March 10 to 21. Each man had three or four samples tested, making a total of approximately 3,000 bits of soil tested for the farmers who visited the train at the 29 stops. Attendance ranged from 75 to 225 persons at each place visited.

These figures were made available today following compilation of the data for a special report on the train. Approximately 70 percent of the samples tested showed some acidity and a majority showed the need of limestone, the Purdue men stated. However many tests showed the soil sweet and others only slightly acid. Reports were given each farmer who brought soil as to whether or not his land needed limestone and fertilizer recommendation also were made for various crops to be seeded this year.

A report of the legumes grown shows a total of 13,047 acres. Soybeans led all others with a total acreage of 4,277, followed by clover with $8.057 and alfalfa with $1868. Farmers of the region covered by the train are giving close attention to adaptation of legumes to meet soil fertility and acidity conditions. Timothy, which was once the leading hay crop, but which is considered a poor feeding crop, shows a greatly reduced acreage, totaling only 1109 acres.

Besides the testing of the soils, the Purdue men lectured at each stop, discussing various phases of crop production and marketing, ways of cutting costs and other topics of interest to growers.

Soon Benefited By New Konjola

New Medicine Attacks Source
Of Stomach, Kidney And Liver Trouble—Brings
Quick Relief.

C. L. HILLIARD

"I owe Konjola a debt of gratitude," said Mr. C. L. Hilliard, 118 East Vermont street, Indianapolis. I suffered for years with a weak stomach, failing Kidneys and sluggish liver. My food was never properly digested and gas pains and bloating were frightful. Back pains, frequent bladder actions and inability to sleep were due to the condition of my kidneys. Bilious attacks and headaches were added miseries because of a torpid and sluggish liver.

"It did not take Konjola long to restore my health. Today I am in excellent health for the first time in years. My stomach is normal and doing its work excellently. No back pains bother me and my bladder actions have become normal. Dizziness, spots before my eyes and bilious attacks are a thing of the past. I have gained weight and my general health is better than it has been in years."

Konjola is sold in Mentone, Indiana at the Shafer & Goodwin drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

The program will be filled in with a variety of music from seven different schools. The general public is invited to this meeting. The admission will be 15 and 25 cents.

SENIOR PLAY.

Don't forget the Senior play, The Whole Town's Talking, on Wednesday night April 9th. It is one of the most clever comedies ever produced by amateurs and is a roar of laughter from beginning to end.

Chester Binney, a quiet steady young man has never sowed any wild oats. The girl he admires doesn't care for anyone who has "Never Lived." So he and the girl's father decide that Chet shall sow some wild oats. Their schemes turn out almost disastrously where the movie actress with whom Chet has pretended to have had an affair suddenly appears on the scene.

Don't miss seeing Donald Vandergelder playing the part of the fickle husband, Walter Fenstermaker as quiet Chester, Beulah Kelley, the beautiful actress, and many others who are real actors and actresses.

GOOD POINTERS ON FEEDING CHICKS

Use Mash Mixture From Time Chicks Are Born.

Start feeding the mash mixture to chicks when they are 36 to 48 hours old and allow constant access to it until they reach maturity, says the New York state college of agriculture. Provide plenty of feeding space and feed in such amounts that fresh mash can be fed twice daily.

The mash mixture recommended by the college contains 45 pounds of yellow corn meal, 10 pounds of wheat bran, 15 pounds of flour wheat middlings, 10 pounds of fine ground heavy oats, 2 pounds of steamed bone meal, ½ pound of salt, 10 pounds of meat scrap, 50-55 per cent protein, and 10 pounds of dried skim milk or buttermilk. If fine ground heavy oats cannot be obtained, yellow corn meal may be substituted for the oats. The dried milk may be omitted from the mash when liquid or condensed milk products are used.

When the chicks are eight weeks old, begin feeding the grain mixture, composed of 60 pounds of cracked yellow corn and 40 pounds of wheat in hoppers. Keep it constantly before the chicks. They should not eat as much scratch grain by weight as mash until three months old. Restrict the amount of grain if necessary to make them eat more mash.

Fine grit may be given from the start. Provide oyster shells after the chicks are four months of age or when they begin to show evidence of reaching maturity. When sunshine enters the house through glass, mix one-half pound or one-half pint of cod liver oil into every 100 pounds of mash during the period when mash is fed. Afterwards feed enough cod liver oil to equal one-half pound for each 100 pounds of total feed used.

Ducklings Overfed on Concentrated Feeds

Ducklings may be overfed upon concentrated foods. They should have some tender green food in their ration and sand for grit. A recommended ration is equal parts of rolled oats and bread crumbs, with a little sand, moistened with water for the first three days after they are at least thirty-six hours old and, after the third day equal parts of bran and cornmeal added to this mixture. After the first week, two or three parts of bran, one part each of cornmeal and wheat middlings, 5 per cent (one-twentieth part) high-grade meat scrap, and 10 per cent (one-tenth part) chopped green food. A little sand should also be added.

Fowls' heads turn dark as the result of any one of several internal diseases, the nature of which would require an examination of the organs to disclose.

Hatchability of Eggs

Do not set eggs that are older than a week or ten days. Hatchability decreases rapidly after the eggs are ten days old, and the chicks hatched are apt to be low in vitality. A room temperature of about 50 degrees is best for eggs which are being saved for hatching. To lessen the work of turning the eggs while saving, they should be placed in a 15-dozen case which should be turned over one side a day. This means work, but it pays well in the end.

Poultry Facts

Keep comfortable temperature under hover for chicks.

Do not keep chicks of different ages under the same hover.

Use feed that has proved satisfactory by feeding tests.

Use clean dry sand or litter on floor. Clean every week and more often if needed.

Separate cockerels from pullets as early as possible or before chicks are ten weeks old.

When the poultry range is idle, it is a good plan to have a crop of oats growing therein.

Use hopper and water fountains that will not allow chicks to get in feed or water with feet.

Locate brooder house on ground that has had no chickens or chicken manure on it for the past year.

When it is not possible to keep the birds from ranging on a certain area, frequent plowing, disking and liming are essential.

Like chicks, goslings should not be fed until really necessary, about thirty six hours is best. They do not eat much for the first few days.

Recent experiments at the University of Kentucky have shown that high hatchability was secured when hens were allowed bluegrass range throughout the season.

Mechanical Meals

With the advance in the use of canned meals, why doesn't somebody invent a multiple can opener that will open six at a time. The maid would bear them away and substitute six others and the low hum of machinery would inform the waiting guests that dinner is to be ready in a moment.—Woman's Home Companion.

CLEAN UP! PAINT UP!

This is a good time to have a general clean-up of the rubbish that has accumulated during the winter. Some enterprising truck owner could do a good stroke of business collecting and disposing of this refuse. Most every home owner would have a job for him and be willing to pay a good price.

It is also a good time to do that paint job, but let us suggest that you use the product of a standard maker, and not the dope sold through the mails or by peddlers—the stuff they sell is dear at any price.

An Investment When you spend your money with your home merchant it helps to make a live town—a good live town increases property values That Pays Dividends

DO YOU WANT MENTONE TO REMAIN ON THE MAP?

This article is intended for every citizen in this community, men women and children. And if all individuals will just stop, think and take an inventory of themselves they will probably find that in more ways than one they are not acting for their best interests nor that of the community in general. And that unless all of our people change our tactics, banish all petty jealousies and put our shoulder to the wheel and boost for Mentone, and everything in it the time is coming when our fine little village will be just a "gas filling station on the Tippecanoe Trail.

The first thing that we want to call your attention to is the following item taken from the Silver Lake News:

"For the past several weeks a star mail route has been operated from Peru to Denver, Chili, Roann and then over to Disko and picks up mail there and takes it back to the towns on the return trip. By thus doing Roann, Denver Chili are without train mail, thus making it pretty difficult to reach these places by mail as in the past."

We have known for sometime that the post office department was contemplating some drastic changes in the mail service in the smaller towns, and you can see what has happened to the above villages, and from the "Star Route" it is but a step to rural delivery service and it is our opinion that this will be the final result in the above change.

Mentone is very little larger than Roann, and as we have only one rural route leading out of this office we are probably not rated at Washington much higher in importance than some of the towns mentioned above. How would Mentone citizens like to have their mail delivered by rural carrier? There is just one way to keep Mentone from meeting with the fate of Roann, and that is to increase the revenue of this office sufficiently so that our post-office will show a profit to the government. If our readers and every other citizen will do what we have so often advocated: "pay all small out if town bills of less than a dollar with stamps bought at the Mentone office," the receipts of the local office will be increased several thousand dollars and we will probably not meet the same fate as Roann.

SMALL, SELFISH JEALOUSIES.

This spirit is very prevalent with us, one and all: and must be abolished if we, as a community ever get anywhere or even hold our own. Instead of looking for the faults of our brother business men or neighbors we should step before the glass and take a good look at ourselves and we will probably find so many defects in our own conduct that to correct them we will be kept so busy that we will not have time to notice the faults of others.

Jealousy as a rule is one of the prime motives that causes people to go out of town to do their trading, especially is this true when it comes to business men—they know that their brother in business should he not have the article that they want will gladly get for them, and at a price that would be as low as they could get it elsewhere. Cut out that green eyed monster and practice the Golden Rule and you will feel much better.

As a final word we would say that there is not a small town in the state that is in a better position to be a real live trading center than Mentone. The farming territory surrounding us is the best, the town is nicely laid out, we have a fine lot of homes nicely kept up, so let us get together, work together, buy in Mentone boost Mentone and make this a model community in which to live.

SOCIAL LIFE NEEDS ATTENTION

By JUDGE GEORGE E. KIMBALL, Kansas City.

America must face the fact that all is not well with its social life if it is to do its duty to mankind and apply the teachings of God's universal love. It has been said that nearly 1 per cent of the population of continental America is confined in penitentiaries, insane asylums or supported in institutions by public taxation.

We should seek to give every child a chance. We have the ability and the resources to face this problem. The federal government might create a commission to study these problems, learn the causes that lead to the loss of the battle of life by so many people and recommend plans for relief. Our public schools should begin to teach the child, from its entrance in the schools to graduation, the deep reverence each should have for the law of our land. It should be pointed out that crime does not pay and brings only suffering to the violators.

GODLESS CREED NO RELIGION

By RABBI SAMUEL SCHULMAN, New York.

Morality is not a religion. It records, it is true, human experience, but it only becomes the chief content of every "high religion." A humanism without a god defeats itself. It has no logical basis and is no religion at all. The masses of the people cannot live the high, ascetic, mature, cleansed, disinterested life without the spirit being brought home to them in terms of God in a manner which they can understand. And the saints who live that life are already in touch with God. The author should note that it is no accident that the greatest religious teachers attach their philosophies to lives of God. We therefore believe that Judaism, with its unimagined and unvisualized God, is a spiritual religion fit for the modern man.

A Jew can be a humanist as far as moral content is concerned, but no humanist who gives up God can remain a Jew in religion.

CABBAGE YELLOWS EASY TO CONTROL

Purdue News Service.

The yellows disease of cabbage probable causes more loss of this common delectable vegetable than any other trouble. Many Indiana gardeners have written that they are no longer able to grow it. They say that the leaves turn yellow and fall from the plant. Such plants never produce a head and usually are killed, says Dr. C. T. Gregory of the Purdue Agricultural Extension Department.

It is no use trying to treat the seed nor to add fertilizer, lime or any other treatment to the soil to kill the disease. It is in the soil and will stay there for years and years. Ordinary practicable soil treatment will do no good.

"Serious as this disease is, it is nevertheless easily controlled" says Gregory. "When you order your cabbage seed insist on having one of the resistant varieties. For early varieties order Iacope, Wisconsin Globe Marion Market or All Head select. For midsummer or late varieties order Wisconsin All Season Wisconsin Brunswick, Wisconsin Succession, Indiana Cabbage, and Wisconsin Hollander.

A letter to the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station will bring a list of these varieties with the names of the seed companies handling them. Such seed costs more than the ordinary varieties but it will raise a crop where ordinary varieties will die.

All cabbage seed should be treated Gregory says, and he tells how: Soak the seed for 30 minutes in a solution of corrosive sublimate. Buy the special sublimate tablets from the drug store. One of these tablets in a pint of water makes the correct strength for this treatment. After removing the seed wash it thoroughly and plant immediately or dry it and plant later. This treatment will do no good against the yellows but it will control black leg and black rot, two other serious diseases.

DO NOT TAKE ANY CHANCES

Cleaning clothing with naptha, gasoline etc., is very dangerous, regardless of the fact of whether you may have any fire around or not. The rubbing of the cloth can ignite the fluid, and the result is a bad burn or possibly death. Play safe use "Spot Fyter" which is non-explosive. It will clean most anything in a jiffy. Costs only 50c per bottle at Clark's Store.

Venetian Canals

The average depth of the Grand canal in Venice is 17 feet. Some of the lesser canals are shallower.

LOSS IN YOUNG PIGS MAY BE CHECKED IN PART.

(By Dr. R. A. Craig Of Purdue University.)

The average death rate in spring pigs from farrowing to weaning time is between 20 and 30 per cent. Some herd owners report less than 10 per cent, and others 50 to 100 per cent loss for this period. These heavy losses have been reported as occurring in successive years or in one season, only. The greater part of the loss in spring pigs occurs at farrowing time and before the pigs are two weeks of age. The early loss is in pigs farrowed dead and weak. Weak and sick pigs are frequently injured or killed by the mother, and it is not common for pigs that appear strong when farrowed, to die during this two-weeks period.

A common lesion observed in a pig that dies before it is ten days old is a fatty, friable liver. Swine breeders frequently refer to loss from thumps, white scours, ulcerative sore mouth and bull nose. These symptoms and lesions of disease commonly occur in pigs that have anemia.

It is generally understood that when brood sows are allowed to follow cattle, they do not farrow as strong, healthy litters as do sows that have received the care and feed experience indicates is best. Sows kept in pasture lots and sheltered in portable hog houses, farrow stronger healthier litters than when kept in small, muddy yards and in community houses. There are exceptions to this general statement, but one should not lose sight of the fact that the management and feed a brood sow receives before she farrows has a direct relation to the health of the litter.

OUT COUNTING NOSES

Ensembles of Pastel Crepe Tune to Springtime

As lovely to look upon as the flowers that bloom in May are the gay little costumes fashion is creating for spring, of crepe weaves in delectable monotone pastel tones and tints. The youthful ensemble pictured is styled of dusty-rose bemberg crepe. It exploits such outstanding style-points as a high waistline, skirt flare achieved via godets, bolero and soft bow trimmings.

Belting Ribbon Hats, Also Big Bows Featured

Molded-to-the-head hats of belting ribbon, as pictured below to the left, are color-matched to the spring costume. Big bow trimmings of wide ribbon flourish on the new hats. Milliners are playing up polka dot effects in every conceivable way. The last hat in the group shows white cut-out felt dots, patterning a navy linen straw brim.

MASONIC ENTERTAINMENT.

About one hundred and fifty Masons, Eastern Stars and their families were royally entertained at the Masonic Hall, Monday evening, March 31st, by the Masons of Mentone Lodge.

All were expecting to have some joke played on them as the date was so near April 1st, but as the evening whiled away, we were all more than fooled for there were no jokes played at all.

Instead we were delightfully entertained by the "Over-All Four" a men's quartette from Sidney. These men were awarded the State championship at the State Fair last fall.

Mr. William Powell of Macy who more than kept the audience thrilled by his tricks of magic, was heartily applauded and thoroughly appreciated.

At the close of the entertainment, a wonderful luncheon was served in a very systematic order which was proof to the ladies that men can cook and do things when necessary.

All departed at a late hour having had a most enjoyable evening and one to be remembered.

There is nothing so good as "Spot Fyter" for the removal of grease and dirt from clothing.

RADIO ARTISTS HERE

It is a cheerful custom of radio listeners all through the countryside to tune in W. L. S. and hear Hiram and Henry, those soft-voiced, slow-spoken, winning song birds from Kansas. Their old-fashioned music and clear, melodious voices win them more popular approval than almost any other song team on the air.

These boys are masters of the harmonica and guitar, and their large repertoire of real American folk-songs is astonishing. They are filling a distinct niche in the world of music.

We are very glad to know that they are to appear in person, at the Mentone Community Forum (see advertisement for particulars.) It is not often that a town of this size can obtain such talent.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY.

On Friday evening a group of young people enjoyed a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Carter. They met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ernsberger and completely surprised Mr. Carter, it being in honor of his 40th birthday.

The evening was spent playing bridge. Prizes were won by Mrs. Curtis Riner and Conda Walburn. The hostess assisted by Mrs. Don Ernsberger, served delicious refreshments and besides many other useful gifts Emmett was presented with a large birthday cake.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lackey, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Nellans, Mr. and Mrs. Conda Walburn, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Riner, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Riner, Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Davison, Mr. and Mrs. Devon Eaton, Mr and Mrs. Bob Reed Mr. and Mrs. Don Ernsberger, Eunice Reed and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Carter.

Inca Treasure Hidden?

Frequently great treasures were buried in the tombs of the Inca nobles, and although many of them were rifled later on, there must still be some left. The Peruvians are also said to have secreted a great mass of valuables away from the rapacity of their Spanish masters, and in some instances threw them into the rivers and lakes.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

March 31 being the birthday of Elmer Sarber and April 5th, Mrs. Elmer Sarber's, a few of the relatives surprised them on Sunday, April 6th. Those present were Mrs. Milly Sarber Mrs. Ora Bowman and daughter Amelia, Mr. and Mrs. Mace Sarber and daughter Mabel.

JESSE BRUNER FOR AUDITOR.

Our townsmen Jesse Bruner has filed for county auditor, and every republican in this locality should give him their support. Mr. Bruner is well qualified for the office and all who know him realize that if he is elected to that position that the office will be well taken care of. Another reason that rural candidates should have the support of the country population is the fact that the county seat always tries to pick off the best offices.

Dainty Neckwear Plays a Fascinating Role

Does your spring clothes budget allow for an unlimited indulgence in dainty neckwear? It really should, for it is going to be simply impossible to withstand the lure of the smartly styled collar and cuff sets, some in petal designs, others scalloped or pointed, either of crepe, satin, pique, organdie or georgette. As to lace "fixings" they are as ornate, exquisite and diversified as fancy can picture.

SONG AT EASTER

By Charles Hanson Towne

If this bright lily
Can live once more,
And its white promise
Be as before,
Why can not the great stone
Be moved from His door?

If the green grass
Ascend and shake
Year after year,
And blossoms break
Again and again
For April's sake,

Why can not He,
From the dark and mold,
Show us again
His manifold
And gleaming glory,
A stream of gold?

Faint heart, be sure
These things must be.
See the new bud
On the old tree! . . .
If flowers can wake,
Oh, why not He?
—Woman's Home Companion.

Might of Christianity in the Resurrection

The Easter Gospel, which we celebrate by our greatest religious festival, with its truth of Immortality and Resurrection, is the heart, center and life of Christianity. Paul prays that "I may know Christ and the power of His resurrection."

This great fact has ever been the propelling power of Christianity. Christ was comparatively unknown and was "despised and rejected of men," when He died upon the cross. But when He arose, triumphant over the powers of darkness, death and hell, declaring, "All power is given to me in heaven and on earth," and saying, "Lo, I am with you always!" then His weak and terrified little band of disciples felt themselves imbued with irresistible power.

And in the strength of the Resurrection, and of the leadership of the risen Christ, they carried the great message hither and thither, not to Judea alone, but to the farthest ends of the earth. Their hearts aflame with their mighty Gospel, no persecutions could chill their ardor; neither the jaws of lions, nor the nails of the cross, nor burning faggots of the stake, could silence their testimony.

Easter Ceremonies in Rome Have New Dignity

As though symbolical of the obliteration of old differences between church and state, flowers sent by the governor of Rome adorn the classic cross in the center of the Coliseum where so many Christian martyrs suffered death prior to the advent of Emperor Constantine.

Good Friday observances in all the 400 churches of Rome thus take on a new impressiveness.

The most picturesque is the procession of penitence across Rome to the church of Santa Croce in Gerusalemme where relics of the Savior's passion are exhibited. Many members of the Roman nobility participate in the procession.

All the marchers carry small candles of yellow wax and chant in chorus the canticle, "Long Live the Cross," before entering the church to give homage to the relics of the true cross preserved there.

Easter Finery

Popular observances, superstitions and customs attend on the observance of Easter day. One of these is the donning of fresh and attractive attire; a custom originated in religious ceremonies and changing in form with the years until it now means merely a donning of holiday garments in honor of the happy day. The traditional Easter bonnet is no longer material for the annual joke since the line of demarcation between leaving off the winter hat and putting on the summer one is not regulated by Easter, as it used to be in grandma's day, but is now entirely a matter of style and millady's purse.

Behold, One Oil King
Our Flying Army
Name It Newton
No Mother Love, No Nation

Los Angeles.—The gasoline threat that worried the big oil men a few days ago is becoming reality. Here the price has been cut as low as 10 cents, and deeper cuts are expected. This is due to disorganized production and disorganized distribution.

Any buyer who exults in the low price of today exults prematurely. He will more than make up for it later on.

Old royalty, kings, emperors, etc., are going out. In the realm of finance kings are coming in. The American government, interested in United States prosperity, might make a careful study of Sir Henri Deterding, head of the Shell Oil company.

An able Dutchman, born in Holland, knighted by the British, with his office in London, Deterding surveys the world from the oil man's point of view, literally, as an imperial conqueror.

The other day as lowest bidder he supplied the Japanese navy with oil for a year at 54 cents a barrel, the lowest price ever quoted, and probably bought it from independent California producers for 40 or 45 cents a barrel.

California produces the oil, Japan gets the oil, Deterding gets the profit, the United States sees its oil supply diminished.

On Mather field, Sacramento, Brig. Gen. William E. Gillmore directs the maneuvers of army airplanes, greatest gathering in the history of the army air corps.

One hundred and fifty-nine army planes, from small swift pursuit planes to heavy bombing machines, are taking part in maneuvers such as would be necessary in actual war.

Men that have inspected the equipment of European armies, including France and Britain, say the "provisional wing," commanded by General Gillmore, is as efficient a unit as would be found anywhere on earth.

The small new planet whose existence was asserted by the late Professor Lowell continues to agitate scientists.

Guided by Newton's law, Professor Lowell knew that disturbances in the orbit of Uranus must be accounted for by the existence of another planet.

Officials of Lowell observatory following the new wanderer on the outskirts of our solar system, say it behaves exactly as Professor Lowell would have expected.

A distinguished French astronomer says it is too small to amount to anything, but would change his mind if it shifted its course and struck this earth in the neighborhood of the Place de la Concorde.

The Geographical Society of Mexico very sensibly suggests the name "Newton" for the new planet.

Had it not been for Newton and his law of gravitation, "directly as the mass, inversely as the square of the distance," scientists could not have known of the planet's existence.

Russia, forgetting Sparta's history, plans a human society made to order. Children, taken from their mothers in babyhood, will be raised wholesale by the state. Mothers will enter factories, and otherwise work the same as men do—or, rather, as mares do, on the farm.

Russia should remember that when a mare is valuable, and a fine horse is wanted, the mare is not put to work before the colt is born, or afterward. Sparta educated its youth; trained young men to surprise and murder the miserable Helot slaves on their way to work at sunrise, that the young men might be fierce in war. Sparta's law used iron for money, that no man might care to have much of it.

Fine theories were worked out there as in Russia, but Sparta amounted to little. Athens, where human nature was allowed to develop according to rules—not suggested by Draco or Karl Marx—produced Greek grandeur, art, literature and philosophy.

We are wound up at birth, to run in a certain way; our inborn impulses are our mainsprings, and we cannot remake ourselves. To interfere with the family, with the mother's passionate love of her children, with man's ambition, stimulated by duty to his family and reverence for his father and mother, is to insure a nation's downfall.

The government asks farmers, for their own price protection, to reduce by two million acres spring wheat planting in Minnesota and the Dakotas. Substitution of barley, rye, oats, alfalfa and sweet clover is suggested. That might help if other states reduced acreage. But it is as difficult for farmers as for others to change their habits.

Ours is a marvelous earth dwelling, far too good for those that inhabit it, except the children, spirits of light, and the very old, made humble by life's trials.

More Birds

On islands in the South seas ornithologists bagged a ground dove, a sand piper and a species of paradise bird which sea captains of the old sailing days used to spin yarns about, but which have not been seen for the last hundred years, and which were supposedly extinct. Like dreams, old yarns sometimes come true.

HOG CHOLERA VACCINATION WILL CONTROL DISEASE.

(By Dr. R. A. Craig.)

Purdue News Service.

The number of hogs that are immune to cholera is below the average. In case market and crop conditions favor hog feeding, traffic in feeder hogs will result in a more general distribution of the cholera virus, and the disease may become epizootic. Conditions that prepare the way for an outbreak of hog cholera, are a general letting down in disease control measures by farmers, and a heavy traffic in feeder hogs; vaccination is not practiced; carcasses of cholera hogs are not buried or cremated; and the "well end" of a cholera herd is often marketed, the heavy hogs for slaughter and the light hogs for feeding purposes.

Altho the nature of the filterable virus is unknown, we know that it is spread by direct or almost direct contact between cholera and susceptible hogs. Secondary carriers such as hogs, people, and birds, may distribute the infection in communities where outbreaks of cholera occur by carrying parts of a cholera carcass and filth from the yards to nearby hog yards where the infection may be picked up by susceptible healthy hogs. Farmers who sell the "well end" of a sick herd for feeding purposes, perpetuate cholera infection in sale pavilions, stock cars, and stock yards. All hogs that pass thru live stock centers and public sales are not vaccinated, and the death rate in these non-vaccinated hogs is an important cost factor as well as disease factor. "Hog flu" is common in this class of hogs, and this disease often makes it impossible to vaccinate them against cholera without experiencing a heavy death rate.

It is possible to control hog cholera if the farmers interested are willing to cooperate in a definite plan of control. Such a plan is essentially a voluntary observation of state and Federal regulations for the control of hog cholera, and the enforcement of these regulations when necessary by the farmers in a community. The owner of a cholera herd or the attending veterinarian is expected to notify the officers of the organization, so that the immediate neighbors may know that their hogs are exposed to the disease. Exposed herds that have not been immunized are vaccinated. The cholera herds are quarantined, fatally sick hogs are killed, and the apparently well hogs are vaccinated. If a diagnosis is made early in the outbreak a large percentage of the herd may be saved. All carcasses should be cremated. All feeder hogs brought into the community should be vaccinated and guaranteed for a period of 30 days. The foregoing plan has been successfully used by an Indiana community in preventing serious loss from hog cholera. Unfortunately, the members of the organization lost interest in the plan very soon after the outbreak of cholera subsided.

Hog cholera would cost the industry less than at present, if 40 to 50 per cent of the spring and fall pig crops, instead of five to 30 per cent, was vaccinated. Outbreaks of this disease are responsible for heavy financial loss to individual herd owners and business men, as well.

There is a gradual increase in herd and community outbreaks from June to October in years in which a heavy rate from hog cholera occurs. General outbreaks of the disease would not occur if the spring pig crop is immunized. The most desirable time to vaccinate pigs is a short time before, or after they are weaned. If the pigs are free from disease and weaning, castration, and ringing are postponed until after they have recovered from the vaccination, the vaccination will not cause any sickness or loss in the herd.

JUST WHAT YOU WANT IN YOUR AUTOMOBILE.

You will find that a bottle of "Spot Fyter" in your car will be a very handy item when you get a grease spot on your clothing.

All Ills Gone After Using New Konjola

New Medicine Wins Quick Victory Over Liver Ailments And Neuritis.

MRS. MARGARET GURLEY

"I suffered for years with agonizing pains in my limbs and back," said Mrs. Margaret Gurley, 701 North Tillotson avenue, Muncie. "My legs became so stiff I could scarcely walk. Pains in my knees and toes were almost more than I could bear. I was bilious and suffered with terrible headaches. These often lasted for days at a time. I was becoming so run down and nervous that I could scarcely do my daily tasks.

"After the fourth bottle of Konjola I knew I was well along on the road to new health. Rheumatism left me as though by magic and the fearful pains of neuritis were not long in following. My liver cleared up and began to function perfectly. Today I never suffer from bilious headaches, my appetite has improved and I am really enjoying excellent health for the first time in many years."

Konjola is sold in Mentone Indiana at Shafer & Goodwin drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

ESTIMATED COST OF RAISING PULLETS

Seven Months' Time and 30 Pounds of Feed.

Poultrymen should have available from $1 to $1.50 to spend for every pullet they plan to raise, declares Charles N. Keen, assistant professor of poultry at the Colorado Agricultural college.

"To bring into production a dual purpose pullet—one which may be utilized for meat or egg production—about seven months' time and 30 pounds of feed are required," Mr. Keen says. "To bring into production a pullet of the Leghorn type, about five and one-half months' time and 24 pounds of feed are necessary."

Other interesting figures which have been compiled from authoritative sources, but which are of course average figures, are given by Mr. Keen, who believes they will be of special interest now that the new chick season is beginning. It is emphasized that good management in most cases should produce better than average results.

Since it generally takes about two eggs to get one husky chick, and since nearly three chicks must be hatched to get one good pullet, it has been estimated that it really requires about six eggs to obtain one good pullet.

Several good authorities declare that it costs about ten cents to produce a chick. A six-year-old Rhode Island Red should weigh about three-fourths of a pound. A six-week-old Single Comb White Leghorn should weigh about seven-tenths of a pound.

A Rhode Island Red should weigh two pounds at about eleven weeks of age and should have consumed about 7.2 pounds of feed. A Single Comb White Leghorn should weigh one and one-half pounds at about ten weeks of age and should have consumed 6.5 pounds of feed.

Sanitary Management Is Baby Chick Need

If the baby chicks are to keep their health and grow vigorously, we must practice proper sanitary management. We must keep the house clean, the ground clean, and the feed that is given them must be clean and wholesome. The feeding utensils and drinking fountains must be kept as clean as possible. It is a good idea to always keep a good disinfectant on hand, and every time the house is cleaned to use a solution of the disinfectant. The house should be cleaned out at least once each week and disinfected whenever necessary. It should be disinfected thoroughly after each brood is placed on range, to guard against any contagious diseases.

Hard-Boiled Eggs Safe Food for Baby Chicks

It is common practice to feed the infertile eggs tested out from the incubator to baby chicks. In so doing it incurs the danger of infecting the chicks with pullorum disease (formerly called bacillary white diarrhea). Where eggs form a part of the chick's diet they should be boiled for at least five minutes and preferably longer. This boiling will destroy the germ of the dreaded chick disease, and then it is a perfectly safe and good practice to feed the boiled eggs to baby chicks. One should not run the risk of infecting the brood by feeding the raw eggs.

Feed for Poults

Little turkeys should not be fed for the first day or two, as they are absorbing the yolk of the egg from which they came and this is what nature intended that they should get. After two days they may be fed chopped hard-boiled egg and corn bread crumbs for the first week, or soaked stale bread in milk and squeezed dry. When they begin to get out on the range, they may be fed morning and night only, as they get much from the range.

Young Duck Ration

A widely recommended ration that has been extensively used by duck raisers, is as follows: As a starting ration a mash made up of equal parts of rolled oats and dried bread is fed. It is found desirable to add a small quantity of sand, one part to twenty parts of the mash, and moistened. As much as the ducks will clean up readily is fed five or six times daily. After the ducks are six days old equal parts of bran, yellow corn meal, rolled oats and dry bread can be fed.

Geese Mate in Pairs

Geese generally mate in pairs, though a young gander will sometimes mate with more than one goose. Later he will usually pick a favorite. When mature the easiest way to tell a gander is to listen to the voice. A gander has a voice which is a cross between a whistle and whisper. A young male hatched in June has an excellent chance, but if he is kept in a pen with a lot of other birds of different ages he probably will not be ready by February.

Another Youth

We are often made to feel that there is another youth and age than that which is measured from the year of our natural birth. Some thoughts always find us young, and keep us so. Such a thought is the love of the universal and beauty.—Emerson.

"HIDDEN DOLLARS"—FIND THEM.

Through an oversight the names of the winners of the prize dollars was left out of our article in last week's issue. Those who received one dollar each were Mrs. Harve Poulson, Mrs. Lon Borton and Dan Creakbaum.

It seems that some of our readers are under the impression that there is some puzzle connected with our "Hidden Dollar" scheme, and in order to place them right will say there is no puzzle to it. We simply print the following words "Here is your Hidden Dollar" in an advertisement in a few of the papers these papers are mixed with the entire issue, then if you are lucky enough to get one of these papers and locate the Hidden Dollar, all you have to do is to bring the paper containing the advertisement to this office before Saturday noon following date of publication and get your dollar. As a rule we have no way of knowing who gets the lucky papers and do not aim to know where they go, but we do know that in our issue of the 2nd there were five people who missed the chance to get a dollar. Better make a practice to read the advertisements each week as we will continue placing Hidden Dollars in advertisements. Note—this article is not an advertisement and is not good in the Hidden Dollar contest.

"MECHANICAL BOYS AND GIRLS"

By DR. E. C. HARTWELL, Superintendent Buffalo Schools.

Too many persons believe schools should turn out robots—mechanical boys and girls. Over and over again I hear men protesting that graduates of high schools enter business and cannot do this, that, and the other thing with the efficiency expected of them. Of course, they cannot, and the quicker men get this philosophy out of their heads, the better it will be for them and for the system of education.

Years ago children were taught that success was fame, distinction and wealth. Today we know that theory is wrong, and that it is our duty to train them so that in later life they may be happy human beings.

LEAGUE'S WORST DECADE ENDED

By SIR ERIC DRUMMOND, Secretary League of Nations.

While it is impossible to predict, and it is unwise to prophesy, I am inclined to expect that the League of Nations' next decade will mainly be occupied with a careful development along lines which are laid down already or which are projected. He who expects sensational movement is likely to be disappointed. He who recognizes that vast labor must be expended to change trails now scarcely blazed into traveled highways of international intercourse, is viewing the future of the League with sober realism.

There is no reason to suppose that constitutional readjustments of the League are at an end, but it is unlikely that they will henceforward occur as often as in the early years.

The League's first decade, in other words, has been to a large extent one of establishment, not altogether free from experiment. In the period to follow, the good will of the peoples and the co-operation of their leaders being assumed, this early planting should bring forth immediately bountiful harvests of mutual benefits to every community of the human race.

CHILDREN VICTIMS OF DIVORCE

By DISTRICT JUDGE CHARLES C. SACKMANN, Denver.

Divorce has caused more violations of the law by youths than any other one cause. During the last year more than half of the serious offenses considered in my court involved men under twenty-five. Most of them were on trial for aggravated robbery and grand larceny.

After a couple is divorced, the children are often sent to stay with relatives or, perhaps, with either the father or mother. The child is neglected. He plunges out "on his own" to make his own future.

There was a time when it was a disgrace to be divorced. Now people pride themselves in this achievement—with no thought to the effect upon the children of their marriage. In these cases the children suffer from the loss of either the care, spiritual advice and example of a good mother or the stern discipline, companionship, counsel and restraining hand of a good father.

When divorce enters the horizon of a child he loses one or the other, or both of these heritages to which he is entitled. The child then becomes an easier victim of any criminal instinct he may have.

WORLD PEACE BROUGHT NEARER

By PROF. CHARLES KINGSLEY WEBSTER, Harvard University.

The new kind of friendship and of understanding between the nations of the world since statesmen have been meeting around a common council table to discuss problems and adjust differences is an outgrowth of the League of Nations, one of its greatest contributions to world peace, and an enduring tribute to the vision of Woodrow Wilson.

President Wilson once said that friendship must have a machinery through which it can find expression, so that troubles may be taken in hand when they are little and not allowed to wait to grow big. That machinery has been provided by the League.

The advances toward peace which all admit have been made within the last three or four years have been largely because statesmen have had an opportunity to know one another, as they would have had no chance to do in any other way. Admitting that the League is not yet functioning properly throughout the entire world, it is nevertheless true that European statesmen, through their many meetings face to face, at last have come to know one another.

DESERT CEREMONY

Death valley, Calif., has its Easter sunrise service, commemorating the time-honored pioneer dead of the great valley. Hundreds of persons gathered last year at Stove Pipe wells where a huge cross was erected on a sand dune around which the ceremony was conducted. In the congregation were old-time prospectors, miners and desert rats, many of whom suffered the hardships which were necessary for the opening of this vast territory to civilization.

Burden of Cross Must

Be the Christian's Lot

Calvary dramatized the age-long conflict between love and force, between freedom and oppression, between the life of the spirit and its material environment. Rome stood for the satisfaction of man's lusts with the possession of things and the exercise of the power such possession conferred; Jesus stood for the satisfaction of man's soul with the knowledge of God and the exercise of the power which comes through right relationship with God. Rome could not understand Him, so it crucified Him. He was a disturber, and Rome disliked disturbers.

So far as His disciples appreciated the significance of the drama they were witnessing, they realized that to adopt the ideal of Jesus meant conflict with the forces which Rome represented. His way ran counter to the world's way, and, where the opposing conceptions of life intersected, the cross was made which every follower of Him must bear.

HOLLYWOOD EASTER

Many thousands attend annual Easter dawn services at Hollywood bowl. The advent of dawn, marking the start of the sunrise services, is heralded by the blast of a trumpet.

English Easter Custom

An ancient custom, connected originally with ceremonial religion, is the kiss of peace given at Easter, Hungerford, in Wiltshire, England, being one of the few places where it still lingers. On Easter Monday two headles march through the town taking a kiss from every woman. In the case of men, this Easter offering or tax, is commuted for a payment of one penny. When the headles have been around the parish any man is permitted to embrace any girl he meets.

Brings Message of Life

All nature seems to dance on Easter day, in harmony with the all-pervasive spirit of joy. And why? Because it tells of life. Because it dispels the terror of the grave. Because it banishes the chilling fear of death. Because on it a trumpet sounds throughout the universe the tidings of eternal existence.

EASTER TIME

By Katherine Edelman

Everything associated with Easter speaks of joy and hope. There is a radiance about the day that fills every heart with happiness. The new-born beauty that proclaims spring is awakening seems to re-echo the gladness and promise of the festival and to speak in clear and unmistakable language of glorious resurrection, of triumph and victory over death. In the soft winds that are whispering abroad you can hear this message, you can feel it in the wonder of budding tree and flower, and thrill to it in the joyous bird songs that fill the woodland. All speak of lasting beauty, of resurrection, of immortality. The gloom and the darkness of winter have departed; the fields and trees that seemed dead and lifeless have awakened into new life and beauty; hope and joy seem to be everywhere. The promise given to man has come true. The One that lay broken and bruised and cold has come forth from the darkness of the tomb, glorious, triumphant. He has proved that there is no lasting death; that the grave does not mean the end; that a greater and a more beautiful existence awaits mankind. All this the Easter day brings to us; a happy, beautiful message that must thrill every heart with its joy.

(©, 1930, Western Newspaper Union.)

New and Better Life

Is Promise of Easter

The Easter season bids us mark a change in the vegetable creation, approximating to a coming back from death to life. It warns us against being misled by our physical senses about what we call death.

Every springing plant and budding leaf tells of a beginning of a new life, which is actually a continuation of a previous life.

There is a message of hope to mortal men, sometimes sorrowing, in the spring resurrection, a declaration that man is after all finer and better than the grass which is now coming back from an apparent dissolution.

Easter clenches that hope, with the direct announcement of the fact that a Man has come back with a distinctly renewed, better, life from death, and now lives a life which is to be everlasting, and that what man has done men can and will do!

More than that, Easter announces. It tells of a newer, fresher, better life to be lived here, ever so much better than that we lived last year. It calls us to a new beginning, a better determination of what life ought to be to us.

WORLD'S EASTER

When Easter sings across the world,
I think that every sea
Reflects the blue that danced upon
The waves of Galilee.
I think that every bit of sky
That holds a hint of shower
Is like the sky that grieved above
Gethsemane in flower!

When Easter sings across the world,
I like to think men build
New dreams in memory of One
Whose dreams were never killed...
I like to think that kinder words
To weary folk are said,
Because Christ toiled up Calvary,
With tired, down-bent head!
—Margaret E. Sangster in Good Housekeeping.

Light of Easter

The Lord is risen! The Lord is risen! The gloom and terror of the sad days that preceded the darkened sun, the quaking earth and the rending of the veil of the Temple were over. After the three days of silence, the watching angel and the empty tomb proclaimed the wondrous truth, "He is risen!"

Thus, at each returning Easter morning His grateful followers rejoice and give thanks and praise that the Lord is risen! The Sun of Righteousness, the Light of the World, whose beams through the ages have lighted the pathway, sought by weary human hearts, seeking on earth, peace, comfort, courage, love and the joy of heaven.—Farm and Fireside.

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE AND PROGRAM AT BAPTIST CHURCH.

On next Sunday morning—Easter at 6 o'clock a sunrise service will be held at the Baptist Church under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. This is not a missionary meeting, however. The ladies of the Missionary Society simply have charge of the program. Such a service at such a time of day is always very impressive and if you want to make next Sunday truly a day full of inspiration for you, start it by attending this service. We invite any who care to come at 6 o'clock.

Following the Sunday School class period the Little folks of the primary and junior departments will give a short varied program. The pastor will then preach on an Easter theme and resume the studies in Revelation at the Sunday evening service.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY

A number of young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Parks on Monday evening April 7th, in honor of their son Harold and daughter Leah's birthday.

The evening was spent in playing contests and eating candy, peanuts and apples. At a late hour the hostess served ice cream and cake.

Everyone departed having had a good time and wishing them many more happy birthdays.

Those present were the Misses Lillian Igo, Edna Pitman, Elizabeth Welch, Naomi Clark, Marjorie Baker, Emma Goodman, Doris Mathews, and the Messers, Oliver Smith, Walter Barkman, Elery Nellans, Philip Blue, John Mathews, George Mathews and Mrs. Wm. Mathews.

NAPHTHA BLAST BURNS HOME

Mrs. Dwight Mock Badly Injured While Cleaning Coat Near Wawasee Lake.

Thursday of last week Mrs. Dwight Mock, residing near Wawasee lake, just out of Syracuse, was badly burned about the head, arms and feet when a fluid with which she was cleaning her husband's coat, took fire and exploded, resulting in a blaze that destroyed the interior of the Mock home.

The fire which started in the kitchen, where Mrs. Mock was working, quickly spread to other parts of the dwelling.

Mock, who had been working near the house at the time of the explosion, called the Syracuse fire department, which arrived on the scene in time to save a portion of the furnishings. The interior of the house was completely destroyed and extensive damage was done to the interior. Damage done amounted to $1,800. Damage done to the dwelling was covered by insurance.

The above is the second serious accident that has happened in this manner in near by towns in the past couple of years. It is positively dangerous to use gasoline, naphtha or many of the cleaning fluids to be found on the market. There is one fluid however that is positively non-inflammable and non-explosive, and that is "Spot Fyter". You can pour this liquid on a lighted match and it will extinguish the flame, yet as a cleaning fluid it will clean quicker and better than any other preparation on the market. Why not play safe? Use "Spot Fyter" put up in a neat bottle at the low price of 50 cents. Sold only at Clark's Store in Mentone.

COMMENCEMENT

Do Not Forget Hiram & Henry

Trulan Wilder and Merle Housh, better known to W. L. S. radio listeners as "Hiram and Henry", are experienced entertainers, both before the microphone and in public appearances. They are one of the most popular teams upon the air and are much in demand. They have been featured W. L. S. artists for several months, and have appeared at a number of farm community affairs in Illinois. They were formerly connected with W.I.B.W. at Topeka, Kans.

Henry features his one-string cigar box fiddle, and Hiram performs in an unusual manner on the harmonica. Their humorous dialogue and colorful "hayseed" dialect adds much to their old-time songs.

These boys will be at Mentone Community Bldg. Wednesday evening, April 23rd, at 8:00 o'clock. Admission, all school children 20c, adults 40c.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WINIFRED CLARK.

Was one of Mentone's Well
Known and Popular Young Ladies.

Bereaved Family Has the Deepest Sympathy of Entire Community.

Miss Winifred Clark well known to our readers passed away at a hospital at Freeport, Illinois, at 7 o'clock Thursday night of last week. Early in the morning she had undergone an operation for appendicitis, after which she never regained consciousness.

The family at this place were notified early Thursday forenoon, and her mother Mrs. Broda Clark, left immediately for Freeport by auto, arriving in that city but a short time before her death.

The deceased was 26 years old, a graduate of the Mentone High School. After completing a dietition course at Battle Creek Mich., she accepted a position as dietition at the Evangelical Deaconess Hospital at Freeport which she held up to the time of her death. She is survived by her, mother, Mrs. Broda Clark, a sister, Miss Francis Clark, and a brother, Mr. George Clark, all of this place. The father William F. Clark having died last January.

The remains were brought to Mentone Friday evening and taken to the Clark home on North Broadway. The funeral was held at the residence Sunday afternoon conducted by Rev. Power, and assisted by Rev. Johns and Rev. Squibb. Burial in Mentone cemetery.

This being the second time within three months that death has entered the home circle of the Clark family makes it indeed very sad, and the bereaved ones have the sympathy of the entire community.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral of Winifred Clark were, Mrs. N. J. Ballard, Anderson, Miss Marjorie Braune and Miss Peske from the Deaconess Hospital at Freeport, Ill., Jennings Carter, Don A. Bunner, Chas. Manwaring, and Cap Shephard from Bloomington Ind., Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Rager, from Toledo Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Cramer, Loraine Ohio, Mrs. G. F. Foreman, Columbus, Ohio, Dr. D. K. Stinson, Indianapolis, Miss Bessie Lucas, Fort Wayne, David Deamer, Lafayette, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Berhalter, Kendallville, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. ### WILL BUILD A NEW AND MODERN OIL STATION

Byron Linn has purchased the old blacksmith shop property on W. Main St., and will soon begin wrecking the building, preparatory to putting in a "Drive In" oil and gas station on the premises. He intends to erect a shop on the rear end of the lot to meet the needs of the blacksmith, and will use the front portion together with the adjoining lot for his new project.

When completed this will make a nice improvement for the west part of town and it will give Byron a better chance in the gas and oil business.

JUNIOR-SENIOR RECEPTION

The Junior class of Talma High School delightfully entertained the members of the Senior class at a reception held at the Hotel Hays in Warsaw Friday evening, April 11th. A three course dinner was served at seven o'clock. Music was furnished by a male quartet of Manchester College. Miss Clarabelle Mercer acted in the capacity of toastmaster very ably. Rosella Busenburg, president of the Junior Class welcomed the Seniors, after which Alvin Finney, president of the Senior Class responded.

The class history from 1918 to 1930 was given by Doris Adamson. Annabelle Hunter read the class prophecy and the last will and testimony was revealed by Alvin Finney. Two admonitory speeches flavored with humor were given impromptu by Mr. Leon Kotterman and Mr. Lou Groves. A color scheme of green and yellow was carried out effectively. Beautiful bouquets of snapdragone adorned the tables.

Guests other than members of the Junior and Senior classes were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kotterman, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Groves, the Misses Mary Ssively and Mildred Tobey.

Eastertide

At Eastertide the skies are blue,
And birds are sitting to and fro,
And many sweet and tender things
Speak of the life we long to know.
Lilies fair and daffodils
Vie with each other in their gold,
And tell that once again for us
The Easter message doth unfold.

The world is full of life and light,
Of hopes revered and joy restored;
Upon the earth, with lavish hand,
Its blessings kindly heaven has poured.
And deep in every trusting heart
Eternal peace and joy abide;
For love has triumphed o'er the tomb,
And gladness crowns the Eastertide.

Religion Led Man Out of Spiritual Darkness

The greatest moral progress that the human race has made has been under the influences of the Christian religion, and in that religion the events of Good Friday and Easter are of the highest interest and significance. The supreme martyrdom of a supernatural personality and His authentication by the miracle of the Resurrection create the Christian religion. The teacher who taught as one having authority and not as the scribes became by these events the personification of a religion, and one that has led mankind in its greatest advances. He established an ethical connection of the greatest power of inspiration between man and his Creator. Easter became a glorified Passover, commemorating emancipation from spiritual darkness and from the ties that bound man to the lower orders of creation, and conferring the freedom of the soul, the new birth of man's mind and heart, the beginning of a career which has taken man away from the companionship of the lower orders of life and has put him on the pathway that leads to the angels.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

OBITUARY

In the midst of the sunshine of life comes shadows, when hope should sit queen of all. To-day there seems but disappointment and not until we attempt to pay the last sad tribute of respect to a departed friend do we realize how imperfect the pen to express the sincere feelings of the heart.

This we feel in the deepest sense, when we come to write the obituary of the late Mrs. Ida Eaglebarger.

Ida Jane Personette, daughter of Fredrick and Catherine Personette, was born in Henry Co. Ind., June 27, 1860. When but a child her parents moved to Sevestapol, Kosciusko Co. Ind., where she spent most of her life

She was united in marriage to Pierce Engle in 1906 and he passed to the great beyond in 1912. She again united in marriage with Henry Eaglebarger of Mentone Ind.

In middle life she united with the Sevestapol Baptist church and was a faithful attendant upon the services whenever possible. A willing helper in service to those in need. Many will bear testimony to her kind hospitality.

She was called home April 8th, 1930, at the age of 69 years, 9 months and 8 days. She leaves to mourn their loss the husband, One son, James and seven grandchildren of Decatur Michigan. Her mother now 94 years of age of Akron, who because of her grief was unable to attend the services. Three brothers, Ulysses of Athens, Richard of Akron Charles of Warsaw, one sister Mrs. Geo. Whittenberger of Akron, two step-daughters and two step-sons, several grandchildren, all dearly beloved to her. Her father and two brothers preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held at the Mentone Baptist church Thursday April 10th, at 2:00 o'clock with Rev. V. E. Squibb, pastor in charge. Using John 3:3 as a basis of his message.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for the many kind expressions of their sympathy in our recent bereavement also for the many beautiful floral offerings.

RAILROAD TO SEND DAIRY CALF CLUBS TO NATIONAL SHOW.

LAFAYETTE, Ind. April 15—Announcement has been made today that the Pennsylvania Railroad, through its agricultural department, will award $25.00 to dairy calf clubs in Indiana having the best county groups of dairy heifers at the state fair in each of four breeds—Jersey, Holstein, Gernsey and Ayrshire, the money to be used to help defray expenses to the national Dairy Show. The Purdue University club division of the agricultural extension department will cooperate with the Pennsylvania Lines in the organization and supervision of the dairy calf clubs.

The railroad will also award embossed ribbons to members of dairy calf clubs exhibiting at county or local shows in the counties traversed by the Pennsylvania lines. Ribbons will be awarded each member making a satisfactory exhibit according to the placing he receives from the judge.

The railway company will assist county agents and county organizations in arousing interest in dairy calf clubs, in securing calves, and in their distribution in the counties through which the railroad passes.

PROPER FARM CARE OF EGGS ESSENTIAL TO HIGH QUALITY.

Purdue News Service.

Practically all eggs are of equally high quality when first laid, according to E. R. Menefee, poultry marketing investigator of Purdue University, Agricultural Experiment Station but if they are to retain their high quality and reach the buyer, who purchases eggs on a graded basis, in good condition they must have proper care by the farmer. There is no process in marketing which can improve an egg of poor quality. All that can be done is to preserve the original freshness. Proper care on the farm is, therefore, very necessary to the selling of eggs on a graded basis.

First of all it is best to have a flock of a standard variety of poultry in order to produce eggs of uniform size and color. This flock should be reasonably well housed and fed if a high number of eggs per bird is to be obtained. As soon as the hatching season is over, male birds should be moved to separate quarters so that only unfertile eggs of superior keeping qualities will be produced.

Clean Nests Help Keep Eggs Clean

Probably the greatest losses to farmers in eggs occurs during the spring season, due to large numbers of dirty eggs coming to market. Nests, clean and sufficient in number must be provided in order that the largest possible percentage of the eggs may be kept clean. Dirty eggs must be gathered frequently, at least once a day. During very hot days or cold weather it is preferable to gather them twice a day to prevent the eggs from becoming heated, shrunken, or frozen. They should be kept in a cool, moderately damp place in order to prevent evaporation of water from them. All very small, very large, or very dirty eggs can be used at home. They should not be included with those shipped to eastern markets, or when selling eggs on a graded basis to local buyers.

SEED CORN SITUATION HELPED BY TESTING

Purdue News Service.

Reports on the seed corn situation by 11 county agents in the Lafayette district indicate that conditions are much improved due to an increased amount of home and community testing and thru location of crib corn which, because of early maturity, is showing good germination. These reports are in line with those being received by the Agronomy Department of Purdue University from other sections of the state.

In all the counties in the state, from which reports have been received on the seed corn situation, county agents report that community testers are being operated at full capacity and that farmers are doing more than the usual amount of testing at home.

It is believed that a larger part of all corn intended for seed will be tested this year than for any year recently.

Reports continue to show that early field selected and rack dried seed corn, especially where artificial heat was used, is showing high germination. Seed corn selected at husking time and given ordinary storage in farm buildings varies greatly in germination and in some cases is little better than crib corn which ranges from as low as 30 per cent to as high as 95 per cent. County agents are locating local supplies of crib corn which show good germination and farmers who must turn to outside seed sources should first look up this supply. The agronomy division has assembled various lots of corn from over the state which growers believe suitable for seed and of good germination. These are available on request. Seed corn of good germination, high quality and purity is still available among certified seed growers, but this supply is moving out rapidly. A good slogan is "locate or test your seed corn now"

COMPLETED AT LAST

To the many friends and assistants, and to those who heartily opposed, but later became ardent helpers. Some 15 years ago Dr. Yocum and I decided after numerous executive sessions; to put in force some ten civic improvements in our community. Pave the main street, Transfer the public school to the township. Pave Broadway, Harrison and Franklin streets without curbs and gutters, make a hard surface road east and west, north and south these to be half way to or more towards our neighboring towns, then we planned a series of feeder roads, we selected the second roads east of town that run north and south, and the south county line west of town, then the first road west after leaving town as the north west feeder.

To go into details of the trials, remonstrances and other obstructions would be too voluminous, but the wonderful assistances rendered by Newcastle and Tippecanoe township residents, who immediately extended our west road to the Michigan road or State road No. 31, and have since added so many feeders I have lost track of the number, but both of the townships are now pretty well served with high class roads. Franklin, Seward and Harrison townships got in line, and now we have added to our system hundreds of miles of high class roads. Tuesday April 8th, the County Commissioners of Kosciusko county, granted the petitioners, the Carlin Myers road in Harrison Township, the last of the proposed, 15 year old plans of civic improvements.

We wish to thank and congratulate our helpers and thank all our opponents for not making the task any more difficult.

YARD AND GARDEN CONTESTS TO BE STAGED HERE

Landscape specialist From Purdue University Instructs Local Leaders.

Miss Kathryn Mahon, specialist in charge of the Home Economic division of Purdue University, met with the local leaders from the Economic clubs of each township in Kosciusko county at the city hall at Warsaw Tuesday and Wednesday for the second lesson in Home Management.

Helpful and interesting remarks were given by the distinguished guests, Miss Grace Frysinger, of Washington D. C. head of Home Economic Extension Service in the central states, and Miss Lela Gadis, state leader of Home Demonstration of Purdue University and R. B. Hall from division of Horticulture of Purdue University.

Mr. Hull, landscape specialist from Purdue, had charge of the meeting and laid plans for a country-wide contest in home beautifications.

During the forenoon, Mr. Hull made suggestions as to what native shrubs could be used and told where and when to plant them. He stressed the benefits of a long time program for the landscape of the home, as this could not be done in one session but must extend over a long period.

The yard and garden contest is being conducted through the Home Economic clubs with the help of Mr. Hull. The contest is open to any member of the Home Economic clubs. The time for entrance in the contest will end May 1, 1930. Immediately after this the yards of contestants will be scored by the local leaders of Home Economic clubs.

Two meetings will be held during the time of the contest to give any timely information.

The contest will close the latter part of August at which time the yards will be re-scored and placed according to the improvements made. Entrance cards may be secured from the local leaders of the club. Mrs. Emma Lash or Mrs. Goldie Mollenhour.

Lost 38 Pounds Konjola Makes Him Well Again

Happy Man Tells How New Medicine Took Him From Sick Bed To Work.

MR. R. E. SCOTT

"It surely took a remarkable medicine to make me well, and Konjola did it," said Mr. R. E. Scott, 1318 North Washington avenue, Kokomo, Indiana. "I lost 38 pounds, my weight going from 170 to 132 within a year. Though I was always hungry and almost starved, I could eat but very little because of terrible pains that followed. Finally I was put to bed, too weak to be up. I had tried everything and everything failed. Then it was that a friend recommended Konjola."

"It seemed foolish that I should expect relief, but when I couldn't be any worse, so I decided to try it. I took two bottles and noticed no change. But within the third bottle came improvement. In a month I was out of bed and in six weeks I was back to work. I have regained much of my lost weight, and feel as good as I ever did in my life."

Konjola is sold in Mentone Indiana at Shafer & Goodwin drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.

WELCOME EASTER

Thy voice of heart and spirit raise,
O, Church of God, with songs of praise.
Be ever blest, our Easter morn,
When hope was born.

Darkness Dispelled on

First Easter Morning

Easter is the promise of the Lord that all the best and noblest in man shall be renewed, even as growth and bloom and ripening shall not cease.

Belief in eternal life compels us to believe in good deeds and honest thought. The good man toils not for today, nor for tomorrow alone, but because he knows that his labor shall survive long after his hand has fallen from the plow. The good man pours himself into the world and makes it new. He is among the blessed who win sight out of blindness, order out of chaos, and life out of death.

Since the first Easter morning the soul of man has shone with unwavering light; for then he looked into the radiant face of the risen Christ and knew that God's universe shapes itself not to destruction but to a yet more glorious genesis; yea, it endureth from everlasting to everlasting.—Helen Keller.

Most Beautiful Festival

The religious observances, past and present, connected with Easter vary, and are innumerable, but primarily they have one idea: the festival of the resurrection of Christ, observing it as the principal feast of the Christian era.

In every home and in every church it is a significant, spontaneous and universally beautiful festival; a day of rejoicing and happiness.

In every pulpit in the world on Easter messengers proclaim that man shall overcome all his enemies, conquering even death itself.

In the story of Gethsemane and the darkness of Calvary and story of Christ triumphant, the world takes new courage and sees goodness and right triumphant over sin and injustice. humility conquering pride and hate cast out by love.

The Dawn of Easter

Easter! There is something in the very name that suggests all that the day stands for. Hope, Faith, Resurrection! Its sound carries us back across the centuries to that first glorious Easter morning, when the bereaved women came to the tomb and found that death had been conquered. It brings us a vision of the white-robed angel in the sepulcher, saying to these weeping women: "Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: He is risen; He is not here." And the comfort and hope of the words fill us with joy, for even Nature today echoes the words, as we witness the miracle of resurrection all around us. Every field and meadow, every opening bud and blossom, the glory and brightness of the spring day, all bring happy assurance to our heart. All that is beautiful never really dies; each year there is added beauty and loveliness as the world awakens from its winter sleep. And so, too, we feel, that we shall know that endless life and resurrection in that far, fair country that awaits beyond. The promise that He made is still with us, and Easter day, with all its joy and all that it stands for, assures us that it will come true.

$640,000.00 PRESTO—CHANGE $258,000.00

What Kind of Hocus Pocus Business is This?

The following from Indianapolis under date of April 18 will surely be of interest to many of our readers and furnish food for some serious thought.

"Properties of the Northern Indiana Telephone Co., of North Manchester, were valued at $258,300 by the Indiana tax board Friday. Valuation for tax assessment last year was $234,806. The company serves subscribers in Cass, Fulton, Huntington, Kosciusko, Marshall, Miami, Wabash and Whitley counties."

For unadulterated gall and audacity the Northern Indiana Telephone Co. ranks first among all the corporations in the state. A few months ago they were able to go before the public utilities commission and have the valuation of their property fixed at $640,000.00 for the purpose of getting an increase in the telephone rates, and now when it comes to taxation they are able to go before another board and have that valuation shrunk to $258,000.00

We deem it unnecessary for us to say a great deal upon this last act of the "rate boosters" the great injustice in the matter is so apparent that it needs no comment.

The main question that presents itself to us is "How long will the people of this state stand for manipulations of this kind?"

COMMUNITY FIRE TRUCK IS PRACTICALLY ASSURED

Although subscriptions for the New Community Fire Truck are coming in rapidly, a substantial number is still required to assure the purchase of this equipment.

Great enthusiasm has been shown among most of the farmers and this with their spirit of co-operation has contributed much to the success of this very beneficial movement.

Every farmer in this community within a radius of six or seven miles from Mentone should be vitally interested in this proposition as it affords the most modern means of fighting fire in the rural districts at a very nominal cost. The minimum subscription of $25.00 may seem rather high but after considering that this covers a period of from ten to fifteen years and possibly longer, it is very inexpensive. Every subscriber is entitled to free service from this apparatus during its life time but non-subscribers will be required to guarantee an amount not less than $50.00 before the company will attempt to make a run to their places.

Why not get in on the ground floor by subscribing now and avoid any service charge in the future when you may be very much in need of this service.

If everybody should decide to wait and pay $50.00 when and if they had a fire and needed the apparatus it would be impossible for anyone to have access to it as it requires cash to purchase such equipment.

If you have not subscribed get in touch with one of the solicitors now, thereby assuring yourself of this protection free and at the same time assisting in making it possible for this community to have such a valuable service as this affords

Judging from sentiment of the farmers, this is undoubtedly a wise move for more than 140 have subscribed to the fund and some have promised to do more if necessary

A CONTEST WORTH ENTERING.

Next week our vote getting contest will start, and we hope to have many of our subscribers in the race. The prizes are very liberal and worth while, and we have had many people signify their intention of making a chase for the money.

Even if you do not enter the contest we would suggest that you collect votes when making a purchase, because you are sure to have some friend enter the race whom you will be very glad to assist, and your friend will be very thankful to receive any votes that you may have.

However we would prefer that you, every one, get in the game, because the more people striving for the prizes the more interesting the contest becomes. Better make up your mind to capture one of these prizes and be ready to make a start at the sound of the gun.

A full page advertisement of the contest giving full particulars, rules etc., will be found in this issue. Read it over carefully and then keep this copy for future reference, as it may not be published again. Anything that you do not understand will be explained by calling at this office.

VICTORY MOOD CHURCH'S NEED

By REV. S. M. SHOEMAKER, JR., (Episcopal) New York.

There is a mood of faith with which none of us are sufficiently familiar, and it is the mood of victory. It is a mood that cannot be simulated, but which must come with faith in God and, when it is realized, is the spiritual counterpart to the glow of physical well-being.

Most of us think today, and most preachers preach, in the mood of effort. There are times when we need to be lifted out of the grind of struggle and reminded of our spiritual possibilities.

Have you ever said that such and such a person could not be changed, or at any rate, that you could not be the person to help him? How do you know? How dare you put limits to Christ's power? Some of you are unconscious spiritual millionaires, with vast gifts to give others, gifts of sympathy and honesty and shared Christian experience that might completely change their whole lives if only you expected spiritual achievement.

There is too much plodding and scrambling in your spiritual experience and not enough graceful and royal progress. If you expected more, God could do more for you.

Konjola Real Master Medicine Says This Lady

Ten Bottles Of New Medicine
Completely Relieves Pain-
Ful Ailments Of Years
Standing.

MRS. PAUL SIPE

"I suffered for years with stomach and liver troubles", said Mrs. Paul Sipe, Route 3 Greenfield. "I bloated and belched after meals and often had a painful heartburn. I was frequently bilious and suffered often from headaches. I did not sleep well at night and my nerves became affected. The palms of my hands and soles of my feet were tender and burned badly at times. My back and limbs were often sore and ached severely.

"A friend of mine had been so helped by Konjola that I was induced to try it. I have taken ten bottles in all and must say that it is a real master medicine. I have no trace of my former stomach and liver ailments today. I eat heartily and suffer no discomfort. I am never bilious and do not suffer from headaches. My nerves are in excellent condition and I sleep well. My entire system has been built up and my husband is now taking Konjola with the same excellent results."

Konjola is sold in Mentone Indiana at Shafer & Goodwin drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB MEETING.

In spite of bad weather nine Home Economics Club members responded to roll call at the home of Mrs. Lillian Fisher on Tuesday P. M. April 15.

The County "Better-yard-and-garden" contest was explained and front yards, back yards and gardens thoroughly discussed. This movement means a more beautiful Indiana, beginning in our home locality with the whole county competing this year. Kosciusko county is very fortunate in receiving the help and supervision of R. R. Hull of the horticultural department of Purdue University.

Entries are divided into four groups: viz. owned farm homes, rented farm homes, owned town or city homes. Yards and gardens will be scored when entered and again in late summer. The score will automatically go higher as improvements are made, whether such improvement consists of repainting or rearranging buildings, repairing or removing old fences, digging out unsightly stumps or stones, or building walks where needed, making a flower bed of some unsightly spot, planting shrubbery to hide an unpleasant view, or what ever the work done. Entries close May 1st. Get score cards of Home Economics Club leaders and enter the race for a better and more beautiful yard and garden.

MAKE CHICKS ROOST EARLY Purdue News Service.

Chicks should be encouraged to roost as soon as they are reasonably well feathered. This will do much to prevent piling up in corners with its attendant loss of birds and hindrance to normal development says Stephen M. Walford, Purdue poultry extensionman.

A low roost placed at the back of the brooder house any time after the chicks are a month or six weeks old, will start them roosting, and additional perches can then be added as required.

Where difficulty is experienced in getting chicks of heavy breeds to roost, porch supports may be slanted from a height of 14 to 18 inches at the back of the house down to the floor a few inches back of the hover, and if chicks do not use the perches even then, one inch poultry netting tacked under the roost poles will prevent hovering in the corners or on the floors of this part of the house.

After chicks have learned to use the roosts, they may then be raised to their usual position a couple of feet above the floor.

OUR NEW PLUMBING SHOP

The Mentone Plumbing & Electric Company Open for Business.

Mr. L. M. Fife our new plumber is now nicely located in the old cream station building on West Main St. The front room of the building which he uses for an office and display room has been newly painted and together with the fine display of plumbing fixtures presents a very inviting appearance.

Around Orchard

PRUNING DONE TO IMPROVE ORCHARD

Simple Directions Are Given to Help Orchardist.

Pruning is the first work of the season in the orchard and is the first step to be taken in improving an old or neglected orchard. It is a waste of time and spray material to spray unpruned trees, as much diseased and insect-infested wood is removed in pruning.

Following are simple directions for pruning:

1. Step away from the tree to get a good look at it, noting its general shape and habit of growth. Keep its form in mind while pruning.
2. Cut out all dead branches.
3. Cut out all branches which are badly diseased, or infested with insects.
4. Remove the poorer of crossed and crowded branches.
5. Go over the entire tree with hand shears removing small branches here and there to admit sunlight and air evenly to all parts of the tree.
6. Remove water sprouts.

Here are a few "don'ts" to keep in mind when pruning:

1. Don't head back. That is, do not cut the end of a limb off the top of the tree in hope of controlling the length or height of its growth.
2. Don't leave stubs when removing branches.
3. Don't use the saw any more than necessary. Shears is the tool with which an inexperienced pruner can do the least damage.

Propagating Grapes by Cutting Is Best Plan

The only method of propagating grapes, to be sure they will come true to name, is by cuttings. Grape varieties, of course, are not pure lines and therefore would not reproduce themselves. For instance, from the Concord grape you might either get a blue, a red, or a white variety. It might be equal to, better, or inferior to the Concord in size and quality. It is not difficult to propagate the grape, however. Cuttings should be taken after the wood is well ripened this fall, making a cut at the base of a bud and allow two to three buds to a cutting. These should then be tied in bundles in a well-drained place until early spring. Or, they can be placed in a box of sawdust or sand and put in a cold, moderately moist place. In the spring the cuttings that have survived should be set out in the garden, leaving only the top bud above the ground. At the end of the first or second year they can be transplanted to their permanent location.

Pruning Trees Good Job for Cold Weather

Pruning of the trees should be looked after right away. It is safe to do so any time from now up to the time the leaves begin to expand. Thinning out the surplus branches will greatly aid one in operating the sprayer when that time comes, and the job of spraying will be much more efficient, because the spray can be more evenly applied to the surface of both foliage and fruit. There will be very little damage to either fruit or tree if a film of the spray covers the surface of both. Naturally old apple trees that have not been pruned cannot be treated as effectively as those that do not carry so much bearing wood. Probably then the greatest gain obtained by pruning is indirect, that is, by making it easier to do a good job of spraying. Good spraying will account for 90 or 95 per cent of the combined gain brought about by both pruning and spraying.

Horticultural Facts

Do not head-in or cut off the tops of twigs or branches.

Do not try to change the habit of the growth of the tree, nor take out enough wood to greatly alter its shape.

The scale insects cannot be killed by a poison which will soak into the pores, as they are too well protected by a gummy scale of wax, beneath which the insects operate.

Healthy trees can be killed, in from two to three years, after they have become incrustrated with the scale pests which suck the sap and destroy the vitality of the trees, making them more susceptible to other diseases or insects.

Cuttings of grapevines should be made in the fall, or at least before there is any starting of sap in spring. When made in fall, there is time for a healing or callusing of the cut ends, so a better stand may be had.

The number of apples on an overloaded tree may be reduced as much as 25 or even 50 per cent, without reducing the yield. That means that you have just as many bushels of apples, but since the apples will be larger they will be more easily harvested and marketed.

ALL THE MELONS YOU WANT

The following letter from W. Earl Smith will be of interest to many of our readers.

Greeley, Colorado, April 16.

Dear Editor:

Please change our paper from Greeley to Manzanola, Colo., where we are moving this week. Manzanola is a town about the size of Mentone, 60 miles east of Pueblo, on U. S. highway No. 50. We have bought a small piece of land at the west edge of town where we expect to build a tourist cottage camp. We recently returned from a trip to Walsenburg and Alamosa, Colo., and Santa Fe and Albuquerque, New Mexico, coming back by the way of Las Vegas, Raton, New M., and Rocky Ford, Colo.

The country around Manzanola and Rocky Ford is all good farm land under irrigation. It is noted for water melons and cantalope—but all kinds of crops are raised. If you Mentone folks get hungry for melons just drive out and we will see that you get all that you can eat.

Yours truly
W. Earl Smith.

DO NOT TAKE ANY CHANCES

Cleaning clothing with naphtha, gasoline etc., is very dangerous, regardless of the fact of whether you may have any fire around or not. The rubbing of the cloth can ignite the fluid, and the result is a bad burn or possibly death. Play safe use "Spot Fyter" which is non-explosive. It will clean most anything in a jiffy. Costs only 50c per bottle at Clark's Store.

Dangerous Beautifier

Arsenic-eating is not unknown in England. Half a century ago there was a rage for cosmetics. The fees of the beauty specialists then in business being prohibitive, young women made use of the well-known properties of arsenic as a sure means of removing face blemishes. They used fly-papers to obtain the necessary solution of arsenic.

Work of Early Farmers Recognized

Styles in ships have changed greatly since the first commercial fertilizer was brought to this country. Above—Modern liner of the type that carries 1,000,000 tons of nitrate of soda annually to the United States from Chile. Right—Freighter in service in 1830. Inset—Herbert C. Brewer, director of the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau.

THE older generation among Southern farmers deserves credit for laying the foundations of the modern soil-improvement programs which have proved so successful in raising the yields and profits on our farms.

This is shown by the experience of Southern farmers, now past middle age, who have volunteered information about the earliest users of nitrate of soda in their states. Some of these planters have been using fertilizers continually for quarter of a century, and one farmer in South Carolina reports that he first used nitrate of soda back in 1875.

As part of the 100th anniversary of the use of nitrate of soda in this country, recognition in the form of a distinctive award is to be conferred upon the farmer in each state who has used this fertilizer for the longest period of time. This award is being given by the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau. Letters from farmers are reaching the office of the Educational Bureau daily and the awards will be made this fall.

"Four generations of Southern farmers have used commercial fertilizers during the past 100 years," says Herbert C. Brewer, director of the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau, "but efficient soil-building practices were not understood generally until the last quarter century. It remained for our educational agencies, such as the extension services of the state agricultural colleges, to popularize the practices which could be depended upon to assure the most economic production. At present, thousands of farmers are doing daily what only a few of the most enterprising did a half century ago."

It's Modish to Merely Suggest Bolero "Lines"

Many an evening gown reveals a pretty play of the bolero whereby the cunning short jacket silhouette is merely suggested by clever positioning of tiny circular ruffles (see picture), or by an artful placement of platings or beadwork or a fall of lace as the case may be. Anyway, there should be at least the hint of a bolero if not a real one to distinguish the evening mode.

Straw Lace Brings New Beauty to Spring Chapeaux

Millinery fancy definitely turns to straw lace and lacy effects for spring and summer. These openwork straw laces serve as media for cunning dance caps (see hat below to left); also for large picturesque lace brims. Narrow straw lace borders stunning shapes, such as the panamalaque poke bonnet illustrated to the right.

$100. IN PRIZES

The Community Farm News in order to make its space more valuable to the advertiser, increase its list of subscribers and to obtain renewals will give the above amount, divided into four prizes, to the persons having the four highest number of votes at the close of this

Patronize Home Merchants Contest.

FOUR PRIZES WORTH WORKING FOR

1st Prize, $50.00    2nd Prize, $25.00.    3rd Prize.    $15 00
4th Prize.    $10.00

HOW VOTES MAY BE OBTAINED:

Commencing with our next issue and continuing for ten weeks each advertisement in the Community Farm News will state at the bottom the number of votes that it will be exchanged for, and all that is necessary in order to obtain the votes stated is to cut the advertisement out, take it to the advertiser and purchase merchandise for cash to the amount of $1.00 or more and he is authorized to give you the number of votes called for in his advertisement. However it must be a cash transaction and you must give him the advertisement at the time of the transaction, as we require him to return to us the same number of advertisements that he is allotted vote coupons.

Advertisers who do not have merchandise to sell and render a service only, are authorized to issue votes as stated in their advertisement when the advertisement is returned and service or transaction is completed as stated in advertisement.

For every new subscriber or renewal of subscription to the Farm News, whether brought in by a subscriber or a contestant we will give votes as stated in our advertisement in next issue.

This Contest Must Be Conducted In A Fair Manner

It is our aim to make this contest as easy for the small as well as the large buyer to win a prize, hence it makes no difference in the number of votes that you get whether you buy $1.00 or $50.00 worth at one time the number of votes allowed will be the same.

NO UNFAIR PRACTICE WILL BE ALLOWED

We realize the fact in many contests of this nature unfair practices are liable to creep in, but it is our intention to have this contest conducted in a fair manner and have arranged it so that the small buyer has just as a good a chance to win one of the prizes as the larger buyer—it is simply a matter of getting out and hustling and getting all of your friends who are not in the contest to get votes for you.

This contest will begin on Wednesday, April 30, and close Saturday, July 12, at 9 o'clock p. m.

RULES GOVERNING CONTEST:

1—No member or employee of the Farm News office, or advertiser, or member of their immediate families shall be allowed to enter this contest.

2—All subscribers to the Farm News or any member of their families shall be allowed to enter the contest and may solicit the aid of their friends who are not in the contest to aid them in getting votes.

3—To obtain the votes stated in the advertisements in the Farm News you must have the advertisement with you at the time of the transaction as it must be given in exchange for the vote coupons. No advertiser is allowed to give coupons unless presented with the advertisement.

4—Any advertiser found guilty of issuing vote coupons contrary to the rules of this contest will be disbarred from any further participation in this contest.

5—Every advertiser shall be required to return to this office a like number of advertisements as the number of vote coupons received. In case of shortage he shall be charged 5c for each advertisement short.

6—In order to prevent pooling, trading or any few people from obtaining a "corner" in this contest it will be divided into three periods, and all contestants must deposit their vote coupons in this office not later than the date as stated on coupons. When deposited the coupons should be tied up in bundles, counted, together with a slip stating the total number of votes and the name of the contestant, and when so deposited cannot be transferred to any other person. The number of votes so deposited shall not be made public by this office under any consideration.

7—At the close of the contest, Saturday, July 12, at 9 p. m. sharp all votes must be deposited at the Farm News office, and as soon as the judges, (who will be announced later) can render their decision as to the winners the prizes will be awarded as follows: To the person having the highest numbers of votes, first prize of $50.00; to the person having the next highest number, second prize of $25.00; to the person having the next highest number, third prize of $15.00; to the person having the next highest number, fourth prize of $10.00. In event of a tie on any of the above prizes the winner of the prize shall be decided by lot.

8—If the editor finds that the foregoing rules are insufficient to prevent unfair practices of getting votes, he reserves the right to add new rules to correct any unfair methods.

9—Ignorance of the rules or neglect will not excuse anyone, so we urge all who are interested in this contest to read these rules over carefully and keep this issue for future reference, and if there is any part that you do not understand call at this office and it will be fully explained to you.

Flowers that bloom in the Spring and Rock Garden, was the subject of a well prepared paper given by Mrs. F. R. Burns.

The hostess served a delicious two course luncheon, the favors being in keeping with Easter season. Club adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. Merle Smith.

NOTICE TO CLEAN UP

The town Board has designated the first six week days of May as "Clean Up" days for Mentone and has ordered all ashes and rubbish removed from the streets and alleys abutting property in the village during these days.

We might add that this would also be a good time to have the tin cans and other rubbish removed from the lot. We understand that our drayman, Ira Borton will attend to either or both jobs at a very reasonable charge. To be sure it is not necessary to wait until the first of May, you can start in at once if you choose.

NEW POULTRY PUBLICATION READY.

The 1930 revised edition of "Poultry Hints" has just been received from the printer and is now available for free distribution, according to an announcement by Stephen M. Walford, of the Poultry Extension Division of Purdue University. Poultry Hints is a small publication which has met with favor among Indiana farmers and poultry raisers. It contains condensed information on starting, growing and laying rations; brooder houses and laying houses; diseases, parasites and sanitation; as well as suggestions on culling and selection and general poultry management.

Copies may be secured either from county agricultural agents or from Director J. H. Skinner, Department of Agricultural Extension, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

NATIONAL EGG WEEK.

In Honor of the American Hen and Her Wonderful Food Product.

May 1, to May 7—Eat Eggs for Health—They Are Less Expensive Than Meat.

"Eggs for vitamins and health" is the slogan which should always be in the minds and hearts of every American housewife for back of it lies the secret of economy and completeness in the family diet.

In the Egg there is wrapped up in a sealed container, the contents of which have never been touched or polluted by the hand of man, one of the most wonderful Foods which nature provides. Here are just a few of the outstanding facts regarding Eggs and Health.

Eggs Build Resistance Against Disease.

For many years, eggs have been rated as a superior food, principally because of their palatability, their ease and rapidity of digestion, adaptability in cooking, and their satisfying and sustaining qualities. It is only within recent years that students in the field of biological chemistry and nutrition have discovered why eggs are so valuable in our diet. This information came with the discovery of certain very active substances known as vitamins.

It has been found that young children, even when provided with a food adequate in mineral, carbohydrates, proteins and fats failed to grow and thrive properly yet when egg yolk is added to this diet, health is restored and growth resumed. This substance possessed by eggs is known as vitamin A. Remember it is very essential to growth and also prevents certain disease of mucous tissue and increases body resistance to colds and other similar afflictions.

Biological investigation early resulted in the discovery that eggs as well as milk and certain grains and vegetables were rich in vitamin B which was found to have a marked favorable effect on the nerve system. Eggs have a greater variety and a greater abundance of those essential protective properties (vitamins) than any other single food commodity. Why not use them more abundantly? More eggs and less meat will reduce the high cost of living.

Poultry raising for egg production is one of Mentone's leading industries, so let us all line up and celebrate "National Egg Week" by making the egg our chief food item.

STARVING CHICKS IS UNNECESSARY

Experts Find Early Feeding
Is Not Harmful.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The popular belief that baby chicks should be starved for the first 48 or 72 hours to prevent bowel trouble has finally given way to scientific knowledge. It is now known that early feeding is not harmful. However, neither does delayed feeding seem to be harmful.

Experiments conducted by Burt W. Heywang and Dr. M. A. Jull, poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, to determine the effect of early feeding on the absorption of the egg yolk which is usually present in the body of the chick when hatched, show that early feeding actually tends to stimulate slightly the rate of yolk assimilation. Feeding scratch grain caused more rapid assimilation than feeding mash.

As a result of these experiments, Doctor Jull points out, poultry raisers now have unbiased facts to guide them in the management of baby chicks. Under normal conditions the best thing to do is feed them early. If there is some special reason for withholding food for the first two or three days, this can be done without running the risk of stunting the chicks. Baby chicks shipped by parcel post or by express probably should not be fed before being shipped, Doctor Jull says.

Blackhead Evaded by Keeping Poults Alone

To prevent blackhead infection in young turkeys, they should not have chicken or turkey hens as mothers. Even though turkeys are put on a clean range, not infested with blackhead, it is likely that they will get the disease from the mother hen, says J. B. Hayes, University of Wisconsin.

The practice may be avoided by using a new brooder stove for incubator hatched turkeys. A clean range is also necessary, but old birds should not run with the young turkeys, according to Hayes.

By adhering to a strict sanitation program of this kind, Hayes says that blackhead can be evaded, and there should be no more trouble with turkeys than with young chicks.

New England Colleges Formulate Chick Mash

A chick mash formulated at the conference of New England colleges calls for 200 pounds yellow cornmeal, 100 pounds wheat bran, 100 pounds ground oats, 25 pounds meat scrap, 25 pounds fishmeal, 50 pounds dry skim milk, 25 pounds alfalfa leafmeal, 25 pounds edible steamed bonemeal, and 5 pounds salt. The dry milk percentage in this mixture is 7 1/2 per cent. This mash becomes the regular laying mash by the addition of 25 pounds of dried milk and the substitution of ground oat groats for ground oats.

Plan your purchases so that they will always amount to a dollar or more, then look the advertisements in the Farm News over, there may be special sales on just what you want. Cut out the advertisement of the merchant take it to him trade the one dollar or more in cash, and he will give you the number of votes that the advertisement calls for. You will thus possibly save money on the purchase and you will be surprised how interesting the game becomes as you watch the number of your votes mount upward.

COMMENTS AND CRITICISMS

By W. S. Goodland

Senate bill 1468 by Senator Smoot proposes to place tobacco and tobacco products under the control of the national food and drug act on the plea that the health of the people is endangered.

It also places the control and censoring of advertising of these products within the power of this bureau.

Passage of this act will mean a very broad extension of bureaucratic power in this department.

Interpreted in the light of the growth of bureaucracy in government and its assumption of power this will undoubtedly mean that there will follow direct supervision of and interference with the advertising policies and departments of some of the nation's great business organizations. It may also be interpreted to extend into advertising agencies and even into newspapers and magazines.

It would be hard to imagine a more dangerous and provocative extension of power in the national government. This bill confines this extension of power to food drugs and tobacco. Who will predict that it will not ultimately be extended to all business activities?

The preamble of the bill state that its purposes is to "protect the public health and welfare of millions of our population."

This presumes, of course, that the health and welfare of millions of our people are endangered.

That is a ridiculous assumption and cannot be established by facts.

There is now a national food and drug bureau, there are in probably all the states, similar bureaus with broad powers. there are laws against false advertising, fraud and deception fully adequate to protect the public.

Is it true that the public health is in any danger under the laws and conditions as they exist today?

It is apparently an inexcusable and unnecessary attempt to greatly extend the powers of government over great business and industrial organizations and should be scotched in its inception.

CHURCH'S REPLY TO SOVIETS

By DR. J. W. G. WARD (Congregationalist), Detroit.

The day of many deities has not passed, but many strange schemes of salvation are propounded, making the fate of the human soul a matter of doubt. Christianity remains inviolate because it has worked out practically in the tests applied by human life.

The minds of men are still dominated by various beliefs, all of which claim some veneration, but Christianity has stood the test of generations. God has not failed those who trust, obey and honor him. It is His providential care and unfailing purpose which makes life worth living.

In Russia the government has attacked Christianity and seeks to spread her theories beyond her own borders. The corrective lies not in public denunciation so much as in private living. By a firmer loyalty to, and active part in the Christian church, we can show that he who lays hands on this threatens what we hold most sacred and shall not go unchallenged.

ALLOW JUDGES TO COMMENT

By CHARLES M. HAY, St. Louis Lawyer and Politician.

Whether trial judges should sit merely as umpires in the trial of criminal cases, or should, by comments on the evidence, aid the jury in trying the facts, is a subject for debate. For a long time I favored the denial of the right of comment. I am now of the belief that the exercise of that right the better serves the ends of justice. We must never forget that the supreme purpose of every trial is to do justice between the parties thereto. Unless the trial judges have the right of comment, trials too often become primarily a test of the skill of lawyers. Where lies the truth? Which way leads to justice? These are the supreme questions in every trial. Let the judge bring to the aid of the jury his experience, his ability to detect falsehoods, his power to discriminate between true and false issues, his coolness in the storm of conflict.

Breakdowns in justice frequently are due not to methods of procedure, but to cowardly, inefficient or corrupt officials. It is my conviction that for every one man who has gone unwhipped of justice because of defects in our system, ten men have escaped because of a defective administration of the system.

With the New Science of Syllabics

Fay

Fay, the fairy-like. Your name rings a charm in itself and somehow defies us to find anything concerning it in the ancient Greek or Hebrew.

This is because the most learned of us never learn anything about the vast worlds of you, the fays of your fairyland.

Childlike Forehead of Fay

For Fay really means fairy. You can, if you like, go skipping lightly over the waves of life, with your fluffy hair and flying ribbons, laughing at all our learnedness.

The childlike bulge in your forehead suggests precocity. And who shall say that the inquiring mind of the child shall find less wisdom than the sluggish mind of the sages?

Taking the letters in your name separately we find that F stands for both Fast and Furious. It suggests some of the faster movements in the fairy dance music, as composed by some of the great masters.

F provides the Fling and Flightiness of the Forgivable little flashes of anger, followed by a kiss. Smiles through tears, that's the idea.

When we come to the A we think of the most useful word in all the language, "and." We place it here because it comes between the "f" and the "y," and it shall mean to us, Fairies and Youthfulness.

"Young and youthful," how often the world's most wise would claim those simple Y's.

How perennially the effervescence bursts forth in the work of Fay King, philosopher-cartoonist, beloved of the millions.

DO NOT TAKE ANY CHANCES

Cleaning clothing with naphtha, gasoline etc., is very dangerous, regardless of the fact of whether you may have any fire around or not. The rubbing of the cloth can ignite the fluid, and the result is a bad burn or possibly death. Play safe use "Spot Fyter" which is non-explosive. It will clean most anything in a jiffy. Costs only 50c per bottle at Clark's Store.

Superior Folk

It's easy to pick out superior folk. They are the people who don't leave their car parked in the driveway used by two homes.—Little Rock Arkansas Democrat.

It is noticed, in the newer dress designs on view, that legs are being worn shorter in back than they are in front.

The Russians have brought peace in Manchuria by trampling all over the Chinese with their hob-nailed boots.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer notes that the girls in the comics are wearing long skirts. Well, aren't they appropriate there?

Fish with rudimentary hands are depicted in a late nature article. Quite a help, we should think, if the fish is a story-teller, too.

"Avigation" is a word officially accepted by the army as describing navigation for use in aviation. "Avigator," of course, will follow.

The obvious hope of the Soviet to detach Manchuria from China proper makes its far-eastern policy more peaceful than peaceful.

If the human race really is a million years old, that may account for the amount of decrepit mentality we see in these later days.

A person who can do a full day's shopping without feeling weak in the legs or the pit of the stomach is in a condition of robust health.

According to the phone rates, it costs 5 cents to call up the Information Editor and learn that a 1913 buffalo nickel is worth 5 cents.

Why trouble to count noses this year? A national bureau of economic research has already figured out that we numbered 119,306,000 last July 1.

It's all in the point of view anyway, and we dare say a couple of veteran tramps referring to a recent market victim would call him a nouveau bum.

"Being a mammal, the whale of course is warmblooded." It is a relief to know this: We had worried a good deal about Jonah's heating problem.

Overheard on the bus: "The people upstairs played 'Singing in the Rain' until midnight last night. I suppose it must be the theme song for that apartment."

That seventeen-year-old farmer's boy who clung to the tail of an airplane during a seven-mile flight will be hard to shake off when he grows up and becomes a "go-getter."

"No journalist," says Zane Grey, "ever became a literary figure of the first rank." The best he could possibly hope for was a place with Mark Twain and the third-raters.

"How would this do for a comedy idea?" asked the Hollywood gag man. "You put a pair of new skis under the small boy's arm and tell him to walk through a china and glass store."

1st Prize, $50.00	2nd Prize, $25.00.	3rd Prize.	$15 00
	4th Prize.	$10.00

HOW VOTES MAY BE OBTAINED:

Commencing with this issue and continuing for ten weeks each advertisement in the Community Farm News will state at the bottom the number of votes that it will be exchanged for, and all that is necessary in order to obtain the votes stated is to cut the advertisement out, take it to the advertiser and purchase merchandise for cash to the amount of $1.00 or more and he is authorized to give you the number of votes called for in his advertisement. However it must be a cash transaction and you must give him the advertisement at the time of the transaction, as we require him to return to us the same number of advertisements that he is allotted vote coupons.

Advertisers who do not have merchandise to sell and render a service only, are authorized to issue votes as stated in their advertisement when the advertisement is returned and service or transaction is completed as stated in advertisement.

For every new subscriber or renewal of subscription to the Farm News, whether brought in by a subscriber or a contestant we will give votes as stated in our advertisement in next issue.

This Contest Must Be Conducted In A Fair Manner

It is our aim to make this contest as easy for the small as well as the large buyer to win a prize, hence it makes no difference in the number of votes that you get whether you buy $1.00 or $50.00 worth at one time the number of votes allowed will be the same.

NO UNFAIR PRACTICE WILL BE ALLOWED

We realize the fact in many contests of this nature unfair practices are liable to creep in, but it is our intention to have this contest conducted in a fair manner and have arranged it so that the small buyer has just as a good a chance to win one of the prizes as the larger buyer—it is simply a matter of getting out and hustling and getting all of your friends who are not in the contest to get votes for you.

This contest begins today, Wednesday, April 30, and closes Saturday, July 12, at 9 o'clock p. m.

RULES GOVERNING CONTEST:

1—No member or employee of the Farm News office, or advertiser, or member of their immediate families shall be allowed to enter this contest.

2—All subscribers to the Farm News or any member of their families shall be allowed to enter the contest and may solicit the aid of their friends who are not in the contest to aid them in getting votes.

3—To obtain the votes stated in the advertisements in the Farm News you must have the advertisement with you at the time of the transaction as it must be given in exchange for the vote coupons. No advertiser is allowed to give coupons unless presented with the advertisement.

4—Any advertiser found guilty of issuing vote coupons contrary to the rules of this contest will be disbarred from any further participation in this contest.

5—Every advertiser shall be required to return to this office a like number of advertisements as the number of vote coupons received. In case of shortage he shall be charged 5c for each advertisement short.

6—In order to prevent pooling, trading or any few people from obtaining a "corner" in this contest it will be divided into three periods, and all contestants must deposit their vote coupons in this office not later than the date as stated on coupons. When deposited the coupons should be tied up in bundles, counted, together with a slip stating the total number of votes and the name of the contestant, and when so deposited cannot be transferred to any other person. The number of votes so deposited shall not be made public by this office under any consideration.

7—At the close of the contest, Saturday, July 12, at 9 p. m. sharp all votes must be deposited at the Farm News office, and as soon as the judges, (who will be announced later) can render their decision as to the winners the prizes will be awarded as follows: To the person having the highest numbers of votes, first prize of $50.00; to the person having the next highest number, second prize of $25.00; to the person having the next highest number, third prize of $15.00; to the person having the next highest number, fourth prize of $10.00. In event of a tie on any of the above prizes the winner of the prize shall be decided by lot.

8—If the editor finds that the foregoing rules are insufficient to prevent unfair practices of getting votes, he reserves the right to add new rules to correct any unfair methods.

9—Ignorance of the rules or neglect will not excuse anyone, so we urge all who are interested in this contest to read these rules over carefully and keep this issue for future reference, and if there is any part that you do not understand call at this office and it will be fully explained to you.

The Sun Can Hurt

IN SPITE of repeated warnings many thousands of foolish people still conclude that one can suddenly expose the tender skin to a summer's day dose of torrid sun and remain happy. Well, it simply cannot be done.

One must admit that it is great sport to jump out of a city office or home into the briny deep. But it must be as readily conceded that to insult nature by exposing one's delicate epidermis to the sun's rays until pain fully blistered, is carrying one's enthusiasm beyond a reasonable length.

With the present sun fad so extremely and justly popular. It is probably excusable for many unthinking persons to imagine that one has but to stand half naked in the sun's path and derive untold benefit. But the sun does not work that way.

While it is quite true that in tuberculosis and rickets and some skin diseases the direct rays of the sun have definite healing value, that fact does not justify any normal person in arguing that he will be immeasurably benefited by putting the sun violently and burning to work on his short fourteen-day sojourn. Such an attitude is extremely silly.

As a matter of common sense the sun, even at its best, should occupy but a small part of the vacation program. New acquaintances, change of scene, outdoor air, reasonable eating and sufficient rest, are the main factors to be considered if a maximum of benefit is to be derived from the annual visit to mountain, lake or sea. Be a sun faddist, if you will. But don't be a burnt one. Remember, the sun can hurt.

Betty

If puns were allowable, we might say we could bet on Betty. At any rate, you seem always to be there, when anything is going on.

And this, too, is because you are not only invited, but your presence is demanded. Popularity should be your strong point, as it certainly is natural to you.

This popularity can be enhanced through the expressiveness of your eyes or your cute little nose. You are one of those persons who can get more expression in the wrinkling of your nose, than lots of people can get in their whole face.

Among the old fellows who used to boss Egypt, the word ET meant timber or tree. I mention this merely to indicate how solid and dependable you really are under the surface.

Sometimes people enjoy your company so much, with your light-hearted gaiety, that they might not give you credit for the stability which is really yours. Indeed, you may be unaware of it yourself, until some great issue brings it out.

The two Betty's of motion pictures, Betty Compson and Betty Blythe, both illustrate what I mean. They seem to take life happily, lightly, and yet have the stability that must be back of every person who accomplishes the big things of life.

So play your piano, read your novels, but hold yourself in readiness for the one big chance, your real business in life.

By basing your career on the dramatic, or possibly the literary, I feel sure you will make no mistake.

Ain't We Got Fun?

Many are the notions of what is humorous. The practical joker, who really isn't practical at all, is as old as the human race. We have no doubt that, if the human race originally went around on all fours and at night hung suspended by its caudal appendage from the limbs of the forest primeval, there were practical jokesters who occasionally nipped the tail of a slumbering friend, causing him to tumble into the mud and murk below. Pranksters of the modern civilized race sometimes, with great display of originality, call up undertakers, ambulances, coal dealers, transfer companies, florists and others and give them fake orders or ask them falsely to report at a certain address. The empty trip causes a real money loss to the companies concerned and an annoyance to the target of a joke. If it is done for a joke, it isn't good humor. It is plain asinine. If it is done in a spirit of revenge, it is worse. Besides being cowardly, it is plain dirty.

A Dutch breakfast is like no other meal in the world, according to the World Traveler. There are, to start with, at least seven kinds of bread—plain white bread, ginger bread, plain buns, buns with raisins, brown bread, toasted biscuits, sweet cakes and a kind of fruit cake. You will find at least three or four kinds of meat—cold sliced veal, roast beef, ham and sausages. Then, if you don't see it all at once, you smell the cheese, two or three of the Dutch specialties, including Limburger and Edam. There are several dishes piled with boiled eggs, and, of course, there are jams and honey and seasonable fruits. The climax is a pot of steaming coffee, not the insipid beverage of the rest of Europe, but the real thing from the Dutch colonies.

It is stimulating to win. No one likes to lose. But when a team enters upon play it binds itself to abide by the rules of the game and to bow before the judgment and rulings of the officials. If luck breaks badly, or if, by rare chance, unwarranted penalties are inflicted, the team that is well grounded in the attributes of true sportsmanship fights doggedly on, hoping to wrest victory in spite of the unfair odds. If that team loses, its uphill fight becomes the more glorious. If it wins, its victory is the more impressive.

New Methods Adopted In Chilean Industry

Production of Nitrate Fertilizer in Sun-Parched Desert Is Speeded Up.

American engineers are helping to revolutionize an industry up in the sun-parched mountains of northern Chile.

The application of modern methods of mass production is making the Chilean nitrate industry a model of 20th century efficiency, according to Conrado Rios Gallardo, former Chilean Secretary of State, who was a recent visitor to the United States before becoming his country's ambassador to Peru.

With the elimination of waste and the use of labor-saving machinery, a marked decrease, he said, has been made in the cost of producing the fertilizer under the difficult conditions found in the arid desert.

"Never before has the nitrate industry occupied as strong a position as it does today," declared Ambassador Gallardo. "Not only have the mechanical processes been vastly improved, but the production has been stabilized to the benefit of both the producers and the consumers of this fertilizer."

The Chilean Government has taken an energetic part in the improvement of the industry. It has aided the producers through legislative enactment and has encouraged new American processes for mining and refining the fertilizer.

At present nearly one-half of the total capital invested in the industry is owned in the United States, pointed out the Ambassador. American farmers are also the largest users of Chilean nitrate, their consumption during the past five years averaging about 1,000,000 tons annually.

The nitrate fertilizer was first shipped to this country in 1830. It has been used ever since, and today it occupies the honor of being the oldest of the commercial fertilizers.

BIG LOSSES FROM SWINE AILMENTS

Much Could Be Prevented by Providing Dry Shelter.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Heavy losses have been experienced by swine owners this winter as a result of two diseases having symptoms somewhat resembling those of hog cholera. The cause in most cases investigated has been pneumonia, according to Dr. U. G. Houck, in charge of hog-cholera-control work in the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture. The other disease is swine influenza, commonly known as "flu." Losses of swine from these diseases can be largely prevented by providing dry shelter for the animals to protect them from exposure to cold wind, rain, sleet and snow.

"Cases of pneumonia so common in the fall and winter months," Doctor Houck states, "usually follow a period of mild weather when the animals run out or are allowed to bed in the open. The first cold rain or snow nearly always results in a number of sick animals, but this year the loss has been greater than usual, especially in the central western states. In many cases the animals would not go into shelters unless they were driven, while others slept in damp bedding or drafty sheds.

"When permanent hog houses are lacking, comfortable quarters can usually be provided at small cost by the use of the portable A-type houses or other shelter which will protect against drafts, undue dampness and exposure. Even an open-front shed having a tight roof and sides will often afford sufficient protection. The use of bedding also helps to prevent sickness."

It is customary to regard the hog as a hardy animal needing little or no protection from cold weather. As a result of this mistaken idea, entire herds are often unduly exposed and become affected with pneumonia or "flu" with resulting heavy losses to the owners. Even a fat hog, government veterinarians point out, is not so well able to resist a sudden change to severe cold weather as are many other kinds of domestic animals. The thin covering of hair is not sufficient protection against exposure to cold weather, and the danger is increased when the hog lies on wet ground.

When an animal is affected with pneumonia, the symptoms often resemble hog cholera except that the congested condition of the visible mucous membranes is absent and there are no red spots on the skin. The trouble does not as a rule spread to the entire herd, and the post-mortem examination reveals lesions confined principally to the lungs.

Hog "flu" is characterized by the sudden prostration of a large number of the herd accompanied by loss of appetite and spasmodic breathing. When to move, the animals have violent fits of coughing. The eyes are swollen and there may be a discharge from the nose. When a herd shows symptoms of "flu" prompt measures should be taken to house and otherwise care for the animals in order to prevent losses.

"When any of the symptoms described occur in a herd of swine that has already been immunized against cholera," Doctor Houck adds, "one should suspect the presence of pneumonia, 'flu,' bronchitis, or similar disease, and take prompt measures to prevent losses."

Selling Old Sows and Keeping Gilts Is Best

Selling the old sows each year and keeping young ones for breeding is the most profitable practice in Minnesota, says H. G. Zavoral, extension swine specialist, university farm, St. Paul. By this method the breeding stock is kept continually growing and gaining in weight, thereby increasing its own market value as well as providing young stock.

Occasionally farmers may find it desirable to keep over pure-bred sows to improve the breeding in their herds. However, Mr. Zavoral says he has observed during the last ten years that the man who moves his sows every year and raises new ones will have the largest bank balance year in and year out, although he may not always produce the best hogs. Hog men who are most successful are the ones that mark every litter and select gilts from the best sows each year. The average man who follows this plan probably saves one pig less per litter than by using tried sows, but this loss is more than offset by the feed saved.

Castrate Ram Lambs

Many castrate the ram lambs at the same time they are docked. This saves catching them up again and in some cases the saving of labor justifies the practice. When the job of getting the sheep up to the barn is not too great, however, it is better to wait until the tails have healed before castrating. One operation at a time seems enough for a little lamb. Lambs should be castrated young, for the older they are the more severe the operation is for them.

Rubber Goods Not Molded

Contrary to what seems to be the quite common impression, rubber goods are not cast by pouring the melted material into molds. Instead the crude rubber is worked between steam-heated rolls and at the same time the sulphur and other ingredients are mixed in. The warm, plastic mixture is then molded and heated to vulcanize the rubber—that is, to cause the sulphur to combine with it.

200,000 EARS OF CORN TESTED WEEKLY IN STATE.

Purdue News Service.

Seed corn testing continues as one of the most important indoor occupations of Indiana farmers according to the latest reports to the Agronomy Department of Purdue University from county agents and farmers. Realizing that the germination of seed corn is the poorest in years, farmers are doing an unusual amount of testing at home.

Thirty-six counties in central and Northern Indiana report that 95 centralized testers, still operating at full capacity, are testing an average of 200,000 ears of corn each week. These large testers will test from five to 40 percent of the seed requirements of these counties. Farmers who have not tested their seed corn should arrange to do so at a centralized tester or do it at home. Farmers may have their seed corn tested for one to two cents per ear, which makes the cost per acre from 20 to 25 cents. With the average increase of 7 to 10 bushels per acre from tested over untested seed, it is obvious that testing pays large returns for the cost involved.

Any farmer who finds that his corn is testing poorly may secure seed corn of good germination by applying to the county agent. This is a matter that should be given immediate attention in order to insure a good stand of corn. Guessing on the germination of seed corn may be largely eliminated by testing.

SHOOTS SELF WITH SUICIDAL INTENT.

H. Eaglebarger, North West of This Place Tired of Life.

Henry Eaglebarger well known to our readers, aged about 70 years attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself with a 22 Winchester rifle early Tuesday morning at about 3:30.

His rash act was not discovered until 6:30 when his grandson Vincent Goodman who was making his home with him went to the old gentlemen's room and found what had happened. Dr. Clutter was immediately called who found that the victim had taken good aim, shooting himself in the center of the forehead, and while he was yet alive, he was unconscious, and that it would be only a matter of hours until death would ensue.

It is supposed that the act was due to despondency, and from all indications it is apparent that he had contemplated the act for some time. It is supposed that he arose as was his usual habit at about 4 o'clock, dressed himself, with the exception of his shoes, and then laid down in bed and fired the shot.

He has been very morose since death of his wife several weeks ago, but none of his relatives suspected that anything like this would be the result.

M'CARDLE TRIES BALM ON IRATE PHONE GROUP

Commission Chairman Fails to Pacify Subscribers.

(Taken from the Indianapolis News)

North Manchester, Ind., April 25—John McCardle, chairman of the public service commission, addressed a good will meeting of representatives of the subscribers' organization of the Northern Indiana Telephone Company, here Thursday night.

The subscribers' organization headed by Carl Gast of Akron, was organized following a petition filed with the service commission by the Northern Indiana Telephone Company asking for an increase in rates and the abolishment of free toll service between the towns of the company. The organization was formed to fight the petition.

McCardle in an informal talk with the representatives of the organization outlined the duties of the commission and its limitations of action in cases of the kind affecting the community and said he believed if he could take the time to spend several days in the communities affected by the petition asking for increased rates he could iron out the difficulties to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Representatives of the subscribers' organization told McCardle that the thing necessary to make peace between the subscribers and the company was that the free toll system between towns be continued and that the rates should be kept at their present level. They also urged McCardle to get the commission to take immediate action on the petition, which they said had been delayed too long.

McCardle told the meeting that the delay had been made necessary because of serious illness of his family. He warned the representatives at the meeting against taking the case into the courts saying that cases in almost every instance were won by the companies.

The leaders of the subscribers' organization told McCardle that they had a better understanding of the situation because of last night's meeting than they had at a meeting held previously but that they were organized to fight the petition and would go the limit even to the point of taking out their phones if the decision of the commission did not meet the approval of the subscribers.

The fourteen towns in the Northern Indiana Telephone Company system include, besides North Manchester, Bippus, Sidney, Silver Lake, Claypool, Mentone Akron, Fulton Macy, Milwood, Atwood, Bourbon, Etna Green and Burket.

Those who represented Mentone at the meeting were F. R. Burns, Frank Manwaring and Mahlon Mentzer.

STRAWBERRY MUST HAVE FERTILIZER

Apply Barnyard Manure During Winter or Spring.

Strawberries are great lovers of fertile ground and thorough tillage. These two things are all-important and both should be started long before the strawberries are planted. During the winter or early in the spring, the ground should have an application of barnyard manure. The amount to apply depends very largely on how much is available. It is hard to get on too much. Early in the spring this manure should be disked into the ground so as to get it thoroughly mixed with the soil before plowing. After plowing, apply from two hundred to four hundred pounds of acid phosphate per acre and keep the ground well harrowed until planting time. Plant only strong young plants with good white roots. A cloudy day soon after a shower is a good time to plant. Do not allow the roots to become dry while planting. While planting, remove all leaves except two or three healthy young leaves to each plant, and cut the straggly ends of the longest roots back. Press the ground firmly around the plant so there will be no air spaces around the roots. Do not set the plants too deep nor too shallow. The crown should not be buried, neither should the roots be exposed.

After planting, keep the cultivator and the hoe busy until late in the fall. Do not let the rows become too wide. Neither should the plants be too thick in the rows. Late in the summer it would pay very well to apply a light sprinkling of sulphate of ammonia around the plants and along the sides of the rows. Do this when the leaves are dry and if any of the fertilizer stays on the leaves, brush it off with a broom as it will burn. This fertilizer application is used to make good strong fruit buds for the next spring's crop. Late in the fall, after the first freeze, mulch the plants with straw. The following spring the mulch can be raked between the rows to help hold moisture and to keep the berries clean.

Prevent Winter Injury by Improved Drainage

Winter injury to the vineyard is usually associated with too much rainfall during late summer and early fall, which prevents the newly formed grape buds from reaching maturity before freezing weather sets in, say horticulturists at the experiment station at Geneva, N. Y. This is said to be especially true if the vineyard is located on poorly drained soils, and it is believed that much winter injury may be prevented by proper drainage which removes the surplus water and allows the grape tissues to harden up before cold weather.

When cultivation of the vineyard is discontinued in July or August, the weeds should be allowed to grow without cutting, so as to let the weeds utilize as much of the soil moisture as they will, say the station specialists. Green manure crops sown after the last cultivation aid in drying out the soil, provided they do not shade the ground too much. Rye, wheat, oats, barley, and buckwheat make especially good cover crops, as they shade the ground very little, while rape and cowhorn turnips are less desirable.

Some winter injury to grapes will nearly always follow low temperatures, but the extent of the injury may be materially lessened by following the practices here recommended.

Horticultural Hints

Remove all water sprouts.

Cut out the poorer or crossed and crowded branches.

Lime-sulphur may be used on all trees that are susceptible to the scale insects, but must be used before the leaf appears.

Go over the entire surface of the tree, thinning it out evenly by removing small branches and twigs that can be cut with hand shears.

Most growers who have made a study of mulching materials claim that wheat straw is about the best material to use. Of course, the chaff should be removed from this. Oats straw is also looked upon with favor, though it has a tendency to mat down.

The dormant spray for fruit is applied before the buds begin to swell on the trees. Get ready now by ordering your lime sulphur liquid. It should be diluted with eight to ten parts of water before application.

Growers find that they can get from 10 to 25 cents a bushel more for apples that are well packed instead of being just poured into the basket. Honestly facing a bushel of apples does not improve the flavor or value of the fruit but it makes a more attractive package.

Proud Old Spanish City

Toledo, ancient capital of Spain, is her most crowded city. Physically crowded—with narrow streets and buildings squeezed inside the walls, leaving not an inch to spare. It is crowded, too, with associations and memories: of Spain in her glory under Ferdinand and Isabella; of the Moors who came before; of Cervantes and El Greco, Spain's great artists.

Orchard Information

RISKY TO PLANT TREES IN FALL

Reasonably Safe if Plants Are Properly Cared For.

Fruit trees are sometimes set in spring or in fall, but it is more risky to plant them in the fall, say fruit men at the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y. They also say, however, that whether planting is done in spring or fall, trees should be ordered in the fall, for by ordering them for spring delivery, fruit growers are more likely to get from nurserymen the exact varieties and ages of trees desired.

Fall planting may be practiced and is reasonably safe if the plants are well cared for and are mulched during the winter. Once in a while, however, weather conditions are unfavorable and many trees or berries that are planted in the fall die. For this reason spring planting under New York conditions is to be preferred year in and year out for all fruits.

One point that favors fall planting is that the air gets cool in autumn while the soil stays comparatively warm. This favors callus formation in the roots and helps the tree or plant get firmly seated in the soil.

Two drawbacks sometimes have to be reckoned; one is too much rain and the other is too little. If the soil is too wet, the trees may heave in the soil and break their roots. Heaving is worse on heavy, clay soils.

If there is too little water, the trees may die. These, of course, are chances every grower must take if he practices fall planting.

Start Deciduous Trees With Green Manure Crop

In general practice, it is a good plan to start the deciduous orchard by growing a good green manure crop on the land the year previous to planting. This should then be followed by at least one such crop between the rows of trees every year thereafter, particularly while the orchard is young and the trees occupy less space. If this practice is followed, the fertility of the soil often can be maintained without resorting to the use of other fertilizers. The kind of crop used for this purpose and the season when it is grown depend a great deal upon the location and soil. Preference should be given leguminous crops, since they furnish both nitrogen and organic matter, unless, by the rank growth of the trees, it is seen that the continuous use of legumes is supplying too much nitrogen. This is sometimes possible in growing peaches in certain soils, and a change to rye or oats for a season is necessary. Cowpeas and tepary beans have been found most satisfactory as summer legumes, planted after the weather becomes warm. However, white sweet clover is gaining favor as a cover crop in our valley districts where a shade crop is desired through a part or all of the summer. Planted early in the spring, it makes a very rank growth by the middle of summer, when it should be cut or disked. In addition to furnishing a large quantity of vegetable matter, it is deep-rooted and, consequently, is a good crop for soils in general. It makes heavy soils more open and friable, and gives lighter soils greater water-holding capacity.

Orchardists Find That It Pays to Fertilize

Sulphate of ammonia will increase fruit yields, Wisconsin farmers are finding. According to C. L. Kuehner, fruit crop specialist of the Wisconsin Agricultural college, 29 Milwaukee county orchardists used last spring from 5 to 700 pounds of sulphate of ammonia on their fruit trees, having learned from past experience that in terms of increased yields the application is worth the time and expense of applying it.

The number of trees fertilized in each of these Milwaukee county fruit groves varies from 5 to 400. It is interesting to note, Kuehner says, that those who used the fertilizer in 1927, have increased the amount this season.

Spray ring outfits are also increasing rapidly among Wisconsin fruit growers. A spray ring is a group of orchardists who are co-operatively associated in the ownership of a fruit tree spraying machine, which is taken from one farm to another throughout a neighborhood, to fortify the trees against insect and other parasitic pests which destroy fruit and reduce its quality. There were 17 new spray ring organizations formed in Wisconsin last spring, bringing the total number now in operation up to 142.

Codling Moth Date

Apple growers will insure themselves against probable loss from wormy fruit during the coming season if they will keep in close touch with their state experiment stations to determine the actual date of codling moth emergence. The grower can establish breeding cages in his own orchard and determine the proper time to spray. When the date is actually known, the regular series of high pressure sprays applied at the customary intervals will insure a crop of worm-free apples.

World War Air Fighting

Various types of combat planes were used in the World war and the guns were not always mounted in the same fashion. With the single-seaters it was common or usual to fire through the propeller's arc. German planes were equipped with parachutes toward the end of the war, but scarcely any of the Allied planes carried them.

CLEANER RANGES VERY ESSENTIAL

System of Rotation Advocated by One Specialist.

The difficulty of raising young stock free from intestinal parasites year after year on the same range has become so great that many poultrymen are finding it necessary to abandon the old ranges and provide new, clean ones, reports J. C. Taylor, associate poultry specialist at the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, Rutgers university.

Mr. Taylor defines a clean range as an area of ground on which no chickens were raised last year and on which no poultry manure has been scattered for the last two years. Where such a range is not available, he advises a system of rotation so that clean ranges will be available in the future. In the rotating system one range is used for the chicks one year while the others are cultivated and cropped. A two-year rotation is good but a three-year rotation is much better. In this, three areas are available, thus making it possible to keep the chicks away from each range for a period of two years. Corn, clover, and chicks make a desirable rotating arrangement.

By providing a clean range the mortality from coccidiosis and intestinal worms is greatly reduced, extensive experiments have shown.

Grades for Chickens on Chicago Poultry Board

Poultrymen who sell live birds on the Chicago market will be interested in the grades as provided on that market by the Chicago poultry board.

Live poultry is graded as prime or No. 1; medium or No. 2; and canners or No. 3, each grade being defined as follows:

No. 1 poultry, or prime, shall consist of vigorous, fleshy, healthy birds, free from tumors, downers, T.B., gaps, swollen heads or eyes, bruised legs or wings, hunchbacks, heavy indented or crooked breast bone.

No. 2 poultry or medium, shall be vigorous, healthy and free from tumors, downers, T.B., gaps, swollen heads and eyes and culls, but may consist of indented and crooked breast bone, hunchbacks, bruised wings and legs, also scrubby hens and all hens under 2½ pounds.

No. 3 poultry shall be such as will not qualify as No. 1 or No. 2, excepting diseased birds not fit for human food.

Feeding Young Chicks After the First Month

Most people feed their chicks well for the first month when the little chicks need careful attention in the brooder or with hens, but after they get older and do not need to be watched closely, many lose interest in or at least allow the chicks to rustle for themselves. This common mistake is hard to overcome for it is natural for one to become more careless with the chicks after they have a good start in life. Chicks are not so apt to die as before, but they are still apt to become runts and therefore unprofitable.

Chicks should have access to a well balanced ration throughout their life. Pullets that are matured are the ones that lay during the fall and winter when eggs are high in price. It takes proper rations, plus early hatched chicks, to raise this type of pullets.

Poultry Hints

Kill all weak and undersized chicks at the start.

When goose eggs are to be kept a while they should not be washed.

Depth and width of body are characteristic of good breeding stock.

Oyster shell, sunshine and green feed are all necessary for high hatchability.

Give baby goslings water from the start but do not let them get their bodies in it or trample in it.

Good breeding stock is the foundation of success. The combination of heavy egg production and beauty is the ideal toward which we should strive.

Remember that your success in producing hatchable eggs depends on the vigor and vitality of the breeding stock, complete rations containing vitamins and minerals, and the proper care of eggs before setting.

Green feed, dandelions, young clover or alfalfa or even lawn clippings should be provided after the ducks are a week old.

As in the case of insufficient vitamin D, the egg shells become much thinner, which increases the chances of loss by breaking.

Select your breeding pen or pens from among your high producers, preferably from hens only, thus securing longevity (continued high production), as well as stamina.

Historic Settlement

The first settlement at Harper's Ferry was made by Robert Harper in 1747. He ran a ferry across the Potomac at this point.

MARRIAGE OF TWO POPULAR MENTONE YOUNG PEOPLE.

JOHNS—SWICK

A very pretty wedding took place at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swick of Mentone, on Wednesday, April 23rd, at 8 P. M., when their daughter, Isabelle, was united in marriage to H. Vance Johns, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Johns of Mentone. Preceding the ceremony two marimba solos were played by Adrian Little. The wedding march was played by Winnifred Swick, sister of the bride. The double ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. J. S. Johns, father of the groom. The attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Little, sister and brother-in-law of the bride celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary on this occasion.

The bride was attired in a gown of peach georgette with accessories to match. She carried a bouquet of Japanese rose buds. The groom was attired in the conventional black.

The house was charmingly decorated with cut flowers and the ceremony was performed under a bridal arch which carried out the color scheme of pink and white.

The dainty refreshments carried out the same color scheme. Those besides the immediate families of the bridal couple were the Misses Ethel Snyder and Leona Leininger of Mentone, Margaret Meredith of North Manchester, Mary Hoover of Culver and Mr. Gerald Fretz of Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Johns was a graduate of Mentone High School and is now a teacher in the Tippecanoe Schools. Mr. Johns is also a graduate of the Mentone High School and of the Askin College of Embalming of Indianapolis. He is now a successful Funeral Director of Mentone. They will be at home in the near future in their home on South Franklin Street.

Both of the contracting parties are well and favorably known to our readers who join with us in wishing them happiness and prosperity in their journey through life.

Pioneer Fertilizer Mined on Barren Lands in Chile

Introduction to United States in 1830 Marked First Use of Commercial Fertilizer.

THE first hundred years in the use of commercial fertilizers can now be recorded in the agricultural history of the United States. The practice of using commercial nitrogen as a fertilizer was started in 1830 when the first shipment of nitrate of soda was brought to this country. Up to that time only lime and marl of the inorganic substances now commonly used for agricultural purposes were known to the early farmers. Used continuously since that time, nitrate of soda, or Chilean nitrate, as farmers commonly call it, is now recognized as the oldest of the present-day commercial fertilizers.

Although nitrate of soda has become a commonplace article on farms throughout the country, it is not generally known that one of the romances of modern civilization is woven around this fertilizer. It is a product of a barren desert, high in the Andes Mountains of northern Chile. There is no rain or vegetation in the entire nitrate zone, which occupies a region nearly as large as the combined area of New York and Pennsylvania. Not a blade of grass springs from the soil, beneath which is one of the most important fertilizing compounds known to Nature.

The nitrate ore is found at various depths below the surface, the average being about three feet. It varies in richness from 5 to 70 per cent sodium nitrate. Open-cut mining is practiced in removing the ore, after which it is transported to a refining plant erected near by on the desert. The refining of the ore is an extremely technical process. The objective of the operations, however, is to remove the impurities from the ore and to concentrate the sodium nitrate so that when ready for shipment the fertilizer contains 96 to 99 per cent sodium nitrate and analyzes 15.5 per cent nitrogen. Iodine, which is also present in the ore, is a by-product of the refining process. Small quantities of this element are found in the fertilizer, as are also traces of boron and magnesium.

Conservative estimates by geologists and engineers in Chile indicate that the deposits are of sufficient size to supply the needs of the world for generations to come.

Red Letter Events Found in American Agriculture

1830—Nitrate of soda introduced into United States. In point of service, nitrate from Chile is exceeded only by lime and marl of the inorganic substances now used for farm purposes.

1842—Lawes in England took out patent for making superphosphate. Since that time phosphate deposits have been discovered in our southern states and in Africa.

1860—Potash from German mines first utilized for farm purposes.

Poultry Notes

Feed grain in troughs each day.

Start with chicks from breeding stock of known merit.

Grow chicks separate from old flock so they will not range on same ground.

Goslings cannot live without grass. Dry bread softened in sweet skim milk and pressed quite dry is good for the first feed.

The ration fed the breeding pens should be complete in every way: In addition to protein, carbohydrates and fats, the ration should contain vitamins and minerals.

Nothing will take the place of a well-constructed brooder that is properly operated. Chicks are not weatherproof any more than they are troubleproof. If they are exposed to extremes of heat and cold they will soon be on the sick list.

When ten days old the ducks can be cut down to three or four feedings daily.

A fat breeding hen is not conducive to hatchability in the eggs she produces.

Chickens need minerals both for body maintenance and for shell formation.

Use dependable brooder of proper size for house and number of chicks to be brooded.

Discard all hens which lay very small eggs, since these eggs hatch poorly and produce pullets that lay small eggs.

Serape floor, sweep walls, scrub with hot lye water and spray with disinfectant before moving house or putting in chicks.

Probably the most satisfactory and certainly the easiest and simplest way to mature and condition pullets is to allow them a good ration and keep them on clean range.

Snow turns to slush no quicker than adulation of it turns to villification.
