An Investment When you spend your money with your home merchant it helps to make a live town—a good live town increases property values That Pays Dividends

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison

The Little Town

I've tramped the cities up and down,
From north to south and east to west,
But after all, the little town,
It seems to me, is best.
I like its quiet restful days—
Without the rush and noise,
I like its unpretentious ways,
I like its girls and boys.

The little town provides its thrills
The same as cities do—
But theirs is not the pace that fills
Life's cup with bitter brew;
They find their fun in simple things,
With little pomp and show,
And yet, true happiness it brings,
As those who've tried it know.

Perhaps some think that I'm a "rube"
To feel the way I do—
And some might say "That guy's a boob!"
And maybe that is true.
But, "rube" or not, I'd be content
To be of small renown—
Have quiet fun, pay little rent,
Within some little town.

FAMILY REUNION CARDS

The Farm News is especially equipped to print Family Reunion Cards this season at the following very reasonable prices.

100 or less $1.25

For each card over 100 add one-half cent.

The above is for the printing only, patrons are to furnish the cards. Place your orders early so as to give us plenty of time in which to do the work.

Community Farm News Office, Mentone.

THEY APPRECIATE YOUR PATRONAGE.

There is not another town in this part of the state wherein the merchants show their appreciation of the patronage extended them by the farming community as do the merchants of Mentone. This year, as in the past these men are spending a nice bunch of money for the entertainment of the people who come to this village. Band concerts every Saturday evening and free moving picture shows each Thursday evening, to which every-one is invited, surely is good evidence of their appreciation of your trade. And we believe that the people in this trade territory are beginning to realize the fact that aside from our entertainments they can buy just as cheap in Mentone as at any of our neighboring towns.

The constantly increasing crowds to be seen on our streets during the week, especially on Thursday and Saturday nights is sufficient evidence to convince most anyone that Mentone must be a good trading center.

If you are not as yet a regular visitor to Mentone, we would suggest that you drive in to some of our entertainments and we are sure that you will be pleased with our efforts to entertain, and that you will become a regular visitor to our town.

JESUS AHEAD OF HIS TIMES

By PROF. WILLIAM LYON PHELPS, Yale University.

It is often said that no one can speak or write for posterity, but it is certain that Jesus talked over the heads of His audience and that people of the Twentieth century understand Him much better than those who first heard Him. He was a trouble-maker, a challenging and provocative nuisance. Many people hated Him, many could not understand Him, but nobody forgot Him.

Instead of giving explanations He aroused questions in people's minds. The world has been trying to live up to Him, but for nineteen centuries we have still failed to catch up with Him, because He is 10,000 years ahead of this present time. The most liberal, progressive and advanced thought and action today would be to go straight back to Jesus and imitate Him. He was no political revolutionist, but He started a revolution in every individual heart.

He meant to turn people from selfishness to unselfishness, from cowardice to courage, from vulgarity to purity. He always emphasized the spirit above everything else. There was a certain recklessness about Him. He had no prudence, no caution. He told people that they must give themselves to religion with no reservation.

Be sure to ask for votes when trading with our advertisers. If you are not in the contest help your friends. They will thank you.

PAINT HEADQUARTERS

Specify SWP

good painter

Why SWP costs less on your house than any other paint

What will it cost to paint your house? This is what concerns you — not what the paint costs per gallon.

While fine old SWP costs more per gallon, it costs less on your home than any other paint. Why? Because one gallon of SWP will thoroughly paint almost twice as much surface as a gallon of cheaper paint. Therefore fewer gallons of SWP are needed.

So — ignoring the fact that SWP lasts twice as long as cheaper paint, and that its weatherproof colors retain their beauty to the very last — the first cost of painting your house with the world's best house paint is actually less than that of cheaper paint. Buy your paint on a job basis and save. Let us prove it to you by simple arithmetic.

SWP House Paint

The world's standard of house paint quality. SWP is made in one quality only and that the very best. Famous for long life and the permanency of its many beautiful colors. Covers more square feet of surface per gallon. Costs less on the house than cheaper paints at a lower price per gallon. Regular colors, per gallon . . . $3.50
Gloss White, per gallon $3.75

S-W Floor Enamel

Antiquarian Find

Laborers working in a garden in Devnia, a village on the Black sea coast, dug up two earthenware pots containing 620 pounds in Roman silver coin, all cast in the reign of Emperor Domitian (88-91 A. D.). Police seized the find for the state.

Spanish Beauties

If you would see the real "blue bloods" of the world, you must be one in the tourist parties which go to Spain every year. They are the blond-haired, blue-eyed beauties which you meet in old brunette Seville, probably derived from the Visi-Goths, whose strain has given our language the real "sangre azul."

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

By John Clarence Funk, A. M., Sc. D.

Director of Public Health Education,
State of Pennsylvania

"Eighteen Pounds—Eighteen Days"

STYLE in feminine beauty has fortunately changed. The recent rage for the athletic type unquestionably sent many a foolish young woman to her grave by the tuberculosis route, was responsible for placing thousands more in the sanatorium and made temporary semi-invalids of still another large group of women, young and not so young.

Today, curves are once more coming into their own. And with them is developing a more sensible attitude on the part of women relative to the diet question.

Emaciated looking flappers no longer attract the young men. Behind the unnatural slimness the opposite sex are seeing the pale cheeks, the lack-luster eyes and the listless manner which no amount of cosmetics, no matter how skillfully applied, can these days conceal.

From all this, it follows that America's women are once more eating rationally. Potatoes and bread and butter are again coming into their own. For which be all praise!

However, there are still many foolish people, both men and women, who have not yet learned their lesson. And they consequently persist, in spite of the overwhelming evidence against the policy, to attempt to remove what they consider to be superfluous flesh in a criminally short time.

One hears the expression "eighteen pounds in eighteen days" too frequently mentioned. It is true that an extremely small proportion of people who have possessed an overabundance of avoirdupois have removed that many pounds in that many days under the careful guidance of medical experts. But it is quite another matter for a self-diagnosed "stout" to apply such a Spartan regimen to himself.

In the first place, there are ninety-nine chances to one that people do not need such heroic treatment, indicated as it is, only in cases where fat is considered to be a seriously damaging condition at the time; in the second place, it is an extremely unwise and hazardous matter to try to remove in a few days pounds of flesh which have probably been years in the making; and in the third place, in all likelihood some of the pounds which one feels that he does not need are of value and therefore should be retained.

Keep your curves if you possess them, bearing in mind that unsightly fat and marked overweight can be reduced by a sensible cutting down in the food intake over a period of months.

Nature frowns upon abortive methods. Don't be an "eighteen pounds—eighteen days" victim.

BAKE SALE

The Ladies' Aid of Tippecanoe M. P. Church will hold a bake sale at the Borton Cream Station, Mentone, Saturday June 7, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m.

THE WINONA CUTS

OFF FOUR TRAINS.

Beginning last Sunday the Winona Interurban discontinued two south bound and two north bound passenger cars, which cut the service to five passenger cars each daily. The cars eliminated were the 9:03 a. m. and the 3:05 p. m., north; and the 3:50 p. m. and the 7:50 p. m. south. The corrected schedule as it now stands is as follows:

North	South
10:57 a. m.	7:50 a. m.
1:14 p. m.	9:47 a. m.
3:05 p. m.	11:40 a. m.
5:05 p. m.	1:35 p. m.
9:05 p. m.	5:50 p. m.

Slowly but surely the automobile and bus is eliminating local passenger service on steam and electric lines, and it seems to be only a question of time before local passenger service will be eliminated on railroads entirely.

—FARM BUYERS:—It will pay you to see Oral C. Coyle & Son, Warsaw, Indiana, for real bargains. There is one of these bargains near you.

MARION LONGFELLOW IS NEW ATTENDANCE OFFICER.

Marion F. Longfellow, of Warsaw former Wayne township trustee, was confirmed this afternoon as Kosciuko county attendance officer by the county board of education. Longfellow succeeds Oliver Teel, of Mentone, who has served two terms successfully in that office, introducing the new Teel system of keeping records. Teel was not a candidate for reappointment, due to the fact that his poultry business has grown to such an extent that all of his time is required by his poultry interests.

Marion Longfellow was recommended to the board of education for appointment by Harry E. Lewallen, county superintendent of schools. Longfellow took a successful examination a year ago and his name remained on the eligible list, when a second term was urged on Teel.

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY TO ED WALBURN.

Ed Walburn, 72, dropped dead in the yard of the home of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Snoke at Claypool at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He had been sitting in a chair on the front lawn when he was stricken with a heart attack and fell from the chair dead. He had not been ill previous to his death. Mr. Walburn had always made his home in the vicinity of Claypool.

One son, Conda Walburn, of Mentone, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Snoke, of Claypool, are his only surviving relatives.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Tucker funeral home in Claypool. Rev. W. O. Powers, of Mentone, had charge of the services. Burial was made at the Palestine cemetery.

—FOR SALE:—Living room suit in good condition. Looks as good as new. Inquire of Mrs. Nellie Kercher, phone 1½ on 92, Mentone.

CHILDREN'S DAY PROGRAM

Next Sunday evening June 8th, at 7:30 a children's day program will be given at the M. E. Church. A good program consisting of a playlet and miscellaneous numbers has been arranged and everyone is invited to be present. Children's day not only is interesting and helpful for the children, but seeks to create an interest in educational work. The offering is used as a loan fund for worthy students. Let us make it a great service.

The regular services of the church are as follows.
Sunday School... 9:30 a. m. Sunday Morning Worship 10:30 a. m. Sunday Evening Service... Children Sunday Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:30. W O Power, Pastor

DO NOT TAKE ANY CHANCES

Cleaning clothing with naphtha, gasoline etc., is very dangerous, regardless of the fact of whether you may have any fire around or not. The rubbing of the cloth can ignite the fluid, and the result is a bad burn or possibly death. Play safe use "Spot Fyter" which is non-explosive. It will clean most anything in a jiffy. Costs only 50c per bottle at Clark's Store.

Child's Vocabulary

There is no complete survey as to how fast a child progresses in its vocabulary. It has been estimated that the vocabulary of a child from 2 to 3 years of age contains from 600 to 800 words. Children who have been in school two years have a vocabulary of about 1,900 words.

IF YOU MET WITH A SEVERE ACCIDENT.

Was Laid up in a Hospital or
Home Could You Pay Your
Expenses for One
Cent a Day?

IT CAN BE DONE.

Pay us $3.65 or at the rate of a penny a day for a whole year, and in return should you at any hour of the day or night during the year be riding as a passenger on a railroad train, steam boat, street car, elevated or subway car and by the wrecking of that vehicle you become injured, we will pay you at the rate of $100 per month for one day of more for a period of a year's time. Should you be killed we will pay to your estate $5,000.00 and in event you are permanently disabled by the loss of one or more limbs or the sight of an eye or eyes, we will pay you from $1,500.00 to $5,000.00 depending upon the extent of your disability.

Suppose you should become injured, from the wrecking of your automobile, or while riding in your friend's car. Suppose you are riding in a taxi cab, motor bus, or elevator, and through the wrecking of that vehicle if you should be injured we would pay you at the rate of $100.00 a month, and if killed your estate would receive $1,000.00; also for loss of sight, or limbs from $500.00 to $1,000.00.

That's Not All—This same indemnity would come to you for injuries received as a result of being struck by lightning, injured in a tornado, by being burned or suffocated by smoke in the burning of a church, school building, theater, store office building or lodge room. Should you drown while bathing at a bathing beach your estate would receive $1,000.00.

Furthermore—Suppose you were struck, knocked down or run over while walking or standing on a public highway. Suppose you were injured while driving a truck, wagon or buggy, and if you are a farmer, suppose you were injured while operating a threshing, mowing or heading machine, a binder, harrow, plow or tractor, we would pay you for one day or more of disability at the rate of $50.00 a month; and if killed your estate would draw $500.00.

This 1c Day Will Also—entitle you to a $10.00 medical or surgical attention for any of the foregoing injuries that does not totally disable you, and if you are injured in any accident, any place, any time and are laid up for a month you will receive $25.00.

Road Hogging

THE dangerous, unexplainably selfish and unsportsmanlike practice of road hogging undoubtedly is responsible for more traffic accidents on American highways than any other single factor entering into the scheme of motoring conditions.

That the road hog should be smitten with a vengeance similar to that exercised in strapping out any other common or garden variety of pest, is a foregone conclusion. Any motorist will agree with that.

Highway facilities in the United States are inadequate despite the rapid progress demanded by the requirements of the twenty-six million motorists who are trying to use them in the interest of furthering their individual needs. They would not be nearly so inadequate if the road hog could be abolished and if highways could be used as a means of accommodating an expeditious movement of traffic instead of the hodge-podge that exists today.

A number of progressive cities have declared war on the road hog. Chicago is a notable example. In that city, the person who attempts to drive slowly on a high speed boulevard is treated with the same degree of intolerance as the driver who attempts to break speed records where slow and careful driving is necessary.

Michigan has discarded the old fashioned method of regulating speed and has established in its place a law which permits the individual motorist to govern his speed in accordance with the width of the road, traffic conditions and sane driving policy. This law was enacted on the theory that thirty or forty miles an hour may be perfectly safe under certain conditions while, under other conditions, fifteen or twenty miles an hour may be dangerous.

The motorist who causes an accident in Michigan through carelessness or recklessness, loses his license and is otherwise dealt with severely.

Undoubtedly, other states will follow these examples in time. When they do, a welcome relief from the road hog should be closer to accomplishment. In the meantime, the best way to work on that type of driver is to show him how unpopular he is.

The road hog has been defined as "that type of motorist who takes his half of the road from the middle." He is noted for his persistency in poking along on a high speed boulevard, forcing those who would pass him to endanger their own lives and the cars and lives of those who may be approaching from the opposite direction.

Deliberate road hogging is pure selfishness and those who engage in it should be made to pay the penalty. Automobile manufacturers are doing their best to make the automobile as safe as possible.

Four-wheel brakes, all-steel full vision bodies and a hundred and one other modern ideas have been adopted in an effort to reduce traffic accidents. But accidents we will always have so long as motorists engage in unsafe driving practices, and particularly that one known as road hogging.

Personal experience has taught me to drive with my head as well as my feet and hands. And this is particularly true when I am in unfamiliar territory. I have found it both wise and safe to put my car in one lane of traffic and keep it there. It saves me the bother and expense of buying new fenders and of paying doctor and hospital bills. Besides, it preserves my nerves for speed-way driving.

LIVE STOCK

SHIPMENT RULES FOR LIVE STOCK

Circular Gives Information on Transporting.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Live stock owners often have occasion to ship domestic animals from one state to another. When they make such shipments they should know what regulations must be observed. These regulations vary somewhat for animals intended for breeding, feeding, exhibition, and other purposes. To aid producers and shippers in obtaining information governing each of these cases, the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, has published a circular which gives brief statements concerning the essential requirements for animals entering each state. This is Miscellaneous Circular 14-MC, "State Sanitary Requirements Governing Admission of Live Stock," which has just been revised and is available on application to the department.

The information in the circular is obtained by the bureau from officials of each state, and deals principally with the movement of cattle, horses, mules, asses, hogs, sheep, and goats. Some states also have regulations governing the admission of other stock such as poultry, foxes, dogs, and cats. Information as to who may inspect animals for shipment, what tests are acceptable, and the names of the state officials who have charge of inspection are also given.

Self-Feeders Adapted for Heavy Grain Feed

Self-feeders for grain have been used continuously for many years by some of the leading steer-feeders in the corn belt. They are especially suitable for feeding heavy rations of grain. In fact, self-fed steers usually eat more and make greater gains than hand-fed steers. Many of us feed hay by the self-feeder method to fatten steers, but we do not call it by that name.

In self-feeding grain, great care must be given to starting cattle on feed. To turn a bunch of hungry steers that are not used to grain onto a self-feeder which allows them all they can eat, would be disastrous. Animals of this kind should be handled for a month or more in the troughs of the self-feeder until they are completely on a full feed of grain. One should start with about one part of grain to three parts of roughage by weight. Then gradually increase the grain until the cattle are getting three parts of grain to two parts of roughage at the end of the first month. Of course, toward the latter part of the fattening period the cattle will be eating about three times as much grain as roughage.

Danger of Bloating Is Drawback to Alfalfa

Except for the fact that there is some danger of bloat, alfalfa makes a splendid pasture for cattle. The danger from bloat can be minimized by not turning the cattle in when they are exceedingly hungry. If they have had a meal of ground feed or hay or silage and are fairly well filled before turning them on, there will not be much danger of bloat. Providing a rackful of hay or straw also prevents bloat to some extent.

While the cattle do not eat much of the dry material they will, if hungry, eat enough of it so that they will not be so ravenous when turned on the alfalfa. The mixture seems to help. In starting the cattle on alfalfa it would be advisable to keep them on only a half hour to an hour at a time at first, lengthening the period as they become accustomed to it. The danger of bloat is greatest when the alfalfa is wet or covered with frost.

Sheep Thrive on Weeds Without Eating Grass

The poorest sort of pasture will maintain one ewe per acre. Good grass will maintain five, or even more. Sudan pasture will maintain ten or more during the grazing season.

The value of sheep for the farmer lies in the fact that they live largely on weeds and in the ordinary weedy pasture will improve the grass if not too closely confined. The most profitable flock of sheep is that number which will keep down the weeds on a farm without eating very much of the grass. Sheep will kill out nearly all the weeds in a pasture in a couple of years, thus permitting the grass to make a fresh start and come back to a thicker stand.

Shipping Hogs

Because of high prices being paid for finished hogs and the increased losses in shipment due to summer heat waves, farmers will be well repaid for extreme care in getting their hogs to market, according to the swine department, University of Illinois. Shipping conditions may be improved by hanging ice in burlap bags from the roof of the car. This will cool the air and the drippings will provide a cool place for hogs to lie in.

Titled Italians

The former existence in Italy of so many separate sovereignties gave rise to a great number of hereditary titles of nobility. There are many hundreds of princes, dukes, marquesses, counts, barons and viscounts, and many persons of patrician rank with a right to the designation "noble" or "signor," as well as certain hereditary knights or cavalieri.

Irene

As the eye indicates our wakefulness, so the first syllable in this name,

A Typical Irene Eye.

IR, really signifies the wakefulness of the city. This naturally makes you most adapted to city life, where you will not only be most at home, but where your greatest success is almost certain to be found.

Your second syllable, ENE, tells us a lot about singing. This means not only songs of a joyful, happy nature, but the song of triumph, which you will sing because of your watchfulness for opportunity in the city.

Only a few people can succeed, and then be peaceful. You have real ability here, because you avoid the continual urge of ambition, the dynamic drive for more of success and of applause.

The whole word Irene means peace, quietness and rest.

The letter I in your name, like the human eye in your body, is able to radiate great peacefulness among your friends and loved ones. At times this wakefulness may have a dash of fire in it, like that of Irene Bordoni, the French actress and vaudeville artist.

Taking the letters separately in your name I signifies Immaculate, Innocent; R stands for Righteousness and Restoration; E stands for Entre and Entertainment, while N stands for both Nobility and Novelty.

Whatever advice is given you, you will do as you like about following; but the principal bit of advice that you really need is to be kind to your inferiors.

The reason for this is that you have the tendency to attract around inferiors who grow. These may, quite unexpectedly, catch up with you or even go ahead of you.

To you especially applies the conclusion of the little fable about the grasshopper who spurned the acquaintance of the caterpillar, and was afterwards snubbed by the butterfly who had been the caterpillar.

WINONA LINE PASSENGERS SEE LARGE EAGLE SWOOP DOWN AND GET SNAKE.

That great king of birds, the golden winged American eagle, made one of his rare appearances in a truly characteristic act which harks back to the old McGuffey's reader days. In the old readers was a picture of the eagle soaring aloft with a wriggling long snake in his talons.

The picture was re-enacted before conductor and passengers aboard a Winona interurban car two miles north of Mentone. A big golden winged eagle was seen to swoop down on the tracks a short distance ahead of the interurban car, snatch up a squirming blueracer snake and fly away with the reptile grasped and wriggling in its claws. Motor-man Lon Cassel summoned his passengers to witness the unusual sight.—Warsaw Times.

LIFE INSURANCE FOR PEOPLE PAST SIXTY YEARS.

We take applications for life insurance on men and women up to 70 years, providing that the applicant is in good health. The cost is approximately one dollar a month for a policy paying from $500.00 to $1000.00 according to your age when application is made. If you are too old to get insurance in another company and desire more insurance here is your chance. No medical examination required, but you must be in good health and not crippled.

Konjola Ends Rheumatism And Other Ailments

Indianapolis Man Found Quick
And Permanent Relief In New Medicine—Is Telling Others

MR. JOHN REED

"I suffered severely with stomach trouble, kidney trouble, and rheumatism," said Mr. John Reed, 443 West South Street, Indianapolis, "My food remained undigested and I had severe bloating pains often followed by severe heartburn. My liver was sluggish and I had a bad taste. My kidneys were weak for I had dull pains across my back and my hands felt numb. Rheumatism attacked my right shoulder and pained me severely.

"My ill health had gone on for three years when I began taking Konjola. I was relieved almost from the beginning of the treatment. My appetite improved, food no longer soured in my stomach and I was free from bloating, pains and heartburn. Four bottles of Konjola restored my health, banished my liver and kidney weakness and drove the rheumatism from my system. Even the catarrh from which I had suffered for years, was much improved, and I am telling others about Konjola."

Konjola is not a "cure-all." There is no such thing. But, taken over a six to eight week period, this great compound will accomplish amazing results even in the most stubborn cases.

Konjola is sold in Mentone Ind., at the Shafer & Goodwin drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout the entire section.

Analyzing ...YOU...

With the New Science of Syllables
By C. J. COFFMAN
Dean of All the Enumerators

Helen

Your name, Helen, divides a little differently than the actual syllables would lead us to believe.

Helen's Wide-Set Eyes.

The first syllable, HE, is equivalent to the fifth letter in the Hebrew alphabet, HE, which really signifies a window. You do serve a purpose in life very much like a window, in that through you your friends often "see a light." You are more of an inspiration than you have any idea.

You are nearly certain to have a high, smooth forehead, with splendid development of the memory faculties between your eyes. Your eyebrows are likely to be prominent, signifying your strong character.

Taking off the first letter of your name we find a syllable, EL. To the ancients EL meant God and it was natural to couple up the idea with the windows of heaven, thus joining two sides of your nature together, as He, the Window, and EL, the God.

Thus you can be not only an inspiration humanly to your friends, but you can be the window of God.

Your last syllable, LEN, means to tarry or abide. It suggests meditation and the thoughtfulness seen in your splendid, wide-set eyes.

Taking the syllable found in the last two letters, EN, we find the reason for your hold on people, your popularity. In the Greek, EN means in or among, and you will not only be "among those present," but you are more likely to find that your charms will land you "in the swim," socially speaking.

But you will have to remember your God-like inspiration in order to do these things. When anyone offers you a superior position, or the better place, take it. Never mind that old stuff about "somebody else more worthy," so long as you did not thrust yourself forward in any untoward manner.

As an example of the qualities that I have mentioned here, Helen Hunt Jackson of another day, demonstrated them most beautifully. She it was, who wrote the beautiful story of enchanting California, under the title, "Ramona." This title has more lately furnished us also a beautiful song.

VERY MUCH IMPROVED

We are pleased to note that Mr. P. W. Busenburg who has been very ill for the past few months is sufficiently recovered to be able to be up town occasionally, with the aid of a wheel chair.

A RACING PILOT'S Slant on Motoring—

by Ralph Hepburn

IV

Watch the Other Fellow

THE accident statistics show that motorists do not realize that an automobile improperly driven or not well kept, is a dangerous vehicle.

Racing drivers keep their personal cars in the best possible adjustment. Most race drivers are able to handle their cars perfectly but they give a great deal of attention to brake adjustment, tire inflation and proper lubrication.

It may seem strange that the average American highway should be more dangerous than the speedway, yet, this is the fact, due largely to thoughtlessness of many otherwise normal people.

On the race track we know what our competitors are going to do under most circumstances or emergencies. But who can tell on the highway whether or not the driver in front of you is going to swerve out at you just as you are passing him? This sort of thing is done times without number, in order to avoid holes, an animal, a hat, or "that not."

It is all right if the scene is a country road and the next car is fifty or more feet back, but thoughtless or incompetent drivers do it in congested traffic, when cars are running two and three abreast. They have no consideration for anyone else on the road. And the result is accidents.

They turn corners without giving proper signals to those behind. They turn corners too fast in ninety cases out of every hundred. And when stopped by the traffic lights, they itch to make a quick getaway. It is this latter practice which causes a large number of minor accidents and some serious ones.

Here now, I want to ask you a question. Think of ten people you know best who have automobiles. Do you know how many times they have received tickets for traffic violations? How many have you received? Now listen carefully. I know, personally, ten race drivers who have never been in an accident on a public highway and who have never been arrested for breaking traffic rules. One of these drivers has been driving since 1898. (He drove the second automobile ever to come to this country). He has been driving different makes of cars for 32 years and has never been in an accident nor caused one.

He doesn't drive around corners fast. He doesn't drive right up to another car and slap on his brakes; he doesn't weave in and out of traffic; he doesn't go any faster than he considers safe for himself or the public on the highway; he never races to beat a light, and in all these years he has never had an automobile accident. Think of it!

In these days of super-luxurious, full-vision, all-steel bodied cars, equipped with the best brakes American engineers have been able to design, the papers are still full of descriptions of fatal accidents—due of others.

WE SAY THAT IT PAYS.

If you have something to sell, and the price is right, the Farm News will bring you a buyer. Our advertisement of a stove in last week brought in several buyers and the stove was sold Wednesday afternoon the same day the paper came out.

POULTRY

CULL LOAFER HEN EARLY IN SEASON

Nonlayers Kept Until Fall
Bring Very Small Price. •

A hen sold in June will bring in more than a hen sold in October, poultrymen often say.

To test the truth of that statement, particularly as it affects culling the loafers, poultry extension specialists at the Ohio State university present this example on the basis of last year's prices:

"A Leghorn hen weighs four pounds. She was worth 28 cents a pound or $1.12, on June 7 last year. On October 11 this same hen was worth 19 cents a pound, or a total of 76 cents. She was worth 36 cents less simply because of a lowering of price. It would be necessary to make a profit of 36 cents on that bird in the four months from June to October to pay for her depreciation in value."

Prices generally go that way every year, the university poultrymen point out, hence the necessity for culling the loafer hen early.

"Another reason," says Paul Zumbro, one of the specialists, "is that culling lowers your feed costs. That Leghorn hen would eat approximately 25 pounds of feed in the four months, which would cost from 60 to 70 cents."

"The hen stops laying the first of June. She is not sold because the flock owner is too busy, or it is thought she will lay later in the summer. Summer comes and the hen is still out of production, October comes and the hen is sold to make room for pullets. On this one hen the poultryman has lost 36 cents for depreciation in price, and 60 cents for feed."

Daily Feed for Young Ducks Varies Greatly

The amount of feed needed each day for young ducks varies as much as does their growth. Their growth averages a half pound a week, and to make this increase of weight each week requires an additional quantity of feed over the preceding one. The rule is, feed each meal what they will eat up clean with a relish, and do not allow them to linger over the feed trough.

It is better they should have not enough than too much, as they will be in a much better condition to relish the next meal. One thing is considered to be of as much importance as the feed, and that is removing the feed left over and thoroughly cleaning the troughs after each meal. This is scrupulously attended to by successful duck raisers.

Inexpensive Shed Is Suitable for Ducks

Any shed will do for a duck house provided it is draft proof. It does not have to be very warm. It would be a good idea to have a concrete bottom which should be covered with shavings. A few shavings should be spread in the corners so as to give the ducks a dry bed.

For ten ducks and a couple of drakes a house ten feet square would answer. If it were 12 by 20 it would be much better. You could build a shed roof and have one or two windows occupying about one-fourth of the south elevation. It would be well to have these windows slide up or down or sideways, keeping them open a little bit at all times even if it is cold, for ventilation.

Poultry Hints

More revenue from farm flocks is obtained from eggs than from broilers or roasters sold.

Hatching eggs need careful handling. Eggs that become chilled and wet are not likely to hatch well.

Owners should not attempt to raise chicks in makeshift quarters, as the results will not be satisfactory.

Ventilation in the poultry house must be secured without drafts.

After the usual crop of broilers goes on the market, the prices are materially reduced as compared to the ones that are developed from the early hatched chicks.

Try the sanitary plan this year: Healthy chicks, disease free ground, brooder stove in disinfected brooder house, balanced feed in self feeders, brooder house and equipment kept clean throughout the season.

If the farmer and his wife took as long a vacation as the average farm hen the bankruptcy law would soon be overworked.

If the turkey hen is to be allowed to hatch her own eggs, the nest should be made where it can stay through the hatching season.

- Inbreeding is risky with turkeys, yet males should be bought from the same strain each year, provided it is a good strain. Each strain introduces new tendencies and qualities.

The onward march of humanity and civilization is surely an upward march toward self-control and what we call character.—Thomas Paine.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

That it is a bad policy to use a cheap grade of lumber on a building or repair job?

WITH A LOW GRADE OF LUMBER

The labor costs are greater, and as this expense regardless of the grade of lumber must be added to the cost it is seen that when you figure up at the completion of the repair or building job you will find that the money saved by using a low grade of lumber is about all used up by added labor costs, and you have a second class job at a first class price. Think this over before you start to build.

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison

Small Town on Saturday Night

Automobiles, row on row,
Country people (few I know),
Sunday papers, grinning boys
Selling them—with lots of noise.
Smiling merchants, busy stores—
People crowding through the doors,
Busy clerks who show that they
All have spent a weary day.

Market baskets filled to top,
(Held by men who hate to shop!)
Baby buggies (quite a few),
Holding babes that cry and coo.
Little groups of happy folks,
Laughing, chatting, telling jokes.
People, people everywhere,
Seeming not to have a care.

Work and worry seem forgot,
Seemed contented with their lot.
Most of them are quick to smile,
Glad, it seems, to chat a while.
Snobbishness is cast aside—
Little, now, of silly pride,
Reason why is hard to tell.
Saturday Night—and all is well!

BAND CONCERTS AND FREE PICTURE SHOWS DRAW LARGE CROWDS TO MENTONE.

Each succeeding Thursday and Saturday evening the crowds in Mentone are increasing which is very convincing proof that the people in the surrounding country fully appreciate our entertainments and the efforts of our merchants to please the people.

And it will be found that it is not only with free entertainment that our business men are bidding for your patronage for if you will shop around at the stores you will discover that the prices in Mentone on many items are considerably lower than in many of our neighboring towns, and if you are not at the present time making this village your trading point we would suggest that you make us a visit on one of the evenings of our entertainments—you will receive a very cordial welcome and will, we are sure enjoy your visit.

You will find plenty of parking space for your car and our genial marshal, Frank Warren, is always on the job—not to bawl you out, but to assist you to locate a good space to park your car. By all means get in the habit of trading in Mentone and combine business with pleasure.

CHANGE IN GRADUATION METHOD

By ROBERT MAYNARD HUTCHINS, President Chicago University.

I would base college graduation on proved mental capacity rather than on grade points. The experiments of the collegiate division should center on the business of getting the student started on his education. Normally an individual might stay there two years. On the other hand, he might spend one or three years in the collegiate section. At the conclusion of this period he should enter the university as distinguished from the collegiate program.

In the university his object should be to begin the study of some division of knowledge that is of particular interest to him, and which he is qualified to deal with. This program also should be flexible; he should go as fast as his abilities permit. In those studies in which he chooses to specialize he should have a minimum of instruction, and should put forth a maximum of independent effort. In those which he merely wants to know about he should be lectured en masse by the best lecturers to be obtained.

NEED OF CULTURAL EDUCATION

By REV. J. W. R. MAGUIRE, President St. Viator College.

The college of liberal arts has not received such generous support as the universities where technical and professional knowledge is acquired, and I would make a plea for greater generosity on the part of those interested in education toward the colleges of liberal arts.

It is inequitable and unjust that institutions which seek to enlighten 875,000 of the 1,000,000 students enrolled in colleges and universities of the United States should be in possession of only one-half of the endowment funds in the country and the 125,000 should be the beneficiaries of the other half.

The college of liberal arts must be released from the hampering bondage of poverty so that, freed from mere material considerations, it may serve the cause of truth, of goodness, of beauty and of right human life. If the college of liberal arts is allowed to fail, culture and civilization will be imperiled. Its future, however, is assured, for its importance and its needs have only to be presented to the people of the United States to receive willing, spontaneous and generous support.

PAINT HEADQUARTERS

good painter

Why SWP costs less on your house than any other paint

What will it cost to paint your house? This is what concerns you — not what the paint costs per gallon.

While fine old SWP costs more per gallon, it costs less on your home than any other paint. Why? Because one gallon of SWP will thoroughly paint almost twice as much surface as a gallon of cheaper paint. Therefore fewer gallons of SWP are needed.

So — ignoring the fact that SWP lasts twice as long as cheaper paint, and that its weatherproof colors retain their beauty to the very last — the first cost of painting your house with the world's best house paint is actually less than that of cheaper paint. Buy your paint on a job basis and save. Let us prove it to you by simple arithmetic.

SWP House Paint

The world's standard of house paint quality. SWP is made in one quality only and that the very best. Famous for long life and the permanency of its many beautiful colors. Covers more square feet of surface per gallon. Costs less on the house than cheaper paints at a lower price per gallon. Regular colors, per gallon . . . $3.50

Analyzing ...YOU...

Dean of All the Enumerators

Grace

Your name begins with G, the seventh letter. To the enumerator this represents God, but to everyone else you will need to bring out the God within you. It is quite probable that you will be deeply religious in your own way, but not easily restrained by creeds or dogmas. The word Grace really means to do things without friction, and you are happiest only when you are doing things that way.

The Eyes of Grace.

Your deep and studious eyes show the ability to penetrate the thoughts of others. You can mother them, even though you disagree with them.

With an almost unlimited courage you combine a peculiar timidity, a fluttering of heart and mind, like a frightened bird, making almost a paradox in your life.

Taking off the G in your name we find the word RACE. This indicates the speed with which you can accomplish a thing your heart is set upon. It also has a relationship to the pride you take in skill of fingers.

The first three letters of your name, GRA, relate to an old Greek root, to write. In this you will probably find your greatest career. Among the modern Graces who have exemplified this is Grace Coolidge.

Taking off the first two letters of your name gives us the word ACE. This gives you the desire as well as the ability to hold to a single ideal, and to demand the singular possession of what you feel to be your own.

You have one of those peculiar natures that gives you access to what you set your mind upon, but this is curiously restrained by the timidity that I mentioned. Ordinarily you are not lonesome even when alone, your mind is so filled with things to learn and to do.

Go right on courageously then, Grace, knowing that all things come to him who waits, if you continue to labor while you wait.

HOME ECONOMICS MEETING

A joint meeting of the Mentone and Tippecanoe Home Economics Clubs was held at the home of Simon Snyder north-west of Mentone on Wednesday p. m. June 4.

The Mentone ladies were the guests of the Tippecanoe ladies and furnished the program consisting of two playlets entitled, "Silas McDubb buys a mattress," and "All's well that ends well."

Mrs. Snyder and Miss Ethel Snyder, assisted by their committee served beautiful and delicious refreshments of pink and white ice cream, angel food cake with pink icing and coffee, with pink baskets of mints as favors.

They proved their ability as hostesses and a very pleasant afternoon was spent beneath the majestic evergreen trees on the Snyder lawn.

The Mentone Club will meet with Mrs. Allie Latimer on July 1st. The leaders were called to attend the county meeting at Warsaw on June 10th.

TEEL-MALONE

The wedding of Oliver C Teel, county truant officer and former agricultural agent of Kosciusko county, and Miss Ava A. Malone, who for the past three years has been Kosciusko countynurse, took place high noon Saturday at the home of Mr. Teel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clement L. Teel, in Mentone. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. Johns, pastor of the Church of Christ in Mentone. Members of the immediate families and Mrs. J. S. Johns were the only witnesses. The bride is the daughter of William Malone, of Marietta, Ohio. The couple will take a wedding trip through Ohio.

MISTAKES WILL HAPPEN

In the advertisement of Black's store on another page we neglected to insert "Doran Station." It is very probable that this omission is not serious as nearly everybody knows that this store is located on the Interurban south of Mentone. Many of them also know that by trading with Black they save considerable jack.

Indoor Sun

THE present day eloquence of the high-powered advertisement writer has found an extremely popular outlet in connection with the sun. One has but to read in the front and back pages of the magazines fully to appreciate the miraculous power of the sun's rays as a healing and health developing agent.

And the strange thing about it is that no matter how eloquent these expressive men may become on the subject, they cannot get very far away from the truth. As an agency for health and well-being old Sol stands almost alone in efficiency and wonder working.

But there is a great chance of one becoming slightly confused on this subject. The use of the sun's rays as a healing agent under professional guidance is one matter, and the purchase of so-called sun lamps to be used as a substitute for the natural sun is quite another one.

To begin with, a sun lamp to do its job properly must give forth ultra-violet rays in sufficient quantities; and in the second place, the application of such rays requires intelligent direction.

As a matter of fact, a number of the so-called sun lamps are somewhat lacking in their ability to generate the ultra-violet ray. They will give forth heat, most certainly—but that is about all. However, sun mindedness need not suffer because of such a mechanical deficiency.

It must not be forgotten that the natural sun yet shines for every one. And those who really desire the benefit of the ultra-violet rays can in most seasons and upon many days obtain them through the simple expedient of getting outdoors.

It is safe to say that a brisk walk daily in the sunshine, moonshine or no shine at all will do the normal person quite as much good as the use of the average so-called sun lamp.

On the other hand, if one is sick and is actually in need of the indoor sun, then follow the doctor's advice regarding it. But don't fly off the handle on this artificial sun question.

INTERESTING EXHIBIT

Josh Garwood exhibited a couple of interesting curiosities at this office that he obtained while he and Mrs. Garwood were spending the winter months in the south. It seems that Mr. Garwood spent considerable of his time fishing during the trip and among his collection of curios was a grinder almost the exact duplicate of the average stone crusher taken from a Drum fish.

This curious set of bones and molars was taken from an eight pounder and were located just back of its gills and was undoubtedly used to grind up the oyster shells etc., that this species of fish feeds upon. When looking at this grinding device one cannot help but come to the conclusion that the inventor of the stone crusher stole his idea from the drum fish.

He also showed us the jaws and teeth of a Sheephead fish which looked somewhat like the jaws and teeth of a weasel only that it had three rows of molars instead of one, which would indicate that this fish also feeds upon something that needs considerable grinding.

DO NOT TAKE ANY CHANCES

Cleaning clothing with naphtha, gasoline etc., is very dangerous, regardless of the fact of whether you may have any fire around or not. The rubbing of the cloth can ignite the fluid, and the result is a bad burn or possibly death. Play safe use "Spot Fyter" which is non-explosive. It will clean most anything in a jiffy. Costs only 50c per bottle at Clark's Store.

Simply Co-Ordination

Diligence is a high-sounding word, but it means merely the co-ordination of mind and body in our daily tasks. The diligent man never becomes a mere industrial machine. The thought he puts into his work makes it a living thing.—Grit.

Peculiarities of Echoes

Echo effects are often different when a hall is full. It has been found that an echo which may be there if a hall is filled with women may be entirely absent when the audience is a male one. The silk of women's garments absorbs sound far less than the thicker tweed and woolen clothing of men.

A RACING PILOT'S Slant on Motoring— by Ralph Hepburn

Positions of Hands and Feet

PROPER driving posture is an important thing frequently left unlearned. Fatigue can be avoided by assuming a comfortable position. This is important and should receive due consideration from the student driver. The position of the hands on the steering wheel is perhaps one of the things that rarely receives any particular attention.

Good drivers declare that holding the hands in a position similar to the hands on a clock when it is twenty minutes past ten is the most advantageous position in so far as comfort and possible emergency necessity are concerned.

The position of the feet is another matter that deserves consideration. Until a driver is sure he can find the brake pedal quickly without looking, his right foot should be in the immediate vicinity of the brake pedal while driving.

It is not good practice, however, to keep the left foot on the clutch pedal, as this causes slippage of the clutch and premature and unnecessary wear and tear.

In driving down steep hills, it is the accepted practice to use second gear and press the brake pedal only intermittently. Constant use of the brakes on long steep hills frequently causes them to burn out on many of the popular priced cars. The use of second gear, however, acts as a brake and precludes the necessity of constant pressure on the brake pedal.

Motorists who form these habits while they are learning to drive will continue them naturally as they become more expert. The result is fewer repair bills, increased safety and less driving strain.

Before the advent of the all-steel, full vision automobile of today, driving was a strain on the nervous system. However, the modern automobile if properly driven can be as comfortable and delightful for the driver as it is for the rest of the passengers.

And speaking of nerves, you will find that most racing drivers travel from town to town at an even, steady pace of between twenty-five and thirty-five miles an hour, which they can maintain hour in and hour out, uphill and down dale, in traffic and on open highways. This produces greater safety, much less fatigue and nerve strain, and, in the course of a day's journey much greater mileage than the habit most people have of driving in fits and spurts, fifty miles at times then slowing down to ten or twelve when traffic forms an obstacle to speed.

VISIT IN WHITE COUNTY

Wm. Romine and Wm. Thrasher and family attended the annual Children's Day exercises held at the Monon M. E. Chapel. These exercises have been an annual event for 56 years, being held in a grove near the church on the second Sunday in June of each year. This was the first chance that Mr. Thrasher has been able to attend for 17 years. He was formerly a resident of White county and was a regular attendant at these meetings. While on the trip the party visited the grave of Mrs. M O. Thrasher and looked over the large electric dams at Oakdale and Norway.

Poultry Raising Made Profitable to Farmer

Poultry raising should be made one of the most profitable industries on the farm. There are thousands of farms in the country today where a few tows are kept that are given no attention whatever, aside from an occasional feed of corn and other grain, says the Southern Cultivator. They are left to shift for themselves, to eat what they can find about the yards and barn lots and to roost on fences and trees in winter and summer. And yet, their owners will tell you that by the sale of chickens and eggs from these neglected mongrel broods half the food and clothing of their families is supplied. Like soils that are never manured and half cultivated, the returns are ten-fold more than are deserved. The farmer should be a successful poultryman. He has many advantages for carrying on the business profitably that the average breeder does not possess. If he has an improved breed of fowls and the necessary accommodations in the way of houses and yards, and knows how to feed and care for his flocks, he can raise chickens at a very small cost.

Cockerels as Broilers Preferred to Capons

According to experiments conducted at the poultry department at the State College of Agriculture in New York, there is a very small margin of profit in growing capons compared to selling the cockerels as broilers. Feed seems to be the greatest item of extra cost. In some sections, relatively low feed costs and a high price for capons on account of good demand might make the business very profitable. In other localities the matter of feed, housing and labor over the period of six or eight months very often eats up the margin between the price obtainable for the broilers and the price for the capons. On the other hand capons have proved exceptionally profitable for many.

COLTS and BOYS

By A. J. Dunlap

*"Colts and boys are much alike,"
Our father used to say—
Now there's the Hamiltonians,
And Billie, Burt and Jay;
The Hamiltonians will do
Just anything you please—
A tight rein with a rattan whip
Will handle them with ease.*

*The boys are nearly like the colts—
They, too, need steady reins;
But whips will never do at all;
For surging through their veins
There sweeps the blood of centuries
That, from time's ancient cave,
Swept out to dominate the earth—
As master, not as slave."*

*So when our toddling days were done,
He put the switch away
And took us in his confidence;
Myself and Bill and Jay.
He's gone but still somehow our souls
In life's rough stress and strain,
Are guided by his steady voice,
And hand upon the rein."*

Dustbag for Vacuum Cleaner

The bureau of standards says it is possible to make a dustbag for a vacuum cleaner without the use of chemicals. The material is usually made from a warp heavily sized before weaving and in the weaving operation a very close, tight fabric is constructed, making the interstices between the threads very small to prevent the escape of dust from the bag. Chemicals may be used to shrink the fabric and make the interstices smaller.

Discovery of Iodine

Iodine was discovered in 1812 by Courtois, a French salt manufacturer. He was boiling the ash from seaweed in copper kettles. Upon the addition of unusually strong sulphuric acid to the residue in his pots, he saw violet fumes arising from them. It was named from a Greek word meaning violet color.

DADDY THE DAIRY

OVERFEEDING IS CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Calf Often Given Too Much Milk or Alfalfa Hay.

Overfeeding of skim milk and alfalfa hay, or filth in pens, mangers and feed buckets are the causes for most calf troubles, says E. A. Hanson, dairy extension specialist, University Farm, St. Paul. When scours appear, at once reduce the amount of milk and grain fed, advises Mr. Hanson, as well as changing to timothy hay, if alfalfa or clover is being fed. Pails and utensils for calf feeding should always be washed each day and placed in the sunlight.

Newborn calves should be allowed to have the first, or colostrum milk from their dams, as this is an aid to the digestive system. Whole milk should be fed for the first three or four weeks. After this, the change from whole milk to skim milk may be made by adding one pound of skim milk and taking away one pound of whole milk daily until all skim milk is being fed. Healthy, vigorous calves can take one pound of skim milk for each 10 pounds of live weight until they are consuming 16 pounds daily. After that, nothing is gained by the feeding of additional quantities, according to Mr. Hanson.

When eight or ten days old, calves will begin to nibble hay and should be given some clean, bright clover and timothy hay. Alfalfa is excellent for older calves, but frequently causes scours in young animals and therefore should be fed sparingly. Calves should be encouraged to eat grain early, as this will supply some of the food materials, such as fat, which are lacking in skim milk. A good feed mixture may be composed of 30 pounds ground oats, 30 pounds ground corn, 30 pounds bran, and 10 pounds linseed oilmeal. Calves under five months of age may be fed as much of this mixture as they will clean up twice a day. Older calves should be limited to 6 pounds or less, depending on their age and growth.

Record-Making Cows Are Now Milked by Machines

The prejudice which still exists against the milking-machine among some dairymen is entirely unjustified, says a dairy expert in the Farm Journal. Where better results are not obtained than by hand-milking the explanation usually is not that the machine is at fault but that its user is careless in cleaning and caring for it, he observes.

Positive proof of the efficiency of the machine is offered by recent world records set by two Holstein cows. One of the cows, a Holstein owned by John G. Ellis, Lee, Mass., has made three world's records by the mechanical-milker route. Her latest record is 701 pounds of fat in 305 days.

For six years Ellis has been doing machine milking, and in the past five years his cows have made 13 world's records. He is producing grade A milk for the New York market.

The other record cow is a Holstein owned by Charles Hughes & Son, Neenah, Wis. As a four-year-old, she produced 642 pounds of fat, 20,114 pounds of milk, in 365 days. All this milk was drawn by a mechanical milker, twice-a-day milking.

Dairy Facts

A full dinner pail for the dairy cow means a full milk pail for the dairyman.

Cows like salt. Feed one pound of salt to every 100 pounds of grain mixture.

It takes all winter for a good cow to recover from the effects of a poor pasture and no grain.

Cows respond to good treatment, regularly of milking, careful management, and liberal feeding.

Children and young calves may contract bovine tuberculosis by drinking the milk from tuberculous cows.

The tubercular cow should be removed from the milk supply. Safety cannot always be guaranteed by pasteurization.

Cows love water. Next to air, water is the cheapest food known for health. Water also aids digestion, manufactures blood, and is used to secrete milk.

Cool the cream after skimming and keep it cool by setting the can in cold water, changed three times daily during summer. Stir the cream at least twice a day and don't mix warm cream with cold cream.

Silage will be plentiful on most farms although the quality may be poor in many cases, the specialists believe. This is due to the early frosts and the wet weather during the silo-filling season which caused a low quality of corn and some mold in the silage.

THE ROSE IS THE FLOWER.

The wild rose is the official flower of the United States. In about a million votes cast in the selection of a national flower, this beautiful modest flower received nearly a half.

It is a good selection. It is found in so many parts of the United States—north or south, east or west. It is hardy. It possesses color. It has most of the beauty of the hot house plant, but it grows upon the hillsides. It is a good selection.

In the vote for the national flower the columbine stood second. The violet got a hundred thousand votes and the goldenrod received 84,000 ballots.

The goldenrod deserves all that it received. We cannot imagine that many who suffer from hay fever approve the goldenrod. Its pollen does not bring happiness, but this yellow flower is always beautiful and many times, magnificent.

On the whole the wild rose is a good selection.

POULTRY

EGGS PRESERVED IN WATER GLASS

Take Advantage of Opportunity to Store for Winter.

When eggs are at their lowest price during the spring and early summer, many people take advantage of the opportunity and store a few dozen for home use during the winter when prices are unusually high.

The water-glass method for preserving eggs is one of the most reliable, according to O. C. Ufford, extension poultry specialist for the Colorado Agricultural college. One quart of water glass is mixed with nine quarts of water for preserving ten to fifteen dozen eggs.

Only clean, fresh eggs free from cracks should be preserved in water glass. Eggs with soiled shells should never be washed and used for storage. Infertile eggs are preferable whenever they can be secured. Here are the directions:

1. Use a 5-gallon earthen jar, well scalded.
2. Boil water and allow it to cool.
3. Mix water glass and boiled water in proportions of 1 to 9, as given above.
4. Place eggs in jar and keep covered with at least two inches of water glass solution. If one does not have enough eggs to fill the jar at one time, additional eggs may be added at any time and more solution poured over them.
5. Cover jar when full and place in a cool location.

The quality of the eggs removed from the preservative will depend upon their condition and quality when put down. They will serve the purpose of strictly fresh eggs for all household uses, but for boiling, the shell should be pricked with a needle as the preservative seals all pores on the egg shell, which prevents the escape of gases when boiling. The eggs should be washed before using to remove the white deposit that forms on them. One should never use an old solution for a new batch of eggs.

Prevent Coccidiosis Among Little Chicks

Bloody diarrhea or coccidiosis is a fatal, parasitic disease of poultry. Its effects become apparent during warm, rainy spring weather which is favorable for the development of the parasite egg in the soil.

The symptoms are unthriftiness, diarrhea and leg weakness. Chicks from four to six weeks old are most susceptible. Losses vary from 25 to 100 per cent. A chronic type of the disease may appear in the late summer and fall.

An ounce of prevention is worth many pounds of cure, says Dr. I. B. Boughton, chief of animal health at the University of Illinois. He has had opportunity to investigate hundreds of outbreaks of this disease. His recommendations call for new, clean lots each spring with the old ones plowed and planted to a crop. Thorough disinfection of houses and brooders at regular intervals is also necessary.

Light Colored Fowls Best for Marketing

In the dressed poultry trade today, the preference is for light colored birds, whether chickens, fowls or turkeys. Well fattened birds, properly bled and picked, bring the best prices. Defects in bleeding and picking may cause a price reduction of several cents a pound. Fowls weighing four and one-half pounds or more bring a premium over lighter birds. Broilers must weigh at least a pound at the beginning of the season and a pound and a half or more later and be well finished to satisfy the trade.

Fancy heavy capons weighing nine pounds or more top the market. Capons weighing five pounds or less frequently sell for less than ordinary roasting chickens. Smaller geese are wanted than formerly and young birds weighing nine to eleven pounds are most in demand. Ducks should weigh four and one-half pounds or more and white ducks are preferred.

Feeding Chicks

Don't feed the newly hatched chick too soon after hatching. It should not be given food for at least 48 to 72 hours after hatching, says Orville Ufford, poultryman at the Colorado Agricultural college. The yolk which is only partly used up as food during the incubation period is taken into the body of the baby chick just before it emerges from the shell. This furnishes sufficient nourishment to maintain the life of the chick for a number of days.

Mash for Eggs

Although feeding poultry for egg production at the present day has reached a very high standard of efficiency, it is still noticeable that some poultry keepers disregard the advice that is obtainable through many sources as regards the composition of mashes—ingredients to use and those not to use. The general farmer in particular is often at fault. He has many advantages over the commercial poultry farmer beside home-grown feeding stuffs.

Gains Health: Adds 20 Pounds Through Konjola

"Will Always Praise New Medicine", Says Muncie Lady—"Feels Like New Person".

MRS. ETHEL FOWLER

"I was born in a general run down condition and had been for over three years," said Mrs. Ethel Fowler, 337 East Jackson street, Muncie. "I was tired, listless and very nervous and easily upset. I did not sleep well. I bloated terribly after meals and became short of breath. My heart often palpitated and I had severe pains in my stomach abdomen. I tried so many medicines without relief that I had become very much discouraged. "Konjola did all for me that I had been told it would do. I took a six weeks treatment and that was enough to bring me new health. I no longer bloat or belch after meals and I am stronger and more energetic than I have been in years. I sleep well at night, my nerves are calm and I have gained twenty pounds in weight. I will always praise this new medicine because it made me feel like a new person."

When taken for from six to eight weeks, Konjola will work wonders for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Mentone Ind., at the Shafer & Goodwin drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Gospel Writings

The synoptic Gospels are Matthew, Mark and Luke, and are so named on account of their many agreements in subject, order and language. These three Gospels consist largely of facts and chronology. The Gospel of John differs from them in being given up to narrative and records of the discourse of Christ.

POULTRY

EGGS PRESERVED IN WATER GLASS

Take Advantage of Opportunity to Store for Winter.

When eggs are at their lowest price during the spring and early summer, many people take advantage of the opportunity and store a few dozen for home use during the winter when prices are unusually high.

The water-glass method for preserving eggs is one of the most reliable, according to O. C. Ufford, extension poultry specialist for the Colorado Agricultural college. One quart of water glass is mixed with nine quarts of water for preserving ten to fifteen dozen eggs.

Only clean, fresh eggs free from cracks should be preserved in water glass. Eggs with soiled shells should never be washed and used for storage. Infertile eggs are preferable whenever they can be secured. Here are the directions:

1. Use a 5-gallon earthen jar, well sealed.
2. Boil water and allow it to cool.
3. Mix water glass and boiled water in proportions of 1 to 9, as given above.
4. Place eggs in jar and keep covered with at least two inches of water glass solution. If one does not have enough eggs to fill the jar at one time, additional eggs may be added at any time and more solution poured over them.
5. Cover jar when full and place in a cool location.

The quality of the eggs removed from the preservative will depend upon their condition and quality when put down. They will serve the purpose of strictly fresh eggs for all household uses, but for boiling, the shell should be pricked with a needle as the preservative seals all pores on the egg shell, which prevents the escape of gases when boiling. The eggs should be washed before using to remove the white deposit that forms on them. One should never use an old solution for a new batch of eggs.

Prevent Coccidiosis Among Little Chicks

Bloody diarrhea or coccidiosis is a fatal, parasitic disease of poultry. Its effects become apparent during warm, rainy spring weather which is favorable for the development of the parasite egg in the soil.

The symptoms are unthriftiness, diarrhea and leg weakness. Chicks from four to six weeks old are most susceptible. Losses vary from 25 to 100 per cent. A chronic type of the disease may appear in the late summer and fall.

An ounce of prevention is worth many pounds of cure, says Dr. I. B. Boughton, chief of animal health at the University of Illinois. He has had opportunity to investigate hundreds of outbreaks of this disease. His recommendations call for new, clean lots each spring with the old ones plowed and planted to a crop. Thorough disinfection of houses and brooders at regular intervals is also necessary.

Light Colored Fowls Best for Marketing

In the dressed poultry trade today, the preference is for light colored birds, whether chickens, fowls or turkeys. Well fattened birds, properly bled and picked, bring the best prices. Defects in bleeding and picking may cause a price reduction of several cents a pound. Fowls weighing four and one-half pounds or more bring a premium over lighter birds. Broilers must weigh at least a pound at the beginning of the season and a pound and a half or more later and be well finished to satisfy the trade.

Fancy heavy capons weighing nine pounds or more top the market. Capons weighing five pounds or less frequently sell for less than ordinary roasting chickens. Smaller geese are wanted than formerly and young birds weighing nine to eleven pounds are most in demand. Ducks should weigh four and one-half pounds or more and white ducks are preferred.

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison

Me and Tousle Head

We're the first uns out of bed—
Me and little Tousle Head.
She's alert and happy-eyed—
As for me, I'm petrified!
She is laughing, full of play,
Life to her is very gay—
Full of sunshine, birds and flowers,
Gay and gladsome are her hours.

She's a sprit of glad delight,
But her Dad—oh, what a sight!
He's as fresh and clear as mud—
Hear his footsteps' gentle thud!
She is like the morning dew
Sparkling 'neath a sky of blue.
Rosey-tinted is her cheek,
But her Dad—oh, hear him creak!

We're the first uns out of bed,
Me and little Tousle Head.
Hear our laughter, watch us run—
Gee—we have a lot of fun!
Eat our breakfast, laugh some more,
Roll a minute on the floor,
Leave the house and wave good-bye—
What a lucky guy am I!

MANUFACTURERS WHO HAVE FAITH IN THEIR PRODUCT WILL ADVERTISE.

As we have often stated any manufacturer or jobber of a good reliable article will defray all or at least a goodly portion of the expense of advertising their wares in the local newspaper, providing the dealer when placing the order or signing a contract for the agency insists upon the product being so advertised.

If the firm that sells the local dealer does not have enough confidence in their product to pay for a reasonable amount of publicity it is very evident that their main concern is to load up the local dealer, caring little whether he disposes of the goods or not. We have called the attention of our merchants to this matter on several occasions and as a result the Farm News has been favored with the advertising of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Co., and Konjola Medicine through the efforts of Shafer & Goodwin at the Big Drug Store. And now comes another advertisement of the Horton Washing Machine, sold at Ketrow's Variety Store. The Horton people know that they have a good article, that it is priced right, and Mr. Ketrow had little trouble to convince them that it was the proper thing for them to pay a goodly portion toward advertising "The Horton" in the Farm News.

And so it is with other articles of merchandise, if the dealer will insist that the jobber or manufacturer pay all or at least a portion of the expense of advertising their products in the local paper, the Farm News will get the needed advertising support and the dealer will greatly benefit by this ad publicity.

We hope that other dealers will remember this when placing future orders for large amounts and insist that the merchandise bought be advertised in the Farm News.

WARFARE ON CRIMINALITY

By ARTHUR D. WOOD, Michigan Parole Board.

CRIMINAL tendencies, like tuberculosis or cancer, are easier to cure or control when discovered early. It will be necessary to go down into the plague spots—the breeding places where the scourge germinates—if we would rid our land of the malignancy of crime. Intense sociological and psychological preventives in homes, kindergartens and schools to discover the potential long before the overt act is committed, doubtless will be one of the most potent remedies for crime in coming generations.

We are in a transition era and when we find ourselves psychology will have a prominent place in the solution of crime. At present we are compelled to depend upon our protective agencies.

Punishment never will rid society of the criminal. Even if the prisons attain the maximum of efficiency, they will be unable to salvage, rehabilitate and make law-abiding citizens of more than 70 per cent of those committed. The ablest police department can only check, not eliminate, crime. Whatever deterring effect there is in punishment is best realized when punishment is swift and certain.

There are just three objectives in criminal jurisprudence—the protection of society, deterring from crime and reformation or cure of the criminal. The first objective is supreme. If we accomplish by any means whatsoever the last two, we will realize to that extent the first, namely, the protection of society.

We cannot measure all criminals by the same standard. Neither are the demands of society met by the same treatment in all cases. All criminals are different personalities, and scientific handling demands that they be given individual treatment.

STATE POULTRY TOUR PLANS COMPLETED

Purdue News Service.

Final plans have been completed for the Sixth Annual State Poultry Tour to be held July 22, 23, and 24, according to an announcement by Leon Todd of the Purdue Poultry Extension Division and Secretary-Treasurer of the State Poultry Association of Indiana, the two organizations jointly responsible for this outstanding poultry event.

This annual educational outing, designed to include visits to places of interest to all branches of the poultry fraternity, will commence this year at Portland on Tuesday morning July 22, and end at Indianapolis Thursday afternoon the 24, visiting along the way successful poultry farms and hatcheries, a cold storage plant, a wire fence factory, a turkey farm, an egg receiving and grading plant, a poultry feed mill, and a poultry fattening and dressing station. Lunches, banquets, and other forms of entertainment will be furnished at Portland, Muncie, New Castle and Indianapolis. The first two days of the tour will be made in automobiles, and the last day in especially chartered motor busses. The total expenses of the tour are estimated at about $8.00 per person, plus car expenses for a 150 mile trip.

Further details and an itinerary may be obtained from Leon Todd, Purdue Poultry Extension Division, Lafayette, Indiana.

PREVENT WHEAT RUST

Purdue News Service

Lafayette, Ind.,—After 12 years of work in wheat and grain rust prevention, the wheat losses from black stem rust have been reduced from 50,000,000 to 12,000,000 bushels per year according to estimates by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The rusts that cause the most serious damage to the small-grain crops in Indiana are black stem rust, orange leaf rust, and crown rust. Black stem rust develops in the spring on the leaves of the common barberry and spreads to small grains and grasses. For more than 250 years people in various countries have destroyed the common barberry in an effort to control black stem rust. The barberry-eradication campaign in Indiana is directed by the office of barberry eradication, bureau of plant industry U. S. Department of Agriculture, with a state leader supervising the activities within the state. It is a cooperative project with the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department, and the state leader W. E. Leer acts in close cooperation with the extension division of the botany department of Purdue, where permanent headquarters are maintained.

Funds for barberry eradication are furnished by the Federal Government through the department of agriculture. Approximately 18 agents to survey Indiana counties are employed each year from June 15 to September 15.

Survey activities started in Indiana in 1918 with an inspection of yards, parks, and cemeteries in the cities and larger towns. A farm to farm survey was also conducted in 1919 and was completed in 1924. As the preliminary survey progressed, it was learned that the bushes were to be found in a wild state. A second and more intensive survey was started in Indiana in 1925, in which counties were used as units, each county being cleaned out thoroughly before moving to another. Resurveys are made at regular intervals in order to get rid of all the bushes which have come up since the previous survey and all those which were overlooked in previous surveys.

Tipton, Hamilton and Montgomery Counties were surveyed last year. Work will be done this year in Decatur and Bartholomew counties where stem rust has been causing commercial loss. Some surveying also will be done in Owen, Wayne and Harrison Counties.

Lengthy Tunnels

The Upsalatta tunnel, not quite two miles long, between Los Andes and Mendoza, is now the longest in South America. The Ralces tunnel now under construction will be about three miles in length. They are both railroad tunnels in the Andes.

Roulette

The exact origin of the roulette wheel seems to be obscure. The game is said to have first appeared in France, becoming very popular at the period of the First Consulate. In England it was known as Roly Poly. As early as 1745 legislation was passed against it.

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

By John Clarence Funk, A.M., Sc.D.

Director of Public Health Education,
State of Pennsylvania

Hurrah for the Fourth!

THE common sense of the American people has been responsible for a reduction in Fourth of July fatalities. Municipalities have passed, and successfully enforced, ordinances against the sale of so-styled toy cannon, giant crackers and other powder devices which lend themselves to accidents when carelessly handled.

Nevertheless, the fact remains that each year many children's names appear in the casualty or fatality lists the morning after the nation's birthday. And for this sad state of affairs the parents, rather than the youngsters, are to blame.

Grownups persist in purchasing accident and death-dealing articles at bootleg stands outside the city limits under a misguided notion that in so doing they are displaying both love of country and love of child. Whereas, they are in fact only generating unwarranted risk for their offspring.

Certainly, patriotism is one of the finest characteristics to be found in man. But it is a poor brand of patriotism indeed that permits boys and girls to express it in a manner which leads to a hospital or to an undertaker's establishment.

Everyone should realize that tetanus, commonly called lockjaw is always around the corner where toy cannon, high-explosive crackers and the blank cartridge pistol are concerned. Also, that their maiming and mangling power presents a real hazard. Therefore, the safety first principle should be applied in celebrating the Fourth precludes the use of such dangerous things, not only on the part of the young but by the older ones also.

Celebrate this great historical event with a wisely-guided enthusiasm. But don't turn the day into one of tears. Hurrah, but hurrah properly for the Fourth!

With the New Science of Syllabics

By C. J. COFFMAN

Dean of All the Enumerators

Gertrude

"Gertrude is her name and means
She shall have dominion
None shall stop nor come between
The rule of her opinion."

The outstanding fact signified by your name, Gertrude, is a curious combination of the meaning of your first syllable, GER, in the ancient languages of both the Hebrew and the Greek.

Combined from the two, the syllable GER means, "a Smooth Throat of stranger to old Gertrude."

The inference is that you need never grow old!

Go to the mirror. See how smooth and round your throat is. It can always remain that way, but there is a special secret attached to its doing so.

That secret is simply the holding of kindly, unenvious thoughts toward others in a superior position.

Going a little further into your name, we find the ancients giving part of it to mean, "a little chamber." This is the secret of your heart; and if you keep your thoughts true and clean, inside of this secret place, everything else will take care of itself.

The last syllable of your name, RUD (leaving off the modern E), really meant the presence of the Lord, and brings you the influence of dominion.

What a great joy it is to have perfect dominion over all the phases of your life, physical, mental and spiritual. You can do it by keeping your thoughts only on the ways you are going to proceed to win.

Simply ignore opposition. Read the little verse at the top again.

Look at the way Gertrude Ederle overcame the tremendous opposition of natural law and physical resistance when she swam the English channel. Think of it, 21 miles of cold, choppy and stubborn waves! And yet we shiver, sometimes, in our cold shower in the morning.

Or Gertrude Atherton, overcoming mental resistance in writing her novels. Go on, Gertrude, you can win.

Backing and Parking

BACKING and parking are really easy if done properly. I have seen so many motorists experience difficulty with these two simple driving practices that I am impelled to go into them here at some length. Likewise the turn that involves backing up to complete it.

On approaching a turn that involves backing, approach the right side of the road slowly. Give the proper signal and turn the wheel to the left. Gradually slow down as you reach the left side of the road but before you stop swing the wheel to the right while the car is moving slowly. Stop. Put the car in reverse without moving the wheel. This permits all your attention to be concentrated on direction and speed.

As you slow the car down prior to stopping, again swing the wheel full left. The motorist will find this an easy way to accomplish this difficult feat. Personally, I find it much easier to drive around the block to accomplish the same thing.

To park is so simple that I cannot believe my eyes when I see a driver going about it in the wrong way. Time and again I have won bets that I couldn't park against the curb where there was only two feet more space than the length of the car and bumpers. This can be done in one movement, with practice.

Drive past and parallel the car in front of where you want to park. Stop with your car slightly ahead of the inside car. This is judged by the turning angle of your car. Reverse, turning the wheel full right until half way into the curb. Then turn the wheel full left as you slowly back in. It is necessary to be careful to avoid hooking your right fender or bumper in the rear of the car in front of you.

But while you are learning these lessons of driving, don't lose sight of some of the suggestions I gave you earlier in this series. Particularly do I refer to the one involving the use of the proper grade of gasoline and oil, and proper lubrication.

BETTY ELLSWORTH, 9, IS BUSINESS MANAGER FOR B. A. JEFFERIES, AGED 74.

Little Betty Ellsworth of Mentone is but 9 years old, yet she is the active business manager of B. A. Jefferies, aged 74. Her latest business transaction was the securing of a fishing license today for Mr. Jefferies, who is unable to be about because of illness.

Mr. Jefferies gave the little girl a letter to county Clerk Kinsey and in this he stated that the fee of the child for the trip to Warsaw was her car fare, money for her dinner and one cent amile traveled. He further stated that Miss Ellsworth calls at his door each morning to see if there is anything he wants done. She has her price for each kind of a job. If it is a trip to the grocery store the price ranges from 2 to 5 cents, according to distance.

She has held her present position for three years.—Warsaw Times.

TWO ARE INJURED WHEN CAR IS OVERTURNED IN DITCH.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eherenman, of west of Palestine, were badly cut and bruised, the result of an automobile accident which occurred at about 7 o'clock Saturday evening on the Warsaw-Mentone road. The Eherenmans were on their way to Warsaw to do some shopping and as they approached the narrow bridge this side of Palestine, Mr. Eherenman was forced to run in a ditch to prevent a collision with another car. The truck which he was driving, was overturned and greatly damaged. Mr. and Mrs. Eherenman were brought to the Warsaw clinic where their wounds were dressed by Dr. George Anglin.

Mrs. Eherenman suffered a deep gash on the top of her head and a badly sprained back and Mr. Eherenman was badly cut about the forehead, but suffered numerous minor bruises.—Warsaw Times.

Logical

The unanswerable logic of young children frequently confounds the best meant efforts of grownups. This story concerns a small boy who had been particularly naughty all day long and had almost worn out his mother's patience. At bedtime his mother took him severely to task, and when she thought him sufficiently chastened, she said: "Now, Harry, tell me! What must we do before our sins can be forgiven?" "Sin," said Harry.

Truths

Fundamental truths should be both clear and familiar truths; self-evident truths are a solid foundation for reasoning.—Simmons.

DEATH TOLL OF AUTOS.

According to a statement in the Indianapolis News, 526 person were killed in automobile accidents in Indiana, exclusive of Marion county, in the months of March, April and May according to reports submitted to the secretary of state, and there may have been other fatalities that were not reported. In the same period 3,373 persons were injured in traffic accidents. Figures for the same months last year are not available, but the automobiles license department believes that this year's fatalities show an increase. Of the number killed, 198 were pedestrians. Those killed in collisions numbered 143, leaving 195 deaths due to skidding, turning over, colliding with bridge abutments trees and culverts.

That pedestrians numbered about one third of the total is worth some serious study. The reports do not say where the blame for such deaths lies. Some of the pedestrians who died likely were at fault, but it can not be argued that all of them were, and such fatalities in a large degree are traced usually to reckless driving. With more than 500 persons dead as a result of the operation of motor cars during the three spring months the total for the year becomes, problematical, but the months of heaviest driving are now at hand and the outlook is not encouraging. Indianapolis which has had forty-three automobile fatalities since the first of the year, is doing everything possible to persuade motorists to be more careful. State automobile license department representatives will be instructed to place more emphasis on the right of the state to suspend or revoke the license of drivers if they violate the laws.

After reading the above over who will say that insurance covering auto accidents is unnecessary? We can furnish you protection covering all accidents of this nature at a very small cost. Better call at the Farm News Office and get particulars.

DO NOT TAKE ANY CHANCES

Cleaning clothing with naphtha, gasoline etc., is very dangerous, regardless of the fact of whether you may have any fire around or not. The rubbing of the cloth can ignite the fluid, and the result is a bad burn or possibly death. Play safe use "Spot Fyter" which is non-explosive. It will clean most anything in a jiffy. Costs only 50c per bottle at Clark's Store.

FOWL CHOLERA TOPIC DISCUSSED BY DOYLE.

Purdue News Service

Fowl cholera attacks all kinds of poultry, but causes especially heavy losses among chickens. Very often it starts suddenly and kills such a large number of birds in such a short time that the flock owner makes the mistake of believing that the trouble is due to poisoning. Cholera is caused by a germ which is spread by the droppings of sick birds and by carcasses or parts of carcasses of birds which have died of the disease. It often attacks several flocks in a neighborhood when carcasses of dead birds are carelessly disposed of, or when there is free communication between diseased and healthy flocks.

Drugs and vaccines can not be depended upon to control fowl cholera according to L. P. Doyle of the veterinary staff of Purdue University. Proper care in disposing of dead birds and proper quarantine of diseased flocks are the most important means of preventing outbreaks. The most effective way of stopping the disease is to move the healthy birds from where the trouble has occurred. The sick birds should be killed and their carcasses burned. The house, feeding and watering, vessels, and the yards must be carefully cleaned so as to avoid the danger of a future outbreak. Scrubbing the house with plenty of hot water, containing some cleansing agent such as lye, is much more effective in making the house safe than is the application of disinfectants to dirty surfaces.

The Old Saddle

by A. J. Dunlap

The dingy old saddle was ripped.
By lariat, cactus and thorn;
It carried deep scars without number,
On saddle-bow, cantle and horn.
Its buckles were tarnished and rusty,
With rivets sunk deep in the leather,
That showed the old saddle had seen
Rough service in all kinds of weather.

But somehow I loved the old saddle
With all of its bruises and scars;
I loved the soft creak of its leather
At night when we rode with the stars;
I loved its low laugh as we galloped
Through sunshine or wind-driven rains.
Its voice was the voice of my country—
My country of hill-gaps and plains.

It never was meant to be ridden
By men without courage to face
The ups and the downs of a life-time,
The strain and the stress of the race.
Whenever my tired spirit falters,
Whenever I fear I may fail,
The ghost of the old saddle whispers:
"Ride on to the end of the trail."

The DAIRY

LIBERAL FEEDING OF HEIFERS BEST

Specialist Offers Suggestions to Meet Conditions.

Feed a liberal amount of feed to the yearling heifer and watch her grow.

That is the recommendation made by J. C. Nisbet, extension dairyman, Kansas State Agricultural college, to all dairymen.

"By lack of sufficient and the right kind of feed the yearling heifer will never develop the size she should and will mature much later than the well-fed heifer," says this dairy specialist. He offers four rations to increase the returns from the yearling heifer.

First ration: Feed all the alfalfa hay she will eat. Under ten months—feed two to three pounds of a mixture of corn chop, oats, bran, and oil meal and 12 to 20 pounds of silage per day. Over ten months—feed small amounts of corn chop. Increase the silage to 20 to 30 pounds daily.

Second ration: To be fed where alfalfa hay is not available but silage is plentiful. Feed all the roughage she will eat. In addition feed 15 to 30 pounds of silage per day. The heifer will need three to five pounds of grain mixture of corn, oats, and oil meal in which the oil meal makes up at least one-half of the grain ration.

Third ration: Where alfalfa hay is available but there is no silage: Feed the heifer all the alfalfa hay she will eat and three to five pounds a day of a mixture of equal parts oats, corn, bran, and oil meal.

Fourth ration: Where neither alfalfa hay nor silage is available: Purchase alfalfa to form one-half to one-third of the total roughage consumed daily. Feed grain as in ration three.

Don't Stop Grain Feed During Pasture Season

Early pasture for the dairy cow is not going to make the owner any money if he assumes that washy grass will entirely take the place of grain feeding. In that case the pasture results in a heavy strain on her. She will soon be in poor condition, falling off in her milk flow, and ill prepared for the later test of hot weather, flies and short pasture.

It is much better to keep up the grain feeding at a fair profit now, in order to insure a steadier milk flow throughout the summer, and to keep the cows in good physical condition.

The correct ration for cows on pasture, according to the Missouri experiment station is: 300 to 400 pounds of ground corn, 200 pounds of ground oats or bran, 100 pounds cottonseed meal, a good mineral mixture. The minerals will furnish lime and phosphate to make milk, keep the cow in condition, and help to develop the calf she is carrying. It makes the cow more resistant to abortion and possibly also more resistant to flies.

Immature Sweet Clover Likely to Cause Bloat

Alfalfa and sweet clover, when in full bloom, are less likely to cause bloating than the immature clover where wet with dew or rain. Keep cows off the pasture until dew and rain have dried. Allow free access to salt and slaked lime. Feed cows before turning them into the pasture. When sweet clover is the exclusive roughage ration and has been fed for some time it may cause death from bleeding. The hemorrhages occur in large swellings about the rumen or elsewhere in the body or internally. Such poisoning most commonly occurs when the sweet clover is moldy, having been killed by frost or withered in autumn, or when old sweet clover is excessively fed. Dehorning or castration is likely to be followed by fatal bleeding when such sweet clover has been the exclusive roughage feed of cattle.

Weedy Pastures Injure High Quality of Milk

Ridiculous is not the word to describe the quality of milk from cows running on weedy pasture fields, observes the Farm Journal. Ragweed, pigweed and goldenrod cause milk that is way off when it comes to flavor, to say nothing of reduced flow at this time of year.

But cows don't eat these weeds from choice. Cows will let the weeds alone if you will feed plenty of good roughage, plus grain and supplements, or a ready-mixed dairy feed.

Sheep for weed killing and for wool, dairy cows for milk—that's the best dairy program.

Bolt the Separator

The separator should be placed level and firmly bolted to a strong foundation, to prevent vibration of the machine. It should run smoothly, to prevent loss of butterfat, in the skim milk as well as excessive wear of the machine. To prevent undue strain and wear, the separator should be started at low speed and gradually raised to full speed. The bowl should be filled with warm water when started, to take out dust and odors and keep the milk sweet.

POULTRY

ROOSTERS SPREAD POULTRY DISEASE

More Cases of Bacillary White Diarrhea Noticed.

Male birds help to spread bacillary white diarrhea among poultry although the disease does spread without males, according to the New York state college of veterinary science at Cornell university.

Until recently the cause of the spread of this disease among mature chickens has been unsolved. Experiments were conducted in which pens were made up of infected and non-infected hens. Cock birds were placed in some of the pens and others were maintained without males. A period of months was necessary before any evidence of this dissemination was seen.

Bacillary white diarrhea has been found to be the most widespread and serious disease of baby chicks. To assist poultrymen to control the disease, the veterinary college has encouraged local veterinarians to establish laboratories which are maintained under its supervision. These laboratories are located in Erie, Orange, Onondaga, Otsego, and Greene counties. Long Island also has a number of similar laboratories conducted on the same plan.

Although testing under this plan has been in operation only one year up state and two years on Long Island nearly 100 flocks have been handled. Approximately 52,000 chickens have been tested and progress is being made in lowering the amount of infection in these flocks and in decreasing the chick mortality due to this disease.

Ducks for Breeders Are Fed Differently

When ducks are raised for breeders they are fed differently from those intended for market. They are not forced so much as are the latter, and less fattening feed is given them. The corn meal and beef scraps are reduced to one-half the quantity used in the above rations. The following is an excellent ration: Equal parts corn meal, wheat bran, green feed, 5 per cent beef scraps, and 5 per cent coarse sand or grit.

A ration for breeding (laying) ducks is recommended as follows: Fifty per cent by measure, corn meal; 15 per cent wheat bran; 15 per cent green feeds (cooked vegetables, such as potatoes, turnips, etc.); 12 per cent beef scraps, and 8 per cent coarse sand or grit. Mix with water to a dry, crumbly state and feed twice a day—morning and night.

Proper Feed Selection for Raising Ducklings

The proper selection of the feed is extremely important to secure the rapid growth of the duck, and the ingredients of the feed must be such as will afford a well balanced and substantial ration. As a whole, it may be said that the rations used by the largest duck raisers are essentially the same, differing only in the quantities used in the mixing.

Investigations show the real value of the feed to be the same for producing rapid growth and early development. The duckling grows twice as rapidly and is a much heavier eater than the chick, and to produce the best results its feed must be such as will be easily assimilated. Various methods of feeding are recommended for raising ducks successfully.

Poultry Facts

Profitable turkey raising is largely a matter of proper management.

Hens need minerals both for body maintenance and shell formation.

The best time to market Leghorn cockerels is when they are broiler size, and the earlier you market them the more you get for them, though they bring a good price up to July 1.

It is probably best to use two geese with one gander. Sometimes three are mated but best results will be had from the closer pairing.

In feeding geese it is always advisable to have plenty of water near at hand as they do not swallow well unless it is washed down.

Chilled chicks will often show signs of diarrhea. Keep the brooder stove regulated to furnish the right temperature and much trouble will be prevented.

Broilers pay good returns when they are marketed sufficiently early in the spring.

The cockerels from the early hatches may be satisfactorily marketed as broilers.

Fastening hardware cloth or baby chick netting under the low roosts, then slanting it down to the floor helps to teach chicks to roost when no more than a week old. The roosting habit will save many a chick from being smothered.

Table talk is said to be declining. We hardly know whether to lay it to interference from soap, celery or radio.

Health.

MR. SOLOMON RHOADS

"For three years the condition of my health was poor," said Mr. Solomon Rhoads, 327 Jackson street, Muncie. "Mining where I often got wet and ate at irregular intervals had weakened me until my appetite was very poor. Food failed to digest and I bloated and belched sour liquid bringing on severe heartburn. I lost weight and energy and was finally forced to give up mining entirely. I tried many medicines without any permanent benefits.

"A fellow miner whom Konjola had restored to health finally persuaded me to try this medicine. I purchased six bottles and began the treatment. At the end of three weeks I found myself much improved. I continued the treatment and at the end of the six weeks period I felt like a new man. My stomach was free from gas and my entire system free of poisons which had been making me ill. My appetite is excellent, I have gained seven pounds and am back at work. I give all credit to Konjola.

Each of Konjola's 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs, has a function to perform. All who have given this super-medicine a real trial claim there is no other medicine like it.

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison.

So Futile

A quarrel is a thing that's so futile,
Especially one that is mean.
And while we are snarling
And bitterly quarreling,
We poison ourselves with our spleen!
And most of the quarrels we indulge in,
Are mere Triviality's child—
A thing that should shame us,
And yet they inflame us
To actions and words that are wild!
And what is the good we accomplish?
I haven't discovered it yet.
There's no one the gainer—
And when we are saner
How often our words we regret!
The days are too precious to spoil them
With bickering, quarreling and strife—
For when we are scrapping
And snarling and snapping—
We also are shortening our life!

PLAN FOR ALUMNI "EDUCATION"

By DR. W. M. LEWIS, President Lafayette College.

Within ten years the principal colleges and universities of this country will have established residence halls for the education of alumni.

A college degree no longer signifies that a man is educated. In the rapidly changing whirl of modern life and ideas any graduate out of the college more than four years begins to lose touch with new discoveries, ideas and formation.

The only way that colleges can meet this condition is to establish residences for alumni on the campus, where graduates and postgraduates can come at any time for further study and training. This already has been done at Lafayette college where such a hall has been established, which alumni are now using for varying periods each year.

NEW STATUS OF WOMEN PROBLEM

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN (Methodist Episcopal).

Why should we of the church be sentimentalists about marriage when honest realism is required to face modern conditions? Many people bemoan the passing of the "good old-fashioned home," who would not tolerate it if restored. Woman's new freedom has created new competition for the home, and the home will have to meet it by improving its own conditions. The old status of the wife as merely the child-bearing housekeeper of her husband cannot be made popular, no matter how much we praise motherhood. The modern educated woman wants a career which gives hope of self-realization, and marriage must be adjusted to that desire.

The postponement of marriage until economic competence is assured is one of our chief problems. Mere denunciation of companionate marriage is not enough. We should have some better arrangement to offer.

Here are facts on painting, which we can prove by the simplest arithmetic. SWP is the most economical paint you can put on your house. It costs more per gallon, of course. But did you ever stop to think of how much extra surface a gallon of SWP covers? Mark this—a gallon of SWP will thoroughly cover almost twice as much surface as cheaper paint. Therefore far fewer gallons of SWP are needed. In addition, SWP lasts twice as long as cheaper paint—saves repair bills by giving full protection to the surface—and its rich, weather-proof colors retain their beauty to the end. Come in and let our figures prove it.

Famous Meeting House

Preserved as Memorial

Two hundred years ago the last service was held in the Old South Meeting house in Boston. It was a small structure of cedar, two stories in height, with a steeple and modest interior with the conventional high-backed, square pews and lofty pulpit of olden church times. A few days later this structure, famous as the one up as Indians in preparation for the famous Boston Tea Party.

It was used as cavalry headquarters by Lord Burgoyne during the British occupation of the city in 1774, but in March of 1776 it was again taken over by Bostonians and retained by them for regular services until 1872, when, during the great fire, the government took over the building temporarily. Although no regular services have been held here since that time, it has been preserved as a memorial in charge of the Massachusetts Historical society.

Old South Church, Boston.

In which Benjamin Franklin was baptized and in which Judge Sewall made public repentance and confession for his part in the Salem witchcraft delusion, was demolished and the present structure commenced.

Churches during the American colonial period were often used for public mass meetings for the discussion of important political questions; and the first meeting of this sort was called in 1745, during the French and Indian wars. A French fleet of 40 ships was on its way to Boston intent on destroying the entire town, and Bostonians called a meeting for prayer and fasting and for a discussion of means of defense. The subsequent destruction of the French fleet by a storm at sea probably saved old Boston from the torch.

But many other meetings were held here in subsequent years, particularly during the days preceding and during the American Revolution. When neighboring Faneuil hall overflowed, the surplus crowd invariably adjourned to Old South; and it was after such a meeting on December 14, 1773, that some of the Boston citizens dressed

CONCORD HYMN

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood,
And fired the shot heard round the world.

The foe long since in silence slept;
Alike the conqueror silent sleeps;
And Time the ruined bridge has swept
Down the dark stream which seaward creeps.

On this green bank, by this soft stream,
We set today a votive stone;
That memory may their deed redeem,
When, like our sires, our sons are gone.

Spirit! that made those heroes dare
To die, or leave their children free,
Bid Time and Nature gently spare
The shaft we raise to them and thee.

Some Tire Thoughts

VERY few motorists think of their tires until they have had a puncture or blowout, or until excessive wear begins to show on one or more wheels.

I drive my car on a different basis, because I know something about tires and something about car manufacture. The wheels of my car are lined up once every month and my brakes are adjusted at the same time. Tires are an expense and any expense that can be delayed is a dividend.

How many times have you watched a motorist coming toward you with the front wheels of his car out of line? They are either toed in too much or spread out in such a way as to cause excessive wear on the tread. After signs of such wear are noticed it is frequently too late to repair the damage to that particular tire. But the trouble should be rectified at once, in the interest of future conservation. Adjustment of the tie rod between the steering arms of the front wheels will often correct the trouble.

In these days of mechanical and hydraulic four-wheel brakes, and the ever-increasing traffic congestion which makes their use more frequent and more urgent, it is essential that they be given frequent attention. They may need adjustment only once out of every four or five times they are inspected, but it is better to be safe than sorry. If one or more of the brakes takes hold a little quicker than the rest, it means greater sliding of these wheels, and therefore an excess of tire wear. It also means that the car is more likely to skid on a wet pavement or in an emergency. Furthermore you lose traction, and that costs money.

Here is a tip that may prove valuable to you: Change your tires from wheel to wheel every once in a while. It is claimed that the tires on the rear wheels wear out faster than those on the front wheels, particularly on lighter cars. By changing them, wear on the non-skid tread on all four tires is prolonged.

I also believe that free spring action is essential to real ease of riding and find that ball-bearing spring shackles help in attaining this desirable feature. They will outlast the car itself, they don't squeak, and they need no greasing or adjustment. The use of these shackles has been on the increase since riding comfort began to be a consideration.

Lord of the Isles

The title Lord of the Isles was borne first with greatest distinction by Donald of Islay, who in 1346 reduced the Hebrides under his sway. It had been borne by others centuries before and was also assumed by his successors. One of Sir Walter Scott's metrical romances is so-called. The title is now borne by the prince of Wales.

Of Criminal Origin

The word "burke," which means to smother or hush up or evade a question by indirection, was taken from the name of William Burke, who was hanged in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1829, after being convicted of complicity in the murder of sixteen men and women, whom he helped to smother to death. Their cadavers were sold to medical schools for dissection.

WOULD HAVE SMITH-HUGHES
BOYS HELP FARMER, WITH COW-TESTING.

Lafayette, Ind., June 24—(Special) More extended use of the farm as a laboratory by vocational agriculture classes and service by Smith-Hughes students as "junior" cowtesters to help farmers of their vicinity make money from their cows, was advocated by C. M. Long chief of the farm service of the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, in a talk to the conference of vocational teachers of agriculture at Purdue University here today.

"When a boy grows his acre of corn, fattens his hogs or cares for his poultry," said Mr. Long, "as is done in well devised, supervised projects, he is setting standards for his community. There must never be any attempt to exploit the boy for the benefit of the community, but if as a by-product of the work that the boy is doing in school, the community is benefitted, and the boy's school work made of the greatest practical value, then indeed it is an opportunity that should not be passed over."

"There are in Indiana 721,000 cows two years old and over kept for milk production. Of this number over 480,000 cows are being fed and milked for nothing each night and morning, though fully half of them would pay a profit if fed the right kind of feed in the right way. It is possible for the vo-ag students, not by feeding or milking these cows, but by influencing the practice of those who do milk them, to convert from 50 to 80 per cent of these that happen to be in their school districts into profit makers. Would it not be a fine achievement if the Smith-Hughes schools could convert half of these non-profit paying cows and show up the other half to be the money losers?"

Mr. Long paid tribute to the splendid work of the dairy herd improvement associations. However, he said, the man with three or four cows who feels that he cannot afford the expense of belonging to an association, is the very man who needs most the help that the association can give him. He suggested that cow-testing work by Smith-Hughes students be made a "feeder" for association work. Said he, "If a man has begun to make profit on four or five cows, he will want to get more cows and will soon have enough to become a member of the cow testing association."

A complete plan for cowtesting work by Smith-Hughes school was outlined by Mr. Long. For two years now, he said, the Blue Valley Creamery Institute has been trying out this type of work and the results have been so satisfactory that the work deserved to be expanded. The plan has the endorsement of Dr. Lane of the Vocational Board at Washington D. C., and was also approved by the Central States Conference at Des Moines last March.

Community Farm News,
Mentone, Indiana.

Dear Sir:—

Following is an excerpt taken from the Annual Address of the President of the Indiana Telephone Association at State Convention recently held at Indianapolis, Ind.

The annual address of President Barnhart to the State Convention which was presented by Vice President Achatz, in the absence of the president who was temporarily ill, concludes as follows:

"The report of our Secretary-Treasurer furnishes some interesting statistics and observations as to the condition of our organization and the State-wide status of the growth and shrinkage of our patronage. While it must be admitted that farm conditions have not been attractive and that there are many more vacant houses in country districts than ever before we ought not hastily to reach a conclusion that this alone is responsible for the struggle of the average small telephone plant to "hold its own" in its subscriber list. There are two or three other causes which can eventually be overcome. One is the inadequate rates on which a good many small companies have tried to live and keep up a good service. It couldn't be done and both inefficient service and necessary rate raising have caused loss of subscribers. Another is, the small telephone system management has not been alert at holding and attracting subscribers as have the larger systems. And another cause of loss of rural subscribers is the necessary curtailment of the money losing free service between towns. The time had to come when this kind of give-away business had to get right or fail and those who are trying to correct the long standing mistake mostly are in trouble with subscribers who have been led to believe that telephone service should be free, as some people consider Salvation, and those who are going on with free service are inviting either financial embarrassment or a necessary rate increase, a condition of "be dammed if you do and dammed if you don't."

The plain fact is, telephone patrons should pay a nominal fee for use of lines between exchanges as that is the fair and only way to charge patrons for what they use and to prevent congestion and constant trouble making by a certain few monopolizing free system-to-system lines with pastime and un-necessary visiting to the exclusion of patrons with messages of importance. It will be a struggle to correct this free service imposition on both capital invested and on those with important messages to transmit but it must be done "eventually, and why not now?" The longer we delay the more deeply this imposition on investment and efficient service giving possibility becomes rooted and if we can gradually fade out this misfortune to our business and service, rather than abruptly fight it out, the better for all concerned."

TO CARRY COLUMN BY WILL ROGERS

The witty and humorous comment of Will Rogers will each week appear in this newspaper.

Everyone knows the famous cowboy comedian, whether by his writings, on the stage, in the movies or on the radio. His followers are legion and his readers run into the millions. Now you will have an opportunity to read his weekly column of running fire sallies covering contemporary affairs, politics, personalities and news events.

Rogers knows most every person of importance, from the nobility to the man in the street. And he joshes them all in unaffected good humor. As a self-styled ambassador of the cause of the plain people, Rogers in his stories raises the question and gives it a slant few but the former cow puncher could handle. He has become as internationally renowned as a comic relief as was formerly his skill as a horse show entertainer with his riding and roping.

Rogers takes pride in the fact he is a genuine American, as both of his parents have an admixture of Cherokee Indian blood in their veins. After many years of ranch life he went to New York where he made such a hit with his act it was but an easy step into vaudeville. Rogers' early vaudeville act was made up mostly of fancy roping, with a little bit of talk thrown in. Gradually he made more of his monologue, turning it into chatty comment on current affairs. Will Rogers now resides in Hollywood, with ample grounds, a large stable and a tanbark arena for riding practice.

Unmerited Rewards

Riches and honor are what men desire; but if they attain to them by improper ways, they should not continue to hold them.—Confucius.

IF YOU MET WITH A SEVERE ACCIDENT.

Was Laid up in a Hospital or
Home Could You Pay Your
Expenses for One
Cent a Day?

IT CAN BE DONE.

Pay us $3.65 or at the rate of a penny a day for a whole year, and in return should you at any hour of the day or night during the year be riding as a passenger on a railroad train, steam boat, street car, elevated or subway car and by the wrecking of that vehicle you become injured, we will pay you at the rate of $100 per month for one day of more for a period of a year's time. Should you be killed we will pay to your estate $5,000.00 and in event you are permanently disabled by the loss of one or more limbs or the sight of an eye or eyes, we will pay you from $1,500.00 to $5,000.00 depending upon the extent of your disability.

Suppose you should become injured from the wrecking of your automobile, or while riding in your friend's car. Suppose you are riding in a taxi cab, motor bus, or elevator, and through the wrecking of that vehicle if you should be injured we would pay you at the rate of $100.00 a month, and if killed your estate would receive $1,000.00; also for loss of sight, or limbs from $500.00 to $1,000.00

That's Not All—This same indemnity would come to you for injuries received as a result of being struck by lightning, injured in a tornado, by being burned or suffocated by smoke in the burning of a church, school building, theater, store office building or lodge room. Should you drown while bathing at a bathing beach your estate would receive $1,000.00.

Furthermore—Suppose you were struck, knocked down or run over while walking or standing on a public highway. Suppose you were injured while driving a truck, wagon or buggy, and if you are a farmer, suppose you were injured while operating a threshing, mowing or heading machine, a binder, harrow, plow or tractor, we would pay you for one day or more of disability at the rate of $50.00 a month; and if killed your estate would draw $500.00.

This 1c Day Will Also—entitle you to a $10.00 medical or surgical attention for any of the foregoing injuries that does not totally disable you, and if you are injured in any accident, any place, any time and are laid up for a month you will receive $25.00.

A real honest to goodness accident policy that covers the pedestrian as well as the traveler. Just think, all this for only 1c a day.

Analyzing ...YOU...

With the New Science of Syllabics

By C. J. COFFMAN

Dean of All the Enumerators

Florence

Florence is Flora, the goddess of flowers, in Roman mythology. You are like that a good deal, as appears in your analysis.

Something within you seems to flow with a beautiful waving motion as I sit here at the request of a friend and take your name apart.

The Flowing Motion of Florence's first syllable in Arm. In fact, the very your name gives a sense of flow (FLO). The ancients made a part of your name, the OR, to mean light, the break of day, to set on fire.

Like the graceful, undulating, flowing motion of your arms and hands, the first part of your name, FLOR, comes to us Combined with what we have already shown, it would mean the flowing of the dawn of light through the flowers.

This is a beautiful thought for your name to hold.

Even the EN carries on the idea, according to these old manuscripts that I am studying, for it means eye, and color.

Perhaps you, too, will find some special way to carry the light of love and a great organization of helpfulness, as did Florence Nightingale, who was the forerunner of the organization of the Red Cross.

Or, like Florence Trumbull Coolidge, to be the helpmate and real co-worker to such a man as the son of our former President, John Coolidge. It may not be out of place to prophesy that these two young people will yet make a very extraordinary mark in the world.

In other lines, you would carry on in music, or one of the arts, and do things by which you may become happy in creation, even if not so famous in fact.

It does not take very much advice or direction for you. You have your ambition pretty well marked out, your pathway pretty well charted. So we can leave you to your fate, being well assured that it will be a good fate.

The Dapple-Gray

By A. J. Dunlap

When the dapple-gray was a '4-yeer ole',
And he led the herd with a flying mane,
Then the idle days of the colt were done,
And the hour had come for the trace and rein.
So we 'snubbed 'im up' at the 'snubbing post',
And he fought, red-eyed, for an hour or more,
'Til his will was broke by the hempen rope
And he let us fit the old hackamore.
Then his value rose in the marts of men,
As he learned the law of the trace and rein.
As he drew the plow through the ranks of corn,
Or the dusty reaper that cut the grain.
When the world has learned with the dapple-gray
That the power to serve is the mete of worth-
Then the golden age of our dreams will dawn
And a truer freedom will bless the earth.

From "Living Rock"

When it is said that a statue is carved from the living rock the expression is applied to a piece of sculpture carved from stone which is in the place it has occupied from time immemorial. This is in contrast to marble which has been quarried and carried far from its source. One would say of the Rushmore memorial in South Dakota or of the Confederate memorial on Stone Mountain that it is carved from the living rock.

DR. CLUTTER, AD SELLERS AND MILES MANWARING IN SUNDAY AUTO ACCIDENT.

Dr. T. J. Clutter, of Mentone, was painfully injured and two cars damaged to the extent of $250 Sunday morning when a Buick driven by Miles Manwaring of Mentone, crashed with a Nash driven by Ad Sellers of this city. The accident happened in front of the home of Roy Moore, a short distance south of this city on the Country Club road.

It is said that Manwaring was driving on the side of the road and that Sellers was coming out of the lane from the old Eagle Lake ice house and drove directly in front of the Manwaring car.

Dr. Clutter, riding in the back seat struck the top of the car when the crash came and sustained a severe bruise under the left eye. The Mentone men were on their way to the Warsaw Country Club to play golf at the time of the accident.—Warsaw Times.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB.

The next regular Home Economics Club meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Allie Latimer on Tues. p. m. July 1st.

The program will consist of "garden worries" as presented by club members at roll call and answered by the leaders from the lesson received by them from Mr. H. B. Hull

A FEW COMMENTS ON THE TELEPHONE SITUATION

By the Publisher

In another column of this issue will be found an advertisement ordered published by the Northern Indiana Telephone Co., giving the closing portion of an address by Mr. Barnhart (we presume of Rochester) at a recent state telephone convention.

Now while we have the greatest respect for Mr. Barnhart and have every reason to believe that he understands the telephone business, yet it must be born in mind that in delivering this address he was speaking wholly for the interests of the telephone companies, and taking into little account the interests of the average telephone patron.

In the first place we do not think that any portion of his address is applicable to the Mentone situation. His remarks were probably based upon the theory that the phone company had a reasonable up-to-date plant and were giving fairly good service.

However the above condition does not exist in this vicinity. We do not know of a single metallic telephone circuit in Mentone or any of the surrounding territory which this exchange serves, and we doubt if there are any number of even the old "common return" circuits. While we are not positive in this matter, we have been unable to discover anything but the old antiquated "ground" circuit which is assisted by a streak of rust to complete the required circuit for telephone conversation.

At the time that the Northern Indiana Telephone Co., acquired the local exchange the rates were as high as the service would warrant, but at that time a subscriber had access to free use of neighboring exchanges and he could reach double the number of people with no toll charge. As soon as the present owners were seated in the saddle, with nothing being done to improve the service, the rate boosting began and continued until the Farm News took a hand in the game and stirred up an opposition that has brought the rate boosting to a halt for a short time at least.

Now the officials of this phone company are undoubtedly men of intelligence, know something about the telephone business, and are aware of the fact that their phone plant in Mentone would compare to a modern system just about the same as a yoke of oxen would compare to an automobile in the transportation field. Either was all right half century ago but today it is different. To get right down to the facts, the system in this town is of the vintage of 1897 to 1900, and was all right at that time but coming of the electric roads and high tension power lines has made it impossible to give any kind of service over a "ground" system. Hence the Farm News claims that we are now paying too much for what we are receiving and will not lay off this fight until better service is furnished and free use of the several exchanges that have been placed on the toll list.

Now we wish it distinctly understood that we are not attributing the burn service to any of the employees at the Mentone Central—they are doing the best they can with the outfit that they have at hand—and to blame them would be an injustice.

In conclusion if the officers of the Northern Indiana Telephone Co., yet believe that they have a real telephone system in Mentone and should not be compared to a yoke of oxen, if they will get the Indiana Year Book of 1929 and turn to the report of the public Service Commission on page 957 they will find that our comparison is about right.

NEW DRIVE IN

GAS AND OIL STATION.

Byron Linn has his new gas station on W. Main St., just about completed and it sure makes a wonderful improvement in the appearance of that part of town. We have not learned just when the new place will be ready for business, but presume the opening will be in a few days.

TELEPHONE BUILDING IN

DANGEROUS CONDITION.

Our attention has been called to the dangerous condition of the Telephone Exchange building, and upon investigation we find that its condition is such as to be a real menace to people passing by on the sidewalk. The brick pillars in front that support the second story are all bulged outward two inches or more, and one of them is so wrecked that it can be moved with the pressure of the hand. The east wall is showing extra strain being placed upon it by the settling of the top floor, and during the past few weeks has cracked and crumbled to an extent that shows that it is very unsafe. We believe that it is the duty of the proper authorities of the village to look after this matter without delay and have something done to place it in a safe condition, before someone is injured and we have a damage case on our hands.

Further it is a shame to have our valuable $14,000.00 building go to rack and ruin simply for the want of a few props to hold it up.

Looking Backward

When looking back into the past we find things that are not only interesting but things that show us how much progress has been made in a given length of time. Nearly all newspapers devote some of their space to pioneer history or to "forty years ago." We find it valuable to make comparisons—it has a tendency to make us better satisfied.—Trinidad (Col.) Life, Health and Accident INSURANCE PROTECTION AT COST.

It is not a matter of whether you can afford it--But can you afford to be without it?

YOUR CHOICE OF FOUR FORMS OF POLICIES

In offering the following four different forms, we believe that the desire of the general public is being gratified. The liberal amount of insurance which can be secured at a reasonable price will attract every fair-minded person who wants protection during life, and at the same time provide an estate for his family.

We are attempting to supply the demand of that great majority of people who are not financially able to buy investment insurance and pay the high rate required for an accumulating policy which provides cash surrender, and loan values, and have paid-up and extended insurance features.

Our plan is to furnish REAL PROTECTION at as near cost as possible to all persons of moderate means between the ages of 10 and 60 years. The rates charged are not for accumulations, but only to meet the payment of claims and maintain the reserve required by law.

FORM 11—COMBINATION POLICY

Pays the following:—For accidental death, 10 To 50 years $2,000.00; 51 to 55 years $1,600.00; 56 to 60 years $1,000.00. For natural death, 10 to 50 years $1,000.00; 51 to 55 years $800.00; 56 to 60 years $500.00. Sickness or accident benefit $25.00 per week. Specific benefits, loss of one or both eyes, hands or feet, severances, dislocation or fractures. Premium $2.50 per month. Policy fee $5.00.

THIS IS A COMPLETE FULL COVERAGE POLICY

A combined Natural Death, Accidental Death and Health and Accident Policy. All provisions in one certificate and all included in one premium rate. This policy is particularly attractive to people of moderate means who want full protection at moderate cost.

The $25.00 per week sick and accident benefits provided in the Form 11—Combination Policy makes it a desirable contract and only the claim department could tell of the hundreds of claims paid for disability, dislocations and fractures.

Only one of these policies are issued to a person. But a holder of this policy is also eligible to hold one of the Form 12—Life Policy only.

FORM 13—HEALTH AND ACCIDENT POLICY

Accidental death—10 to 55 years $1,000.00 Sick or accident benefits $25.00 per week—one half for women. Hospital indemnity. Specific benefits—Loss of one or both eyes, hands or feet—Severance, dislocation or fracture. Premium $1.25 per month. Policy fee $5.00.

A REAL POLICY FOR THE MONEY

This policy provides double indemnity for Travel Accident and is a popular policy for those who carry Life Insurance, but do not have Health and Accident protection. During the past few months we have paid over $10,000 to policyholders in amounts of from $12.50 to $100.00 on this form of coverage. The low cost appeals to persons having no coverage of this kind. On account of the low rate only one policy will be issued to a person.

A holder of one of these Form 13—Health and Accident policies may also hold one of the Form 12—Life Policy Only.

Men, women and children, in normal health, from 10 to 60 years of age (inclusive) are eligible to hold policies in this company regardless of race or color.

FORM 12—LIFE POLICY ONLY

For natural or accidental death—10 to 50 years $1,000.00; 51 to 55 years $800.00; 56 to 60 years $500.00 No specific benefits. Premium $1.25 per month. Policy fee $5.00.

UNEQUALED IN COST

A life Insurance Policy covering both Natural and Accidental Death, issued to persons between the ages of 10 and 60 years, and at a price within the means of everyone. The man desiring Life Insurance for the protection of his family cannot overlook this policy or the rate at which the coverage is furnished. We only ask that the rate be compared with the rates of other companies furnishing this class of insurance, to be convinced that the cost is unequalled.

Two Form 12 Policies will be issued to one person, or One Form 12 and One Form 11—Combination Policy

FORM 10—DOLLAR A MONTH POLICY

Natural or accidental death—10 to 50 years $500.00; 51 to 60 years $300.00. Ten dollars a week for sickness; 10.00 a week for injury. Premium $1.00 per month. Policy fee $2.50.

A CONVENIENT POLICY

The intention of this policy is to furnish a small Full Coverage Contract to such persons as only desire sufficient protection to relieve the family savings in case of illness or accident, and remove the burden and distress in case of death. On account of the low rate, only one policy will be issued to a person.

The policy is particularly adopted to women and children, the rate of $1.00 per month making it both popular and convenient in cost.

NO MEDICAL EXAMINATION—POLICY FEE PAYABLE BUT ONCE.

Premiums payable monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

The American Benefit Life Ass'n.

Incorporated under the Laws of Indiana. Under the supervision of the Insurance Department of the State of Indiana

Application for any one of the above policies may be made at the Farm News Office.

(The editor of this paper has carried two policies with the above company for several years and considers that it is a good conservative association.)

BUNKER HILL

By JAMES B. TAYLOR

(Ode sung at the dedication of the monument, June 17, 1843.)

Lonely and still were the wood and hill
And the waves below yet slumbered.
The breezes light of a summer night
All the dewy hours numbered.
The sentry's tramp from the foeman's
camp,
With his tone of hasty warning,
Came low and clear to the yeoman's
ear
As he watched the early dawning.

The heroes thought, as they bravely
wrought,
Their country's altar rearing,
Of a noble land by valor's hand
Made free and home endearing.
In firm array when broke the day
The deadly charge they waited,
And side by side in silent pride
With skill their prowess mated.

Then waved the sword, then blood was poured
Oppression's host dismaying;
Death rent the air and the cannons'
glare
O'er freedom's birth were playing,
And that green height, with the evening light
Its crimson turf o'er shading,
Had holy grown as freedom's throne
Like her starry crown unfading.

Once more the skies with summer
dyes
Above the fields are bending,
And the waters still beneath the hill
Their crystal waves are blending;

But peace divine around the shrine,
Her boundless harvest wearing,
Bids us proclaim to a deathless fame
Our fathers' matchless daring.

Today a throng with festal song,
The sacred mount o'erflowing,
Have gathered there with pomp and prayer,
All hearts with rapture glowing,
On the gory bed of the martyred dead,
Its shade majestic sleeping,
Stands freedom's pile in glory's smile,
Eternal vigil keeping.

Youthful Patriots

For the most part, the signers of the Declaration of Independence were young men, the youngest being but twenty-seven years of age, and the average age being less than forty-four. But they were men of poise, judgment and discretion. They likewise were men of conviction, purpose and courage.

Through them and their successors there has come down to us this wonderful material heritage, a land indescribably rich in soil, minerals, climate and scenery, needing only the intelligence and industry of men to make easily available that which will supply every physical need.

States Loosely Bound at Revolution's End

On June 11, 1776, congress resolved that a committee should be appointed to prepare the form of a confederation to be entered into between the colonies, and on the next day a member from each colony was selected for this duty. The Articles of Confederation were formed and in time ratified by the several states. The second article contained the following: "Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom, and independence, and every power, jurisdiction and right which is not by this Confederation delegated to the United States. In congress assembled." In May, 1785, a committee of congress recommended an alteration in the Articles of Confederation, but no action was taken upon it, and it was left to the state legislatures to proceed in the matter. Virginia took it up in January, 1796, and the conclusion was the convention which gave birth to the Constitution.

Signers Lived Long

Edwin F. Hill says: "The longevity of the signers of the Declaration of Independence is remarkable. Three lived to be over 90, 10 over 80, 11 over 70, 14 over 60, 11 over 50, 6 over 40, and 1 died at 30. The signers represented many vocations. Twenty-four were lawyers; 14 were farmers; 4 were doctors; 1 was a minister; 3 prepared for the ministry; 1 was a manufacturer, and 9 were merchants."

Franklin Won Fame Both as Patriot and Citizen

Everybody knows Poor Richard; how many remember that Franklin was the man who, when the final touches were being put on the Declaration of Independence, was the man who insisted on spelling "United" with a capital "U" in the billboard poster which was published, announcing the event, and so fixed the capitalization of United States? He was not only one of the signers of that document, but one of the committee of five charged with drawing it up. He was a member of each of ten committees of the first Continental congress, and a member of the Constitutional convention. Through his Philadelphia Gazette he was instrumental in organizing the police force of Philadelphia, a pioneer undertaking, and later its militia, and the fire and street departments, also an experiment in municipal government. He established the academy which has become the University of Pennsylvania, he made Pennsylvania's first public library possible, and he was in the advance guard of the movement for public hospitals. The total compensation he received for all his public services constituted hardly a tithe of his personal expenditures in the public behalf. He supported himself by his own efforts as printer and publisher, being a master of both vocations. He gave lavishly of both money and time, and it is significant that the conception of thrift for which he is famous included both.

Benjamin Franklin

Important as is thrift, it would be a mistake to restrict observance of Franklin's memory to this single aspect. The many-sidedness, the shrewd common sense, the unselfish patriotism of Benjamin Franklin deserve study, too.

FARM POULTRY

INFECTED CHICKS SPREAD DISEASE

Tainted Birds Immediately Become Menace to Others.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Bacillary white diarrhea, also known as pullorum disease, may spread from infected chicks to healthy chicks in the same incubator, even though the chicks are not actually in contact, the United States Department of Agriculture announces in reporting progress in the study of the cure, prevention, and eradication of this serious disease. Drs. Hubert Bunyea and W. J. Hall have demonstrated the danger of this type of infection in investigations under way for two years at the bureau of animal industry experiment station, Bethesda, Md. Their work was part of a program of study formulated by the bureau and the National Poultry council. The committee in charge of these investigations consisted of Drs. M. Dorset, M. A. Jull, and H. Bunyea, all of the bureau of animal industry.

The eggs used in the experiment came from two flocks, one known to have the disease, the other free from it as shown by the agglutination test. Separate trays for the two kinds of eggs were used in the incubators, and the chicks, when hatched, were prevented from coming in contact with those in the other trays. In four different types of incubators it was found that pullorum disease was transmitted from infected chicks to normal chicks. The infection ranged from 45 per cent in the still-air type to 81 per cent in the agitated-air type. The control chicks, hatched in separate incubators from eggs obtained from non-reacting hens, showed less than one-tenth of one per cent infection.

In all cases the spread of the disease occurred within a period of from 18 to 24 hours after hatching, apparently as a result of air circulation. In no case did any of the chicks from one tray have direct contact with those in another tray. Deaths of healthy chicks exposed to the disease showed that even when the chicks were brooded under the most favorable conditions, a large percentage died within two weeks as a result of the infection.

The experiment showed that from the moment it comes out of the shell an infected chick immediately becomes a menace to all other chicks in the same incubator. An infected chick is also a menace when placed in a brooder with healthy chicks.

Incubators for Ducks Is Now Common Method

The desire to incubate their own eggs has been bred out of many strains of ducks, particularly the Pekin. For this reason the egg must be hatched in incubators or under hens.

Duck eggs should be gathered daily, kept in a cool place and turned daily. They should be set as soon as possible after laying, as they do not keep as well as hens' eggs.

In incubating duck eggs artificially, they are handled about the same as hens' eggs except that the temperature should be held at 102 degrees for the first three weeks and more moisture supplied in the machine. They may be tested for fertility on the fourth or fifth day.

Don't Waste Sunshine Needed by Chickens

Even if you are feeding cod liver oil and have substitute glass in the windows, don't waste any pure, raw sunshine when you have a chance to use it on the chicks. Be willing to open the windows and doors on still, sunny days. Then watch the weather and close them up when clouds and raw winds appear. Let the chicks enjoy the warmth of pure raw sunshine whenever possible. A little extra work in caring for the windows and the ventilating system will be repaid in the improved vigor of the chicks.

Eradicating Lice

For eradicating lice from poultry use sodium fluoride. It kills all varieties of lice—body, head, and feather. This chemical may be applied by dusting or by dipping. Either the "chemically pure" or the "commercial" grades may be used, but the latter is cheaper and more easily obtained. Young chicks require very little, and a pound of powder costing about 50 cents should kill the lice on a flock of 100 chickens. Dipping the fowls is still easier and cheaper.

Clean Ground Best

The chief of the poultry section of the Iowa experimental station says: Even though the old birds show no signs of infection, it is not safe to allow young birds even to have access to the same yards, runs or ground where old stock have been. Just try getting the 1930 chicks on clean ground entirely away from the old birds. Infection can be easily carried on the shoes, by old stock, and in many other ways. Prevention is always the best cure.

"All my life I was ailing more or less", said Mrs. Mary Collier, 19 Bloomington street, Indianapolis. "During the past few years my health failed rapidly. My stomach gave me a great deal of trouble. I suffered with gas pains and cramps. My kidneys and bladder were weak and I suffered severe back pains. My liver was sluggish and I had an unhealthy color. Constipation had bothered me for years. "I knew many people who had been benefited by Konjola and finally gave this medicine a trial. The relief was swift and permanent. Today my kidney trouble has cleared up and my bladder functions normally. My stomach is in excellent condition and I have an excellent appetite. My liver is in good shape again and the sallow color is leaving. Constipation has been relieved and I rarely take laxatives. I feel better now than I have felt in many years and I am still taking Konjola.

Konjola works with the vital digestive organs, eliminates accumulated poisons and stimulates the organ itself. Taken over a period of from six to eight weeks in most cases, this medicine brings results that would challenge belief were the facts not known and verified.

Konjola is sold in Mentone Ind., at the Shafer & Goodwin drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section

Vitamins in Yeast

Yeast is an excellent source of vitamin B. Vitamin A also is contained in yeast.

Hydrogen Gas

The bureau of standards says that the atom of hydrogen has not been split into two different gases. What has been discovered is that hydrogen gas contains two different types of hydrogen molecules, and a partial separation of these two types has been effected.

The Reason

We get so many eggs from Mentone Producers is because we are in a position to pay the most for Quality Eggs. And then Our Quick Returns is

Another Factor

That makes friends among the shippers and causes so many to ship their Finest Eggs to us.
