A MISTAKEN IDEA—WAKE UP AND GET BUSY

It seems that many of our readers are under the impression that it is going to require many thousand votes to stand a chance of winning one of the prizes in our vote getting contest.

Nothing could be further from the truth, and if you will read over the rules of the contest carefully you will see that provisions are made therein especially to keep any one person or clique of people from piling up a huge number of votes with a certainty of capturing the prizes.

Under the provisions of the contest the ordinary person buying a moderate amount of merchandise, who will apply him, or herself, and solicit the aid of a few friends who are not in the contest to help, will stand just as good chance to win one of the prizes as the largest buyer in the community, and it is our belief that at the conclusion of this contest it will be found that the prizes will go to the people who make moderate purchases and not to the large buyers—a one dollar purchase gets just as many votes as a fifty dollar purchase. By having this provision in the rules it is possible for the person who does not spend over $5.00 per week, if they will patronize our advertisers and solicit their friends who are not in the contest to aid them, they will stand just as good chance of winning one of the prizes as the largest buyer in the community.

Take our advice and enter the contest today—start out to win see all of your friends, and by a little work and effort on your part you will stand a good chance to pull down the $50.00. Remember men, women, boys and girls can enter this contest. See our advertisement in another column.

A VERY SIMPLE MATTER TO GET VOTES

All that is necessary to get votes in our contest is to take the advertisement out of the Farm News to the merchant—trade one dollar or more in cash and he will give you the votes as stated in the advertisement. Patronize home merchant advertisers and win a cash prize.

FREE PICTURE SHOW DRAWS LARGE CROWD

The moving picture show drew a very large crowd to our village on last Thursday evening and all who witnessed the show were well pleased with the entertainment. Aside from providing free entertainment our merchants have added seats so that our visitors can be comfortably seated while watching the pictures. This is a great improvement over the arrangements of last year and is greatly appreciated by our guests.

The picture man states that he has many good pictures on the program for this season, and it will be a treat for Mentone patrons to enjoy these open air shows. These entertainments will continue each Thursday evening during the summer months. Everybody is invited to attend.

CYNIC OFFERS NOTHING NEW

By REV. DR. BROWN, Dean Emeritus Yale Divinity School.

A CYNIC never grows up. His mind simply shrivels. If it is easy for a man to blow out his brains with a pistol, it is just as easy for him to do it with a lot of foolish ideas. The "seat of the scornful" is merely an asylum for the diseased mind. A man can learn nothing if he already thinks he knows it all. What good does the cynic do to those around him? He has no future; at least he won't look into it. And he scoffs at those about him who do.

Humanism is platitudinous and a contradiction of terms. The Golden Rule is all right as far as it goes, but the human mind needs something more than that for a rule to conduct.

The materialist assails the intangible feature of religion. It is admittedly hard to face the inexorability of nature. It is hard to face the decline of the human body by death. It is divinely hard. In this difficulty we are offered a challenge to our faith. But the idle, the flippant and the cynical have nothing to offer.

In the development of cynicism today the youth of twenty-two has solved all his problems and has nothing to live for. At twelve the youth has found out all about his parents. At eighteen he has solved the question of morality. At twenty he has found that the structure of government and society is all wrong. At twenty-one he has learned that marriage is a failure and at twenty-four he has nothing to look forward to.

Those who sit in the seats of the scornful today do not really occupy seats, or even benches, but they fill whole stadiums, worshiping something that can do them no good. The cynic cuts himself off from God. He divests himself of reverence and respect mentally in a way that would cause the police to arrest him if he did it physically. Not only does he fail to profit from his thoughts himself, but he is harmful to those around him.

YOUTH NEEDS HOME CONTROL

By DR. SAMUEL S. DRURY, Rector St. Paul's School, New York.

Both home and school seem to capitulate in the presence of youth bent upon a good time, falsely so called. Schoolmasters shake their heads and parents wring their hands and young people do as they please. The modern American summer resort becomes a place to be avoided and the Christmas holiday is a period of dread. Is it not time for parents to reassert their control and for schools to aid the home in maintaining standards of sensible behavior, not for nine months per annum but for twelve?

Concerning "retreats" in the country, I ask, "Is this right? Ought family life be disrupted? Would not corporate insistence by home and school reclaim for youth the happy opportunity to stay young in the precious formative years from fourteen to eighteen? Rejoice, young man, in thy youth, should be the motto. We are a long time old."

"AUTO GRAVEYARDS"

BEING SIDESWIPED

Purdue News Service.

Lafayette, Ind. April 6.—A movement to abolish automobile cemeteries, which oftentimes are located at conspicuous points along main highways at the edges of cities, is sweeping over the state of Indiana, says R. B. Hull, landscaping specialist of Purdue University. The cheapest means of getting rid of these eyesores, Mr. Hull states, is by moving the old cars to waste land entirely out of view of the highway. Planting about the "cemetery to hide the view of the junked cars is an effective but expensive way of improving the entrance of the cities.

This state-wide "Clean Up" campaign is including farm and city home grounds. The improvement of lawns, shrubs, and trees is an integral part of the work in home beautification. About the farm home, oftentimes old unused buildings are left standing long after they cease to be of use. These should be removed.

In many instances, the plan of the farmstead should be changed. The well planned grounds should include not only the public front lawn, but should provide a region, more or less secluded for burning rubbish, and drying clothes. There should be definite areas for stable yard, poultry run, and garden, rather than a broad open expanse of land where all of these are included without any boundaries separating one region from the rest.

Mr. Hull points out that a farmstead or town home which has the layout of the grounds well planned may be developed gradually, year after year without great expense and with a constant increase in beauty and in satisfaction to the owner.

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

The Wayside Camp

EVERY possible precaution has been thrown around the automobile tourist. Federal and state officials are extremely solicitous for the man and his family on the road. Well do these authorities appreciate that no matter how fine the weather, how inspiring the scenery, or how good the road these things will amount to little if as a result of the trip, illness follows in its wake.

It is therefore not enough that caution signs and signals are to be found at every crossroad and curve. Health departments have gone farther by attempting to regulate the sanitation of the wayside camp. It is plain, however, that even with regular inspections on the part of the official personnel, the real key to the proper observance of the law, so far as these establishments are concerned, is held by the tourist himself.

Many jurisdictions in this country require that safe water be supplied at these places, that the grounds be maintained at all times in a sanitary condition, that a prompt disposition of the garbage be made, and that comfort facilities are properly kept.

It will pay the traveler to be finicky on this camp question. If the place does not meet the fundamental requirements, then move on. Far better that a few more miles be added to the trip than to run the risk of typhoid fever which at its very best is an exceedingly risky malady.

And in this connection, do not forget that the tourist also has a duty to perform which can be summarized under three "don'ts." 1. Don't throw garbage into streams. 2. Don't pollute running water in any manner. 3. Don't drink from creeks or rivers no matter how poetical their setting or how clear and cool the water may be.

With the camp proprietor doing his best to comply with regulations and with the patron, by his conduct and choiceness, assisting and inspiring him a combination is set up that will be hard for old typhoid to beat. Now then, all aboard for a safe and pleasant journey!

WHY NOT CLEAN IT UP?

One of our subscribers who has occasion to travel East Main St., quite often, has called our attention to a condition that presents a very unsightly appearance to people entering our village from the east. While all the lawns and residence on the north side are kept in nice condition the south side of the street presents the appearance of a dumping ground and possibly is used as such by many of the dwellers on that street. As this is clean-up week it would probably be a good time to give the south side of this street some attention, and then if it has been used as a dumping ground see that some other spot that is not quite so prominent be selected for dumping refuse in the future.

Origin of English Cities

Many English cities have sprung from the ham, or homestead, of some Saxon family, around which other houses were gradually built. Thus Birmingham is the home of the Birma family.

American railroads have saved during the last nine years $450,516,000 by the more efficient and economical use of fuel. This is a very remarkable showing. It is not due to any cheapening of the prices of fuel, but to the reduction of the quantity used. A pound of coal was made to do more work, so that it required less pounds to accomplish the object. In 1928 this saving amounted to over $75,000. It is by directing its attention to such points that a company is enabled to effect a saving.

Animals and birds of the Northwest instinctively know that they are protected in the boundaries of the Yellowstone National park and fight snowdrifts to get up into the park away from trappers and hunters. Last spring park rangers counted 17,000 elk, 700 moose, 600 black and grizzly bears and numerous deer and small animals within the borders of the park, which includes 3,470 square miles.

FOREIGN MARKETS TO BE STUDIED

Milton J. Newhouse Has Been Given Special Appointment.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A study of existing and prospective European markets for American fruits, and arrangements for securing more frequent and more inclusive market and crop reports on fruits in Europe have been initiated by the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

Milton J. Newhouse, for four years manager of the North Pacific Prune Growers' Exchange, has been given a special appointment by the bureau for a period of eight months to carry out the bureau's program. Mr. Newhouse will investigate the market problems of the various American co-operative associations which handle fruits in the markets of the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Belgium, Netherlands and Scandinavia. He will make a survey of present and future market potentialities, and market methods and practices.

The study will be extended to the fruit producing areas in southern Europe, particularly Yugo-Slavia, France, Italy and Spain, to determine the competition which the American co-operative associations, as well as other marketing agencies, may expect in the future. Mr. Newhouse will be abroad about six months, during which time he will endeavor also to arrange for more frequent and perhaps somewhat more inclusive market and crop reports as they pertain to fruits in Europe. The bureau's program has been arranged in response to the demands from co-operatives and other marketing agencies for foreign information on fruits.

In Neglected Orchards Prune Only Moderately

Many growers take possession of an orchard in which pruning has been badly neglected, or appreciate too late the value of pruning in their orchards, and in an effort to make the tree appear properly pruned remove entirely too many branches the first year. This severe pruning after years of neglect may throw out of balance the top and root system and produce a heavy growth of water sprouts which may result in little or no fruit development. It is a much wiser procedure to prune only moderately the first year, removing and thinning out the small branches in the top of the tree and also here and there in the center and on the sides, in order to open up the tree for the admittance of sunlight and air. It is seldom advisable or necessary in the neglected orchard to remove limbs larger than one and one-half inches in diameter. It is true that occasionally limbs larger than this will be found growing in undesirable places, but, though it would be much better for the tree were they not there, their removal would produce large wounds which might be very slow in healing.

Warfare Against Scale Begins During Winter

In regions where the scale is a problem the grower's warfare against insect pests and diseases begins with the dormant spray. As the spring advances and the buds begin to open his second application is called the cluster bud spray, and is directed primarily at the disease called scab and which begins its injurious work early. Many of the growers have already begun or in some cases they have completed their cluster bud spray, though it is still a little early for this spray. For best results, it should be put on just before the blossoms open but after the fruit buds have opened so as to expose the individual future blossoms.

Planting Distance for Plum, Cherry and Peach

The ordinary planting distance of the cherry, plum and peach is usually somewhere around 20 feet each way, although very frequently they are found set 18 by 25 feet. With a little wider spacing between the rows it makes the trees somewhat easier to take care of after they reach large size. The type of pruning which is to be given and also the variety of the tree has of course its influence on the planting distance. In this state, however, we should not crowd our trees because of the difficulty sometimes encountered of securing enough moisture.—C. C. Wiggins, University of Nebraska.

Water Sprout Growth

Where long "elbows" of the larger limbs are exposed to the sunlight as a result of bending there almost inevitably results a vigorous water sprout growth along the upper surface. Where it seems feasible these new growths should be thinned out and cut back letting them in time develop bearing surface. If, however, these are not checked in growth, the height of the tree may be increased five, or as much as fifteen feet, before this new growth starts to bear.

POULTRY FACTS

SELL POULTRY BY CANNING PROCESS

Profitable Way to Dispose of Fowls if Prices Low.

During culling seasons when poultry is selling at a low price, poultry may be disposed of profitably by canning, according to the New York state college of home economics at Cornell university.

The quality of canned poultry depends on the condition of the fresh meat and the method of canning. As soon as the animal heat has disappeared, usually six to eight hours after killing, the fowl is ready for the canner, to turn it into a wholesome product properly sterilized. Because the flesh has a compact texture, which the heat penetrates slowly, a high temperature is necessary, and most authorities agree that meat should be canned only under pressure. The length of time for processing is the same whether the chicken is roasted, fried, or fricasseed before putting it in jars or whether it is packed uncooked. Many prefer to can the chicken raw to avoid the warmed-over flavor of canned cooked chicken.

When chicken is packed in the jars it may be left on the bone, or the meat alone may be used, cut in pieces to fit. Pack the jar as tightly as possible after it has been thoroughly cleaned and sterilized. Wide-mouth jars are easiest for packing. Pieces containing a great deal of gelatin, as the back and neck, are placed in the center of the jar and the other pieces around them. Holding the jar in a slanting position and using a small wooden spoon or spatula makes it easier to insert the pieces. By placing the skin next to the outside of the jar a tighter pack is obtained because the skin sticks to the hot jar. The more tender pieces may be placed on top, so they will not break when being removed. No water is used in canning; if the poultry is carefully packed there is no room for water and one teaspoonful of salt is used to each quart of packed chicken.

Tin cans as well as glass jars may be used successfully in canning poultry and present-day tin cans are quite safe to use. The method of packing is the same. All cold air should be exhausted before sealing the can by standing the filled cans in a pan of boiling water, which comes to within one inch of the top of the can, for from ten to fifteen minutes. If the air is not driven out, the can is apt to bulge.

Home Livers

The good old days were those when young people lived at home even before they were married.

Turkey Eggs Should Be Handled Very Carefully

Turkey eggs should be kept in a uniform temperature, not above 60 degrees, though successful breeders bring them into a warm room for revitalizing if held for hatching in cold weather. The longer a fertile turkey egg is held, the poorer its chance, after the first few days, of hatching. The date when it is due to hatch should be marked on the egg when set. If date of gathering is also marked, the breeder will be interested in noting the effects of difference in age on vitality. It would take more eggs than the average breeder sets, however, to prove anything absolutely—too many reasons enter into the hatchability of eggs and the livability of poult to say this is or is not true after one or two experiments.

Laying Mash for Ducks While on Grass Plot

A good laying mash for ducks would be equal parts by weight of yellow corn meal, standard wheat middlings, wheat bran, ground oats to which you should add by weight 15 per cent of meat and bone meal, 2 per cent powdered charcoal, one-half of 1 per cent fine table salt and 1 per cent of fine sharp sand. This should be fed twice a day and they might have a little cracked corn once a day. This is on the assumption that the ducks are run on a grass plot and getting all the green food they want.

Scaly Leg Remedy

Crude petroleum is considered the best treatment for scaly leg. A mixture of equal parts of lard and kerosene is a good treatment, making use of readily available products. The hens are treated by putting the legs in a can containing the treating material and holding them there for upwards of a minute. Care should be used in order to get as little as possible of the material above the feather edge. It will blister the skin. This will irritate the fowl.

Hatch in Incubator

The hatching of duck and goose eggs can be successfully carried out with the incubator if the tray is made high enough to accommodate goose eggs. Also there is another point which must be carefully watched. These eggs require much more moisture than hen eggs do. Ducks require 23 days, geese 28 to 29 days and turkeys 27 to 29 days for incubation. The temperatures are practically the same as those required for hatching ordinary hen eggs.

Relics of Old Tragedy

Two brass buckles and a copper button, believed to have been worn by members of the John White colony which vanished without a trace near Elizabeth City, N. C., in 1537, were found in the sands of a North Carolina sound.

RETURNS HOME FROM SOUTH

Dr. and Mrs. Yocum, and Maurice Dudley, who have been so-journing in the south for the past few months returned to their home in this village last Saturday night. The southern trip was made principally for the doctor to receive treatment for an infected foot and regain health, and from his general appearance and the way he steps around, it appears that the trip and treatment bore excellent results, and while a little light in weight he has a good healthy color and is looking fine.

The many friends of the doctor and family will be pleased to learn of their return, and we dare say that the Yocum family are just as much pleased to be again in Mentone.

ELECTION VERY QUIET

Tuesday primary election was very quiet, there being very little interest manifested. About the only people that seemed to display any interest in the event were the many candidates. As the Farm News goes to press Tuesday afternoon it is impossible to give the results in this issue.

BROODER HOUSE BURNS

A brooder house which was being warmed up preparatory to receiving a bunch of chicks the next day was destroyed by fire on the H. L. Tipton farm, west of town during the wild storm on last Thursday evening. It is supposed that the building was blown over and there being fire in the brooder stove set the house on fire. It was a complete loss of about $150.00 covered by insurance.

STRAWSTACK IS POOR PROTECTION

Hogs Huddle Up and Get Too Warm in Winter.

"Any port in a storm, of course. But a straw pile is one of the poorest of all possible poor ports for the hogs when a blizzard or a sudden cold spell hits the farm," says J. W. Wulchet, extension specialist in swine growing, for the Ohio State university.

"Letting the hogs burrow into a straw stack for shelter from the bad weather is better than leaving them to freeze to death, but not much better," says Wulchet. "The reason is that when hogs huddle into straw stacks they pile up in heaps, to keep warm they get too warm, and when they get out for food or any other reason, are liable to pneumonia and other diseases.

"Even more important is the fact that such a refuge is highly insanitary, and a hog is more susceptible to unsanitary conditions than most other farm animals. When hogs pile up under a straw stack their skins are caked with filth and get into bad condition, and their general health is affected.

"Much better have some sort of houses, either central sheds or individual houses. In extremely cold weather bank these houses with straw to keep out the wind and conserve the body heat of the hogs, but be sure to leave sufficient ventilation."

Alfalfa for Horses Fed in Balanced Ration Good

Alfalfa hay is good horse feed, according to A. O. Rhoad of the New York state college of agriculture, providing it is fed in a balanced ration. Corn and alfalfa make a balanced ration while oats, barley, peas and bran that are high in protein would provide too much protein to feed alfalfa as the only roughage. In this case there should be some other hay such as timothy with the alfalfa.

The firsts cutting is considered the best for horses. The usual recommendation of cutting alfalfa when one-third in bloom is best for cattle, but it is better for horses if cut when in the later stages of maturity, Rhoad states.

Practical Plan to Feed Pigs in Creep or Pen

Fall pigs thrive much better if they start eating grain before they are weaned, according to W. L. Robinson of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station. When this is done there is no noticeable setback at weaning time.

Pigs will start eating grain when three or four weeks old but to do this the pigs must be able to eat unmolested by the sows. This is easily accomplished by providing a creep which consists of a pen with an opening through which the pigs can go but which will hold the sows back.

A good ration for the young pigs is made of 64 parts of corn, 22.5 parts of ground oats, 8 parts of tankage, 4 parts of linseed oil meal, and 1.5 parts of minerals. If the pasture is short or no green feed is available add about 4 parts of ground alfalfa or clover hay, or the leaves of either hay.

Live Stock Facts

Docking lambs up to two months of age is practiced.

Keep pregnant mares out of corn stalk fields. Provide them with plenty of pure, clean water.

Normally one-third of the spring pigs die before they are ten weeks old, or of weaning age.

Many castrate the ram lambs at the same time docking is done, but the preferred age for castrating is about four weeks.

Feed the mare generously on sound whole oats, bran and mixed clover, or timothy hay. Avoid moldy hay or silage, damaged grain, woody, weathered fodder, dusty or rusty straw, or hay containing ergot.

The mare in foal should be worked lightly or abundantly exercised every day. Exercise is absolutely necessary. She should occupy a roomy, clean, well lighted, and perfectly ventilated box stall.

Long-legged, narrow-backed hogs do not have economical feeding quality, and for that reason have been forced into the discard.

The brood sows which realize the greatest profits are those which are capable of raising two large litters of strong, healthy pigs each year.

The ideal time for docking is when the lambs are ten days or two weeks old. At this age the job is simple and can be done with little risk of serious bleeding and little pain to the lamb.

Dorothy

You have so much to be thankful for, Dorothy, so much to tilt up your pretty little nose, that you may even get a bit uppish.

The Dorothy
Type of Foot.

In the first place your very first syllable, DOR, gives you quite a superiority complex, because DOR means generation or age. It makes you quite the important one of your generation, and inclined to be the favorite of your family.

A study of the life of Dorothy Mackaill, motion picture star, would bear out these statements quite completely.

If you make good use of your second syllable, OTH, you can have the advantage of the everlasting youth implied in your first syllable. For this OTH means a sign or token, and will point the way for you in any direction that you set your heart on going. Only do be careful not to let your splendid self-respect become pride or conceit.

Your cute little foot, short, with a high instep, will take you far. It can be a journey of light and dancing steps, according to the way you use that first syllable, DOR.

Remember that this syllable DOR is in the word adore.

This letter Y makes the last syllable. Its meaning is "and." With you it indicates the idea in the word "plus," unlimited additions, unlimited room for expansion. Whenever way you set your ideas on the generation of new things, coupled with the sign or token of your life, your "pluses" will go on adding themselves.

Your sign or token is a rigid self-respect, surrounded by kindness, and carefully kept on this side of egotism. That is not too preachy, is it?

BEWARE OF PAINT PEDDLERS.

We understand that there are people touring this part of the country offering paint at a ridiculously low price—in fact at less than the actual cost of the ingredients of good first class paint. The manufacturers of this so called paint will give you all kinds of "written guarantees" which amount to less than the paper that they are written on as the manufacturer is not responsible in nine cases out of ten, and if he is responsible the guarantee is so worded that it is worthless.

The safe way is to give these agents the air, and purchase your paint from some reputable dealer who handles a standard product thereby getting a paint that will give you service and satisfaction. We know of no paint manufacturer that has a better reputation for reliable goods, than the old time firm of Sherwin-Williams Co., their goods have been on the market for years, and we dare say that there is hardly a paint buyer in this locality that has not at some time or other used their paint with perfect satisfaction. So why take a chance on some paint that is sold at a few cents less. It costs just as much to put on cheap paint as it does good paint, so why not play safe and buy the S-W

COD LIVER OIL IS GREAT NEED

Found Indispensable Where Chicks Brooded Indoors.

Where chicks are raised indoors and not in direct sunshine, they need cod liver oil in the ration. The material does not cause bowel trouble as many poultrymen seem to think.

"Inflammation of the bowels and similar troubles with chicks is due to one of four causes—a virus, round worms, tape worms or chronic coccidiosis," says Dr. B. F. Kaupp, poultryman at the North Carolina State college. "Not only does our experimental evidence rule out cod liver oil as a cause of this bowel trouble, but it seems to rule out feed altogether. We have found that cod liver oil is indispensable where chicks are brooded in batteries or indoors. It produces greater resistance to disease and promotes better health. This means better growth and more eggs. To date no substitute for this material in the ration has been found."

Doctor Kaupp says that he has data on hundreds of tests made during the past 15 years. In no case has serious bowel trouble developed where cod liver oil was used. In the tests, oil was mixed with the mash at different times. Some of it was held four to six months before the feeding experiments were completed and in no case did the records show, either clinically or in post mortem, a serious bowel trouble.

The test did show that there are too many flocks of weak constitutional vigor and high death rate. Yet when the vitamin deficiencies were supplemented with a good grade of oil and mineral supplements used along with proper proportions of protein, health with all its natural resistance to disease was built up.

Health, vigor and strength must be put into the chicks early in life by a rich, properly balanced starting mash, says Doctor Kaupp.

TIME FOR POULTRYMEN TO SELECT BREEDING MALES

Purdue News Service.

Many folks today are selling the most rapid growing and early maturing cockerels. Frequently the slow growing birds which are kept around the place later develop into fairly presentable individuals and are used for breeding. It can readily be seen that where this practice is followed that the selection of good males is being defeated. It is good practice to keep a few of the earlier maturing fast growing and healthier males from which to select future breeders according to Prof L H Schwartz of the Purdue University poultry staff.

Males which develop oversized combs for the growth of their bodies rarely develop into large framed individuals. The real early sexual maturing bird is to be avoided. There usually are a few birds which are slightly larger with long, wide backs and deep bodies. Those birds, which in addition, have a uniform growth of comb with that of the body are the ones from which future breeders should be selected. Birds which have straight legs standing with feet well apart and which have deep bodies indicate that they have good capacity. This point should be considered carefully when selecting males for breeding.

Good health is indicated in a bird having a bright eye, bright red comb and wattles. One that is inclined to fight rather than to run away shows that he is in a good healthy condition. The importance of selecting breeding males for early maturity, capacity and good health cannot be overemphasized at this time.

Preserve Eggs Now

Many people will remember that they had to pay from 75 cents to $1.25 a dozen for eggs last fall and winter. It will not be necessary to pay such high prices if eggs are preserved in water glass now when they are lowest in price. Whenever they can be obtained, infertile eggs should be preserved, as they keep better. For instructions, write to your state college of agriculture, county or home demonstration agent, or to the Department of Agriculture.

Cull Young Cockerels

It will pay to separate young cockerels from the pullets when eight to ten weeks old. This will give the pullets a chance for better development, and enable the poultryman to force the cockerels for market. Time and labor will be saved by hopper feeding the grain to the growing chicks after five weeks old. Put the grain and mash hoppers out on the range and induce a maximum of exercise. That keeps the chicks out in the sunshine, and this promotes vigor and vitality.

Primitive "Razors"

Shaving the beard was, before the Bronze or Iron ages, performed with flints, shells or bones, on which a specially sharp edge was ground.

English Tapestries

Tapestries had been imported into England for generations, but it was not until the middle of the Sixteenth century that looms were set up in Warwickshire by William Sheldon.

DAIRY FACTS

MORE MILK MEANS HIGHER QUALITY

Better Article Produced by Increasing Output.

Greater quantities of milk produced on the average farm mean a higher quality of milk. Attempts to increase the quantity of milk, therefore, lead toward production of a better article. It is pointed out by R. B. Stoltz, professor of dairy technology at the Ohio State university.

"The dairyman shipping five to ten cans of milk daily is in a business which makes it necessary for him to test his cows for tuberculosis, cool his milk, endeavor to produce it more efficiently, and give it the proper care in order to meet inspection demands of city consumers. The farmer, not a dairyman, who keeps only two or three cows, is not in the dairy business—he just keeps some cows. To increase his production and put him into the dairy business means improving the quality of his product and the efficiency with which it is produced," says Professor Stoltz.

The Scioto valley milk producers and the milk distributors of Columbus are attempting to encourage increased production by paying a premium for quantity. For producers who average less than 100 pounds of milk a day the price is $2.95 a hundred pounds; for those who average 100 to 150 pounds daily, the price is $3.00 a hundred. The scale rises until producers selling more than 250 pounds a day get $3.15 a hundred pounds for it—20 cents more than those who produce less than 100 pounds a day.

"Quality might be rapidly improved if the distributors paid a premium for high quality. This plan has been tried in several places and has not proved satisfactory," says Professor Stoltz. "It would undoubtedly be more satisfactory if the movement started with the producers rather than with the distributors."

Milk Cooling Tanks Are Essential During Winter

People who make a practice of not using their cooling tanks for cream during the winter months should get them fixed up and in operation. Nothing will do more to improve the quality of cream offered to creameries than the use of cooling tanks. The tank should be fixed so that there is room for two containers. One should hold the fresh cream and the other the cream that is being held for market. It is a well-established fact that where warm cream is mixed with the cold cream before it is cooled, that it will neither keep as well nor have as desirable a flavor as where it is cooled separately.

Many people have been using their cooling tanks all winter. Where they are properly constructed, they will keep the cream from freezing. On most farms it is a problem to properly cool cream and hold the same without freezing, unless a cooler of this kind is used in the winter as well as summer. If cream is kept in the cellar or in the kitchen, it is not only apt to get sour but will pick up undesirable odors.

Soy Beans Are Favored in Winter Dairy Ration

The comparatively high prices which are being asked for cottonseed meal and linseed oilmeal and the large acreage of soy beans in a large part of the corn belt are leading dairymen to consider the use of soy beans as a protein supplement in the dairy ration during the winter.

Experiments conducted at the Purdue experiment station in which ground soy beans were compared with linseed oilmeal showed that the ground beans produced from 2 to 4 per cent more milk than an equal weight of oilmeal. This makes it possible for the dairyman to grow a complete dairy ration on the farm.

Bluegrass Is Hardy and Excellent Feed for Cows

Bluegrass is hardy. It will survive in spite of early, close, and late grazing, and it is excellent feed for cows when they can get enough of it. But it is a slacker in dry weather. The hot, dry winds of midsummer stop its growth and the dairy cow is left without sufficient feed just at the time she requires an abundance to enable her to fight flies, withstand the ill effects of severe heat, and produce a normal flow of milk. For these reasons many progressive dairy farmers are discarding bluegrass as a pasture crop on tillable land.

Save Corn Cost

A tank heater will return approximately $30 a cow in increased profits during the winter months. With a 10-cow herd this would mean a saving of $300 and would be profitable. It takes a good deal of expensive corn, eaten by a cow, to raise the temperature of ice water to body heat and this is directly reflected in the profits that may be obtained in the production of winter milk. These statements are based upon results obtained at the Missouri experiment station.

"Eight Bottles Konjola Ended My Suffering"

New Medicine Scores Another Remarkable Victory and Wins Eager Praise From Indianapolis Man.

MR. GUY B. SMERAGS.

"Eight bottles of Konjola ended my suffering and I am glad to tell others of my experience," said Mr. Guy B. Smerags, 431 West Illinois street, Indianapolis. "I suffered from complication of ailments. My stomach was in very poor condition. My liver also gave me a great deal of trouble. My color was bad and I suffered severe dizzy spells, particularly upon getting up in the morning. I was scarcely ever free from headaches and became seriously worried over my condition."

"My stomach and liver are in first class condition today and neither give me the least bit of trouble. I have new strength and energy and I really enjoy my work. I never thought there was a medicine that could do all that Konjola has done for me. I hope that others who suffer as I did will be induced by this testimonial to give this medicine a trial."

Konjola drives the poison from the system, regulates the organs of digestion and elimination and aids nature and her task of restoring new and abundant health.

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison.

To That First Robin

Listen here, now, Mr. Robin,
In your coat of reddish brown,
With your busy head a-bobbin'
And a-peckin' up and down—
Is it true that winter's over,
That the blizzard days are gone?
Are we soon to roll in clover,
And is Spring about to dawn?

You have fooled us, plenty, plenty—
Yes, indeed, as well you know.
Every year since nineteen twenty,
You have PLASTERED us with
So my faith in you's diminished, [snow!]
I believe you're just a bluff—
As a prophet you are finished,
For you do not know your stuff!

But despite the way you kid us,
We are glad when you appear,
For your cheerful antics bid us
To rejoice and be of cheer!
And you set us all to hummin'
Tho the skies are drab and gray,
For we know that Spring's a-comin'
And that Summer's on the way!

MAKE MENTONE YOUR TRADING CENTER

Mentone merchants are doing everything possible to merit your patronage—stores are kept open evenings for your convenience, our bank is open more hours and evenings, than any of the banks in neighboring towns—and with the free moving pictures every Thursday evening with a good seating capacity together with weekly band concerts which will soon begin—our business men are doing every thing in their power to make Mentone an ideal trading point.

The prices on all lines of goods sold in Mentone will favorably compare with prices on like quality of goods sold in neighboring towns, so why not give your business to men who ask for it, will appreciate your trade, and who are willing to go the limit that their patrons may enjoy themselves while their guests in the village.

Patronize the local merchants, make Mentone your trading center and the whole community will profit thereby.

IF IT'S YOUR DOG TAKE CARE OF IT

In another column of this issue you will note that the village board has ordered there Marshal to enforce the law in relation to dogs running at large within the village limits. This is as it should be. Dogs have ruined many gardens and flower beds in the town in past years and have become so numerous that they have become a real pest, especially in the spring. The Marshal informs us that the order will be enforced and we think that the great majority of our people will support him in the suppression of this nuisance.

NEED FOR SEX EDUCATION

By RABBI ABRAHAM NOWAK, Cleveland.

Failing to recognize marriage as a task is one of the fundamental failings of marriage today. Marriage is not an end; it is only the beginning. Marriage is the forging together of two souls, the linking one to another of two hearts and the blending into harmony of two minds.

Nothing is more destructive to the ship of matrimony than the winds of competition in the home, resulting in storms for mastery, superiority and domination. It is undoubtedly the product of the age we are living in. We are all being trained for personal competition and we forget that there is no place for competition in love and marriage. Man and wife must give, and in giving they must realize that they do not lose anything.

UPHOLD RESPECT FOR LAW

By CHARLES H. TUTTLE, United States Attorney, New York.

Today the danger which confronts our flag and country is not from without but from within. The time, therefore, has come for a thoughtful consideration of the strength and durability of the foundation beneath this vast superstructure and for the American people, by a qualitative analysis of their own democracy, to heed the recent warning of our President that there is occurring a subsidence of our foundations. Stated in another way this means that the foremost problem before the American people today is the problem of their relation to the law and of the law's relation to them and that their foremost task is to preserve the dignity of the law.

One is appalled by the consequence to the vast and delicate structure of the American state if this keystone of reverence and respect for law should ever be shaken by the ceaseless attacks upon it.

DEATH OF MOTHER HOLTON

Mrs. Charles H. Holton, aged 85 years, mother of Mrs. C. W. Krathwohl, died at the Krathwohl home in Mentone, Friday afternoon May 9, at 5 o'clock. The deceased suffered a second paralytic stroke on Sunday, January 5th, and was confined to her bed in a helpless condition up to the time of her death.

The remains, accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Krathwohl and her daughter were taken to Clinton, Iowa, Saturday evening and funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church at Clinton, of which the deceased had been a life long member. Burial was made in Clinton cemetery.

Mother Holton leaves to mourn her loss, two sons, George W. Holton, of Hartford, Conn., and Bruce L. Holton of Waterloo, Iowa, and one daughter Mrs. C. W. Krathwohl, of Mentone, and four grandchildren.

During the past three years she has made her home with her daughter in Mentone where she had many friends who were sorry to learn of her demise.

Mechanical Milking Unit of Standard Make Praised.

Doctor Eckles would favor having enough milking stalls to permit the cows to remain in them while eating their grain. Feeding the cows their grain individually at milking time enables the dairyman to adjust the amount of grain to milk flow and also attracts the cows to the milking stalls. Beside being a relatively cheap way to equip a farm for dairying, this new system would make it easier to keep the milking quarters clean because of their smaller size, Doctor Eckles says.

Cows may be pastured on sweet clover as readily as on clover or alfalfa. Care must be taken at first to turn them on only when the clover is Unless it grows wild in your neighborhood, seed inoculation will undoubtedly be a benefit. It is doubtful if sweet clover that is sown in the fall with rye or wheat would make sufficient growth to carry it through the winter and be strong enough to make a vigorous growth in the spring.

Wampum consisted of beads, perforated and strung together. It was of two general colors. One was dark purple or black, the other white. The dark wampum was the more valuable.

With the New Science of Syllabics

The population of the average bee colony runs from 50,000 to 75,000 workers, with one queen and up to 1,000 drones, when the honey is being stored, and drops to a total of from 10,000 to 15,000 when brood rearing begins in the spring, this being the size of ordinary swarms.

The original meaning of etiquette—a ticket or label attached to a bag or other object to designate its contents—was later applied to the slip of paper given to those taking part in state ceremonies apprising them of their correct procedure on these occasions.

ORCHARD CLEANINGS

CONTROL CURCULIO TO PREVENT HARM

Important That "Drops" Be Picked Up and Destroyed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Supplementary control measures against the plum curculio, or peach worm, must often be used in addition to the customary spraying or dusting with lead arsenate, if a large cull pile of wormy peaches at harvest time is to be prevented.

The United States Department of Agriculture considers that the most effective of these supplementary control measures is the collection and destruction of peach "drops." A majority of the small peaches that are punctured by the curculio early in the season fall to the ground within a few weeks after the calyxes, or "shucks," have been pushed off. The worms remaining in these, if they are not picked up and destroyed, later reach maturity, push their way out, and enter the soil to transform into adult beetles, thus starting a new generation of this destructive pest.

Three collections of "drops" will get about 90 per cent of the worms that fall to the ground in peaches during the season. The first collection should be made about one month after full bloom and the other two at intervals of about five or six days. All drops should be made harmless as soon as collected, either by burying in a trench 18 to 24 inches below the surface of the soil and covering with a layer of quicklime before filling in the soil or by submerging them in boiling water.

Another precaution for keeping down the number of adult beetles is to burn over woodlands and brush near the peach orchard during the winter months. This may not always be advisable, but prunings, rubbish, and brush piles should not be allowed to remain and harbor curculios.

Disking under the spread of peach trees in the orchard from about May 10 to the last of June will destroy many pupae in the soil. This should be done as frequently as possible. Jarring the trees in the spring enables the orchardist to collect many adult beetles, which are then killed by placing in a can of coal oil. The regular spraying and dusting schedules should be followed as well as the above measures.

Bees Are Essential to Proper Set of Fruit

Bees are essential to the proper set of fruit as demonstrated last year in pollination experiments at Ohio State university, according to Virgil N. Argo. There should be a stand of bees on each acre of ground in the orchard for best pollination results.

The blooming time for some varieties of fruit is very short and if flying weather is bad the bees will work near their hives and may not spread out sufficient pollination. If there is a stand near it will bring about better pollination than if they were a distance from the orchard.

Arsenates used as sprays or dusts are disastrous to bees and a spray schedule should be arranged that would not interfere with the bees, Mr. Argo states.

Apple Varieties Will Vary in Qualities

Apple varieties vary greatly in quality, texture, season, and in the best use to which they can be put. Some varieties are fine in December but poor in March. Some are excellent cookers but poor bakers. Some are good for eating out of hand but poor for any other purpose, while others are excellent general purpose varieties. Needless to say, a customer who buys apples for a particular purpose only to find them totally unfit for that purpose is not a satisfied customer and is not likely to be a "repeater."

Horticultural Notes

Apple trees planted 40 feet apart yield 43 bushels more fruit to the acre than trees spaced 30 feet apart, says an eastern investigator.

Pro-pink and pink sprays should be prepared for in April. The disease to be combated is the apple scab. The spray material is lime sulphur. The dilution is one and one-half gallons of concentrate to 50 gallons of water. One and one-half pounds of lead arsenate should be added to control such early insects as curculio.

Many serious consequences may follow when fruit trees, vines and other fruit plants are allowed to starve. Blossoms may form and fall to set fruit, and this is especially true of apples, pears, and plums.

Raspberries, both the red and black varieties, are easy to grow and produce an abundance of fruit the second year. This is also true of blackberries. Just a few plants of each of these fruits will make a fine display of both flowers and fruit and the berries will furnish nourishing food.

"Nothing but a Cold."

A FATHER of a family of six, the youngest of whom was three years old, came home from work with a well developed cold. Being an affectionate individual he kissed his wife and all the children, making a particular fuss over the wee one. That was on Friday. Ten days later the baby was dead. The rest of the family, excepting one, had colds. That one had pneumonia.

It takes experiences like this to make one realize that "nothing but a cold" may indeed be very much something. "I didn't think that anything so common as a cold could possibly do any damage," lamented the father in the above case. And in so saying, he voiced the opinion of countless thousands who have little else than contempt for this ever present and universal affliction.

Nevertheless, colds deserve more than contempt. And not getting it, they frequently hit back. Indeed, it has been conservatively estimated that millions of hours and millions of dollars in wages are annually lost because of the public's lack of respect for a cold. And what is worse, the pneumonia fatalities traceable to unattended colds are almost staggering in number. Considered from all viewpoints, the common cold is in reality a very formidable adversary.

Unlike the many other maladies that lend themselves to official control, colds need to have little fear from that source. Not that health departments are disinterested. On the contrary, they are extremely concerned. Only they are helpless. Which means that the individual is the only person who can effectively do anything about this most important disease problem. Happily the observance of a few simple rules will materially diminish the cold's present power.

It must be understood that this type of infection is contagious. Therefore, anyone who is thus afflicted and fails to cough and sneeze into his handkerchief is decidedly and most selfishly negligent. Then again, it is merely fundamental common sense to reduce intimate personal contacts to a minimum, when in this condition.

With eating utensils kept to one's self and not used to help feed the baby, and with reasonable personal aloofness practiced in the home, millions of secondary infections that manifest themselves in families could be eliminated. Take this for a cold fact. And act upon it the next time you are suffering with "nothing but a cold."

Good Drivers—and Others

THE difference between good and bad driving depends almost entirely on the amount of thought and concentration the driver puts into it. Almost invariably bad driving is the result of thoughtlessness and inattention. As a rule the new driver is more careful than the experienced one. His inexperience fills him with the full significance of his responsibility and the danger of driving.

On the other hand, the experienced driver becomes careless or, to put it more gently, over-confident of his ability. He or she may display this overconfidence by engaging in conversation or by looking at the scenery while driving. Driving a car requires the full attention of the driver, particularly in these days of heavy traffic.

I don't know why it is, but it seems that I am always running in to the bird who stays in the middle of the road when he should be over to the right. He is the cause of many accidents and should be warned by any well-meaning driver, and certainly by law enforcement officials, that he is a nuisance and a menace.

Then there is that other moron who speeds up to rush across a road just as the light is changing. It would be a real pleasure for me to tell him just exactly what I think of him.

These two examples of bad driving are direct results of thoughtlessness and recklessness and I am making it my duty to stop and talk to this sort of motorist just as a matter of motoring education. In the last year, I have talked to about twenty transgressors of this type and only once has the recipient of my remarks become angry and told me to mind my own business. As it happened, I followed this driver and it was only five miles from where I first encountered him that I found him in the arms (literally) of the law. I took the trouble to add my complaint to those already lodged and I really believe he will be a better driver when he gets his license back.

It is true there is a multiplicity of driving regulations and it is equally true that it is almost impossible for the average individual to keep track of all of them. But rules of common courtesy should not have to be remembered. They should be habitual. Yet if they were observed on American highways, driving conditions would show a vast improvement overnight. And such an improvement would not only net greater peace of mind for all motorists but it would save hundreds of thousands of dollars annually as a result of fewer accidents.

For some reason our contest for votes on cash prizes amounting to $100.00 is not going over very big, and we are somewhat surprised and disappointed. Can it be possible that all the people of Mentone and vicinity have all the money that they need or what?

One thing is certain, someone is going to get this money, and with very little effort unless there are more people become interested and collect coupons when making purchases.

Remember when this contest is over many of our readers will regret that they did not collect votes on their purchases. Here is a pointer—These votes will be valuable before the close of this contest and if you are wise and take our advice you will collect all the votes that you can get whether you intend to use them or not. Please bear in mind that our special offer to renew subscriptions at $1.00 ends Saturday night. We give free votes with each renewal.

Drug Trade to Share Interest In Medicine Co.

Konjola Stock Offer Made To American Druggists; Firm's Growth Amazing.

MR. G. H. MOSBY.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 8th (Special) G. H. Mosby, President and General Manager of the Mosby Medicine Company, one of the world's largest manufacturers of prepared remedies, announced yesterday that eastern banking interests had bought a minority holding in the company. The purchase, however will in no way affect the present control or management of the concern which remains in the hands of Mr. Mosby. A program of expansion in this country and in foreign markets will be inaugurated immediately. Banking interests will be represented on the Board of Directors by the following: James Imbrie of Imbrie & Co., Bankers, New York, and F. J. Romell representing Imbrie & Co., Cincinnati. Other directors are G. H. Mosby, President and General Manager, W. T. Maynard, Vice-President and Merchandising Director, Charles Mosby, Secretary and Treasurer and C. O. Rose, Legal Counsel, all of Cincinnati, Ohio. The selected Konjola dealer in Mentone is the Shafer and Goodwin Drug Store.

Application for change of the corporate name from the Mosby Medicine Company to Konjola, Inc. will be filed at the office of the Secretary of State at Columbus.

In discussing the negotiations which led up to the investment of the eastern capital in the Cincinnati concern, Mr. Mosby made the following statement:

"Numerous efforts have been made in the last two years on the part of trade and banking interests to buy into the company but it has been only in connection with our present expansion program that a sale of minority interest has seemed desirable. This sale of minority interest not only assures our present expansion program but will also allow, through special arrangement, particularly favorable participation in the ownership of the company of those drug dealers who have been largely responsible for the success of the business.

"The business of the company had its inception seven years ago since which time Konjola has grown to be one of the two or three outstanding successes in the proprietary field.

"During each of the past three years rapidly increasing sales have permitted the company to practically triple its advertising appropriation over that of each preceding year. Last year the company spent approximately $1,700,000.00 in advertising, nine-tenths of which was spent in newspapers throughout the country.

"Net profits of the company for the year 1929, after charging out to current expense the entire advertising appropriation of $1,700,000.00 were approximately $300,000.00 These net profits represent an increase of over 300 per cent in earnings during the past two years.

"For the first four months of the present calendar year we have maintained our advertising expenditure at approximately the 1929 rate and after charging out all advertising to current expense our net earnings are running approximately double those for the year 1929.

The rise of the Mosby Medicine Company and its product is one of the marvels of the medical, drug and business world. It is also amazing to leaders in the advertising business. It has dazzled everyone but the man who did it. Newspaper men in an interview recently granted them by Mr. Mosby revealed some interesting facts concerning the phenomenal growth of the Konjola organization. Seven years ago Gilbert H. Mosby had an idea. This was not an unusual experience for Mr. Mosby had been having ideas ever since he was a kid on the family farm near Versailles, Kentucky, and is still having them but this was the big idea like the thrill that comes once in a lifetime.

Mr. Mosby had been working for several medicine companies. He knew the business from top to bottom. He analyzed the success and failures of different companies and by the process of deduction and elimination he gathered up the best points of all of them, studied the results of his analysis, decided to make the best medicine in the world and stake his fortune (if $2,000.00 can be called a fortune) and his energy on the outcome. So, armed with the bank account of $2,000.00, he rented a small room, installed laboratory equipment about large enough to fit up a modern kitchenette, attached a two-burner gas stove and got ready to operate.

Mosby had already devised the word "Konjola". Then ingredients had to be bought; 32 of these, 22 of roots and herbs. This purchase put a large dent into the capital.

Mosby was general organizer mixer, bottler, labeler, and most everything; also he was the sales manager and traveling representative.

When the first batch of Konjola emerged from the busy little two-burner stove Mosby made a quick shift from overalls to a one hundred dollar suit of clothes and had the first shipment of Konjola sent to Muncie, Indiana, and the carer of Konjola was launched in a drug store in the Hoosier state with Mosby, sole owner and originator of the medicine, as the original Konjola Man.

More than ten million bottles have been sold since the inception of the business. These are staggering figures but are easily explained when one knows Mosby and his forcible character.

One of the newspaper men asked

Mr. Mosby to what he attributed his marvelous success. He modestly replied that whatever success he had made was due to the merits of Konjola and the selling power of newspaper advertising properly and consistently applied.

"Spot Fyter" for grease and dirt spots. A few drops, a little rubbing, and they are gone. For sale at Clark's Store.

ANTIQUES WANTED.

Old glassware, china, pewter, furniture, silver, books historical letters, Currier & Ives prints, postage stamps before 1880 on and off the envelopes, Indian relics, etc. Highest prices paid. Address Andrew Ness, 602 Chicago St., Michigan City, Indiana.

DO NOT TAKE ANY CHANCES

Cleaning clothing with naphtha, gasoline etc., is very dangerous, regardless of the fact of whether you may have any fire around or not. Costs only 50c per bottle at Clark's Store.

POULTRY

CULL EVERY TWO WEEKS UNTIL FALL

Get Rid of Nonproducers for Poultry Success.

The success or failure of a poultry enterprise may depend on proper culling, according to the poultry department of the New York State College of Agriculture. Poultrymen should cull regularly every two weeks, from June to September 15, but if only one culling is to be made, wait until September 1.

A first-class culler can tell three things about each hen he handles: whether she is laying; how long she has, or has not, been laying; and what is the rate of egg laying. No hens should be kept longer than three years. Close culling limits the number of old hens and raises the average egg production of the flock.

The easiest and most satisfactory way to catch hens is to pen off a corner of the house with a piece of chicken wire fencing about 20 feet long and 5 feet wide. Attach the end of the wire to the side wall about 2 feet from a corner and unroll the wire toward the center of the room. This acts as a barrier to drive the hens into the corner. The end of the wire can then be brought around to the side wall, rolled up and fastened, leaving enough space for the hens. One person remains on the inside to catch and hand the birds to the inspector on the outside. Another good way is to build a catching crate with a sliding end and an opening on the top. The end of this crate is placed against a runway hole outside of the building, or in an opening between pens on the inside. Scatter grain on the floor of the crate, drive a few hens quickly into it, and close the sliding door. Each hen is then easily caught and removed.

Germ Responsible for Blackhead in Turkeys

It has been recently learned that if the chicken has been infected with a certain roundworm, the worm may carry the germ responsible for blackhead in turkeys. By using the semi-confinement plan, which consists of placing turkeys on virgin soil, preferably sown to alfalfa and not inhabited by chickens for at least two years, the possibility of infection from chickens will be eliminated and turkeys can be raised without the danger of blackhead from this source.

The name blackhead is a very poor one for the disease for there are many diseases in turkeys in which the head of the diseased bird turns dark blue or a dark color just before death.

Use Infertile Turkey Eggs for Shell Pattern

To break a fresh turkey egg for the pattern of the shell would be vandalism, but if an infertile egg is left in the nest, marked with the hen's number, it is well to blow it out, string it and keep for a guide, since the turkey hen may steal her nest in a different place next time.

No two turkeys lay eggs that are exactly alike. The early clutch is said to be invariably of a darker tint than the laid later, but the spots are the same. One enthusiastic turkey woman used to cut cardboard eggs and stipple them as nearly as possible like the model as a sort of trapnesting for her small flock.

Poultry Notes

Early chicks require good brooding accommodations.

Hungry hens usually aren't profitable layers. They need a full feed of grain in the afternoon to last them through the long winter night.

Chicks need exercise. Pieces of potato, mangel, cabbage or meat tied to strings hanging within reach of the chicks will often keep them from picking each other's toes.

During the last thirty years the hen has risen from merely a side issue to become a basic part of our agricultural wealth.

Many men on the farm have taken over the farm poultry business after their wives have demonstrated that it is a paying proposition.

Clean, healthy young stock is the key to success in poultry management. Breeding, for instance, can be purchased, but sanitation must be lived, practiced, and continued.

Cod liver oil is usually fed to adult birds in the proportion of one quart to 100 pounds of mash and for chicks one pint to 100 pounds of mash.

Clean chicks, clean soil, clean feed and clean management work wonders in raising thrifty young birds and insuring their future as laying hens.

When breeding stock or chicks are purchased, be sure that they have been produced by flocks which show outstanding vigor and give evidence of good health.

Passing Observation

You won't believe it, but you probably are happier with what you have than you would be with what you crave.

Deadly Envy

"Envy," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "is what causes a thoughtless boy to stone the bird and substitute silence for the song."—Washington Star.

Konjola Ends Four Years of Ill-Health.

Disorders Of Stomach And Kidneys Disappear Quickly When Lady Uses New Remedy.

MRS. GLENN ALLEN

"For four years I suffered with a complication of disorders," said Mrs. Glenn Allen, Lincoln, Indiana, near Kokomo. "Finally I was compelled to give up my position as postmistress because of ill health. My food would not digest but would become sour and I would belch up bitter fluids. My rest was seldom unbroken because of kidney and bladder trouble. Dizzy spells and severe headaches were daily occurrences and my condition grew worse each day.

"I had read quite a number of the indorsements of Konjola, and I decided to give it a trial. Right away I noticed a change. I began to regain my appetite, and the food started to do me good. I gained in weight, and after the first few bottles I began to feel new energy surge through my whole body. My health troubles disappeared as if magic; and sleepless nights, dizzy spells, indigestion, and that tired feeling are things of the past. If only I had used this wonderful medicine in the first place."

Konjola the new and different medicine, is a systematic treatment taken after meals. Quickly Konjola goes to the source of the ailments, cleansing and invigorating the ailing organs, and giving abundant and glorious health.

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison

Look Out for the Children

As on the crowded streets I roll,
I'll keep my car in close control.
There's risk enough in all events
To make me always drive with sense,
But certainly, no chance I'll take
When lives of children are at stake!

You never know what tykes will do.
They're just as apt to rush on through Across your path, as you draw near,
As they are apt to stop, in fear.
For playful feet don't understand
When Death, perhaps, is near at hand

So, when I'm driving on a street
Where little folks I'm apt to meet,
Who dash across the streets in play—
I hope I'll drive in just the way
That I would drive if mine were there,
Upon that crowded thoroughfare.

PONTIUS AND MEREDITH BUILDING RENTED.

Redmond & Sons Basket Manufacturers to Establish Branch in Mentone.

Mr. Pontius announces that he has rented the building formerly occupied by the Ballard Drug Store to Redman & sons of Peru. This is one of the largest Basket manufacturers in the state and while we haven't had a chance to interview them as to their intention to renting this building, it is safe to say that they are going to use it as a braiding branch of which they have a number scattered over the state. In branches of this kind they only do braiding and the finishing of the basket, the splints hoops etc., being trucked in.

If our deductions are right this will give employment to a couple dozen women, girls and boys, and while the wages will possibly not be the top, yet when the work is once learned and the operators become proficient they can earn fair wages for this locality. In any event we surely welcome the new acquisition to our town as it will furnish some employment for our boys and girls at least.

If we could secure a few institutions of this kind it would be a great help to the town.

TO ELIMINATE UNEMPLOYMENT

By FRANCES PERKINS, N. Y. State Industrial Commissioner.

MANY significant and successful American industries have eliminated unemployment. Others can. Unemployment in the industrial body is comparable to an infection in the physical body. If not checked it will spread as infection does, and unemployment in one industry soon becomes the cause of unemployment and business depression in other industries. We must take drastic steps for its cure when it is on us, but more important still, we must initiate the plans and the programs which will prevent it in the future. There are two phases to a program for action at such a time as this. One must be directed to immediate relief measures and the other to long-time planning for the solution of this purely economic trouble of unemployment.

I attribute the present situation to the cumulative effect of three major causes: seasonal unemployment, technological unemployment caused by the displacement of men by labor-saving machinery and increased efficiency in production methods, and unemployment due to the cyclical business depression regularly recurrent in American economic life. And I believe the problem could be solved, difficult though it seems.

In this country we have overcome the child labor problem. We have cut infant mortality in half. We have raised the standard of living of the working man to an enormous degree. If we can accomplish those almost impossible things I am sure that we can eliminate that other economic trouble—unemployment.

Public officials have been told often in what direction their duties lie at such a time:

The speeding up of public works to offer employment.

The advertisement and expansion of public employment offices so that a complete clearing house may be maintained without cost between workers and such jobs as there are.

The co-operative advertisement of actual relief-giving by municipal and private agencies.

Each industry should carry the cost of its own fluctuations and instability out of a special unemployment reserve fund. I also advocate development of the wage-earner market by steady work, short hours and good pay.

OBITUARY

Emaline Anderson, one of a family of 12 children, was born to Wm. and Mary Hatfield, near Burket, Ind., March 4, 1846, departed this life at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. H. Long, near Etna Green, Ind., May 5, 1930, at the age of 84 years, 2 months one day. She grew to womanhood in the vicinity of Burket, and was married March 13, 1862, to John L. Anderson, who preceded her in death April 11, 1916. To this union were born 12 children six of whom remain to mourn the loss of their mother. At an early age she became a christian and united with the United Brethern Church, always maintaining loyalty to her Master, devotion to her church and a willing service to humanity. She was, at the time of her death, a member of the U. B. Chapel Church near Bourbon.

Surviving are two sons and four daughters as follows: Mr. Harvey Anderson and Mr. Noah Anderson both of Plymouth Ind. Mrs. Della Holloway of LaPorte, Mrs. Orpha Zent of Burket, Mrs. Lucinda Long of Etna Green, and Mrs. Mary Zent of South Bend; one brother and two sisters, Mr. Willard Hatfield, Mrs. Thos. Lynn and Mrs. James Reed, all of Claypool, also 37 grand-children and 32 great grand-children, besides many close friends and acquaintances. Through her extended and eventful journey of life she has been a noble woman, a devoted companion, a true mother and a proven friend. The funeral was held in the Mt. Pleasant Church of the Brethern May 8th, Rev. H. E. Swihart officiating, assisted by Rev. E. E. Hively.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY NEWS

Rosalind Mentzer Receives Special Mention and Honors.

Bloomington, Ind., May 20—Miss Rosalind Mentzer, of Mentone, is among the group of Indiana University students who were honored at the Foundation Day exercises in honor of the 110th anniversary of the founding of the state university. At this time President W. L. Bryan, who presided at the convocation program, read the list of students who had been elected to honor societies and those who had been awarded prizes for scholastic proficiency. Miss Mentzer was elected to Omicron Nu, national honorary home economics sorority.

At the Foundation Day exercises, the principal speaker was Hamlin Garland, author, who spoke on "The March of the Pioneer." Mr. Garland referred to the significant part which Indiana and Indiana University have played in the westward progress of civilization. "If I were asked to indicate the most characteristic figure in American literature, or in early American life, I should describe the New World settler," Mr. Garland said.

CERTIFICATES AWARDED

105 INDIANA CORN MEN.

(Purdue News Service)

The Indiana Corn Growers' Association has awarded certificates of membership in the Hundred Bushel Corn Club to 105 corn growers of the state who last year grew 100 bushels or more of corn per acre.

This is the second largest number enrolled in the "Hall of Fame" for Indiana Corn Growers since the work was started in 1914. The total number checking up yields officially last year was 710 in 73 counties.

C. C. VanHoy of Martin County produced the largest yield in the state last year with 103.87 bushels per acre, but has pressed closely for the honor by W. H. Stephens, Gibson County who grew 103.79 bushels per acre. Arthur Benedict, Benton county, was third with 102.85 bushels per acre. The average yield of all contestants was 79.6 bushels per acre an average yield exceeded but once before.

As a result of the value of this contest in improving yields and quality of corn produced, an unusually large number is enrolling in the Five-Acre Corn Club for this year, which is open to all Indiana Corn Growers until June 15.

PUTTING ON CITY AIRS.

Warsaw, the hub of this county, is rapidly stepping to the front and is becoming real metropolitan. Last week three of her business houses were entered by professional yeggmen during the night time, two safes forced open, and currency and diamonds to the amount of $650.00 were taken. Well here in Mentone we are never bothered by these gentlemen with the sensitive figures. They know that we leave our doors unlocked, safes open, and if they visited every business place outside of the bank in town they would not get enough money to pay for their "soup". Our people keep what money they have in the bank where it belongs, and where they have a safe that cannot be opened with a screw driver.

LONG ILLNESS

PROVES FATAL

Mrs. Anna L. Manwaring Expires at Her Home at Mentone.

Mrs. Anna L. Manwaring, 72, widow of A. C. Manwaring, expired at noon on Saturday at her residence in Mentone. Her death was due to heart trouble. She had been in ill health for several months and was recuperating from an attack of pneumonia at the time of her death. Mrs. Manwaring was born in Pennsylvania but had made her home at Mentone for the last 50 years. She was a member of the Mentone Baptist church and of the Easter Star Lodge. She leaves two sons, C. L. Manwaring and F. P. Manwaring, both of Mentone, one daughter, Mrs. L. A. Blue, of Denver Colo.; two brothers, Charles and Louie Plank, and a sister Mrs. Emma Leonhard, all of Kansas. Her husband passed away nine years ago.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Baptist church in Mentone, with Rev Squibb, pastor of the church, in charge. Interment was held at the Mentone cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our gratitude to the friends who so generously and kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved mother.

M. E. CHURCH NOTICES.

Next Sunday evening May 25th, at 7:30 there will be a union service of the Baptist and Methodist congregations in the Methodist church. Hon. Frank E. Wright will be the speaker. Mr. Wright has been a member of the Indiana State Legislature for several years and is well and favorably known over the entire state. He will discuss the prohibition issue and the fact that he is the author of the present state "bone-dry" law and has taken a lively interest in this matter for many years qualifies him in an unusual way to speak on this subject. We invite the community to hear this outstanding speaker.

The regular May meeting of the W. F. M. S. Society will be at the home of Mrs. Jennie Garwood on N. Broadway Friday afternoon, May 23rd., at 2 o'clock p. m. A good program is assured and all members urged to be present.

The regular services of the church are as follows.

Sunday School ----- 9:30 a. m.
Morning Worship ----- 10:30 a. m.
Evening Worship ----- 7:30 p. m.
Prayer Meeting Thursday evening at 7:30.

C. H. KERN NAMED HIGH PRINCIPAL.

Board Select Beiger Head to Succeed
C. C. Cauble

(Taken From Mishawaka Paper)
Charles H. Kern, for two years principal at Beiger Junior High school, will assume the principalship of Mishawaka High school immediately following the retirement of C. C. Cauble, who has served in that capacity for nine years and who resigned recently.

This decision followed a short discussion by the board of education composed of Edward Byrkit, William Lechlitrner and William Tupper, Friday night with P. C. Emmons, Superintendent of schools.

Mr. Kern was graduated from Indiana university with an A B degree in 1920 and received his A. M. degree from Columbia university in 1927. He came to Mishawaka with highest recommendations two years ago to take the principalship of Beiger Junior High School, and has been supported by his many friends in Mishawaka for the new post- at Mishawaka High School

Konjola Brings Quick Relief To This Man

Indianapolis Man Sorry He Had Not Tried New Medicine
Long Before "Really Different" He Says.

MR. JASON A. HOOTEN

"I should have had Konjola long ago; it would have saved me a world of expense and suffering," said Mr. Jason A. Hooten, 3901 Orchard avenue, Indianapolis. "I suffered from stomach trouble for years. Food lay like a heavy mass in my stomach and gas formed in such quantities that my heart action was affected and I became short of breath. I became weak and run down and was forced to take a rest each day. Nervousness and constipation added to my misery. Konjola which was recommended by friends, proved to be a truly new and different medicine. It attacked the very source of my troubles and relieved my constipation almost at once. My appetite quickly returned and my digestion became normal. My nerves were soothed and quieted, and I began to take on weight until I had gained eight pounds. I have more strength, energy and vitality today than I have had in a long time and I owe it all to this great medicine."

Konjola, the new and different medicine, is a systematic treatment, taken after meals. It quickly goes to the source of the ailments, cleansing and invigorating the ailing organs, and giving abundant and glorious relief.

TREES AS A CROP.

A Columbia university chemical engineer suggests the growing of trees on waste lands for the purpose of paper manufacture would be more profitable than wheat farming. He particularly recommends the plan to those states having hundreds of thousands of acres of denuded land unfit for cultivation.

Trees have never appealed greatly to landowners as a crop because of their slow growth. This objection has been overcome by the development, by hybridization and selection, of certain new varieties of poplar trees giving many times more wood pulp per acre than is now obtained.

In addition to increased yield the hybrids are said to have the advantages of producing a strong, knotless wood and of attaining in eight years a height and girth which common poplars reach only after 45 to 50 years. An acre of these hybrids turned into wood pulp might yield a farmer $600 in eight years as compared with $240 yielded in the same time by an acre of wheat.

Owners of waste ground will find these facts interesting at a time when the price of paper constantly rises and the supply of wood pulp rapidly diminishes. Domestic cultivators of forests, because of transportation facilities and proximity to markets, would have a distinct advantage over those regions from which the United States now imports most of its wood pulp and paper.

COUNTY SCHOOL ENUMERATION

Harrison Township at Head of List With 529 of School Age.

(Taken from Warsaw Times)

The Kosciuko county school enumeration, including a gain of nine from Warsaw, shows an increase of 200 more than a year ago, according to the county enumeration of school children just completed. The 17 townships show a gain of 242, and a loss of 51 while Warsaw shows a gain of nine, making a net gain for the county as a whole of 200.

The report by townships on the number of school children between the age of six and 21 years of age follows: Clay 318, a gain of 14; Etna 291, a loss of 9; Franklin, 216, a gain of 1; Harrison, 529, a gain of 37; Jackson, 287, a loss of 5; Jefferson, 345, a gain of 2; Lake, 275, a loss of 1; Monroe 208, a loss of 2; Plain, 348, a gain of 6; Prairie, 275; Scott, 304, a loss of 9; Seward, 369 a gain of 27; Tippecanoe, 329, a gain of 12; Turkey Creek, 500, a gain of 45; Van Buren, 468, a loss of 21; Washington, 520 a loss of 4; Wayne 458, a gain of 98.

The greatest gain is 98 in Wayne township, and the greatest loss was suffered by Van Buren which lost 21.

In the townships there are 3209 males and 2831 females, making a grand total of 6040, exclusive of Warsaw. Including Warsaw there are 3856 white males; 3439 white females 7 colored males; two colored females; making a grand total of 7304 pupils of school age in the county and Warsaw.

SUPPORTED BY ADVISING.

The first three issues of the Monticello Lakes Reporter have reached our desk. It is a bright newsy little sheet in the same form as the Farm News, but only twelve pages, and its publisher Del A. Reynolds surely knows how to boost the numerous resorts in that locality.

It is a free circulation publication and has to pay one cent postage for each copy mailed. Yet despite this extra expense it carries enough local advertising to make it a paying proposition, and it is very evident that the business men of Monticello and vicinity are firm believers in advertising and are not afraid to pay a good price for it. We wonder how long we would be able to publish a paper in Mentone under the same plan? Just give us sufficient advertising and we would be pleased to send out the Farm News absolutely free to every family within our trade territory. It is our belief that if our business men would each and every one do their share toward a project of this kind that they would find it the best investment that they ever made, and would help to keep Mentone on the map.

How to Buy a Car

A RACING driver's slant on ordinary, everyday automobile driving may seem rather warped in the eyes of the average individual. Yet, when you think about it, why shouldn't a racing driver be in a better position to know about automobiles and driving than the average person?

On the race track, the speed demons ram into a few hours all the experiences that Mr. and Mrs. John Public get in the average year's driving. Things happen faster on the race track. And they happen in such a way as to leave a lasting impression.

On the highway, if a motorist makes a turn too quickly, it generally means a close call with a lamp post or a pole. The same occurrence on a race track usually means serious trouble and the racer who commits this error of judgment may find himself lying in a distant field—in case he ever finds out anything.

Writing for the instruction of the ordinary driver is a large order. I can think of a lot of things I am more capable of doing, but if the motorist reads these, and profits thereby, it is well worth any effort on my part.

In the first place, I have some strong ideas about choosing a car. An automobile should be fitted to the use of the individual, his family and business requirements, and his pocket-book. This can be done, these days. Many people buy high powered, ponderous transportation, when a lighter car would fill their needs and leave money in the bank. Others choose the wrong style of body, while still others risk their necks in a "lot for the money" chariot which is all body and display and which has little, if anything, under the hood.

I believe in a motor as small in horsepower as is consistent with the work it will be called upon to do, on the average.

If my use of a car is mostly in connection with city driving or its congested environs, I want a car that can be easily steered and controlled, with a short wheel base for easy parking. It must have an all-steel body for, in my opinion, this type of body is safer and less liable to stress and rattle. Its door posts are smaller, thus increasing visibility. And its finish coats are more durable. In fact it is conducive to the main characteristic I seek in a car—long useful life. This type of body can withstand much abuse and if an accident should occur, my chances of escape from injury are considerably increased.

CHOCKER AND SCISSOR TRAPS CONTROL MOLES IN LAWNS.

Purdue News Service.

The activity of moles in searching for insect food may result in serious injury to a lawn or garden unless measures are applied to destroy the pests, says G. C. Oderkirk, of the U. S. Biological Survey and Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

Trapping, although a slow, laboring task, is the most effective method of removing the animals from a premise. The prong type trap is most commonly used but it is by far the least efficient of the three main types of mole traps. The choker or scissor types are much preferred and if carefully set and tended, will remove the animals from a lawn or garden in a short time.

Placing a barrier or repellents, such as moth balls, flake naphthalene or paradichloro benzene, in the soil at the edge of a lawn or garden will usually prevent the animals from entering. They may also be driven out by applying anyone of these repellents throughout infested area.

Information regarding the use of repellents and other methods for the control of moles can be obtained from the Department of Entomology Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station, Lafayette, Ind.

INOCULATION NEEDED FOR SOYBEANS.

Purdue News Service

Inoculation of soybeans should be generally practiced by growers this season because it enables this crop to gather nitrogen and so serve as a soil builder. Soybeans do not cross inoculate with any other legume, and being a relatively new legume in Indiana, much soil still needs inoculation, for this crop. Without inoculation, these plants will not be able to obtain sufficient nitrogen on the average soil because of nitrogen deficiencies. This results in a stunted yellow growth, and a plant lower in protein than would be the case if plenty of nitrogen were available. Even on fields where soybeans have been grown one or two times re-inoculation is usually profitable. A large increase in acreage is expected this year.

Either soil from a well inoculated soybean field, or fresh commercial cultures from a reliable source may be used. Undoubtedly much soil is used that is too low in bacterial content to be useful. Only soil taken from a field where roots carried abundant nodules should be used. Stones or other matter that would break the drill should be removed. About two quarts of soil should be thoroughly mixed with each bushel of seed. Soil may be mixed with dry soybeans, or they may be slightly moistened with water or a sticky solution. However, too much water will cause the seed to soften and grind up in the drill. Some growers use a mud solution and mix in enough soy beans to absorb all moisture. Any method of getting a little soil on each soybean is satisfactory, provided the seed will drill without giving trouble.

With commercial cultures directions on the containers should be followed, and it is especially important that only a small amount of solution shall be used in order to avoid "gumming" of the drill.

Since soybeans uncurl in breaking thru the soil, shallow planting is highly important, otherwise they may not reach the surface. Harrowing to break a crusted surface will materially help struggling seedlings.

Solid seedings of one and one-half to two bushels are usually made for hay. For seed purposes the same method is used, or row seedings of about 40 pounds per acre are made. Either method is satisfactory although the solid seedlings have given larger seed yields at the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison

At the Lincoln Memorial

At Lincoln's memorial, silent, I stood—
In tribute to him who has done so much good.
Its dignified beauty, its great rugged grace,
Reminded me, somehow, of Lincoln's lined face.
Not fancy, but simple—and stately and fine—
To stand through the years as a national shrine.

To all who have seen it, it stands without flaw.
But some, tho, might frown at one thing that I saw—

Almost in the shade of that monument there,
Some negroes are living—as free as the air!
But if Lincoln knows what I'm telling you here—
He's probably happy they're living so near.

WE APPRECIATE THE ATTITUDE—BUT

In renewing her subscription to the Farm News recently a lady made the remark that she thought it the duty of every family in this community to subscribe to the local paper and give it their support. Of course we were pleased to hear her say these words, which showed her loyalty to the paper and community.

However it requires something more than subscribers to support a local paper. The money that we receive from subscriptions pays just about one-fifth of the cost of publishing the Farm News—the other four-fifths must be raised by selling advertising space. Now in order to sell this space to local business men we must convince them that the money they spend for advertising is a good investment and not a donation to support the paper, and our subscribers can give us much greater support than the subscription price amounts to by reading the advertisements in each issue and when trading with the merchants let them know that their announcements are read. By doing this you will be doing a great favor to the Farm News and you will find in the end that as a rule many of the advertisements are real news and you will save money by reading all of the announcements. If our subscribers will do this and make our space more valuable we can give you a better paper and all concerned will be benefited thereby.

FAMILY NATION'S FOUNDATION

By MELVIN J. BALLARD, Mormon Apostle.

The foundation of our life, church and state depends entirely upon the stability of our family institution. Such things as childless marriages and the facility with which divorces are obtained are doing more to undermine the family institution than any other causes. Even though we of the United States have a greater divorce rate than any country in the world there are those among us who are endeavoring to make looser the already weakened bonds of marriage. The divorce rate of the people of our church is only one-fifth as great as that of people throughout the country.

In this age when there is so much dissension among religious leaders and so many different theories, it is a joy to find that our church has followed a plan for more than one hundred years and that will also work out well in the future. We have the first Sunday of every month as a fast day and we find it to be beneficial not only physically, as it gives the internal organs a rest, but it also helps to exercise control over the impulses of the body. Fasting gives us a feeling of sympathy for the poor, as we are better able to appreciate the way they too often are forced to feel. The money that is saved by doing without these two meals is given to the poor in such a manner that the recipients of the money are in no way humiliated.

BEST BREEDS OF HORNLESS CATTLE

Aberdeen-Angus Noted for Their Beef Qualities.

First and foremost among the breeds of cattle which are naturally hornless must be classed the Aberdeen-Angus. All black except for an occasional small patch of white on the belly, these animals are noted for their beef qualities. Docile by nature they make good gains on fattening rations. Aberdeen-Angus cattle are not generally so large as the other two beef breeds, Shorthorns, and Herefords, full-grown bulls seldom weighing more than a ton, while cows average about 1,400. Another polled, or hornless breed which resembles the Angus is the Galloway. This breed is also black in color, the main difference between it and the Angus being the long curly hair. Slightly smaller than the Angus, the Galloway has often defeated the former in killing tests at the fat stock shows in England. Both breeds had their origin in Scotland but the Aberdeen-Angus is widely distributed in England, the United States and Canada, while few Galloway herds are to be found on this continent, due probably to their slow maturing qualities.

The Red Polled breed of cattle are noted for the production of both beef and milk. They are red in color, midway in size between the Angus and the Shorthorn. Originating in the southern part of England they are becoming popular in the middle western United States and in western Canada, where many strong herds have been built up.

Both the Shorthorn and the Hereford breeds of beef cattle have established herd books for some of their breeders who have herds of Polled animals. Sprung originally from a sport, i.e. an animal born without horns from horned parents, or in some cases graded up from native hornless cattle, these cattle retain all the usual characteristics of their parent breeds but have added advantage from a beef raising point of view of being without horns.

It has been suggested that the time may come when all breeds of cattle may be bred without horns.

Shade for Porkers Is Most Profitable Plan

Giving your pigs a cool, shady place in which to lie during the hot summer months will put pounds of pork on their backs and extra dollars in your pocket.

A pig cannot be expected to put on the cheapest and fastest gains if he is compelled to spend summer days in a hot, stuffy, dusty shed or depend on the north side of the shed for shade. If you have trees in your hog lot the shade problem is solved. If you have no trees a shade may be built cheaply. A little time, a few waste posts and lumber and some woven wire are needed.

Set a post at each corner. If the shade is large it is well to set a couple of posts along the sides also. Nail planks or saplings to the posts. Next throw a few boards or limbs of trees across the top at regular intervals. Then stretch the woven wire fencing across the top. Weeds or hay may then be thrown on the woven wire roof.

Build the shade away from the buildings so the air and wind can move through it freely. It should be high enough so the wind can easily pass underneath.

Live Stock Hints

Don't feed a ration containing corn alone to any class of stock.

Not all pigs that manage to survive are necessarily profit makers.

Registered cattle with long-time records in their pedigrees are bringing the most money.

Don't feed animals worth keeping poorly because they are not producing; feed them and give them a chance.

Feeding and care of sheep have a definite relationship to the growth of wool. The weak spot in wool is often caused by lack of proper nutrition which permits growth to become dormant.

There are several things to consider when building a self-feeder for grain. In the first place, it should be as rain-proof as possible with tight joints and a roof which projects a foot or more beyond the feed trough.

More pigs are lost from being mashed by the sow than from any other single cause; 15 to 30 per cent of all pigs farrowed meet this fate.

The Karakul, a fur bearing sheep, seems to be gaining in numbers and popularity. South Dakota has recently started several flocks.

Exercise, sunshine, good water, clean surroundings, and plenty of green succulent feed are nature's tonics for young pigs. Provide these for the infant porkers.

Advocates Toy Circulation

A probation officer in a children's court suggests that a circulating library of durable toys would be a means of keeping children out of mischief after school hours.

The Only Way

The meek can never expect to inherit much of anything if they don't get some lobbying done.—Des Moines Register.

That Upkeep Matter

WHEN you have decided what size of car to buy—whether it be a four—six—or eight cylinder, and you have picked the type of body best suited to your needs—it is then time for you to make up your mind that you are going to give that car the attention it needs.

Care in breaking in a car means a lot. It may double or treble the life of your car, regardless of what make it is. Choose with care what kind of gasoline and oil you buy. It will pay you large dividends.

I have a friend who listened to this advice and he has thanked me many times. He has had three new cars in nine years, all of the same make. And when he turns his old car in for a new one, the increased allowance pays him for his care. In all three "trade-ins" he has been allowed as much money as the average one or two year old car brings.

He washes his cars, or has them washed, once a week. And each time he sees that the grease cups are filled. Every 100 miles he changes the oil in the crank case and refills the transmission and the differential when the car instructions bid him do so.

Taking my advice he uses only Pennsylvania grade lubricants for, in my opinion, oil made from Pennsylvania paraffin base is more uniform in grade, has more body and is more cooling than any other oil.

This decision was arrived at only after years of racing on tracks and driving on roads. The automobile must be regarded in much the same manner as the human body. If it is to perform efficiently and economically, the motor must be put on the proper diet.

Many motorists are careless about the kind of gasoline and oil they purchase. I notice frequently that it is these motorists who complain about the "lemon" they have bought.

The modern gas station is equipped to oil and grease your car in a few minutes. The expenditure of these few minutes will pay you.

CANADIAN MEMORIAL AT VIMY RIDGE

The quarries that were worked by the Emperor Diocletian are now supplying the huge blocks of stone required for the Canadian war memorial at Vimy Ridge. Since 305 A. D. they have remained idle. The story of their new activity is told by W. S. Allward, Toronto sculptor, who won the award for the erection of the monument on the battlefield where the Canadians made their greatest effort during the World war.

Mr. Allward was in need of large, flawless blocks for the heroic figures of the memorial. He sought them in various parts of Europe. His wanderings brought him to the little town of Spalato on the eastern shores of the Adriatic, where, near the seashore, are the ruins of the palace built by Diocletian. The kind of stone he wanted was in its walls.

Mr. Allward was struck by the beauty and durability of the stone. It is a pink buff, which, in the passing of years has ripened to a rich amber. He found on the hillside above the ruins the old quarries in which it had been cut. Since the last blocks had been quarried there in 305 they had not been worked.

They contained an abundant supply for his needs, and today native workers are chiseling out massive blocks and sliding them down the mountain side.

The Vimy memorial is 200 feet square. The top of the pylons will reach 140 feet above the ground level. Joints between the great blocks of stone are only one-sixteenth of an inch wide. Studios will be erected on the monument itself and the figures will be cut there.

The artists' conception of the memorial is that of a strongly walled defense. Through the walls appear the mouths of cannon. At the base of the walls are the defenders. One group depicts the breaking of the sword, the other the sympathy of the Canadians for the helpless. Standing in front of the main platform is Canada in the form of a hooded woman, her head bowed in sorrow over the graves. Below is suggested a tomb on which lie a helmet and laurels.

Behind the great tapering shafts of the pylons rise skyward. In the arch which they form is the Spirit of Sacrifice throwing the torch to a comrade. Issuing from the inner sides of the pillars are symbolic figures, their arms reaching upward. Around are shields of Britain, Canada and France.

Outside is the cross. The whole forms a memorial of majestic beauty, worthy of that fine material found by the sculptor.

The winners of the 1939 Vocational Corn Production Contest included E. C. Culley, Mt. Vernon, with a record of 163 bushels on a one-acre field; John Hamilton, Middletown, and David Poor, Warsaw, both with records of 84 bushels; and Harry Million, Monticello, with a record of 64 bushels. In the Vocational Potato Contest Everett C. Holst, Frankfort, produced at the rate of 112 bushels an acre, and Charles F. Yoder, Jr., La Grange, made 172 bushels.

INDIANA boys enrolled in vocational schools have the chance this year to demonstrate their ability in economic corn production.

An official corn production contest for students in vocational agricultural schools has been recently announced in the State. Application to enter the project should be made at once, according to the announcements. Copies of the rules have been sent to all the vocational instructors in the State.

"By encouraging friendly rivalry, the crop contests have proved an effective means for improving our farm practices," says W. V. Kell, Indiana manager of the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau, which is offering special prizes in connection with the contest. "The winning of the prizes is incidental to the bigger objective which, after all, is the increasing of the farm income by means of lower costs and larger acre yields.

"As a result of the contests conducted in every section of the country, thousands of farmers," he declares, "have been thoroughly convinced of the advantages of pedigreed seed, liberal fertilization, thorough cultivation, and disease and insect control methods. They have discovered that the practices employed in producing a high yield on a five or ten-acre field may be profitably applied to the entire farm."

Our Hero 'Dead, Hail and Farewell!

THERE shall be apples in harvest still,
and springtime blossoms again,
Summer returning and green on the hill
with the early autumn rain;
But never America's fallen sons to the things they used to know
While the sun goes round, or the river runs, till Gabriel's trumpets blow.

Yet, maybe, an army's ghostly drum
beats up from the far-away,
Unseen, unheard, where a myriad come to memory's call today
From alien graves o'er oceans wide to their marching kith and kin, Comrade by comrade they stand beside when the bugle sounds "Fall-in."

Never at all, though April seeks where the early heath-flower starts,
Or the flowering almond of August speaks to unforgetting hearts.
We read the message, we hear the call,
but they their conflicts cease;
They rest with God's stars over them in the dreamless halls of Peace.

There shall be honey-gold harvest wheat and glory that spring regains,
Summer in shimmering veils of heat,
and the misty mountain rains;
But never the sons America bred, to the land that was their own,
Till earth gives up her glorious dead,
and Gabriel's trump be blown.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

The Architect Finally Decided Upon and Active Work Will Soon Begin.

The controversy among the officials over the selection of an architect for the proposed new school building has finally been settled, and after several weeks delay, things now look favorable for something definite to be accomplished.

It is to be hoped that no more dissension will arise in this matter as the time is now getting short before the new structure will be needed and if the building is to be completed by that time there must be some rapid moves made.

While some threats are being made that there will be further matters brought up to delay the construction of the building, we believe, that any such move, while it might delay matters, will be only to the detriment of all concerned, and we hope that every one will now reconcile themselves to the fact that a new school building eventually will have to be built, and the less delay there is the better it will be for the tax-payers and all interested in the matter.

THE BRANT FAMILY REUNION

The Brant family reunion will be held at Beachwood Park, Huffman Lake, on Saturday, June 8th, 1930. They are planning for a large attendance and a good time is anticipated.

W. F. M. S. MEETING

The W. F. M. S. held a delightful session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Garwood last Friday afternoon. The attendance was especially good considering the weather.

The last chapter of our study book was ably discussed by Mrs. Guy and Mrs. Goodwin. Mrs. Kinsey also gave a very interesting discussion. Mrs. Garwood makes a charming hostess and with her committee served delicious cake, coffee and ice cream.

ENTERTAINS SODALES CLUB

Mrs. Cora VanGilder delightfully entertained the Sodales Club, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. K. A. Riner was the assisting hostess. After a very brief business session, the remaining part of the afternoon was spent playing rook. First prize at Rook was awarded to Mrs. Don Bunner, and second to Mrs. Irvin Nelson. Mrs. Oliver Grove of Rochester, Mrs. Elmore Fenstermaker and Miss Elma Cattell were guests. A delicious two course luncheon, was served at tables beautifully decorated with garden flowers. Club adjourned to meet June 5th, with Mrs. Chas. Shafer.

BURGLARS IN MENTONE

For the first time in years thieves have gotten in their work in our village. Friday night of last week burglars pried open the rear door of the Jones grocery store and walked off with goods, principally cigarettes, amounting to ten or fifteen dollars. So far as we can learn there are no clues as to who the culprits were, but every indication is that the robbers were amateurs at the business and that it was the work of home talent.

There is another case in which it proves that the Farm News is read by everyone—even robbers. Only last week we were boasting that robberies were a thing unknown in this community, and we were all law abiding citizens etc, and here before the ink hardly gets dry on the paper, someone up and kicks the whole thing over—In this case it did not pay to advertise.

FILE YOUR CONTEST VOTES SATURDAY NIGHT

A Change in Rules Will Go Into Effect Monday Morning READ AND REMEMBER

All votes in our contest should be filed at the Farm News Office not later than Saturday night, otherwise they cannot be counted at the finish of the contest. They should be tied up in a package with the total number of votes contained therein and the name of the person plainly written on same. Neither the names or the number of votes so deposited will be divulged by the Farm News Office.

Beginning on next Monday the vote coupons will be a different color and will not have to be deposited until the close of the contest. On this new issue it will not be necessary to present an advertisement in order to get the coupons—just trade a dollar or more in cash with any of our regular advertisers and ask for the number of votes that his advertisement calls for.

The greater number of our subscriptions to the Farm News expire on July 1, and for each renewal or new subscriber to the Farm News brought in by a subscriber or contestant we will give 2000 votes—this offer holds good until the close of the contest.

CELEBRATE THEIR BIRTHDAYS

A very enjoyable birthday party took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Jefferies on last Sunday, when the two grandsons, Robert and Sheridan came home and joined with Mr. L. P. in a triple birthday celebration. It so happens that all of their birthdays take place at about the same time in this month—Mr. Jefferies' the 18th, Robert's the 22nd, and Sheridan's the 25th. And while L. P. occupied the seat of honor on account of the largest number of birthdays, yet at heart he was as young as anyone present and enjoyed the occasion as much as any one present.

SMALL TOWN PROGRESS

While the population drift to large cities is continuing, their productive capacity is not increasing in proportion to that of the inhabitants of small towns. Industrial leadership of the country in many cases is being transferred to the rural communities.

Such, in brief, is the conclusion arrived at by a leading economist after a nation-wide survey of industrial trends. The underlying reasons for the growing industrial importance of the small towns are stated thus:

"Distribution of electric energy to even the smallest hamlet has furnished rural communities with abundant facilities for operating industrial plants. The market improvement in freight transportation as a result of better highways, and an acceleration of railroad traffic have been other factors in the small town's forward march in industrial importance."

It is also pointed out that there are many advantages to wage-earners in this decentralization of industrial operations. Lower rents, cheaper foods and escape from city congestion all offer inducements to small town living.

A total of more than three billion dollars will be spent on public utilities construction during 1930, much of which will go toward the building up of rural communities. This vast program will also create a widespread demand for other types of construction, including more homes, industrial plants, banks, theatres, churches and schools.

Intelligent cooperation of small town leaders in this new industrial movement will be of the greatest benefit to their respective communities.

FORCED TO ACCEPT THREE MILLION DOLLARS

Uncle Sam herded the Indians off on some worthless-looking land in the old Indian Territory. Jackson Barnett, a descendant of one of these Creek aborigines, refused to select an allotment from Indian lands a few years ago, but the government gave him one, anyway. Up to date he has received more than three million dollars from oil found on this same tract.

Muncie Lady Is Staunch Friend Of New Konjola

Eager To Tell Experience With
New Medicine After All
Others Tried Had Failed.

MRS. CARL COMINGO

"I had plenty of ailments when I put this great medicine to the test," said Mr. Carl Comingo, 3208 South Plum street, Muncie. My worst trouble was indigestion. Every meal meant misery with pains so severe that at times I thought I could not bear them. My kidneys and liver were out of order and I became exceedingly nervous. My back ached constantly and I had frequently bilious attacks and headaches. I lost steadily in weight, strength, vitality and ambition. Constipation was an added trial.

"Two bottles of Konjola were enough to show me that I was on the right road to health. At the end of the sixth bottle every last one of my ailments had vanished. My stomach liver and kidneys now perform their functions normally and I am free from pain or discomfort of any kind. Headaches and bilious attacks are a thing of the past. Never did I expect to have the wonderful health I have today and I owe it all to Konjola."

Konjolais designed to give thorough and lasting relief. Like any worth while treatment, this medicine should be taken from six to eight weeks. It is thus given a chance to produce the results that have amazed countless thousands of men and women.

Konjola is sold in Mentone Ind., at the Shafer & Goodwin drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

IF YOU MET WITH A SEVERE ACCIDENT.

Was Laid up in a Hospital or Home Could You Pay Your Expenses for One
Cent a Day?

IT CAN BE DONE.

Pay us $3.65 or at the rate of a penny a day for a whole year, and in return should you at any hour of the day or night during the year be riding as a passenger on a railroad train, steam boat, street car, elevated or subway car and by the wrecking of that vehicle you become injured, we will pay you at the rate of $100 per month for one day of more for a period of a year's time. Should you be killed we will pay to your estate $5,000.00 and in event you are permanently disabled by the loss of one or more limbs or the sight of an eye or eyes, we will pay you from $1,500.00 to $5,000.00 depending upon the extent of your disability.

Suppose you should become injured from the wrecking of your automobile, or while riding in your friend's car. Suppose you are riding in a taxi cab, motor bus, or elevator, and through the wrecking of that vehicle if you should be injured we would pay you at the rate of $100.00 a month, and if killed your estate would receive $1,000.00; also for loss of sight, or limbs from $500.00 to $1,000.00

That's Not All—This same indemnity would come to you for injuries received as a result of being struck by lightning, injured in a tornado, by being burned or suffocated by smoke in the burning of a church, school building, theater, store office building or lodge room. Should you drown while bathing at a bathing beach your estate would receive $1,000.00.

Furthermore—Suppose you were struck, knocked down or run over while walking or standing on a public highway. Suppose you were injured while driving a truck, wagon or buggy, and if you are a farmer, suppose you were injured while operating a threshing, mowing or heading machine, a binder, harrow, plow or tractor, we would pay you for one day or more of disability at the rate of $50.00 a month; and if killed your estate would draw $500.00.

This 1c Day Will Also—entitle you to a $10.00 medical or surgical attention for any of the fore-going injuries that does not totally disable you, and if you are injured in any accident, any place, any time and are laid up for a month you will receive $25.00.

A real honest to goodness accident policy that covers the pedestrian as well as the traveler. Just think, all this for only 1c a day.

Nation One in Services of Memorial

An order, issued by General Logan, as head of the Grand Army of the Republic, dated May 5, 1868, set aside May 30 for the strewing of flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of dead comrades in every part of the land. This order, which was penned by N. P. Chipman, then adjutant general of the Grand Army, is known as No. 11 and is always read with Lincoln's Gettysburg address at services held by the Grand Army on Memorial day. Rufus R. Wilson writes, in the New York Herald Tribune.

General Logan's order was generally obeyed by the then existing Grand Army posts. On May 30, 1868, the ceremony was observed through New England and the middle and western states, while in the South the day was celebrated by a considerable number of Grand Army posts. At Arlington, Va., the services were especially impressive. Gen. James A. Garfield, then a member of congress, being the principal speaker. He reached what was regarded by those who heard it as his finest oratorical achievement, at least on a subject not political. Another year found Memorial day firmly established as a national institution.

"The Blue and the Gray."

A poem, written and published in 1867, gave impetus to the idea of Memorial day. The poem was "The Blue and the Gray," and its author, Francis Miles Finch, a then little-known lawyer of forty, living on the shores of Lake Cayuga at Ithaca, N. Y. The morrow of Lee's surrender found both North and South weary of conflict and longing for peace. In a thousand pulpits an oft-used text was the words from Micah: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." In each of a million homes there was at least one vacant chair. Hatred still smoldered, a hatred made more intense in the North by Lincoln's assassination and rekindled in the South by the "carpet-bag" government which followed it, and by the course of President Johnson, which led to his impeachment.

And so counsels of moderation and forgiveness only served to temper, not to appease; the bitter recollections of four years of strife and carnage. It remained for Finch, by appealing to the memory of the dead in his verses, "The Blue and the Gray," to strike the note of reconciliation. Written at Ithaca and published first in the Atlantic Monthly, the poem instantly touched the popular heart. Within a month it was being reprinted and quoted in every part of the land.

National Cemetery Idea.

Another man who deserves an honored place in this brief chronicle is Thomas Brougham Baker, father of the national cemetery idea, which preceded its national companion thought, Memorial day. Baker was born of theatrical parents in New York in 1834, and acted with Laura Keane and John Brougham, his adopted father, and in 1861 was a member of the stock company which played in the Washington theater. Among his close friends at that period was Capt. E. L. Hartz, an assistant to Col. D. H. Rucker, depot quartermaster.

One day Baker and Hartz while riding in Seventh street, Washington, witnessed the burial, just off that thoroughfare, of a soldier of the Sixth Massachusetts volunteers. On the instant the thought came to Baker that there should be in every large city a cemetery for the burial of soldiers, owned or controlled by the government, and that there should be a bureau to keep a record of the buried.

Hartz disapproved the idea, declaring that a soldier should be buried where he fell, and that Baker's plan was an impracticable one. Baker received a like answer when he laid his suggestion before Simon Cameron, then secretary of war. Cameron listened impatiently, then brusquely dismissed his caller with a declaration that such a plan had never been adopted by any country and never would be; that soldiers should rest where they fell, and that civilian cemeteries supplied graves for those who did not fall in battle.

Arlington Established.

Baker did not give up the fight for his idea, and finally found a whole-hearted supporter in General Nichols, later Sherman's chief-of-staff. They worked together and when Edwin M. Stanton succeeded Cameron, Baker's plan was laid before him. He approved of it. Six acres in the rear of the Old Soldier's home at Washington were set aside as a national cemetery, and the first burial was made on August 3, 1862, although the formal order making it a national cemetery was not issued until 1864.

Baker was appointed a clerk in the quartermaster's office with charge of the burial records of the army and held that post until 1869. Later for eight years he was employed in and around Richmond, compiling cemetery records and inspecting matters connected with the burial corps. Then he was transferred to a clerkship in the quartermaster's office at Chicago.

Eighty-four National Cemeteries.

Before he died Baker saw the system spread to thirty-one states and territories and across the border to Mexico. National cemeteries now number eighty-four. There are seventeen in Virginia, seven in Tennessee, six in Kentucky, four each in North Carolina, Louisiana and Illinois; three each in Maryland, Mississippi, Arkansas and Missouri; two each in the District of Columbia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Texas, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Kansas, and one each in Alabama, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Nebraska, New Mexico, Montana, California and Alaska. The eighty-fourth cemetery is in Mexico City, where are buried the soldiers who fell in the war with Mexico.

They contain the graves of a great army composed of 249,279 known and 153,116 unidentified soldiers. In France, Belgium and England there sleep 30,513 soldiers killed in the World war, so that in these latter times the observance of Memorial day has become a ceremony of international significance, sacred to the memory of all our soldiers who died in defense of the nation.

Beauty Tempers Sadness.

Arlington is easily the most beautiful of all our national cemeteries. Nor is it an altogether mournful place. The breeze always sings through its trees, most days bring sunshine in their train, the view of the river and distant capital moves and appeals, and the birds make it their home in all seasons, for they know in cemeteries they are safe. The Kentucky cardinal is there winter and summer, whistling as cheerily as any fife at reveille, and with it, an equally joyous sprite, is the tufted titmouse in its Confederate gray.

Gettysburg, in addition to its use as a national cemetery, is probably the most clearly defined of any of the great battlefields of the world. Nearly all of the regiments and brigades which fought there long ago located with monuments the precise positions held by them at the most critical moments of three doubtful and momentous days, so that it is now easy, even for a layman, to trace the course of the conflict which marked high tide for the Confederacy and the beginning of the end of the war between the states.

The Unknown

There is to be erected an elaborate addition to the grave of the Unknown Soldier.

NO chiseled marble can enhance

The Unknown Soldier's fame;

An eager nation fain would write

On Stars and Stripes his name.

Above the eagle's dizzy heights

His soul its vigil keeps

Until life's ringing reveille

Through death's long bivouac sweeps.

O stricken heart that long has claimed

As thine the great Unknown,

With undimmed vision pierce the veil

That hides thee from thine own,

Then pray for those, the vast unknown

Whose dirge the low wind sings,

For those beside whose wooden cross

Peace folds her blood-stained wings.

Bites Merely Annoying

Almost all the larger snakes will bite. Their bites, with certain exceptions, however, are not so dangerous as mosquito bites.

Life and Accident Insurance Protection

AT COST

YOUR CHOICE OF FOUR FORMS OF POLICIES

In offering the following four different forms, we believe that the desire of the general public is being gratified. The liberal amount of insurance which can be secured at a reasonable price will attract every fair-minded person who wants protection during life, and at the same time provide an estate for his family.

We are attempting to supply the demand of that great majority of people who are not financially able to buy investment insurance and pay the high rate required for an accumulating policy which provides cash surrender, and loan values, and have paid-up and extended insurance features.

Our plan is to furnish REAL PROTECTION at as near cost as possible to all persons of moderate means between the ages of 10 and 60 years. The rates charged are not for accumulations, but only to meet the payment of claims and maintain the reserve required by law.

FORM 11—COMBINATION POLICY

Pays the following:—For accidental death, 10 to 50 years $2,000.00; 51 to 55 years $1,600.00; 56 to 60 years $1,000.00. For natural death, 10 to 50 years $1,000.00; 51 to 55 years $800.00; 56 to 60 years $500.00. Sickness or accident benefit $25.00 per week. Specific benefits, loss of one or both eyes, hands or feet, severances, dislocation or fractures. Premium $2.50 per month. Policy fee $5.00.

THIS IS A COMPLETE FULL COVERAGE POLICY

A combined Natural Death, Accidental Death and Health and Accident Policy. All provisions in one certificate and all included in one premium rate. This policy is particularly attractive to people of moderate means who want full protection at moderate cost.

The $25.00 per week sick and accident benefits provided in the Form 11—Combination Policy makes it a desirable contract and only the claim department could tell of the hundreds of claims paid for disability, dislocations and fractures.

Only one of these policies are issued to a person. But a holder of this policy is also eligible to hold one of the Form 12—Life Policy only.

FORM 13—HEALTH AND ACCIDENT POLICY

Accidental death—10 to 55 years $1,000.00. Sick or accident benefits $25.00 per week—one half for women. Hospital indemnity. Specific benefits—Loss of one or both eyes, hands or feet—Severance, dislocation or fracture. Premium $1.25 per month. Policy fee $5.00.

A REAL POLICY FOR THE MONEY

This policy provides double indemnity for Travel Accident and is a popular policy for those who carry Life Insurance, but do not have Health and Accident protection. During the past few months we have paid over $10,000 to policyholders in amounts of from $12.50 to $100.00 on this form of coverage. The low cost appeals to persons having no coverage of this kind. On account of the low rate only one policy will be issued to a person.

A holder of one of these Form 13—Health and Accident policies may also hold one of the Form 12—Life Policy Only.

Men, women and children, in normal health, from 10 to 60 years of age (inclusive) are eligible to hold policies in this company regardless of race or color.

FORM 12—LIFE POLICY ONLY

For natural or accidental death—10 to 50 years $1,000.00; 51 to 55 years $800.00; 56 to 60 years $500.00. No specific benefits. Premium $1.25 per month. Policy fee $5.00.

UNEQUALED IN COST

A life Insurance Policy covering both Natural and Accidental Death, issued to persons between the ages of 10 and 60 years, and at a price within the means of everyone. The man desiring Life Insurance for the protection of his family cannot overlook this policy or the rate at which the coverage is furnished. We only ask that the rate be compared with the rates of other companies furnishing this class of insurance, to be convinced that the cost is unequalled.

Two Form 12 Policies will be issued to one person, or One Form 12 and One Form 11—Combination Policy

FORM 10—DOLLAR A MONTH POLICY

Natural or accidental death—10 to 50 years $500.00; 51 to 60 years $300.00. Ten dollars a week for sickness; 10.00 a week for injury. Premium $1.00 per month. Policy fee $2.50.

A CONVENIENT POLICY

The intention of this policy is to furnish a small Full Coverage Contract to such persons as only desire sufficient protection to relieve the family savings in case of illness or accident, and remove the burden and distress in case of death. On account of the low rate, only one policy will be issued to a person.

The policy is particularly adopted to women and children, the rate of $1.00 per month making it both popular and convenient in cost.

NO MEDICAL EXAMINATION—POLICY FEE PAYABLE BUT ONCE.

Premiums payable monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

The American Benefit Life Ass'n.

Incorporated under the Laws of Indiana. Under the supervision of the Insurance Department of the State of Indiana

Application for any one of the above policies may be made at the Farm News Office.

(The editor of this paper has carried two policies with the above company for several years and considers that it is a good conservative association.)

MORE THAN SADNESS IN MEMORIES

It is impossible to be wholly solemn on Memorial day. The time of year is against it—the soft fullness of late spring, instinct with life, and that holiday promise of long summer days, of vacation and of the enjoyment of all the many pleasant and beautiful things which make this nation one which it is well to live in. Nor is it inappropriate that Memorial day falls when it does, for the nature of the holiday is rather against solemnity, too. It is in remembrance of young men; young men who for the greater part were not in the least solemn themselves; men who liked adventurous things and were fond of living; men who, when people addressed long and pompous patriotic orations to them, squirmed and probably said "Aw, h—ll" but who went ahead under the rifle fire just because they were fond of living and were made that way; men who, as the soldiers and seamen in our wars, defended a nation which, one imagines, they would rather like to think of as enjoying through a pleasant holiday in the late spring.

It is a nation, at any rate, which we often say is their gift to ourselves. Perhaps that is a little inadequate to express the complex and mysterious truth. The politics and the statesmanship of it were more or less above their heads, and at times it may have been just as well. There were some who never knew what it was about and others who did not care, and still other who puzzled themselves fruitlessly ever it in the long-drawn agony of hospital tents or the shambles of the surgeon's cockpit. But in the last moments they must have felt themselves parts of a great and thrilling process.

Behind the band music and the parades their invisible files stretch away down a long perspective—young men who were partners to terrible and agonizing experience, but who knew better than to be solemn about it. There are the men whose footsteps left blood in the snow at Valley Forge, the men whose limbs were smashed by the round shot on the gun deck of the Chesapeake, the men who died, in shakos, crossbelts and scorching sunshine, under the scaling ladders at Chapultepec, the men lying wounded under the gun wheels on Seminary ridge, or choking in the soft grass of the Peach orchard or tossing in terrible rows down the Civil war hospitals.

It is a strange army, and a great one, but it is not solemn. Its ranks could stand almost anything, but they could not stand solemnity, long orations, pletism, cant. They gave inordinately, but the suffering did not last long, and it was given because they were adventurous, courageous spirits, lively men who could not see their country in a fight without helping out. Perhaps, in fact, the nation is their gift to us; but if so, it is a gift of so rare a quality, with so many facets, meaning so much both to those who gave and to us who have received, that one scarcely wishes to bring one's self to talk of it.—New York World.

The DAIRY

WINTER FEEDING FOR DAIRY COWS

Hardest Working Animal on Farm Needs Best Ration.

The milking cow is the hardest working animal on the farm, a fact which explains the importance of good feeding for dairy cows. A cow giving 35 pounds of milk a day produces in that milk what is known as 10.4 therms of energy. To produce the same number of therms in the form of useful work, a team of two 1,500-pound horses would have to work steadily for eight hours.

As the only way a cow can obtain energy to put into her milk is through the feed she eats, her feed must be highly nutritious and fed in sufficient quantities so that her body requires as well as her full needs for maximum milk production are met. The successful dairy farmer bases his winter feeding program on an abundance of legume roughage such as alfalfa or other legume hay, and corn silage. So that he may be sure to have these roughages available next winter he is already making his plans for a substantial crease in alfalfa or one of the other legumes for hay this spring. An acre for each cow in milk will grow enough alfalfa hay to keep these cows well supplied with the very best dry roughage from late fall to early spring. The growing of about one acre and a half of the other legumes will be required to keep a milking cow well supplied with hay during the same period. Now is the time to plan for next winter.

In winter feeding, hay is usually fed at the rate of 1 to 1½ pounds for each 100 pounds the cow weighs. Silage is generally fed at the rate of 2½ to 3½ pounds for each 100 pounds of the animal's weight. Grain should always be fed according to the cow's milk production. The larger breeds, such as the Ayreshire, Brown Swiss, and Holstein, are fed one pound of grain to each 3½ to 4 pounds of milk produced daily. The smaller breeds, as the Guernseys and Jerseys are usually fed grain at the rate of 1 pound to each 3 pounds of milk produced daily.

Many Dairymen Overlook Water Supply in Winter

The average dairymen overlooks the water supply for his cows during the winter months, and in doing so he overlooks a nice profit and lowers the production of his cows. The dairy cow will drink 100 pounds of water daily if it is located where she can get it at least twice daily and it is not too cold. A fresh cow will drink three or four times as much as a stripper or dry cow. In cold winter weather a cow will not drink that much water if turned out but once a day and she has to walk to a pond or tank to drink. Furthermore, when a large amount of cold water is drunk in cold weather it must be raised to the body temperature of the cow, and to do this the cow burns the feed nutrients which were intended to produce milk and maintain her body.

Small Slender Silos Are Now Coming Into Style

If there was any such thing as styles in silo building, it would be appropriate to say that the slender figure in silos is coming into style. The tendency seems to be toward less diameter and more height, and if a large amount of silage is needed to build two small ones rather than one silo of great diameter.

Eight, ten and twelve-foot silos are each year becoming more common. These small structures make a silo a practical investment for herds of ten or more dairy cows, or for two or three loads of beef steers. Ten cows for example, will eat about two inches of silage per day from an eight-foot silo and about one and one-third inches from a silo ten feet in diameter.

Cow Stanchions Should Be Properly Adjusted

The stanchions should be so adjusted that the cows deposit their droppings in the gutter and not on the platform. Clean, dustless bedding should be provided daily. The flanks of the cows should be clipped to keep the hair short so that the cows may be easily cleaned with a stiff brush. Brushing should be done as often as possible. Diseased cows should be isolated from the healthy ones. A constant inspection should be maintained to locate new diseases. Every dairymen should make it a point to become acquainted with common cow ailments. Milk from diseased cattle should never be sold.

Dipping for Lice

Lice cause great annoyance to calves and may seriously retard growth if present in large numbers. They are difficult to control, but about the most satisfactory treatment is dipping or washing with a coal tar dip solution. This method cannot be used during cold weather but should be used the first warm, still spring day. In a week or ten days the treatment should be repeated to get the young lice which have hatched out in the meantime.

First Iceland Settler

Traditionally the first settler in Iceland was the Norwegian chieftain, Ingolf, who named the place where he landed Reykjavik—i. e., Smoky Bay, from the steam rising out of the nearby hot springs. After him came many Norwegian viking chieftains and their followers, who fled, mainly from the west coast of Norway, to escape King Harald Fairhair's oppression.

AMERICAN DEAD IN FRENCH SOIL

Suresnes, under the frowning ramparts of Fort Valerien just outside of Paris, has most of the graves of Americans who died of wounds in hospitals in Paris. All other cemeteries are on ground captured by the American troops. The dead buried in them either fell on this ground of combat in the general region of which the cemetery is the center. By insistence on this rule, General Pershing, as chairman of the American battle monuments commission, gave the soldier burial on the battlefield on which he fought, with the exception of those killed in minor engagements. Incidentally, this has resulted in the cemeteries varying in size roughly in proportion to the importance of the battle.

The wooden grave markers originally erected in the cemeteries have been replaced by white marble headstones—a cross for those of Christian faith, a shield of David for those of Jewish faith. Each headstone has inscribed on it the full name of the soldier, his rank, regiment, division, state from which he came, and date of his death.

These headstones are more than three feet high and stand as individual and imperishable monuments to those who gave their lives. Here and there is a grave of one who remains unknown, the headstone bearing the inscription: "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God."

Nowhere else in the world can be found cemeteries more beautiful, more restful, more thoroughly cared for than these plots of consecrated soil to which mothers and widows make their pilgrimage. Flowers, trees and shrubbery laid out by skillful and sympathetic hands of trained landscape gardeners and nurtured with tender care, lend a quiet beauty to these final resting places of our hero dead. The American flag, symbol of the glorious tradition which inspired these men in life to offer themselves in their country's cause, floats in silent tribute over the graves. At each cemetery is an American caretaker, himself a veteran of the war, one who knows through what these men went and whose heart is in the duty he keeps. In addition to his routine, he extends a welcome to those who come to the cemetery seeking information and aids them in locating graves.

One of the points on which General Pershing has been particularly insistent is that besides rest rooms in each cemetery, there must be a chapel into which relatives can go to prayer and religious consolation. These memorial chapels are imposing structures, having been designed by some of the most prominent architects in the United States and the designs approved by the national commission of fine arts. The chapels will be monumental in nature, beautiful, restful and impressive. On the walls of the chapels will be inscriptions to the men who gave their lives. They will also bear individual inscriptions giving the name, rank, organization, date of death and the home state of men who still sleep in unknown graves.

PIE TIME IS HERE AGAIN

Of course in every American household any time is pie time. For every woman knows how much the men of the family love pie. But now that fresh rhubarb is here and all the other luscious fruits and berries on the way, a fruit pie or two just naturally goes into the oven on baking days.

These recipes will give you the most successful berry or fruit pie you ever turned out, with a filling as luscious and juicy as can be. Yet there is just enough quick cooking tapioca in the recipe to keep the fruit juices from soaking through the bottom crust and making it soggy. This ingredient will keep the juice from boiling over in the oven which is most annoying. For not only does this smoke up the whole house, but you lose a lot of the delicious juice. Here are the recipes:

Rhubarb Pie

3½ cups rhubarb, cut in ½-inch pieces
1½ cups sugar
1 tbsp. water
1½ tbsp. quick cooking tapioca
1 recipe Pie Crust

Combine rhubarb, sugar, water, and Minute Tapioca, and let stand about 15 minutes, or while pastry is being made. Line a 9-inch pie plate with half of pastry rolled to ¼-inch thickness. Moisten edges of pastry with cold water. Fill pie shell with rhubarb. Roll other half of pastry to ¼-inch thickness. Fold half the pastry back on other half. With sharp knife make several incisions to permit escape of steam. Place upper crust on filled lower one, opening out folded half after it is placed on pie. Press edges together. With sharp knife trim off surplus pastry. Again press edges together with fork dipped in flour. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 15 minutes, then decrease heat to moderate (350° F.)

and bake 30 minutes longer, or until rhubarb is tender.

Fresh Strawberry Pie

1 quart fresh strawberries, hulled and cut in pieces
1½ cups sugar
1½ tablespoons quick cooking Tapioca
1 recipe Pie Crust

Combine strawberries, sugar, and Tapioca and let stand about 15 minutes, or while pastry is being made. (From this point follow directions given for Rhubarb Pie.) For fresh raspberry or blackberry pie, use 2½ tablespoons quick cooking Tapioca instead of 1½ tablespoons.

Red Cherry Pie

1 can seeded red cherries, drained (1½ cups)
½ cup sugar
½ cup cherry juice
1½ tablespoons Minute Tapioca

Combine cherries, sugar, cherry juice and Tapioca, and let stand about 15 minutes, or while pastry is being made. Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry rolled to ¼-inch thickness. Moisten edges of pastry with cold water. Fill pie shell with cherries. Adjust top crust. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 20 minutes, then decrease heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake 20 minutes longer, or until filling is cooked.

SUPERSPRAYING IS BIG APHIS NEED

Tiny Insects Seek Protection Under Leaves.

The ordinary method of spraying with the wind will not kill rosy aphids. Since they are sucking insects they must be completely covered with the spray, says W. E. Blauvelt of Cornell university.

But the aphids like to be comfortable and is on the side of the bud away from the wind, and to spray with the wind only covers the bud where the aphids was. If the orchardist waits until the wind has shifted, the aphids will have shifted to the other side. The buds must be sprayed from angles and this means, on mature trees at least, spraying from the tank and from the ground as well. On low trees and with favorable winds, good coverage can be obtained by spraying from the ground only by the use of a long lead of hose.

Effective coverage requires liberal amounts of spray materials. Trees twenty-five to thirty years old will take about ten gallons a tree, and larger trees proportionately more. On high trees, where it is impossible to completely cover the tree in one operation, one should spray as much of the tree as possible at the time and cover the remainder when the wind will permit. In some seasons when the wind does not shift to the desired direction, it may be necessary to "fight" the wind to complete the spray on time.

Whether or not to spray for aphids will depend upon the grower's experience with aphids in his own orchard, and on the advice of the spray service information, says Mr. Blauvelt. To get value received in spraying for aphids takes a job of superspraying, but it is being done by many New York growers.

Paint Pruning Wounds to Avoid Tree Damage

Orchardists and tree owners who prune their trees and neglect to give the wounds proper treatment are inviting trouble, warns Parker O. Anderson, extension forester, university farm, St. Paul. The later growth of the trees is apt to be impaired, he says, while resulting from pruning may not heal properly and will offer ready entrance to fungus or rot diseases.

Wounds caused by the removal of limbs should be painted over to aid nature in the process of recovery, he says. For wounds less than one-half inch in diameter, shellac has proved suitable in preventing drying of the live tissues beneath the scar. Larger wounds should be painted with shellac and, in addition, should be covered with some permanent preparation such as tar or a good grade of lead paint.

The right kind of shellac to use can best be prepared by dissolving gum lac in alcohol. This has been shown by government investigations. Solvents other than alcohol should not be used as they are likely to kill or burn the live tissue or cambium layer, instead of giving the desired protection.

Control Brown Rot of Peach With Sulphur

Brown rot of peaches is controlled by the dry mix sulphur lime spray or with sulphur dust. Spray applications are made just as soon as the bloom has fallen when the husks are shedding; a second application two or three weeks later and a third application about three weeks before harvest. The dry mix spray is prepared by using a fine grade of sulphur, six pounds; fresh hydrated lime, three pounds and one of the commercial calcium caseinate spreaders, two ounces. This material mixed together is diluted in 50 gallons of water for the spray. Arsenate of lead can be used in the first two applications at the rate of 1½ pounds to 50 gallons for the control of curculio.

Place for Brush Fruits

Currants and gooseberries thrive in partial shade and may well be planted on a northern slope, along a side of the orchard where they will be in the shade during a part of the day, or in the home garden they may be set on the north side of a fence or building.

The soil should be prepared as far in advance of planting as possible in order to work in a heavy application of barnyard or poultry manure. Plow the soil deeply and disk, drag and harrow thoroughly to prepare a firm but mellow plant bed.

City Trees Gassed

Shade trees need pure air just as people do. Trees are often killed by illuminating gas from leaky pipes in the soil, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Recent experiments show that gassed trees may be saved, if they have not been exposed too long, by forcing air or oxygen under pressure, through a specially constructed nozzle, well into the ground at different points around the tree so as to displace the gas. Be sure to stop the gas leak.

Gold Leaf's Possibilities

A cubic foot of gold beaten to gold leaf, cut into strips one inch wide and laid end to end would make a strip 43,200,000 feet long.

Lofty Texan Peak

The highest mountain peak in the southern states is El Capitan. In western Texas, which rises to a height of more than 9,000 feet.

Sleep, soldiers brave, in glory's field;
Time to your names shall honor yield;
The summers shall their blooms impart,
To fade above each mold'ring heart;
And fading, mix their lustrous charms
With dust that bore heroic arms.
