Still Wrangling

The Special Session of Congress is About to Adjourn

And aside from passing the Farm Relief Bill--which consists principally of telling the farmer how to market his product--and appointing a few hundred investigating commissions, the above is a good cartoon illustrating their main activities. A law making it a felony for any person to "lobbied" by any body will put an end to this horse play and give the people a few laws that were not put by special interests.

Telephone Co. Will Seek Another Raise in Rates

Will the Telephone Patrons Sit Idly By and Permit This Octopus to Give the Rentals Another Boost---or Will They Take Some Steps to Protect Themselves?

The following letter from Mr. Carl H. Mote, is self explanatory and should convince our readers that there is no limit to the boosting propensities of that company.

November 1, 1929

Mr. C. W. Krathwohl,
Editor and Publisher
The Community Farm News,
Mentone, Indiana.

Dear Sir:

As President of the Northern Indiana Telephone Company, I am advising you that the company is shortly applying to the Public Service Commission for an increase in rates of 25 cents per month per telephone, and that at the hearing on the petition I very much desire your presence because, if the Commission will permit it, I want to examine you with respect to certain statements you have recently made about your experience in the telephone business; also, with respect to statements you have made about the Northern Indiana Telephone Company.

If you will agree to be present, very well; if not, I shall have to ask the Commission to issue a subpoena requiring your presence at the hearing.

Very Truly Yours,

CARL H. MOTE

Upon receipt of the above letter we immediately replied as follows:
(OUR REPLY)

Mentone, Indiana, Nov. 2, 1929

Mr. Carl H. Mote,
Pres. Northern Ind. Tel. Co.,
Indianapolis, Indiana.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your letter of Nov. 1st will state that it will give me great pleasure to comply with your request in relation to the stand taken by the Community Farm News on telephone service, rates charged, and the attitude that your company seems to take toward the patrons in general. Of course we assume that you and the Commission will grant us the same privilege of examining you in regard to the certain valuations of your property and other points at issue.

In order that you may be assured of our presence, and that we may be recompensed for our time and transportation expense, we would suggest that you have the Commission subpoena us as outlined in the last paragraph of your letter.

I believe that if my experience in furnishing telephone service at a reasonable cost to the user, and your experience as President of the Northern Indiana Telephone Co., in boosting rentals be made public the average telephone user would gain some information that would stir him to action.

In conclusion I consider myself a past master in the art of giving fair telephone service at a reasonable cost, and I take it that you hold the same honors when it comes to boosting telephone rentals.

Respectfully Yours,

C. W. Krathwohl, Pub.

Plant Black Walnut Trees for Investment.

Many farmers and other land owners consistently overlook an opportunity to increase the capital value of their property by not planting black walnuts. There are few farms which do not have small untilled spots along fences, streams and buildings where one or more black walnut trees could grow without interfering with the present use of adjacent lands.

Walnut trees are valuable and reports are frequently received where individual walnut trees have been sold for as high as two and three hundred dollars apiece. On the farm of Mrs. Ira Stout, Middletown, their stands a walnut tree for which an offer of $350.00 was refused by the person who planted it. A smaller tree grown in an adjacent woods from a seed from the older tree was removed after it had been killed by lightning. This tree was 38 years old. The logs in it scaled $38.00 worth of walnut lumber.

A woodland owner near Paoli in Orange County has three fine walnut trees growing in a small ravine for which he has been offered $1,500.00. These are exceptional values. The average tree probably brings $25.00 to $50.00. In 1927 black walnut lumber was at the top of the list for Indiana lumber values.

Walnut trees should only be introduced on well drained loam soil of fairly good fertility. This condition is usually found along fences, stream banks and farm buildings. Heavy silt loams and clay soils where there is poor drainage and aeration are unsuitable for growing walnuts.

There is not a farm in this vicinity but which could make room for a number of walnut trees and we would suggest that any one interested write to the Department of Conservation, Forestry Division, Indianapolis where one year old walnut seedling, had at a very low price.

The Phone Situation

IT'S UP TO YOU!

Are You Going to Co-operate With Us in This Fight—Or Are You Going to "Let George Do It?"

The letters published on the front page of this issue should convince all phone holders in the village and the country that there can be no relief expected from the high rates and poor service now being given by the Northern Indiana Telephone Co., and that the time for action, if there is to be any, is now at hand.

This company now has the valuation of their property established with the Public Utilities Commission, and as several hundred subscribers have discontinued the service since the last raise in rates of course their income is not sufficient to give them the returns allowed under the law, and unless there is a stiff fight put up all they will have to do is to go before the board, make the showing that the returns are not what the law allows and the increase will be granted. Thus it will be seen that these boosts can be carried on indefinitely—those retaining the service continually being raised until the rate becomes prohibitive.

Now it is the policy of the Community Farm News, to condemn and use every power within its means to protect the people of this community from being imposed upon in an unjust manner by any company or organization, but in order to have our efforts have any weight we must have the co-operation and support of all interested.

Last week we asked that all readers or phone patrons who are displeased with the rates and service rendered by the phone company, write us a letter setting forth their attitude. And while we received a number of letters in answer to this request, yet the response was so small in proportion to the number of phone users and number of protests that we received orally that we are led to believe the great majority is content to "let George do it." This is the wrong attitude to take if you wish to accomplish anything.

According to the letter received from the telephone company we will be called before the board when they apply for proposed new increase in rates. We wish to go before that body with all the documentary evidence available to show the dissatisfaction that exists over the boosting of the rates, poor service, antiquated equipment etc., and should have at least five hundred letters from the phone users in the surrounding territory, both in villages and in the country, so that there will be no doubt on the part of the Commission that the phone users are dissatisfied. We would like to receive a letter on or before Wednesday, Nov. 13th. from every telephone user who is dissatisfied, stating his attitude toward the methods used by this company in gaining the recent increase, the service rendered, condition of lines or any other matter that would have any bearing upon the telephone question.

If we receive the proper co-operation as requested above, we will continue the fight. If we do not receive your support we will simply drop out of the game and let the phone company boost as often as they wish. Are you with us or not? It's up to you.

Yours truly
C. W. Krathwohl

BEEF CATTLE ARE FEWER ON FARMS

Increase Seen as Prices for Meat Are Higher.

The beginning of this year found fewer beef cattle on farms and ranges in the United States than at any previous time for half a century. There were then only about 24,000,000 head in the country. Under the influence of higher prices for beef, the number is now beginning to increase, according to figures collected by C. R. Arnold of the rural economics department of the Ohio State university.

In summarizing the history of the beef cycle in the United States Arnold has found that in 1895 more than 40,000,000 beef cattle were on the farms and ranges of the country. This number declined to about 33,000,000 animals in 1904, and then started up again under the influence of strengthening prices. By 1907 the number had again risen to about 38,000,000 head. Low prices again caused a drop to about 27,000,000 head in 1914. War demands raised prices and the herds increased to a total of about 36,000,000 head in 1919. Sudden cessation of the war time demand dropped the price, and numbers and prices declined together until they were exceptionally low from 1920 to 1926.

The beef cattle cycle extends over a long period of years, Arnold points out, because the number of cattle cannot be increased as rapidly as the number of hogs or sheep.

"It seems evident that we will have a larger number of cattle within the next few years, but it seems doubtful that we can expect low prices for beef cattle for at least two or three years, because the number which we have at the present time on ranges is so exceptionally low," says Arnold.

Pure-Bred Ram Adds Pounds to Lamb Crop

An interesting experiment has been conducted by the Oklahoma experiment station.

A pure-bred ram was placed with one group of ewes averaging in weight 104 pounds. Ewes were all on the same kind of pasture and fed the same kind of feeds in the same quantities. When the lambs were born from the pure-bred they averaged 8.9 pounds.

The scrub ram was placed with the second group of ewes of the same quality and age as the first group, their weights being an average of 104.7 pounds each. These were given the same care as the first group. The lambs when born weighed only 8.1 pounds.

Although the lambs sired by the pure-bred ate no more than those sired by the scrub ram, the lambs from the pure-bred ram gained faster and weighed 103.2 pounds when sold and the lambs from the scrub weighed only 95 pounds.

The difference in dollars and cents was that the lambs from the pure-bred ram brought $1.98 more, with no extra cost for feed or care.

All Barns Need Plenty of Air and Sunlight

All barns should have an abundance of ventilation, sunlight and drainage. Beware of drainage toward or into the barn or yards from premises previously occupied by diseased animals of any kind. Old barns are more apt to be troublesome. Basement barns, particularly if built years ago, are likely to have floors at a level below that of the outside ground levels. This is dangerous, as it keeps such barns damp and full of bad air. Basements require a larger amount of drainage and ventilation than barns built wholly above ground and on high ground, with ample natural drainage of the surroundings. A low basement barn may easily drain an area of two or three hundred feet around it.

Live Stock Hints

Feed only what the animals will clean up.

Avoid extremes in the condition of breeding stock.

By following the plan of creep feeding, lambs may be marketed earlier at a higher price.

Avoid digestive and intestinal troubles in winter by using well-cured green-cut roughage and succulents.

If the lambs are to be born strong and vigorous, a moderate amount of exercise is necessary for the ewes during the winter.

Experiments at the University of Illinois have proved ear corn ensilage to be an economical and profitable feed for beef cattle.

Exercise for brood sows should not be overlooked. Feeding them some distance from the sleeping quarters will help to provide it.

From every angle in the cattle production business, a good sire is a necessity and a good cow herd is a great help in the production of beef that will return a profit.

Earth and the Senate Safety in Insurance Good News, Generally Senator Nye in a Hurry

The earth turns on its axis about 1,000 miles an hour, 25,000 miles in 24 hours. Because of its size, the earth's motion is slow.

At the same comparative rate of speed you could not detect any motion in a cart wheel revolving once in 24 hours.

However, as President Hoover justly complains, there is something slower, and that's the senate's motion on the tariff.

It has been considering a tariff bill, as the President says, "since June, with fifteen schedules to work out, and has not yet completed schedule 1."

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, back from Europe, sees no "logical reason for such action as has occurred in security values."

Business is sound, says Mr. Sloan. He believes that the quarter earnings for General Motors will be ahead of the same period for last year.

Edsel Ford announces reductions in Ford prices, expressing the belief of the Ford organization that, "basically, the industry and business of the country are sound."

There is no better contribution to prosperity than to give buyers more for their money, when greater efficiency makes that possible.

It isn't how much money you get, but what you get for your money, that counts.

F. H. Ecker, president of Metropolitan Life, biggest insurance company in the world, replies to a question concerning recent Wall Street excitement:

"Drastic deflation of market prices of shares of common stock in no wise affects life insurance policies issued by companies whose investment practice, guided by laws, such as those of the state of New York, or the sound judgment of executives, excludes common stock from their holdings."

"More than ever has this recent experience demonstrated that life insurance is the safest, most dependable repository for the savings of millions of our population, furnishing at the same time sound protection against loss which follows in the wake of death."

New Jersey, first among the states, has absolutely wiped out the gypsy moth.

Governor Larsen and the state agricultural department are to be congratulated on a fine achievement.

More money than Wall Street could lose in a dozen panics would be saved if science could eliminate agricultural pests, boll weevil, corn borer and the rest of the army.

Excellent news comes from Florida as to the success of that state in dealing with the Mediterranean fruit fly. It has been a costly battle, but worth the money and trouble.

Samuel Insull and other big employers, following the example of Julius Rosenwald, supply money to protect employees from losses in stock speculation.

Henry Ford wouldn't agree with that idea. Two years ago when this writer mentioned certain stocks in which there were bound to be heavy losses, Ford said: "Of course. But that's the only way people can learn."

Whether it is wise not to let nature take its course in gambling as in other things, is questionable.

Senator Nye of North Dakota wants Wall Street and "all speculation sifted." What's more, he wants a remedy ready by February 1.

That's a short time for so big a job.

The Malay, in his breech-clout, bets on cock fights.

The proud red Indian piles up his shirt and blanket, bets them on a pony race, standing in dignified nudity.

Two ways of getting something: one is to work, the other to gamble.

Ninety per cent of human beings prefer the gambling way.

That will be changed a good deal later than February 1, 1930.

You will be glad to hear that the Federal Reserve board says the Wall Street earthquake is over, public fears calmed.

It may be permissible to remark therefore, while the earthquake is still fresh in many minds, that gambling is dangerous.

And it isn't necessary. There are other, better ways of making a living in the United States. In addition to which gambling is NO WAY to make a living.

It used to be said, "Wise man, take your profits." That has changed to "Wise man, take your losses," meaning, don't sell in a panic and regret at leisure.

Two more great oil fields have been found, one in Texas, one in Kansas. And it is called "a misfortune harmful to the price of oil stocks."

It ought to mean general satisfaction, proving the limitless wealth of this country. Unfortunately, oil companies and government combined have not learned to protect oil resources and prevent criminal waste.

Bows everywhere in the model. Whole flocks of them travel down the side openings of the newest blouses, and most of the necklines of day-time frocks tie with a soft bow. As to the evening mode, it is a matter of just one bow after another. Most of the bows, by the way, are of self-material.

Silo Profit Is in the Feeding

Dairy Farms and Live Stock Feeders Declare Silage Is Essential.

The proof of the silo profit is in the feeding. Wisconsin has proved the economy of this. If the value of silage in the live stock ration was known all over this land as well as it is in this state, where there is one silo to every 30 head of cattle, there would be 2,000,000 silos built in America in the next three years. All the evidence is in favor of this, feed as a profit-bringing, milk-making and beef-building ration.

Corn silage can be grown and put into the silo for less than $6 a ton. Some reports set the cost figures as low as $5 a ton. This is crediting the corn as being worth about 94 cents a bushel.

Value of Silage.

Experts in different states claim that when butterfat is selling for 45 cents a pound, corn silage will bring the dairy farmer $10 per ton, and when fat steers are selling from $9 to $10 per hundredweight, corn silage is worth from $7 to $8 per ton. The owner of a silo with a fair yield of crop can receive a value from his corn made into silage of $70 to $80 an acre when fed to steers and $100 when fed to good dairy cows.

It has been proved that, with dairy animals, the feeding of silage saves from 8 to 15 cents on the cost of producing a pound of butter, and from 30 to 50 cents on producing 100 pounds of milk. For beef production the saving produced by silage is about $1 per 100 pounds of gain.

It is true that the horse is decreasing in numbers, but the cattle census must be kept up and will be kept up by the steady demand for milk and meat. It is probable that the values placed upon silage as given above will be considered too low before next spring.

Make Study of Silo.

It is just the time to make a study of their value and economy, watching the feeding through the winter and letting the facts stand as proof that thousands more should be set to work making money for stockmen. Experiment stations, dairy farms and live stock feeders all over the United States have proved that the silo is of highest importance in the economic production of stock and stock products. The half-million progressive stock farmers who are using silos find them indispensable. For many years we have urged the trial of the silo as a money maker.—Wisconsin Agriculturnist.

Grafting Relationships Not Clearly Explained

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the facts of plant life on which scientists would like to have more complete information deals with the relationship of plants within which grafting may be done. As Guy E. Yerkes, of the United States Department of Agriculture, remarked recently, the limits of this botanical relationship are not clearly defined. "Varieties within the same species," he said, "may be expected to unite; for example, all varieties of European pear will grow on French pear stock. Often different species within the same genus will make satisfactory unions. As an example, most botanical species of apple (Malus) will grow on each other. On the other hand, cherry will not unite with peach, although both are placed by many botanists in the genus Prunus. In many cases, plants more distantly related may be grafted and will grow, as hawthorn upon apple and firethorn upon mountain ash. The citrus fruits are related closely enough so that it is by no means uncommon to see a single stock, which has been grafted, producing different fruits on different limbs, lemons on one, oranges on another, and perhaps grapefruit and tangerines as well."

Fall Plowing Will Make Enlarged Crop of Oats

On average land oats will usually make a larger crop when the ground is plowed shallow in the fall. One is usually less likely to get a good stand of clover when it is sown in oats on fall or spring plowed ground unless the land has been disked and rolled to get it into a firm seedbed, than when the land was only disked for oats. The surface of the plowed ground will dry out deeper than on disked land and the clover seed is not so likely to have as good moisture conditions for germinating on plowed ground as on disked ground. A good rolling will overcome this tendency to a large extent however.

Plant Food Will Make Crops More Pleasing

On soils that are full of plant food, the crops will grow quickly and more succulent. The individual plants will grow larger and freer from fiber and thus be much more desirable for table use. This applies more particularly to salad crops like cabbage, celery, spinach, etc. The very best kind of root crops will be produced on such soils. The radishes thus grown will be less peppery and free from fiber—the kind that fairly snap when you bite one of them. Beets and carrots, too, will be tender because they have made a quick growth.

Bird Flies High

The condor probably ascends to greater altitudes than any other bird. It is believed that it sometimes struggles up to a height of four miles.

Health Hint

No person can or should do without exercise unless he wishes to jeopardize his health. Exercise, however, need not be violent. A brisk walk daily, enough to start perspiration a-going, will do. And the daily "dozen" before an open window is beneficial.

"Panic"

Pan, in Greek mythology, was a being having the feet and horns of a goat, and often represented with goat's hair all over his body. He was the god of flocks and pastures, forests and life in the open. It was believed by the ancient Greeks that Pan inspired men with sudden and unreasonable fear—known as panic fear. Indeed, the Athenians believed that the panic among the Persians at the battle of Marathon was caused by Pan, and worshiped the supposed deity accordingly. From this ancient belief in panic fear, and sudden fright, especially contagious fright, spreading suddenly through whole groups of people, came to be known as a panic. Giving the derivation of the word panic, Webster's New International Dictionary traces it to the Greek Pan, the god. Literally, the word means: "Of or pertaining to Pan—used of fear such as Pan was supposed to have caused." By extension, the word panic has come to mean: "A sudden widespread fright or apprehension concerning financial affairs, resulting in an artificial depression in values caused by violent measures for protection or for the sale of securities or other property."

Members of the senior class at Yale university recently were given a long list of questions about college life to answer. Among these was the question, "What do you believe to be the least valuable of the courses you have studied?" Off-hand, one would expect that the students would pick some dry-as-dust subject like Greek or ancient history. But lo and behold! the honor (or otherwise) of being labeled the least valuable subject in the Yale curriculum fell to nothing in the world but that pet subject of modernism, psychology! Here is news, indeed. On every hand we hear that none of our major problems will be solved until we have learned all there is to be learned about psychology; yet the young men at Yale feel that it means less to them than all the rest of that university's many courses, says the Pittsburgh Press. Let the psychologists debate over this for a while.

To the hundred and one—or is it a thousand and one?—theories advanced to account for the cause of cancer, there is now added that of a Frenchman who happens not to be a medical man, but an electrician. However, his reported lifelong study of animal cells, apparently a hobby as was microscopy with the Englishman Barnard, gives a certain aspect of authority to his work. The announcement is raised somewhat above the level of other recent discoveries, however, by the fact that the Curie foundation has admitted it with a view to serious examination. The Curie foundation is a serious scientific organization, staffed by undoubtedly competent men.

International card sharps and other swindlers were a familiar type in the past. The international forger is a newer type of crook whose range of operations is extending. Counterfeit Mexican and Soviet state papers had embarrassments that were very real for a time. The forging of American passports and of visas for such passports and of birth certificates and other documents that may be utilized in gaining admission to this country has become a flourishing and probably highly profitable business. Special co-operative measures seem to be demanded to suppress this phase of the international crime wave.

A convention of live-stock raisers was told that we are becoming a nation of sandwich eaters, to the detriment of the meat industry. That may be true, but it does not tell the whole story. If we were old-fashioned sandwich eaters, there would still be huge demand for meat, says the Spokane Spokesman-Review. But since the invention of the micrometer meat slicer, which turns out slices of beef, ham, tongue and chicken exactly one one-thousandth of an inch in thickness, a man can eat a corned beef sandwich and still be practically a vegetarian.

The city health officer has made a public request that every one shall eat lots of spinach, for general body upbuilding, and it's all right with us, provided the sand is thoroughly separated first.

We have an idea that the British scientist who talks about the day when children will be born toothless has not observed closely the mouths of his own newborn offspring, if he has possessed any.

Unfortunate Song Writer

Stephen Collins Foster, who wrote "My Old Kentucky Home," composed a total of 164 songs. Among them were "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground," "Old Black Joe," "Old Dog Tray," "Uncle Ned," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming" and "Old Folks at Home." Despite the fact that some of these have become known the world over, Foster died in 1864, at the age of thirty-eight, poverty-stricken and debt-ridden.

SEASONABLE DISHES

When fresh green corn is abundant try using it in various ways except as a vegetable.

Green Corn Jems.—Take two cupfuls of fresh green corn, cut from the cob and put through the meat chopper, one-fourth cupful of milk, two eggs, two cupfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of shortening.

a teaspoonful of sugar, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of cayenne pepper. Mix and bake in gem pans twenty-five minutes.

Samboy Rolls.—Sift together one cupful of wheat flour, two cupfuls of corn meal, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and six teaspoonfuls of baking powder; add three tablespoonfuls of vegetable oil and three cupfuls of milk. Beat well and bake in hot well-greased muffin tins.

The following recipe is one that will be enjoyed as a luncheon bread or for sandwiches; for a picnic they are unequaled:

Nut Bread.—Sift two and one-half cupfuls of flour with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, add one-half cupful of sugar, one well beaten egg and one cupful of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt and three-fourths cupfuls of nuts. Walnuts or pecans are especially good. Let stand twenty minutes after putting in the pan, then bake forty minutes.

Fresh Fish Chowder.—Take any good fresh fish, clean and cut into halves then into serving-sized pieces, removing all bones. Into a deep chowder kettle place a half cupful or more of finely diced salt pork, cook it until crisp and brown. Drop into the hot fat three sliced onions and half a dozen sliced potatoes, stir for a few minutes then cover with boiling water. Cook for twenty minutes then add the prepared fish and finish cooking until the fish is well done. Now add a large milk cracker or two, softened in hot milk, to each chowder bowl. Add a quart of milk to the chowder and when well seasoned to taste, pour over the crackers and serve at once.

WINTER QUARTERS NEED RIGHT CARE

Great Drawback Is Keeping Fowls Free of Vermin.

More interest among poultry raisers and "small flock" owners centers around the fall and winter season than at any other time of the year. Many flocks of chickens are ruined by lack of knowledge in caring for their winter quarters, picking out the right fowls and keeping them in shape for the long winter season to follow.

One of the greatest drawbacks of the small raiser is keeping their birds free from vermin, lice and different parasites which infest the chicken quarters. The owner is besieged with different kinds of literature on this subject, some too expensive to try and others not practical for their use. In order to raise chickens profitably one must have "building" material that will not use up all the income received. In the feeding line your feed man can, in most cases, sell you feed of the right kind at the right price. In the disinfectant line everybody has a different method and generally too expensive for the average small raiser. In this line perhaps the best is none too high, but several have been tried and proved successful.

Take a full handful of tobacco stems and soak in luke warm water for one hour, drain and use the water—adding one-half pint of kerosene and one gallon of water. Spray just before chickens go to roost. If tobacco stems are not obtainable, use smoking tobacco, a small package the same way. If too bothersome to soak tobacco get nicotine at the drug store or nursery and use two teaspoonfuls to the same proportions as tobacco.

To be sure you are getting results, place a sheet of paper on the dropping board after spraying and if the chickens have vermin you will see them drop off onto the paper.

Hens Are Tempted by Eggs Broken in Nest

One of the most common vices is egg eating, of which most poultry keepers have had some experience.

Although the habit may be formed at any period of the year there is no doubt that a large number of the outbreaks are recorded during the summer.

This is partly due to the fact that large numbers of eggs are produced, and many of them are deposited in nests devoid of litter, thus creating a tendency for the eggs to become damaged.

The habit is often the result of a broken one being left in the nest or on the manure board, to be devoured by some bird later.

Very few, if any, hens can resist the temptation, and the habit quickly spreads from one to another, developing into an epidemic which frequently proves costly for the owners. Unless the nests are kept well covered with soft material the shells are certain to get damaged. Later on other hens frequent the nests, and broken eggs follow.

Poultry Hints

Cleanliness is the best preventive of poultry diseases.

Old hens are the most common spreaders of poultry tuberculosis.

Canker is a sore throat similar to diphtheria. Remove a sick hen at once.

Generally speaking, the hens with white shanks, big red combs, and old, dirty, and ragged plumage are the ones to keep, according to the specialist.

If eggs are found in stolen nests, in the litter or otherwise, so that their condition is not absolutely known, candle such eggs before taking them to market.

A hen that is laying will have a big, red, waxy comb, but as soon as she quits, the comb will begin to shrivel.

New corn can be fed in the ear if the birds are started on it gradually, with the amount increased from day to day.

Muslin curtains, if used in ventilating poultry houses, should be clean and in good condition. The old muslin area which is clogged with dust is not an effective medium for the diffusion of the air.

In addition to mash and scratch grain hens should have free access to grit, oyster shell and water. Green feed such as cabbage or mangles is also helpful.

For winter feeding yellow corn is superior to white. The yellow types are rich in vitamin A, which is necessary to keep the birds in good health and particularly to prevent eye trouble. This vitamin is also found in green feeds, but little of it in white corn, wheat, oats, buckwheat, barley and other common feeds.

Community Building

Factories Near Farms

Check Drift to Cities

Agricultural people benefit from the employment opportunities afforded by nearby industrial development. W. M. Jardine writes, in the Saturday Evening Post. Many farm families include more individuals than can find continuous employment in farm work. This is demonstrated by the steady exodus of farm population from the farms. Industrial expansion in small towns takes surplus labor from the farm without necessarily removing it from the farm home.

This fact may have important consequences. When young farm people must leave a community in order to find a satisfactory occupation, they may be lost to it forever. When they can live at home and work in a nearby town, they at least retain a connection with agriculture.

Modern conditions make it more certain that we shall have a sufficient number of farmers than that we shall have farmers of the highest type. Unfortunately, it is too often the best of our young people who abandon agriculture for city life.

Industrial development in rural communities has a tendency to reduce the loss of this valuable human material. It gives farm families a choice of occupations and means of increasing their earnings without disrupting home life.

No Grade Crossings on

Coming Ideal Highway

Visions of an ideal thoroughfare are seen in the bill for the incorporation of a company which proposes to construct an express toll highway between Boston and New York. On this highway there would be no crossings at grade with other roads or with railroads or street railways. What joy for the motorist! Not that he could speed recklessly along for mile after mile, but that he could go gliding on and on without fear of intersecting traffic of any kind.

Highways intersecting at grade, narrow and curving highways, seemed adequate enough in the days of the horse and wagon. But the motor car has changed all that. Thus the motor car is not an unmixed blessing, as far as costs are concerned. Much of the money which is made or saved as a result of the advantages of automobile transportation must be spent to provide suitable highways for the cars to travel on. And despite the tremendous advances in highway construction, the people have been rather slow in perceiving that the old highway system is itself as out of date as the buckboard or the Concord.—Terre Haute Tribune.

Beautifying Roads

We hail the effort of the Vermont Chamber of Commerce to make a national campaign of its own program to beautify Vermont roads. Some states have already begun: California has planted trees along 600 miles of highways; Massachusetts, pioneer in this and in so many other campaigns, has set out nearly 60,000 trees along its state highways, and last year Indiana planted 10,000 evergreens and Michigan 40,000 along their highways. Connecticut takes the trouble to plant rambling roses, woodbine and honeysuckle vines over the newly graded slopes beside its roads; New Jersey has a program of replacing, two for one, all trees cut down when widening highways. And the Westchester Park commission leads them all in knowing how to make a new parkway look like an old turnpike.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Highway Signs Opposed

A recent survey by the bureau of roads of the Department of Agriculture shows that in Nevada county laws governing advertising signs and billboards are designed not only to afford safety for tourists, but also to preserve the scenic beauty of highways. Permits are not granted for billboards which destroy natural beauty or shut off views of curves, grades or intersections. Although a majority of the states have specific rules as to the placing of billboards at a certain distance from curves, Nevada is the only state which restricts the placing of billboards where they will mar the view of adjacent landscapes.

Beautifying New Orleans

South Claiborne avenue, one of New Orleans' new and most beautiful thoroughfares, is to be planted for a distance of several miles with live oaks as tributes to local heroes who gave their lives in the World war. Each oak will represent an individual whose name has been obtained from the adjutant-general's office.

B'ooms at the Roadside

Massachusetts has for seven years been displacing weeds at the edges of her 60-foot new highways with blossoming shrubs and native wild flowers.

Backbone of Nation

No country has ever lived long when its cities and towns have grown and its country has faded.—David Lloyd George.

Is Old Expression

The expression "ship of state" was first used by Machiavelli in his political treatise, "The Prince." It was used by Longfellow in his "Building of the Ship."

The President of the Northern Indiana Telephone Co. Changes His Mind.

Our Reply to His First Letter Evidently Convinced Him That We Have Lived in the West too Long to Become Frightened by the Howl of the Coyote.

We do not mean to imply that Mr. Mote is a Coyote—far from it—he displays too many qualities of leadership to be classed with that branch of the family—Ed.

The following from the president of the Northern Indiana Telephone Co., was received in reply to the letter we sent him as published in last week's issue of the Farm News. To get the full trend of this correspondence we would suggest that you get your last copy of the Farm News so that you may have the complete correspondence before you for comparison. You will note in his first letter that he intended to have the Commission subpoena us, so that he could examine us in regard to certain statements we had made in relation to the Northern Indiana Telephone Company, which we presume would include double valuation of the real worth of their property, poor services, unwarranted increase in rentals, etc.

You will now see that Mr. Mote for some reason does not seem to desire our presence at the proposed meeting, but would prefer that we write and tell him what we know of the telephone business, but as we are not conducting a free information bureau, this we decline to do—at least just at the present—when he subpoenas us we will talk.

(The letter from Mr. Mote)
Indianapolis, November 4th, 1929

Mr. C. W. Krathwohl,
Community Farm News,
Mentone, Indiana.
Dear Sir:

I desire to acknowledge and thank you for your letter of November 2nd. All of the property of the Northern Indiana Telephone Company has been valued by the Public Service Commission upon evidence chiefly furnished by its own engineering department. I did have the properties appraised and the appraisals were submitted in evidence, but our own appraisals were higher than the appraisals of the engineering department of the Commission and the latter were adopted rather than our own appraisals.

So far as compensating you for transportation and time, that will depend upon whether I think you can render service to the community and particularly upon whether after investigation, it develops that you know something about the telephone business which the manager of our company has not discovered, and which ideas, notions or plans if put into operation, will reduce expenses without doing violence to service.

I will be obliged to you therefore if you will advise me now just where and when you operated successfully telephone companies at 25 cents per month, per telephone, in order that some investigation may be made in advance to determine whether or not you are not mistaken about your very eviable record.

Very truly yours,
Carl H. Mote,

You will note by the above that Mr. Mote or his company does not assume the responsibility of the setting of the valuation of the telephone properties, but places it squarely upon the Utilities Commission. We presume that he takes this stand in order to furnish a loop hole, should our taxing officials attempt to place the property upon the tax duplicate at the "appraised" valuation.

That the rate boosters are getting into hot water can plainly be seen, and now if the patrons of the company will stand in unit, demand their just rights in the matter, we believe that the free service will be restored, the general service improved, and the rentals kept within reach. But to do this all must act and not wait for the other fellow to carry the load. We have received a large number of letters registering complaints, but there are hundreds that we have not heard from. Wake up, we do not want you to come to our office to tell us, but we want you to write us a letter stating your stand on this question and registering any complaints that you may have.

BURDEN IMPOSED BY EDUCATION

By DR. ALBERT PARKER FITCH (Presbyterian), New York.

The educated person faces life with certain handicaps and burdens which are the price of the knowledge he has acquired. Along with the great value that it brings, education brings into life a great burden, and with the burden, sorrow.

Even though a man has a large store of general knowledge there is a danger for him in the present day tendency toward specialization. A genuinely educated man must keep his mind on the whole human scene. The insistence upon highly specialized training is turning upon the modern American world educated men and women with small minds.

There is a pitfall into which the man falls who knows just enough to find a flaw in everything, the temptation to retire into one's mind and watch the world go by. As though any knowledge is ultimate without action! It is nothing without the power to beget ideas, to beget action.

The habit of dealing in "universal concepts rather than realities," is a handicap, too, in that it makes its addicts "forget that man faces conditions, not theories."

And finally there is disillusionment. Unless they make their "minds the accomplices of their prejudices," the learned, even though they would, cannot share the soothing convictions of the untutored, for they look on history realizing that man, though he had made material gains, remained always just the same.

The genuinely educated man rises above "the burdens that education has to carry" as did Jesus, "the consummate genius."

HINTS ABOUT FOODS

Unless you are sure of a mild, well flavored vinegar, the lemon affords the best of acids for dainty salads and other things, like pudding sauces. Practically all chefs discard vinegar and use the "witching drop of lemon juice" because it gives a more exquisite flavor.

New York Salad.—Arrange slices of pineapple on tender lettuce leaves. In the center heap tender celery cut into strips and mixed with nutmeats. On each pineapple section lay a section of orange freed from all membrane. Serve with french dressing.

Oranges are always in the market. Make and serve an orange shortcake for your family; they will call for it again. Serve the oranges, after cutting into small pieces, covered with sugar for an hour. Pour over well buttered, hot baking powder biscuit cut into halves. A sweet cake for the shortcake is not as tasty as the baking powder biscuit mixture.

Fruit Cup.—Take one cupful of skinned, seeded white grapes and the membrane from a cupful of orange sections. Mix all together with a cupful of pineapple dice, one-half cupful each of orange juice and pineapple sirup. Add a few grains of salt and sugar if needed. Put into a freezer until the juice freezes. Serve in glasses garnished with a maraschino cherry.

Baked Ginger Bread With Apples.—Cut five large apples into eighths, remove skin and seeds. Cook in a sirup of one-half cupful of sugar and one-fourth cupful of water until the apples are half done. Drain and place them over the bottom of a buttered pan. Pour gingerbread mixture over them and bake in a moderate oven. Serve with whipped cream.

Pumpkin Pie.—Mix two-thirds of a cupful of brown sugar, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of ginger, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of strained pumpkin, two eggs slightly beaten and one and one-half cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful of cream. Bake in a deep crust.

Obituary

Marion H. Heighway was born July 2 1846, died Nov. 4, 1929, aged 83 years.

In 1871 he was married to Dorothy Garvin, to which union were born two children, Mrs. O. H. Bowman, Pierceton Indiana, one having died in infancy. His wife "passed on" several years ago. He has solved the mystery of death.

His faith in the fundamentals of his religion was of a kind to excite the admiration of those who knew him. It was an integral part of his life, and was the sustaining element in his sorrow over the death of his wife.

Scientists might explain the mysteries of the electron, and show the relationship of the different forms of life, but all those truths to him, were as a fading light in comparison to the great Statement "I know that My Redeemer liveth" etc.

As to the great purpose of life he did well. He has during the 83 years been able to control some of the deadly sins. Let us select only three of the seven and see how our brother, friend, neighbor and father has done.

Greed—Envy—Hatred all three under his complete control; out of his daily life.

With his faith well placed, and the major sins cast out he was ready to begin the next chapter of life unafraid.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to extend our heart felt thanks to the many neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted us during the illness and burial of our father.

Best Insurance for Many Legume Crops

Inoculation Is Favored for Growth and Soil Building.

It is only a few years ago since a few farmers began rather shamefacedly to coat their alfalfa seed before planting with a thin mud made from earth taken from an old alfalfa field. This was the beginning of the farm practice of inoculating the seed of leguminous crops. In 20 years, we have progressed greatly in this practice and our understanding of it. The most successful farmers we know today would not plant alfalfa, soy beans, sweet clover, peas, beans, vetches, or any of the clovers without making certain of inoculation. Science discovered and practice has proved that these crops so inoculated with beneficial bacteria as to produce numerous root nodules, take extra nitrogen from the air, thereby adding to the soil an excess supply of our most expensive plant food. Inoculation simply means supplying the seed with a start of these bacteria, to render the plant independent of soil nitrogen for its growth. With inoculation, legumes are soil builders and, other conditions being favorable, grow thriftily. Without inoculation, they deplete the soil of nitrogen the same as any other crop and unless other conditions are unusually favorable, grow unthrifty or not at all.

There are different good methods of inoculation. Commercial inoculation is reliable and easy to use. The soil transfer method is effective but more trouble. If you buy inoculator, specify the kind of crop you want to use it for, and you will get the right sort. By whatever method, do not try to inoculate soy beans with earth from an alfalfa field or inoculator meant for vetch. It requires a different kind of a bug for different groups of legumes.

Modern Practice Is to Fill the Silo Evenly

Many silo owners are coming to the conclusion that it doesn't pay to tramp the silage when the silo is being filled. It is almost impossible to compress the silage evenly, and the labor is largely wasted. The modern practice is to fill the silo full with no tramping—then let it settle for a few days, after which it can be refilled. Even with the most vigorous tramping, settling will occur, and it is observed that not much, if any greater settling will occur even if no tramping is done. The main thing is to distribute the silage evenly over the entire area, which can be done easily with proper handling of the distributor pipe.

Satisfactory Ration for Work Horses Is Outlined

Even though work horses are fed plenty of grain they will not keep in good shape if their ration is not properly balanced. Oats and prairie hay make a satisfactory ration, but corn and prairie hay are not good. When corn is the only grain fed, at least half the hay should be alfalfa or clover. If neither alfalfa nor clover hay is used, the ration of corn and prairie hay may be balanced by feeding a small amount of cottonseed or linseed meal. The amount of meal needed to balance the corn and prairie hay ration will vary from one and a half to two pounds daily, depending on the weight of the horse.

Whale "Spouting"

Whales do not spout water. However, they blow air which often contains mist from the nostrils or from the wet surface of their bodies. This reaches a height of from six to eight feet.

Buffalo Statistics

No more than an estimate can be given as to how many buffaloes there were in this country in the days when they roamed the plains. It is believed that there were 50,000,000 bison between Manitoba and the Staked plains of Texas in 1850.

Plans for the Farmer's Institute Underway

The Officers and Committees for the Farmer's Institute met last Saturday to make plans for the coming session of the Institute to be held sometime in January 1930

The amount of money on hand is not quite enough to furnish a program equal to those held in recent years, so it was decided to hold a Thanksgiving market or food sale—the proceeds to go into the institute fund.

The market will be held in some convenient location in the business section of Mentone on Wednesday before Thanksgiving, and everyone interested in the Institute work is asked to contribute something toward the market to make it a success.

See next weeks paper for more particulars.

The body of water with a name meaning "gates of sorrow" is Babel Mandeb, a strait connecting the Indian ocean and the Red sea. It separates the southeastern part of Arabia from the continent of Africa. Near the African coast are the volcanic islets, Eight Brothers. The strait offers so many dangers to small vessels that the name meaning gates of sorrow was given to it.

Many Cities Adopting Zone Regulation Idea

Cities, towns and villages in all sections of the United States, with a total population of 37,000,000, have enacted zoning regulations, a survey just completed by the division of building and housing of the Department of Commerce reveals.

The survey shows the extent to which the municipal zoning idea has spread in recent years. In 1916 such regulations were in force in only eight cities. The number increased slowly up to 1920, after which the progress was rapid.

During 1928, 87 municipalities passed zoning ordinances, while 101 either adopted more comprehensive zoning laws or amended existing regulations to make them more effective. An analysis of the 87 new zoning ordinances which were passed shows that 44 of them were comprehensive—that is, the use, height and area of buildings were regulated. Twenty-seven merely controlled the use of buildings. Seven controlled the use and area of buildings, and two were temporary enactments pending the preparation of zoning laws to suit the local requirement.

New York led in the number of municipalities zoned during 1928, with 23 cities, towns and villages. Ohio and Pennsylvania tied for second place with six each. Youngstown, Ohio; Waterbury, Conn., and Altoona, Pa., were three of the largest cities which adopted zoning regulations during the year.

Make Attractive Town Matter of Civic Pride

A preliminary to an attractive city, in all its districts, is an aroused public pride. Nobody can be proud of dirt, litter and unsightliness. Where community pride comes, the other must go. Once let residents of a block or a larger section decide that their homes or places of business will be made and kept attractive, and the trick is turned.

That is the encouraging aspect of the city-wide clean-up campaign being pushed. Dirt and ugliness have been attacked with good results here and there. They will be besieged at other points. They even may be made so conspicuous they will lose their respectability altogether, and no district, however large or small, could feel at ease as long as they were around. There might even be a sense of disgrace and humiliation. Such wonders have been. Let the clean-up work continue. It may come about that any district inclined to be in different will be made to feel it doesn't belong in Kansas City at all. That would go for the indifferent individual, too.—Kansas City Star.

Garden Hints

In the private garden one should express his own idea of outdoor beauty. There should be planting to give privacy and screen out unsightly views. This may be arranged so that passers-by on the street can get a glimpse of the beauty within without privacy being destroyed. Comfortable furniture, perhaps a swing, seats, chairs and a table, will give the yard the look of an abiding place. Bird houses will attract feathered visitors to entertain us. And flowers will help make the outdoor living room the source of joy throughout the summer.

Small Town's Importance

"One may look to the American town for much of future America," reads an editorial in the Household Magazine. "The town has what neither the city nor the open country possesses. It is different. It is an imitator of neither the large city nor the country, yet it is in touch with both. It is a place to live in. People in town know that everybody has to co-operate if there is to be a new community center, a better-looking business street, medical attention in the schools, or any other modern enterprise."

Early Zoning Methods

The early methods of zoning were predicated upon conditions which have been rapidly shifting. Thus, ugly, steam-driven industry required complete isolation, while modern electrically powered plants might frequently, except for stereotyped zoning, more readily permit a restoration of a convenient relation of work place and dwelling place typical of the earlier industrial town.

Color in Small Garden

Everything is seen closely in the small garden. A single plant or flower becomes the subject of attention rather than the mass of the border. More care must be taken to remove minor imperfections, but there is less for which to care. Color schemes may more easily be handled and close attention to color will be well repaid here.

Loss by Poor Planning

Lack of permanence of economic stability and of co-ordination are said by architects to be characteristic of much of the land and building development of United States communities. Because of this, there are great economic and social losses.

One Should Be Enough

A guest in a Junction City home recently was a comfortable looking person with a double chin, as Jennie S. Owen tells it. After her departure, a member of the family made reference to the fact. The small daughter of the house listened interestedly. "Which chin does she use, mother," she asked.—Capper's Weekly.

CATTLE ABORTION CANNOT BE CURED

Through Good Sanitation
Eradication Is Possible.

Cattle abortion cannot be cured, but it may be eradicated, according to Dr. H. J. Metzger of the New York state college of agriculture. Doctor Metzger recommends as a means of stamping out the disease the blood test and the isolation of infected animals. "The complete eradication of abortion disease from the cattle herds is possible, and it would mean stopping a serious source of loss to the dairy men of the state," he says.

No cure for abortion is known, according to Doctor Metzger, and the purchase of any drug or stock tonic as a cure is a waste of money. The blood test will detect the presence of the Bang abortion disease, and then the owner can take the measures which, through sanitation and prevention, will clear his herd of the disease.

Doctor Metzger recommends complete isolation of the diseased animal, complete cleanliness, and the rearing of all animals on the farm to keep from reinfesting a clean herd. A more complete discussion is given in a new bulletin, just written by Doctor Metzger and published by the college, which will be sent free of charge to anyone who will write to the college of agriculture at Ithaca and ask for bulletin E 182.

Buying Ewes Requires Practical Knowledge

Buying ewes requires an understanding of the factors which make a ewe profitable. In general, the best ewes from the practical standpoint are the ones that will produce a good percentage of lambs, nurse them well and shear good fleeces. Constitution and health therefore are first essentials in the ewe. Very good mutton form is much less important in the ewe than in the sire. While the form of the ewe is important, it is of less significance as a rule than constitution and thrift, and milking and shearing qualities.

Provide Exercise to Keep Boar in Shape

You cannot raise a strong active boar without exercise. Neither can you keep him in shape for service without exercise. As a rule, if on pasture, a boar will take plenty of exercise; but, if he does not, make him. Drive him around the pasture several times a day, if necessary. A good plan is to have the shelter at one end and the feed troughs at the other end of the pasture. Exercise tends to prevent the laying on of excessive fat and assists in developing stamina and vigor which are necessary, if your boar is to sire large litters of strong, vigorous pigs.

Mineral Is Needed

A ration is no better than the weakest element in it. Fortunately, most of our common combinations of feeds have sufficient mineral to supply the animal's need. As a rule, feeds rich in proteins are high in phosphorus and when the feeding standards are complied with there is little need of supplementing minerals. However, when the ration is composed chiefly of corn, as is usually the case in fattening hogs, a good mineral should be supplied to the animals.

Control Hog Cholera by Preventive Means

Hog cholera has no cure and must be controlled by prevention. The disease is caused by an organism which can live a year or two outside of the animal's body. These organisms are found in almost all tissues of, and in all discharges from, the body of the diseased hog. Cholera may be spread in many ways. The germ may be carried on one's shoes or by animals, in infected straw or litter, or streams of water. All dead hogs should be burned or buried deeply. Do not go near a neighbor's sick hogs; they may have cholera.

Vaccination prevents the disease. When vaccination is properly performed the animal passes through a mild attack or form of cholera which immunizes it against the disease for life. A small amount of virus, injected into the pig, causes the disease. At the same time, enough hog cholera serum is injected to protect the animal against the disease.

Hundred-Pound Shote Needs Plenty of Feed

A few years ago the Kansas station started some weanling pigs on alfalfa pasture with a view to determining the amount of corn and tankage required to bring them up to 100 pounds weight.

The heavier pigs, weighing about 52 pounds at the beginning, required 90 days to reach 105 pounds weight; the lighter pigs weighing 43 pounds required 120 days to reach 102 pounds. Averaging all the groups it required 153 pounds corn and 14.4 pounds tankage per pig to reach the weights stated. The average daily gain was 0.54 pound per pig.

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

By John Clarence Funk, A.M., Sc.D.

Director of Public Health Education,
State of Pennsylvania

Vibrating for Health

IT WAS naturally to be expected that this being an electrical age, mechanical exercisers would eventually make their appearance. And so it has come to pass that electricity, in the form of vibrating machines, are now literally taking the heart out of exercise.

The value of such a device to those whose heart action is impaired unquestionably is a real one, all other things being equal. And for many lazy and extra stout people who absolutely refuse to take their exercise by way of physical exertion, it will also be of some benefit.

However, generally speaking, this worthy machine, like every other treatment agency, must be handled with common sense. It is quite conceivable, for example, that a person suffering from a sub-acute case of appendicitis would not be very much helped by having the abdomen thus mechanically massaged. Indeed, there may be any number of stumbling conditions which would be better off with out the use of such a machine.

Then, too, there is a tendency to overdo the thing in the desire to massage off fat; and in this way deliberately disregard the sensible operating rules set down by the manufacturers of these contrivances.

It perhaps might be a wise procedure, therefore, to use the vibrator only after the physician advises that your physical condition will be benefited by so doing.

Present-day civilization is not notable for its exercise producing tendencies, which often blinds many to the very fundamental fact that the human system was constructed on the basis of sweat-producing work and a real use of the body muscles. And frankly, nothing has ever been, or will be, devised that can fully and entirely be substituted satisfactorily for it.

If well, and desiring to do so, use a vibrator. But don't forget that your body needs the good old-fashioned garden variety combination of daily fresh air and actual exercise also. If sick, or near sick, vibrate for health only under a physician's order.

In any event, keep the vibrators in their proper place by not overindulging in their use. Treat them with respect and they will respect you. Vibrate sensibly.

HEAT AND LIGHT MEAN MORE EGGS

Maintain Feed Consumption in Sudden Cold Spells.

Heat and light in the hen house mean more eggs when eggs are high in price. And the purpose of both heating and lighting is to keep the laying hen eating as much feed as she can be persuaded to take.

No slump in egg production is likely to accompany a sudden cold snap if the normal feed consumption is maintained, according to the poultry husbandry department of the Ohio State university. One method of controlling the temperature is through insulation of the chicken house. This, however, may nearly double the cost of the structure. Some poultry men are finding that by placing brooder stoves in the laying houses and firing them during the extremely cold weather, they can sufficiently raise the temperature. In case neither insulation nor artificial heat is practicable, the poultry specialists recommend the feeding of small quantities of milk-moistened mash and small quantities of grain, at frequent intervals during the day.

When artificial lights are used to increase egg production, they should not be used to give more than a total of 14 hours of light a day. Failure to supply lights regularly, or to provide water and feed when the lights go on, also give bad results.

Poultry Tuberculosis Widespread in Spots

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Tuberculosis in poultry flocks has been found much more prevalent than was suspected, and in many counties, especially in some of the North Central states, the disease is present to a greater or less extent in about 70 per cent of the flocks, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Tuberculosis birds show loss of vigor and flesh, lameness, swollen joints, drooping, and general unthriftiness. T. B. in poultry can be definitely diagnosed by a post-mortem or by the tuberculin test given by a veterinarian.

If the disease is discovered in the poultry flock, all diseased birds should be immediately killed and burned, and the remaining fowls over one year old should be marketed. The chicken house should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, and moved to clean ground. Lots and runways should be plowed up and seeded to some grain crop, and a new start made on clean ground with young, healthy, vigorous birds of good breeding. Avian tuberculosis is doubly harmful in that it affects swine as well as poultry.

Number of Elemental Eggs Developed by Hen

A pullet at maturity has a certain number of elemental eggs which may be developed. Counts at the Maine experiment station show from 1,000 to 3,500. More recent investigations show even greater numbers. There are always a great many more elemental eggs than any hen is capable of developing.

The rapidity with which eggs are developed will depend upon the hen's inherited ability to produce eggs and upon the feed and management of the flock.

Profits from the flock will depend upon securing as many eggs as possible during the first couple of years of each hen's life.

Poultry Hints

Crowding at the feed hopper stunts the growth of chicks.

Lameness is one of the first symptoms of tuberculosis in poultry.

Keep the nonlayers out of the flock by culling out birds with yellow beaks and shanks.

If the hens are kept indoors throughout the winter, they should be given cod liver oil as a substitute for sunshine.

The majority of poultry buyers are now refusing to buy any poultry that is diseased or which is not in condition to be put in fattening pens.

Much of the recent experimental work shows a benefit in the health of the hens, and especially on the hatchability of the eggs, if the birds have free range all winter.

Crowded houses cause many good birds to become pale faced and later join the cull class.

Turkeys may die of black head at any time from three weeks old to three or more years. The only safe way is to keep young turkeys on clean ground away from chickens and old turkeys.

Pullets should be placed in the laying house when they show signs of being nearly ready to lay. The comb and wattles begin to enlarge and take on a bright red color.

Woodpecker's Larder

Human beings are not alone in making provision for a "rainy day." Woodpeckers in California gather acorns and place them to decay during the summer in holes pecked in telephone poles. In winter, when they cannot dig for worms, the birds go to these acorns, which have then developed worms inside them.

Mr. Alexander Takes Exceptions to Our Articles on the Telephone Question.

As we stated in our last issue we received a letter from Mr. Alexander in which he criticised our stand on the telephone question, and demands explanations on certain subjects—yet in the same letter he states that he has not read the articles. The following are the contents of his letter:

Claypool, Ind. Nov. 9, 1929.

Mr. C. W. Krathwohl,
Mentone, Ind.,
Dear Sir:

I am informed that you have written several articles in your paper for the purpose of arousing the Public against the Telephone Company. I haven't read any of your articles, but I was told that you said you had operated a Telephone Company at twenty-five cents per month and fifty cents per month. You didn't tell the Public how much money you made or how much Dividend you paid.

Now, if you know how to operate a Telephone Company at the price you have tried to make the Public believe it can be done for, why don't you explain yourself and plan. I have been in the telephone business for a number of years and if your Articles are as I have been told I would appreciate your explanation and if you are right I will confess to you that I don't know how. I am writing you as a friend so you can right yourself before it is too late. I am ready to talk to you or anybody else that will talk reason. Now, you may not prefer reason and you may prefer talking a rap at me and if so I want to inform you now that the door is open. Be sure and tell the truth. If you do not I will prosecute you to the extent of the law. Now, if you decide you want to talk matters over you call me any time and I am at your service.

Hoping I have made myself clear to you, I remain
Yours respectfully,

Geo. Alexander

We have not the time nor inclination to go into detail with Mr. Alexander in this matter. suffice to say that the organizations of telephone users that we referred to in our articles were as we stated "not organized nor operated for profit" and were not intended to pay a profit, neither were they intended to pay large salaries to a lot of officials for sitting in a swivel chair and looking wise, and every dollar that the members paid in went to pay actual operating expenses.

As to the several other questions that he asks we take it that he is looking for information and considers that this is a cheap way to get it. He states that he has been in the telephone business—and we understand that he has—but if he has come to the conclusion that he does not understand the game we would advise him to take a correspondence course—the charge would be small and besides we never professed to be a kindergarden instructor.

In conclusion we will say that it has not been our intention to attack any individual in this matter and we aimed all our articles directly at the Northern Indiana Telephone Co. as a corporation—which we believe the law looks upon and classifies the same as a person without a soul—and in this instance will say that the law is quite right. Now Mr. Alexander, you know where our office is, our office hours are from 5:30 a. m. to 8:00 p. m., and if you wish to consult us you are welcome to call at any time. you will find us there.

Telephone Meeting Tonight.

Be sure to attend the telephone meeting at North Manchester tonight (Wednesday). Mr. Harvey Harmon, was a member of the Utilities Commission and knows all about the telephone situation. He is competent to give some inside information and will advise us the best course to pursue. Be there and bring all your neighbors.

TEACH STATECRAFT TO YOUTH

By REV. DR. C. F. POTTER, New York Community Church.

THE regional plan for the city of New York has become a political issue, due to the opportunities for enormous graft which it presents. The citizens of New York should see that the execution of the plan be kept from the supervision of professional politicians. When the plan was announced everybody said that it would be wrecked on the rock of politics. When people realized the extent of the scheme, with its elaborate system of transportation, its parks and recreation facilities, they recognized that all political parties would be jealous to get credit for these proposed improvements, and for the opportunity to graft enormous sums.

However, no citizen who is too busy to run for office, or who is keeping out of politics because politics is dirty, has any grounds for complaint if those who are not so fastidious mulet him of some of his profits.

The worst part of it is that the average citizen does not complain when he is held up by the politician and sandbagged by taxes. I have even heard supposedly intelligent citizens say, after some accidental revelation of the graft of some politician, "Oh, well, they are entitled to some graft if they are running the government for us."

The average man is very suspicious of all politicians. He may quote Shakespeare about scurvy politicians with glass eyes, but he thoroughly agrees with him. Politics, itself, is looked upon as a dangerous and rather dirty game. We are still suffering from the Emersonian complex, believing with the literary sage that "politics is a deleterious profession, like some poisonous handicrafts."

The only way to improve New York, politically, is to improve the politicians. Let mothers dedicate their boys to statesmanship as mothers used to devote their brightest boys to the ministry. Let these boys be taught that service to the state is of infinitely more importance than personal profit. When such a race of young men shall seek office for the opportunities that it offers to serve their fellow man, then the words "politician" and "statesman" will once again be synonymous.

IN THE LONG AGO

It must have been a wondrous thing
In early days, long years ago,
To be a Pilgrim lad and hunt
The wild game in November's snow;
To seek Thanksgiving dinner where
Wild turkeys call and pheasants drum,
In spite of dangers menacing;
Where trackless forests lured one on
And redskins lurked with murderous bow.
Thanksgiving days of long ago.

It must have been a wondrous thing
To shoulder up an ancient gun
And leave the settlement behind,
As from the ocean climbed the sun,
Setting the snowy world aglaze,
Stretching your shadow on the bill;
To glide along the forest trail
With cautious step and lightning skill
Matching the eye of bird or doe,
Thanksgiving days of long ago.

It must have been a glorious thing
To carry back to Plymouth town
A big Thanksgiving turkey cock,
From shouldered flintlock hanging down,
With widespread wings and bobbing head;
To wear a smile of proud content
As home with wadded step you trod
The main street of the settlement,
A treat for Pilgrim maids, you know,
Thanksgiving days of long ago.
—Michigan Farmer.

Turkey America's Own

Since the nationalization of Thanksgiving as a holiday and religious festival in these United States, the turkey has occupied the center of the table as the traditional and most delicious dish of that dinner. This self-same turkey is one of our typical national birds. When the first white explorers visited the New world they found wild turkeys roaming a spacious range from rock-ribbed New England to sand-swept Mexico. The turkey is indigenous to North America, and from this country as its home was introduced to the rest of the world.

Nobody knows how the turkey was named. It might as appropriately have been called a canary or a guinea, except that the piping cry of the mother bird calling her young together sounds like "Tur-r-k, tur-r-k." As for coming from the land of his sultanic majesty—some report Turkey as the origin of the kingly appearing fowl—the turkey might just as well be reputed to come from Kamchatka or Kalamazoo.

The pumpkin pies are cooling,
And the fixin's all are done,
And there's berry sauce—no fooling—
Yes, and apples by the ton.

On each face a broad grin's growing,
As they hum a silly rhyme,
For the whole town now is knowing
Fall has brought the turkey-time.

Special Favors

Thanksgiving can easily leave us worse off than it found us. We get to thinking how well off we are in a dozen ways when comparison is made with many others—health, or children or money—and the feeling grows that the special benefits that are denied others. I see no warrant for any such view. There is no denial to others that puts us in a favored class. I know lovable souls that are wholly dependent upon charity—a part of what I squeeze out of myself for charity goes to such a person. The one who has some material prosperity is not in a class set apart for material favors. It is better to stay humble and not think any such thing. We can be thankful that we have what we have, and let it go at that.—Ohio Farmer.

Great Statesman's Thought

I recommend that the duties of humiliation and prayer be accompanied by fervent thanksgiving to the Bestower of every good gift, not only for His having protected and preserved the people of these United States in the enjoyment of religious and civil freedom, but also for having prospered them in a wonderful progress of population, and for conferring on them many and great favors conducive to the happiness and prosperity of a nation.—John Adams.

Think It Over

HUNGRY?

In the days of yore the Puritan maidens served the Thanksgiving turkey just as millions of modern maidens will do it this year.

Figuring the Nation's Leading Cereal Crops

Let us set out to visualize the gigantic proportions of our crops, that we may the better appreciate the reason for thankful hearts. Start with corn, wheat, and oats, the three leading cereal crops, providing foods for man and beast, prosperity for country and city alike. Manhattan island, on which New York city stands, contains 27 square miles of land surface. Should we empty these three largest grain crops over these 14,038 acres the gathered grain would cover the island to a depth of 120 feet—everything under ten stories would be buried beneath the avalanche of breadstuffs!

Or, let us suppose we lumped it together. Make a bin, if you please, and our three great cereal crops would fill a titanic measure one-half a cubic mile in dimensions. If it were set up on Broadway, this half cubic mile would tower seven times as high as the Woolworth building, and the bin would be twenty city blocks long by ten blocks wide. To grow the wheat alone required a field as large as all of New York state, and the billions of bushels of corn were grown on a field as large as New York, with New England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

And so on right down the column, nature has been most kind to American country folks. Surely, a far different situation confronts us than that which faced the fathers of Thanksgiving. Contrast this against that first harvest, and we should the better appreciate the reason for our thankfulness.—Earl W. Gage, in the Michigan Farmer.

CHAMPIONS BOTH

Expressing Our Gratitude

Gratitude must have an object. It must recognize the source of the debt. It must express a feeling toward something exterior to itself. If our favored position and condition are due to our own efforts then we owe nothing, have no reason for gratitude, and there is no object to which thankfulness can be directed. Or if this is a material world and nothing else, if life is merely a mechanical process, there is nothing outside of ourselves to which we should be grateful. And if we are machines, automotons moving about in rigid obedience to physical stimuli, any sense of gratitude to anything, or for anything, is only a mechanical reaction that has neither meaning nor value.—Exchange.

Cause for Thanks

Lord, thou hast given me a cell
Wherein to dwell;
A little house, whose humble roof
Is waterproof.

Lord, I confess, too, when I dine,
The pulse is Thine.
And all those other bits that be
There placed by Thee.

All these, and better, thou dost send
Me, to this end—
That I should render, for my part
A thankful heart.

—Robert Herrick.

THE PRAYER PERFECT

Deh! Lord! kind Lord!
Gracious Lord! I pray
Thou wilt look on all I love,
Tenderly today!
Weed their hearts of weariness;
Scatter every care
Down a wake of angel-wings
Winnowing the air

Bring unto the sorrowing
All release from pain;
Let the lips of laughter
Ove-flow again:
And w'th all the needy
O divide I pray
This vast treasure of content
That is mine today!

—James Whitcomb Riley.

Giblet Gravy Survivor of Pilgrim's Festival

Despite the reverence still held for the first Thanksgiving and the elaborate menu that is supposed to have been presented to the Pilgrim guests about all it has left to posterity is giblet gravy.

"There were many shortcomings in the original feast," says Farm and Fireside, reviewing the historic event, "but it left the gravy that still remains one of the features of every great Thanksgiving dinner.

"The original New England dinner was far from these that have been enjoyed since, from the beginning of the Nineteenth century until now. The oldest narratives of this feast refer to five deer, a gift from the Indians, being served on huge pewter platters. There were also wild turkeys weighing from 30 to 40 pounds. Sugar was scarce, and honey, extracted from hollow trees, was used for sweetening purposes. Dried corn, secured from the Indians, was made into corn bread, enough of a novelty to be most popular.

"Several napkins were given to each person. And needed they were, for forks were not in use. Trenchers took the place of plates and two persons ate from each one. Cups were not in use. The Pilgrims had two or three tankards. These were passed around the table, each person drinking his share in turn.

"But there was giblet gravy and it soon became a specialty of the New England cooks. It survived throughout all the famous kitchens of noted persons since that time, the table of Jacob Thompson, secretary of interior under President James Buchanan, being especially famed for the dish. It was made of heavy cream thickened with flour and mixed with water in which the giblets, wing tips and neck had been boiled. Rice and buttered asparagus were served with the gravy as its use increased after Pilgrim days."

You've had shoes that broke out and cracked right above the sole because of the ammonia and other acids in manure—ruined long before they should be. No need to have this happen again. Ask your Red Wing dealer for the "Durham" and this trouble ends. Its uppers are "barnyardproof"—vegetable tanned by a special process. No cracking or breaking from barnyard acids. In addition to this, it has the famous All-Cord Gro-Cord soles, found only on RED WING shoes, which means a sure, non-slip footing. You can walk on wet grass or any slippery surface with ease, and with all the comfort in the world, since this sturdy shoe is built over the roomy Munson last. Priced right. Sizes 5 to 12.

Large Amount of Advertising

This issue has a larger amount of advertising than usual. However it does not cut down the reading matter to any great extent as we have added eight extra pages to this issue. We ask our subscribers to read all the advertisements because we feel that many of them contain matter that will be of interest and may save them money. Patronize the advertiser and let them know that you read his advertisements. It is owing to the money paid by the advertiser that it is possible to publish a paper in a town of this size.

Ship Your Eggs in the Mentone Car

Every week we are asked by egg producers whether they can join the Mentone Egg Producers Association and ship in the cars loaded at Mentone. In reply we would say that there is no joining required. Just bring in your eggs and receive all the benefits the same as other members. Good eggs have and always will be welcome. Prices last week were: "Pewees" 41c, and larger eggs higher according to size—large white or browns brought 73c per dozen. Just bring in your eggs—you are welcome to the service that gets producers that kind of prices.

Controlled by Japan

The Island of Yap does not belong to the United States. It was awarded to Japan at the peace conference May 7, 1919. There is no town of importance on the island. One of the larger trading settlements is at Dulukan. It has no separate government, being part of the Caroline Islands.

I will sell at public auction on Tuesday Nov. 26th, at 12:30 at my farm 1-2 mile east of Disko, 8 miles west of North Manchester, 21 head of dairy cattle.

Past The Million Mark

On another page you will note the advertisement of the Farmers State Bank in which they announce that their resources have passed the Million Dollar Mark. For a town of this size this is truly remarkable and all of our citizens have just cause to feel proud that we have an institution of this kind in our midst. We will have something more to say about this bank in our next issue.

Kercher Gets One to Ten Years

Russell Kercher, would-be bad man from this village, was carried into the circuit court room at Warsaw Monday forenoon, where he pleaded guilty to the charge of assault with the intent of murder, and was sentenced to the Indiana Reformatory for a period of from one to ten years. The outcome of this affair should be a lesson to all youngsters who are inclined toward the wild and woolly life that in the end this bad man stuff does not pay and that it is much better to obey the law even though it does not meet with your approval.

Cheaper Money
Bank Stocks
Women's Colleges Starved
3,000 Automobile Deaths

Money was cheaper for all purposes real business or Wall Street bargain buying.

Wise bankers will pass on to industry and business the benefit of the federal reserve discount cut.

In October this country sold to other countries merchandise amounting to five hundred and thirty million dollars, a record for the year, and for eight years, excepting two months in 1928.

In October we bought from foreigners three hundred and ninety-two millions worth of goods.

Business is good, money is cheap. Then, what is the matter with us? Two things—a period of reckless gambling and a wave of hysteria.

Strangest among developments of the late Wall Street cyclone was the drop in prices of bank stocks.

Banks always make money. The people have no intention of getting along without credit, or without money. When times are good they use a great deal of it. When times are bad they need a great deal of it.

Yet the most brilliant and successful banks in New York saw their stocks dwindle in value in the recent panic of fear to an extent that exceeded the drop in any other line of stocks on the list.

Records show that since September the greatest banks in New York have averaged a drop of 52 per cent in quoted prices of their stocks. This applies to the greatest banks in the world—banks whose stock will have an ultimate value difficult to exaggerate.

And this drop in the price of stocks came in the face of a banking condition not merely absolutely sound, but extraordinarily prosperous, and "liquid."

Other countries are puzzled by extraordinary accumulations of gold in the Bank of France. The French have more gold than any country in the world, except this country, and are rapidly approaching us in gold reserves.

There is nothing puzzling about it. The French are marvelously thrifty. Their government is intelligent and determined. What they want they mean to have, and they usually get it.

Charles E. Hughes made a good speech recently, demanding more generous endowment of women's education.

Seven leading women's colleges have not one-tenth the endowment of the seven leading men's colleges.

That is extremely foolish, for the mothers of the human race are at least ten times as important as the fathers.

What women learn they remember and tell to their children. What men learn they forget in business and don't tell anybody.

In September, according to the Travelers Insurance company, 3,000 were killed in automobile accidents, a new record.

Bad whisky accounts for some killings, and "jay-walking," carelessness of pedestrians, accounts for many more.

Adults should know, children should be taught, that every highway is more dangerous than a railroad, automobiles being more numerous than trains, and just as dangerous.

In old-fashioned war, Switzerland relied on her mountains, her men, all trained soldiers able to use a rifle, and on the fact that it would cost more than it would be worth to conquer her.

But now, with mountains, rivers or water no longer a protecting barrier, Switzerland orders one hundred and five airplanes. Men used to joke about "the Swiss navy." But Switzerland is now on the shore, the air being the real ocean, and she means to have an air fleet.

Uncle Sam, take notice.

For the first time in twenty years, savings bank depositors have dropped. During the past year savings have diminished by $195,305,000, and the number of depositors by 524,221.

Those that drew their money to buy automobiles, radio sets, vacuum cleaners, electric washing machines, are wise. They get something better than their dollars.

Those that drew out money, safely placed, to speculate in stocks, know now that it is unwise to gamble.

John D. Rockefeller in 1928 spent more than twenty-one million dollars fighting disease all over the world. Diseases start in different parts of the earth and spread everywhere. Yellow fever must be fought in Brazil, Africa, Central America.

Africa is the home of the most deadly trypanosomes, for which wild game provides an inexhaustible reservoir. Sportsmen that kill wild beasts help the human race without knowing or intending it.

Criticisms Effect

There is no truer test of a man's qualities for permanent success than the way he takes criticism. The little-minded man can't stand it. It pricks his egotism. He "crawfishes." He makes excuses. Then, when he finds that excuses won't take the place of results, he sulks and pouts. It never occurs to him that he might profit from the incident.—Thomas A. Edison.

Sending Flowers

Perhaps you want to send a few choice flowers to a distant friend. These can be transported in perfect safety if the stems are inserted in slits cut in potatoes. Make sure they are firmly fastened and they can be sent any distance. Flowers thus inserted in potatoes have been known to keep fresh for two weeks in a moderate temperature.

Of Malayan Origin

The word "batik" designates a process for coloring fabrics, originating among Dutch East-Indian natives, and now used in Europe for velvet, velour, etc., in which the design is covered with melted wax and the uncovered portions dyed, the wax then being dissolved in boiling water. It is derived from the Malay batik.—Literary Digest.

Museum's Treasure

Thanksgiving

O give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good; for His mercy endureth forever. Let the redeemed of the Lord say so, whom He hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy:

And gathered them out of the lands, from the east, and from the west, from the north, and from the south.

They wandered in the wilderness in a solitary way; they found no city to dwell in. Hungry and thirsty, their soul fainted in them.

Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and He delivered them out of their distresses.

And He led them forth by the right way, that they might go to a city of habitation.

Oh that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and for His wonderful works to the children of men!

For He satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness.

Such as sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron;

Because they rebelled against the words of God, and contemned the counsel of the Most High:

Therefore He brought down their heart with labor; they fell down, and there was none to help.

Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and He saved them out of their distresses.

He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and brake their bands in sunder.

Oh that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and for His wonderful works to the children of men!

For He hath broken the gates of brass, and cut the bars of iron in sunder.—107th Psalm.

WON'T BE LONG NOW

Getting ready for a little "necking" party with Mr. Turkey, for Thanksgiving. The ax and the turkey seem to be on edge, and Mr. Turkey is interested in the proceedings.

Day's Spiritual Side

American citizens enjoy the greatest material benefits of any people on earth. A war which nearly destroyed European civilization left her comparatively unscathed. Her destiny lies in the future. Her greatest concern, however, should be the retention of that faith which is at once the recognition of human frailty and a firm confidence in the ability to conquer that which lies ahead. There is no better time to express it, to lay a more firm hold upon it, than on occasions such as Thanksgiving, which, without a definite spiritual anchor, would become little better than the orgies of boasting and indulgence of pagan days.—Chicago Journal.

Turkey, Japanese Style

Theodore Roosevelt, while President, received a request from the Japanese ambassador to permit his chef to prepare the prize turkey sent, the President. When it appeared, its golden brown plumage, its red head adornments and its claws had been spared. A slight movement removed all of these and the bird, browned to a turn and seething in rich gravies, was disclosed. It was boned and within the turkey had been placed a capon, within the capon a pheasant and within the pheasant a grouse. One serving consisted of four delicious meats.—Farm and Fireside.

JOHNNY KNEW

"Can any of you children tell me what other thing we all ought to think of on Thanksgiving day besides turkey?"

"Yassum, teacher, I can, cranberry sauce."

Causes for Thankfulness

We have reason to be thankful for many things. Our country is in excellent condition financially and economically. Our relations with other nations are becoming stronger as we learn to know each other better. The American press has a tremendously important part to play in the future of this land and we have every reason to be thankful that the newspapers are becoming increasingly conscious of their responsibility.—Ogden Reid, Editor New York Herald Tribune.

First Paper Currency

The world's oldest paper money has been sent from Sweden to Amsterdam for exhibition at the International Economic exposition. The money was in reality a sort of letter of credit issued in 1661 by a private banker in Stockholm.

AT LEAST, NOT NOW

I'm thankful for the sunshine,
I'm thankful for the rain,
I'm thankful for the summer wind
That blows the golden grain.

I'm thankful for my country,
I'm thankful for my God,
I'm thankful for the flowers I love,
The rose and goldenrod.

I'm thankful for my health and strength
And nerves that are not jerky,
But most of all I'm thankful
THAT I WASN'T BORN A TURKEY.

Nature's Blessings and Bounties on Every Side

Thanksgiving is defined as an act of gratitude for favors and mercies, and it is well that we have a day set apart annually for a public acknowledgment or celebration of divine goodness, either in deliverance from calamities or in the dispensation of blessings and the bounties of nature.

But, notwithstanding, "the ills that flesh is heir to," and those which we bring upon ourselves, we might make every day a day of thanksgiving, for every day we share these blessings and partake of these bounties, and we should rejoice every moment in the knowledge that they are found all around and about us. In the fields and streams, in the flowers and trees, in the sunshine and the showers, in the products of farms and gardens and orchards and vineyards, in the coal and stone and minerals that were stored away for the use of man ages before his appearance on earth. We should be thankful that all of these things, and many more, were placed here for our comfort and pleasure, and above all, we should be thankful for life and love—for a paradise that is lost by man mainly through his wanderings in labyrinths formed by his own acts.—Southern Cultivator and Farmer.

WITH GRANDMOTHER

Over the river and through the wood!
Now grandmother's cap I spy!
Hurrah for the fun! Is the pudding done?
Hurrah for the pumpkin pie.
—Lydia M. Child in the Kansas Farmer.

Thanking Ourselves

Probably the most of us have a fight—or should have one—to keep from thanking ourselves for what we have. I know no reason why you and might not have been born in a tribe of pygmies on the island of Sumatra, and then we should have had woefully stunted lives. We should have lacked the associations and training that have had a big place in making us capable of earning a living and getting good out of life. Our debt to our fellowmen, and to all that made them what they are, is pretty heavy. We have the facts twisted in our minds when we spend much time giving credit to ourselves. Civilization and religious influences of many kinds have made America what it is, and we share in the benefits, receiving far more than we could contribute.—Ohio Farmer.

Proving Thankfulness

We have prospered in things material and have been able to work for our uplifting in things intellectual and spiritual. Let us remember that, as much has been given us, much will be expected from us; and that true homage comes from the heart as well as from the lips and shows itself in deeds. We can best prove our thankfulness to the Almighty by the way in which on this earth and at the time each of us does his duty to his fellow men.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Women Individualists

No man goes so far in his individualism as to have a special hat made different from those of others; but women do. They are the individualists.

Common Fault

Sometimes when men discover a small fragment of the truth they make the mistake of assuming that they have a monopoly upon all the truth there is.—American Magazine.

POULTRY

EASY TO DETECT POULTRY DISEASE

Expert Tells of Tests to Show Carriers of Ills.

"Fifteen years' experience has taught the Massachusetts poultry men that the so-called agglutination test is an efficient means of detecting carriers of bacillary white diarrhea infection," said W. R. Hinshaw, of the Massachusetts Agricultural college experiment station. In this test, made under a microscope, specimens of the suspected bacteria are mixed with a sample of diluted blood serum from the infected bird. "The laboratory test alone will not eradicate the disease; it is only one step in the progress."

Under the Massachusetts law, the control of the disease is voluntary with the poultryman, who pays for the service at the experiment station control laboratory at the rate of 10 cents a bird plus 1 cent for the leg band. The cost of 11 cents for each bird includes expenses of the blood collector as well as the actual laboratory work.

Mr. Hinshaw attributes the failure of certain poultrymen to eradicate the disease to a number of reasons. The poultryman may fail to test all his birds, or fail to retest at intervals within the season if the flock is found to be infected, or he may keep chicks which have been hatched before the test had been completed. Other reasons are the failure to remove reactors from the flock as soon as they are reported; the failure to burn oil from birds which react to the test killed for home use; and the failure to clean and disinfect the houses following the removal of reactors.

Sometimes the poultryman makes the mistake of holding reactors for egg-laying purposes, and feeding eggs from unknown sources to baby chicks. Again he may hatch eggs for poultrymen who have not tested their flocks, or buy stock such as eggs, chicks, and adults, from diseased flocks. When he returns birds to the flocks from poultry shows and egg-laying contests without first quarantining them, he runs danger. Lack of attention to details in the field at the time of collection of blood samples may result in failure to eradicate the disease.

Convenience Important in Poultry Buildings

Though convenience concerns the manager directly, it indirectly affects the poultry. The more convenient it is to do the work the easier it is, and the surer that it will be done; the poultry plant should be "get-at-able"

for the manager or feeder.

Put the poultry house where it can be got to readily, and also make it possible to feed the poultry without having to run to the granary or stable for grain.

In the gate, the door, the driveway, and everything connected with the poultry, convenience should be studied.

Often this one item determines the difference between pleasure and drudgery, and the one is as easy to have as the other. Not only should the house be accessible, but the internal arrangements ought to be such that the necessary work may be done with the least amount of labor.

If the man can do the work in the hen house with the ease with which it is done in the horse stable, there will be fewer filthy poultry houses and much better returns.

Buckwheat Favored for Feeding During Winter

Buckwheat has some qualities to be recommended. It is oily and, therefore, supplies heat to the birds and is particularly adapted to winter feeding. It is fattening. Because it has so much woody fiber, however, it is only worth about one-half as much pound for pound as wheat for poultry feed. Ground and mixed with skim milk and buttermilk it makes a very good fattening mash. In scratch feeds for laying flocks it is generally used in no greater quantities than 10 per cent for the above reason; too much fiber.

Light Important

Light is very important in the poultry house in winter, because the days are short at best. If the hens do not have sufficient light to take full advantage of their opportunities to eat, they will not be able to lay many eggs. Artificial lights are considered profitable in increasing winter production, and it certainly is worth while to provide for the maximum benefits from natural daylight. Nothing contributes more to contentment and well being of the flock than clean litter.

Save for Chicks

It is not too early to plan on saving some of the winter egg money to buy early chicks for the replenishment of the farm flock. Money is frequently saved by placing the order early, and the farmer is sure of obtaining the chicks at the right time. Installment buying helps many a man to obtain useful things. A hundred dollars for chicks may be hard to scrape up next spring. But if $20 can be placed in the chick fund every month it is a great help.

Pulling The Wool Over Your Eyes.

Northern Indiana Telephone Co. Paving the Way for Another Substantial Boost on Telephone Rentals.

Their "Telephone Facts" Will Convince Most any Person That their is About Fifty Per Cent Water in Their Claimed Valuation.

In order to counteract the revolt of their patrons over the proposed raise in phone rentals the Northern Indiana Telephone Co., placed a one half page advertisement in nearly every newspaper located in the territory in which they give service last week. This was probably done for a two fold purpose: first to pull the wool over the patrons eyes and at the same time to gain favor with the publishers and keep them from entering into the controversy. We feel that our readers should have their side of the case, hence we are publishing their statement as it appeared in the advertisement—of course without any charge to the company.

TELEPHONE FACTS

The Northern Indiana Telephone Company is doing its level best to furnish the best possible telephone service at the smallest cost to you. Are you, as public spirited citizens, doing your part to help an organization which is trying to build your town?

The Northern Indiana Telephone Company operates in excess of 5,000 telephones, it collects annually a total revenue amounting to $120,000, of this amount it pays out annually in taxes about $8,500. Its payroll for a manager, for operators, linemen and bookkeepers, numbering 83 persons, is almost $60,000 annually. Its depreciation account should require $26,000 annually. The company has expended about $15,000 annually for material used in repairs, fire, tornado, public liability, automobile and compensation insurance cost the company annually $1,400. Batteries used in subscribers' telephones cost about $1,200 annually. Printing and stationery, postage, rent, gasoline, heat, light power and other miscellaneous items cost about $3,000 annually. The total cost of all these items is $115,100. The balance from revenues collected is $4,900.

Interest on $333,500 of six percent bonds requires $20,010 annually and dividends on $164,500 of six per cent preferred stock requires $9,870 annually. Excluding the requirement for dividends upon $150,000 in par amount of common stock (upon which no dividend has ever been paid) it is apparent that the company has a balance of $4,900 with which to pay interest and preferred stock dividends amounting annually to $29,880 if the standard charge to depreciation reserve is made.

It is also apparent that the company is barely earning its interest and preferred stock dividends before setting aside the normal requirement for depreciation. The situation of the company has been helped somewhat by the contribution of cash on the part of the common stockholders. In 1929 the owners of the common stock of the company not only have received no dividends but they have contributed in excess of $3,000 in cash to the operation of the company.

Very large expenditures of money have been made during 1929 to improve the property, in the thought that service is the most important factor.

Yours Respectfully,

Northern Indiana Telephone Company

Just a Few Figures of Our Own.

The above maze of figures is enough to stump a professional accountant, let alone the ordinary individual. According to the figures in the above statement the phone company has a chargeable expense account of $115,000.00; add this to the amount that the law allows them to make as a profit upon their valuation of $648,000.00 at 7% is $44,360.00, making a total revenue that they are entitled to receive of $159,406.00. Now they admit that they have only 5,000 telephone users, and if you will divide the amount of the revenue that they are allowed under the law by 5,000 you will readily see that it is possible for the company to ask for raises in rates until the average return per year for each phone is $31.85. Now where is there a farmer that can get that amount of value out of a telephone.

That the company will get the increased rate if they ask for it there is no doubt—they are organized and the patrons are not. But there is one thing that phone users can do, and that is order their phones out, and from the tone of the large numbers of letters that we have received we think that another boost in the rates will be met with a wholesale order for cancellation of phone service.

A Community of Thrifty People

The announcement of the Farmers State Bank that their resources have passed the million dollar mark is certainly good evidence that the citizens of this community are a thrifty and well-to do lot. It also shows the implicit confidence that our people have in our local banking institution. We have every reason to believe that this confidence is well founded and that a stronger, or better managed bank for the size of the town cannot be found in the state.

This institution confines its entire efforts and attention to banking, and does not act as bond brokers, insurance or real estate agent. By following approved banking methods and refraining from speculating or dabbling in the stock market the officers of this institution have established a reputation in banking circles that is hard to beat, and as a result the Farmers State Bank, of Mentone, has the reputation of being one of the safest and best managed banks in the central states.

Now while a million dollars is a lot of money there is no reason why the resources of this bank should not stand at $1,250,000.00. Everyone will admit that it is a good strong, safe banking house, yet there are a few of our citizens who for one reason or other do their banking with outside banks. We think that in this case civic pride should cause every one to forget little past differences, and that they should place their accounts with our home institution, thereby swell the resource figures to a million and a quarter, and place before the outside world the greatest advertisement that Mentone ever had—Now come on good people lets all act as one.

PICKLIN' TIME

There is nothing which adds so much of real piquant interest to the winter table as good, substantial, tasty home made pickles. The simplest of dinners becomes a tempting repast when mother puts on the dish of spicy pickles—dill, or corn relish—which she has prepared with her own hands for the enjoyment of her family and friends.

Use care not to have too powerful a vinegar as it will consume and soften, rather than preserve. On the other hand too weak a vinegar will not preserve, so one must use judgment in the choice of the vinegar.

We are fortunate to be able to obtain now, almost everywhere, products that are pure and wholesome. If the vinegar seems too acid dilute with a little water to make it the desired strength.

Spices, too, must be fresh; these are not hard to obtain. Spices that have become stale, lose their strength and are of little use as a flavor, so it is advisable to buy reliable supplies when pickling time comes. A jar of sweet mixed pickles, prepared with all the vegetables and spices needed will take time, but the following recipe is quite worth the effort.

Sweet Mixed Pickles.—Select the vegetables carefully as to freshness, rejecting any that are old, woody or tough. This will make a gallon of delicious pickles:

One quart of very small cucumbers, one pint of large ones cut into inch slices, one pint of silver skinned pickling onions, one pint of wax beans, four sweet red peppers, four or six chili peppers, one head of cauliflower, two sliced lemons, small piece of horseradish root, three and one-half quarts of vinegar, two pounds of sugar, one ounce each of whole cloves, allspice, cinnamon, mustard seed, celery seed, pepper corns, three bay leaves, one-third of a cupful of salt, and six quarts of water.

Humming Birds' Food

Nectar from flowers is only part of the food of humming birds. These birds also eat small insects which they catch on the wing, or obtain from the webs of spiders.

Rose for Lamp Base

Roses in midwinter? Yes, beautiful full-blown ones if you please. Make them of crepe paper for the boudoir, sun parlor or living room. The stems are of exaggerated length, fully thirty-six inches, so as to twine around the base of the floor lamp. Be sure to choose paper in a color which matches or harmonizes with the general tone of the room. The woman skilled in paper flower-making will be delighted with this charming item for home decoration. For an inexpensive "made-it-myself" Christmas gift it is one of the prettiest suggestions of the season.

Crepe Paper Cushion

Once you make one of these cushions you will want to repeat. Cut two squares or circles if you prefer a round cushion out of flowered crepe paper—yes, paper! Really very durable because before seaming up it is covered with a layer of transparent georgette. The effect is that of exquisite handpainting. Some women are quilting these, placing a layer of cotton underneath before stitching. A Christmas gift which will be admired and appreciated!

Agricultural Squibs

Tipburn of lettuce is increased by use of fertilizers high in potash.

When winter pastures are not available an empty silo means an empty milk pail.

It pays to buy and plant the best, as good crops are largely dependent on the use of good seed.

If your house looks bare and uninviting, plant trees, but not too many, and not squarely in front of the house.

Spray celery plants with a 4-4-50 bordeaux mixture to save them from bacterial and fungus blights. Apply with 300 pounds pressure at intervals of seven to ten days.

A cool temperature (just above freezing) and a somewhat moist atmosphere is needed in storage for cabbage, celery, chinese cabbage, kohlrabi, and the root crops.

Do not wait to see if a new weed will be a bad one before destroying it. Endless trouble and annoyance later may be avoided by promptly killing weeds in new infestations.

Spraying is an essential practice in successful potato culture. Farmers who applied timely and thorough sprays last year grew their crops at the lowest cost per bushel.

Do not attempt to handle soil when it is too wet. This applies especially to upland soils, which are rather heavy. Avoid walking on wet soil either before or after preparing it for planting.

Artful Glass Toiletries

If you're asking what's "smart" to give for Christmas, decorated glass toiletries is the answer. A bottle for every lotion or medicine, cold cream jars, powder boxes, soap dishes. Oh! there's no end to the intriguing articles to be had, each prettily painted, many in dainty flowers, others adopting unique designs like the little fish set in the picture.

Mentone To Get Two State Roads

We are pleased to note that the State Highway Commission are considering the taking over to the State Road System two highways that lead into our community. One of these roads is Warsaw to Rochester, 25 miles, which undoubtedly follow the cement road out of Warsaw and pass through Mentone. The other the Michigan, Elkhart, Peru, Indianapolis, Short Line which will probably pass through our village. With the taking over of these roads Mentone will have good hard roads to most any point.

Death Takes Mrs. T. J. Clutter

The many friends of Mrs. T. J. Clutter were deeply grieved when word reached Mentone Monday that a sudden turn for the worse had taken place and the doctors had given up all hopes. She passed away about ten o'clock Monday night at the Woodlawn Hospital at Rochester, Indiana, where she was taken a few weeks ago for an operation. At the time of going to press funeral arrangements have not been made.

Two Fires During The Past Week

The fire fiend has been doing business in our village on a big scale during the past week. About nine o'clock Saturday night the fire department was called to the home of Harry Blodgett in the south-west part of town where the barn on his property was on fire. The blaze had gained such headway when the department arrived that the building was a complete loss. We understand that he had a small amount of insurance on the building, but not near enough to cover the loss. Crossed electric wires are supposed to have been the cause of the fire.

On Tuesday morning about one o'clock, our people were awakened from their slumber by the fire siren and upon investigation it was found that the Mollenhour barn in the west part of town was on fire. The fire fighting equipment was rushed to the scene but when it arrived the fire was beyond control, and a complete loss was the result. We understand that the boys carried no insurance on the barn.

Sports Shawl-Scarf to Match the Sweater

Sweater and shawl-scarf sets, as pictured, are very popular abroad. The idea of squaring the scarf like a shawl is new in the knitted realm. This ensemble is carried out in two tones, duo color schemes being a characteristic trend of the mode, especially in matter of scarfs.

Carved Wood Mountings

Handbag or pocketbook frames of carved wood! Aye, there's an idea for bewildered minds who are seeking out-of-the-ordinary Christmas suggestions. Too chic for words are these little mountings made of hard-as-ivory, hand-polished and hand-carved wood. Their lovely natural brown tones tune in with the fashionable costume browns for this season. The bag which may be made of felt or velvet or any chosen fabric is sewed to the frame in the usual way, a row of perforations being made in the wood for the stitches.

Good News From Hoover Ford Talks Sense Labor, Capital and Peace How Old Is Man?

Mr. Hoover's "super-galaxy" of business talent reads like a Who's Who in the upper brackets of high finance. Fords Du Ponts, Rosenwalds, Youngs, Sloans, are listed to tell the nation how to "spit trade." The names will inspire confidence, but there are too many to do any actual work together. The President will listen and do some thing. Already money is cheaper, and that is 50 per cent. of the battle.

A statement from the White House shows that things can be done when somebody takes hold.

Scores of business and industrial leaders have promised the President to expand construction, which means giving more employment "in every prudent direction" to cover any slack in employment.

It is refreshing to read Henry Ford's ideas about "stabilizing and increasing prosperity."

Invited by President Hoover to join the army of advisers, Ford begins by announcing "an immediate increase in wages among his own employees."

He says: "The only thing that should be high priced is the man who works. Wages must not come down, they must not even stay at their present levels. They must go up."

To that statement, frankly noishe visite to many gentlemen with plenty of money, Ford adds: "We must see that increased wages are not taken away by increased prices that do not represent increased values."

President Hoover receives from employers of labor, great industrialists, a pledge to avoid discharge of employees as far as possible, and to avoid reduction in wages absolutely.

The President asks the labor unions, for the time being, until prosperity has been put firmly on its feet, to wage no labor fights for higher wages except such as have already started.

It is a good program. Labor and capital should adopt it, at least until we know just what, if anything, is the matter.

Historians of the future, studying our civilization, exploring the fancy writing of "star reporters," will discover these interesting facts:

Professional gamblers and criminals in New York engaged in a game of cards involving close upon a million "ars in one night. One of the gamblers lost and refused to pay about $300,000, and was murdered.

They will read also the guesses of some reporters that witnesses summoned will not tell what they know because the "underworld" tells them to keep their mouths shut or say things that mean nothing.

An interesting picture of Twentieth century civilization.

If congress adopts Secretary Mellon's recommendation, as it probably will, taxes levied on Americans will have been reduced nearly two billion dollars since 1921.

Secretary Mellon believes that increased payments will more than make up for income tax reduction.

Losses on Wall street may interfere temporarily, not permanently.

Millions have studied the puzzle, "How old is Ann?" A few are working at another puzzle, "How old is man?"

The learned Henry Fairfield Osborn, head of the American Museum of Natural History, learns that the proboscidae, of which the elephant and the tapir are examples, were accompanied on their migrations by human beings as early as the early pleistocene times.

Man may have reached the North American continent "many millions of years earlier than is generally supposed."

How old is man?

Man was said to have been on this earth 100,000 then 500,000, then 1,000,000 years ago. Now it runs into many millions of years.

More interesting is scientific proof that the earth will last with men living here for a thousand million years more. The human race should do something in that length of time, stop war, abolish poverty, cheating, swindling and cease devoting its energies to getting money that it doesn't need.

Mayor Walker of New York, who intends to show other cities how to create employment by spending money wisely, on tunnels, bridges, wider roads, etc., said: "If this country is not all right, where are you going to move to?"

England is gratified to hear that the king's second son, the duke of York, thanks to an Australian specialist, is cured of stuttering, due to a physical difficulty.

The young prince is no longer compelled to refer to his father as the "K-K-K-King."

Cretonne Hat Bag

An article which fills a long-felt want makes its debut this season—the cretonne hat bag. It is as decorative as it is practical. One of its many winning points is that it is collapsible, and can be packed flat for travel. You can find them in various shops or where cretonne bags are sold.

FAIRM STOCK

FATTENING HOGS ON CORN ALONE

Many Farmers Still Making Big Mistake With Swine.

Too many Minnesota farmers still make the mistake of trying to fatten their hogs on corn alone, says H. G. Zavoral, swine specialist of the Minnesota agricultural extension division, university farm, St. Paul. Hogs that are fed an all-corn ration do not get sufficient protein either to keep them gaining at the maximum rate, or to make the most economical gains from the standpoint of feed cost.

The economy of supplying sufficient protein in the fattening ration for hogs has been proven repeatedly, not only in the experience of farmers, but also in trials conducted at various experiment stations. At the Minnesota agricultural experiment station, trials carried on in three successive years showed that hogs fed corn alone made average daily gains of only .90 pounds, and consumed $5.20 worth of feed for each 100 pounds of gain, while hogs fed corn and buttermilk gained two pounds a day at a cost of $4.12 per 100 pounds. A third group of hogs fed corn and tankage made slightly lower daily gains than those fed corn and buttermilk, but at a lower cost. This latter group gained 1.7 pounds per day, and put on weight at a cost of $4.09 per 100 pounds.

Mr. Zavoral recommends that for hogs on corn without skim milk or buttermilk, or with insufficient quantities of these, tankage or a mixture of tankage and oil meal be self-fed. Hogs do better when fed both plant and animal protein, the ratio being about two-thirds tankage and one-third oil meal. This mixture is also somewhat cheaper than tankage alone.

Club Members Profit by Keeping Records

When you have chosen your breed, selected your pig, cared for it properly, fed it correctly, fitted it for show, you have not completed your pig-club work. Unless you have a record of how you fed your pig, how much you fed it, together with the cost of the feed and the amount of grain, you are not doing yourself justice. The successful live stock farmer knows the business end of hog production, and you must know how much your pig has cost.

A complete record is necessary and you should keep this in a book. The record is not hard to keep, if you use a few minutes each week and keep it up to date. Every time you mix up feed, put down the date, the number of pounds, and the cost. Once a month set down the value of the kitchen waste and milk you fed during the month. Weigh the pig once a month and set down the weight. Do this throughout the year and you will have an accurate record of what it cost to raise your pig.

Live Stock Notes

Rams should be fed a pound of grain a day during the breeding season.

Water should be available at all times, as it is an essential part of the swine ration.

There will be an increased demand and good prices for good horses within the next few years.

The ideal roughage for growing colts is alfalfa hay, as it furnishes large amounts of protein and lime to make muscle and bone.

Successful sheep raisers have found that rigid culling of aged ewes and light producers is a good practice for the immediate improvement of their flocks.

Oats and prairie hay make a satisfactory ration, but corn and prairie hay are not good. When corn is the only grain fed, at least half the hay should be alfalfa or clover.

It is always advisable to keep salt in reach of the cattle, and since cattle crave more than salt, put out a box of some good mineral sold by one of our advertisers.

Failure to dock ewes tends to prevent successful mating. Docking may be done at once, with red-hot docking pincers. It is, of course, best to dock lambs when but two or three weeks old.

The best modern idea seems to be to use a central hog house of small to medium size, and make the best possible use of individual houses.

Beef breeding cattle should have suitable protection and adequate feed. Bred cows must not only maintain themselves but also the unborn calves.

Early spring lambs to be fattened for market should be given grain when three or four weeks old. A creep should be built where the lambs may go to get their grain at any time.

Decorative Buffet Ensemble

Women interested in sealing wax flowercraft will be fascinated with this resplendent ensemble consisting of candlesticks and centerpiece. It glorifies buffet or formal dinner table with equal grace. They are teaching this fascinating art in fancywork departments where materials for paper flowers are sold. To tell in this brief space "how to make" would be too long a story. Suffice it to say that the bases of candlesticks and the tree are formed of melted-to-softness sealing wax piled in a mass and then left to harden. The flowers and leaves are cut from crepe paper, wired and lacquered with transparent sealing wax paint. A Christmas gift worth receiving, we'll say!

When Kris Kringle delivers to young Miss Modern this "classy" vanity mirror and box set, one can imagine her ecstatically exclaiming "it's a darling." Well, it is just that. So "Frenchy" looking, too. Comes enameled in old ivory or any dainty pastel tone to match the color scheme of her boudoir. It is considered quite the thing to give petite decorated mirrors, cabinets, desks and such of quaintly painted wood this season.

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

By John Clarence Funk, A.M., Sc.D.

Director of Public Health Education,
State of Pennsylvania

Don't Get Chesty

IT IS only natural to develop a superior feeling over man's present-day achievements. Airships, subways, skyscrapers and all the wizardry of electricity are enough to turn the head of the most modest of us.

And with modern filtration plants, sewage disposal works and all the other magnificent strides in disease prevention and cure, it seems entirely logical to develop a "high hat" attitude on the question of living.

Has not the span of life been increased at least twenty years in the last two decades? Are not the health laws the best and most efficiently enforced in man's history? Is not life easier and more protected than ever before? Well, the answer to all these questions is emphatically, yes.

But in spite of it, the outstanding and disturbing fact remains that for the great number of citizens who have attained fifty years, increased longevity has no application whatsoever.

Resting in a sense of false security, hundreds of thousands of adults who have reached the one-half century turn in life are dying at the same rate of years ago, and sad to say are increasingly dying. This is happening because they are confident that the modern conditions of life have automatically added two decades to their expectancy and consequently do little to help themselves. They have an idea that "George," in the form of health departments and regulations, had made life just that much safer and longer for them. A great idea, but a totally erroneous one.

Cancer, diabetes, tuberculosis and heart affections are today actually creating havoc among those over middle age. It is this group of maladies which maintains the unsatisfactory death rate among adults.

The annual physical examination alone, if employed, would by means of early diagnosis, save countless lives. Sensible living habits would take care of many more thousands.

Rest assured that adult mortality will not decrease until health interest increases. Don't get chesty over this modern living business. Do something about it.

Christmas and Hearts

By Lily Rutherford Morris

ANN laid the newspaper aside with a quizzical smile. "Wonder if he is a bachelor or a widower? Well, I'll not be long finding out," hurriedly jotting down the address.

Half an hour later she was ringing the doorbell of a pretentious house on one of the city's best streets.

"I came in answer to the ad about Christmas-making," she said sweetly to the somber-looking man who opened the door. "Are you the gentleman who wants a lady assistant?"

"Yes. Please come in." The man possessed poise. Ann was at once impressed by his manner and began to enlighten him about herself.

"I am Miss Thomas. I live at the Britling on Broadway. Your ad appealed to me because I, too, am alone in the world and tired of going out for my Christmas dinner with no one about to do some thing for I'd just love to get ready for a real Christmas in a sure enough home. Do you think I will do?"

Jim Hilton's face lighted. "I see no reason why you wouldn't if you are willing to undertake the task of trying to cheer up an old bachelor who has grieved through Christmas for the last ten years—since my mother was taken. There's a cook, of course, but," shrugging significantly, "who waits to eat turkey alone?"

"I see," said Ann, laughing with him at the picture. "A sympathetic feeling exists between us, at any rate. I should like to begin preparations at once if you think I look like the right person for the joyful work."

"Good! The house is at your service, Miss Thomas. Don't mind expense. Get what you want and if I can help I shall be delighted."

"Then we'll go shopping right away. There's no time to lose with Christmas only three days off."

"I'll get the car," he announced, reaching for his coat. "Let's make the old house look gay and festive—it has been gloomy long enough. Why, you know, I feel pepped up already."

"So do I," replied Ann. "I'm getting the spirit fast. Let me have a pencil and paper, please. I'll make a list while you fetch the car. We must have wreaths and candles in every window, of course; and a tree and the trimmings and—I hope the cook hasn't made the fruit cake. I have a grand recipe and I'd just love to go to the kitchen and stir up the mixture. Do you think she would object?"

"Not Carrie. But I hadn't thought to impose the cooking on you."

"Impose! For five years I've wanted to make a fruit cake. But how could I without a kitchen to work in? I'll make it tomorrow, if you don't mind, even if Carrie has one already."

"Oh, certainly. I want you to feel privileged to manage as you wish."

What a jolly morning for Ann and Jim, though it was the mere beginning of a three-day period of increasing fun. Christmas eve showed the house ablaze with light and glowing with Christmas cheer. The tree glistened with its varicolored lights, and gifts were piled beneath it for neighborhood children who had been asked to come next morning. Ann rushed in late, having missed her car, for Jim was told to remain at home to receive the kiddies. Not in years had the Hilton home seen such revelry.

Later the old couple across the way were brought in for dinner. The table was beautiful with poinsettia, red candles in silver holders, and sprigs of holly at each plate.

"Why, Mr. Hilton!" exclaimed the frail little woman, "how did you learn to make things so pretty?"

"I haven't learned. Mrs. Dean. Please give Miss Thomas credit for everything," and Jim bowed graciously to Ann. There was a merry twinkle in his eye as he smiled upon her, and in his heart there was a grim determination to try to persuade Ann to become the permanent manager of his home. Her answering smile, at least, seemed hopeful.

What to Give Him

If he is a man of discriminating taste here is something worthwhile to give him for Christmas—a brass magazine and newspaper holder, designed by that master American genius where modernistic conceptions are creating such a sensation in art gift sections. The Diana motif in the picture is one of the masterpieces which is attracting the attention of connoisseurs. Other unique and characteristic conceptions include lamps, the sea gull motif best known, also such intriguing articles in brass or bronze such as doorstops, smoking sets, candlesticks and so on.

Italian Leathercraft

In beautiful Italy where art ever survives, hosts of skilled craftsmen are busy creating intriguing handbags of finely wrought leather. Almost unprecedented enthusiasm marks the present vogue for bags of the type illustrated, the leather of which they are made being hand illuminated and tooled in the inimitable Italian way. Some have zipper fastenings and leather-laced edges. Others are mounted on rare frames with handles. No Christmas gift suggestion one may make will outrival that of one of these choice bags. One of the many attractions of these bags is that they are obtainable in all the fashionable costume colors.

Backward Flight Impossible

The biological survey says that birds cannot fly backward because the feathers of birds point backward, so that if a bird attempted to fly backward the air would force the feathers forward and resistance of the air would be such that the bird could make no progress.

EVERYWHERE

By religion, the Tamil Indian will not eat flesh.

Elephants in captivity seldom live beyond seventy-five years.

The Panama canal is now operating at 70 per cent of its capacity.

It is estimated the proposed Nicaragua canal would cost $160,000,000.

A snake would starve to death rather than eat anything but living prey.

A man's chest circumference should be 10 per cent greater than that of his belt line.

The Greek language, except for the alphabet, has very nearly passed out of American colleges.

Elephants are keen neither of sight, of scent, nor of hearing in comparison with other jungle inhabitants.

It is estimated that rubber from the Guayule shrub, now growing wild over thousands of acres in Texas, would cost 50 cents a pound.

Sneezing

It is not "bad manners" to sneeze. Sneezing is a natural act and should not be suppressed. It expels dust and other irritating substances which otherwise would enter the body and possibly cause illness. But do not sneeze outside your handkerchief.

Club Meeting

The Mentone Home Economics club met Tuesday p. m. Nov. 19, at the home of Molly Jefferies on S. Walnut street. Nine members and two visitors were present.

"Kitchen accessories" was the subject of the lesson explained by the leaders as they had received it from Miss McMahon, extension worker from Purdue University. Many pretty and inexpensive designs for kitchen bags, curtains and drapes were shown. Prints, challies and the fancy oil cloth were among the materials used. Dimensions and amount of material with instructions for making a tea-cart were also given. There will be another leaders' meeting at Warsaw Dec. 4th, instead of the usual Achievement Day.

The local club will meet Dec. 17 for the last lesson of the year and a Christmas party with exchange of gifts—no gifts to cost more than sixteen cents.

A full attendance of the membership is desired, and jolly good time anticipated. Place of meeting to be announced later.

Famous Lebanon Cedars

It is supposed that the famous cedars of Lebanon, frequently mentioned in the Bible, grew to a height of 50 to 80 feet. That is the height of specimens now growing on Mount Lebanon. They were noted for their large trunks and wide-spreading branches rather than their height.

POULTRY

SMALL EGGS ARE DIFFICULT SALE

Best Plan to Cull Hens Laying Undersized Product.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Poultry growers usually believe that any hen laying 250 eggs a year is a good one, and a record of 300 eggs in a year is unusual except in a relatively small number of highly bred flocks which are fed and cared for by skillful poultry specialists.

At the Beltsville experiment farm of the United States Department of Agriculture last year one hen made a record of 306 eggs laid in 365 days. But she went to the butcher. The poultry experts of the bureau of animal industry made no apology for what would seem a sacrifice to many. This hen laid eggs that were undersized, poorly shaped, and below standard weight. They would have culled her before the year ended but for the fact that her record was needed for comparison with her sisters in a study of inheritance.

Her eggs were numerous, but her 25½ dozen eggs did not weigh more, or have more food value, than 18 to 20 dozen standard eggs. She did in fact lay a greater weight of eggs than the average of many high-producing flocks. But even so she was not considered a desirable breeder. The department's studies of inheritance show it is much more difficult to breed into a flock of chickens the factors responsible for size and quality of eggs than it is to breed merely for numerical production. In the interest of the industry, which should endeavor to meet the demand for quality products, the department has set a minimum standard for the hens it will use in breeding experiments. They must produce eggs weighing not less than two ounces each, or a pound and a half to the dozen. They recommend this standard to poultry growers.

Number of Females to Male Quite Variable

The number of females to be mated with one male varies with the class of stock.

For the Asiaties it should be eight to ten.

For the American and English classes it should be ten to fifteen, and the Mediterraneans may be fifteen to twenty.

The hens to be mated should be kept away from other males for at least three weeks prior to the saving of the first eggs for hatching, and should have associated with the males it is desired to breed from, for at least ten days, while two weeks is better.

Free Open Water for Poultry Pays Profit

Free open water, neither too warm nor too cold, certainly not in the form of ice or frozen milk, should be supplied. If plenty of skim milk or butter milk is available, they may often be used as the sole liquid, particularly in summer; they carry some 90 to 93 per cent of water.

The other nutrients accompanying the water in these milk by-products are of very high class from the feeding standpoint.

As the common drinking vessel is apt to be a good medium for disease transference and flock contamination, all drinking vessels should be kept sanitary.

Selling Stock Source of Big Poultry Profit

While it has been proven that a poor-laying mongrel flock containing several types and colors may be made over into a high-producing flock of uniform color that is just as desirable from the market standpoint as purebreds, within the space of three years, the fact should not be overlooked that a considerable source of profit may come from selling breeding stock.

This can only be done satisfactorily where one keeps pure-bred stock.

It costs no more to house and feed a pure-bred flock than it does a bunch of mongrels or grades.

Shell Materials

The average hen eats three cents worth of oyster shell a year, and when it is available she will lay about 30 more eggs a year than though it is not provided. The hen needs calcium carbonate for the egg shells. It is difficult for her to secure an ample supply of this from water and feeds alone. Poultrymen long ago learned that oyster shell was about 90 per cent pure calcium carbonate and when crushed was readily available for the hens.

Save Manure

Poultry manure ferments very quickly, losing, if left exposed, a large proportion of its nitrogen as ammonia. This fact emphasizes the desirability of systematically and frequently cleaning off the boards beneath the roosts—a plan that also conduces to the general good health and thrift of the fowl. In summer the manure previously mixed with loam to destroy stickiness and facilitate distribution, may be applied directly to the land.

Canned Meat Ancient

That the ancient Egyptians were adepts at the art of canning meat is shown by a recent discovery at El Amarna, the "luxury town" famed for its rich folk who planned to live in gorgeous style. It was abandoned soon after it was built and was forgotten through hundreds of years. In a pottery vessel were found remains of preserved meat "canned" 1500 B. C.

LIVE STOCK

STEERS GAIN FAST WHILE ON PASTURE

Has Many Advantages Over Dry-Lot Feeding.

Pasture for steers which are being fattened, adds to the profit obtained from them, as against dry-lot feeding. It is indicated in experiments carried on at the Ohio agricultural experiment station in 1928.

Summarizing the results of the test, Paul Gerlaugh of the animal husbandry department of the experiment station, reports that "steers fattened while on bluegrass pasture made more rapid gains, much more efficient gains, shrank more enroute to market, sold for less money on the market, dressed 1 per cent less, but returned more profit than steers fattened in a dry lot.

"In June, nine Hereford steers were turned into bluegrass pasture and fed ground shelled corn and linseed meal. Similar steers were fed in a shed and given a ration containing ground shelled corn, linseed meal, corn silage, and mixed hay. Both lots had been fed from December to June on a ration of corn silage, linseed meal, and alfalfa hay. Their average daily gain during this period was one and one-half pounds.

"From the start the pasture-fed cattle made more rapid gains although their condition did not show it. Evidently they were growing more than the dry-lot cattle. The cattle on pasture were much slower in taking hold of the grain ration. However, at the end of six weeks both lots were taking the same amount of ground shelled corn and thereafter the cattle on pasture consumed more corn than the dry-lot cattle.

"The results of the test indicate strongly the advisability of full-feeding corn to cattle on pasture and feeding long enough to obtain sufficient condition on the cattle to remove them entirely from grass cattle competition. A short feeding period on pasture will not do this."

Herd Success Depends on Vigorous Animals

No structure is secure without a strong foundation. Likewise your success in establishing a herd of cattle depends on the strength of the foundation. Pedigree is not the main thing, although it is important.

Constitutional vigor and strong individual character are most important of all. Without these there is no dependable foundation upon which to build. These qualities are characterized by the following outstanding points: Deep heart girth, well sprung ribs and hips, well shaped and finely chiseled head, horns well set on and symmetrical, strong facial expression with large, full expressive eyes set wide apart in an ample forehead, bone enough throughout the frame, but not too much.

Cattle Sterility Due to Some Organic Ill

Barrenness, or failure to settle, is a condition which renders the animal incapable of becoming pregnant. It may be a congenital condition due to permanent abnormal structure of the reproductive organs. When so diagnosed by a veterinarian, it is best to sell such animal for beef.

Failure to settle may also be caused by a bull that is diseased or otherwise sterile. However, it is nearly always due to germ infection of some part of the female reproductive tract. It often follows cases of retained placenta (afterbirth). The germs attack the tissues of the reproductive organs and so impair them as to make pregnancy impossible. The infection kills the male or female reproductive cells or causes expulsion of these cells because of improper nourishment.

Sanitation Necessary for Healthy Swine

Every experienced breeder and all authorities agree that hog sanitation has become absolutely necessary, not only for reserved brood sows and pigs, but also for the entire herd of stockers.

Maintaining the health and steady growth of the herd by preventing losses from diseases and worms, means more pigs raised per sow, quicker maturity of the herd, and greater profits. There will be no profits if these disease losses are not stopped. Rapid increase of the various ailments common to hogs and little pigs simply means that you must protect your herd and your investment against these losses or quit the hog business.

Shipping Cattle

When a small number of valuable animals is to be shipped it has been found to be good policy to tie the animals, and also to build partitions between the animals. Shipping show cattle brings out this type of car, and there are innumerable ways of building up the cars. Almost invariably the cattle stand crosswise of the car, and it seems that the cattle are better able to brace themselves for the shock of the sudden stop and start of the train when they stand crosswise.

Ignorant Americans?

How much does the average American know about his country's history? Not much, in the opinion of clerks at the public information booth at Concord, N. H. They complain that they are bothered frequently by tourists asking to be directed to "the battle field," which, of course, is located at Concord, Mass.
