Host Families Are Needed

There is a need for families in Kosciusko County to host International Farm Youth Exchange students in 1966. Forty Indiana families are needed to host the 10 I.F.Y.E.S. that will be coming to the state this year. These young men and women will be coming from the following areas: Central America, South America, India, Near East and Western Europe.

Indiana has had 153 I.F.Y.E.S. which have visited 519 families across the state since the start of the program. The Kosciusko County families that have hosted I.F.Y.E. students in past years are Charles Manwaring, Mentone; Harold Gawthrop, Etna Green; Delford Nelson, R# 5, Warsaw; Everett Beeson, Mentone; Robert Merkle, Claypool; Gerald Ballenger, Mentone; William Kneller, Silver Lake; John Frederick, Atwood and Dorris Harrold, Akron.

Northern Indiana will host the I.F.Y.E.S. during the months of May and August. The I.F.Y.E.S. usually line in a county for a period of 3 weeks.

Contact the County Extension Office, Courthouse, Warsaw, if you are interested in the program.

Common Errors Delay Refunds

Indianapolis, Indiana. Common errors in filing Federal tax returns complicate the processing of taxpayers' refunds, said James E. Daly, District Director of Internal Revenue in Indiana. Simple errors on returns delay refunds and cause taxpayers trouble.

Mr. Daly suggests this simple checklist:

1. Check arithmetic.
2. Attach all Forms W-2.
3. Sign your return. (Both husband and wife should sign a joint return.)
4. Print of type name and address, and write figures plainly.
5. Use correct tax table.
6. Total your deductions if you itemize on page 2.
7. List your Social Security number correctly. (Both husband's and wife's number should be reported on joint return.)

You can save your government as well as yourself valuable time and money by carefully checking your 1965 tax return before you mail it.

Scouts See Skits, Make Plans

Pack 58 met in the Methodist church basement January 25. The boys lined up for inspection in response to roll call and each was asked his rank.

Jim Miller, scout leader announced the annual Blue and Gold Banquet would be held February 22 in the Methodist Church. The den mothers are already working on the decorations. A food committee consisting of Mrs. Louise Creighton, Mrs. Janice Perry, and Mrs. Dick Kindig was appointed. Jim also announced that the awards would not be awarded to any of the boys unless at least one of their parents was present.

The Clubs who received awards were Gary Sponseller, 2 year pin; Jack Peterson, 1 silver arrow; and Del Acton, 2 silver arrows.

Den 1 presented a skit of American transportation. Each boy research and wrote about a different form of travel and read the theme to the pack. Each had a picture or miniature model to correspond. Bill Creighton told of travel with the horse; Mike Walton the canoe; Kevin Owens, a train; Pat Stiffler, cars; Jamie Perry, busses; Gary Sponseller, airplane; and Dan Kindig, the rocket.

Don Dickerhoff showed a winter bouquet and Mike Dunnick and Roger Drudge showed posters of different cars and airplanes that Den 5 had made. Several of the boys related interesting events which occurred on their recent trip to the Warsaw Airport.

Scout Week is February 7-13 and the boys were urged to wear their uniforms to school most of that week. February 8 is Scout Day and Feb. 13 is Scout Sunday.

Feed Grain Program Is

Described By County Agent

The 1966 Feed Grain program has finally been announced and the sign-up has begun. It started on January 31. The law is intended to be in effect for the 1966 through 1969 crop years.

In general the program continues the Feed Grain and Wheat programs in much the same form as last year. In addition it authorizes a new cropland adjustment program intended to retire some land from production on a semi-permanent basis.

As in the past, those who participate in the Feed Grain program must divert a minimum of the feed grain base to soil conserving uses. Conserving crops will be required on any additional acres diverted as well as on the minimum 20 percent and as in past years, participants must maintain their normal acreage in soil conserving crops. This means that if a person has a base of, let's say, 20 acres in legume crops he cannot use this alone as his diverted acres.

There are a few major changes in the 1966 program. One is that yields will be projected at higher levels. In 1965 the state average of 74.5 bushels was used as a base for payments. This year the state average will be figured at 89.9. The same method of determining farm to farm variations by townships will be continued.

This year there will be no diversion payments for the first 20 percent of land taken out of corn, except on small farms where the corn base is under 25 acres. However price support payments will be higher and since they will be figured on higher yields these will be increased considerably per acre. The price support payments will be paid only on 50 percent of the corn base.

The loan rate, for corn on which an actual loan is taken, is reduced to $1.00 this year. This is five less than last year but with the support payment rate up a dime, the total support is up from 1965.

Let's take an example to clarify this. On a farm with an 80 acre corn base, in order to comply a person would have to sign up at least 20 percent or 16 acres. The maximum that he could sign up would be either 25 acres or 50 percent of his base, which ever is larger. In this case his maximum would be 40 acres or half his base. Let's suppose he only wants to get in at the minimum figure. He could then plant 64 acres of corn and receive the 30 cent of bushel price support payment on his projected corn yields multiplied by 20 cents multiplied by half his corn base. If he goes in for more than 20 percent he would in addition receive a diversion payment for that amount over 20 percent up to the 40 acres he would be eligible for. This example is based on a 80 acre base.

For smaller farms a participant would receive the price support rate a diversion payment of possible 15 to 22 dollars per acre on all the acres diverted. This applies to farms with a base of under 25 acres.

The price support payment is the key figure in this program. This is not a loan and will be paid for participating on all farms regardless of what is done with the crop. It may be sold or fed.

There are probably no two farms in the county with exactly the same set of figures. For specific answers each person will have to check with the County A.S.C. office at their new location just a block east of their old location.

Read 11 Corinthians 1:1-7

Although he was a Son, he learned obedience through what he suffered. (Hebrews 5:8, RSV)
Though suffering is the lot of everyone along the pathway of life, the experience may be used to strengthen faith and character.

Edward Trudeau decided to become a medical doctor. In preparing himself for his profession, he made a good record in school and seemed destined for a promising career. But he was struck down with tuberculosis. He was forced to give up his plan to practice medicine, and in weakness and pain he went to the Adirondack Mountains.

Instead of giving up in despair, Trudeau made friends and became interested in others who suffered as he did. He regained his health an organized a laboratory for the study of tuberculosis.

We, too, may learn through suffering. By the endurance of pain we may become more aware of our need for God; for often "man's extremity is God's opportunity." As we have time to think on the spiritual things, we may find deeper meaning and purpose in life, and come to a closer walk with the Lord. PRAYER: Teach us to be grateful, O Lord, for life, health, and the higher happiness. Grant strength sufficient for every circumstance, in joy or pain. In Christ's name. Amen.

Christ's name. Amen.
Wise is the person who uses suffering to bring him closer to God.

The next P.T.O. meeting will be held in the Beaver Dam gymnasium, Monday, February 7, at which a play will be presented by several Beaver Dam students.

The play is entitled, "Wilbur's Wild Night," and is one of the popular Wilbur Maxwell series. It is a comedy about thirteen year-old Wilbur who is always throwing his family into a dither. In this play he thinks he is dreaming and manages to get his family in quite a mess. But when the family learn the awful truth, they all are out for his hide. How he manages to get out of his scrape is hilarious.

Wilbur is played by Dean Conner; his two sisters, Connie and Betty Lou, by Lisa Lewis and Nancy Kuhn; his father and Tinkey and Judy Hamilton; his mother and played by Byron employer by Larry Whittenberger; and the Indian, Chief Tail Feather, by Bob Bryant. The play is directed by Mrs. Price, English teacher.

DON'T MISS IT!

ODDS and ENDS

Through the jungle in the Land Rover, over the mountains in the jeep, across the desert on camel back, or under the sea in a submarine I would gather the news, write articles, and take pictures that the world would applaud. I would eat in the best restaurants or in remote corners of the world with the food prepared over open fire. The conversation would be stimulating and excitement would fill every trip, every meal, and all the areas of my life. Such were the plans and goals I set out for myself back when I wasn't the mother of Todd and Doug.

Still, you couldn't really say my life is much different. It is exciting, it is fraught with danger and excitement and there is much to write about, time withstanding.

Take, for instance, a recent

Sunday outing made by our family four. The Land Rover was a blue Corvair, undistinguishable from other cars its age except for the fact that it answers to the name of Sugarfoot (given to it by Todd) and it has a built in dispenser for Kleenex, a very necessary item when traveling with two small adventurers.

No caravan across the desert or the snow covered Alps could have been better dressed than our little crew. Parkas and boots and gloves and mittens covered eager bodies, young and old, and excitement filled the air as all prepared for the day's outing - a long ride over snowy roads just looking at the countryside. True to form, the car was filled with cameras and a notebook was in readiness in case a story popped out in front of us.

We tease the boys by calling them Doug the Bug and Todd the Clod and Doug doesn't care although Todd indignantly tells us he is Todd the Scientist or Todd the Farmer. This day he was Todd the Photographer and he huddled in the corner of Sugarfoot with his camera clutched tightly in his hands watching for DEER. He had in mind visions of my anticipated glory which centered around the perfect shot of a deer standing in the woods. He rode in silence, glaring out the window, occasionally yelling at me, "Mom, look on the other side of the road. This is my side. If you see a deer yell at me." If I'd seen a deer, I would have done the same thing he would have - died of surprise. Nevertheless, it was kind of fun looking for the places a deer might be.

Doug the Bug was a less stoic traveler and he filled the trip with excitement and danger. As he became too warm his mittens flew through the air like blind bats and his zipper yielded to little fingers and loosened thereby permitting his coat great freedom. He added to the danger and excitement constantly as the little springs in his legs uncoiled, orbiting him across the back of the seat onto the back of my neck or on top of my head or, if he aimed carefully and was lucky, smack in the middle of my lap.

The expedition returned hours later with no pictures and no great stories but with appetites that were boundless. Now was the time for the exciting food, prepared not over a charcoal fire but in the oven of the General Electric, and later for the exciting conversation. Excitement and anxiety even invaded the dinner preparation when I spilled the pan of corn muffins down the side of the stove - that is I spilled the pan of muffin batter. The boys stood like disappointed lovers, wringing their hands and pacing the floor. Relief flooded the kitchen when I was able to recreate most of the muffins and bake them.

Our gourmet dinner of baked heart stuffed with dressing, corn muffins, vegetables, fruit and milk was spiced with much stimulating conversation. "Doug, get your feet off the table. Todd, quit leaning on your elbow. Tag, get out of the house and wait your turn for dinner. Doug, don't dunk your meat in the milk. Todd, quit leaning on your elbow."

Later, as the debris in the kitchen gave way to order and Doug the Bug was tucked in for a nap and Todd the Scientist pored his science books for new projects and Daddy the Printer and Mommy the Writer settled back for more tea and coffee, it occurred to me that my life had one more ingredient, a far more important one than any I'd dreamed of. It had love, love sometimes given with wet sloppy boyish kisses and sometimes not demonstrated at all, just felt like the fun, excitement, and danger that otherwise fills my life.

a rat - you'll still be judged by the two-legged rule book.

I know sometimes its, awful hard to tell humans from the four-footed animals, but that don't change the Good Books announcement that God "created in His Own Image." If you don't lead a Godly life, why you're stacking up the evidence up the evidence that man sprung from monkeys. If you set at home during church you're claiming a cage at the zoo. Them who keep living like animals had better change their names to "spot."

It's like that ole song goes "we're all God's chillen". If that's so, my good people, we oughta stop living on all fours, and act like a man. Stop swinging in the tree branches by our trail and use our brain. Love your neighbor. Love your neighbor instead trying to pick fleas off of him. Don't spend all your time at the hog trough slurping slop. Wake up and get out of the mud.

Now look here beloved, stop being balky like Bill Longsnoot's jackass. Some a you people pout and poke along like the world was gonna wait on you. Don't make the Good Lord build a fire under your belly. Stop your kicking and get to work.

And you snakes in the grass, the Lord sees you crawling around planning your dirty work. If you don't get outa them weeds and walk like a man the Masters gonna chop you one with a hoe - then you'll squirm. I don't need to remind you folks where crowing roosters wind up - in some preacher's stomach. Them that live like rats - there's a trap waiting for you. Get up friends, like the hymn says, "Stand up, stand up." Hope you like it Mr. Publisher.

Yours truly,
Parson Jones

Parson Jones Speaks

Dear Mr. Publisher:

I shore am sorry you didn't make it to our church this past Sunday. If I do say so, and I do, it was one of the best talks I ever give. My ole lady said it was the first time in a year she didn't go to sleep. The topic of my sermon was "Don't Swing By Your Tail." Mr. Publisher, I hate to see you go through the rest of your life in ignorance of what I preached so I'm sending the sermon along just like I wrote it down:

"Some folks would be better off without brains, cause they don't use 'em. A man without a brain couldn't be held guilty of stupidity. A human may act like a monkey, but he will be judged as a man. He may drink like a hog, but he's gotta stand trial as a man. He may be stubborn as a jackass, but he'll be measured as a man. He may be stubborn as a jackass, but he'll be measured as a man. He may be mean as a snake, but he'll answer to more than belly-crawling rules. A body may crow like a rooster, but the Good Lord will judge his talk as a man's. Some folks may growl like a bear, but they'll be put on the human scales. Behave like

Boy Scouts Enjoy Family Night

Family night was enjoyed Monday night by members of the Mentone Boy Scouts. Ted Howard, Scout Executive of the Pioneer Trails Councils of Elkhart was the guest speaker.

The troop has announced the following calendar for the month of February:

- Feb. 7 - Troop Meeting
- Feb. 14 - Board of Review
- Feb. 19 - Day Hike and Cook Out
- Feb. 21 - Troop Meeting
- Feb. 28 - Court of Honor and Family Night

The theme of the month is fire building which will also be their window display for Scout Week, February 7 through 13. All Scouts are to wear their uniforms during this time.

The recent day hike was attended by 13 boys and 4 adults. The boys worked on cooking and stalking and four boys passed their requirements.

During the past month, the troop has enjoyed four guests speakers. Ned Gerard and Dick Higgins, conservation officers, discussed gun safety; Jim Beeson demonstrated and explained reloading ammunition and Mr. Howard answered questions on Scouting.

The theme for March will be First Aid.

Dave Peffley Commended On Skill

Dave Peffley, a pilot for Zimmer Mfg. Co. at Warsaw, received high praise this week from company officials and from tower crew members after he safely landed Zimmer's twin-engine Cessna at Baer Field in Ft. Wayne with a collapsed nose gear. So skillful was the landing that the propellers were not damaged.

The plane was enroute to Warsaw from Chicago when the trouble was discovered and went on to Ft. Wayne where crash equipment was available. They circled the field for 45 minutes while Peffley received instructions from the tower. Passengers said he remained calm throughout the landing and asked them to fasten their seat belts tightly. Crash trucks and ambulances met the plane, but were unneeded. No one was injured.

With The Sick

Sandra Zartman has returned to her home after being confined at the Goshen Hospital for two weeks. She will be unable to return to work for several weeks. Her father, Verl Zartman, entered Murphy Medical Center today for tests and observation.

Take your problems to Church this week -

There's A Job To Be Done

The World needs men who will roll up their sleeves and go to work on its problems. The problems are many, but their underlying causes could, in all probability, be boiled down to ignorance, disease and the rank selfishness of a comparatively few leaders. There are enough of the right kind of men to do the job if they will but roll up their sleeves and go to work on it.

The Church too needs men and women with fighting faith who will roll up their sleeves to continue its work, the same problems it has been working on for centuries, that of lifting up and improving the lot of the individual. It follows that the potential workers on world problems need the church. They need it to help them purge themselves of petty selfishness, resentments and fears thereby making of them wise but humble men, willing men and consequently truly great men.

A black and white photograph of a smiling bride. She is wearing a white wedding dress with a full skirt and a long, sheer veil that covers her head and shoulders. She has short, light-colored hair and is looking directly at the camera with a pleasant expression. In her left hand, she holds a large, round bouquet of flowers, which appears to be composed of many small, light-colored blossoms. The background is dark and out of focus, suggesting an indoor setting. The overall quality of the image is grainy, characteristic of older newspaper prints.

pointed out that they are greatly overshadowed by those who are doing a tremendous amount of talking but very little thinking.

He continued, "The Communist Party, USA, as well as other subversive groups, is jubilant over these new rebellious activities. The unvarnished truth is that the communist conspiracy is seizing this insurrectionary climate to captivate the thinking of rebellious-minded youth and coax them into the communist movement itself or at least agitate them into serving the communist cause. This is being accomplished primarily by a two-pronged offensive—a much-publicized college speaking program and the campus-oriented communist W. E. B. DuBois Clubs of America. Therefore, the communist influence is cleverly injected into civil disobedience and reprisals against our economic, political and social system."

He further pointed out that Gus Hall, the Communist Party's General Secretary, refers to these participants as part of the 100,000 "state of mind" members and is cheering the campus activity. This is the same Gus Hall who attended a training camp for young communist members of the DuBois Clubs last fall in Fulton County and the same Gus Hall who is undoubtedly cheering the announcement which appeared in the Indiana Daily Star Friday saying, "The W. E. B. DuBois Club yesterday became the 173rd campus organization officially registered with the Student Activities Office." And thus the DuBois Club joins the list of Indiana University's many clubs and organizations.

And it makes me see red. Is the sanctified cream and crimson of old IU going to turn pink? And what are we going to do to stop this attempt at infringing on our state supported university? What makes me ever more furious is that the group gained the support of a faculty member, the required 15 or more student members and that they maintain they are not socialist but are socialist-oriented. What's the difference? A call for an investigation of left wing groups on campus was made by David Morton, chairman of the Bloomington Committee to Support Your Local Police, and it gained him a degrading editorial for having sent the letter without the permission of the other committee members.

The group registered with the student activities office in time to participate in a campus activities office in time to participate in a campus activity fair where they will distribute literature to other students. This action was upheld by Dr. Thomas Schreck, director of student activities. Dr. Schreck said that the university has always had a free expression policy. Hooray for the university! The United States has always had a free expression policy too and it's about time we used it to express our complete disgust with these pimply faced pinkos who are making us lose sight of what is right and good and just. We lose more freedoms every day and they are asked away by so-called liberals who are becoming the cancers of our souls. It is unrealistic to think that outlawing communism would help solve our problems but neither will giving them the support of our tax dollars and the hope of our future—our young people. A.K.S.

Parson Jones Speaks

Dear Mr. Publisher

I reckon you been wondering why I ain't been around to see you lately. To tell the truth I ain't had the time. I been awful busy, but not with church work. Fact is, if I get any busier than I am now I may have to give up preaching altogether. Don't get me wrong. I ain't moonlighting on another job like some of my brother ministers. My younguns are taking up all my time. They belong to everything in town - so's they won't be dumb like their daddy. This means that I gotta cart 'em everywhere they go in the automobile.

My oldest youngun is in the high school band, and besides all her practicing she's gotta play at every football game, every concert, and every parade that comes along. My oldest boy is in the band too—when he's not playing football. This is good for another 10 trips a week. Susy is in the girl scouts, the school choir and the church bell-ringing group. Tommy is in the cub scouts and at least four other cultural shindigs. Add to all this the birthday parties, the sleep-outs, cook-outs, camp-outs, and you see why when I ain't a-goin' I'm coming. (I wonder if Simon Peter had all this trouble?)

Mr. Publisher, I can understand now why so many teenagers have their own cars. Parents buy 'em out of self defense. I read where one parent finally forced his job and bought a taxi license, so's he wouldn't feel guilty about neglecting his work.

My ole lady said she could understand why the Catholic Priest's don't get married. She allowed as how maybe the Protestants oughta do the same thing. (Sounds like she's trying to get rid of me.) I told her I could think of a number of reasons why that wouldn't work.

In the first place if preachers didn't have wives, the members wouldn't have much to talk about and it would cause a sense of frustration on their nesses. In the second place he wouldn't know how to preach to all the frazzle-nerved members, cause he wouldn't understand their problems. Believe me, sir, you gotta get in this situation to really appreciate it.

Well sir, I gotta be going for now. Sometime, I'll finish giving you the reason why preachers oughta marry and have younguns, but I gotta have time to think. I'll have time to do it while I'm running my oldest gal to a slumber party. My wife says its just what she needs on how to make up a bed. You can tell she's never been to one of these things. I'll pass your house on the way, so stand in the yard and I'll wave.

February Is American History Month

During this month, February, the Anthony Nigo Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, wish to emphasize to all Americans, particularly our school children, that we should be more conscious of our American history through the observance of American History Month.

The purpose of this observance of the DAR is to safeguard, through knowledge and appreciation, our American heritage. We are reminded of many important phases of our country's growth.

All patriotic American will recall that the first battle of the Revolutionary War was fought at Lexington on April 19, 1775, when a large force of British regulars under General Gates fired on a band of American militia known as Minutemen. The Americans had been warned by Paul Revere, in his famous ride, that the British were coming.

The Minutemen attempted, without success, to stop the British force which marched on to Concord and destroyed supplies there. But throughout their return, the American patriots, from behind trees, hedges and stone walls, poured shot into the tired and harassed Redcoats.

The National Society of the DAR commemorates the Battle of Lexington by holding its annual convention, known as Continental Congress, during the week of April in which the anniversary of the battle falls.

The United States, a country of many people from many lands has a proud and noble heritage. On February 3, 1943, four Chaplains, one a Jewish Rabbi, two Protestant Ministers and a Catholic Priest, linked arm in arm, their voices raised in prayer, went down with the sinking transport, Dorchester, 160 miles off the coast of Greenland. They had given their life preservers to soldiers who had none. Such self-sacrifice and heroism have made our country great.

Abraham Lincoln, the sixteenth president, was born on February 12, 1809. The DAR makes awards to encourage students to emulate this great citizen.

Our greatest frontier scout was Daniel Boone who life his home in North Carolina in 1769 to explore the western wilderness. He was to suffer every personal agony. Indiana captured one of his daughter; two of his sons were killed; a traveling companion was shot and scalped; a second companion was eaten by wolves; his brother was shot and scalped before his eyes.

Captured by Indians, Daniel Boone was taken to Detroit. While there he learned that the Indians planned at attack Boonesborough. He escaped, walked 160 miles to the fort in four days with only one meal en route. When he appeared before the garrison, he looked like a ghost. But his warning came in time; the settlers made frantic efforts to prepare; the Indians gave up when they learned that he was there; they knew that he would never surrender.

What a thrilling record the story of our country is!

Molly Pitcher is famous in American history because she took her dying husband's place at a cannon during the Battle of Monmouth in 1778. After the battle, George Washington praised her for bravery and recommended a pension which she received to the end of her days. She was known as Captain Molly Pitcher and a DAR Chapter in the District of Columbia is named for her. She was at true patriot and deeply devoted to the cause of liberty in America.

Much of our American history is more exciting than fiction. We recall the Battle of Bunker Hill fought in the early part of the Revolutionary War.

Here the British, a force of 2400 men, were swept back on two successive charges by the fire of 1600 Americans who had only six small cannons. The third desperate charge of the British was successful, for the American patriots had exhausted their powder. This battle was of great importance to our cause because it proved to General George Washington and other leaders that the untrained Americans could hold their own against trained British soldiers. The British won the battle but suffered nearly fifty per cent casualties, and they wanted no more victories of that kind.

Since the founding of the United States, many men and women have been willing to sacrifice their lives for the preservation of our freedom. To commemorate the spirit and bravery of the fine men and women who fought in all our wars with a foreign adversary, beginning with the American Revolution, The National Society, DAR erected the Memorial Bell Tower at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. This tower is consecrated "The Glory of God and in Memory of our American Heroes." Those visiting this historic shrine are inspired by the tribute of these defenders of our freedom.

David Crockett, a famous frontiersman who will always be remembered by American patriots, served in the War of 1812 where his motto was: "Be always sure you're right; then go ahead."

In 1836, he was one of the defenders of the Alamo when 1400 Americans were attacked by 4000 Mexican troops who set up a siege that left only six Americans alive. These pitiful survivors were treacherously slaughtered. David Crockett died as he would have wished, with his boots on.

One of our youngest Revolutionary heroes was Andrew Jackson, later seventh president. He joined the Revolutionary forces as a lad, being captured by the British when he was only thirteen. His mother, nursing wounded Americans at the British prison, was able to get Andrew released.

He won fame in the Indian Wars where he set an example of endurance by subsisting on hickory nuts, whence his nickname, "Old Hickory." His greatest achievement was in winning the Battle of New Orleans where 4000 Americans held off 14,000 British, with a loss of only seven Americans killed and six wounded.

On February 22 we celebrate the birthday of George Washington, Father of our country.

One of the primary objectives of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, is to carry out the injunction of Washington in his farewell address to the American people, "to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for general diffusion of knowledge."

This the Society has done by establishing, in 1919, the Tam-

ODDS and ENDS

The president's estimated expenditure of 56.6 billion dollars for defense sounds like an astronomical sum and when you break it down to a per person estimate of approximately $300, it still sounds horrible although a little closer to the average person's realm of imagination (who can even imagine what 56 billion dollars look like except as 56 with eight zeroes behind). Still, it's a little easier to understand how the government can spend over $300 per person on defense when you consider how much it costs to outfit "GI JOE".

You know who GI Joe is of course. He is to parents of boys what Barbie dolls are to parents of girls. He is an out and out expense that cannot be declared as a tax exemption. I once read a short piece of humor by a father who had spent $100 getting Barbie married off. He got by cheap compared to what it would cost to send GI Joe off to war.

Joe by himself costs $4. For this amount you get one multi-jointed doll, made in USA, who wears a suit of fatigues, made in Japan, and who is a soldier in the US Army. It costs $4 more, each, for members of the other services. I only use the Army for an example because that is the one who came to live with us.

Joe cannot be expected to have only one change of clothes (although so far our Joe is still in this poverty class), but to change him would cost about as much as buying the boys a new outfit. For instance, it costs $5 to make him a military uniform, which he surely would wear after a few months. If, however, he went on ski patrol and wore the winter white camouflage it would cost another $5 to outfit him. Every soldier spends some time in the field, and to send Joe it would cost $22 for the necessary uniform and field pack which includes first aid pack, mess kit, canteen, entrenching tool, a field telephone with case and wire roll and a M-1 rifle with bayonet. He would also need a pup tent and a sleeping bag, total cost $8.

There is no limit to the amount of equipment Joe would need. Three sandbags cost $1 but whoever heard of staging a battle with only 3 sandbags?

An Airforce Joe is no bargain either as he needs a survival set in case his plane crashes, a mess uniform and a scramble set. The parachute is $2 extra.

It costs even more to get him in the Navy's sea diving outfit, $8 for the basic set, which doesn't include a life jacket, $180 more. If he needs more security than that and wants a rubber life raft, be prepared to ante up another $300.

No one ever heard of a soldier without a foot locker and Joe's will cost $4. Of course, that is with genuine rope handles.

One crutch and a bottle of plasma with a band aid cost $1.20 so you can easily see how it would cost $4 to get a stethoscope, a Red Cross flag and arm bands.

Dress uniforms for each branch of the service are snappy and can be purchased for $4.50 (Air Force) or $5 (Marines) each.

Out of morbid curiosity I totaled the cost of the equipment necessary for a well rounded unit of GI Joes and found that it would cost $172.70 to send GI Joe off to war. So you can easily see that the national defense cost is not too far off when you take into consideration that the $172.70 doesn't include the cost of a special Jeep (slightly under $15) and doesn't allow for any dependent's allotment (he couldn't possibly afford to get married when it costs that much to be in service).

We're trying to keep the cost of our GI Joe down to bare minimum although something will have to be done about the boot that the dog ate (did you every try to pry a boot out of a dog's mouth in sub-zero weather) and the false economy of buying any old jeep will have to be remedied so that Joe can get either foot, with boot or without, under the steering wheel.

Burket To Get Natural Gas

Monday night's meeting of the Burket town board heard a preliminary resolution passed for setting an exact form of a franchise to serve natural gas to the residents of Burket.

According to Stanley W. Evans, Warsaw district manager, the franchise has been requested by Northern Indiana Public Service Co.

Final consideration will be given the franchise at a public hearing which has been set for March 7.

Burket's gas distribution system will be included in the company's 1966 summer construction program, according to Evans. During the meeting it was revealed that engineering studies will be made by the Utility to determine the design of a gas distribution best suitable for Burket. Burket will be part of the utility's Warsaw district.

Urschel Attend Chicago Meeting

Dr. and Mrs. Dan Urschel were in Chicago on Thursday evening and Friday of this past week, where the Doctor was attending the Annual Meeting of the American College of Cardiology.

This meeting of the College was dedicated to Dr. Helen Taussig, the pioneer in Pediatric Cardiology Diagnosis and Treatment. It was Dr. Taussig, along with the surgeon from John Hopkins, Dr. Blalock, who first successfully operated on "blue babies" and it was this work led to the present situation in which almost all congenital heart disease is surgically curable.

The College of Cardiology is an organization comprised of physicians, surgeons, pediatricians, and physiologists, whose primary interest is in disease of the cardiovascular system. Dr. Urschel has been a Fellow of the College since shortly after its organization, having been elected to Fellowship in this group in 1952.

Superpool Price Is Raised

Dairy farmers who produce milk for the Northwestern Indiana Federal Order 31 milk market will be paid a superpool price of $4.78 per hundredweight of Class I (bottled) milk, effective February 14, 1966 through January 31, 1967, a superpool bargaining committee of Pure Milk Association has announced.

The $4.78 price represents an increase of 33 cents per hundredweight over the $4.45 superpool price on milk used for bottling purposes which prevailed through December 1965.

The Northwestern Indiana milk market area includes St. Joseph, Lake LaPorte, Elkhart, Kosciusko, Marshall, Porter and Starke counties.

The PMA bargaining committee, headed by Glen Schafer of Lakeville, Fred Hugg of Union Mills and Harold L. Smith of Rt. 1, Akron—all members of the association's board of directors—negotiated the new superpool with area handlers at a meeting in LaPorte, February 5.

A superpool price is one which handlers pay dairy farmers over the Class I milk price established by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for a Federal order market. Its purpose is to assist producers in meeting the rising costs of producing milk.

Beaver Dam School News

The sixth grade girls at Beaver Dam Junior High School are busily working on yells for the next basketball game with Gilead.

Instead of selecting only one team to represent the sixth grade, all the girls who desire to become cheerleaders were eligible to participate. From the twenty interested girls, five separate teams were then formed. These girls hold practice sessions during their physical education class and also during activities period.

The cheerleaders are as follows: Shelly Groninger, Joanne Hill, Jane Schipper, Jackie Stucker, Brenda Miller, Debbie Beasley, Debbie Marsh, Joyce Opple, Jennell Geiger, Jill Meredith, Kathy Hartman, Janice Secor, Connie Doering, Teresa Mark, Janet Burns, Sally Harris, Regan Richardson, Jane Bussard, Nedra Wise, and Lana Morris.

We are glad to have such a fine turnout and hope this will help in giving us another victory.

The last two games of the season are with Gilead on February 10, and with Talma on February 15. Both of these are away games.

All parents are invited to attend these games. Your support will be greatly appreciated.

Field Crops Meeting Is Set

Crops Production decisions in 1966 is the topic for the Field Crops meeting, February 16 at the Shrine Building on the Fairgrounds at Warsaw starting at 1:00 p.m.

Don Griffith, Manager of the Penney-Purdue research farm at Wanatah will be the speaker. He is a member of the Purdue agronomy staff. Mr. Griffith has been in charge of much of the test plot work upon which recommendations are based.

He will evaluate his experiences with narrow row corn and soybeans as he has tested out various widths in the past few years. New weed control chemicals will also be discussed and the weed control guide will be available.

Other topics that will come under discussion will be the performance of different hybrids, small grain varieties, new alfalfa varieties and other reports.

The Five Acre corn medals will also be awarded.

We hope there will be a good turnout at this meeting. It is the one that is resigned to answer a lot of the detailed questions that come in every spring on crop production.

The Anthony Nigo Chapter, DAR met on February 8 in Etna Green at the home of Mrs. F. B. Koehn.

The recent Mrs. Wayne Smalley opened the meeting with the ritual and welcomed the many guests present. The secretary's report was read and approved.

Roll call was answered by each member showing a favorite heirloom and telling the meaning it holds for them.

The president General's message read by Mrs. Frances Carter reminds us of the two great American Presidents born during this month. Although the background and educational training of these men differed to a marked degree, each was destined to serve his country during a critical period in the development of the Republic. Each put thought of God and Country before self, and gave his all that his country might be free and survive as a nation.

The President General also commemorates the birthday of another famous American, in whom he feels the members of the DAR should be particularly interested for this woman was a member of our National Society. It was Susan B. Anthony, "who devoted her life to the great 'cause' as she called it, of the Emancipation of Women." She was elected to the Hall of Fame of New York University in November, 1950, the 8th woman to be so honored. Her message to the DAR in 1900 stated in part, "We should all remember that while we are studying history of the past, we are making the history which the future will study in its turn."

We would do well to help in preserving freedom and unity established in our Republican form of government by Washington and Lincoln. What greater contribution can we make to the history of tomorrow and to our future generations than the preservation of freedom as Americans have known it. In striving to achieve our goals and service in the months to come, Mrs. Sullivan wants to remember the ideals set forth by these great Americans, for our Society and our Nation can endure only if every member becomes and active member.

A Thank-you note was read from Mrs. Helen Irelan in appreciation for the donation to the Heart Fund given in memory of her husband.

The National Defense chair, Mrs. Pearl Lackey, reported on the article recently published on the DuBois Club trying to gain recognition at Indiana University. The FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in a statement that these clubs are being used by Communists "To captivate the thinking of rebellious minded youth and coax them into the Communist movement itself or at least agitate them into serving the Communist cause."

The chapter chairman, Gaylord King, 25, Portland, Oregon, a first year student said it has fulfilled all requirements for campus organization. He added that the chapter plans to work at educating the campus and community "on what we feel to be the true situation in Viet Nam and other places around the world. This will on occasion end in active demonstration." It was reported that later they were recognized as Communist inspired and refused admission.

The new By-laws were voted on and approved by the chapter. Members were reminded to fly their flags on February 12 and February 22.

Mrs. Glenn Clauss, chapter Historian presented the girls who entered the American History Essay Contest.

The subject for this year's essay contest is George Washington's Advice. One of the most important benefits of our American heritage is the sound advice given to us by the Father of Our Country. Every American should read Washington's Farewell Address and his other speeches and messages available in any good library.

These students are all 7th graders with credit given for interest, accuracy, originality, composition, and neatness.

They were to write in their own words why one piece of his advice was important in Revolutionary times and is still vital today.

The Anthony Nigo Chapter sponsors both Junior High Schools, Talma and Beaver Dam.

First place medal winner from Beaver Dam was Pamela Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Moore, Athens. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gearhart, Akron, Jan Gearhart won the second place medal.

There were three entrants from Talma with the first place medal going to Darlene Igo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Igo, Mentone. Second place

ODDS and ENDS

Crocodiles and alligators don't mix, that's for sure.

It was one of "those" Monday mornings. I'd had a wisdom tooth pulled on Friday and had the flu on Saturday. By Sunday I felt like a million dollars and did too many things, like tromping around in the snow with Todd and doing exercises with Doug and not resting. By Monday morning I was paying for it with a toothache (or at least an ache where it had been) and nothing went right.

I gained the pound I'd lost over the week-end; a fly hatched out of the woodwork and lodged in my ear; Todd had no blue jeans for school that didn't have holes in the knees; Doug woke cross and grouchy; I needed a back copy for a paper that couldn't be found; there was typing to do; Loren found the barn door off the track for the second morning in a row; and on and on. If it happened, it wasn't right and often it wasn't right if it did happen. It took me two hours to do what I normally could do in 15 minutes. The world was obviously not sitting right in its axis and I obviously was at crosswords with it and all its inhabitants, particularly my three favorites.

Breakfast was a little glum, what with me barking at the kids and agreeing with Loren that I don't know either who knocked the door off the track although we both suspected an over-ardent canine suitor of flirtatious Tag (and that thought didn't brighten my outlook any).

It was then that Todd made his challenging statement, "You just can't mix crocodiles and alligators. They're too cross." The incongruity of the statement to the growling that was taken place struck us all in the funny bone and we laughed till my tooth started yelling back at me.

Then I got to thinking, what's so funny about acting like your home, your own areas of tranquility, is like a jungle? and I almost snapped at them again. A little inner voice that travels around with me sometimes yelled back at me, "Practice what you preach, Mama Sheetz, and quit taking it out on your family if you don't feel right."

It almost hurt worse to be nice than it did to yell at them but I finally got the big boy alligator off to school and his dad and tried to convince the little boy alligator to quit crying and drying his milk. (I know they're alligators because Webster says alligators have thick skins and those boys sure needed them to put up with their mother who evidently is the crocodile type.)

So here I set with a big crocodile smile on my weary face, telling myself and the world that all is well when I know it isn't. I'm in such a mean mood that nothing is funny and the first person who crosses my path will get bit - even if my mouth is sore. Fortunately, Monday is a quiet day and I can rest assured I won't have to bite someone.

I can also console myself with the knowledge that everyone gets a little crocodile once in a while but then I remember that alligators aren't really all sweat and light. In fact, that same dictionary says crocodiles and alligators are about the same except one has a short nose and the other one has a long nose. My nose is short and right now it's a little out of joint, but I'll bet somewhere there is a long-nosed woman whose day started off a little bit wrong and if we met we'd tangle, just like a crocodile and an alligator. Just like the United States and Russia or just like an atheist and a Christian.

I'm going to try to remember this lesson and when I feel a little on the crocodile order I mean to stay out of the way of an alligator and I wish other people would do the same, because, as every eight-year old knows, crocodiles and alligators just don't mix.

Parson Jones Speaks

Dear Mr. Publisher:

I just got through working on our record book. It's a real doozy. When a new member comes into our church we gotta list his hole family tree. Every time I complain to the deacons about all this red-tape they tell me that we're only going by the Scripture where it says "be like a tree". I reckon they want to make sure all our member's ancestors were up-standing folks. It would be terrible to have somebody in our church whose grandpappy was a horse thief. I pointed out that Jesus' family tree wasn't so hot. Ole Abraham pawned his wife off as his sister. King David run around with another man's wife, then had the ole man killed when he found out he was gonna be a papa. All in all Jesus had some pretty sorry forefathers. The Good Lord shore didn't stand on the reputation of his family tree.

I'm afraid the fruit on all our family trees would have worms and a few rotten spots. They say ole George Washington never told a lie, but I'd hate to hold by breath till somebody proved it. I'll agree with what one little ole boy said in Sunday School. He allowed as how if black was bad and white was good most folks would be plumb streaked. Sometimes I think all this talk about our ancestors is a communist trick to shift the spotlight off our selves.

Even if our forefathers was as good as we claim, it still would be wasted energy bragging about it. Somebody told me that crowing over our ancestors was like a tater patch where the best part was underground. If most folks would stop spending so much time trying to find out where they come from and do a little about where they're going to, they'd be a site better off.

Even the churches now-a-days have got ancestor-itus. Insteada using them ole heroes like Luther, Calvin and Wesley as good examples to follow, they put 'em in glass cages as trophies. I know one congregation that's so proud of its past that they turned it into a museum. They even use confederate money in the offering plate. I visited there one Sunday and I had a funny feeling I was in one of them Twilight Zone movies - where people live backwards.

Well Mr. Pubtisher, I must close, cause my wife is hollering for me to come help her with our scrap book. According to one of the best sellers, Webster's Dictionary, scrap means - "odds and ends, rubbish".

Large Crowd Hears Sex Education Discussed At Local PTA Meeting

A large crowd was present Wednesday night to hear Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson speak on the need of sex education in the schools. Mrs. Jackson has had much experience in the field of sex education and estimates she has personally instructed nearly 200,000 young people. It's The Distance, Not The System Says Group From Atwood At School Board Meeting

"It's the distance involved, not the system," stated John Bradway and Desmond Jackson of the Atwood vicinity as they appeared at Monday night's school board meeting. They have appeared at the past few meetings seeking a way in which they can have their children transferred to the Warsaw school system. The area which they represent lies in the so called "pocket area" in the northern part of Harrison township and is within three miles of Warsaw. They particularly objected to the 19 miles from their homes to Talma, the location of the junior high school. The distance to Mentone for the grade and high schools was not objectionable to them.

Jackson and Bradway stated they represented several Atwood citizens and would like to have a concrete statement from the Tippecanoe Valley board before approaching the Warsaw school board. No such statement was given by any of the board members or by the superintendent, and the two left, after an audience of one and one half hours, promising to attempt to bring more of their group and the Warsaw school board to the next meeting.

Superintendent of schools Robert Forbes presented a report on the cumulative building fund which showed that a total of $267,301.23 has been deposited in the fund during the two years of its existence. Of this amount, $260,666.96 has been invested in government securities.

Eldon Cumberland, board member from Seward township, asked the progress of the new school building program which had been voted upon several months ago. This program called for the building of additional classroom facilities at the existing Akron grade school building and the Mentone school building. He was told by Forbes that the plans had been held up at state level and that action was progressing slowly on this matter due to the fact that a split decision of the board could be reversed by the board after the coming election at which three new board members could be elected. Whitney Gast was absent from the meeting due to illness but will be definitely replaced as New-castle township will elect a new board member for the first time.

Mentone principal Gaylord Toll appeared at the meeting and reported on his recent trip to the national convention of secondary school principles which was held in Cleveland. He reported that the federal government seems to have almost complete control of the school situation now and seems to be calling most of the shots.

Forbes reported similar views after attending the superintendent's convention at Atlantic City, New Jersey. Both men expressed the belief that the equipment in the TVSC schools was superior to that being shown at the conventions and to that being used by neighboring schools.

A proposal to spent $7,163.50 for new equipment was approved by the board. This equipment comes under the 19-63 Vocational Education Act and one half of the amount will be reimbursed by the federal government.

Contracts for two new teachers, Bruce Mills and Martha Mendenhall, were approved.

Classroom enrollment charts for the schools of the corporation were shown by Forbes and it was noted that the schools again have over 2,000 enrollment. Board member Gale Creighton noted that with the exception of the senior class at Mentone, Akron was a larger high school enrollment than Mentone but that the enrollment in the first six grades is higher at Mentone and Burket. He wondered if this might reflect a higher rate of growth in the northern part of the corporation than in the southern part.

The meeting adjourned at 12:30 a.m.

Make Tomorrow's Breakfast Today

Make tomorrow's pancake breakfast tonight? It's easy with most modern self-rising flours. At one batter-making session, you can prepare enough pancake or waffle batter to last (under refrigeration), for three bountiful breakfasts. And the batter on the third day will be as light and lively as the day you made it!

The key is an unusual new phosphate leavening agent which most mills are incorporating in their already versatile self-rising flours. The new leavening agent, from the food laboratories of Monsanto Company, lies quietly until triggered by griddle heat, then it releases leavening power at just the right time to give pancakes and waffles full and flavorful lightness.

For Delicious Pancakes

|-----------------------------|------------------------|
| 2 cups of self-rising flour | 1/4 cup cooking oil or |
| 2 tablespoons sugar | melted butter, |
| 2 eggs | margarine, or |
| 1 1/3 cups milk | shortening |

Put eggs and sugar in a mixing bowl and beat lightly with rotary beater. Blend in milk and oil. Add flour. Blend together and beat until batter is nearly smooth. Do not overbeat. Usual batter for pancakes is cream-like in thickness.

Pour batter into a closable container, covered tightly to prevent surface drying, and place in refrigerator. Before each frying, stir to eliminate any separation.

Pour batter on hot griddle or frying pan (about 400°). Turn when bubbles rise to surface in center. Griddle is not hot enough if pancake is not brown when turned. It is too hot if bubbles at edge of pancake break before bubbles rise to surface at center. It's not necessary to add more milk or water while frying the pancakes.

For refrigerated batter to produce succulent waffles, use above recipe with these changes: 1 tablespoon sugar; 1 1/2 to 2 cups milk and 1/2 cup cooking oil, butter, margarine or shortening. (Waffle batter is usually thinner than pancake batter).

doctors today are so loaded with cases that they are forced to limit their response to calls. If anybody has an idea that the situation is bad today, wait until medicare gets under way. Every hypocondriac in the country (eligible for assistance under the new medicare legislation) will be insisting that he's sick, must have attention and that the government pays he is entitled to it, must get it and the government will pay for it."

The other day, just before Lincoln's birthdays, the columnist Harry Goyden recalled the famous "House Divided" speech of Abraham Lincoln in 1859. Lincoln began with these words, "If we would first know where we are, and whither we are tending, we could better judge what to do, and how to do it." Here is a text for today, and one which I felt was worthy of comment in relationship to our problems in Viet Nam. I believe, as Lincoln did, that we need open discussion, not unthinking acceptance of ready-made policies. That is why I have sought to stimulate discussion in the Senate, its Foreign Relations Committee, and among the public. And that is why I quoted Mr. Golden's citation to the Senate. Following are my comments to the Senate:

"More than a century after these words, our nation is again divided on the issue of undeclared war."

"Mr. President, I submit that indeed we could better judge what to do, and how to do it if this Administration would offer full discussion of the issues in Southeast Asia. Only then can we know where we are, and whither we are tending. Only when the people, and the elected representatives of the people, are provided with all the facts can we make a judgement on our policy on Viet Nam."

"As determined as I am, as determined as we all are, to halt the encroachment of communism, the methods we use in this objective must be worthy of public examination and judgement. I ask only that we have full and open discussion of the issues motivating the decisions being made today, affecting as they do the course of history for years to come."

"Mr. Golden reminds us that after three bitter and frustrating years of the American Civil War, Mr. Lincoln wrote to a friend:

"I have been controlled by events."

"What a lesson is there here for us today. Are we being controlled by events, rather than controlling those events? Is our foreign policy as applied to Southeast Asia one of reaction to the communist? Are we then to be led by them step-by-bleeding-step into a landmass war with Red China in a place and in a time of their choosing?"

Parson Jones Speaks

Dear Mr. Publisher

I been thinking about getting two T.V. sets so me and my little boy could watch at the same time. Junior likes to look at cartoons and I like to watch them documentary programs. Oh, I ain't got nothing against cartoons, its just that I find real life a lot funnier. Something just happened of recent that will show you what I mean.

Up in New York they finally passed a law forbidding dirty books to be sold. In order to make sure everybody understood what dirty literature was they described it in the law. As a matter of fact the talk among the law-makers was so bad they had to ask the women folks to leave. When they finally got the law finished it was so dirty everybody wanted a copy. The way it looks now they may have a best-seller on their hands. The only trouble is, the court says that the law may be too dirty to send through the mail.

I ask you, Mr. Publisher, have you ever seen a cartoon that funny? Sometimes I get a funny feeling that we done run outa answers to all the questions. Ain't it awful when the solutions turn out worse than the problems. It looks a hole lot like society has got its gears in reverse. One of our teenagers at the church told me one time that he didn't know what sin was til he read the Ten Commandments. I reckon its so, Mr. Publisher, that when you gotta pass a law to get folks to behave they done gone so far they ain't got enough morals left to obey it.

When Jesus was living on earth the Hebrews had passed so many rules that the lawyers had to have a lawver. But the more laws they passed the more hell-raising there was - til ole Jan the Baptist came along and called 'em a bunch of snakes. You can't scare Hell out of a fella, and it don't look like you can legislate love. I heard where one congressman wanted to pass a law that anybody who didn't love his brother would be sent to jail. That oughta generate a lotta good will!

Well Mr. Publisher, I gotta sign off for now and go talk to my oldest boy. Him and his brother have been fighting all day. I'm gonna tell him if he don't apologize and love his kin, I'm gonna stop him from watching Gun Smoke on T.V. That always scares him into a change of heart. I have to suffer a little on account of it though cause last week while Junior watched Gun Smoke I missed Robert Mac Namair telling how we was cutting down on military defenses and stepping up the war in Viet Nam.

Yours truly,
Parson Jones

THERE'S ONLY ONE GOOD WAY TO DRY CLOTHES IN THE WINTER... OR YEAR 'ROUND, FOR THAT MATTER... THAT'S WITH A WONDERFUL AUTOMATIC GAS CLOTHES DRYER.

GET A GAS DRYER

IT DRIES CLOTHES FASTER. No other dryer can match the speed of a Gas Clothes Dryer. It's the only one that dries your clothes as fast as your automatic washer washes them.

IT DRIES CLOTHES BETTER. Because a Gas Clothes Dryer dries faster, it is better for drying woollens... especially blankets. Also, speedy drying gives clothes longer life.

IT DRIES CLOTHES CHEAPER. Clothes dry in a Gas Dryer for an average of one cent per load. This is only one-fourth the operating cost of other dryers. Then too, no costly wiring is required for a Gas Dryer.

Plant Spring Oats Early

Lafayette, Ind. Plant spring oats in Indiana as soon as the soil can be worked in March, advises Marvin Swearingin, Purdue University extension agronomist.

Since Indiana is south of the best climate for oats, early planting is essential for 100-bushels-an-acre yields of this cool season crop. Some farmers feel, says Swearingin, that under current government programs oats are more profitable than wheat.

A plowed seedbed is best, but if plowing isn't practical, better yields are possible by shredding corn stalks and discing thoroughly. Seed about two bushels by volume an acre.

Fertilization is important. Fifty pounds or more of nitrogen per acre are not too much for short, stiff-strawed varieties such as new Tippencanoe and Goodfield. Phosphorus and potash should be applied as determined by soil test.

Other recommended varieties, says Swearingin, are Clintland 64, Newton, Garland, which has yielded well in northern Indiana, and Putnam 61, which offers the best all around disease resistance and earliest maturity.

Yields of 10 bushels an acre more are possible by drilling rather than broadcasting, adds the agronomist.

Harvested for forage, spring oats can yield up to 12 tons of silage an acre and twice the total digestible nutrients per acre as oats harvested for grain.

INFORMATION SOCIAL

Many people over 65 are inquiring at the South Bend Social Security Office as to whether they should cancel their health insurance because they will be covered by Medicare, according to Charles E. Burke, Social Security District Manager in South Bend. These people should not cancel their insurance policies at this time because Medicare does not begin until July 1. If a policy is cancelled before that date, it means that a person could be without protection against hospital and medical bills until Medicare becomes effective. And this might be just the time that such protection is needed, Burke said.

However, people should not put off filing for Medicare because they have some other form of health insurance. They should get in touch with the nearest social security office as soon as possible so that they may have protection against hospital and medical bills when Medicare starts.

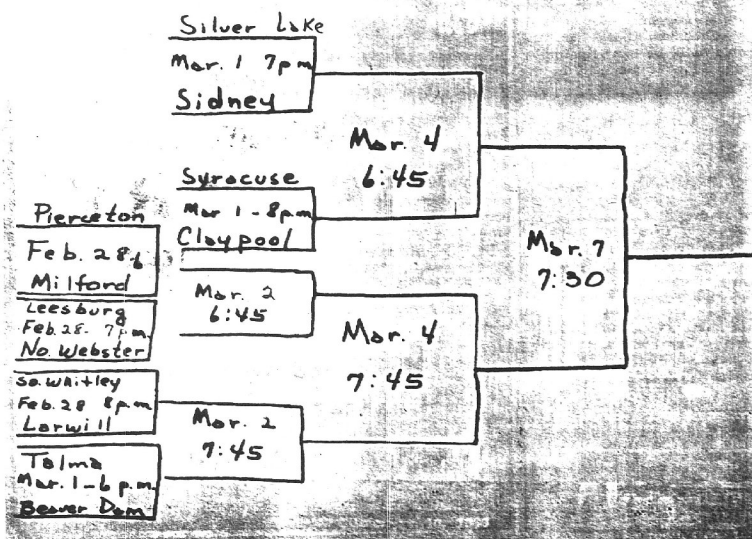

Those who are still working and over 65 may find it more convenient to stop in at the social security office on Thursday evenings when the office is open until 9 p.m. or on Saturday mornings until noon.

Those who have questions or who are undecided as to what action to take are urged to call the South Bend Social Security Office, for further information located at 335 N. Lafayette Blvd. The telephone number is 233-7147.

at Claypool on February 28, March 1, 2, 4, and 7. There will be twelve teams in the tourney, they are Milford, Silver Lake, Beaver Dam, Larwill, Syracuse, Leesburg, North Webster, Sidney, Piercetown, Talma Claypool, and South Whitley.

The charge for each session will be Adults 50c and Students 25c. We at Talma hope everyone will help support our Tigers.

Offers Scholarships Little Children Should Never Be Left Alone

General Motors recently announced the availability of 300 scholarships for the fall of 1966 at more than 200 colleges and universities which participate in the GM Scholarship Plan. The awards will be made to entering freshmen and may be renewed through the normal four undergraduate years for those with satisfactory records. Seniors at Akron High School may apply.

General Motors established its Scholarship Plan in 1955 with the guidance of leaving educators. Its purpose was to help bring to the fore young men and women with the ability and potential for making substantial contributions in many fields to the security and progress of the United States and the world. Since that time, General Motors has helped more than 4,200 able students to go to college, including some 1,560 currently enrolled.

There have been seven graduating classes of GM scholars to date. The majority of the 2,679 graduates continued their education at the graduate and professional levels. Many are currently following careers in such fields as teaching, engineering, science, business, law and medicine.

GM Scholarships are awarded by the 133 private and 80 public colleges and universities participating in the GM Scholarship Plan. These institutions are located in the 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. Their scholarship committees review the applicant's school records, available entrance test scores, participation in extracurricular activities and leadership traits.

Stipends range from $200 to $2000 per year depending on demonstrated need. There is no restriction on course of study or career. Applicants must be U. S. citizens.

Interested students should see their principal or counselor for a complete listing of the participating colleges then apply directly to the institutions of their choice. No GM application is necessary.

Never leave little children at home, even for a minute, warns the American Insurance Association.

More than 12,000 people lost their lives in fires last year, and 2,100 of these were children under 16 years of age who were victims in home fires. Many times that number received burns in homes fires.

The Association urges that if you must go out, make arrangements to have an adult or a capable teenager sit with the children until you return home. Also, make sure that at all times you keep matches out of the reach of small children, the Association adds.

Too many fires are caused by children playing with matches.

Newly completed chapel at Allaghabad Agricultural Institute, in India, was built in the shape of a boat, a traditional symbol for ecumenism, or world-wide Christianity. The chapel represents for the students the unity of Christian worship everywhere.

Has Many Shapes And Forms

NEW YORK, (KF)—In near-by Stamford, Conn., there is a modern church shaped like a fish and informally dubbed "the holy markerel." In St. Louis, there is a modern priory that looks, some say, like a "doubledecker flying saucer." In India, a new church has been built in the shape of a boat.

These are some of the more spectacular examples of church that religious building offers modern architects one of their greatest fields for creative work. Many worshippers are delighted, whereas others are frankly puzzled. They ask the familiar question: "What should a church look like?"

These are some of the more spectacular examples of church building today, where contemporary architecture continues to catch hold. Some observers feel that religious building offers modern architects one of their greatest fields for creative work. Many worshippers are delighted, whereas others are frankly puzzled. They ask the familiar question: "What should a church look like?"

"Form in church architecture becomes possible only if there is form in society," states G. E. Kidder Smith, a leading architect and author of a recent study on new churches. The authoritarian pattern of medieval society, for example, was seen in Gothic church architecture.

Today, new designs often consider first the building's inner function rather than its outward appearance. Churches are built "from the side out." Plans are drawn according to the congregation's form of worship, fellowship needs, and educational program. Frequently a complex of buildings will be designed, forming a center for all aspects of worship. The church then reflects the formlessness of contemporary society by what seems aimless visceral concern.

Another trend runs counter to this tendency toward architectural amorphousness, and the occasional uncritical use by churches of forms and materials better suited to commercial structures. A number of church architects and craftsmen around the world have persisted in designing houses of worship which, by their exterior form and careful use of decoration, say something about the spirit rather than the activities of Christians. A growing movement among movement among church builders to ward utilization of the best available materials and craftsmen to provide churches which are cultural contributions. Most successful are the churches designed to meet both purposes, which function well as meeting places and as theological statements.

Farm Deferment Is Sought

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21—An appeal asking military deferment for farm boys has been urged by the National Farmers Union Executive Committee.

In a statement sent to selective Service Director Louis B. Hershey the farm leaders urged the deferment for boys whose skills are vital in food production.

"With skilled manpower as well as capital being drained out of rural America, we strongly advise selective service to review the policy of drafting of farm boys for military duty.

"The average age of farmers in the United States now is 57 years of age. This means that if a farmer's boy is drafted, he may have to liquidate his farming operations," the statement continued.

"There is already a shortage of competent farm workers who can handle modern farm machinery and valuable livestock. It is as important to defer youth for farm work where they can continue on-the-job training as it is to defer them from college.

"The heavy demands looming for an adequate supply of food in the fact of world conditions emphasize the need to maintain a reserve of able young farm workers not only to supplement the shortage of older farm and ranch operators, but to replace those whose advancing age is pushing them into retirement."
