LITTLE LEAGUE
PLAY STARTS

The first games of the summer Little League schedules began at the Mentone field Tuesday evening, when four of the minor league teams tangled. As these were the first "big" games for some of the lads, playing was a bit ragged, but it is a marvel to watch some of them and see how their "baseball style" is developing.

The minors play every Tuesday evening and every other Thursday evening, with two games each evening.

The majors will play each Wednesday and Friday evening, with two games each evening.

FINE MEMORIAL SERVICE
HERE LAST WEDNESDAY

The Memorial Day parade in Mentone last week was not a big affair, but it was a fine service. The Legionnaires, Brownie and Girl Scouts, all in uniform, made a colorful parade, and Rev. Irwin Olson, pastor of the Mentone Baptist Church, delivered a very appropriate message.

PARACHUTE JUMP AT
MENTONE AIRPORT SUNDAY

About a hundred persons were out at the Mentone Airport last Sunday afternoon to view the parachute jump by Tom Hoover.

Tom and Ted Ward have purchased a chute and hope to do quite a bit of jumping the next few weeks, during good summer weather. Tom was a member of the Parachute Corps and Ted thinks he'd like jumping.

(When your editor was asked if he was going to try jumping, I informed the person that I had weak ankles.)

RE-APPOINTED TO
STATE EGG BOARD

Wednesday Gov. Welsh reappointed Charles Manwaring, of Mentone, to the State Egg Board as a representative of the State Poultry Association.

MOVE TO SWAYZEE

Rev. Roger Wrigley and family moved Tuesday to Swayzee where he was recently assigned as minister by the Methodist Conference.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
TO BUY NEW FLAGS

During a special dinner meeting of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon, it was voted to buy ten new 50-star flags to be displayed on Main street at proper occasions.

SCHOOL BOARD
ORGANIZED

The new school board of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation recently met and organized, as follows:

Lawrence Butts, president.

Paul Fites, vice president.

Delford Nelson, secretary.

H. Earl Boggs, treasurer.

The other member of the new board is Lowell Leckrone.

Byron Kennedy, of Warsaw, has been named legal advisor of the board.

The above board will serve until a new board is elected this fall and take office January 1, 1963.

July 1, this year, the new corporation becomes official and the assets and liabilities of the present four school units will be transferred to the new corporation.

The present board has established a uniform salary scale for all teachers, in line with their training and years of service, regardless of which unit they may be assigned.

The board has gone on record to hire a school administrator from outside the county, or present school corporation.

It has also been decided to discontinue high school at Beaver Dam, but no decision has yet been made as to what grades, if any, will be taught there.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Have you been hearing about "The Liberal Papers", and wondered what they are?

The Liberal Papers are a collection of essays, edited by Congressman James Roosevelt, democrat of California.

The central idea contained in their suggestions is peace at any price. Here are the points of foreign policy which the sponsors advocate.

1. Admission that West Berlin is of no value "except as a moral liability of the Western powers".

2. Recognition of East Germany and demilitarization of NATO.

3. Disestablishment of NATO.

4. Abandon Civil Defense in the United States.

5. Abandon nuclear testing in the United States.

6. Permit the communists to "plug in" on our radar warning net (D.E.W.).

7. Liberalize our trade policy with Russia.

8. Avoid war with the Communists by disarming, not by arming ourselves.

9. Recognition by the United States and admission to the U.N. of both Germanys, both Koreans, both Vietnams, and Red China. Incorporate Quemoy and Matsu into Red China.

The sponsors of the document are Congressmen Robert Kastennier, D-Wis., Henry Reus, D-Wis., Frank Thompson, D-N.J., William Morehead, D-Pa., James O'Hara, D-Mich., Clem Miller, D-Calif., and former Congressman Charles O. Porter, D-Ore., Byron Johnson, D-Colo., Leonard Wolf, D-Ia., William Meyer, D-Vt., and George Kassem, D-Calif.

(You have, by now, come to some conclusions, as I did after reading the above. It sounds like a perfect plan for losing our freedom, and without the firing of one gun. Shame! Shame! Shame!)

Let's quit feeling guilty when some of these rabble rousers talk about the capitalists. You are a capitalist if you own a life insurance policy; have a savings account; own shares of stock; have an interest in a pension or profit-sharing plan; have your own business.

This is our wonderful way of life, and we should be proud of it.

Maurice H. Stans, former Fed-

DAR Presents Display Rack To Library

The Anthony Nigo Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, being a patriotic, educational, and historic organization, is vitally interested in the pro-American education of our youth and all citizens. Every person must use every talent they possess to combat the threat of communism to our heritage as a free and independent nation. This situation demands our attention NOW.

The first step in effectively combatting communism is the acquisition of knowledge of its philosophy, strategy, tactics and objectives. Action without knowledge breeds confusion and chaos, which in the end helps the enemy. Work with our youth must be unceasing. We cannot teach too much of God and patriotism. American History must be a vital part of education in elementary and high schools, colleges and universities. Many books being used in American public schools "promote anti-Christian concepts, class struggles, and socialism, and make disparaging comparisons with free enterprise.

The communists claim that their victory is certain. This certainty rests upon the foundation of our character. They claim we are so self-indulgent, greedy, and consumed with our immediate personal advantage, so intoxicated with entertainment, that we will never have the honesty, the intelligence, the courage or the long-range vision to do what is necessary to survive.

Anthony Nigo chapter, through the work of its National Defense committee, is interested in pre-

More timber is destroyed annually by insects and other forest pests than fire, reveals the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In 1962 many of America's 450 million acres of commercial and recreational forest land—federal, state and private—are facing insect breakouts of unusually severe dimensions, the Department says. Most active tree killers in 1961 were the bark beetles. The government is launching a control plan in forests of Utah and western Wyoming aimed specifically at these pests. Infected trees will be logged and bark penetrating insecticides sprayed on felled and standing trees.

Teaching machines doubled the efficiency of a class of medical students at Dartmouth College, reports the school's psychiatry department. Learning efficiency was measured by comparing test scores with time spent studying. On material covered by the machine, average efficiency was 1.85 times as great as the score on material presented in the traditional way.

Paralytic polio cases dropped to 864 in 1961, a rate of less than five cases per one million population, reports the National Foundation. This compares with a rate of 162 cases per million population in the period (1949-1954) just before the advent of Salk vaccine.

Natural atomic radiation in underground formations enables oil well technicians to pinpoint the level at which a deep shaft should be perforated for oil. Each formation, such as shale, sandstone and limestone, contains a certain amount of radioactivity, according to experts at PGAC in Houston, Texas. By taking radiation counts at various points in the shaft, they can detect formations most likely to yield oil.

MORE VACATION BY AUTOMOBILE

More people than ever before will be vacationing by automobile this year, according to Chicago Motor Club estimates. It seems as if everybody has some "get away from it all" plan on their summer agenda.

However, because many of these trips will be lengthy and will include drives over all types of terrain, cars must be in tip-top mechanical shape to stand up under the vacation grind.

They advise that it is safer and less expensive to have the family car checked by a qualified mechanic before you leave on your trip. As a rule, repairs cost more on the road than at home.

It's a good idea to have your car serviced by the mechanic who does the job regularly. And in servicing the car don't forget about your tires. Good tires are essential for a safe, pleasurable trip. Quite often tires which appear sound on the outside have hidden cracks or breaks inside the casings.

Good brakes also are a must for proper safety. In addition to having your brakes adjusted, have your wheel alignment and balance checked. And while you're at it, have your master brake and wheel cylinders checked for leakage.

Remember: Trips have a much greater chance to be trouble-free if your car is given a thorough bumper to bumper inspection before you leave on your vacation.

Lawn Weeding With Chemicals

Every homeowner would like a weedless lawn. Weeds like dandelions and plantain not only look ugly, but they rob water and fertilizer from your grass. Purdue University turf specialists point out that you can easily kill dandelions and plantain chemically with 2,4-D.

If a sprayer is available, it is probably the most economical and efficient way to apply 2,4-D. However, many companies market dual purpose fertilizer and 2,4-D mixtures for spreader application. Wax bars for pulling over the lawn, and various spot treating "canes" serve special purposes.

Turf specialists advise being careful in applying 2,4-D. This chemical will not kill established lawn grasses, if properly used, but will kill many other plants—tomatoes, beans, grapes and many flowers. Avoid spraying on windy days and use a low pressure sprayer to lessen the drift. Be sure to clean your sprayer thoroughly after using 2,4-D, or better still, have one sprayer for 2,4-D use only. Always read the label and use 2,4-D according to directions.

A vigorous turf will crowd out weeds. Be sure you apply fertilizer in the spring and again in the fall—and cut your lawn at a two inch height for turf vigor.

Moth Proofing Your Clothes

Keep clothes moths and carpet beetles from damaging your woolen garments and fabrics during the summer, advises Dave Matthew, Purdue University entomologist.

If you haven't taken any control precautions, hang the garments in brilliant sunshine for several hours. While the closet is empty, clean and spray the walls and floor until wet with a spray containing five per cent DDT or 0.5 per cent dieldrin.

Clothing stored in little used closets can be further protected by keeping PDB crystals in the storage area. Use one pound of crystals for each 30 cubic feet of closet space.

Dry clean all woolen garments and fabrics. Never store soiled garments, since perspiration and food stains favor larval development. Be sure moth proofed containers are tight enough to exclude adult moths.

Cleaning establishments often offer moth proofing services, as do many commercial pest control operators. Some articles of clothing are often moth proofed in the process of manufacture, Matthew adds.

DIED THEY IN VAIN?

Paraphrasing from Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, "That they shall not have died in vain", Rev. Irwin Olson effectively outlined the three main features of freedom and liberty in an inspiring Memorial Address at Mentone cemetery last week Wednesday.

Referring not only to those who died in uniform, Rev. Olson eulogized all of our forefathers, "buried in the mountains, on the prairies, and in unmarked graves in our country and on foreign soil, who gave their lives to establish the freedoms which we enjoy".

The trend to centralized government and abandoning of liberties for the "easy living under a controlled state" is not new, he pointed out. Citing examples from the Old Testament, he showed how this has always resulted in a dictatorship by those in power, with higher and higher taxes, oppression, and servitude for the people.

"They died in vain", Rev. Olson stated, if we forego our local rights and privileges of self-government for a remote central control by the few.

"They died in vain", when we cease to appreciate our liberties and fail to defend them as our forefathers did.

"They died in vain", when we complacently accept the benefits of liberty and assume that this will continue without sacrifice or effort on our part to sustain and protect it from all these forces, "both within and without", our country, who would rob us and our children of our freedom.

Oppression and servitude does not arrive in one stroke necessarily. It can come as a gradual erosion of our constitutional safeguards—a step at a time, each seemingly innocent enough in itself and sold to us on the basis of a more and more "paternalistic centralization of government."

"Yes, they died in vain", he summarized, if we fail in our responsibility to pass on to our children the full freedom and liberties we enjoy which were bought with the blood and sweat of our ancestors who took time from their rigorous life to battle for the privilege to—Worship as they pleased; to be taxed only by consent; to be represented directly in their government; and to repudiate those in power if they overstepped these bounds. Our liberty and freedom

PRE-FAB corrugated steel culvert fallout shelter, radiation exposure of its occupants, is included for three persons can be bought for about $150, in the "Family Shelter Designs" booklet now plus delivery and installation. The shelter, which at state and local civil defense offices for public would cut to 1/500th the amount of outside fallout distribution. It is available without charge.

failed in this trust already in the burden of debt we are passing on to our children. Continuing to build this debt with each succeeding year, vying for additional "paternalistic benefits" is the certain road to abandoning our obligations to our children. Chains forged by wanton spending into bankruptcy are just as binding as those forged by a foreign power. When we abandon our responsibilities, we abandon our honor, and without honor, we ultimately worship the devil, Rev. Olson explained.

NEWS NOTES

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

This is the season for plant diseases to cause trouble. It is also a time of year when many other things can be observed. We have had many calls on two things the past few weeks that people have feared were disease troubles.

One is leaf scorch on many trees, particularly oak. The edges of the leaves on some trees withered and turned brown, the tree looked sick. This is due to the unusual heat and excessive winds in May. The leaf was simply losing more water through evaporation than the roots were able to replace. The leaves, particularly on the west side of the tree, became dehydrated.

Other people have been concerned about the late leafing and the poor appearance of soft maples. We only say what happened, not why it happened. These trees made an abnormal amount of seed. The tree was unable to make new leaves and seed at the same time. Now the leaves should go ahead and develop into normal size.

For trees in lawns where they can be watered, a few holes punched around the feeding area followed by heavy watering will speed up the leaf growth.

We have also had calls on oaks that looked brown and unhealthy. In the fields that were checked, we found no diseases of any consequence. There is some leaf spotting on the older leaves but that is always there. It would appear that the same thing has occurred that has affected trees. It is abnormally hot weather at the time of fastest and most tender growth causing a dehydration and crisping.

Even bluegrass lawns have had some trouble. Spots in some lawns have turned brown and have a dead appearance. There is a disease called bluegrass leaf spot that is causing trouble and it can be controlled with chemicals.

In my opinion, however, it is better to control this type of trouble with proper mowing. If a nice lawn is really an objective, then set the mower about 2 inches high and mow a little oftener. Many lawns are scalped and then we wonder why they are in a weak condition.

We get an almanac or two and I usually keep them because they do have some interesting stuff. One is their long range weather predictions. Their forecast for this spring in April and May was for generally a cold and wet wet spring. Some days they were right and other days they were wrong.

Dates for the County Fair are August 6th to 11th. Enrollment is now coming in for the 4-H Club Camp which is scheduled for June 25th to 28th at Camp Mack. The training camp for 4-H Junior leaders is June 21st to 24th at Camp Limberlost and the Kiwanis 4-H Junior Leaders Conference is June 12th to 14th at Ball State College.

Jack Hart, Assistant Agricultural Agent, will be out of the office from June 10th to 25th with the Army reserves at summer encampment. Mrs. Pat Lucas, who has been working part time as girls 4-H Leader, will conclude her work for this year and Joyce Hathaway will come on the job for a few weeks to assist with the girl's 4-H program. The enrollment of 4-H girls is about 700 this year with Syracuse having the largest enrollment.

Use pinking shears as a finishing tool, not for cutting out a garment, say clothing specialists at Purdue University. Pinked edges are not desirable on fabrics that ravel, nor on garments that will be washed many times.

For best results, add herbs and spices during the last hour of cooking the dishes that simmer or stew, suggest food specialists at Purdue University. Too lengthy cooking loses herb flavors.

COUNTERPOINT, Continued

eral Budget Director says:

"Our American capitalism has erected our factories and skyscrapers; built our railways and airways; lighted and heated our homes; provided us with household appliances, wonder drugs and synthetic clothing; given us more leisure for recreation, fun and contemplation. It has put radios in 96 per cent of our homes, television sets in 91 per cent of our homes and cars into the garages of four out of five families.

Khrushchev's biggest sneer is that we are a capitalistic society. Our resounding rejoinder ought to be that this is our proudest boast, rather than a timid admission.

His Soviet system depends on capital, too. The fundamental difference between the Russian system and ours is in the ownership of property.

Theirs is a state capitalism, with all the means of production owned by the government. Ours is a people's capitalism, with most (but not all) of the productive facilities owned by individuals."

Safety Rules for Children (Bedroom and Playroom)

1. Is baby's mattress firm?
2. Are pillows and loose blankets removed from baby's bed?
3. Is children's clothing checked for inflammability?
4. Are plastic bags destroyed or kept on a high shelf?
5. Are baby's rattles sturdy? (Too large to swallow, too strong to break?)

Little League Games started Tuesday evening. Tim is on the Cubs team. (And a gray-haired grandmother will probably be the noisiest "fan" watching the games.)

We enjoyed this:

A rather large lady had been put on a diet by her doctor. She had been dieting only a few days when a friend dropped in and was amazed to behold her tackling, with great appetite, a large pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

"I thought you were on a diet," said the visitor.

"I am," was the reply. "But I've had my diet, and now I'm having my dinner."

Ease Tension On Hay Rolls

If your hay crop is unusually heavy this spring, ease the tension on your hay conditioner rolls, suggests C. L. Hill, Purdue University extension agricultural engineer. Excessive roller pressure may reduce the capacity of the conditioner by making it difficult for heavy swaths to feed through the rolls.

It's not necessary to mutilate the hay stems. Tests have shown that heavy stems need only to be cracked slightly to improve drying and that leaves and small stems should remain intact.

Should your hay get rained on use the crusher to pick up this hay and fluff it to speed up the drying process. The deflector setting on the rear of the conditioner should be adjusted to expose the maximum number of large stems to the sun. A sharp downward deflection must be given the swath to turn the stems upward for drying.

Dr. and Mrs. Wymond Wilson will leave by private plane next Wednesday for Anchorage, Alaska where they will attend a national meeting of the Flying Physicians. A group of the flying medical men will meet at Great Falls, Montana before beginning the flight up the Alcan Highway.

"Modern society has a genius for confusing a thing's mechanics with its essence.

"In our churches it's building committees, men's clubs, altar guilds, sewing circles, youth groups, etc., etc., with scant heed paid the teachings of the Bible on which religion rests."

—By Ernest E. Williams in Good Evening column.

("Too one can get so swamped with school functions, ball practice, scouts, and club meetings that the real joy of family living is lost in the "mechanics" of "being a good parent.")

If the government does become more active in health care (Medicare) many medical students would abandon their study of medicine or go to another country to practice upon graduation. (This was learned in a recent survey of students in 17 public and private medical schools by Nation's Business.)

A total of $200 million was paid to Hoosiers by Life Insurance Companies in 1961.

If you are an unselfish person who is interested in the welfare of others you are an altruist (the opposite of an egoist. Now I have read where some altruists say that their unselfishness is really "the higher selfishness," and is the more intelligent way of being selfish. By sacrificing to make others happy, they gain greater happiness than the egoist or selfish person does.

Sharply Smaller Wheat Crop

Indiana's prospective wheat crop of 32,520,000 bushels this summer represents a 28 per cent drop from last year, report state federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue University. The May 1 forecast indicates an average 30-bushel an acre yield, five bushels smaller than last year.

Wheat acreage for harvest is 16 per cent smaller than 1961.

Disappearance of hay stocks on Hoosier farms since last Jan. 1 has been five per cent heavier than a year earlier, indicating rather heavy feeding last winter. Farm hay stocks May 1 totalled 331,000 tons.

April egg production amounted to 206 million eggs. This is five per cent smaller than in the April, 1961, production.

Hoosier dairy herds produced 271 million pounds of milk during April, one per cent larger than the March output, but slightly under the April, 1961, total.

Soybeans Emergency Hay

Farmer, short of good legume hay prospects this summer will find soybeans the leading pinch hitter in Indiana, says Keller E. Beeson, Purdue University extension agronomist. Ice and water destroyed some hay acreage or thinned stands, particularly in northern Indiana, last winter.

The first extensive use of soybeans in Indiana about 35 years ago was for hay purposes. Beeson recalls. Frequently in the succeeding years they have met emergency requirements for a good legume hay.

For maximum hay yield, a mid-season, tall growing variety adapted to the area should be drilled solid at from six to eight pecks per acre. Shallow planting with soil covering not exceeding two inches is desired.

The seed bed, therefore, must be as well prepared as has been customary for corn. Since the wheat drill places fertilizer in contact with the seed, little or no fertilizer should be applied at planting time. However, fertilizer may be broadcast independently of the seeding.

One or two weedings with a rotary hoe or harrow generally will control weeds in a solid-sown field. The first should be given when weeds are coming through the ground and just as the soybeans are emerging nicely. A second weeding can follow several weeks later.

Cut hay when seed pods are in the maximum green size stage for highest protein content. Soybean hay may be cured in the swath or windrow, from which it can be baled. Moulding can rarely be prevented, but Beeson says this condition affects feeding value only slightly.

Hay Crushing Speeds Drying

Farmers owning hay conditioners are relatively sure of harvesting hay without rain damage by following weather forecasts, according to Purdue University extension agronomists. Best time to cut hay is just after a cold front passes.

Hay crushers or crimpers enables farmers to cure in half the time normally required and obtain better quality because more of the leaves are saved. They can also harvest hay earlier, when it is in the best stage of growth for milk production.

U. S. Department of Agriculture

ture research shows that early cut alfalfa pays dividends. Alfalfa hay cut in the initial bloom stage produced 6,184 pounds of milk an acre; in the one-half bloom stage 5,145 pounds and in full bloom 3,814 pounds.

Hay conditioners make it possible to harvest the first crop in early June; this gives the second and third crops more time to grow. But often a shortage of phosphate, potash and borax slow up growth. For this reason alfalfa fields need a top dressing immediately after the first crop is cut.

Four tons of a legume grass forage remove as much potash as in 600-900 pounds of a 0-10-20 fertilizer. Boron in borax or fertilizer is necessary in southern Indiana or on sandy soils of northern Indiana to prevent terminal leaves of alfalfa from turning yellow. However, for best results, fertilize alfalfa according to soil tests.

Ground Covers For Grass

Having trouble growing grass in shady spots and on banks?

These areas, plus those where it's difficult to mow, such as around shrubs, are good places to plant ground covers, says Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

Ground covers are the low growing plants used for special effect or for covering ground where grass won't grow well. Besides pinch hitting for grass, many are beautiful and green all year—and you'll find them easy to care for, too.

The most popular ground cover is myrtle, which grows well in the sun or in the shade. Other evergreen ground covers are euonymus, or wintercreeper; Thorndale English Ivy, and low growing junipers, such as the Waukegan, and Andorra.

Before you plant add 20 lbs. of 10-6-4 fertilizer, or its equivalent, per 1,000 square feet, and mix it into the soil. Set out small ground cover plants you can purchase at your local nursery. Scheer recommends planting them a foot apart; individual plants will gradually fill in and crowd out the weeds and make a permanent cover.

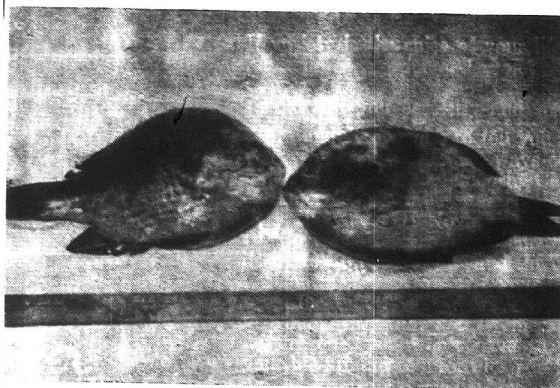

A two-inch peat moss or ground corn cob mulch will help keep the weeds down while the ground covers are becoming established.

A PEDIGREE

Walt Wilson was in our office the other day doing a bit of bragging—and we don't blame him a bit. The two bluegills he had with him were big and fat. One weighed one pound four ounces and the other one pound three ounces. As pictured above, the two, nose to nose, measured 21 inches to the tips of their tails.

Where did he get them? He and Jack Kercher and Dale

Cook took a trip to Hand Lake, Minnesota and dropped their bait way down. Of Walt's 17 in one catch, the seven largest ones weighed eight pounds.

The picture was taken while the fish were frozen and ice particles somewhat spoiled the real beauty of the fish.

THE LOAFER'S PSALM

Wilbur Latimer submits the following which was printed in The Shepherd, a magazine for shepherds:

"The Government is my shepherd, I need not work. It allows me to lie down on good jobs; It leadeth me beside still factories; It destroyeth mine initiative. It leadeth me in the paths of a parasite for politics' sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of laziness and deficit spending, I will fear no evil, for the Government is with me. It prepareth an economic Utopia for me by appropriating the earnings of my grandchildren. It filleth my head with false security; My inefficiency runneth over. Surely, the Government shall care for me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in a fool's paradise forever."

Know Your Indiana Mechanics' Lien Law

You may have to pay twice for work on your property if you are not familiar with the Indiana Mechanics' Lien Law.

When you build a new structure or repair and modernize your present property, you receive the benefits of the increased value. The improvement becomes an integral and inseparable part of your property.

Building material suppliers, craftsmen and laborers must look for their protection to the property which was improved.

The material suppliers, laborers and subcontractors who have contributed to your job are entitled to be paid by you, your agent or the general contractor whom you selected.

If the material suppliers, laborers and subcontractors are not paid they are entitled to file a Mechanics' Lien against your real estate for the amount of their bills because your real estate increased in value due to their work and material.

In Indiana, a mechanics' lien must be filed at the County Recorder's office within 60 days after the last material has been supplied or the last work done on your job. It is not necessary to notify the property owner that such a lien has been filed.

A suit must be started within one year to foreclose the lien against your property. Of course, if the account is paid before foreclosure suit, the lien is released at the court house.

Observe that a lien may be filed against your property without your knowing it. As a matter of practice, most property owners are notified by the suppliers, laborers and subcontractors before or after the liens are filed, even though such a notice is not required by the Indiana law.

You can see from the above that even though you pay the contractor in full and he does not pay those who supplied material or worked on your job, you may have to pay again if they file liens against your property.

This should not frighten you because the majority of contractors are good businessmen and they pay their bills. The number of liens filed as compared to the total number of transactions is very, very small.

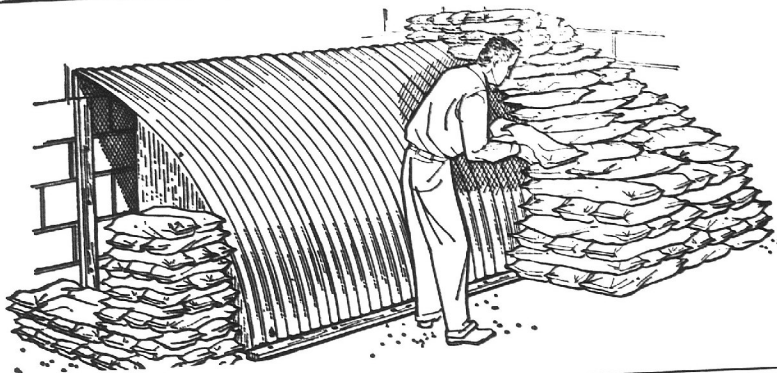

Nevertheless, care should be taken to choose a reliable contractor. If you don't know whom to use, ask a reputable material supplier to recommend 2 or 3 contractors.

Some owners think when they get an affidavit saying all bills have been paid they are properly protected. This is not necessarily true. The contractor may make a false affidavit.

While you may be able to take action against him, it will not prevent liens from being filed against your property. Your best protection is to check

Easy to Build, Low in Cost

Details on this and other shelters are in the Defense Department's "Family Shelter Designs" booklet now at local civil defense offices.

with his suppliers to see that all bills are paid.

This may sound like a lot of work but it may save you several hundred dollars.

In Indiana the law provides for criminal action against a contractor if you pay him in full, he does not tell you of unpaid bills against the job, and later you have to pay twice because liens are filed against your property. See your county prosecutor if you have trouble of this kind.

Irrigation Practices

Hot dry weather causes gardeners and farmers to start thinking about the need for irrigation, comments Don Sisson, Purdue University agricultural engineer.

However, a word of caution is in order. If irrigation is expected to be a profit making practice, this investment should not be made on an emergency basis. A portable sprinkler irrigation system may cost $100 per acre for a farm and even more for a small acreage. Only after concluding that irrigation can be profitable over a five to 10-year period should you make such an investment, Sisson says.

Growers of high value fruit, vegetable and nursery crops can expect irrigation to be highly profitable in Indiana on all kinds of soils. In fact, some processors will not contract with a grower to produce certain vegetables without irrigation. The improvement in quality of these crops is often an important factor. On droughty soils, such as sands and sandy loams, the response from irrigation will be greatest on any crop. On silt loam and clay loam soils irrigation of such field crops as corn and soybeans may not be profitable except under very high level management, if at all.

Once an irrigation system is purchased, irrigation should be used as a production tool each year as needed. If the irrigation system is used only one year out of five as an emergency practice, the profits from irrigation would not be great enough to offset the cost of owning the equipment.

Mastitis Control

Dairymen can reduce mastitis by sound herd management, correct milking procedures and early diagnosis and proper treatment of the disease, says a Purdue University extension veterinarian.

Dr. F. A. Hall points out that mastitis is a major disease problem of the dairy industry, resulting in millions of dollars of losses annually in both cattle and milk production.

Sound management includes practices that help reduce injuries to udders and teats and make cows more comfortable, such as using ample bedding, keeping barnyards free of mud holes and trash and making sure that cows have adequate floor space.

Correct milking procedures include using separate towel for each cow when washing the udder, testing each quarter with a strip cup before milking, using two sets of inflation rubbers and alternating them each week. The alternate sets should be soaked in a 5-8 per cent cold lye solution. Correct pulsation, speed and vacuum on the milking machines should be maintained at all times.

If the strip cup reveals signs of off-character milk the cow should be removed from the milking string until cleared of the trouble. When antibiotics are used in treating mastitis, a minimum of 72 hours or six complete milkings should elapse to prevent harming the milk with the drug.

Treatment for chronic mastitis is most effective during the cow's dry period. Dr. Hall suggests periodic laboratory tests to determine the amount of infection.

He emphasizes that treatment alone is not the answer to the control of the disease. Use of antibiotics has not solved this problem, but has perhaps created new problems. Antibiotics originally effective against some of the bacteria associated with mastitis seemingly have lost some of their effectiveness. In light of this situation the dairymen should use sound herd management, correct milking procedures, and early diagnosis and proper treatment in the control of mastitis.

Mimeo On Termite Control

If left to their own devices, termites can seriously damage wooden structures. But once suspected and identified, termites can be effectively controlled if the one attempting control knows their habits, construction of the infested building and limitations of the chemicals being used.

Termites are slow workers, so finding an infestation should not cause undue alarm. Purdue University Extension Mimeo E-

67, "Prevention and Control of Termites," tells how to go about providing for control. This two page publication also describes the insect, tells where infestations are most likely to occur, and give ways to prevent attack or the chemicals to use if control is necessary.

For a free copy of Mimeo E-67, Indiana residents should write the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., or visit their county extension office.

NEWS NOTES from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

The development of the so called "Common Market" in Europe, a name given to the European Economic Community as ratified by the Treaty of Rome in 1957, has been one of the significant developments of our time. We have heard and read much about it and political decisions in this country will be based upon it. We are a party to it because of the fact that the first step in the formation of it was actually decided by our Congress. This was the enactment of the Marshall Plan.

The common market has many implications for agriculture in general and the agriculture of the Mid-West in particular. We produce for export out of our area, we cannot use within the corn belt all we produce here. Much of the agricultural exports come from the Mid-West.

The Common Market consists of six nations, Netherlands, Belgium, France, Luxembourg, Western Germany and Italy. The objectives of the treaty are fairly simple, they intend to eliminate all tariff barriers between one customs tariff to those outside the six nations, establish a common agricultural policy, permit free movement of people, services and money, apply a common transportation costs, and revive restrictions on capital. For the first time in history the movement between France and Germany, for example, will be as free as the movement between Indiana and Ohio. This will not happen overnight. There will be a step by step progress.

In 1961 our country exported about 20 billion dollars worth of commodities. We imported about 15 billion dollars worth of commodities. We imported Of the 20 billion that we sold, about 3 and one half billion went to the six nations of the common market. Of this amount 1.1 billion were farm products, or 32 per cent of our exports to the Common Market countries were agricultural. Most of this was paid in U. S. dollars.

The agriculture in these countries is not as efficient as ours. They have 9 million farms of which 5 million are 12 acres or less in size. Livestock products make up about 70 percent of their total production. The demand for these is increasing as the pay incomes to workers go up. They want more meat-balls in their spaghetti. This has meant an increase in the use of feed grains but their feed grain production has been going up, just like ours.

Studies have been made that indicate that by 1965 they will be about 99 percent self-sufficient in production of wheat and about 82 per cent sufficient in the production of feed grains. During the 5 years ending in 1960 they were 89 percent self-sufficient in wheat and 75 percent in feed.

They are not nearly self-sufficient in producing oil seeds which include soybeans and cotton.

It would appear then that we will lose some of our exports of wheat and feed grains and these are the ones in our biggest supply. The restrictions of trade could speed this up.

All this creates some real problems for us and the answers to them will have to be made by our representatives as a matter of national policy. Just what are our reactions to this economic power that we helped create. Congress has about three general choices. One is to continue on the policy of more and more free trade. A second would be simply to extend our Trade Agreement Act's as they now are and the third would be to reserve our policy and go to more trade restrictions.

Strictly from the stand point of agriculture, we must recognize that from the stand point of economic reality, we have a new world power. It could be the strongest competitor that we have ever had or it could be the best customer we have ever had. In agriculture we are less vulnerable to competition that is created by the Common Market than are some other industries in this country.

In the the short run we will probably lose some exports, this will hurt some. In the long run we will have the opportunity to gain in agricultural exports if the free world moves in the direction of the freer trade. This is because of the comparative efficiency of American agriculture in relation to the efficiency of food production in the common market countries.

Indiana Farm Prices Drop

Indiana farm prices declined two per cent from mid-March to mid-April, according to Purdue University agricultural economists and State-federal agricultural statisticians. In the previous 30-day period they rose one per cent.

A decline in Indiana livestock prices accounted primarily for the drop.

Purchasing power of Hoosier farmers slipped one per cent as did that of U. S. farmers. Prices received by U. S. farmers dropped one per cent, while prices they paid increased one per cent.

Although Hoosier livestock prices dropped three percent, grain prices increased three per cent.

Major commodities declining: Hogs and eggs, three per cent; whole milk, 10 per cent; cattle, one per cent; lambs, two per cent, and broilers, nine per cent. Commodity prices increasing:

Corn, soybeans and wheat, three per cent; oats, two per cent; hay five per cent, and turkeys, 10 per cent.

Product feed price ratios generally declined. Turkey-feed, which rose nine per cent, was the only exception. Ratios declining: Hog corn, six per cent; whole milk-feed, 13 per cent; butterfat-feed, eight per cent; egg-feed, four per cent, and broiler-feed, 14 per cent.

Can We Wave The Flag Too Much?

Anthony Nigo Chapter, of the Daughters of the American Revolution, call attention to the observance of Flag Day, Thursday, June 14, and commend for your reading the reply of Mr. Sidney L. DeLove delivered on the Independence Hall Know Your History Hour, to a listener who wrote as follows: "Your programs are really very good . . . especially the no commercials . . . but you are waving the flag too much."

Is it possible to wave the flag too much? Provided, of course, that you wave it with integrity? Is it possible to study Lincoln or Shakespeare too much? Is it possible to read the Bible too much? The great, the good, the true, are inexhaustible for inspiration, example and strength. I believe that we are not waving our flag enough, not nearly enough. It seems to me that we are developing a tendency to be timid or even apologetic about waving the stars and stripes. Walk up and down the streets on July 4th and count the flags. It is our nation's birthday, a sacred day in world history, the most important day of America. Why isn't the flag flying on every rooftop and from every home and building? This complacent attitude is strong evidence of cancerous patriotic decay. The flag is a symbol of our national unity. It is the spirit of our undying devotion to our country. It stands for the best that is in us . . . for loyalty, character, and faith in democracy. Isn't our flag a synonym of the United States of America? Does it not represent man's greatest, noblest most sublime dream? Is it not the zenith of achievement, the goal to which generations have aspired?

Ladies and gentlemen, I believe it is time for us . . . for the mad, rushing Twentieth Century man . . . to stop for a moment and think. Let us arrest our near reverential admiration of material success and return to the spiritual and ethical values. Let us imbue and rekindle in ourselves and our children the so-called old-fashioned way of patriotism, a burning devotion to the principles and ideals upon which our country was founded. Should not every home own and proudly display the colors on holidays and other such occasions? Isn't the flag Patrick Henry, Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, Washington, Nathan Hale, Gettysburg and Valley Forge, Paul Revere, Andrew Jackson and other great men and women who have given us our heritage. When you look at the flag can't you see the Alamo, Corrigedor, Pearl Harbor, The Monitor and The Merimac, Korea and Gettysburg? Lest we forget, isn't the flag Flander's Field, Bataan, Iwo Jima and Normandy Beachhead. Babe Ruth and Davy Crockett? The great events of our past and present are wrapped up in our flag. It is a symbol of this blessed nation, a giant in industry, education and commerce. Millions of fertile square miles, wheatlands, coal mines, steel plants. Our great republic, the chosen infant destined to be man's last remaining hope for suffering humanity, a shining beacon of light, noble and glorious, is the haven for the oppressed and persecuted and truly God's gift to mankind. That is what the flag means to me. Can we wave it too much? I don't think so.

COUNTERPOINT, Continued

Javits, we can speculate how deep is their affair with the Liberal Establishment. Republican Governor Nelson Rockefeller leaves no doubt he is constrained to take his liberalism without a chaser."

From "Implication Of The Liberal Papers," Albert J. Grant, M. D., Ft. Wayne News-Sentinel, May 4, 1962.

We enjoyed this: (thanks to Dale Nellans):

A cleric owned a farm, and endeavored to practice rigid economy in its operation.

One day, taking a stroll, he saw his plowman sitting idle on the handle of his plow, while the horses took a needed rest. The sight rather shocked the good cleric-farmer's sense of economy. He said gently but reproachfully, "John, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a pair of shears and be trimming these bushes while the horses are resting?"

John returned the minister's gaze and answered: "And might I suggest that you take a bowl of potatoes into the pulpit and peel 'em during the anthem?"

ADVERTISE! IT PAYS!

If you take up heavy winter rugs and put down lighter ones for summer, anchor the throw rugs securely with a non-slip material or rubber fruit jar rings sewn along under the edges. Purdue University farm safety specialists do not advise putting throw rugs at the head or foot of stairs.

Some canned meats require refrigeration, while many may be stored on the cupboard shelf. Consumer marketing agents at Purdue University suggest you check the individual labels to determine the correct storage method.

1962 ALASKA CRUISE

Thirty-six of America's 2,000 Flying Physicians, Dr. Wymond Wilson is one of the participating pilots—using his own light plane, will take off from Edmonton, Canada, today (June 20) on a 1550 mile flight to Anchorage, Alaska.

The mass flight of doctor-pilots over the wilderness route of the Alcan highway will have as its main purpose the study of disaster techniques, especially the quick and efficient movement of trained medical personnel and supplies to isolated locations. En route, the doctors will also make first-hand studies of pilot safety techniques and gather information about general aerial medicine.

Upon their arrival at Anchorage, they will convene for the annual three-day medical meeting of the Flying Physicians association, where aviation medicine, air safety, pilot competence, and other pertinent subjects will form the speaking agenda.

Compact loading of the small planes will be essential to the flight, for in addition to the 24 wives and 21 children who will accompany the doctors on their trip, they are required by Canadian and Alaskan law to carry certain survival and medical equipment. One of the most important items in each plane will be the standard Curity Automobile First Aid Kit, containing medical supplies needed for traveling or camping, fitted in a canvas-covered metal box.

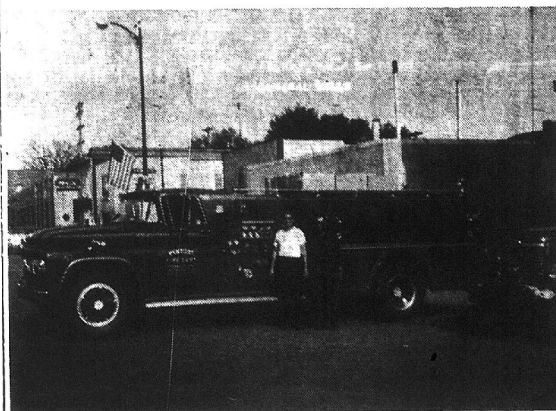

The kits were presented to the Flying Physicians association by Bauer and Black as a public service for the furtherance of civil defense and disaster techniques. The same company supplied first aid kits for the Flying Physicians' first Alaska cruise to Anchorage in June, 1959.

Other required gear includes a sleeping bag, a survival kit containing a two-weeks supply of essential foods, plus tools, snares, matches, and so on; and two-way radios.

A final check of all planes and equipment, and a thorough briefing on the flight plan, route, and timing will take place Tuesday, June 19, at Edmonton. The physicians and their families will take to the air at 6 a.m. Wednesday, and are scheduled for arrival in Anchorage the following day.

Mrs. Emma Cook had Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cramblet.

NEW FIRE TRUCK IN OPERATION

Shown standing beside the new truck is Fire Chief Lyman Mollenhour on the right and Assistant Chief Gilbert Griffis.

If you have been wondering what the many strange noises, and loud voices are lately, don't be alarmed. It's just the Mentone Volunteer Fire Department trying out their new truck. There were many trips up and down the street by the firemen last Thursday while they were waiting for the truck to arrive.

They have been busy as of late testing equipment, making trial runs and other things necessary to acquaint themselves with the many new elaborate features.

The new truck is equipped with two pumps, one which can be used mobil and the stationary pump. They are capable of up to 750 gpm. They carry 1000 feet of 2½" hose, 500 feet of 1½" hose, and 400 feet of high pressure fog hose. With the new equipment they are capable of putting water on top of any existing building in the area.

The equipment was purchased at a total price of $19,000, with Boardman Chevrolet of Mentone furnishing the chassis and the Howe Equipment of Anderson furnishing the fire and related equipment.

The new truck was purchased through the combined efforts of Harrison, Franklin, and New-castle Townships and the Town of Mentone.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Communism is waging an all-out attack on anti-communists. We have been hearing "smear" campaigns about "super-patriotism" and "patriots". These are favorite tactics of the Mistaken (communists) and we Americans must not be distracted or intimidated in our work of exposing Communism for what it is.

Jim Good, writing for Clifford Ward in his Good Evening column, has this to say concerning his (and our) feelings toward the flag and our country.

"This is the flag we honor today—some of us, for there exists that element that tolerates it only with bored indulgence as an artifact of a hopelessly gauche and backward society.

"To them the term 'flag waver' is the height of insult and calls to mind a slobbering sentimentalist with an eighth grade education and a Neanderthal brow. Their superior dialect inevitably prefixes the word 'patriotism' with 'blind'.

"They are cognizant of the country's imperfections and can recite by rote each one beginning with the demise of the noble Red Man. They are enlightened, yea, they seek only truth.

"It's difficult to feel anything but pity for those so steeped in cynical negativism, and highly ironic that it is the very symbol they deride that provides the freedom for them and their ilk to pursue their 'search'.

"We need critical examination and constructive criticism, but a complete study will show that in spite of her faults, this country as represented by her flag, is still the greatest and I, for one, am proud of both."

Maybelle (Mrs. Frank) Merkle was telling us about her 3-year old granddaughter who saw her first peacock last Sunday. The bird had his feathers spread in a beautiful fan. The small grand-exclaimed, "Oh, look at the bird with the grass skirt!"

Speaking of peacocks, did you know that these beautiful feathers are not tail-feathers, but grow from the bird's back? (I didn't know this either.) Safety Rules For Children—In the car—

Raymond Cooper announced to the News today of their plans for an extensive remodeling program. They have done much to the interior of their store in the past few years in making new and better departments available but are now planning on outside remodeling.

There will be a new brick front with large windows and an aluminum canopy extending out eight feet and along the entire front.

They are planning on putting in a new floor, rearranging the departments and many new fixtures.

The remodeling is planned to start about the 15th of July.

What is a Well-Educated Man?

Keeping informed of the world situation as well as of the current events of our own country is vital to the well - educated man. To him, integrity is essential—for integrity is that personal ingredient which makes men and women speak up when they know that in doing so they are going to make themselves unpopular. It is outspoken recognition that the right way is not always the popular and easy way.

The ability to lead is another very important characteristic, in addition to having initiative and the quality of being able to handle any responsibility one may be expected to assume. Margaret Chase Smith—United States Senator.

DAR Meet With Mrs. Smalley

The Anthony Nigo chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met at the Beaver Dam home of Mrs. Wayne Smalley for a carry in buffet supper on June 12. After the social hour Mrs. Fred Surguy opened the meeting with the usual ritual service followed by prayer, pledge to the flag, and the National Anthem. The secretary, Mrs. Pat Leiter, read the minutes and conducted the roll call. Good Citizenship medal winners in the local Junior High School were announced as follows:

Diane Sarber, Gary Teel, Ted Shoemaker (a winner for two consecutive years), and Cindy Ellsworth. Mrs. Pearl Lackey, local librarian, discussed the new rack purchased by the chapter and placed in the library recently to aid in disseminating information on the study of anti-communism.

An invitation was read inviting the membership to the wedding of Miss Nancy Shively on Saturday, June 30.

Mrs. Dale Cook, national defense chairman, gave a reading by Democratic Senator, Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, in which he discussed the Liberal Papers, which contain policy recommendations for our nation both foreign and domestic. He quoted Senator Dirksen in the following words, "Chamberlain surely never did as much for Hitler as is proposed here under the name of Liberalism for Khrushchev and Mao. We have heard much of Thunder on the Right. Will we hear less now that Surrender on the Left is with us?" Mr. Thurmond said that one has to have a good set of sea legs to withstand the tide of attacks leveled against rubbing the raw nerve of our "no-win" foreign policies which are based on false conceptions of the world communist conspiracy. It seems to be good sport for Republicans to kick Democrats and vice versa, but it is not in good taste for either of them to kick communism. He said we must come to grips with the idea of killing communism with kindness and repudiate the Liberal papers and its proposals for surrender to world communism on the installment plan.

Mrs. Miles Manwaring gave an article which was the reply of Mr. Sidney L. DeLove delivered on the Independence Hall Know Your History Hour in Chicago. He asked, "Is it possible to wave the flag too much? Provided, of course, that you wave it with integrity. It is possible to study Lincoln or Shakespeare too much? Is it possible to read the Bible too much? The great, the good, the true, are inexhaustible for inspiration, example and strength. Let us imbue and rekindle in ourselves and our children the so-called old-fashioned way of patriotism, a burning devotion to the principles and ideals upon which our country was founded. Should not every home own and proudly display the colors on holidays and other such occasions?"

Mrs. Frank D. Smith read her first place essay of the Indiana contest, entitled, "The Constitution of the United States vs. World Government". She said, "Progress lies in both directions. The most progress the prodigal son ever made was when he decided to go back to his father. There is a lesson here for all Americans. We have certainly spent our substance and our children's future in worldly living and we must get back to American house-keeping. Whether we call it prior reasoning or just plain horse-sense, we must face facts. Just as we do not outgrow the Sermon on the Mount in our spiritual progress, just so, we do not outgrow the wisdom and demonstration of the Constitution and the free enterprise system. These great principles must be taught in our schools, loved in our hearts, and practiced in our government if we are to preserve the American concept of liberty for ourselves and for those who come after us. We must rebuild a strong defense for one God, one Flag, and one Country, lest our Nation, as the symbol and demonstration of liberty for people everywhere perish from the earth. Let us resolve to be practical Christians and to make our forth-coming national election sure by supporting men and women for office who still believe that the Bible, the Constitution, Ray's arithmetic, and the McGuffey readers made a great and good country, whose people were God-fearing, independent, free-enterprising Americans. Old Fashioned? So are the Ten Commandments. The battle lines are being drawn today for the final conflict between Christianity and atheism. It is symbolized by the two stars out of the East... the Star of Bethlehem and the Red Star of Russia. Whatever conflict appears on the scene, whether it be strife between capital and labor or between race, creed, or color, these planned struggles are only the outward sign of the Communist-Socialist attacks on our free institutions. Only the good, glib Christian Americans, awakened out of their sleep and mesmerism, induced by false propaganda, can save our nation. May we remember at all times to help the world appreciate, accept, and practice the great principles which make our freedom and human liberty possible, and may we also remember that our greatest contribution to the world is to keep that light of freedom burning in America. If we fail here, the light of the world dies. Our forefathers left us a great and good land; it is ours... as trustees... to have and to hold and to love, but unless we hold it and teach our children to love it, their children will not have it.

Officers installed by Mrs. E. W. Igo for the year are as follows: Regent, Mrs. Fred Surguy; vice Regent, Mrs. Charles Tucker; Chaplain, Mrs. Bernice Rush; secretary, Mrs. Pat Leiter; treasurer, Mrs. Paul Shireman; registrar, Mrs. Edna Carey; historian, Mrs. Carl Metheny; librarian, Mrs. Merlyn Holt.

Mrs. Surguy appointed Mrs. Bud Paulus and Mrs. Paul Shireman to a place committee for the September dinner meeting at which the northern district director, Mrs. Waldon McBride of Crown Point, will be an honored guest and speaker. Rochester, North Manchester, and Warsaw chapters will be invited guests.

Agronomy Field Day July 3

Wheat fertilizer placement, oat varieties, weed control with herbicides in corn, minimum tillage results and an outstanding herd of Red Poll cattle can be seen at the second Pinney-Purdue Agronomy field day, July 3, near Wanatah.

Pinney-Purdue farm, a branch of Purdue's agricultural experiment station, is on the LaPorte-Porter county line northwest of Wanatah. Loam, sand and muck soils are found on the 486-acre outdoor laboratory used for crops research as related to soil types.

Cargass and feed lot data on the Red Poll herd, one of the top of this breed in the country, will be analyzed at the field day.

Purdue extension agronomists entomologists, weed control specialists, climatologists, and Pinney-Purdue Staff members will be on hand to conduct the session and answer questions.

For lasting enjoyment of vacation souvenirs, Purdue University home furnishing specialists suggest selecting items to add to your collections or that fit in your decorating plan.

Sidedress Corn Early

If your corn fertilization program calls for sidedressing with nitrogen, do it when the corn is around 15 inches tall, advises Cliff Spies, Purdue University extension agronomist.

Principal reason for this relatively early application is to make sure that the nitrogen gets applied. Corn can quickly grow too tall for sidedressing with a week of rainy summer weather.

Root pruning may also be a problem. When sidedressing with materials which are knifed into the ground, keep the applicator knives as close to the center of the rows as possible. This precaution holds for corn at all heights.

Purdue tests indicate that yield increases of up to 45 bushels an acre are possible for 100 pounds of nitrogen. However, yield increases resulting from sidedressing nitrogen often may not exceed 20 bushels an acre.

Spies stresses that yield increases result only when sufficient phosphate and potash have been applied, corn stand is adequate, weeds and insects are controlled and summer rainfall is adequate.

For average situations, farmers may find it more profitable to sidedress 80 to 100 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre than to use heavier applications. This recommended for corn following grass sods on which no manure has been spread. Farmers who anticipate a yield of more than 100 bushels an acre might want to sidedress even heavier.

Spies suggests that farmers who aren't sure how much nitrogen to use might apply an extra 50 pounds on eight rows and at harvest weigh the corn to determine the yield difference.

Destroy trash and burnable rubbish in a close mesh wire basket provided for that purpose say farm safety specialists at Purdue University. Do not burn on days when there is a strong wind.

Farming Tips

SUPERPHOSPHATE spread on manure in the summer preserves plant food value by trapping ammonia or nitrogen, and prevents flies from hatching in the manure.

BROME GRASS & TIMOTHY are ready for summer pasture when new shoots appear near the soil surface. These new shoots indicate that food reserves are built up and the plants can withstand grazing. Since orchard grass doesn't recover in this manner, graze or clip to leave a 4-inch stubble.

ALFALFA that was harvested in May at the pre-bloom stage should be allowed to mature to the 1/10 bloom stage for the second crop. This allows the alfalfa roots to restore food reserves between harvests.

SUDANGRASS is still the "best bet" for emergency or supplementary pastures. Seed Sudan at the rate of 25 lbs. of seed per acre, soon after corn planting time. Soil and fertilizer needs are similar to corn. Green-leaf is the best variety to grow. It is less susceptible to blight and other leaf diseases than Piper and other varieties.

FARMERS PLANTING CORN IN JUNE should consider using short season hybrids to reduce wet corn problems next fall. Hybrids such as Ind. 219 and Ind. 253 will range 5 to 10 per cent lower in moisture on Nov.

1 than full season hybrids planted at the same time.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL THE last minute to side-dress nitrogen on corn. It is advisable to have it done by the time corn is 18 to 24 inches high.

TO HELP KEEP ALFALFA in a hay or pasture mixture, top-dress now with 30 - 40 pounds per acre of 0-10-30 or 0-20-20.

In southern Indiana and sands in northern Ind. boron should also be added to the fertilizer going on hay and pasture land.

DOUBLE THE DRINKING space for laying hens to help keep them comfortable in hot weather. Provide water as cool as possible and clean waterers at least daily. Plenty of cool, clean drinking water is of first importance. Liberal ventilation, overhead insulation, reflecting roofs and a judicious use of fans are other means of helping to reduce the effect of high temperatures on chickens.

STARTING RIGHT AFTER June 21st, the longest day of the year, artificial lights should be used with layers to give a continuation of slightly increasing length of day. The total length of the light day (natural plus artificial) should be increased each week by about 15 minutes until a maximum of 22 hours is reached. It is best to give this increase through extra light before daybreak during the summer months so that the birds can use the coolest part of the day.

INCREASE THE CALCIUM content of the laying mash to be at least 3½ per cent during the summer months as a help in maintaining good egg shell quality. With an all mash feeding program, this calcium content can be obtained by about 180 pounds of feeding grade ground, limestone per ton of laying mash. Hot weather interferes with the hen's ability to fully utilize the calcium in her ration. Trials have shown that the calcium content can be increased to as much as 5 per cent without hurting egg production and with some added advantage in shell strength during hot weather.

Fertilize your trees and shrubs now if you didn't do it earlier this spring. Purdue University horticulturists recommend two pounds of 10-8-6 fertilizer or one and one half pounds of 12-12-12 per 100 square feet of shrub bed.

ARMY PROBES AGE-OLD ICE

The snows of yesterday are being examined at Camp Century, the U.S. Army research station carved out of the ice 140 miles east of Thule Air Force Base in Greenland. Using an electrically heated ring, scientists are boring through the 5,000 foot thick ice floor under the camp. Samples of ice that has been formed from snowfalls throughout the centuries will, it is hoped, give new evidence of what the world was like at the start of the ice ages.

Chrysanthemums can be fooled into flowering earlier, reports the Department of Agriculture. They normally do not bloom until the days are short and the nights long. But if plants are subjected to several successive daily dark periods of about 16 hours, the tests showed, the mums can be made to flower before their time.

45 years old or older and about two million have children under 18.

Headache remedies cost U. S. sufferers $300 million a year, according to the Public Health Service.

Humane slaughter laws have been adopted by 13 states, the most recent being Maryland, reports the Allbright-Neil Company, manufacturer of meat packing equipment. The laws regulate handling and immobilization of the animals, construction of chutes and training of personnel.

Automatic toll collectors are being removed from the Walt Whitman Bridge by the Delaware River Port Authority. A study showed them to be 14 per cent slower than human toll takers.

A radio heliograph, an instrument designed to permit study of solar phenomena that cannot be observed with present equipment, is being built by the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization of Australia. One hundred saucer-shaped aerials, each 42 feet across, will be placed in a circle two miles in diameter. They will receive energy from the sun and will feed it to computers for analysis. It is hoped the heliograph will garner information about the nature and causes of the great solar explosions and storms.

Heat absorbing glass could reduce costs of air conditioning and save draperies from summertime fading, according to University of Florida researchers.

Instant liquor is popular in Thailand. A mixture of dry rice husks and yeast is sealed in an earthen jar and buried for a few weeks. When fermentation has taken place, someone wanting a drink merely adds water and starts sipping—preferably through a bamboo straw. The drink is called "oo".

Face Fly Infestations

Face fly infestations are building up on cattle on many Indiana farms, notes Dave Matthews, Purdue University extension entomologist. Face flies have become an increasingly serious pest in the last few years.

These flies cluster around the eyes of cattle and horses, causing great discomfort. When populations reach high numbers, animals quit eating, fail to gain weight or drop their milk production.

Face flies feed on mucus secretions from the eyes and nostrils of animals. The females lay eggs in fresh manure in which the larvae develop. A complete life cycle takes about two or three weeks.

Face flies may be controlled on dairy animals by spraying them daily with either synergized prethrins or DDVP sprays. DDVP should be applied at the rate of 2 ounces of the 1 per cent spray per animal per day. Apply prethrins according to label directions. Both of these materials may be used by fogging inside the barn when the animals are present.

Face fly populations may be reduced on beef animals by using cable rubbers or oilers. For applications of insecticides by these oilers, use either 5 per cent DDT, methoxychlor or toxaphene or a 1 per cent ronnel mixed with mineral oil. Cable rubbers work best in open pastures and when placed near salt or water.

Don't use DDVP syrup baits left over from last year, he cautions. The old material probably has lost most of its effectiveness.

Details on face fly control may be obtained from county extension offices or by writing the Entomology department of Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

NIPSCO STORING GAS IN UNDERGROUND CAVITY

William A. Summers, NIPSCO engineer in charge of underground storage, points to a cross-section view of the company's Royal Centre underground storage field showing the various sub-surface rock layers. Inset at left shows a magnified view of one of the sandstone core samples on the table. Natural gas is stored in the tiny open spaces of the rock.

When the thermometer tumbles to zero and below next winter, natural gas customers in this area will be using gas that's really been around. In fact, it will have come all the way from Oklahoma, Texas and the Gulf Coast to Northern Indiana Public Service Company's receiving stations on the state line at Hammond.

From there, NIPSCO will have sent it 80 miles southeast—to Royal Centre—where it will have been pumped into what looks like a layer of solid rock, and kept there until needed. It's called underground storage—a "fools pipe dream" until a few years ago. Modern know-how and equipment, however, have developed it into an efficient, cost-saving reality for the gas industry.

Three years ago, NIPSCO engineers and geologists were busy taking a good look at northern Indiana—below the surface of the earth—seeking geological structures to hold natural gas in storage. Core samples and instruments showed a promising area at Royal Centre, 12 miles northeast of Logansport. The big drill rigs went to work sinking wells which would be used for injection and withdrawal of storage gas.

Almost daily, for the past 12 months, a huge 660-horsepower compressor has been pumping natural gas, through the wells, deep into the earth at Royal Centre. Today, more than one billion cubic feet of gas rests securely in a layer of porous sandstone 1,350 feet below this Hoosier farmland near the Wabash Valley. The big question all this time has been "Will it work?"

"For several months we have known that the site of our first underground storage facilities was about as perfect a natural structure as can be found," relates Dean Mitchell, NIPSCO's chairman and president. "Water in the sandstone layer—pushed back by injected gas—forms an excellent seal below and around the edges of the curved formation. Above is a solid, non-porous layer of limestone which forms a 'lid' to keep the gas from rising."

"We knew we had the same kind of geographical structure here in northern Indiana as those in which gas is found in its natural state in the Gulf Coast area—except that this one bears water instead of gas. We had proven by this spring that gas could be injected and safely stored at the Royal Centre site. One big—and important—question remained, however."

"Could the gas be efficiently withdrawn and sent back into our transmission lines to serve NIPSCO customers on the coldest winter days when they need extra gas for space heating? We had risked nearly two million dollars in the project—the answer was important."

NIPSCO's engineers and geologists recently got that long awaited answer. Natural gas which had been pumped under pressure into the sandstone more than a quarter of a mile below, was successfully brought up through seven injection withdrawal wells at the site, passed through transmission lines crossing the station site. These pipelines link the Wabash Valley with NIPSCO's sprawling northwest transmission system.

The sandstone storage layer was termed "efficient and economical" when it proved that it could give up gas in large enough quantities—and fast enough—as well as "take" the gas at an effective rate.

"Since the project is progressing so satisfactorily," said Rollin M. Shahfer, NIPSCO's vice-president of engineering and electric operations, "six of these will soon be converted to injection-withdrawal wells."

The utility officer also reported that another underground storage facility is being developed by NIPSCO at Lake of the Woods, near Plymouth. Some 125 million cubic feet of gas has already been injected into one of 11 wells at the Marshall County site, and the company engineers report it is taking gas satisfactorily.

He added that NIPSCO is test drilling at other locations throughout its northern Indiana service area in an effort to find more sites for natural gas storage.

Injured In Auto
Accident Tuesday

Linda Smythe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smythe of Palestine, remains in the Murphy Medical Center with a bad gash on her forehead and a slight concussion after three cars figured in an accident at the Forrest Miner corner east of Mentone Tuesday noon. Arthur Wise of Burkett had a gash in his left elbow dressed and Steven Bennett, 11, was treated for bruises and released from the hospital.

The accident occurred while Mr. Wise was coming west and Mrs. Carolyn Bennett and son in one car and Linda Smythe in another were going east. Mrs. Bennett slowed for a turn and the Smythe auto failed to stop, hit the Bennett auto and then the Wise car.

Work Starting At
Brown Mfg. Plant

Construction of an initial ten self-service ice machines are in production at the Brown Mfg. Co. plant, just south of Mentone. As soon as additional materials are received production will be increased.

The Brown Mfg. has a beautiful plant here, yet it is not fully ready for production. Lights in the production area were being installed this week, and the various items of production equipment were being placed and tested.

Mrs. Mary Cox of Mentone had surgery Friday at the Vincent Hospital in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Clarence Leininger is in the Roosevelt Memorial Hospital, 426 W. Wisconsin St., Chicago, Ill. She is there for tests and her room is 408.

Mrs. Ernest Williamson came home last week from South Bend after undergoing eye surgery at Memorial Hospital in April.

Mrs. Harry Gible had major surgery Wednesday morning at the Woodlawn hospital at Rochester.

Mrs. E. C. Ralston had major surgery Friday and is recovering at the Linville Memorial hospital at Columbia City.

HIRE SCHOOL
ADMINISTRATOR

At the regular meeting of the school board of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation, held in the Beaver Dam school Monday evening, Robert M. Forbes of Flora was hired to be the administrator for the new four-township school corporation.

Mr. Forbes, aged 44 and the father of three children, has been at Flora the past three years and has accomplished an outstanding job during the consolidation and completing of a one and a third million dollar school plant in Carroll county. Del Nelson, Lawrence Butts and Paul Fites visited the area last Friday and consulted with many of the citizens of the area seeking first hand information of Mr. Forbes. They found the school to be a marvel in educational advantages, and the structure, though modest in appointments, was masterfully designed and arranged.

Mr. Forbes was given a three-year contract with a starting salary of $10,500 per year, almost two-thirds of which will be supplemented by the state.

The bringing of a new personality from another area will bring some new methods and new experiences into our midst, and although some of us may not always agree with some of the procedures, careful consideration on the part of all citizens should enable us to have one of the finest school systems anywhere around. Mr. Forbes' record and accomplishments is proof that he is a tireless and capable worker.

The school board went on record as favoring the establishment of a 50c accumulative fund and the necessary legal procedures are now being made so that all will be ready when they officially take over the management of the school system July 2nd.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Have been impatiently waiting for the boards to come down on the bank corner, and they are down at last. Aren't we going to have a handsome building!!

For two days last week my menu was salmon cakes, and (thick) slices of cucumber with (thin) slices of baby onions in sour cream and vinegar. Another day I enjoyed chicken and noodles, and still another—Chicken Tetrazini. (Thanks to Isabelle.) You wonder why? Well the editor was fishing in Canada (with Bill Barth of Mid-Central Engraving) and since he eats none of the above mentioned food, it was the logical time for me to do so.

According to Dr. Richard H. Phillips, of State University of New York, science has finally distinguished between "collectors" and "accumulators." (And, believe me, my interest in this subject is more than casual.)

Dr. Phillips says that an accumulator is NOT a saver, is not a hoarder, is not a collector, although he may confuse you by calling himself one of these terms.

"The collector is disturbed by empty spaces which ought to be filled. The accumulator is plagued by full spaces which ought to be emptied."

"An accumulators accumulation is a hodge podge which has been acquired and retained with a real avoidance of any kind of definitive thinking."

"He attempts to hide them in the attic, cellar, closet, or garage. Meanwhile he is excusing himself to himself by trying to believe that one day those things may come in handy."

(On second thought, last week would have been the right time to get this item in the paper. In case this is my last column—it's been nice knowing you.)

Note on communism.

"We are not going to defeat this implacable enemy (communism) by imitating his ways or by compromising with its philosophy. If we continue to do this we shall be ruined and with our ruin will go our cherished freedoms—of religion, of thought, of speech—the principles on which the U.S. government was founded. Many Hear Address
On National Defense

About eighty individuals from this area gathered at the Steer Inn Tuesday evening for a delicious smorgasbord dinner and to hear a stirring address on national defense by Mrs. Fred Schlemmer of Bremen. Mrs. Schlemmer is national defense chairman in Indiana for the D. A. R.

The speaker gave a roving report of the many activities of the communists, and showed us how they were constantly and desperately finding their way into every facet of American life, entrenching themselves in positions of influence in every walk of life. Nothing is sacred to a communist except his own misguided ideals and by intrigue and mass murder have now become masters over one-fourth of the world population.

Mrs. Schlemmer warned that as long as Americans remain in small groups and units they can sustain our present way of life, but the communists are gradually bringing our citizens into control by all sorts of "democratic" excuses so that some unit of government has control over our individual lives. Every means of control and subjugation from a mental health program to urban renewal, farm control to nationalized industries, etc. are being used to herd Americans into the net that will bring Khrushchev's threat into reality.

Leroy Norris served capably as the MC of the meeting. H. V. Johns led in group singing. Rev. Robert Morgan of Yellow Creek Lake gave the invocation while Prof. Wayne Snider, history professor at Grace College, gave the benediction. Mrs. Frank Smith very capably introduced the speaker.

Reception Held For New Minister

About 85 members and friends of the Mentone Methodist church joined in giving an official welcome to their new minister Sunday evening in the church dining room. After a delicious smorgasbord luncheon for Rev. and Mrs. Glen Campton and son Richard, Dr. Urschel showed a number of pictures taken on a trip through Glacier National Park and the Teton Mountains.

An hour of fellowship and visiting was enjoyed by all.

LARGE CROWD AT
COOPERS' THURSDAY

Very likely one of the largest crowds ever to come to Mentone for a special sale appeared at Coopers' Store last Thursday morning. The shoppers were so numerous that the store doors had to be locked until some of those in the store were through shopping and more would then be permitted to enter. Lines of shoppers formed on the sidewalk both directions from the entrance, and 150 free gifts for adults were exhausted in about ten minutes.

Farm Expenses Are Higher

Production expenses of Indiana farmers, one per cent higher in the first four months of 1962, are likely to continue their slow rise, say Purdue University agricultural economists.

Items costing farmers a little more included taxes, hired labor, fertilizer, seed, building and machinery repairs and certain production items of non-farm origin. However, costs of purchased livestock probably will be a little lower after mid-year.

Corn prices probably will rise moderately during the next two months, according to the economists, who advise farmers to sell soybeans on any temporary price rise. Consider contract sale of wheat when the price goes over the loan rate.

Hog prices should peak for the year during the next three months, then decline seasonally. The recently developed gradual weakening of most fed cattle prices is expected to continue during the summer.

Some weakness in feeder cattle prices can be expected between now and July.

Dairymen are advised to cull their herds now to take advantage of stronger slaughter and milk prices.

The economists foresee little change in broiler prices during the next several weeks.

MOWER FIRES
LETHAL STONE

The force at which a power mower can propel a stone was demonstrated with near-disastrous consequences last weekend at Nyona Lake.

Robert Filbey was operating the mower in the back yard of the Frank Filbey home when the mower struck a stone and shot it completely through the rooms of the Filbey's lake cottage.

Traveling like a bullet, the stone missed the head of Mrs. Helen Filbey by only eight inches. It traveled at least 60 feet before lodging in an awning outside the living room window.

Frank Filbey found later that the stone had made a golf ball size hole in the kitchen window six feet above ground, ripping holes in a living room curtain and window on its way through the house.—Rochester Sentinel.

Space Savers
For Kitchen

It seems no homemaker ever has enough storage space, especially in the kitchen.

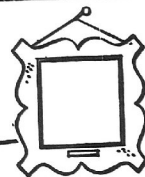

But tips for increasing storage space for essential equipment in "Space Savers for Your Kitchen Storage" published by Purdue University.

Wise use of storage space saves the time and energy of the homemaker as well as lengthening the life of the equipment, says Ruth Hutcheson, housing specialist and author of the mimeo.

To help you decide what kinds of space savers you need, consider the equipment, supplies and the working areas you use for different kitchen jobs. Divide the kitchen into work centers, the mixing center, sink center, range center, and select the space saver you need to improve your storage.

Choose from illustrated set-in shelves; step shelves for spices, platters or bowls; door racks; recipe book racks; folding cabinet doors; dividers for shallow pans, lids, trays; hanging shelves and drawer partitions. Easy to follow directions are given for construction.

Free to Indiana residents, "Space Savers for Kitchen Storage", Mimeo HE-395, is available at the county agent's office or from the Agricultural Publications Department, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

Powder Post Beetles In Wood

Don't confuse powder post beetle damage with that of termites, says Dave Matthew, Purdue University extension entomologist. Powder post beetles can be serious structural pests, but their control procedures are entirely different from those for termites.

The beetles riddle the surface of wood with round holes about the size of a pencil lead. The larvae work inside, reducing the wood to powder-like dust. This dust, which resembles flour, sifts from the holes and accumulates in little piles beneath infested areas.

Termites work entirely within the timbers, leaving no external evidence of their presence until the surface breaks or the wood gives way. Termites also may build small mud tubes over wood and foundation walls.

Neither the larvae of the powder post beetle nor the small, free flying adult beetles requires a ground contact as do termites. So powder post beetles can be controlled by spraying or otherwise treating infested wood. Soil and foundation treatments used for termite control do not affect powder post beetles.

Several insecticides, including DDT, lindane and pentachlorophenol, can be used to treat powder post beetles infesting wood. Pentachlorophenol is also a wood preservative. Reputable pest control firms are familiar with these insecticides and have personnel to apply them.

Shrubs For Year-Round Beauty

The right shrub varieties will add year-round beauty to your home grounds, according to Purdue University horticulturists.

Probably the most popular group for all around effect are the evergreens. Within this group, the Junipers—available in many different forms and colors—are very popular.

Many Junipers have a spreading habit and fit well into the landscape of today's single story dwellings. Most popular is the Pfizer's Juniper, but it grows too tall for ranch type homes. You may want to plant the lower variety of Chinese Juniper—the dwarf Pfizer.

The Andorra Juniper is the most popular among the really low-growing Junipers. This variety shouldn't grow over two feet tall and turns purple color in the winter. Some low-growing Junipers, however, remain green all winter. Among them are the Sargent's Juniper or the Japgarden (Japanese Creeping) Juniper.

Nurserymen also have available the Waukegan Juniper, a low-growing, blue foliage variety.

Building Of Farm Ponds

Construction costs and value of land should be major considerations in the selection of a farm pond site, says Donald R. Sisson, Purdue University extension agricultural engineer.

A farm pond can be constructed anywhere, but the cost of an acre of water may vary from a few hundred to a few thousand dollars. The best and most economical site is in a ravine or a small valley, Sisson says. Such a site will store a maximum amount of water with a minimum of earth moving for dam construction.

Land in and around a ravine usually has the lowest value of any on the farm and may be better suited for a pond than for any other use.

In some areas of Indiana the only possible site for a farm pond may be on flat land. In such a situation construction costs usually are relatively high because of the large amount of excavating in proportion to the volume of water stored. This land may also have more value for other uses and may not afford easy development as a scientific spot.

An overflowing stream definitely is not necessary for filling a farm pond, according to Sisson. In contrast, runoff from a barn roof is not sufficient. Surface water from a ten acre drainage area should be sufficient for each acre of pond area. This is about the ideal ratio for Indiana Sisson adds.

Most of the watershed should be in grass or woodland to minimize muddying the pond and filling it with salt. Sources of contamination such as septic tanks and barnyards—should be avoided or diverted from the pond.

Subsoil is a major point to consider in many areas of Indiana. Bedrock, especially limestone or sand and gravel deposits, near the ground surface may indicate that the pond will not hold water unless expensive sealing measures are used.

Sisson points out a pond should have a minimum of one-quarter acre surface area and a maximum depth of eight to ten feet with a minimum of water less than four feet deep.

Sisson says the best time to construct a farm pond is late summer and fall.

He cautions that unless the site is carefully selected, dam and spillways properly designed and the pond well constructed an unsightly mudhole may result.

Make Lawn Mowing Easier

Ease your lawn mowing job by doing something about lawn areas which take extra time to cut and trim, suggests Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

You shouldn't cut up your central lawn area with shrubs, walls and walks. He reminds that power mowing is more difficult with objects in the way and that you must clip the grass around many of them by hand.

Use edging and curbing along fences and walls to reduce hand trimming. And mulch or plant ground covers around trees too. Have your paving flush with the ground so hand clipping isn't necessary.

Grass is not only difficult to establish on steep slopes, but is also hard to maintain and mow.

Scheer recommends eliminating from the lawn areas which are difficult to get at with your power mower. These areas—along the side of your house and between shrub plantings—also may be planted in ground cover.

Sanitation is most important in a good fly control program, advise Purdue University entomologists. Residual sprays of ron-nel, diazinon and malathion, used in connection with a sanitation program, will hold down fly populations.

MENTONE IN THE YEAR 1908

The Jesse Grubbs family moved to Mentone in 1908 from Mahaska, Kansas, and his daughters wrote a letter to the Mahaska newspaper telling of their trip and a few facts about Mentone. We'd like to quote a bit of that letter which tells about Mentone:

The city here is nice, but the country is full of timber and rail fences. We have had several showers since we came, but no hard ones. Mentone has two butcher shops, four dry goods and grocery stores, two banks—one first national and one farmers bank, two hardware stores, two drug stores, two studios, two harness shops, one automobile factory, one saw mill, one grist mill, two dress making shops, one bakery, two barber shops, one printing office, one large hotel, one livery and feed stable, one furniture store, three blacksmith shops, one creamery, one confectionery, two implement houses, one tailor shop, two churches, a high school and an electric light plant which lights up the town on every block and most of the dwelling are something like the walks houses. The cement sidewalks in Fairbury.

To Be Honored On 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Elick, of Mentone, will be honored on Sunday, July 1, celebrating their golden anniversary. An open house will be held at Scotts Lake, Mich., where they live during the summer monthss.

The Elicks are the parents of three children, three grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren. The children, Mrs. Freda Swartz, Logansport; Don Elick, Bellflower, Calif.; Mrs. Ralph Ward; their son-in-law, Ralph Ward, and their grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Gible, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ward, and Ronald Ward, will make the trip to Michigan to help celebrate the anniversary.

Since an open house cannot be held at Mentone, their family knows that the Elicks would appreciate receiving cards from friends in this area.

Their address is:
Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Elick
R. R. 3, East Jordan, Mich.

Choral Club Excels At Purdue Meet

The Kosciusko County Home Demonstration Choral club, under the direction of Miss Mary J. Miller, won honors recently at the annual concert of Home Demonstration Choruses at Purdue University Hall of Music. They were one of three picked as the outstanding choral clubs when they were auditioned before Albert P. Stewart, Director Purdue Musical organizations, during the conference.

The club sang for their audition number a selection from the musical comedy, Wild Cat—Hey! Look Me Over, arranged by Clay Warnick.

This is the second time within the last three years that this group has won honors. After a chorus has won once, they are not eligible to compete again for two years.

Miss Miller was presented a plaque for ten years of service as choral director by Mr. Stewart, who also commented on her leadership ability.

The Choral club will be enrolling new members this fall. Anyone interested in singing is invited to apply for membership. It is not necessary any longer to be a member of a Home Demonstration club. For further information, contact Miss Miller, or the club officers, pres., Mary R. Mishler, Winona Lake; vice president, Mrs. Lloyd Swoverland, Etna Green; sec., Mrs. Wayne Schaaf, Warsaw; treas., Mrs. Fred Yohey, Atwood.

During the year the Choral club has attended district rehearsals at Albion, Indiana; held a joint sing with Pulaski, Marshall and Fulton counties at Rochester; and, sung for several local churches.

Those having a perfect rehearsal attendance for the year are Mrs. John Lucas, Mrs. Clara-belle Demaree, and Mary R. Mishler, Mrs. Robert White of Etna Green, Mrs. Jerry Knepper of Warsaw; and Mrs. Kenneth Bush of Claypool.

A LOT OF FLYING FOR LOCAL DOCTOR

During the past week, Dr. Dan Urschel has been attending the annual meeting of the College of Chest Physicians, which is being held in Chicago prior to the meeting of the American Medical Association. The college is a specialty group composed of physicians and surgeons who work with diseases of the heart and lungs. Dr. Urschel has been a fellow of this group for a number of years.

On Wednesday of this week, he attended a board meeting of the Flying Physicians Association which was held in connection with the AMA session in Chicago.

During an eight day period, he certainly achieved maximum utilization of the small plane which he and Dr. Wilson own in partnership. Because Dr. Wilson is out of town, he did not want to remain in Chicago overnight for these meetings. Therefore, he flew back and forth to Chicago four times and in that same period was in Ft. Wayne twice on medical work.

Missionary Group Meets At Church

Yes, the Civil War Was Noisy!

Plenty interesting to watch, but just a bit noisy. That was this youngster's reaction to a match between Civil War teams at Greenfield Village's Muzzle Loaders Festival. The Eighth Annual event, set for Saturday and Sunday, June 23-24, will feature Union and Confederate soldiers of the Civil War and colorfully garbed pioneers and frontiersmen of the old west in an exciting spectacle that recaptures the realism of this era of our nation's history. Friendly competition, as shown above, featuring military teams, will highlight the Sunday events between noon and 5 p.m. Frontiersmen and similarly dressed historical figures will stage individual competition the same hours on Saturday. Other features both days will include cannon demonstrations, precision drills, bow and arrow versus muzzle loader competition and costume contests. Registrations indicate the two-day Festival will draw more than 300 shooters from nearly 40 organized gun clubs and Civil War commemorative regiments. Besides Michigan, participants are from Ohio, Wisconsin, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New York and Washington, D. C. Greenfield Village, with 200 picturesque acres of Americana, is located near Detroit, Michigan.

AMERICAN POWER BOAT RACES JULY 14-15

For the first time, one of the major boat racing organizations will stage a major two day event in northern Indiana waters. The Midwest Chicago Boat Racing Drivers Association, Inc., which is affiliated with the American Power Boat Association, will conduct the races. The race course will be laid out directly in front of Bledsoe's Beach on Lake James, allowing plenty of space for spectator viewing as well as a thrilling area for actual racing.

There will be continuous racing beginning on Saturday morning through Sunday afternoon, about six or seven hours a day. This is also the week of the annual Beach Ball which starts on Friday night and runs to Sunday. The races are one of the attractions of this event.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY AT CULVER

The public has been invited to attend an Independence Day fireworks display at Culver Military Academy at 9:15 p.m. Wednesday, July 4.

The display is part of the Academy's annual Independence Day observance. Wednesday is also the formal opening of the Culver Summer Schools.

TEACHERS TO SPEND WEEK IN DENVER

Mrs. Nellie Riley, Warsaw, and Mrs. Dwight Bechtol, Burk, both summer students at Grace College, will leave this Saturday by train for a week in Denver, Colorado.

They'll be representing the Kosciusko Classroom Teacher's Association at the annual convention of the National Education Association.

They will serve as hostesses at a Wyatt for National presidential reception.

On July 4th, they will attend an outdoor supper at Denver's spectacular Red Rocks Theater. At dusk the Denver Symphony Orchestra will give an instrumental arrangement of the second act of Carmen.

One way to fix summer squash is to cut it off into half-inch slices or cubes. Cook 5-15 minutes in a minimum amount of water, or steam it. You need not pare summer squash before cooking, say Purdue University food specialists, since the skin is so tender.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Yeiter were in Cleveland, Ohio over the past week end where Mr. Yeiter underwent tests at the Cleveland Clinic. August 1 he expects to return for surgery for repair to his heart which was damaged in an auto accident a number of years ago.

Wm. Barth of Kokomo and the editor returned Saturday from a week of fishing near Wawa, Ontario, north of the Soo. The fishing was fine with Bill getting the kind you take pictures of and yours truly keeping the bait bucket full. (The two and three-pounders I just put back into the water to grow up.)

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kuhn of Akron and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tombaugh of Mentone spent the week end in Madison, Wisconsin visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Dick Tombaugh and Bryan.

Mrs. O. G. Carter, accompanied by Miss Mildred Stuckey, of Plymouth, has returned from a tour of the eastern states. ## COUNTERPOINT. Continued

Lowell, was once asked how long the American way of life will endure. He thought for a moment and answered, "Only so long as the ideals and the philosophy of the men who made it continue dominant in the minds and hearts of each succeeding generation." We have strayed a long way from many of those ideals. Let us find our way back."

—Life Lines, June 27, 1962

We enjoyed this.

Fresh out of the hills, a young man edged up to the ticket window in a train depot down South.

"I'm headed for Knoxville," he announced, "and I'm aneedin' a ticket."

"Certainly," replied the ticket agent. "Do you have any baggage?"

"Baggage?" repeated the hillbilly slowly. "What's baggage?"

"To put your clothes in," replied the ticket agent.

The hillbilly was thunderstruck. "What?" he cried. "And me go nekked?"
