BEAVER DAM HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

By Roger Nellans The Beavers finished their basketball season with a 13-8 record after losing to Etna Green, 65-49, in the Sectional tournament on Thursday evening, February 27. The county champs led all the way, and the Beavers played a yood game, but the Cubs' excellent rebounding and fine detensive work proved too much for the smaller Beavers. Hoffer led the Cubs with 24 points,

Larry Bibler finished his high school basketball career by scoring 25 points to lead both teams in scoring. He scored 17 points on 19 attempts at the charity line and rounded out the season with an excellent 77.4' percent iree throw average for the year. This made him 530 points for the season for a 25.24 per game .verage.

I am sure I can express for the Beaver Dam fans our thanks to our coach, Mr. Boyd Reutebuch, and the boys for giving us a satisfactory season with their fine performances and records. Score by Quarters: Etha Green 16 34 50 65

NICA Annual Meeting Monday

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Northern Indiana Cooperative Association of Mentone was held at the school about 75 stockholders present in person and 148 represented by a previous mail vote. Leroy Norris, president of the board of directors, served as chairman of the meeting.

After, invocation was given by Rev. Milton Persons, several songs were sung by a chorus composed of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sullivan and daughter Susie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lemler, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rathfon, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Johns, Mrs. Wayne Tombaugh, Mrs. Artley Cullum, Paul Cramblet and Roger Goodman. LeahNell Lemler was the accompanist while Mr. Johns announced and directed.

Philip Lash, secretary of the association, read the minutes of the last annual meeting and gave a report of the attendance at the 12 regular and six special meetings held by the directors during the year

As the terms of two directors, Frank Nellans and Leroy Norris, were expiring, a vote was taken to name their successors. (Many of the stockholders had previously voted by mail and these ballots were counted with those voting at the meeting.)

The four candidates receiving the greater number of votes were:

Leroy Norris 125. Elmer Dickey 123. Stanley Boggs 87. Francis Kehoe 82.

Norris and Dickey were declared elected. (At the organization meeting held later, Gerald Ballenger was named president of the board of directors, with Neil building Monday evening, with Estlick as vice president and Everett Besson, secretary. Everett Rathfon was continued as manager and treasurer and Julia C. Nelson as assistant treasurer.) Department managers Sid Hatfield of the mill, Bill Rathbun of the hardware and building materials, Bud Wise of the oil station and Claude Gates of the tank deliveries, gave brief talks and told of the new services now being provided and improvements that were being made. Claude Gates was given an ovation in honor of his 15 years service with the organization, and Adam Carper and Frank Nellans were likewise mentioned for their years of service.

Otto Pehlgas of the Kroger company mentioned about the new egg handling plant his company is building at Wabash, and about July 1 they expect to be in Mentone regularly for the purchase of our high quality eggs. The new plant will be extremely modern, with all operations done mechanically and electronically, including the grading. The firm is now visiting Mentone each Tuesday and Friday to meet egg producers Voting of the stockholders to amend Article 6 of their constitution and by-laws resulted in a tally of 248 for the amendment and 14 against.

The changes proposed in the amendment have been deemed necessary by the governing body of the association for many years and various efforts have been made to relieve the situation before the "guaranteed eight percent accumulative" provision in the original stock became too great a burden on the association. It meant that owners of stock, regardless of whether they ever patronized the association, would be the first to get the interest on their stock while those who patronized and helped earn the money to pay the interest ever received a cent in patronage refunds. Under the new proposal, interest payment on stock and patronage refunds can be declared by the directors as the annual operational savings may permit.

Because of the increased stability of the concern, the stock now is more valuable than before, yet those who have invested for interest earnings only may find their earnings a little more in line with that paid by most corporations

Power Steering On Tractors

Power steering on automobiles may be/a luxury, but on a farm tractor it is a necessity, according to J. B. Liljedahl, agricultural engineer at Purdue University.

Tractors are now heavier, more powerful, faster, and carry larger implements. A trend toward single cultivation has encouraged farmers to steer their tractors more accurately in order to do the best possible job of killing weeds. Farmers average two or three hours on tractors for each hour spent driving an automobile. For these reasons Lilgedan feels that power steering is a must on large farm tractors.

Recent tests at Purdue University prove the value of power steering when loading manure, cultivating with a four-row cultivator, and absorbing the jar of hitting bumps. The power steering studies were a part of a farm cariac project sponsored by the Indiana Heart Foundation, the American Heart Association, the National Institutes of Health, and the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station.

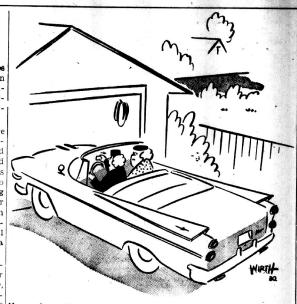

Liljedahl reports that these tests showed a requirement of as much as 50 pounds of force to steer a large row-crop tractor equipped with a manure loader when the tractor had conventional steering. The addition of power steering to the same tractor reduced the steering effort to one-third of mechanical steering.

When cultivating corn, maximum steering forces were from 18 to 35 pounds on a large tractor with conventional steering. Power steering reduced the steering efforts to one-fourth to one-third.

In other tests a large tricycletype tractor was driven over fiveinch bumps placed at a 45 degree angle. At four and a third miles per hour (about third gear for most tractors) tests showed that the shock force to the driver's hands was as high as 70 pounds when power steering was not used.

The bump tests were performed with no equipment on the tractor. The shocks would vertainly have been greater if the bumps had been higher or if an implement, such as a cultivator or a loader, had been mounted on the tractor.

No bump tests were made with power steering, but if they had been, the shock forces would have been about one-fourth or one-third of mechanical steering. Bumps such as these, says Liljedahl, would not always be a hazard if the driver knew they are coming, but he usually doesn't. When the tractor driver is relaxed or sleepy, a bump causing a 70 pound shock will often jerk the wheel loose from his hands.

Proper sanitation and ventilation can help reduce dairy calf death losses, according to dairymen at Purdue University. Several state colleges report that 25 percent of the dairy calves in a herd may die before reaching maturity. Scours and pneumonia cause a high percentage of the losses. Navel infection ranks third in calf losses. This problem can be greatly reduced by disinfecting the navel of the new born calf with iodine.

Grow Nut Trees

Native fruit and nut trees offer Hoosier farmers and homeowners an excellent opportunity for additional food or income from the fruit used, or a shade tree with ornamental value, according to W. B. Ward, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

There is a ready market for native pecans, hicans, walnuts, Persian (English) and both hickory nuts, filberts, Black. chestnuts, butternuts and heartauts. Also, native fruits such Bresson and son from Tippeas persimmons and papaws may be grown for family use or marketed at a profit.

To assist interested homeowners an Extension mimeo HO-45, 'Native fruits and Nuts" is available from county agent's offices. Fruit and nut trees do best in fertile, well-drained soils. Areas that are exposed to extreme variations in temperature and moisture should be avoid-Nut trees do well where ed peach trees grow.

Time to plant the nut and fruit trees will vary according to the location, but, for most parts of the state, late March to mid-April is the best time. Ward indicates the same procedure can be used as in planting shade trees. The distance between trees should range from six to eight feet for filberts, when used as a hedge, to 75 feet for permanent pecan & walnut trees. After the young tree has been planted, the main stem should be cut back about half way to a good strong lateral bud which will form a central leader type of growth for a strong framework.

There are a good many varieties of fruits and nuts available from nurserymen. Each new seedlings are discov year ered which are outstanding.

Complete information on native nut and fruit production can be found in the new mimeo, available from the office of agricultural publications at Purdue.

The Grand Champion at the 1958 Hoosier Spring Bar-row Show was exhibited by Thomas Foster and Family of Greenfield, Indiana.

The Grand Chapion was a 214 pound crossbred barrow from a Poland China boar and Yorkshire sow cross. This lean-type barrow had a back fat measurement of 1.20 inches. The body length was 30.3 inches and the loin eye area measured 4.24 inches. This barrow was a six month old pig from a litter of nine.

The Reserve champion was a pure bred Hampshire shown by Wilbert Thieme of Decatur, Indiana. The 198 pound Reserve champion had a back fat measurement of 1.43 inches, and .a loin eye area of 3.98 inches. The body length was 30.0 inches

The Grand Champion of the "on-foot" show was a purebred Hampshire barrow shown by Paul Larson, Frankfort. This barrow placed 22nd in the medium weight carcass judging. Hollandbeck said there never has been such even grading of all the processed animals

Out of the 694 hogs entered in the show, 163 of them were Hampshires. Close behind were the Yorkshires with 157 entered in the competition. The Chester White breeders showed the biggest increase. There were 200 percent more Chester Whites shown this year.

If the daying house litter becomes too damp, Purdue University poultrymen advise the poultry raiser to add one pound of hydrated lime for every four square feet of floor and fork it well into the litter. Frequent stirring of the litter and liberal ventilation also help to keep the litter in good condition.

Polish Up House Plants

Household plants can be brightened up by use of protective coatings, similar to furniture polish or wax, says C. E. Hoxie, Purdue University horticulturist. These coatings, sold under various trade names, form a smooth, glossy finish on flowers and plants. The finish does not attract dust and usually doesn't injure living plants, according to Hoxie.

Rubs and sprays are the most popular for home use. About one dollar's worth of the material will cover most of the plants in the house.

In addition to keeping plants Tooking well-cared for, the coatings protect foliage that drys out easily. For instance, appearance of some cut flowers exposed to strong light, can be brightened and their lives prolonged.

Hoxie says mineral oil, olive oil, cream or butter should not be used to "freshen up" plants. These leave a soft coating which attracts dust and if used in or near relatively high temperatures may even injure plants.

Precaution should be taken in the use of sprays not to allow excess amounts to run off plants into the soil. Root damage could result, according to the horticulturist. The coating should be a before plants look bedraggl a "touch up" job can about once a month.

And, says Hoxie, don't the coating to improve the of the plants if they have been properly tended.

Sheep Men Elect Officers

Thirty-five Kosciusko County sheep Producers attended a recent field day and meeting sponsored by the County Growers Association. The crowd convened at Clifford Fawley's farm north west of Warsaw where they saw a flock of purebred and grade Hampshire ewes being handled partly as a commercial and partly as a breeding flock. The tour proceeded to the Freeman Gruenwald farm west of Warsaw which supports a commercial flock of ewes and lambs. The third stop was at Wilbur and Lyndes Latimer's farm west of Burket. Latimers produce both purebred Shropshires and Hampshires. At each stop the flock owner displayed and discussed the various management practices which he was following. Ewe rations, lamb creep rations. shearing, weaning time, and more uniform lamb crops were items of primary interest.

At noon the group assembled at Pete's Restaurant in Mentone and after lunching together held a reorganization meeting. Wilbur Latimer was re-elected President for 1958, Russell Hoffer was elected Vice-President, and Peter Waldeck was elected Secretary & Treasurer. Jim Outhouse and Russell Brower of the Purdue Animal Husbandry staff. gave illustrated talks covering the major problems of concern to those present. Major emphasis was placed on pelleting creep feed for lambs and hav ing lambs born closer together. The Purdue formula for Pelleted Creep Feed for Lambs including corn, oats, alfalfa meal, protein, vitamins and other nutrients was given by Dr. Outhouse and the advantages were discussed at some length. Those few growers who had used the pellets in lamb creeps testified that their results were good and particularly that founder was prevented by using the pelleted combination. Dr. Outhouse also told the growers that they could get a more uniform lamb cron be removing ewes from legume pastures for two weeks prior to the start of the mating season.

Russell Brower's talk concerned improvement pastures and feeding methods for handling large flocks of sheep. One practice emphasized was the seeding of rye in August in alfalfa and clover fields. Rye seeded in this matter prolongs the pasture season in the fall and starts the pasture season earlier the following spring. The County Grower Ass'n tentatively plans to hold a field day in mid-summer to visit different pastures.

How to be Perfect Guest

Be interesting . . be imaginative . . . and be gone.

These three ingredients, says Elsa Maxwell in the March Reader's Digest, will make you a perfect guest-one who gives good value for the invitation received. likely to be invited again as soon as possible.

Miss Maxwell - one of the world's best-known hostessesgives these tips in her article. "To Be the Perfect Guest."

1. Be interesting: stock in trade for a good guest is conversational ability, developed by cultivating fresh ideas. Keep up with the magazines and newspapers. Read the latest books, the classics.

2 Be imaginative: wit is the peg on which the reputations of great conversationalists hang, but true wit isn't given to many of us. If you haven't got it, never Cultivate a memory for mind. anecdote. When you hear a good story, remember it-but be sure you remember how to tell it. Do as any good actor does: rehearse the bit in private before trying it on an audience; and if it helps the story to exaggerate a little do so.

Two sure-fire silence breakers Miss Maxwell found, are love and sex. Any conversation will hit a lull at times, she says; but few lulls will survive a question like: "Just what is it that makes men want to leave home for a girl like Marilyn Monroe?"

3. Her final cue for the popular party-goer: be gone. The wise hostess she says, will keep a clock in plain sight. When the clock says time's up, tell your hostess how much you've enjoyed the evening, say good-night-briefly -and shut the door.

FIRE RUN

The fire department was called out about supper time Wednesday afternoon to extinguish a fire in a small outbuilding just north of the Palestine church.

Can I afford to buy fertilizer to plow under this spring? If so, how much should I apply? These are two of the many questions that farmers are asking themselves this spring, and they are very important.

In a recent test on the Purdue University soils and crops farm, an application of 80 lbs. of nitrogen applied annually on a field of continuous corn increased the average yield for four good moisture years from in Thompson, Health & Safety. Awards will be presented by rate of application on sweet clover intercrop raised the corn

Dairy Herd' Replacement

Herd replacement is one of the fixed costs with operating a dairy herd. According to G. A. Williams, Purdue University extension dairyman, the average age of cows on test in Dairy Herd Improvement Associations is 4.6 years.

Since most dairy heifers freshen and enter the milking herd when they are about 2 years old, the average cow does not remain in the milking line more than two or three years.

Each replacement must be home raised or purchased. Unless sold for dairy purposes, slaughter value is all the farmer actually has for replacement. The relationship, therefore, between the price of slaughter cows and milk cows is of great importance to dairymen. According to USDA releases, the average amount of milk which has an equal value to a dairy cow has been 4300 to 5800 pounds. The longer a cow can be retained in the herd, the lower the overhead cost per 100 pounds of milk.

Many herds are receiving large daily allowances of concentrates. If roughages are of high quality, each pound of grain should produce three to six pounds of milk. More roughages and less concentrates tend to keep down udder infection. Selecting breeding stock from long-lived families is an import-Mrs. O. L. McFadden and ant means of reducing herd redaughters called recently on Mrs. placements. If one year can be added to the period of usefulness of each cow in the mill herd, the farmer's overhead ex-penses of herd replacements will be lowered, according to Willia

Roughage For Dairy Herd

Roughages supply the dairy herd with the cheapest source of nutrients. Herds can consume 70-80 percent of their daily needs from pasture. Hay and silage produce milk for the lowest cost per gallon, according to G A. Williams, Purdue extension dairyman.

Unfortunately, the quality of silage and hay that is fed on many dairy farms this winter is low in quality. Reduced production is the result. Under such circumstances, some variation from the regular feeding practices may be practiced.

Feeding trials conducted nt the New York Experiment Station show that under special circumstances it may be desirable for concentrates to supply as much as 65 percent of the nutrients required daily. A 1.000 pound cow producing 40 pounds milk daily may be expected to do equally well on either of the following two roughage-concentrate combinations: 20 pounds hay equivalent and 14 pounds concentrate, or 12 pounds hay and 20 pounds concentrate (1 pound hay-3 pounds silage).

If hay is selling at $20 per ton and a grain mixture can be made for $45 per ton, there is a daily difference in feed cost of five cents in favor of the heavy hay and light grain ration. When roughages are low in quality, cows may not eat the regular daily allowances. Feeding two to three pounds of molasses diluted with an equal weight of warm water and then poured over this hay just be-fore feeding often incluses consumption. The feed value of the hay is not increased, but because of the added com tion, the herd gets more nu trients from the hav.

Dairymen who may be feed ing grass silage for the first time may not realize that most grades of silage from grass contains more protein than silage corn. A grain mixture carrying 10-11 precent digestable protein is more economical than one higher in protein, and because of the added proteins in grass silage is likely to meet the needs of the herd.

Lawn Seeding

pays, according to W. H. Dan iel, Purdue University turf specialist.

In Indiana, however, grass seed can be planted anytime between Thanksgiving and April Fool's Day with little difference in the time since it actually germinates and emerges only as warmer weather arrives.

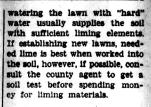

Daniel points out that the earlier planted seed grasses have a better chance of establishing a crown and reaching maturity than the grass that is planted late. Late planted seeds have to compete with crab-grass, disease and drouth.

"If you want to establish a new lawn this spring, seedlings from two to four pounds per 1,000 square feet are recommended. This is enough to give dense cover of young plants, and follow the directions on the package of grass seed.

"To reseed old, established lawns, very light rates, a pound per 1,000 square feet, are usually adequate. If the turf area has uniform cover, an investment in fertilizer can be much better than buying additional seed," Daniel says.

For all Indiana lawns, fertilizers carrying adequate nitrogen are more beneficial, according to Daniel, and one pound of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet is a normal application. This is equal to 10 pounds of many mixed fertilizers, such as 10-3-7, 10-6-4 or 10-10-10.

Established lawns usually need no lime. Daniel indicates that

If the garden was not seeded to some winter crop, clean off the leavings from last year's garden before plowing, say Purdue University horticulturists. The asparagus bed and rhubarb plants should be cleared of all rubbish and fertilizer spread over the bed or around the plans. Peonies will also benefit from fertilization and sanitation.

The first order of business was the amending of the by-laws in regards to membership. The annual membership fee will be $10 for the first representative from a business and $5 for each additional member.

At the election of directors, Ora McKinley, John Miller, Dean Meyer and Kenneth Romine were elected from a slate of 10 candidates submitted by the nominating committee.

The parking situation was discussed at some length, and the necessity for providing adequate and convenient parking for Mentone visitors was stressed. There were reports that employees of some business places have the habit of parking their autos on Main street-the business area--and leaving them there all day It would relieve the situation if some of those people will take a little extra effort and park on some of the nearby side stree's. This would leave more open spaces at or near the main business places

Conservation Progress In Kosciusko Co.

There are three public hunting areas located in the state of Indiana. One of these is located in Kosciusko County near North Webster, Indiana. It is known as the Tri-County Public Hunting area, and has an acreage of about 1800 acres. During the last hunting season which opened November 11, 1957, 5,065 hunters used the area and bagged 1,736 pheasants, 472 cottontail rabbits, 1,114 coturnix quail, 176 bobwhite quail, 2 ducks, 1 woodcock and 1 raccoon. There is no cost to any hunter but he must have a valid hunting license, must obey fish and game laws. The natural lakes on the area are open to fishermen both winter and summer

This spring 40 acres will be planted to wildlife food strips, 40,000 multirose, 6,000 white pine, 1000 tulip poplar, 1000 Red Oak, plus 24 species of experimental planting.

These Public Hunting Areas are financed by a ten percent tax on firearms, ammunition and fishing tackle. So you see the sportsmen pay the bill.

About sixty small wildlife habitats are leased from landowners for food and cover plots for upland game. These areas are leased by the Conservation Department for a period of ten years and the Conservation Department furnishes pine trees, multiflora rose, some hardwoods and other fruit bearing shrubs for food. They also furnish lespedea seed and sorghum seed for both food and cover. Dale N. Martin, waterfowl biologist for the Indiana Department of Conservation has created 52 woodchuck nesting boxes on farm ponds, marshland, and small lakes. About 7000 acres of land is being swallowed up by homesteads and commercial buildings annually. What happens to our wildlife if this trend keeps rolling?

Public Fishing Sites This program is financed by the ten percent tax on fishing tackles and is known as the Dingle-Johnson project. The purpose is to furnish the public access to our lakes and streams. To date five of these areas have been completed in Kosciusko County. (1) Public Fishing Site on Syracuse Lake in the city of Syracuse, gives the public access to Syracuse Lake and Wawasee Lake.

(2) Public Fishing Site on Grassy Creek—located between Tippecanoe Lake and Barbee Lakes, gives the public access to the Tippecanoe chain and the Barbee chain.

(3) Public fishing site on Carr Lake.

(4) Public Fishing site on Palestine Lake, gives the public access to Palestine and Andric Lake.

(5) Public fishing site on Chapman Lake gives the public access to Big and Little Chapman. (6) Tippecanoe River north of time this coming summer. A series of Public Access areas will be purchased in the near future on the Tippecance river, so that people can make about 6 hour floats between launching sites.

MAR. 19. 1958 __ Seed Oats

Farmers are advised to pay particular attention to the seed tags when buying seed oats this spring, says A. S. Carter, Purdue University, director of seed control of Indiana.

Carter indicates that the germination of samples tested thus far this year are very erratic. Fifteen percent of the seed samples that have been tested so far showed below 70 percent germination. This is entirely too low for seeding. For best stands oats should test above 90 per-Only 74 percent of the cent. samples tested were above 90 percent in germination. This erratic germination is probably due to the wet weather at harvest time.

Although there are some oats that are testing too low, there should be an adequate supply of seed oats that have a high germination. This means that farmers must be sure that the oats they intend to plant show satisfactory germination.

Carter suggests that any oats to be used for planting this spring should be tested. He also urges farmers to look for, and try, some of the newer, improved varieties that are recommended by the experiment station at Purdue

These new oat varieties yield more and are more resistant to disease. Carter concluded that if farmers are using oats in their crop rotation, they should try to make as much money from the crop as possible. This can be done through the use of new varieties and recommended practices. Farmers should contact their county agent for the names of new, recommended oat varieties. The state seed laboratory is in a position to test samples that are submitted promptly. A representative sample should consist of at least a pint of seed and should be submitted to the State Seed Laboratory, Purdue University, Lafayette.

FULTON BOYS ON THE PROWL

Fulton county authorities have been having a little difficulty of the mistaken idea that their "bigness" can be demonstrated only by trying to act tough. Boys from Rochester and Akron have been forming gangs and trying to promote fights.

It seems that in the process of learning and growing up, juveniles frequently get the idea They must act tough-and then a few years later they finally realize what fools they made of themselves. The sad part about the whole process is that even though most of these boys do grow up to be respectable citizens, yet the citizens remember many of the things they did in their youth

Fulton county authorities have pledged themselves to enfore the Indiana State curfew law that all juveniles under 18 must be off the streets from 10 p. m. until 5 a. m. unless they are on their

Reading Club 24th Anniversary

The Mentone Reading Club observed its 24th anniversary on Wednesday evening, March 5 a dinner at the Steer Inn.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. F. B. Davison, Mrs. Harold Nelson, Mrs. Wayne Tombaugh and Mrs. Max Nellans.

Four long tables were arranged in the dining room for the members and guests. A lovely spring theme, hinting of sparkling new jewels, perfumes, lacy hankies, and a most believable "hat-tree", along with pastel candles in crystal candle-holders made a lovely setting for the dinner. Each place was marked with a miniature boudoir chair in gay colors.

Following the dinner a trio composed of Mrs. Wayne Tombaugh, Mrs. Ferd Koenig, and Mrs. Artley Cullum sang "Keep On Hopin'" and "The Lilac Tree." Mrs. Vance Johns accompanied them on the piano.

Mrs. Davison gave a welcome to the ladies and then introduced Mr. and Mrs. John Snell trip to Europe last year. Mr. Snell showed a number of unusually fine pictures taken in England, France, Italy, Switzerland and Germany.

CHEVY'S NEW V8 LEVELS THE HIGHEST, HARDEST HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES!

To prove the durability of Chevrolet's radical new Turbo-Thrust V8,* the tremendous flexibility of the new Turboglide transmission,* the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the most challenging transcontinental road in the world -- the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make it harder, the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the hood shut at Buenos Aires -- no chance to add oil or water or adjust carburetors for high altitude.

So the run began -- across the blazing Argentine pampas, into the ramparts of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles in the sky! Drivers gasped for oxygen at 12,572 feet but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never slackened its torrent of power, the Full Coil springs smothered every bump, the Turboglide transmission made play of grades up to 30 percent. Then a plunge to the Pacific at Valparaiso, Chile, a quick turn-around and back again. Time for the round trip: 41 hours 14 minutes -- and the engine was never turned off!
