PARK WORK DAY
HUGE SUCCESS

The Park Board wishes to take this opportunity to thank all those who turned out last Wednesday with saws, axes and miscellaneous equipment for the clean-up day at the park.

Fourteen volunteers were counted at one time by your author, each working vigorously and good naturedly at his own particular task. In fact, with just a little more help from the "Friendly Neighbors Society of Mentone", the entire river bank might have been cleared. As it now appears, another work day will have to be instigated to finish the north end.

As this article goes to press, we would like to list the following accomplishments with an outlay of $136.70.

The entire east section has been bulldozed and cleared of brush and small trees. Dead trees along the river bank eliminated and the rest trimmed. The east section has been disced, harrowed and planted with bluegrass. NIPSCO has donated twelve 40 foot poles for the use of the park. There have been several good suggestions from interested parties as to ways of developing the park, and we invite more. A number of people and societies have made additional offers of financial aid.

The Girl Scouts have made arrangements to plant the first tree in the park. This will be a tulip tree, the state tree of Indiana.

We again wish to thank all those who participated in this work, and especially wish to extend our thanks to those that brought power tools. Art Kendal for his power saw and help, Darrel Tucker for tractor and disc, Herman Olson for tractor and spike toothed harrow, the Manwaring Leghorn Farms for use of tractor and float and Adam Cochran for time in seeding the plot.

We would also ask, that as far as possible, folks would avoid any undue travel on the seeded area until the grass is high enough to mow. Thank you.

LIONS FISH FRY
SET FOR MAY 13

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Recently a deer jumped the fence and crossed the road in front of the car driven by Mrs. Tom Harman. This happened at the Harry Sullivan farm. This can be a very startling experience.

A South Whitley friend of mine (whom we shall call Ann) persuaded her mother (whom we shall call Matilda) to accompany her on a shopping trip to Fort Wayne. While they were in one of the large stores, Matilda slipped away from daughter Ann and located the millinery department. By the time Ann found her, Matilda had purchased a $15.00 hat. You can imagine Ann's surprise and dismay, for Matilda has no use for even a cheap hat, as she never goes any place—not to the store, not to church—just no place. Matilda (who is in her eighties) chuckled and said, "You really would have been scandalized if you had been with me last fall. I paid $25.00 for that hat!"

(Now I know Matilda fairly well, and I've decided that she probably gets more pleasure out of her hats than most of us do. Of course I'm only guessing, but it's entirely possible that she "puts on" her lovely hat as soon as she is dressed each morning and wears it the rest of the day, about the house where she lives alone. Who can say how many long admiring glances she takes in front of her mirror? Mind you, now, I'm only guessing, but it isn't such a bad idea at that.

Mushroom time again!! Well, some of us can see 'em and some can't. A story is being repeated (with several versions) concerning one of our Mentone ministers. It seems that he was mowing his yard one day this week when Wayne Tombaugh stopped to chat. What Wayne saw made him look in wonder. The minister had been clipping off mushrooms right and left—in fact they gathered a half gallon from the area not yet mowed.

(Pastor Driskell has taken so much friendly joshing that he threatens to put up a sign: "No trespassing—or you will be persecuted (too?)"

The "School In the Sky" is to have its flight test this month (Continued on back page)

C. OF C. DISCUSSES DEVELOPMENT CORP.

At a regular meeting of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce held at Pete's Restaurant Monday evening, A committee composed of Larry Castaldi, Lewis Norwood, Lyman Mollenhour and Harold Nelson reported on their findings relative to the possibility of establishing a local development corporation to finance the construction of new homes, industry buildings, or any other such endeavor that might be considered for making improvements in our city. The committee contacted several of the owners of land that might be suitable for housing sites, and reported favorable responses.

It was agreed to add five more names to the committee for the purpose of making a survey to find out how many of our citizens would be willing to purchase stock in the corporation.

Mr. Smith was dismissed from the Murphy Medical Center on Friday.

The livestock team did very well, but were not eligible to go to the state. They placed 10th out of 23 teams, but were only 47 points out of second place. ## ATTENDS AEROSPACE MEDICAL MEETING

Dr. and Mrs. Urschel were in Chicago last Wednesday, the 26th of April. Ruth visited with Charles and Sarah and their families, while the Doctor attended sessions of the Aerospace Medical Association.

Aerospace medicine has undergone phenomenal changes in the past few years, as man's conquest of space becomes reality. Whereas this organization was originally interested principally in the effects of flight on the human body, much of their efforts now must of necessity be directed toward much more complicated subjects, such as the weightlessness, acceleration and deceleration action on the human body, etc. The ability of the heart and vascular system to withstand these extremely unnatural procedures has been the subject of much study and discussion. Dr. Urschel's interest, as would be expected, is primarily with this phase of aerospace medicine.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

by Harold R. Driskell

WHEN SHOULD THEY BEGIN DATING

"When should young people begin dating?" I asked several fifteen year olds, separately,
"As soon as the boys start asking!" said a girl.

"As soon as the boys start asking the girl for a date, and believes he can have good manners and be decent!" said a boy.
Were their answers good?

You be the judge.
Dating time cannot be regulated entirely by calendar age.
Training and circumstances bring maturity earlier to some than others. There are different kinds of dates, different numbers of people involved in dates, and different methods of transportation used. All of this must be taken into consideration by both the parents and young people.

Home dates, double dates, and one couple dates may have various age limits. However, all have one set of principles. A young person is ready to date
when he (or she) has:

CONVICTIONS—Moral standards are so firmly set that no situation will alter those standards. A strict sense of obedience to authority keeps both on good terms with parents, the law of the land, and God. "My heart is fixed, Oh God!" (Psalms 57:7)

COURTESY—Respect for others. This quality will encourage punctuality, humility and fairness.

"In lowliness of mind, each counting others better than himself." (Philippians 2:3b).

COMMON SENSE—Guardians of thought, temper and taste.
"As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them
likewise" (Luke 6:31).

Tribute to a Wise Parent

You held their hands, when they were struggling,

But loosed your hold quite gently, bit by bit;
Soon they walked on alone . . .
your hand was gone,
But their firm steps were unaware of it.—Mary Oler.

FRIENDSHIP GARDENS TO OPEN MAY 7

The International Friendship Gardens at Michigan City will open officially Sunday, May 7.
That's the word from Mrs.
Sadie Ehert, gardens manager and sister of the Stauffer brothers, who founded the gardens.

"Because of the early spring," said Mrs. Ehert, "we're opening the gardens a week earlier than Mother's Day. For 25 years in the past, Mother's Day has been the official opening day."

"This year, however, flowers are coming along early despite the two days' snow storm. The real early tulips are already in bloom. The others come along later."

"Thousands of tulips will be in bloom by May 7th to welcome visitors to the gardens. People need the freshness of spring flowers in our gardens to remind them the long winter is over."

Tulip Festival At Holland, Michigan May 17-20

The 32nd annual Tulip Time Festival, presented each year at Holland, Michigan, as a tribute to the city's Dutch origin, will open May 17th with several colorful parades.

Hundreds of thousands of tulips and many Dutch festivities are the main features of Tulip Time, a four day pageant that will conclude Saturday, May 20.

Manwaring Leghorn Farms, Mentone, have a branch hatchery at Holland, Michigan.

The Chicago Motor Club's touring department suggests a tour to Holland for the Tulip Time festival and the many spring and summer activities that take place in this popular resort area which encircles Lake Macatawa.

The first day of the spectacle will include the traditional street scrubbing and performances by the klompen dancers. The dancers comprise some 300 teenage girls in starched caps and flowing dresses who break into groups to dance over a mile-long stretch of the main street. The precision klack-klack of their hand-carved wooden shoes to the rhythm of old folk melodies always is exciting.

On the second day of the festival, more than 3,000 school children, dressed in Dutch costumes portraying some trade, product, or business of the Netherlands, march along to the delight of the parade spectators.

The final day, Saturday, will be highlighted by many events and parades. Included is the Tulip Time baton twirling contest, which features top baton twirlers from all parts of the country. A band review, comprising some 50 bands from Michigan's high schools, along with marching and drilling events, also is a feature of the final day.

A daily attraction of the tulip show is a flower spectacle staged by the Holland Garden Club. It comprises a panorama of floral arrangements suggested and augmented by reproductions of works of famous Dutch and Flemish masters.

Throughout the four-day event visitors will be entertained with barbershop quartet singing, square dances, concerts, art exhibitions, antique shows and, of course, they will marvel at the thousands of tulips on display.

The Netherlands museum is one of the attractions that interests most visitors to Holland. Here, the Dutch background and folklore of the citizens is depicted by collections and exhibits.

"Little Netherlands," an unusual feature of the festival, is a miniature reproduction of Dutch villages complete with mechanized drawbridges, windmills, canals, locks, ships, and many other authentic aspects of Old Holland.

During the festival, tulips of every color and variety will overflow in Holland. Millions of tulips bloom in parks and residential sections of the city, creating the famous floral display which brings upward of a half million spectators to the community.

Two miles west of Holland on Lakewood Boulevard, is a concentration of some 200,000 multi-colored tulips. Many varieties of new and rare specimen tulips are displayed here.

Arrows mark tours that motorists can take through the city to follow the displays that line the city streets. The brilliant array starts at 12th and River where there is a unique planting of more than 50 varieties of the latest tulips. Bus tours are available to take visitors through the flower-lined streets.

Visitors always have been interested in the wooden shoe factory, on U.S. 31 bypass, where wooden shoes are fashioned from poplar logs by a carver using methods and tools of Old Holland.

Holland was founded in 1847 by a group of Dutch immigrants led by Dr. A. C. Van Raalte, a minister of the Dutch Reformed Church. The Dutch influence lingers in the city today, and it retains many characteristics of an old Dutch community.

During the spring and summer many other events of note are held at Holland, including yacht regattas, sailboat races, water-ski meets, and other festivities.

Inspirational Gardens, on 24th St. one-half mile east of U.S. 31 by-pass, is an exhibition which includes sunken gardens, flowing waters, and other displays.

MRS. EATON HOSTS FRIENDLY NEIGHBORS

Mrs. Charles Eaton was hostess to the Friendly Neighbors Home Economics Club for their April meeting.

The meeting was opened by the vice president, Mrs. Chauncey Mollenhour, reading a poem entitled "Friends".

The pledge to the flag and creed were given. Mrs. Monroe Romine led in singing "America The Beautiful" with Mrs. Jim Wagoner of Bourbon at the piano. For meditation, Mrs. Vernon Jones gave a very interesting article on the life of Evangelist, Billy Graham, also, a poem "I'm Fine". Mrs. Romine gave the history and led in singing the song of the month, "Loch Lamond".

The Health and Safety lesson on Tuberculosis was presented by Mrs. Mahlon Jeffries. Mrs. Chauncey Mollenhour read an amusing poem "Monkey Views". The lesson on wall accessories was given by Mrs. Allen Shirey and Mrs. Gerald Ballenger. Mrs. Ballenger displayed pictures and spoke of the relationship of one to the other. Mrs. Shirey displayed and grouped lovely articles furnished by Mrs. Charles Manwaring.

Thirteen members responded to roll call by telling how they spent Easter Sunday. The president, Mrs. Abe Whetstone, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Jim Wagoner, Myra Eaton and Susie Shirey were guests of the club. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Orien Deaton.

The club will meet May 11th at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Manwaring for their annual guest night.

IN JUSTICE COURT

ReX Witham entered a plea of guilty to a charge of failing to observe a stop sign, preferred by state patrolman Donald Sand, on Saturday, April 28, in the court of Justice of the Peace C. O. Eiler.

A fine of one dollar and costs totaling $18.75 was amended by the court and paid.

Sidedress new strawberry plantings with three pounds of 12-12-12 or 10-10-10 fertilizer per 100 square feet of row if they were not fertilized when transplanted or if plants lack vigor, advise Purdue University horticulturists.

A NEW KIND OF CHICKEN

HOMEMAKING TIPS

by Dottie Dollar,
Home Economist
Super Dollar Markets

Hi! From time to time I will be talking to you trying to bring you the latest in the food and consumer field. Perhaps I will be able to give you some hints to make you a wiser consumer, a more efficient homemaker, and a better cook.

Today I want to tell you about a new kind of chicken -- the freshest chicken you have ever tasted. It's Gold Bond Frozen-Fresh Chicken -- the fresher because it's flash-frozen just four hours from the farm by a new process that locks in freshness for keeps.

Each chicken is inspected and packaged under strict supervision of the United States Department of Agriculture to guarantee perfect cleanliness and quality. It's frozen and refrigerated in a clean, dry, drip-free package that never needs re-wrapping. Once you have tasted Frozen Fresh Chicken, you will never go back to the old-fashioned kind -- and that's a promise. Double-your-money-back guarantee if not satisfied.

This chicken has all its natural juices and therefore has not had a chance to "weep away" as the old processes did. This enables you to cook the chicken a golden brown and tender to the fork.

Another advantage to the Frozen-Fresh method of chicken packaging is if you as a homemaker want to store the frozen chicken you just take it home from the super market and place it in your freezer. It is properly packaged and does not need rewrapping.

So look for this new small blue arrow containing the words "Freshest yet -- Frozen Fresh."

See you next week with more information!

on May 15. Educational programs will be broadcast from a plane circling at 23,000 feet above Montpelier.

It has been suggested that the TV instruction be followed immediately by direct classroom instruction so that one can be sure that the pupil heard what he thought he heard, otherwise e. g. a foreign language, he may end up speaking a language all his own.

Television instruction can supplement but not replace the teacher in the classroom.

One excellent health precaution to teach children—"Wash hands carefully and keep the fingers out of the mouth."

This advice was given by the health officer in Fulton county after parents had expressed concern over the appearance of several cases of hepatitis (yellow jaundice) in the Talma school.

(Most mothers can tell you that it takes a great deal of telling and re-telling before this advice is followed spontaneously by the child.)

Hint to Outdoor Cooks—If the bars on your grill are too far apart, spread aluminum foil over them to keep small items from falling into the coals. (Bert Bacharach in his column, "Now See Here.")

Monday, May 1, was Law Day. We can, and do, gripe about our countless laws, but we must remember that this is what makes us different from the countries behind the Iron Curtain.

So often, too, we fail to realize that the law which seems to restrict a business also protects it from unfair practices of competitors.

We would like to quote from Elmer Roessner's column, "Business Today":

Once there was an industry that operated entirely outside the law. There were no inspections of production, no restraints on splitting up territories, no bars to price fixing, no restraint on false claims, no limit to misrepresentation.

Without law, violence ruled the industry. Theft and trickery dominated the industry. Thieves, when caught, were slain on the spot. Public officials were corrupted. Unwelcome competitors were maimed or shot. Sometimes rivals were massacred with machine guns. And the cemeteries of America today are dotted with graves of customers who believed the lies about the source and purity of the product.

But there is one good thing

Everyone is invited to attend and receive this important information.

WRONG DATE

In our last issue, we had a news story telling of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Don Emmons, Jr. The date of birth was incorrect, as Donald L. Emmons III arrived on April 22nd.

about Prohibition. It demonstrated beyond doubt that there is freedom—and security and life itself—under rule by law.

We enjoyed this: The real estate agent was trying to sell an old farm house to a middle-aged woman. After looking the house over and listening to his sales talk she said, "I could do a lot with this wreck."

Then she added, "On second thought, I said the same thing the first time I looked at my husband."

SCHOOL AREAS
MAY BRING CHANGES

One of man's greatest problems, oftentimes, appears to be change. We constantly, in the process of advancement, find ourselves in deadly combat with facts which we have lived with throughout the years.

When the school reorganization problem was presented to the people of Indiana, it brought many ideas foreign to our everyday pattern of life. The committees and individuals given the responsibility of bringing forth the new concept of education should have the sympathy and support of us all, for their task is a momentous one.

In studying the problem, we must come to one conclusion, and that is that all people must argue their points until they lay aside in disgust some of the "loyalty and pet-peeves" and then accept the basic and fundamental facts. Then will come forth solutions that, in the years to follow, will be proven great advancements in education. City, town, township and county lines may have to be disregarded.

At a meeting of the Kosciusko County School Reorganization Committee held in Warsaw on Tuesday evening, the committee came forth with the following statements:

"If a certified 60 percent or more of the registered voters in each of Henry and Newcastle townships in Fulton County vote or petition to join Kosciusko county in a school reorganization plan, then it is the intention of the Kosciusko County School Reorganization Committee to form two school districts in the southern part of Kosciusko county, as follows:

"The Southwest district to consist of Harrison, Seward and Franklin townships of Kosciusko county together with Henry and Newcastle townships of Fulton county."

It is understood that the two Fulton county townships have a sufficient number of qualified electors on petitions favoring an organization with a portion of this county. What may eventually come forth may be far different, but the plan is looked upon with favor by many in this area.

MERMAID QUEEN
CANDIDATES

The Mentone Band is again sponsoring the Mentone Queen Candidate for the Mermaid Festival. Original candidates were the girls in the Junior and Senior classes. The band has voted the original group down to a total of six. This group of six is now waging a battle for votes. The winner will be announced Tuesday at the Spring Concert. The following are the six that are vying for the Miss Mentone title: Pam Hammer, Sandra Miller, Madonna Nellans, Mona Ross, Diane Silveus and Dona Kay Van Gilder.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Our sincere best wishes to Mrs. Mervin (Peg) Wagner, who will graduate from Leesburg High School this month, just two days before her 33rd birthday. Peg is the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wagner of Mentone. They (the Mervin Wagner family - Mervin and Peg, Roslynn, 12, Mike, 13, and Willard, 9) resided in Mentone when the children were small.

Peg plans to enroll at Goshen College in the fall. (An opinion from a grandmother who knows — this takes extra "want to" energy, you can be sure.)

The last issue of Readers Digest carried a card with your own personal number, which may be lucky for you. If you missed it, it proves you didn't read it thoroughly enough (and you may miss winning a lovely watch—absolutely free.)

Have especially enjoyed the tiny blue forget-me-nots in my flower garden this spring. The violets have been blooming everywhere. Although the yellow ones have not shown up yet. The Columbine are nearly ready to bloom, so I am expecting the busy little humming birds soon.

Every mother of a son stood in sympathy with Astronaut Shepard's mother during that long eternity of moments last Friday, and not one of us would have traded places with her.

On Monday, during those memorable and proud moments which honored her son's singular achievement, she would not have traded places with any of us. (We are proud of him, too, Mrs. Shepard.)

He had been in Mentone and as the family was returning to the home he fell on the porch. After first aid by a local physician he was rushed to the hospital, suffering extreme pain.

Everett Rathfon and Lyman Mollenhour made the trip to Bluffton in the ambulance, and Tuesday evening Mr. Rathfon contacted the hospital by phone and it was reported Mr. Kesler was rational and seemingly responding to treatment. It may be possible that he could return to Mentone the latter part of the week.

Merry Mollys Met Monday

Merry Mollys Home Demonstration Club met Monday evening, May 8th at the home of Mrs. Dale McGowen.

Mrs. Al Runnels opened the meeting by leading the group in the pledge to the flag followed by the club creed. Mrs. Carl Whetstone led the singing of "America The Beautiful." She also gave the history and led in singing the song of the month, "She'll Be Comin' Round The Mountain." Mrs. LaMar Leffert selected "A Parable For Mother" for meditation.

Mrs. Donald Horn gave the lesson on how to work with people. There were several points of interest on how leadership plays a part; how to build a group into a team and to know their goal.

Mrs. Jerry Hudson read an interesting article on Egypt and their ways of living. Your anniversary date, address and phone number was given in response to roll call.

Mrs. Glenn Puterbaugh presided over a short business meeting. A relay of articles in sacks was conducted by the finance committee which proved to be quite enjoyable. Mrs. Leffert and Mrs. Herschel McGowan were in charge of entertainment and those winning prizes gave them to Mrs. Puterbaugh. A lovely baby gift was then presented to her by the club. Those receiving secret pal gifts were Mrs. Whetstone and Mrs. Clayton Holloway.

Mrs. Gene Sarber and Mrs. Holloway were recipients of the door prizes. Lovely refreshments were served by Mrs. McGowen and Mrs. Dale Stiffler.

The club will meet June 12th with Mrs. Marion Smith.

BEAVER DAM 4 - H CLUB NEWS

Monday evening, April 24, the Beaver Dam Agriculture Club met in the high school gym. This was the assistant meeting.

The meeting was called to order by our vice president, Diana Ballenger. The pledge to the American flag was led by Melody Ballenger and the pledge to the 4-H flag was led by Salvador Murcia. Jean Swick gave the secretary's report and Helen Welty gave the treasurer's report. David Norris gave a health and safety report on driving a car. Everyone enjoyed group singing which was led by Steve Whittenberger.

The meeting was adjourned and two guests were present, and 34 members and two guests were served refreshments and we had recreation.

We understand Dave Bowser is now playing host to an uninvited star boarder — a rather aged male beagle dog. Anyone know who owns him?

Plan, Then Plant

Beginning flower gardeners can easily grow annual flowers and be rewarded with plenty of color in the garden the first year, points out C. E. Hoxie, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

Before you plant, however, plan your flower garden on paper, he advises. Plan to put tall annuals to the back of the border and choose colors that harmonize. For example, you may want to plant tall-growing blue bachelor buttons or blue larkspur to the rear, candytuft in front of these and then, perhaps, red verbena in front of the candytuft. But many color combinations are possible—another reason why annual gardening is interesting.

Hoxie says many annual flowers can be started outside in April. Some of the most popular are calendulas, larkspur, bachelor buttons, verbena, candytuft and alyssum.

Buying or starting asters and ageratum plants indoors usually is better than sowing seeds directly outdoors.

Bachelor buttons and larkspur should be sown in place and may be replaced when they stop blooming with zinnia or marigold plants.

Front Yard Landscaping

Landscaping your front yard carefully since it is especially important to the overall appearance of your home, says H. W. Gilbert, Purdue University landscape architect.

For most homes, the front door should be the principal focal point from the street. The lawn area in front of the door should be left uncluttered.

Trees in the front yard can

Cutting Lawns

Cut your lawn high if you want it vigorous this summer, recommend Purdue University turf specialists.

When you adjust your mower for a two-inch cutting height all season, bluegrass and fescue lawns will be better able to withstand weeds and summer heat. Close mowing ruins bluegrass lawns, they point out.

Pure bentgrass and zoysia lawns are exceptions; these should be cut at a half-inch height.

Generally, hand or power reel type mowers can be adjusted by changing the roller height. Power rotary mowers are adjusted by moving the wheels in holes or slots on the mower frame or by moving the blade up on the spindle.

Only about one-fourth inch at the tip of the rotary blade cuts all the grass so the blade should be sharpened frequently.

And remember your power mower is supposed to cut your lawn, not you. So operate it safely.

serve to frame your house, Gilbert explains. Trees may be planted toward the corners of an average lot, but what the neighbor already has planted in a similar location should also be considered. That is, sometimes the neighbors' trees will create the desired effect for your home. If you add another tree close to your neighbor's the effect may be undesirable. Choose trees that at maturity will be in keeping with the proportions of your house, Gilbert advises.

Shrubs should be planted to soften the lines of your house, the landscape architect asserts. This so-called foundation planting doesn't have to contain many varieties. Often shrubs at the corner of the house and near the door with connecting ground cover will suffice.

Lawn Insects Easily Controlled

Home gardeners who take pride in their lawn, flowers and shrubs will find modern insecticides helpful. For example, lawn ants, which sometimes get into houses, are easily controlled. An exception, however, is the large, black carpenter ant which nests in wood rather than in soil.

Chlordane and dieldrin are two of the best killers of lawn ants. They will die within minutes after coming in contact with the materials.

To treat an entire lawn, the Purdue specialists suggest that 1/2 pint of 45 percent liquid chlordane or an equal amount of 15 percent liquid dieldrin be mixed with three gallons of water and sprayed or sprinkled evenly over 1,000 square feet. The treated area should then be soaked down with additional water from the garden hose. The treatment will also kill grubs and other soil insects. Granular formulations of both chlordane and dieldrin are also available and can be applied with the fertilizer spreader. Ten percent granular formulations should be spread at the rate of 3/4 pound per 1,000 square feet for dieldrin and 2/3 pound for chlordane.

For mound building ants, the job is still easier. Simply spray dust or apply granules to the mounds and water in. Both chemicals can also be purchased in dust or wettable powder form. These lend themselves to killing mound building ants, as they are easily sprinkled on and watered in. The concentration or strength of the dusts and powders is not too important. It takes only a small amount of chlordane or dieldrin to kill ants, but overdosage will not harm the grass, the entomologists explain.

"All Purpose" Sprays and Dusts

All purpose sprays and dusts—combinations of highly potent insecticides—eliminate the necessity of home owners purchasing many different insecticides, points out Glen Lehker, Purdue University extension entomologist.

These are not really "all purpose" in the sense that they will control all insects, he explains, but they will do a job satisfactory to most users.

Many of the all purpose mixtures include fungicides which add to their usefulness. At least a dozen or more trade name materials fall into this category. Each is formulated for specific use, such as on fruit trees, vegetables, flowers or shrubs.

Lehker stresses the importance of applying all purpose mixtures according to directions on the label. Most plants may be attacked by several insects and diseases during growth. Formulators of the mixtures have taken this into consideration and give directions on the label to enable the user to obtain maximum benefit from the product. Moreover, persons who follow the label directions also avoid harmful residues or other dangers that might result from misuse of the material.

Sign Up For Grain Program

Kosciusko county farmers began signing for participation in the 1961 Feed Grain Program
April 27, according to Victor
Hillery, chairman of the county
ASC committee.

The signing can be done from 9:00 to 5:00 at the county ASC office at 118½ W. Main Street, Warsaw

Mr. Hillery said farmers who wish to make application should bring with them their notice of feed grain acreage base and payment rate. Either the operator or farm owner can make application.

Deadline for applications is not later than June 1, Hillery said. As soon as the county ASC committee approves the application, a producer may be issued a negotiable certificate redeemable in grain or cash equivalent of the grain.

The Feed Grain Program authorized recently by Congress for corn and grain sorghums is designed to bring production of feed grains into line with current needs.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

by Harold R. Driskell

Reading: Matt. 7:3

Jesus is not teaching that one has to be perfect before he can correct the faults of others.
If so, no corrections would ever be made, because man at his best still has sin in his life.
Christ aimed this question at the faultfinder. He satirized the sin by using the figure of a man with a whole log in his eye attempting to extract a tiny speck from his neighbors eye. With a log protruding from his eye, he approaches his neighbor and says, "Pardon me, sir, but I detect a speck in your eye, may I help you remove it?" How re-dulous! Jesus called the fault-finder a hypocrite. (Matt. 7:5)

Make up your mind that you are going to look for the good instead of evil, that you will magnify a brother's virtues and minimize his shortcomings. Put a small black spot in the middle of a white sheet of paper. Ask another what he sees. The chances are he will say, "A black spot." He does not see all the white surrounding the black spot. How true of man! We are quick to see the black spots in the life of others, but we are slow to see all the whiteness that is there also. Jesus commanded to look at self first.

BUILDING NEW POWER STATION

Construction progress on the new Kosciusko substation now being built by Northern Indiana Public Service Company on S. R. 15, north of Warsaw, is reported by Stanley W. Evans, NIPSCO's Warsaw district manager.

The site has been graded and leveled with crushed stone; a steel wire fence now encloses the entire area; and foundations for the giant three phase transformer have been poured.

Evans said NIPSCO received word last week from the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company that the transformer has successfully passed performance tests in their Milwaukee shop and was to be shipped on May 5th. Under normal conditions, it should arrive in Warsaw about May 15th.

The new unit will be the largest transformer in the Warsaw district. It will weigh approximately 90 tons when installed and have a capacity of 45,000 kilovolt amperes with a primary voltage of 138,000 volts and secondary voltage of 69,000 volts.

When shipped it will contain hydrogen gas instead of oil to reduce shipping weight. Oil circulating pumps, fans, radiators, and other accessories were shipped separately for assembly on the job.

A new 138,000 volt steel tower transmission line, now being built between the Kosciusko substation and Plymouth, will supply the substation with power.

"When completed, the Kosciusko Substation will provide a new primary energy source for the Warsaw district," Evans said, "and will further assure the Warsaw district of an ample, dependable source of electricity for future growth and development. It will supply NIPSCO's 69,000 volt substations at Warsaw, Mentone, Claypool, Pierceton, Oswego and No. Webster. The present 69,000 volt lines from Plymouth and Goshen will provide automatic 'emergency service' in case of an interruption."

your community. Attend and support the church of your choice. The word of God is the weapon most feared by communists."

What about the John Birch society? Many feel this may be one way to fight communism. The aim of the society is good, but one should remember that one man dictates the rules, and the methods suggested are similar to those used by communism.

Consider carefully, and get the facts, before making a move you may regret.

We enjoyed this: An Old-Timer is one who remembers when: Time was marching on instead of running out . . . A bureau was considered a piece of furniture . . . A compact was something the girls used to repair their complexions . . . Only small boys feared consequences when they smoked cigarettes.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Right on schedule, our humming bird is back. Lisa was the first to see him, as he rested in the Smoke tree. He is getting his nectar from the Virginia Bluebells until the Columbine open.

A pair of mockingbirds make regular trips to the peanutbutter feeder. Other regular customers are the downy woodpeckers and the tufted titmouse. (In fact, our little feathered friends consume more peanutbutter than Lisa and Tim do at their afternoon snacks.)

Beware the "door-bell swindler." It's the time of year you can expect him—he has the same old gimmicks, but he is always hoping that you will fall for it.

Here are a few to watch out for—The furnace racket (he will examine your furnace or boiler free ??) Watch out!

Lawn fertilizer—(after spreading same on your lawn—by mistake he says—he offers to settle for a small sum). Call the cops!

Landscape layout—(Beautiful sketches and for such a minimum fee! But the trees and shrubs they plant are so microscopic that it takes years for them to attain any size.)

The free lot (The legal fees cost you, and generally the lot is in a worthless swamp.)

Free house siding—(You pay $300, and get back $25.00 for every sale you make to your neighbors.)

We have reputable dealers and merchants in our community. They are always eager to help you with your needs—so, very firmly say "No!" to these cheats who may knock on your door.

The Dallas, Texas, Independent School District has launched a course of study on ways to fight communism and its threat. The Dallas Freedom Forum is furnishing materials, books, booklets, and other informative material. The study of these is being worked in with courses in social studies. Some material to be used includes the F.B.I. booklet, "Communist 'Target Youth'; J. Edgar Hoover's two books, "Communist Illusion and Democratic Reality" and "Masters of Deceit."

SENIORS ON TRIP EAST

Thirty-one members of the 1961 Mentone senior class left by train Sunday noon for a trip to the Bell Aircraft plant at Buffalo, Niagara Falls, New York City and Washington, D. C.

Martha (Miller) Keel, Jackie Duff and Shirley McKee did not accompany the group.

Sponsors who made the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boggs, Mr. Frederick and Mr. Rush.

The group is expected to arrive back in Mentone Saturday noon.

has it) to rhubarb sauce. (This is a good spot to use one or two drops of red food coloring, too.)

"The American family farm is moving to extinction. It cannot last another 50 years. Then it will join the blacksmith shops, the streetcar lines, and the local breweries in history," says columnist Elmer Roessner.

(We don't enjoy hearing such talk, even though we recognize the trend.)

Mr. Roessner continues, "The family farm is rapidly becoming as out-of-date as a hansom cab on Fifth Avenue. True, a few hansoms do ply Fifth Avenue today, but they are there to attract tourists and sentimentalists. And in another 50 years the family farms of America will be maintained only to attract tourists and sentimentalists including vacationists and addicts of rural and western fiction."

Last Sunday Tim came running into the house, greatly excited about finding a cacoon. Lisa, as usual, was bouncing up and down at his heels. In her eagerness to explain to us that the cacoon was alive, she made several attempts and finally said, explosively, "Well, this one's loaded!"

We enjoyed this: Mrs. Smith confided to her neighbors that she had finally cured her husband of biting his nails.

"How in the world did you do that?" asked the neighbor. It really was simple," said Mrs. Smith, "I just hid his teeth."

Anthony Nigo Chapter Meets

The Anthony Nigo Chapter of the DAR met at the home of Mrs. Paul Shireman on Tuesday evening, May 9th. Meeting was opened in ritualistic form by Mrs. Lena Igo, Regent. The President General's messages were read by Mrs. Patricia Leiter and the World Court Amendment given by Mrs. Dale Cook.

Mrs. Frank Smith, National Defense Chairman, announced the winners of the Good Citizenship Awards had been selected and were: Marlene Brallier and Ted Shoemaker for the 7th grade, Judy Decker and Kip Hammer for the 8th grade. These awards are based on honor; service to school, community, home; courage; leadership and patriotism. Awards were presented to these recipients on Friday, May 12 at Mentone School Awards Day.

Mrs. Smith stated the drive is on against all organizations and patriotic Americans, who hold strong conservation and anti-communistic views. The DAR organization is said to be a conservative one, deriving that state of mind from our fathers and grandfathers to days before the Revolutionary War. Conservatism is expressed in every paragraph of our constitution and Bill of Rights. Those precious documents were intended to preserve and to preserve the most precious rights of our citizenry were created to save the page of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. To conserve means to save. To conserve means to check-mate decay and corruption and to keep pure, healthy and admirable. No screaming radical can alter this meaning. Conservatism is not a dirty word, as subversives and enemies of our American way of life, would have us believe. Another word beloved to them is, isolationism, or the blocking of human progress toward a so called happier world, according to them.

Mrs. Lena Igo read a report on the chapter's activities for the year as given at the District meeting at Logansport on May 9th. A report on the Continental Congress in Washington, D.C. was also given by Mrs. Hazel Linn and Mrs. Smith. The theme for the coming year is "For evil to triumph good men need only do nothing."

The program consisted of colored slides taken at the Kate Duncan Smith DAR school at Grant, Alabama and a history of the school was given by Mrs.

Jean Clauss. This school is owned and operated by the DAR and is located on the crest of Gunter Mountain and serves the children in an area covering 100 square miles. The school now has 600 students. The grounds resemble a small college campus, which embraces 238 acres including the Indiana Model Farm.

Patriotic principles are taught at the school, with every emphasis on American History, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights and to the three R's have been added Religion and Responsibility.

The meeting was closed with the reading of the American's Creed. Refreshments were served to fifteen members and three guests, Mrs. Richard Dick-erhoff, Mrs. Ruth Davis and Mrs. Nancy Shively.

Seward Club Has Mother's Day Program

The Seward Home Economics Club met May 10 at the Burket E.U.B. Church for their mother's day program.

Slides were shown by Dorothy Christian of her trip to Hawaii. Esther Nelson played "When I Survey The Wonderess Cross" on the piano. The poem "What is a mother?" was given by Beth Holt. Lana Tinkey sang "I am Just a Tiny Tot", "Jesus Loves Little Children", "Jesus Wants Me For a Sunbeam" and "Ho Ho Ho". Esther Nelson at the piano and Rosella Tinkey sang "Wonderful Mother of Mine". Meditation was given by Cleo Tinkey which consisted of "Johnny Turnip Seed", "My Grandma" and "Mother's Love".

There were eight guests and 11 children present. Hostess was Garnet Latimer and Neva Bruner the co-hostess.

PRIZE FOR BIGGEST MORNING GLORY

I have a few packages of morning glory seeds to distribute to anyone who is interested in entering a Morning Glory Contest sponsored by Purdue University, the Indiana Junior Vegetable Growers, and Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

The prize is $1.00 per foot to the person who can grow the tallest vine by August 10, 1961.

The seeds are from California which are suppose to climb 40 or more feet.

The seeds should be planted three inches apart before May 25th. They should be scored with a file or knife to cut a 1/4 inch nick by holding the seeds in pliers.

When the plants are four inches tall thin to six inches apart. When twelve inches tall provide something on which vines may climb. If lush growth and no flowers, stop watering, according to Mrs. Ruth McCleary, Home Demonstration Agent.

Palestine Homemakers Meet

The May meeting of the Palestine Homemakers Club was held recently at the home of Mrs. Edwin Shirey of Palestine.

The vice president, Mrs. Albert Tucker opened the meeting with the pledge to the flag and club creed was repeated by all. Mrs. Wilbur Perry gave the history of the song of the month, "She'll Be Commin' Round The Mountain" and then led in singing it.

Mrs. George Hipsher read for meditation "Something's wrong when house comes before kids" and "A Certain House". Mrs. Mont Luher gave the health and safety on T.B.

The president, Mrs. Shirey, had charge of the business. Mrs. Jessie Jones had roll call and read the secretary and treasurer reports.

Delicious refreshments were served the "Ma Kettle Way. Come and Get It" was enjoyed by all. The June meeting will be with Mrs. Albert Tucker.

Hay should be cut in the early bloom stage, according to Purdue University agronomists. Benefits include more milk per acre from first cutting and better yields from second and third cuttings.

Some folks do, to their everlasting sorrow. Cut-rate insurance has a way, sometimes, of not living up to expectations.

When you have a loss, you are entitled to a settlement that is fair, prompt and gracious. . . . the kind you get when you place your insurance with old, established companies sold by a local, independent agent. That's us.

HOMEMAKING TIPS

by Dottie Dollar, Home Economist Super Dollar Mkts.

This is the time of year to take a walk through the woods or pasture fields to find Homobasidiomycetes. What???? Yes, mushrooms, as we know them. Not only do we find them on our farms, but we can now find them at the market the year around. This fungus growing food is an art and science to grow.

Mushrooms deserve a real place in the average American diet, not only on the basis of their flavor, but also because of the definite food values they possess. Mushrooms are a good source of iron and copper; an excellent plant source of riboflavin and nicotinic acid; and a good source of pantothenic acid. They also contain appreciable amounts of thiamine and biotin. So plan them in your diets and menus.

There are many varieties of mushrooms, but usually the button type is found on the market and the sponge type in your back yard. When purchasing mushrooms be sure to select firm smooth tops. The undersides should be smooth and closed around the stems. When you find a dark, discolored mushroom with the underside of the cap open and the gills exposed it is aged and past the best eating stage.

When serving your mushrooms have you ever broiled the caps with butter in each cap and served hot? Another delicious treat is stuffed mushrooms with seasoned ground beef, chopped crab or shrimp, or deviled ham broiled about 10 minutes.

Of course the steak season is coming and for that charcoal dinner, add the mushrooms to the steak juices and make a delicious gravy sauce.

Conference Of Ind. Homemakers

Women who will attend the annual Homemakers Conference at Purdue University June 13-15 will be offered so many activities they might start now to think which ones they will choose to take part in. This advance notice comes from Janalyce Roulis, Purdue Home Economics extension supervisor, who is now readying for publication the detailed program of the conference.

"Better Citizenship in a Mobile World" is the theme tying together the numerous attractions of this three-day event.
Programs to be presented by Purdue Home Economics extension specialists range from "You and the Supermarket" to "Life in Pakistan" and include such topics as "Recent Books for Children" and "Religions of the World".

Entertainment highlights include the movie, "Albert Schweitzer," a performance of the musical comedy, "Brigadoo," and the traditional program of county Home Demonstration choruses. Other features are a review of the book, "Harvest on the Don," a devotional period, a salad buffet, and business of the state Home Demonstration Association annual meeting, with reports of activities of various committees. The conference is open with no charge to all Indiana homemakers.

Iris foliage should be sprayed or dusted with DDT when the leaves are four to six inches long, say Purdue University enomologists. Repeat applications every week or ten days to control the iris borer.

Buy Only The "Weed Kill"

When you buy 2,4-D, pay for the "weed kill" (pounds of acid equivalent), not just the container, advises James L. Williams Jr., Purdue University extension botanist. This you can do, he says, by reading the label.

Williams explains that 2,4-D is formulated in many different ways and can be purchased as various amines or esters. However, the only true measure of weed killer power is the actual 2,4-D acid content in the container.

The amount of acid content (acid equivalent), usually given in terms of pounds per gallon, must be set out on each label.
A gallon of 2,4-D may contain anywhere from two to six pounds of 2,4-D acid equivalent.

Application rates are based on pounds of acid equivalent per acre, and the amount of acid equivalent per gallon determines how much area one gallon will cover, the botanist says. For example, at 1/4 pound per acre,
a two pound gallon will spray eight acres, even though each may come in the same size container.

So, to get more "weed kill"
for your money, compare prices per pound of acid equivalent instead of the prices per gallon, Williams suggests.

Avoid Swine Poisoning

By adjusting their management practices, hog raisers can prevent many poisonings of their swine, reminds Dr. T. M. Curtin, Purdue University extension veterinarian.

Cocklebur, while in the two-leaf stage, is poisonous to hogs. Swine should be kept off pasture containing cocklebur plants until they are killed or until the poisonous stage is past. During dry seasons and in dry areas new growth may appear after each rain, Dr. Curtin points out.

Rape, and occasionally alfalfa, will cause an increased sensitivity to sunlight, especially in white-skinned pigs. Severe cases of sunburn may result. White pigs pastured on these plants should be closely observed for signs of sunburn on their ears and backs and removed from pasture as soon as signs are noticed. Severely burned pigs should be treated and protected from sunlight.

Pitch poisoning is found in pasture used for trap shooting. Clay pigeons have been known to remain in the soil and poisonous to swine for as long as 20 to 25 years. Hogs seem to crave the portions of broken clay pigeons. Never allow trap shooting in the hog pasture and avoid establishing hog pastures on old trap shoot grounds, Dr. Curtin warns. Numerous cases of pitch poisoning have also occurred when swine have access to discarded asphalt shingles or siding.

Arsenic poisoning may result from access to some insecticides or baits. Arsenic was formerly mixed with bran for insect baits. Unused portions of this mixture have been known to get into hog lots, or hogs have eaten the baits with disastrous results. Hogs have also been poisoned by failure to clean spray tanks of insecticides and using the uncleaned tank to spray weeds in pastures.

Lead poisoning results often from discarded paint pails or using such pails for feed and water before they have been carefully cleaned.

Some worm medicines are as poisonous to swine as to the worms if they are used in too large proportions. Follow the manufacturers' recommendations exactly.

Salt is poisonous in large quantities and poisonings occur when ample fresh water is not available. Salt added to rations should be well mixed and used in moderation. Sacks of salt should not be left where hogs

"Which one is the partner who specializes in putting everything in wives' names?"

could get to them.

Rat poisons should be used with caution around swine. Reports have been made of deaths from hogs eating rats poisoned with very toxic material.

Most cases of chemical poisonings in pigs can be prevented if these materials are carefully handled and directions are closely followed in the use of chemicals, sprays, wormers and other toxic materials.

Plan now for water needs for livestock on pasture, suggest agricultural engineers at Purdue University. Consider laying plastic pipe with a subsoiler for a fast, low cost distribution system. The automatic livestock fountain can be mounted on a native lumber plank platform and moved where needed in the pasture.

Take A Break

You can get more accomplished at times by sitting down on the job than by continuing it. This welcome information comes from Elkin Minter, Purdue University management specialist.

A five-minute rest after an hour's hard work does you more good than a 20-minute rest after four hour's work. "Continuing a heavy activity for a long time without resting," Miss Minter observes, "is like taking a walk without thinking of the return trip."

However good may be your intentions to accomplish a big job, your energy is limited. It is produced by the body somewhat as heat is produced from burning coal. Just as ashes and clinkers clog up a furnace, waste products collect in your body as energy is produced. These wastes interfere with the use you can make of energy and cause fatigue. To get oxygen fast enough, you must slow down the rate at which you use energy. That is, take a break.

Have a systematic, but flexible, plan of work, advises Miss Minter. Have the right tools for each job and keep them as near the place of use as you can. Work at an efficient speed, but don't rush. Then, when one heavy chore is completed, instead of turning immediately to another, rest for a few minutes.

Thin-Shelled Egg Care

Now that the laying flock has been in production for seven or more months, and hot weather is coming, egg shells will start to be weak and thin.

Protect these eggs by special handling, advises David D. Jackson, Purdue University extension poultryman.

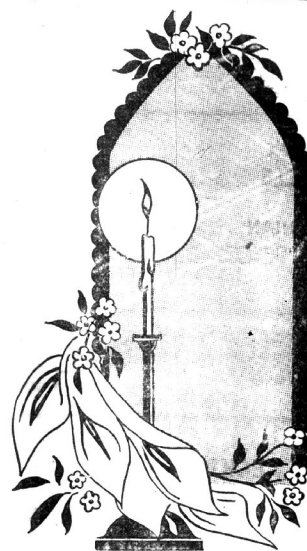

Provide the laying flock with an ample supply of clean, fresh oyster shells or limestone grit to insure the necessary calcium needed for strong shells.

Special handling requires these eggs to be collected separately from eggs produced by new pullets. Provide at least one nest, filled with plenty of clean nesting material, for every five hens. Limit the number in a basket—not more than 10 to 12 dozen. Keep eggs level in the basket and place them in carefully.

In grading and packaging the eggs in the egg room, continue the special handling.

Be careful not to let the eggs roll down the grading table and hit one another. Eggs rolling on the grader hit each other at their weakest spots.

Talma Home Ec Club Meets

The May meeting of the Talma Home Economics Club was held in the home of Mrs. Elgie Vandermark. The meeting was opened by singing Juanita. Happy Birthday was sung to Mrs. Harold Walters.

Mrs. Ann Staldine gave devotions and read a poem entitled "Praying Mothers". The song, "Mother", was then sung by the group. The song of the month, "She'll Be Comin' Round The Mountain" was led by Mrs. Verdie Brockey after she had given the history of the song.

Mrs. Mike Becker took miscellaneous roll call and gave the secretary report. Mrs. Wilbur Utter gave the treasurer report. Mrs. Harold Walters, health and safety, gave part II on food additives. Communications were read by the president, Mrs. E. C. McGowen. Mrs. Verdie Brockey reported on the program planning meeting she had attended. Mrs. Staldine gave a report on Craft School and showed an art foam corsage and some beeswax candles she had made.

Committees were appointed for the July picnic and guest day. Part I of the project lesson on salads was given by Mrs. Verne Weiger and Mrs. Harold Walters. A demonstration on making a salad will be given at the next meeting. The hostess auction was held and the door prize was won by Mrs. Walter Jordan. The meeting was closed by repeating the club collect in unison.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to twelve members and one guest, Mrs. Walter Jordan and one child, Lu Ann Utter. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Olin Wagoner.

CELEBRATES 7th BIRTHDAY

On Saturday, May 13th, Johnny Whetstone celebrated his 7th birthday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Whetstone.

Games and baseball were played, then opened the many nice gifts from his friends, after which ice cream, cake and pop were served to Corky Griffith, Kevin Wrigley, Reid Bowser, David Ridenour, Gary Welborn, Timmy Harman, Billy Bowerman, Bobby Davis, and Darrell Miller.

A NOTE OF THANKS

Several months have passed since our son was injured in a fall from the slide at the school. Fortunately, the injury was not serious. In the time that has passed since then, this newspaper, a committee from the Parent - Teacher's Association, and many individuals have expressed their concern about the condition of the equipment on the playground. Now, thanks to cooperation between the PTA and the school and the Trustee, the playground has been definitely improved, and further improvements are being planned. This is as it should be, and we are glad that it has been accomplished without serious harm or displeasure, and with the cooperation of all.

THE KID AND ME

As a sportsman, I'm having a high time these days. As a sportsman-father, I'm not doing so well.

There's a ten-year-old boy in our house who is being sold short.

I have always prized my hunting and fishing time, and jealously resent wasting it. I don't care to hunt or fish with novices and dilettantes for they detract from the business at hand, intrude on my private ways and waste time. This feeling, I'm deeply ashamed to say, has even extended to my son.

It's pure selfishness, I know, and partly laziness. But I find that I covet my hunting and fishing trips more each year, and that I am taking them — and myself — much too seriously.

And so I'm gone a lot, and Chris stays at home and plays ball and watches television and waits for me. But I seldom return from hunting or fishing so late that he doesn't come out of his room to greet me, rubbing the sleep from his eyes and saying: "How was it, Dad? How did you do? Tell me how it was!"

And I cuss myself and make a firm resolution to take him along some time, and the next time I go it's with an old companion just as it has always been.

This is strictly one-sided, for Chris never lets me down. Anything he finds or sees, he shares with his old man.

All last winter there were chores around home that took up my spare time. But Chris pestered me constantly, asking me to "please come down to the creek and see Beaver Falls." That creek is a trickle that drains some hilly woods behind our home, and is much too insignificant for any grown man to bother with. Only boys know of it. And all winter long, Chris kept badgering me to see his private creek and his Beaver Falls. I finally grew angry and told him to shut his mouth, for couldn't he see that I was too busy to play and waste time puddling around in his blasted "creek?"

Last Sunday was a rainy, lowering day and I was obviously bored and had no excuse for him. Grumbling to myself, I slipped into a rainshirt and followed him down to the creek. Chris capered ahead of me all the way, proudly scouting the easiest trails and leading me into a deep valley.

I heard the falls five minutes before I saw them. Then we came around the shoulder of a timbered hill and saw the rain-swollen stream plunging over a great ledge of lime rock. It was a lovely place with the fifteen-foot waterfall roaring through a narrow gorge down into a hidden pool rimmed with rock walls and shattered ledges. Beside the fall pool was a deep overhang out of the rain, with moss inside to sit on. We loafed there while I smoked, and Chris showed me how to skip flat stones and climb, and we talked all afternoon. A perfect host and guide, he even shared half a rather dirty candy bar with me.

I asked him how many other fathers had seen Beaver Falls. Radiant, he replied: "Dad, you're the first one!" Then, wistfully: "I wanted awful bad for you to see it last winter when it was froze up, but you were too busy."

I won't be too busy next winter, Chris boy. And I won't be too busy for you this Saturday when the bass will be hitting, nor next autumn when the mallards begin pushing through. You showed me your Beaver Falls, the best and biggest thing you know. I hope you'll let me show you some bigger falls and bigger rivers, and perhaps a bigger dad.

Open House At Bunker Hill

B-58 "Hustler", the free world's fastest bomber came to Bunker Hill AFB early Friday evening. Indiana's first Strategic Air Command supersonic bomber had arrived in time for Armed Forces Day, May 20.

The Honorable Matthew E. Welsh, Governor of Indiana, will christen this Mach 2 bomber, the "Hoosier Hustler" at 1:30 p.m. on that day.

All Hoosiers are cordially invited to the "world's fastest air base" to see the B-58, the fastest bomber; the F-106 "Delta Dart," the fastest fighter; and the KC-135 "Stratotanker," the fastest tanker. These aircraft will be on static display at the base from 9:00 a.m. to support this year's Open House Theme, "Power For Peace". Also available for viewing by the visitors will be the B-52, B-47 and B-66 jet bombers; F-101 jet fighter; T-33 jet trainer; and C-47, C-123, C-124 and C-130 cargo aircraft.

Other displays will include 30 paintings from the Air Force Pictorial Art Program: survival equipment, armament, fire and crash rescue equipment, aircraft support vehicles, medical exhibit, equipment from the Indiana Army National Guard and a display by the Federal Aviation Agency from Indianapolis, Ind.

Highlighting the events of the day will be the speech and dedication by Governor Welsh, and a flyover by F-106 fighters at faster-than-sound speeds which will create the new Sound of Security, the Sonic Boom.

Sheila, A Little Girl with Great Courage, Invents A Game, 'Let's Play Sunday School'

Sheila Nelson of Minneapolis, a blue-eyed and brunette young lady of five years whose cherubic face is generously seasoned with freckles, has just invented a game called "Let's Play Sunday School."

The reason for this bit of little-girl contrivance is that Sheila no longer can walk to the Lutheran Church half a block up the hill from her home. And because of sidewalk bumps, it's equally excruciating to get her to her real Sunday school by wheel chair propelled by her mother.

Indeed, she may never be able to make her way again to that house of worship at the top of the hill, a journey's end that seems more unattainable with each painful, passing day. So Sheila today must "make believe" about Sunday school at home.

Severe rheumatoid arthritis of the neck, hands, wrists, knees and feet, cruelly intensified in recent weeks, account for her inability to travel up that hill to church on the Sabbath, to listen to biblical stories and to scissor paper cut-outs of Noah's ark "with everything that creepeth upon the earth," together with lambs and kneeling camels and other figures of the Nativity.

Another 30,000 children in the nation each year are in the same aching predicament as Sheila, the answer to which The National Foundation is seeking today with March of Dimes contributions.

"It's difficult to believe," says Mrs. Ronald Nelson, the child's mother, "but many of my neighbors just won't believe that children are stricken by arthritis. They actually tell me—after all my experience with Sheila—that arthritis is a disease that only the old folks get."

Two years of caring day and night for Sheila have taught her attractive mother that juvenile rheumatoid arthritis is a long way removed from harmless "growing pains." Mrs. Nelson, her husband and two other children are often awakened in the night by Sheila's outcries although much of the time the child beats back her tears and fears.

Sheila addresses her "make-believe Sunday School" and tells story of Jonah and the Whale. She is under treatment at March of Dimes-supported arthritis clinic in Minneapolis.

Once a week, Mrs. Nelson and Sheila travel tedious miles across Minneapolis to the March of Dimes-supported Children's Rheumatism Clinic of the University of Minnesota. There scientists study any blood changes in Sheila and, under the almost astronomical magnification of electron microscopy, also study specimens of tissue and fluid from her knee. For her part, at the clinic, the mother takes lessons in home physical therapy for the child.

"Sheila is a withdrawn and tongue-tied little girl most of the time," her mother says, "but the cat doesn't have her tongue on Sundays when she 'opens' her Sunday school 'class' here at home. We think the likely reason for this is that when she was able to go to our church until some months ago, that was the one time and place where she somehow blossomed. If she did have pain then, and that was often so, she was just spunky enough not to let the Sunday school teacher and the other kids know about it."

Through the exercise of prodigious badgering, a stranger was admitted to Sheila's "at home" Sunday school a Sunday ago. Dressed in her blue organdy best and seated on the living room couch, the young lady was recounting with appropriate gestures the story of Jonah and the Whale to a wholly imaginary audience of others of her small fry generation.

With March of Dimes contributions, The National Foundation has been able to establish four arthritis study centers across the nation and has made an additional 20 research grants in this one field. But more such centers and grants are needed if Sheila is to climb back up the hill to her real-life Sunday school; and if the torments of the other 30,000 child victims of rheumatoid arthritis are to end.

In this gamble, the plant pathologists assert, tree owners should realize the odds are weighted heavily against them.

The only treatment proved to be effective in controlling Dutch elm disease is a complete program of sanitation and spraying with recommended insecticides to control the insect carriers of the disease. For this program to succeed, sanitation and spraying must be thorough and cover an extensive area, the plant pathologists explain.

Dutch elm disease is a vascular wilt caused by a fungus carried from diseased to healthy trees by the smaller European elm bark beetle and sometimes by the native elm bark beetle. Trees may also become infected through root grafts between diseased and healthy trees.

No Dutch Elm Disease Cure

Purdue University plant pathologists point out that at present no known cure for the Dutch elm disease, widespread throughout the midwest, exists.

Claims of "guaranteed cures" must be discounted until verified through experimental research by competent scientists at reputable research institutions, the plant pathologists emphasize.

Since diseased elm trees may live for several years after first symptoms appear, the "guarantee" of tree survival following a worthless "treatment" becomes a pure game of chance.

Coming Trends In Housing

New homes are getting larger. They feature more indoor-outdoor living. They are being fitted more carefully to their sites. These three trends in housing are not confined to luxury homes, but will soon be found in medium and low priced houses is now about 1,100 square feet, as compared to 900 square feet in 1950. With the increasing number of larger families, more houses provide up to four bedrooms and additional storage is required. With more leisure time being spent in the home, the family room becomes more popular. The average family now enjoys one or more such "extras" as a dining room, entrance hall, second bathroom and breakfast-dining area.

Design elements in new houses will feature more blending of indoors and out, Miss Hutcheson reports. Among these elements are partially enclosed inner courts and patios, sometimes used with U-shaped and H-shaped houses. Window walls will be more in evidence.

Third, builders are beginning to make more intelligent use of land contours and existing trees in both house design and landscaping. More homes are being turned away from the street, with the "back yard" becoming, in respect to family living, the front garden. Formerly neglected hillside sites are now used, with one and a half story and two story houses adapted to them.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

A correction is in order. Have learned that we do not have a pair of mockingbirds—our lovely gray birds are catbirds. We discovered our error while looking through the bird book trying to identify a bird's egg which Tim had found on the ground.

The information says, "The catbird is an excellent singer, and has a delightful song. It can imitate the songs of other birds almost as well as the mockingbird can. * * * The catbird belongs to the mockingbird and thrasher family."

So the mistake seems to have been a natural one, since it was the lovely song which fooled us.

The Mentone Girl Scout troop planted a tulip tree in commemoration of Arbor Day.

The following very interesting weather information comes from our neighbor, W. E. Fowler:

"According to my Grandfather Fowler's diary, ninety-five years ago, Monday, May 21st, Tuesday the 22nd and Wednesday the 23rd, it frosted hard, so I guess they had what we feel is unseasonable weather."

"Also, there are several days during this time he notes of working in the clearing and planting corn, potatoes and a cabbage patch."

"According to the notations, May and June were cool with quite a lot of rain."

SPECIAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING

A special meeting of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce was held at Pete's Restaurant Tuesday evening, to further discuss the proposition of establishing a Mentone Development Corporation at Mentone. The general purpose of the corporation was to be the establishment of a fund and a corporation to further the development of the city whether it be the securing of building sites for homes, or industry, and perhaps to finance the initial stages of construction.

A preliminary subscription of stock had been made, and over four thousand dollars had been pledged, with many of our citizens uncommitted. The goal had been a capitalization of from ten to twenty thousand dollars, and indications were that this could have been successfully accomplished.

However, Wayne Nellans appeared at the meeting and disclosed the fact that he had been working on a program of home construction for resale, under low-down-payment FHA terms, not only one ground he already owns but on other areas which he may be able to buy or option. In view of this disclosure, the Chamber felt inclined to aid Mr. Nellans in his endeavors and give him the opportunity to proceed without competition from the community organization.

Mr. Nellans states that he is ready to begin the construction of one pre-cut home in north Mentone immediately, and follow with a second and third in a very short time. The homes are expected to be in the eight to twelve thousand range.

Sprayer, Duster For Gardens

It's poor business to raise a garden without a duster or sprayer to apply insecticides.

This word comes from Glen Lehker, Purdue University extension entomologist, who says that a good sprayer or duster will soon pay for itself. It is unwise to get along with makeshift equipment, he adds. Lehker says even the best insecticides may fail to give control if improperly applied with a sifter can, burlap bag or fly sprayer. These methods are obsolete and have long since been discarded by more progressive gardeners.

Many home gardeners prefer to dust rather than to spray because there is less time and effort involved.

A hand duster with a long delivery tube and an upturned spout is ideal for the average garden. The long tube allows plants to be treated without stooping, and the upturned spout makes it possible to dust the undersides of the leaves. In the case of some insects, this is highly important.

Gardeners who prefer to spray find a two or three gallon compressed-air sprayer satisfactory. These, too, come equipped with a spray rod and upturned nozzle.

All insecticides are poisonous, at least to some degree, but there is no danger to humans if the chemicals are used according to directions. They should be stored away from the reach of children and where they will not be mistaken for harmless materials, Lehker warns.

SINCERE THANKS

I want to extend my sincere thanks to friends, neighbors, and Psi Iota Xi Sorority for the many flowers, cards and expressions of sympathy, and Rev. Roger Wrigley for his comforting words brought about by the death and burial of my father.

Tulip Time In Michigan City

Tip toe through the tulips! Can you still sing the song? Can you remember the words? That's the theme song nowadays at the International Friendship gardens on Michigan City's north-east side. There are 500 varieties of tulips on display, nodding their heads at the visitors.

"Tulips have two names," says Mrs. Sadie Stauffer Ehret, gardens manager, "one denotes class, the other variety. Darwin and Triumph tulips blanket beds and pathways in the gardens.

"Darwin are tall and single-flowered. Like the orange-red General Eisenhower. Tulips of this class have a large flower on a strong stem, normally growing from a height of 22 inches to 28 inches.

"Triumphs have single flowers too, but they seldom reach more than 20 inches in height.

Tulips were originally cultivated in Turkey and throughout the Middle East, then came to Europe in the 16th century, and to Colonial America in 1725."

The Parrot-class tulips have fringed plumage.

All tulips have been excessively hybridized over the years. The Jacqueline Kennedy is a mauve hybrid with silvery highlights.

Sun adds sparkle to the tulips on display at the Friendship gardens. After a shower, or early in the morning, the dew adds more sparkle to the infinite variety of tulips.

Fancy plantings show off the tulips to advantage. Some are planted in showy rows, some in square beds, and some in circular forms. Tulips will continue to bloom for several weeks.

Pine trees infested with the European pine shoot moth should have the infested terminals pruned off and burned, warn Purdue University entomologists.

W.S.C.S. Meets

Thoughts on 'The Many Ways We Use Our Hands' were presented by Mrs. Ralph Mollenhour, Mrs. Herbert Adams, Mrs. Carl Whetstone, and Mrs. Roger Wrigley at the May meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service last Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Mott Bryan. The theme of the program, conducted by Mrs. Oliver Teel, was 'Our Threefold Pledge.' The meditation was given by Von Jenkins and the Scripture was read by Mrs. D. L. Bunner. A resume of facts and figures on the uses of money, presented by Mrs. Teel, concluded the program.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Herman Olson, Mrs. Abe Whetstone made a report on a research project, the purpose of which was to find all available records of the Mentone Woman's Society of Christian Service for the years 1940 through 1942. Mrs. Whetstone had spent several afternoons in the library going through old issues of the Mentone News to gather this material and it proved to be quite interesting. Some of the members remembered many of the meetings and the 'feasts' described in the newspaper.

Assistants to the hostess for the evening were Mrs. Carl Whetstone, Mrs. Harold Utter, and Mrs. Herbert Adams.

The seventeen members present and their guests enjoyed the evening by playing dirty bingo. Following the games delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Beryl Jeffries, Maude Romine, Myrtle Wentzel and Ottie Walburn.

Here's how to select the distinguishing characteristics of good corn. Tuft of silk at top of ear should be brown and fresh looking. Husk should be bright green and tightly wrapped. Yellow husks indicate age or damage. Kernel should be milk and plump, free from discoloration; if dry or shrunken it may be tough. Ear should be well filled. Super Dollar stores carry U. S. No. 1 fancy corn which has been hydro cooled. This is important because this preserves the sweetness and flavor of corn.

Home Falls Are Many

When an airplane crashes, that's news. But falls in the home seldom make headlines because they are all too frequent. Falls are the leading cause of both fatal and seriously injurious accidents in the home, reports Martha Cullop, Purdue University extension supervisor. They are second only to vehicle accidents in the nation's death toll.

You can fall in three ways: FROM a height, OVER an obstacle and ON a slippery surface, counsels Miss Cullop, who is advisor of the state Home Demonstration Safety Committee.

Avoid falls FROM stairs by checking them for safety. They should be in good repair, well lighted, equipped with sturdy handrails, with uniform steps which are rectangular, rather than pointed or tapering. Repair any loose covering. And don't use them for storage or "parking" places for any objects.

Ladders, too, should be well built and in good condition. Use them properly, but do use them instead of make-shift substitutes such as boxes piled on chairs.

You are heading for a fall OVER objects left lying about the house. If your stairways, halls and other traffic lanes are obstacle courses, eliminate the clutter from them. Night lights in bedrooms and bathrooms can also help prevent stumbles.

You can slip ON spilled liquids, grease or food if you don't wipe them up immediately. Excess wax on floors and worn, curled or un-anchored rugs are also hazards. Your bathroom should have a non-skid floor covering, a rubber mat in the tub and preferably grab-bars over the tub.

Scoring Young Fruit Trees

If your young apple and pear trees are vigorous, you can force them to bear fruit earlier by making two circling cuts with a knife on the tree trunk through the bark to the wood, advises Jerry Hull, Jr., Purdue University extension pomologist.

This is known as "scoring," he explains. It is the easiest method to speed up bearing since it requires no special treatment for the cut area. However, trees scored too early in the spring may show yellowing of their foliage.

To obtain increased flower bud formation, scoring should be done prior to microscopic development of the flower bud. This development generally begins about mid-June.

Hull suggests scoring for vigorously growing Red Delicious, Stamen, Turley, Northern Spy and Yellow Transparent trees which are going into their fifth growing season.

All pear varieties will benefit from scoring, Hull says.

Purdue University horticulturists say dandelions and plantains in your lawns may be killed easily by spraying with 2,4-D. Be careful that the spray does not drift on to desirable plants.

The Food Of The Gods

If ever there was a food you can use with imagination, it's the mushroom," says Miriam Eads, Purdue University food specialist. "Called the 'food of the gods' by the ancient Romans, mushrooms are not only tasty in themselves, but also blend with no end of other flavors."

Mushrooms are non-fattening, easily digestible and rich in vitamin B, minerals and protein. Miss Eads reports. They can add a "gourmet" touch to simple dishes as scrambled eggs, omelet, canned soups and welsh rarebit. They give a lift to creamed ham, chicken and chopped beef, meat croquettes, patties and pies and macaroni and spaghetti dishes. Or see what they can do for stuffed tomatoes, green beans and rice ring.

Miss Eads suggests these two dishes starring mushrooms:

Chicken Mushroom Sandwich:
Chop  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup cooked chicken. Add 1-4 oz. can drained mushrooms or  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup fresh cooked mushrooms and  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup finely-diced celery. Blend and add  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup mayonnaise,  $\frac{1}{8}$  teaspoon salt and  $\frac{1}{16}$  teaspoon pepper. Mix well and use as filling for 4 to 6 luncheon sandwiches or 24 tea sandwiches.

Broiled Mushrooms on Toast:
Melt in a frying pan 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, add 1-4 oz. can drained mushrooms or  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup fresh mushrooms and saute about 5 minutes until lightly browned. Add mushroom liquid or water and a dash of pepper and heat thoroughly. Serve on 3 slices of buttered toast garnished with lemon wedges, water cress or parsley.

Americans pay about the same share of their incomes for food now as before World War II, according to Purdue University consumer education specialists. And they're eating more and better foods.

To keep spaghetti from boiling over, add a tablespoon of cooking oil or shortening to the water, suggest Purdue University home management specialists.

Watch for termite swarms, warn Purdue University entomologists. Their presence indicates an active termite colony nearby. Winged termites have four milky-colored wings of equal length and all longer than the body. They do not have the wasp-waist of ants. If in doubt on termite identification, take specimens to your county agent for identification.

Dr. Fred Schwarz, whom we have mentioned in our column on other occasions, has written a fine book exposing Communism. It is called "You Can Trust the Communists," which means that you can be sure that the Communists can be relied upon to proceed with their plans for world domination and enslavement in spite of all their double-talk about co-existence.

As stated previously, Dr. Schwarz gave up a successful medical practice in Australia to devote all of his time in a fight against Communism.

This book is a "must" for all those who are interested in learning the ways of Communism, and how to detect them. This book will soon be available in our library.

Another book, now in our library, is by Frank S. Meyer and is, "The Molding of A Communist."

Symbols play a great part in your life. No? Well, then, how do you react when you see the swastika? Skull and crossbones? Horseshoe, four-leaf clover or a rabbits foot? The $ sign? the horn of plenty? the dove? One could go on and on.

Our government, realizing the importance, is looking for a "single meaningful symbol to signify friendship and concern for the underdeveloped countries of the world." They feel such a symbol should be placed on all packages of American aid going to these countries.

The primary requirements for a world-wide American goodwill trademark are that it communicate without using words in order to overcome language difficulties, that it bear some relationship to a symbol or graphic theme already known and associated with the United States." of Lippincott & Margulies, an industrial designing firm.)

A Scotsman, inviting a friend to a party, explained how to find his apartment: "Come to the fifth floor, and when you see the letter M on the door, push the button with your elbow and when the door opens, put your foot against it."

The friend queried: "But why must I use my elbow and foot?"

"For goodness sake, you're not coming empty-handed, are you?"

The Five Acre project, has been used for many years as a way of evaluating corn production methods. Farmers throughout Indiana will receive an official yield check and can compare changing production methods.

Membership in the Indiana Corn Growers Association is required and enrollment may be made at the county agent's office.

MARRIED SUNDAY

Paul Blue, 20, of LaGrange, and Shirley McKee of Route 1, Claypool, were married in services performed at the Edward Bowser home Sunday.

HOLIDAYS ARE DIFFICULT

The printing plates that are used to print the pictures in the News must be secured from firms equipped to make them. We normally get splendid service and have them back within a couple of days after we mail the photos. This week, likely because of the holiday Tuesday, two pictures of local young ladies who have recently become engaged to marry, did not return to us in time for this issue. (They'll likely come in tomorrow's mail, so we trust we may have them in ample time for our next issue.)

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Someone has suggested that our prestige (the United States) is being made or undone by what is happening to the Freedom Riders in Jackson, Mississippi.

"How do you raise kids with enough sense of what's right and what's wrong so that they can get along safely and happily in this tough and complex world?"

This question was raised in an article in the Kiplinger Magazine, Changing Times.

Four basic suggestions were given for parents. The first one will be given very briefly this week.

One. — Catch up on today's kids. Each generation has its own outlook, problems, and environment. One writer said, "The youth of today has faced more moral alternatives by the time he is twenty years of age than his grandparents faced in a lifetime."

Adolescents tend to form groups and set their own standards. They are on their own more than they ever were.

Each age group tends to act in a certain way. Books, such as "Baby and Child Care," by Dr. Benjamin Spack and "The Child From Five To Ten" and "Youth" and "The Years From Ten To Sixteen" by Andrew Gisell, can be very helpful.

The "new look" created at the Methodist Church by the plantings of shrubs, evergreens, and vines is much enjoyed by everyone.

Heliotrope is not a showy plant, but has earned a place in my garden because of its clean sweet elusive fragrance. Minardi (horse mint) is another aromatic plant I enjoy, and it does have a showy bloom.

The editor was using his power mower one evening last week, and it was dusk before he finished his lawn. He heard a strange clicking noise and discovered that he was the target for the owls, who had returned unbeknown to us. He raced the motor like mad and created quite a bit of commotion there under the willow tree. To date, we have not located the owls in any of our trees during the daytime. This was what we hoped for, as we are quite sure that many of our little birds provided a dainty breath."

FROST LAST WEEK

Killing frost visited our area Friday night, and much damage was done to tomatoes, strawberries and other crops.

COUSIN DIES IN FLORIDA

M. O. Mentzer received word of the death of his cousin, Thelma Harris Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harris, former residents of Mentone.

The death occurred Saturday, May 20th at St. Augustine, Fla.

WITH THE SICK

Earl Besson suffered a heart attack on Monday morning at work and was admitted to the Woodlawn hospital.

Verl Halterman has been confined to his home with a severe cold.

Miss Bonnie Cochran is suffering from an infected finger.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Adam Poe has been released from the hospital but remains in a serious condition.

ADDITION

In our article last week on the graduation awards, we failed to mention that the two Bibles given the boy and the girl with the longest period of perfect attendance were presented by the Mentone unit of the Mothers of World War II.

morsel for these night prowlers last summer.

Doing business without advertising is like winking at a girl in the dark. You know what you are doing, but nobody else does. —Stewart Britt.

And how do you feel about the "Tractors for Cuba" issue? This is a case when not to act is inhuman, and to act is morally wrong.

We enjoyed this (Thanks to Hap Hazard)—

They were hunting elephants on safari along the grassy banks of a small river. One of the hopeful young hunters turned to the guide eagerly, "How will we detect the presence of an elephant?" he asked.

The guide looked at him scornfully, then whispered, "By the faint odor of peanuts on his breath."

PHOTOGRAPHER TO RETURN

The Woltz Studios, of Des Moines, Iowa, have made arrangements to return to Mentone on Monday, June 12, to photograph the children. They will be at the American Legion Hall from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Those desiring special appointments may call Mrs. Kenneth Romine.

This newspaper has found the Woltz Studios to be very dependable and there is no hesitancy in recommending them.

The pictures taken will be printed in future issues of the News, and those who have their pictures taken are under no obligation to purchase any of the prints. However, the main purpose of the studio is to attempt to take such good pictures you will have a desire to purchase extra prints.

Coin Operated Laundry Opens

Thursday afternoon of last week the new coin-operated laundry opened in the Emma Clutter building on East Main Street.

The unit contains a number of automatic washers and dryers for the use of patrons.

Mrs. Dora Whetstone is caretaker at the new establishment.

Be Abouts Meet

Mrs. Wayne Bowser was hostess to the Be About Missionary group on Monday evening.

For devotions, Mrs. Tobie Blalock read from Ephesians, the 5th chapter. The visitation was made this month at the Bert Holloway and Miles Kesler homes. The work hour was spent cutting flannelgraph for Mrs. Berklund.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Everett Besson, Everett Welborn, Morris Bitzer, Raymond Lewis, Al Hires, Jo Fore, Tobie Blalock, Lee Norris, James Gates, Irwin Wagner, Ed Back, Kenneth Romine, and Miss Bee Weirick, Debbie, Vicki and Freddy Bowser.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Secrist and family spent the week end at their cottage at the Chain of Lakes, near Baldwin, Mich.

Face Flies Serious Problem

Face flies, newest insect pests of Indiana livestock, likely will present a serious problem again this year, reports Dave Matthew, Purdue University extension entomologist.

Cattlemen and dairymen in several parts of the state have already observed face flies this spring. Populations are still low, but egg laying has also been noted, Matthew adds.

Face flies now beginning to infest livestock are adults that hibernated last winter in rural homes, barns and other buildings. They feed on secretions from the animal's eyes and nose or any open wounds, annoying the animals. Heavily infested animals may spend more time trying to free themselves of the flies than grazing. Matthew advises starting control practices immediately.

Apply DDVP face fly bait to the forehead of each dairy animal with a small brush or applicator bottle. This should be done twice daily for two weeks and thereafter as needed. Pyrethrin sprays also may be used on dairy cattle.

Back rubbers, or in the case of face fly control, better called head rubbers, may be used for beef cattle, but not for dairy animals, Matthew says. These may either be made on the farm or purchased. The inverted V type seems most effective, the entomologist asserts.

Insecticides for use on these devices include DDT, toxaphene or methoxychlor. Mix any of these materials in oil to make a five percent solution and apply to the back rubber. Matthew stresses that the device must be repaired and maintained for best results.

Don't use DDVP syrup baits left over from last year, Matthew warns. The old material probably has lost most of its effectiveness.

Details of face fly control may be obtained from county agricultural extension offices. Two mimeos, free to Indiana residents, also are available at the county agent's office or by writing the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue

University, Lafayette. They are, for beef cattle, Mimeo E-12, "How to Control Flies in Barns and on Cattle," and, for dairy cattle, Mimeo E-80, "Safe Use of Insecticides in the Dairy Industry."

TO ATTEND 4-H ROUND-UP

Miss Sandra Eckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eckert, will attend the 4-H Round-Up at Purdue University June 6-8. Sandra has been president of the Mentone Merry 4-H Club the past two years. She has also served as two other officers of the club. Miss Jo Ann Mollenhour is alternate.

Winter woollens should be dry

University entomologists say it will help prevent clothes moth

Hang clothes outside to sun and

Purdue University agronomists warn farmers to observe growth of wheat, oats and barley to determine the effect of extra fertilizer applied in check strips, or at the ends of the field where turn-arounds have been made. This observation may tell you whether more plant food would pay.

Why Husbands Don't Talk More

"My husband doesn't talk to me as much as I'd like."

This complaint is often heard by Dorothy V. Mummery, Purdue University family life specialist, and she thinks it deserves a good hard look. "If your husband seldom tells you what is on his mind," she advises, "ask yourself why he doesn't."

I can't get a word in edgewise—she's talking all the time! Might be one masculine rejoinder. To this reaction Dr. Mummery concedes that it is perhaps true that women do talk more than men. Especially talkative may be the mother of young children who feels starved for adult conversation after a day limited to the company of pre-school children. Freed of the restraints of a kindergarten vocabulary when her husband comes home in the evening, this wife may nearly overwhelm him with pent-up monologues.

Women tend to be more concerned with the details of daily living and of human relations than are men, Dr. Mummery states. By masculine standards, many women overload their conversation with trivialities and needless details. Some use the moment their husbands return home as the time to unload petty complaints and to make long recitals out of minor events of their day. When a husband feels that his concerns are being neglected for what he would call "chit-chat," he may express a resentment by retreating into silence. Wives should find emotional outlets for daily irritations such as a brisk walk or playing the piano.

Sometimes wives talk at length with the best intentions, the specialist points out. A woman may try to cheer her husband out of fatigue or low spirits by animated story-telling. Watch your husband's reactions if you have this habit, she cautions, for many men would prefer a companionable silence when they are in a bad humor.

The desire to talk or be quiet varies with every individual and is closely tied with subtle emotional and physical status. Many men like a period of peaceful silence when they return home, tired and hungry, after a day's work. Some people's metabolic rate makes them uncommunicative at breakfast. When he is anxious and upset, one person will talk more than usual, another less.

Strawberry Plant Care

For big, luscious strawberries, start with proper plant care, advises Jerome Hull, Jr., Purdue University horticulturist.

First, remove the flowers from the plants which you transplanted this spring. This may be difficult because of the temptation to pick a few berries the first year. But the first year's fruit are small and by picking off the flowers you will be rewarded with more and larger fruit next year.

To save time, remove the entire flower stalk, instead of individual flowers, says Hull. Do this by breaking off the flower stalks close to the crown level. With ever-bearing plants, do not remove blossoms after July.

Allow most of the runners to root during the spring and summer and space the runner plants so they are about six to eight inches apart. Keep the matted row to a width of about 15 inches.

For more information, ask your county agricultural agent for Mimeo HO 55-5, "Strawberry Growing in Indiana." It's free to Indiana residents.

Clean and scrub pig farrowing facilities between farrowings, advise animal scientists at Purdue University. Let these facilities set idle, if possible, for two weeks after cleaning.

In addition to their obvious use, mirrors can be a decorating asset, say Purdue University furnishing specialists. They can increase the apparent size of a room, create a feeling of depth and heighten the effect of lighting.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

Methodist Bishop Richard C. Raines strongly defended the right of ministers to speak on controversial issues at Muncie Sunday at the 118th annual session of the Northern Indiana Conference of the Methodist Church. But he warned that freedom of the pulpit must be used with caution.

The bishop spoke at the Muncie Fieldhouse at the Sunday morning worship service of the North Indiana Conference. The 118th annual business session of 435 Methodist churches in north-east Indiana concluded here Sunday afternoon.

Bishop Raines said, "It is a fearful, sacred, and difficult commitment that is given to the messengers of the Lord. Who dares speak for God? And yet when the people ask, 'Is there any word from the Lord?' The messenger must answer 'Yes, there is a word and after prayer and study, I believe this is it.'"

Freedom of the pulpit, he said, is not a bequest which can be passed from one generation to another but a conquest which must be won by each generation.

He said the history of the church is almost the account of struggles for freedom of the pulpit.

"From the beginning until now, whenever a man has spoken from the pulpit things which compel people to rethink their religious experiences or to look again at their political interests, their prejudices, or their pocket-books, there we have a struggle for freedom of the pulpit," he said.

The struggle is by no means one-sided, he indicated, because most laymen are also concerned about this freedom. "The best laymen do not want a phonograph for ministers, one who merely reflects what they want to hear," he said.

"The minister must constantly walk a tightrope, between irrelevance on one side—answering questions nobody is asking—or creating friction, and sometimes being mistaken, on the other."

Bishop Raines said the man who is to exercise real freedom of the pulpit must have proved his love and concern for his people. "Only where respect and trust obtain can freedom of the pulpit be effectively exercised. This means every minister must be a faithful pastor, visiting the sick, counseling, and comforting the bereaved."

The pastor also must speak in such a way that his people do not come on "Sunday morning with protective armor, suspicious of what he is going to say."

"The minister will leave room for people to disagree with him, to reckon that he could be wrong, and to at least give those who disagree with him credit for being intelligent," he said.

Ministers also should not harp on the same theme every Sunday. "We need to remember that the gospel is not just personal or not just social. It is both."

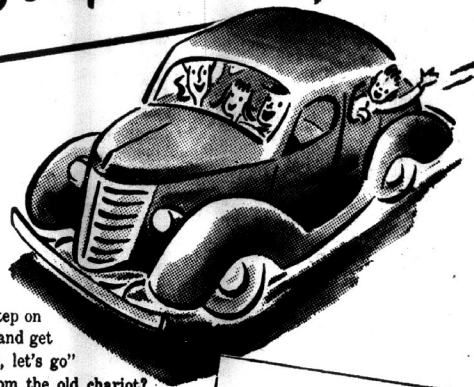

"Because a part of the minister's task is to speak things his people may not want to hear, he ought to try to become a specialist in tact and diplomacy," according to Bishop Raines.

"So long as the pulpit in America is free and the ministers are actually the messengers of the Lord, democracy and freedom cannot be smothered out of existence."

The minister must speak on controversial subjects and he can do it effectively if he speaks in love and concern.

Mulch Away Garden Weeds

Mulching effectively controls garden weeds, remind Purdue University horticulturists.

Some common mulches are sawdust, ground corn cobs, straw and peat moss. They all do a good job of controlling weeds and add valuable organic matter to the soil when turned under the following year. They also make soils cooler, so watering is less necessary in hot, dry weather.

The horticulturists advise applying mulches so the ground is completely covered. This will control weed seed germination. However, make sure the garden area is cultivated and weeds are under control before applying a mulch.

Directions: Apply two inches of sawdust, ground corn cobs or peat moss. If straw is used, apply four inches. Make sure that the mulch materials used are weed free.

If more information is desired on mulches, Indiana gardeners may obtain without charge Mimeo HO 77-1, "Garden Mulches," from county agricultural extension offices, or by writing Agricultural Publications office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette.

Learn How To Bar-B-Q Chicken

Delayed warm weather has made Hoosiers eager to get outdoors and enjoy barbecued meals. An aid to better barbecues is a Purdue University pamphlet, "How to Prepare Hoosier Barbecue Chicken." More than 20,000 copies of it have been distributed to date.

There are several explanations of this booklet's popularity. One may be the appeal of its delicious sauce recipes. The bulletin offers four methods, ranging from plain to fancy. Each one is the kind that makes the difference between a meal and a memorable feast.

Possibly it is the information about the mechanics of barbecuing chicken that people like best about this guide. It tells how to construct a pit, how to make several types of grills, what kind of fuel to use and other "how to's" that insure success.

Other information includes advice on what kind of chicken to buy, how to cut it, how to tell when it is cooked, quantities needed for each ten persons, suggested accompanying menus and a list of all needed supplies and equipment.

"How to Prepare Hoosier Barbecue Chicken," extension circular 434, is available free to Indiana residents. Get one from your county extension office or send a postcard to Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette.

Proper Way To Water Lawns

To have a lawn everyone will admire be sure to water it properly, warn Purdue University turf specialists.

One of the easiest things to do, and the least understood, is lawn watering. Proper lawn watering makes the difference in lawn beauty. The object of lawn watering is to maintain green grass throughout dry periods.

Turf specialists suggest that: Lawns be watered when rain has been insufficient for a period of a week.

Proper watering will keep grass healthy and better able to withstand weed and crabgrass competition.

Light sprinkling is bad for lawns, because it encourages leaf diseases and weeds are more likely to take over.

Enough water be applied to moisten the soil to a depth of at least five inches—this takes about an inch of water.

To apply an inch of water requires leaving the sprinkler in one location for one hour—in areas under trees, two hours.

SHADE NEEDED FOR HOGS

Hot, humid weather frequently becomes reality with shocking suddenness. This kills unprotected hogs, remind Jim Foster and Dick Hollandbeck of Purdue University.

A 200 pound market hog requires about eight square feet of shade for free circulation of air. Mature sows and boars should be allowed 12 to 15 square feet of shade.

They point out that in many cases additional shade area must be provided for confinement feed set-ups. Most of these provide a maximum of six square feet of shade per hog. Corn crib picketing may be extended over part of the feeding floor for additional shade.

Giant Foxtail Serious Threat

A weed that produces as many as 20,000 seeds per plant spreads rapidly. Such is the case of giant foxtail, a plant that is threatening Indiana farms.

Oliver C. Lee, extension weed specialist at Purdue University, describes giant foxtail as the most threatening annual weed to be introduced into this state. It thrives in competition with all crops, reduces yields and makes harvesting difficult. Giant foxtail is usually first found in a community in patches either in fence rows or along ditches. From there it spreads to cover entire fields.

Cleaning up fence rows and destroying patches of giant foxtail is imperative to prevent its spread. Spraying with dalapon or TCA is recommended. Five pounds of dalapon or 15 pounds of TCA in 100 gallons of water is a practical spray. This should be done before the plant matures to prevent seeding, Lee advises.

Extension Circular 457, Giant Foxtail Invades Indiana Farms, gives facts about giant foxtail. This publication is available to Indiana residents without charge.

Use Low Volatile 2,4-D

What's wrong with your tomatoes, grapes, willow trees and other plants when their leaves are abnormal? Asks O. C. Lee, Purdue University extension weed specialist. It could be 2,4-D, even though applied some distance away.

Spray will drift with the wind. To avoid this, as far as possible, apply the chemical only with low pressure sprayers and only when the wind is not blowing, Lee advises. Volatile esters of 2,4-D also will emit vapors which may seriously damage susceptible plants. Under high temperatures they may volatilize and vapor may drift great distances.

Lee points out that low volatile esters—so designated on the label—are safer to use than the standard or more volatile types. He recommends their use for greater safety. While the low volatile types may cost slightly more, the price difference may be money well spent for protection to crops, either your own or those of your neighbors.

The 1961 Indiana General Assembly enacted the Indiana Herbicide Law making it illegal to sell for use or use high volatile esters of 2,4-D, 2,4,5-T and MCP in this state after January 1, 1962. The law also requires registration with the State chemist of all herbicides sold in Indiana.

Install yard lights in your outdoor recreational area and around the patio. Purdue University agricultural engineers say a type UF plastic insulated cable is acceptable for underground installation. Bury it deep enough so that you won't spade into it, or cover the cable with pressure preservative treated boards.
