INDUSTRIAL PLANT
TO LOCATE HERE

Officials of the K - G Brown Mfg. Co., of Mattituck, L. I., New York, who have visited Mentone on a number of occasions in recent weeks, were in town last week and purchased a five-acre tract of ground from Mrs. Leininger, south of Mentone on Road 19, and a contract was signed Tuesday evening for the construction of a 248x60 cinder block building, with brick front. The contract was with the Northern Indiana Cooperative Association of Mentone, and construction is to start immediately.

The new concern has been in operation for 20 years and one of the items they manufacture and distribute is self-service ice storage and manufacturing units. The location of a plant at Mentone will enable them to serve the midwest area.

The entire project was sponsored by the industrial committee of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce, and Gerald Romine, president, wishes to express his thanks to all those who have given so much of their time in helping to arrange the details of the endeavor.

If you are willing to spend 10c, you may get information about fallout shelters by writing to the address below. Ask for the booklet, "The Family Fallout Shelter," #MP-15. Superintendent Of Documents U.S. Government Printing Office Washington, 25, D.C. (Thanks to Viola Adams for this information.)

A clipping sent to us by Mildred Friesner is called "Strength For Today". It uses Deut. 33:25 as a text. "As thy days, so shall thy strength be." Then the words from that lovely song "Just For Today" are given. We wish to quote the second stanza.

"I do not ask a lifted load,
Nor for a smooth and thornless road;

Simply for strength enough to bear
Life's daily burdens anywhere."

Household hint—A small piece of nylon sponge cut to size, may be used as a stopper in the bottom of a salt shaker.

Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey has written the following tribute to teachers:

"When we speak of the inspiration of the schools we think at once of the teacher whose personality (1) inspires respect and confidence, (2) provokes effort, (3) makes indolence and indifference seem unworthy, (4) arouses ambition, and (5) whose knowledge and wisdom are a constant lure to effort on the part of the students."

Haydn Pearson echoes our sentiments about the beauty of autumn.

"Sugar maples turn to flaming bouquets of red and gold; beeches and birches dress in glowing yellow and the oaks put on cloaks of shining brown. Blueberry bushes in the swamps are accent points of rich maroon; the bittersweet and poison ivy on old walls and fences are scarlet draperies."

Note on Communism.

No careful student of communism can afford to overlook special meanings in the vocabularies of party dialecticians. For example, "democracy" is used to mean ready approval of party policy, and in that sense the Soviet Union is regu-

LIONS FISH FRY
WELL ATTENDED

The fish fry held Saturday evening by the Mentone Lions Club was a success in every respect. The club fried 505 pounds of fish and the total receipts were $748.50. After expenses (as of Wednesday evening) were deducted, there was a balance of $277.16. $40 of the expenses was given to the Mentone American Legion for materials and the frying of the fish. The Legion considered this sum too much so they gave $20 back to be used with the city park fund.

Although not a direct contribution to the fish fry, Dr. and Mrs. Dan L. Urschel sent the Lions club a check for $25.00 to be placed in the club activity fund.

The Lions club was very appreciative of the fine response by the citizens, and the faithful help of the club members.

The masked parade, under the direction of Lloyd Bowerman, Gerald Romine and H. V. Johns, proved to be very entertaining.

In addition to the cash prizes, all contestants were given gifts from a fund previously contributed by the retail merchants.

Just before the parade, the Mentone Junior Band furnished music to those in attendance.

Prize winners were:

Largest family group — Mrs. Wm. Schooley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker and two children.

Best dressed couple—John and Bob Romine.

Best tramp—Teresa Kindig.

Best clown—Marla Sue Lefert.

Ugliest—Pamela Abbey, who was dressed as a witch.

Youngest person masked — Gregory Hoover.

Oldest person masked — Mrs. Wm. Schooley.

Most unusual—1st, Jeff Shoemaker as a dinosaur; 2nd, Bobby Bowerman as an Astro-Nut; 3rd, Terry Hammer, a shock of fodder.

Judgin, which was most difficult, was done by Mary Griffith, Helen Meyers and M. O. Bryan.

WITH THE SICK

Larry Sullivan had the misfortune to fall from the hay mow Sunday afternoon at the Rex Witham home. He was admitted to the Murphy Hospital for observation and dismissed Monday as there were only bruises and no bones broken.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Friesner called Sunday evening on her uncle, Ben Blue. He has been dismissed from the hospital.

PRESENTS EXHIBIT
AT STATE MEET

Dr. and Mrs. Dan Urschel were in Indianapolis last week, where the Doctor was attending the annual meeting of the Indiana State Medical Association. He was in charge of a scientific exhibit booth sponsored by the Flying Physicians' Association, and also appeared on the program as a member of a panel of specialists on Rheumatic Heart Disease. This program was sponsored by the Indiana Chapter of the American College of Chest Physicians, of which he is a member, and was part of an experimental method in post-graduate medical education that the College is presenting. These "Fireside Conferences" are informal discussion periods, with 4 or 5 specialists leading the talk among a small group of general doctors. The small groups and free discussion has proven a very effective teaching method, and this was the first time that it had been tried in Indiana.

At the business meeting of the Flying Physicians Association, which was held in conjunction with the State Medical meeting, Dr. Urschel was elected secretary-treasurer for the coming year. He has completed two years as chairman of this state group.

Scarcity of water is fast becoming a major problem for growing municipalities. By 1975 this country will be using 88
per cent of all available water,
says the Population Reference Bureau, compared with the 8 per cent used in 1900. And cities, many of which already have water shortage problems because of growing population, are expected to experience a total population increase of 35 million by 1975.

Sharks had a busy season
this last year. Thirty unprovoked attacks on humans were recorded, and there were 11 instances in which a shark was provoked and attacked. Most of the victims were fishermen; one was a skin diver who was bitten by a shark he had speared, and one lifeguard was knocked off
a surf ski. All survived.

Corn Picker Accidents

"Just knowing that you should turn off the corn picker doesn't mean that you will," observes
F. R. Willsey, Purdue University
farm safety specialist.

"Many farmers who don't find time to turn off the corn picker when it is causing trouble spend lots of time in the hospital recovering from an accident," Willsey warns.

Why should anyone take a chance that might cause a corn picker accident? Why isn't more done to prevent such accidents?
These are questions many of us ask when corn picker accidents start happening each fall.

Failure to stop picker to clean out trash is the most common violation of safety rules. In Purdue summary of corn picker accidents over the past few years, nearly two-thirds of the farmers who had been injured admitted that the accident could have been prevented if they had shut off the power. They realized too late that this method of saving time is nothing more than a gamble.

Many pickers that work nicely in light-yielding corn will develop many problems in heavy corn. Many people now realize they would have saved money and a hand if they had owned a larger picker.

"Machinery safety takes advance planning and care," explains Willsey. "It's not wise to pull a picker out of the tool shed at the last minute, grease

it and head for the field."

"If farmers would only realize that the few minutes saved
by a shortcut method of unclogging a picker could be the most expensive few minutes of their lives, the slaughter in the corn field could be stopped," says Willsey. "Don't assume you have discovered a really safe way with the power on just because it worked a few hundred times."

Clean Up Your Lawn

You can add beauty to your lawn this fall by removing dead, brown grass and at the same time give new grass growing room, reminds W. H. Daniel, Purdue University turf specialist.

One way to "brighten up"
your lawn is to set the mower
at a one inch cutting height, cut the grass and then sweep up the clippings. This will remove much of the crabgrass and dead grass.

Another way to clean up the lawn is by use of a vertical cutting machines. Vertical cutters thin and remove crabgrass and all dead material almost down to soil level. After using the machine, rake together and remove the refuse. Vertical cutters may be rented.

After lawns have been cleaned, fertilize and reseed if needed. Daniel recommends maintaining a two inch cutting height. Bluegrass naturally grows more vigorously when it is cut high.

Cold juices from citrus fruits
are good choices for thirst quencher because of their vitamin C rating, say Purdue University food specialists. Orange and grapefruit are rich sources of this important vitamin, but the traditional lemonade and limeade also offer it.

BEAVER DAM MAN REPORTS TIRES STOLEN

Twelve tires were taken from a storage place belonging to Wade Powell of Beaver Dam Tuesday. Mr. Powell discovered the theft when he saw the broken lock on the building at 1 p.m.

Officials set the time at about 2 a.m. for the robbery as some residents heard dogs barking at about that time.

The tires were snow and whitewalls.

Deputy Dave Andrews and Conservation Officer Richard Higgins said they believe three or four persons might have been involved in the theft.

Farm Bureau and 4-H Clubs Meet

The Kosciusko County Farm Bureau held their annual get-together with the 4-H club members and their parents on Wednesday, October 25.

The meeting was then turned over to the County Extension Agent, Don Frantz. He described the present and future plans of the 4-H program.

Mr. Frantz says, "There are nearly 1,000 4-H club members in Kosciusko County receiving training for future leadership." He went on to say that our community is doing very well in the program, always well represented at various meetings and projects.

Mr. Frantz presented 4-H pins to the following groups:

Entertainment was furnished by members of the 4-H clubs. These clubs are looking forward to another successful year. Farm Bureau president, Harold Gawthrop, said his group enjoyed sponsoring this get-together.

If your ironware is beginning to rust, it may need to be re-cured, advise Purdue University specialists. To re-cure a cast iron utensil, wash and dry it. Brush the entire outside and inside surfaces with unsalted fat and put in a 350-degree oven for two or three hours. Cool, wash again in soapy water and dry well.

1962 Barley Program

Purdue University agricultural economists who have studied the 1962 barley program offer these observations:

Most Indiana farmers who have a barley base and do not want to expand corn or grain sorghum acreage can profit by participation in the program.

If a farmer can profit by minimum participation, he can probably profit by maximum participation.

In the past, many Hoosier farmers have maintained their crop rotations by producing barley on acreage retired from wheat. In most cases, this land may be retired under the barley program more profitably than if used for barley production.

Farmers with a barley base of 25 acres or less can receive payment for retiring their entire barley base.

Barley was included in the 1962 Feed Grain program. County ASC committees are sending to barley growers notices listing the individual farm's feed grain base, the established yield and "minimum" and "additional" payment rates for retiring acres. Indiana's estimated barley acreage is between 55,000 and 60,000 acres.

Sign-up for the barley program as well as the 1962 wheat stabilization program began at county ASC offices September 15. Sign-up for both programs will close December 1.

Place To Study

"Good study habits, better grades and pleasant study hours can result from a well planned study area," says Ezelle Johnson, Purdue University home furnishings specialist.

A simple and inexpensive unit can be assembled from a plywood slab door set on legs, an unfinished bookcase or a few shelves for reference books. A wood stain topped with penetrating seal or bright enamel decorates it to satisfaction.

A good straight chair, deep enough for comfort and in proper relationship to the height of the desk, is important, reminds Miss Johnson. The student should be able to sit with his back straight in line with the chair back, feet flat on the floor, and knees well under the desk top.

A scratch-resistant, low-gloss finish is desirable for any study desk. Shadows and glare result if the finish is shiny, says the specialist. A light desk top is easier to work on because there is little contrast between the desk top and book or writing paper. Cover a dark or shiny desk with a light colored blotter to avoid eyestraining contrast. A bulletin board over the desk may lessen contrast between the light desk top and the wall area, in addition to serving as a useful decorative accessory.

A table or floor lamp or two wall lamps, correctly placed, will provide suitable light. Light source should be 12" from front of desk and 15" from center of work area. Shaded and diffused light prevents eyestrain.

RETURN FROM TOUR OF THE SOUTH

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hoffer, who live near Palestine, returned from a conducted tour to New Orleans, La. They left Fort Wayne by bus and motored to Cincinnati, Ohio. From there they went via Louisville and Nashville railroad. After they arrived at New Orleans, they were transferred by special bus to the beautiful Hotel Jung, located on Canal Street in the heart of the shopping district. We were accompanied by lecturers each day we were sightseeing. The famous French Quarters, Jackson Square, Pirates Alley, and many other interesting historical points. Then we were taken through modern New Orleans, seeing the beautiful parks, Tulane and Loyola universities and many palatial homes and gardens. One of our outstanding tours was New Orleans harbor and the water front and seeing miles of wharves with luxurious liners and freighters, seeing them loading cotton and unloading bananas and other items.

We then went up the Mississippi river fifteen miles. Then another nice trip was visiting Anti-Bellum homes and plantations, including the Keller House, Ormand and Elmwood and touring miles along the river levee. It was a most enjoyable trip and the weather was ideal for the week we were gone.

Merry Mixers Meet

Fourteen members of the Merry Mixers Home Demonstration club enjoyed their Halloween party at the home of Mrs. Larry Stavedahl.

The meeting was opened with the pledge to the flag and the club creed. The history of the song of the month was given by Mrs. Robert Boggs and was sung by all. Roll call was answered with each member unmasking. The lesson on holiday meal planning was given by Mrs. Curt Livingood.

The rest of the evening was spent in playing cards. Refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. Garwin Eaton and Mrs. Larry Stavedahl.

Mrs. Lavanchy was a guest.

STEVEN BRUNER COMMENDED

The Army has announced the commendation of Sp.4 Steven E. Bruner, of Battery B, 3rd. Howitzer Battalion, 3rd. Artillery, Fort Knox, Kentucky. He has received the selection as the soldier of the month of September, 1961, for the 3rd. Howitzer Battalion, 3rd. Artillery.

The ability to earn this honor against keen competition reflects a professional competence and understanding of military affairs and subjects on his part which is a credit to him and his battery.

Steven graduated from Mentone high school in 1959.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bruner, Jr. and son, Danny, spent the week end at Fort Knox, Kentucky visiting their son and wife.

SENTENCED

Judge Seth Rowdabaugh, Monday, revoked a suspended 2-5 year sentence to the Indiana State Reformatory for Rex Borton of Syracuse. Parole violation was given as the cause of the revocation.

Drain Tile Quality

Landowners planning to install tile drainage systems should be aware of drain tile quality requirements, advises Don Sisson, Purdue University extension agricultural engineer.

Specifications for both clay and concrete tile are made in the "Standard" and "Extra Quality" classes. Standard drain tile are intended for use for land drainage of ordinary soils at moderate depths. Extra quality tile are laid in extra deep or extra wide trenches. "Heavy Duty" clay drain tile are to be used in any soil where the loading conditions are severe. "Special Quality" concrete drain tile are intended for land drainage in soils that are markedly acid or where the loading conditions are severe.

For special soil or loading conditions the drain tile manufacturer should be consulted to determine if the necessary quality of drain tile is available. Most Indiana drain tile manufacturers have laboratory tests made of their products and will show their test ratings to prospective purchasers. For farm and home drainage the tile should meet at least the standard quality specifications. All drain tile used in agricultural conservation program must meet the A.S.T.M. specifications.

In Indiana, through a cooperative testing program, a list of approved drain tile manufacturers is published twice a year. Drain tile users may obtain a copy of the present approved list through their agricultural extension office or from the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette. Ask for Mimeo AE47f. It is free to Indiana residents.

Iron While You Wash

"Iron while you wash" is a saying of Elkin Minter, Purdue home management specialist. It sounds like "whistle while you work" and her advice may make you do just that because it enables you to cut down your ironing time.

Using a fabric softener in the last rinse can save minutes to hours of ironing, Miss Munter states. Many articles which would otherwise have to be ironed can be smoothed and folded; others will need only light pressing. They will also feel softer and fluffier and in winter will be free of static electricity.

Softener should be added as the last full rinse begins. Measure it according to package directions.

rections, the specialist cautions. Using too much for several washings in a row cuts down on the absorbency of fabrics.

You can also prevent wrinkles before they happen by removing articles from the dryer before they are bone dry. Letting clothes lie in the dryer after its cycle ends causes both wrinkling and shrinkage. Many articles are sufficiently dried in five to ten minutes, Miss Munter points out.

Remove clothes to be ironed while dampness is uniform. Smooth, fold and place them in a plastic bag. If ironing will be postponed, store the package in the refrigerator or freezer, where they will be safe from mildew for several days. Many pieces need not be ironed if you remove them at the slightly moist stage, smooth, fold and leave them in the open to dry before being stored.

Fall Spraying of Clover Mites

Fall spraying of lawns and shrubs around homes often prevents clover mite infestations inside houses during fall and spring months, advises Dave Matthew, Purdue University extension entomologist.

This reddish-colored mite is smaller than a pin head, has rather long legs, and leaves a red stain when mashed on wall paper, curtains, window ledges and other surfaces.

Clover mites migrate into homes and other heated buildings to spend the winter. They often congregate along the base of foundations, under siding,
and around doors and windows before entering the house. They are active during the fall and again in early spring when they swarm over floors, window sills and around windows on the sunny side of the house.

Control clover mites now by spraying a barrier strip 10 to 20 feet wide on grass and shrubbery all the way around the house or building to be protected. Also spray the foundation and side of the house up to and including the first floor window frames. To make the spray, mix a pint of the 57 per cent malathion emulsion concentrate in 10 gallons of water. Thirty to 40 gallons of this spray mixture will cover 1,000 square feet. Follow label directions for safe handling of insecticides.

Purdue Mimeo E-59, "Clover Mite Control," contains detailed information and recommendations for control of mites inside houses. County agricultural extension offices have copies which are free to Indiana residents.

Good posture at the sewing machine will save energy and help prevent eyestrain, comment Purdue University clothing specialists. Be at ease as you sew.

larly proclaimed by its eulogists as the most democratic of states.

Similarly, "peace" is a period of international acquiescence in communist proposals, and "peaceful coexistence," an interregnum on the eve of the class warfare, which is inevitable, in communist dogma, wherever capitalism exists.

Negotiators have found again and again that communists often mean by "liberation" only political enslavement, or by "justice" only confiscation of life or property—all in the name of peoples who have no real choice under the system.

By Dr. Franklin Burdette in April, 1961, NEA Journal.

The School Board at Twin Lakes, Wisconsin, has voted to use the century-old McGuffey Readers. This decision, naturally, has split the community into two factions.

The School Board made this move in order to teach reading by the old phonetic method of using vowel sounds instead of the newer method of word recognition. (Wonder if it isn't possible to have a combination system?)

We enjoyed this:

The executive vice president of a large corporation died unexpectedly and the funeral was—of course—attended by all the top brass of the organization. The ceremonies were scarcely over before the second-in-command vice president sidled up to the president and said unctuously, "My, what a tragic loss. Do you think I'm ready to take his place?"

The president gave him a cool stare. "Suits me all right," he said. "Clear it with the undertaker." (Thanks to the Zanna Hammers.)

A blue and green color scheme will blend and harmonize, say Purdue University home furnishings specialists, if you use some yellow tones to tie these two colors together. Yellow can appear in its primary state or in yellow-green tones for accent.

FHA Bake Sale Successful

The Mentone chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held a bake sale in Mentone, October 14. We were very well pleased with the outstanding number of girls who contributed products and their time to make this project a success.

We were amazed at how much we made by selling from door to door. Some of the senior girls went to homes to sell the products to the people who had either forgotten or were unable to come to our bake sale. We found this method very profitable and were very well pleased with the results and would like to thank everyone for helping out.

Save some pan washing when you melt chocolate by placing it on waxed paper in the top of a double boiler, advise Purdue University home management specialists.

NOTICE

The Mentone Legion Home will be open at 10:00 on Friday and Saturday, November 3 and 4. This will enable you to leave your auction articles. There will be a truck available for large items.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

By December or January you will receive a booklet which will give information about the home Fallout Shelter.

This 106-page booklet will give instructions for building or improvising a home shelter, and is being furnished by the government.

The following Open Letter to a Teenager first received public attention when it was quoted by Juvenile Judge Philip B. Gilliam of Denver. More recently it appeared in Abigail Van Buren's syndicated newspaper column. The author of the letter is not known. "We hear teenagers complain, 'What can we do? where can we go?' The answer is: go home! Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk. Wash the car, scrub some floors. Visit the sick, the poor. Study your lessons. And when you're through, if you're not too tired, read The Book. Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city doesn't owe you a recreation center. The world doesn't owe you a living. You owe it your time and energy and your talent so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely again. You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibilities your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, excused and tolerated you. They have denied themselves comforts so that you could have luxuries. This they have done gladly, for you are their greatest treasure. Teenagers, grow up and go home!"

(Thanks to Chester Manwaring for this article.)

Principal Margaret Walsh, of Sagreville, N. J. marched 146 teenagers out of the National Theatre in Washington, D. C. 10 minutes before the curtain fell on the first act of a certain play. Her comments were: "This is no play for 16-year-olds." "We just came out because it was the right thing to do." "It was my duty to bring them out." "I had no idea what the play was like. I thought it would be a nice evening. I had called the theatre and they knew it was a school group coming."

David Powers, press agent for the comedy said, "It's the most (Continued on back page)

IN DETROIT FOR MEDICAL MEETING

Dr. and Mrs. Dan Urschel were in Detroit last week end, attending a meeting of the Henry Ford Hospital Medical Association, followed by a reunion of the Ford Hospital alumni. Dr. Urschel had his internship and medical residency at this institution and later returned for training in Cardiovascular Diseases. He is presently the Indiana representative of the hospital alumni group.

This meeting of the alumni association paid special honor to Dr. Frank J. Sladen, who was one of two young men from John Hopkins who founded the hospital for Mr. Henry Ford in 1915. Dr. Sladen was chief of medical service for 36 years, and it was on his staff that Dr. Urschel worked while at Ford.

Enroute home the Urschels stopped to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Roger Becklund, at Blodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Lemler Host to Mentone Reading Club

The November meeting of the Mentone Reading Club was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Lemler, with Mrs. Artley Cullum assisting.

Meditation was given by Mrs. Denton Abbey.

Response to roll call was "An old family remedy."

Following the business meeting, the program chairman, Mrs. Max Nellans, introduced Mrs. Rufus King of North Manchester. Mrs. King is the teacher for the special class for slow learners and retarded children at the Burket school. She gave an interesting word picture of the retarded child, showing degrees of retardation, behavior patterns, learning ability, reasons for retardation, and what the future holds for the retarded child.

The next meeting, on December 6, will be at the home of Mrs. Richard Manwaring.

CORRECTION

In our last issue we mentioned that "The Kosciusko County Farm Bureau held their annual get-together with the 4-H club members and their parents." In fact, it should have been the Harrison Township Farm Bureau and the officers who were elected were:

Chairman, Carl Mahoney.
S. & E. Leader, Mrs. Ray Wiltrout.

Secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Wilbur Perry.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Nellans and daughters spent Sunday at La-Otto visiting Mrs. Nellans' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pankop. Also present were three ladies who attended Angola Normal school some 30 years before. Mrs. Pankop returned to Mentone and spent the evening with her daughter and family, returning home Monday.

Artley Cullum flew to Coldwater, Michigan, Saturday to attend a group meeting on Bible Paths Sunday School quarterlies, which have been published by the Country Print Shop for a number of years. They are distributed in 29 states and Canada.

Smaller families have become more popular with women of child-bearing age, report three scientists at Miami university. Married women aged 20-24 in 1955 expected to have an average 3.1 children, but this year those in the same age bracket expect only an average 2.8 children. The report predicts an "appreciable downturn" in the average size of completed families within several years.

KEEP FROM

BETWEEN PARKED CARS

The theme of the November school safety poster is an important one for both adults and children to remember. This poster, distributed by the Chicago Motor Club to some 33,000 grade school classrooms in Illinois and Indiana, warns pedestrians of all ages that darning from between parked cars is a dangerous practice. Children playing between parked cars are apt to run into the worst unexpected.

Remember this: A motorist's view is blocked by parked vehicles, and he is not prepared to stop suddenly for pedestrians crossing in the middle of the block.

Suggestion For Holiday Gift

"What other inexpensive gift can be enjoyed so much by the whole family?" asked George Doup, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau, in launching the organization's second annual Give-Meat-For-Christmas promotion. Negotiable meat certificates worth $5 have been issued and are available through local county Farm Bureau offices.

"Whether the Christmas shopper makes her gift selections early or at the last minute, these meat certificates should be a most welcome answer to the recurring question of what to give. The initial effort in 1960 resulted in the sale of more than $3,000 worth of red meat," added Doup.

The certificates bear the name of an Indianapolis bank. The grocer or meat dealer who accepts them in lieu of cash, deposits them in his local bank, which in turn sends them to the Indianapolis bank for redemption by the Indiana Farm Bureau.

"For the person who has everything, for the holiday-harassed housewife, for every member of the family, we suggest a meat certificate or two," concluded the Bureau leader. Local FB members will aid in the campaign by selling the certificates among their friends and local business firms who traditionally give food to their employees at Christmas.

Fill 'Em Up

Whether active school children rush home for lunch or carry it in lunch boxes, "fill 'em up" is a good slogan for homemakers, according to Miriam Eads, Purdue University food specialist.

"Children burn up energy studying and need to refuel their bodies at lunch time with a well balanced meal. Protein foods are needed," says the specialist, "to maintain body tissue, provide for growth, and use in everyday body functioning. Protein also gives that 'full feeling' of satisfaction."

High protein dishes for luncheon include baked beans, noodles, spaghetti and meat pies. Good sandwich fillings are cold meats, barbecued meats, cheese combinations and eggs (fried, scrambled with green pepper and onion, in salad, or hard cooked and combined with bacon and olive). Oatmeal, rye, pumpernickel and whole wheat breads vary the sandwich routine.

Lunch box packers can prepare a wide range of noontime treats. Miss Eads suggests tucking small vacuum containers of salad into lunch boxes. Alternate the various fruit, vegetable and meat salads for variety. Include bread or crackers for munching. A vacuum bottle of hot soup is welcome on a chilly day. Spaghetti or casseroles can be spooned into a wide-mouthed thermos.

For easy and tasty eating add hard cooked eggs in the shell, carrot sticks, celery stalks, raisins and fresh fruits.

Gathering And Storing Nuts

What's more fun than cracking and eating nuts around a roaring fire when a gale is blowing outside? Many Hoosiers can enjoy this winter pastime since they have nut trees on their property or can visit a rural friend who owns a woods.

Gather only ripe Black and English walnuts and butternuts which have a soft hull, say Purdue University horticulturists. It's wise to crack a few immediately to make sure that the nuts are of good quality before gathering large quantities. Then remove the hulls so that the juices won't discolor the kernels.

Next, wash the nuts and spread them out to dry in a warm place. Dry them until the kernels snap when broken. Black walnuts and butternuts should be stored at 32 degrees and English walnuts should be kept at 50 degrees. They should be placed in closed containers.

Usually pecans can be harvested by shaking them from the tree. Do this any time after the shucks around the nuts begin to curl open. Then cure them in a cool, dry location and stir from time to time before storing them at 40 to 50 degrees.

Thanksgiving Day

From The American Rifleman

The fourth Thursday in November is set apart each year in the United States of America for thanksgiving and praise to God as a public acknowledgment of divine goodness and mercies.

The first American Thanksgiving Day was celebrated in 1621 during the second winter the Plymouth colonists spent in the New World. It was a day of feasting and prayer, to show the gratitude of the colonists that they were still alive. The custom spread from Plymouth to other colonies, and since 1863 it has been a national observance. The New England Thanksgiving in the middle of the 19th century featured a community raffle of fowls on Thanksgiving Eve and a shooting match in the morning. Today, the trend is to family activities.

There will be many editorials written and many sermons delivered during the next few weeks on the subject of America's reason for giving thanks. To each writer and to each speaker there will be some particular reason for the call to Thanksgiving. This is as it should be because to every segment of our society there have come advantages and opportunities of specific benefit and appeal. Some of these benefits are tangible and require a sense of values to be fully appreciated.

One of the intangible benefits for which all Americans should be thankful is the fact that our forefathers were endowed with a love of liberty and founded our government on the principles of human dignity and freedom of the individual. The basic liberties guaranteed to the people in the Constitution of the United States are a priceless heritage which has continued to develop over the years through the persistent efforts of freedom loving people.

Shooter-Sportsmen and gun owners have a particular reason to be grateful for the basic freedom of the American way of life. They, more than most Americans, appreciate and value the significance of one of those basic freedoms—the right to keep and bear arms. The National Rifle Association of America, composed of more than 450,000 patriotic citizens whose many varied interests touch common ground in a concern for guns and shooting and in love of country, endeavors to promote and sustain this basic American freedom. It believes in the fundamental right of an individual to keep and bear arms and stand squarely behind the premise that the lawful ownership of firearms must not be denied American citizens of good repute, so long as they continue to use such weapons for lawful purposes.

Like the early settlers at Plymouth, we have much for which to be thankful. Let us show our gratitude for the many benefits, both tangible and intangible, which we have received. Also, let us rededicate our efforts to cherish these benefits and protect them for our children and our children's children on this Thanksgiving Day.

A message of friendship from you and America goes with every Care Food Crusade package. Your name and address, or that of your group, accompany all the deliveries you make possible. In orphanages, refugee camps, disaster areas, hospitals, schools and poverty stricken homes, recipients of your kindness will know that you, a friend in a far-off land, cared enough to ease their suffering.

Supplies of turkey are expected to continue in plenty for some months, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Families who can use the larger birds should know that the proportion of meat to bone increases in the larger sizes.

"HANDS OFF!"

The Mentone Vo Ag and Young Farmer Classes had the opportunity this past week to see a film entitled, "Hands Off."

This film was taken in Iowa on those farms that farmers had lost their hands or arms in corn picking accidents. It was narrated by a man that saw his neighbor killed in a corn picker accident. He read many newspaper articles on corn picker accidents, and his sister asked him to be very careful. What happened after this, this same man lost his hand because he got in a hurry and got off his tractor to clean out the husking rolls with the picker still going. Yes, it can happen to you.

Morris Bitzer, vocational agricultural instructor, warns all farmers to be careful, especially when it is getting late in the season and you might get in a hurry. It is the little things that usually lead to an accident.

normal little sex comedy you've ever seen in your life."

The high school group was in Washington for their senior trip. Hooray for Principal Margaret Walsh, and may there be many more like her! We only hope the parents stand behind her and express their appreciation for her concern for their children. (Think I'll take time to write a note of appreciation, too)

Note on Communism:

"It is not the Communists who are destroying America. America is being destroyed by citizens who will not listen, are not informed, and will not think. The uninformed are easily misinformed. Americans are misinformed today to an extent that is unbelievable."

—Fred C. Koch, "A Businessman Looks at Communism."

We enjoyed this:

"Lady, I've found the trouble with your car. You've got a short circuit in the wiring."
"Well, for goodness sake, lengthen it!"

Thought for today—

"What doth it avail thee to discourse profoundly of the Trinity, if thou be void of humility, and art thereby displeasing to the Trinity? Surely profound words do not make a man holy and just; but a virtuous life maketh him dear to God. I had rather feel contrition, than know the definition thereof. If thou didst know the whole Bible by heart, and the sayings of all the philosophers, what would all that profit thee without the love of God, and without His grace?"

—Thomas A. Kempis, "The Imitation of Christ"

By The Editor's Wife

Automobile seat belts, if used by motorists, would save thousands of lives and prevent almost a million serious injuries each year in the United States alone. (Have you installed seat belts yet?)

Meat packers are going to have smaller water bills since the law says that hams are to "weigh no more when sold at retail than before curing."

The family shelter idea raises some question about the much-quoted "No man is an island unto himself." A man and his family would become just that when and if they were forced to spend 2 to 3 weeks in the solitude of a shelter.

Since this experience might be your "desert island" experience, what reading material and books would you want to take with you? The spirit needs sustenance, as well as the body.

Keep your children in mind if you are planning to build a new home. Here are a few suggestions by an authority. Provide: a place where the children may have privacy (also the parents); a family room or gathering place; locks on all interior doors to have emergency openings on the other side; soundproof walls; two bedrooms; plenty of closet space for everyone. Do you think of other suggestions?

"Atheism is not an institution, but a destitution."

Household hint: To remove the odor of paint from closet or cupboard interior, leave a sliced onion inside overnight. (No, the cabinet won't smell like onion.) Thanks to columnist Bert Bacharach.

Note on communism. "The American people are sick and tired of the perverting of all our traditions, principles, ideals, and standards, leading us to believe that the mortal enemies of the United States are in Little Rock, but never permitting us to recognize any mortal enemy in Moscow or Peking."

In our issue for Nov. 1 we carried an article stating that this year frost held off longer than any year of the past 13. We appreciated this bit of information, but we carelessly failed to give Arthur Kendall credit for the facts. (I'm glad Arthur isn't one of those sensitive souls or he might have felt it his duty to call the slip to our attention before we had a chance to apologize.)

How Big An Operation?

As Indiana farms grow larger and their volume of business increases, many farmers are asking, "How big must I operate to compete?"

F. V. Smith, Purdue University agricultural economist responsible for the Indiana extension farm account project, has analyzed 500 1960 records of cooperating farmers in an effort to answer that question.

Most of the farmers operated units considerably larger than the average Indiana farm. However, their volume of business, measured in terms of man work units, ranged from less than a full-time job for one man to slightly more than a three man farm.

Smith defines a man work unit as "the average amount of farm work on crops and livestock accomplished by one man in a 10 hour day on well managed commercial farms in Indiana." Commercial farmers are those whose major source of income comes from farming operations.

Records were divided into nine groups, ranging from farms

with fewer than 250 total man work units to those with more than 950. Each group then was separated into "most profitable"
and "least profitable" categories,
based on the rate earned on total capital investment.

Here is what the analysis was:

As the average number of work units per farm increased from 182 (farms with fewer than 250) to 1,254 (farms with more than 950), average labor income increased from $2,031 to $12,- 785.

(Labor income is net cash farm income, plus or minus the net change in inventory values, minus the value of unpaid family labor and interest at five per cent on the total capital investment.)

Farms with fewer than 250
man work units averaged 147
tillable acres, compared to 452 tillable acres for farms with more than 950 man work units.

The smaller farms were operated with an average of 1.06 men, while the larger ones had an equivalent of 3.19 men.

Average labor income for the more profitable one-half of the farms with fewer than 950 man work units was $4,418. This was larger than the averages for the least profitable groups in seven of the eight groups of larger farms. This indicates, says Smith, that factors other than volume of business are important in determining labor income.

Keys to better-than-average farm incomes, the economist adds, are maintaining an adequate volume of business and efficient production of crops, livestock and livestock products.

An efficient manager can make a fairly good income with a relatively small volume of business, Smith concludes. However, managerial ability must rise as volume of business increases if better-than-average labor incomes are to be obtained under normal price relationships.

Baby Pigs Need Heat

A newborn pig has no thermostat control. If the pig is born in a cold house his body temperature essentially will follow the building temperature unless supplemental heat is supplied.

One of the oldest and easiest ways to supply heat at farrowing, points out Bruce McKenzie, Purdue University agricultural engineer, is to use infrared heat lamps. And, observing a few simple safety rules in the use of these lamps will keep down costs and insure safety.

Infrared lamps should always be used with porcelain sockets, McKenzie asserts. The bulb base gets too hot for rubber, bakelite or brass with paper insulation.
The lamps should be well supported, preferably on a chain, for easy height adjustment and rugged suspension. They should never be closer than 12 inches to the pigs, he emphasizes.

You can further supplement
these safety precautions by planning the installation. The engineer suggests that an electric outlet be installed at a uniform height over every point of use.
All lamp sets can then be the same length and the cords so short they can't be plugged in and lie in the litter at the same time.

One lamp may not be enough
during farrowing, McKenzie states. Chilling danger starts around 40 degrees, and for each 15 degree temperature drop in the house, another 250 watt lamp should be added. Suspend the lamp 6 inches above the sow's back. Twelve to 24 hours after farrowing, move one lamp to a pig creep in one corner of the pen, and suspend the lamp 24 inches above the litter.

Under the floor heating systems and heated mat portable devices are also available for use at farrowing. Most of these units are designed to supply 25 watts per square foot of heated area, or about 80-90 BTU per sq. ft.

Apollo landing site is being sought by the government. The return capsule of our effort to put a man on the moon in the late 1960's would require five miles of runway about 500 yards wide. The space craft would descend at about 400 miles an hour. Areas being considered are at Edwards Air Force Base in California and in the Caribbean and Brazil. Loss of Astronaut Grissom's capsule in the Atlantic turned the search to land as well as oceanic regions.

Salmon "remember" the taste of the water where they were born, and can distinguish it from all other water, report scientists at Cornell University. This may explain a mystery of science—how salmon find their way back to spawning grounds.

Nucleomitophobia, or fear of the atom, is a product of our age, according to the medical director of a Winnetka, Illinois hospital. "When a person feels overwhelmed by feelings of insecurity and frustration, he must find a scapegoat, and anything popular will do," says Dr. Milton Dushkin. "Nowadays it's fashionable for the emotionally ill to blame their confused state on radioactivity."

Synthetic ammonia, used in fertilizer and explosives, is produced by combining two common elements that ordinarily won't unite by themselves, reports Girdler Catalysts. Tiny Catalyst pellets are introduced to aid the reaction of hydrogen and nitrogen at temperatures near 1000 degrees and pressures up to 5000 pounds per square inch.

Air crash investigations may be simplified by use of a new airplane cockpit voice recorder now in development. Recordings of all cockpit and plane-to-ground conversations will be preserved for post-accident analysis in containers resistant to heat, water, and impact.

Over-indulgence in eating has caused 25 per cent of the population to consume so many calories they are physically sub-par in health and vitality, according to a recent symposium. Most nutritional problems in the school-age population result from too much food rather than malnutrition, the experts said.

Mirages, which traditionally have tantalized thirsty travelers, also fool wildlife. Ducks swoop down for a swim and coyotes come running for a drink, only to find a "lake" of sand or asphalt. But cattle are never hoodwinked—they locate water by smell.

The B-58, world's fastest bomber, moves so quickly over target it takes 44 miles to turn around and sprint for home.

Food Cost Calculator

Grocery shopping, with so many brands and container sizes, present a dilemma as to which package, jar or tube to purchase—if you are looking for the most economical one.

A new cost calculator is now available from the Agricultural Extension Service at Purdue University. It will tell how many cents you are paying per ounce of packaged foods.

By matching the ounces on the inside of the wheel with the package cost on the outer ring, you find the unit cost at a third location—shown by a pointer; ounce costs ranging from 2.5 to 40 cents are shown. When ounce falls below 2.5 cents, the lower cost can be determined by noting where the pointer stops (in a blank area) and realizing that the more expensive item is at the clockwise stop.

This "dividing machine" is neatly attached in a 4 x 7 inch folder and fits conveniently in a pocket or purse. A handy chart converts pounds, pints and quarts to ounces. Other features include summaries of per capita consumption of basic foods, the farmer's share of the food dollar and wage-food cost comparisons of 1959 and 1960.

Free to Indiana residents, a cost calculator will be sent to those who request it in writing. A postal card is sufficient. Only one calculator is allowed per request. The address: Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

TB and malnutrition diseases still prevail in Haiti. Will you help, with a contribution to Care, to send 150,000 Food Crusade packages to the most needy.

Needed in Pakistan, where 80% of the village people are illiterate, are 300,000 Care Food Crusade packages to help fight malnutrition and disease. $1 will send a package in your name through Care, 1 S. State Street, Chicago, 3, Illinois.

SOLDIER ASSIGNED TO TECHNICAL TRAINING CLASS

Airman Basic James R. Zolman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne W. Zolman, of Tippecanoe, Ind., is being assigned to the United States Air Force technical training course for air armament and gunnery specialists at Lowry AFB, Colo.

Airman Zolman, who has completed the first part of his basic military training at Lackland AFB, Texas, was selected for the advanced training on the basis of his interests and aptitudes.

He was graduated from Tippecanoe high school.

Grocery Bill Or Food Bill

The food bill and the grocery bill are two different things these days.

A recent study by Cleo Fitzsimmons and Sarah L. Manning, Purdue University home economists, in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service, shows that nearly 60 per cent of the shoppers in food stores put at least one non-food item in their baskets. Six per cent have nothing else. And it all goes on the "grocery bill".

Each year more non-food items are added to grocery shelves—and to customers' shopping carts. In the Indianapolis area, where the survey was made, an average of $4.59 is spent for a basket of groceries, which includes two non-food and 10 food items. Many consumers are not aware of the proportion of their grocery money going for non-food items.

Tobacco products lead the list of non-food items in dollar value. Soaps and detergents, health and beauty aids come next, followed closely by household care items and paper products.

Men make more non-food purchases than women. If a man shops alone, one out of every five items he buys will be non-food. Women shoppers buy 17 per cent non-food items.

While men add the most "extras" to their food lists, they are not particularly big spenders. In the stores studied, a man shopping alone spent an average of $3.09; a woman alone, $4.21. A couple averaged $8.77 but if children accompany them, the total jumped to $11.47.

Mulch Rose Bushes Now

One of the best ways of having vigorous rose plants next spring, and beautiful blooms, is mulching them this winter. Purdue University horticulturists suggest mulching to help prevent roses from winter-killing, or getting a poor start next spring.

Bush roses winter-kill sometimes, and the most damage is caused by alternate freezing and thawing plus wind drying. A mulch won't keep plants warm, but will prevent sudden changes in temperature, freezing and thawing and wind drying.

Mulching is easy, say the horticulturists. Just place soil about the plant. However, this must be done before the ground freezes and after most of the leaves are off and the plant has stopped growing. Early mulching is likely to cause the bush to warm up underneath the surface of the ground level. Place soil 8 to 10 inches deep around the plant, and use soil secured from some location rather than that near the plant so as to not damage the rose plant roots.

For further information on roses get Extension Circular 427, "Roses." It may be obtained from county agricultural extension offices or by writing the Agricultural Publications office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. It is free to Indiana residents.

Purdue University poultry scientists suggest stepping up the time at which the morning lights come on in the laying house to compensate for earlier sunsets through November and most of December. A hen needs a full 14 hours of light for maximum egg production.

Hunting Is Dangerous Game

Another hunting season has arrived, bringing with it the possibility of fatal or near fatal accidents because of bad gun-handling techniques.

F. R. Willsey, farm safety specialist at Purdue University, suggests that hunters follow gun safety rules as outlined by authorities on gun safety. They recommend:

Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.

Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded.

Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble. Keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.

Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.

Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

Unattended guns should be unloaded.

Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.

Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

Carbon Monoxide Kills Quickly

Carbon monoxide is a deadly enemy of the motorist, cautions the Chicago Motor Club.

This colorless, odorless, tasteless gas can become a sneaky killer in cold weather as even small doses of the lethal gas may cause an accident by slowing down driver reaction. The motor club points out that one part of carbon monoxide in 700 parts of air can be fatal; one part of carbon monoxide in 1,700 parts of air can cause nausea.

Warning symptoms of carbon monoxide are nausea, drowsiness, headache, delayed braking reaction, faulty coordination, and poor vision. When these reactions are noted, car occupants immediately should inhale deep breaths of fresh air.

Carbon monoxide is produced by imperfectly burned motor fuel. An excess may be produced by faulty engine adjustment, but even the best adjusted engine may leak enough carbon monoxide to be fatal. Chief danger points are faulty gaskets, defective exhaust systems, and clogged exhaust pipes.

To avoid being overcome by carbon monoxide, the motor club's safety and traffic engineering department recommends the following precautions:

Never run a motor in a closed or other unventilated enclosure. Open all garage doors before starting the engine.

Always keep one car window at least partially open to assure some fresh air circulation.

Shut off the motor if you are sitting in a parked car for more than a few minutes.

Check your car's engine for proper combustion.

Check all points of the exhaust system for leaks and stoppages.

Remember, your car's exhaust system may become clogged by backing into a snow bank.

Putting Turkey On The Menu

Whatever the size of your family, there's a turkey just right for it, says Miriam Eads, Purdue University food specialist. Plentiful and inexpensive, turkeys are favorite fare for holidays and any day.

If your family is small, try a turkey "fryer-roaster." Three to four months old, this bird will average 3 to 8 pounds. It can be fried, broiled, or roasted.

Usually, the bigger the bird, the cheaper per pound. Specially bred turkeys come in ready-to-cook weights up to 30 pounds.

One way to take advantage of the economy prices for large birds is to have one split. The specialist suggests cooking half of it now and freezing the other half.

A guide to aid you in choosing the right size bird is to allow about one pound per serving if the bird weighs less than twelve pounds. If the turkey weighs over twelve pounds, allow 1/2 to 3/4 pound for each serving.

Turkey parts may be found on the market this year. These cost more per pound than whole turkey, but if your family will not eat both white and dark meat, it may be cheaper to select just the pieces they like.

Miss Eads advises selecting a quality bird, one with no bruises or discoloration; skin with few pinfeathers; a short body, broad breast, and thick-meated thighs; and well-distributed layers of fat.

FAMILY GET-TOGETHER

A get-together was held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Laird and daughter, Mildred, north of Bourbon, Sunday, November 12. The occasion was a sort of reunion of the Laird kindred in honor of Miss Bernice Anderson, formerly of Indianapolis, who is having a 30-day vacation from her work in Japan as Army dietician.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meredith and mother, Mrs. Earl Meredith of Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Laird and family of Mishawaka; Mr. and Mrs. Alden Horn of Leiters Ford; Mrs. Claude Barkman, Mrs. Tessie Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Laird of Mentone; Mrs. Orten Long and Mrs. H. L. Laird of Bourbon.

A bounteous carry-in-dinner was enjoyed at the noon hour. Miss Anderson will leave Urbana, Illinois shortly by jet transport for Tokio and another two years of Army service. Bon Voyage Bernice.

Luncheon sandwiches will keep for hours if made from frozen slices of bread, report Purdue University food specialists. Slices are easy to separate from presliced loaves and are easy to spread. As they thaw gradually, they help keep other contents of the lunch box cold.

INDIANA FARMER STILL PRIZES HIS INDEPENDENCE

In resolutions reflecting the farmer's innate independence, his distaste for increasing taxes and his fear of encroaching government, the delegate body of the Indiana Farm Bureau closed its annual business session at Indianapolis Friday. They did so after acting upon 77 recommendations from the counties and electing, as a final act, George Doup, Bartholomew county farmer, to his third term as president. Doup had no opposition.

A farm program, which reiterated the Bureau's former stand in favor of a voluntary acreage reserve program, was one of the first orders of business. The delegates also asked that the IFB Tax Study Commission be reactivated for purposes of updating their last tax plan, which was designed to relieve property taxes in the state.

The FB delegates also asked that the consideration of the Public Service Commission of the application of southern Indiana REMC's to build a generating plant be done "without public pressure from any group of citizens or competing companies, and in an orderly manner."

Another resolution commends the state on its highway maintenance program and asks that no change be permitted in the present road financing policy. "We also oppose any change in the formula of distribution of highway funds to finance other state expenditures," the resolution reads.

It was evidenced, too, that Indiana farmers do not like the teacher tenure law because the law "makes it difficult for a school board to drop the inefficient." Another resolution adopted a recommendation that teacher contracts be made more binding.

In the matter of election procedures, the Farm Bureau delegates asked that the present convention system of nominating top state government officials be retained, and that the electoral college remain a necessary step in national elections. Highway safety, farm weeds, strip mining, and other such issues came in for their share of concern.

A seasonal increase in veal is predicted, report Purdue University consumer education specialists. Braised veal chops, marinated in French dressing a half hour before cooking, may perk up jaded appetites. Cook veal slowly and gently.

ed States or endeavors to alert his fellow Americans to stop the treasonable machinations of the Communists and their helpers, but who are perfectly serene and indifferent when the Communists and their helpers are destroying America by destroying its political positions, moral fiber, principles, beliefs, and foundations."

Thought for today: "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings of eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint". Isaiah 40:31.

We enjoyed this: "I don't want to scare you," said the eight-year-old girl to her teacher, recently, "but Daddy said that if I don't get better grades, somebody is going to get spanked." (This did not happen in our school — honest!)

Friendly Neighbors Home Ec Meeting

The Friendly Neighbors Home Economics club met November 2 with Jerry Nellans. The meeting was opened with the pledge to the flag, club creed and singing the song of the month, "Fairest Lord Jesus", with Stella Studebaker leading.

For meditation Marie Deaton read an article on thankfulness. An article for health and safety telling what to do after fall out was given by Beryl Jefferies.

The lesson on planning for holiday and community meals was presented by Maude Romine and recipes exchanged. Golda Mollenhour reported about the different articles made at the Christmas workshop.

Seventeen members answered roll call by stating what they wanted for Christmas. The hostess, assisted by Dora Whetstone, served lovely refreshments.

Start new peony beds during the fall for best results, according to Purdue University horticulturists. Make certain each plant has a bud or "eye" from which the plant will grow. The "eye" should be planted no deeper than two inches.

Tomatoes, cantaloupe, cabbage and broccoli offer worthwhile amounts of vitamin C, say Purdue University food specialists, especially if they are served raw in salads or as relishes.

When pinning a pattern fabric, advise Purdue University clothing specialists, pin with the grain and about an inch from the edge of the pattern.

Purdue University horticulturists say ground cover should be planted in areas where it is hard to mow grass or in heavy shade or on steep banks. Fall is a good time to start ground cover.

Some of the newer bluegrass varieties, such as Merion, Newport, C-1, Park or Delta, are well worth the extra seed cost, according to Purdue University turf specialists.

MANY ATTEND FARMERS UNION MEET

About 200 persons were present at the county fairgrounds at Warsaw Monday night for the five-county meeting of the Farmers Union. The evening's events started with a banquet dinner for all present.

John Raber, state president of the Farmer's Union, spoke briefly, and Troy Cauley, associate professor at Indiana University's school of business, gave the main address of the evening. He mentioned that "we have 180 million persons in our country well fed."

The meeting was organized by County President Lois McConnell of Leesburg. Dale Wright of Pierceton, past president, served as master of ceremonies. Lamar Leffert of Etna Green is county secretary-treasurer of the farm organization.

DELIVERS ADDRESS AT OHIO MEDICAL MEETING

Dr. Dan Urschel was in Mansfield, Ohio, on Thursday evening of this past week, where he delivered an address to the Richland County Medical Society. His talk concerned "Cardiology and Aviation". He discussed the ability of heart patients to travel on commercial airliners. He also described the research work which is being done by the National Space Agency to determine the ability of the human body, and the heart in particular, to undergo the stresses and strains of space flight. In connection with this, he also described the electrocardiographic findings in a large number of healthy members of the Air Force, pointing out in emphasis that some electrocardiographic changes which have been previously considered to

COUNTERPOINTBy The Editor's Wife

At this particular season we remember those hardy, courageous men and women of Plymouth Colony who set aside several days of prayer and thanksgiving to show their gratitude for a bountiful harvest and God's mercies.

Desolate, indeed, is that individual who feels no impulse to express gratitude to the Giver of every good and perfect gift.

"Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High:

And call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee and thou shalt glorify me." Psa. 50:14,15.

Mrs. Rans Sets
New Record

The Mentone Parent-Teacher's Association reports that Saturday evening's Penny Supper was a resounding success. Agnes Rans set an unusual new record by producing and baking 78 chicken pies—while sitting down on the job. We are of course so wonderfully pleased that she has recovered sufficiently from her recent operation to have been able to help us.

From the beginning, in its planning, through the work of the various committees, to the end result of the supper was enjoyed by all, and its purpose was fulfilled.

The final count indicated that total receipts were $424.24 with expenses of $97.43, leaving a clear balance of $326.84.

The thanks of Mr. Roger Wrig-

MENTONE POLICE REPORT

William A. McGoige of Plymouth, Ind., was arrested by Officer Norton for disregarding stop signs at Morgan and Jackson streets and Morgan and Harrison streets in Mentone. He paid fine and costs of $22.75 in the J. P. court of C. O. Eiler.

NOTICE

Anyone wanting to contact the town marshal by phone should call EL 3-4151 in the daytime, and EL 3-2255 at night. If emergency, try both numbers.

Kenneth Hipsher of Wabash ate Sunday dinner with his grandmother, Mrs. George Hipsher of Palestine.

STORE YOUR GARDEN TOOLS

Now that garden work has slowed, it's time to put your tools in good shape. Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist, says there is nothing better, when you have spring "garden fever," than to have your tools in order and ready to go. So, take a little time now and get ready for next spring.

First, check the handles of your tools. If they are rough, sand them to make them "blister proof," advises Scheer.

Next, sharpen the tools. Proper sharpening can make a tremendous difference in how well tools work. Here's how to sharpen hoes and shovels: Flatten out one side so there are no burrs, then sharpen the other side. You can use a file, or better still, use an emery wheel. But be careful if you use a wheel and don't burn the metal.

After tools are well sharpened, clean and grease them, or add a rust preventative. If a tool is rusty, clean up the rusty area with an emery cloth and apply grease or rust preventative. Then store in a dry place.

Egg production in Indiana during September totaled 172 million eggs, report state - federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue University. This is six per cent less than August and eight per cent less than September of 1960.

Agronomists at Purdue University say where a heavy growth of corn stalks remain in the field, apply 60 to 90 pounds of nitrogen this fall, if corn is to be grown on the same ground next year.

Your biggest buy for a dollar? A care food package, delivered overseas in your name. You feed the hungry, build the strength to work, and open the path to progress. Send to care, 1 S. State Street, Chicago, 3, Illinois.

Earlier darkness at this time of the year requires extra driving caution, says the Chicago Motor Club. Good drivers compensate for early darkness dangers by reducing their speed, especially in residential areas.

State Dairy Meeting Dec. 4

A record number of certificates of merit for high producing herds and meritorious sire awards—some 500 in all—will be presented at the 72nd annual meeting of the Indiana State Dairy Association Dec. 4 at Purdue University.

Some 300 Hoosier dairymen are expected to attend the day-long meeting which will be highlighted by the award presentations, announcement of the "Indiana Dairyman of the Year" and presentation of scrolls to two outstanding breeders.

Dr. C. A. Lassiter, head of the dairy department at Michigan State University, will be principal speaker at a luncheon in the north ballroom of the Purdue Memorial Union building. He will discuss "Feeding for Maximum Milk Production and Profits." Ivan Meeker, Burnettsville, association president, will present the awards to the three honored dairymen.

The morning session, starting at 10 a.m., CDT, will be in Eliza Fowler Hall in Memorial Center. E. A. Gannon, Purdue extension dairyman completing his 40th year as association Secretary-treasurer, will submit his annual report. Then N. J. Moeller and S. M. Gregory, Purdue extension dairymen, will award the certificates.

Mrs. George Hipsher visited lately with the Logan Ramsbys of Ligonier, the Don Hipsher family of Bristol and Mr. and Mrs. Conda Hipsher of Mishawaka.

Traffic is certain to be heavy following that big November football game, cautions the Chicago Motor Club, so remember to take it easy on the way home. Don't let the results of the game affect your safe driving habits. Even more important than the score of the game is the safety score you record on the way home.

Indiana Farm Prices Drop

Halting their two-month rise, Indiana farm prices dropped two per cent from mid-September to mid-October, according to Purdue University agricultural economists and state-federal statisticians.

Likewise, purchasing power of Hoosier farmers declined—three per cent during the period. Prices received by U.S. farmers fell one per cent. U.S. farm purchasing power, prices paid by U.S. farmers and U.S. wholesale prices remained unchanged.

Both the Indiana livestock and grain price indexes also dropped. Led by hog prices, which skidded seven per cent, the livestock index fell three per cent; the grain price index meanwhile lost one per cent.

Major commodity prices declining: Hogs, seven per cent; cattle, corn, chickens, and wool, two per cent; turkeys, six per cent; apples, eight per cent; potatoes, 30 per cent, and calves and soybeans, one per cent.

Major commodity prices increasing: Whole milk, five per cent; eggs, six per cent, and wheat and lambs, one per cent.

Grow Plants Under Fluorescent Lights

You can grow beautiful African Violets under fluorescent lights, says C. E. Hoxsie, Purdue University horticulturist. They are more beautiful than those grown on window sills. And all you need is a reflector with two 40-watt fluorescent tubes.

Light from these two tubes provides a growing space about one and one-half by four feet when the violets are placed 12 inches from the tubes. Or, he suggests placing the violets so the top of their foliage is six inches from the tubes. Expose the violets to the light 16 to 18 hours daily.

Hoxsie adds that gloxinias grow well under fluorescent light, too. Many types of ferns and foliage plants, such as philodendron, pothos and peperomia, are good subjects for this treatment.

Important messages may be sent through rocks instead of wires or air waves in event of war if a new communications system now under development proves successful. The disaster-proof communications network would transmit low-frequency radio signals through a dense rock mass underlying the U.S. and pulsations would be picked up by deep antennas buried about 50 miles apart. Main advantages: the system requires no communications towers which could be destroyed, and overly long rocks would prevent messages from being intercepted.

Cancer in mice can be detected before there is any visible sign of the tumor by testing the mouse's breath. University of Chicago scientists warn, however, that it is useful now only for finding the underlying biochemical cause for the disease, and is not a new detection method for humans.

Arresting gear designed to stop large jet aircraft in emergencies has been tested successfully by the Federal Aviation Agency. A hook extended from the plane's belly engages wires on the runway similar to equipment used on aircraft carriers. The gear should prevent aircraft accidents resulting from aborted takeoffs and landings that overshoot the runway, said the FAA.

Surgeons performing delicate heart or lung operations now can be aided by a new machine called the Anesthalung which automatically controls a patient's breathing when he is not able to breathe for himself because of heavy anesthesia. The unit regulates both rate and volume of respiration.

Mysterious ups and downs of a radio-controlled garage door at a Colorado home, caused by an outside radio signal, worried employees of a nearby plant which conducts test firings of missiles. They reasoned that if a radio signal could open and close garage doors it might also trigger a missile. But plant management assured workers and neighbors that the firings require a complex coded signal which cannot be reproduced by a simple transmitter.

"Read the label," an interesting illustrated pamphlet on Food and Drug Administration rules for labels on food and medicine packages which buyers should be familiar with, is available for 20 cents from the Super Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

Medical Histories maintained in a national library manned by a computer could save countless human lives, according to Dr. Thomas P. Almy of New York City's Bellevue Hospital. "Many emergency patients arrive at Bellevue unconscious and not accompanied by friends," he said. "If we could have fast access to their histories, perhaps keyed by fingerprints, we or any other hospital in the country often would be much better prepared to treat them."

HONORED AT BIRTHDAY DINNER SUNDAY

A family gathering was held Sunday at the Girl Scout cabin in Warsaw in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Flo Shirey of Palestine with all the children present.

A delicious pot luck dinner with a beautiful five tier birthday cake centering the table with the color scheme of pastel pink and green were carried throughout.

The day was spent socially, playing games and taking moving pictures of the family.

Chicago Live Stock Show

Stockmen from 34 states and Canada will be exhibiting the continent's finest animals at the forthcoming 62nd annual International Live Stock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo, which will be held at the Chicago Stock Yards, November 24 to December 2.

Increases over last year's exhibits are reported in 22 of the 39 breeds of livestock that will be on view here.

Of the 12 breeds of beef and dairy cattle that will be exhibited, Holsteins will be seen in the largest number. According to the management, 448 head are registered by owners in 20 states and Canada.

Show herds of this largest of dairy breeds will be coming from such distances as Rhode Island on the East to Arizona on the West, and from Canada on the North to Tennessee on the South.

Angus numbers are largest among the six beef cattle breeds, with 438 entries reported from 23 states and Canada. They will come from such distant parts of the country as New York and Nebraska, Ontario and Georgia. New scientific equipment will be brought to the assistance of judges in the beef cattle competitions at this year's exposition, officials of the show announce.

An ultrasonic device, developed by Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, will be employed to check plaques in certain of the steer classes of this year's exposition. In two minutes it takes a picture of the depth of fat, and the character of the lean meat below the fat, in a live steer.

The information these photos yield will be made available to the judges for reference before they select the champion winners.

"It will be using the latest findings of science to supplement the eye and the hand in the judging of beef cattle," says Dean H. H. Kildee, of the Iowa State University, Ames, President of the exposition.

More than 1200 horses will compete in the International Horse Show and the International Quarter Horse Show. They include 3 and 5 gaited saddle horses, hunters and jumpers, fast pacing roadsters, and high-stepping harness ponies.

Horse Shows will be held daily during the 9-day run of the exposition, with Championship Rodeo also featured at each performance. The International Quarter Horse Show will be a post-exposition event, scheduled here December 4 to 6 in the International Amphitheatre.

Your dollars, through care, feed the hungry and then go on to do a still bigger job. For example, until recently in several countries of Latin America only one out of every three children of school age actually went to school. Now, because of the Care School lunch program, twice as many go. Every day, every child gets a glass of milk and a bun. Will you help feed these children? Support Care, 1 S. Water House Plants Properly

Correct watering of house plants, says Purdue University horticulturists, is the most important factor in their care; improper watering is the most common cause of house plant failure.

Water plants well before they start to wilt. However, soil that is bone dry on the surface may not need water since plant roots grow mostly in the lower third of the flower pot. Check by digging into the soil about a half inch; if the soil is dry there, water thoroughly.

Add water at the top of the pot until moisture starts to drip gradually out of the bottom. If water flows rapidly from the bottom, chances are it's draining down the inside of the pot. So, wait until the water soaks into the soil and then pour on more until the entire soil mass is moist.

Once the plant is in good condition, water until the moisture begins to drop out of the pot bottom. Or, house plants can be watered by placing them in a pan of water until the surface of the soil becomes moist.

Details of house plant care are contained in Purdue Extension Circular 435, "House Plants." Indiana residents may obtain a copy without charge from county extension offices or by writing the Agricultural Publications Office, AES building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

Indiana Crop Prospects

Prospects for Indiana's 1961 corn crop for grain stood at 292,448,000 bushels November 1, unchanged from the month earlier forecast, according to state-federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue University.

However, the state's soybean production, estimated at 79,548,000 bushels, declined slightly from the October 1 forecast as the prolonged harvest worked to reduce earlier expectations. The prospective November 1 yield of 28 bushels an acre is down one bushel from last month.

Commercial apple production is expected to total 1,350,000 bushels, unchanged from last month's forecast.

Hoosier dairy herds produced 266 million pounds of milk during October, about the same output as in September.

Egg production, estimated at 184 million eggs, was well above the September figure of 172 million, but 10 million fewer than the October, 1960, output.

Arresting gear designed to stop large jet aircraft in emergencies has been tested successfully by the Federal Aviation Agency. A hook extended from the plane's belly engages wires on the runway similar to equipment used on aircraft carriers. The gear should prevent aircraft accidents resulting from aborted takeoffs and landings that overshoot the runway, said the FAA.

Surgeons performing delicate heart or lung operations now can be aided by a new machine called the Anesthalung which automatically controls a patient's breathing when he is not able to breathe for himself because of heavy anesthesia. The unit regulates both rate and volume of respiration.

Mysterious ups and downs of a radio-controlled garage door at a Colorado home, caused by an outside radio signal, worried employees of a nearby plant which conducts test firings of missiles. They reasoned that if a radio signal could open and close garage doors it might also trigger a missile. But plant management assured workers and neighbors that the firings require a complex coded signal which cannot be reproduced by a simple transmitter.

Medical Histories maintained in a national library manned by a computer could save countless human lives, according to Dr. Thomas P. Almy of New York City's Bellevue Hospital. "Many emergency patients arrive at Bellevue unconscious and not accompanied by friends," he said. "If we could have fast access to their histories, perhaps keyed by fingerprints, we or any other hospital in the country often would be much better prepared to treat them."

engaged in the happy task of building a snowman. (They rolled three large balls down near the creek and hauled them back in their wagon.) A few minutes ago Lisa came in to collect material for the snowman's features—a carrot for his nose; walnuts for his eyes; an old cap of grandfather's for his head. Now, however, I can see a major crisis developing—while Lisa has been waiting for Tim to get the "head" in place, she has been contentedly (and unconsciously) munching on the carrot. Any moment, now, will come the awakening!

In a recent address, Secretary Goldberg said, "If present high school 'dropouts' continue, we will have 7½ million persons without a high school education, and that will be a national catastrophe."

Each parent should work with the teachers and see that every child finishes high school. It might not be an easy task, but that child will thank you one day.

"It is not enough to show that Communism is evil—we must demonstrate the vitality and humanity of democracy."

How much Federal aid did the Pilgrims get?

That is the question asked in a pro-America advertisement offered recently by the Cleveland, Ohio, firm of Warner & Swasey, Incorporated. Here is the answer given by this American business concern:

"They were in a depressed area. No one guaranteed them high prices for anything. Their only roads and schools were built by themselves.

"All they had was character. All they did was work. All they wanted was self-respect.

"The sum of these traits became America.

"But what's going to be the sum of the traits you see today—the traits of character, or rather lack of it, that demand more money for less work, put security above self-respect, pamper self-pitying criminals instead of punishing them, give away resources we desperately need to protect ourselves, listen to weaklings that want government to take care of them when they should take care of themselves?"

"Long years of early American self-respect and work built America, but the traits you see today can destroy it in half the time."

We enjoyed this: Walt Safford said that using sliced onion to take away paint odors reminded him of the man who remarked (to a similar suggestion) that "it was just like cutting off one's head to cure sinus trouble."

This, too, we enjoyed:

"Well, Your Honor," said the defendant, "It was like this. I was in a phone booth talking to my girl when this guy comes up and wants to use the phone. After a while, he opens the door, grabs me by the neck and tosses me out on my ear."

"Then you lost your temper," the judge asked.

"Yes, a little. But I didn't really get mad until he grabbed my girl and threw her out, too."

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Manwarling left Tuesday for Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where they will spend the winter months.

MENTONE WINS TWO MORE

Mentone continued its winning ways Friday night, and this time without the aid of its favorite fast break, in defeating Tippecanoe 71 to 63.

The Bulldogs held a 25-point advantage over the Policedogs with just four minutes remaining when the second stringers were put into action.

Allen Creighton made marked up 22 points on 11 field goals, many made possible by the feeding of Bill Nellans, who came up with 18 points for himself. Robbins of Tippecanoe made 23 big points for his teammates.

Even seasoned drivers may not know all they should about careful passing, says the Chicago Motor Club. When you are going to pass, it's essential that you know how to judge the distance and the speed you'll need to get around safely. For instance, to pass an auto doing 45 miles per hour, you should do 60 mph. And you'll need one-quarter of a mile to make the safe passing maneuver. After you have passed the car ahead, guard against a tendency to slow down too quickly.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

You will be hearing more and more of safflower oil. The thistle-like safflower plant was first cultivated in ancient Egypt. Ten years ago it became a commercial product as an oil base for paints. Now it is being used in salad and cooking oils, margarine, baked goods and frozen desserts. Some doctors are prescribing it for elderly and overweight patients; and as an aid for eliminating cholesterol from the blood vessels.

Want to plan a trip around the world, or some other dream castle? If a young married couple will save $5.00 a week, at three per cent interest, for 30 years, they will have a nest-egg of $12,369.60. They can have their trip and eat, too.

A Fort Wayne committee, headed by William D. Kempf, a 31 year old broker, is campaigning for the return of the old McGuffey Readers to the classroom. Here are some of Mr. Kempf's ideas:

"We want to make patriotism and love of God and country fashionable again, like in the days when McGuffey Readers were being taught.

"Somebody or something has to lay out a moral direction for our youngsters. Nobody is doing it now. The nation's schools and churches are trying, but the parents won't back them up.

"The books teach honesty, humility, love, valor, courage, truthfulness, fairness and so on.

"Some people will say the Readers are old-fashioned, that they use old-fashioned words. Maybe the words are not used as much today, but since when is love, honesty, humility, patriotism old-fashioned?"

I have been gingerly and very carefully leafing through two McGuffey Readers which were loaned to me by Mrs. Goldie Kesler. They are the Third and Sixth Eclectic Readers, 1857 editions.

A few lines taken from the Publisher's Notice has this to say:

"A careful attention to progression, by which the learner is led forward, step by step, along an easy gradation; a pure moral and religious sentiment, inculcated in interesting and instructive lessons, etc., render them the best class-books for

DAR Meet With Mrs. Leiter

The Anthony Nigo Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met at the country home of Mrs. Kenneth Leiter on November 14. Mrs. Fred Surguy, regent, opened the meeting in the usual manner followed by prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Bernice Rush, the pledge to the flag, and the National Anthem.

Mrs. Leiter, secretary, gave her report and Mrs. Paul Shireman, treasurer, read her report, and announced that she was accepting dues payable before December. Roll call was answered by each member giving a prayer.

Mrs. Miles Manwaring read the president general's message in which she emphasized that at this Thanksgiving time each daughter will realize anew that we must give thanks to God for the blessings of liberty He has bestowed on our Nation and will remember also the sacrifices of our Founding Fathers, whose trust and faith in a Divine Providence made the establishment of Constitutional Government a reality.

Mrs. Dale Cook, chairman of National Defense, read from the report of the national chairman of National Defense, in which she stated that mailings from that office in Washington have doubled in the past year, with many orders coming from non-members, showing a great appreciation on the part of the general public of the soundness of the society's principles and resolutions. The supply of "United Nations Unmasked", a release from this office has been exhausted and a new printing is necessary.

Mrs. Cook gave a short review of the recent release, "Two-Faced Nato", written by the national chairman in which she invites citizens to have a close look at Nato (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) as to its origin, development since its inception and future tendencies. The purpose being to point out to the American people that Nato has two faces; on the one hand, the supposedly open, frank countenance of a military alliance which avows it will unflinchingly and with determination combat the communist menace wherever it threatens the nations of the West; on the other hand, masked beneath the first, is the shadowy demeanor of the calculating planner of world socialism. To American citizens beguiled by the frank, open face of Nato is presented the tools to tear aside Nato's mask, cleverly fashioned by its socialistic architects, revealing the menacing mien of regional world government. All Americans who cherish the principles which have made this sovereign nation the greatest champion of human liberty and of Constitutional government in the world must remember Edmund Burke's admonition, "People never give up their liberties but under some delusion," and the warning of Abraham Lincoln, "If this nation is ever destroyed it will be from within . . . not without." A copy of "Two Faced Nato" has been placed in the local library.

The chapter voted to contribute to the redecoration fund for the Indiana room in DAR Continental Hall, Washington D. C. Mrs. Rosamond Riser Jones was voted into membership and the name of Mrs. James Wells was presented for membership.

Mrs. Frank Smith reported on a recent trip to hear Mr. Herbert Philbrick, who spent nine years as an undercover agent of the FBI, speak on "Techniques of Combatting Communism". He is the author of the book, "I Led Three Lives", describing his ordeals as a counterspy, obtaining information against Communists. The book was also made into a television series.

Mr. Philbrick emphatically stated that we have an internal threat. He said there are those who ridicule and say our threat is only external, but they are fools, indeed. A directive from J. Edgar Hoover stated that it is an incontestable fact that our country is the ultimate goal of the International Communist Conspiracy. They have vowed to destroy us . . . it is national suicide. Mr. Philbrick said that for years confusion was the main trouble in our fight against communism and it still goes on its way to our destruction. Government at times tries to stop it but they are also confused. Many editorialists of leading newspapers have fallen in the trap. High on the list of confusion is attempts at the destruction of the meaning of the words. Use of the word peace, with all organizations and negotiations is prevalent and has no relation to our definition of the word, peace.

He said, "Thank God, today many study groups are at work to learn about communism and are learning that a program of planned patriotism must begin in the schools across our nation. He warned that we are in for a trying time in promoting these courses because when we get busy, they get busier. They are now trying to discredit anti-communism study groups dedicated to eradication of the International Communist Conspiracy. He said the "Better Red Than Dead" slogan of the appeasers is a deliberate attempt to steer us away from victory over communism. Although the tide has begun to turn in our knowledge of communism there are much darker days ahead—it is not a time for weak hearts or spirits—we must use every opportunity to win, ultimately working for freedom everywhere as they did it in 1776 with courage and we can do it with God's help.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Loren Tridle, Mrs. Chet Smith, Mrs. Wayne Smalley, Mrs. Ned Igo, and Mrs. Herschel Teel. Tentative plans are being made with several other organizations to invite Mr. Philbrick to speak in Mentone.

Mrs. Fred Koenig and Mrs. Charles Tucker presented the unusual program entitled "Say it with Sweets", which was most interesting and attractive in its presentation. Many very clever centerpiece creations of candy were on display to the delight of members and guests. Many ideas were given on how to serve candy to your guests, candy for the kids, candy as a reward for a job well done and candy to revive energy and spirits. Emily Post says candy is a proper gift for any occasion. Mrs. Koenig and Mrs. Tucker had spent much time in assembling the favorite candy recipe of each member into booklet form and each member was delighted to receive a copy.

The American Creed was repeated and the meeting was adjourned to meet December 12 with Mrs. Frank Smith.

Mrs. Leiter, assisted by Mrs. Ray Linn, served delectable refreshments to members and guests, Mrs. Mary Cox, Mrs. James Wells and Miss Gladis Wharton.

Recent nuclear tests have increased the world's level, but a survey of scientists made by the American Medical Association emphasizes that the possible effect to date on our health is insignificant. And at no time since the first U.S. device was exploded has the radiation caused by man's bomb testing equalled the earth's natural radiation level, according to Arzonne National Laboratory.

Small "Bazooka" charges, similar to the cone-shaped explosives used in military armor-piercing rockets, are used effectively for perforating oil well casings. They are lowered into well shafts and fired sideways into rock formations to open passages for oil into the shafts. CONTINUE CATTLE TESTING PROGRAM

All cattle in Monroe, Harrison and Jefferson townships of this county are scheduled for tuberculosis and brucellosis tests this winter, according to Donald E. Frantz, county agricultural agent at Warsaw. It is expected that testing in Monroe township will begin about December 1.

The testing program is supervised by the Indiana Livestock Sanitary Board in cooperation with the U.S.O.A. The actual testing is done by local veterinarians. Jackson and Scott townships were completed this year and Franklin and Wayne are nearing completion.

The periodic testing of all cattle has resulted in practically eliminating bovine T. B. in this state. At one time it ranked very high in the list of causes of death. Brucellosis is the animal form of human Undulant Fever. This disease is being drastically reduced.

Yellows, reds and red-browns, the colors of fire and earth, suggest warmth and friendliness. Too much warmth in a room, though, can be uncomfortable to live with. Purdue University home furnishings specialists suggest using contrasting colors for emphasis.

The Chicago Motor Club cautions bad manners can be fatal if they occur behind the wheel of a car. The discourteous driver who tries to get away with something in traffic, too often succeeds only in hurting himself and innocent victims. Traffic control begins at your wheel. Common courtesy pays off in safe driving.

You may not have to iron snug-fitting slip covers if you follow this advice from Purdue University home management specialists. Remove covers from the dryer while slightly damp and put on furniture immediately. Draw the seams straight and smooth the wrinkles with your hands.

reading in the English language, and, at their very low prices, the cheapest."

Note on Communism: Clifford Ward, editor of the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel, made the following challenging statements in a recent column of his called "Good Evening".

"The grass-roots conservatism which has sprung up over the United States is obviously in for a rough time. Everything in the book will be thrown at it by the ultra-liberal establishment. It will be called fascist, nazi, reactionary, anti-semitic, anti-Catholic, extremist and anything else that will occur to the anti-anti-Communists.

"Those fighting the further spread of Communism can expect to get some blackeyes and lose some teeth. But when was any kind of war an enjoyable form of recreation?"

To substantiate the above statements, we found these pertinent facts in an editorial from the San Diego Evening Tribune.

"The anti-anti-Communist counter-offensive already is cutting in-roads through the American national mind, discrediting, vilifying, smearing the sources of anti-Communist thought.

"The purpose: Take the sting out of the anti-Communist movement. Here are the immediate targets.

"1. Make anti-communism an unpopular thing to discuss or to express.

"2. Convince America that the Red threat to this country is far away overseas, not at home.

"3. Lump all opposition to communism under the label of 'radical right-wingers'.

"4. Separate the military voice from the civilian ear by covertly pressuring the military into taking the sting out of its anti-Communist program.

"5. Make anti-communism in federal agencies a form of 'sticking one's neck out'.

"The goal: Take the force out of the anti-Communist movement so the Communist forces can win by default."

We enjoyed this: An old Indian stood on a hill-top with his son, looking over a beautiful valley below them. After a period of silence, the old Indian spoke:

"Some day, my son, all this land will belong to the Indians again. White man all go to moon."

Zoning Approved

At a meeting held at the town hall on Tuesday evening, Nov. 21, the zoning ordinance for the Mentone area was officially adopted, and Ed Davis was named as building commissioner.

Mr. Davis states that citizens need not apply for building permits for remodeling, repairing, etc., to homes or buildings except where such work will alter the existing shape or dimensions of the building. However, for new construction or major external alterations permits must be secured before construction begins, and, in fact, this should be done before any extensive plans or expenditures are made for materials, etc. The cost of the permits are $1.

NEW GRANDDAUGHTER

WITH THE SICK

Ben Blue of Kendallville, formerly of Mentone, was admitted to the Priarie View nursing home in Warsaw last week.

E. E. Wagner, who was suffering with pneumonia last week, is some better at this time.

Mrs. Edith Rose is not doing so well.

The Chicago Motor Club advises motorists that highways covered with snow and ice aren't the only slippery roads. Pavements wet with rain or melted snow are slippery enough to throw your car into a dangerous skid—if you don't drive carefully.

Latest U.S.D.A. Combined Summary Confirms

EXCELLENCE OF KimberCHIKS® AS PROFIT MAKERS

in U.S. Random Sample Egg Production Tests

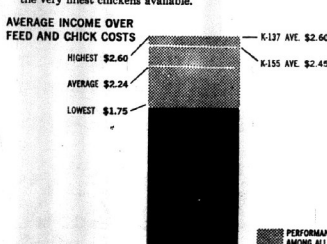

This trophy was recently accepted by Kimber Farms as general recognition of the contribution of applied genetics toward better chickens.

The K-137 Kimberchik was recently awarded the Poultry Tribune trophy for highest estimated income producing ability in 15 Random Sample Tests completed in 1960.

The Agricultural Research Service of the U.S.D.A. has published a combined summary of the 1959-60 egg production tests covering 15 traits for 165 stocks. A study of bulletin ARS-44-79-1 will show how well balanced Kimberchiks are in all major factors that affect income such as livability, egg numbers, egg size, feed consumption, body size, albumen score and shell thickness. You may get a copy of the bulletin free by writing the U.S.D.A. in Washington, D.C.

The K-155 Kimberchik was third in income among nationally distributed stocks, and sixth among all 165 stocks entered.

While the K-137 made the highest income, it should be mentioned that the competition was so keen that mathematically about 5 other strains, including K-155's, would have a 1:1 chance of being first if the same tests could be repeated. The odds of any strain being in first place all the time are very slight. But both the K-137 and the K-155 are certainly among the very finest chickens available.
