Mellott - Cummins
Vows Spoken

Miss Donna Jean Mellott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mellott, R. R. 1, Etna Green, became the bride of Richard Lawrence Cummins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cummins, R. R. 2, Plymouth, at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 28, in the Summit Chapel Methodist Church.

Rev. Elias Sarber officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar appointed with bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Glen Campton, Mentone, played a medley of wedding music. Miss Linda Mellott, cousin of the bride, sang "Whither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Mellott was lovely in a ballerina gown of Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was styled with a scalloped neckline, outlined with pearls and sequins and long sleeves which tapered to bridal points over her hands. A crown of pearls secured her fingertip veil. Her single strand of pearls was a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Mary Mellott, cousin of the bride. She wore a sheath dress of beige brocade accented by brown accessories and a corsage of five bronze pompons.

Allen Cummins of Monticello was best man for his brother. Seating the guests were John Mellott and Larry Mellott, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Mellott donned a sheath dress of gray wool brocade with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Cummins was attired in a sheath dress of royal blue wool with blue and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink carnations.

Plant Flower Seeds Now

You can get the jump on spring by sowing flower seeds outdoors now, advises Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

Many flower seeds will live over the winter and sprout early next spring. They will not only give spring blooms, but will save you time next year too.

Scheer suggests these five annual flowers—all of which grow well in Indiana—for fall sowing: California poppy, cornflower, larkspur, sweet pea and calendula.

California poppies grow well in dry areas; for example, on the southern side of your house near the foundation. Bachelor buttons will grow in partial shade. Larkspur grows best in the sun.

Be sure to wait until it is cold before you sow or the seeds may sprout and die this fall. Once the seed has been sown, thin the plants, Scheer says.

For further information, write the Agricultural Publications office, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. Request mimeo HO-72-6, "Growing Annual Flowers." Single copies are free to Indiana residents.

Plow Down Ammonia

If weather conditions permit a good plowing job, November is an excellent time to apply ammonia by the plow down method on all but very sandy soils, reminds Cliff Spies, Purdue University extension agronomist.

Since the ammonia form is held in cold soil in the lower part of the furrow slice without change until spring, there is practically no nitrogen loss, he explains. Up to 150 pounds of nitrogen per acre have been absorbed without loss.

Further this method is economical since it eliminates an extra trip over the field and doesn't slow plowing progress, Spies adds.

For best results, plowing should be at least six inches deep and the furrow slice should be completely inverted. The ammonia should be released by the applicator hose about three feet back of each mold board and at least four inches form the furrow wall.

Under these conditions, Spies says, the ammonia spreads out on the bottom of the thick mat of loose plowed soil and is absorbed in a flat layer. The fertilizer comes in close contact with plowed under crop residues and helps speed their decay as warm spring weather arrives. Too, the nitrogen is in the lower part of the root feeding zone.

House Plant Troubles

House plants may lose their leaves if they are exposed to gas or furnace fumes, or are placed in a draft.

Rapid temperature changes or a change from a sunny location to a dark one also can cause plants to drop their leaves, according to information in a Purdue University publication entitled "House Plant Troubles."

Homemakers are often puzzled when their plants wilt, yellow, or show brown spots and leaf tips. They do not know what is causing the condition, nor how to correct it.

To aid the homemaker in taking care of her decorative plants, the publication, "House Plant Troubles," offers solutions to various plant problems and control of common diseases.

Indiana residents may obtain a free copy of "House Plant Troubles," BP 1-12, from their county extension office, or from the Agricultural Publications office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

Water Evergreens In Fall

Watering the evergreens around your house this fall can make the difference between having scrawny, sickly shrubs or vigorous, colorful evergreens all year.

Purdue University extension horticulturists say you should water your evergreens this fall because they lose moisture all year through their leaves. If your evergreens dry up this fall and stay dry all winter, you'll see "winter injury" next spring. And sections of your evergreens will look brown and skimpy next spring and summer.

Mulches of leaves or peat moss

SEVEN WEEKS IN BOSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Artley Cullum returned to Mentone Tuesday afternoon after spending seven weeks in Boston, Mass., where their son Jon was in the hospital recovering from injuries received in a traffic accident.

September 18, as Jon was going from his classes at Boston University to his place of employment, his Vespa scooter hit a hole in the street which forced the vehicle into a trolley line curb. He was thrown into a steel post in a horizontal position, inflicting serious internal injuries and a compound dislocation of his left arm. He underwent three operations before his release from the hospital five weeks later.

Jon returned to Mentone with his parents where he hopes to regain his strength and the forty-odd pounds he lost in the ordeal.

Choose a calm day for burning leaves, caution farm safety specialists at Purdue University, or the wind may fan your fire out of control. If possible, do not burn in dry areas and do have someone on hand to help you control the fire.

Purdue University horticulturists recommend sowing a cover crop of ryegrass, oats or wheat after you clean up your vegetable garden.

around the base of your shrubs will increase moisture retention during the winter months.

When winter injury occurs, you should remove dead areas as soon as they appear in the spring. Then apply a complete fertilizer in late March or April to help damaged shrubs renew their foliage.

The horticulturists caution not to add fertilizer in the fall when the evergreen foliage may grow. This growth may be weak and especially subject to winter injury.

Swine Flu Weather

Warm days and cool nights—typical Indiana autumn weather—increase the possibility of hogs taking influenza. Pigs weighing more than 75 pounds are most susceptible to the disease, caused by the combined action of a virus and a bacteria.

Dr. K. M. Weinland, Purdue University extension veterinarian, advised farmers to provide hogs with clean, dry sleeping quarters free from drafts. Keep them away from dusty lots used for hogs for over a long period of time. Isolate and observe newly purchased animals.

Swine influenza virus is spread by direct contact with infected or carrier animals. Use of contaminated equipment and lots also can spread the disease. The virus may be air-borne and spread rapidly in hogs confined in winter quarters.

The disease comes on suddenly. Symptoms are an odd sounding cough, loss of appetite and thumpy breathing. Except for the cough, Dr. Weinland explains, these also are signs of hog cholera and virus pneumonia. So, the farmer should promptly call a veterinarian for an accurate diagnosis when he notices these signs.

Often swine influenza develops into pneumonia. Hogs under treatment for influenza should be kept quiet and comfortable, have access to plenty of fresh water and be placed on a light diet. If pneumonia does develop, a veterinarian has to administer special treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Besson and Judy, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bitzer spent Saturday visiting Janet Besson at Purdue. They attended the Purdue-Illinois football game. Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Kiger, parents of Mrs. Bitzer, were visited. The evening was spent enjoying the Fred Waring show.

Common Ordinary dirt may be instrumental in prevention of heart attacks, according to Dr. Michael A. Pisano, St. John's University biologist, who is searching for an enzyme that will dissolve blood clots. He thinks this substance can be separated from common dirt organisms. The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare apparently thinks so too and has agreed to underwrite his research into the problem.

'Conjoint Psychotherapy' is a new psychiatric approach to marital problems, reports Dr. Andrew S. Watson of the University of Michigan Medical Center. Treating the couple in a joint session, Dr. Watson says, is usually more successful than seeing only one spouse or each separately. Over 96 per cent of all U. S. babies are born in hospitals, according to the Health Information of the University of Chicago.

Steel Pipe Elbows for some industrial applications must have walls thicker than a cannon barrel. One elbow made by Tube Turns to carry steam superheated to more than 1,000 degrees F. at a pressure of 2,000 pounds per square inch has walls 4 1/2 inches thick surrounding a 9 1/2 inch inner diameter. Press Your fingertips against your closed eyes. The light and color you "see" are a sensation known as a "phosphene." Pilots of powerful aircraft may also experience this when accelerating, and mistake the phenomenon for actual lights on the ground or on other aircraft. A study program at the University of Southern California is aimed at eliminating this visual hazard.

The Hummingbird is the world's smallest warm-blooded animal. It is three inches long, weighs less than a dime and can beat its wings up to 80 times a second. It burns energy at a rate equivalent to 10 times that of a running man during the day and at night sinks into a sort of hibernation to avoid starvation. The female incubates bean-sized eggs in 12 to 16 days. A Phosphate Rich diet may be as effective as flourides in reducing tooth decay, according to a report at a Massachusetts Institute of Technology symposium. Combining the two chemicals might reduce cavities by as much as 87 per cent, researchers say.

A 'Lie Test' has been developed for smokers. Acetonitrile is the key. This substance is consistently found in the body fluids of smokers, reports the Southwest Research Institute, in proportion to the number of cigarettes smoked. It does not appear in non-smokers, the scientists say.

WEDDING, Continued

A reception, was held at the home of the bride's parents for 25 guests, members of the immediate families.

Wedding cake, punch, nuts and mints were served from a table, appointed in pink and blue, by Mrs. Larry Mellott, Mrs. John Mellott and Miss Shiela Fites of Muncie.

Upon their return home from a trip through Michigan, the couple will be at home, after Nov. 10, on Fifth Road, R. R. 1, Plymouth.

The bride is a graduate of the Mentone high school and Ravencroft Beauty School, Ft. Wayne. A graduate of LaPaz high school the bridegroom attended Purdue University. He is engaged in farming.

Sunday the bridegroom's parents will be hosts in their home on W 5A Road at an open house from 2 to 5 p. m. in honor of the couple.

D.A.R. TO MEET

D.A.R. will meet Tuesday Nov. 13—7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ray Linn. Please call her if you plan to bring a guest. Mrs. Walter Lackey will review the book "Red Star Over Cuba".

Bring your Christmas gift for a child at Tamasee D.A.R. school in North Carolina. Any school age, boy or girl.

Water your house plants less frequently during the fall and winter than you did last summer, say Purdue University horticulturists. Overwatering is a major cause of house plant failure.

Automatic Range Or Individual Appliances

Are you trying to choose between buying a new range or several individual cooking appliances, such as a fry pan, roaster or grill.

Of course, Elkin Minter, Purdue University home management specialist, says the cooking equipment you choose to purchase depends on how you personally want to cook, the amount of money you can spend, the wiring in your home and the storage space available. The types of cooking your family likes, a lot of baking, grilling, or one dish meals, will influence your choice too.

The most basic factor to consider is the wiring in your home, points out Miss Minter. Does it have the heavy duty wiring, 220-240 volts needed for electric ranges or several appliances used together? Remember, any appliance that uses over 1000 watts needs to be on a separate circuit. Are there enough circuits and service outlets in the kitchen to use several appliances, or must you rewire.

On the average, the specialist feels, a family with moderate income that does moderate cooking will be more satisfied with a basic range that has some automatic features. Then they can add the new appliances they particularly desire.

A small family, or an individual alone, who uses convenience foods and does not cook a lot, may like portable equipment. The appliances are particularly good for grilling meat, or preparing small meals.

DONNA MELLOTT HONORED

A bridal shower was held at Pete's Restaurant honoring Donna Jean Mellott recently. The hostesses were Mrs. John Mellott and Mrs. Larry Mellott. Many lovely gifts were received by the honored guest. Do-it-yourself dieters, panicked into crash low-fat regimens by scientific reports linking cholesterol and heart attacks, can do themselves real harm, warns the American Medical Association. There is still much to be learned about blood cholesterol, and it has yet to be determined whether the cholesterol level can be changed significantly by dieting. Even those who are reducing need food from the milk, meat, vegetable-fruit and bread-cereal groups and also certain amounts of butter, margarine, fats or oils.

The National Science Foundation has awarded Adelphi College, Garden City, N.Y., a grant of $5,420 to study what a fish can learn and how fast.

Naming a company is tougher than naming a baby. One Mary Smith won't object to another's living down the street, but two "Amalgamated Hairpins" is one too many. One firm, the National Cylinder Gas Company, even enlisted the aid of a computer in its search for a better name. The electronic brain turned 22 consonants and vowels into 37,000 combinations of four and five letters, including a lot of unpronounceable new "words". The firm finally selected component syllables from the industries it serves—chemicals, metals and electronics—for its new name—Chemetron Corp.

Agricultural research is paying off in dollars and cents. If today's farmers used 1940 methods, it is estimated that the production of food and fiber for the U.S. would cost an extra $13 billion a year.

Fat female mosquitoes may provide information useful in controlling fatness in humans. Biologist Emile Van Handel of the Florida State Health Department has discovered that female mosquitoes grow fatter than males on the same diet. Dr. Van Handel believes he can stop the female from turning food into fat by operating on its endocrine gland.

The world's largest absorption tube for spectrograph research will be built at Penn State University to study the atmosphere of planets. The instrument, financed by the National Science Foundation, will be 150 feet long.

Getting some spring into your step is easy with a new Australian invention, rubber heels with built-in steel springs. Fitted with a pair of these heels, the inventor says, "you can idle along at three miles an hour, cruise at four to five, accelerate to six and, if you're in a hurry, reach a top speed of more than eight miles an hour and keep up."

Pilgrim Hat Salad

Looking for a novel salad for concentrate diet would add another stress factor.

If you notice sick animals, call your veterinarian so he can initiate treatment and suggest management of the rest of the animals until the danger passes. Most farmers who "buy" their own treatment usually merely change acute cases to chronic cases. Each outbreak differs and there is no "shotgun" treatment available which will adjust to all cases.

Frozen Turkey Suggestions

When you shop for your Thanksgiving turkey, you can choose a fresh or a frozen one, points out Marcile Allen, food specialist at Purdue University.

But no matter which type you select, be sure to read the tags or labels on the wrapping carefully. If all the information is not on the box or wrapper, ask your retailer about the type or class of turkey, and the way it is prepared. You should know this information in addition to the weight, price per pound and total price.

If properly frozen and cared for, a frozen turkey is a top quality food item. Keep it frozen until you are ready to prepare it. If you wish to use only half of a large bird, cut it in half before thawing. Ask your butcher to cut it on the meat saw at the time of purchase. Wrap the part you wish to keep in freezer wrap and store in the freezer at zero degrees F.

To defrost your bird and ready it for the table, place it in the refrigerator in its original wrapping. This is slow thawing and will take one to four days, depending on the size of the turkey. To thaw it faster, keep the bird in its original wrapping and put it under cold running water. This method takes two to six hours, depending on the size.

After the turkey is defrosted, prepare it as you would a fresh turkey. Rinse it and store in the refrigerator until you are ready to stuff and roast it.

Thanksgiving? Here is a Pilgrim's Hat to set beside each place and to eat with relish, answers Miriam Eads, food specialist at Purdue University.

Use two of the holiday's favorite foods, cranberries and nuts, for this tasty salad shaped like a hat.

Fold chopped fresh cranberries and pecans into partially set raspberry gelatin. Pour half the mixture into oiled muffin tins and the other half into an oiled flat baking dish. Chill until set.

Cut 3 inch round circles of gelatin from the flat dish and place each one atop shredded greens. These circles will form the brim of the hat.

Remove gelatin from Muffin tins. Place one of these mounds, small end up, on top of each brim to form the crown of the hat.

Trim the hat by fluting softened creamed cheese or whipped cream around the base of the brim. Outline a small square of cheese or whipped cream onto the crown to represent the buckle.

Be Alert For Shipping Fever

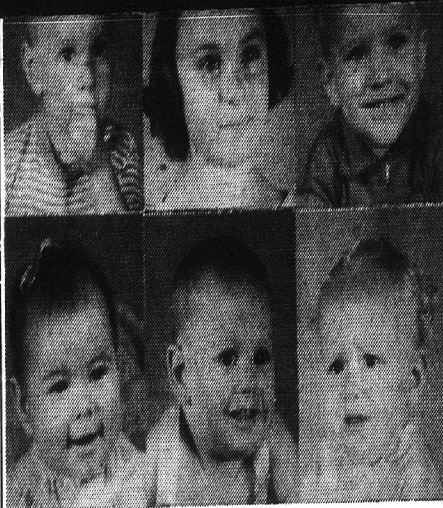

With cattle and sheep moving into Hoosier feed lots, farmers should be on the lookout for shipping fever, advises Dr. F. A. Hall, Purdue University extension veterinarian.

This highly contagious respiratory disease generally strikes when the animals' resistance is lowered by fatigue, chilling, irregular feeding often accompanying transportation and the crowded quarters.

Like the common cold in man, the disease often starts with watering eyes, nasal discharge and coughing. Body temperature skyrockets. Complications may quickly set in, resulting in pneumonia. Acute cases may die in 24 to 48 hours and chronic cases may live and become unthrifty or die later.

Dr. Hall explains that the primary infection is probably caused from a virus, while bacteria cause the secondary involvements. The disease spreads rapidly through a feed lot and also to other cattle on the farm.

Your newly purchased feeders should be isolated and kept in a small lot where they may rest and can be easily observed. Their diet should consist of low quality hay or hay and oats. A sudden change in diet or high

RUTH McCLEARY

Good toy storage helps:

Important is the kind of storage for the toys and books children count as their possessions. Easily accessible shelf space is better than large boxes or bins. Toy chests with lids have many disadvantages. If the lids are heavy, lifting up and closing them is a dangerous maneuver. Bumped heads and pinched fingers may be casualties of play. Toys that are mixed together are hard to sort through and find. They become broken. And storing them in a jumble does nothing toward helping youngsters learn orderliness.

When adequate, easy to reach shelves are provided for toys and prized possessions, putting them away becomes easier. But children of any age become discouraged before they begin a task if it seems overwhelmingly huge. We all tend to wait until every toy in the collection gets scattered before we decide something must be done about the situation. It's a good idea to help children learn to put things away as they finish playing with them.

Straightening up after each play period helps, too, unless an activity with particular equipment such as building with blocks or playing house continues from one play to another. Many parents limit the toys available to a child. Toys and games can be put away and got out later. This is an especially useful plan before Christmas or birthdays.

Working with children accomplishes a great deal, too. Most of them like cooperating with parents to do a particular job. In this way they learn not only how certain jobs are done, but also that people help each other.

Helps for older children:

Youngsters who are eight to ten often like charts on which there are listed responsibilities. Then they can check themselves to see if beds have been made, pets have been fed or waste baskets have been emptied. A chart can prevent some of the nagging often directed toward children who forget to do their chores. A firm and friendly remark, a smile and an occasional helping hand from you are often necessary as well.

As children grow physically, emotionally and intellectually, they learn to accept responsibility.

This learning is a slow process full of ups and downs. Children forget, become distracted, disinterested and sometimes rebellious. But our understanding and patience help us accomplish this important goal as we rear our offsprings—the goal of teaching them to accept responsibilities of many kinds.

Burger Stuffing Pie is a hearty main dish to win over appetites. Convenience foods make its preparation a breeze. Seasoned stuffing mix and instant minced onion are in the beef pie itself and a can of cream of mushroom soup is used to fix the sauce. Handy instant minced onion saves both time and labor in the kitchen and supplies the field-fresh flavor of onion with none of the bother of peeling, slicing and chopping.

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sliced celery
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1/2 cup water
4 cups seasoned stuffing mix
1 1/2 lbs. lean ground beef
1 egg
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup milk

Melt butter in skillet. Add celery and 1 tablespoons onion. Cook over moderate heat 5 minutes, or until celery is tender-crisp. Add water and pour over stuffing mix. Turn into buttered 8 1/2 inch round baking dish. Combine remaining onion, beef, egg and salt. Mix well, and shape into a large round patty the size of the baking dish. Cut into wedges and place on top of stuffing. Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven about 30 minutes. Blend soup and milk; heat to serve as sauce for pie. Makes 6 servings.

How To Clean Knits

Knits are popular in fashion this year. You have your choice of cotton, Orlon, Acrilan or wool fibers in a rainbow of colors.

But to be sure you will be satisfied with your knitwear, Frieda Stoll, clothing specialist at Purdue University, recommends shopping wisely and taking good care of your outfit.

When you are shopping for a knit garment, read the manufacturer's label and hang tags carefully to see if the garment meets your requirements. You must decide whether you want cotton, or man-made fibers, such as Orlon, Acrilan or nylon, wool, and whether you want a garment that you can wash or dry clean.

Some knit dresses or two piece outfits are double knit. This material is firmer than a single knit, and usually holds its shape better, although often a single knit garment is lined to give it firmness. Some double knits are also lined.

Usually a knit garment will not shrink out of shape if it is cleaned according to the manufacturer's directions. However, any knit can stretch or shrink if it was incorrectly cut out or abused in cleaning.

Prices of knit garments, varying from moderate to expensive, are often determined by the fabric used or the construction of the garment. Usually the more expensive garments have the better materials and best workmanship.

That's a lot of apple sauce but a customer of ours canned that much and came back for more apples.

And until there is another hard freeze you, too, can get Stayman, Jonathan, Rome Beauty and can or deep freeze the sauce for use all winter or until apples come again.

Apples have been damaged very little, if any, by the cold weather. We have reduced our price to compensate for the situation.

DEEP FREEZE CIDER by using your clean milk cartons. To use the cider, thaw completely and agitate thoroughly. It is then ready for drinking, making jelly or mincemeat. We suggest that cider be held under constant refrigeration. To make delicious apple jelly use cider for the apple juice called for in the Certo or Sure-Jell recipe.

We will be glad to fill your cartons or supply new cartons at our cider house. We also have delicious cider already frozen ready to go.

Come to the orchard or phone your cider reservation and at Thanksgiving be thankful. After that it could be too late for this season.

DONALD E. FRANTZ

The checking of 5-acre corn plots has been just about completed. We were slow in getting it done this year but the corn didn't dry very well and we managed to keep out of the way of the corn pickers. I do not really like to check corn plots because it has to be done by hand and I found out a long time ago that corn shucking was not for me.

We continue to check these plots out because there are certain things that we can find out each year and besides that we can get a lot better acquainted with some people who would otherwise just be a name on a mailing list. * * *

BILL REED—Ph. EL 3-4102

MENTONE, IND.

Corn is still pretty much our number one item of business on the farm and I have concluded that one way to make money is to have a good corn crop. It is real hard to do it in a poor corn year and while Uncle Sam may have a little too much corn, I have yet to run across a farmer who would say that he has. This is why we continue to try to produce as well as we know how. * * *

One conclusion this year is that pre-emergence weed controls worked well and also that if we don't use them on some of these fields where the Giant Foxtail is taking over, then we'd better not plan on much in the future. I have found patches in fields where the corn won't make 20 bushels per acre where the grass is bad. There wasn't enough water for both this year and the Foxtail apparently got it.

I have also concluded that a lot of this corn we are using is too late for this area. It would appear that in order to get blight resistance we have moved to late maturing corn. We got away with it this year because we were early in the spring and did not have an early freeze. The County Agent's office can be of little help in determining the maturity dates of these hybrids. The pedigrees are closed and we just simply have to take someone's word for it. Corn can be described as "medium early", which may mean the same as "medium late". One of our well known single crosses has carried more moisture than Indiana 813 in the same test plot. This is risky business. * * *

From this crop I would also conclude that nitrogen side-dressing would have payed well. Heavy applications plowed under did not do as well as in previous years. It was apparently too dry. Of the fields we have checked, only four had side-dress applications of nitrogen. It looks like three of them will be the top three. * * *

Some of the early seeded Dual and Monon wheat has made a good growth. The reason for developing these dual purpose wheats was to give some fall and early spring pasture. Many people do not consider using them for pasture because it is not a customary practice. When the ground is not too soft, these fields would actually benefit from having the surplus leaf growth grazed off.

MENTONE OVERPOWERS TIPPECANOE

The Bulldogs had things their own way in their 86-56 victory over Tippecanoe Friday night at the Mentone gym.

The Mentone team had superior height and was able to control the ball at will. This enabled Mentone to fast break and go in for many easy lay-ups.

The scoring leaders for Mentone were Allen Creighton with 24, Bill Nellans with 20, Jon Newcomb with 17 and Jerry Ryman, a senior from Atwood, scored 13.

Mentone's eventual victory was never in doubt. They led the first quarter 21-11; half, 38-24; third quarter, 61-41, then winning 86 to 56.

Mentone will travel to Waka-rusa Friday night to test the strength of the Elkhart County team. Indications are that our team will be at full strength for this encounter.

AKRON FLYERS FAIL TO ENTER WIN COLUMN

Claypool beat Akron, but not easy, as they overcame hard-fighting Akron 61-52.

Claypool edged away 15-13 at the end of one and was up by 10 at halftime at 34-24, but Akron came back to tie the score at 42-41 in the third quarter before dripping behind 45-44 as the buzzer sounded.

It was Akron's inability to connect from the charity stripe that dealt them the loss as the Flyers cashed in on only nine of 24 shots.

Claypool had balanced scoring with Scott, Bradley and Gunter with 17, 14, and 11.

Henderson and Miller of Akron divided game scoring honors with Scott of Claypool, marking 17 points.

By the President of the United States of America —
A PROCLAMATION

Over three centuries ago in Plymouth, on Massachusetts Bay, the Pilgrims established the custom of gathering together each year to express their gratitude to God for the preservation of their community and for the harvests their labors brought forth in the new land. Joining with their neighbors, they shared together and worshipped together in a common giving of thanks. Thanksgiving Day has ever since been part of the fabric which has united Americans with their past, with each other and with the future of all mankind.

It is fitting that we observe this year our own day of thanksgiving. It is fitting that we give our thanks for the safety of our land, for the fertility of our harvests, for the strength of our liberties, for the health of our people. We do so in no spirit of self-righteousness. We recognize that we are the beneficiaries of the toil and devotion of our fathers and that we can pass their legacy on to our children only by equal toil and equal devotion. We recognize, too, that we live in a world of peril and change — and in so uncertain a time we are all the more grateful for the indestructible gifts of hope and love, which sustain us in adversity and inspire us to labor unceasingly for a more perfect community within this nation and around the earth.

To Celebrate
25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hoffman of Claypool will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Molebash, five miles north of Mentone on State Road 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman were married on Sunday, Nov. 21, 1937 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Good of South Bend. Mrs. Hoffman is the former Mary Kathryn Foote of Edwards-burg, Mich. The Hoffmans resided in Plymouth from 1937 until May of 1945, when they purchased the Shoemaker Pharmacy in Claypool, which they still operate as the Hoffman Store.

The Hoffmans have two children, a daughter, Mrs. Dale (Natalie) Molebash, of near Mentone, and Bernard, a senior at Indiana University. They also have two granddaughters, Bonita and Janet Dee Molebash. Mr. Hoffman's mother lives in Plymouth and Mrs. Hoffman's mother lives in South Bend. The Hoffmans request that gifts be omitted.

Gifts For Mentally Ill

Preparations for the 1962 Christmas Gift for patients in Indiana state hospitals and schools commenced with the appointment of Mrs. Lester Taylor, Warsaw, as chairman of the project.

The announcement was made by Robert Moore, president of the Kosciusko County Association for Mental Health.

Mrs. George Murphy, state chairman of the annual Christmas gift collection program of the Indiana Association for Mental Health — and 1961 Mrs. America — recognized the importance of the position, when she stated, "In accepting the chairmanship of this project, Mrs. Taylor has assumed the responsibility of organizing the complete campaign throughout the county, which will enable the patients at our state hospitals and schools to share with us some of the joys of the holiday season.

"I call on all of the citizens of the county to support this humanitarian program."

Each year, sororities, church groups and civic organizations seek gifts from their members and other interested contributors. Gifts collected locally are distributed to patients at ward parties held near Christmas.

A quota of 300 gifts for men, 300 gifts for women and 500 gifts for either have been requested from the county.

NEWS NOTES

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

The second maple syrup institute has been scheduled for Nov. 30 at the Goshen Fairgrounds. It will start at 9:30 a.m. and lunch will be served at noon. It will be pancakes with real maple syrup, of course.

This meeting will be of interest to anyone who produces maple syrup for money or for fun. The top research man in the country, Dr. Clyde Underwood of Philadelphia and one of the biggest producers in the business, Mr. Lynn Reynolds of Wisconsin, will be the main speakers.

Last spring, the American Sheep Producers Council put on an intensified promotion program in California to get the public to buy more lamb. The proof of the success of the lamb promotion was undoubtedly in the eating.

By May 15, the program was eight weeks along and a shortage of lambs developed because of the extra consumer demand.
Packer buyers jumped in to out-bid each other for the short supply, moving the price up from 17 cents a pound to 22 cents in a week's time.

The theme of the promotion was, "Milk Fed Spring Lamb".
The motto was, "All lamb is good, milk lamb is better". It was a saturation program with thousands of announcements in all directions—radio, TV, billboards, chain stores, packers, independent retailers, restaurants and hotels. The approach and appeals were aimed directly at the consumer.

Actually, the West Coast states normally consume only about 22 per cent of the nation's lamb while the Northeast and New England states consume 47 per cent. The states around the Great Lakes region account for 13 per cent. Now, other regional specialized lamb promotion programs are shaping up for the future.

The 1963 short course in agriculture will be held at Purdue, Jan. 3 to Feb. 28. Two main courses will be offered, animal agriculture and general agriculture.

There are a number of scholarships available for young men who want to attend. Last year three were given by local banks.
It would be helpful if prospective students would contact the county extension office for details on the courses of study and on the scholarships.

A new and far-reaching set of regulations for interstate shipments of swine has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, effective Nov. 5, 1962.

There are no restrictions on healthy hogs shipped interstate for slaughter, but restrictions on hogs that have been infected or exposed to cholera are definite and strict.

Interstate shipment of infected and exposed hogs is prohibited.

Interstate shipment of hogs
fed raw garbage is prohibited.

Interstate shipment of virulent hog cholera virus is prohibited after Jan. 1, 1963, and interstate shipment of hogs (except for immediate slaughter) treated with this virus is prohibited after July 1, 1963.

Handle slaughter hogs as usual. There is no restrictions on interstate shipment of un-exposed hogs for slaughter, as long as they are shipped to a recognized slaughtering center, a public stockyards, or an approved stockyards or livestock market, and are not diverted enroute for any other purpose.

There are certain requirements which feeder pigs and breeding stock must meet if they are shipped across state lines.

1. Officially vaccinated pigs can be shipped interstate to any destination, providing they are identified as such and accompanied by a health certificate.

2. Any pigs, regardless of vaccination status, can be shipped interstate to public or approved stockyards and markets.

3. Pigs not officially vaccinated can also be shipped interstate directly to another farm providing they are accompanied by a health certificate, and a permit from the state of destination.

"Officially vaccinated pigs"
are those vaccinated by an accredited veterinarian or a full time State or Federal Inspector.

And the pigs must be permanently identified and recorded as official vaccinates by the person who performs the vaccination.

In addition, the shipper must obtain from the state of destination a permit authorizing shipment. The shipper must also maintain a closed herd for 21 days prior to shipment and then ship only to farms in states which require a 21 day isolation of imported swine.

National Farm Bureau Meeting

With the state convention just over, seven elected delegates, three state officers, outstanding Rural Youth members, and a host of Farm Bureau members statewide are setting their sights on the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 9-13.

Among the voting delegates representing Indiana will be Harold Gawthrop of Ellettsburg.

Heading the Indiana delegation will be George Doup, Columbus, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau; Glenn W. Sample, Zionsville, 1st vice president; and Mrs. Guy E. Gross, Churubusco, 2nd vice president. Sample and Mrs. Gross were re-elected to their respective offices at the state convention.

Competing in the national Rural Youth talk meet at the convention will be James Morley, Bruseville, 21 year old member of the Knox County Rural Youth, who won the state talk meet with a speech entitled, "School Reorganization—What Has Happened and What Is Its Future?" Indiana Rural Youth met in convention along with Farm Bureau, one of its sponsoring organizations.

Indiana's Farm Bureau delegation will carry to the Atlanta convention several policies which are applicable to the national scene. On the farm program, Indiana's policy endorses a transitional program leading toward the end of government production and marketing controls. In such a program, delegates stated, "We favor a voluntary land retirement program without government coercion, and, price supports in any such program should be set at a level that will not encourage excess production. The market must be protected from indiscriminate dumping of government-held commodities."

Policies were also adopted censoring federal aid to education and any increase in social security taxes to provide medical care to any part of the population.

State tax reforms and reapportionment loomed large as delegates considered measures close to home. On the tax situation, Farm Bureau asks for substantial property tax relief with rates limited by law at reasonable levels. Additional state revenue can be accomplished by rate increases in the net income and sales tax features of the Indiana Gross Income Tax.

Test Seed Before Spring

County Agent Donald Frantz urges all farmers in Kosciusko county who will have seed to sell or sow next spring to get the seed tested during the fall or early winter.

The County Extension Office will help farmers in this testing program by supplying instructions for drawing samples and special seed envelopes for sending them to the State Seed Laboratory at Purdue for a free test as well as by furnishing information on other seed matters.

Seed that is advertised for sale by farmers is required to be tested and tagged and all seeds must be free of prohibited noxious weed seeds and must not contain excessive amounts of other weed seeds to be legally sold.

The tendency of farmers to postpone sending samples to Purdue until just before planting time usually results in a congestion of samples in the laboratory in February and March. Anticipating seed testing requirements and sending samples early is recommended. Care should be exercised in seeing that the sample is representative of the lot and is large enough for test. A teacupful of clover and grass seed and at least a pint of soybean or cereal seed should be submitted.

MEN MAY MINE MOON

The puzzling earth-moon relations may be made clear when we are able to dig below the moon's surface, suggests American Rocket Society scientist Gordon McDonald. Examination of its density, heat content and chemical composition will enable us to form a positive theory on how the earth-moon system was formed, Dr. McDonald says. He isn't sure the earth had a moon (for say, the first four billion years of its existence) and hopes the initial excavations will shed some moonlight on the subject.

Asphalt Eaters are attacking the nation's roads, roofs and pipeline coatings. Prof. Richard W. Traxler is riding forth to meet and defeat them. The University of Southwestern Louisiana scientist is studying ways to discourage microbes who like taste of blacktop. He says they have finicky taste buds, a peculiarity that may be turned against them. . . Obsolete Building Codes are the last major block to all-plastic household plumbing, reports Tube Turns Plastics. But the manufacturer predicts these barriers will be swept away and by 1970 homeowners will be enjoying the materials easier installation, superior insulating qualities and greater resistance to corrosion.

The Time it takes to give technical information on defence projects to industry will soon be cut from 25 days to 30 minutes, reports the Defence Department. Under a new system, contractors will submit requests to the nearest location of the department's Armed Services Technical Information Agency. Computers will "read" the queries, search the files and come up with a list of available information and names of scientists working on the project. . . Dairy Cows in the U. S. number 19,

Tires are built, inflated and tested without using any cords, rubber or other material at the University of Michigan. The work is done on a digital computer allowing designers to bypass trial and error methods and engineer a tire directly to a vehicle's specifications. One of the program's confirmations: a tire's cords carry almost all the load a tire carries.

Stainless steel, first produced in the U.S. in the late 1920's, has advanced from being a unique "wonder metal" to an important role as a standard material in hundreds of thousands of made-in-America products. U.S. industry consumes over 11 million pounds of the special titania-type electrodes necessary to weld stainless, reports Alloy Rods Company. Peak consumption occurred in 1944 when welding of armour plate and high carbon steels consumed over 41 million pounds.

A history of the U.S. flag is being written by Admiral William Rea Furlong, USN (Ret.), and Commander Byron McCandless, USN (Ret.). It is expected to be the first definitive history written for the past 80 years.

Bostonians, who cherish their city as seat of American history and culture, have had their views on antiquity dramatically reinforced by discovery of a "fishweir stake" in an excavation on the Charles River campus of Boston University. Evidence suggests that the eight-inch piece of soggy black wood, part of a crude fish trap, was used by Black Bay residents about 4,000 years ago.

A "homing parachute" has been developed to aid in the recovery of instrument packages dropped from high altitudes. The radio-controlled chute—its rotatable—has one panel missing from the canopy. Air rushing through the gap pushes the parachute in the direction opposite the opening. The maker claims it can drop a payload within 50 yards of a given target.

THANKSGIVING -- This Year And Next!

We are sometimes prone to take for granted those things we cherish and hold dear. What would happen if we were suddenly threatened with the loss of them? Suppose an enemy should invade our land and our liberties and freedom of thought and action were stifled — we were to be denied the freedom of choice in the Church we were to attend or to even give thanks to God in any public meeting.

The Pilgrim fathers did not take these prerogatives lightly, nor for granted. They braved hardship and danger, made sacrifices that most of us today would shrink to assume. For what? To worship God as they chose. Then, after they had established themselves in the new land they did not forget the cause for which they had come. They decreed a Thanksgiving.

On this Thanksgiving Day let us emulate the Pilgrim in the giving of our thanks. Let us place God first and each do our part in seeing that the blessings given us through several centuries of struggle and strife are not lost through neglect or indifference. Let us continue celebrating Thanksgiving Day in the years ahead.

Record Corn Crop Prospect

Prospects for Indiana's 1962 corn crop, now being harvested, stand at an all-time high yield of 80 bushels an acre. This is six bushels an acre larger than the previous record of 74 bushels established by the 1961 crop.

State-federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue University estimate this year's corn crop at 340,480,000 bushels, 10 per cent larger than the 1961 production, but three per cent smaller than the 1960 record crop.

However, the state's prospective soybean crop as of Nov. 1 had fallen slightly under the 1961 production. They estimated the 1962 crop at 75,816,000 bushels, two per cent smaller than last year. Average yield is expected to be 27 bushels an acre, compared to 28 in 1961.

Indiana tobacco growers are expected to produce 15,390,000 pounds, seven per cent larger than last year's crop and 22 per cent above average.

An apple crop of 1,850,000 bushels—37 per cent larger than the 1961 harvest and 21 per cent above average—is forecast.

Hoosier dairy herds produced 271 million pounds of milk during October, five per cent larger than the September production.

October egg production, estimated at 163 million eggs, was 14 per cent smaller than October, 1961, total.

And, the statisticians note, fall sown wheat, more than 90 per cent planted by Nov. 1, has done well with 80 per cent of that sown up to a full stand.

Select Trees For Foliage Cover

If you are planting trees this fall, think about their fall color before you choose varieties, advise Purdue University extension horticulturists.

Fall leaf color is often more important than spring bloom; it's often more dependable, lasts longer and is more spectacular.

The horticulturists recommend the sour gum for a good bright scarlet fall color. And it's one of the earliest trees to turn color. Another beauty is the sugar maple. Its leaves can turn orange, scarlet, or yellow, and it makes a spectacular display.

And don't forget the oaks. They generally turn hues of red and brown.

Purple is no exception in fall color either. Here the tree to plant is mountain ash.

For colorful small trees, plant the dogwood; it turns crimson. Or plant the sassafras, which turns blood orange.

Is your kitchen wired with enough circuits and service outlets to use portable cooking appliances? Remember, appliances that use over 1000 watts of electricity need to be on separate circuits, remind home management specialists at Purdue.

November Meeting of Mentone D. A. R.

Mrs. Fred Surguy, regent of Anthony Nigo Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, opened the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Ray Linn, in the usual ritualistic manner followed by prayer, pledge to the flag, and the National Anthem. Mrs. Kenneth Riner read the message of the President General of the National Society in which she stressed that during the Thanksgiving holiday we give a special prayer of thanks for the sacrifice and dedication of the Pilgrim Fathers who earned for us the heritage we enjoy and the blessings which America has enjoyed and which we must work diligently to preserve. She asked members to recall that the DAR society stands for: "Faith of Our Fathers," the Constitution of the United States, a true republican form of government, "States Rights" as instituted by the Constitution, economy in national spending, outlawing the Communist party, keeping the United States strong militarily and sound economically, old-fashioned patriotism, capitalism vs. socialism or communism, and MOST OF ALL—for the United States of America.

Mrs. Dale Cook, National Defense Chairman, gave an excerpt from a speech by Senator Dodd, a well known expert on Communism, from the floor of the Senate Oct. 2, 1962, in which he brought to the attention of senators the recent disclosure that once again two Soviet employees of the United Nations Secretariat had been caught spying against the United States and had already returned to Moscow. The regularity of this familiar work of espionage leads us to the frightening conclusion that every Soviet employee to the United Nations and every representative of its various agencies must be considered a spy or a potential spy. This in itself would be bad enough . . . now the United States is being called upon to foot the lion's share of the bill for training prospective Soviet employees of the United Nations . . . that is for training prospective Soviet spies against the United States. Secretary General U Thant has asked the general assembly for funds to maintain a school which he has already started in Moscow for the purpose of training 22 Russians each year for jobs at United Nations headquarters. Senator Dodd stated that "he was dumbfounded that the American people should be paying for the training of Soviet agents who are sent to the United Nations to act as spies on us. But that will be the fact if the arrangements made by the Secretary General, in Moscow, are permitted to stand. There is no indication that the Secretary General asked United States approval before committing the United Nations to such action and since we foot the bill for approximately one-third of all United Nations operations we should have a right to be consulted and this should be made abundantly clear to the Secretariat."

Mrs. Walter Lackey, local librarian, reported that National Defense literature and material relative to the study of anti-communism, placed in the library by the local chapter, was in demand. She was particularly pleased that there was much interest among the youth.

Mrs. Mary Cox, chairman of DAR schools, announced that collection of Christmas gifts from members to children of the DAR school at Tamassee, N. Carolina, was nearly completed and would be mailed within the week.

Mrs. Walter Lackey very ably reviewed the book, "Red Star Over Cuba," by Nathaniel Weyl, a fully documented resume of the true story concerning the rise of Fidel Castro to world prominence in his fanatic conquest and betrayal of his own country into communism. (Mrs. Lackey's review will be printed in a future issue of the News if sufficient space is not available this week.—Ed.)

Chapter adjourned to meet

December 11th at the home of Mrs. Max Smith. Mrs. Linn was assisted in serving, from a beautifully decorated table, by Mrs. Paul Shireman. Guests included Mrs. Verne Wittkamper, Mrs. Rex Yazel, Mrs. Thomas Fugate, Mrs. Buddy Miller, Mrs. Reuben Scheid and Mrs. Alfred Hazel of Rochester, and Mrs. Snyder of Argos.

CROP Drive To Start Soon

Russell Creighton, the County Christian Rural Overseas Program board chairman, has announced that Richard Heller of Decatur will speak at the kick-off dinner for workers of CROP Tuesday evening, November 27 at the Civic Center, Warsaw. The workers will be guests of the First National Bank and the Lake City Bank of Warsaw.

Mr. Heller, a veteran newspaperman, has traveled extensively and has in recent years headed the CROP work in Adams county. The county has become a leading contributor to the program under his guidance.

Mr. Creighton of Harrison township, is Kosciusko county chairman. Other officers are Leland Kinsey, Silver Lake; Don Frantz, Warsaw, secretary; Jas. Turner, Warsaw, treasurer; Joe Barrett, North Webster, commodity manager; Mrs. Gordon Brubaker, Warsaw, publicity director; Rev. Laverne Skinner, Leesburg, promotion; Elmer Longyear, Claypool, and Ernest Rhodes, Piercetown, campaign directors, and William Orr, Warsaw, public relations.

Township drive chairmen named at this time are: Washington Twp., Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tuttle; Turkey Creek Twp., Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Deaton; Monroe Twp., Howard Workman; Lake Twp., Guy Cripe; Jefferson Twp., Verl George; Franklin Twp., Ernest Heighway; Seward Twp., Roswell Gagnon; Clay Twp., Mr. and Mrs. John Deaton; Jackson Twp., Paul Beeson.

Mrs. Charles Tucker Honored Recently

Mrs. Charles Tucker was the guest of honor at a baby shower given recently by Mrs. Garwin Eaton and Mrs. Joe Ault.

The theme centered around the babyland post office. One end of the living room was decorated like the entrance to babyland and centered the beautifully wrapped gifts.

Mrs. F. B. Koenig wrote and presented her daughter with a poem written especially for her and the coming baby. The guest of honor then read a poem entitled "Grandmothers".

Introductions of the guests were made and then all enjoyed a game of baby bingo. Those winning took their gifts from the previous winners.

Mrs. Tucker was then presented with a baby cradle which held sunshine gifts for the mother-to-be. These are to be opened during her stay in the hospital.

Miss Connie Jo Ault then presented the many gifts for Mrs.

Tucker. The guests then enjoyed refreshments.

Those attending were Mesdames Charles Tucker, F. B. Koenig, Edison Tucker, C. O. Mollenhour, Jerry Nelson, Allen G. Shirey, Dale J. Wallace, Lois Fenstermaker, Joe Ault, Floyd Tucker, Gene Marshall, Devon Tucker, Larry Tucker, Gus Mollenhour, Rex Parker, Garwin Eaton, Brook Black, Archie Leckrone, Wayne Smalley, Gerald Smalley, Merl Tinkey, and Raymond Adams; Misses Connie Jo Ault, Susan Shirey, Connie Jo Wallace, Debra Tucker and Paulette Parker.

Those unable to attend were Mesdames James Long, Chauncey Tucker, Sylvia Tucker, Denzel Nelson, Robert Hattery, Clarence Tinkey, Kate Silvius; Misses Darla Sue Nelson, Terry and Carmen Silvius.

Purdue University horticulturists remind home gardeners to clean and sharpen their tools before storing them for the winter. Apply a rust preventative or oil too.

MENTONE TRAMPLES WAKARUSA

Mentone continued on its merry way, as far as basketball is concerned, Friday night by defeating the Wakarusa Indians 104-52. Wakarusa had a tall team but was unable to cope with the ability, aggressiveness and shooting of Mentone. Mentone had five players in double figures. Nine of the ten boys figured in the scoring. The Bulldogs had a good fourth quarter scoring 40 points.

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

The costs of marketing foods in this country in 1961 were figured at $41,400,000,000. This includes the expenses of assembling, transporting, processing, wholesaling and retailing. The costs of these services have risen rapidly. This figure is 75 per cent higher than it was in 1950 and the largest single increase of course was in the cost of labor. It would be interesting speculation to figure what our grocery bill would be if farm prices had risen an equal 75 per cent during this period instead of going down. The massive and efficient system of farm production has been about the only thing that has served as a brake upon the inflationary spiral.

The addition of vitamin A to feeder cattle rations has been accepted as a necessity. This problem has been studied for at least the last 40 years but now it has become more acute due to the high nitrate levels of our feeds. We are using a lot of nitrogen on corn and the corn carries a higher nitrate level in the feed. We have now found that the nitrates actually deplete the vitamin A stored in the bodies of cattle.

The old time cattle feeder used corn and hay as his basic ration. This was sound as it provided vitamin A. The carotene content of hay was high and the cattle could transform it to the A vitamin. Now days we don't feed much hay so we must make up the shortage with a vitamin A supplement. Cattle on feed need 20,000 international units per head per day. This is a lot of units but they don't cost much. Less than a dollar a head for 200 days will pay the bill.

This cost is so reasonable that we probably should assume that they need it. Since our cattle are younger than they used to be and since there is always a chance they came in from dry ranges, it is probably a good idea to always plan to use a vitamin A supplement for winter feeding of beef cattle.

The County Poultry Association in its meeting recently, urged the use of strict sanitation methods by poultrymen, feed handlers, truckers and others to prevent the spread of a potentially dangerous Newcastle Disease situation.

The second Maple Syrup Institute will be held at Goshen on Nov. 30. It will be held at the Fairgrounds starting at 9:30 a.m.

Maybe you heard the story about the bride and her first Thanksgiving. She reported to the guests that this turkey did not need stuffing because it wasn't hollow.

There is trouble around with a number of cases of Newcastle Disease in poultry flocks. My thought right now would be that we are going to have to be real hard-nosed this winter about who comes onto our poultry area. I would be real sure that any visitor has no chance of carrying any contamination on his clothes, boots, truck or car. This ought to apply to the feed-man, service man or the preacher.

There are some other birds that might cause trouble and these are starlings, pigeons and sparrows. Poultry houses should be just as bird-proof as possible as there is some strong evidence that birds are carrying trouble from farm to farm.

It looks more and more like starlings are contributing to TGE outbreaks in herds of baby pigs. So here again, we can say that any method of keeping them away from farrowing pens is advisable.

Recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. Garrie Rose were Mrs. Dale Cook, Mrs. Mary Huffer, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rose of Buchanan, Michigan, and Mrs. Ethel Shaffer.

Blind Dogs Help Sightless People

Collie Dogs are helping doctors at Stanford Medical Center study an eye condition—detached retina—which blinds many Americans every year. Collies are the first known animals in which the condition occurs naturally. The doctors estimate that 5 per cent of the U.S. blind population, and 30 per cent of the country's collies, have detached retinas.

Instant food trends are making it possible to serve orange juice economically in igloos and other remote places where the benefits of vitamin C have been missing because of the lack of native citrus. Canned crystals of pure orange juice, requiring no refrigeration and weighing only one-seventh as much as the equivalent whole liquid, are already being shipped to Arctic Circle locations, report Votator food dehydration experts.

The dominant animals on earth for about 150 million years, report the Smithsonian Institution, were trilobites, ancestors of insects, spiders, crabs and lobsters. They became extinct 250 million years ago.

For more than 100 years, direct current motors have employed metallic commutators with carbon brushes to change the direction of the flow of electric current. Now from Duke University comes word of an experimental "brushless" motor fitted with tiny silicon controlled rectifiers to direct current where it is needed. The development will reduce the uses of high speed motors.

Gallstones should be removed from young patients to avoid future complications, recommends Dr. Leo R. Milner of Boston. The gallstones can cause perforations of the gall bladder, obstruction in the flow of liver bile and even cancer, he says.

The journey of the upper stage of the mighty Saturn space rocket from Santa Monica, Calif., where it was built, to Huntsville, Ala., where it will be tested, was accomplished in a rather mundane manner. The move, mostly by water, included a 1,100 mile trip up the Mississippi River—by barge.

Sleepy rats are being studied at the University of Florida because, it develops, rats react the same way people do to getting up in the morning. Eventually, it is hoped, people will be educated into getting up without an alarm.

Winterize Farm Engines

Mild autumn weather often lulls us into a false sense of security about the cooling systems of our farm engines, warns Les Hill, Purdue University agricultural engineer.

Better not wait for the first cold snap to prepare your tractor, truck, combine and other water cooled engines for winter. One advantage of permanent type of anti freeze is that it can be installed early and yet not be lost during the warm days toward the end of the season.

Take the first opportunity you get to drain and flush the cooling system, blow out the radiator fins and inspect the water pump lubricant supply. Then add the anti freeze.

Radiator hoses that are leaky or look as if they might not last through the winter should be replaced before the antifreeze is added to the cooling system.

"Red Star Over Cuba"

At the November meeting of the Mentone DAR, Mrs. Walter Lackey very ably reviewed the book, "Red Star Over Cuba", by Nathaniel Weyl, a fully documented resume of the true story concerning the rise of Fidel Castro to world prominence in his fanatic conquest and betrayal of his own country into communism. Castro's character was formed in his childhood, one of hostility and hate. He came from a family which had money without social position. He grew up suspended between social classes, vulnerable to insult, without strong roots, conscious of his murky origin and determined to force whatever group he joined to accept him as its leader. He aspired to be applauded. He became a communist in his early youth embracing the ideology willingly and joyfully. As early as 1948 it was known in diplomatic circles that Fidel Castro was the instigator of the pre-planned deliberate cold-blooded destruction of a great portion of Bogota, Columbia, South America . . . in an attempt to invade the country and to discredit the United States . . . engaged at the time in the Inter-American Conference at Bogota. This revolution failed in spite of the havoc and destruction wrought. The author relates that it seems hard to believe that our State Department could overlook the pre-planned attempt to expand the empire of communism when representatives from the department were present.

These same representatives of our State Department later told an investigating committee of Congress that there was no taint of communism on Castro. Castro and his brother, Raul, fled to Mexico after the unsuccessful revolution attempt, to prepare for another revolution, this time in Cuba. They were assisted by the communist underground, Soviet money, and the fanatic support of a group of journalists, one of them, Herbert Matthews, of the New York Times. Up to this time Castro was just another bandit but the front page article by Matthews built Castro up as a hero and an underdog. Three articles in the N. Y. Times gave him world renown and he received money from the United States as well as from Russia and China. These journalists building Castro up as a hero of the Cuban people had tremendous influence on our Congressmen and men in high places of government. Matthews had firm connections in our State Department.

One of our Ambassadors tried to warn our government and failed, another was fired for trying to alert the proper authorities. American foreign policy turned more and more toward Cuba. Radical minded men in our State Department had full sway with the disbursement of information and there is no doubt of communist infiltration into this Department of our government.

The Cuban army was crushed by the successful take-over by Castro and Khrushchev. Castro then revealed himself. He drove out the wealthy, the middle class and the educated. He militarized Cuba completely. During this time Americans were being led in the wrong direction by American journalists who pictured Castro's movement as a revolution for Cuba's freedom from the dictator, Batista. It is true that Batista was a powerful man capable of violent action but he was also a friend of the United States and an enemy of communism.

Our Central Intelligence Agency organized the exiles from Cuba in our country, to make a beach landing in the Bay of Pigs. The plan was good but not carried out, due to interference from our representative to the United Nations who feared for his so-called "standing" in that body. Also there was enmity between the CIA and the exiles when the most loyal ones were ignored in the plans for the Bay of Pigs invasion. A small effort on the part of the U. S. would have made the plan a success.

Mrs. Lackey stressed that the book must be read to get the full impact of it—namely that the American people could be so misled. She also stressed that some of the internal conditions in Cuba parallel some of the internal conditions in our own country today.

Guard Poultry Against Stresses

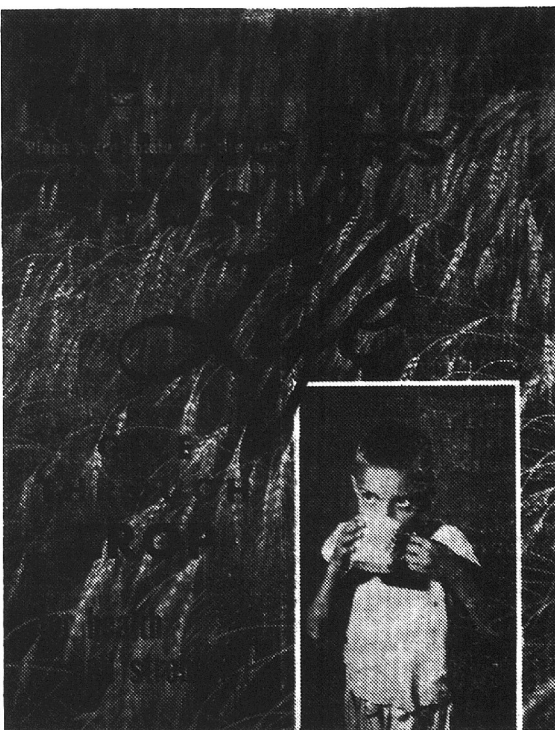

For top egg production, layers must be protected from stresses that can upset them, cautions Joe W. Sicer, Purdue University extension poultryman. A stress is anything that disturbs the maintenance of normal functions of the body.

Among management stresses are overcrowding birds in so far as the size and ventilation of the house is concerned; insufficient feeder and water space; exposure to extremes of temperature or to wind; unsanitary housing conditions; inadequate ventilation; changes in routine; and establishment of the peck order among the birds. Faulty nutrition, parasites and disease also constitute stresses.

Birds in the flock vary in their ability to resist different stresses. While one stress may not be severe enough to interfere with egg production, an accumulation can often push the bird over the brink.

For instance, a hen in full egg production may harbor some lice that irritate her, but she still sings. Add intestinal worms to rob her of some of her food and she still stays on the job.
