HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ADMIT THEFTS

Seven Mentone High School students, Tuesday night, admitted to sheriff's officers their part in the theft of 19 head of livestock which they sold for $861, which was divided up among them.

Livestock stealing, which has plagued the sheriff's department all summer, was ended when Sheriff Sam Holbrook, Deputy Sheriff Dave Andrews, and State Detective Al Nacke obtained written confessions after 12 hours of questioning.

The youths, all aged 17, except one, who is 16, told of their part in the thefts which began early in June, after officers uncovered the mystery through identification of a truck.

Sheriff Holbrook said today that all of the boys have been released to their parents, but that they will be charged as delinquents in juvenile court.

Holbrook said that in early June five of the seven admitted taking five sheep from a pasture field on the Chauncey Tucker farm east of the Co-op Hardware in Mentone, and selling them for $26 at the Etna-Bourbon Sale Barn.

Then about Aug. 14, four of the youths told of taking five sows from the Edison Tucker farm south of Mentone. They related they sold them to Gus Mollenhour for $200.

Later in August two of the boys said they took two market hogs from the Dean Nellans, Jr. farm northeast of Mentone, and sold them at the Producers Market for $210.

Three of the youths admitted taking two more fat steers from the Dean Nellans, Sr., farm, which they sold at the Etna-Bourbon Sale Barn for $341.

Two of the youths admitted breaking into Miller's Auto Supply several times where they took waxes, polishing mitts and cleaning solvents, and said that three boys told of taking a car belonging to Marilyn Horn, of Mentone, last Thursday.

The Sheriff also said that some of the boys admitted breaking into the Mentone High School last year, but said they took nothing—that they were looking for examination answers.

The Sheriff's department also think that this might clear up some other thefts in the area.

New School
Equipment Purchased

The Tippecanoe Valley School Board have in a unanimous decision adopted policies to upgrade the instructional apparatus of the various schools of the corporation to the extent that appropriation and monies will allow.

A survey of instructional equipment in the various schools which has been made at the request of the Board has given indication that there are departments that need improvement in the way of instructional equipment. At Monday night's meeting the School Board approved five sewing machines for the Mentone High School and five sewing machines for the Akron High School, feeling that this was necessary to upgrade both departments. Their attention was then turned to improvements in the particular area of electric typewriters and office machines which were felt necessary to upgrade the Commercial department of both schools. The Board has asked for a survey of other departments so immediate improvement can be made for the students in the new consolidated area.

At a previous meeting the School Board had decided that a $12,000 expenditure which had been appropriated for school buses was not necessary and consequently have turned their attention to the various departments in the schools with the thought in mind of upgrading the departments with instructional apparatus for all the students.

TOWN BOARD TO STUDY PARKING ORDINANCE TO BE ENFORCED

The Mentone Town Board met in regular session Monday night at the Town Hall. Regular business was taken care of in the usual manner.

The Town Board appointed Frank Hardesty to assume the duties of Building Commissioner. Mr. C. O. Mollenhour was the former Building Commissioner.

The next issue taken up was two hour parking.

There were fifteen interested people in attendance.

Representing Frank Manufacturing was Gene Hart. Representing the Chamber of Commerce was Joe Boggs. Mr. Hart stated that his interest was that he and the other employees of Frank Mfg. felt that the law was aimed at them in particular and they felt they had a parking right around the Frank Mfg. building.

The Town Board assured them that they had no particular individual or firm discrimination in mind when they passed the ordinance.

Their was other discussions held.

The Board stated their position on the fine of $1 and costs of $17.75 and explained that at the present time they had no control over it, being that the parking signs are on a State Highway. However, they said that they would be as lenient as possible on the issuing of tickets and only a willful disregard for the signs was noted and then the town officer would be instructed to fulfill his duty.

The two hour parking is being studied along with how they can have a city court so that the fine can be lowered. It would be taken up at the next regular meeting, Nov. 5.

The driver, Fred Muncie, said that he saw the train approaching and grabbed a fuse and ran down the track to try to stop it.

The train hit the trailer in the middle, spun it around, tearing down the signals as it went.

Farm Prices Continue Rise

Indiana farm prices continued their month long rise, increasing one per cent from mid-July to mid-August, according to economists and state - federal Purdue University agricultural statisticians. They rose three per cent from mid-June to mid-July.

However, prices received by U. S. farmers during the period rose two per cent. Purchasing power of Indiana and U. S. farmers increased one per cent while prices paid by U. S. farmers remain unchanged.

Livestock prices increased two per cent, but grain prices dropped three per cent.

Major commodity prices rising: Hogs, one per cent; cattle, two per cent; whole milk, six per cent; eggs, eight per cent; turkeys, five per cent; broilers, three per cent, and hay, two per cent.

Commodity prices declining: corn, wheat and oats, three per cent; soybeans, one per cent, and potatoes, 17 per cent. Apple and lamb prices were unchanged.

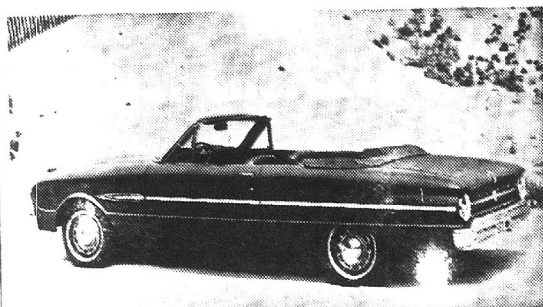

As a result of improved livestock prices and lower grain prices product-feed price ratios generally increased. Ratios increasing were hog-corn, four per cent; whole milk-feed and turkey-feed, five per cent, and egg feed, eight per cent. Butterfat-feed and broiler-feed ratios remained unchanged during the 30-day period.

since they open further as they dry. Choose flowers that are not overly wet and pick them before they wilt in the day's heat. Treat soon after picking and dry them quickly to preserve their naturalness.

Some flowers you can dry are cockscomb, lunaria or honesty, Chinese lantern, statice, gomphrena or Globe amaranth, and straw flower. Just pick your flowers and strip their foliage; then, using a stout string, tie flowers of the same kind together by their stems in bunches of no more than ten. Hang them, heads down, in a fairly cool dark place where there is enough air to dry them well.

More delicate flowers dry well in Silica-Gel crystals, which you can buy at garden centers or through mail order ads in garden magazines. Follow the directions on the container.

What Are Freeze Dried Foods?

Have you heard of freeze-dried foods, the convenience food used by campers and the armed forces? asks Miriam G. Eads, Purdue University food specialist.

Freeze-dried foods are compact, lightweight and may be returned to normal weight and texture by soaking them in water. After the soaking, the food may be prepared as desired. If the food was precooked before freeze-drying, it can be soaked in hot water and served immediately.

A line of foods available for campers includes beef steaks, boneless pork chops, ham patty mix, beef and chicken stew, rice and chicken dinner, and cooked scrambled eggs. Some companies are using freeze-dried meats and vegetables in their dry soup mixes.

Freeze-dried food is prepared by freezing the food item and then drying it by a process that changes the ice directly to vapor. The food loses 50-75 per cent of its weight in the drying process and emerges in lightweight, porous, brittle form. It is then sealed in an airtight container. It may be stored at room temperatures for one to two years without deterioration.

Many types of foods are being freeze-dried on a limited commercial scale, aimed particularly at campers, but soon available to the homemaker. Fruits and fruit juices, meats, vegetables, milk, eggs, cottage cheese and mixed dishes, such as chili con carne and chicken stew, have been processed successfully.

Freeze-dried foods appear more desirable than conventionally dehydrated foods, notes the specialist. They maintain their color, odor, flavor and nutritive value, store easily and return to original form. They are still considered expensive when compared with other processed food.

NEWS NOTES

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

Checking of five-acre Corn Projects will get underway right away now. This is one of the oldest extension projects that is in operation. Farmers have used it for over 50 years as a way of evaluating their production methods.

The annual Agricultural Outlook Meeting will be conducted October 15th by Robert Williams of the Agricultural Economics Staff at Purdue.

Mr. Williams will be in the county again on November 20th for a meeting of the County Poultry Association. He gained wide notice a year ago or so for his work in studying egg handling costs in New York State.

The 50th annual Conference for veterinarians will be held at Purdue, October 2, 3, and 4th. Some 20 guest speakers and staff members from the University will conduct the clinics and general sessions.

It is difficult to avoid comment on farm legislation. Congress obviously is as undecided as farmers themselves about what ought to be done. In two separate votes, several months apart, they came within a whisker of doing two different things. One would have been to have imposed the toughest controls system yet. The other would have taken out even voluntary control measures. Just a few votes would have swung it in either case, in exact opposite directions.

Farm legislation costs money, there is no doubt about that, but there is certainly a lot of misinformation as to where it goes. It is constantly called a subsidy to farmers yet only about one dollar out of every seven goes to the farmers in any direct way. Most of it is shared as much by any other group.

Six dollars out of every seven go for such things as foreign aid, meat inspection, consumer education and research, market development, protection of U. S. soil, loans, water and forest conservation, national parks, extension service, welfare programs and school lunch programs.

School lunches are big business and in Indiana over one third of all school students use the hot lunch program. Last year there were about 65 million lunches served to kids in this state. There were special milk programs in 1,970 schools where the youngsters can get an extra cup of milk for two cents. This is used by many who carry their own lunches.

Last year 337 township trustees, this is about one-third of the total in the state, requested food from the USDA for needy families. About 120,000 people received this food. In addition to this, there were about 160,000 children receiving this food at special summer camps for limited periods of time.

It is doubtful that these programs increase the total demand for food very much. These people eat anyway. Without a doubt it has increased the quality of diets, especially in school children. I can get an argument out of my own kids on this last statement.

The trustees is this county have coordinated their requests for "surplus food". It is generally handled through the office of Guy Hygema, Wayne Township Trustee. We have worked with them in many instances in meal planning. As reports are received as to what will be distributed, Mrs. Hygema will contact this office and discuss the food with Mrs. McCleary, our Home Demonstration Agent. Often this food is in bulk and of a kind and quality that many housewives are not well acquainted with. Mrs. McCleary will work out recipes and other ideas on how to use the food to the best advantages. These recipes are then distributed with the food. We think it has improved the diets and eliminated some waste.

Tomatoes Can Be Kept Fresh

To say you can pick tomatoes in September and eat them for Christmas dinner might be an exaggeration. But, you can pick them now and eat them several weeks later if you handle them properly, points out Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

Most important is to pick and save only sound fruit. Pick the tomatoes before frost, or preferably, before temperatures near frost are likely. This is because tomatoes may be damaged by low temperatures as well as by frost, Scheer explains. And, he stresses, save only sound fruit from sturdy plants.

After picking the fruit and removing the stems, clean it with water and dry thoroughly. Be certain you discard damaged or injured fruit. Then store separately tomatoes showing color and those that are completely green to save handling time later.

Place fruit in a shallow tray in a well ventilated, fairly cool area. Make certain the tomatoes don't touch. A room temperature of 55 degrees F is ideal. If the temperature is much lower than 55 degrees, the tomatoes will be hurt. Mature green fruit will take almost a month to ripen and green fruit will require a little longer.

Plant Dwarf Apple Trees

Lafayette, Ind. Dwarfed apple trees probably are best for home planting, advise Purdue University extension horticulturists. They are smaller than standard size and are easier to prune, spray and care for. They also bear fruit at a younger age.

Dwarfed trees are obtained by grafting the desired variety onto a special rootstock. The horticulturists recommend East Malling IX or Malling 106 rootstock. They are designated EM IX or MM 106 in catalogs and should be ordered as such.

Plant trees in the late fall in mild weather, since new root development will occur only when the soil temperature is above 45 degrees F. Or you can have them delivered for early spring planting. Plant at least two varieties for cross pollination.

A word of caution: Before you plant any fruit trees, even the easy to care for dwarfed apple tree, think about and be prepared to care for them properly. You'll have to spray and prune them regularly. Commercial growers often spray 12-15 times each growing season.

Mentone Soil Judging Winners

Mentone Soil Judging team edged out Piercetown in a close race for first place honors in the recent County 4-H and FFA Soil Judging contest held on the Earl Ellenwood farm in Monroe Township.

Team scores in the judging contest are generally composed of the individual scores of the top three members. Due to a tie in this score between Mentone and Piercetown, the score of the fourth member had to be used allowing Mentone to win by a narrow margin of four points.

The Mentone team, coached by Morris Bitzer, consists of David Norris (158), Fred Ryman (152), Bob Cox (149), and David Leiter (149), turned in a team score of 608 points. The Piercetown team members were Ed Cotton (155), Homer Ousley (154), Kerry Ringgenberg (150), and John Rhoades (145).

Other participating teams are as follows: third, Claypool, 446; fourth, Piercetown, 442; fifth, Claypool, 351; sixth, Milford, 334. The above scores are three men totals. There were 45 high school boys who participated in the contest which consisted of judging four different soil sites. At each site the contestant analyzed the soil characteristics, determined the land capabilities, and recommended the cropping system and land management practices to be used. A possible score of 58 points is set for each site with a total possible score of 232 for each individual.

The Mentone and Piercetown teams will participate in the district contest to be held at Jack Wold farm and the Bill Huff farm near Albion in Noble County on Saturday, Oct. 6.

MHS SEASON TICKETS ON SALE

Season tickets will go on sale Monday, Oct. 8, in the principal's office. The possession of a season ticket will give you priority on a ticket to the tournaments. It often makes it easier when coming to the games since you can enter by the side door as well as the front door. The price of the season tickets is considerably less than the total price for all home games.

Tourney tickets will be sold in this order:

1. Parents of the players and yell leaders, 2 tickets.
2. Teachers, 2 tickets.
3. Student with season ticket, 1 ticket.
4. Band member, 1 ticket.
5. Season ticket holder, 1 ticket.
6. Student without season ticket, 1 ticket.
7. Adult, Mentone fan, limited number.
8. Public.

Since the demand for tourney tickets is always great here at Mentone, I would like to urge a large per cent of both students and adults to buy season tickets. This will greatly expedite the sale of tourney tickets.

Robinia Is The Black Locust

Robinia is the name of a group of plants—including trees, points out H. W. Gilbert, Purdue University extension landscape architect. Advertisements encouraging use of the Robinia tree don't point out that the tree they sell is the black locust.

The black locust is one of Indiana's most common trees. Its major use is for soil erosion control and for fence posts. Beautiful specimens of the tree are found in the state and in many cases they serve their purpose well.

However, to plant this tree for shade in preference to, and without comparative valuation with other excellent shade trees, would be a mistake, says Gilbert. So, before you spend your money for Robinia, consult a nurseryman, landscape architect, arborist or your county extension office. Other choices may come more nearly fitting the needs of most homemakers, the landscape architect observes.

Family Finances

by John Roberts

There's an old saying that you should never borrow money. But that's not exactly true. In many situations borrowing is a very sound decision, if done so wisely.

Of course, it's wise to borrow from an institution — bank, savings and loan company, credit corporation, etc. — that offers the lowest available interest rate. Never hesitate to shop around before borrowing.

Generally, it is easiest to establish your credit at the bank where you already have a checking or savings account. If you have built up a good financial standing with your own bank, you are assured of favorable treatment there.

Most economists agree that it isn't safe to figure on making loan payments of more than one-eighth of your take-home pay, not counting mortgage payments. If you have a good, sound reason for borrowing money, don't hesitate. But don't let high loan payments spread your income thin.

Lloyd J. Bowerman, 17 year old senior at Mentone High School, was one of two boys chosen upon recommendation of John Frederick, his school principal, and Mrs. Rene Nine, director of the Kosciusko County Citizens Advisory Council. Young Lloyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Bowerman, of Mentone.

They were selected on the basis of their leadership qualities and demonstrated interest in their fellow youth.

Lloyd Bowerman has taken an active part in 4-H, FFA and plays in the Mentone school band. He is a member of the Redeemer Lutheran Church of Warsaw. He plans to attend Purdue Engineering School upon completion of high school.

The new Y.A.C. members will attend a youth general assembly in Indianapolis this week end, Oct. 12 and 13, to meet nearly 300 other high school and college representatives from throughout the state. They will discuss youth problems particular to Indiana and propose means toward their solution.

This central event Friday and Saturday will be supported by annual meetings of all Y.A.C. members within the limits of congressional district boundaries. The 22 member executive committee of Y.A.C. will meet four times yearly to coordinate programs and policies.

The Youth Advisory Committee has as its goals:

- (1) To encourage public recognition of juvenile decency, to discourage glamorization of delinquency and to investigate the extent, contributing factors and possible remedies to juvenile problems.
- (2) To stimulate youth and adult organizations, as well as individuals, toward developing programs that effectively meet the needs of children and youth.
- (3) To foster greater understanding and cooperation between youth and adults.
- (4) To stress the worth and dignity of the individual, equality of man, sacredness of freedom, importance of religion in everyday living and the significance of physical and mental fitness.

The school has added some new conveniences this year to make the games more enjoyable. They installed three sections of roll-a-way bleachers at the east end and two new score boards, with large numbers, at each end of the gym.

The Bulldog's first home game will be Nov. 9 with Tippecanoe.

M.H.S. ANNUAL GOING TO PRESS

The Mentone Annual "Bulldog", will soon be starting to press. Pages will be sent in to the American Book Company as the staff completes them. It will be an interesting story of the year 1962-1963 in Mentone School.

Subscriptions are now being solicited. The deadline for subscriptions is Oct. 19. If you have not ordered your annual by that date, you will not receive an annual next spring when they are distributed. Every year several students and adults want to buy annuals in May, although they did not order in October. They were disappointed that they did not get an annual.

The members of the staff are Chip Gast, editor; Marsha Fisher, Cheryl Horn, Fred Mellott, and Bonnie Warren. The sponsor is Mrs. Caldwell. If you wish to have an annual, please contact one of the staff to call on you.

Orthopedic Awarded Government Contract

Orthopedic Equipment Co. has just about cornered the litter market.

The Orthopedic Equipment Co. of Bourbon, with plants here in Mentone, has been awarded a $542,000 contract for some 35,000 aluminum rigid pole litterers by the Defense Medical Supply Center which purchases all the armed forces medical supplies.

Orthopedic won out over six companies to be low bidder on half of the order. The company which employs about 100 persons in its plants, was also low bidder on the so called "set aside" half, reserved for a company in a surplus labor area. The contract was awarded after competition by formal advertising.

Prior to the award, Orthopedic had announced its intentions to rehire some 40 laid off employees and go on a second shift if it received the set aside portion of the contract.

Having held some $882,000 in previous DMSC contracts, the company in the past has made some constructive contributions to government purchases. In one instance, Orthopedic suggested changes in the specifications of a bone pin which were eventually adopted as the official military requirements.

On the other side of the ledger, the Defense Supply Agency—parent of the DMSC—backed the company in its recent successful bid for a loan to increase plant capacity.

FARM OUTLOOK MEETING

Donald E. Frantz, County Agricultural Agent, has announced that Robert L. Williams, Agricultural Economist at Purdue University, will lead the discussion at this year's meeting on the farm outlook. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 15, in the Women's Building at Fairgrounds, Warsaw.

ROBERT L. WILLIAMS

Principal purpose of this meeting is to discuss supply and demand factors as they affect individual farm commodities, prospects for farm prices, and incomes for the next year and for the next few years. As always, the outlook is brighter for some commodities than for others. The meeting will include discussion of how farmers may adjust their businesses to meet these changing profit opportunities.

Mr. Frantz says the meeting is mainly designed to present the factors that affect the prices of the commodities, and the economic principles involved and to provide insight into future prices. Thus, persons attending can draw their own conclusions as to price and income prospects and make their own forecasts as conditions change.

Some forecasters say that during the next year we will be faced with a recession in national business activity. If this materializes, how will this affect farmers? What are the prospects for increased inflation resulting from the present foreign situation and-or from increased domestic deficit spending and how will this affect farmers? How have land values reacted to the Feed Grain Program and the fear of inflation? These and similar questions will be discussed at the meeting.

Will production be reduced with the 1962 Feed Grain Program and what affect might this have on grain and livestock prices? What will be the effect on our grain surpluses? How will farmers react to the 1963 Feed grain Program? These questions will be discussed by Mr. Williams.

Mr. Frantz says that not only farmers, but their wives, other businesses, and city consumers, will be especially interested in the discussion of the factors affecting incomes of farmers. Effects of these factors on capital and operating and consumption purchases will be considered. Awards will be made for the Price Forecasting Contest of last year.

NEWS NOTES

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

A group called the committee on economic development has issued a report on their recommendations for national policy on agriculture. The report is actually that of a sub-committee and it has already generated a following among businessmen throughout the country. It has also caused some disapproval among farm groups.

An interesting reaction occurred about a month ago in Iowa. The vice chairman of the sub-committee on agriculture is a member of the Board of Directors of Sears Roebuck. The chairman is a top official with Ford Motor Company. When the report was issued, a farm group in Iowa went to the local Sears store and Ford dealer and let them know exactly what they thought of this policy recommendation. One of the things they did was to bring in their Sears catalogs and pile them in front of the store. The local store manager who was completely innocent and concerned as to the public relations effect, immediately called the top official and pleaded with them to "say it isn't so".

There was a difference of opinion even within Sears Roebuck.

I don't guess anyone turned in their Ford but some of the dealers were given a hard time too, and they would just as soon that their officials would stay out of the national agricultural policy making.

I bought a copy of the full report. It has just arrived and just as soon as I have had time to read it I will try to digest it into a column in the next few weeks. That is if I can understand it.

The reaction from many newspapers is that it is an honest, bold statement of facts and recommendations but not one that would win any popularity contests from farmers.

Compost is of great value to some gardeners. It can be made of any organic matter such as leaves, grass, corn cobs, or, even oak logs if you have enough time.

The principal of making compost is merely to use alternative layers of compost material, fertilizer and soil. The size of the compost pile would depend entirely upon the amount of material to be decomposed. Usually a box 3 or 4 feet wide by 3 or 4 feet high at any length will do.

The leaves or grass should be placed in layers of about 10 inches thick, then sprinkle over with a cup and a half of 10-10-10 fertilizer and the same amount of dolomitic limestone.

PINE FORESTS TO YIELD

Pine forests established in Indiana as a part of the extensive soil and water conservation efforts of the early 1930's will soon yield trees of saw timber size.

The maturing, and subsequent marketing of the trees raise questions in the wood using industries, reports Robert H. Perkins, a researcher at the Purdue University wood research laboratory.

Most of the planted pines are species which are not native to Indiana. Since the trees have been planted outside their natural range of adaptability, little is known about the type of lumber they will yield. Properties of lumber from pines grown elsewhere—in natural stands—have been well established through tests and experience. Just how Indiana grown pine will compare is not known.

Perkins is beginning a study which will compare products of Indiana pine forests with other pine lumber and established industry standards. Such characteristics as working properties, strength, nail holding ability and endurance will be investigated. Even the beauty of the lumber will be a consideration in the study.

The investigations will be conducted in the wood research laboratory of Purdue's forestry and conservation department. Since it is a long term study, no results will be available for some time. The project, however, will ultimately yield market standards for another Indiana forest product.

No Known Cure For Tree Disease

The Dutch Elm disease has destroyed tens of thousands of elm trees in cities and in woodlands in Indiana since it was first reported in the state at Indianaolis in 1937. The disease continues to spread unchecked because there is no proven method of control for individual trees. Since it is the individual specimen tree that is of greatest value to the homeowner for shade or for landscape appeal, there is understandable concern among homeowners over the health of each tree growing on their property.

This combination of interest and lack of a proven control for the disease may encourage the homeowner to try any remedy that might save prized individual elms.

Plant pathologists at Purdue University are in close touch with research workers at State Agricultural Experimental Stations, the USDA and other research centers, where constant research for a remedy for Dutch Elm disease is in progress. Workers at these centers are investigating many old and new chemicals and suggested cures for Dutch Elm Disease. At the present time there is no known cure or preventative for the Dutch Elm disease in individual elm trees that can be substantiated by reliable results from competent research workers. It is to be hoped that a proven remedy will be forthcoming. As soon as reliable evidence is available for an effective treatment for Dutch Elm disease, the Indiana public will be fully informed through County Extension Offices.

This time of year, when college students head back to school, it's a good time to plan ahead on finances for your youngsters' college education.

A Ford Foundation survey discovered recently that 70% of all parents in the United States plan to send their children to college, but most of these parents had no idea how they would pay for it.

Today, it costs an average of $10,000 to send a child through four years of college. By the time your youngsters are college age, it will probably cost even more. A fine way to make the cost of college less painful is to invest in a college education insurance plan.

Most insurance companies offer policies especially suited to future college students. They pay a lump sum — just when it's needed to pay tuition bills. If you have small children, call your insurance man soon to discuss a plan to finance their college education.

New Lawns Need Fertilizer

Most people don't use enough fertilizer on their new lawns, observes Purdue University turf specialists.

Adding fertilizer to the new lawn will help thicken the grass. Fertilizer will also give the grass that added vigor to better withstand winter weather conditions and insure a better growth next spring.

Apply 10 pounds of 10-3-7 or 10-6-4, or a similar analysis fertilizer, per 1,000 square feet of area anytime in mid or late fall. A good method of distribution is to apply half of the fertilizer in a north-south direction and the other half in an east-west direction. This avoids streaking.

Also, the turf specialists say the new lawn may need extra water this fall. Apply one inch of water per week in open areas and two inches of water per week under trees when rain is sparse. Check the amount of water by placing tin cans under the sprinkler and measuring the water caught in the cans. Bank areas and area near shrubs and trees dry out rapidly and should be watched closely. These areas may need water more often than once a week.

YOU GET MORE EGGS FROM A WELL-BALANCED RATION

Poultrymen know grain feeding alone isn't enough to help layers reach and hold peak production and stay there. If you feed grain, you need the right concentrate to mix with it—and in the right amount. If you use too much concentrate, you're wasting money. If you don't use enough, you're wasting money too, for your layers will consume more grain, yet do a poor job of producing eggs. It's all a matter of proper balance.

Here's where we can help you. With our Check-R-Mix Service we can mix your grain with Purina Concentrate to fit your needs. Our exclusive Check-R-Mixer quickly determines what Purina Concentrate to mix with grain and how much—according to formulas developed by Purina Research. We can mix your grain and Purina Concentrate, making a well-balanced, high-efficiency laying ration to help you get more eggs for less feed than average. Drop by or phone our mill. Prove to yourself—Purina feeding can cost you less.

THERE'S 30 YEARS OF RESEARCH BEHIND PURINA CATTLE CHOWS

More than 30 years ago Purina started working on the problem of producing fast, cheap gains and top finish on fattening cattle... also what nutrition cows needed to grow a calf and maintain their own body condition at the same time... and the combination of ingredients needed to help produce a show ring champion.

Through extensive work with thousands of cattle at Purina's Gray Summit, Missouri, Research Farm, and at other farms and ranches across the United States, Purina has learned much about cattle feeding, management and sanitation practices that help get top results on the range, in the feedlot and in the show ring. Ask us to tell you more about Purina's research-proved Cattle Chows and feeding programs.

HOW TO FIGHT HOG SCOURS, NECRO

When your hogs show signs of bacterial scours or enteritis (Necro), it pays to medicate their ration with new Purina Chek-R-Furan. Chek-R-Furan is made with potent nf-180R to help control these costly hog diseases.

In addition, it fights black scours and bloody dysentery. We stock this Quality Health Aid for Hogs in 50 lb. sacks. Ask us to add Chek-R-Furan to your hog rations when you need it.

Proper automobile driving practices can cut your fuel consumption by 10% and save the average one-car family several hundred dollars a year. Try these tricks to increase your gasoline mileage.

Don't pump the accelerator when you start the car. Press down smoothly.

Don't idle or race the engine for a quick warmup on a cold morning. Drive the car a short distance at low speed instead.

Avoid "jackrabbit" starts.

Shift gears at the lowest speed possible. Unless you're starting uphill, remain in first gear only a few seconds, and about one second in second gear.

Skip first gear when starting on a downgrade.

Try to maintain the same speed when traffic permits. Don't jiggle the accelerator or move the car in little bursts of speed.

Drive at moderate speeds. Long stretches in lower gears and high-speed driving both eat up gas.

Control Box Elder Bugs

Lafayette, Ind. Seeking shelter from cold weather, boxelder bugs may turn up in and around the home, warns Bill Allen, entomologist at Purdue University. These black and red insects do not cause any particular damage to household furnishings but they are a nuisance.

When the bugs leave the boxelder trees they may collect by the thousands on tree trunks, foundation walls, porches and the sides of buildings. Sun loving insects, boxelder bugs usually congregate where there is a southern exposure. Control them when they congregate because later they will scatter and crawl into building walls and other inaccessible places.

To Control boxelder bugs spray two pints dieldrin 18 per cent emulsifiable concentrate in eight gallons of water where the insects gather. Use a generous amount of spray. At least eight or 10 gallons are needed around the average home to wet down the bugs and the areas where they congregate.

If the boxelder bugs enter the house, spray the interior thoroughly with pyrethrins mist and close the house for several hours. Remove dead insects by sweeping or vacuuming. Allen points out that this is only temporary control as more bugs will likely appear on the next warm day. Therefore, controlling the bugs outdoors is the best procedure, he emphasizes.

Persons bothered annually by the pests should consider spraying the trees before the bugs emerge, he advises. Spray a six teaspoons of 18 per cent dieldrin per gallon of water solution on the seed bearing trees as often as needed after June 1.

smooths bumps better than a bulldozer

If all roads were superhighways, Chevrolet's remarkably smooth and silent ride might be just another luxury. But as most town and country roads will demonstrate, this is one Chevrolet advantage that's mighty easy to get excited about. (The way those four deep-coil springs put the kibosh on bumps, you'd almost think Chevrolet was working for the highway commission.) The '63 Bel Airs, Biscaynes and Impalas are equally easy going on upkeep. Brakes are self-adjusting. New Delcotron generator stretches battery life. Even the rocket panels on the Body by Fisher are self-washing and ventilating to cut down on rust. Your dealer's waiting to tell you lots more.

DAR Attend Conference

The 62nd annual state conference of the Indiana Daughters of the American Revolution was held Oct. 2-3 at the Sheraton-Lincoln Hotel, Indianapolis. Attending from Anthony Nigo chapter, Mentone, were Mesdames Bud Paulus, Ray Linn, and Frank D. Smith, who served on the platform and processionals committee.

The theme of the national society for the year, "Prove All Things: Hold Fast That Which Is Good", I Thessalonians 5:21, permeated the entire conference. The words of the president general as she gave the theme at the 71st continental congress very ably explained the choice of the theme as follows:

In recent years there has been abroad in the land the spirit of compromise with principles. The demand for "more viable policies", for appeasement of the forces of evil, for avoidance of any fast or absolute position. The DAR have never yielded to this spirit of compromise with American principles. They have held fast and continue to hold fast. We are not ashamed of our Americanism. We glory in it.

Mrs. Robert V. H. Duncan of Alexandria, Va., president general of the national society, was the honored guest at the conference. She spoke on the subject, "Positive Action And Our Republic", in which she outlined the causes for alarm to our freedom and national sovereignty as: a passive attitude on the part of the public to Fabian Socialism (gradual socialism), the welfare state, improper judicial usurpation by the Supreme Court and the ever increasing power of the Executive (the President) over the legislative (the Congress). The Rostow disarmament program through the U.N., growth of world communism on time as announced, moral and spiritual degeneration. Mrs. Duncan reminded delegates that our present situation did not occur over night but during a long period of progressive education and that John Q. Public was willing to "just go along". She said every citizen must take positive action in understanding and appreciating our American heritage and we must refuse to succumb to fear propaganda of working for "peace at any price". The president general cautioned members that words have different meanings to the user and to the hearer... such as the word "peace", the favorite word from the Kremlin vocabulary, designed for our destruction by our own hand. She mentioned that from her travels she has noticed increased patriotism, especially at the grass roots which is good. She said, we must count our blessings, stand up and be counted, prove all things; hold fast that which is good... good for America.

Ethel Stuart Gaumer, South Bend, state chairman of American music, and her Philharmonic singers, presented "Songs To Remember" by American composers, in a delightful manner.

Dr. John J. Haramy, student of international law at the Hague, Holland, born in the Holy Land, and now a most appreciative American citizen, in his talk, "The American Heritage", reminded the assembly that the first weapon in battle is to know your enemy, his strength and weakness. He said our American heritage is the enemy's weakness and it consists of two pillars of the Constitution of the United States and the Christian Church. Dr. Haramy said that survival of America as a great nation does not depend on treaties, the United Nations, NATO, SEATO, the hydrogen bomb, etc., but depends entirely upon our belief in God and upon American men and women with honesty, integrity, character and morals who believe in America and its heritage and have faith in its destiny. Unless we have men and women of this calibre we face disaster in our country. America is still number one, not number two, as espoused by some politician, number one militarily, socially, educationally. Russia is weak because her leaders are not loyal to each other or to their leader, Khrushchev. They have been promised a paradise for forty years. Dr. Haramy said Americans visit Russia for two weeks and return an expert on Russian affairs and life. They go on conducted tours, all by the government, they see and hear only what the government wants them to see and hear. They are shown only the showplaces. These are the things the visitors learn of Russia. He said our greatest dangers are inside America... its Americans who do not appreciate their blessings and abuse their liberties. The number one danger is the philosophy that government owes me a living, get something for nothing, ease and indifference attitude. Rome fell the same way. We must stand on our own feet. The number two danger is the moral breakdown which is at the lowest ebb in history... in business, big and small, payola, TV scandals, graft and corruption in high and low places. We cannot survive with that kind of morality. The strength of the nation is determined by the moral character of its people. He asks, "What are you willing to do so that the red, white and blue will wave forever?"

Rev. Wallace B. Rummel of Huntington gave an address on Wednesday evening pertaining to the facts of the communist ideology in which he emphasized that communism is built on the belief there is no God, hence man is merely an animal without a soul and life becomes cheap when there is no God. Truth can be bad and lying good if it fits the communist pattern of progress toward world domination. They never change their goal but they will change their tactics. He said that the United States is their prime target and if we ever forget, it will be destruction, our goal should and must be victory! The communist peace will come when they are victorious over the entire world. Their idea of freedom is when we are under their domination.

Our young people must find faith in God, faith in their country and freedom, find a goal in life and practice daily the Ten Commandments as given to us by our Creator. This, he said, is the fundamental time-worn outline for liberty.

to the garden and clean area of weeds. Then, sow a cover crop—ryegrass, wheat or oats. A cover crop will prevent erosion, make the garden green and add valuable organic matter to the soil when plowed next spring.

For cover crops the garden soil should be relatively loose before sowing. Mix two pounds of fertilizer per 100 square feet into the surface of the soil before sowing to speed sprouting of the cover crop.

After sowing seed, rake lightly, then keep the surface moist for three weeks.

As it will be impossible to talk to every one personally, we are taking this way to express our appreciation for the patronage the people of this community have given us during the past thirty-four years that we have been in the Funeral business in Mentone. It is impossible to tell you how we have appreciated the trust you have placed in us and the cooperation and consideration you have given us. It is with real regret that we leave Mentone and all the wonderful people who live here, but since it has become necessary for our family to live in California, it seemed desirable that we go there too.

Again we say Thank You for all the past favors and we sincerely hope that you will give to our successors, Mr. and Mrs. King, the same respect and consideration you have given us.

Tippecanoe School Board Candidates Voice Their Views

This is the first of a series of three articles to be published in the News of the views of our prospective candidates for the Tippecanoe Valley School Board. The following statements were heard at the recent P. T. A. meeting held in the Mentone gym, where the candidates were invited to be on hand to answer questions.

All candidates will be voted upon in the entire corporation. However, only two are running for the At Large member. In the third of this series there will be a large three column picture of the 13 candidates.

Lee Norris, vice president of the Mentone P.T.A., was in charge of the program which was the highlight of the meeting, and he introduced the candidates for the school board of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation; Whitney Gast, Ralph Davis, Herschel Fenstermaker, James Beeson, Gale Creighton, Denton Abbey, Cornelius Surface, Eldon Horn, Eldon Cumberland, Delford Nelson, Leroy Norris, Lester Blackburn and Edward Bucher.

Mr. Haskell B. Osborn, superintendent of the Wa-Nee Community Schools, was introduced as the moderator of the evening's discussion.

Mr. Osborn said he felt a few opening remarks were in order and he stressed several points which he felt were quite important for everyone to remember. He stressed that school board membership is the highest type of service a person can render his community and urged all candidates to work with the question, "What is the best for the children?" in mind. He went on to say that schools are guided and influenced by the will of the people, and children guide many school board decisions. He stressed that statements made by school board members outside meetings are on their own. The board determines salary, program, amount of money needed, tax rate, approves and analyzes the reports of the superintendent, authorizes payment of bills, provides and maintains buildings and facilities, appraises worth and effectiveness of the school program.

The audience submitted written questions to Mr. Osborn who in turn asked them of the candidates.

The first question was: What is your position on tenure? This was clarified by explaining that a teacher is on tenure after having signed his sixth contract.

Delford Nelson said that he thought tenure added much to the teachers effectiveness and stressed the values of tenure.

Cornelius Surface asked Mr. Osborn if the teachers who are now under tenure in the corporation would continue and received an affirmative answer. It was explained, however, that any teacher in the district who has not signed his sixth contract with his present school will have to wait until he has signed his sixth with Tippecanoe Valley before being placed on tenure.

The second question was: What is your opinion concerning Federal Aid to Education?

Leroy Norris said he was personally against federal aid, but he felt that the schools would lose much if the aid were dropped. He felt that schools could not back completely away from federal aid although he felt the school should be controlled by the communities. Local people should control schools. If we pay federal taxes and do not collect the benefits our neighbors will, he went on. He would hate to lose good departments now in progress because of federal aid. Opposed to the federal government's telling us what to do, he does not like the department of Health, Education, and Welfare, feeling there are indications that the department is controlled by people who are communist sympathizers.

Gale Creighton said we need federal aid although any time we turn to someone for aid they will tell us what to do. We like to be our own boss and pay our own bills.

Denton Abbey stated that federal aid did not enter into the school board's problems. He said that as long as the voters continued to vote for socialist rule the school board would have to continue that way. The people must vote if they would have good school board administration, he pointed out. People cannot expect the school board to do what they want without having voted for it.

SHOWER FLOOR COLLAPSES

Five pupils of the Beaver Dam School escaped possible serious injury Monday when a section of the cement floor in the boys' shower room gave way.

David Hostetler, Daniel Murcia, Jr., and Lonnie Witham, all of Mentone, and "Red" Jenkins and Bobbie Howard, both of Akron, were examined by an Akron doctor. School authorities said the boys suffered cuts and bruises.

Superintendent Robert Forbes, of the Tippecanoe Valley School system, of which Beaver Dam is a part, reported today that he had secured the Fred O. Carey and Sons Construction Co. to repair the damage and to check the entire building for any other structural weakness.

The contractors were of the opinion that the weakened support rods came from water leaking through over a period of years and rusting them until they broke.

Repairs are to start immediately.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reed and Janet would like to express their thanks and appreciation to the people of Mentone and the surrounding area who have been patrons and friends of the Reed Funeral business. The good wishes of the Reeds welcome Bob's successor, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell King and son, Herbie, into their new home and community.

Bob Reed came to Mentone in 1920 and began working for Mr. L. P. Jefferies in August of 1923. He received his Embalmer's License from the Ryster and Askins School of Embalming in Indianapolis and continued working with Mr. Jefferies until the latter's death in September of 1934. Until that time the business had been directed from the Jefferies Furniture Store and Undertaking, the site of Lemler's Grocery today.

In January, 1935, after Bob had purchased the Jefferies funeral business, the Reeds began conducting the Reed Funeral Home at its present location, opening the new chapel in their home in December, 1955. Bob continued his business until September 24, 1962, when it was purchased by Mr. King. Although the Reeds have moved to their farm, Bob will continue to assist Mr. King in the funeral business.

It has been a sincere pleasure for Bob to serve his community the past 39 years, and he, Nell and Jan wish their happiness and success to Darrell, Mary Ann and Herbie King, hoping they may enjoy their new life in Mentone.

HERE IS A BIG JOB

The sow is a miracle of nature. She has been provided with a "safety valve" . . . an ability to resorb her embryos if she does not get proper care and nutrition.

And recent studies show she uses this safety valve much too often—20% to 33% of all pig embryos are lost during the gestation period . . . pigs the careless hogman never sees!

The sow has been compared to a factory . . . a pig factory. Her ration has been called the fuel for this factory. Fuel is important to any machine, especially one so sensitive as the sow. This is why Purina Research has done years of painstaking research in formulating Purina Sow Chow . . . a highly fortified ration that gives sows the nutrients they need during gestation and nursing. Purina Sow Chow is designed to supplement your home-grown grains. See that your sows get a well-balanced ration like Purina Sow Chow fed as recommended with your grain. Ask for it today at our Store with the Checkerboard Sign.

PROVE TO YOURSELF PURINA FEEDING CAN COST YOU LESS!

PURINA FLOATS . . . TROUT GROW 37% FASTER

Purina Trout Chow floats. This means thousands of extra dollars to trout farmers each year. This research demonstration proves that trout grow 37% faster on floating Purina Trout Chow.

FLOATING MAKES A DIFFERENCE—172 DAYS

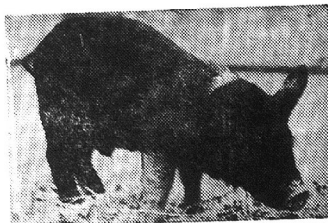

Purina Trout Research Test—58°F. Water	Sinking Same Formula	Floating Formula
Trout per pond	8,800	8,800
Starting weight	55 lbs.	55 lbs.
Weight gained	503 lbs.	689 lbs.
Total Chow fed	955 lbs.	1,111 lbs.
Feed conversion	1.9	1.6

100,000 trout would have returned up to $844.56 more on floating Purina Trout Chow.

GIVE YOUR PIGS A BOOST!

ADD PURINA PIG-PLUS TO THEIR RATION

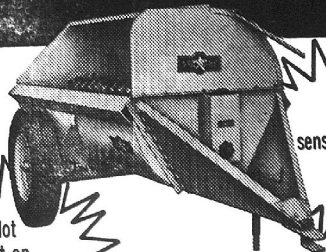

You can bring up poor-doers and get sucked-down sows back in condition with Purina Pig-Plus in their feed. Pig-Plus is a vitamin-mineral-antibiotic supplement that adds extra nutrients to hog rations, especially during stress periods.

Pig-Plus can get pigs off to a fast start. Helps keep hard-working boars in condition. Gives a lift to hogs following disease.

Pig-Plus conditions pigs for shows and sales. There's a place for Purina Pig-Plus on every hog farm in America. Ask us to fortify your hog rations with Pig-Plus next time you order Chows.

NEWS NOTES

from our

H. D. Agent

RUTH McCLEARY

Now is the time to watch for specials in the frozen food line. The new pack foods are moving in. Some manufacturers are offering you their new pack along with moving out the old pack fruits and vegetables. Good quality frozen foods need proper care. Things to watch for are:

Make sure the temperature of the case is low enough.

See that the food is not piled too high in the case.

Frozen food case should be clean and neat.

Check the packages to see that they are hard.

Avoid misshaped packages—this is often a sign the food has been thawed and refrozen.

Make sure the packages are not crushed, juice stained or torn.

Select frozen foods last on your shopping trip.

Have checker put them in double bags or regular frozen food bags and go home right after you do your food buying.

Many gourmet dishes are actually meat stews with fancy names. Stew is not a dish only from far-away lands. Chili con carni is a spicy meat stew that began in the American southwest. Chop Suey, unknown in China, is another American creation.

The point about stewing is that meat mixes well with many combinations of spices and gives robust flavor to the plainest of vegetables, which helps you to take full advantage of seasonal foods. Let your imagination run wild when you put together your next batch of stew.

Mushrooms will not endow you with colossal strength as ancient Romans believed they did for warriors, but they will transform the most ordinary of dishes into a gourmet styled culinary creation. In convenient canned form, mushrooms are all ready for heating as a tasty vegetable, and combine with many other foods—meat, poultry fish, cheese, eggs, rice, and a multitude of vegetables.

"The right way is the best way"—and often the easiest way of doing household tasks. To damp-mop a floor that has been waxed with a self-polishing floor finish:

1. Dip mop in clear, cool water, then wring out so that it is wet, but not dripping. (A too-dry mop may cause streaks in the wax film.)

2. Push the mop forward (away from you) in long, even strokes, and DO NOT BEAR DOWN. (Dirt doesn't stick to a waxed floor.)

3. Let the floor dry—DO NOT WIPE IT DRY. In this way, you remove the dirt without disturbing the wax film.

SPUNKY NEW WAGONS THAT LEAD LONGER, HAPPIER LIVES

What a new kick you'll get out of going places in this one! And what a solvent feeling you'll get as the savings on upkeep mount! There's a full line of models, including three wagons. Basically, we've kept Chevy II's liveliness and roominess and easy loading ways. Kept its crisp looks, too (with a bit of freshening here and there). The changes we've made weren't for change's sake, you see—but for yours. Just for a sample: the brakes are self-adjusting. The new Delcotron generator gives you more electrical reserve power and helps your battery reach a vigorous old age. The Body by Fisher beauty lasts longer, too; air pushes rain and wash water down through the rocker panels (where most rust begins!) in a clever new flush-and-dry system. The ride is smoother and quieter because of a large number of small improvements we've made. And things are a lot plusher inside. Now you've read this far, haven't you? Isn't that good evidence that Chevy II is made for you? The clincher will come when you take the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's.

THESE RELIGIOUS MESSAGES ARE SPONSORED IN THE HOPE OF ENCOURAGING GREATER RECOGNITION OF MAN'S DEPENDENCE
IN HIS CHURCH FOR SPIRITUAL GUIDANCE

Give Johnny A Broad Education

Two very important subjects in the education of Johnny are history and mathematics. Mathematics to train him to think in a rigidly precise manner . . . history to point out the accomplishments and mistakes of the past.

Another important phase to a well rounded education for Johnny concerns the spiritual side. Without it he is comparable to a powerful engine lacking a governor. While rich in accomplishments may his future also be rich in faith and worship.

Some things brought out in school aid in the development of the spiritual, but the greater share of this teaching must be performed and practiced in the home and through regular church attendance. The greatest aid and ally one can have in life is to be gained in church. Therefore, it is a prime requisite that parents attend church with their children, where this precious relationship, respect and affection for each other may be intensified and gratified through the years by meeting their joys and sorrows together . . . and by sharing their prayers.

NEWS NOTES

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

The analysis of farm accounts for those cooperating in the program have been returned. There are some 500 in the state, there are eight in this county. The averages of all phases of the farm businesses on these 500 and more farms show a lot of things about the agricultural picture that would be difficult to see any other way.

One of the important questions that people ask is "how big will farms get? What is the limit of bigness?" Trends that started even in colonial times have continued to the point where we think more in terms of getting larger farms than we do in terms of getting better farms.

The question is really more of what is the minimum size of a unit of operation that is big enough to gain most of the efficiencies of operation, have enough volume to meet the requirements of an average family and to keep the labor fully employed with a reasonable labor income.

Farming is a business of high overhead costs. Almost every farm has to carry the costs of a complete set of buildings and a line of equipment. Farms also have the fixed cost of the labor of the operator. As these costs went up very rapidly with the wide spread use of power equipment and with the necessity of increased labor return to the family because of higher living costs, it has become a necessity to spread these over a larger base, a larger farm. This has been much of the drive toward larger farm units.

At the same time this has been going on there has been a simultaneous effort to intensify production per unit. The reasons for doing this are the very same. It is an effort to spread the costs over more units of production, more bushels, more pounds of milk, more hogs.

We see evidence of the success of this in the higher production. Yields of grain, production per milk cow, eggs per hen, are all going up and will continue to do so.

No other American industry has increased the efficiency rate of its labor at any ways near the dramatic change that has occurred in agriculture. This has caused some troubles, some economic, some social, some political, but it has placed Uncle Sam in a pretty strong position in the eyes of the world.

But the basic question still is how large does a farm enterprise have to be to remain in a competitive position? These record cooperators have given us a clue. We find that the livestock business has to be large enough to give us certain savings. It must be big enough to save by using labor and buildings to capacity, it must also be big enough to get some savings from larger quantities of production items such as feed. We have to be big enough to market in some quantity and big enough to take advantage of some of the marketing functions such as grading eggs as an example.

When all things are considered we find that in the hog business a good operator with from 30 to 60 sows can join most of the efficiencies that are associated with the business. He can spread his overhead, have good feed efficiency and also market effectively. This is about the size that can be managed well under average farm conditions. Adding to the size may only add to the overhead and add the cost of an extra man. Under present day methods, sow herds of over 100 are rather rare in Kosciusko County.

Feeder cattle in this county are usually fed in lots of around one hundred. It is from 75 to 100 that most of the advantages of size can be obtained. This does not mean at all that larger feed lots are inefficient, but it also means that normally the big feed lots cannot produce beef any cheaper. The skill of feeding cattle is partially dependent upon the knowledge of markets both in buying and in selling. This skill can be used in 100 head as well as a thousand.

Different enterprises have different limiting factors. In some it is labor, in others, it may be capital, in still others, it may be management ability and averages seldom apply to individuals but it is of interest to see the establishment of these minimum levels. In the dairy herds of the state it looks as if 30 to 40 cows is about the minimum size to gain all the efficiencies and with laying flocks, 1,000 hens would do the same job.

These figures may appear surprisingly small but these are enterprises on general farms. We know that a farm family of five with 1,000 hens and nothing else would have plenty of fried eggs, but probably no shoes.

Tippecanoe School Board Candidates Voice Their Views

This is the 2nd of a series of three articles to be published in the News of the views of our prospective candidates for the Tippecanoe Valley School Board. The following statements were heard at the recent P. T. A. meeting held in the Mentone gym, where the candidates were invited to be on hand to answer questions.

All candidates will be voted upon in the entire corporation. However, only two are running for the At Large member. In the third of this series there will be a large three column picture of the 13 candidates. Located elsewhere in this issue you will find a sample ballot of the School Corp.

The third question was: How much are school board members paid? The answer to that question was $150 per year plus mileage to the meetings. Some other expenses are also allowed under certain instances. These were not outlined. It was noted that the Warsaw board turns their salaries back to the school. The lowest salary in the United States is $2 per year and ranges to $50,000 per year in the cities.

The fourth question was: Will the newly elected trustees have any part in the re-organization? The answer was "No" not after January 1 when the new board will take office.

The fifth question was: With the great number of children in our classrooms this year, are our children getting a good education. If not, when will they?

Fenstermaker said he thought this was a question the board would study plenty. He said he did not know how crowded the schools were but he hoped we could get a board to work together on the problem.

Gast said he did not know too much about the crowding at this time but that he had talked with a Purdue professor who lamented that when they were students in college there were never more than 35 students in the group and questions were asked freely of the professors, either in class or in the professors home. Now the classes have piped in lectures, and the student is no longer a student, he is a number. He wants to make certain that local students do not become numbers and would like to see the board take great pains to arrange the classes so that each student could get as much personal attention as possible.

Davis pointed out that the Akron school is not crowded now and there is room for 100-120 more pupils.

Abbey said that in the six grades in Mentone school there is a 50 plus average. This, he said, could be easily solved by sending some of the students to Akron, but he saw no purpose in doing this when they had all clamored to be sent to Mentone. This was not the board's place to decide, he said. The voters should be consulted as to whether to build or send to Akron.

Cumberland said there was an imaginary barrier set up and that the four schools could be distributed more equally and better. He asked "Why move to Akron from Mentone when you are now taking from Akron to Mentone?" He said the biggest problem faced is misinformation.

Nelson said information was the first essential and leadership the second, but that it was impossible to say when this would come about. Part of the work should be done by professionals and while surveys are good, he said, people have a tendency to move away after a survey has been taken. He said we should accept the challenge and receive the benefits of good education.

(More next week.)

WITH THE SICK

Verl Halterman was admitted to the Parkview Hospital in Plymouth on Saturday evening. His condition is listed as serious.

Howard Allen of Mentone was re-admitted to the Murphy Medical Center, Warsaw, suffering from chest injuries as result of an automobile accident on Tuesday, Oct. 16. His room number is 314.

Hunting Trip Successful

Dr. and Mrs. Wymond Wilson flew to Worland, Wyo., on Oct. 12, in eight hours to join the hunting party in Ten Sleep, Wyo., at the Loren Gopp cabins. Those present when they arrived were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Herenden, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Utter, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Utter, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Yazel, Dr. and Mrs. O. L. McFadden, all of Mentone, Joe Wolff, Cardinal Wolff, Frank Waltz, of Edon, Ohio, Wilbur Wilson of Huntington, Willie Lingle, of Richmond, Russell Dunn of Waterloo, Dale Sinclair of Warsaw, and Clayton Kennedy of Toledo, Ohio.

There were seven elk licenses in their party and Joe and Cardinal Wolff were the lucky ones and bagged their elk the first day, Oct. 15. When they left, four of the men with elk license were still up on the mountain trying to get their license filled before they started home. Good luck fellows.

There were 12 deer licenses and 11 of them were filled.

To hunt elk, camp had to be set up and there were five tents, five horses, food enough to last seven days for fifteen people, sleeping bags, etc. The camp this year was on Lee Creek up in the Big Horn Mountains in the reservation and there were four guides. You can not hunt elk unless a guide is with each two hunters and the same goes for hunting deer on the reservation.

Due to the mild weather, hunting was much more difficult this year. Both the elk and deer were scattered and clear to the top of the Big Horn Mountains which made it almost impossible to get to them.

Change of Judge Asked

Attorneys have filed for a change of judge in juvenile court on behalf of nine Mentone High School boys accused of taking livestock, a car, and breaking into several buildings in Mentone this past summer.

In checking with Sheriff Holbrook today, he confirmed fact that a change of judge had been asked for. He stated that it had not been approved as of this date, but, no doubt would be made known in the near future.

The petitions have been filed charging the youths as delinquent children.

UNICEF HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Children are invited to participate in a UNICEF Halloween Party at the Mentone Methodist Church on Wednesday, Oct. 31. Registration will be in the church basement at 6:30 p.m., where identification arm bands and coin boxes will be provided and routes assigned. Small children will be accompanied by adults.

Money collected will be sent to the United Nations Children's Fund to be used for milk, food, and medical supplies for underprivileged children.

Some say, why UNICEF—During its first fifteen years of operation UNICEF was responsible for:

Vaccinating over 18 million children against tuberculosis; Curing over 17 million mothers and children of yaws;

Saving almost 9.7 million mothers and children from possible blindness as a result of trachoma and acute conjunctivitis.

During last year alone, about 30 million mothers and children were protected from malaria and 5.5 million children benefited from supplementary feeding programs.

Because of this we urge you to support UNICEF. Games and refreshments are planned for the children as they return to the church.

CAR UPSETS

A car driven by David Feldman, 18, of Mentone, was damaged an estimated $300 on Sunday when it turned over on its side.

Neither Feldman nor a passenger were injured. Feldman said a rear tire blew on his car, causing it to go out of control.

Plant Crocuses Now

There's nothing more welcome after a long hard winter than crocuses. But you must plant this fall for bloom next spring, reminds Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

Key to having a nice display is to set your crocuses in groups of the same variety and color.

Plant a dozen or more in each group so they'll show up to best advantage.

Crocuses flourish in any garden soil, provided it's relatively well drained. Before you plant, mix in a tablespoon of 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 fertilizer per square foot of bed. Turn over the soil, then set the corms (bulbs) two to three inches deep and two to three inches apart. It's easier to dig out an area and plant the whole group than it is to plant each corm individually.
Water thoroughly after planting.

Other small spring bulbs you may want to plant in addition to crocuses are snowdrops, winter aconies, glory of the snow, Siberian squill, grape hyacinths and snowflakes. Plant them as you would crocuses.

Send a post card to the Agricultural Publications office, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., for additional information. Ask for Mimeo HO-75-5, "Crocus and Its Small Friends." Single copies are free to Indiana residents.

The Chicago Motor Club
cautions that the hazards of nighttime driving are increased greatly by a dirty windshield and by headlights which are not in proper adjustment. Before starting out for after dark driving, make certain your visibility will not be hampered by any mechanical defects.

can we get more eggs from our grain?" One good solution is to mix your grain with Purina Concentrate.

With our Check-R-Mixer we can help you high-efficiency ration will help your layers produce eggs at low feed cost per dozen—using mostly your own grain.

To get more "eggs" from your grain, ask your husband to haul it to our Checkerboard store. In a few minutes' time we will unload the grain, grind and mix it and reload your truck with quality laying ration in bag or bulk. Ask him soon, and prove to yourself—Purina feeding can cost you less.

FACTS ABOUT PURINA'S PIG PARLOR

The Purina Pig Parlor may be your answer on how to grow and finish hogs in confinement. The Parlor was developed according to long-recognized, proven ideas in hog and apply assembly line methods to commercial pork production. Furthermore, the Pig Parlor will give you better control over feeding, management, and sanitation—factors that usually make the difference between profit and loss. The Pig Parlor usually is built to accommodate 50 hogs—more pens may be added as needed. You may have a barn or shed that can easily be converted into a profitable Pig Parlor.

For Overseas Christmas Mail

The period Nov. 1 to 20, for surface parcels, and before Dec. 10 for air parcels, has been designated for the mailing of Christmas parcels for members of our Armed Forces serving outside the continental United States. The following instructions have therefor been issued with the view of assuring delivery of the gift parcels on time and in good condition:

The term "Armed Forces Overseas" includes the personnel of our Armed Forces, members of their families and authorized U.S. civilians employed overseas who receive their mail through an A.P.O. or N.P.O.

TIME OF MAILING: The importance of mailing Christmas parcels during the designated period cannot be emphasized too strongly—the earlier the better. The public can be reasonably assured that parcels mailed through the regular surface mails prior to Nov. 20 will reach their destinations before Christmas. However, no assurance can be given that surface parcels mailed after Nov. 20 or air parcels mailed after Dec. 10, will be delivered in time for Christmas.

SIZE AND WEIGHT: The maximum size and weight limits for surface parcel post and air parcel post vary according to APO's and NPO's to which the parcels are sent. Customs declarations are required for parcels addressed to some APO's and NPO's, and some articles are prohibited to certain places. Therefore it is suggested that mailers, before packing parcel post for mailing, make inquiry at the Post Office as to weight and size limits, customs declaration forms needed, and the list of prohibited articles that are applicable to certain APO's and NPO's. Matches of all kinds and lighter fluid are prohibited to all APO's and NPO's.

PREPARATION: Boxes for overseas transmission must necessarily be of strong construction on account of the great distance these parcels must be transported and the handling and storage they must undergo. It is absolutely necessary that all articles for overseas delivery be packed in boxes of metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double faced corrugated fiberboard. Boxes should contain sufficient cushioning material so that the contents will be tightly packed to prevent any rattling or loosening of the articles within the parcels. It is also desirable that all fiberboard boxes be securely wrapped in heavy paper and securely tied with strong cord.

ADDRESSING: Addresses must be legible and prepared in type-writing or ink. It is preferable that the outside address be hand printed on the wrappers since experience has shown that the labels frequently fall off when subjected to moisture. It is highly desirable that a slip of paper containing the name and address of the sender and addressee, together with a list of the contents be enclosed in each parcel so as to provide identification and proper disposition of the mail in the event the address on the outside becomes defaced.

CHRISTMAS CARDS: Patrons sending greeting cards to personnel of the Armed Forces overseas should deposit such cards prepaid at the first class rate prior to Nov. 20 and at the air mail rate prior to Dec. 10 if they are to have a reasonable expectation of delivery prior to Christmas.

REGISTRY AND INSURANCE—Mailers are encouraged to register valuable letters and insure valuable parcels. It is recommended that patrons use postal money orders to transmit gifts of money to members of the Armed Forces serving outside the continental United States.

Mrs. Howard Horn, Marilyn and Jody attended a recital of Iva Lozier at North Winona Church Sunday afternoon.

Seward Home Ec Met Oct. 10

The Seward Home Economic Club met Oct. 10 in the basement of the Burket E.U.B. Church. Mrs. Chancey McShirry gave meditations. Mrs. Merlin Holt gave the lesson. The club trip was Oct. 11 to Ft. Wayne. Dinner and the ice show were on the agenda. Hostesses Mrs. Frank Nelson and Mrs. Stanley Newton served refreshments to 22 members and eight children.

Autumn scenery is beautiful, but this is a dangerously deceptive time of the year, warns the Chicago Motor Club. While enjoying the beauties of the changing landscape, drivers must remember to be alert for special seasonal hazards such as longer hours of darkness, the frequent occurrences of ground fog late at night and early in the morning, and the danger of slippery streets when fallen leaves become saturated with moisture.

Family Finances

When you buy something on credit, try to beat the payment deadline. Repay what you borrowed ahead of the final due date, and you can save money on interest charges.

Try to set aside a fund for paying debts before they come due. If you can make the final payment on your TV or appliances a year or more before it's due, you save an amazing amount of interest. And when you buy something on credit, be sure the installment contract allows you to make payments ahead of time.

Credit can be expensive, especially for amounts less than $300. The sooner you can get out from under high interest charges, the more money you'll have for other purposes.

After you clear up your credit obligations, try to stay on a cash basis. If you should have to buy on credit again, use the same system — pay the debt as soon as possible, and save!

Demonstrating new '63 Chevrolet truck features the hard way!

When we came to a river we got wet. This river bed was paved with rocks the size of melons. What a test for new light- and heavy-duty suspension systems this was!

Conventional light-duty units have coil-spring independent front suspension—easier on truck, load and driver.

Users of new conventional medium- and heavy-duty units who have to operate in close quarters are going to like the narrower front ends (up to 7 inches).

New engines, suspensions, frames and narrower front ends show their stuff on Mexico's tough Baja Run!

With months of proving-ground tests under their belts, why did new Chevrolet trucks take on the rugged Baja (bah'hah) Peninsula?

This is the toughest line of trucks Chevrolet has ever built. Sending them over the most punishing terrain in North America (a road totally unlike the fine highways on the Mexican mainland) was double proof of this fact. Frames, engines, suspension systems were subjected to stresses far greater than trucks normally encounter. You can be sure that trucks that can handle this kind of beating can handle any kind of work.

NIPSCO'S SERVICE—NOW AND THEN

The progress in modern utility facilities and equipment is readily evidenced in these two pictures. The upper photo was taken in Hammond in 1912, and shows a line crew of that day. The bottom picture is a modern line crew with more than $16,000 worth of truck and equipment. At the beginning of this year, NIPSCO had $437,959,221 invested in plants, equipment and property, or more than $100,000 per employee.

The Future Homemakers of America held their northwest fall district meeting at Andean High School, Gary, on Oct. 20. Over 600 members, parents, and advisors were present.

The theme of the meeting was "Guidepost For Progress Through Leadership". This was chosen because leadership was stressed at the work groups of each office.

Members from Mentone attending were Judy Gagnon, reporter; Beckey Knepper, district historian; Anita Oler, voting delegate; Janet Rackeweg, president; Dianne Roberts, substitute historian; Judy Shand, substitute treasurer. They were accompanied by Mrs. Opal Carpenter and Mrs. Lyndon Knepper.

The Chicago Motor Club advises that a common cause of accidents in autumn is skidding on wet leaves. When mud has accumulated under wet leaves, they can be as treacherous as ice. If at all possible, drive around a pile of leaves. In the event of a skid, however, turn your steering wheel in the direction in which your rear wheels are swerving.

Agricultural Outlook

FEED AND GRAIN

Corn prices for the 1962 crop at harvest are expected to average 85 to 95 cents a bushel on the No. 2 basis. Farm price of corn will probably rise to around $1.05 to $1.15 next summer. Modest profits may be expected from storage operations.

Prices of oats and barley will average near the loan rate of 62 cents and 93 cents a bushel, respectively. Grain sorghum prices will average slightly below the loan rate of $1.93 per hundredweight.

Protein feed prices are likely to average slightly lower than last year.

DAIRY

Milk prices will continue about 20 cents below year earlier levels through early 1963. Beyond April 1, 1963 milk prices will depend upon the level of government supports. Dairy incomes for the period from October, 1962 through September, 1963 will be moderately lower than those received the previous year.

HOGS

Hog prices are expected to average about $1 lower in the year ahead than in the year just past. However, the Indiana hog corn ratio is expected to remain above average for the year. Hog prices during the last quarter of 1962 should average slightly higher than during the same period of 1961. Hog prices from January, 1963 to October, however, will average modestly below year earlier levels. Present indications point to the possibility of an unfavorable hog-corn ratio in late 1963 or early 1964. (The hog-corn ratio shows the bushels of corn equivalent in price to 100 pounds of hog.)

BEEF CATTLE

Net returns from beef cow herds should be modestly higher from October, 1962 to October, 1963, compared to a year earlier. As cattle numbers build up over the next three or four years, net returns will probably drop modestly from current levels.

Fed cattle prices should average about the same to slightly lower during the next 12 months as during the past year. During the next two or three months fed cattle prices will average near year earlier levels, but will decline. Net returns from cattle feeding will be only average to below in the year ahead.

LAYING FLOCKS

Returns from the laying flock in the 1962-63 laying year will be about the same as last year (September, 1961 to August, 1962). The current trend toward large commercial producing units will continue.

BROILERS

Some increase in supplies and slightly weaker prices are expected in 1963. The general situation will be a reversal of 1962, which was dominated by smaller supplies and stronger prices.

TURKEYS

Turkey prices during the remainder of 1962 will be substantially higher than the depressed prices during the same period of 1961. However, turkey production in 1963 will probably be above the 1962 level. Any substantial increase would result in a weaker price situation in the main marketing season of 1963.

SHEEP AND LAMBS

Lamb prices are expected to continue strong for the next year or two, bringing improved returns to ewe flock owners compared to recent years.

Garden Lilies

For years of beautiful bloom plant lilies this fall, remind Purdue University extension horticulturists. They should be grouped in three or more of a single variety.

Plant them to the back of your flower garden and plan so surrounding flowers don't compete for attention.

Lilies thrive in almost any garden soil; most of them grow in full sun or partial shade. However, Madonna lilies need full sun, and all lilies must have good drainage.

Mix in a tablespoon of 12-12-12, or a similar analysis fertilizer, per square foot of flower bed and add quantities of organic matter before you plant. Don't plant lilies too deep. Plant Madonna lilies no more than one inch of soil over their tops. Plant others that have small bulbs with no more than two or three inches of soil over the top; medium bulbs with three or four inches of soil over the top, and large bulbs with no more than four to five inches on top.

For additional information, write the Agricultural Publications office, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., and ask for Mimeo HO-75-1 "Garden Lilies." Single copies are free to Indiana residents.

Rodent Proof Corn Crib

Rodent control is an important job in proper corn storage, says animal control specialist, William F. Gusey of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at Purdue University.

Looking ahead to cold, winter weather, rats and mice are beginning to move from the fields to the comparative warmth of farm buildings.

In the long run, it's far cheaper for farmers to rodent proof feed storage facilities now than spend the rest of the winter combating rodent infestations with bait and traps.

Rats are jumpers and burrowers and although their teeth are sharp they can't gnaw through heavy gauge metal or good concrete.

Raise the crib floor at least 2 feet off the ground and keep it clean underneath. Replace any poor wooden floors or repair them with sheet metal.

If the crib floors aren't elevated, protect the sides with a band of ¼ inch hardware cloth 2 feet high. Cap the hardware cloth with an 8 inch band of sheet metal to prevent rodents from climbing over the cloth.

Cover door frames and edge doors with metal sheathing to the same height as the rodent proofing on the sides. Keep the doors shut.

Don't place lumber, machinery or other materials against the crib sides. These will completely undo a good rodent proofing job by providing easy access to the crib for rats.

Clear away rat cover by eliminating brush piles, old lumber

If rat and mouse baits are used, maintain a constant supply of a fresh, good grade of anticoagulant bait in bait stations.

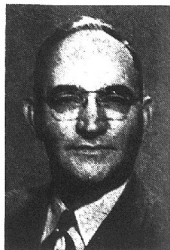

Spray beef cattle now to prevent them from becoming lousy next winter, say Purdue University extension entomologists. Lindane is an effective material when used at the rate of two pints of 20 per cent concentrate in each 100 gallons of water.

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

Feeder Cattle are coming into the county from many places this fall. From the southwest, from Virginia, from southern Indiana and from the Plains states.

Kosciusko County has reached the position of having more cattle than other Indiana counties. These include feeders, beef cows, dairy heifers and milk cows. Other counties will have more strictly beef feeders than we do but our total cattle production is quite diversified.

Cattle men will be interested in the appointment of Robert Garrigus to the Purdue animal science staff as extension beef specialist. He is the son of Dr. W. P. Garrigus of the University of Kentucky who has judged the Indiana State Fair 4-H show so many times.

Bob Williams of the Purdue economics department spoke to a fairly large group of farmers and other businessmen at the outlook meeting last week.

The general forecast is for a general stable farm price situation and a sputtering advance in the over all business activity. Farm income may average down some as hog prices probably will be lowered due to bigger supplies.

Mentone Lions Hold Meeting

A study of Indiana's economy and fiscal problems was reviewed by Norman J. Beatty, general counsel of the Indiana Manufacturer's Association, Inc., when he addressed the Mentone Lions Club last Wednesday night at the Mentone High School.

Mr. Beatty is also manager of IMA's legislation-taxation department.

The study, conducted by IMA, shows that if state revenues and expenditures continue on current trends, that the next biennium's budget will show an $80 million shortage. This will require either a major revision of current programs or additional tax revenues.

The study, derived almost entirely from government sources, indicates that manufacturers in Indiana pay higher levels of taxes than do manufacturers of some neighboring states, and points out that a study of the State Board of Tax Commissioners predicts that changes in assessment practices this year will increase manufacturers' personal property assessment practices this year will increase manufacturers' personal property assessments by 75 per cent, while reducing assessments of farmers and homeowners.

"We think the earlier the public knows the facts the better they will be able to think out solutions ahead of time and so advise their legislators."

"Many people think Indiana shortchanges education, but the IMA study shows that Indiana spends more per capita in state and local funds for education than any other state in the group except Michigan, and the Indiana per capita figure of $112 in 1960 is $8 above the average for the nation. In all non-educational expenditures Indiana's state and local government run about 25 per cent below national experience, and below surrounding states."

Indiana stands at the middle of five states for average weekly earnings of manufacturing workers with a 1960 figure of about $100 which is about 10 per cent above the national average. All five states are above the national average.

"Civil Service Schools"

Joseph A. Connor, Regional Director of the Chicago Region U. S. Civil Service Commission, announced today that complaints have been received regarding the activities of salesmen representing so-called 'civil service' schools. Some of these organizations make exaggerated claims about job opportunities and about the help they can give in getting people jobs with the Federal Government. Some give the impression that they are connected with the Government when they are not. Their salesmen may sometimes imply that if a person takes a certain course they will get a certain job in a certain Federal installation. Often there is no such job, or if there is one, it is a job which the Federal agency seldom, if ever, fills by recruiting someone from outside the service because they are usually filled by promotion from within.

Mr. Connor stated that no 'civil service' course is required to take a civil service examination or to learn about the job opportunities. No 'civil service' course can guarantee that a person can pass the written tests often required for Federal jobs. For many persons need specific training or experience in the particular field of work. For example, a carpenter must have carpentry experience, a nurse must have completed proper nursing training, and so on. For some jobs a period of apprenticeship may be required. No 'civil service' school course will qualify a person for any of these requirements.

Mr. Connor also announced that information about examinations for positions in the Federal Government may be obtained, without cost, from the civil service representative at many of the larger Post Offices, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., and from Regional offices of the Commission. He suggests that anyone contemplating taking a so-called 'civil service' course with one of these sources to learn of employment opportunities and job requirements before signing a contract or paying their money.

The Mentone Fire Department was called to the home of Don Piper, southwest of Mentone on Tuesday morning because of an overheated oil heater. There was no damage.

Anthony Nigo chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met for the October meeting at the home of the regent, Mrs. Fred Surguy, who opened the meeting with the ritual service, prayer, pledge to the flag, and the National Anthem sung in unison. Mrs. Carl Metheny called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting. Mrs. Paul Shireman gave the treasurer's report and accepted dues.

Mrs. Dale Cook, national defense chairman, gave an article "Disarmament or Surrender", presented by the U. S. Government in the form of a treaty at the committee on disarmament at Geneva, Switzerland. This proposed treaty offers a plan to surrender American sovereignty and lay down the military strength of our nation before the very enemy who has promised to bury us. The U. S. Senate learned of the existence of the treaty outline when a news story from Geneva was placed in the Congressional record. It stated that the U. S. will submit to the Geneva Conference plan calling for the elimination of national armies within nine years and their replacement by a United Nations force. When the news broke, Senator Richard Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, is reported to have said: "This is the first time I have heard of such a suggestion by any official of the government. I shall oppose with all of my strength any proposal which would disband the armed forces of the U. S. We can talk all we please about various agreements, but the element which is maintaining peace and preventing a major war today is the armed might of the U. S. A., led by Strategic Air Command. I do not believe that the people of the U. S. would tolerate any such thing as that for five minutes if made by any man in public life—it would put this country at the mercy of the Soviet Union. Senator Shrom Thurmond added this protest: I Could not agree with Senator Russell more in this eloquent and brief argument against disbanding our nuclear and conventional forces, in order to create a super armed force for the U. N. The U. N. is now controlled by the neutralists, who, judging by their U. N. voting records, are in turn controlled by the Soviet Union. The stated goal of the treaty is, Constitution of a United Nations Peace Force until it had sufficient armed forces and armaments so that no nation could challenge it. These last are the most chilling words ever set forth by the government of a free people. No vanquished nation ever had harsher terms spelled out. It is proposed to give this enormous power to the United Nations and its agencies at the precise moment in history when once ardent supporters of the U. N. are adding their voices to those who have long held that organization suspect. The proposal is subject to the interpretation that our government does not seek victory in the cold war against communism and is, therefore, willing to settle for a potentially communist-dominated world government. Material relative to this subject can be secured in the local library from the national defense section maintained by the local DAR chapter.

Mrs. Paul Shireman gave the resolution adopted at Continental Congress in Washington protesting the aforementioned disarmament proposal.

Mrs. E. W. Igo gave party labels and the forth coming election in which she explained the philosophy of the modern liberal and the modern conservative and stated that men and women representing these philosophies will be found in both major political parties. It is the voters job not to merely swallow what is on the label, but to look inside the package to be sure he is getting the product he wants.

Reports of the recent Indiana state conference of DAR was given by Mrs. Ray Linn and Mrs. Frank D. Smith. Delegates to the conference voted to spend $4,600 on remodeling of the Indiana DAR cottage at the Tam-assee DAR school in South Carolina. The state chairman of public relations announced a new program of recognition for chapters in the state with outstanding work in this field and Anthony Nigo chapter was so honored.

Mrs. Wayne Smalley, chairman of American music, presented a program of American music as follows, Miss Linda Smalley and Mrs. Gerald Smalley sang duets "Old Folks At Home", "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Ole Black Joe". Miss Yvonne Rathfon sang "Jeannie With The Light Brown Hair" and "Beautiful Dreamer", after which the entire group sang, "Oh, Susanna". Mrs. Smalley chose the works of Stephen Foster for her program and accompanied at the piano. Miss Yvonne Rathfon sang, "Stand By America", one of the last songs published by Homer Rhodeheaver, to close the meeting. Members were generous in their appreciation of the musical program.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ray Linn and the program will feature a book review by Mrs. Pearl Lackey entitled "Red Star Over Cuba". Guests will be invited to share this informative meeting. Mrs. Surguy was assisted by Mrs. Earl Davis in serving refreshments.

Purdue University extension agronomists remind farmers with picker-shellers that shelled corn should be dried to 14 percent moisture for safe storage. Research shows that a picker-sheller will harvest maximum shelled corn at about 27.5 percent moisture.

The last day they hunted, which was for deer only, there were 11 of them in three hours they had bagged five bucks, which weighed over 100 pounds and they saw more deer than they ever had in past years. This good hunting was at 9,000 ft. and in the timber of the Big Horn Mountains.

They thought Buffalo Bill was long gone, but one of their party, Dale Sinclair, tried shooting an elk while riding his horse, but it was only a second and he realized he had done the wrong thing as he was flying through the air and landed on a sage bush yelling, "HELP! GET MY HORSE!" and as everyone heard the call for help, came to the rescue and found him not hurt, but a little shook. This has been the laugh of the hunting party.

On their flight home they stopped at Atchinson, Kansas, and spent Saturday night with Dr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, who were their buddies flying on their trip to Alaska last June. The weather was good and it was made in seven hours 50 minutes flying time. They arrived at the Mentone airport Sunday evening.

Tippecanoe School Board Candidates Voice Their Views

This is the last of a series of three articles to be published in the News of the views of our prospective candidates for the Tippecanoe Valley School Board. The following statements were heard at the recent P. T. A. meeting held in the Mentone gym, where the candidates were invited to be on hand to answer questions.

All candidates will be voted upon in the entire corporation. However, only two are running for the At Large member. There is a large three column picture of the 13 candidates. Located elsewhere in this issue you will find a sample ballot of the School Corporation.

The sixth and possibly the most important question was asked. It was: Why did you run?

Blackburn, having no children now in school, said he was still interested in good schools, and thinks the answers to many of the questions look different on the board and on the outside.

Bucher drew a chuckle when he said he didn't say too much, but he thought a lot. He feels good boards make for better schools. As to federal aid, he feels some should be taken and some refused. The aid for hot lunches should be accepted, but the schools can get behind the eight-ball if they accept too much. He would be interested in attending workshops.

Fenstermaker said he had no children or grandchildren in the local schools but he is "muchly" interested in education and feels it will solve the peace problem of the world. He is interested in the activities of the children and if elected he promised to represent the taxpayer. He said he didn't want to be cheap but wanted to spend the tax dollars wisely. He would make no promises, but would attend workshops although he had attended no board meetings.

Mr. Abbey stated, "I am genuinely interested in seeing an improvement of our school system. I feel that our children should be given a better background for college. I also feel that this can be done without unnecessary expenditure of funds."

"A long term physical and monetary evaluation of our school needs; plus an open mind to meet changing conditions; combined with a sincere honesty for the best interest of all are basic principles that no one can forego."

Norris said he is happy to have a good education and wants to see others have opportunity for good education also. He stressed that education is the one thing that cannot be taken away from a person.

Surface has three children in school and is interested in good education. He attended none of the board meetings, partly because he felt too many people were attending and spoiling the board's effectiveness. He said he would make no promises about anything because the

HOW TO GET MORE EGGS FROM YOUR GRAIN

Many of you farmers with chickens probably are asking yourselves, "How do I get the most eggs out of my grain?" You know you have to find a good answer, because hens have to lay a lot of eggs to pay a good profit these days. One good plan is to mix your grain with Purina Chowder Concentrate.
With our new Check-R-Mixer
we can help you figure out exactly how much Purina Concentrate to add to your grain to make a high-efficiency ration. It will be low in cost because it will be mostly your own grain, and it will help your layers produce lots of eggs for around 12 to 13 cents a dozen total feed cost.

So to get more egg money from your grain, bring it to our Check-R-Mix Mill. In a few minutes' time we will unload your truck or trailer, grind and mix your grain and reload your truck with a ready-to-feed ration. Give this idea a try and prove to yourself—Purina Feeding can cost you less.

FACTS ABOUT ARTIFICIAL BREEDING

One of the most widely discussed activities in the beef cattle industry today is artificial breeding. Many cattlemen are using frozen semen to inseminate brood cows in herds throughout the United States and Canada. They hope to realize the advantages of faster-gaining calves, low cost gains, concentrated calving uniform calf crop, heavier weaning weights and reduced bull cost.

There are many problems to be solved in the artificial breeding of beef cattle. However, this practice promises far-reaching benefits.
Whether or not it proves as successful in beef breeding as it has with dairy animals remains to be seen. For further information, drop by our Checkerboard store.

ASK US TO WORM YOUR HOGS OR CHICKENS

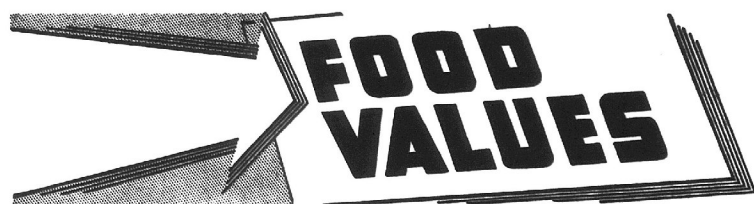

If you prefer a feed wormer to a liquid wormer for your hogs or poultry, let us mix Purina Pig and Poultry Wormer Super Concentrate with your rations. Pig and Poultry Wormer Super Concentrate is a fast-acting piperazine product that gets rid of large roundworms quickly, effectively.

There's no need to starve birds before you worm them. Just let them clean up all the medicated feed before you put them back on their regular ration. Pigs should be wormed two weeks after weaning and again one month later.

Next time you want to worm your hogs or chickens, try Purina Pig and Poultry Wormer Super Concentrate in the feed. We will be glad to Check-R-Mix for you at our Red and White Checkerboard Mill.

A more appetizing selection of food than algae may be available to America's cruising spacemen of the future. They may, in fact, have eggs fresh from the nest if a North Carolina State College experiment is successful. So far scientists have thought mostly of a "closed" (self-supporting) biological cycle in which men would eat algae, which in turn, would be nourished by human waste. The North Carolina solution? The spaceman would take along hens to lay eggs. What would the hens eat? Algae, of course.

'Freeze grinding' meat with liquid carbon dioxide saves time and helps achieve a more mechanized production process, reports Cardox. The CO₂ is injected directly into the meat

The Atlas rocket that boosted astronaut Walter Schirra into orbit generated thrust equal to seven million horsepower, enough for 46,000 passenger cars.

A tool which has no moving parts, fluids or valves has been designed for use in assembling space stations, reports the American Rocket Society. The tool, called "magnalok", utilizes high-intensity bursts of magnetic field energy which carry enough force to bend metal, seal tubes in holes and fasten sheets of metal together with specially designed bolts.

Jets accounted for more than 40 per cent of the total passenger load carried by International Air Transport Association member airlines in 1961. This, despite the fact these airlines operate almost 3,000 propeller driven craft and only 600 jets.

New York city dogs are the special targets of a plague of wood ticks which has infested the city. The invasion has been attributed to mass spraying of insecticides which has killed off the ticks' natural enemies such as toads and lizards. City authorities advise dog owners to use the pets as bait to get rid of the ticks. A good veterinarian, they say, can easily de-tick the dog.

Plant Bulbs For Forcing

You can have early spring beauty indoors if you plant bulbs this fall, say Purdue University extension horticulturists. And planting and forcing bulbs is easy, too.

First, you should start with big bulbs of best quality. Early tulips and many types of daffodils are especially popular.

Plant the bulbs in pots, using a soil mixture of one part soil, one part sand and one part peat moss. Plant tulips and daffodils so that the top of the bulb is covered with about one-half inch of soil and water thoroughly.

Then put the pots outside in a protected place, such as a cold frame. Cover them with two or three inches of sand, and then with six inches of straw and water periodically.

When the roots are well grown and the tops are about three inches tall, bring them inside and grow at 60 degrees.

Give them shade for a few days, and then full sun, and water well. When your plants are in the bud stage, you may bring them into the warm living room and enjoy their bloom.

Sippin' Cider

Cider making has largely moved from the back yard into the factory. This may present a less romantic picture than the cider presses of our childhood, but it offers more assurance of high quality, observes Ken Brink of Purdue University produce marketing.

Cider does not have to be factory produced to be good. But it should be made of healthy apples under sanitary conditions. More of the cider coming from Indiana's plentiful apple crop is being prepared this way.

Fresh cider, preferred by some, must be refrigerated and will keep its flavor up to ten days. You can freeze it, either in its original bottle, or in freezing containers, provided you leave at least ten per cent air space to prevent breakage as the cider expands.

To keep cider available longer, producers have two preservation methods. One is the addition of benzoate of soda, the other pasteurization. Cider can also be filtered and clarified.

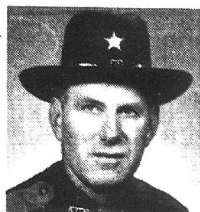

A drink that hits the spot on a nippy fall day is Hot Mulled Cider. Combine 1 gallon of cider with the peel of 2 lemons, two 1 inch cinnamon sticks, and 4 tablespoons honey. Simmer 20 minutes. Serve piping hot topped with orange slices studded with cloves. This makes 12 servings.

NEWS NOTES

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

A referendum for the enlarging of the Kosciusko County Soil and Water Conservation District will be held this winter. The referendum will cover Etna, Harrison, Wayne, Prairie, Plain, Tippecanoe, Turkey Creek, Van Buren, Jefferson and Scott Townships. The other townships of the county now make up the present district and have since 1957.

Under the present law which was passed in the 1937 State Legislature, districts may be organized for the purpose of assisting landowners in soil and water conservation. The district is a legal sub-division but has no authority to tax nor to work on any land except upon request of the owner. To comply with this phase of the law work requests or agreements are made and then approved by the board of supervisors. The present supervisors are Howard Silveus, Seward Twp.; Leland Kinsey, Lake Twp.; Howard Workman, Monroe Twp.; Myron Metzger, Jackson Twp.; Bob Norris, Franklin Twp.; Loren Decker, Clay Twp.; and Gordon Tuttle, Washington Twp. They are elected at the annual meeting of the district. They receive no pay.

The board of supervisors has the authority to request that one or more conservationists be assigned to their district. These men are employees of the Soil Conservation Service. They are trained in the work, and, specialists in their field.

We have had an unusual arrangement in this county with part of the county included and part not included. The men have been asked many times to work outside the district and have done so on many occasions. They have assisted on a number of drainage cases where a farmer or land owner has requested the use of government money through the ACP program. The policy here has been for the ASC office to allocate a part of their budget for this use which has permitted them to work on land outside the district where the request has come in for payment on drainage.

Our supervisors have maintained that conservation is more than drainage and there are conservation problems that affect the community that do not require money but do require competent technical work. This is the purpose of the vote that will come up this winter, to permit soil conservation workers to assist on farms where their help is wanted in all townships of the county.

The first soil conservation district was organized in 1837 in Vanderburg County, the second was in Knox County the same year. Since that time I think there are 85 counties that have soil conservation districts. Two counties have had trouble in organizing districts, these are Kosciusko and Marshall. In 1957, one newspaper in this county took a strong stand against organizing a soil conservation district. We have no indication if this will happen again.

The date for the public hearing on this question will be held on Nov. 14. It will be an evening meeting but the place has not been determined. We hope that everyone having a definite interest in this question and is willing to speak for or against this proposal will plan to attend.

BREADMAKING COSTS ADVANCE

Labor costs of producing and distributing a pound of bread went up 173 per cent from 1945 to 1961, while the retail cost increased 55 per cent from 1947-49 to 1961, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture publication recently released.

In the period studied, farm value of ingredients in a pound of bread dropped from 3.3c to 2.9c, the report showed.

In 1961, white bread sold at an average price of 20.9 cents for a one-pound loaf, an increase of 7.4 cents from the 1947-49 level, according to the August, 1962, issue of "Agricultural Marketing," published by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the USDA.

"Total labor cost, including wages, commissions, salaries, and fringe benefits, was 6 cents per loaf in 1961, compared with 2.2 cents per loaf in 1945," the publication reported.

Other costs, including advertising, packaging, delivery and profits, were given at 5.7 cents per loaf in 1961, compared with 2.2 cents in 1945.

The retail margin on a loaf of white bread advanced from 2.4c per loaf in 1947-49 to 3.8c in 1961, the report said.

Studies of recent corporate reports show that net profits of the wholesale bread baker, after taxes, have been averaging about 2% on total sales.

Tractor-Auto Collision Costly

Collision on Indiana roads and highways involving tractors have claimed 37 lives and resulted in $78,000 property damage.

From 1956 through 1961 farm tractors were involved in 75 fatal accidents on the state's thoroughfares. Thirty-six, or almost half of these, were collisions which took 37 lives. Twenty-seven of the victims were on tractors at the time of the collision; the remaining 10 persons killed were in automobiles at the time of the crash.

Indiana state police records show the $78,000 total property damage; this is an average of more than $2,150 per collision. If medical expenses were added to the property damage, the total would be much higher.

To help prevent such accidents, the farm safety specialists urges tractor operators to plan their work in a way to eliminate tractor travel on roads and highways at dusk and at night and to keep daytime travel at a minimum.

Farmers should always display a waving red flag or flashing red light above their tractors and machinery. Tractors used on roadways at night should be equipped with the flashing red lights to warn fast moving traffic. Although Indiana law only requires that a red flag or flashing light be used on state and federal highways it is a good idea to use them at all times.

Automobile drivers should also reduce their speed upon seeing a tractor or slow moving vehicle.

Antifreeze For Farm Engines

C. L. Hill, Purdue University extension agricultural engineer, calls the old time methanol antifreeze with today's additives "the best choice for radiators of engines to be stored this winter or used only on light loads for short times."

Keep the cooling system full to prevent rusting which will result if the radiator is drained and left empty.

However, engines used for heavy work need an ethylene glycol base antifreeze which will not boil away because of high engine temperatures.

Two new versions of ethylene glycol antifreeze are now available. One type includes additives that make the antifreeze permanent. An antifreeze with a permanent guarantee will prove economical if it is used in a fairly new tractor or truck which you reasonably can expect to own for the next five or six years. Keeping this antifreeze three seasons brings its cost per year to the same level of fluids which are drained and replaced each year.

Farmers living in areas in which water is extremely hard may be interested in an ethylene glycol antifreeze mixed with pure water. Antifreezes of this type are guaranteed for two years. Their cost per year is higher, but this may be worthwhile to insure a scale-free cooling system.

Leptospirosis Mimeo

Leptospirosis, a disease of wild and domestic animals, causes more than a $1000,000,000 loss in cattle each year in the U.S.

Abortions are common in both cattle and swine infected with the disease. The abortion rate among pregnant animals varies from 10 to 90 per cent. Most abortions occur in the last one-third of gestation.

Purdue University veterinary scientists point out that prevention is probably much more effective against leptospirosis than treatment.

In an extension service publication, Mimeo VY-14, "What You Should Know About Leptospirosis", veterinarians discuss symptoms of the disease, how the disease spreads, when treatment is advisable and methods of prevention and control.

This publication is available at your county extension office or a copy may be obtained by writing the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University. Single copies are free to Indiana residents. Be sure to give the number and title.

Performance testing means weighing and grading beef calves in the autumn, remind Purdue University animal scientists. This is an important step in making certain your beef cow herd makes a profit.

Tips For Swine Management

Wide fluctuations in temperature, characteristic of autumn, can spell trouble for the hog raiser unless he is prepared for farrowing on very cool nights. Point out Dick Hollandbeck and Jim Foster, Purdue University swine specialists.

A pig farrowed in a room with temperature lower than 40 or 45 degrees will chill and a weakened condition may result. They advise farmers to bring out the heat lamps and make sure they are in good working condition.

Hog raisers are reminded to practice good sanitation, have the farrowing pens and sow as clean as possible, and to perform the same anemia controls expected in the winter. Injecting iron into the ham of the pig is an effective control method.

After pastures begin to decline in value, feeding hogs should be transferred to concrete feedlots, advise Hollandbeck and Foster. In a lot the feeder can control the feeding and know exactly what his hogs are eating. He can also control environmental conditions such as excessive dust, undesirable grasses and feeds and temperature.

Today's Fabrics

Do you know how to clean that nylon carpet? Must you dryclean that new chromspun bedspread and draperies? What did the salesman mean when he said this was of monofilament construction? What kind of material should you use for slipcovers, for drapes?

These are only a few of the questions the homemaker must answer as she selects and cares for the many fabrics used in the home.

To help her, Purdue University has published an explanation of the four natural and some ten man made fibers used in the home furnishing fabrics. Entitled "Today's Furnishing Fabrics", the bulletin defines the fibers used and suggests the method of care. It also includes a fact sheet of terms used to describe fabrics and their construction.

Single copies of "Today's Furnishing Fabrics", HE-441, are free to Indiana residents. Request them from the county extension office or from the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. Be sure to include both the name and number of the publication.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE TIPPECANOE VALLEY SCHOOL CORPORATION

As this is being written, I am listening to our President as he proclaims a blockade of our neighboring island, Cuba. A move that may drastically change our way of life. Likewise our approach to the school reorganization has its uncertainties. This is one reason why a candidate is reluctant to make promises or advise as to the ultimate course of our school policy. However, I feel that the voter should be familiar with the attitude and thinking of the prospective school board member. To that extent I would like to present the following open letter to the voters of this organization.

1. I am concerned with, and aware of the fact, that our schools are going through a period of change, both physical and academically. With many of these changes I am in accord. Some I am not. However, I would like to see our standards upgraded and broadened. Our students should be given every advantage commensurate with our ability to provide.
2. I believe the schools should exercise greater discipline over our curriculum and provide more positive guidance for our children. This to be handled through local board policy as much as possible. This same idea might also be extended to our teachers.
3. I believe in a fiscal program that will give the greatest return for the money spent. It seems that a building program is going to be necessary, for various reasons, sooner or later. If so, I would advise a program that would prepare us for such an eventuality, and not involve the corporation in a long term financial burden.
4. I am concerned about the expanding federal control that permeates our everyday life. Federal aid may be necessary in certain areas, but not if it means usurping local authority. Unless there is a good reason for such aid, I would vote against it.
5. To the parents who are aware of and concerned with the problems that exist in various areas of our school system I would ask for patience. We have large classes, a few bus problems, poor facilities and distribution problems that reflect the pattern that is before the interim board and will be with the new board. To resolve these to everyone's satisfaction will be next to impossible. But if we can solve these faults in the next few years by redistribution, new units, additions or a compromise of these, we shall consider ourselves fortunate. Reorganization is going to take time, patience and the support of all.
6. Concerning teachers, I might use an old proverb. "A laborer is worthy of his hire." Good teachers should be paid accordingly. Fair teachers should be helped and encouraged to meet these standards. Those who fail should be replaced. If this kind of program is encouraged, tenure does not become an issue. No amount of salary is going to make the fourth grade teacher (for example) rectify the mistakes that the third grade teacher inherited from the second grade teacher.
7. I volunteered to be a part of this for the above named reasons. The citizens Committee asked me to accept the responsibility. I don't feel that I am any better qualified than the other candidates. I am sure that most of them would subscribe to the same declarations stated above. I offered this only because a number of people in the past have asked me these questions, and I feel that all should have the answers.

KEEP FROM BETWEEN

PARKED CARS

The school safety poster for November urges—"Keep From Between Parked Cars!" The Chicago Motor Club distributed this poster to more than 33,000 grade school classrooms in Illinois and Indiana. The message which the poster carries is a warning to pedestrians of all ages. Playing or walking between parked cars is very dangerous. The ordinary motorist is not prepared to stop suddenly when children or adults dart from between parked cars. Cross only at corners and designated crosswalks, and play only in specified areas!

Year Milk
Average

The more days a year cows are milked the more money the dairyman receives, observes Sam Gregory, Purdue University extension dairyman.

To illustrate the point, he analyzed 1961-62 Indiana Dairy Herd Improvement Association records. Here is what he found:

Herds of 33 cows averaging 1,200 pounds in body weight and in milk 76 per cent of the days on test averaged 9,290 pounds of milk. They received an average of 3,200 pounds of grain, 6,600 pounds of silage, 4,100 pounds of hay and were on pasture 154 days during the year.

Income over feed costs per cow was $241, or $2.59 per hundredweight of milk.

Another group of cows with a herd average of 34 and body weight of 1,200 pounds produced an average of 11,000 pounds of milk. They were in milk 85 per cent of the days on test. These cows were fed an average of 3,500 pounds of grain, 7,600 pounds of silage and 3,900 pounds of hay. Each cow spent 164 days on pasture.

Income over feed costs per cow was $302, or $2.75 per hundredweight of milk.

Gregory says the additional 33 days in milk per cow in the second group resulted in an increase of 1,710 pounds of milk per cow and $61 more in income per cow above feed costs.

This additional income above feed costs of $2,013 for the 33-cow herd would justify attention to breeding cows 60 to 90 days after calving, checking for pregnancy, establishing and following a herd health program and using DHIA records as a basis for selection, breeding and culling.

Livestock can be poisoned from eating the foliage of wild cherry trees, sudan grass or sorghum after a killing frost, point out Purdue University extension veterinarians.

When fog closes in, good drivers are extra alert, says the Chicago Motor Club. Normal driving speeds are out of the question when normal visibility is lacking. Heavy ground fog, a common autumn occurrence, call for the most careful kind of driving.

Espaliered Fruit Trees

You can grow fruit trees in your yard if you have narrow space sufficient for a grape vine, according to Purdue University extension horticulturists.

You won't be able to grow an ordinary tree in such a limited area, but you can grow an espalier tree, which is trained and kept small so it will grow against a wall or building. Espaliered trees bear standard size fruit.

The easiest way to start is to buy an already espaliered tree. A dwarfed apple, especially one on Malling IX rootstock, is fine. But just about any fruit tree can be trained as an espalier.

The horticulturists say that the most common training consists of guiding a series of parallel branches from the main trunk with or without the ends of the branches turning upward. If you decide to espalier your own tree, select a one-year old tree and cut off the tip of the main stem to encourage side branching. Pinch back all of the shoots that are not essential to the form or shape and tie those remaining to a support. Leave all short shoots to develop into fruiting spurs.

Once your tree is established, you must prune monthly. Pinch back the side growth as it occurs. Also, be sure to give your trees a good corrective dormant pruning every year when branches are not obscured by foliage.

Anniversary Dinner

Mothers of World War II met at Pete's Restaurant for their anniversary dinner recently.

After the dinner Sergeant Robert Duglay showed a film of how the sonic boom is formed. He gave a very interesting and educational talk on the air corps. The meeting was opened by the sergeant of arms, pledge to the flag, prayer by the chaplain and one verse of the "Star Spangle Banner" was sung. Fourteen members answered roll call. Reports were given and approved. Communications were approved. Guests were Gladys Bowyer, state president; Muriel English, district president; Fern Cline, state color bearer and Mrs. Doran. The meeting was closed by retiring the colors and repeating the mother's creed and singing "God Bless America."

Family Finances

Rugs and carpets probably take more of a beating than any of your other home furnishings. However, there are several things you can do to make your carpets stay beautiful and last years longer—and save yourself the money it would cost to replace them.

Use an inexpensive carpet sweeper every day to pick up lint, crumbs and dirt from the surface of your carpet. A few minutes a day will keep dirt from being ground deeply into the carpet. Use a vacuum cleaner once a week. A good vacuum cleaner removes deep-down dirt, as well as surface material. When the carpet begins to look dull, use a rug shampoo to get rid of dirt that your vacuum cleaner can't get to. Modern rug shampoos require little work and are well worth the effort to keep your rugs and carpets beautiful. Once a year is the minimum for shampooing every carpet in the house.

Creighton, a graduate of Bowling Green University and father of five, had attended the board meetings and made no promises but said he thought after a decision is made everyone should support it. He said the meeting should be conducted in prayerful deliberation and with a faith in God and felt it was his civic responsibility to the community.

Beeson, father of one senior, attended the meetings this summer.

Cumberland said he felt education is the greatest heritage anyone can give his children. Several had asked him to run and he felt the board should work for the better interests of the taxpayers.

Horn, father of a senior girl and an eighth grader, had attended the meetings at Beaver Dam and realized some of the decisions to be made. He is interested in the best education possible for everyone.

Davis is interested in education in this community and others. Any decisions made will be made as the majority feels.

Blackburn said he did not run because he was looking for something else to do. Superintendent of his Sunday School, trustee of his church and janitor of the same church. He says he is definitely not after money. He likes to help people and feels many problems will come up meeting after meeting. He quoted a favorable bit of scripture, "I can do all things through Christ that strengthens me."

Nelson said, "I believe a fully enlightened, well educated society is a basic need in our democracy. The Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation shows great promise in fulfilling this need and improving the educational heritage of this progressive rural area. Having started with the interim board, I would like to continue with the effort." He feels the school corporation should join the Indiana and National School Board Associations, and that problems should be taken to the board.

Whit Gast said he would attend any workshop and had attended three board meetings at Beaver Dam. He said all meetings should open with prayer and serious thinking and all churches in the district should take part. He is running, he said, because he has lived his whole life in this community and he is interested in good schools. He said Tippecanoe Valley should be the best rural district in the state. Whether elected or not, he promised to work to that end. He said political parties and township lines must be forgotten and the good of the school kept in mind. Akron, Beaver Dam, Burket, and Mentone should follow with the same attitude.

This closed the question and answer session and the group moved to the lunch room for refreshments of cider, coffee, and doughnuts.

Avoid Hunting Accidents

Improper gun handling techniques will bring fatal or near fatal accidents to some Hoosier hunters again this fall, points out F. A. Willsey, Purdue University farm safety specialist.

So he suggests that hunters follow gun safety rules as outlined by authorities on gun safety. They recommend:

Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded weapon.

Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded. Unattended guns should be unloaded.

Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

Carry your gun so you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble. Keep the gun safety in until you are ready to shoot.

Be sure of your target before you squeeze the trigger.

Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun.

Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water.

Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

And, Willsey stresses, a single hunting accident is one too many!

Feed first calf dairy heifers a higher ratio of concentrate to milk production than adult animals, Advise Purdue University dairy scientists. If these heifers are underfed they will not produce well during their second lactation.
