BIG LOSS
IN TRUCK CRASH

There was a terrific loss in the wreck of a semi-truck near the Ditto Market in south Warsaw Tuesday evening, but miraculously there were no serious personal injuries. The truck, loaded with eggs, was one from the C. & H. Trucking Co., Claypool. Lewis Harshbarger of Mentone is head of the firm.

For some reason the truck rolled over, struck several power poles and completely destroyed itself and its load. Floyd Klingerman of Etna Green, was the driver, and he was accompanied by his daughter, Kay Ellen, who was thrown out as the truck rolled over. Neither were hurt.

Estimated damages included $4,500 to the tractor, $4,500 to the trailer, $5,800 to the contents and $400 to the power lines.

IOOF HONORS
CONRAD HAND

Conrad Hand, 93, Etna Green, a 68-year member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was honored at a chicken supper held at the Tippecanoe Order of Odd Fellows Tuesday evening, August 22 in the lodge hall.

A farmer all his life, Mr. Hand now makes his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Babcock, near Etna Green.

He joined the lodge at Etna Green in 1893 when he was 25 years of age. Since that time he has held every office in the Order.

When the Etna Green lodge consolidated with the Bourbon lodge Mr. Hand held his membership there until Bourbon consolidated with Lion lodge at Tippecanoe. He is the oldest member of the Tippecanoe lodge in points of years and in membership. He is probably one of the oldest members in the state.

Mr. Hand was presented a 60-year pin by the Noble Grand, Gaylord Zumbaugh.

Mr. Hand thanked the lodge for the honors bestowed upon him and gave an interesting talk on his experiences through the years in the Order.

He also commented on the wonderful dinner in his honor, prepared by Charles Lozier.

The Tippecanoe Order of Odd Fellows took great pleasure in saluting a beloved brother and fine gentleman.

Roy Maxwell was able to return home last week. He is improving very nicely.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Our neighborhood is very quiet this Tuesday morning. Lisa, Randy, Bill, and Matt are starting to kindergarten today. This is also a "first" for Alice (Randy's mother) and Beverly (Matt's mother). As I recall my own "first" day, when our daughter skipped happily off to school, I experienced a small nostalgic twinge, which gives me sympathy for these young mothers.

Here are more money saving ideas from the mother of seven children, on a $15.00 a week food budget (as she wrote them to Charles V. Neal, Jr.).

"All our neighbors give us their bacon drippings, which we use for cream sauces and cookies. They give us extras from gardens, fishing trips and orchards. When margarine is on sale at 29 cents we wait a day and buy it for 10 cents, 9 lbs. at a time. We never buy potatoes in less than 100 lb. sacks—at one cent a lb. We get 12 to 16 dozen eggs at a time when they sell for 29 cents a dozen.

"We are always making things at home, and enjoying it—buttermilk in the garage, sour cream in the kitchen, and wine in the basement. Our menus are unusual and varied; sometimes it is fruit pies, casseroles, and bread; other times its bananas and potatoes. We make puddings, french toast, and other things out of bread heels. We add wheat germ to those dry cereals and brewer's yeast to peanut butter.

"We work hard and long. We are never bored or too tired. We enjoy life and have bright, happy children. Most of your readers feeling sorry for themselves can't see beyond the ends of their steak knives."

(Next week we will tell you some surprising things about this family.)

"Lucky", the beautiful black cat belonging to Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Davison, is dead. Many of us knew Lucky and admired his sleek beauty. He will be missed especially by the children who stopped by to play with him. He was 16 years old, which is a good life span, when one considers all the hazards of being an active, energetic cat (even with the advantage of the "nine lives" theory).

A pressure tank containing an inflammable mixture used as a setting agent for resin exploded and knocked over a number of other containers. Damage was estimated at somewhere over $300.

Officials indicate the mixture would not explode while dormant and the sheriff's department is investigating the possibility that an intruder may have rolled or tossed the container.

Machinery Costs To Farmers

As the cost-price squeeze continues its pressure on farmers, more and more of them are figuring closely what it costs to own and operate farm machinery.

Ronald H. Bauman, Purdue University agricultural economist, points out there are two types of costs:

1. Fixed costs—those associated with mere ownership of the machine.

2. Operating costs—repairs, fuel, lubrication, etc.—varying with usage.

Fixed costs include depreciation, interest on investment, property taxes, insurance and cost of shelter. For example, a machine with a life expectancy of 10 years, such as a combine, would have a fixed cost amounting to 14.4 per cent of its original cost.

That is, when a farmer buys a $3,000 combine expected to last 10 years he immediately assumes a fixed overhead of $3,000 x 14.4 per cent or $432 annually. Or, if he buys a $200 spike tooth harrow expected to last about 20 years, his fixed cost would be 9.9 per cent of the original cost, or $198 a year. Bauman explains that fixed costs for a given piece of machinery are largely inescapable and are not associated with its amount of use. For instance, if you buy a new automobile today and leave it in the garage for 10 years, the depreciation, interest on investment, taxes, insurance and cost of shelter go right on. That holds true too for a piece of farm equipment.

Cotton Knit Care Hints

When shopping for cotton knit garments for the school child's wardrobe, examine the fabric before you buy, advise Frieda Stoll, Purdue University clothing specialist.

Yarn size and tightness of knit can make up to 50 per cent difference in the amount of wear from a garment. Smooth, even rows of loops with no thick or thin spots are a sign of durability.

To examine cotton knits before purchase, smooth the fabric over a dark background and check the wrong side.

Shrinkage is a common problem, adds the specialist, but it is often the knit fabric's fault. If the fabric is stretched and pulled in manufacturing, the loops are pulled long and thin instead of remaining plump and round. When the garment, such as a T-shirt, is laundered, the stretched loops return to their normal round shape. Thus the shirt shrinks lengthwise and stretches crosswise.

Although all cotton knits can be expected to shrink a little, cautions Miss Stoll, proper care can reduce shrinkage of well-made garments. Excessively hot water should be avoided. Since tumble drying seems to shrink knits more than other types of drying, it is advisable to buy garments in the next larger size when a dryer is used.

A low or medium drying temperature reduces shrinkage, as does underdrying. Try removing knit garments from the dryer while they are slightly damp. Stretch them to their original shape and allow to finish drying at room temperature.

Be sure to water your lawn after fertilization, advise horticulturists at Purdue University. Watering will help distribute the fertilizer and aid in preventing fertilizer burn.

The Chicago Motor Club advises drivers always to pull completely off the highway when stopping to change a tire. If there isn't enough room on the shoulder drive on slowly. It's better to lose a tire than lose a life. At night, have a flare or flashlight handy to warn approaching traffic.

How Passe Is Patriotism?

(An editorial from the Cincinnati Enquirer.)

It is an easy matter to understand the alarm with which the faculty of Princeton High School learned how the young people in their care felt about Communism, about patriotism, about the world into which they will soon be emerging as citizens.

The alarm was touched off by the answers of English students in Princeton High's college preparatory classes on what they would do if their homes, families and way of life should be threatened. The students agreed that international Communism was the major threat. But to preserve these American institutions, Superintendent Robert E. Lucas said, "facing death was out of the question." As some of the students put it, according to Mr. Lucas, Communism probably wouldn't change our way of life very much.

We have only the heartiest praise for the manner in which Mr. Lucas and his associates reacted. They undertook an intensive campaign to explain the truths about international Communism. Mr. Lucas was in the fortunate position of being able to reinforce his arguments by a first-hand observation of the Soviet Union and its schools. Once the campaign was completed, Mr. Lucas reported, Princeton High School's students acknowledged the "complete rashness of their statements."

There is nothing particularly different about Princeton High School. It is reasonably safe to assume, consequently, that what its young people felt about Communism and about the preservation of American institutions is shared to some extent by young people across America.

And that, if true, is the saddest possible commentary not so much on our schools as on our society in general.

The basic difficulty, we think, is that patriotism has become largely passe in too many American circles. About the time the United Nations came into existence in 1945, it became fashionable to begin thinking of ourselves as "citizens of the world."

Then came the development of bigger, more fearful, more deadly nuclear weapons and a drumbeat of pronouncements about the futility of war.

At about the same time, there was a resurgence of "life-adjustmentism" in many of our schools—courses designed to equip our young people to live harmoniously in a changing world. These new courses entered our school curriculum at the expense of the traditional courses—English, history, civics, citizenship.

Young people began learning more about the United Nations than about the United States.

It became apparent almost a matter of embarrassment to be among those who were not absorbed by the world-citizenship concept. The tingle that many of us felt at the sight of the American flag flying against a blue sky on a summer day, the thrill of the national anthem, the way we had to swallow hard after hearing about the heroic deeds of our forefathers—these things became the earmarks of narrow, old-fashioned, contemptible provincialism.

Patriotism, in brief, became a mark of ignorant emotionalism. The enlightened view was the world view.

One upshot of this drift away from Americanism is the very kind of wishy-washy purposelessness that goaded the Princeton High School faculty into action. Another was the terrifying susceptibility of young Americans to Communist brain-washing during the Korean War.

The hope, as a first step, is that other school systems will be as aggressive as Princeton's in instilling sounder notions.

Wanted: bumble bee nests containing bumble bees.

Prof. B. E. Montgomery, Purdue University entomologist, would like to locate and remove such nests.

Anyone knowing the location of bumble bee nests in an accessible position (not in the walls of buildings or under an immovable object) within a radius of 50 miles of the Purdue campus should telephone or write Montgomery, giving the exact location of the nests.

Purdue University entomologists and agronomists are planning to put bumble bees to work in the greenhouses during the winter months in experimental work of producing better varieties of crops, especially alfalfa in Indiana.

Montgomery says bumble bees are the most efficient pollinators, but due to hibernation, do not work during the cold weather. The Purdue scientists hope to get the bumble bees to enter hibernation in small containers that will be moved into the greenhouses at intervals during the winter, causing the bees to "wake-up" in spring-like conditions and go to work.

To accomplish this, Montgomery says the scientists must obtain a supply of living bumble bee colonies to be put into their cages during the month of September.

Montgomery points out that plant breeders continue their work indoors throughout the winter, growing, crossing and testing new varieties of crops in greenhouses.

In the past, honey bees, who do not hibernate but merely cluster together in their hives during cold weather, have been used as pollinators. However, honey bees work on the flowers of only one kind of plant at a time, and there is evidence that this tendency extends even to varieties and clones of the same species. Therefore, they do not cross pollinate the plants which the plant breeder wishes to cross to produce new varieties.

Montgomery reports that bumble bees do not have such exact tastes and readily go from one kind of flower to another. Purdue scientists desire to use the bumble bee for this reason.

School Bus Safety Notes

Now that yellow school buses soon will be rolling over Hoosier highways again, motorists should be thoroughly familiar with regulations covering their conduct, remind Purdue University safety specialists.

The buses are painted yellow in order that they will be more conspicuous on the thoroughfares.

Purdue safety specialists point out that special precautions should be taken when there is a chance the school bus will be stopped out of view of the motorist because of a hill, curve, fog or rain.

Motorists are required, except on multiple-lane highways divided by a strip 20 feet or more wide to come to a full stop at least 10 feet to the front or rear of the bus which is loading or unloading children, depending on the direction the motorist is traveling.

On such multiple-lane highways motorists need not stop if the school bus is halted on the opposite side, but should proceed with caution.

The safety specialists suggest that courtesy on the part of everyone will help prevent emergency situations involving school buses and motorists.

Parents can be helpful by having children ready in plenty of time to board the bus. Bus

Lights For The Home Yard

Night lighting makes home property more useful and beautiful, according to Purdue University horticulturists.

Lights can be used to accentuate beautiful autumn plants in bloom, patios, or trees of an artistic form. And, lights enable home owners to enjoy garden beauty at night as well as to play outdoor games.

Outdoor garden lights, according to the horticulturists, may be fixed in one position, or movable. Both are useful. If home owners choose fixed lights, horticulturists suggest that the lights be located to fit the landscape, or be located in a hidden spot.

In addition to outdoor lighting, home owners are advised to plan waterproof electrical outlets, particularly on patios, so that TV sets or rotisseries can be used.

The best way to start electrifying the garden or lawn, advise the horticulturists, is to contact an electrical contractor. The contractor will be able to give cost estimates and offer additional suggestions.

drivers can aid by signaling intention to stop well in advance of the actual halt. And motorists should plan their travel schedules so that a slight delay because of school buses will not make them late.

Buy Adequate Lawn Spreader

Fertilizing your lawn need not become a hard, time consuming chore if a good fertilizer spreader is available, point out Purdue University turf specialists.

Either the push-type or the cyclone-type spreader will do a good job. Fertilizer spreaders may cost from $5 to $150. The thing to remember is to buy one adequate for your lawn area. Avoid the mistake of buying a narrow, small inadequate one.

Turf specialists suggest that home owners make sure that the push type spreader wheels roll easily and that the discharge mechanism is easily adjusted. The shut-off valve should be conveniently located and easy to operate.

The cyclone type spreader, which is either carried or pushed, is available with a canvas, plastic, or metal hopper. It has the advantages of making even distribution of fertilizer possible over a wider area.

Take good care of your spreader, regardless of type. Hose out the spreader after using it. Let it dry in the sun and oil the wheels and gears before storing. This makes for better operation the next time the spreader is used and prolongs life.

District WSCS To Meet Here

The local Woman's Society of Christian Service will host the South Group meeting of the Warsaw District Thursday, September 14 from 8:50 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. H. A. Wright, Nappanee, district president, will convene the meeting and district officers will conduct workshop clinics for local officers and secretaries of lines of work.

The speaker will be Mrs. Tom Huheey of Oxford, Ohio. She received her master's degree in religion from Earlham College in 1958 and is a Quaker minister besides being a housewife, mother, and a grandmother.

She has been active in the Ashram movement, working with E. Stanley Jones and Yockefellow retreats. She taught for one term last year at Ewha University, Seoul, Korea and considers it the richest experience of her life so far. It is of this that she will speak to the ladies.

Perhaps the most unique aspect of it all is that her Presbyterian husband sent his Quaker wife to a Methodist University—a truly ecumenical affair.

All ladies of the church are welcome and urged to attend this morning meeting.

Writes About Bomb Shelters

Regarding the importance or unimportance of bomb shelters,
I would say the consistency or inconsistency of bomb shelters, of what value would they be to the farmer a half mile or even farther from home with the noise of his tractor and equipment, would he be aware of any disaster alert?

What value would a shelter be to many people driving cars and trucks on the highways?
Miles from home, many cars have no radio, how would these people be alerted? Even if they were, being in strange communities they would first have to find a shelter providing there was a public shelter.

There are many families renting homes. Will the owners of these houses provide a shelter for the occupants of their house?
If they did provide a shelter,
you may be sure in most cases, the tenant would have a rent increase and pay for the shelter on someone else's property and this would be an unfair burden!

Really, of what value or benefit are bomb shelters except to a very special few? I believe God-fearing and loving people realize and accept the idea that these shelters are not a means of escape from what may happen.

Let's take a look—the cry of the people are apathetic and have no concern about Civil Defense, bomb shelters and all that goes with it. The scriptures state that where there is no vision, the people perish, also, you cannot serve two masters, you must have leaders of truthfulness, integrity, stability, whereby the people will have confidence in the head of our country. When you betray a trust and lose the confidence of the people of the land you cannot expect to have full support and cooperation of the people in such an enterprise as Civil Defense, which covers the necessity of bomb shelters or the inconsistency of having them.

It certainly is not time for uncertainty and indecision on the part of the head of the government if he expects to enjoy the confidence of the country and the world of people. I speak as a Christian—Mrs. William E. Fowler.

Attention, Bike Pilots!

For real fun and exercise, a bicycling's a hard sport to beat. That's why bicycling's the favorite pastime and mode of transportation for thousands of youngsters, says Martha Cullop, Purdue University extension supervisor who advises the Indiana Home Demonstration Safety Committee.

But bicycling can be dangerous if the rider does not know and adhere to sound riding rules and keep his vehicle in good repair. Smart riders steer clear of accidents by obeying the "rules of the road," which are similar for all wheeled vehicles.

As children on bikes join the rush hour traffic on their way to and from school, Miss Cullop points out, they must be informed and reminded of safe riding methods.

Riders should know and obey all traffic signs and lights and keep to the right side of the road. They should give proper hand signals when turning or stopping. Books and bundles can be carried in baskets or on racks instead of the rider's hands. Night riding should be avoided, but when it is necessary, bikes equipped with white front lights and rear reflectors should be used.

The rider's consideration for pedestrians and other riders will prohibit him from stunting, weaving and otherwise "showing off," comments the supervisor. Children often can avoid accidents by walking their bikes across streets and in crowded areas.

The dangers in riding "double" and in hitching a ride on other vehicles have made these practices illegal in many areas.

State-federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue University report that domestic placements of pullet chicks for broiler hatchery supply flocks by leading primary breeders totaled 2,360,000 chicks during July 1961. This is 12 per cent more than in July 1960 and four per cent more than July 1959.

One parent has found the most simple answer to the TV problem.

"Absolutely no TV on school nights." Now here is a parent who has the situation under control. "Hurrah," and we hope many more follow his example.

One columnist writes that a gadget has been invented to keep the inside of the car quiet. It fits over his mouth. (Very funny!)

Food tip—For a delicious fruit salad dressing, mix 1 cup marshmallow creme with 1 cup sour cream.

Three year old Jay Bitzer was helping Wayne Tombaugh shovel dirt on his new lawn last Monday. Jay was sweating and puffing in the heat. "Are you tired, Jay?" asked Wayne. "No, not yet, the work's not done," was his profound answer.

Unless you have a special "yen" for wild plum preserves and jelly, you aren't aware that it's that time of year again.

A week ago Monday, the editor and I made our yearly excursion to the only wild plum trees we have located. They are on the farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker.

After getting some plums, we headed back to the car, but stopped to chat with Clara Eve. Knowing that we had not eaten, she invited us to have supper with them. We stayed and enjoyed a fine meal. The food and conversation helped us to forget our dozens of mosquito bites and scratches. (One does pay a price of gruelling dimensions to get those pesky plums.) Joe showed some of the colored slides taken a year ago in Michigan when they visited us at Burt Lake.

We enjoyed this:

An easterner was visiting out west and came upon an Indian sitting in front of his tepee. The following conversation took place.

"Say Chief, why don't you get yourself a job?" the traveler asked.

"Why?"

"Well, you could earn money."

"Why?"

"Well, if you earned a lot of money and saved it, you'd soon have a nice bank account. Wouldn't you like that?"

"Why?"

"For gosh sakes! If you had a good bank account, you could retire and not have to work any more."

"Not working now."

MISSIONARY GROUP MEETS

Mrs. Luke Hires was hostess to the Be-About Missionary group on Monday evening, August 28th.

For devotions, Mrs. Raymond Lewis read an article about the Baptist Children's Home. The work period was spent rolling tracts for the Ralstons.

Proper use of headlights, according to the Chicago Motor Club, can help your own driving visibility as well as that of other drivers. Use your bright lights discriminately. Don't forget to dim them when approaching another vehicle coming from the other direction, or when coming up behind a car traveling in the same direction.

However, before they were eliminated they defeated Cincinnati and Louisville before meeting up with that tough gang from Covington, Ky. (Janet's team had the bases loaded in the last inning, but out No. 3 spoiled it all.)

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Are you, too, shaking your head in disbelief at the letter to Mr. Neal from the mother of 7 children, on a food budget of $15 a week?

The final chapter will reveal some very startling facts about this family.

Mr. Neal has this to say:

"I'll bet you think these people are intellectual paupers or something like that. Well, I've got news for you. Both the husband and wife sport two academic degrees behind their names. The husband earns well up into the five-figure salary bracket. He owns a neat bit of real estate.

"They have a 7-bedroom, 5-bath, 3,600 sq. ft. home, and a status automobile. The wife tends to six refrigerator-freezer units, just to hold all the economy food. They live in a neighborhood described as upper-quality, but this doesn't stop our persevering wife from saving coupons and scrounging for bargains.

"Well, if the rich can feed seven children, two adults, and some pets, on $15 a week, without loss of nutrition (the husband writes articles on nutrition for authoritative journals) why can't the poor do it?

"It's probably easier and less humiliating if you don't have to do it."

Grandmothers form a rather exclusive club. Many things become clear after one becomes a grandmother. Only then does one begin to understand that peculiar phobia which seizes grandmothers. (She remembers, with chagrin, her former critical judgments of picture-toting grandmothers.)

Soon after becoming a grandmother, she discovers a hidden talent — sleight-of-hand, which can produce, in record time, snap-shots of her own darling grandchildren. (I feel free to talk, for I belong to the club.)

We want to share this story, which came from another grandmother, Mrs. Earl Shinn.

It concerns Jeffry Shoemaker and his kindergarten teacher last year.

One can say that Jeffie had been interested in dinosaurs for years (which makes one stop and think, too, because he was just five years old then.)

His grandmother asked him if

Married September 3

Baskets of yellow gladioli and bronze pompons, palms and candelabra graced the altar of the Christian church in Palestine for the wedding of Miss Joyce Ileen Eiler and Harry Lee Myers on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 3, at 3 o'clock. Rev. Norman McVey, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Robert Boggs and Morris K. White, both of Warsaw, presented the nuptial music.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll M. Eiler, of Route 5, Warsaw, are parents of the bride. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Claude V. Myers, R. 6, Columbia City.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of Chantilly lace featuring a scalloped sabrina neckline and bouffant skirt with scalloped hemline. Her veil of French illusion was caught to a hat of Alencon lace and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid.

Miss Marilyn Horn, Mentone, was the maid of honor. Miss Janice Eiler of West Point, was in charge of the guestbook.

Doyle A. Eiler, of R. 5, Warsaw, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were Larry Eiler of Warsaw, brother of the bride, and Larry Wright, R. 3, Plymouth.

Following a reception in the church parlors, the couple left on a wedding trip into Michigan. They will make their future home on R. 2, Warsaw.

Mr. Myers is employed at the Eiler Egg Farms and Mrs. Myers is employed at the L. M. Berry Company, Warsaw.

The sheriff also asked the men to return the turkeys to the farm and apologize.

Americanism by the Constitution ... Or Communism

September 17-23 has been proclaimed Constitution Week by the President of the United States, and is sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. Your life, liberty, and property are protected by this great document for which our forefathers fought and many died. The price of liberty is indeed eternal vigilance and it rests in your hands. The Constitution grants you privileges but it also demands your acceptance of responsibilities.

It has truly been said that the Constitution is the backbone of our Country, the Declaration of Independence the heart, and the Flag the soul. Constitution Week serves to remind us all that we must keep our backbone strong and firm in these times, surely as perilously as any that ever faced our Nation.

The basic issue facing us today is just this — AMERICANISM or COMMUNISM. There is no middle way. One system, not two; Americanism or Communism will gain strength. Only one will survive.

Recent events are beginning to unfold to all the world, at long last, the magnitude of the forces seeking to destroy us. Communism is not just another political party. It is an international conspiracy dedicated to the destruction of ALL that remains of the free world. Unless we immediately recognize our actual enemies and fully comprehend the forces that seek our destruction, we shall very soon reach a point of "no return." We must recognize, we must admit, we must understand, once and for all time, that our enemy is the International Communist Conspiracy.

The steady relative decline of the strength of the Free World, has resulted in our present position of extreme peril. The Soviet Socialist Republic is now presenting to us a series of ultimatums of retreat under the cloak of "negotiations for peace and peaceful coexistence." "Better be Red than dead" is the new National Purpose of the Appeasers. Appeasers are people who feed the crocodile hoping it will eat them last. Coexistence is immoral, a delusion and a fraud. Our "National Purpose," if we are to survive as a free people, must be to free the enslaved peoples of the world and destroy that organized religion of hate, communism. In the coexistence compromise between right and wrong, evil wins. We can coexist with the Communists just like the lion and the lamb coexist. All that is necessary is to furnish a fresh lamb each morning.

Attack us? They are winning without it. They want our cities, our industries, our youth intact. They can win without changing their tactics. We can't win without changing ours. Nikita Khrushchev gets too much credit for the policy of coexistence, and this leads to error in assessing the Communist purpose. It was Lenin who said, "We must practice coexistence with other nations, until we are strong enough to take over the world."

Influential people are taking us into international socialism. Russia, with her old two steps forward, one step backward routine, is moving for the time being, to the right. The plan of the internationalists is for us to meet half way—between Communism and Capitalism—in One-World Socialism. This is surrender. This is defeat and ultimate slavery. Socialism is Communism without the firing squad.

Is it still true that the purpose of foreign policies is to protect liberty, peace, and solvency of the American people? Or has that been outmoded and replaced by One-World Socialism?

If AMERICANISM versus COMMUNISM isn't a life and death matter to all Americans, then we the people have rejected our own heritage. Everything we do as a free people, every hour of the day is ours to do or not to do by Constitutional Right. From our Constitution, and from no other source, do we obtain sanctity of the home, the guarantee of right to trial by jury, protection from cruel unjust punishment, from excessive fines, from engulfment by a centralized power. Our Constitution has chains only for the criminally-minded among us, fetters only for those who would destroy our liberty.

Step by step, over the past years, Communist ideas have been injected into our Constitutional Way of Life. Today there are people who are attempting to exchange the entire concept of liberty in America for that of a centralized form of government. The ultimate purpose of the Communists is to merge the United States with Soviet Russia into a One-World Government ruled by the Kremlin.

During the last few years, the Communist Party in the United States has been intensifying its efforts underground, and is a greater menace and a more serious threat than ever before.

Take for example the recent series of attacks against the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the drive on to remove J. Edgar Hoover, its director. Also the current revived drive to abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee which is the listening post of the Congress on the all-important subject of Communism, the drive to admit Red China to the United Nations, the drive to suppress the showing of the film "Operation Abolition," a film that has alerted more Americans to the danger of Communism inside the United States than any other one film available today. It has been attacked by those who find it too revealing of the type of people who protest the Committee hearings.

The smear of patriotic societies is on... since when is it wrong to advance the cause of Americanism? Since when is it wrong for an American to preach loyalty? And when did it suddenly become wrong to carry the ball in the fight against Communism? What are we doing? Americans who have made a serious study of the Communist menace can answer the question. We are losing our freedom by default. Americans are uninformed because those whose responsibility it is to give them the facts, have not

Buy Only Quality Trees

Thinking about buying a tree for your yard? Then be sure to buy quality, advise Purdue University horticulturists. They point out a high quality tree will cost less in the long run because it is more likely to live and prosper than a poor quality tree.

Most important thing to consider when purchasing is the tree's root system. By far the best bet is a nursery grown tree, not one dug in the woods since nursery trees have more compact root systems.

Nursery trees balled in burlap are much better than bare root trees. Purchasers should avoid trees with wrinkled or dried bark and roots. Best of all, say the horticulturists, are those growing in cans, since they have a complete root system.

The horticulturists give this rough guide for tree selection:

Bare root trees six to seven feet tall should have a root system at least one foot in diameter. Balled-in-burlap trees six to seven feet in height should have a root system of at least one and a half feet in diameter. And trees taller than six to seven feet should have larger root systems.

told the truth. Are 200 years of faith and work and hope to be sacrificed? What have we been fighting for? The things we have achieved through our work and prayers... are they no longer considered important enough to preserve? Is it no longer fashionable to be free and American?

Is it no longer Christian to hold fast to the sovereignty of one home, one Nation, and One God? This should be the time for rededication to the goals and objectives of our Christian forefathers who were determined to be free at all costs.

Many patriots, aware of the great inroads Communism has made in American institutions, feels the only certain way we can regain our true liberty is through a system of education.

What can one person do? You can read. For the small fee of ten cents you can obtain, from Freedom Library of the Book-mailer, Box 101 Murray Hill Station, New York 16, N. Y. a copy of their reading list on material relative to the study of Communism. Consult your librarian to learn whether such material is available and if not you can purchase it from the Book-mailer.

Yes, Americanism by the Constitution must win in this struggle against freedom. If you enjoy the American Way of Life, if you value liberty and freedom, if you love and respect your Flag and Country... then work to help preserve our Constitution. Only the good, gullible, Christian Americans, awakened out of their sleep, induced by false propaganda, can save our Nation.

State Medical Disaster Seminar

Cosponsor of vital renewed public interest in protection against atomic blast, Dr. Jean V. Carter, of Tipton, chairman of the Indiana State Medical Association's committee on civil defense, has announced a meeting of major importance Sunday, September 17, in the auditorium of the Indiana State Board of Health building.

The session, which will be moderated by Dr. Charles Alvey of Muncie, a member of the association's civil defense committee, will highlight an address by Senator Homer E. Capehart who will discuss this nation's crucial foreign affairs policies, particularly in view of recent grave international developments.

Dr. Carter said that various health organizations allied with the medical profession had been invited to the seminar which is scheduled for 10:00 a.m. with luncheon in the Student Union Building at the Indiana University Medical Center.

"Not too much importance can be attached to this meeting," Dr. Carter added. "At long last the people of this state and nation are awakening to the vital role of civil defense in the tragic age in which we live. We sincerely hope that all health organizations—voluntary, official and semi-official—will have representatives in attendance."

"What we learn on September 17 could translate itself into hundreds of lives saved in event of an atomic disaster."

Machinery Big Farm Cost Item

Farmers, using more and more purchased items in their production, find machinery one of the biggest cost items. They look critically at operating costs—repairs, lubrication, fuel, labor and the like.

Ronald H. Bauman, Purdue University agricultural economist, points out that experienced operators can make a reasonably accurate estimate of the annual operating costs for various farm machines.

These costs vary some operator to operator, depending on the amount of annual usage given the machine, its type and the care it receives. These vary an average from about one per cent of the new cost in the case of a rotary hoe to six per cent for a forage chopper which contains many working parts that require frequent replacement.

Fixed costs are associated with ownership of the machine—depreciation, interest on investment, property taxes, insurance and cost of shelter.

Combining the two into a total annual cost, Bauman figures that using a seven foot power take off combine with a two-bottom tractor for power would cost: For fifty acres, about $8.75 an acre; 100 acres, about $5.50 an acre; 150 acres, about $4 per acre; 200 acres, about $3.50 an acre; and 250 acres, about $3 an acre.

As these costs are distributed over larger numbers of acres, they decline rapidly on a per acre basis. This gives the larger farm a machinery cost advantage over the smaller one.

It follows, says Bauman, that farmers with limited acreage should in many cases consider the relative cost to ownership of more expensive pieces of equipment that may be used for a comparatively short time in a year.

They Once Came Small — and BIG

These automobiles are typical of the size and broad variety represented by the more than 300 antique cars that will be at Greenfield Village's Eleventh Old Car Festival on Saturday and Sunday, September 16-17. The jaunty little red 1911 Oakland two-passenger runabout with an original $1,000 price tag at the left is a striking contrast to the seven-passenger, somber 1912 Rambler Knickerbocker, a $4,200 limousine. Both cars will be presented at the Festival to the Henry Ford Museum's world-famous collection of more than 175 antique automobiles. The Oakland is the gift of Dr. Samuel L. Scher of New York City while American Motors Corporation is the donor of the Rambler. Cars like these, darting and lumbering around, add almost-forgotten realism to the fun-packed Festival with its brightly-garbed participants. Put them all together, add the old putt-putt and bulb horn sounds, and all the authenticity and nostalgia of motoring's early days are recaptured for spectators and participants alike. To entertain the spectators both days, owners put their cars through contests such as cranking, slow driving, backward driving and obstacle races. For purpose of judging, the cars are divided into two classes, 1899-1916 and 1917-25, with the latter scheduled on Saturday. As a climax, a grand champion will be selected for each class. The 1960 Festival attracted nearly 25,000 spectators. Greenfield Village and adjoining Henry Ford Museum are 15 miles from downtown Detroit.

Pick Tomatoes Now, Eat Later

To say you can pick tomatoes in September and eat them for Thanksgiving dinner might be an exaggeration. But, you can pick them now and eat them several weeks later if you handle them properly, points out Don Scheer, Purdue University horticulturist.

Most important is to pick and save only sound fruit. Pick the tomatoes before frost, or preferably, before temperatures near frost are likely. This is because tomatoes may be damaged by low temperatures as well as frost, Scheer explains. And, he stresses, save only sound fruit from sturdy plants.

After picking the fruit and removing the stems, clean them with water and dry thoroughly. Be certain to discard damaged or injured fruit. Then store separately tomatoes showing color and those that are completely green to save handling time later.

Fruit should be placed in a shallow tray in a well ventilated area. Make certain the tomatoes don't touch. A room temperature of 55 degrees F. is ideal. If the temperature is much lower than 55 degrees, the tomatoes will be hurt. Mature green fruit will take almost a month to ripen and green fruit will require a little longer.

Reduce Erosion With Mulching

A ton of wheat straw mulch per acre cut erosion to a minimum and two tons eliminated all runoff and soil loss in fallow plots. Unmulched plots lost 12 tons of soil per acre.

These results were obtained in a recent study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Purdue University's agricultural experiment station comparing effects of mulch on water infiltration and soil erosion.

Agricultural Research Service soil scientist Jerry D. Mannering, Donald Meyer, both stationed at Purdue, applied 1/4, 1/2, 1, 2, and 4 tons of wheat straw mulch per acre to freshly disked fallow soil about a month after plowing. The soil was highly permeable silt loam with a 5 per cent slope. An unmulched plot was used as a control. These plots were subject to a series of simulated rain storms, which totaled 6 1/2 inches of water. The water was applied at a constant intensity of 2 1/2 inches per hour.

No runoff or erosion occurred on the plots mulched with 2 or 4 tons of straw, and only 1/5 ton of soil was lost from the plot that received 1 ton of mulch. The plots mulched with 1/2 and 1 ton of straw lost 1 and 3 tons of soil, respectively.

The researchers found that the higher applications of mulch kept the soil surface open, which allowed good infiltration and prevented soil washing. Although the smaller amounts of mulch only slightly increased infiltration, they significantly decreased velocity of the runoff. This, in turn, reduced the capacity of water to wash the soil.

his teacher knew very much about dinosaurs.

Jeff thought a minute and then answered, "Well, she does now for I've been telling her a lot about them."

We like what Haydn Pearson has to say about the "Charm Of An Upland Road In September."

"Choose an unpretentious country road that leads from the valley to a hillside and then meanders casually along the contours of the highlands. * * *

"Sit for a time on a rock beside an upland road. You may see the cars flying along on the pike in the valley; but the rush and fever of the market-place are far away in the peacefulness of the heights.

"We would not change the tempo that governs the great American symphony of progress. It is a spirit that has made a powerful nation from a wilderness. But we would, if we could, have men take time periodically from the business of making a livelihood and walk an upland road and sense the purpose of living."

We enjoyed these (thanks to our neighbors, the Fowlers):

A housewife threw some old prunes off the back step. Sitting on a nearby pump handle, a bluejay flew down, snatched a prune, flew back, ate it, flew down, flew back—and after the thirty-ninth prune, dropped dead, proving that you should never fly off the handle when you're full of prunes.

Work on Mentone Senior Class Play

Mentone seniors are busy practicing for their class play, "Leave It To Grandma", a three act comedy in which Grandma at last solves the difficulties and saves the property from being taken away by foreclosure of the mortgage. Patsy, the little brat, complicates things but is spanked and put in her place eventually.

Following is the list of characters: Grandma, Linda Hauptert; Cliff and Mary, a young couple who are about to lose their delightful farm through foreclosure of the mortgage, Madonna Nellans and Jim Patterson; Eliza, colored cook, Linda Melott; Henry, the cook's colored boy friend, Bernard Loer; Virginia, lovely younger sister of Mary, Diane Silveus; courted by two young men, Jerry Blackburn and Joe Cook; twelve year old brat, into much mischief, Tana Henderson; stubborn, cranky, mean neighbor who holds the mortgage, Doyle Eiler; and his daughter, Melvine Secor. Mary Antonides will be the announcer. Linda Smythe will entertain with vocal solos between the acts. Mrs. Caldwell, senior class sponsor, is directing the production.

The play will be given Friday and Saturday nights, September 29 and 30, in the Mentone gym. Hold those dates open and the seniors will soon be contacting you with tickets.

Be sure to fertilize your lawn at the end of August or the beginning of September. Horticulturists at Purdue University advise applying 10 pounds of 10-3-7 or its equivalent, per 1,000 square feet on vigorous lawns. Apply half in a north-south direction, and half in an east-west direction to minimize streaking.

IHSAA RULES
PLAYER ELIGIBLE

The Board of Control of the IHSAA has ruled that Rickey Nine is eligible to play at Mentone this fall.

Nine transferred on grounds the bus that used to take him to Beaver Dam has been discontinued.

The Board considered evidence at a hearing here Thursday. Present were Mentone principle John Frederick, Beaver Dam principal Ralph W. McCullough and Seward township trustee Lowell Leckrone.

Leckrone told the Board the bus was discontinued due to the small number of students in Seward township of Kosciusko county. The township has no high school.

After considering the case, the Board ruled there was insufficient evidence to show that the bus was discontinued so Nine could enroll at Mentone.

In effect, the Board said Nine is eligible for basketball. It added, however, that Mentone may have to answer if additional evidence to the contrary is submitted.

Nine's eligibility on the Mentone squad was questioned because his transfer from one school to another was accomplished without his changing residence.

DAR Meet With Mrs. Igo

The Anthony Nigo Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, met for the first fall meeting of the year, September 12, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Igo. The regent for the coming year, Mrs. Fred Surguy, presided and opened the meeting in ritualistic form with prayer followed by the pledge to the flag and singing the "Star Spangled Banner".

The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Leiter. The regent called the members attention to the annual state conference in Indianapolis, October 2, 3, 4. Mrs. Kenneth Riner and Mrs. Ray Linn were named delegates.

An invitation was read from the Dr. Manasseh Cutler Chapter of North Manchester to attend a Constitution Week luncheon at the Shellar Hotel on October 18. Mrs. Eldred Paulus, Mrs. Ray Linn, Mrs. Ernest Igo, Mrs. Kenneth Riner and Mrs. Frank Smith attended the luncheon and heard state vice regent, Mrs. Maxwell Chapman of Rockville, speak on the preservation of our Constitution. She discussed the preservation of the Connally Amendment to the World Court which preserves the sovereignty of the United States and suggested that decisions in our favor would be perilous with the President being from Red Poland. She recommended that all members read a release compiled by the National Chairman of National Defense in Washington, entitled, "The Peace Corps, A Pig In A Poke". She stated that it is a triumph for Socialism and made to order for infiltration by Communists. A copy of this release has been placed in the local library.

The program chairman, Mrs. Ferd Koenig, discussed the year book and programs for the coming year.

Mrs. Dale Cook, National Defense Chairman, stressed Constitution Week, September 17-23 and outlined her plans for its observance. She stated that this may prove to be the most critical year since the ratification of the Constitution. Mrs. Cook announced that a national essay contest among DAR members is planned for completion by January 15, 1962. The subject will be, "The Constitution of The United States Versus World Government", and must be composed of 5,000 words.

Mrs. Cook discussed opposition to Federal Aid to Education, Foreign Aid to Communist Countries, Admission of Red China to the United Nations. She discussed support of a strong military force and of the Walter McCarran Immigration Act in its original form. Mrs. Cook stated that there is a campaign on to remove J. Edgar Hoover from his post as Director of the FBI. Thus far Mr. Hoover's detractors are limiting themselves to an "inside job" of innuendoes, harassments and the creation of administrative difficulties. They hope through these tactics to force Hoover's "voluntary" withdrawal, working on the theory that the 65 year old FBI Director may feel that his more than thirty years of service entitles him to dignified retirement.

The Chapter Chaplain, Mrs. Bernice Rush, conducted a memorial service for a deceased member, Mrs. Vera Kelley.

Mrs. Edna Carey gave a resume concerning the song of the month, "School Days", and it was sung by the members.

Mrs. Charles Tucker gave "Our Constitution Today" and said that only so long as we protect our Constitution, can it protect us. She stated that our fundamental beliefs are being attacked and destroyed and that all should be much in prayer for our Country and our way of life. She stressed voting for those who continue to support the Constitution and called attention to the theme of DAR for this year, "For evil to triumph, good men need only do nothing".

Mrs. Glenn Clauss showed a group of slides picturing the official insignia of the DAR. The golden wheel of the insignia represents a spinning wheel, the platinum distaff represents flax, the blue rim and the distaff carry the colors of the society, and the stars represent the original thirteen colonies.

An auction was held after which the meeting was adjourned to meet October 10 with Mrs. Carl Metheny of Bourbon. The hostess and her assistant, Mrs. Sherman Bybee, served refreshments to 18 members and one guest, Mrs. Allen Keirn of Akron, who has been accepted and has papers pending.

You can revive slightly stale bread or rolls, according to Purdue University home management specialists. Sprinkle it with a little water, put it in a paper bag and close the bag tightly. Place in a 350 degree oven from 10-15 minutes, then serve piping hot.

There are many small trees which grow and flower in Indiana. Some are the eastern redbud, the crabapple and the double flowering peach. Horticulturists at Purdue University say all of these may be planted this fall.

Purdue University clothing specialists say you can keep your sewing machine needle from sticking when sewing plastic material. Stitch a piece of waxed paper into the seam, and, when you have finished, tear the paper off.

One-half cup of cottage cheese provides about the same amount of protein as three ounces of meat or two and one-half cups of milk, according to Purdue University food specialists.

National P.T.A. Finds Varied Ways To Meet Range of Children's Needs

Major goals are the same in some 47,000 P.T.A.'s of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, even though ways of approaching them are as diverse as the various communities.

In Alaska, where children leave for school in the dark, every child carries a flashlight. To attend P.T.A. meetings the president of the Alaska Congress of Parents and Teachers frequently travels hundreds of miles per day in country where temperatures may stay around 25 below zero for weeks at a stretch. She can reach many communities only by small plane.

In Hawaii, the autumn ripening of the coffee crop makes fall the season for "summer" vacation from school. The state's mid-ocean locale makes the Hawaii Congress president an accessible consultant to parents and educators who fly in from Southeast Asia to learn more about the P.T.A.

American schools in Europe take advantage of their location to offer foreign language studies in elementary grades and to hold joint classes with native children. P.T.A.'s in the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers are concerned, too, with problems of establishing residence for children of U.S. servicemen and government employees applying for admission to stateside colleges.

Here in these far-flung areas as well as in all the areas where 47,000 P.T.A.'s serve, each local unit of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers adapts its own program to fit the needs of its youngsters.

"This is the way of the P.T.A.," says Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, of Roslyn Heights, L.I., N.Y., who now heads the 12-million-membership organization as National Congress president.

"We have one essential objective as an organization," she

Children of every age and heritage are the concern of the P.T.A., as the National Congress of Parents and Teachers this fall schedules a new membership effort aimed at adding more workers to the P.T.A. "team" that now includes more than 12,000,000.

notes. "It is the welfare of children. But our individual approaches to promoting their well-being may vary as widely as do the children themselves."

This fall the National Congress is scheduling a new membership effort to enroll more people—parents, teachers, other interested persons—in P.T.A. activities.

"They will find local programs challenging and vital," Mrs. Jenkins promises, "because P.T.A. activities center around the needs of each community and the children who are its future."

In Alaska, for example, the Congress of Parents and Teachers, concerned about education for children of homesteaders, is currently urging a study of road maintenance in outlying areas, so that children in isolated spots may be assured of passable routes to school.

Getting to school is a real problem, even in well-settled areas, according to Mrs. Robert C. Cole, who heads the Alaska Congress. Her home in Spenard is only eight miles from Anchorage, but morning and evening she sends the family dog along to protect her two children from wild moose that roam the woods in the quarter-mile area between home and bus stop.

P.T.A.'s in the nation's newest state are seeking to preserve Hawaiian culture in terms of dances, language, and music. Mrs. Teruo Yoshina, of Honolulu, president of the Hawaii Congress, sees this interest as an important segment of Hawaiian P.T.A. activity. Another aspect of the state's P.T.A. program—its emphasis on adult education—is of special interest to the groups from Thailand, Pakistan, India, Cambodia, and Indochina who have been entertained there during recent months.

Parent-teacher cooperation is something in most of the nations where the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers functions; but its president, J. Gordon Smock, finds that educators abroad are anxious to cooperate in joint programs to help American youngsters learn more about the culture and people of the countries in which they are living.

Meeting problems of a more conventional nature is "typically P.T.A.," as well, Mrs. Jenkins points out. For example, —The parking problems of some 500 students who drive to school daily at Elkhart (Ind.) High School recently gave rise to a P.T.A. survey of available parking space in the neighborhood. These students now have maps showing free and metered space, all within easy walking distance.

—Lack of a library in one of the elementary schools in Fords, N. J., was corrected through P.T.A. effort. Nearly 1,000 books were collected, indexed, and installed in shelves built by a P.T.A. father. Library service is dispensed by some of the P.T.A. mothers.

—Firearms safety is taught in special classes arranged by the Scottsdale Tavan (Ariz.) P.T.A., with "safe hunter" badges awarded to youngsters who complete training given by expert riflemen.

—An unprotected walk on a highway bridge, a twice-daily hazard in Boise, Idaho, for some 75 Whittier School pupils, got the P.T.A.'s attention. Now a protective railing, erected by the state highway department, makes the well-traveled route a safe one.

"In any of these situations," says Mrs. Jenkins, "the P.T.A. first sees and then serves a local need. Service to communities and to children everywhere will continue to grow as more and more persons join the P.T.A. local, state, and national partnership."

Farm Facts . . .

The supply of pork will be smaller this year than in 1960, according to Purdue University consumer education specialists, and the usual fall decline in pork prices is not expected to be as large as in previous years.

Horticulturists at Purdue University say to fertilize bluegrass lawns early in September. Fertilizer will help remedy summer damage and rejuvenate the lawn. Add 10 pounds of 10-8-6 fertilizer, or a similar analysis, per 1,000 square feet of lawn to lawns in good condition, and apply twice that amount—20 pounds per 1,000 square feet—to lawns in poor condition.

Transplant common evergreens, such as yews and junipers, now, advise Purdue University horticulturists. Wait until spring to transplant hemlocks, firs and broadleafed evergreens.

Purdue University horticulturists say to twist—don't pull—apples from the tree. The stem should be retained on the apple, and the fruit spur and twigs should be left on the tree, since the twigs will bear fruit next year.

You will whip cream faster, say Purdue University food specialists, if you chill the bowl, the beater and the cream.

Make sure that you have a good mulch, such as oat straw, ready to apply to strawberries after the ground has frozen solid, advise horticulturists at Purdue University.

Break-The-Fast

The atmosphere in which you serve your family's breakfast can make a difference in their day, advises Marcille Allen, Purdue University food specialist.

Breaking-the-fast with a well balanced meal is especially important when you realize that the average person hasn't eaten in the 8-14 hour period before breakfast. Skipping breakfast habitually is dangerous, and will soon affect a child's learning process. Irritability and emotional instability often follow.

One of the best methods of encouraging a good breakfast, suggests Miss Allen, is the family eating together as a unit, with the meal prepared and ready for them when they sit down to the table.

Cup, glasses and dishes of an appropriate size and shape are incentives for the pre-schoolers. Their inability to handle full sized utensils often discourages them from eating the proper amount of correct foods.

Serving modest-sized portions allows the child to finish his plate and possibly ask for more. The specialist suggests letting youngsters serve themselves. That allows their making a decision without the parent's losing control over food selection. Finger foods are popular with the young, too.

Getting the right start to a good day can be influenced by as simple a thing as a cheery tablecloth, floral centerpiece, pretty dinnerware, favorite foods, or a pleasant mannered mother attractively dressed for the day.

Clip the needle teeth on baby pigs to avoid injuries to litter mates and prevent scratches on the sow's udder, say Purdue University veterinarians.

How To Do Less Mending

For homemakers who would like to do less mending (and who wouldn't?), Frieda Stoll, Purdue University clothing specialist, tells how to keep clothes out of the mending basket longer.

In buying clothes, look for quality fabric, proper fit and sound construction, she counsels. Garments that receive hard wear and frequent laundering should be of firm fabric. Be sure shrinkage is controlled, as it may lead to strain which causes rips.

Proper fit prolongs the life of the garment, according to Mrs. Stoll. Fabrics are strained not only when clothing is too small, but also when it is too large.

Look for these details to be sure of sound construction: fabric cut on the correct grain, at least a half-inch seam width, stitches small enough to make a strong seam and use of strong thread. In work clothes or children's play clothes, check for reinforcements at knees and elbows, double or triple stitching and bar tacks at the ends of stitching.

The right care of clothes is an important mending preventative. "A stitch in time" applies to loose buttons, small tears and weak spots; apply it before garments are cleaned or laundered. Hanging clothes neatly on hangers gives them longer wearability.

The Chicago Motor Club says that choosing the proper lane—and staying in that lane—is essential to safe driving in heavy traffic. Weaving from lane to lane in heavy traffic in an effort to get ahead fast is a dangerous driving habit.

Plan Now For Spring Flowers

Purdue University horticulturists advise lovers of spring flowers such as crocus, daffodils and tulips to plant the bulbs as soon as they become available this fall. This enables their root systems to become established before spring. Then, when the first warm days arrive the plants are ready to bloom.

Before planting the bulbs mix two or three pounds of 12-12-12 fertilizer per 100 square feet of bed into the soil to insure continued fertility.

Key to beauty in planting spring bulbs is to set them in groups according to variety and color. Avoid straight rows, the horticulturists say. The "mass effect" of the groupings makes even the smallest flowers stand out.

Small bulbs should be planted about three inches apart. Large bulbs, such as tulips and daffodils, should be set six inches apart. Small bulbs should be set so that their tops are two inches below the soil surface, while large bulbs should be planted so their tops will be six inches below the surface.

Plucky Stevie Helps Science Toward Answer to Arthritis

Stevie Vardol gives blood sample to laboratory nurse.

For plucky Stevie Vardol, 10, life much of the time is just an unhappy succession of giving samples of his body to science.

But Stevie, who would rather be swimming and roller skating in Minneapolis (if he only could) than spending endless hours in the Children's Rheumatic Clinic of the University of Minnesota Medical School, doesn't feel sorry for himself. He knows he is doing a job that must be done: that the doctors' appraisal of the tissue samples from his swollen knees, specimens of knee-joint fluid, and of his blood may in time prevent in other children the affliction that befell him three painful years ago.

Stevie has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis in the knees, hands, wrists.

Throughout the nation, another 30,000 Stevies—or their small sisters—also suffer each year from this excruciating disease. With March of Dimes funds, The National Foundation (which made possible development of the Salk polio vaccine) is today supporting the University of Minnesota's Children's Rheumatism Clinic with a research grant. Other arthritis research projects are under way at the Rockefeller Institute, at New York University, the University of Buffalo and at other famed scientific institutions, all financed by the March of Dimes.

Additionally, The National Foundation has established arthritis study centers at Columbia University, the University of Rochester (N. Y.), the University of Texas at Dallas and the University of California at San Francisco.

The doctors confidently tell Stevie they will solve the enigma of rheumatoid arthritis in time, and find a preventive, given enough support. But they don't delude this valiant little boy or his puzzled father and mother who ask, despairingly, "Why should this happen to us, to Stevie?" The medical scientists look him squarely in the eye and say, "We just can't promise we'll make you well again. But then again, perhaps eventually we will."

Stevie's stout answer is to roll up his sleeve for another ten cc's of his blood (which contains an abnormal protein, a mark of his disease); or to pull up his trouser leg to give up another specimen of lubricating fluid from his knee.

In the laboratory, Stevie's blood is compared painstakingly to normal blood in the incessant search for an answer to what is wrong with Stevie and with the other 30,000 children. Perhaps what is wrong is an abnormal development of antibodies. Antibodies are the substance that combat bacteria. Then, samples of the connective tissue around his knees are studied and photographed under the giant electron microscope and compared to normal tissue.

Stevie doesn't cry although his doctors say that the pain he suffers at times beggars description. He is not a "guinea pig" in the full medical sense of the term. But the resolute and uncomplaining bearing of this young gentleman of only 10 is evidence that he knows he is a volunteer of the fight against the nation's No. 1 Crippler—arthritis which, in one or another form, strikes at 11 million Americans.

SUBURBS TAKE OVER MILLION FARM ACRES

Urban spread took up 1 million acres of farm land in the past 12 months, says the Department of Agriculture. And the trend of converting crop land for city and other non-agricultural uses is accelerating. A "castaway" resembling four giant aluminum cookers mounted on a platform, has been set adrift in the Gulf of Mexico to watch for hurricanes. The robot station, 300 miles south of New Orleans, is transmitting coded data on air and water temperatures, barometric pressures, and the speed and direction of wind and water currents. Earth's poles of rotation "wandered" about 15 centimeters last year. The world's axis is affected by such things as erosion, geological land shifts, and even by movement of large air masses and ocean currents.

Oxygen for astronauts may come from sunlight if a new device, developed by an air force research scientist, proves successful. The machine uses solar energy and grass-like algae to change the carbon dioxide exhaled by space travelers into a new supply of oxygen. Missile base construction in the U.S., according to most recent planning, will use enough structural steel to build 26 Empire State Buildings, enough concrete to construct seven Pentagons, and enough power to light a city of 250,000. The scrape of a knife against the bottom of a metal saucepan is the sound most annoying to man, reports Britain's National Physics Laboratory.

New car buyers, who this summer preferred light-colored autos, according to a survey by Holland Color and Chemical Co., probably will switch their preference to the darker hues as the weather turns colder, the company predicts. Weather conditions and time of year, as well as natural preference, affect color choice. Traffic congestion may be eased by a new computer idea developed at the University of Southern California. The unit would be linked with the local telephone system. You would call the computer switchboard, tell operator where you're going, and the information would be programmed into the computer—which would know all traffic routes and where everyone else is going at the moment. The computer would think it over quickly and give you the best route.

Recent tests show that white rats, considered excellent uniform subjects for experiments, number some extreme individualists in their midst. The rats revealed their distinct personalities at the University of Texas where they were allowed to select food, drink, and exercise. One rat ate 17 times as much sugar as another, one drank 15 times as much alcohol as another, and one lazy subject traveled the equivalent of 150 feet a day while another averaged an ambitious six miles. A Pagan Temple, dating from 12th century B.C., and the oldest known in Greece, has just been discovered on Kea Island, 42 miles south-east of Athens.

When you grade your lawn, avoid steep slopes, except where necessary, since they tend to dry out making it difficult to maintain grass. Purdue University horticulturists advise adding extra topsoil and peat on banks to help counteract natural drying out.

Swine brucellosis is a constant threat, warn veterinary scientists at Purdue University. All breeding swine should be routinely tested by a veterinarian before breeding. All infested animals should be immediately removed from the herd.

FFA Attends
Farm Progress Show

The Mentone FFA left early Tuesday morning and attended the 1961 Farm Progress Show, near Rennselaer. A total of 37 boys and their advisor, Morris Bitzer, who was driving the bus, were on the trip.

The Farm Progress Show was on a 500-acre farm with over 50 acres of the farm being covered with farm implements and exhibit tents. The boys all got big shopping bags and brought home plenty of free items.

Due to the rain they were unable to see any actual work in practice but saw the corn, soybean and alfalfa demonstration plots, plus many demonstrations of farm machinery and some livestock.

SON IS BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kindig are the parents of a son, Tony Dee, born Monday at the Murphy Medical Center at Warsaw. He weighed six pounds, eight ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kindig, of east of Mentone, and Mr. and Mrs. Foy Eisaman of Barbee Lake.

"LEAVE IT TO GRANDMA"

The Mentone senior class play, "Leave It To Grandma", is ready for production. It will be given Friday and Saturday nights at 8:00 p.m. in the Mentone gym. Seniors have been selling reserved tickets, but there are still several good reserved seats available and tickets may be bought at the door. Also there is plenty of bleacher space. All bleacher tickets will be sold at the door.

Linda Smythe will sing, "September Song" and "Civilization", accompanied by Tana Henderson. Ushers will be Karen Menzie, Janice Yeater, Nena Wallis, Cheryl Olson, and Jacqueline Pfeiffer.

Everyone is invited and urged to attend this first activity of the Mentone school year and encourage the seniors. They are conducting their final projects in raising enough money for their long-anticipated senior trip in the spring. Come out and help the seniors! You'll really enjoy their play!

NEW SON

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Summe, of south of Mentone, are the parents of a four pound six and one-fourth ounce son, born by Caesarian section at the Woodlawn hospital at Rochester on Monday evening. The tiny lad, some 25 days premature, is doing nicely in an incubator.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Pat Walsh of Sevestopol and Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Summe of near Akron.

WITH THE SICK

George Wagner, Sr., of Macy, is suffering from a stroke.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rathbun called on Mrs. Agnes Rans at the Parkview Memorial hospital in Fort Wayne Sunday afternoon to find her improving.

SUFFERS STROKE

John Stiffler, 88, of Elkhart, was admitted to the Prairie View rest home at Warsaw last week. He had been at the Elkhart hospital after suffering a stroke at his home ten days previously.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. James Leslie returned to the home of her parents Friday after spending two days in the Murphy Medical Center. She was stricken Tuesday evening with a partial bowel block, and is expecting she may have to undergo surgery within a few weeks.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Am becoming more and more interested in the Japanese word for beauty, which is shibusu, (a word so full of meaning that it is nearly impossible to translate into English.)

Dr. Soetsu Yanagi says, "The world abounds with different aspects of beauty. The lovely, the powerful, the gay, the smart—all belong to the beautiful. Each person, according to his disposition and environment, will feel a special affinity to one or another aspect. But when his taste grows more refined, he will necessarily arrive at a beauty which is shibui. Many a term serves to denote the secret of beauty, but this is the final word."

Shibui describes a profound, unassuming, quiet feeling. A shibui thing (or person) is unobtrusive and unostentatious. It may have hidden attainments, but they are not paraded or displayed (More later.).

The editor stopped at Ward's store Monday to see when we could get some painting done here at the house. Isn't it strange that the first thing Ralph asked was, "When is the party?" Must be that most households operate at about the same tempo.

At a recent family reunion, talk got around to our children and their choices of occupations. Cousin Alice, who is the mother of four (three of them in college) very blithely said, "Well we've decided that we want our children to do exactly what they want to do whether it's teaching, typing, modeling, working in a factory, or picking up garbage!"

This was too good an opportunity to miss, so I said, "Alice, I want to be around and have a long talk with you the day your son begins working as a garbage collector." (Alice has a fine sense of humor, too.)

Note on Communism.

The idea of "one-worldism" is being promoted by the Communists and our children are number one targets. Be alert as to what your children read. Ask yourself, "Who wrote it? What is his background? For what purpose was it written? Who published it?"

Most Christians believe in the

LIONS ENTERTAIN

All enjoyed the delicious meal and the fine program.

In the general business session of the club, Lion President Kendall spoke further about the club's activities at the Mentone Park. The members have worked at the park on numerous occasions, and their most recent achievement was the installation of two swings. Committees in charge of the project are:

Bridge, Ralph Long and Raymond Lewis.

Paint, Paul Rush.
Skating, Lloyd Bowerman.

NEW DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bitzer of Mentone are the parents of a daughter, Melanie Jo, born Sunday at the Woodlawn hospital at Rochester. She weighed six pounds ten and one-half ounces. Mr. Bitzer is the Vocational Agriculture teacher at Mentone.

NEW SON

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Senff are the parents of a son, Robert Wayne, born Friday morning at the Woodlawn hospital, Rochester. He weighed seven pounds and two and one-half ounces. Mother and son came home Monday.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Same Ware of Mentone and Mrs. Harvey Senff of Tippecanoe.

John Frederick, principal of the Mentone school, and his son Joe (also a principal at Concord high school) had their pictures in the Warsaw paper this week, along with a six pound four ounce bass Joe caught on McClure Lake Saturday.

Trained Leaders and Minds

Dr. Earl L. Butz, Purdue University's dean of Agriculture, declared that "responsible leadership and trained minds represent the most powerful resource at our disposal in America today." Yet, he added, "we seldom regard these items as one of our main resources."

Butz addressed the annual 4-H conference luncheon at the Conrad Hilton hotel.

He pointed out that "the breathtaking" rapidity of agricultural change has brought difficulties in making the resulting economic, social and political adjustments.

"In this setting it is particularly important that we give every emphasis to the development of competent leadership among both our young people and our adults," Butz said.

"The resource of trained leadership and intelligent minds is not exhaustible," he added. "... it increases with use. It wastes from non-use. The more you use it, the more you have of it. The more you share it, the more there is to share. In this respect, it is truly a unique resource."

Butz asserted that in today's technological age, "leadership and brainpower will be the critical factor undergirding further growth of our economy. It is to the development of this area that the agricultural extension service is dedicated and back of it the whole land grant college movement in America."

"So long as we continue to support generously the programs of youth development, in both rural and our urban areas, our economy can only continue to expand and to provide for all of us a higher standard of living than our fathers knew and to provide in turn a higher standard of living for our children than we know," he declared.

Freeze 'Em Now

Freeze green peppers now before cool weather frosts do it for you, recommends Marcile Allen, Purdue University food specialist. Take advantage of sweet peppers from the garden or those in plentiful supply at local markets to put down in the freezer for future use.

Green peppers have more to offer than attractive color and distinctive flavor, says the specialist. They rate high in vitamins C, A, and minerals. Made to order for the weight-watcher, a medium sized pepper has only 16 calories, and may be used in a low-sodium diet.

One of the easiest vegetables to freeze, green peppers don't have to be heated in boiling water or steam before packing for the freezer. Those frozen without heating are best for use in uncooked foods. Heated peppers are good for use in cooking.

Select firm, crisp, thick-walled peppers for freezing, advises Miss Allen. Wash, cut out stems, halve and remove seeds. If desired, cut into half-inch strips or rings.

To freeze without heating, simply wrap or pack the amount needed for each serving. Leave no head space in the container and freeze immediately.

If the peppers will be used in cooked dishes, heat halves in boiling water three minutes, slices two minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain. Pack in freezer containers, leaving ½ inch head space for expansion during freezing. Seal container and freeze at once.

Fall Swine Raising Tips

Wide fluctuations in temperature, characteristic of autumn, can spell trouble for the hog raiser unless he is prepared for farrowing on very cool nights. Dick Hollandbeck and Jim Foster, Purdue University swine specialists, point out:

A pig farrowed in a room with the temperature less than 40 or 45 degrees will chill and a weakened condition may result. Hollandbeck and Foster advise farmers to bring out the heat lamps and make sure they are in good working condition.

Hog raisers are reminded to practice good sanitation, have the farrowing pens and sow as clean as possible, and to perform the same anemia controls expected in the winter. Injecting iron into the ham of the pig is an effective control method.

After pastures begin to decline in value, feeding hogs should be transferred to concrete feedlots, advise Hollandbeck and Foster. In a lot the feeder can control the feeding and know exactly what his hogs are eating. He can also control environmental conditions such as excessive dust, undesirable grasses and feeds and temperature.

Crickets Invade

Tiny, brownish-black crickets called Nemobius again this fall are invading Indiana homes, businesses, establishments and other lighted buildings. Bright lights attract them and they enter buildings through doors, windows and other openings.

Dave Matthews, Purdue University extension entomologist, says Nemobius is about an inch long and normally develops in grasslands, pastures and uncultivated fields. Generally, a few of these crickets are present in the fall, however, this year they are in the midst of a population explosion.

Heat and moisture affect cricket population, Matthews adds. Although they appear both day and night they are more abundant after dark. Congregating around lighted doors and porches, they enter the house or building any way they can. This species usually eats plant materials, but also feeds on soiled fabrics.

To control these crickets outside buildings, spray the immediate area with either chlordane or dieldrin. These spray materials should be applied to grass and vegetation around the foundations, on porches and around doors.

Matthews reminds home owners to follow the label directions in using the insecticides.

Fix Strawberries In Fall

Adding fertilizer to your strawberry patch this fall will boost the yield next spring, according to Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

Fall fertilization is important, he explains, because strawberry flower buds form in the autumn. Since these buds develop into next year's fruit, fertilizer applied this fall will increase the crop next spring.

Scheer recommends an application of five pounds of 5-20-20 analysis fertilizer per 100 feet of row.

In addition to fertilizing the plants this fall, you should pro-actually tapered rather than pointed. For daytime wear, the pointed pump is matched with a mid-heel shaped and curved to create the illusion of greater height.

This year's classic, the crescent, is a narrow flattened oval. Often designed in a combination of leathers, it has a substantial mid-heel height and is good for town wear.

The square toe burst on the fashion scene with almost no warning, comments Mrs. Sumner. Least squared and most familiar is the snipped toe, which looks like a pointed toe with its tip scissored off. The straight edge may progress to one or two inches wide. Teenagers are expected to accept this "square" for all occasions, either flat or on a one-inch heel.

Smooth, polished, grain or suede leathers hold the new line, yet allow comfort. Leather linings, smooth and kind to hosiery, are often tinted. Stacked leather heels blend harmoniously with the shoes' leather.

The newly pointed toe shape is elongated, slender and moderately sharp. Some styles are Scheer recommends an application of five pounds of 5-20-20 analysis fertilizer per 100 feet of row.

In addition to fertilizing the plants this fall, you should protect them against winter freeze-out with a mulch. Scheer suggests placing sufficient straw to cover a row at the row's end now so you'll be ready to cover the plants when the ground freezes solid.

Oat straw is excellent since the seed winter kills and little weed problem results. With other types of straw you can solve the weed problem by breaking open the bales and watering them to germinate the seed. When the weeds appear, kill them before applying the straw to the strawberry bed.

Additional information on strawberry culture is contained in Purdue memo HO 55-5, "Strawberry Growing in Indiana." Indiana residents can obtain a copy without charge from county agricultural agents.
