COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

Another Labor Day is gone and school days begin in earnest. Some mothers will enjoy the solitude while others will dread the unfamiliar quiet.

And speaking of Labor Day—we in the United States are experiencing one of the most "amazing economies of abundance" in our history. According to Elmer Roessner our economy is so bountiful that those out of work receive more in benefits than the average worker received in 1940, which was $25.20 a week, and much more than the average European worker receives today for a 44-hour week.

Food for thought:

What You Know Counts In Education (Indianapolis Star):

The National Education Association has surveyed 1,500 principals of elementary and high schools and reports the interesting discovery that the textbook is the most influential resource in the classroom.

It is really significant to find the first-place survival of the textbook conceded. It has to compete with great waves of audio-visual aids, personal experience exploration, field trips, television, clippings and scrapbooks—just about every imaginable supplementary source.

Worse, the textbook has all too often had to compete with its own mediocrity. If it is once again generally acknowledged as the most important material in the classroom, there should be hope for acceleration of demand for higher quality and more meat in its content.

How To Help the Gifted Child:

Dr. Popenoe says: "Since he really is smarter, much smarter, you'll have to start with that plain fact! Try to give him more responsibilities, more 'accomplishment' (Continued on back page)

FARM LEADER ASKS TAX REVISION TO BENEFIT SCHOOLS

Indiana Farm Bureau President George Doup placed full responsibility for solving the state's fiscal problems on the 1963 Indiana General Assembly, in a statement made at the state convention August 22, at Indianapolis, when he said:

Millions of additional tax dollars will be saddled on homeowners, farmers, industry and other property owners if the 1963 General Assembly fails to adjust state tax laws. A "no" vote for tax revision to increase state revenue is a "yes" vote for added property taxes at home.

Indiana's fiscal position has deteriorated to the point that the present rate of state payments to local schools cannot continue unless something is done by the legislature. Current state income will not permit it. Deficit spending for the last several years, as authorized by the General Assembly, has destroyed the surplus, so that this source of financing is no longer available.

New moneys must be raised to restore a sound surplus balance for the state and to provide increased help for local schools. Only by such action, can Indiana maintain the strong, vigorous, fiscal reputation she has long enjoyed as well as support adequately the school cost obligations that should be borne by the state.

Optimism that an answer will be found is evidenced by the interest indicated in the statements and actions of leaders in both political parties and by economic organizations which have been studying this problem. More and more people are saying that this state financial situation cannot be allowed to continue. An answer must be found.
Legislators will be statesmen if they face this problem realistically and do something about it.

To be sure that local school support is increased a sizeable percentage, any new tax money raised should be dedicated to pay directly a portion of local school costs. This could be done by distributing it to school districts on a per pupil basis for building construction and maintenance, or debt servicing, or a combination of both. Tax law changes should spread the cost burden over a broader base. All citizens enjoy the benefits of good schools and should share Government costs.

The gross income tax should not be discarded. It has been a good and fair revenue producer.
It should be adjusted, either by rate revision or by incorporation of new ideas within its framework, or a combination of both,
to produce additional income.

N.E. Indiana Farm Tour

Dr. Fred N. Andrews, head of Purdue University's animal sciences department, will be principal speaker at a noon luncheon on the Northeastern Indiana
Farm Management tour Sept. 13.
The luncheon will be held at the Laketown school in Wabash county.

A steel and aluminum hog growing and finishing building and two farms will be viewed on the tour which begins at 9:30 a. m. at the Strauss elevator property at the east edge of Silver Lake in Kosciusko county.
There tour members will see wood and steel slotted floors with lagoon. Jim Frieden, manager of the elevator, will tell about the confinement program.
Then visitors will go to the Norman Little farm, five miles southwest of North Manchester in Wabash county. On the Little farm tour members will see an efficient, low cost hog operation which produces 100 litters a year and a 50-beef heifer feeding enterprise.

Lunch will be served at 12:30
p. m. at the Laketon school and Andrews, internationally recognized authority on the physiology of animal reproduction, will speak.

A young farm couple, Mr. and Mrs. Darle Dawes, will be hosts at the concluding stop. The Dawes farm, three miles northeast of Urbana on State Road 16, features a hog program emphasizing continuous farrowing (350 litters yearly) in a central house, an inside pig nursery and concrete finishing floor. In addition, the Dawes feed out 75 beef cattle each year.

Indiana evaporators produced 40,653,000 pounds of bulk, un-sweetened condensed skim milk last year, report state-federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue University. The output was 15 per cent smaller than in 1960.

Hoosier popcorn growers have planted 37,000 acres this year, 1,000 fewer than in 1961, according to state-federal statisticians at Purdue University.
They describe the crop's development at "ahead of usual."

Six pecks of seed per acre are usually sufficient for seeding wheat except for very late seedings, say Purdue University agronomists.

WEEDS MAY HAVE CURATIVE VALUE

Those annoying weeds in your garden might help restore your health some day. A University of Wisconsin pharmaceutical chemist, Prof. S. Morris Kupchan believes such weeds can contain medicinal drugs. He has examined a thousand species of vegetation from all over the world looking for extracts. A few months ago, the University reports, Professor Kupchan isolated from an Indian plant an agent effective against a type of cancer. The search goes on.

Cryogenic liquids so cold they make most metals brittle can be handled safely in new Tube Turns welded pipe fittings made of high-strength aluminum alloy. The lower the temperature, the tougher the metal gets. The fittings will carry liquid helium (at 452 degrees below Zero F., the coldest liquid known) for use in research.

An orange flavored fluoride tablet aimed at preventing tooth decay has been developed. It's primarily intended for pregnant women and children in areas where drinking water is deficient in fluorides.

A witchweed hunt is on in the Carolinas. The parasite, discovered in 1956, attacks corn, sugar cane, sorghum, grasses, hedges and some broadleafed plants, advises the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Herbicides are being sprayed on 450,000 acres in North and South Carolina under the state-supported USDA program.

Alert pilots could have avoided all 21 midair collisions in the U. S. in 1961 involving general aviation aircraft, says the Federal Aviation Agency. The FAA points out that in every accident one or both pilots had ample opportunity to see the other aircraft and move out of the way.

Vigilance, says the FAA, is the most effective preventative.

Motor vehicle deaths in the U. S. averaged 104 a day in 1961, reports the National Safety Council. Traffic accidents killed 38,000 during the year, 1 percent less than in 1960. There were 20 times as many deaths in 1961 as in 1910, the Council points out, but there were also 160 times as many vehicles, traveling farther and moving faster.

Space age jewelry is being made of stone called tektite believed to have fallen to the earth in meteorites. Tektite is found in Thailand, Georgia, Texas and Europe. Asians call it "chanta khant" meaning eclipse of the moon.

Hailstones are being collected in Central Illinois in the interests of science. State meteorologists and scientists of the Atomic Energy Commission will study them for traces of radioactivity. Gallon samples are requested from residents.

Order Spring Flowering Bulbs

Spring flowering bulbs are not only beautiful, but they just about give fool proof bloom. All they ask is to be planted in the fall. So get busy and order soon for beautiful bloom next spring, advise Purdue University extension horticulturists.

When ordering, buy top quality bulbs from a reputable concern, preferably a specialist. The reason for buying quality is that next year's flower is already formed inside top quality bulbs. There is nothing you can do to get a flower next spring if one has not already formed in the bulb when you buy it. There are no bargains—cheap bulbs are generally of poor quality.

Also, buy specific colors, not mixtures. You'll get better quality, and a group of a single color shows off much better than a mixture of colors.

For best results with daffodils, plant in mid-September, recommend the horticulturists. Plant tulips in September or October; and hyacinths from mid-October to early November.

Some of these dates may seem a little early, but enough time before winter for bulbs to grow good roots is necessary for quality bloom next spring.

Fall Lawn Fertilization

Lawns need fertilizer every fall. In fact, fall lawn fertilization is just as important as applying plant food in the spring, claims Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

Spreading fertilizer on the lawn in the autumn may repair the damage done by short summer rainfall, crabgrass and disease. And, in addition, the fertilizer will make the lawn green again.

A lawn in good condition should receive 10 pounds of fertilizer per 1,000 square feet, says Scheer. Double the application for a lawn in poor condition. Apply half the fertilizer in a north-south direction and half in an east-west direction to prevent streaking.

Many different kinds of fertilizer will give the desired results. Some are 10-3-7, 12-6-6, 10-6-4 and 20-10-5. The key is high nitrogen, which is the first number in each of the three number series. Phosphorus, second of the three numbers, should be low for repeated turf use. Potash is the other ingredient.

After spreading the fertilizer, be sure to rinse it from the grass leaves with water so it will get down into the root zone where the plants can use it, reminds Scheer.

IN MEMORY

"Silently one by one, in the infinite meadows of heaven, Blossomed the lovely stars, the forget-me-nots of the angels."

We shall never forget the words of cheer and comfort our friends have spoken in behalf of our beloved wife and mother during her illness. For the visits of the pastors who called at her bedside to comfort her, we are very grateful. Nor could we forget the many floral offerings that speak a silent language. And to all who had a part in the memorial services at the church we are truly thankful.

NEWS NOTES

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

The Northeastern Indiana Farm Management Tour will be held September 13th in Kosciusko and Wabash counties. The principle interest this year is in hog production.

The first stop will be at the Silver Lake Elevator at 9:30 to see their slotted floor house and lagoon for manure handling.

It looks like an interesting tour again this year. We have tried to avoid these great big farms that have tremendous financing behind them and visit average size farms. We hope to show things of interest where the operators are doing a good job. Our first management tour last year on a district basis was a real success. We are expecting more people this year.

The date for the agronomy field day at the Purdue Agronomy Farm has been set for September 20th. New crop varieties, weed and insect control and management practices will be on display.

Also on schedule for September 17th is the state Swine Management Tour. This will be held in Tipton and Clinton counties. I have the program details for these two events.

Farming is one of the most hazardous of all occupations. The accident rate is higher than it is among coal-miners or prize-fighters. When someone loses an arm or a family loses its father we don't make headlines except in our own immediate community.

There are no safety directors for farmers such as industries have. Nobody is coming around to see if your corn picker is safe or that the bull is gentle. Farmers are their own safety directors and they either depend upon good judgement or upon good luck.

One of the real hazards this fall is in filling silos. This job has always been risky but a new factor was introduced when we started using high levels of nitrogen on our corn crops. This has increased the nitrogen level in corn and has increased the rate of release of Nitrogen Dioxide as the corn goes through the ensiling process. Let me get into some details on this.

When silage is made, acids are produced as fermentation takes place. Temperatures go to 106 to 135 degrees just below the surface of the silage. During their fermentation period, acids are formed and Nitrous acid is one of them. With this much heat this acid breaks down into gases and Nitrogen Dioxide is one of the gases released. This stuff is real dangerous.

Nitrogen Dioxide is heavier than air and it is red in color. There are times when you can see it. Because of its weight it does not dissipate easily but rather it tends to settle. Some of these new feeding sheds built around the base of silos are a good place for it to settle into.

Doctors report that the disease that they call "Silo Filler's Disease" is hard to diagnose and difficult to treat. The symptoms are a severe congestion of the lungs, severe coughing, even drawing blood. The use of oxygen helps but it doesn't cure the trouble and the only real method of combating the trouble is to prevent it.

The formation of Nitrogen Dioxide gas only takes place while fermentation is in progress and this takes about 10 days to two weeks. This is the danger period. After that time the silo can be safely entered without much risk. So the precautions are simply these. Stay out of the silo and keep the kids out for a couple or three weeks after the silo has been filled. When you refill and have to go into the top, make sure the flower is running and finally be sure that there is plenty of ventilation in the feed room. These are rather easy ways to prevent a lot of serious trouble.

Save Gourds

Gourds are fun to grow and use, says Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

They are decorative and useful. And with proper harvest and care they will last for years.

Scheer recommends not to harvest gourds too soon. Leave them on the vines until the cold weather approaches, even if the vines have died. But be sure not to let them freeze. When harvesting collect only mature gourds which have hard shells. Cut them from the vine, retaining a portion of the stem.

Cure gourds in a warm, dry place, and when the seeds rattle as the gourd is shaken, they are ready for use.

Preserve gourds by scraping, or sandpapering, and shellacking the outer surface. This will prevent the color from disappearing as they age.

War Mothers Meet With Mrs. Cook

Mothers of World War II met with Mrs. Emma Cook for their August meeting, with 11 members present.

Dora Whetstone, Sergeant-at-arms, prepared the altar and presented the colors, followed by prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Cook. The group sang a verse of "The Star Spangled Banner" and the secretary's report was read and approved.

It was voted to send $5.00 to our state project, which in turn will be distributed among our veterans' hospitals. We were happy to be able to loan Kenneth Leiter a wheel chair. One pair of bed rails were returned. Reports were made by members on sales of cards, napkins, etc., which the unit had recently sponsored; also each expressed their appreciation for the public response, which will help us to send more funds to our eleven state hospitals and thus help to brighten the lives of the sadly forgotten men—our American war veterans.

The meeting was closed by repeating the Mothers' Creed, retiring the colors, prayer by the chaplain and singing one verse of "God Bless America."

Married Aug. 25

Miss Diana Kay Ballenger became the bride of Larry Wayne Nellans in a candlelight ceremony at eight o'clock Saturday evening, Aug. 25 in the First Baptist church at Mentone. Rev. David Gosser, Kokomo, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with baskets of white gladioli and palms.

Mrs. Jay Swick, organist, and Mrs. Archie Leckhone, soloist, both of Mentone, presented the wedding music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ballenger, of Mentone. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nellans, also of Mentone.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in a gown of imported silk organza fashioned with a high neckline and short sleeves. Appliques of seed pearls on the bodice were repeated down the front of the skirt. A small bow marked the waist and formed a panel which swept into a chapel length train. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell from a Swedish crown of seed pearls and crystal drops. She carried an arrangement of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis and a white orchid.

Mrs. Mickey Eaton, of Rochester, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Sue Welty and Miss Janice Mollenhour, Mentone, Miss Marilyn Harrington of Indianapolis, Miss Jill Wilson of Elkhart, and Miss Christy Temple of Peru. They wore gowns of aqua silk organza over taffeta styled with scooped necklines and semi-bell shaped skirts. Each wore a matching fabric rose with a circular veil. They carried a half moon of gold chalice roses and white gamelias.

William Nellans, Mentone, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Ushers were John Hall, Spence Shellabarger and Steve McSherry, all of Warsaw. Mickey Eaton of Rochester and Larry Hatfield of Mentone.

Kevin and Kim Eaton, nephews of the bride, were the ring bearers. The candles were lighted by Jeanell Jefferies and Linda Fisher.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Steer Inn near Silver Lake. Assisting at the reception table were Miss Janet Besson, Miss Melody Ballenger, Miss Kitty Franks and Miss Judy Besson. Mrs. Orvin Thompson was in charge of the guest book.

As the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to northern Michigan, the bride was wearing a sheath dress of light gold brocade with a matching coat and black accessories.

The couple will make their home at the Solomon Trailer Town in Bloomington. Both are students at Indiana University. The bride is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. The bridegroom is affiliated with Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Corn, Soybean Field Day

A corn and soybean field day will be held at Purdue University's agronomy farm, seven miles northwest of Lafayette on U. S. 52, on Thursday, Sept. 20, 1962.

Tours are scheduled for visitors to view experimental plots starting at 8:30 a.m. and continuing until 10:30 a.m.

Following a lunch which will be served on the grounds, an afternoon program will feature a talk by Dr. Werner Nelson of the American Potash Institute.

Topics to be discussed on the tour by Purdue botany and plant pathologists and agronomy specialists include soybean varieties, disease resistance, date and rate of seeding; corn disease resistance and standing ability; chemical weed control on corn and soybeans; high amylose corn; Japanese beetles threat to soybeans; zinc deficiency symptoms; factors limiting corn yields; rates of nitrogen for corn; hybrid sorgum response under high fertility and high populations, and importance of sod crops before corn.

Ice cream production in Indiana in 1961 totaled a record 29,602,000 gallons. This was five per cent larger than 1960 production, a previous high, say state-federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue University.

ishments," stimulating recreation, good reading, enriched opportunities for learning outside the classroom, and plenty of friends. There is no easy and foolproof way of handling these very bright children, however, particularly in the ordinary school."

Joseph N. Bell, writing in The Lion (July-August) says: "This is a primary problem of education."

"More and more schools are providing special classes, special instruction within classes and special stimuli for children who can accept much more than the routine curriculum."

"Finally, superior youngsters should be helped—as much as necessary—to make sure they get the maximum education possible or useful to them. College is terribly expensive today. True, there are more scholarships than ever before, mostly sponsored by American business which is becoming more alert to the importance of helping bright youngsters get an education. But scholarships seldom pay the freight altogether. These kids still need clothes, transportation, food and lodging and other smaller expenses. And many of them simply don't have the money to pay for these auxiliary items. Superior kids aren't necessarily from well-to-do families. There are just as many bright ones from the wrong side of the tracks.

"They should be assisted and encouraged in competing for scholarships and finding jobs that will help them pay their expenses at college. And where it's necessary, there should be a fund—in your town—from which they can borrow the money they need to get them through school, to be paid back as quickly as they are able. Here is an important service that your Lions club might well consider: the formation of a revolving scholarship fund from which superior students in your town can borrow to educate themselves."

We enjoyed this:
 As two cows were grazing near a highway, a huge tank truck of milk rumbled by with a sign, "Pasteurized, homogenized, standardized, vitamin A added," emblazoned on its side. One cow turned to the other and moaned, "Makes you feel sort of inadequate, doesn't it?"

The Mentone Senior class play has been chosen and practice started this week. It will be produced Friday and Saturday nights, Sept. 28 and 29.

It is a very expensive royalty play, based authentically on the NBC television and radio series. It is given by special permission from Sherry TV, Inc.

The Seniors are hoping the Mentone Community will fill the gym to capacity to see and enjoy their dramatic production, "Dragnet". Watch for further information about the play.

COUNTERPOINT

By The Editor's Wife

We have been doing some cleaning and sorting in the upper storage area of the garage (the garage, by the way, we have never used as a housing for the car). Ran across large pictures of my paternal grandfather and my maternal grandmother. The interesting bit about this is that they were married to each other when I appeared on the scene. Sounds complicated, but here is the story: At the time my mother and father were married, her father and his mother were deceased. Eventually, the remaining parents met and married each other. Now, the story can get complicated if you realize that my mother and father were step-brother and step-sister. My father's mother-in-law was his step-mother; my mother's step-father was her father-in-law. (I don't know what this makes me except mixed up, along with you readers).

The welcome, gentle rain which came a week or so ago to end our 17-day drought made me aware of Proverbs 3:6 which says, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and he shall direct thy path."

We know that many were praying for rain, and it came so quietly and softly, almost like a mist, it was providential—an answer to prayer. We join with others in giving thanks.

Had a short visit with John Fenstermaker Sunday afternoon. He is looking well. The Raymond Hirschmans had brought him over to spend the day at Bob's and Betty's, in their new home, and he was enjoying it.

Trust the articles on the Gifted Child didn't tire you. Have you started looking around your doorstep? You may find a gifted child nearer than you think.

Here are some points which Dr. Popenoe offers for parents. Check yourself and see how you rate.

1. You try to have your child grow into a thinking person who will keep on growing, not merely a little carbon copy of yourself who will give blind obedience to anyone in authority.
2. You try to develop in him the habit of taking care of his own needs, instead of waiting for you to do everything for him.

Beware Of Wonder Trees

Don't be fooled by misleading advertising and buy a "wonder tree," warn Purdue University extension horticulturists.

One of the most highly advertised and least desirable trees is the fast growing Ailanthus, or tree of heaven.

Even though it's fast-growing it's not desirable. Horticulturists say the Ailanthus tree roots will clog sewer lines, and since it is a soft tree, it is easily destroyed during wind storms. Disillusioned home owners find the female Ailanthus produces numerous seedlings, which are difficult to destroy, and the male Ailanthus has a bad odor.

Other fast growing, more desirable trees, according to the horticulturists, are the red maple, ash, sycamore, and tulip tree.

More information on tree varieties is contained in Mimeo HO 81-1, "Some Woody Ornamental plant Materials for Indiana," available free to Indiana residents

NFO ALL-OUT FEDING ACTION

A news release from the National Farmers' Organization on Tuesday states:

"Last week end many people in the cities for the first time realized that beef steak and pork chops come from the farms. All they had heard about in the cities is the tremendous surplus of farm products, but after only four days of the NFO holding action the consumers were being told about a shortage of meat developing and once again they found themselves being gouged by the middle man. They were being charged considerably higher prices for meat that had been processed before the all-out holding action even started. This price rise was entirely uncalled for and unjustified.

"We expect this to happen because of information we had previously gathered. Over a week ago the NFO sent information to the Justice Department and the proper congressional committees concerning the fact that a processor and chain stores had worked out an agreement to abruptly raise the price of meat to the consumers and requested that this be investigated.

"Every effort is being made to channel livestock into terminal markets where they will receive maximum publicity. The big effort was made to make Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City and Indianapolis markets appear normal for Monday's markets. Other markets were shorted in order to do this."

A meeting will be held Thursday evening, Sept. 13 at 8:00 p. m. in the Lake City Bank building at Warsaw.

Jim Beeson just returned from a trip to Wisconsin where he met with meat processors regarding contracts.

Some of the smaller livestock markets have closed for various reasons—short sales, fear of picket troubles, etc. The NFO has promised to refrain from damaging reprisals against farmers by pickets, but one can expect opposition in some areas to incite or execute misdemeanors which may appear as if they are acts of withholding farmers.

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

Fall lawn is important this year. We went through an extended drought and lawns are in need of some help in making a good fall growth so they can go through the winter in good shape.

We ought to always remember that we don't have a good lawn, we grow a good lawn. It is constantly growing with new green leaves replacing the older ones that are dying and that a lawn is growing and alive and all the rules of life and death apply to lawns.

Blue grass is a cool weather plant and it makes its best growth in the spring and fall. For this reason, it needs feeding in the fall just as much as in the spring and in these seasons where it has been hurt by drought, it especially needs it in order to recover quickly. On a good lawn, use 10 pounds of a good lawn fertilizer per 1000 square feet. On a poor one, double the rate. It should be done as soon as possible to give the blue-grass as much growing time as it can have.

I have been asked many times what the trees are that have been so widely advertised for ordering out of the east. They are one of the family called Robinia and that makes it a locust. These are apparently a fast growing hybrid dwarf and I would see no reason why they aren't all right if the price is reasonable.

It doesn't look like the best business in the world to order these things out of a news advertising when we have such capable nurserymen right here. Trees are living things, too, and they respond to good treatment just as you and I do.

Starlings are beginning to be a real concern for livestock feeders. They have congregated in large numbers in cattle lots and cause considerable waste of feed. This occurs by both actual feeding and by contamination. Studies have been made on the seriousness of this problem and it has been found that one starling can cause a loss of as much as one-fourth pound of feed per day. This isn't an estimate, this was found to have happened in a severe infestation.

If you think this is not serious, multiply this by ten thousand which is an estimate on some of the larger flocks and you get a figure of 2,500 lbs. of feed per day lost by bird feeding, waste and contamination. These are big figures, but an uncontrolled situation could be that bad.

There is also reasonably good evidence that starlings harbor and spread some livestock diseases. There is strong evidence that TGE is one of these and anything that can be done to bird proof farrowing houses should be done.

The date for the annual outlook meeting will be October 15th. We had a lot of fun last year on our price forecasting and I have the results tabulated. We'll do it again this year.

I would certainly like to know how many new silos have been built in the past couple of years in this county. There have been a lot of them, representing thousands of tons of capacity. Most of them will be used for cattle feeding and this trend to silage feeding represents a change in thinking concerning handling of cattle.

The trend is away from the use of an all grain ration and a heavy prime grade of cattle. There are a couple of good reasons for this and one simply is that people do not want fat meat. The other good reason is that we can produce more beef from an acre of corn silage than we can from an acre of corn harvested in the ear. A contributing factor is Dr. Mac Beeson's development of a silage supplement.

Disease prevention is much more economical than treating sick animals, say Purdue University veterinarians. Prevention of disease can be attained through management, including strict sanitation and immunization programs. Management and sanitation must be practiced in any successful livestock enterprise.

Extended Egg Quality

Oiling eggs extends their interior quality according to a number of scientific research reports from universities around the country, says David D. Jackson, Purdue University extension poultryman.

Work at Purdue and Minnesota shows the value of oiling eggs soon after they are laid. Oiling 30 minutes after eggs were laid resulted in the highest average "Haugh unit scores" for all holding times investigated. Interior quality is determined by breaking out each egg on a plate glass and measuring the height of the albumen (thick white). This measurement is expressed in "Haugh" units.

Jackson points out that an egg is only as good "quality-wise" as it was the moment it was laid. To prevent quality loss and assure the kind of egg homemakers want, it's up to the producer to hold quality loss to a minimum.

For best results eggs should be refrigerated mechanically in an egg room at about 50 degrees surrounded by air containing 75 to 80 per cent humidity. To further extend interior quality, spray-oil the eggs at the time of gathering with a light weight, colorless, odorless mineral oil designed for that purpose.

DANGER IN SILO FILLING

Silo - filling time can be a real danger period unless proper care is taken to avoid silage gases, says Donald E. Frantz, County Agricultural Agent.

High nitrate levels of corn will cause a large amount of nitrogen dioxide gas to be released during the period of fermentation. This can be very dangerous to persons working in or around the silo and can cause a respiratory trouble called "Silo-filler's Disease" by some doctors. The symptoms may be similar to bronchial pneumonia but do not respond to treatment.

The weather during August and September has been of a nature that would cause a high intake of nitrates into corn plants about silage making time.

The extended drought followed by good rains at the end of the growing season would cause plants to carry a high nitrate level.

The nitrate level of corn is reduced to a safe level by fermentation. Silos are safer after two weeks. Preventive measures are to avoid going into silo during danger periods and to ventilate feed rooms and barns where gas could settle.

Cryobiology is a new field in which scientists are looking for various ways to use cold for man's benefit. It is a combination of two sciences—cryogenics (extreme-low-temperature physics) and biology. A breakthrough already achieved is the freezing of cells to preserve them alive and unchanged indefinitely. It may be possible some day to freeze a human being solid, put him in storage and take him out hundreds of years later to start living again exactly the same condition as when he entered the deep freeze.

Butterflies can digest nothing but sugar, says the Smithsonian Institution. All other ingredients necessary for its adult life were stored up during its caterpillar stage.

Machining rubber is easy when it's frozen solid. This procedure is taken to remove troublesome flashings left on rubber or plastic parts after they are taken from the mold, reports Cardox. The flashings are quick-frozen with carbon dioxide (-100 degrees F.) and broken off nearly by tumbling or exposure to high velocity steel shot.

A nuclear gyroscope under development for the navy won't have any moving parts. The "magnetic induction gyroscope" will use spinning protons and electrons, aligned by a magnetic field. It is expected to be more accurate than the best existing gyros and far easier to make. Natural gas diamonds are "grown" for industrial use. The carbon-containing gas passes over seed diamonds and deposits carbon at temperatures of 1800 degrees F.

Length of takeoff necessary for an airplane increases with the above-sea-level altitude of the airport, according to a report by the Federal Aviation Agency, alarmed by accident reports indicating ignorance of this factor. A small plane which can become air-borne after a 1,000 foot run above sea level needs 2,000 feet at a 5,000-foot geodetic level and 3,000 feet of runway at an 8,000-foot altitude. Hotter temperatures also add to the length of takeoff needed, because the density of the air is less, the FAA points out.

Untreated dental cavities—700,000,000 of them—average four to every American, says the Emory University School of Dentistry. Only 40 percent of the population visits the dentist every year. Ninety-five percent of those who don't, should.

The U. S. Chemical Industry spends more of its own money on research than any other. In 1961 it invested $800 million in research.

Small Grain Publication

Recommended varieties of winter wheat, oats, barley and rye for fall planting in Indiana are listed in Research Bulletin 737, Small Grain Varieties for Indiana, published by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Purdue University.

The bulletin presents yield, test weight, lodging percentage and plant height—up to 5 year averages—over 10 Indiana locations for wheat, oats and barley. The publication tabulates the varieties recommended or acceptable. Balbo is the only rye recommended for Indiana.

A copy of Research Bulletin 737 will be sent free to Indiana residents who request it by writing the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. (A postal card is sufficient.) Be sure to ask for the publication by number and title. They are also available at county extension offices.

Potatoes—Fresh Or Processed?

If you use fresh potatoes, rather than processed ones, you save money, but spend more time in preparation, says Elkin Minter, Purdue University home management specialist.

This fact was brought to light when the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service compared the cost of various types of potatoes and the time needed to prepare them.

Considering both time and cost, frozen French fries are the most economical of the processed potato products. One serving costs 5.6 cents—only a third of a cent more than the price of French fries made from fresh frozen potatoes. You save about five minutes time in preparation using the frozen product.

Mashed potatoes made from fresh spuds cost 2.3 cents a single serving, while the dehydrated cost 3.4 cents. However, the potatoes out of a box save you 2½ minutes per serving.

If you're making scalloped potatoes, you save 2.6 minutes using dehydrated potatoes, but one serving costs 7 cents. A serving made from fresh potatoes is 3.6 cents.

Boiled whole potatoes cost only 4.6 cents a serving in the can. If you use fresh potatoes, a serving is only one half as much, but it takes 1.2 minutes more to prepare each serving if you peel them yourself.

Supply shade to protect livestock from the sun as well as flies and insects, advise animal scientists at Purdue University.

COUNTERPOINT. Continued

3. You try continually to provide him with appropriate chores in and outside the home, and to get him to accept responsibility for them, so he feels that he is a partner in the family.

4. You make it a point to get him into groups (play, Sunday school, outside classes, and the like) where he is thrown with his equals.

5. You teach him honesty by being honest with him, and by being honest with the world in his presence.

6. You teach him courtesy by treating him courteously and requiring that he show courtesy to others in the family and elsewhere, especially to the underprivileged.

7. You help him continually to understand that no one can do what he likes all the time, but that one can learn to like what he has to do.

8. You always refuse to discuss him in the presence of other people—when he himself is present—no matter how great the temptation to tell of the funny or foolish things he may have done.

9. You bear in mind at all times that the best way to get a child to do anything is to make him WANT to do it.

10. You are continually studying the subject, in order to be a better parent each year.

Note on Communism:
Shrimp will never whistle and communists will never change their basic dogmas. We must always keep this in mind when we hear the mistaken talk about "peaceful coexistence." There is no room upon this earth for the God-centered people of freedom and the people who believe and practice the materialistic philosophy of communism to exist together in peace. One must win over the other—and it is we who must do the winning!

—Life Line, Aug. 29, 1962.

This is worth knowing:
Robert L. Hogue, executive secretary for the Indiana State Poultry Association, in speaking of the growing poultry sales as a result of outdoor cooking and grilles, said the increase "easily could be 5 or 10 times." (Many people feel it is a big factor in bringing the poultry business a "shot in the arm.")

We enjoyed this:

Sam and Joe were in a duck blind, and Sam was boasting to Joe about his great abilities as a hunter.

Then a flight of ducks came over, and Sam took careful aim. He fired. Not a single duck came down.

Sam turned to Joe and with awe in his voice said, "Joe, you are now witnessing a miracle. Somewhere in that flight of ducks there flies a dead one."

FISH FRY AT TIPPECANOE

I.O.O.F. fish fry will be held at Tippecanoe Sept. 15th.

Destroy Left-Over Insecticide

Destroy small amounts of insecticide that will not be needed until next year, urge Purdue University extension entomologists.

Left-over insecticides create a safety hazard, especially for small children. Some of the chemicals lose their strength during extended storage and may not be worth saving.

Bury any insecticide left in the container, or at least discard it where it will not endanger animals or humans.

Burn empty paper cartons and bags. Rinse bottles before disposing of them.

If you have insecticides you wish to keep, the entomologists suggest the following storage rules: Always store insecticides in its original container, out of the reach of children. Never leave a container unmarked—it may be confused with a non-toxic material. For example, a child may be injured by drinking an insecticide kept in a soft bottle.

Entomologists emphasize that the proper use of insecticides has increased our food supply, lessened the danger of disease, and provided freedom from insect annoyance.

MANY TAKE FARM TOUR

Over 500 farmers from north-eastern Indiana and nearby states were in Kosciusko and Wabash Counties, Thursday, September 13th, for the Northeastern Indiana Farm Management Tour. Three hog farms were visited and management practices were explained. Jim Freden, Silver Lake, Norman Little and Darle Dawes of Wabash County were host farmers.

Dr. Fred Andrews, head of the Animal Science Department at Purdue, spoke to the group at noon luncheon at Laketon. He said hog farmers are meeting the demand for change from animal fats to red meat and must continue to do so. He said that pork demand does not respond to price changes favorably as other meats and hog producers must continue to improve their product and cut their costs of production.

Pete Gerard of Whitley County, Dale Miller of Wabash County, and Donald Frantz and Frank Miller of Kosciusko County, Agricultural Extension Agents, were in charge of the farm stops.

Effects of Sun On Fabrics

To keep color fading at a minimum, dry your clothes on the line between 9 and 11 a. m.; but if you want to bleach them, hang them out after 11 a. m., suggests Elkin Minter, home management specialist at Purdue University.

While that bright morning sun is drying your clothes quickly it is also affecting the fabric, she observes. Bright sunshine may cause color fading, bleaching, loss of whiteness and weakening of fibers.

Recent tests on the effects of outdoor drying of cotton percales show that the sun affects fabrics differently, varying with the time of day and season of the year.

The tests show there is more bleaching and color fading during the midsummer months, while there is better retention of whiteness in late summer. The sun takes its toll on fiber strength in the summer months. Fibers of unbleached fabrics are weakened more than bleached fabric fibers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Goshert, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Stickle, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kehoe, were Wednesday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Blackwell.

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

Here a while back one of our automobile dealers was kidding me because I hadn't been able to play golf but four or five times each summer. He said that if he had my job he'd play golf every afternoon that it didn't rain. Then about half seriously, he asked what I did all day and I tried to tell him but I didn't do a very good job of it.

I kept a record of most of the different kinds of requests for information that came into the office during the last few days of August and a few this month. We didn't get them all down, just the ones that came directly to me and probably some were not recorded. It was actually real interesting to me to see about a ten day list of requests for information.

Two people had trouble with insects called Millipedes, they were in the lawn and a few in the house and one man called from near Akron and said they were in his corn field in hordes. They sure were. One young man was in need of data on mint diseases and we are accumulating that for him and a lady wanted to know how to keep weevils out of the soup beans she stores each winter. Two men wanted building plans, one for a grain storage and one for a cattle shed and another wanted plans for a 40 foot nail and glue truss. One lady asked for help in finding a tenant for her farm and another call was in regard to the 4-H trophies.

We have had a lot of requests for data on adding ground limestone. Another asked us to set up a suitable ration for ewes to be fed corn silage this winter.

Pocket gophers in lawns sent two people to County Agent's office and Japanese beetle sent three more. We had about three people wanting information on what to do about their puny maple trees.

* * *

New grain varieties are always of interest and we had four or five calls about wheat varieties and one on residual effect on wheat of preemergence weed chemicals used on beans. We had three cases of weed identification problems and two of insect identification. During this ten day period we also made fertilization recommendations on two golf courses and on three or four lawns and a strawberry patch. One lady's raspberries are dying.

During this period of time we had two tomato pickers wanting help to find work and one wanted help getting home down South. The employment service and the welfare office helped on these. One woman had bats in the attic of her house and would like to get rid of them and a cattle feeder asked us to check his ration for this winter and a factory worker wanted some details on raising a few feeder pigs. We had two people asking for fertilizer and spray recommendations on their orchards.

A grocer has been bothered with crickets in his store and asked about the safe use of chemicals and one farmer asked us to come up with some kind of control measures for black birds at wheat seeding time.

* * *

Peony blight troubles brought in one lady and questions on the N.F.O. sent in another and a request for dates on lamb pools brought in still another.

Purdue University horticulturists advise planting Madonna lily bulbs as soon as you can buy them this fall. Early planting helps them get established before cold weather.

Don't prune your hedge after the middle of September, caution Purdue University horticulturists. If you do, you may force new growth which will winter kill.

Tough new '63 Chevrolet Trucks are here!

...THE ONES THAT WHIPPED THE BAJA RUN...TOUGHEST UNDER THE SUN...
TO SHOW THE WORTH OF NEW ENGINES, FRAMES AND SUSPENSIONS!

Sometimes the caravan crept along for hours in low gear. It took 17 days to go 1,066 miles! This is the road near Loreto.

Round trip from Detroit to the end of the Baja Peninsula is over 8,000 miles.

Millions of years ago nature fashioned a proving ground for trucks that man can never duplicate. Today it is known as the Baja (bah' hah) California Peninsula, Mexico.

These pictures give you only a bare idea of the place. The road is fine for 140 miles below the U.S. border. Then the beating begins. Rocks and hard-baked ruts bang, jab and jerk the trucks from stem to stern. Loose sand makes them struggle and strain. Dust chokes them. Heat roasts them. Rivers drench them.

The Baja Run took this Chevrolet truck caravan 17 days to go the 1,066 miles.

All the trucks performed magnificently. Not one was forced to drop out because of mechanical difficulty.

Trucks that can take this kind of beating can take on your toughest truck jobs. Come in now and see tough quality-built '63 Chevrolet trucks with all their new improvements.

THESE RELIGIOUS MESSAGES ARE SPONSORED IN THE HOPE OF ENCOURAGING GREATER RECOGNITION OF MAN'S DEPENDENCE
IN HIS CHURCH FOR SPIRITUAL GUIDANCE

FOR THE MANY BLESSINGS TENDERED US..

Since life is real, life is earnest there is a solemnity and reverence surrounding the Church service. And this is as it should be, as it is the province of the Church to direct and point out the better way of life.

However, there are many joyous occasions on the Church calendar; occasions that lift us and bring an inward "mountain top" experience that worldly pleasures and activities cannot give. There are festivals such as the Harvest Home Festival and many others including Christmas and Easter.

The Harvest Home Festival is a spiritual lifting observance for it causes us to pause, count our blessings and give thanks.

There are inspiring and stimulating moments in every weekly service at the Church of your faith. They provide the desire, the security of faith to carry on through the week that follows.

DAR Meet At Steer Inn

The Anthony Nigo chapter of Mentone recently held the opening meeting of the year at a smorgasbord dinner at the Steer Inn. Miniature Constitutions complete with feather and quill were at each place on the table. These were made by Mrs. Marilyn Holt, Mrs. Garwin Eaton and Mrs. Clarence Tinkey. Guests were Mrs. Clarence Tinkey, Dr. Manasseh Cutler chapter, North Manchester, Manitou chapter, Rochester, and Agnes Pruyn Chapman chapter, Warsaw.

Following the dinner Mrs. Fred Surguy opened the meeting in the usual ritual followed by prayer, the pledge to the flag and the national anthem. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Pat Leiter and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Paul Shireman. Mrs. E. Igo gave the resolution resume on reaffirming the society's previous stand for the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Connelly Amendment, Monroe Doctrine, Bricker Amendment, the Pan-American Canal and the removal of the United Nations from the United States. The same resolution reaffirmed opposition to cultural exchange program, admittance of Red China to UN, World Government, Great Decisions program, registration of firearms, and all types of Federal Aid.

Mrs. Dale Cook, national defense chairman, read greetings for the new year from the national defense chairman, Washington, D.C., in which she said, "We would like to suggest at this time that there is nothing negative in our National Defense program as is so often mistakenly stated. Ours is a positive program, that of preserving our priceless heritage of freedom, and of protecting the Constitution, the sovereignty and the solvency of these United States. To this end we will oppose and expose whatever threatens this goal: we will exert every effort to alert the American people to the continuing assaults on national sovereignty and constitutional government."

Mrs. Wayne Smalley, American music chairman, introduced Miss Yvonne Rathfon, who sang one of the last songs published by the late Homer Rhodeheaver of Winona Lake.

Mrs. Frank Smith, chapter program chairman, introduced the guest of honor, the northern district director of Indiana DAR, Mrs. Waldon McBride of Crown Point, who spoke to the group relative to Constitution Week, Sept. 17-22, sponsored nationally by DAR each year. Mrs. McBride said we were now facing our greatest Constitutional crisis, that of socialism and finally communism. She said we must stand up to be counted even when it is not popular, and when we may be referred to as super-patriots, fundamentalists, right wing extremists, etc. Mrs. McBride stated that our Constitution is a precious heritage and with it comes privileges with which we have certain responsibilities and one of them is to preserve the Constitution intact as the founding fathers intended it should be. Our involvement in treaties and in the UN is fast voiding our Constitution. One of the examples is the present disarmament plan through the UN. She quoted Thomas Jefferson in 1821 thus, "It has long been my opinion that I have never shrunk from its expression . . . that the germ of dissolution of our federal government is in the Constitution of the federal judiciary; an irresponsible body for impeachment is scarcely a scare-crow . . . working like gravity by night and day, gaining a little today and a little tomorrow, and advancing its noiseless step like a thief over the field of jurisdiction until all shall be usurped from the States and the government of all be consolidated into one. To this I am opposed; because when all governments, domestic and foreign, in little as in great things, shall be drawn to Washington as the center of all power, it will render powerless the check provided of one government or another and will become as venal and oppressive as the government from which we separated."

The group adjourned by singing America. The chapter will meet Oct. 9 with the regent, Mrs. Fred Surguy.

Indiana production of cleaned timothy seed is forecast at 1,250,000 pounds, 36 per cent larger than the 1961 crop, according to state-federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue.

Key to quality nursery trees is a vigorous root system. Trees planted in cans or balled in burlap have better roots than those sold with bare roots.

Purdue University horticulturists say the flowering season of dwarf marigolds, snapdragons and alyssum can be extended by potting them and bringing them inside before frost. They should be placed in a sunny window.

Nourishing Snack Treats

Eating after school, during coffee break at work, while watching TV or when friends visit us is a common habit with most Americans.

But it's up to you to determine whether these snacks add nourishment as well as calories, says Marcile Allen, Purdue University food specialist.

Snacking without limits may dull the appetite for regular meals, too, she warns.

Snacks don't need to be specially purchased or prepared items. Instead, use foods from everyday meals. Meat and cheese cubes on toothpicks, hard cooked or deviled eggs, cheese or meat dips with vegetable sticks, milk, fruit, vegetables or sandwiches made with meat, cheese, fish or egg are good as well as nourishing.

Vary the form of fruits and vegetables by serving rings of cucumber, green pepper, pimento or apple and wedges of cabbage, head lettuce, tomatoes, oranges, pears and other fruits. Cauliflower flowerettes, radish roses, carrot or celery curls, and halves of apricots, plums or peaches are attractive.

The specialist recommends choosing snacks from foods that are in season, easy to fix, and that make important contributions to the diet.

Serve snacks as far from mealtime as possible to avoid curbing appetites, and count them as part of the day's total food intake, Miss Allen reminds.

Feeder calves should be wormed as they are placed in the feed lot, according to Purdue University extension veterinarians. The calves usually will show increased feed efficiency after worming.

If you plan to use the sow herd to glean corn fields this fall make certain the animals receive enough supplement to balance their daily nutrient intake, remind Purdue University animal scientists.

When you walk out of your grocery store you're the envy of a world of people.

It's easy to see why. You get better food, and you pay out less of your pay for it than people in the rest of the world. Here are some comparisons:

AMERICANS SPEND 20% OF INCOME FOR FOOD
 FRENCHMEN SPEND 40% OF INCOME FOR FOOD
 RUSSIANS SPEND 56% OF INCOME FOR FOOD

As Luther H. Hodges, United States Secretary of Commerce says: "The American consumer today is reaping the fruits of 170 years of progress in lowering costs for consumer goods measured in hours of work. We eat and live better than ever before."

These letters are prepared by Mrs. Elaine Dolch, Child Development Specialist, from Purdue University, and will be issued through the Kosciusko County Extension Office.

She discusses such topics as good toy storage, eating habits of children, learning to eat solid foods, when a 2-year old says "no" to everything, meal planning and etc.

Any young mother interested in receiving a copy of these letters for six months should write Mrs. McCleary, at the County Extension Office, Court House, Warsaw, or call 267-8971.

WEIGHTLESSNESS AFFECTS PLANTS

Prolonged weightlessness may not affect man, but plants—potential sources of oxygen and food on long space voyages—"go crazy" without the restraining influence of gravity. Prof. Chas. Lyons, Dartmouth College biologist working on the problem for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, reports that plants in a weightless state become twisted. Leaves and branches fold back around the stem, overlap, curl and twist. The roots of seedlings, he says, often spring up out of the soil instead of down into it. And even after these problems are solved, the professor believes, the effects of space ship vibrations on plants will be more difficult to nullify.

A semitropical fish that produces only female offspring is puzzling University of Michigan zoologists. The minnow-size fish, Poeciliopsis, is found from Arizona to Columbia. In nine laboratory generations, the researchers say, only female young have been born to one stream.

Sidewalk superintendents who are watching a new building going up in New York City have been accommodated as never before. They look through a specially constructed clear plastic fence 300 feet long and 8 feet high, a big improvement over the usual portholes. MENTONE P.T.A.
INVITES CANDIDATES

The Mentone Parent Teachers Association has invited all the candidates for the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation to appear at their October 10th meeting.

There will be a question and answer forum, which will be moderated by a superintendent from outside Kosciusko County.

The purpose of this meeting is to introduce the candidates to the public, who in turn will be able to vote intelligently in the November election. We feel that it is important that the people know the candidates and their knowledge of the school corporation.

All questions asked will be written questions; either hand it in before the meeting or during the meeting. They may be addressed to the group or individuals. Questions will be accepted at the meeting or may be mailed previous to the meeting. You may address your questions to Zanna Hammer, Mentone, Ind.

Zanna Hammer, president, urges all voters in the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation as well as the general public to be at this meeting, Wednesday, October 10, 7:30 p.m., at the Mentone school gym.

FALL COLOR TOUR

In a few weeks, foliage in the midwest will begin to turn to the beautiful shades of brown, gold, yellow, scarlet, purple, and red that makes autumn the favorite season of many nature lovers.

Two of the outstanding autumn drives in Indiana include Ind. 46 and Ind. 37 south of Spencer to Paoli, and U.S. 150 from Vincennes to New Albany. The best spots in the state for outstanding views of fall color will be found in the following Indiana State Parks:

The Shades, Turkey Run, McCormick's Creek, Brown County, Spring Mill, Clifty Falls, and Pokagon.

2 HOUR PARKING

State Highway men were busy today erecting two hour parking signs along Main Street.

It is hoped that this will help alleviate the parking problem in Mentone.

Town Board members stated that they were going to be enforced.

Also Officer Norton urged us to remind the citizens that Main Street being a State Highway, is subject to the State fine of $18.75, and not the usual parking fine of $1.00.

Mentone Lions Meet

The Mentone Lions Club met last Wednesday night at the Westminister Hotel Rainbow Room, with 47 persons present.

They treated their wives to a smorgasbord supper, after which Leroy Norris presented Cletis Griffith, of Etna Green, who spoke on his recent trip to Russia and Europe. He has some very interesting slides, which proved profitable and enjoyable to all.

Lloyd Bowerman is president of the Mentone Lions Club.

from our

County Agent

DONALD E. FRANTZ

The Northeastern Indiana Feeder Cattle grading demonstration will be held Friday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m., at the Shipshewana Sale Barn on Rd. 5.

This is a continuation of a series of meetings of this kind for the purpose of demonstrating what the various grades of cattle are and to discuss prices on feeder cattle. There will be eight different grades of feeder cattle shown with a finished animal from the same grade. Feeding programs that pay best for each of the different grades will be discussed.

Henry Mayo and Paul Mitchell of the Purdue livestock department will be in charge of the program. The Shipshewana Sale Barn and the Production Credit Association are cooperating along with County Extension committees of the area.

A cattle value estimating contest will be held again this year and this always results in a lot of fun.

There is no better time than right now to get soil samples for testing. It is much easier to do it in the fall than in the spring. You can drive over most of the pasture, hay and stubble fields and get the samples in a better condition than is possible when spring work and spring rains interfere.

We spend in excess of a million and a half dollars in this country on fertilizer and lime. It looks like an expenditure of this size is big enough to justify a little time, effort and money in finding out just what is needed. Sampling is not difficult and there is no person in the world qualified to do it better than the man who works and knows his own soil.

We had a "price guessing" contest at the Outlook meeting last year. We want to have another this year at the Outlook meeting on Oct. 15.

There was quite a variation in the estimates, as much as 100 per cent in some commodities. There was a lot of accuracy in forecasting grain prices which are under some stabilization by controls and supports but there certainly was a wide range in livestock and particularly in egg prices.

There is considerable discussion and comment as to the effect of crop programs, educational programs, support prices, and other control measures. There is great disagreement as to results.

Without any comment as to why, the records show that the 1962 crop acreage is the lowest it has ever been since records were first started 33 years ago. Wheat acreage is down 17 per cent from last year, corn, sorghum and oats are a little below last year. Barley has been also reduced a little.

Of the major crops only rice and soybeans have been increased. Each year sets a new soybean production record and what a mess we would have without it. If we could come up with another crop that would take as much acreage, it would certainly take the pressure off the feed grain situation.

Thin lawns can be toughened yet this fall with about 10 to 20 pounds of a lawn fertilizer per 1000 square feet. Bluegrass is a cool weather plant and will spread considerably into the bare spots if it has plenty of food.

Dr. Troy Cauley is an economist at Indiana University and is a most interesting and capable speaker. Writing in the Farmers Union Newsletter, he makes the point that the national debt, when taken into perspective with other economic factors, is not excessive. He makes several points and one is that while the national debt has gone up 15 per cent since 1945, private debt has gone up 300 per cent. He further states that while the debt was rising 15 per cent the gross national production was rising 150 per cent.

There is always some danger from pasturing livestock on sorghum or sudan grass after the plants have been frosted, according to Donald Frantz, County Agricultural Agent. This development of hydrocyanic acid by plants of the sorghum family occurs after the normal growth has been stopped by frosts, by drought conditions or by harvesting. The new growth can be extremely poisonous.

Amounts of acid formed by plants will decrease as the plant matures. After the seed heads are formed there is little possibility of danger. There can be a dangerous condition develop if there is a second growth from the root system or a regrowth after frosting. The stubble that sprouts after harvest for silage or hay can be extremely dangerous in the fall.

The use of mature sorghum plants for silage is not considered a hazard. Silage made from immature plants should be left in storage for several months before feeding.

'63 CORVAIR MONZA CONVERTIBLE

Hard as it may be to believe, this year's Chevy II is better, better than last year's and better than anything in its class. It combines all the new easy-care features of the big Chevrolet with its own wonderful attributes of parkable size, four- or six-cylinder fuel economy and interiors that'd do justice to cars with twice its price and half its charm.

Change it? Calm yourself, nobody's going to mess with a winner like this one! We did add self-adjusting brakes and a more fully aluminized muffler; interiors and outside trim are refined a bit, but the rest is pure Corvair with all the over-the-road goodness that implies. Oh yes, we changed the taillights so all those people you pass will know you're driving a '63.

It's Chevy Showtime '63!—See four entirely different kinds of cars at your Chevrolet Dealer's Showroom

ARCHEOLOGISTS FIND ANCIENT APARTMENTS

The first skyscraper city of the Americas has been located in the Mexican province of Chi-hauhau by a team of Arizona archeologists. Dr. Charles di Peso, director of the American Foundation at Dragoon, Ariz., says Casas Grandes ("big houses") was a city of 5,000 to 10,000 residents living in apartment buildings four and five stories high with running water and bunk beds. For reasons unknown, the city fell upon evil days and died out about 1200 A.D., long before the coming of the Spaniards in 1565.

Measles are killers. In the U. S. alone, one million persons contract measles each year and between 500 and 700 die from the disease. This is far more than polio kills. Children under five are principal victims. A new ultrasonic flaw-detecting car has been introduced in Chicago to probe the nation's railroad track with sound waves to uncover minute flaws. The Railroad Industrial Service Company cars will be able to check thousands of miles of steel rail each year. Flaw information is presented to the operator of the car on cathode-ray "memory" tubes that retain the image long enough to record it permanently.

The technology to build more powerful, faster-flying rockets is available in the U. S. but materials that can take the punishment aren't, according to a research team in Georgia Tech. One answer might be a new material called cermets, the researchers say. A blending of ceramics (oxides) and metals, cermets are strong, take rapid and gradual heating and function at very high temperatures. . . . Plastic windows for schools have been approved by the New York City Board of Standards and Appeals. An estimated $500,000 is spent each year for protection and replacement of glass in city schools.

Safest cars on the highway may well be those with gaudy paint jobs such as yellow and blue, according to the American Medical Association. A car decorated in this fashion makes it easier for others to judge how far away it is, says the AMA. . . . Adopted children in the U. S. increased 114 per cent between 1944 and 1960, reports the Children's Bureau. About 100,000 children are adopted in this country each year.

Hot-Air Balloon pilots' licenses will be tougher to get from now on. The Federal Aviation Agency has ruled that candidates will have to demonstrate safe and proper piloting techniques. The FAA was alarmed by hundreds of persons who obtained the licenses as a lark, never intending to fly in a balloon.

Heifers freshening this fall should be included in the milking herd several weeks before calving, say Purdue University extension dairymen. This acquaints them with the milking time schedule.

Pick pumpkin and squash with the stem on to prevent injury and early spoilage, say Purdue University horticulturists. Harvest them before frost and store them in a moderately warm, dry place with good air circulation.
