T.V.S.C. Tax Rate Is Cut 20c

By Board Members

The board of the Tippecanoe Valley School Corporation voted Thursday night to slice their proposed tax rate by 20c before presenting it to the county tax adjustment boards. This action came after a letter from Ralph Davis, board member who was on vacation, was read in which he stated he felt the rate was too high. Board members Cumberland and Gast expressed similar opinions and the group voted unanimously to cut the proposed budget in both the special fund and the tuition fund. The exact of this cut will be a reduction of $40,000 in the working balance of the corporation.

Board members made plans to attend a teacher's meeting at the Mentone school on Monday morning and to attend a dinner meeting at No. Webster in September where they will hear Carl Burt explain the new laws and regulations passed by the Indiana General Assembly.

Mrs. Robert (Nancy) Troyer of Akron was hired as a kindergarten teacher at Burket on a half-time basis and four new bus drivers were hired. Zelma McCloughan and Mary Esther Romine were re-hired as clerks for the Akron and Mentone schools, and the resignation of Leo Snell from the faculty of Akron High School was announced.

Superintendent Forbes was authorized to purchase visual aid equipment needed in corporation schools. The meeting adjourned at 11 p.m.

Parson Jones Speaks

Dear Mr. Publisher

I went over to my lawyer the other day to get some papers filled out. I know what I went after but I ain't quite sure what I got. The paper he drew up is as confusing to me as Chinese. Oh, he spoke in American all right - that is, he used our kind of words. It was the way he put 'em together that made 'em sound foreign. When he put in all them "hereinafters" and "aforesaid" my eyeballs just couldn't take it. I asked him how come lawyers didn't talk like regular people. He claimed it was so nobody would misunderstand it. Well sir, I'll agree with him there, cause you ain't likely to misunderstand what you can't understand.

I'm just awful thankful that Jesus didn't talk like lawyers. Can't you imagine how the story of the Good Samaritan might sound wrote by a legal expert. I kinda figure it would go this way:

The party of the first part, hereinafter referred to as "a man", was proceeding from said city of Jerusalem to said city of Jericho, when the party of the second part, hereinafter called "thieves", jumped and robbed the party of the first part, before mentioned in the above document, as "a man". Upon removing belongings of the first party the party of thieves struck said man, leaving him in need of medical attention. Passing down the aforementioned road, the party of the third part, came upon the party of the first part who had been beaten by the party of the second part. The third party passed by on the north side, twenty feet and six inches from the aforesaid victim.

Mr. Publisher, the hole blame thing has got so confusing that it would be easier to forget it.

No wonder them pore ole country folks was glad when Jesus came along teaching. They had been so used to listening to religious lawyers that they didn't know whether they were speaking in tongues or selling tobacco. I reckon with this specialized age coming on every occupation will have its own language, and nobody else will be able to understand 'em. It's pretty bad already. The college professors claim they can't understand the preachers with all a their theological double talk, but there pupils swear the professors ain't much better. Scientists claim that politicians are always beating around the bush, but when you listen to a scientist, you're not even sure what he's beating around.

Mr. Publisher, it looks to me like the Lord might be sending us another tower of Babel with its confusion of tongues. I gotta go now.

So short until earlier.
Parson Jones

New Books At The Library

Correction: Last week, under Organic Farming Magazine the statement should have read, "Don't cultivate plants; cultivate good soil, good plants will naturally follow." Good seed is also important, but the importance of developing good soil is the basic thought of the Organic Farming magazine.

New Books:
For Children: TONY'S BIRDS by Millicent E. Selsam. A Science "I can read" book.

EDITH & MR. BEAR, a Lonely Doll Story, by Dare Wright.

For Adults: THE LOOKING GLASS WAR - a new novel by John Le Carré. YOU AND ARCHITECTURE - a practical guide to the best in building, by Alfred Browning Parker. "If you have an appreciation for architecture, you will recognize and demand the best in building," - the keynote of the meaning, purpose and contents of this extraordinarily informative and illuminating book, profusely illustrated. A PILLAR OF IRON - Taylor Caldwell - a novel about Cicero and the Rome he tried to save.

Today's MEDITATION

The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Thursday, September 2, 1965

Read Philippians 4:4-9

Whatsoever things are true, . . . honest, . . . just, . . . pure, . . . lovely, . . . if there be any virtue, . . . think on these things. (Philippians 4:8)

A young lieutenant, ready to go to the battlefield, was told by his officer: "You will be in situations which now I cannot warn you of, nor can I tell you how you should act under these circumstances. At the critical moment you will probably be able to act more wisely than now we could possibly foresee."

God's battles against sin and ignorance depend on the creative acts of those who love Him. He has promised us that the Holy Spirit will be our guide. When we ask Him, He guides us in what is best for us.

Today the spreading of the gospel will be slow and partial if we do not count on poet and dramatist, composer and musician, painter and sculptor, as well as minister, evangelist, and prophet.

The Bible does not underline the virtues of all possible vocations, but it assures us that God approves those which do not violate the teachings of Jesus Christ. Persons dedicated to God, whatever their vocations, strengthen the spirit of all who are working to spread the gospel.

PRAYER: O God, we are Thy creatures, possessed of talents Thou hast given us. Grant us abundant guidance in their development and use. We ask in the name of the regenerating Christ. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: God's plan calls for our talents to be used in His service.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

FORT MILL, S.C., TIMES: "At this time of confusion, uncertainty and unrest in so many areas of activity we might well think of William Penn when in a critical period facing his people he met with the Indian chiefs and said, 'My friends, we have met on the highway of good faith. We are all one flesh and blood. Being brethren, we shall not take advantage of one another. When disputes arise we will settle them in council. Between us there shall be nothing but openness and love.' The Indian chiefs replied, 'While the rivers run and the sun shines we will live in peace with the children of William Penn.'"

CUERO, TEX., RECORD: "The mere fact that a boy or girl manages to get a college diploma does not necessarily testify conclusively that their education has been a success. . . . There are men and women who have never been inside of a college, but who, nevertheless, are better educated than some of the young graduates. When you know what we mean by this, you are beginning to show signs of education yourself."

EUSTIS, FLA., LAKE REGION NEWS: "The present administration seems vitally concerned over the RIGHTS of various persons and groups of persons. The administration talks boldly of the right of all to vote, the rights of marchers, the rights of sit-inners. But they do a complete about face when the subject of right-to-work is involved. Why? . . . The right to work is a constitutional privilege and we believe is embodied in the spirit of the right to pursue our way of life."

Alfalfa Seedings

Lafayette, Ind. Indiana farmers are being urged to make late summer alfalfa-grass seedings with a goal of four harvests next year—the first to be taken in May.

Purdue University extension agronomist Lester H. Smith recommends band seeding on a firm seedbed that may need rolling before and after seeding. Lime and fertilizer are important, especially phosphorus, so depend on a soil test for a guide.

Smith says Culver, Vernal, Cayuga or Progress seed should be used for stands to be down more than two years. They are high yielding, wilt and insect resistant. Culver shows excellent insect resistance, especially to spittlebug.

Ranger, although still available, is in the same category as a 25-year-old automobile, Smith says, when compared with new varieties.

For fast growing alfalfa varieties needed for one or two years, use Dupuits, FD-100, Orchies or Alfa, the agronomist recommends.

To step-up the yield, control erosion and insure against loss of the stand, seed orchardgrass, brome grass or timothy alone with alfalfa. Because the first crop is now harvested according to the early heading stage of the grass and these grasses head out in the order given above, a week or 10 days apart, a farmer is able to adjust forage harvesting around corn planting and weed control.

Parson Jones Speaks

Dear Mr. Publisher

Our worship services are now too long according to a recent article I read. It pointed out how us modern folks want everything done in a hurry. Mans life-span is increasing but his interest span is decreasing. Pretty soon we're gonna be all years and no ears.

I got to thinking Mr. Publisher, that maybe we oughta come up with some instant religion just like they got coffee. Maybe some Bible scholars could get together with a few scientist and come up with a religious power that would dissolve instantly with a little water. Right away it would go to work in the blood streams. Just think, no thinking would be needed and no sitting would be required. As a matter of fact the service would all happen so fast that churches could sell their pews and buy more water fountains.

With an arrangement like this, Mr. Publisher, so many of our folks wouldn't have to skip church. Fact is, if the present trend continues we may have to start calling churches "jump-ropes" - on account of they're being skipped so much. But with instant religion a fella could gulp down his breakfast, fly to church, snatch some powdered "holiness", and head for the beach where he could bake all day in the sun.

I reckon maybe you think I'm a little crazy with my idea, but lets fact it Sir, this is the age of compromise. For instance, folks got where they wouldn't take castor oil no more so com-pansys were forced to docter it up so's it would taste good. One company is even putting out chocolate covered green beans now, so's the kids will eat em. We're in the "please-everybody" age now. One time they put ole Simon Peter in jail cause he wouldn't change his mind. But, if ole Peter was living now-a-days he would say, "Wait a minute fellas, I think I can make a statement that will be pleasing to everybody."

The only thing about this instant religion deal, Mr. Publisher, is that if a man can't stand to be with the Almighty an hour, how in the world is he gonna make out for eternity. Course they say that up in heaven there ain't no time, so without watches folks wouldn't know what time it was now.

Well, I gotta be signing off for now. Me and the Madam are taking a trip to the beach. Who knows, maybe we'll run into a little instant happiness.

I remain your instant friend.

Yours truly,

Parson Jones

Read I Corinthians 3:5-13

Comfort your hearts and establish them in every good word and word. (II Thessalonians 2:17, RSV)

Going into St. Paul's in London, one can see the tomb of Sir Christopher Wren, who designed the cathedral. The inscription on the tomb written in Latin by his son means, "If you would see his monument, look around."

This could also be said of those humble craftsmen who built the great Gothic cathedral. When they were carving underneath the seats of the choir stalls, they knew that very few would ever see their work; still they made their designs with infinite skill and patience. They were not working primarily for profit or reward but to the glory of God.

Brother Lawrence in the monastery kitchen was even able to say that his dishes could be cleaned to God's glory. It was because of this attitude that he could assert God was as near to him in the kitchen as at the blessed sacrament.

Whatever work we can do can be well done or badly done. We honor God when we offer Him our work as our very best—in spirit as well as in the manner of doing it. We must pray each day that all our works may be begun, continued, and ended in God.

PRAYER: O God our Father, we pray for grace day by day to seek Thy glory and the good of our fellowmen. May we honor Thee in all we do. Through Christ our Lord we ask. Amen

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:

Work well done as unto God is worship offered in His name.

Maldwyn Edwards (Wales)

FARM NOTES

STONE MULCHES for shrubs are becoming increasingly popular in the midwest, according to Purdue University extension horticulturists.

They enhance the beauty of your shrubs and landscape, allow little weed growth, offer good drainage and aeration and are relatively permanent.

Instead of stone, you can apply organic mulches of peat moss, corn cobs or sawdust. They can do a good job of keeping weeds down and retaining moisture for your shrubs, but they are subject to decomposition an derosion. Corn cobs and sawdust usually won't look as nice as peat moss or gravel and can rib the soil of nitrogen. Organic mulches will permit a few weeds to grow on top.

All mulches, which can be applied now, should follow a good weed cleanup. Be sure to apply enough material to make an effective mulch. Four inches of material is a good average, the horticulturists say.

There is a wide variety of stone-type materials available as mulches. You could use anything from pea gravel to stones of golf ball size. Crushed limestone is available in several sizes, but should be washed.

Heart attack deaths among hunters occur three times as frequently as accidental deaths from gunshots, the Indiana Heart Association reports.

By Mary Whitman

Every child is fascinated by water at some stage of his life.

He may swim in the ocean, stroll along a beach, fish in the lake, skin dive in a tropical sea, take a boat trip on gulf or sound, and become curious about what he sees. The world is seventy-one per cent water and its mysteries fascinate young and old alike.

Scientists tell us that the future wealth of the world may be under water.

Ronald Rood, who wrote "The Sea and Its Wonderful Creatures" for Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wisconsin, points out some of the possibilities.

"Scientists know that if the salty sea water could be made fresh, people everywhere would have enough to drink, even in deserts. They know that there are many valuable metals and other substances dissolved in sea water, and scattered on the ocean bottom. Some day, someone will find the way to 'mine' the sea. Scientists also know that some day we may have to 'farm' the sea for algae to feed the earth's growing population."

A child who wants to know about marine life can find many juvenile books on the subject.

There are many sea creatures he's likely to know, from snails to starfish. Others will stir his imagination, such as the coelacanth thought to be extinct for 60 million years but recently caught, off the coast of Africa. He'll learn about seahorses, sea cucumbers and sperm whales.

Many marine books can be found at the counters of variety stores. The same stores often sell decorative fish of many kinds and equipment for raising them. The child who raises goldfish or guppies today could be the scientist of tomorrow who seeks new abundance in the seas around him.

Towel Service Begun At Talma

In a continuing process of trying to better meet the needs of the individual young person of the junior high school age, the physical education department of the Talma Junior High School took time to study the worthwhiteness of a towel service for the school. Chapman-Swihart Vows Said

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gene Swihart

Miss Ruth Elaine Chapman became the bride of Larry Gene Swihart at the Walnut Church of the Brethren on September 4. The Rev. Robert Eby officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms, and baskets of yellow daisies and tansies.

Parents of the couple are Mr.

and Mrs. William Chapman, R. 1, Argos, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Swihart, Tippecanoe.

Mrs. Francis Bright played wedding selections, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told", "Oh, Promise Me," "Beacuse", "I Love You Truly", and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length gown of white taffeta styled with a bell shaped skirt. The skirt was fuller in the back and formed a train. The front had a side unpressed pleat on each side and the front was appliqued with floral lace with iridescent sequins. The bodice was fashioned with a scalloped scooped neckline with iridescent sequins and long pointed sleeves of sheer nylon floral lace. The waist band was edged in taffeta and ended in a large bow with streamers in the back. A pearl and lace tiara topped with aurora borealis beads held her shoulder length veil of soft nylon net. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses centered with gold roses entwined with yellow net and greenery.

Mrs. Lowell Chapman, sister-in-law of the bride, attended as a member of honor and Mrs. Harold Chapman, another sister-in-law, was the bridesmaid. They wore identical street length dresses of gold taffeta brocade fashioned with short sleeves, round scooped necklines, controlled bell shaped skirts, and matching jackets. Matching gold pillbox hats completed their ensembles and held the short face veils. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and greenery centered with yellow daisies.

Robert Swihart of Tippecanoe attended his brother as best man and Gary Kinsey of Bourbon was groomsmen. Lowell Chapman, a brother of the bride, and Denny Kinsey, a cousin, were ushers.

One hundred guests were greeting at the reception which followed the wedding and which was held in the church basement. A four tiered wedding cake was trimmed in gold and decorated with miniature swans was served with golden punch, mints and nuts. Decorations were gold and white streamers centered by a white bell and were complimented by the gold candies which were used on the serving table.

The couple left to spend the week-end in Northern Michigan and the bride chose for her going away dress a black and white frock and wore the yellow rose corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they established residence at R. R. 1, Tippecanoe.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Triton High School and is employed at Dalite Screen in Warsaw. Mr. Swihart is a 1960 graduate of Tippecanoe High School and is employed at Heckmans Mfg. Co. in Nappanee.

Serving at the reception were Miss Linda Enders, Mrs. Harvey Hollar, Miss Sherry Shanafelt, schoolmates, and Mrs. Johnny Winterrowd, Mrs. Fred Becker and Mrs. Ruth Zentz. Dixie Shanafelt, cousins of the bridegroom, were in charge of the gifts. The bride's cousin, Janet Stephenson, held the guest book.

Out of town guests were present from Argos, Syracuse, Elkhart, So. Bend, Bourbon, and Fremont, Ohio.

D.A.R. Observes Constitution Week

"We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquillity, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

The immortal words from the beginning of a document of which birthday we celebrate on September 17. Despite its age, it adapts itself to each generation of Americans.

It was 10 years ago this summer that the permanent observation of Constitution Week was launched by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The President General at that time, Miss Gertrude S. Carraway, contacted Senator William F. Knowland and by concurrent Resolution introduced by Hon. Edgar W. Hiestand, it was adopted July 23, 1956 and signed into Public Law August 2, 1956.

A proclamation was issued on June 26th of this year by the President of the United States, some of which we give in part: "For one hundred seventy-eight years the Constitution of the United States has been the symbol of man's capacity to govern himself.

It has fostered government of, by, and for the people.

From its wisdom have flowed growing concepts of liberty, justice, and human dignity.

We owe it our freedom, past, present—and future.

For the Constitution is a living document. It is a relevant today as on September 17, 1787. It endowed us with a concept of government and a charter of liberty that combine the wisdom of the ages with the urgency of the nuclear age.

The Constitution is still the certain guarantee of our basic rights.

It is still the promise of protection from government—and by government.

But liberty is a blessing that must be constantly nurtured. In this rapidly changing world every American must understand the system of government by which we live—and for which so many have died.

I call on all our people to rededicate themselves to those common purposes for which the Constitution was established.

Therefore, I Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, designate the period beginning September 17 and ending September 23, 1965 as Constitution Week; and I urge the people of the United States to observe that week with appropriate ceremonies and activities in their schools and churches and in other suitable places to the end that our citizens may have a better understanding of the Constitution and of the rights and responsibilities of United States Citizenship."

It is human nature to take an inheritance for granted except as a matter of course, to deem it unnecessary to defend that which others have fought for, that it might be ours. And so, with many voices raised in criticism of American ideals, American institutions and American traditions, few think it worth while to call attention to the incalculable value of these ideals, institutions and traditions.

So today we celebrate 178 years of freedom, conscious of much that has yet to be done to be sure that this freedom continues to be preserved.

Let each of us dedicate our best effort. TO WORK FOR OUR CONSTITUTION!

People-Sized Beds Ease Nocturnal Strains

Pilgrims may have looked big to the Indians, but to the average American male today they would appear to be shrimps.

At Pilmouth Plantation in Plymouth, Mass., there is dramatic evidence that these 17th century stalwarts were about 5 feet 4 inches tall and rather narrow across the chest and shoulders.

It is not surprising that the size of their furniture was smaller than those we use now. The average chair was comparable to the modern typewriter chair and the average double bed measured only four feet in width.

Compare those statistics with that of government and private agencies which indicate that the average height of the American male today is five feet 10 inches.

In 1900 one out of 25 males between the ages of 20 and 30 grew to six feet or more in height. Within the same age group, figures for 1960 show that one out of five males reached 6' or more—an increase of 60%. Statistics for women indicate four per cent grow to 5'7" in 1900 as opposed to 18% who reached this height in 1960.

The bedding industry, recognizing the increasing rate of human growth, has provided modern man with proportionally larger sleeping surfaces through super-size bedding.

Doctors and psychologists claim that cramped sleeping quarters can result in not only backache and muscle cramp but give vent to many psychological disorders as well.

Therefore, it is recommended that a bed be 10" longer than its tallest occupant to ensure a sound, restful sleep. A man as short as 5'6" is not getting proper rest without super-size bedding.

much less a man who has reached the height of 5'10" and above.

Even the old size double bed at 72" in length and 54" wide provides each occupant with the same sleeping space as a baby's crib, depriving the individual of sufficient room to turn and move without construction in the normal course of his sleep. "People size" bedding alleviates this condition, however. Queen size bedding is 80" long and 60" wide. Kingsize bedding ranges from 80" long with 72" wide to 84" long and "wide."

Benefit Skating Party Planned

A benefit skating party has been scheduled for October 7 at the Rock Lake Rollerade to aid Gary (Stormy) Miller who was recently seriously injured in a car-motor scooter crash near Gilead. The young man remains in serious condition and the hospital bills have mounted rapidly. The skating party proceeds will be used to help pay medical expenses. Interested organizations are urged to contact Clarence Hirrell, owner of the skating rink, as he needs volunteers to help sell tickets.

Joint Inspection Of O.E.S. Chapters Held In Warsaw

The Order of the Eastern Star Joint Inspection was held September 1st at the Masonic Hall in Warsaw. The three chapters giving the work were Mentone Chapter #331 giving the Ritualistic Opening; Warsaw Chapter #83 giving the Ceremony of Initiating; and Pierceton Chapter #30 giving the Ritualistic Closing.

Among the distinguished guests present were Sally Turner, Worthy Grand Matron of the Indiana Grand Chapter; Clayton Herrick, Worthy Grand Patron of the Indiana Grand Chapter; Grand Elective Officer, Christine Conroy, Associate Grand Conduress; Grand Ruth, Grand Martha, Grand Elect, and Grand Sentinel; District Deputy from district #19 and our own District #20; and David J. Miller, Past Grand Patron.

The aim of our Grand Worthy Matron is to scatter sunshine and loving kindness. The theme used was the SUN. The Worthy Grand Matron and the District Deputy Dorothy Seley were presented corsages of yellow mums to represent the sun. The dining room was beautifully decorated with flowers and in each bouquet was an emblem to represent the sun with a happy face printed on it. The chapter room was decorated with floral arrangements in baskets representing a sunburst. These beautiful arrangements were made by Mrs. Pauline Riner of the Mentone Chapter.

The Worthy Grand Matron was escorted to the East and the DeMolay boys from the Warsaw Chapter formed her escort and as she passed by each boy drew a long stemmed rose from under his cape and presented it to her. The Worthy Grand Patron was escorted to the East and the Warsaw Chapter formed his escort. As he passed by each lovely girl gave him a candy kiss and bowed graciously.

The opening and closing odes were fitting for the theme of the evening, "Heavenly Sunshine" and "Open up your heart and let the Sunshine in."

A very inspiring address was then given by the Worthy Grand Matron Sally Turner, and also an address was given by the Worthy Grand Patron, Clayton Herrick. Greetings were then given by all the distinguished guests. The Worthy Matrons and Patrons in charge of the meeting were Mrs. Glenn Campton of Mentone, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Miner of Warsaw and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Logan of Pierceton.

After the closing there were refreshments served in the dining room during the fellowship hour.

Tana Sue Henderson Weds Larry Dean Beeson Here

The Mentone Methodist Church was the scene of the August 21 wedding of Miss Tana Sue Henderson and Mr. Larry Dean Beeson. The Rev. Glenn Campton officiated at the candlelight double-ring ceremony before an altar graced with beauty baskets of ivory gladioli, palms and candelabra. Ken White of Warsaw provided the wedding music.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henderson, R. R. 5, Warsaw, and Mr. and Mrs. James Beeson, R. R. 1, Etna Green.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a sheath styled gown of French silk faille. The high rise bodice, accented by appliques of Alencon lace, was fashioned with a bateau neckline and elbow length sleeves. The front panel of her gown was enhanced with Alencon lace appliques and the detachable full court train fell from a large appliqued Alencon lace bow. Her lace bordered mantilla fell to the shoulders and she carried a colonial bouquet of gardenias and Boston ivy.

Mrs. Edward Michaels, Dayton, Ohio, was the matron of honor and Miss Diane Henderson, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. They wore identical floor length gowns of willow green silk chiffon over taffeta. The high rise bodice featured a deep scooped neckline, elbow length sleeves and a satin cabbage rose at the back of the gown. Matching cabbage rose headpieces with veils completed their ensembles and each carried a colonial arrangement of deep gold daisy pompons.

Leslie Ann Henderson of Indianapolis, a cousin of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid and she wore a gown of soft gold silk chiffon fashioned identically with the honor attendants. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisy pompons.

Brian Romine, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Romine of Mentone, was the ringbearer.

Attending the bridegroom were Bill Nellans, Mentone, as bestman and Denny Fisher as groomsmen. Other gentlemen attendants were Carmen Henderson, Warsaw, and Dick Boggs of Leesburg. Jeff Henderson, Warsaw, and Den Boggs, Leesburg, lighted the candles.

A reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony. One hundred and seventy five guests were greeted by the couple.

Mrs. Gary Williams of Warsaw was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Bud Zolman, Bloomington, Mrs. Steve Creighton, Mrs. Jerry Ryman, and Mrs. Carmen Henderson served at the reception table. Each wore a corsage of gladiolus.

Mrs. Beeson is a graduate of Mentone High School and attended International College in Ft. Wayne. Mr. Beeson also graduate from Mentone High School and is a junior, majoring in business education, at Indiana University.

The newlyweds are residents in Cascade Village, Bloomington, following a wedding trip to northern Michigan and Canada.

She will remain in Bogota for three or four days before being flown to her assignment.

She took her oath of office on Saturday and reports that of the 15 who entered the training, there were only 72 left to take

Parson Jones Speaks

Mr. Publisher:
I'm on my way to the great society. The madam got a automatic dishwasher about 6 months ago and she brought home a electric tooth brush last week. I may not have much money but I've got the cleanest plates in my neighborhood. (That's both on the table and in the mouth). This power-driven toothbrush is the thing, Mr. Publisher. It cleans your teeth, massages your gums, saves your time, and preserves your arm muscles.

Ain't it something the way automatic contraptions has took over all the things people used to do? I read somewhere that they're gonna be coming out with electric hair-combers, nose-blowers and ear cleaners pretty soon. Things shore have changed since I was a boy. We done come all the way from walking 5 miles to church to driving 50 feet to the supermarket. Folks used to push lawn mowers - now they ride. I remember when my maw used to twist her egg beater handle til her arm almost fell off, but now-a-days you just mash a button and Mr. Kilowatt will do the rest. There's only one problem with all this automatic stuff, Mr. Publisher, its gonna turn us into a vegetable. The Good Book declares that what we don't use we'll lose. It wouldn't surprise me if that happens to us Great Society folks. Can't you just see us loosing all we ain't using? Then too, them parts of the body that's over used will get bigger.

The way I got it figured out here's the way my grand young-uns will look. Instead of arms they will have one big finger growing outa their shoulders. This will be for punching buttons. He'll have a rear-end about as wide as a box car from sitting all the time and instead of feet he'll have wheels, jet propelled. My grandchild will have eyes like basketballs from looking at TV so much. His ears will look like the big end of a bass horn. Because his brain ain't used it will completely disappear and leave just a hollow space, connecting his eyes and ears like a breezeway. It can be used as both a vacuum and a wind tunnel.

Yes sir. The Great Society is around the corner. It wouldn't surprise me if someday we have a electric toothbrush for president. We'd have the cleanest country in the world.

The only way I see that we can stop this hole process is to invent machines that will put us back to work. For example, instead of loosing the use of our arms from using electric tooth brushes, why not invent electric vibrators to stick our hands in while we brush our gums? I gotta go, Mr. Publisher, and stick my head in the egg beater and see if I can't stir up something.

Yours truly,
Parson Jones

Population Explosion Hits TVSC Schools

Board Faced With Decision: Build New School? Add Classrooms? Partition Existing Classrooms?

The Tippecanoe Valley schools revealed Monday night at the monthly school board meeting.

Board members are faced with the decision of either building a new joint high school, thereby easing the crowded grade schools, or adding more rooms to the existing grade schools. Another solution would be the construction of more partitions in the already packed schoolrooms.

Board members made no decision on the matter and expressed a desire to hear opinions of the residents of the corporation. The merits of a public hearing, of petitions, or voting were discussed with no conclusion reached. Several board members hoped the story in the newspaper would be sufficient to arouse peoples' interest in expressing their views via letters, appearances at board meetings or personal contact.

At the present rate of growth, the corporation is expanding two classrooms per year. There are 91 first graders at Akron this year and 61 at Mentone. According to present kindergarten enrollment and the usual increase in the first grade, an enrollment of 90 first graders at Mentone is expected next year. The Burket first grade enrollment is already too large and it is expected to increase next year.

A sore spot in the school system's enrollment was pointed out by Gale Creighton, board member from the Atwood area, who stated that there is an amount of discontent being expressed by parents of the 60 children in that region who are being transferred. Creighton, who strongly favors building a new consolidated high school, mentioned the difficulties involved in making bus connections at Atwood and told of children standing in the rain there waiting for the Warsaw bus.

Partitions have been erected in Atwood's schools and more will have to be built according to Robert Forbes, school superintendent, if additional class rooms are not provided.

The total enrollment in the corporation's schools stands at 2,003 which does not include the 60 Atwood students and eight others who have transferred to other corporations.

Other board action at the Monday night meeting included a financial report, claims being

125 Years Of Methodism To Be Honored In Mentone

One hundred and twenty five years of Methodism in Mentone will be honored Sunday, September 26, by members of the local church. The W.S.C.S. will also honor the 40th anniversary of that group at the same time. Rev. Gerald A. Close of New Augusta will be the guest speaker.

The Mentone Methodist Church is shown in three stages of its development. The bottom picture is of the church and parsonage in a much earlier time. This church was built in 1880 and was demolished in 1893 after having been wrecked three times by storms. The above picture shows the church as it looked after being rebuilt in 1893 and before the remodeling project of 1936. The parsonage has since been demolished and the grounds landscaped. The masthead picture shows the church as it looks today.

The history of the church dates back to 1840 when the Lee appointment was established at the home of Richard Lee, east of the present site of Mentone. Later, a church known as Morris Chapel was built at the point which is now the southwest corner of Main and Franklin streets.

This church, a log building, was succeeded by a frame building on the same site until 1880 when a third building, a brick structure, was erected on the site of the present building. After being wrecked for the third time by wind storms, the building was demolished in 1893 and the present church was constructed.

Continuous services have been held in the church since its inception with the exception of a six year period between 1865 and 1871 when troublesome times created by the Civil War caused the appointment to be dropped. Rev. Hosea Woopert is credited with reorganizing the church in 1871.

The church celebrated its 100th anniversary on June 2, 1940 with a special program being directed by the minister. E. Cont on last page

Harmonettes Entertain At Rainbow Mother-Daughter Banquet

The Hoosier Harmonettes, a group of four lively girls from Mentone who have been playing together for the past three years, entertained last Thursday night at the Rainbow Mother-Daughter banquet which was held in the Alton Masonic Temple.

Band members Janice Hoffer, Kathy Tridle and Pam Abbey have been entertained at alumni banquets, lodge Christmas parties and banquets at the Peabody Hotel in Manchester.

The girls have their own repertoire of music, skits, jokes and songs. They have been on the radio here in the 8th grade. Although the girls are different, ranging from a plunger to a trumpet, they play a variety of instruments including bass fiddle and a washboard which, among other things, has a 1910 horn from a Brush automobile.

ten, is the sponsor and director of the girls and is very proud of his quartet. He can promise anyone interested in entertainment the best in fun and music. The girls are quite versatile with Pam playing the piano, clarinet and guitar, Kathy Boggs playing the clarinet and a set of drums, and Kathy Tridle playing the trumpet and bass fiddle. The girls are all well.

The girls entertained the Warrenton Demolay Father and Son banquet on Wednesday night and received a standing ovation at the end of their presentation.

Mrs. Surguy Entertains

Anthony Nigo Chapter, DAR

The Anthony Nigo Chapter, DAR, held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Surguy in September 14.

The Ritual opening was conducted by the Regent, Mrs. Wayne Smalley. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The message from the President General, Mrs. William

Henry its Diamond Jubilee from October 9 to 14 and she urged each member to make it her personal responsibility to work diligently and with enthusiasm when carrying on their duties for the DAR. She wants the DAR to be a "Service" organization that will foster love of "Home" and "Country" for its citizens.

With emphasis on Constitution Week she recalls that this is the greatest document ever conceived by the minds of men. It is our Heritage—the just and lawful birthright of every American. This should be handed on, intact and unblemished, to future generations.

The National Defense report given by Mrs. Pearl Lackey reminded us of the duties of her committee. To prepare us to be on guard against destruction of our government and our taking things for granted. She urged everyone to write to their congressman if they are unsatisfied with government procedures. This is the only way they know how their countryman feel and if there is no correspondence they feel everyone is satisfied.

Mrs. Max Smith showed the plaques bought for the two Jr. Hi. schools. They will show the names of the Good Citizenship Award winners and will be presented to the schools in the near future.

Plans were discussed for the upcoming Carry-Out Fish Fry on September 24, serving 5:00 to 8:00 at the American Legion. The chairman is Mrs. Garwin Eaton, publicity, Mrs. Tom Fugate; pies, Mrs. Paul Shireman.

The chapter decided the History Essay awards for each Jr.

Hi. will be a Silver Medal for first and a Bronze Medal for second, however, all entries will be sent to the state contest.

The regent, Mrs. Smalley, will be attending State Conference October 5 and 6 at Indianapolis. The chapter elected Mrs. Hazel Linn as delegate and Mrs. Frank Smith as alternate.

The program chairman, Mrs. Helen Brown presented Mrs. Everett Rathfon who read a paper entitled "Spirit of the Constitution" by Philip Shutt of Illinois. The Constitution of the United States is unique; for, first it is the only written document in the world upon which a government such as ours has its origin, and second, the fact that it is adaptable to each generation of Americans reflects the truly prophetic and flexible thinking at its writers.

The 55 man who wrote the Constitution did not want a government by strait jacket and therefore saw ahead that the country would grow and the document should also grow with the times.

These delegates met in Philadelphia on May 25, 1787 faced with a difficult situation. A people weary of war; people who wanted a change since few felt safe with either their life, liberty, or property.

The "spirit" on our Constitution should be the "Spirit" of the American people. The characteristic quality of the Constitution is its dependence upon you and upon all Americans to see that it works.

The Constitution is not perfect because men all have human frailties. But, they set forth a new document that would progress and grow, while at the same time preserve human liberty.

In conclusion Mr. Shutt reminds us that if our freedom will continue to be preserved we must all "Work for our Constitution."

Delicious refreshments were served by the co-hostesses Mrs. Dale Cook and Mrs. Edna Carey to the 17 members present and one guest, Mrs. Louise Tucker.

The next meeting will be on October 12 at 8:00 in the Mentone Gym with the public invited. The speaker will be Mr. Fred Hemfeld of Herbron, Indiana who will give a National Defense Travelogue on "Both Sides of the Iron Curtain". A short business meeting for the members will be held at 7:00 in the cafeteria.

HEMOPHILIA

HEMOPHILIA is an hereditary disorder in which there is delayed clotting of the blood and constant difficulty in checking bleeding. It is transmitted directly by unaffected females to male offspring.

The number of persons affected is comparatively small, but the consequences are lifelong, disabling and inescapable.

Although with recent advances in medical science the life expectancy of hemophiliacs far exceeds what it is used to be, the victim must of necessity lead a life different from normal.

By being active and participating normally in play with other children, the hemophilic child may become injured and thereby subject to severe physical risk. But the child who is over-protected from participation with other children is liable to become a social cripple.

Hemophiliacs need more than medical care, they need vocational counseling and training for jobs suitable to their capacities.

Today's MEDITATION Heart Condition

from
The World's Most Widely Used
Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Thursday, September 23, 1965

Read Psalm 84

Blessed is the man whose heart are the ways of them.

(Psalm 84:5)

Once I visited a sick man whom the doctors had told that his days on earth were soon to end. I thought it would be difficult to comfort and encourage him under those circumstances. But my experience in the hospital room turned out to be quite different.

Without any trace of sentimentality or self-pity, the man said: "I have not long to live, but I am content and trustful. I have laid everything in God's hands. He will guide me home."

He had no fear of death, just a radiant expression on his face. I left the room with a stronger faith and with evidence of the truth spoken by the psalmist.
"Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee."

Soon after we attended his funeral, but to me it was like a triumphant journey into eternity.

Blessed are those who know
the fullness of life with Christ.
Their lives are meaningful and happy. Their evenings are filled with light, and their entrance into eternity is a journey of triumph. They go from strength to strength, from joy to joy.

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we bring Thee thanks for peace of heart and inward assurance that we are children of Thine. We are grateful for the joy of life in Thy Son. Lead us into a deeper fellowship with
Him. In His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

I am joyful in my fellowship with Christ.

Odds And Ends

by Ann Sheets

As a frustrated writer I constantly read the writing year books, digests, how to books, and personal notes of successful writers. They all remind us novices to observe life around us for plots. Study newspapers and magazines, they repeat. In each newspaper there are enough plots for twenty stories according to one such article. But still the main theme is to read everything and observe every printed page that comes our way.

Well, this, of course, is lots of fun because reading itself is lots of fun although it's easy to get carried away and forget about doing any writing in the fun of just reading. But I've been gamely attempting to do as told and I've uncovered a humdinger of a plot in a good many of the popular women's magazines. The same advertisement is repeated in many national magazines and as pure fiction it outdoes the best of Ernest Hemingway, Paul G.lico, and Somerset Maugham. I have in mind a lovely, full color ad that shows a loving couple, man and wife, painting the living room. Rather, she seems to be finishing the painting which they have just done in record time, and he is rehanging their pictures and has put most of the furniture in place. Neither of them has a hair out of place, their senses of humor are intact, and not a drop of paint has been spilled.

Now my own loving spouse and I have been painting the living room and I can testify that there is a good deal of fiction involved in that ad or else we've been going at it all wrong. We started on Thursday night. Now Thursday night is not a good night for us to start anything because by the time we have gotten both papers printed on Wednesday and Thursday we're so tired we can barely get home and plop in front of television for an evening of "Perry Mason" and "Bewitched" and our sense of humor have usually evaporated about 3 a.m. Wednesday when Loren got home from another all night seize at the office. Well, Thursday night was different. For one thing, Perry Mason had moved to Sunday night, and for another thing the living room needed painting.

Very soon the difference showed up between us and the ideal couple. They looked lovely. We looked horrible. I had on torn shorts, a ragged blouse, both soon dripping with paint. Loren wore torn Army pants and a holey T-shirt, still covered with red paint from the chicken house which we're also painting, and also soon covered with living room paint. As for neatness, the pair may have had something to do with it but I set the ladder in a pan of paint, the dog stuck her nose in a pan of paint, and as a final crowning act of glory I socked myself in the eye with a roller full of paint. That took talent that neither of our prototype painters could have mustered. We finally quit at 2 a.m. with half the room done which wasn't too bad considering the 12 x 27 1/2 room we were painting. The painting was finally finished on Saturday by me and was little more successful than the joint venture. I found one wall in sad repair and patched it, marveling at my plastering abilities and not waiting for it to dry before painting it. Oh well, when the print quits peeling off that wall, I can always re-do it. Another week, maybe.

We were still a long way from the ideal couple even when we began re-hanging pictures and moving back into the room. Somehow, I think the cuckoo summed the whole thing up. When I rehung it the little bird crawled, not hopped, out and cuckooed 14 times and then eased back in and hasn't been seen since. And, all things considered, that does, after all, seem a lot safer.

Parson Jones Speaks

Dear Mr. Publisher:

Churches shore do have a lotta funny habits, don't they? This thought came to my mind last Sunday when I was shaking hands with all them folks coming out the door. I wonder how in the world this handshaking business after the service ever got started? Folks consider this as much a part of the program as hymn singing. Fact is, one Sunday I decided not to do it. I sneaked out the back door and went home. The head deacon came after me cause all the folks were still standing in church refusing to budge til I come back.

I couldn't see no place in the Bible where it got started. Back in them days they kissed one another but I don't think that would go over too well now-a-days. My Wife allowed as how this hand-shaking habit after the service probably was a carry over from show business. When them actor fellas got thru with their performance they usually take a curtain call - so's folks can clap and show heir appreciation. Well, it wouldn't look quite right for a preacher to have a curtain call - so they decided to put him at the back door where folks could shake his hand, and tell him how good he was. By putting him square in the door that way, why folks almost have to say something, even if it ain't more than a grunt.

Course, one good thing about this hand shaking proposition is that its a good opportunity for people to tell you all their problems, and pass along information that you oughta know. Only trouble is that by the time everybody gets out the door you done forgot everything you heard. Really, Mr. Publisher, I don't see how come folks insist on practicing this ole custom, cause it takes so long. One Sunday when I was on vacation visiting another church I had to stand in line so long that I got varicose veins before I reached the door. It reminded me of them long chow lines when I was in the Army. It looks to me that as long as they're gonna keep that ole hand shaking practice they oughta make good use of it. We could cut out the offering where ushers go around collecting it in plates. The members could hand it to the preacher as they leave. Course in order to get the best results you'll have to lock all the other doors so's everybody would have to pass the preacher. I honestly believe that offerings would pick up considerable. Most folks don't mind being tight wads, but as least they don't want the minister to know about it.

I told one a my deacons about this and he swore it wasn't Biblical. He pointed out that the Good Book said that your right hand oughten to know what your left is givin. I showed him that it didn't mean the preacher's hand.

Speaking of hands, I gotta go now. My clock hands says its time to eat.

Yours truly,
Parson Jones

Forbes, in making the demonstration, pointed out the ease with which teachers may prepare assignments and presented statistics showing that retention of material presented in a combination of sight and sound was 85% compared to a much lower rate if it was presented all by sight or all by sound. Included in the demonstration were colored maps, mathematis problems, music lessons, basketball demonstrations, and home ec lessons.

Kathy Michael To Work On Ranch

A graduate of South Whitley High School, Kathy has been showing since she was thirteen. She was chosen that year to represent Kosciusko County in the Northern Indiana 4-H Queen Contest and Horse Show at Goshen. She was 4th runner up in the contest, which was judged by a penny-a-vote.

128 ribbons and 15 trophies later, Kathy has had experience riding in pleasure and horsemanship classes, some contesting, and showing at halter. Very active in Horse and Pony 4-H, she has taken part each year in the County Fair. Two years she showed and placed in horsemanship in the 4-H Horse and Pony Show at the State Fair. Many of her honors were won on her horse, "Sandy", which she still owns. Others were won while showing in horse shows for other owners. One of her more colorful summers was spent riding in the National Appaloosa Pony Costume Class at shows throughout the area for Stuckey's Western Store at Lagro, Indiana.

In 1964, Kathy was crowned Queen in the annual Sundown-e's Saddle Club Contest at Goshen. This contest was judged on horsemanship. At the 1965 show she won the trophy for Senior Showmanship and Sports-manship. This was judged on performance and attitude throughout the show.

On her way to Texas, Kathy stopped and renewed acquaintance with old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Olds, formerly of Warsaw, on their Oklahoma Ranch. She is visiting with an aunt in San Antonio while becoming established in her new job. She hopes, in the future, to go to cutting horse school, and eventually to dressage and jump-ing school.

METHODIST CHURCH

E. Dewitt. Denton Abbey made and placed a bulletin board in front of the church.

Various remodeling and re-decorating projects have been held with major remodeling coming in 1936 when additional classrooms were added through donations by members. Three rooms were named in honor of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Guy and one room, the scout room, was named in honor of Dr. M. G. Yocum. Other members donated win-dows, pianos, organs, hymnals and other items necessary for the church.

A new parsonage was built and dedicated in 1964 and the old one razed and the grounds landscaped.

The church recently underwent another face-lifting when all the trim was re-painted.

Rev. Glenn Campton, the pre-sent minister, came to Mentone in 1962 and has been active in promoting the interest of his church. He has extended a spe-cial invitation to everyone to at-tend the 125th anniversary cele-bration.

PRUSSIC ACID POISONING occurs in animals (particularly cattle and sheep) when they consume plants high in hydrocyanic acid (chemically, prussic acid, HCN, hydrocyanic acid). Chemicals act on body cells, preventing the interchange of gases from the blood to the tissues.

There are several plants known to develop prussic acid including alfalfa, sorghum, Sudan grass, timothy, Johnson grass, and wild black cherry.

The prussic acid develops in these plants when normal growth has been retarded by drought, frost, browsing or trampling. Young plants contain more potential prussic acid than mature plants. Young second growth is particularly dangerous.

Sorghum is the most widely grown plant to which may prussic acid. It is not poisonous to humans and growing sorghum is not a health hazard. It is not advisable to feed sorghum until it is at least 12 inches high. For best results, sorghum should be cut at 12 to 14 inches tall. Occasionally sorghum may have been toxic when cut shortly after cutting. It is most dangerous when normal plant development is affected by drought or frost. This is particularly true of second growth or young plants. Sorghum, Sudan grass nor sorghum are dangerous as a feed when cut too high, field or in ensilage.

Prussic acid acts rapidly as a poison and treatment must be given immediately. Visible signs include labored open mouth breathing, muscle twitching, convulsions to general spasms, and going down.

Several cooperators have asked questions concerning the construction of ear-corn cribs to hold corn storage. There are several important engineering factors which must be considered.

A circular from the University of Illinois entitled "Refrigerating cribs for Shelled Corn Storage" is a very good reference.

This may be obtained by writing to the Publication Mailing Branch, University of Illinois, Champaign, Illinois and requesting a copy of circular 775.

If you have questions regarding the principles involved contact your County Extension Agent. For costs you need to consult a general contractor or building supply house for the materials are many and must carefully hinge of both the size and quality of the existing structure.

Is This A Good Advertisement?

If your advertising could be printed in a special kind of invisible ink that became visible between 5:00 and 5:30 Tuesday and then disappeared, the chances are you wouldn't think such an ad was worth much. You'd only reach a small fraction of the total newspaper's audience—those who happened to be reading the newspaper Tuesday afternoon at precisely the time your ad appeared, and who in fact happened to be turned to the page your ad was on that precise moment.

And yet this is what happens advertising in media other than newspapers. A survey shows that 75 per cent of all shoppers check the newspaper before making their main shopping trip.

Newspaper messages are available at the convenience of the customer. He doesn't have to be at a certain place at a particular time of day or night to get the message.

Perhaps equally important—he looks at newspaper advertising because he wants to. It is never an unwanted interruption.

Menace To The Free Press

"A free press is free only so long as it is free from the interference of government."

The words are those of Stanford Smith, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. He added, "Unfortunately, in these days of complex newspaper operations, government can interfere with a free press without the necessity of license. The newspaper business can be subjected to pressures not anticipated in the Constitution."

The free press has been destroyed in nation after nation in modern times. And, as Mr. Smith emphasized, the U.S. government has taken certain steps in the same direction. A salient example is a market news service which the Department of Agriculture started last August. It operates in direct competition with private news agencies. All contracts for the service are continually subject to the approval of the Department, and it can cancel them whenever it so pleases. In other words, it has full power of censorship, and the service can be used as an instrument of government propaganda.

This is just one more proof of the fact that the big government is the enemy of freedom. We don't live under a dictatorship yet. But we have been moving, step by step, in that direction. And only an informed and aroused public can put a halt to the ominous trend.

Food For Africa's Homeless

A long-simmering rebellion against the colonial regime in Angola resulted in reprisals against the natives that shocked world opinion. Since 1961, over 300,000 Angolans have fled their homeland trying to find a measure of tranquility in the neighboring Congo.

They arrive daily at church relief stations near the border with nothing but the rags on their backs. They are ill, miserable, and in many cases die soon after crossing the border, too hungry or sick to live long enough to be helped.

Particularly pitiful is the sight of the refugee children, bellies distended from malnutrition, or suffering from Kwashiorkor, a protein deficiency disease that arrests growth, causes the hair to fall out and blotches the skin terribly. Vulnerable to lung infections, worms and malaria, they haven't the strength to resist disease.

Many of these children, like little Donana pictured above, owe their lives to the high-protein, milk-based food supplements they are given at the relief stations. This essential food for life is provided by the "Share Our Substance" program of Church World Service, the overseas relief and rehabilitation agency of the Protestant churches of America. Twenty-nine denominations conduct the SOS appeal every year during Thanksgiving week. In 1964 nearly 25,000 cartons of protein supplements were sent to the Angolan refugees in the Congo by CWS, which also channels huge quantities of food and clothing to the needy people of the world.

"It Could Happen Here — Or Is It?"

Visitors to New York's World Fair this summer have found signs in the hotel bathroom cautioning against needless use of water. When you order a meal in a restaurant, your waitress will bring a glass of water only on request. A fountain at the Fair bears a sign telling you its water is being constantly recirculated, so you will know all that flows is not wasted. Fifty car wash establishments have been closed down for failure to follow a requirement that they, too, must recirculate water. You are encouraged to shower instead of filling the tub, and the city has capped hydrants so that children who used to turn them on and no longer do so. With New York City using one and a quarter billion gallons of water every day, there will be no water supply left by the first of the year if the fall and winter continue abnormally dry.

The drought in the Northeast covers 300,000 square miles, but there are other water shortage areas in the nation. Last year I had letters from Indiana farmers who were hauling water for their cattle. Through the soil conservation service, I helped bring into effect special drought relief measures. Many smaller Indiana communities are rationing water now. Everywhere, from New England to the receding Great Lakes shoreline and on to the Rio Southwest, the water table under ground is depleted. As we grow weary about this, plan for a future water supply.

One important way of improving water supply is through our drainage and floodings plan. It is very vital in Indiana. Half a dozen reservoirs are operating, and are under construction, and more than a half acre in various smaller stages. Total cost will be more than $200 million, but more than 35,000 acres will eventually be covered by the water they hold. Flood control, recreation, and water supply are all involved. This year we were able to get appropriations for work on two—Pakota and Lafayette—which were previously waiting for funds.

No one can be certain that all Indiana will not, like New York, someday face real water shortages. But we are planning for the future, and that may make a vital difference.

DRIED FLOWERS ARRANGEMENTS

Lafayette, Ind. Flowers don't have to disappear with the fall frosts.

Purdue University extension horticulturists suggests picking your flowers now and preserving them for winter beauty. They have a publication which explains how to do this. It is "Dried Flower Arrangements," HO-73-2.

Several methods have been used for years. A new way is preserving through the use of silica-gel crystals, available at garden centers. This method is good for preserving delicate flowers such as roses and fall chrysanthemums. They will be dry in about a week.

The publication also suggests several uses for dried flowers, such as in combination with real flowers or with colored leaves.

Indiana residents can receive a free copy of "Dried Flower Arrangements," HO-73-2, by writing a postcard to the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., 47907, or contacting their county Extension office. Be sure to request the publication by name and number.

By Mary Whitman

What's a square?
It can be a house, truck or train coach.

A triangle can be an ice cream cone or wigwam or umbrella. A circle can turn into a clown or daisy or baby chicken.

The magic is worked by one child and one box of crayons.

Let a parent draw almost any geometric form and a child will complete it in a fascinating way. There are also activity books at the counters of many variety stores with pages of this type, along with verses. A playbook may suggest:

The circle, the square
And the triangle, too . . .
Using only these.

What can you do?

When drawing games like these, a child observe the basic shapes of things," reminds Mary Hill of Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wisconsin, world's largest publisher of children's books. "Later a child will note design—the cross hatching on a pineapple, the stripes on a watermelon—and as he gains more content he'll add detail and insight to his drawings."

Child experts say that parents help most by accepting a child's work as it is. Praise helps him. So does fine art. Reproduction of famous paintings can be bought for little. Even a short visit to a museum helps a child grow creatively.

As Margaret Mead points out in a booklet she has done for the Children's Bureau: "It takes both pictures on the wall and paper and crayons to give a child the idea that he can make a picture." Many parents will enjoy her booklet on how a child develops at different ages and how parents can open the doors. Called "A Creative Life for Your Children," it costs only thirty-five cents and can be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents in Washington, D. C.

It's good to know our children can grow in skills with the simplest play material. Supplies are at any local store. All we need to give are some pennies and some patience.

PLANTS FOR WINTER COLOR

Lafayette, Ind. Some plants actually come into their own in winter, says Don Scheer, Purdue University extension horticulturist.

Winter doesn't have to create a drab environment around your yard and garden. There are several plants which can be planted this fall to add beauty through this winter.

Evergreens, of course, are the basic ingredient for winter color. But you'll need something more for accent.

One of the best, Scheer says, is the redtwig Dogwood. It grows as a shrub and exposes its red twigs after leaves fall. It is particularly good in front of an evergreen background, and will stand out when snow covers the ground.

For something a little smaller and more delicate, try Sem-pervivum or Creeping Sedums. Both are colorful in winter and fit well around rock gardens, patios and steps.

However, Scheer says, true collectors' items are the plants which bloom outdoors in winter. These are Christmas and Lenten roses, plants with large buttercup-like blooms.

Christmas roses have white flowers, grow about 15 inches tall and bloom anytime from November to March. Lenten roses are dark purple, are similar in height to Christmas roses and bloom anytime from February to April.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Misses Karen and Audrey Hight of Etna Green spent the weekend with their grandmother, Mrs. Bernice Rush.

Food For Thought

Watched them tearing a building down,
A gang of men in a busy town;
With a ho-heave-ho and lusty yell,
They swung a beam and the sidewalk fell.
I asked the foreman: "Are these men skilled?"
As the men you'd hire if you had to build?"
He had a laugh and said "No, indeed!
Just common labor is all I need.
I can easily wreck in a day or two
What builders have taken a year to do!"
And I thought to myself as I went my way,
Which of these roles have I tried to play?
Am I a builder who works with care,
Measuring life by the rule and square?
Am I shaping my deeds to a well-made plan,
Patiently doing the best I can?
Or am I a wrecker, who walks the town
Content with the labor of tearing down?

How to plug up the money drain

If the part of your pay you planned to save always seems to leak out of your pocket, you need a new stopper for your money drain.

The Payroll Savings Plan is one of the best plugs around—and it's guaranteed.

Here's the blueprint: just tell your employer to put aside a small amount from each pay check and apply it to the purchase of United States Savings Bonds.

Once you get it started, the Plan is fully automatic. Chances are you'll never miss the little cash you're setting aside. After all, it just leaked away before, remember?

And here's the best part. Not only have you stopped the flow, but you're putting your dollars to work earning more dollars—$4 at maturity for every $3 you invested.

So stop in at your payroll department and set your Plan in action. And watch your savings grow instead of go.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- ✓ You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity
- ✓ You can get your money when you need it
- ✓ Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- ✓ You can buy Bonds where you bank, or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work

Parson Jones Speaks

Dear Mr. Publisher:

I heard over the radio the other day where the government is gonna add five years to everybody's life. According to one piece I read the President is gonna have congress pass a law making the five year increase mandatory. There's even some talk that it will be included under the social security program. I understand it will be called "Federal H E L P." The letters for "Health and Eternal Life Program."

Lotsa governments have felt they have been divinely called to take on the Lord's work but ours is the first one that has actually tried to wear the Almighty's britches. It ain't no wonder that folks don't put much stock in the church any more. The government has done stole the churches thunder.

The Good Lord said that He would give us freedom, but now that job has been took over by the government. The Scriptures show as how God heals all our diseases but with the medicare program most people will depend on Uncle Sam. Jesus has told us that the future is in his hands so we don't have to worry, but now-a-days folks put a lot more stock in social security. In the Good Book it says that God is our refuge and strength in the time of trouble, but most folks I know would sooner trust the United States Army. The Bible tells us to work and we'll be able to eat. The U.S. government has come up with a more attractive offer. They say they'll feed us come Hell or highwater.

As you can see, Mr. Publisher, Uncle Sam has just about run the Almighty outa business. About the only trick the Lord had left was that He alone had the power to give life. Well sir with his latest move by the government it looks like God might be without a job.

Whether we know it or not Sir, we done come up with a new kinda religion. Pretty soon everybody in the government will be wearing black robes like the Supreme Court. They'll serve as the Priest and the Levites. Capitol Hill will replace Mount Sinai. All our offerings will go to the main church in Washington. Everybody will have to make pledges to the budget whether they want to or not. Instead of praying we can just drop a line to the Nations Capital.

For our faith and obedience the government will provide all the necessities of life and even life itself.

Well, I gotta go now and get up my sermon for Sunday. I got a feeling my time is running out. Fact is, Mr. Publisher, it wouldn't surprise me if our countries time ain't running out too. I wonder what a god is supposed to do when he's dying. I remain yours in the governments name. Amen.

"On the strength of the recent Supreme Court rulings, the Justice Department could conceivably challenge the more than 2,000 bank mergers that have taken place since the Clayton Antitrust Act was amended in 1950. There is no justifiable reason to question these mergers. All have been approved by Federal agencies charged with maintaining sound and competitive banking in the areas affected. There is no evidence that such mergers have not been in the public interest and to subject them now to a differing standard is a reckless abuse of power."

Anthony Nigo DAR Members Attend Combined Meeting

Anthony Nigo Chapter, DAR, had eleven members present at a combined meeting at the Sheller Hotel in North Manchester on September 20. The following chapters attended besides our own: Hostess, Doctor Manassah Cutler, North Manchester, Col. Augustine DeLaHalle, Columbia City; Samuel Huntington, Huntington; Manitou, Rochester; Frances Slocum, Wabash; Agnes Pruyn Chapman, Warsaw.

A lovely luncheon was enjoyed by all at 12:30 with decorations of garden flowers and Liberty Bells.

The North Manchester regent, Mrs. Stanley Warfel, gave the welcome followed by the Pledge to the Flag, and the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner. The President General's message was read by Mrs. Kenneth Priser. National Defense was given by Mrs. F. R. Burns of which she reminded us that our Constitution is the foundation of our government and we must preserve this by protecting our individual citizens against corrupt government and communism.

The Northern District Director, Mrs. Lawrence L. Guenin from LaFountain was introduced and acknowledged.

Mrs. F. R. Burns introduced Mrs. Maxwell M. Chapman State Regent, the guest speaker for the afternoon.

Mrs. Chapman emphasized our forthcoming Diamond Jubilee. The DAR was formed by women interested in patriotism and so a notice was published in a Washington newspaper. There were 18 women that answered the initial call with the same aims and purposed that the society has today. Mrs. Benjamin Scott Harrison, the first President to live and grow with the General urged the organization country. All women must emphasize unity and self sacrifice to be worthy of the cause and worthy of themselves.

Your opinions are not enough to preserve our government but our principals must prevail. Mrs. Chapman quoted an Indian proverb which states "To be strong, speak with one voice; many voices cause confusion". There is no equal in the world to our government and Constitution and we must never forget to be proud. The Constitution must be kept whole and intact. Be well informed about your government and write to your congressman in Washington letting them know how the people feel.

In conclusion she quoted an old Chinese proverb that speaks for all DAR members:

If there is righteousness in the heart,

There will be beauty in the character;

If there is beauty in the character,

There will be harmony in the family home;

If there is harmony in the family home,

There will be order in the nation;

If there is order in the nation, There will be peace in the world.

Those attending from Mentone Chapter were Mesdames Glenn Clauss, Tom Fugate, Lena Igo, Pearl Lackey, Hazel Linn, Eldred Paulus, Paul Shireman, Wayne Smalley, Frank Smith, Charles Tucker, and James Wells.

Today's MEDITATION

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Thursday, September 30, 1965

Read Matthew 23:16-20

O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the Lord. (Jeremiah 22:29)

In response to the radio broadcast in our language we received a letter from a Roman Catholic priest. In part, he said, "I don't know if your broadcast is Protestant or Catholic... Nevertheless, the most important thing is that the Lord's Word is properly interpreted. The people know so little about the gospel. For this reason it is a great thing in God's eyes."

In the dark days of the Middle Ages, God's Word, the Bible, was available, primarily in Latin. But the reformers translated it into the languages of the people and gave it to great and small.

We can be glad that we live in this modern age when by various means more and more persons have the privilege to know about this wonderful Word. It has been translated into many languages of the world. People can listen to it over radio and in some places even on television.

Jesus' parting word to His disciples was: "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation." PRAYER: Dear Lord, we thank Thee for the opportunities to hear Thy voice through Thy Word. Help us to be witnesses of Thy Word to all nations. For His sake we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:

God speaks to us through His Word every day. Do we hear Him? Do we help others to hear Him?

Tippe Mission Group Visits Boys Haven

The Women's Missionary Society of the Tippecanoe community went to Wheatfield Wednesday to hold their regular meeting at the Christian Haven for Boys. They took a potluck dinner and pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream. Enough remained for the dinner for the boys' evening meal.

Mrs. Rex Fites, president, presided at the meeting which opened with singing "Wonderful Words of Life". Mrs. Sarah Blackford gave prayer. The group voted to pay $15.00 on the church's fuel bill and to pay the bread and ice cream bill for church camp.

An election of officers will be held next month at the home of Mrs. Dick Kreft. A prayer meeting was held later in the afternoon and notes were read by Mrs. Jake Yantiss, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Lozier. The meeting closed by prayer by Mrs. Robert Benton.

Fifteen members attended the meeting and were driven by Mrs. Rex Fites, Mrs. Fred Sinden and Mrs. LaMar Leffert. The committee was composed of Mrs. Glen Cole, Mrs. Lee Mullins and Mrs. Fostie Sill.

The afternoon was spent washing, ironing and mending for the Haven. A work meeting will be held Wednesday, Sept. 29, with a potluck dinner, at the home of Mrs. Sarah Blackford to work on quilts.
