Named to All-Star Group

Tom Hoover, Mentone basketball star, was one of a group of 100 Indiana basketball boys who were chosen by sports writers as the group from which the Indiana All-Star team will be picked to play two games with the Kentucky All-Stars in June.

The sportswriters named 25 boys from each of four areas in Indiana. John Stookey of Leesburg and Dave Kinsey of Silver Lake were the other county boys in the 25 from the Fort Wayne area.

Hoover distinguished himself because of his scoring record during the season just closed. He scored 672 points in 22 games, and won the Mentone trophy for having the highest free-throw percentage. The only other Indiana high school player to outscore Hoover was Phil Wills of Grass Creek.

The final selection of the All-Star team, sponsored by the Indianapolis Times, will be made by the sportswriters and the Indianapolis newspaper.

A son, Rickey Joe, weighing seven pounds fifteen ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. See, Route 5, Warsaw, at the Murphy Medical Center Monday afternoon at 2:07. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. See, also of route five, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Montel, route two.

MORE SNOW—AND RAIN

Winter returned Wednesday with a heavy blanket of wet snow. Late afternoon the snow turned to freezing rain covering everything with a glare of ice. In some areas telephone and power lines were down.

Named to Boys' State

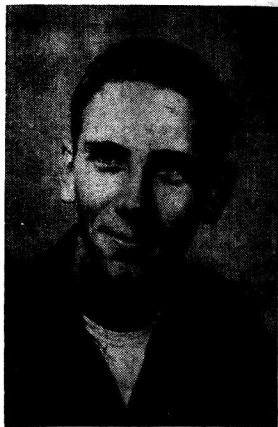

James Manwaring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manwaring of Mentone, has been named as the Mentone representative to Indiana Boys' State.

James Manwaring

State, which will be held at Indiana University in June.

Melvin Keplinger, also of Mentone, was named as alternate.

Melvin Keplinger

The boys were named at a meeting of Mentone Post 425, of The American Legion, March 19.

Boys' State is a gathering of boys throughout the state who were appointed because of their citizenship characteristics. They are taught the fundamentals of government and the duties of citizens in a model "city". Each American Legion Post sponsors a boy and the youngsters, after their return, bring a first hand report of their experiences at the week's meeting.

Sheet Metal Firm Moves

John Miller and James Gates have moved their sheet metal shop from the Northern Indiana Cooperative Association hardware building to the first floor of the Byron Linn shop, next to the DeLuxe Cleaners building.

The boys completely renovated the building, lowered the ceiling, insulated it throughout and installed a new decorative front. Although they are completely moved, their plans include more work within and without the building.

Byron Linn, who has conducted a repair and welding shop in the building for many years, will continue his work in the lower unit of the building, located to the west.

Attends Meeting

Mrs. Ruth Snellenberger, local home economics teacher, attended the spring meeting of the Indiana State Home Economics Association at the Severin Hotel in Indianapolis Friday and Saturday. While there she was in charge of a membership booth for the Indiana Vocational Home Economics Teachers Association of which she is second-vice president.

Cub Scouts Meet

The Cub Scouts met at the Methodist church Tuesday evening, March 26th, and it is reported the boys really outdid themselves putting on Indian skits. They were decked out in "war paint" and Indian head-dress, and really learned a lot of the customs of the Indians.

Den One won the attendance banner with a perfect attendance. Refreshments were served.

MOVE TO KENDALLVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maple moved to Kendallville Saturday where Mr. Maple is now operating the Heindol Hog Market.

Mr. Maple had been manager of the Producers Market at Mentone, but resigned about a month ago to take the position at Kendallville.

Grayston Campbell, of Amboy, is now the manager at Mentone. He is now living at Wabash but plans to move to Mentone at a later date.

Tuck Smith Buried Monday

Lawrence "Tuck" Smith, 68, died at his home here at 1:30 a. m. Saturday. He had suffered a stroke seven weeks ago.

Mr. Smith was born in Miami county, Ind., April 4, 1879, the son of Irvin and Viola (Eckman) Smith. He resided in Mentone most of his life. In 1911 he was married at Plymouth to Julia A. Norris. He was employed for many years as a truck driver for the Mollenhour Lumber company.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday in the Johns funeral home with Irwin Olson, Mentone Baptist church pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Mentone cemetery.

Surprised On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Tucker were most pleasantly surprised on March 28, their 40th wedding anniversary. The evening was planned by their daughter, Mrs. Eugene Marshall. The group was entertained by Mrs. Tucker showing slides of their Florida vacation. The serving table was centered by a large beautifully decorated cake, baked by Mrs. Eddie Tucker and Mrs. Devon Tucker. Sherbert punch, decorated ice-cream, candy and nuts were served. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker received lovely gifts from the following: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Igo, Warsaw; Mrs. Roy Walters, Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Parker and family, Silver Lake; Mrs. Art Anglin and Jay, Mrs. Joe Yeiter, Clunette; Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Nellans, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Ora Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Tucker, Charles and Joan, Mr. and Mrs. Devon Tucker, Mrs. Icie Taylor, Mrs. Ern Igo, Shirley and Barry, Mrs. Gus Mollenhour, Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Tucker and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith.

Giant Foxtail Threatening

Giant foxtail, spreading in an east-north easterly direction across the state is becoming one of Indiana's most serious weed threats.

O. C. Lee, Purdue University extension botanist, says the greatest infestation is in western Indiana, not far from the Indiana-Illinois state line.

Most of the infestations currently are confined to patches in fields, fence rows and along highways. But in a few locations, the weed has spread to cover entire fields.

Lee points out that giant foxtail flourishes in cultivated row crops—corn, soybeans and tomatoes—and in stubble fields after small grains are harvested.

Giant foxtail is similar in appearance to common yellow and green foxtail, but often grows to a height of six feet. Seed heads are six to eight inches long, heavy when mature, and because of a weak stem system, are drooping. Leaves are broad and covered with soft hairs.

Lee explains that giant foxtail is difficult to control because it produces an abundance of seeds; plants produce seed heads after they have been moved and the seeds germinate throughout the entire growing season.

These suggested control measures are listed in Mimeo BP-10-2 which can be obtained without charge from county extension offices or by writing to the agricultural publications office, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

Use clean seed;
Destroy scattered plants and patches;
Clean harvesting machinery;
Pasture infested areas heavily;
Spray infested fence rows with Dalapon or pentachlorophenol;
Rotate crops;
Check corn, allowing cross cultivation;
Use CDAA (Randex) as pre-emergency treatment in soybeans and corn.

Horticulturists at Purdue University advise gardeners to "keep red raspberry plants in a narrow row." One plant every eight to ten inches above ground level.

Who rates what for performance and smoother riding in the low-priced three? Chevrolet has laid the answer and the proof on the line!

First, Chevrolet won the Auto Decathlon over every car in its field, and over the higher priced cars that were tested, too. This rugged ten-way test (right, below) showed Chevrolet was the champ in handling ease, braking, acceleration, passing ability, smoothness of ride and other driving qualities you want in a car.

Then, Chevy won the Pure Oil Performance Trophy at Daytona (left, below) as "best performing U. S. automobile."

It's quite a feeling to know that you are driving a car that performs so well, responds so beautifully and is so finely built. You feel proud, of course. But you also enjoy a surer, smoother, steadier way of going, a keen cat-quick response of power, and the easiest handling you've ever experienced behind a wheel. Just try this Chevrolet (V8 or Six) and see!

Chevy showed it's still the champ ... at Daytona ... and in the Decathlon!

THE MOTHER SHIPMAN PROPHECY AGAIN

The Mother Shipman prophecy which is said to have been written some 300 years ago, frequently finds its way into the news columns, and folks marvel at the accuracy of some of the predictions which it contained. Roy Koser brought us a copy this week, and a few paragraphs contain the following:

Around the world men's throats shall fly as quick as the twinkling of an eye, and waters shall great wonders do—how strange and yet it shall come true: Thru towering hills proud man shall ride, no horse or ass move by his side. Beneath the waters men shall walk; shall ride, shall sleep, shall even talk. And in the air men shall be seen, in white, in black, as well as green. In water iron then shall float as easy as a wooden boat. Gold shall be found in stream or stone, in land that is as yet unknown.

The states shall lock in fiercest strife and seek to take each other's life; when north shall thus divide the south; the eagle build in lion's mouth, then tax and blood and cruel war shall come to every humble door.

And now a word in uncouth rhyme of what shall be in future time; for, in those wondrous far off days, the women shall adopt a craze to dress like man and trousers wear, and cut off all their locks of hair; they'll ride astride with brazen brow, as witches do on broomsticks now. Then love shall die and marriage cease, and nation's wane as babies decrease, and wives shall fondle cats and dogs, and men live much the same as hogs. In nineteen hundred thirty-six, build houses light with straw and sticks; for then shall mighty wars be planned and fire and sword shall sweep the land. But those who live the century thru, in fear and trembling shall this do—flee to the mountains and the dens, to bog and forest and wild den, for storms shall rage and ocean roar when Gabriel stands on seas and shore.

(True, false or imagined, it's worth a few passing moments.—Ed.)

So a year ago I made the change on my Minneapolis U. Tractor using a complete factory change over.

I farm two hundred acres and find that my tractor uses less fuel per hour with butane.

It has more Power, idles nicer and has better governor action.

I also find by using butane my fuel bills are a lot less than when I was using regular gas. It is also a saving on oil. Only changed oil once all last summer."

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION

By W. W. Reid

The seven presidents of the World Council of Churches (Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, of Boston, being the president from North America) are sending a message to all Protestant churches of the world, urging them "so to wait upon God (at the Pentecost season, and especially on Sunday, June 9) that we may be endued with power from on high" to bring in an era of peace and goodwill. Say the presidents in part: "On this birthday of God's church we should remind one another that the church was filled with power when the Holy Spirit was poured out on the apostles, constraining them to proclaim to all around them the mighty works of God . . . It is this power which enables the church to give hope to the hopeless. The nations are looking with fear to an unknown future. Grave problems of human relationships which cause the suffering of millions of our fellow-men remain unsolved. This is not because the necessary intelligence is lacking, or even some general goodwill. It is rather because men have not the power to do the good that they know they ought to do . . . we long for true international understanding and peace, but we cannot bring ourselves to pay the price. In the churches we find a real desire for renewal, for unity, for evangelism, but not enough readiness to consecrate ourselves so fully to the service of Christ that we become willing instruments of His saving work. Now Whitsun comes to tell us that the one and only way in which our weakness can be transformed into strength is by receiving the life-giving spirit which turned disappointed disciples into courageous witnesses."

Cadet In Air Force Reserve

Cadet Neil B. McKinney, son of Mrs. Esther Pigel, formerly of Palestine but now of Fort Wayne, has been accepted as a member of the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Ball State Teachers College. His program during the first two years of training will include instruction in the history of aviation, the theory of flight, component parts of aircraft and numerous other subjects related to the Air Age. He will be given numerous opportunities to participate in flights in Air Force aircraft in order to familiarize himself with the sensation of flying. He will also be taken on trips to various Air Force installations to observe the inner workings of the Air Force in operation.

Successful completion of the first two years of training will make him eligible for entrance into the advanced phase of the AFROTC program. This phase will consist of a heavier concentration of subject matter which he will require to perform duties as an Air Force officer. The summer between his junior and senior year, he will spend four weeks in a Summer Encampment at an active Air Force Base.

The summer program will give him actual "on the job" experiences of the subjects he had been studying for the previous three years. The emphasis during the summer will be on orientation flying. Every effort will be made to provide ample flying time for him including flights in the T-33 Jet Trainers used by the Air Force.

Upon completion of his four years of study, he will be eligible for an appointment as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force Reserve. If he is physically qualified, he will be given an opportunity to earn his wings as either a pilot or an observer in the United States Air Force.

High lights of the evening session, which followed a smorgasbord banquet, were the vocal program presented by the Culver High School "Choraleers", a group of highly talented and trained students, who gave a highly appreciated series of numbers, and an address by Past International President, Edgar M. Ekert, who gave a very interesting and inspiring address along the lines of Americanism at work in a confined and hungry world, with especial reference to the role Lionism is playing in International relations.

As a result of the election, Lion "Ed" Sauer, of Warsaw, was elected District Governor for the coming year, beginning July 1st.

Make Feed Lot Visits

Automation in the feed lot should not be used to replace observation. Richard Hollandbeck, Purdue University swine specialist, has advised Indiana farmers.

Automatic waterers, feeders, and manure handling systems have become commonplace as the trend toward intensification of the hog enterprise continues.

Hollandbeck says while these automatic devices cut labor and time requirements for hog production to a minimum they do not eliminate personal observation on the part of the farmer. "Automation and observation should work together as a team," he adds.

The farmer should make a "check-up" visit each day to the feed lot. It's just a part of being a good manager, a good herdsman, and even an artisan when it comes to taking care of hogs, he says.

Hollandbeck cites a young Johnson County farmer who is just entering the hog business. The farmer said he had to have automatic equipment so that he would have time "to sit on the feed lot fence and learn how to raise hogs by watching them."

Fertilize Lawns

Homeowners can meet minimum lawn maintenance standards by fertilizing the yard twice a year—in the spring and in the fall, says a Purdue University turf specialist.

W. H. Daniel gives lawn maintenance pointers in a new mimeograph, AY138, which may be obtained free from county extension offices or by writing to the agricultural publications office, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

Daniel points out that all Indiana lawn soils are deficient in nitrogen. A few are short on phosphorus and most are deficient in potash, he adds.

"For bluegrass or mixed grass lawns, fertilizing in the fall, around Labor Day, and in the spring, about Easter, is usually considered minimum management," says Daniel.

The recommended rates of fertilization are listed.

The mimeo also takes up such subjects as re-seeding, what to do about crabgrass, chickweed and knotweed infestations, and insect control.

Lightning Rods Needed

A good lightning rod system is a farmer's best guarantee that his buildings won't be damaged by electrical storms, reports F. R. Wilkey, farm safety specialist at Purdue University.

Wilkey says now is an ideal time to install lightning rods on farm buildings.

If buildings are already protected by lightning rods, the specialist recommends these checks to make sure the system is in the best working condition:

Examine all conductors for breaks and repair any loose connections.

Have a lightning rod expert inspect the system's grounding—this also would be a good time to make sure metal fences and other large metal objects are properly grounded.

Examine the grounding of the television antenna and make certain of its stability. Never fasten an antenna on a chimney. Undetected cracks in the chimney lining caused by wind vibration of the antenna can leak sparks and heat and ignite roof timbers.

It's important to remember that the key to any good lightning rod system is careful and continuing maintenance, Wilkey concludes.

"Adjust the brooder house ventilation promptly if the weather warms up quickly," advise Purdue University poultrymen. They say that the combination of the sun beaming through the windows, the heat from the brooder set for cool weather, and lack of ventilation can result in overheated chicks in a surprisingly short time.

Mrs. Harry Cole called recently at the Garrie Rose home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Linn visited in Plymouth Sunday afternoon.

Indiana farmers make a big mistake when they try to buy "bargain seed," according to biochemists at Purdue University. Bargain seed is seldom a real bargain. Anyone who tries to buy seed at prices substantially lower than the market is likely to get cheap seed. Intelligent seed buying involves buying on the basis of a test of the seed as disclosed on the official seed tag attached.

IT'S YOUR MONEY BILLION A MONTH

Uncle Sam's payroll for civilian employees is averaging over a billion a month. Sen. Byrd of Virginia, in his campaign to reduce federal government expenditures cites that in January the pay roll in the United States was $989,549,000 and foreign nationals working for the United States in other countries were paid an additional $16,700,000. For the first seven months of this fiscal year a total of $6.6 billion was paid to civilian employees. Nor is there any sign of a decrease, for 3,492 more employees were added in February to make the total 2,390,507. This is civilian mind you, and does not include Army, Navy, Air Corps, personnel, and attendant costs.

The expected $12 billion this fiscal year for civilian employees is one-sixth of the record high $71 billion budget for the next fiscal year. There are probably 60,000,000 classed as employable people in the nation. The civilian federal employees thus represent a ratio of 1 to 30 persons or less. Add to this the state, country and local public employees, and it means that from the earnings of 25 persons or less, sufficient taxes are collected to pay one public servant, and the other proportionate overhead costs of the government, including the military, foreign aid, ship, air lines, farmer and other subsidies, and domestic projects.

It is a safe guess that in practically every federal office of any consequence, the number of employees could be reduced materially if the same work schedule and production standards existed that are common in private industry and which must prevail if private business concerns are to meet competition.

These conditions will continue, and even become worse, so long as Congress continues to appropriate funds, and the executive department does not crack down on bureaucratic heads, whose importance enhances as they add more and more to the number of underlings in their departments. A few decades ago big business was pictured in newspaper cartoons as a many armed octopus which had the business of the nation in its tentacles. Today it is a federal octopus that is threatening to strangle, by taxation, the progress and sound prosperity of the nation.

CRYSTAL LAKE COOK AND LOOK CLUB

The meeting came to order by the president, Sue Hively at the home of Sue and Mavis Frederick. The pledge and 4-H were lead by Sue and Mavis Frederick. Roll call was given. Your favorite sport. Business as follows: Singing at the nursery home, Minutes were read, new business and songs were sang.

Surprise entertainment was by Janet Swanson, Diane Shull, and Mrs. Hazel Bradbury. They were very good. Games were played. Refreshments were served and were delicious. The new members were Norma Myers, Julie Davis, Marilyn Scott, Penny Swanson, and Jeannette Byer.

Festival Music Theatre Try-outs

Residents of Mentone and the Tri-State area are invited to attend auditions for singers, actors, dancers, musicians and stagecraft personnel, who are interested in appearing in the three musical shows to be produced this summer by the Festival Music Theatre at Franke Park in Ft. Wayne, Indiana. The shows include "The King and I," "Pajama Game" and "Wonderful Town."

Tryouts for places in the company will be held Friday, April 19, at 8:00 p. m., Saturday, April 20, at 2:00 p. m., and Monday, April 22, at 7:30 p. m., in the G. E. Squares Clubrooms, 219 E. Berry St., third floor.

The Festival is an educational workshop devoted to furthering the experience of those interested in musical theatre. Members of the company pay no tuition fees and are not compensated for their services. They will work under a 10-man professional staff, headed by Dr. Wallace Dace of Troy, N. Y.

Through arrangements made with Indiana University, college students and adults, who qualify as singers or musicians, may earn one hour of college credit by appearing in all three of the musical shows and maintaining satisfactory grades. A small enrollment fee is charged by the Fort Wayne I. U. Center for those seeking this credit.

Those auditioning for places in the singing ensemble or who wish to be considered for major or minor singing roles are asked to bring sheet music. The Festival furnishes an accompanist for all singers and supplies scripts for actors desiring to read for certain roles. For additional information, write "Festival," 411 Standard Building, Fort Wayne, for an audition bulletin.

No auditions or interviews are contemplated for later in the spring.

"Use winter wheat, oats, barley, rye or permanent pastures for ewes and lambs as soon as the ground is dry enough." That's the word from Purdue University animal husbandmen, who say lambs born in February should weigh 40-60 pounds by May 1.

Canary Grass Stops Gullies

Reed canary grass can be used to halt active gullies on Indiana farms, according to two Purdue University specialists.

Don Sisson, agricultural engineer, and M. E. Heath, agronomist, say one of the best ways to "heal" raw gullies, either in permanent pastures or along roadsides, is with Reed canary grass.

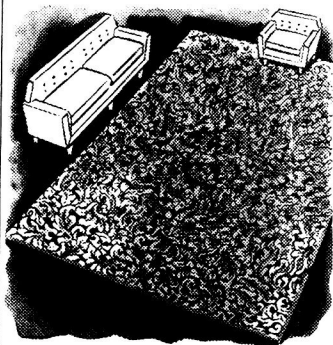

A coarse textured perennial grass, Reed canary does well on wet soils but also is tolerant of drouthy conditions. The grass has an extensive root system which makes it useful for erosion control.

Direct seeding of Reed canary grass in a gully is risky, Sisson and Heath assert. For this reason they suggest that the grass be established in gullies using sod from a previously established sod bank.

The "green hay" method, where Reed canary grass is cut green and tamped into the soil, also has proved successful. The green cuttings take roots in a short time and make a dense cover on the gully banks.

If sod is used, pieces about the size of the fist should be spaded or heeled into the bulled area at 18-inch intervals. The sod pieces should be staggered on alternate sides of the gully rather than in the center. It's best to mat the settings downslope so that sudden rainstorms will not wash out the sod before the roots are established. The sod will spread quickly and completely cover most gullies within a year.

The specialists say the best time to plant Reed canary sod is in the spring when there is plenty of moisture in the soil.

A one-tenth acre plot will furnish enough sod for healing many gullies, according to the specialists. One pound of seed—which should be high in germination—will cover one-tenth of an acre. A well prepared and fertile seedbed is required. The seed can be sown in spring, summer or fall with best results obtains in late summer.

Additional information on Reed canary grass can be obtained from county agricultural agents or soil conservation technicians.

Revolution In Egg Marketing

Egg Marketing, a sore spot in the poultryman's economy, is in the midst of a revolution called "Egg Business in a Package."

This idea, sometimes referred to as "integration," centers around farm-business partnership in the production of high quality, premium-priced eggs.

One of the most talked about "Egg Business in a Package" operations is in the Kansas area. The story of the Kansas operation was told at Purdue Egg Day Wednesday afternoon by R. M. Hendrickson, Product Manager, Larro Poultry Feeds, General Mills, Minneapolis, Minn.

"There are and probably will be many variations of package egg programs as more farmers and produce people get seriously interested in their egg marketing problems," Hendrickson pointed out. "Well organized egg marketing programs are necessary if the poultry business is to survive and grow."

Citing the need for such programs, Hendrickson said: "We still consider marketing to be one of the most serious problems for farmers today. We can no longer sit still and just take for granted that people will eat so many eggs a year just because eggs are good for them. Competition for the consumer's dollar is too great. So, we've seen the per capita consumption of eggs decreasing when it should be increasing."

"We anticipate that with a uniform high quality product and effective merchandising, prices can eventually become more stable at a higher level and assure a steady profit to producers."

Hendrickson said his firm is interested in egg quality for two reasons:

(1) You (the businessman) can't continue to sell goods and services to a poultryman unless that poultryman is making money. And (2) the egg producer can't make much money these days unless he produces a steady supply of high quality eggs, does it efficiently and has a good market for his product.

"Put the answers or solutions to these problems together and you have what has popularly been called Egg Business in a Package, involving farmers, feed, equipment, hatchery and produce people."

Hendrickson said farmers are in an era of specialization brought about by scientific advance. It's more and more difficult for a farmer to keep abreast of newer knowledge in all phases of agriculture. Farmers who center attention on one or two enterprises have a distinct advantage.

He said that egg production and marketing package plans help farmers specialize. The farm-business coordinated Kansas program is one of the largest ventures now in existence for putting producers and private enterprise together with a single purpose.

"Effective marketing and merchandising keynote the operation," he added. "High quality eggs produced in well-managed cage-layer operations sell at a premium price. Eggs are gathered three times a day. They're kept under refrigeration from the time of gathering until the time the consumer picks them up."

Business joins the package by supplying housing, equipment, laying hens and feed under a financing program, and by providing a premium market. The eggs are packed and sold in cartons carrying the General Mills "SureFresh" label and a money-back guarantee. The guarantee of uniformity in quality, color, size, freshness and flavor commands a premium price at the market. General Mills specifies that SureFresh eggs can be sold only in the area in which the eggs are produced.

"General Mills is not directly responsible for the marketing in this program," Hendrickson said. "A local produce house buys and sells the eggs with merchandising assistance from General Mills."

Financing is handled by each business firm involved in the package. The Larro feed used is financed by General Mills under normal credit policies. Variations of the Kansas programs are now working in other areas, involving both new and existing flocks.

Purdue Egg Day, sponsored by the University's Poultry Science Department, is one of the poultryman's favorite informational sessions.

Local Church In Campaign To Reach All Members

Announcement has been made by The Rev. Milton G. Persons of The Mentone Methodist Church, that a campaign which will reach all members of the local congregation is now in progress.

Object of the campaign is twofold: (1) to better acquaint the church members with the work of the denomination's World Service; and (2) to give each one an opportunity to share regularly in humanitarian work around the world, as well as to support his church in its own local and Conference responsibilities.

"This week, and the following two weeks," indicated the Rev. Persons, "we will be mailing literature and letters to all of our membership and several church friends. This is preliminary to 'Loyalty Sunday' which we will observe in our church at the close of the third week. Following that each of those members who were not able to be present in church on Loyalty Sunday, will be called on by one of the several visitation teams which will be at work. In this manner we will reach our entire membership in this important campaign.

The Rev. Persons indicated that Methodists gave $7,672,359.89 last year to the missionary and general benevolence work of the denomination throughout the world.

So a year ago I made the change on my Minneapolis U. Tractor using a complete factory change over.

I farm two hundred acres and find that my tractor uses less fuel per hour with butane.

It has more Power, idles nicer and has better governor action.

I also find by using butane my fuel bills are a lot less than when I was using regular gas. It is also a saving on oil. Only changed oil once all last summer."

Strawberry Varieties

A Purdue University extension horticulturist has advised home and commercial growers that selection of the proper variety is an important factor in successful strawberry production.

Frank Emerson says varieties which do well in one area may be unsatisfactory in another. Other varieties are adapted to a wider range of environmental conditions and may be grown with success anywhere in the state.

Emerson makes these comments on four early season varieties for Indiana—Earli-dawn, Premier, Empire and Blakemore.

Earli-dawn, an outstanding new variety just released by the USDA, is one of the earliest of all varieties and usually ripens about five days ahead of Blakemore and Premier. Fruits are large in size and have a bright red color but are not quite as firm as Blakemores. Earli-dawn seems to be adaptable anywhere in the state as an early season berry to replace Premier.

Premier (Howard 17) has been a standard variety in Indiana for many years, being valuable because of its frost hardiness and earliness of bearing. In recent tests at Purdue, Premier has been one of the poorest varieties as far as productiveness and fruit quality go and is not recommended for new plantings in Indiana.

Empire has a smooth, well-shaped fruit with a bright red color. Yields are high and the plants vigorous. The variety seems promising for northern Indiana.

One of the older standard varieties for use in southern Indiana is Blakemore. It gives fair yields of medium sized, firm, light-red fruit. Fruit quality is good.

Of the mid-season varieties mentioned by Emerson, Pocahontas, Dixeland, Surecrop and Redglow rate high. Pocahontas has consistently out-yielded all other varieties in test plantings.

at Purdue. Fairfax and Albritton are not recommended for commercial planting in Indiana. Catskill should be mainly of interest in the northern part of the state. Jerseybelle has not been tested in Indiana.

Emerson says Armore is one of the best late season varieties. Tennessee Beauty is well adapted to the southern part of the state while Sparkle seems best suited for the northern area. Robinson is one of the older varieties which is being replaced by newer and better varieties. Erie has not been tested in Indiana but is reported to be high yielding with firm and attractive berries.

A complete report of Emerson's analysis of varieties for Indiana is contained in Purdue mimeo HO 55-2, "Strawberry Varieties For Indiana," available from the agricultural publications office at Purdue.

Improve Growth With Alfalfa

Dehydrated alfalfa meal can be used to improve growth rate and reproductive efficiency of farm livestock, according to W. M. Beeson, Purdue University animal nutritionist.

Increased use of poor quality roughages—such as corn cobs, corn stalks, corn silage, cottonseed hulls and straw—in rations for livestock has re-emphasized the use of dehydrated alfalfa meal as a supplement.

In view of this Beeson has listed these ideas which may be useful to farmers in improving livestock rations with dehydrated meal:

"... Beef cattle supplements designed to balance the deficiencies of low quality roughages should contain 14 percent of dehydrated alfalfa meal.

"Fattening rations for cattle can be improved by feeding from 1-3 pounds of alfalfa meal per steer daily.

"Alfalfa pellets can be used to supply unidentified factors and also for carriers of antibiotics and hormones when extra sources of protein are not required in supplementing cattle rations.

"Wider use should be made of alfalfa meal in creep rations for beef calves.

"Ewes fed during gestation on poor quality roughages should receive one pound of alfalfa pellets daily to insure a healthy lamb, normal growth and abundant wool crop from the ewe.

"Creep rations for lambs may contain from 20-98 percent of dehydrated alfalfa meal with excellent results.

"Ten percent or more of alfalfa meal should be included in all drylot protein supplements for swine.

"Birthweight, weaning weight, percent of pigs weaned and general health of pigs can be improved significantly by including 15 percent of alfalfa meal in the complete hog ration or by feeding one pound of alfalfa pellets per sow daily.

"Leaner hogs can be produced by feeding higher percentages of alfalfa meal (30-50 percent) in the ration. At present, however, this is not practical because the growth rate is reduced and the feed required is increased."

Beeson adds that the potential value of dehydrated alfalfa meal has not been completely determined and new approaches need to be explored.

SEA TIGERS

The most vicious fish in the tropic seas is the blood-thirsty barracuda. He'll attack any moving object at a speed of 30 miles per hour, and he can rip off a man's hand or foot with one slash of razor-sharp teeth in an overhung jaw. His cigar-shaped body, colored blue-green above and silvery on the sides, grows about ten feet long. Ichthyologists call him so plain mean and nasty, that, even when filled with food, he'll herd a school of small fish into shallow water and keep them milling around 'til he's ready to eat again.

The largest ranch in Texas is larger than the entire 1058 square miles of Rhode Island.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

by McFeatters

"But what good will credit do me if you're going to send bills every time I charge something?"

Orchard Grass Experiments

Orchard grass, mixed with alfalfa, furnishes good pasture for feeder cattle, experiments by Purdue University agronomists show.

Experiments were conducted at the Miller-Purdue farm in Grant county, comparing beef production on alfalfa-orchard grass, alfalfa-tall fescue and alfalfa-brome grass pastures.

Early season gains on the alfalfa-orchard grass were poor, but gains for the season almost equalled those from alfalfa-brome grass and were better than total gains on alfalfa-fescue pasture.

A mixture of orchard grass and Ladino clover or alfalfa makes a good combination for grass silage, too.

Details of growing orchard grass are set out in mimeo AY-137, available without charge at county agents' offices or by writing the agricultural publications office, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

Orchard grass does well throughout Indiana except on very wet land. It excels other grasses in its ability to give a stand from spring seeding.

Spring seedlings should not be closely grazed during the first year. However, after that period grazing should start as vigorous growth develops in the spring.

Moderately heavy grazing is necessary throughout the summer to maintain high quality of the early grass and reduce its competition with the early growth of the legume with which it is mixed.

Agronomists at Purdue University say brome-alfalfa pasture should be grazed lightly during late April to give the plants a chance to replace the food reserves used in making the first growth.

FCDA Urges 7-Day Emergency Food Supply for All Families

If the United States ever suffers thermonuclear attack, one of the basic problems for America's millions would be food, and how to get enough of it.

In the so-called good old days the family pantry generally was loaded with food—ready for any emergency.

TODAY, THE FEDERAL Civil Defense Administration recommends that every family keep a minimum of a seven-day supply of food in the home for instant use in an emergency. This has become known as Grandma's Pantry.

To estimate how much food is needed for seven days, multiply the number of persons in the family by the amounts shown in the adjoining list for one person. A two or three weeks supply would be more desirable. Foods listed are merely types recommended, not necessarily those which must be stocked.

The items kept on hand should be those staple groceries that are used in your normal pattern of daily serving. By following this plan rotation is no problem, as you replace the items used by shopping frequently enough not to deplete your supply to an appreciable extent.

Suggested Pantry

MILK: One package of powdered, non-fat dry milk, and two 14½ oz. cans of evaporated milk.

FRUITS: One 1 lb. 14 oz. can each of two varieties of canned fruits, and 1 lb. of dried fruits.

JUICES: Three cans of approximately 1 qt. 1½ oz. each of fruit or vegetable juice.

VEGETABLES: Six cans (approximately 1 lb. each) of vegetables.

SOUPS: Four 10½ oz. cans.

MEATS AND MEAT SUBSTITUTES: Four cans (approximately 1 lb. each) of your favorite items. Include cheese or peanut butter if desired.

CEREALS: Seven individual-serving packages of ready-to-eat variety.

BREAD: The canned varieties.

CRACKERS-COOKIES: One box.

BEVERAGES: One small jar of instant coffee, one of instant tea, or a 1 lb. package of instant cocoa, whichever your family prefers.

SOFT DRINKS: Twelve bottles.

SUPPLEMENTARY ITEMS: Sugar, salt, seasonings, candy (types that store well), chewing gum, and cigarettes and tobacco.

CAUTION: Store these items like Grandma did—in a dry, cool basement or storeroom within a temperature range of 35 to 50 degrees for best results. Check your "pantry" preferably weekly but at least monthly and rotate items regularly. Use within six months. Bottled water should be changed every six weeks.

IF YOUR CHILDREN are young, decrease the amounts by one-fourth. If the children are infants, canned baby foods should be substituted for some of the other canned foods. And don't forget—be sure to plan for old people or invalids.

Another word of caution: check your "pantry" at least monthly, and rotate items regularly. Bottled water, for instance, should be changed every six weeks.

Essential items for your stockroom should include two gallons of water in jugs or bottles for each person, and three gallons for each child under three years old. You should also maintain a supply of salt and sugar, matches, fuel, cooking utensils, a can opener, and tableware.

You would also do well to have in your storage room a portable radio, flashlight, candles and holders, first-aid kit, blankets, pail and garbage container.

On the lighter side, you might add a supply of games and toys for the children.

Grow Own Salad Crops

Ingredients for fresh, crisp salads can be grown in the home garden this spring even though space is limited.

W. B. Ward, Purdue University extension horticulturist, says radishes, Kohlrabi and garden greens such as kale, lettuce, mustard, spinach and endive may be planted in early April. Even beets and turnips, if not intended for use as root crops, will make excellent greens for appetizing salads.

Radishes will be ready for use in 20-25 days and some of the greens can be harvested in 35-45 days after planting.

Gardeners will have the best success with greens grown on a well-fertilized soil. From six to eight pounds of fertilizer—such as 10-10-10—should be spread

A. A. Gast, 101 Dies Sunday

Andrew Almondo Gast, 101, Fulton county's oldest citizen, died of complications at 8:00 Sunday morning.

Mr. Gast, a former two-term sheriff and Akron postmaster, died in the Alfran Nursing home in Warsaw. He was the father of E. A. (Chub) Gast and Robert P. Gast, of Warsaw, and was a well-known Akron businessman and leader in democratic circles.

He founded the Gast Construction company at about the turn of the century, a business which is still carried on in Warsaw by the two sons. At the time of his death, Mr. Gast was a retired farmer.

Mr. Gast was born September 14, 1855, in the town of Newark, which is now Akron. His parents were Andrew and Marie (Halbeisen) Gast.

Talma Will Lose Factory

The Freeman Manufacturing Company, located in Talma, is moving its local operation to Puerto Rico, it was learned Monday, and expected to shut down the Talma plant by the end of April.

Presently there are eight women employed by the concern, which manufactures surgical belts. The plant has been in operation in Talma for the past seven years. At one time they employed 98 women.

The owners of the firm, from Sturgis, Michigan, have built a new factory in Puerto Rico. Mrs. Mildred L. Kramer is the manager of the Talma Plant.

Lamb Sold To Kansas People

Wilbur and Lyndes Latimer were highly complimented recently when a group of men from the west drove in wanting to look over their herd of registered sheep. They had seen the Latimer sheep at the state fair and had decided that if they wanted one of the best for breeding purposes they would get one from the Latimer herd.

A. W. Fishburn & Son, of Haven, Kansas, one of the west's largest sheep growers, bought a yearling Shropshire lamb. The price was $200.

The Latimers have spent years in breeding prize-winning sheep, and the fact that they have attracted the attention of growers over nine hundred miles away certainly should be an indication that they have been successful in their mission.

Easter Egg Hunt At Burket Sunday

The playground near the Burket school will be the scene of much Easter Joy and merriment, next Sunday afternoon, April 21, at 2 p. m. There the Burket Fire Department will hold the second annual Easter Egg Hunt and Egg Contest Party for all children in Seward Township and the surrounding area.

In order to create interest, there will be a poster contest for the 4 lower grades in the Franklin and Burket Schools with cash prizes for the best entries depicting subjects on Easter themes and announcement placards. Posters must be submitted by April 17. Parents are urged to accompany the children and to see the fun.

Other activities planned are an egg rolling contest, egg spoon race, and egg tossing competition. The boys and girls will be divided in different age groups for the egg hunt. Awards of 50, 25 and 10 cents will be made to lucky finders of special colored eggs.

The finance and eggs are to be supplied by 25 local citizens and Burket Businessmen, with the Burket Firemen and their wives making up the various committees.

There should be a big scramble for eggs, money for the lucky ones and plenty of fun for everyone.

Mr. Preston of the State Highway Right-of-way Bureau is now engaged in Preliminary work on the new proposed highway.

Much of the credit for this accomplishment is due to the people who live along the highway for their cooperation in providing additional right-of-way, and to Lloyd Shoemaker in particular who has worked tirelessly on this project for the past twelve years.

Soybean Planting Information

Soybean planting time is only weeks away for many Indiana farmers. And this year they plan to plant 2,273,000 acres, two percent more than in 1956.

Soybean growers who hope to boost their yields in 1957 will find valuable information in Purdue University extension bulletin 231, entitled, "Soybeans in Indiana."

This publication, which is a-valuable without charge at county agricultural agents' offices or by writing the agricultural publications office, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., provides information on nearly all phases of soybean production.

The 39-page bulletin tells how soybeans respond to sandy soils, as well as to other soil types. It gives precautions to be taken on erosion in soybean fields. Some of the ways soybeans may be used in the crop rotation plan are listed.

Advice on inoculation is contained in the publication. It tells when other seed treatment will pay and lists some things to look for in good seed beans. Seed-bed preparation, weed control, proper time and depth of planting are also discussed.

Diseases of soybeans, which are becoming more prevalent with the extensive cultivation of the crop, are dealt with in both pictures and text.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller and son of Plymouth called on Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Boganwright Sunday evening.

Leaf Weevil Damages Clover

The first of the 1957 crop pests—the clover leaf weevil—has already made its appearance in Indiana.

Glen Lehker, Purdue University extension entomologist, says considerable damage has already resulted from the small, greenish-yellow worm that feeds on clover leaves.

The weevil larvae are difficult to find, Lehker explains, because they shun light and therefore feed mostly at night and on cool, dark days. Damaged plants are the best indication of the weevil's presence.

In most seasons, the weevil is held in check by a fungus disease which attacks the larvae. Diseased worms are unable to leave the plants and remain curled around the stems during the daylight hours. Their presence there indicates that the disease is active and that protective sprays may not be necessary.

Dry weather hinders the fungus growth and farmers in such areas should be especially alert to the need for treatment.

Sprays containing methoxychlor are preferred because their residues are such that dairy cattle can be pastured on sprayed fields seven to 10 days after treatment, Lehker says. Two quarts of 25 per cent methoxychlor emulsified concentrate or two pints of 25 percent heptachlor per acre are recommended. Either of those chemicals should be mixed with sufficient water for even distribution. The exact amount will depend upon the equipment used.

Treatments made during the last ten days of April will also control spittlebugs since they are usually present by that time, the entomologist adds.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

A pleasant surprise was held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tessie Newton, the event being the Mrs. Newton's birthday; the guests present were: Mrs. Bertha Meredith, Mrs. Mary Barkman, Mrs. Samantha Norris and Mrs. Treva Boganwright. Several other invited guests were unable to be present. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, later the guests departed wishing Mrs. Newton many more happy returns of her birthday.

Hoosier Gold and Golden Cross Bantam, hybrid varieties, produce high yields of top quality sweet corn, according to Purdue University horticulturists. The varieties are recommended for all gardeners and should be included in the seed order.

Turf specialists at Purdue University say that high mowing favors bluegrass. Actually, lawns in Indiana are improved when mowed with rotary mower set 2 inches high. Reel type mowers when set high can be equally beneficial for bluegrass vigor.

Poisoned peanuts can be used to control moles in lawn this spring, according to Purdue University entomologists. The raw peanuts—treated with thallium sulphate—should be placed at intervals of 8-10 feet in fresh run-days. Two or three peanuts should be placed in each location since mice may carry off the peanuts before the moles get there.

Farmers trying grain sorghums for the first time this year are reminded by Purdue University agronomists that the grain requires warmer soil than corn, seedlings grow slower and, at the end of the harvest, the crop may have to be dried for safe storage.

Purdue University horticulturists say a corn cob or sawdust mulch around and under grapevines, fruit trees, and raspberry plants will increase the yield of fruit and greatly reduce the cost of cultivation and control of weeds and grasses.

A large proportion of more than a million tons of commercial fertilizer which Indiana farmers are expected to use this year will be distributed in April and May. Purdue University biochemists point out that farmers will benefit most from their fertilizer investment if they have had their soil tested and if they apply the grades and amounts on the basis of the tests and crops grown.

Purdue University animal husbandmen point out that early spring pastures can be used to good advantage for pigs. They recommend keeping pigs in small groups of 40 to 50 with temporary fences which can be moved annually in a rotation system. This is a good way of eliminating diseases and parasites and increasing gains.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mollenhour spent Sunday with Mrs. Mollenhour's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Perkins of Rensselaer. They returned with them for a week's visit.

There were one hundred and ten guests served ice cream and cake by their Neighbor Ladies. The table was beautifully decorated with a three tier wedding cake and flowers of which they received as some of their gifts. Other nice gifts were also received.

Miss Marilyn Rathfon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rathfon, is now in Los Angeles, California with the Grace College Choir of Winona Lake. They are giving regular concerts in the Los Angeles area and will present a special Easter concert on Sunday.

Miss Rathfon writes that they recently visited "Disneyland."

Reading Club For April

The April meeting of the Mentone Reading Club was held at the home of Mrs. Bernice Rush, with Mrs. Harold Nelson as assistant hostess.

Roll Call was answered by "A Hat I Remember."

Mrs. Ralph Mollenhour and Mrs. Don Bunner had charge of the program. Mrs. Bunner introduced Miss Mary Kathryn Shroup, science teacher in the Warsaw high school. Miss Shroup has made photography her hobby and especially pictures of local flowers and native plants. She showed colored slides of flowers from the first pussy-willows to the last frost tinted leaves along our Tippecanoe river. With many of the flowers Miss Shroup narrated the story from mythology which gave the flower its name. Her pictures were taken in backyard gardens, swamps, roadsides, and river banks. Her excellent shots and natural beauty of our Indiana flowers made us realize that we can be justly proud of home-grown beauty.

ON HONOR ROLL

Jon Cullum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Artley Cullum, Mentone, was among the eight county students of Manchester College to be listed on the honor roll for the winter quarter.

The college news release states: Out of 85 students named to the honor roll, the upper ten per cent of each class, 17 were seniors, 16 juniors, 22 sophomores and 30 freshmen.

He lless Horsepower

A new deadly disease has the American people in its grip and no miracle drug is in sight to stop its frightful toll of human lives.

Heedless horsepower is the chronic disease of the Age of the Automobile. Its symptoms are many and various. The heavy foot on the accelerator; the eye fixed on the climbing speedometer; the hand on the horn; the mind idling while the car is in high.

In its 23rd annual highway safety publication, "Heedless Horsepower," The Travelers Insurance Companies of Hartford, Conn., point to the fact that 40,000 Americans were killed and 2,368,000 injured in 1956 on U. S. highways. That's an increase of six per cent in fatalities and nearly ten per cent in injuries over 1955's toll.

"The disease of heedless horsepower is highly contagious," the booklet states. It can be spread by an irresponsible word, an inflated claim, a careless example.

And everyone who is a position to influence drivers should learn that horsepower, in the hands of the heedless, is the fundamental cause of our ever-mounting toll of disaster.

In recent years, engineers have made many attempts to feature safety equipment in the new cars. Probably many lives have been spared by safety glass, seat belts, padded instrument panels, all-steel bodies, etc. But these safety devices can be nullified by any combination of speed plus carelessness, thoughtlessness or lack of judgment by the driver behind the wheel.

However, it is the driver, not the manufacturer, the advertiser or the salesman who must bear the great weight of blame. For it is the driver who can control the horsepower and use it safely for his greater ease and convenience. It is the driver who is lectured to, legislated at, prayed for, preached to . . . in every medium of public expression known to man. And it is the driver who nods sagely, promises readily, and forgets everything but his sense of overwhelming power when he steps on the gas.

Casualty lists on U. S. highways mounted steadily until in 1956 all records of heedless haste and needless waste were shamefully broken. The facts of human suffering and death speak for themselves.

Human error is by far the biggest cause of accidents. Figures compiled by The Travelers show that in 96.4 per cent of the fatal crashes last year, the automobile was in apparently good condition. Clear, dry weather prevailed in more than 85 per cent of these instances!

If this year's record is equal to that of 1956, one in 70 Americans will be a statistic . . . a pain wracked survivor, or a name in the obituary column.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES

College graduates this year can expect good pay and an easy transition from campus to office, say the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine. Smart undergraduates have already been tapped, and the not so smart ones won't have any serious worries.

Engineers lead the pack of the most-wanted men. Need for them is better than a third higher than it was a year ago. Then, in order of demand for them, come salesmen, business trainees, accountants, chemists, production management experts, insurance men and financial trainees.

Although hundreds of recruitment officials have been beating the campuses looking for male help, they generally wait for the girls to come to them. Jobs where women are wanted include general business trainees, sales-girls, secretaries, engineers, statisticians, chemists and merchandising experts.

The average starting pay for men is $401, compared with $383 per month a year ago. Engineers will get the most—$433 a month. Accountants will average about $389, salesmen $385, general business trainees $382. A master's degree is said to add about another $100 a month to a neophyte engineer's pay, a Ph.D. an additional $150 over that. Salaries for girls, job for job, are somewhat lower than for men.

Graduates in liberal arts are in demand, and that's a surprise. Employers are finding that the well-rounded graduate turns out to be a well-rounded employee, too, not too specialized and equipped to take on a variety of tasks. Better than one out of three jobs for this year's graduates could be filled by a graduate with no technical or other specialized training.

April 17 to 19, 1937, the Spittlebug was still observed. The results of the survey will be announced on Friday, Sunday, May 6th.

Spittlebugs will be hatching in April, according to Purdue University entomologists. Examine clover and alfalfa plants about the middle of the month to determine the extent of spittlebug infestation, the entomologists advise. The most effective and profitable control can be obtained by applying recommended insecticides within one week after hatching. Spittlebug controls are described in mimeo E-28, available from county agricultural agents or the office of agricultural publications at Purdue.

ALWAYS SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

One need never find himself speechless—there is always the weather to talk about. Farmers these days are getting itchy to get into the fields, but it continues cold and wet — and before we know what's happening it will be so hot we'll be complaining again. It's frequently said: No matter what weather you prefer, in Indiana, just wait a week and you'll have a little of every kind.

Mid-April is not too late to apply nitrogen as a top dressing on wheat in central and northern Indiana, Purdue University agronomists say. Recommended application in northern Indiana is 30 pounds per acre and on sandy soils 35 to 40 pounds per acre.

Sod-seeded winter cereal grains are now giving excellent early spring pasture, according to Purdue University agronomists. The old pasture sod gives the animals firm footing, often a problem when solid seedings of winter grain are pastured early.

Seed Law Provision

A new provision in the Indiana Seed Law aimed at unethical seed peddlers who swindled Indiana farmers out of thousands of dollars in 1956 went into effect April 1.

A. S. Carter, director of seed control at Purdue University, said the new legislation adopted by the 1957 General Assembly requires seed peddlers to post a $10,000 bond.

A person who sells seed and enters into a contract with the buyer and agrees to buy back the seed crop at a price higher than the current market price of the

CIRCLING SATELLITE

An earth satellite, or man-made moon, will be rocketed into space from Patrick Air Force Base, Fla. sometime between July 1957 and December 1958 and will circle the earth every 100 minutes. It will be 20 inches in diameter, weight 21½ lbs. and will be carried 300 miles into the atmosphere in a three-stage rocket 72 feet long and weighing 11 tons.

The first stage will drive the rocket 36 miles straight up and drop off. Fuel in the second stage will then ignite and propel it 140 miles higher. When this fuel burns out, the rocket will coast to its 300 mile level, and automatic instruments will spin it into its projected orbit. The fuel in the third stage will propel the rocket to its greatest speed in an arc parallel to the earth as the conical end of the rocket opens up and ejects the moon into space.

The satellite will circle the earth by its own momentum, and the third stage will drop away into the ocean. Trackers with high speed cameras will follow the course of the moon which will follow a curving path over South America, the tip of Africa, north of Australia, over Hawaii and across New Mexico. Scientists estimate the satellite will stay aloft about a year.

A herd of 15 registered Guernsey cows owned by Cecil Bosstick of Parke County increased production from 7188 pounds of milk and 315 pounds of butterfat in 1948 to 9362 pounds of milk and 485 pounds of butterfat in 1956. According to G. A. Williams, Purdue University extension dairyman, the influence of the sire contributed much to this increase. One registered sire whose daughters showed a substantial increase in production over their dams was sold for artificial service. Six daughters of another sire are likely to show a substantial increase over their dams. Only one cow in the herd was not raised by the owner.

Olds Owner: That's Oldsmobile's new J-2 Rocket Engine*!

Neighbor: What's that? Tell me how it works.

Olds Owner: When you're driving under ordinary conditions, it uses only one carburetor. That means economy with a capital E. But when you need a sudden burst of power, for safety's sake, you just press the accelerator three-quarters of the way down—and two additional carburetors cut in!

Neighbor: In other words, with J-2, you can have economy when you want it and power when you need it. That's for me!

Mothers Of W.W. 1 Meet

Mrs. Maude Romine was hostess to 15 members of the Mothers of World War II, Monday evening, April 8. The meeting was called to order by the president, Dora Norris. The altar was prepared by the Sgt.-at-Arms, Elvora Coplen and the colors were presented after singing one verse of America and prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Bertha Meredith. The meeting was declared opened for business. The recording secretary, Financial secretary, and Treasurer's reports were accepted as read. Communications were received from Julia Smith, one from Audrey Miller concerning the Goodwill bags. Myrtle Davis was appointed to take care of this and all who had anything to donate was to leave it with Mrs. Davis by the 27th of April as the truck would be there to pick it up and the District meeting was announced to be held June the 13th at Walton, Indiana. Nine bed sides and 4 duffy bags were reported made for the Veterans hospitals.

Marion hospital has asked for nylon stockings, ties, buttons, carpet rags, prints and felt hats. Those having any of these articles please bring them to the next meeting. Rhoda Jones reported she had a year's supply of Life magazines all in good shape, anyone knowing of any of the hospitals that can use them just let her know. Myrtle Davis gave a report of the State Convention held at Fort Wayne. There are 3361 members in the State. The 1958 convention will be held at Elkhart and the 1959 at Kokomo. Agnes Shore is the new President for Indiana. The motion was made and carried that all Bills be paid. Marie Coleman paid dues. Get well cards were signed by members present to be sent to Mrs. Newell and Mrs. Fisher. Final plans were made for the bake sale to be held at Shinn's Locker Plant Saturday, April 20. The hostess assisted by Janet served lovely refreshments. The May meeting to be with Dora Whetstone.

W.S.C.S. Meets

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met in the Sanctuary of the Methodist Church on April 11. Lois Davison, president, conducted the business of the society. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Dewitt. Mrs. Francis Olson gave a report of the Northern Indiana Conference of The Woman's Society of Christian Service which was held that day at New Haven. Those attending from Mentone were Mrs. Lois Davison, Mrs. Dewitt, Mrs. Francis Olson, Mrs. Madonna Persons, Mrs. Faye Bunner, Mrs. Dora Whetstone, Miss Von Jenkins, and Mrs. Babe Long. The officers for the next year were elected. They are to be installed at the May meeting. The District Meeting is to be held April 26 and officers training day May 14th. Harriet Abbey, program chairman, introduced the lesson for the evening which was "Our Plus Becomes a Cross—Home Missions in the National News," and she was assisted by Martha Elsworth, Mrs. Persons, Kate Whetstone, Mary Utter and Betty Sarber. We were given a bird's-eye view of the scope of work of the Woman's Division in the home fields, with emphasis on minority islands isolated by conventionalism or circumstances. This lesson is to help and inspire the members of the Society to share in the program of the Division, as well as in the programs of interdenominational groups, and in their own communities to try to make undesirable islands desirable. A recording and pictures of Porto Rico were shown. These gave us a better understanding of the hunger, fear and hope, also the beauty and poverty of this island. Hostesses were Mrs. Dale Wallace, Opal Nellans, Mrs. Virgil Cooper and Wanda Simco.

E. D. Anderson, Artie Miller and Ralph Burris are attending the spring lecturship at David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tennessee. Mrs. Burris is visiting with relatives at Mitchell, Indiana this week.

Driving at night and in wet weather are other times when tractor and automobile accidents are apt to occur. People operating tractors at night oftentimes are difficult to see until it's too late to prevent an accident. Wet weather means tractors drag mud on the highways, and could cause a fast moving automobile to go into a skid.

MARCIA CLAMPITT, Reporter

Spring means more farmers with tractors on heavily traveled highways. It is a time for both motorists and drivers of tractors to be extra cautious, says the Chicago Motor Club.

Some safety rules to follow when operating a tractor on a highway include: be alert; keep tractor in gear when going down steep hills; be sure that both wheels are braked simultaneously when making an emergency stop; reduce speed before making a turn or apply brakes; use proper signals; when possible use the shoulder of the highway, and use a two-man operation when crossing highways.

Gardens To Open May 12th

"Truly International". That's the way a recent representative from the Netherlands described the coming International Friendship Gardens season, which will open "Tulips on Parade," May 12 at Michigan City.

The Dutch representative was referring to the combination of Dutch and American skills that are blended in the Annual Tulip Festival. The Tulip Bulbs, with their spectacular colors, reached the Gardens from the Dutch Bulb Growers Association in the Netherlands. They are planted in formal and informal settings and designs by American workers in an American site.

The Dutch representative who visits the gardens each year, said: "This site, with its wondrous beauty and unbelievable calm, can do much for the world. I firmly believe if our world leaders could confer in such an atmosphere, it would help promote the peace we all pursue."

There are some 500 different colors of tulips. Many of these colors will be found blooming along the walks and lanes within the 100-acre tract, and all will be in bloom by May 12.

Two brothers, Joseph and Virgil Stauffer, started the Gardens as an outlet for their ideals twenty years ago. Since then, thousands have come to know and share those ideals in frequent visits.

Mrs. Minnie Busenburg called Sunday afternoon on Mr. and Mrs. Byron Linn.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fisher and daughter called Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones.

The Midwest's
MOST MODERN Fertilizer

You'll like Smith-Douglass fertilizers — modern in every way; modern in their high solubility, modern in their analysis (including 6-24-24, 14-14-14, 6-40-0, and 7-28-14) and modern in their free flowing, pelleted form.

FREE FLOWING

Smith-Douglass fertilizers flow freely through any equipment — they are unaffected by normal winds. And the complete analysis is in each pellet.

WORK FASTER

Smith-Douglass fertilizers work faster because of higher solubility; they work more efficiently because they are in new pellet form.

LOWER UNIT COST

Smith-Douglass high analysis fertilizers mean more units of plant food per dollar, fewer bags to lift and less time lost filling the fertilizer hoppers.

Market Forecasts Issued

Corn prices are expected to strengthen modestly in the next 60-90 days, according to a forecast by Purdue University agricultural economists.

Soybean prices, however, are more likely to weaken than to strengthen during that period, the economists said. A combined domestic and foreign demand indicates that wheat prices for the 1957 crop will be slightly above the $2.00 per bushel support level.

The economists said hog prices should continue steady to strong for the next two months relative to prices during the first half of April.

Egg prices during the late summer and early fall probably will be substantially improved over the same period a year ago, as a result of some supply reduction from lower early season flock replacements.

Broiler prices in May and June are expected to fluctuate somewhat above the 1956 Indiana price of 19-22 cents per pound. Broiler production is expanding less rapidly than in the past few years.

Figures may be released soon asserting that Indiana farm real estate prices were up eight percent during the past 12 months. The economists says, however, that nearly half of the transfers were for farm enlargements. Prices for entire farm units have strengthened but probably not to this extent.

The economists reminded all farmers that May 6 is the last day for filing mortgage exemptions.

Reading Club Meets

On Monday evening Miss Rozella Ford was a gracious hostess to the members of the Zerelda Reading Club and two guests, Mrs. Ray Linn and Mrs. Ned Miller of Mentone at her beautiful country home near Warsaw.

Mrs. Linn acted as narrator and conducted a tour of the Ford home telling about the lovely heirlooms used in the furnishings of the rooms and describing the Colonial type house built in Civil War times by a Presbyterian minister, a Rev. Little, whose daughter was an artist and no doubt helped design and make plans for its construction. The plans were so well executed that it has been an outstanding landmark in Kosciusko County through the years.

The Ford family bought the place from its original owners. Rozella has lived there most of her lifetime adding her grace and charm to a wonderful dwelling place. Mrs. Linn was the recipient of a very beautiful orchid from Miss Ford.

A Boost To Egg Profits

This may be an especially good year for market egg producers to get full service from their hens through use of a summer laying shelter, says Joe W. Sicer, Purdue University extension poultry specialist.

Sicer points out that present prospects are for at least reasonably good egg prices this fall because of a decline in the number of chicks hatched this spring for laying flock replacements.

Yearling hens of superior breeding can be kept in production through this period of anticipated good egg prices if satisfactory housing conditions are available, the specialist adds.

Often these hens must be sold in mid-summer to make room for the new flock of pullets even though the hens are capable of three to six months more egg production.

A summer laying shelter provides cheap housing for this additional period. It may be an inexpensive pole structure with wire sides and an overhanging roof, Sicer says. Or an unused shed or other building also may be converted into a laying shelter.

Sicer emphasizes that the hens should be moved into the shelter not later than the first part of June. While they still have the spring urge to lay eggs, the hens can usually be moved without much danger of throwing them into a molt. If moved later, the hens will most certainly be thrown out of production, he adds.

Rations for the hens should be supplemented with pellets, condensed milk or other encouragements to lay more during the summer, Sicer advises. Lights in the shelter should be turned on in September.

When the weather gets cold, the wire sides of the shelter should be covered with kraft paper. Profitable production may be maintained until November, when the hens should be sold.

Meanwhile, the regular laying house can be made ready for the pullets to occupy as soon as they start to lay. Thus, it is possible to have two flocks in production during the months of highest egg prices, Sicer asserts.

Plant Those Trees Now

Humid, cloudy days have made this month an excellent time to transplant trees, according to a Purdue University extension landscape architect.

H. W. Gilbert says trees can be transplanted until the end of April and perhaps longer if precautions are taken as recommended by nurserymen.

When "barerooted" trees are shipped from the nursery, the roots may be dry from transit. If so, they should be soaked overnight in water before planting. Fresh dug nursery stock should be in good condition when received by the customer.

If the soil is dry and crumbly, it should be replaced with a shovel, "watered down" and not trampled, Gilbert says.

"Don't hill up the soil around the tree, but leave a basin for water," the specialists add.

Additional information on trees is available in mimeo HO 811 "Some Woody Ornamental Plant Materials For Indiana," which can be obtained from the agricultural publications office at Purdue University.

Prevention Of Plant Diseases

Diseases of garden plants must be controlled if success is to be the reward for the expense and time devoted to making the home lot attractive.

Plant pathologists at Purdue say diseases may attack all common garden plants and trees and that the severity of resulting damage will depend to a large degree on weather conditions.

Home gardeners should recognize diseases and prevent their development before they become destructive. In view of this, the department of botany and plant pathology at Purdue has just released a series of mimeographs to help the home owner with these problems.

The new mimeographs are short, illustrated with pictures of the disease problems and contain specific up-to-date recommendations for plant disease control in the home garden.

A wide range of plant diseases is covered by these mimeographs. Home owners interested in a list of diseases covered by these new releases should request "A List of Available Mimeographs on Plant Disease Control" from the agricultural publications office, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

According to swine specialists at Purdue University, feed accounts for about 75 per cent of total costs in swine production. A few cents saving in feed costs can be a big saving overall. Feed the recommended protein levels to various ages of pigs. When pigs reach 75-100 pounds, the total protein can be cut down to 12 percent on pasture and 14 percent in drylot.

Anticipate Road Dangers

Accidents involving tractors and passenger cars occur most frequently at the top of a hill or a curve, the Club reported. Bearing down on a slow moving vehicle while a car is traveling at a usual speed for country driving doesn't give either driver much chance to avoid an accident.

SAFETY RULES FOR POWER MOWERS

A power mower is a potentially lethal weapon unless it's handled with a bit of judgment. Here are some do's and don'ts for its safe operation, given by the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine.

Clear the lawn of stones, wire and other debris before mowing. Don't work on the mower, adjust it or remove foreign matter, unless the motor is stopped. Be sure that small children and pets are well out of the way. Don't use an electric mower when grass is wet, and don't smoke while fueling a gasoline mower. Learn how to disengage the clutch quickly. And finally, turn off the motor before leaving the machine unattended.
