Black Horse Troup Camp In Mentone

Mentone was honored last week in having as their guests Thursday the Black Horse Troup from Culver Military Academy, Culver, Indiana. The troop, consisting of ninety-five perfectly matched black horses and approximately one hundred and fifteen splendid military students between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years, arrived in Mentone about 1:00 o'clock and were escorted to the fair grounds where they made camp.

Col. Richie, who was in charge, stated that the Mentone fair grounds with its stalls and other accommodations, would be the best camping ground the troop would have during their entire trip. They were enroute to Huntington, Ind., where on Sunday and Monday, August 1 and 2, they gave a military exhibition. There are one hundred horses in the original troop but five of them were left at the academy due to illness.

An interesting fact concerning Col. Richie is that he is the owner of seven jet black Shetland ponies. These intelligent animals he maintains at his home in Culver. They are very well trained and Col. Richie calls them his Black Horse Troup.

The citizens, old and young alike, enjoyed their visit very much, and, though this is the first time that the Black Horse Troup or any other military organization has honored us with their presence, we hope it will not be the last.

SCOUTS AT LAKE

The following girl scouts of the senior group spent last week at a cottage at Yellow Creek Lake: Bobby Mollenhour, Mary Ellen Myers, Jean Burns, Margaret Swick, Marjorie Swick, Marjorie Long, Frances Tucker, Geraldine Nellans, Louise Paulus, Lena Rush and the scout leader, Miss Eileen Mollenhour. While here, Mr. Waldman was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Eiler and family.

Nellans Family Reunion

The twelfth annual reunion of the Nellans family was held at the home of John Nellans, four miles northwest of Mentone on Sunday, July 25. About fifty relatives were present. Due to the rainy weather many did not get to attend, that had planned, to be present. Members of the family who came from a distance were Mrs. Howard White and four children of Greenville, Pa.

A very bountiful dinner was enjoyed at the noon hour to which all did ample justice. In the afternoon several snap shot pictures were taken and a business meeting was held, electing officers for next year. Mr. and Mrs. Dee Nellans of Richland Center, were elected president and secy-treas. The time and place of the next reunion will be selected by the president and will be announced at a later date.

Miss Jeanette Blue of Mentone gave two lovely vocal solos and Donna-belle Kehoe gave a reading. The remainder of the day was spent Thursday.

Eber Car Wrecked

The Ford V8 belonging to Russell Eber was damaged Thursday afternoon when it crashed into the small bridge east of the Harry Witham home. Mr. Eber, accompanied by Deloise White, had intended to go fishing in the creek. Attempting to coast down the incline the car got out of control and ran into the bridge. Eber sustained a severe cut on his upper lip but White was uninjured. The car was towed into Mentone.

BECAUSE in Firestone Standard Tires—

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every fiber in every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber. This counteracts dangerous internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING—because the tread is scientifically designed.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE because of the extra tough, long-wearing tread.

Before leaving on your vacation trip, join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires—today's top tire value.

Dave Morgan

I have just recently been enlightened on the subject of right and wrong; the subject that we all like to shy away or adhere to according to the dictates of our fancies. Since there does seem to be such a thing as propriety, it might be well for more people to think about it. I don't believe that people are intentionally erratic, but rather, just careless in one way or another. This can be applied to anyone who has a desire to be a friend of and to the people who live in his or her world of activity. I believe that no one likes to be considered undesirable, but the ones who we consider to be usually the ones to whom it makes no difference anyway. Funny people aren't we? When we think we have no use for a person, it makes no difference what he thinks of us. We are either flattered by his attention or amused by his anger, which ever the case may be.

But to get back to this matter of propriety, I have learned that when one is berated because of some habit or characteristic, one almost invariably asks, "Well, what's wrong with it?" Now according to the source of my newly acquired knowledge, this is the wrong question to ask. We are living in a world that requires an affirmative outlook on life, and such a question is a negative one. We should find out what is right about it; accept the thing for the good in it, provided there is a profitable amount of good, then try to improve the bad.

You know, I have a slight suspicion that there may be a great amount of truth in that argument. When we ask people to tell us what is wrong about it, we usually find so much wrong with it, that we can very easily begin to think, "Oh what's the use? I guess I'm just plain bad. I'll never amount to nuthin' so I might just as well keep on goin' to the dogs." But how happy it makes us feel when someone tells us of something that is good; something that has earmarks of virtue. How satisfied we feel when we have lifted someone's chin by telling him or her that he or she has such a pleasing personality or how she wears her clothes with such grace or how his style of conversation is so interesting. If we'd just learn to recognize virtue and aptitude and learn how to express our recognition in an acceptable manner, we'd find that there is something to live for after all. Wouldn't we?

Psychologists of both repute and otherwise have written long and to not much good in books, pamphlets, circulars and even hand bills, explaining to the best of their varied abilities and mental capacities, just how to understand the reactions of our minds. They say, that is, generally, that there is always a very definite reason, conscious or otherwise, for our actions, words and thoughts. I'm sure that I am in no position to disagree, but I do know we do say and think a lot of things that we wonder about afterward. We try as we may to find just one good of bad reason for these little sins which we have ben disposed to commit, but about the nearest to an excuse we can get is that our dispositions controlled us at the times of our commitments. These fellows are very capable when it comes to telling us why we seldom act like human beings, but they never tell us much about how to be human and when to be so.

They say that the reason our collars get hot at times is that we have accumulated a high steam pressure. When properly provoked, the pop-off valve opens and sometimes irreparable damage is done. They also say that when we are bubbling over with laughter and good will, we have had nothing to get steamed-up about. Its all very obvious of course, but they rave on to unlimited lengths about the ten general classifications of people and their reasons for being sad, mad or glad; explaining that the degree of tempermental manifestation depends upon the tention of ones nerves.

We know all of this and I think that since so very few people try to understand the technical phrases these fellows write, there might be a great field of enlightenment open if someone wants to start a path. Our moods play too great a part in our lives to be twiddling around with such a shallow subject. Unless our moods are made to serve some purpose, a purpose in life or a definite objective, we might just as well be sitting on our hands with a glassy stare in our eyes. If we plan to enter a type of work that requires tactful associations with people we would hardly be paid dividends by being or trying to be hard boiled.

If we have become self conscious, intraspersive and seclusive, we would hardly be wise in preparing for business execution unless we cultivate the traits of disposition and character that are required of a business executive.

So if these delvers into the mind

RESODDING OF DUST BOWL WOULD HELP

Expert Doubts That Nature Can Be Shackled.

Manhattan, Kan.—Dust storms were reported on the plains of the southwest even before the country was settled, and they never can be entirely eliminated, according to Prof. R. I. Throckmorton of Kansas State Agricultural college, who is preparing a drouth report for the Department of Agriculture.

"No one expects the blowing of dust on the plains can be entirely stopped," Throckmorton said. "Dust storms were reported in western Kansas long before the country was settled, and they will probably always continue."

In 1830, according to Throckmorton, the Rev. Isaac McCoy, a missionary to the Indians, crossed Kansas and reported encountering a severe dust storm. Weather reports at Dodge City, Kan., in the early 1890s record similar storms—and that was before the land was put under cultivation.

Grow Worse With Years.

"However," Throckmorton said, "the plow and recent drouths have increased the dust problem immensely. Grass is a natural solution if a successful way of growing sod on dry, sandy soils can be found."

Perhaps the most successful way for farmers to prevent soil erosion by wind is to plant sorghum, grass or other "cover" crops in place of wheat, Throckmorton believes. If the land can be resodded dust storms will diminish appreciably.

"It is not generally known," Throckmorton said, "that not all the sandy soils in southwestern Kansas were in buffalo grass originally. Many areas were covered with blue stem grass—the same variety of grass which covers the Flint hills grazing area of eastern Kansas."

One trouble in connection with resodding the drouth areas, according to Throckmorton, is that of obtaining supplies of wild grass seeds in sufficient quantities.

As a "compromise method" Throckmorton suggested that farmers plant a sorghum crop early in the summer and leave it unharvested so the seed will scatter on the ground and possibly start a volunteer crop the next year.

Other Grasses Suggested.

Then buffalo grass strippings and black gramma seed can be scattered over the area, and sorghum roots holding the soil firm until the grass gets started.

Once the area has been resodded successfully, Throckmorton said, it would be extremely unwise to put it in cultivation again, even in wet years. If individual farmers are unable to keep the land out of cultivation, then the government should buy it and keep it as part of the public domain.

The present widespread practice of listing fields to prevent the soil from blowing is regarded by Throckmorton as merely a temporary expedient and has no part in a long-range program of soil conservation.

Throckmorton is a member of a committee appointed in 1935 by the Department of Agriculture to survey drouth conditions. Other members of the committee are A. E. McClymonds of the government soil conservation service at Colorado Springs, Col., and James C. Foster of the resettlement administration at Amarillo, Tex.

Roots Crossed to Curb Enemies of Peach Tree

Washington, D. C.—Through a triumph of tree budding and grafting, the Department of Agriculture has developed a peach tree said to be immune from root-knot.

Root-knot, a disease which causes extensive damage to trees in the light sandy soils of the South and Southwest, is caused by the eelworm, which lives in the soil and attacks the roots of the trees.

Two rootstocks for peaches, both so resistant to root-knot that they are virtually immune, have been introduced and tested by the department. Both promote vigorous growth of peach trees budded on them—also normal bloom and fruit.

Seedlings of the Shalil peach, a variety grown in the extreme northwestern part of India, were reported resistant in 1934. Further tests have confirmed its desirability, the department said.

The second rootstock, a hybrid, is from a cross between the Quetta nectarine and the Bolivian cling peach. The Shalil may be propagated from seed. The hybrid propagates readily from root cuttings.

Iowa Students Organize First Group of Pipers

Iowa City, Iowa.—The only college bagpipe unit in the United States has been developed at the University of Iowa by Col. George F. N. Dailey, head of the military department.

With no instructor in bagpipes available in this country, Dailey had to start from scratch in developing his unique unit.

Dailey found an instructor in Toronto, Can., and sent Cloice Myers, Council Bluffs (Iowa) student, to him to learn the technique of the pipes. After five weeks of intense instruction, Myers became so proficient that he was able to instruct five other university students in the art of piping.

Plymouth Woman Injured in Crash

Thursday evening about 7:30 o'clock, Geraldine Nellans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Nellans, driving a 1936 Plymouth, crashed into a Star touring car, driven by Mr. Nevens of Hibbard, Ind., two blocks north of town on Broadway. They were taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weissert where they received medical aid. The car was badly damaged also.

Miss Nellans, and Miss Lola Mollenhour, who was the other occupant of the Nellans car, were uninjured and the Ford V8 they were driving was not seriously damaged.

Rev. Flick and daughter of Plymouth, Ind., came to Mentone and took the injured to their homes in Plymouth and Hibbard.

NEXT WEEK!

The dates for the holding of the annual Mentone Community Fair and Live Stock Show will soon be here. In case you do not already have a catalogue, you may secure one of any of our local merchants.

First we wish to call your attention to the program for the four days, printed elsewhere in this issue. There will be something doing from mid-forenoon until midnight. The free acts will be by troupes of established reputation. The music will be furnished by the Mentone Lions Band. This band is composed entirely of high school musicians of the Mentone and neighboring schools.

Judging will begin at 3:15 p. m. on Wednesday. At that time the 4-H club calves will be judged. On the following day, the girls 4-H club exhibits will be judged, beginning at 9:45 a. m. Also at 10:00 a. m. on Thursday, the boys 4-H pig club exhibit will be judged. Horse judging will begin at 1:00 p.m. Thursday and continue until Friday evening.

The 4-H club girls exhibits and ladies department is a new department of our fair. The committee in charge of this department is listed in the fair catalogue. Anyone desirous of making entries in the ladies department should contact this committee at once so adequate facilities for handling will be assured.

Another dtpartment added this year is the flower show. Interest in this endeavor already assures us that the exhibit will be worth while. This department will be in charge of Donald J. Smith and Mrs. Cora Van-Gilder. If you wish to contribute entries, please notify either of these parties at once.

The Mentone Lions Club are spending a great deal of time and effort in sponsoring this community enterprise. Prospects for a larger and better fair than last year. Why tell you more? Come and see--next week.

Sundial Consulted by Moses

Used as a sundial at Thebes thirteen centuries before Christ, the Obelisk of ancient Luxor probably was consulted frequently by Moses, and certainly was one of the most useful ornaments in the court of Rameses II, observes a Paris United Press correspondent. It was transported to Paris after the Napoleonic invasion of Egypt, and has been standing in the Place de la Concorde for more than a century.

Liked Funereal Architecture

Europeans in Egypt have always been impressed by the strong inclination of the old Egyptians for funereal architecture and emblems of mortality, as well as their perverse taste for the bizarre in theology. Lions with the heads of crocodiles and men with the heads of hawks, standing in solemn rows in shadowed aisles of great temples, or crawling in low relief over rock tombs, embody a good deal of sheer horror in concrete form. Some have succumbed to the atmosphere to the extent of making obeisance before the statues of the ancient gods.

LOADING RUBBER ON SMALL BOATS IN LIBERIA FOR TRANSPORTATION TO OCEAN FREIGHTERS

From the Firestone plantations in Liberia comes an ever-increasing supply of the world's finest rubber. Money saved here and in manufacturing and distribution enable Firestone to sell a safer, first-quality tire at lower prices.

Why FIRESTONE MAKES A SAFER TIRE AT A LOWER PRICE

IN THE Firestone Standard Tire, you get extra value in the form of extra safety. It costs more money to build a safer tire. But Firestone can build a first-quality tire made of top grade materials and sell it for less money, because Firestone controls rubber and cotton supplies at their sources, manufactures with greater efficiency and distributes at lower cost. YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords. YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING—because the tread is scientifically designed. YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE because of the extra tough, long-wearing tread.

Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires.

MOTORIZING TIPS

Only a few days ago, the newspapers carried a story about a man who had made a 17,000-mile motor trip without once blowing his horn. This driver emphasized the point that he handled his car in such a way as to obviate the need of warning signals at any time. And in spite of the fact that all cars have horns as standard equipment today, his example is one which the average motorist could profitably study and heed.

Driving, under the traffic conditions which prevail in most places today, is a job which requires the attention of the man or woman at the wheel. The modern car is built to respond quickly to the various controls; but the controls themselves still have to be operated by human agency, and it is just as vital as it ever was that the driver concentrate on driving. He can do this best if he maintains a calm state of mind. And it is hard to remain calm and cool when horns are screeching on all sides.

There can be no denial that the over-use of horns runs counter to the interests of safety. For one thing, it is a far-from-soothing influence. It tends to confuse and hurry traffic. It reflects the impatience of the horn-tooter, and communicates that impatience to others. Startled by the sound of a horn at close quarters, a motorist will frequently pull over too suddenly, endangering his own car and others. Or if he reacts in the other of the two most common ways and gets angry, he will probably refuse to get over at all, and you have one of those private feuds which often lead to "cutting-around", and frequently end in mishaps.

I have seen a driver, rushed by an insistent horn behind him, pull out into heavy traffic without a proper wait, and damage his own car and another, while the horn-blower took advantage of the confusion and went his merry way. And almost everybody has seen a driver, startled by a blast from the rear, swerve so suddenly as to endanger himself and others as well.

Proper use of the horn would probably be more general, if every driver would remember that others on the streets naturally judge him largely by the way he drives, and especially by his horn technique, since that comes forcibly to their attention via the ear. The use of a warning signal when about to pass is legal and proper; but there is no reason why it should be an insistent, ear-splitting blast that says: "Out of my way! Here I come!" Neither is there justification for that other practice, prevalent in some sections, of leaning hard on the horn button when the lights change from red to green, to hasten the starting of the cars up in front.

The horn is a useful accessory, and one that should be kept in order. Whether or not it makes its full contribution to the safety and pleasure of driving depends upon the restraint and judgment with which it is used.

Land of the Triple "A"

The letter "a" probably gets heavier use in the Hawaiian language than in almost any other tongue. It is used not only singly, but in two's and three's. Examples are "Kaaa," a thread made of fiber; "laaana," devoted, and "maaa," sea breeze.

British Farmers Urge

Storage of Cattle Feed

British farmers are reported to be apprehensive over the government's plans for the provision of food supplies in a national emergency, writes a London United Press correspondent.

Those who were working arable or live stock farms in 1914 consider that storage of wheat in large quantities is no true solution. They say there should be provision for storage of cotton cake and other imported concentrates for feeding purposes.

World war experience showed that these were the two danger points for British agriculture, allied to a third great difficulty—that of keeping enough labor on the land.

In 1914 British farmers were producing enough food to keep Britain's population for 125 days out of 365, and by the end of the war this figure had risen to 155 days.

It has been pointed out by Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser to the government, that fortunately 45,000,000 of Britain's 56,000,000 acres are still devoted to agriculture.

The live stock industry has made vast progress in the last decade. There is increased production of wheat, potatoes, sugar beets, dairy cattle, cattle, and particularly pigs and fowls, since 1914. Imports continue heavy, but in some products, notably milk and potatoes, home production now exceeds the nation's requirements.

Canada's Longueuil Bridge

The Longueuil bridge in Montreal, Canada, has a total width of 734 feet, and a roadway of 374 feet, affording room for four lanes of traffic. The main span is 1,937 feet, other spans range from 90 to 245 feet, and the total length of the bridge is 2 miles. The weight of the steel used in the superstructure is about 30,000 tons.

Marker Unveiled

The Anthony Nigo chapter of D. A. R. conducted impressive services at the Packerton cemetery, August 15, when a bronze marker was unveiled over the grave of Nancy Simmison, a daughter of Capt. Robert Kerr, a Revolutionary soldier.

The Lucas family, descendants of Mrs. Simmison, held their annual reunion at the Warsaw City Park at noon on Sunday. At the conclusion of their program about two hundred members of their family and friends motored to Packerton where they assisted the Anthony Nigo chapter in the unveiling of the marker which was placed by the descendants of Mrs. Simmison.

The dedication services were conducted by the Regent, Mrs. Kenneth Riner. History of the Captain Kerr family was given by Mrs. G. C. Taylor. The Packerton cemetery record was given by Homer Lucas of Atwood.

David Hogg, ex-congressman of Fort Wayne, gave an address on "The Pioneers of Kosciusko County." He spoke of the undaunted courage—the hardships and the achievements of the Revolutionary soldiers. They made possible our progress in history. Little Carol Lucas unveiled the marker.

Sterilization by Silver

Successful commercial advantage has been taken of the discovery made more than 40 years ago that water in contact with clean copper or silver becomes sterilized without any destruction of the salts which take place in distillation. It is known as the katadyne process. The silver is introduced into the water by the immersion of plates through which is passed a very feeble current of electricity, and this is said to effectively kill the bacteria. The cost of the current for treating a hundred-weight of water amounts to a few cents. The greatest expense is the silver, but it is consumed in small quantities.

Ruins of Cuzco

In Cuzco, Peru, once the metropolis of the Incas, are massive ruins on a par with those found in Egypt. When the city was captured by Pizarro its temples were marvels of magnificence, says the Washington Post. The Temple of the Sun was covered with a roof of gold. The railroad to Cuzco skirts Lake Titicaca, an inland sea, 161 miles long, 60 miles wide and 2,500 feet above the level of the sea. The water never freezes, even when the temperature drops to 30 degrees, and steel knives thrown into it do not rust.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR COLLEGE MEN

More and Better Jobs Available to Graduates.

Minneapolis. — Offering annual starting salaries $90 to $300 higher than last year in many lines, corporation scouts are competing on university campuses for promising 1937 graduates, with more and better jobs, according to a survey of the employment situation at 76 universities and technical schools, just completed by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

At 62 of the 76 schools, increases in the number of jobs available, as reported by placement directors, range from "considerable" to "several hundred per cent over the 1936 volume of employment calls." All principal industries are represented on the campuses this year; especially active in seeking trained men are the electric, steel, heavy machinery, life insurance, mining, oil, motor, meat packing, construction, general manufacturing, and merchandising lines, the survey finds.

As usual, graduates in the top one-third of the class are primarily in demand, the report states; in many of the schools seniors with superior records have from three to six offers apiece to choose from. With far too few top-flight men available to fill the openings, the demand has overflowed through the lower ranking strata of 1937 graduates, with the result that some entire classes will be placed in positions by the time the cap-and-gown parades march.

"More calls than we have men we can recommend to fill them"; "By graduation 75 per cent to 80 per cent of our 1937 graduates will have positions lined up; the remainder should be placed by fall"; "Men being placed six weeks earlier than last year"; "Many more positions available than we can fill," are typical comments from placement directors in response to the insurance company's inquiry.

Though sales work still accounts for a substantial proportion of the starting jobs offered, some placement directors this year observe a noteworthy increase in the "inside" type of opening which points directly towards an executive berth, if the graduate makes good.

Accomplishment of the intricate and painstaking dissection at the Kirksville, Missouri, College of Osteopathy and Surgery under the direction of Dr. Grover C. Stukeley, head of the department of anatomy, is announced by the Forum of Osteopathy.

The work was done, the Forum said, for the comparative anatomy section of the National museum, Washington, D. C., where it is now exhibited.

"The dissection is remarkable," said Dr. Ray G. Hulburt, editor of the Forum, "inasmuch as so far as is known it is the second of a single unbroken nervous system. Others except one, the first performed by Dr. Stukeley in 1926, have been sectional from different subjects and patched together."

Dr. Stukeley was assisted in the dissection by Dr. Virgil R. Forrester, of Seminole, Okla., and John Gladstone Henery, Osborne, Mo., an upper classman at the college. Fifteen hundred man hours of work were required.

Music Noted as Medical

Help in Nervous Cases

Boston, Mass. — If Arthur Flagler Fultz' experiment is successful, physicians will be carrying around portable phonographs along with pills and stethoscope, and hospitals might become "concert halls."

Hultz, a Boston university graduate student, is studying musical co-therapy, the application of music to personality disorders.

"Any personality or nervous disorder responds to music," he says. "Music can make the whole personality smile. If a person listens occasionally to the type of music his personality requires, it will help him to get a new grip on life."

Too much music, however, is harmful as it prevents concentration, he says.

PACIFIC FIR GOES TO NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK (Special).—"Good old Douglas fir" from the Pacific Northwest will provide the foundations for the most spectacular of wonders at the New York World's Fair of 1939.

This was learned when the Fair Corporation offices in the Empire State building announced the purchase of more than $100,000 worth of fir pilings from the National Pole Treating Company. This particular lot of fir sticks will be driven into the ash fill of the 1216-acre exposition site to guarantee the support of the two unique structures forming the Theme Centre of the "Nation's Fair." These are the 200-foot Perisphere, a globe seemingly supported on the waters of fountains, and the Trylon, a 700-foot triangular needle or beacon and broadcasting tower.

Shipments of the 1260 sticks, 95 to 99 feet in length, are taking place this month, after creosote treatment has been accorded them either at the National Pole and Treating Company's plant at Hilliard, Washington, or at the Minneapolis yards.

This is the Fair's second purchase of fir from Northwest sources. An order for 770 sticks of similar length was filled early this year from Oregon cuttings. This earlier shipment of piling supports the Fair's $900,000 Administration Building already erected on the grounds.

Mexico Map Tour

Mexico as a land of mystery -- at least where the motorist is concerned -- will soon be no more. As a country of glamour and romance, of unsurpassed natural beauty, of inspiring contrast between a civilization that was and one that is to be, and of new challenge to the exploring traveler, Mexico as a tourist mecca soon will have new appeal as a result of the mapping of the country's roadways by James D. McClure, American map-maker.

Commissioned by the Mexican government and working in close cooperation with its departments of education, interior, forestry, fish and game, communications and highways, McClure and his bride recently completed a 14-months' tour of the country, an extension of what was to have been a 6-months' honeymoon jaunt.

After covering more than 22,500 miles in their survey of Mexican highway facilities, the McClures returned to this country with this report:

"It is absolutely safe to motor in Mexico."

That is the one fact motorists to Mexico should know, said McClure, a National Automobile Road Scout and authorized investigator for the Mexican Automobile Association as well as the national tourist department.

According to McClure, Mexico has performed miracles in carrying out her tremendous program of highway construction. The first completed link in her network, and the first division of the proposed Pan-American highway to the Panama Canal, is the excellent road between Laredo, Tex., and Mexico City, D. F., the nation's capital.

Mexican engineers have spanned the desert barrier just south of the Rio Grande, pierced the jungle lowlands of the "tierra caliente" and crossed the lofty peaks of the Sierra Occidente onto the high plateau where lies Mexico City. Excepting a short stretch now being paved, the McClures report, this entire route may be traveled in comfort and safety -- the section under construction is rough but passable.

For the first time, the American motorist may drive his own car from any part of temperate America directly into the tropics, if he continues south from Mexico City 300 miles over good, safe roads, to Acapulco, a city set in tropic surroundings which might have been lifted bodily from some South Seas paradise.

"Picking orchids in the morning and having a snowball battle in the afternoon," stated McClure, "are comparisons which show the nature of the country through which we traveled, but they also testify to the diversified conditions under which our Chevrolet was operated."

"From sea level to volcano summit; from the extreme heat and humidity of the lowlands to the cold rarefied atmosphere of mountain top, without carburetor adjustment, our car made an excellent showing, without noticeable depreciation in power or performance."

Obviously looking for the most adverse traveling conditions, the McClures drove over burro trails that never had felt the imprint of auto tires; on crude roads built for primitive native vehicles; through swampland and mountain passes never before undertaken by auto.

The honeymooning couple, who drove a standard half-ton panel Chevrolet truck, reported a mileage record of 18.3 miles per gallon and economical oil consumption. This showing was made in spite of the fact that the engine was tuned but once on the entire jaunt, and in spite of the fact it was necessary to omit changing oil in one period when they covered 8,000 miles of rugged travel.

"One five-week trip of ours can best be visualized by thinking of a continuous -- and mighty bad -- detour from Seattle to San Diego," said McClure, "and I mean a detour that would have been called bad 50 years ago!"

The McClure itinerary took in the four principal roads of Mexico as well as the uncharted by-paths. These main highways are from Laredo to Mexico City, Mexico City-Acapulco, Mexico City-Vera Cruz and Mexico City-Guadalajara. Those roads were logged mile for mile by the American map-maker, and thoroughly photographed. The work of the McClures has been lauded by the Mexican government, while their maps have been certified as official by all interested government departments.

"It is safe to say," McClure asserted, "that in our travels from sea level in the tropics to an elevation of 15,000 feet, we encountered every conceivable type of road and operating condition under which a car could perform. And we have nothing but praise for the performance of our Chevrolet. Rugged and dependable, combining thrift and power, that car took the worst Mexico had to offer -- and came through with flying colors every mile of the way."

Old Age Begins at 20

The normal span of life should be 150 years, but man begins the old age break-up at twenty, according to Professor Lazarev, chief of the Soviet Union's biological institute at Leningrad. The secret of prolonging the general dissolution process in the human constitution has yet to be discovered, he says. Man is in his prime at 20, the professor believes, after which the "break-up" slowly but inexorably sets in.

Arctic Gains Listed

Rapid development of the Arctic regions is revealed in the census taken by the Moscow government. Ten years ago the farthest north settlement was on the seventy-fifth parallel; today there are population centers as far north as Franz Josef Land on the eighty-second parallel. Large industrial centers are at Chibyu and Naryn-Mar, capital of the Nenets national region. Both are in what was not long ago a barren land.
