DEATH TAKES JAMES BIVINS

James Edward Bivins, 63 years of age, passed away at the Murphy hospital at four o'clock Friday morning following a major operation last Wednesday. He had been ill for the past two years, suffering from a gall bladder infection. His recent operation was a final effort to save his life.

The deceased was born near Argos, in May 1875. He spent his childhood there later moving to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where he operated a barber shop for a number of years. He moved to a farm six miles west of Mentone seven years ago where he lived until his death. He was a member of the Masonic lodge.

Surviving relatives include the widow, Mrs. Bessie Bivins, one son, Sylvian Bivins, Milwaukee, one step-son, Jack Hudson, of Argos, one step-daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Mollenhour, Warsaw, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the home, west of Mentone. Rev. E. E. DeWitt officiated and interment was in the Mentone cemetery.

NIGHT BLOOMING CEREUS BLOOMS IN MENTONE

Quite an assemblage of neighbors was attracted to the home of Mrs. George Nellans Wednesday night, to witness the blooming of Mrs. Nellans' night blooming cereus. This plant, a genius of the cactus family, blooms only at night, and is a native of the southwestern states, Mexico and dry regions southward to Argentina. Some of these attain gigantic size and others produce some of the most splendid flowers known to man. The large flowers of the night blooming cereus, sometimes eight inches in diameter, are famous for their beauty and fragrant.

Mrs. Nellans obtained her plant from her sister in Anderson, Ind. She has had it for six years, and it has grown to a height of about four feet, but this is the first time it has ever bloomed. The flower, eight or nine inches in diameter, resembled a water lily, white in color, and very fragrant. Each waxy petal of the blossom was exquisitely formed. It began to bloom early in the evening and continued opening until shortly after midnight. Mrs. Nellans believes she has found another bud on the plant which may bloom later in the autumn.

Those present besides the honored guests and the host and hostess were: Mr. and Mrs. Russel Norris, Mr. and Mrs. William Norris and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Norris and family, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Walters and family, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Cox and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Norris and daughter Elener Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flory and daughter Sandra.

State Fair Tickets Now On Sale

Lieutenant-Governor Henry F. Schrickler who is also the Commissioner of Agriculture states there will be 175,000 admission tickets to the Indiana State Fair, which will be held from September 3rd to 9th, on sale at half-price again this year at twenty-five cents. Last year there were 150,000 tickets sold but the Indiana Board of Agriculture voted this year to place 175,000 on sale. After these are sold there will be no others sold at this price.

These tickets were placed on sale July 11. Anyone wishing to purchase tickets should write to the Manager of the Indiana State Fair, Harry G. Templeton, State Fair Grounds, Indianapolis, his County Agent, Secretary of the Farm Bureau, or they may be purchased at any one of the Hooks Drug Stores. Any person wishing these tickets should place his order early as last year they were sold twenty days before the fair opened.

There is no other place in Indiana where you can see as many educational features or receive as much entertainment for the small sum of only twenty-five cents.

The State Fair belongs to every taxpayer in the state of Indiana, so, therefore, the Indiana Board of Agriculture would like to see every person in the state attend at least one or two days at the fair.

J. J. JONES SHOWS WILL ENTERTAIN AT STATE FAIR

Bigger than ever—and that is not just press agent drollery—is the Johnny J. Jones Exposition which will unfold its midway on the Indiana State Fair Grounds, Sept. 3 to 9 inclusive.

This is the 32nd year of the "Modernistic Show Beautiful," this Mighty Monarch of the Tented World, boasting the world's largest midway offering of a thrill a second. This season as before, the Johnny J. Jones Exposition is the greatest exhibition of mammoth entertainment of any age or country; truly the peer of all collective amusement enterprises ever proclaiming the year's gala holidays with all its wealth of new and mighty features gleaned from everywhere.

several new features, thrilling and sensational, will be presented for the first time to Indiana State Fair goers. The latest in motor thrillers is Captain John Branson and his congress of dare devils in the Globe-A-Drome, a triple motorcycle, automobile and wild animal exhibition that features Emperor the lion, riding uncaged, on a miniature automobile around a perpendicular wall, seated beside a lady driver.

Few, if any other traveling attraction present such a wide variety of thrilling, exciting riding devices as does the Jones shows. No part of the public has been neglected for there are the fast thrilling, breath-taking modern rides and the old standbys such as the big Ferris Wheels—four of which stand in line—making a dazzling, glittering array of steel.

Others in the list of 22 riding devices are the Octopus, Hi-Lo, Ride-O, Hey Dey, Caterpillar, Lindy Loop, Auto Skooter, Merry-Go-Round, Auto Speedway, Rocky Road, and the Latest sensation of the day—the Stratoship. In addition there will be the miniature riding devices and shetland ponies for the tiny tots, too small to enjoy the big sensation producers.

Two Minute Sermon

By

Thomas Hastwell

HAVE FAITH AND GO AHEAD—There is a line in one of Shakespeare's plays which reads: "Our doubts are traitors, and make us lose the good we oft might win by fearing to attempt." I never read the story of the report of the twelve spies sent by Moses to view the land of Canaan but what I think of this line. Two spies brought back a favorable report but ten spies, influenced by cowardice, brought back an unfavorable report. They saw nothing but formidable giants in the land. Because of their fear the children of Israel forgot God's promises and were doomed to spend forty years more in the wilderness. How like many today. Instead of living triumphant and victorious lives of accomplishment they cheat themselves by their fear and lack of faith, and condemn themselves to lives of mediocrity. God promised the children of Israel great things if they would but have faith and trust him and take him at his word. He makes the same promise to every one today, and all any of us has to do to receive the full reward of a happy, triumphant, victorious life, is to have faith in ourselves and faith in the promises of God, and to go ahead.

What's the Answer?

By EDWARD FINCH

IT IS not really stars we see; it is a blinding light. And that light is not really sight but sensation. Any of the five senses when stimulated artificially will produce the sensation for which that sense is responsible. Thus, when a blow to the eye injures the nerves of the eye it sends to the brain a message of sight. Since there is really nothing there to see, it reacts in a sensation of blinding light.

We had a fellow tackle us recently with the proposition that the peril of the country today was the atheists. We didn't attempt to argue with him. In our opinion the country is suffering more from luke warm and indifferent Christians than it is from all the atheists.

The Hughes round the world flight cost $300,000 or $200 for each mile of distance covered.

Old age pensions came along just in time. The promise to reduce taxes by candidates has just about lost its appeal and lacks the punch it used to possess. An unlimited field, however, is opened up to the candidate nowadays who is seeking to justify his entrance into politics by promising all sorts of increases in the old age pension and assistance. Only the imagination need limit the candidate in the matter of the amount of pension and old age assistance he can promise.

Dizzy Dean's wife, Pat, is said to handle all the ball player's money. The report is that she is thrifty and "smart about money" and as a result the Deans have some $200,000 of Dizzy's earnings stowed away.

No one has any use for the road hog, but it is generally conceded by car drivers that the fellow who backs out from his parking space without looking back for passing traffic, ranks several notches in the scale below the road hog.

The earth curves about eight inches to the mile.

Justice Cardozo was a Jew. His funeral service, at his request, contained no eulogy. A rabbi read the 23rd Psalm, one tall candle burned. What a simple, sensible service, how like the great man for whom it was held.

Did you know that icebergs are always fresh water ice?

We've heard the men complain a good deal about women's hats and the styles of women's dresses, but we have never heard any man argue that the lady swimmers should go back to the grotesque swimming suits of the gay nineties

Derby Licence Plates

Although the Soap Box Derby, which leading newspapers are sponsoring in collaboration with Chevrolet, has been the inspiration for articles, editorials, cartoons, and even advertising billboards, from coast to coast, it remained for the State of Michigan, automotive center of the world, to give the Derby its first official recognition.

Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, announced this week that his department was preparing special license plates for presentation to the champion in each of the five Michigan cities sending entrants to the finals at Akron Aug. 14. Each of these plates will bear the large numeral "1" and the initial or initials of the city it represents—"D" for Detroit, "BH" for Benton Harbor, "F" for Flint, and so forth.

The plates will be made with green background and black type, like the state's 1938 automobile license plates, Case said. They will be of a size appropriate to the miniature cars.

The idea originated with Case and was worked out in collaboration with The Detroit News, whose local races will be held July 28 and 30. The News' 1937 champion, Kenneth Richardson, won second place in the All-American finals at Akron

"Besides making a little additional prize for the boys," said Case, "the Soap Box Derby tags will help to impress these young drivers of tomorrow with the importance of license laws. They will also lend a certain distinction to the appearance of the Michigan Derby champions' group of entries at Akron next month."

STATE FAIR PROVIDES

A NICE CAMP GROUND

E. Curtis White, President of the Indiana Board of Agriculture, states that he is mighty proud of the way he people of Indiana have enjoyed the camp grounds that have been fixed up for the campers of Indiana during the week of the State Fair. He states that there has been fourteen new electric light poles put up and there will be plenty of light plugs put in for all campers. Water has been run all through the grounds in handy places. The ground has been leveled off until now it covers about ten acres of fine level ground on which last year, although not yet completed, over 1140 campers enjoyed their stay.

This camp ground is free to those who bring their equipment but there will be tents erected at a nominal fee per night per person for those who do not bring their bedding and other conveniences.

FAIR GLAMOUR

We certainly do hear a lot these days about the New York World's Fair 1939. We keep right on hearing it, too, day after day. It seems you can't pick up a newspaper anywhere, or a magazine, either, that you don't run across something about the tremendous, stupendous, glamorous gorgeousness of the Fair, or words to that effect.

Sometimes we lean back in our worn editorial chair and wonder whether the fellow who's sending out all this press literature about the exposition isn't kidding us just a little. New York, you know, likes to kid the country-folk now and then. However, it doesn't seem there are any grains of salt sent with the press news of the Fair, so perhaps we're supposed to take it as is and believe it.

Let's see, now, what some of the wonders are going to be, as they are told to us in all sorts of flowery language. If you want to stick your tongue in your cheek afterward, that's up to you. We're just sitting still till it's time to journey to the Fair and see for ourselves.

To begin with, we're told that the Fair has built a steel globe 200 feet high, the biggest thing of its kind ever put up, and that there's a steel spire 700 feet tall right next to it, and that you are going to travel from the spire into the inside of the globe on the biggest escalator in the world, and that it took a camera man more than half an hour to climb up into the spire to take some pictures of the scenery thereabouts. Well, mebbe, mebbe.

And now try some of these on your imagination:

A statue of George Washington 65 feet tall, the largest portrait in sculpture in the world; a sun dial 50 feet high that's really going to tell time whenever the sun shines; the process, which all visitors will be able to witness, of milking 200 contented cows on a revolving platform so that they'll give 4,000 quarts of milk every 24 hours; the opportunity to make a parachute drop of 250 feet and live to tell the folks back home about it; the presentation of the entire history of railroading in this country, with all the dramatics of hold-ups with big six-shooters, and the like, on real tracks with real trains and masked bandits; a gigantic fountain display at night combining fire, water, sound and color as never before in what has been called "the nearest approach to chaos that man can contrive for purposes of entertainment"; the sight of a great airplane apparently in flight, so that you'll feel like ducking when you see it as if it were coming toward you; the changing of the leaves of a thousand trees to fairy-like fluorescence by the light of hidden mercury vapor lamps; the display of a "rocket ship" of the future in which those who want to "get away from it all" may be shot through the stratosphere to Mars, or to wherever else in the distant universe they have been foolish enough to buy tickets; a wide amphitheatre, as large as those of ancient Rome, where thousands will gather to witness thrilling pageants and spectacular productions of rainbow hues on a huge island stage; an enormous model of the City of New York, with some of its skyscrapers shown twenty-five feet tall, to display the intricate lighting system of the metropolis.

These are only a few of the promised wonders. Is the Fair trying to kid us? What do you think?

LOCAL BOYS GIVEN FREE TRY-OUT FOR PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL

John MacWherter, president of the Springfield Browns Baseball Club, a subsidiary of the St. Louis Browns of the American League, has announced that the Springfield Club would hold a try-out baseball camp for young baseball players at the Belleville Athletic Field here beginning Monday morning, August 15th.

The camp will be devoted entirely to try-outs for young players between the ages of 17 and 23 years, who are at least 5' 9" tall, and weigh 150 pounds or more. No fee is required to attend the camp. The only requirements are that each boy be able to finance his trip to Belleville and his living expenses while there, and to furnish his own shoes, glove and uniform. The try-out for an out-of-town boy will entail a stay in Belleville of three or four days, as that is about the time required for baseball scouts and officials in camp to determine a lad's ability.

Players showing sufficient ability will be given the opportunity of signing a contract with the Springfield Club, or clubs affiliated with that organization, either for 1938 or 1939. Outstanding players will be given a chance to play professional baseball this year, while others will be assigned to clubs for the 1939 season. Players signed to report this year will be refunded their bus transportation from their home to Belleville, as well as their room and board while attending the trial camp.

Every individual attending the camp, who has ability, is assured an excellent opportunity to play professional baseball, and with experienced scouts and camp officials supervising the camp, it will be almost impossible for any potential big leaguers to escape the eyes of these men. Boys wishing try-outs need only present themselves at Belleville Athletic Field, Aug. 15. There is nothing more required.

Meaning of Pizzicato

The meaning of the musical term pizzicato is the plucking of the strings of a musical instrument which is usually bowed. The custom was originated by Monteverde in the Seventeenth century and is used occasionally to obtain special effects. Beethoven used the device in his "Symphony in C Minor."

Primitive Barbers

The early Indian shares with the Mongol, some other members of the yellow race and some types of Bushmen the boon of a very nearly complete independence of the razor. Hair is frequently totally absent from their faces, usually but scanty, and seldom heavy enough to require more than occasional attention. When the primitive Indian did find it necessary or desirable to shave, he performed the operation much as the savages of Polynesia do it—he scraped his face with pieces of flint ground down to a fine edge, or with bones or teeth similarly treated.

Dogs Have Four Gaits

Dogs have four gaits. Of course, walking is one, pacing another, then there is trotting and finally, the gallop. As the dog walks with the "pick them up and lay them down" style, his hind foot is observed to be on a straight line, touching the ground in precision with one front foot. In pacing, the dog's both feet on one side are off the ground at the same time in the same manner of a pacing horse. The trot of the dog is merely a speeded-up walk, while in galloping the canine jumps forward with front feet high while hind legs supply the driving power.

Lithuania Another Belgium

In the World war Lithuania was the battleground of the German and Russian armies, and suffered as much as Belgium, perhaps, as a result.

Coral Reef Mountains

The Dolomite mountains in Italy, unlike all other mountains in Europe, are believed to be ancient coral reefs that were once below the sea.

Greatest Natural Reservoir

The greatest natural reservoir for water outside the oceans is the soil, and extra moisture in the ground is likely to have more value than the same amount in the ocean.

Naming Birds and Fishes

Birds are not the only wild creatures burdened with vernacular names. There is really more confusion among the fishes. There are hardly two states that refer to the same species by the same names.

Testing the Violin

Typical experiment: on the violin body include testing the tone and loudness of the instrument with a paper clip on the bridge, with the "f" holes of the air chamber closed, or with carbon dioxide replacing the air inside.

Two Minute Sermon

By

Thomas Hastwell

THE REWARD OF THE THREE HUNDRED: Whenever I read the story of Gideon, and, his immortal three hundred, I am reminded of the church members of today. Though something like three thousand years have elapsed since the days of Gideon and agencies for the leading of Christ's religion have multiplied many, many times, the number of truly dependable members in the average congregation is about the same proportion that it was in the days of Gideon.

Many intensive efforts by congregations are made to secure new members but what is needed in the majority of cases more than this, is an awakening of the zeal and devotion of the old members. God did not command Gideon to spend his time exhorting the faint hearted and the indifferent members of his host. He commanded him to take only the trustworthy, though they represented but ten per cent of his host, and to send the rest home.

I have often thought what a reward in satisfaction must have come to the three hundred faithful as a result of their victory, and how empty must have seemed the lives of the others. They had robbed themselves, because of their indifference, of a great joy. I am wondering if the same fate does not await many in the church today, if by their indifference and unwillingness to serve they are not robbing themselves of the reward that comes alone to those who serve faithfully, who take their religion seriously, and who go out in faith and show to the world an example of real Christian service.

HOROSCOPE

AUGUST 8, 9: In occupation you will do best as a minister, actor, public speaker, teacher of languages, librarian, bookkeeper. You love music, art, family life, and enjoy traveling. You are self-willed and energetic to the point of scheming. You have the characteristics of a leader, but your influence wears out after a time. You like flattery, but are inclined to be suspicious. You have a faculty of getting the best things for yourself. Your greatest need is to be sincere.

AUGUST 10, 11, 12: You are possessed of a quick temper and inclined to be "bossy." You make decisions quickly and dislike contradiction. You are a born leader. If you accept another's ideas you strive to present them as your own. Being sold on your own ideas, you quickly convince others to your way of thinking. In positions of trust and responsibility you excel.

AUGUST 13, 14, 15: Your profession should be music, teacher, business manager, salesman, or minister. You have strong psychic tendencies which should be developed. You love your home and are devoted to your family but are prone to fits of despondency. You have many disappointments but things usually turn out well. You are loyal to those you love. You are a rover in disposition and a born traveler. As an executive you give your best to your responsibilities.

WEDDING

Smith-Coplen

A simple and impressive wedding ceremony was solemnized at the Forest Park Methodist Church in Fort Wayne at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Helen Coplen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Coplen of Burket, became the bride of Richard Smith, son of Mrs. and Mrs. H. E. Smith, of 2516 LeRoy Drive, Fort Wayne. The Rev. Howard J. Brown officiated in the presence of the immediate families. Mrs. Archie Childers, organist, presented a short musical preceding the ceremony and also played Wagner's "Bridal March" from Lohengrin as the processional. The altar was banked with palms and Picardy gladioli. The bride wore a becoming frock of brown sheer trimmed in matching velvet, and her small hat was of the same velvet, having a shoulder-length veil. She carried a small bouquet of Peruvian lilies, Token roses and daisies. Miss Gladys Carr, of Fort Wayne, who attended the bride, wore an ensemble of British Tan sheer and velvet, and carried yellow daisies. Maurice Smith, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Robert Smith, another brother, and Roland Meeker.

A simple reception was held at the home of the bride, 138 Woodland avenue, after which the newlyweds left on a wedding trip. Mrs. Smith is employed in the offices of the Kroger Grocery & Baking company and Mr. Smith is employed by the International Harvester Company. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Coplen and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Coplen, all of Burket attended the wedding.

Financing War of 1812

To finance the War of 1812, the national government assessed levies upon each state. Ohio's assessment was $85,500. The population of the state was 250,000, there was only $30,000 in the treasury, and the assessment, to be paid immediately, was more than the total annual revenues of the state. But the amount was paid, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, after the legislature passed a bill authorizing the governor to borrow $55,000.

In an article on the subject of effect of noise on office workers, Dr. Logan Clendening says: "If work must be done in the presence of distracting noise, the nervous system has to make a continuous effort to adapt itself to that disturbance. Unlocks the Tree

One of the world's most unusual trees is to be found in the village of Allouville-Bellefosse, near Rouen, in Normandy. With its age estimated at 1,200 years, with a girth such that nine men can hardly join hands around it, this majestic oak has two chapels carved in its trunk. A special guardian produces his key and actually "unlocks the tree" each time religious services are held within the tiny twin-chapels.

Early Mathematics

As late as the Sixteenth century, in western Europe, the ability to add or subtract on the fingers or on an abacus was considered to be one of the accomplishments of an educated man. At that time too, notes a correspondent in Collier's Weekly, the desire to learn how to do simple numerical problems by either primitive method became so widespread that all manuals of arithmetic included instructions.

Every town has a fellow who knows just how the state, county and federal government should be run. The only remarkable thing about him is that with all this knowledge he has never been able to make much of a living for himself and family.

The struggle for women's rights makes progress slowly but surely. In addition to other "rights" they are now hanged and electrocuted the same as the men.

The most important field for improvement in the modern automobile lies in its tires. At the speed at which modern cars travel the tires are perhaps the weakest point. Many fatal accidents are caused each year by tires blowing out suddenly. Many cars in normal use today travel at speeds that were the goal of speed demons a few years ago. It is of little avail for a driver to be housed in an all steel body when under him is a thin walled tire that may possess or develop a weakness at any moment and send the speeding car rolling end over end.

There is something these days about the man who works hard, saves his money, owns his home, raises and educates a family of boys and girls, carries some life insurance and lays by a little for his declining years, that commands our respect and admiration. There ought to be in every public square in the land a bronze monument to him. He is the salt of the earth.

WHERE DID THE
ORIGINATE?

MOST of us today think of football as strictly an American game and will be very much surprised to learn that it was conceived and first played in Japan as early as the Seventh century. It was very popular among court circles and was limited mostly to those enjoying high royal rank. It was called football to distinguish it from the Roman national game of handball.

John Abbott Dies Of Heart Attack

In the midst of a day's work at his place of business in Muskegon, Mich. John R. Abbott, vice-president and treasurer of the Fawley-Abbott company, furniture merchants, dropped dead last Thursday morning, a victim of a heart attack. He was 56 years old and a leader in business and civic life there for nearly 20 years.

Death came which Mr. Abbott was engaged in conversation with a furniture salesman, C. A. Johnson of Fostoria, Ohio, less than an hour after the merchant reported at his office around nine a. m. Mr. Abbott had experienced declining health for more than two years and according to Mrs. Abbott, he complained frequently during the past two months. In the hope of regaining his strength he spent several months in Florida last winter. However he had exhibited no unusual symptoms recently.

Twice president of the Chamber of Commerce and active in many civic and fraternal organizations, Mr. Abbott has been a leader in the mercantile field in Muskegon since 1920. He was born in Fairfield county, Ohio, August 26, 1881, and with his parents moved from there to a farm in Kosciusko county, where he lived for 12 years.

He gained his first business experience in the Forest and Clark department store in Mentone, Ind., where he was employed until he was 22 years old. At the age of 21 years he acquired one-third interest in the business, which he sold out a year later and Holderman, of Wabash, Ind. later to become associated with Fawley-Holderman sold his interest in the business and Mr. Abbott became manager for George B. Fawley, his present partner.

In addition to Mrs. Abbott, he is survived by four children: Mrs. Leonard Slowin, of Detroit; Mrs. Leo S. Shriver of Muskegon, Mrs. Manson of Reading, Pa., and a son, John A. Abbott, who was associated with his father in business. He is also survived by his mother and two sisters. (Muskegon Chronicle.)

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

DEDICATED TO THE AGES: One of the most interesting stories of the old testament is the story of Sampson. From before his birth Sampson was dedicated to a cause—the freeing of his people from the yoke of Philistine bondage and idolatry. Nothing was overlooked that the young man might come into being equipped in every way to render the service to which he was dedicated of God. His mother was instructed in every way that the coming son might start life endowed with every physical perfection. As a young man in the glory of his strength, with his bare hands, he destroyed a young lion that crossed his path. But Sampson lost his chance. He yielded to the weakness of the moment and threw away an opportunity to be a great man among his people, a giant in history. He fell for a common sin. There is no more tragic failure in all history than that of Sampson, because he fell so far short of what he might have been.

I like to think that every man is dedicated of God to perform a great work, a work that he alone can do, a work that has in it not only a blessing for himself and the age in which he lives, but which will also contribute to the furtherance of God's program here on earth. Each man may accept his responsibility and dedicate his life gloriously to its demands, or he may refuse to pay the price and throw away the richest heritage with which man can be endowed—a part in God's eternal program.

Horses Travel on Metal Legs

Metal legs have not prevented the four bronze chariot horses over the portal of St. Mark's in Venice from traveling, the four having been from Constantinople to Paris, with intermediate stops. Records show that they have adorned the Arch of Nero in Rome, then that of Trajan and succeeding emperors, were transferred to Constantinople by Constantine and came to Venice in the Thirteenth century. Even then they did not stop traveling, for Napoleon took them to Paris, whence they were finally returned to Venice in 1815.

Honor in Olden Days

In one of those interminable wars of the late Middle ages between the English and the French, an English army, besieged in a French town, offered to surrender by a certain day if no English army came to their relief by then. While waiting for the English rescuers who never came, the French general died, and the English, according to promise, surrendered, but remembering their promise in full, the English chief, followed by all his garrison, went in procession to the tent of the deceased French general, and, falling upon his knees before his coffin, placed the keys of the town upon it.

News For Homeowners

The modern trend in home building is toward insulation; walls are protected against heat and cold, ceilings and basements against frost, dirt and seepage. Latest development in the field is "window conditioning" which architects and engineers claim is the most vital insulation of them all. Installing double sash or storm windows is reported to effect a greater dollars and cents saving to the homeowner than any other type of insulation. Tests conducted by Prof. G. L. Larson, of the University of Wisconsin, show that in the average home which is not "window conditioned" one out of every four shovels of coal goes out the window instead of in the furnace. The tests also reveal that the cost of double glazing or "window conditioning" is repaid within two years through furnace fuel savings.

Buy A Tag From The H. S. Band

During the Mentone Fair, visitors will be entertained by the Mentone High School Band. These kids have the hottest job on the fair grounds and deserve a lot of credit for their efforts, not to mention the efforts of their leader, Walter E. Bowers. We just have to take off our hats to this superior little band when we think of the progress it has made in the past three years. It's really phenomenal the way Bowers took a band full of school kids, many of whom couldn't read a note, and in a few months time produced a band that is a real asset to the community.

The organization needs financial support however, so during the fair the members are going to sell tags. Any contribution from 5c up will be greatly appreciated. We know you appreciate this band, and the concerts they have been giving all summer, but now is your chance to SHOW your appreciation.

Lowman's Lion Again Terrorizes Resort

Jerry II, lion belonging to Paul Lowman of Winona Lake, escaped from his cage Monday noon, throwing the entire summer resort into a panic. He entered the Arcade Rooming house near his quarters, mounted the stairs and prowled around the second floor for some time. Orders were given to shoot on sight. Jerry, becoming frightened at the cries of the panic stricken residents, jumped through a window on the lower floor of the building. He was captured about a half hour later and returned to his cage. This is the second time this summer that Jerry II has terrorized the residents of Winona Lake.

Don't Forget The Flower Exhibit

Grand Circuit Racing At Indiana State Fair

The early closing events for the Indiana State Fair have proven to be the peer of any list of former years since Indianapolis has belonged to the Grand Circuit.

This year's meeting at the Hoosier Capitol Exposition, Sept. 3 to 9, is the only one scheduled on those dates and horsemen all over the country have seized the opportunity to participate in the great $46,700 program.

The Indiana State Fair events will draw together the greatest field of pacers ever found at any meeting held in the Grand Circuit.

It is useless to introduce the Fox Stake as it is well known to every light harness fan in the United States. This year, this stake should be worth more than $10,000.00 and on May 15th, at which time our entries closed, there were forty-six eligibles.

The Horseman 2-year-old with a field of forty-one eligibles will be well worth $8,000 and bring together the fastest two-year-olds in the United States.

It is likewise useless to comment on the Horsemen Futurity for three-year-old trotters and three-year-old pacers. This will be a repetition of the Hambletonian and should be well worth $5,500.00.

The Indiana Trotting and Pacing Horse Association two-year-old events a home product, has an entry of sixty-six in the two-year-old pacing division and sixty-three in the trotting division. These are the classics that are the high-lights of Indiana and have done more to improve the

Horse Department Largest Of Fair

This stallion, the property of L. E. Boganwright, breeder of Belgian horses, is an example of the splendid horse flesh that will be on display at the Mentone Community Fair this week. This community has always been noted for its fine horses. Many years ago it became important as a center for the buying and selling of fine animals, and in these early years horse buyers came here over long distances to fill their needs. They are still coming today. We realize that today the horse is not as important on the farm as it was thirty-five years ago, but breeders are still producing fine horses. They intend always to keep Mentone at the top of the ladder in the horse industry.

horse game in this state than any other endeavor.

The Three-Year-Old Trot which is known as the Cedar Hill Stock Farm Stake and the Three-Year-Old Pacing Stake known as Hook's Drug Company have excellent entries, including some of the fastest two-year-olds that were raced last year.

In conclusion, we wish to call your attention to the special exhibition that will be staged on Tuesday, September 6, by the World's Renowned Trotter, "Greyhound" 1:56.

He will make an attempt to beat this record and from the way he has trained this spring, it looks like he has a very good chance to clip off about one second and possibly surpass all records of either gait.

THRASHING RING MEETS

Things To Watch For

Milk that will keep sterile and fresh at room temperature for as long as four months; a little hydrogen peroxide and potassium iodide is scientifically "cooked" into the milk, without affecting its taste.

A surf automobile for use in salvaging stranded ships, catching fish, finding wrecks, harvesting shellfish.

An acid treatment for opening the sealed "pores" of oil wells, thus obtaining a greater yield of oil.

An "auto starter facilitator", which automatically jiggles the throttle while the engine is being started.

ICE-CREAM SOCIAL

A large crowd attended the ice-cream social held at the Palestine Christian Church Friday night.

Most of the financial difficulties experienced by people today are due to lack of management. Most people make, or have made in the past, money enough to provide for their needs even through a depression. The difficulty is, that when money comes in easily and freely, most persons forget the stormy day, that inevitably lies ahead, and allow their money to slip through their fingers. When the rainy day comes there is nothing with which to weather it.

It used to be that it was "keeping up with the Jones" that ran the family wage earner ragged and played smash with the family budget, nowadays it is keeping up with the thing known as "the standard of living." The "standard of living" is an elusive will-o'-the-wisp that few attain. There is always a standard above the one that the family can afford to enjoy, and the effort to maintain it is the rock upon which many household budgets go to smash.

Two Minute Sermon

By

Thomas Hastwell

THE GREAT ADVENTURE: In the book of Ruth is told the beautiful story of Ruth and Naomi. Ruth left her home, her friends and her people, and went with her mother-in-law into the land of Israel to face a great adventure. No where in literature is found a more beautiful declaration of fidelity than the words of Ruth. "Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God: where thou diest, I will die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if I ought but death part thee and me." Ruth faced her great adventure with faith and trust. So should everyone face life today. Each day is a great adventure. It is a new beginning. The petty worries of yesterday are left behind and the new day holds new possibilities to those who have faith. Keep life an adventure. Keep looking forward. Do not grieve over the mistakes of yesterday. Put them behind. Continue to look forward with high hope, and trust, and faith to the day that lies ahead to the life that lies before.

The Shoemaker

Today very few "shoemakers" actually make shoes. They repair them. The name simply is a carryover from the pre-machine age when the shoe repair-man also was the man who made the shoes. In America there are some 85,000 shoe repair shops, owned largely by men of Italian or Greek extraction. This is more than there were in 1929, the reason being that in good times people often throw away shoes without bothering to have them re-soled or re-heeled. The demand for shoe repair work therefore improves when general business gets worse and vice versa. It is estimated that the annual business done by shoe repair shops in America amounts to approximately $125,000,000 making an exceptionally low average of only $1,500 per store.

Horses Small as Foxes

By putting together partially destroyed piles of bones, scientists found that millions of years ago horses, or their ancestors, were small as foxes, according to a writer in the Washington Post. Horses have fewer bones than humans. One reason: they have no fingers or toes. They do have 36 or 38 ribs and 51 bones attached to their backbones. When boiled and treated otherwise, horse bones produce material for soap, gelatin, glue, fertilizer, candles, even ink. Such work has become a large industry.

Panthers Easy to Tame

The shrewd, lithe panther slinks through jungles and around outskirts of towns, rarely being seen by humans. More often than not, it is the culprit in the reports of "lion raids" on villages. So quickly does it do its deadly work it is seldom caught with the goods. Panthers are easy to tame, gently treated become docile, kittenish!

Football Time!

Crashing its way into the headlines once again comes football, king of autumn sports. Local interest in the game will reach a peak during the next few weeks. Pictured here is Capt. Joe Kilgrow of last year's Alabama championship team, who was picked on several all-American teams.

Kipling Born in India

Rudyard Kipling was born in India, where his father was principal of the Sir Jamsetjee Jeejeebhoy school of art, Bombay.

Meaning of 'C. I. F.' and 'F. A. S.'

The initials C. I. F. are used in quoting prices, particularly in the export trade, to indicate that the price includes the cost of the goods plus insurance and freight. F. A. S. may mean one of four terms, namely, freight aboard steamer, free alongside steamer, or free aboard steamer. For example, if a manufacturer in this country sells goods to a purchaser in England, he agrees to deliver the goods to the dock, alongside the steamer, leaving the American port, at which time his responsibility ceases.

Four-Piece Suit

Here's a four-piece suit for your autumn wardrobe, adaptable in many variations. It's a mixed tweed in honey beige. The swagger topcoat is lined with dark brown quilted taffeta and the blouse is a pullover sweater type, knitted of honey beige shetland wool.

SOUND TRANSMITTED ON BEAM OF LIGHT

Discovery of Student May Be Valuable to Army.

LOS ANGELES.—Because Gerald Mosteller, University of Southern California student, was required to do research work for his thesis for commencement, he has discovered a new means of transmitting sound over a beam of light.

Using an ordinary five-cent flashlight battery and a series of amplifiers, the discovery enables Mosteller to send music, voice and other sounds in a new, simplified way.

Queried as to its practical use, the young inventor cited its possible adoption by the aviation industry for landing planes with strong lights that will penetrate fog, use by the army and navy for secret communication, say between battleships, or by automobile drivers who need to communicate with their pits while racing.

"Because the sound cannot be intercepted except by instruments set directly within the beam of light, it offers more secrecy than does radio," explained Mosteller. "Infrared filters that create invisible light would aid further to the impossibility of message-interception."

Using ordinary equipment similar to any home radio, sound is amplified by a frequency oscillator and the output caused to create a "skin effect" on the surface of the light filament.

"Only the surface temperature is changed fast enough to transmit the sound," he explained, "instead of the necessity of heating the entire filament as heretofore."

A parabola shaped reflector similar to that of an electric heater catches the light beam and sound is reproduced over a loud speaker.

Preserving Trick Makes Minnows Enduring Bait

LONDON.—A process of preserving minnows and sprats, which may revolutionize angling and start a new fashion in jewelry, has been reported by Councillor Fred Nevison of Barnard Castle.

When preserved by his method, minnows and sprats, he says, are perfectly dry, hard and unbreakable, while retaining their lifelike appearance.

Nevison finds that these preserved minnows are far more alluring as bait for trout and salmon fishing than untreated minnows.

The process has been patented, and various specimens for fishing purposes and for personal wear are to be put on the market.

"The idea came to me through the bursting of a minnow when I was fishing. My friends laughed, but I was determined to go on with my experiments. I see great possibilities in the idea for the preservation of rare specimens of fish for museums and schools.

"I've preserved frogs, newts, catfish, and even a blue-bottle, which was so lifelike that when I pinned it on my coat my friends kept trying to knock it off. I have mounted newts, small frogs, and minnows. They make fine tiepins and brooches."

Woman Collects Dolls in All Sections of Globe

DUNDEE, MICH. — From her wide travels through the world, Mrs. Robert C. Poucher has brought back many curios—but none is prized so highly as her 200 or more dolls.

They range in size from some about one-eighth of an inch long, which must be studied through a magnifying glass, to others three feet tall.

They are made of everything from gold and silver to the kernels of nuts, banana leaves, shells, sponges and wood. Some are replicas of living characters, dressed in their characteristic clothing, made in the village where they lived.

One represents Moses in the bull-rushes.

Mrs. Poucher uses many of her dolls in talks before various organizations to illustrate the dress and appearance of natives of some of the countries she has visited.

French Coin of 1756 Found in Delaware

REHOBOTH BEACH, DEL.—A large silver coin, bearing the head of Louis XV, king of France and Navarre, minted in 1756, was found recently by Georges Marsh, of this resort, on the lonely, windswept sand dunes of Dewey beach, a few miles below here.

Scores of people have recovered thousands of English and Irish copper pieces of the reign of George III, dated prior to the Revolution, with a few going as far back as 1725, but as far as can be learned the French coin is the only such one ever cast ashore in this vicinity.

Marsh spent many days during the past winter and spring roaming the dunes after each northeasterly storm in search of coins. He garnered more than 300 in two months last winter.

Calling Girl a 'Chicken'

The origin of calling a girl a chicken, according to Mencken was as follows: Chicken, which designated a young girl on most American campuses until 1921 or thereabout, was used by Steele in 1711, and, in the form of no chicken, by Swift in 1720. It had acquired a disparaging significance in the United States by 1788.

Rodeo, Old Cowboy Sports

No one is sure when the rodeo (ro-DAY-o) first started. Long before the first cowboy "championship" was held in Arizona in 1888, according to the Washington Post, Mexicans included the rodeo (Spanish for round-up) in their fiestas. Freakish stunts like wild cow milking and basketball on horseback were later innovations.

Sticky Hairs on Sumac Berries

Each tiny berry of the sumac is covered with short, sticky hairs. These hairs tell that this sumac is a friendly shrub, because on the poisonous sumac the berries are devoid of hairs. All too frequently we find the handsome sumac condemned as poisonous. There is a poisonous species, but it inhabits swamps.

Silicosis a Slow Disease

It takes a long time for a person to develop silicosis, usually 10 to 20 years' exposure to silica dust. X-ray is the only positive method of diagnosis as silica particles have to be under 10 microns in size to be harmful to the human lung.—Engineering News-Record.

Is it the act or the attitude of the times that makes the act right or wrong? For example, just what would have happened to a girl thirty years ago if she had appeared in one of the modern bathing suits?

The American Bantam Car Company, expects to begin delivering the new Bantam car October first. The new car will sell from $345 to $445. It is predicted that it will make 60 miles an hour and will deliver 60 miles per gallon of gasoline and 60,000 miles to a set of tires. Its entire operating cost will be in the neighborhood of three-fourths cent per mile. The first order of 2500 will be sold abroad. In England and in Europe this type of car has been popular due to the high cost of gasoline.

Two Minute Sermon

By

Thomas Hastwell

IN THE WAY HE SHOULD GO:
Not long ago I had occasion to visit a home in which there were six children, three boys and three girls. The parents professed to be very much interested that the boys and girls should grow up to be industrious, law-abiding, courteous, sober men and women, with the proper attitudes and evaluation of life. In the two hours I was there I noticed several things that I felt were unfortunate weaknesses in the parental training program.

I heard the law and law enforcement officers belittled in a way that could not promote respect for these enforcement agencies in the minds of the children. I heard the idea of abstinence from alcoholic liquor referred to in a slighting way. I heard the church and the minister criticized to their definite discredit. I saw on the piano a song filled with suggestive phrases of laxity and loose living. I thought to myself, what do these parents expect? How can they consistently hope for their children to make a high type of clean young men and women with this type of training.

They may do it. I hope they do, but if they do the parents will deserve no credit for it. The children will become that kind of men and women merely because they are smarter and have more sense than their parents. Train a child up in the way he should go means just what it says - in the way he should go.

The Forgotten Man

In all the writeups and pictures praising people who were instrumental in making our fair a huge success there was one person overlooked who in our opinion devoted more time, and contributed as much toward the affair as any other person connected with the event, and that was none other than Elmore Fenstermaker.

His untiring efforts in the publicity department made the show the best advertised fair that Mentone has ever held. It is barely possible that he also made some arrangement with the weather man to put on the ideal weather that we enjoyed.

Explanation Of White Sign Board

Many people have been curious about the long white sign board that has been erected on the White City Egg Farm west of town. Upon inquiry we were told that the board would be used for advertising purposes, but that it was erected for the purpose of stopping the glare from automobiles as they turn the corner heading north on Road 19. The sun striking the windshield or chromium on the cars sends a glare through the hen houses causing the chickens to become frightened. We wonder if similar things might be frightening your birds.
