OBITUARY

Laird

Nancy C. Laird, daughter of the late Burton and Margaret Taylor, and widow of Franklin W. Laird, was born in Kosciusko county, June 7, 1862, and departed this life, July 13, 1939. Thus the span of her life was 77 years, one month and six days.

She was united in marriage to Franklin W. Laird, May 25, 1879. To this union were born six children of whom four survive, namely, Mrs. Claire Williamson, Mrs. Elmer Meredith, Mrs. Claude Barkman and Doctor Leslie Laird. Three sisters, Mrs. Marion Longfellow, Warsaw; Mrs. Charles Russell, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. William Norris, Rochester; and one brother Frank Taylor, Kansas City, Mo.; also ten grand children and one great grandchild; other relatives and many friends remain to mourn her passing. Early in life she obeyed from the heart her Lord and Master and lived a consistent Christian life "unto the end."

As the end of her earthly pilgrimage drew near her whole heart and mind were set upon things eternal, asking her children and minister to read the Scriptures she loved so much and to offer prayer from which she obtained great consolation. Her last words were a strong appeal to her children and others near and dear to her to attend church and be faithful to the Lord.

In 1933 Mrs. Laird began to realize the end of her earthly life could not be far off, so she made and wrote in a letter all funeral arrangements to be carried out when the time came. Her desires were fully respected by those in charge.

"The dear Lord's best interpreters

Are humble human souls;
The gospel of a life like hers
Is more than books or scrolls".

—Whittier.

Norris Enters Co. Corn King Contest

Who will be the best corn grower in Kosciusko County?

This is a difficult question to answer but one that is sure to arise whenever farmers gather and the talk turns to local farm topics. Perhaps the answer to this important question isn't so far away since more than 8 Kosciusko County farmers have already entered the 1939 National Corn Growing Contest sponsored by the DeKalb Agricultural Ass'n.

Among the Mentone farmers who are seeking the coveted title of Corn King of Kosciusko county and who are shooting at state and national titles as well is Samuel N. Norris.

Prizes galore are to be awarded to the best corn growers in the county, state and nation including championship belts, beautiful trophies, and valuable chests of silver.

The ability to produce a championship crop of corn actually does indicate to a large extent a farmers all-around ability in this business of agriculture. With normal conditions, a bumper corn crop generally is the result of a combination of most of the good farm management practices including efficient crop-rotation, proper seed-bed preparation, efficient use of animal manures, balanced soil fertility, scientific cultural methods, and an intelligent selection of seed varieties.

The closing date for entry in the 1939 Contest will be sometime in September so local farmers who have not yet filed their application for entrance into the competition still have time to do so. Leroy Norris is handling the registration here.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

A MAN NAMED CAXTON

YOU may not remember ever hearing the name of William Caxton, but it was his life which makes your life today comfortable. He it was who introduced printing into England. This was in 1476. The introduction of printing has made all progress possible.

It wasn't until 1638 that America had a printing press, this at Harvard university, but after that printing grew, and newspapers sprang up, and modern American life began.

The printing press is the forerunner of knowledge wherever it is introduced. The printed word, even to this day, has no rival as a quick means of disseminating vital facts and ideas.

The newspaper of today is one of the modern wonders of the world. It is the broadest, quickest, most flexible and most economical way of getting a message into the minds of the people.

Early in our national history, manufacturers and merchants sensed this power of the press. They began using it to carry their advertising facts and ideas into the homes.

These early advertisers were careful business men. The fact that the newspaper would complete the educational process for their goods wasn't enough. It also had to do the job at less cost than any other medium.

And they found, after many trials in different fields, that it did. It got their message to prospective buyers in a manner which was economical as well as effective.

Today this same condition is unchanged. Advertisers, using newspapers year in and year out, find it the most profitable way in which to tell their story to buyers.

The reason is simple. The newspaper is the great common denominator of modern life. It reaches practically every family. It has the confidence of its readers. It stands for everything which is right and good and modern.

The advertisements in your newspaper are as much a part of its vital importance as the editorial and the news columns.

As a matter of fact, most readers find it hard to tell what interests them most—the commercial news, which is called advertising and which touches their lives every day, or the general news, in news story, editorial and cartoon.

They're both valuable.

This man named Caxton was one of the great benefactors of mankind. He lighted the lamp—and it is still burning bright, though centuries have fled since he lived.

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

THE BLESSINGS OF GRATITUDE: I talked the other day with a man who was receiving assistance from his county. Though he was receiving what was perhaps the average wage that he had been able to earn throughout his life time he was nevertheless complaining that the tax payers of the county and the state did not do more for him.

It seemed to me that it came with ill grace, since I happened to know that many of the people who were being taxed to support him were working harder and longer hours than he did throughout his life, in order that they might pay taxes to support him in ease and comfort and idleness.

His complaints revealed thanklessness, an ingratitude, that all but alienated any desire anyone might have to give him assistance. How many such do we find today when it comes to being appreciative and thankful for blessings that God has given them.

Instead of being thankful they complain that their bounties are not greater and like this man, destroy what pleasure their situation might afford by lack of gratitude and thoughtlessness. An attitude of thankfulness for the good things will make more tolerable the unpleasant things and the hardships that are the lot of nearly everyone. We should all strive to acquire the choice blessing of the art of thankfulness and gratitude.

TO SEEK TREASURE ON PACIFIC ISLE

Adventurer, Despite an Early Failure, Tries Again.

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND.—Despite his failure late last year to discover Spanish treasure on the remote island of Suvarrow in the South Pacific, J. W. Wray, New Zealand adventurer, intends to lead another expedition to hunt for the treasure in his ocean-going yacht Ngataki.

Wray is still convinced that there is buried treasure to be found on Suvarrow, and he intends to return there after the next hurricane season.

This time he will take with him electro-magnetic equipment, designed to detect metals underground.

At his last fruitless attempt, wooden spears and old German bayonets, which had been taken from New Zealand for the purpose, were used to probe the sands, but no trace of the Spanish treasure was found.

Suvarrow island consists of a circular coral reef, about eight miles in diameter, surrounding about 16 small uninhabited islets.

The party decided that any treasure that may have been buried would be found on the principal piece of land, Anchorage island, and it was here that the Ngataki's crew concentrated their search.

The yacht remained in the stoll for about six days and much of the time was spent probing the sands.

Evidence that the island had at one time been populated by Europeans was found among the tangled undergrowth which covered most of the islands.

Here and there the crew discovered the ruins of ancient houses or forts made from a mixture of coral and lime, but though the generally accepted theory was that the stoll had been used in the Sixteenth century by wandering Spaniards as a base for their enterprises, the origin of the ruins is still clouded in mystery.

JESSIE RUSH, Editor and Mgr.

For the past several years newspapers and safety organizations have preached the sane Fourth idea with the idea of awakening the conscience of the people in regard to the danger of fire crackers and fireworks among children. The idea has gone over pretty well. During the Fourth of July holiday just passed only four deaths resulted from fireworks in this country.

We still cling to a lot of foolish practices in regard to funerals. Convention, precedent and what people might say, cause us to cling to a lot of practices that really have no place in what should be a simple ceremony.

In Russell county Kansas every bushel of wheat harvested this year will be needed for seed in that county next fall.

Based upon the traffic death rate per ten thousand motor vehicles, the U. S. has 13.0 deaths, as compared to Italy's high with 61.4. Other important figures included England and Wales with 24.6 deaths, Germany with 43.4 and Netherlands, 51.1, all far above the U. S.

America's low position in the world-wide traffic toll is something of which we should be extremely proud, because more than 60 per cent of the automobiles of the world are concentrated here.

The average life of a motor car used to be seven years, but since the depression this has been considerably increased.

After his recent fight with Joe Louis it required 23 stitches to close the wounds on Tony Galento's face.

Americans are now wearing their shirt tails outside the same as the Chinese have been doing for more than four thousand years.

With some men an increase in salary merely means bigger debts and bigger installment payments.

According to Col. Leonard Ayers, our fundamental trouble is that we have tried too long to substitute an artificial recovery for a natural one.

The groom, in many instances, doesn't amount to a whole lot and receives very little attention during the wedding ceremony, but just the same the wedding wouldn't be much of a success without him.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Mary Bidleman of Beaver Dam has received an announcement of the marriage, June 3, of her granddaughter, Roberta Bidleman of Elkhart, to Willard Lehman, also of Elkhart. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bidleman but had spent much of her life with her grandmother, Mrs. Bidleman, and attended school at Beaver Dam. For the past two years she has been employed by the telephone company in Elkhart.

The newly-weds are at home at 120½ South Main St., in Elkhart.

"King Of Kings" At Methodist Church

The "King of Kings" said to be the world's greatest motion picture, costing two and one-half million dollars; will be exhibited at the Methodist Church at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, August 9. This two-hour sound film is projected on a full size screen and is not to be confused with inferior pictures dealing with the life of Christ.

It is said that this marvelous passion play creation contains a thousand scenes of beauty and power that will live forever in the hearts of mankind. There are 5,000 people taking part, 530 actors and actresses and it requires two hours to exhibit. It seems to amaze and charm the world—turning away as high as 500 in one church night performance. It remained on Broadway, New York for eight months playing to packed houses at top prices.

It is also claimed that the equal of this magnificent photoplay on the life, crucifixion, death, burial, resurrection and ascension of our Saviour never has been filmed, and it is not likely to ever be. And further, that not to see it is to miss the opportunity of a life-time—being a story so tense, so absorbing, so interesting in its spirit of munificent self-sacrifice and passionate grandeur, so breathtaking in its tremendous climax, that its power and force is beyond description.

Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, the late and famous radio evangelist, said: "The 'King of Kings' is the best motion picture in the world today. No man, woman or child should miss seeing it."

Much emphasis is laid upon the fact, that this great epoch-making, unrivalled film production must not be confused with the many antiquated and inferior films of passion plays which alone have heretofore been exhibited in the churches.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

WHAT IS ADVERTISING GENIUS?

IN THE early days of advertising there were men who posed in the role of genius. They shrouded advertising with mystery. To portray their part they let their hair grow, wore flowing bow ties, affected a far-away look and muttered mysterious formulae.

Some persons still believe that the ability to advertise a business successfully is like the ability to write poetry—an inborn gift.

It isn't at all. The closer advertising comes to answering some of the needs in the lives of common, ordinary people the more nearly it comes to success.

The only genius needed in advertising is the everyday genius of telling the truth in a simple and an understandable way.

A few months ago some of the leaders in the advertising profession were boasting about the results of their work. One of the advertising publications published what they said about themselves.

Writers of some of the largest corporations in the country took part in the discussion. But a little druggist in Florida, spending just a few dollars in his local newspaper, was able to top all the results of these high-salaried advertising men.

All he did was to know the desires of his customers, and sit down and tell them what he had in a simple, an understandable, a convincing, conversational way. Here is his advertisement:

five cents to the

PARK VIEW DRUG STORE

This is a perfect advertisement. It offers a wanted service. It offers value. It inspires confidence. It is something people in his neighborhood wanted to read.

It didn't take a genius to write it, but the whole genius of advertising is behind it.

Every day advertisers are publishing similar announcements in the newspapers. These announcements are as much in what is called the public interest as the results of scientific research or study—because they bring the public something it wants to make life better or more interesting or, in the case of Park View Drug, a little more enjoyable.

faith and trust in the Lord for the reason that while they express vocally such a faith and trust, do not have it in their hearts. Others I think miss this blessing because, while they proclaim their faith and the belief that God will care for them and bring the desired end to their hopes and plans, are content to sit down and do nothing about it and leave the whole job to God. I have never felt God works that way. He requires, rather, that the individual, in addition to having faith and trust, at the same time put forth every honest effort of which he is capable toward the accomplishment of his desires. Faith and trust are necessary, but with it must go work—the very best that one knows how to do. After man has done all he can do then God steps in and does the rest. Believe, and know, and live this, and every worldly burden will be lightened.

The electric eel has two "batteries of gelatinous cells" which generate electricity. The eel uses the current for protection and to shock the fish on which it feeds.

Mrs. Coolidge's Redwoods

Two of Oregon's redwood trees were planted in 1927, one at the east and one at the west gate of the executive mansion at the national capital. This was done upon the specific request of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. That the trees served as prophets in the political world may be inferred from Mrs. Coolidge's assertion that "they would have the best of attention up to March 4, 1929."

Jazz Said to Kill Silk Parasite

Jazz may save the silk industry of Japan by killing one of its worst enemies. A Japanese scientist, says a Tokyo dispatch, declares that the syncopation has fatal effect on a parasite worm which is attacking silk. The maggot so greatly detests jazz that when near a phonograph playing the strains it burrows deep into the body of the silkworm to get away from the sound, and there it dies of suffocation in less than half an hour.

Before Painting Floors

To make a paint job on a floor last longer, first be sure that the surface is clean and smooth and that all nail holes are plugged with putty or filler. Remove all grease spots before applying the new paint, and, when the paint has dried, go over it with wax to give additional luster and longer endurance. Renewal of the wax coating at regular intervals is wise maintenance.

With 14 pounds of manganese required in making a ton of steel, statisticians in New York figure that 16,000,000 tons of steel, or more than one-half the 1939 U. The clarinet is an old instrument. It was invented by I. C. Denner, a German, in 1690, and has been a permanent member of the orchestra since then. It may possibly have some connection with the ancient shawn, because the English shawn and German schalmey are closely related.

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

MEETING GOD HALF WAY:

Trust and faith that the Lord will help him in time of need, is, in my opinion, one of the most helpful convictions that man can have. Such a faith provides an assurance and a confidence to everything he attempts. Such a faith, besides giving an individual confidence, and self reliance, and assurance, keeps his mind free from concern, anxiety and worry and strengthens his morale and leaves him free to devote his best thought, and his utmost energy, undisturbed by concern or worry, to the task at hand. When a man or woman does this he can rest assured that if his cause is right and his purpose right, God will crown his efforts with success.

Many, I think, miss the blessing they might otherwise receive from

JESSIE RUSH, Editor and Mgr.

Death is infrequent among newspaper editors, but fully ninety per cent of those that do occur have their foundation in the fact that a subscriber came in and offered a word of approval for something the editor had printed. The shock proved too much for them.

Every newspaper editor soon learns this trait of the human race. They may print a hundred nice and complimentary things about an individual or an organization and never get a word of thanks for it. But the slightest misplaced word or error is pounced upon as a capital crime. The editor, in spite of the long record of complimentary statements, at once becomes a rascal and scoundrel for whom hanging is too good.

"There was never a time," a local business man was heard to say, "when ignorance demanded such high wages." Young applicants for positions are not so much concerned about whether they learn the trade or business as they are about how much salary they are going to get.

The briar roots, from which the best pipes are made, come from France, Italy, Syria and Cyprus. These roots have lain dead in the ground for as many as a hundred years. Some English manufacturers continue to age their pipes for forty years after they are made. This is said to take the bitterness out of the wood. Such pipes sell for from $10 to $15 each.

It is a nice art to keep properly balanced between optimism and pessimism. Too much optimism is not good for one and too much pessimism is just as bad.

We can think of no finer training for a young boy than to sell papers or magazines. It teaches him a lot of things that are valuable to him in life. It teaches him the necessity of the proper approach to people. It teaches him to take rebuffs and refusals time after time and still keep up his courage and fighting spirit. It teaches him to work and shun idleness. It teaches him the value of money. Such a young man is far better equipped to go out into the world and meet and cope with its problems than is the young man who lolls about in idleness, and, when he wants money, runs to his father or his mother for it.

I have never heard anything about the resolutions of the apostles, but a great deal about their acts.—Horace Mann.

The depression hit hardest those who felt they had a "standard of living" to maintain.

Bones of Kin Worn in Hair

That the thigh-bones of dead relatives are worn as head ornaments by men of the inland tribes of Papua who live in the Wharton range of mountains, has been confirmed by an expedition which has returned to Port Moresby. The bones are shaped by rubbing with stones to form tapering pins about 15 inches long. They are worn thrust through the thick hair above the left ear. The head of the pin is ornamented by a bunch of grasses and feathers. These adornments are worn only by the men and only for six months after the relative's death.

Monuments to Past

Two living monuments of a wild past still remain at Sparta, Ore., a one-time gold boom town. One is the "Lynching Pine" which was the jumping off place for many a hapless Chinese miner. The other, called the "Arrow" tree, was used as a landmark for locating a small settlement on Town Gulch. The miners had trimmed the tree, and today its perfect arrow-shaped outline is clear against the horizon, regardless of the direction from which it may be viewed.

Perfect Loyalty

True loyalty consists not in bowing the knee to earthly greatness, or in heroic deeds to "gild the kingly knave, or garnish out the fool," but in noble, generous acts of honest purpose, where truth, honor, and virtue, and a nation's welfare, are dearer than life.—James Ellis.

JESSIE RUSH, Editor and Mgr.

We like to talk to the man who is enthusiastic for the town in which he lives. There is something about the town booster that makes us feel good toward ourselves, the town and everybody in it. We believe every one feels this way when they hear their home town spoken well of. If it affects you in this way it will affect those who hear you talk in the same way. It is a good thing to remember. If you can't say anything good about Mentone, don't say anything.

There is an expression among aviators known as "flying blind." It means that the fog is so heavy the ground cannot be seen and the pilot must grope his way along with no little uncertainty as to where he is going or how he is going to land. Shoppers who attempt to do their trading in a store that does not advertise are likewise "flying blind." They hunt and grope their way about the stock trying to find what they desire.

How much better, how much more convenient is it to sit down in the home and read the choice offerings of a store in its advertisement in the local paper. What a time saver a good, well written advertisement is. What an appreciation of the service thus rendered a prospective buyer has for the merchant who adopts this modern method of making shopping easier.

You think your lot hard that there are several creditors hanging around waiting for every pay check you get but think of the old faithful hen whose owner is always right there to get the egg shortly after it is laid.

You may have trouble hitting the gate to the driveway at eight miles an hour but it doesn't require much experience in driving to hit the pearly gates at eighty miles an hour.

There are two freedoms, the false where one is free to do what he likes, and the true where he is free to do what he ought. Charles Kingsley.

Did you know that tobacco is America's fourth most important crop? There are 400,000 growers of tobacco in this country.

The most inconsistent thing we know of is the fellow who brags at length on his ability to keep his mouth shut.

Antwerp Has a Conscience

Although Conscience square is near the cathedral in Antwerp, Belgium, it has nothing to do with the inner monitor, but is named for Hendrik Conscience, Flemish Sir Walter Scott, and author of "The Lion of Flanders."

Gift From Sir Walter

The Good Queen Bess had an eye for good furniture woods, and the legends have it that in England she owned the first piece of furniture made from mahogany given to her by the gallant Sir Walter Raleigh after she admired this strange new wood he had procured in the West Indies for ship repairs.

Uses of Cork

Cork is more than a bottle stopper. It is used with great success in offices for both walls and floors, its brownish tones adding warm spaciousness, and its porous properties minimizing the distractions of noise. It is also used as a floor covering in nurseries, in natural or stained colors. Easy to clean, and soft for infant spills, it is also saving of mother and dad's temper in that it successfully absorbs the rattling noises of toys, miniature machinery, falling blocks, etc.

Goose Acts as Sentry

Refusing all attempts to lure it away, a goose has been on sentry duty outside the Kralievo barracks, in Yugoslavia, for three years. Latest reports received in Belgrade were that it still is on duty. It is always in the same spot, standing first on one leg and then the other, and is so attached to the army that it will not take food from any one not in uniform. When taken from the post it mopes and goes on hunger strike until permitted to return.

Mirrors Double Room Area

Architects report a trend in this country toward the European idea of facing an entire wall with a polished plate glass mirror to achieve spaciousness. One mirrored wall doubles a room's size, mirrored walls opposite each other or at right angles offer boundless opportunities to make a room appear several times its actual size. Mirrors in blue, peach, green or gold add enchanting color to the effect.

Ship Becomes Hostel

One of Germany's most unusual youth hostels is the 2,700-ton bark, the "Hein Godenwind," in the harbor of Hamburg. It accommodates 500 young people. The German youth hostel association, started to provide lodgings at minimum cost for hikers of every nationality, now has over 2,200 hostels and provides sleeping quarters for about 5,000,000 people a year.

Cartagena

Cartagena is one of the oldest cities on the Spanish Main. It is renowned as the home of Colombia's patron saint, San Pedro Claver, a godly man of early colonial days who wore a crown of thorns, let insects bite him and devoted much of his time to healing the wounds of slaves brought over from Africa, writes a correspondent to the Chicago Tribune. San Pedro lived in the monastery which still bears his name. His bones repose in a glass case upon the altar in the chapel. They are covered by a silken canopy, from the top of which his skull looks down.

More Fertilizer Used

300 HOUSEHOLD HINTS

This is the first of a series of Household Hints which we consider will be of great value to every woman in every home. A few hints will be published each week until the entire three hundred have been run. We suggest that you save them and keep them in a convenient place for reference.

When making a large cake, do not make the dough too moist. When it is in the tin ready for baking, make a round hole in the center, right to the bottom of the tin.

If beef dripping or mutton dripping is beaten to a cream and a few drops of lemon juice and a little carbonate of soda added, it will serve as shortening in making dark cakes.

A teaspoonful of glycerine added to a pound of flour in cake making will aid greatly in keeping a cake fresh. Also the grated rind of an orange or lemon added to a cake mixture not only gives the cake a nice flavor, but also prevents it from becoming stale.

To prevent cakes from sticking, sprinkle the tins with equal parts of flour and fine sugar.

To prevent cakes from burning, sprinkle salt in the oven under the baking tins.

INTEREST IN LINCOLN DRAWING TOURISTS AGAIN

Widespread interest in Abraham Lincoln caused by the recent series of motion pictures portraying the life of the Great Emancipator has reflected in increased attendance at shrines in Illinois dedicated to the great man, according to Bert Vanderwarf, of the Chicago motor Club.

"Lincoln's old home at the corner of Eighth and Jackson in Springfield his tomb in Oak Ridge cemetery, New Salem State Park, just northwest of the city which depicts his early life; and secondary memorials to the Civil War president all enjoyed a record number of visitors so far this year," he said.

WE ENDORSE—

Our Mentone Community Fair organization is including this year one plan that we heartily endorse; a different special night show each evening of the fair. And what's more there is no additional charge to see these fine programs. The gate charge covers the entire evening's entertainment.

Personally we have never liked the circus system with which everyone is familiar. After paying general admission you arrive inside the tent and find that the greater share of seats are reserved and its another ten or seventy-five cents simply to see the pleasure of sitting down. So we say, come to the fair—we're going.

NEW CONCRETE FLOOR IN SCHOOL GARAGE

Among other improvements at the fair grounds, a new concrete floor has been put in the school garage, by the Lions Club. As a result the women's department exhibits will not be soiled as they have been in previous years. So don't forget nor neglect to bring your exhibits to the fair to help show the Lions your appreciation for their efforts.

4-H Clubbers Visit Brookfield Zoo

Eighteen hundred 4-H Club boys and girls enjoyed an outing at Brookfield Zoo in Chicago Friday. This is the annual 4-H Club tour taken by the 4-H clubs in Kosciusko county. The last two years they have taken a boat trip on Lake Michigan.

Twenty-two buss loads of children in parents, 4-H instructors, Coach Clark, the county agent, Mrs. Anna Green and proceeded to Chicago in a body. They arrived at 12 o'clock and after a picnic lunch, spent the afternoon seeing the sights in the Brookfield zoo.

Besides the 4-H club members and a few parents, the Mentone group was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Harrison, and Mrs. C. E. Walburn.

Some excellent talent is being secured from Elkhart, Warsaw, South Bend and Ft. Wayne and a half dozen fine bouts will be offered.

CHURCHES UNITE

DeWitt and Richard Greulich officially represented the Mentone Methodist church at Marion on last Monday when the merger of the Methodist Episcopal Church and Methodist Protestant Church of Indiana was completed. The name "M. E. Church" and "M. P. Church" is no more and hereafter this branch of Protestantism will be known as "The Methodist Church." The local church is now legally known as "The Mentone Methodist Church." As a result of the union of the Methodist Episcopal Church, both North and South, with the Protestant Church, there are now over eight million members in the Methodist Church making it one of the largest Protestant organizations in the world.

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

THE GREATEST ADVENTURE:—Man, by nature, is an adventurer, a discoverer. Through all ages this desire to discover the unknown has lured him into strange and new lands and new fields of discovery. It brought Columbus across thousands of miles of uncharted seas to discover America. It has taken intrepid explorers into the jungles of Africa. It has prompted men to brave the cold in their search for the poles. It has led men into the field of invention until their discoveries have contributed much to the comfort and luxury of living. It has caused men to delve into the science of medicine that they may discover some new fact or grain of truth that will contribute to the alleviation of human suffering and ailments.

Then there is the discovery that man makes when he finds himself, when he discovers the work in life for which he was made. These are all great and wonderful discoveries, but a greater and more wonderful discovery than any of these comes to a man when he discovers God. When God becomes to him a real personality, a being to whom he can turn in time of stress with faith and confidence and trust and belief. It brings a reward of content and peace and satisfaction found in no other discovery that man can make. The discovery of God is truly man's greatest adventure.

The surprise is surrounded by wire netting and a scout will be on hand at all times to ward off too enthusiastic spectators.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

FINE GOLD

IF YOU want to discover the humanizing influence of advertising, one of the extra dividends it pays you every time you buy, make this experiment:

First go into the store of a merchant who doesn't advertise; it probably won't be a very large store. Next go into the store of a merchant who does. See where you receive the most courteous, the most attractive, the most gracious service and treatment.

One of the big truths of advertising is that it not only saves you money when you buy, but also makes your buying more pleasant.

The merchant who advertises has an obligation to uphold—the obligation of fair prices and better service. This obligation becomes the ideal of his business. Whatever the advertising says about his goods and his store he feels he must provide. As a result, the intangible influence of the printed word makes itself felt in the courtesy, consideration and desire to serve of every member of his organization.

You may have noticed that when a store begins to advertise something takes place. Its employees, clear down to the delivery boy, become seized with the inspiration the advertising has set up.

The reason for this influence of advertising is not hard to find. The advertiser is a leader, and every leader has an obligation.

You as a customer benefit greatly by this indirect value of advertising. You benefit in additional courtesy, additional consideration and in the additional value you receive for your money, because advertising has always been the one means by which prices have been brought down.

The merchant who advertises sets himself up as a price and quality standard for the community. You buy from him and receive the most for your money. And you also receive the most in human values—in what a wise man once called "the fine gold of business."

The time when business is the pleasantest is when a fine sense of mutual confidence exists between buyer and seller. In helping bring his feeling about, newspaper advertising contributes something to business which is of as much value as its practical services.

It contributes a mutuality of feeling that gives business a character and a trust that nothing can replace. Fine gold, you know.

Arrested Driver Found

To Be Blind Pensioner

SAN JOSE, CALIF.—The wheels of justice may turn slowly but they turn out some queer cases in the end. When a motorist was arrested on a charge of drunken driving, a search of his papers revealed he was receiving a blind aid pension from the state, and that also a brother living with him was receiving a blind pension.

As the possession of a driver's license and a certificate of blindness impressed the officers as being incompatible, they had the driving license annulled.

Mirror Battling Bird

Triumphs After 14 Days

TULARE, CALIF.—Eddie, the battling housefinch, is considered a world's champion of some sort in these parts as the result of his 14-day fight against his own reflection in the window of a Tulare newspaper office.

Every day for two weeks, Eddie hopped up to the window and pecked away at the "other bird."

On the fifteenth day the "other bird" didn't show up. Perhaps Eddie took credit for frightening his adversary away, but really a generous coating of soap on the glass did away with the reflection.

Falls Down Elevator Well;

Lands on Another's Body

NEW YORK.—There was no elevator behind the shaft door which John Perilla opened in the Hotel Blumenkranz Murda, in Long Beach, where he is employed. Stepping through, Perilla fell one story to the bottom of the shaft. He was not injured, but was shocked to discover that his fall had been broken by the body of Charles Atman, another employee, who presumably had been killed in the same sort of accident.

Prisoners in Montana

Jail Really Get Tough

DILLON, MONT.—The traditional "bull in a china shop" was a veritable Ferdinand, compared to Joe and Buck Wilder, in the city jail on a charge of disorderly conduct. They pulled out a steam radiator by sheer force and with it knocked out the doors, windows and walls of the jail. Re-arrested on a charge of malicious destruction of property, to which they pleaded guilty, they were sentenced to 90 days in the county jail.

ARLINGTON, TEXAS.—Twenty-five years ago 16-month-old Lorraine Coats swallowed a carpet tack. Now, Lorraine, now Mrs. Eugene Ward, has the carpet tack as a souvenir. EPITAPH ON GRAVE

HONORS IMMIGRANT

Tribute to Man Who Chose to Work for Relief.

ALIQUIPPA, PA.—Residents of this Ohio valley steel town now feel that in some measure they have repaid a debt to Mario Ezzo, a poor Italian immigrant who died recently.

The man's body now lies in a well-marked grave in St. Joseph's cemetery instead of in potter's field where he was buried after he was burned to death when his clothing caught fire in the county's poor house.

Steel workers took upon themselves the debt of giving Mario a "decent" burial because he had voluntarily swept Aliquippa streets to "earn" his weekly relief check of $3.60. Or, as Mario himself used to put it in his broken English: "You see, they give me money to live, it makes my bread taste sweeter to work—I am a man."

When he became ill and was confined to the county home the 63-year-old man always worried about paying the county for his sustenance. Then, one day in March, his bathrobe caught fire and the burns were fatal.

County officials had no alternative but to consign his body to an unmarked grave.

But Aliquippa steel workers, their wives and children decided they owed this poor old man a debt—a decent burial. A fund was started and townfolk contributed.

With the money a memorial was purchased and arrangements made to give the "Little Philosopher" a decent funeral.

Few persons of financial or social standing ever had a funeral whose ceremony and sincerity exceeded Ezzo's second burial. Seven hundred mourners, many of them weeping, were in the procession from potter's field to the ground of the cemetery.

Choir boys sang a requiem while priests recited the rosary.

The ceremony ended, the mourners filed past the "Little Philosopher's" grave to read the epitaph inscribed on the stone:

"Mario Ezzo—it (work) makes my bread taste sweeter . . . I am a man."

JESSIE RUSH, Editor and Mgr.

Many homes in Mentone have received a fresh coat of paint this summer. Nothing improves a home quite so much as a coat of new paint. Paint heads the list of town improvements.

There is a game called "Pin the Tail on the Donkey." It used to be quite popular at parties of young folks. To play the game a large drawing of a donkey was fastened on the wall. Players were blindfolded and given the donkey's tail with instructions to walk over to the wall and pin the tail on the donkey. Of course the tail landed in unusual places--and sometimes it missed the donkey entirely. Folks who attempt to buy groceries and other merchandise without first reading the advertisements are buying blindfolded. Without reading the advertisements, scanning the shopping columns, comparing prices, comparing values, they have no way of knowing what is being offered for the week except by spending a great deal of time going from store to store and shopping. Why not lift the blindfold and read the advertisements by the town's progressive merchants in this paper. These merchants are not asking you to waste your time by blind shopping. They are telling you each week the choice offerings in new merchandise they have secured for your consideration. Shopping through the ads, is the modern, satisfactory way.

In many Asiatic countries brides are bought and sold. In this country they are given away.

The question has been raised by a local father as to what will become of those people who have apartments and houses to rent, who refuse to accept children, but take in dogs and cats and canary birds. There is only one place in the life beyond, where no children will be found, and that isn't heaven.

There are two differences between the hog and the man who robs his family of his income and wastes it on liquor and gambling. The hog never pretends to be anything except just a hog, and he has a market value.

The story is told of a preacher who failed to show up at the regular service one Sunday morning recently. Several of his flock approached him on the matter during the following week. "Well," he replied, "the reason I didn't appear in my pulpit is that I feel I have as much right to fool you as you do to fool me. On a number of occasions you have been absent and have never taken the opportunity to call me up and tell me you were not going to be in church Sunday."

If we have not peace within ourselves, it is in vain to seek it from outward sources.--Rochefoucauld.

The author of the well known poem "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," Mrs. Rose Hartwick Thorpe, died recently at her home in San Diego, California, at the age of 89. She wrote the poem at the age of 16 upon her school slate, copied it on paper and put it away in a bureau drawer. Four years later it was published in the Detroit Advertiser. It was reprinted throughout the country and translated into many languages. All its author ever received for it was a $1.50 subscription to the Detroit paper.

FAIR BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EXPECTED

Mentone lived up to their promise of a bigger and better 1939 Mentone Fair in Livestock Show. Three times as many people attended the first day of the fair, as attended the first day last year. Increased attendance held throughout the four big days. There was a total of 14,000 paid admissions, and an estimated attendance of 18,000. This is an increase of 4,000 over last year.

Those who attended the day sessions, including the pulling contests, explained over the clocklike precision and smoothness with which the different exhibitions were handled. This year's fair as a whole, was the best organized fair ever held.

The night programs in front of the grandstand, a new 1939 feature, was a decided success. Every available seat in the grandstand was filled and the fence around the arena was packed three and four deep with spectators. The saddle horse show Friday night, was voted by many the best night performance, although the amateur contest, the rodeo and the boxing match received no less interest.

We as a town, realize that we are putting on a fair far superior to the fairs usually found in a town of this size, and are justly proud of the reputation we are making in this line. It is not surprising that the Mentone Fair is such a success. When a group of enterprising businessmen and farmers like the Lions Club gets behind a project of this kind, exerts every effort, and gives liberally of its time and labor, things are bound to move along nicely. One had only to see the numerous blue and gold caps bobbing up here and there all over the fair ground at all hours of the day to appreciate the interest and effort exercised by the members. The cooperation in this organization is a beautiful thing.

In the heavy weight pulling contest Saturday afternoon, first place was won by Merl Ulmer, Etna Green, whose team weighed 3570 lbs. Sec-

Akron's Madrid Theatre Celebrates Anniversary

The newly remodeled and redecorated Madrid Theatre at Akron is celebrating its twenty-first anniversary this week. Karl Gast and Lloyd Heeter, co-owners of the theatre, have spared neither time, effort or money in making this one of the best little theatres in this territory.

The entire front of the theatre glitters with a black and pale blue color scheme and the ticket office is in a glass enclosure near the sidewalk. A new neon sign has been installed.

The auditorium has been redecorated and new deep cushioned chairs have been provided for the patrons. A new cooling and ventilating system has also been installed.

The best in movie entertainment will be found at the Madrid and prices remain the same in spite of the many new improvements.

CO-OP. NEWS

JESSIE RUSH, Editor and Mgr.

School days are almost upon us. The full import of the statement depends on whether the reader is a child starting to school for the first time, or mother who will see four or five noisy, lively youngsters take up their school work, or dad who is figuring how he will keep Mary and John in college the next year.

We do not enjoy the society of a person who never sees the good things people do, but who is forever pointing out their bad points, their weaknesses and their failures. We feel that there is something good to be found in every person if we will but look for it.

We feel the same way about our home town. We don't enjoy visiting with the fellow who is forever complaining about his town and magnifying its short comings. We always feel that he is striking at our interest because this is our town and our investments are here. We believe in constructive criticism that suggests an obviously better way, but we are not interested in the criticism of the second guesser, who, after a program which seemed the best thing to do at the time it was done, turns out otherwise, knows just how it should have been done.

We would rather talk with the man who looks for the good things about the town and has a word of commendation for them. It makes us feel as though we had a part in a successful enterprise instead of a failure. We believe everyone has the same feeling toward the town booster and the town knocker.

When a person sets out to learn a verse of poetry or a paragraph of prose he does not expect to learn it the first time he reads it over. He learns it by constant repetition, reading it again and again and again. This is the only way we learn. The same principle of repetition holds true in advertising. It is only by repeated advertising that sales are made and good will built up in the mind and consciousness of the buyer. The advertiser who runs an advertisement occasionally does not get the value from his advertising that is gotten by the man who advertises continually week after week. The occasional advertiser overlooks the law of constant repetition by which readers become customers.

The small town dollars that go to the city get lost and never find their way back home. The dollar we spend at home stays at home and circulates in the community, buying food and clothing. If you don't believe it just imagine for one week that everyone bought everything out of town and that no money was spent at home. Business would close up and everyone employed in town would be laid off because there would be no word for them or money to pay them.

A local woman remarked yesterday that her husband was forever writing poetry but in her opinion he was much better in the field of fiction.

The hillbilly fad is said to have increased the sale of guitars until they have become the best selling stringed instrument.

One-third of the car owners in the United States earn $20 a week and less, according to the survey of the A. P. I. committee.

Did you know that there are single estates in Brazil that are larger than the British Isles.

Every town has a man who talks so much that he doesn't have time to think.

State Fair Courtesy Program Explained By Exposition Manager

Anticipating an Indiana State Fair attendance of more than 400,000 that will eclipse last year's record paid attendance of 385,620, Harry G. Templeton, manager, today outlined a courtesy service to the state fair visitors, a

H. G. Templeton large portion of whom come from outside Marion county and from other states.

For months, according to Mr. Templeton, the Fair Board has been planning an agricultural and entertainment exposition September 1-8, inclusive, that will exceed any in past years. For several weeks the Courtesy Committee of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, has been organizing to extend hospitality on a 100-per cent basis during the full week of the event.

The slogans of the Courtesy Committee are, "All roads lead to the Indiana State Fair," and "Service with a smile. Ask Me."

Mobilization of every filling station attendant, drug store employee and others in Marion County into a great army of information dispensers, each identified by a lapel badge is being effected. Large posters displayed on business establishments will indicate that directions and other information is available there for the asking.

The Courtesy Committee will have thousands of pocket folder maps showing all the main highways leading into Indianapolis and all the main city thoroughfares leading to the State Fair Grounds. A new addition this year is a map of the fairgrounds showing all the parking spaces and buildings.

The folders also contain Indianapolis traffic rules and regulations which, if followed, will enable all strangers to reach the fairgrounds rapidly and without mishaps.

The Courtesy Committee also suggests that you ask for a copy of one of these maps and use it as your guide during your stay in Indianapolis. Likewise the committee desires to serve in any other manner possible. This service is free, and you are asked to seek it from a member of the Courtesy Committee.

As you take a cake from the oven, place it for a very few minutes on a cloth wrung out of cold water. Then it may be turned out easily without sticking to the pan.

To measure a level spoonful, dip the spoon into the dry material, take up a heaping spoonful, and level it off with a knife, even with the edge without sticking to the pan.

To measure a part of a spoonful, cut lengthwise of the spoon for half, and crosswise for the quarter.

When a recipe calls for a quantity of melted butter take care to measure the butter after melting, not before.

Salt, flour, seasoning, spices, butter and all solids are measured level.

Always sift flour and powered sugar before measuring. When recipe calls for flour, baking powder, soda, salt, sift all these dry ingredients together before adding to the rest of the batter.

Measure a cupful of whipped cream after it is whipped.

Rich fruit cakes are often spoiled in appearance by the fruit settling at the bottom. It is quite easy to prevent this by shaking the fruit in some flour and adding it to the cake mixture at the last minute.

When bread is baking, a small dish of water in the oven will help to keep the crust from getting too hard.

To cream butter and sugar, warm a basin put the butter in, then sieve the sugar on the top. Beat with a wooden spoon until the mixture is like whipped cream.
