MRS. CURTIS NELLANS

Mrs. Curtis Nellans, aged 78, died at 3 a. m. Tuesday at her home here in Mentone. She had been ill for seven months, due to complications.

Mrs. Nellans was born at Rochester February 22, 1874, the daughter of Alfred and Clara (Boyer) Sibert. She taught for several years in the Rochester schools. She was Ida Leona Sibert before her marriage to Mr. Nellans in 1904, at Rochester.

They lived near Tippecanoe before moving to Mentone.

She was a member of the Mentone Methodist church, of the Anthony Nigo chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and of the Tippecanoe Home Demonstration Club.

Surviving relatives include her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Clyde Berkepile, of Bourbon, and Mrs. C. R. Haag, of Cranford, N. J.; four sons, Wayne and Frank Nellans, of Mentone, Hugh, of Maywood, Illinois, and John, of Hammond; a brother, Kent Sibert, of Rochester; two sisters, Mrs. W. E. Smith, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. E. C. Beery, of South Bend, and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Mentone Methodist church, with the pastor, Rev. David Gosser, officiating. Burial will be in the Mentone cemetery. Friends may call at the home until time of funeral.

The Johns funeral home will be in charge.

MENTONE TEACHERS NAMED

Trustee Royse Tucker stated Tuesday that the teachers at Mentone for the 1952-53 school year will be the same as last year, with the exceptions of the agricultural - science teacher, Tony Pavlick, who does not plan to return, and a new coach, Abe Hoogenboom, who comes to Mentone from Atwood. Mr. and Mrs. Hoogenboom and family have moved into the Claybaugh property.

Another agriculture teacher had almost been hired for the position, but there seemed to be some question of his eligibility to teach in the state, since he came from Kentucky.

IN McDONALD HOSPITAL

Mrs. Forest Miner is a medical patient at the McDonald hospital.

FACE SEVERELY INJURED

Paul Nelson, of near Silver Lake, suffered severe facial injuries last Friday when a spring broke on a combine he was repairing.

He was first taken to the Murphy Medical Center in the Summe ambulance and after examination there, was taken to the Veterans hospital in Ft. Wayne.

His nose is severely mangled but due to the swelling, the extent of the damage could not be determined. It was feared that the sight of the eye might be impaired.

The jaws were not broken as was previously reported.

Julia Nelson, who recently purchased the Robert Sanders home in Mentone and who works at the Northern Indiana Co-Op. office, is a sister to the injured man.

HARVEY MEREDITH RITES HELD

Funeral services for Harvey Meredith, 76, were held Tuesday at 2 p. m., DST, at the Palestine church with the Rev. D. L. Slaybaugh officiating. Burial was in the Palestine cemetery.

The deceased, a retired employee of the True Temper Co. at Akron, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carol Pitton, Beaver Dam, at 9:45 Saturday night, following an illness with complications of five months duration.

He was born in Fulton county March 26, 1876, the son of Simeon and Sarah (Cattern) Meredith. His wife preceded him in death several years ago.

Survivors include the daughter, Mrs. Fitton; a daughter, Mrs. C. C. Tullis, both of Beaver Dam; two sons, Donald of Beaver Dam and Alonzo, of Akron; four grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. One son preceded him in death.

The Moyer-Hauptert funeral home in Akron was in charge of the arrangements.

CLUB CALENDAR

The Merry Mollys Home Demonstration Club will meet Monday evening, August 11, at 7:30 with Mrs. Clayton Holloway, instead of Mrs. Elvin Teel.

War Mothers will meet with Mrs. Dora Whetstone next Wednesday evening, August 13 at 8 o'clock. Note the change of meeting place.

GOES TO HAWAII

Mrs. Larry Flenar and two children left on Sunday afternoon for Honolulu, T. H. to join Larry, who is stationed there as a radio repairman with the Air Force.

Carol was accompanied to Chicago by her mother, Mrs. Byron Peterson, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoover, of Warsaw.

The plane on which the trip was made was a DC-4 Stratoliner. They left Chicago Sunday afternoon at 3:45 flew to San Francisco, where there was a two hour wait, then on to Honolulu, which was reached at 6:30 Monday morning.

The Flenars have an apartment near the base. They expect to be stationed there for two years. (This will give Virginia plenty of time to plan and take a vacation trip in that direction.)

CAR OVERTURNS

Chauncy Bennett, 17, of Burket, escaped serious injury Monday when the car he was driving overturned in a cornfield.

The accident occurred on road 19, about 3 miles north of Mentone. Bennett lost control of the car when it slid on a bridge during a heavy rain.

The car, which was owned by Mott Bryan, suffered around $650 damage.

IVAN C. STAUFFER DIES

Ivan C. Stauffer, 59, of near Wakarusa, was killed instantly last Friday about 5:30 p. m. when his car crashed into a tree on road 32, seven miles west of Goshen.

Mr. Stauffer was born at Mentone May 12, 1893, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stauffer. He was married to the former Ruth May Loucks in November, 1917.

Surviving in addition to his wife are two daughters, Mrs. David Yoder, of Route 3, Elkhart, and Mrs. Vernon Miller, of Route 4, Elkhart; a son, Paul, of Route 4, Elkhart; six grandchildren; a brother, Arthur, of Wewatchee, Washington; and two sisters, Mrs. Maurice Gongwer, of Wakarusa, and Mrs. Ray Weldy, of Elkhart.

Funeral services were held at the Olive Mennonite church, north of Wakarusa, with the Rev. C. A. Shank and Rev. Elno Steiner officiating. Burial was in the Olive cemetery.

FISH FRY WELL ATTENDED

The weatherman was most cooperative with the Mentone Firemen last Saturday evening—in fact, the weather couldn't have been nicer for a fish fry.

It was estimated that around 575 persons from our town and surrounding communities came to enjoy the fish, fried Jonah Club style. This attendance is about 100 more than last year.

We can personally testify that the food, fish and trimmings, lived up to its fine reputation of past years.

The Firemen wish to thank every person, (especially the ladies of the auxiliary and the junior firemen), for every bit of help given. Such an undertaking would be impossible without the cooperation of the various places of business and the many, many others who so willingly help. They are sincerely grateful.

TALMA TEACHERS ANNOUNCED

Trustee Charley Green announced the list of teachers for the 1952-53 school year for Newcastle Township. There is only one change, that of Florence C. Rush of Lafayette coming to the high school. She will replace Dessa A. Fultz, who has retired. She taught English, home economics and Latin.

CREATE DISTURBANCE SATURDAY EVENING

Three Warsaw men created quite a disturbance in Mentone Saturday evening while the Firemen's Fish Fry was in progress.

Town Marshall, William Schooley, called State Trooper Henry Cripe who took the men back to Warsaw.

James Baker, 25, of 512 Gilliam St., was assessed a fine of $5 and costs, totaling $17.40, on a public intoxication charge; and a fine of $5 and costs, totaling $17.40, on his plea of guilty to disorderly conduct.

Robert Whitaker, 18, of route 2, Warsaw, was assessed $5 and costs, totaling $17.40 on his plea of guilty to disorderly conduct.

Lee Whitaker, 23, of route 2, Warsaw, pleaded not guilty to a disorderly conduct charge and was released on $50 bond. He was scheduled to appear for trial at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

The fact that many people may be infected with poliomyelitis at the same time; only a few who actually get sick with the disease develop paralysis, and less than 15 to 20 percent develop a severe handicap was pointed out today by Dr. A. L. Marshall, Jr., director, Communicable Disease Control, Indiana State Board of Health.

"Poliomyelitis can occur during any season of the year but is more frequent during the summer months," Dr. Marshall said. "In Indiana, the number of reported cases shows a slight increase over the same period of 1951 but fails to approach the epidemic year of 1949.

"While no one can tell parents definitely to do 'this' or 'that' to protect their children from polio, some facts are known about the disease and as we again approach the season when the incidence reaches its peak, there are certain precautionary measures which may be taken to give children maximum protection from polio," Dr. Marshall said.

"Do not let your children become overtired or chilled; keep your children out of crowds and away from strangers; teach your children to scrub their hands before putting food in their mouths; see that they use only their towels, wash clothes and drinking glasses; follow your physician's advice on any recommended medical care of the child," Dr. Marshall advises.

Common symptoms occur in many childhood diseases but Dr. Marshall pointed out that these do not necessarily mean that the child has polio but serve as danger signals to the parents and physicians during the months when the greatest number of cases of the disease is expected. If the child displays any sign of ill health it is always best to consult the family physician.

The Communists say that "social progress" requires the violent overthrow of both our form of government and our economic system, and the establishment of a dictatorship backed by the power of the Red Army. The Socialists say that "social progress" in America necessitates the setting up of a Welfare State with government owning the major industries. As under Communism, the Socialists would ignore property rights and think themselves as wards of a kind government. It's an appealing thought so long as it isn't closely examined. When we give government this responsibility, or any other responsibility, we are inviting the return of feudalism. Have we gone forward so far that now it is time to go back?

Every day, according to FBI reports, 488 cars are stolen, mostly in the larger cities. The automobile thieves for the most part are under 25 years of age, and it is not unusual to find that they have previous fingerprint records. Most of the cars which have been stolen were wanted mainly for a joy ride. If the ignition keys are not left in, the thief goes on to the next, and the next. It is possible, of course, to start a car without ignition keys, and the professional thief knows all the tricks. He can also get into the car even if the doors have been locked. But the amateurs, who greatly outnumber the professionals are discouraged when the keys are absent or when the doors are locked.

... WORD FROM REX BORTON ...

August 2, 1952

Dear Art,

Received the Mentone paper today. It makes you feel good to get your home town paper and hear about the folks back home. Things are really nice up here. The chow is good, too. I have gained a little weight since I came here.

The weather here has really been hot. It gets up to around 110° every day. They say that we still have the hottest weather to come yet.

I have received a lot of nice letters from the folks. I haven't had time to write but I'll try and answer all of them. Well, I have to go on guard duty at 0200 so I'll have to close for now.

Thanks a lot for the paper.

Sincerely yours,

Rex

Here is some important information to all those who plan to enter eggs in the Mentone Egg Show. It comes from J. Holmes Martin, head of Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

He urges that entrants do not wrap their eggs in newspapers because the print stains the egg shells.

SCOTT'S ORIOLE

Scott's Oriole is a bird that likes the dry country of the southwest, where the days are warm and the skies are clear. In the summer, it seldom flies any farther north than western Texas, Utah, Nevada, New Mexico, and southern California. Sometimes, in fact, it doesn't even leave Mexico, where it spends the winter months.

Wherever they go, the Orioles attract attention with their gay colors. The male, garbed in yellow and black is especially eye-catching. When he is perched on a prickly cactus, it is easy to see his black head, throat, wings, and tail, and his yellow underparts. Streaks of white show up clearly on his wings.

© 1951 National Wildlife Federation
Scott's Oriole

The female, though less brilliant, is not a dull bird herself. She, too, has a good deal of yellow underneath, while her back is brownish-yellow. On her throat is a small patch of black, and her wings are marked with white.

Both birds have long, slender bills which they use to explore desert flowers for nectar and insects. Besides the tiny pests which they find in blossoms, the Orioles eat grasshoppers, beetles, caterpillars, butterflies, and berries.

The dry country produces materials which Scott's Orioles like to use in building their nests, says the National Wildlife Federation. From yucca plants they collect stout fibers which they weave together with strands of grass and a few horse hairs.

When they are finished, they have a deep nest hanging in the shade of yucca leaves or in a clump of mistletoe. In the new home, the female lays three, pale blue eggs which are streaked or spotted with black, gray, brown or purple.

While his mate is sitting on the nest, the male searches for food. Again and again he goes to yucca and cactus flowers, where he has good luck at catching insects.

Later in the season, when the young are out of the nest, the whole family seeks desert plants whose blossoms hold nectar. Dipping their sharp bills into the flowers, the Orioles enjoy the sweetness, and they also find bugs which are after the same treat.

The birds are at home in either the flatlands or the mountains of the southwest. Most of them, the National Wildlife Federation reports, seem to prefer altitudes between 5,000 and 6,000 feet above sea level. There, in the clear, dry air, they pour forth rich songs that mark them as true members of the Oriole family.

Recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Kercher were their daughter, Mrs. Frank Hudson, of Akron, their great-granddaughter, Jennie Lee Hudson, of Mentone. Mrs. Earl Zent and daughter and Mrs. Kenneth Mollenhour, of Rochester. Mrs. Joe Boggs and daughter, of Mentone.

Mrs. Oro McKinley returned Sunday from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ogle, at Yorktown. A nephew, Douglas Ogle, returned with her for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilvin Teel and family are moving to their farm on road 19 south of Mentone this week.

Money does not go so far as it used to, but we have just as much trouble getting it back.

RIGHT LUGGAGE IMPORTANT

The right luggage, packed properly, will go a long way towards making your vacation trip more enjoyable according to Curtis F. Proud, director of travel for the Chicago Motor Club.

Proud points out that baggage allowances for airline flights in the U. S. or on reduced rate transoceanic trips are limited to 44 pounds, in Canada to 55 pounds and on regular overseas flights to 66 pounds. These limitations, he pointed out, make it necessary to select luggage which is light in weight, sturdy and neat.

Tourists planning transoceanic plane trips should stock up on lightweight nylon pajamas, nightgowns and under garments because they can be washed and dried quickly, Proud said.

"Good packing for a holiday," the travel director explained, "demands only the barest essentials which will be needed during the trip. Smart packers use tissue paper generously in every clothing fold to prevent wrinkles. Corners and cavities in your luggage should be filled with shoes, socks stockings, underwear, belts and other miscellaneous items. Old socks placed over shoes prevent them from soiling other garments. All bottles and jars should be checked for tightness or sealed with wax or adhesive tape."

The Motor Club executive said that luggage should never be forced shut by standing on it. If you can't close a piece of luggage with your hands, it's overpacked and you might as well remove some of the contents, he said. Proud reminded motorists that luggage is to be carried, not pushed, kicked or dragged. Take care of your luggage, he advised, and it will take care of you.

LEROY NORRIS SHOWS GRAND CHAMP BOAR AT CONFERENCE

A junior spring boar shown by Leroy Norris, of Route 1, Mentone, won grand champion honors at Springfield, O., during the 14th National Hampshire meat hog conference last week.

The young champion, Norris' Midwest, was bred and raised on the Norris farm. Theodore Tolley, of Eaton, O., purchased the winner for $525. He will be used to produce top quality animals of excellent meat type.

The Norris grand champion topped all entries of exhibitors from eight states. He was a popular champion and considered by breeders and swine experts present as an outstanding meat type hampshire combining body length, balance and conformation to a high degree of perfection, observers said.

Andrews & Baughn, of Bloomington, O., showed the grand champion sow-a senior spring gilt named Remodel Classy Bell. She sold to Theodore Tolley's son, Skipper, for $600.

EGG SHOW MEETING HELD

A number of committeemen for the 1952 Mentone Egg Show, to be held September 24-25-26, met at the school house Monday evening.

The program has not been completely arranged but will be within the next few days. With a three day show, the problem of securing entertainment is much more difficult, and the show committee is insistent upon securing some of the best talent available.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Walburn left Saturday on a two weeks train trip that will take them to California and other southwestern areas. Beverly accompanied them on the pleasure jaunt.

NO ONE SUPERSTITIOUS
IN THIS FISHING GANG

Thirteen men from Mentone and vicinity are on a fishing trip to Wascott, Wisconsin. Eleven left Friday by auto and two (maybe the superstitious ones) flew out Saturday. Those who went by auto were: Ora Smith, John Bogan, Walter Wilson, Erm McGowen, Curtis Riner, Ned Igo, Kenneth Boggs, Lyndes Latimer and Lorin Tridle of Mentone; Tim Blue of Bourbon and a Mr. Overmyer from Rochester. "Chick" Herendeen and Phillip Blue went by plane.

BILLIE NELLANS LANDS
LARGE PIKE YESTERDAY

Billie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elery Nellans of Crystal Lake, while trolling in the lake Tuesday, hooked onto a large northern pike. Realizing he had too much fish to land without a net, he tied the old boy fast to the boat and hauled him across the lake trying to find some fishermen with a landing net. The first fisherman he encountered thought the boy might be a trifle over optimistic, but after one glance at the fish they changed their minds.

Mr. Pike measured 32 inches long and tipped the scales at a little over seven pounds. Needless to say, Billie didn't wait for dad to get home from his work at the Co-Op. Mill—he just called him up and spilled the news.

REV. DEWITT SERIOUSLY ILL

Word has been received that Rev. E. E. DeWitt is seriously ill at his son's in Pendleton. Rev. Gosser confirms the seriousness of his condition following a stroke which he suffered a week ago Monday. Only the immediate members of his family are permitted to be with him, but friends desiring to write to Mrs. DeWitt may address cards and letters to her in care of P. G. DeWitt, R. D. 2, Pendleton, Indiana.

It will be another week or two before any definite statement of his condition can be made, but the present symptoms indicate improvement.

NO DETOURS

A man who does a little more work than he's asked to, who takes a little more care than he's expected to, who puts the small details on an equal footing with the important ones—he's the man who is going to make a success of his job. LIGHTS OF NO VALUE ON HOG RAISING

Some hog men in Indiana have been wondering if night lights over self-feeders would increase pig gains. Purdue University research trials however seem to show the pigs do not better with the lights.

Noting that night lights increased chicken and turkey egg production, the farmers asked Purdue to find out what would happen with pigs. Trials were conducted in winter and summer on eight separate feeding lots of pure-bred Durocs. Same types and mixtures of feed were used in the self-feeders.

Lighting came from a 100-watt bulb placed above the self-feeders and water fountains. Feed and water were located inside the hog houses in the winter and immediately in front of the open type shed in the summer. An electrical recording apparatus was used in the second trial to record both the duration and time of day each feeder was used.

Results as described in a new mimeo from Purdue say that little difference appeared among the lots. Night lighting had no apparent effect on the rate of gain, feed consumption, or feed efficiency. It did not change the feeding habits or total feeding time of the pigs tested.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. (Ben) Pabjan and son Mickey of Cleveland, Ohio, were last week guests of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Nellans and family. Ben and Barney were navy buddies.

SPRAY CRABGRASS NOW TO PREVENT SPREADING

Crabgrass is showing its seedy heads in many lawns. Being the lurking enemy of homeowners, it is ready to move in.

New chemicals, however are now on the market to check its growth. They may cause some discoloration of the turf but no serious injury to the bluegrass will result.

Of the numerous chemicals used in attempts to kill crabgrass, phenylmercuric acetate (PMA) and potassiumcyanate (KCNO) have been most satisfactory, according to Purdue University weed control and turf specialists.

Now that plants are well established, KCNO will be the more effective of the chemicals to use. PMA has given best results when applications were made early in May at the seedlings emerged.

KCNO is purchased in powder form and applied as a spray. Five and a half ounces of 55 per cent KCNO in two gallons of water will cover 1,000 square feet. Addition of a teaspoonful of a common household detergent will make the spray more effective. Three or more treatments at weekly intervals or until the crabgrass is controlled are advised. The first treatment should have been made shortly after the crabgrass emerged, however, later treatments are effective if applied before the familiar crow's foot seedheads appear.

Further information on crabgrass control is contained in Mimeograph BP-51, available, free, from county extension offices or the Agricultural Publications Office, Purdue University.

Purdue University agricultural engineers advise farmers to build sod waterways during the latter part of August. Instructions are given in the Agricultural Extension leaflet No. 337, "Grass Waterways" available from the county agricultural agent. The ideal time to shape and seed waterways is from August 15 to September 10.

Indiana farmers are advised to stay with proved wheat varieties of adapted soft winter wheats. Purdue University agronomists says that Indiana does not produce good quality hard winter wheat. The flour market in this region is for soft winter wheat. Such flour is popular for pastries, biscuits and cake baking.

SAND FARM FIELD DAY TO BE HELD AUGUST 22

Production of vigorous alfalfa hay and other forage crops through control of insect pests and use of irrigation to increase yields on sandy soils will be demonstrated at the annual field day to be held on the Purdue University Experimental Sand Farm Friday, August 22. The farm is located five miles southwest of Culver.

According to Dr. Ralph Davis, agronomist, tours of the farm will start at 1:00 p. m. (DST). Farmers who have had problems with leafhoppers or spittlebugs on alfalfa hay crops will find the studies on control of these pests by spraying of interest.

Purdue entomologists point out that counts as high as 300 to 400 spittlebugs per square foot were found on alfalfa in northern Indiana. The entomologists have also determined as many as two tons of aphids per acre.

The scientists, however, have been able to control the insects through spraying so that excellent alfalfa can be produced and fed to cattle. Preventing leafhopper yellowing by controlling the insects has also been accomplished on the Sand farm.

Visitors to the farm will see varieties of alfalfa seed plots which have been set up with colonies of home bees as pollinators. Discussions will be given on the problems of alfalfa pollinations.

A summary of the five-year fertility and cropping system used on these farm will also be discussed. The system includes the management and establishment of alfalfa, fertilization of corn and the use of nitrogen on wheat and corn.

Results of irrigation trials will also be given by Purdue agronomists. They report that ladino-brome plots increased yields ten-fold when irrigated during late June and July. Alfalfa-brome pastures showed a 100 per cent increase when irrigated during the period.

The irrigation reports will also cover

FILLING SETS PRICE OF UPHOLSTERED CHAIR

The price of an upholstered piece of furniture may be governed by the filling used in it. Since he filling is one of the unseen features, labels should describe the contents.

Miss Martha Jo Bentley, extension home furnishings specialist at Purdue University, points out although there are many types of fillings used, a layer of cotton is placed on top of all stuffings. This gives softness and smoothness. It prevents the coarse fibers from working through the top cover. In better furniture, the padding is covered with muslin to prevent slipping.

Many high grade pieces of upholstered furniture have long curled horsehair filling. Each of the long curly hairs acts as a spring making it highly resilient. Shorter horsehair and curled pig bristle pack more easily but are still desirable.

Medium grade furniture may be stuffed with Spanish moss from the southern states. Sometimes a layer of hair may be used over a layer of moss. This cuts costs but gives more resiliency than the moss alone.

Latex, or foam rubber, is becoming popular. About one-third rubber and two-thirds water, it is mixed with chemicals, whipped full of air, set in a mold and baked. It is resilient and durable, but pieces padded with latex are comparatively expensive.

Less expensive fillings are palm leaf fiber or kapok. These do not have the resiliency and comfort of curly horsehair, latex or moss, but they make it possible to have an attractive, yet low price chair.

The Junior Hoosier Chicken-of-Tomorrow Program will be held immediately preceding the Indiana State Fair, Monday and Tuesday, August 25 and 26, at the Fairgrounds, according to R. L. Hogue, extension poultryman and chairman. Advance entries, which come from all parts of Indiana, total 106 to date. Winning entries will be on exhibit during the Fair.

Two area field days will claim the attention of Hoosier farmers in August. On Friday, August 22, farmers will tour the Purdue University Experimental Farm located near Culver. Southern Indiana farmers will inspect the Moses Fell Annex Farm of Purdue on Tuesday, August 26. Approximately 300 farmers are expected at each of the field days.

SPOTTED SKUNK

Spotted Skunks, like their striped cousins, have an unpleasant way of defending themselves against attackers. But so long as they are not aroused, the spotted fellows probably do more good than harm. The National Wildlife Federation reports that they perform a valuable service by eating such destructive pests as grasshoppers, crickets, beetles, mice and rats.

To catch his prey, the Spotted Skunk prowls only at night. A sure-footed hunter, he is quick to pounce on his victims, and he can go after them either on the ground or in the trees.

After a night of roaming, he curls up and rests during the daylight hours. His home may be in almost any sheltered nook. Spotted Skunks have been found living in the cleft of rocky ledges, in hollow stumps or logs, in holes which they have dug in banks, in old dens abandoned by other animals, and in natural caves.

© 1951 National Wildlife Federation
Spotted Skunk

In the out-of-the-way places which they have chosen for their homes, they raise their families. Each spring there is a litter of from two to ten young, which are cared for by the mother.

When the young grow up, they are from eighteen to twenty-two inches long, and their bushy tails are seven or eight inches in length. Their heads are small, their ears tiny, and their legs short. Altogether they are smaller than their striped cousins.

The real identification mark of the Spotted Skunk, of course, is the way in which his glossy black coat is decorated with white. He has a white spot on his forehead and oblong white marks, or broken stripes, on his back and upper sides. His tail, too, may be mostly white. All of his hair—white and black—is long.

Besides insects, rats and mice, he eats small ground squirrels, small birds and their eggs, lizards, salamanders, crawfish, mushrooms, and small fruits. There is no proof that he takes enough birds or fruit to be a serious menace.

The only crime of which he is accused is carrying hydrophobia, and in some parts of the country he is known and feared as the Hydrophobia Skunk. But the truth is that experts disagree on whether he really deserves this name and reputation. While he may carry rabies, it is likely that the chances of being bitten by a mad Spotted Skunk are less than the chances of being bitten by a mad dog.

Whether you want to see or avoid Spotted Skunks, you may find it useful to know that there are about 13 varieties of them. According to the National Wildlife Federation, they live in nearly all parts of the country, but are more plentiful in the west than the east.

Miss Lola and Gazell Long of Owensboro, Kentucky, Mrs. Emma Meredith and Earl Nellans were Monday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Barkman.

MULTIFLORA ROSE SEEDLINGS ARE AVAILABLE

The Division of Fish and Game through its Pitman-Robertson project will have available for Hoosier farmers 5,000,000 multiflora rose seedlings for planting of living fences according to announcement by H. P. Cottingham, Director of Division of Fish and Game, Indiana Department of Conservation.

The multiflora rose seedlings are being provided free, the recipient paying only the express charges. There will be a fall shipment and a spring shipment. Fall plantings should be heavily mulched to prevent heaving and loss due to winter kill. Seedlings should be cultivated the first year to keep weed competition at a minimum. The application of 200 pounds of fertilizer for each 40 rods of planting will greatly increase the growth of this shrub.

Seedlings should be set at one foot intervals. Multiflora rose does not "sap" the soil and crops may be cultivated as close to this shrub as to a wire fence.

Under normal soil conditions this shrub will provide a stock proof fence in from three to five years.

Some of the advantages of a living fence are that it can be used for contour farming, strip cropping, terracing and to prevent wind erosion and loss of moisture. It can also be used around farm ponds and along ditches and streambanks. It also eliminates the need of moving fence rows inasmuch as it provides such dense cover that it is particularly effective in suppressing the growth of grasses and weeds.

Multiflora rose serves as excellent nesting sites for birds and provides a good source of food supply in the winter. An average of 63 bird nests are found per mile of fence rows.

Multiflora rose seedlings may be obtained only for farm use. Applications for obtaining the seedlings may be obtained by writing James A. Hughes, Project Leader 6-D, 311 West Washington Street, Indianapolis 9, Indiana.

FIRST SPEED LAW

A reckless horseback rider caused the city fathers of Newport, Rhode Island to write the nation's first speed law back in 1678. Aroused to action when a little girl was struck by the negligent horseman, councilmen adopted an ordinance which forbade equestrians to "gallop or run at full speed in the streets of Newport."

BYPASSES PROFITABLE

Rerouting highways to skirt urban congestion and business districts brings new money to merchants along the bypassed sections of the roads, says The Shield, Indiana State Police Magazine, in reporting on a California Highway Department survey.

At North Sacramento, California, a new freeway led a highway burdened with cross-state traffic around the 224 retail stores lining a four-mile stretch of the former route. Traffic dropped 44 per cent almost overnight. Moreover, within two years the overall business volume in stores bordering the old highway route jumped 48.5 per cent, against a county-wide increase of 27 per cent. When a transcontinental highway was routed around Auburn, California, traffic dropped 10 per cent and dwellers in outlying areas began shopping there. Business in 75 "main stem" stores increased 17 per cent in spite of a drop in the local fresh fruit industry.

The study is significant in that it shows main highway bypasses are a means of moving traffic swiftly and safely without causing economic setbacks to the bypassed communities.

Dale Kelley, Herschel Linn, Dale McGowen, Jack Fawley, Vance Johns and Artley Cullum, of Mentone, Paul Cullum, of Franklin Park, Illinois, and Milo Pearce, of Park Ridge, Illinois, returned Saturday from a week's fishing trip at the Lionel Greene Camp on Crow Lake, Ontario. Fishing was fine but the fish seemed very uncooperative.

QUICK RESPONSE

Two business men were talking. "Is your advertising getting results?" inquired the first.

"It sure is!" moaned the second. "Last week we advertised for a night watchman, and the next night we were robbed."

CLEAN GRAIN STORAGE NECESSARY THIS YEAR

Unless Indiana farmers take immediate steps to prevent farm stored grain from becoming contaminated with weevil, rodents, and birds, they may stand to lose hundreds of dollars each, as a result of a campaign underway by the Food and Drug Administration. That was the suggestion made by the Indiana Grain Cooperative, largest handlers of grain in the state, in a statement of explanation issued to country elevatormen and farmers generally.

Whenever as few as three weevil exit holes in one-fourth pint of grain or one rat or mouse pellet is found in a similar size sample of grain, the Food and Drug Administration may consider the entire quantity stored as unfit for human consumption or mill-purposes, it is pointed out. Thus, for example, wheat when unfit for human consumption is limited in sales and a sizeable price reduction results, often amounts to as much as $750 on 1,000 bushels of wheat.

The Indiana Grain Co-op, an affiliate of the Indiana Farm Bureau, offered these suggestions to avoid big price losses:

1. Clean and fumigate thoroughly grain storage facilities. Dust off all overhead beams in addition to a careful cleaning job in the grain bin.
2. Keep birds and poultry out of the grain bins.
3. Trucks used to haul livestock should be washed before loading with grain.
4. Control rats and mice now, with poison food for them to eat.

The inspection campaign is expected among country and terminal elevators and, therefore, operators of these establishments will be very watchful of all grain received to make sure it is fit for human consumption.

BOY SCOUTS TO CAMP GORDY

About 40 boy scouts from Mentone and Atwood are planning on leaving for Camp Gordy at 12 o'clock on Saturday. Scoutmaster Wayne Tombaugh states that each scout is to take his own bedding and food for the two-day camp-out.

This trip is being made so that the scouts can take the necessary work to enable them to pass their tests to become first class scouts.

Wayne Tombaugh or Ora McKinley may be contacted for further information.

On Sunday, the parents are urged to take a pot luck picnic dinner to Camp Gordy to be shared with the scouts. This will be a real treat for the scouts and parents, too, so why not plan for this now, scout parents?

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mollenhour and Roger returned home Tuesday evening after spending a few days in Sanford, Florida visiting their son, James, who had just returned from a six-weeks' cruise to Halifax, Nova Scotia, aboard the U. S. S. Midway.

GIVEN FAREWELL SURPRISE

Martin Notz has resigned his position with the Co-Op. Mill and has accepted a position as night watchman at the Indiana Metal Products Co., located on road 31, north of Rochester. He begins his new work Aug. 16th.

Recently a group of the men who work in the various departments of the Cooperative, held a surprise get-together party for Martin and presented him with some items of equipment that should come in handy on his new job—a policeman's badge and night stick. And to make certain that Martin did not go to sleep at the wrong time, they presented him with a Sunbeam automatic coffee maker.

SOLDIERS IN ALASKA

Pfc. Harold D. Fisher, son of Mrs. I. D. Fisher, of Palestine, arrived in Alaska July 30 after a five-day voyage from San Francisco. He'll be stationed temporarily at Ladd AFB until quarters at his army base are completed.

Harold said the trip was lots of fun. He is one of six cooks working in six-hour shifts to prepare food for the 2,650 men on board. His first letter from Alaska said the temperature was 56 degrees, rather cool after the 95 recorded earlier. They have been warned it will go down to 60 below zero this winter. Their time zone is five hours later than Indiana's and right now they're having 18 hours of daylight and six hours of semi-darkness.

Fisher is one army cook who never got special training in cooking but he's done O. K. so far and likes his job. Entering the army February 1, 1951, with Bob Cummings and Vernon Meredith, Harold trained at Fort Lewis Washington, with an anti-aircraft unit.

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith are now in Alaska. (Mrs. Meredith is the former Marcella Dickey.)

Although his previous cooking experience had been limited to preparing meals on camping trips to Michigan, Harold volunteered to help in the camp bakery when they needed extra men. He expected to be given extra schooling in food preparation, but instead was transferred soon to Fort Cronkhite, near San Francisco, where he was stationed until last month.

Harold, a graduate of Mentone high school with the class of 1947, worked for Kimble Glass Co., in Warsaw, and hopes to return to his job when his military service is concluded. His wife, Lois, and son, Dennis, who were with him in Washington and California, returned to Warsaw a week ago.

Harold's address is: Pfc. Harold D. Fisher, U. S. 55111617, Btry. A, 93rd AAA Gun Bn. APO 731, c/o Postmaster, Seattle, Washington.

JORDAN-CREIGHTON MARRIAGE

The Atwood Evangelical United Brethren church was the scene of a pretty wedding Sunday afternoon when Miss Louise Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Jordan, of near Warsaw, was united in marriage to Edward Creighton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Creighton, also of near Warsaw.

Rev. O. W. Haynes, pastor of the church, read the double ring service at two o'clock. Baskets of white and pink gladioli were arranged with huckleberry foliage at the altar which was lighted by white tapers in tall candleabra.

A musical prelude was presented by Miss Katherine Carmichael, of St. Louis, Mo., organist, and Mrs. James Thomas, Winona Lake, soprano. The latter sang, "Through the Years" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a ballerina length gown of white shadow lace over taffeta. Tiny white buttons extended down the front of the jacket which was styled with a round collar at the high neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her brief veil of net was attached to a lace cap. Three pink Rurum lilies centered her bouquet of white pompons.

Mrs. Arthur Snyder, the matron of honor, wore lavender shadow lace over taffeta, styled similarly to the bride's gown. Her cap was of white velvet. She carried lavender pompons and croton leaves tied with lavender ribbons.

Rene Neff, of Goshen, a fraternity brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. The 150 guests were seated by Richard Jordan, brother of the bride, and Roger Creighton.

Mrs. Jordan chose for her daughter's wedding an afternoon dress of soft blue shantung. Her accessories were in white and navy and her corsage of white pompons. A similar corsage was worn by Mrs. Creighton, mother of the bridegroom, who was dressed in a navy sheer with black accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social rooms. Gladioli in pastel shades and white tapers decorated the refreshment table which held a three-tiered wedding cake encircled by a garland of huckleberry foliage. Mrs. John Bodle and Miss Martha Creighton, sisters of the bridegroom, and Miss Connie Anglin, served the guests, who included out of town relatives and friends from Argos, North Manchester, Etna Green and Chicago.

When leaving for their wedding trip through the New England states, the bride was wearing a sheer white nylon dress with yellow and white accessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Creighton will reside at 133 South Grant street, West Lafayette, while attending Purdue University. Mr. Creighton, who is a member of the Farmhouse fraternity, will be a member of the junior class. Mrs. Creighton will enroll as a freshman. Both are 1950 high school graduates, the former from Mentone and the latter from the Atwood school.

Howard Kohr attended Old Settlers Day at Columbia City last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Huffer and Mr. and Mrs. Ike Shirey are vacationing at Turtle Lake, Wis. The first day's catch sounded a little better than that of some of the other fishing groups have been reporting.

DEMONSTRATION CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Harry Vernet, president of the Mentone Home Demonstration club, was hostess at the meeting held on Thursday afternoon. A comprehensive report of the conference held recently at Purdue university, Lafayette, by the Indiana Home Demonstration Association, was given by Mrs. Vernet, the club delegate.

Mrs. Elmer Sarber, who spoke during the meditation period, gave quotations from speakers at the conference. Comments on the conference were also given by other members who attended.

"Worry" was the subject of the health report given by Mrs. Royce Tucker, who defined it as prolonged fear. Realizing that others have had the same experiences and knowing that he has done his best, will help the individual to overcome worry. Mrs. Howard Horn, vice president, presided at the opening of the meeting.

Mrs. Everett Long was awarded the mystery package; Mrs. Oliver Teel and Mrs. Roy Cox received gifts and Mrs. Cloice Paulus purchased the auction article. Mrs. Vernet was assisted by Mrs. Sarber in entertaining the 18 members and two guests present.

Mrs. John Laird will be the hostess at the next meeting Sept. 11.

FEED SLAUGHTER ANIMALS SUGAR, MAGAZINE STATES

Sugar-fed animals produce better meat, reports Capper's Farmer.

Tests at the Utah station show that feeding sugar to hogs and cattle before slaughter adds to meat quality and dressing percentage, says the nationally-circulated farm magazine. Also, meat from sugar-fed cattle has better keeping qualities.

"Sixty steers were used in beef tests," continues the article. "Feeding sugar for a 3-day period before slaughter increased dressing percentage by 0.7 to 1.7 percent. That would mean 7 to 17 pounds more beef from a 1,000-pound steer. Live weight was increased by 1.7 to 2.4 pounds. Livers contained more sugar."

"Two to 4 pounds of sugar were fed daily. Trading 12 pounds of sugar for 7 to 17 pounds of beef seems like a good bargain. But that isn't the only advantage. The Utah research workers say meat from sugar-fed cattle has better keeping qualities."

"Feeding hogs sugar before slaughter increased dressing percentage 4.6 percent, which would mean 9.2 pounds more meat from a 200-pound animal. Livers were significantly heavier, and flavor and texture were improved so 50 of the 75 persons on the tasting panel preferred them to those of pigs that got no sugar. Earlier studies in England, Denmark, Canada and the United States have shown the quality of meat is affected by animal treatment just before slaughter."

Two weeks ago the David Gosser family visited relatives and friends in Pennsylvania and Virginia. Their twenty-four hundred mile trip included the Sky-line Drive and a very brief pause in Washington, D. C. It may have been a change of scenery, but the work was the same for Rev. Gosser preached two sermons, attended a Sub-District Youth Rally, officiated at a wedding, and had two baptisms.

FOR 1952
3 1/2 MILLION
200 DOLLARS
FOR ADDITIONAL TELEPHONE FACILITIES

Our continued effort to keep pace with your requests for more and better telephone service during the past few years has required a tremendous plant expansion program designed to improve service and meet additional demands.

This year alone we have budgeted 3 1/2 million dollars for new and improved facilities to provide more and better telephone service. In the past 4 1/2 years the huge investment required by our expansion program has more than doubled the value of our plant.

Since 1944, the number of telephone calls we handle has doubled; over 18 million dollars has been invested in telephone facilities; we have provided service for 10,000 additional telephones.

We now serve approximately 111,000 telephones in 67 local and exchange areas.

To provide you with a high standard of telephone service to our business. From time to time, we will advise you of our program.

INDIANA TARGETS

The Shield, Indiana State Police Magazine, released no confidential information when it listed at least seven Indiana targets for potential enemy bombs. The Russian espionage system has already acquired all the information about these targets that it needs—if that country decides to strike. Indiana, the Shield declares, has become a defense hot spot and the department's responsibilities have been increased in direct ratio to the advanced tempo of defense efforts throughout the state.

"Indiana and adjoining Middlewestern states," says The Shield, "are, for instance, within range of Russian aircraft carrying Communist built atomic bombs. Bombs starting from the nearest point in Siberia (3,400 air miles from Indianapolis) or Vladivostok (6,000 air miles from Indianapolis) are within an estimated 12 to 18 hours of a bombing run on Hoosierland. Traveling over the Pacific or over the Pole and the wastes of Northern Canada, and down the length of Lake Michigan, their approach could be made in comparative freedom from detection."

Again it must be said, "It can happen here." Yet the general public still is apathetic to the efforts of defense officials to knit together a more efficient program for the protection of life and property.

MOTORIST REQUESTING FULL RETURN OF TAX DOLLARS

A major shift in the American Automobile Association's policy on federal aid to highways was made at a recent meeting of the organization's Highway Committee, Charles M. Hayes, President of the Chicago Motor Club said.

Hayes said that the group recommends that as long as the government persists in taxing motorists, the amount of federal aid funds should be equivalent to the sum collected in federal gasoline taxes.

Never before, Hayes pointed out, has the motorists' organization made any recommendations as to the specific amount of federal aid that should be granted for use on highways. It has taken the view that Congress should decide what highway needs were.

The club officials said that the federal government collected more than 25 million dollars in federal gasoline taxes in Illinois last year. This figure, he estimated, will leap to between 40 and 45 million dollars next year.

In addition to the policy change, the Committee is developing a new formula for the distribution of federal aid highway funds on the grounds that the present method is obsolete. At present, distribution is based on area, population, and miles of roads in a state.

Learning to utilize Electricity today—for Better Farming tomorrow!

Indiana- a POWER-FULL State

Over 95% of Indiana farms have dependable low-cost electric service today. About 48% of them are served by the electric companies of Indiana and about 52% by the REMCs which buy their power at wholesale from the electric companies.

● Among the finest Hoosier organizations are the 4-H Clubs, whose wide variety of interesting activities has made them increasingly popular year after year. A number of years ago the electric companies of Indiana saw that 4-H Club members were eager to learn about applications of electricity to help in the home, and to save time and labor and increase profits on the farm. Cooperating with Purdue University, the companies have sponsored the Farm and Home Electric Project.

Do farm youths go for this project? You bet! Last year there were over 5,000 participants from 91 of Indiana's 92 counties. That gives you a little idea of how much our future farmers value electricity... how well they realize that "wired hands" are invaluable hands on the modern farm.

We believe interest will continue to grow in this project, because it means so much to every farmer to make the most of his electric service. And nothing could better assure better living and better farming tomorrow than today's growing number of entries in this project.

Heigh, Ho! Come to the Fair!

Don't miss the big Centennial State Fair this year... and be sure to visit the 4-H electric display when you get there! This exhibit, together with the Farm Electric exhibit, will be located in the building indicated, just south of the Poultry Building. You'll be thrilled to see what Indiana's farmers of tomorrow are accomplishing through projects of many kinds, including the Farm and Home Electric Project.

TRIBUTE TO MRS.

CURTIS NELLANS

Again, the Reaper whose name is Death has visited our Home Economics Club and taken from our midst one of our beloved charter members and our club Mother, Leona Nellans.

Our hearts go out in sympathy to those near and dear to her, and we commend them to the One, who alone is able to comfort.

In her passing we find that we have lost a true friend, one that was always interested and faithful to her club.

We will ever cherish in loving thought her kind disposition and the sweet smile which she had for everyone.

Therefore, be it resolved that a copy of this memorandum be sent to her husband and family, a copy be recorded in the minutes of our club, also a copy be sent to our local newspaper for publication.

She was a friend whose heart was good,

Who walked with folks and understood;

Her's was a hand that asked no fee, For friendliness or kindness done.

And now that she has journeyed on, Her's is a fame that never ends;

She leaves behind uncounted friends. Orpha Phebus

(S) CINEMA RETAKES

The local reporter was interviewing the grandfather of a Hollywood Star "Does Bill ever come back to the old farm since he's such a bigshot in the movies?" he asked.

"Every summer," said the old man proudly. "Every one of the five summers he's been away."

"And did he bring his wife with him?"

"Every time," replied Grandpa, "and they was five as purty girls as you ever laid eyes on."

MUSTERING-OUT PAY

Under the provisions of the new Korean G. I. Bill, all enlisted men below the rank of Major or Lieutenant Commander of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps or Coast Guard can claim from $100 to $300 mustering-out pay if they have been discharged or released from active duty since June 26, 1950. Applications may now be made through the Kosciusko County Service Office, located in the basement of the Court House in Warsaw.

All applications must be accompanied by Report of Separation Form 214 which was issued at time of release from active service. It is advisable that such separation papers be recorded at the office of the County Recorder before application is made for mustering-out pay. If Form DD 214 has been lost it will be necessary to secure a duplicate before making application for mustering-out pay.

The deadline date for filing for this payment is July 16, 1954. The armed Services are making the mustering-out payments and the Veterans Administration has nothing to do with processing the claims.

The bill gives qualified veterans $100 if they had less than 60 days service, $200 if more than 60 days active duty and $300 if they have had over 60 days active duty and have served outside the United States.

Some men have been released or discharged from active duty are excluded from mustering-out pay benefit. They are:

1. Veterans who were not discharged "under honorable conditions."
2. Veterans discharged or released from active duty on their own request to accept employment and have not served outside the United States or in Alaska.

3. Veterans whose total service has been as a student in a civilian institution.

4. Men who were ordered to active duty for the sole purpose of training duty or a physical examination, or for a period of less than 60 days.

Mustering-out pay to men already released from active duty will be in a lump sum. Those yet on active duty will receive their payments in $100 monthly payments, the first payment being made at time of discharge or release from active duty. Applications will be acted upon in the order of their receipt.

FEEDING THE YOUNGSTER

REQUIRES MUCH WISDOM

"If you make eating a happy experience for your child, he will gradually learn to pick the correct foods and will be a healthy, normal individual," according to Miss Nellie Brown, R. N., and member of the Indiana Committee on Chronic Illness.

Of course, the child needs guidance from its parents, but they should allow him some choice in selecting the food he eats, Miss Brown asserted.

Many parents like their toddler, or preschool age child to have a chubby appearance. This does not always indicate that the child is healthy. Certainly the amount and kind of food the child eats will help to maintain his health and weight.

Miss Brown declared, "children like to eat, and they will eat if we let them. The amount of food a child requires depends to a large extent on his rate of growth. In most cases, the amount of food his body wants is likely to be the amount it needs, rather than the amount an adult decides the child should have."

"Nagging, scolding and fussing at a child because he doesn't eat what is placed before him will only create a more severe eating problem for the parents," Miss Brown indicated.

Good eating habits are formed in childhood. Pleasant surroundings, a congenial atmosphere and simple, well prepared food, placed before the child will help him to develop good food habits. It is better for the child to miss a meal when emotionally upset. He should never be forced to eat at such times.

METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

The congregation this past Sunday morning witnessed the inspiring reports from the members of the M. Y. F. who attended Institute last week. The piano prelude, Sonata (Pathétique) by Beethoven, was played by Rita Olson. Don Rush gave the Call to Worship which was followed by a hymn. Sarah Urschel led in the Invocation, and then another hymn was sung. Madeline Anderson read the leader's part in the Responsive Reading. The Scripture was read by Jalaine Smythe, the Inspirational Poem by Donna Lee Horn, and the Prayer was given by Jackie Stidham. Marita Tucker sang "The Green Cathedral" accompanied by Jalaine Smythe.

The offering was received by Jean Heeter and Donna Lee Horn. The morning Meditation which was presented at Morning Watch each day by a District Youth, was very ably given by Charles Urschel. The local youth had the responsibility of presenting the Morning Watch Service at Epworth Forest on Thursday, and Jackie Stidham was the speaker on that occasion.

Betty Lou Dunn presented the daily schedule of Institute; Jackie Stidham reported on the Discussion Groups and the Classes, and David Paul Gosser gave a resume of the evening programs and devotions.

Seven of the young people had choir as one of their classes, and a program was presented on Thursday evening under the direction of Varner Chance, Professor of Music at Baldwin Wallace College. Charles Urschel and David Paul Gosser both appeared on the talent part of the Program preceding the Choral work.

Sarah Urschel, in the absence of Dennis Anderson, led in the former Epworth League Benediction. The youth and the pastor have received many favorable comments on the Worship Service, for the evidence of the inspiration the local youth received at Epworth Forest was apparent.

Plans are made for the local M. Y. F. to return to Institute next year, as the Grand View Cottage has again been spoken for.

The Congregation and Pastor feel that the work entailed in preparing and working with the youth is very worth while, and even the cooks, Mrs. Fred Horn and Mrs. David Gosser, would volunteer for additional service.

The Youth Council of the South-Group Sub-District met in the Mentone Methodist church on Monday evening to complete plans for a bus trip to Chicago in the near future. Jackie Stidham is President of the M. Y. F. South-Group Sub-District, and Rev. Jack Aebersold is Counsellor.

The Pastor has mentioned that he is the new Director of Intermediate Work to the North Indiana Conference the responsibility formerly assumed by the Rev. L. G. Sapp, of Angola. This necessitates the presence of the Pastor at Purdue University this next week for the National Methodist Youth Planning Conference when the Conference Directors of Youth Work, Directors of Intermediate Work, and Conference Youth Presidents from all over America will meet to plan the Youth Program of the Methodist church for the coming four years.

The following statements were adopted by General Conference, May 6, 1952: "American youth are growing up in a baffling environment. They are confronted with momentous decisions while conflicting voices cry for their loyalty. False and destructive ideologies claim their attention.

"Six million American youths are members of Protestant churches. These youth are being taught the Christian way of life. They are committed to Christ and loyal to the church. They are the hope of the future. But twenty million American youth do not belong to any church or synagogue. They need Christ and the ministries of the church. Left without Christian teaching they may become the seedbed of communism, fascism, secularism and atheism. Won for Christ, they will be the bulwark of freedom and the heralds of Christ around the world.

"It is a safe estimate that in the next ten years the youth population will increase by six and one-half million. On the basis of church membership of Protestant churches in the United States, The Methodist Church should have 14 per cent of American youth as members of our church. On that basis our Methodist youth membership should be 4,600,000 by 1960. It is now 1,125,000.

"The situation facing youth presents The Methodist Church with one of its greatest challenges and opportunities. If the church is to meet its responsibilities, it is essential that it give strong leadership—

To help youth find an undergirding faith in God, a vital dedication of personal life to Christ, and a passionate sense of mission to serve Christ in every relationship of life.

To reach additional millions of youth with a program of Christian education through which life will be transformed.

To help youth share in creative Christian experience through study, worship, evangelism, missions, church attendance, recreation, volunteer service and Christian vocations.

To recruit and train thousands of adult workers with youth.

To help youth become world minded, with a commitment to the world mission of the Christian faith and to world peace.

To provide guidance to youth for the establishment of Christian homes.

"Throughout its history The Methodist Church has sought to provide a vital program of youth work. In the face of present emergencies and pressures, it is imperative that we strengthen our program and discover new and more effective means of ministering to the youth of this generation.

"In the light of these conditions, and this challenge to the church,

THEREFORE, Be It Resolved, by the General Conference of 1952:

First, That we call upon the Methodist Church to place a special emphasis during the quadrennium 1952-56 upon developing, improving and extending its youth program and upon reaching increased numbers of youth for the Christian life and membership in the church.

Second, That we call upon the bishops, district superintendents, conference boards of education, pastors, youth and adult members of our church, for leadership and support in this movement in their conferences, districts, and churches.

Third, That we call upon the Division of the Local Church of the Board of Education to assume administrative responsibility for planning and promoting this movement and that we call upon the other boards, divisions of boards and agencies which have interest in the youth of the church, to give cooperation.

At the District Planning Conference Dr. Dale Stackhouse, the new District Superintendent, announced that one of his goals for the year is to emphasize the youth work and program in the Warsaw District.

INDIANA SETS ANOTHER OPEN DEER SEASON

The conservation department has authorized an open season for deer hunting this year. The season will be Nov. 6 through Nov. 8.

The major change in the hunting regulations over last year is that hunting will be restricted to 8 a. m. until 4 p. m. Last year, the first for deer hunting in years, the hours were from dawn to dusk. The change in hours is a "safety measure" to protect hunters.

Two new counties, Bartholomew and Jennings, were added to the hunting area. However, Harrison county was removed from this year's list because the herd is depleted there. More than 650 deer were taken in Harrison county last year.

Department officials estimated the kill this year will be about 700, compared with 1,600 in 1951.

The territory open to hunters includes 16 counties in southeastern Indiana. The $5 license fee remains as it was last year.

Archers can hunt again this year in Brown county state park.

He was among nearly 70 top Midwestern United agents who convened with company officials to mark the firm's achievement of having $51,000,000 of life insurance remaining in force at the end of its first four years of operation. According to spokesmen for the company, this is a record never before achieved in the life insurance field.

Midwestern United president, Phil J. Schwanz, announced that Mr. Wallis was recognized at the convention as having qualified for 1952 membership in the company's President's Round Table. ARTIFICIAL BREEDING

CONTINUES TO INCREASE

Lafayette, Ind.—Use of artificial insemination for dairy cattle during 1951 increased 45 per cent over 1950, reports N. J. Moeller, Purdue University extension dairyman. Observations to date indicate an additional 20 to 25 per cent increase in the outlook for 1952.

Of the 125,000 cows artificially bred in Indiana last year, 83,000 were served from the Indiana Artificial Breeding Associations' Carmel stud, either directly or through the 54 county cooperative associations. Independent studs bred 42,000 cows, increasing their operations 100 per cent over 1950.

DeKalb county led county associations with 2,901 cows bred artificially. Wells county was second with 2,872 cows. Moeller predicts the top association this year will breed more than 4,000 cows.

The Purdue dairyman lists several reasons why Indiana farmers have accepted artificial breeding:

Use of improved bulls helps strengthen herd improvement programs.

Small herd owners find artificial service less expensive than feeding and caring for a bull. The profit from keeping an extra cow may cover service costs.

And, the safety hazard of caring for a bull is eliminated.

WILD SENNA

Wild Senna is a tall, handsome plant which thrives in the eastern half of the United States. It is found all the way from New England south to Florida and west to Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas and Louisiana.

Throughout this broad region, Wild Senna grows in moist, rich soil. It often sinks its roots in the soggy ground of swamps, and sometimes it stands along protected roadsides.

A big plant, it hardly ever measures less than three feet in height. Under the best conditions, it may stretch up and up until it is between five and eight feet tall.

© 1951 National Wildlife Federation
Wild Senna

By the middle of the summer, says the National Wildlife Federation, Wild Senna is ready to put forth its attractive blossoms. The flowers are bright golden yellow, and they grow in thick clusters which are attached at the upper parts of the plants.

Each of the many blossoms is small—only about three-fourths of an inch across. But when a number of these open up together, they make a colorful display in July and August.

Following the blossoms, the plant produces its seed pods. The pods are flat, slender and curved. They are between three and four inches long, and have a hairy surface.

Unlike the fuzzy pods, Wild Senna's leaves are smooth to the touch. The leaves, branching out from the main stem, are dark green on top and pale underneath. Each leaf is made up of twelve to eighteen lance-shaped leaflets.

Both the leaves and the pods have been used for many years in the making of medicines. This was first done in Africa and the East Indies, where certain varieties of senna grow. Later it was discovered that the leaves and pods of American Wild Senna also had medical value.

While this is still true, the plant is chiefly looked upon as one of our most attractive wild flowers. It grows quickly and easily in its favorite spots, but does not spread and become an unwanted pest. Many a piece of ground is brighter because Wild Senna is growing there.

Mrs. Philip Blue and daughter, Jackie, left on Thursday morning for a three weeks' trip to California. They are making the trip by car.

LIBRARY NEWS

These are the vacation months and all who are taking vacation trips should enjoy planning their trips with the help of the new 1952 United States travel guides, "What to see and where to stop," which have been sent to the library through the courtesy of the Chicago Motor Club. These books contain lists of inspected and selected accommodations—hotels, resorts, motor courts, and restaurants—and a very fine description of each of the principal points of interest in every section of our country.

"You and your aging parents" by Edith Stern, discusses the many problems which arise as parents become older and often more or less dependent, physically, emotionally or financially, upon their children.

Another new book, "How to clean everything," by Alma Moore is a complete encyclopedia of what to use and how to use it which will solve all your cleaning problems. The new "Singer's complete book of sewing" is another very useful book.

"The nine brides and Granny Hite," by Neill Wilson, contains laughter, comedy, pathos, and drama. This is a joyous novel about the fabulous mountain folk of Cat Track Hollow. All readers of Nevil Shute's fine books will welcome his latest novel, "The legacy." Jean Paget suddenly received a large legacy, more money than she had ever dreamed of possessing, and this unexpected inheritance made possible the fulfillment of a dream—a dream that a young Australian soldier had put in her heart back in the jungles of Malaya when as prisoners of war they had talked in whispers in the menacing darkness.

Thomas Costain, well known writer of historical novels, is now writing a series of histories concerning the "Pageant of England." The first of these, "The Conquerors," begins with the conquest of England by William the Conqueror in 1066. This is surely a book for those to whom the narrative of human progress is the most exciting of all stories.

We have many new books of light fiction including: "Mrs. Gilbert Lancaster, 3rd," by Jessie Moffat, "This Tangled Web," by Maxine Dale, "The Way of a Heart," by Rebecca Marsh, "And Then Love Came," by Warren Howard, and "It's Spring Again," by Gay Rutherford.

PURDUE PLANS CORN AND SOYBEAN DAY SEPT. 11

Lafayette, Ind.—Trials of several new ideas in spacing and cultural practices for corn and soybeans will be among attractions of the Corn and Soybean Field Day at the Purdue University Agronomy Farm, Sept. 11.

The field day will climax the three-day 32nd annual convention of the American Soybean Association at Purdue, Sept. 9-11. In addition to soybean growers and processors from all parts of the United States, several hundred Hoosier farmers are expected to attend.

Soybean demonstrations to be inspected include attempts to establish clover stands in beans and seeding of an early maturing bean variety between rows of a full season variety.

Visitors will see yield comparisons of beans planted in 28- and 40-inch rows; good and poor seed treated with a chemical fungicide; alternating width of rows to increase plant population per acre or row, and varying rates of seeding using two to five pecks per acre.

Also under study are 21 widely grown bean varieties in 28-inch rows; re-inoculation of soybeans for a field that has grown them previously to determine the effect on yield; date of planting varieties of different maturities; pre-emergence and post-emergence spraying for weed control, and chemical defoliation.

Corn experiments include fertility tests involving light, medium and heavy applications of nitrogen, phosphate and potash; trials of minor elements and krillium; field plots showing progress in developing hybrid strains resistant to corn blight; trials of various spacing and cultural practices aimed at establishing stands of legumes in corn, and field comparisons of a large number of hybrids.

Among Purdue staff members participating in the field day will be G. P. Walker, general chairman; Dr. G. B. Peterson, chief in agronomy; K. E. Beeson, R. R. Mulvey and Dr. A. H. Probst, agronomists; Dr. Kirk Athow, plant pathologist, and O. C. Lee, weed control specialist.

LeRoy Markley and Mike Boggs won blue ribbons on their angel food cakes they had on exhibition at the Kosciusko County Fair.

ODE TO TIMMIE

I had a little black crow,
Who played and played with me,
He hopped and cawed, and clucked to us
And was such fun to see.
Most all the people liked him,
Tho sometimes he would be bad,
He sat upon their clean wet clothes
And made them very mad.
The boys all gave him pennies,
Until he was quite rich.
He hid them in the grass and leaves
And in Howard's eave ditch.
A bright and shiny object was his chief delight,
And when he landed on my head,
It really was a sight.
He loved to pull my black cat's tail,
and make her very mad.
She'd growl and spit and strike at him, and make him awfully sad.

So then he'd coo and sweet-talk her until he'd calmed her down,
Then one more pull, a real hard one,
and off he'd fly, to find some other yard to clown.
Then every afternoon at three, he'd start to squawk and scold,
"My bath," he'd say, "No, it's not too cold."
He splashed and splattered and washed his head, and chuckled and chattered and said,
"Thank you kindly for the bath. Now
I'm off on an upward path.
I'll sit in a neighbor's tree and there I'll be, till you call 'Timmie,'" then I'll come and sit on your head, and chatter and chuckle and we'll walk around.
It's a nice safe perch, not far from the ground."
First I fed him with a spoon.
Oats and milk were all his meal.
Every hour, my, how he would squeal.
I'd grab a bowl, a spoon, and fix his snack.
I'd spoon it down him, and watch him
gurgle, gurgle, smack.
Later on he learned to fly.
He soared around the sky on high.
Sailing in over all heads,
Sure of his welcome, begging for bread.
Cheese, egg-pellets, corn, cookies, cake,
piecrust and meat,
That crow sure did love to eat.
Now there's a grave in my back yard,
With a vase of flowers all shiny and bright,
To pull them apart would have been Timmie's delight.
Poor Timmie, this is his obituary.
He was too friendly, and never learned to be wary.

BACK HOME AGAIN

Mrs. Earl Meredith, of Mentone, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Zora McFarland, of Akron, returned to their homes on August 14 after about eight weeks of visiting relatives and friends in California.

Those they visited were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meredith, of Santa Monica; Mr. and Mrs. Clair McFarland, of Downey; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meredith and family, of Altadena; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Meredith and family, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hire and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hire, of La Mesa; Mrs. Clara Gates, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Chapman and family, of Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. David Johns, at San Diego, and Mrs. Dola Peterson, at Long Beach. We then went to Oakland and San Francisco and visited with Dr. and Mrs. Hobart Rogers, and his 95½ year old mother, Mrs. Susie Rogers, and Mrs. Lucille (Laird) Loughran and family, of Santa Clara, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bachman, of San Jose. We sure enjoyed our trip and our visits to the many places of interest. We saw lots of flowers and fruits.

Antibiotics and detergents in hog rations will be main topics of discussion at the 32nd annual Swine Day at Purdue University, Friday, Sept. 12. The morning program will be held at the Livestock Experimental Farm, three miles north of West Lafayette on the County Farm Road. The afternoon session will be held in the Hall of Music.

Purdue University agricultural engineers remind farmers that August is cleanup and repair time around the farm, so that the farm will be ready for winter work.

Sandra Barkman, of the Mentone Four Leaf Clover 4-H Club has had her cookies, which were exhibited at the Kosciusko County Fair, recommended to be exhibited at the State Fair. She was the only one from the county to receive such recommendation.

Cows bred to freshen during September or October should be given a dry period of six to eight weeks. If pastures are good, little or no concentrates are needed. If not, give four to six pounds per cow daily, say Purdue University dairymen.

CHILD HEALTH

"Underweight in a growing child may be a symptom of disease," Dr. F. R. Nicholas Carter warned today. Dr.

Carter is chairman of the Indiana Committee on Chronic Illness, and the Indiana Medical Association Committtee on Chronic Illness, which met jointly at the Indiana State Board of Health recently.

Dr. Carter pointed out the dangers of overweight, as well as the problems of the underweight child, and offered a few suggestions to the parents of school children.

"Many folks feel that weight problems are due to glandular disorders, but in most cases, this is an erroneous idea. Your own family physician is in the best position to advise you of your child's normal weight. After you know the child's weight status, and if the physician advises that the child is not suffering from a glandular problem, you as parents, can do much to control the child's weight through diet," said Dr. Carter.

"First, train your children to eat well-balanced meals at regular times each day. Do not permit them to go without breakfast; see that they eat slowly and chew their food well, and never force them to eat when they are overtired or emotionally upset.

"In addition," the Doctor said, "keep a record of the child's progress. If these steps are taken, then you may feel confident that you are doing your part to help your child enjoy a healthy happy, normal life.

IN WAFS

13 August, 1952

Dear Mr. Cullum,

As you no doubt have learned by now, I've enlisted in the W. A. F. (Women's Air Force). Would you please send me the weekly paper. I've missed it terribly.

I arrived here at Lackland last Thursday morning and have been pretty busy since then. I'll try and give you an idea of what we are doing.

There are 52 girls in this flight, one from Indiana, that's me. We fall out for chow at 5:45, on the double, march to chow and back. Get a ten minute break and then march somewhere else. We have been here a week but our basic didn't start until today. We have 12 weeks of that. We are also restricted for four weeks, no candy, gum, pop, ice cream, or men. We can't talk to any man on this base for three weeks, but after restriction we can have our candy, etc., and also a 12 hour pass.

The chow here isn't too bad. We clean our barracks morning and night with a razor blade and nail file to take the black marks off the floor wax and then run the buffer over them. Every thing has to be perfect first time.

There isn't much of anything else I can write about the WAFS as I haven't been here long enough.

Thank you,

Donna R. Sanders

P. S. It is very hot and dry here.

WHY BE SATISFIED WITH "BREAK-EVEN" FEEDING?

EXTRA EGGS when prices are high means more profit. An extra egg per hen each week, while egg prices are best, spells the difference between a profitable job and a "break-even" job. Feed our Egg Mash plus Master Mix Egg-Lee Pellets to get those extra eggs when it pays.

REV. GOSSER AT PURDUE

Rev. David Gosser, of Mentone, is one of nearly 200 youth delegates and conference directors attending the series of national Methodist youth meetings at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, this week.

Youth presidents and directors of youth and intermediate age work from 103 annual conferences are meeting with the youth department staffs of the Methodist General Board of Education to determine greatest needs of youths. In response to the request of the Methodist General Conference for increased emphasis on youth work, the first national Planning Conference was called by the Rev. Harold W. Ewing, Nashville, Tennessee, head of the local church division youth department staff of the board. Results of this meeting will form the youth program of the denomination for the next four years.

Youth presidents will join with some 40 state student movement presidents on the campus in the annual meeting of the National Conference of Methodist Youth, ending August 24. This body representing two million Methodist youth, will nominate youth members to general boards of the church. The National Methodist Student Commission, or student section, met earlier in the week.

Many young people will be staying on the campus another week for the Christian Youth Conference of North America, directed by their own National Conference president, Jameson Jones, of Lexington, Kentucky. More than a thousand delegates will represent 40 denominations.

DON'T WRAP EXHIBIT EGGS IN NEWSPAPERS

Those who plan to exhibit eggs at the Mentone Egg Show September 24, 25 and 26, are advised not to wrap the eggs in newspapers because the print stains the egg shells.

The egg show this year is adding a new feature that should be of interest to the visitors. There will be a commercial display tent with space for approximately 20 individual display units. The displays will be put up by various manufacturers and others allied to the poultry industry.

MRS. WALLACE ELLERMAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

In a three-car auto accident which occurred at Huntington at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night, one of the cars involved was the car driven by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Ellerman of Huntington. Mrs. Ellerman, known in this community as Delores Ann Williamson, who made her home for several years with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Holloway and attended the Mentone schools, was instantly killed.

Funeral services were held at Huntington Wednesday. The Holloways attended.

TO POISON DUMP AREA

Due to the fact that a number of citizens have been dumping rubbish in a spot southeast of the Co-Op., the accumulated material naturally attracts undesirable rodents. The town board has authorized the Atkinson Pest Control representative, of Richmond, to "plant" poison to exterminate the rodents. The poison will be applied on Thursday evening, Aug. 28th, and citizens are warned not to permit any pet cats or dogs to visit the area.

BOYS VISIT PHIL SHILLING

Dennis Fitzgerald and Max Friesner accompanied David Romine to Norfolk, Va., last Friday where they visited with Phillip Shilling. On the return they visited Washington, D. C. and also the Carpenter Bros. plant at Frostburg, Md. They returned Tuesday morning.

While going through an Ohio city David failed to notice a stop sign until it was too late for him to completely stopped and another motorist's fender rather ruined David's grill.

HELP CUBS WIN BALL GAME

It took eleven men from the Manwaring Leghorn Farm to help the Chicago Cubs defeat Philadelphia 3 to 2 in 13 innings Tuesday.

The Cubs have been having a tough time winning games this season, but I wouldn't think it would take thirteen innings to win when nine of the Manwaring employees, with Miles and Charles directing the "rooting" to win.

GADWALL

Gadwalls are sleepy heads in the daytime. When the sun is out, they spend most of the time dozing in the thick grass of marshlands. Only a sudden noise would make them look for a safer spot.

At dusk, the big birds come to life. From twilight until long after dark, they feed around the edges of lonely lakes and streams and in nearby fields. There they feast on tender water plants, insects, snails, small fish, tadpoles, nuts and grain.

©1952 National Wildlife Federation
Gadwall

By the time dawn begins to break, they have eaten their fill and are ready to turn in for a day's rest. Back they go to the marshes, where human beings seldom bother them or their nests.

They build their homes near the water, says the National Wildlife Federation, but always on dry ground. Under a bush or on a broad clump of grass, they collect finely shredded grass for the outer part of the nest. In the center they add a lining of feathers.

The soft nest is finished and ready for use by May. In it the female lays from eight to twelve large, pale buff or creamy eggs. She sits on them for twenty-eight days to make them hatch.

From their parents, the young quickly learn to be shy, wary ducks. They not only hide and sleep by day, but they also are alert at swimming and diving. The snap of a twig or the flash of a gun is enough to send them plunging for cover.

When fully grown, Gadwalls are about twenty-two inches long, and they weigh two pounds or a little more. In flight they can spread their wings to a total width of thirty-five inches.

Brownish gray is the main color on the male. At the back edges of his wings he has clear patches of white within a border of black and brown. On his lower back and in his tail there are black feathers, but the tip of his tail is gray. His lower neck is dark gray and farther down he is white. His bill is blue and his legs are dull orange.

The female is about the same color, but darker, with more brown mixed in her gray feathers. She is also a bit smaller than the male, and does not make as much noise when she quacks as he does with his loud, shrill kack-kack.

Summer and winter, Gadwalls are birds of the Northern Hemisphere. They spend the spring and summer in Canada, along the Pacific Coast, and eastward into Iowa, Colorado, Minnesota, Ohio, New Mexico, Utah, Texas, and Louisiana. A few of them remain in southern Canada for the winter, while others fly to such scattered places as Maryland, Lower California, Mexico, and southern Florida.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

"Safe Water" is the theme of the exhibit of the Indiana State Board of Health at the Indiana State Fair which opens Thursday, August 28, and continues until September 8 at the State Fairgrounds, Indianapolis.

The exhibits on safe water will be displayed in the east building of the State Board of Health, according to Jack Ansley, director of Art and Photography, Health Education Division. The interior of the building has been recently remodeled.

Through the courtesy of General Electric and the Division of Sanitary Engineering there will be a display on "clean water." The Division of Dental Health Services will show water fluoridation, and the Division of Water Laboratories will exhibit on water analysis. Visitors will be allowed to view a drop of water which is magnified 400 times through a scopicom.

The straw mite which caused so much discomfort among animals at the last state fair is the subject of an exhibit of the Indianapolis City Board of Health.

An information booth on the services of the Indiana State Board of Health will be manned by the Division of Health and Physical Education.

In the west building of the State Board of Health, twelve affiliated health agencies will exhibit.

ECONOMIST TO DISCUSS SOYBEAN PRICE PROSPECTS

Dr. G. L. Jordan, University of Illinois agricultural economist will be a featured speaker on the Farmers' Day program, Wednesday afternoon, September 10, during the American Soybean Association's national convention at Purdue University.

A native of Huntington County, Indiana and a 1922 graduate of Purdue, Dr. Jordan is noted for his accurate average price forecasts for soybeans each year. He will use the formula developed after years of study to estimate prices farmers will receive for their 1952 crop.

Prof. Donald Paarlberg, Purdue economist, will discuss the long-time outlook for soybean prices. Possibilities of expanded industrial uses of soybean oil meal and of future export will be outlined by R. M. Bethke, vice-president of Ralston-Purina Company, St. Louis, and Paul E. Quintus of the Office of Foreign Relations, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Aside from price, another matter of interest to farmers is the effect of soybeans on soil fertility. J. Ward Calland, managing director, National Soybean Crop Improvement Council, Decatur, Indiana, will discuss the question, "How Many Soybeans Can We grow and Not Ruin Our Soil?" He has studied this question and reviewed experimental work throughout the soybean belt for some time.

Many Hoosier and Illinois farmers are expected to attend the Wednesday afternoon session and to remain for the annual banquet that evening. The outdoor Corn and Soybean Field Day will be staged at the Agronomy Farm the next day, September 11.

COLOR OF LIGHT BULB CAN ATTRACT BUGS

Bugs have their color likes and dislikes. That is what two Purdue scientists found in their study of the attractiveness of various wave lengths of radiant energy to insects.

Prof. H. O. Deay, entomologist, and J. G. Taylor, agricultural engineer, found that each species of insect has its own color preference. For most of them it is blue or green. Red, yellow and orange lights are unattractive to nearly all insects. That is, they just aren't aware that yellow lights exist, so fly around as usual.

Since orange or yellow lights give better illumination than does red light, lights for outside use should be in the yellow color range. The Purdue men advise using yellow bulbs, or yellow or gold fluorescent lamps. Such lamps will prevent the usual swarms of insects that form around white or blue lamps. Yellow bulbs are also advised for open-air markets, parks, playgrounds, open-air theaters, filling stations, canning plants and other outdoor establishments.

Prof. Deay points out that in no instance has it been found that red, orange or yellow lights actually repel night flying insects. Nearly all of these insects are color blind as far as these yellow colors are concerned.

STILL TIME FOR THAT VACATION TRIP

If you didn't get to go on a vacation yet this year, don't fret. You're lucky. The Chicago Motor Club today pointed out that the month of September is an ideal time for vacation travel because of less crowded conditions and lower costs.

"Late season vacationing is becoming increasingly popular with many motorists," said Curtis F. Proud, travel director of the Club. "Popular resorts, which are anxious to stay open into autumn, feature reduced rates without any reduction in service or hospitality. Many communities schedule special events in September largely for the enjoyment of vacationists."

Weather Bureau records shows that the weather in September is only slightly cooler than in July. In some sections of the country there is no difference. In certain areas the foliage is still at its peak of greenness while in other parts of the country the September visitor is the first to witness the autumn change in color.

Mrs. Minnie Anderson, Mrs. Bertha Meredith, Mrs. Mary Barkman and Judy and Linda Barkman spent Thursday of last week at the John Laird home visiting with their Michigan cousins.

HOLIDAY OR FUNERAL?

Indiana highways will claim 23 lives during the Labor Day week end. That is the "conservative" estimate of Chas. M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club.

The motor club executive also predicted that another 1050 persons will be injured in traffic accidents during the holiday.

"We expect the impact of repeated warnings by the press throughout the state as well as intensified efforts of state, county and local police to hold the number of holiday highway deaths to 23," Hayes said.

Although bad weather might reduce the number of vehicles on the road, Hayes warned that it will not effect the expected toll.

Pointing out that the predictions of another, greater holiday slaughter should be a challenge to safer driving, Hayes urges motorists to cooperate in the following program:

1. Start trips early and avoid extra long drives to prevent a tendency toward speeding.
2. Avoid unnecessary passing and weaving on crowded highways. Allow safe margins between cars.
3. Confine night driving to a minimum. Two-thirds of all traffic fatalities occur after dark.
4. Avoid over-exertion. Excessive fatigue is a common cause of highway disaster.

STATE GAME RELEASED IN 1952 WILL BE 137,000

In addition to game already in Indiana fields the Fish and Game Division of the Indiana Department of Conservation will have, during this calendar year, added 137,000 individual targets for conservationists' rifles, shotguns and bows and arrows.

Sale of licenses to hunt deer and the increase in the cost of individual hunting licenses enabled the division, according to both Kenneth M. Kunkel, Director, and Henry P. Cottingham, Assistant Director and Fish and Game head, to buy huge quantities of game animals and birds which have been liberated at specially selected spots.

Mr. Cottingham pointed out that the Division of Fish and Game thus has been enabled much further in its conservation organization program. Stock raised on the various game farms and and fish from the various hatcheries operated by the state have found their way to such organizations thus greatly improving conditions.

POISON!

Chances are you've never heard of one of the most ingenious home remedies for accidental poisoning. In fact, there are even doctors who don't know about it.

This remarkable yet simple remedy is the "universal antidote." You may give it in practically all cases of poisoning. Here it is:

- 2 parts burned toast, pulverized.
- 1 part milk of magnesia.
- 1 part strong tea.

Make up a supply and keep it in a bottle in your medicine chest. It might save your child's life if he eats ant poison or swallows cleaning fluid. Give at least two tablespoons in a little water. You may substitute pulverized charcoal for the burned toast.

Why is this homemade mixture so effective against poison? If a metal or alkaloid poison is swallowed, the tannic acid in the tea will help neutralize it. If the poison is an acid, the magnesia will help counteract that.

And small amounts of charred toast (charcoal) will absorb and hold tremendous quantities of poison. The latest textbooks on child care recommend the Universal Antidote.

Some poisons can kill in five minutes, so quick treatment is essential. You may not have time to wait for the doctor. After giving the Universal Antidote, physicians say there are two additional things you should do as quickly as possible.

Find out what the child swallowed. Save the box or bottle containing the poison so that the doctor can examine it. That simple act alone can prevent death—the doctor won't have to waste precious time finding out what the poison was.

Wash the poison out of the stomach by making the child vomit. Ipecac or mustard in warm water are too slow, sometimes take as much as 15 to 30 minutes to "work." One of the best emetics is in your own icebox—milk and eggs. Fill a glass of milk, break an egg into it, make the child drink it. Then stick your finger down his throat to induce vomiting. The protein in the milk and eggs forms a curd which absorbs and binds most poisons. After vomiting has been induced, next step is to give another dose of the Universal Antidote.

Note: If the child has swallowed lye or another alkaline, he may suffer burns around the mouth. If this happens, do not induce vomiting as this will weaken the lining of the esophagus and stomach.

Although we've all been warned repeatedly never to leave poison within a child's reach, 600 children die each year of accidental poisoning. Thousands suffer injuries.

Kerosene is a common cause of poisoning. It looks so much like water that thirsty toddlers often sample it. Lead-poisoning also is dangerous—crib manufacturers know this. But when Father repaints he may use lead paint and baby poisons himself by gnawing it off.

Some authorities believe aspirin to be the most frequent cause of childhood accidents. Fortunately aspirin, which is of course a harmless drug when taken in moderation, is rarely fatal even when consumed in large amounts. But never leave candy-coated baby aspirin around where a toddler can help himself.

Roach powder is a favorite with children. So is black shoe polish containing nitrobenzene, a vicious poison. Iodine, alcohol, liniment, caustic washing fluids, insecticides, sleeping pills and nail-polish remover are among other frequent causes of poisoning in youngsters.

In handling any poison case, get as much information as possible for the doctor. Note whether the victim's mouth shows any signs of burning, corrosion or ulceration. Does he have stomach cramps? Are his actions jerky? If possible save some of the vomit in a bottle to take to the hospital.

Ordinarily a doctor doesn't have enough equipment in his bag, such as oxygen, anesthetics and special drugs, to treat a serious case of poisoning at home. So it's usually best to get to a hospital. Arrange to meet the doctor there.

In short, here are the four steps to remember:

1. Give the Universal Antidote.
2. Induce vomiting (except when the mouth is burned) and find the source of poison.

3. Give another dose of the Universal Antidote.

4. Meet your doctor at the hospital. The above article was printed in the "This Week Magazine" and is very valuable. This remedy may some day save your own child.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilvin Teel and family returned last week from a vacation trip to Wisconsin.

He was able to report back to duty following first aid treatment after the first attack, but was evacuated to a hospital in Yokohama, Japan following the second encounter, where he submitted to surgery for removal of shrapnel from both legs, elbow and wrist.

BRITAIN WANTS DRAFT CUT TO ONE YEAR

Former Socialist Defense Minister, Emanuel Shinwell said today Britain's two year Army draft should be cut to only a year.

"Twelve months national service is long enough for military training," he told a news conference.

Shinwell said the Labor government established the two year hitch because it believed it was necessary but a temporary measure. He indicated he no longer believed world conditions require prolonged military training for British civilians.

Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative government has sided with the United States, however, in the belief the threat of Communist aggression is still dangerous enough to require two year national service.

MAGAZINE COMMENTS ON "PIG HATCHERIES"

Indiana is the Nation's leader in the expanding business of providing farmers with ready-made eight-week-old pigs, according to the September issue of Country Gentleman magazine.

These animals are produced in pig hatcheries like that of Leslie Meyers & son, at Wallace, the operation of which is comparable with the simple, systematized production of baby chicks in hatcheries.

Author F. J. Keilholz reports that only a few years ago the idea of these pig hatcheries was shrugged off as "a wild man's dream," but today they're being spoken of as an "upheaval in swine production"—newest, most controversial and least understood.

The dozen or so big factories in the Hoosier State, plus an expanding number in other states, are said to have put the farmer face-to-face with the problem of whether to forego fall breeding, get rid of his breeding stock, scrap or convert his equipment and, instead, start buying hatchery pigs.

To assist farmers in arriving at a conclusion, Keilholz explores the economics of buying ready-made pigs as opposed to breeding them and reports on a study of 30 West Central Indiana farms—where both approaches are employed—by Purdue agricultural economists.

It shows that buying feeder pigs fits best to those farms where certain conditions prevail. Among these are farms where cash outlay isn't a major consideration, where labor is short and feed plentiful, where farmers prefer to buy in one package the chores of castration, vaccination and care of the breeding herd—and maybe get a superior product—and where more control is desired in the season of marketing finished hogs.

Regarding the latter, the Purdue study pointed out that fewer things can go wrong between weaning and marketing than between breeding and weaning.

Keilholz's article, which is entitled, "Pig Hatcheries are Here to Stay," also reports that an additional advantage of the hatchery is year-round output of pigs, something which will tend to level out the peaks and dips of the hog-price curve.

Max and Herschel Nellans, Mentone, have a fine pig hatchery in operation here.

Mrs. Imogene Tennant, of Lansing, Michigan, and Mrs. Maude Leonard, of Eaton Rapids, Michigan, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Laird from Monday to Friday of last week.

JAMES MOLLENHOUR ON AIRCRAFT CARRIER

Monday, Aug. 18, 1952

Hello Art:

Well I've traveled many miles since I've written you last and it looks like I'll cover many more before I get home again, which I hope will be next February. I'll try to describe it a little without going into too much detail.

The 20th of June the squadron, "Fighting 31," left Sanford, Fla., for Norfolk, Va., where we boarded the U.S.S. Midway. While we were on the Midway we made two cruises to Halifax, Nova Scotia and back to Norfolk. These were the yearly midshipmen cruises and there was a different bunch of "middies" each cruise.

Halifax was a very nice place for liberty as there were many things to see and numerous places to go. Also, there are about five women to every man up there and the women go around asking you for dates. One thing about Halifax that is good but yet leaves you with nothing to do is that theatres, stores, dance halls, etc. are closed on Sundays. Restaurants usually are but most of them opened just to get the sailors' money.

For one of the first times in history our dollar is only worth 96 cents up there in Halifax.

We returned to Sanford August 2 and left again the 15th. We are out on a short cruise this week aboard the U.S.S. Leyte for qualification of pilots. Each pilot must make 8 day landings and 2 at night to qualify.

We'll leave August the 28th, still on board "The Leading Leyte," for ports east of here.

I want to thank you again for sending the Co-Op. News to me and now here is another change of address:

ANNUAL PURDUE SWINE DAY SET FOR SEPTEMBER 12

Swine producers from Indiana and neighboring states will find antibiotics and detergents in hog rations in the limelight at the 32nd annual Swine Day at Purdue University, Friday, September 12. More than 5,000 farmers attended last year's field day.

During the morning session at the Livestock Experimental Farm, visitors will tour experimental feed lots and pastures. Included will be studies of the effect of antibiotics in gestation rations, amount of antibiotics needed in protein supplements, feeding detergents to hogs. Another test is designed to produce leaner hogs on pasture. Results of swine breeding research will be reported.

Tours will begin at regular intervals from 8 to 10 a. m. (CDT). Lunch will be available at the farm, which is situated three miles north of West Lafayette on County Farm Road.

TALMA T. H. E. CLUB TOURS WARSAW FACTORIES

Members of the Talma T. H. E. Club

enjoyed a tour of several factories in Warsaw recently. This was the club's August meeting. The group met at the home of Mrs. Joe Duzan at 9:30 a. m. and from there motored to Warsaw.

The Warsaw Cut Glass Factory was the first place the group went. Here they saw Oscar Hugo, who has been at this trade for 43 years, cut designs on glass.

The ladies visited the Litchfield Creamery. At noon the club proceeded to Winona Lake Park where each one enjoyed a sack lunch.

The last stop was the Splint Factory. They all reported a very interesting sight-seeing trip.
