Sure Is Hard Job

"De hardest-worked person I knows of," said Uncle Eben, "is a talker dat's tryin' to convince folks of sumpin' he don't honestly believe hisself."

Benzine and Benzene

Benzine and benzene are two different substances; to add to the confusion, benzene was originally called benzine and is often called benzol.

Trees Grow Out of Rocks

Cedar trees seemingly grow out of the solid rocks in Bermuda, clinging to the slightest clefts. A visiting poet says: "They live on the kiss of the rain."

Many Listen, Benefit Little

"Many listen to wise words," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "but derive no benefit, since they devote themselves to envying the ability to utter them."

Cocaine From Shrub

Cocaine, the pernicious drug, is obtained from a low growing shrub, the vivid green leaves of which are gathered and dried in the sun, just as tea leaves are.

Drowned City

Near Sevastopol on the Black sea is the "drowned city" of Chersones, of which nothing remains but a rocky cape menacing passing steamers. A thousand years ago the city flourished as a Roman trading post.

Fish Walks on Water

The ribbon-bill fish, a member of the houndfish family that spends its life on or near the surface of the sea, can literally walk on the top of the water. It has been known to spin along upright on the surface of the water for several hundred yards, giving the appearance of walking on its tail.

Transportation in Newfoundland

In winter when harbors are frozen, dogs are the only means of transportation and communication in northern Newfoundland. Mail is carried by sledge over 200 miles from the railroad terminal. This distance, however, would seem short to an Alaskan mail man. One of the longest mail routes in Alaska, from Kotzebue to Point Barrow, stretches 500 miles over treeless snow barrens, and along rocky shores, with never a stake to mark the trail.

CLASS PARTY

For the past few months the young peoples' class and the young married peoples' class of the Palestine Christian Church have been staging an attendance contest. The contest ended Sunday Nov. 26 with the young peoples' class two behind. Friday evening the young peoples' class entertained the winning class to a chicken supper in the church basement. Those present belonging to the young married peoples' class were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sirguy, Mr. and Mrs. Judd and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Long and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mahoney and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lewis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Clark and son, and Mrs. Naomi See and children.

American Citizens

By general consent, the term American citizen is limited to those owing allegiance to the United States of America. From another point of view, anyone residing in North or South America could be called American, but those outside of this country are already distinguished by such names as Canadian, Mexican, Chilean, Brazilian, etc.

Live Bird Adorned Their Kitchen Christmas Tree

"IT SEEMED," said Ansel Doane, "kind of mean to leave him there all by his lonesome."

"But good land of love," scolded his wife, "what in the world will you do with him?"

Ansel peered anxiously between his fingers into the palm of a great, horny hand. Sitting there, confused, all in a lump of wetness, was a small bird. His eyes darted here and there, but he did not offer to struggle. "I'm a-goin' to warm him a bit, and let him get his bearin's, and feed him, and then see what he wants to do."

Mrs. Doane pretended much scorn, but she went many times to look into the box with cotton her husband had fixed. There the bird sat, resting, too tired to flutter out.

"It's Christmas Eve, ain't it?" asked Ansel. "It would be a pity if we couldn't help a little mite who doesn't ask nothin' but to live, and take care of itself when it can." He gave him a crumb of bread; softly he stroked the wet wing with his big finger. "I found him a-settin' all hunched up on the church railin'. The rain was a-freezin' on his feathers. If we'd help a savior in trouble . . . why not a wee thing like this? Birds," Ansel frowned, trying to arrange his thoughts, "are just as lovin' to the Lord, as humans, and likely just as important. I admire the spunky little things. I admire 'em a heap."

Later in the evening when the small tree was set up in the corner, the new visitor, being warmed and fed, stepped from his box and flew over to it. There on a branch-tip he rocked and gave a few cheerful cheeps. "There, what did I tell you?" cried the delighted Ansel. "He's a right smart little feller. And he's wishin' us Merry Christmas or I'm a sinner!"

"Maybe he is," agreed Mrs. Doane. "Kind of cute, having a real bird in a tree in your own kitchen!"—Maybelle Martin.

A Safety Measure

If you use paper lanterns containing lighted candles among your decorations, put a little sand in the bottom of each. This will steady them and perhaps prevent a disaster.

Christmas Trees Inspected

Christmas trees from regions where the gypsy moth is a serious pest are carefully inspected by government agents at shipping centers, lest the pests spread.

When Prisoners Are Released

The Prisoners' Relief society says that in the case of a federal or state prisoner transportation is furnished a released man to the point of conviction. He is given in addition a good suit of clothes and either $5 or $10, depending on circumstances and the state. It is sometimes possible for an arrangement to be made by the prison authorities in conjunction with friends of the prisoner to allow the transportation to be to the place of residence, rather than place of conviction.

Byron Spitler Dies Suddenly

Succumbs to Attack of Heart at His Home at Doran Station.

Byron Spitler, 45, former resident of Warsaw, died suddenly Thursday evening at 10 o'clock in Dr. Ferrie's office in Akron. Mr. Spitler had been in splendid health until Thursday morning when he complained of having a pain in his chest. He returned from his work in Mentone in the evening and was at home when he suffered a heart attack.

The decedent was the son of Rev. Allen Spitler, former pastor of the Warsaw Christian church. For many years Mr. Spitler was conductor on the interurban operating between Goshen and Peru. Eight years ago he moved to Akron, where he operated a restaurant until two years ago. Since that time he had managed the produce station at Mentone, making his home at Doran Station.

Mr. Spitler in earlier life attended Warsaw high school. He was united in marriage to Frankie Worley of Claypool, who is among the survivors. The deceased was a member of the Beaver Dam U. B. Church.

Besides the widow, three children, Worley, Angynetta and Aldene at home, mother Mrs. Allen Spitler, and a sister, Mrs. Uda Klinger of Atwood survive. Dr. W. W. Shipley of Warsaw is also a nephew of the decedent.

Word "Up" Overworked

"Up" is said to be the most frequently used preposition in the English language, and certain commentators call attention to the fact that it is used superfluously, as it were, in such expressions as "sign up," "call up," "break up," "clean up."

Ohio's First State Fair

Ohio's first state fair was held in Cincinnati in 1850. For the next 24 years it was each year moved from place to place, since it was thought that it was easier to take the fair to the people than bring the people to the fair. Since 1874 it has been permanently in Columbus.

O. B. Deaton and Marie Gill, Married

Friends and neighbors of O. B. Deaton, popular manager of the Mentone Egg Producers Association, were very much surprised to hear of his marriage on Dec. 8.

The bride was formerly Marie Gill of Warsaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gill. Mr. Deaton although a busy farmer has always given generously of his time to promote worth while enterprises in the community and Mrs. Deaton has been a popular leader in Warsaw and now that they are united The Co-Op News is extending congratulations and best wishes and feel that this community is fortunate to have two such dependable leaders as Mr. and Mrs. Deaton in their midst.

The Cabala

Cabala (spelled many different ways) is a system of occult theosophy, or mystical interpretation of the Scriptures, among some Jewish rabbis and certain medieval Christians. At first such interpretation was oral, but later was reduced to writing. Under this system every line, letter, number and accent of the Scriptures holds a hidden sense or meaning.

"Gambrius"

"Gambrius" was a mythical Flemish king who is credited with being the first brewer. His name is usually derived from that of Jan Primus, John I., the victorious Duke of Brabant, who was president of the Brussels Guild of Brewers, and his portrait, with a foaming glass of ale in his hand, had the place of honor in the guild hall.

Dogs Do Not Perspire

When you see a dog panting, you need not necessarily assume that the animal is exhausted. For no matter how heated a dog may become in the chase it never perspires. In the ordinary sense, depending instead upon its rapid breathing to remove the surplus moisture from its lungs and certain poisons from its system. A dog breathes some 300 times a minute instead of approximately 30, which is the more usual rate for human beings.

The first opera performed in public was Peri's Euridice in 1583. It was scored for lute, harpsichord, theorbo, lyre and flutes.

Where Columbus Landed

On his first voyage to the New World Columbus sighted land and disembarked on the island called by the Indians Guanahani. Columbus named the island San Salvador, but it is generally identified with Watling Island, one of the Bahama group.

Elephants Can Calculate

Elephants that have been broken in to serve man frequently exhibit evidence of a high order of intelligence. In lifting a huge log on its tusks one of these big animals will calculate the center of gravity of the log very accurately, picking it up in such a way that the two ends, often of unequal diameter, will balance each other.

Worship Mountains at Home

There have been cults of mountain worship in China for centuries, the pilgrim clubs connected with the mountains being of two kinds, "traveling" and "stationary," the former sending out representative delegates to a peak at stated intervals, the latter, also called the "Squatting and Fattening Society," for instead of making the actual pilgrimage, they limit activities to the worship of a paper mountain at home, with convivial accompaniments on a liberal scale.

Dnieper Dam in Russia

The Duleper dam in Russia is 2,500 feet long, 170 feet high and contains 968,000 cubic yards of concrete. The power plant has a normal generating capacity of 756,000 horsepower and a maximum of 900,000. The total output is about 8,000,000 kilowatt hours per annum. The cost of construction of the power plant and dam was $110,000,000.

Marianne, Name for France

Marianne was the name by which the French reactionaries designated the republic in reference to the secret society Marianne, formed to overthrow the second empire. The principal members of the organization were Ledru-Rollin and Mazzini.

Trees Are Historians

The tree has a story to tell, and tells it by means of rings. These rings will give you the age of the tree, as well as a history of the sun-spot cycles through which it has lived. The thickness of the rings tells the speed of yearly growth, and, since trees grow more rapidly during sun-spot periods, Old Sol's vagaries are written there. By comparison of relative rings on various trees, the sun-spot cycles have been traced as far back as the Thirteenth century.

Second Warning Issued To Motor Vehicle Owners

A second warning was issued Monday by Lamont Bibler, manager of the automobile license bureau, to motorists who have not made application for 1934 plates and drivers' license. The deadline, he said, probably will not be extended beyond Jan. 1.

Only 430 license have been issued to owners of passenger cars and 70 to truck owners, leaving thousands yet to be obtained within the next two weeks.

A rush is expected at the bureau after Jan. 1 when the gross income tax collection and applications for store and industrial licenses are scheduled to be received. Amounts to be paid on store licenses range from $3.50 annually for one unit, to $453 per year for 20 units. All stores employing more than five persons must also apply for industrial licenses, according to Bibler. Poll tax receipts must be submitted with each application for a store or industrial license, he said this morning.

December's Honor

No other festival is so purely altruistic as Christmas. No other so elevates and ennobles the home. The whole of December is delightful, notwithstanding snow and sleet and storm, because December has the honor of numbering Christmas among its marching days.—The Country Home.

Christmas Memories

Christmas customs, Christmas odors, Christmas weather, Christmas decorations, Christmas cheer, all go together to make memories.

The Christmas Pup Sent by Dad to the Kiddies

"ISN'T HE sweet."
"Isn't he darling . . . look, mother . . . see the white under his chin! What shall we call him?"
Mrs. Wallace reached down and gathered into her lap a somewhat forlorn, big-eyed puppy. He wore a smashing red bow around his neck, and he still bore the tag, "Merry Christmas to the Kids From Dad" dangling from the ribbon. But he cringed a little and trembled, and tried to hide under the kind elbow of Mrs. Wallace.

"See here, children," she began, trying to soothe the little fellow, "I want to tell you something. How would you like it if I wrapped Susie up in white paper, put a tag around her neck, and sent her off as a present to some one? Wouldn't you hope the people who got her would be kind to her? Would let her sleep? Would give her the proper food? Susie is nothing but a baby; so is this puppy. He's frightened; he misses his mother. And while I know you love him, I want you all to be sure not to tease him; to let him sleep, and to treat him exactly as you would want people to treat little Susie. Love him all you want, but think of his side of the matter."

They all looked a trifle soberly at Susie, who didn't know in the least what to make of it. So she patted the puppy with a fat hand and said, "Let's call him just Pup . . . and love him whole lots!"

"We'll be very careful of Pup, mother, won't we?" chorused the others. "Isn't he darling? Isn't he sweet?"

"I'm going to put him in his basket now," said Mrs. Wallace, "and I don't want one of you to wake him until he crawls out himself. Then he'll be ready to romp."

Little Susie kissed him softly on his nose.—Beatrice Nordlow.

AN INSTITUTION

The Co-Op News is an institution in this community dedicated to the principle of fair play to all. Its publishers realize the responsibilities of preparing a paper that goes into over 1000 homes to be read by people ranging in age from those too young for the kindergarten class to those too old for the octogenarian club.

This paper, was started as a monthly publication but was soon changed to a semi-monthly and we will make it a weekly when the public says the word. We welcome news items and endeavor to print all that are brought to us or that we can secure.

We examine all articles with a Golden Rule Telescope before accepting them for publication and keep our waste paper basket handy. We place principle above revenue and will not print ads of merchandise that isn't as represented.

We will not print ads of egg receivers whose statements are misleading and refuse advertising space to egg receivers that wrangle with egg producers.

This paper would be unfair to its readers if it printed ads from unscrupulous merchants or dealers and it doesn't need support had enough to help anyone do anyone a wrong.

When sellers or buyers advertise in the Co-Op News, it means in over 1000 homes they haven't a customer or former customer so far as we can learn, who found their business unfair. When undecided where to buy or sell read the ads in this paper. They are your protection.

Now! A closing word to all, in behalf of our readers we take this occasion to thank the advertisers who made this paper possible and in behalf of our advertisers we take this occasion to thank the readers whose business dealing with the advertisers have made this paper possible.

Our future is what we make it, Oh! What shall it be.

Gold Hoarding

The currency and bank notes act of Great Britain contains a provision that the Bank of England may call in any gold hoard exceeding $50,000. This was written to prevent private banks from hoarding gold at times when gold might be needed as reserve by the Bank of England for national use, but the law would operate against individuals as well. Under the German and Italian dictatorships gold hoards can be seized.

Girl Scout News

At the Scout meeting, December 7, Mrs. George Clark had charge in the absence of our leader, Rosalind Mentzer. We had relay races and sang. Our shrieks filled the air with a deafening roar over the excitement of the races. Also we talked over important questions such as: should we get the Girl Scout Uniforms? What plans shall we make for the White Elephant Sale. Well, the plans were made but we were to think over the uniform question.

We wish to thank everyone for their patronage and contributions at and to our White Elephant Sale. The money will go to our Girl Scout organization here and we sure can make use of it! In fact, plans are made to use some of the sale money to buy belts and ties for Scout uniforms. We did exceedingly well on our sale and permanent wave, thanks to all of you! Also we thank Mrs. Babcock for her cooperation and kindness in giving us the permanent wave.

Here is news, which is dear to all of us girls. Have you guessed it? It's just this. We are going to get Girl Scout uniforms! We are going to buy the material and make our suits. We want to get them finished sometime during the last of January because we want to wear them to our Court of Awards, where we will receive our second class and proficiency badges.

At the last meeting some long delayed signalling, knots and compass work was passed. Isn't it funny how people will just naturally put everything off till the last? (Don't laugh we all do it.)

Some of the girls are ready for second class badges now, but they will be awarded in January at a big meeting which we hope you all will plan to attend.

Listen, folks, if you hear a mysterious noise next Saturday night, listen for no matter how odd it sounds it will probably be the Girl Scouts out caroling. So be looking for us!

At the next meeting we are planning a Christmas program to forget the lingering memory of exams!

CHRISTMAS TIES

"So Bob invented a Christmas tie that is making millions?"
"Yes. One side is for the wife's taste and the other for the husband's."

Biblical Dates

Although students of biblical chronology have gone far toward determining the actual date of Good Friday, it is unlikely that the real date of the original Christmas day will ever be determined. We may be reasonably certain, however, says Tit-Bits Magazine, that it was not December 25, since that date occurs at the height of the rainy Judean season, when shepherds would certainly not be watching their flocks by night. In the early days of Christianity the feast was kept up at various dates in January, April and May, and it was not until the Fifth century that December 25 was agreed upon, probably from a desire to supplant the Saturnalia, from which pagan festival, however, several of our Christmas customs originated.

Christmas Boxes

Christmas "boxes" got the name from the earthen (pottery) boxes in which apprentices collected largesse at Christmas from their masters' customers.

Santa Limits Himself

Santa Claus limits himself to simple benevolences. He cannot be expected to make an especial favorite of the police and provide solutions for all the mysteries.

Spain's Christmas Flowers

Scarlet geranium and heliotrope answer in southern Spain the purpose of Christmas holly and mistletoe.

"Carol" From Latin Words

"Carol" is from two Latin words—cantare, to sing, and rola, an interjection of joy.

Carols Add Beauty

Christmas carols will, of course, add beauty to the holiday season. Also they will bring about an increase in communal singing.

Weather Not Too Bad to Deliver Yule Presents

TOMMY earned twenty-five cents a week bringing the mail a mile up the hilly road to people who lived that far from the post office. He came in all weather, winter and summer. On cold days of sleet and snow, he wore a man's sou'wester and oilskins, also rubber boots. Under the broad brim, his face always smiled; he never seemed tired, and no matter how severe the weather, would always reply, "Oh, not too bad!" when you asked him about it.

Toward Christmas the mail became very heavy. Tommy puffed and struggled up the hills, sometimes staggering in after eight o'clock in the evening.

On Christmas Eve it grew to be half-past eight, then nine, then half-past. No Tommy. People waited for him, peering out of frosty windows. The weather was bitter cold. At last there was the familiar tramping on the kitchen steps. The door burst open—and in fell Tommy completely buried in bundles. They picked him up and saw that he had a bad bruise on one cheek.

"What was the matter?" they asked. "Oh, I had a lot of bundles and a wooden box," grinned the boy. "When I came to Candy hill it was right slippery. So, I hauled all them packages aboard the wooden box, got onto 'er, and slid to the bottom. I capsized there and kind of hurt myself."

The family gave him hot chocolate and a present. Then in a sort of affectionate amusement, they asked the same old question. "How was the weather, Tommy?"

"Oh, not too bad!" smiled the boy. "You get a dollar this week," said the head of the family, "for being the best sport in the county, and for doing your job without complaints. Here's to a regular feller!"

"How's that?" grinned one of the others.

"Not too bad," smiled Tommy, completely bowled over.—Wilbur Earfon.

Christmas Is the Time for Reverent Gratitude

IT SOMETIMES happens that, like a bolt from the blue, one is struck by the Wonder of the Commonplace. Things you have accepted for years; sights you have looked at with blind eyes become, all in a moment, revealed to you in a new light.

The sun comes up in the east every morning and goes down in the west. For how many thousand years we do not know, let the scientists calculate as they will. It is the giver and preserver of life. It drags from dried, unlovely seeds, the miracle of living green, the color of flowers, the fragrance of lilies. It passes over the earth touching Athens . . . Africa's hidden jungles . . . It warms for a space the bleak shores of Labrador, it kindles the peaks of the Rockies, and stares down into the awful craters of volcanoes. Behind the gray of winter, the snows of December, it travels its unvarying course.

Yet this Indescribable wonder we can see plainly with our eyes. We know its very shape as it goes down in the west . . . it is a ball of fire, a balloon of light, a golden platter. Considering the power and glory of its passage . . . Is it not a miracle that we, with infinite vision, may look at it?

Other matters may be hid, but the sun we see, and feel, and live by . . . millions and millions of people from Rangoon to New York, from Capetown to Spitzbergen, depend on it with careless assurance, to keep its course, and to save the world from darkness and death.

Is it not a gift worth your humble and reverent gratitude at this season?
—Martha Banning Thomas.

Christmas Roses Aplenty on Charmayne's Costume

CHARMAYNE ELBERINK, the most popular girl in town, had just received an invitation to the annual Christmas ball and her parents, opposed to dancing, had refused to allow her to accept.

Several weeks elapsed and Christmas Eve, the night of the ball, arrived. Charmayne had just turned on the switch which illuminated the beautiful Christmas tree in the living room when a huge purple box was delivered.

Filled with excitement and expectation, she untied the gorgeous satin bow and out bulged a mass of rich red roses, their perfume almost snatching her breath away. A card was attached. She was afraid to look at it! What if it were not for her? She did look, however, and read these words: "Roses Bring Dreams of You."

Overcome with inspiration, she fancied she was to attend the ball. Bearing the roses, she rushed to her room above. "What could she wear?" Her mother's white satin wedding gown, came the reply.

The next moment she had it on and was trimming it with red roses. Roses everywhere! On her dress, in her hair, and even upon her slippers.

Father and mother almost collapsed when they saw her. Had Charmayne suddenly gone mad? Where had the roses come from in the middle of winter?

Before they could recover sufficiently to make any inquiries, the doorbell rang and the next moment their daughter was crushed—roses and all—in the arms of the smiling Chester Graham, who shouted, "Merry Christmas! We're off for the ball."—Alice B. Palmer.

QUEER CUSTOM

IN HEREFORDSHIRE, England, a queer custom was formerly observed. On Christmas Eve the farmer's servants procured a large cake, stuck a pole through it and then fastened it on the horn of an ox, repeating at the same time a certain formula to the effect that their master might have a good crop of corn. The men and boys then collected around the ox; when, if it happened to throw the cake behind, it belonged to the men; if before, to the boys.

Desperate Remedy

In his announcement on a Sunday morning, the vicar regretted that money was not coming in fast enough, but he was no pessimist.

"We have tried," he said, "to raise the necessary money in the usual manner. We have tried honestly. Now we are going to see what a Christmas bazaar can do."—Country Home.

CHRISTMAS TREES

THE ever-spreading interest in the idea of the living Christmas tree and the growing use for them for outdoor decorations at the holidays is to be applauded. Communities have competed with one another in this matter of decorated trees and we are all the gainers thereby. It is a genial spirit that prompts people to share their holiday spirit with the world that passes by.

The Yule-Log With Their Initials, in the Grate

JACK BARTON was helping unload the Yule log when he noticed the carved initials "DL-JB" and the surrounding heart. With a shock it brought back memories of the day, so long ago, when he and Dora had picked in the woods, and he had carved those letters there.

The lighting of the Yule log was an impressive part of the little town's Christmas Eve celebration. As the flames caught it up, Jack watched Dora there across the hall. He wondered whether she had noticed the initials. And then he saw her brush her hand across her eyes, and suddenly leave the room.

Everyone else was too engrossed in the festivities to notice, and presently he, too, stole out.

He found Dora in a parked sedan, sobbing. Gently he opened the door and came in beside her. She sat up hurriedly and dried her eyes.

"Did you see it, too?" he asked.

"Yes," Dora answered. "I suppose I'm silly, but it seemed as if all the past was burning there."

"By jove," said Jack, "that is a thought."

"What?"

"All the past did burn there, Dora. There were some jolly times, but there were a lot of misunderstandings, too. Let's carve our initials on another tree, and start all over again."—Helen Galsford.

All Like Hymn-Tunes at Glorious Christmas Time

"THIS Christmas stuff gets my goat," growled a man in a fishing dory coming home. "All I git out of it is heavy weather, a poor catch, and little money. I don't want to hear no more about it. I'm a-goin' to treat Christmas like any other day. I'm a-goin' out to look at my traps and not act so foolish as other folks."

"That so?" replied his companion. Ice lay on the spray-hood. Sleet and cold water sloshed around in the boat-bottom. The shore looked dark and uninviting. "Maybe you'll change your mind after you've had a good hot mug-up. Guess you're hungry."

The boat went on through the black water. Now a sudden brightness showed on the road high above them, several of them, bobbed in a group. And the wind brought the voices of people singing. Down on the dark water the music drifted—clear, sweet, almost unearthly. "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem."

"Kind of nice," growled out the man who was fed up on Christmas. "Kind of cheers a feller along. I always was mighty fond of that there tune."

The music ceased. The water seemed blacker, colder than ever. "Wish they'd tune up again . . . at Christmas a man likes music, those hymn-tunes . . . well, a feller'd miss 'em, I reckon."

His companion laughed. "You bark awful fierce, don't you? But when it comes right down to it, one little tune sets you all straight with Christmas spirit. You don't hate Christmas. You're just hungry."

Again the music lifted on the night air and floated down to them. "Nothin' like 'em . . . nothin' in all the world like Christmas music to put heart into a feller."

The dory slid into the slip. And two cold fishermen climbed wearily home, the echo of music ringing in their ears.—Martha Banning Thomas.

Christmas Experience, Helping to Play Santa

IT WAS Christmas Eve. The fast express was roaring through the night. In the smoker, half a dozen of us were talking, telling Christmas experiences we had known.

"The strangest Christmas I ever spent," I began, when it came my turn, "was about fifteen years ago. I was obliged to stop over in a small western town, and felt a bit sorry for myself. I was convinced Christmas was going to be a pretty dull affair."

"I think it was along about this time on Christmas Eve, while I was sitting in the hotel room, that someone tapped lightly on my door. Opening it, I beheld a stranger standing there."

"May I come in a minute?" he asked.

"Why certainly," I replied, as I swung the door wider. "I'll be mighty glad of your company."

"The man fidgeted quite a bit before he spoke."

"I'm going to make a very strange request," he faltered; "I'm going to ask you, a stranger, to help me play Santa Claus. Years ago, in the transfer of a mining claim, I cheated a man . . . His family are now in need, and I want to do something. The thing has been driving me almost crazy."

"I don't want anyone in town to know about it, that's why I'm calling upon a stranger. It must all be done through you."

"That Christmas I spent $1,000 on a family I had never seen before, binding them to secrecy, and giving the excuse of being an eccentric millionaire who wanted to make a merry Christmas for some one."—Katherine Edelman.

Long Airplane Trip Got Him Home for Christmas

AS I peered through the lighted window into the living room, I saw dad and mother sitting by the fire. They looked pretty lonely. I thought, and I wondered if they were thinking of me—wondering how their son was faring in far-off South America.

I was doubly glad now that I had made such a special effort to come for Christmas. I felt more than repaid for the long, hard journey.

Using the old, boyish signal of earlier years, I tapped lightly on the door. Mother and dad rushed to meet me.

"Roger," the two of them cried, speaking in one breath. "How—how did you get here? You were in Brazil when you last wrote."

"Well, I was there a few days ago, when I mailed that Christmas letter. But after I dropped it in the box, I got such a longing to see you both. And I thought you'd like to see me, too," I added, placing an arm around mother's shoulder.

"Why—why—it's just heaven to have you here, Roger. But tell us how you made it?"

"I found that by taking a plane I could get here on Christmas Eve, so I came. I've only got two days to stay, but we'll make the most of them."

"You bet we will!" Dad interrupted, as he placed another log upon the hearth. "We're going to have one wonderful Christmas. Mother and myself will go the limit to show our appreciation of the long trip you made to spend Christmas with two old folks like us."—Katherine Edelman.

Get Profitable Production FROM YOUR FLOCK

Murphy's Vig-O-Ray Egg Laying Mash contains everything your birds need to maintain health and weight and to produce lots of eggs. Vig-O-Ray Mash makes your hens lay because it supplies all the proteins, both animal and vegetable, together with minerals and vitamins that are so absolutely necessary for egg production.

Vig-O-Ray maintains healthy, vigorous flocks that lay day in and day out, month after month with no breakdowns in February or March as so often happens in high producing flocks.

No matter what feed you are using now—you will save money on your feed and make more money out of your poultry and eggs when you feed Murphy's Vig-O-Ray. It makes your hens pay you a good profit all the year around.

FRESHMEN NEWS

The Freshmen spent Wednesday evening enjoying a party as the guests of the Sophomores. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served which pleased all of the Freshmen.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

Freshmen Entertained by Sophomores

The members of the Freshmen class were entertained at a party Wednesday evening December 13 in the cafeteria room. Everyone present enjoyed themselves with contests and playing Hiram & Mirandy. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served at an early hour. There was a large attendance. The Sophomores regret that the party had to break up so soon due to the unusual amount of noise and excitement displayed by both classes.

JUNIOR CLASS NEWS

The Seniors gave an oyster supper in our honor, which we all greatly enjoyed. The oysters cooked by Chef Kelley were delicious! Also the cheese sandwiches were fine! We participated in a very thrilling relay race, it was great fun to watch the various gymnastics caused by trying to get into those overalls and dresses. The games were all very interesting, and we Juniors wish to thank you Seniors for the pleasant evening we all enjoyed.

If Mr. Mervel Smith was asked about what he thought of the Juniors he would declare up and down that they were absolutely prejudiced in politics! and that there is no hope for us (a least a few of us). Now we wonder why he would get such an idea? Honestly, we are deeply grieved, that our teachers think such things about us gently, kindly creatures!

If you do something unlawful, folks, just clasp your hands in front of you, as Mr. Smith does, and it will be all right because clasped hands make you pious.

Bring your troubles and complaints to Dr. Songer and his associates in the High School Health class and after a short conference we will give our prescription. Don't be frightened for we can not any more than kill you!

Those exams! Those dear, unbeloved exams! We are preparing for them, and what a job. In Algebra we only have to get 100 problems in Literature we only have to understand the story of King Arther and His Knights of the Round Table, and a little about verbs, nouns and all In Health we only have to be able to trace a drop of blood all over the body. In typing we only have to name the parts of our machine (and if we forget the names of those parts we might decide we have no machine at all). And, well, we just have to do a little bit of everything on our exams to please these tyrannical teachers.

Did you know that at one time (in past history) our Honorable Congressmen meet at Washington D. C. completely armed with guns and bowie knives? My, oh my, when congressmen become gunmen it sure is a bad example to put before the gangsters. Just ask Mr. Paul Smith how good we Juniors are at spelling. He spelt us down with six words!

SENIOR CLASS NEWS

The Seniors of Mentone High School entertained the Juniors and teachers at an oyster supper on Monday evening, December 11, at the school cafeteria. The supper was enjoyed by everyone present.

The remainder of the evening was spent in various games and contests provided by Vadis Elick and Juanita Newell. Prizes were awarded to Chauncey Emmons, Richard Greulich and Alfred Snyder.

Exams! Exams! We are all wondering how we are going to come through the first semester examinations we are to take Thursday, Dec. 21. Heres hoping we all win out.

The new and approved method of playing Cricket as they play it in England.

P. Smith: Does anybody know how they play Cricket in England.

Guy A. (volunteering to answer) They take a couple of crickets put them in a bowl and get a feather to tickle them with so that they will fight.

The Senior class is now studying Literature after completing their course in English for the first semester. Also we have shanged from the study of Citizenship to Government in Civics, which proves to be very interesting so far.
