Sews Up Gash in Heart Trying to Save Patient

Springfield, Mo.—Knifed during a brawl, Cecil Dawes was taken to a hospital here in a dying condition. All hope was abandoned for his recovery until a surgeon decided to risk the delicate task of sewing up the gash in the patient's heart covering made by the knife.

"It was a long shot, but I tried it," the physician said. "I reached down in the wound, swabbing the blood from the hemorrhage, and with two fingers felt the heart beating. Then I made two sutures."

Dawes rallied and was believed to have an even chance of recovering. The operation was performed with a local anesthetic.

"Perfect Butler" Jailed for Fraud in England

London.—England's "perfect butler," Turner, forty-three, has been sentenced to twelve months at hard labor on charges of fraud. One time butler for King Manuel and Queen Amelle, of Portugal, Turner has recently been conducting "butling" schools in London to which prospective butlers, footmen and valet came to be trained. The fraud charges arose from the misapplication of approximately $700 entrusted to Turner by his "pupils."

Youth 10, Hits Sawdust Trail With Lion Troupe

Brownsville, Texas.—Manuel King, ten, believed to be the youngest lion tamer in the world, has left with his lions, bound for the sawdust trail.

The youthful lion tamer will appear at the Iowa state fair, and then will travel extensively before he comes back to Texas to appear at the Texas state fair at Dallas this fall.

Manuel was accompanied by his father, W. A. (Snake) King, International all known wild-animal dealer. The "troupe of lions numbers ten.

Manity Brings Arrest of Alleged Coat Thief

Boston.—John H. McDonald might have escaped arrest if he had been less vain. Police captured him when he was found in front of a broken show window of a clothing store. He allegedly was trying on a coat to be sure it fitted properly.

Unbelievable Yet It's True

Proof That California Redwood is The Most Durable Timber Known

Read the advertisement of the Redwood Sales Company of San Francisco, California, on page 3 of this issue. It contains some very important facts in relation to the lasting qualities of Redwood and will be of interest to all who contemplate buying lumber. To be sure there is a difference in Redwood same as in all other timber, and in order that you may get the best you should insist on getting "Sequoia Brand" the grade that is sold at the Co-Op. Mill.

Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Snyder were in Indianapolis Friday in the interest of the Snyder Furniture Store.

Lions Vaudeville Great Success

The Lions vaudeville entertainment at the Community Building on last Saturday night was a huge success, the receipts of the evening being nearly $100. It was a very enjoyable affair for all who attended.

Visits In Fort Wayne

Mr. and Mrs. Rea H. Ward visited Grandmother Sell in Fort Wayne on her birthday Nov. 9. They report her as feeling well but seeming quite feeble. She was 86 years old. Following is some word Mrs. Sell sent back with them.

In this way I want to express my sincere thanks to my dear neighbors and friends for the shower of beautiful greetings for my birthday. I was surely delighted and so pleased to be remembered. Mrs. Martha A. Sell 514 W. Wayne St., Fort Wayne, Indiana.

FLAPPER OUTMODED BY FASHION WAVES

Farewell to the flapper. Her dizzy days are over. Comely she was, and full of pep. But she knew little or nothing about brakes, and she has skidded out of sight, according to Dr. Ernest L. Talbert, psychologist at the University of Cincinnati. In fact, the little miss is so far outmoded that one might almost expect a return of the staid days when the McGuffey readers were the standard literature of the family, says the Literary Digest.

Doctor Talbert based his studies on the character of magazines over the years since the flapper walked on the stage and took her last cue. "Several recent studies of American life from 1890 on show startling changes," he reported to a discussion group at Cincinnati. "A statistical investigation of articles printed in periodicals reveals a preoccupation with the changing conditions surrounding the family, with divorce, birth control, and sex morals. Approval of more modern habits show an upward curve from 1922 to 1929. "Since then comes a drop. A more conservative tone appears. The reign of the flapper is over. Periodicals of wide circulation are more conventional and severe in their professed code than the intellectual organs and women's magazines."

Saved Vienna From Turks

John III, king of Poland, many years ago saved Vienna from the Turks under the command of the Grand Visier Kara Mustapha and thus stemmed the tide of the Moslem onslaught on European civilization.

Suppressing Emotions

All tests of emotions indicate that more women than men suppress their emotions, although, as in all traits you find some women who are bubbling over with expressiveness, especially sorrowful emotions, declares a writer in the Detroit News. Some women are only happy when they are letting off steam about their own troubles. Some men, too. Curiously enough actresses—the one profession in which women have equaled and probably surpassed men—while expressing a thousand emotions of others are themselves usually rather introverted.

Clothing Absorbs Sound

Government tests have shown that actors or speakers in a hall should speak louder in cold weather, because the heavy clothing of the audience absorbs more sound.

Birthday Surprise

On November 25 at north Franklin Street Mentone, Indiana James Welch celebrated his 75th birthday with a well planned surprise by his wife and family.

At the noon hour a very delicious "Pot Luck" dinner with turkey and everything good to eat, were served.

Those who helped Mr. Welch celebrate birthday were his brother John Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Oral Welch near Etna Green, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Welch, Elkhart, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson of Fort Wayne, Mrs. Mary Gump of Churubusco, Indiana, Mr. Carl Johnson and daughters, Jo Ann and Mary Lou of Churubusco, Mr. and Mrs. George Borton and sons Larry Jarvis and Ellis Linn, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Blue and daughter, Mary Jacqueline, Mrs. Ida Clark, Miss Charlene Latham, Mr. and Mrs. James Welch of Mentone and Mrs. Beulah Billings of Rochester, New York.

This was also a farewell party to John Welch, who left the following morning for Tularosa, New Mexico for the winter.

The oldest person present at the dinner was Mrs. Mary Gump 76 of Churubusco, the youngest person present was Mary Jacqueline Blue, age one month Mr. Welch's Great Granddaughter. One of the interesting features of this party was that there were six Mary's present, as follows Mrs. Mary Gump, Churubusco, Mary Johnson, Fort Wayne, Mary Welch, and Mary Thwaite of Etna Green, Mary Lou Johnson, Churubusco, Mary Jacqueline Blue, Mentone, Indiana.

Thanksgiving Dinner

On Thursday members of the Rush family gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rush to spend Thanksgiving. At the noon hour a bountiful turkey dinner was served with all the trimmings. The remainder of the day was spent socially. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rush, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rush and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Flew, Mr. and Mrs. Bert McKeever of Jonesboro, Mrs. Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rush and family.

Hawaii, Crossroads of the World, Has Unique Communication System

Above: The long distance switchboard, showing connections via short wave radio telephone to the islands of Hawaii, Maui, and Kauai, and to San Francisco.

Below: The recording switchboard, with clocks showing the correct time in London, Paris, New York, Chicago, Denver, San Francisco, Honolulu, Manila and Hong Kong.

Unique among telephone systems is that which serves the Hawaiian Islands. Service on the island of Oahu, on which Honolulu is located, is by wire, while the other islands in the group are readily reached by short wave radio telephone circuits. So also is San Francisco, and by this means the islands are kept in voice touch with continental United States and the fifty other countries to which Bell System circuits extend.

"Sequoia Brand"

HAS BEEN ON THE GROUND IN THIS POSITION AT LEAST 2500 YEARS

HERE IS THE PROOF OF REDWOOD DURABILITY

Centuries ago a redwood tree grew to the remarkable age of two thousand years. In a storm it fell to earth. Some years later another Redwood seedling took root in the same moss and litter accumulated on the top of this fallen log. It grew many years and encompassed the fallen tree. When this new tree reached the age of twenty-five hundred years it was harvested. This long age was scientifically determined by counting the rings of yearly growth.

But the remarkable thing is that while centuries have passed, while summers of fog and winters of rain have come and gone, while storms have raged and passed, and fires have burned and gone out, it has successfully resisted all these, as well as insect attack and decay-permitting fungi—while twenty-five centuries of history have been made, this Redwood log has lain in position, exposed to conditions most favorable to decay, and is STILL SOUND.

Ejectment Suit

On Monday November 26th, in the court of Justice of the Peace C. O. Eiler, in a suit for the possession of real estate, brought by Cloy E. Ford, et. al., against Clarence Stauder, all of Etna Green, judgment was rendered for the plaintiffs on default.

Notice of appeal and bond were filed by the defense.

Bowser & Bowser were attorneys for the plaintiffs, and the defense was represented by Lucy E. Upson.

Licensing Dogs

There are as many different forms and methods of licensing dogs throughout the world as there are countries. An investigation conducted by the Dog World reveals that in Spain the fee varies with the amount of rent one pays. Denmark charges so much as ten shillings in height of the dog, with increased fees for each additional dog possessed by the owner. In Rumania you cannot own a sporting dog unless you have a hunting license. In Germany dog license fees are collected quarterly and in England the fees are similar to those in the United States.

Liquids Found in Tombs

Bottles of liquids found in ancient tombs are not always completely dried out. A bottle of Roman wine, discovered in a 1,700-year-old grave in Germany, was still one-third liquid, and a bottle of honey, found in a 3,300-year-old tomb in Egypt, was entirely in its original liquid state. CLUB NEWS

The Mentone Home Economics Club held its Nov. meeting at the home of Lydia Sanders. Almost the entire membership responded to roll call with "Something For Which I Am Thankful."

Officers were elected for the next year as follows: Pres., Helen Weirick; Sec.-Treas., Lydia Sanders; Leaders, Vice President, Mrs. Eva Laird; Pauline Weissert and Leona Eber, with Olive Tucker as alternate leader.

Plans were made for the December meeting to be a Christmas party and family evening at the Cafeteria room in the Mentone school building, on Dec. 20, with a picnic supper followed by a short program.

Mrs. Elliot, Mrs. Kercher, Mrs. Darr and Myrtle Whetstone were guests of the club.

Riddles

The riddle is found in the Koran and several collections of riddles exist in Arabic and Persian. They were known to the ancient Egyptians, while among the Greeks they were allied with the oracular responses and, like Samson's riddle, were generally in poetical form.

MARRIED

Gordon—Eiler

Charles O. Gordon, of Rochester, and Bethel Eiler, of north of Mentone, were united in marriage by Justice of the Peace C. O. Eiler, father of the bride, at 12:00 o'clock, noon, Thursday, November 29th.

Immediately following the ceremony, a bountiful dinner was served, which had the distinction of doing honors to a huge angel-food wedding-cake, in deference to the bridal occasion and roast turkey, with the fixings, in keeping with the observance of Thanksgiving Day.

Those present were the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Gordon; Justice and Mrs. Eiler; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Eiler; Carroll Richard; Katherine, Robert and Winifred Eiler sisters and brothers of the bride; Mrs. Emma Eiler, the bride's grandmother; Donald Eiler; Miss Geraldine Loeher and Edward Smelser.

Two Sisters Have Worked Together for 41 Years

Grace Gertrude

THE WORTHINGTON SISTERS

With a combined record of 84 years of telephone service, they have worked side by side since 1893.

A record of 84 years of telephone work is enjoyed by the Misses Grace and Gertrude Worthington, sisters employed by the Southern New England Telephone Company. Even more remarkable than the length of their service is the fact that since 1893 they have worked together. They began their telephone careers as operators in Bridgeport, Conn., Grace in 1891 and Gertrude in 1893. In 1909, still working side by side, the sisters were transferred to the Westport, Conn., central office, where Grace was made chief operator and Gertrude was made supervisor. They have been employed in the same capacities since that time, although in 1927 they were again transferred, this time to Wilton, Conn., where they now occupy their respective positions.

Why Water Pipes Burst

In the case of tap water which contains dissolved air, heating the water may drive out some of the air. This has no considerable effect on the freezing point, but may make a difference in the character of the ice produced. Hot water pipes are reported to burst from freezing more often than cold water pipes. This is not because of a difference of freezing point of the water, but is probably because the water in cold water pipes contains dissolved air which separates on freezing and forms slushy ice; while when water in a hot water pipe freezes, it is more apt to become undercooled and then freeze rather suddenly, forming compact ice free from bubbles which is more apt to break a pipe.

Why Æ Is Together

It is a character in Latin and Latinized Greek words. In English words of Latin or Greek origin æ is usually reduced to e. The tendency is to reduce æ to e in all words not purely Latin or New Latin, except proper names in their original forms. In some names of changed form the æ has become permanently eliminated, as in the word Egypt. When æ represents the diphthong æ it should be distinguished from æ not a diphthong, the latter being commonly marked with a dieresis, as in the word ærial.

Why Language Is "American"

An excellent reason is because it is not spoken throughout the Americas. When the United States was colonized the language spoken here was precisely the same as the language spoken in England. Differences have developed, however, since that time which have led many students of language to come to the conclusion that the language spoken in the United States should no longer be called English, but distinguished in some way.

Why It Is Sing Sing

Sing Sing was the original name of the town in which Sing Sing prison is located, which has since been changed to Ossining. The name Sing Sing is said to have been taken from a friendly Indian, John Sing Sing, but another authority states that it is an Indian name meaning "place of a stone," and that the town was named from a creek that flowed through it.

Why They Are "Bluenoses"

The term originated from the idea that the climate of Nova Scotia is so cold that it gives the noses of the people a blue tinge.

Do not accept favors. They are like manacles on your freedom of action.

If poetry puts no images in your thought, of course you don't care for poetry.

In youth, one does not deliberate on what he wants most. Everything goes by impulse.

No one would throw it up to a fool that he is one, if he wouldn't insist that he isn't.

Philosophers are wise men, but you can't eat philosophy and frequently you can't sell it.

Some are perpetually lamenting that they "are not understood"; and some are afraid they will be.

Those who love to travel over the globe may not realize that there are millions who don't care for it.

Finding Your Other Self by Taking a Needed Rest

A successful vacation is to be had only through your finding and being another self. I won't say that it is a truer self, though that is what you will find when you find it, asserts Floyd Dell in the Cosmopolitan.

There is nothing really mystical about this other self of yours. When you were a child, you had a number of interesting possibilities in your nature, not all of which have been developed in your adult life. You have had to make choices and to leave neglected some of the more romantic sides of your nature. You have been obliged to concentrate upon your capacities for work and to cultivate in yourself the more responsible and grown-up kinds of emotion. You play now and then, but your play is thinly sandwiched in between thick slabs of duty. Even your pleasures are so regulated as to become social "duties."

Why? Because you're afraid! You're afraid if you really leave your workaday world completely behind for something beautiful and perilous, forget all about it for a week or two, you'll be so happy you'll never come back to it, and they'll put you in jail for vagrancy. You're afraid that if you actually don't think about your parents, your marital partner or your offspring for a day or two you won't be able to recall their names when it's time to go back home. You are afraid that if you stop being a responsible grown-up for a fortnight, will want to stay a child all the rest of your life. Like Peter Pan. Very well, and above all, you are afraid that if you should have a romantic encounter with an attractive stranger of the opposite sex you will run off to Minorca with him or her, and spend the rest of your time listening to the peacocks.

Coolidge's 500-Word History

Coolidge's 500-word history of the United States was not completed. It was projected to be engraved on the Mount Rushmore memorial. It was to be divided into seven parts: First, the Declaration of Independence; second, the framing of the federal government; third, the expansion of territorial dominion westward and the Louisiana purchase; fourth, the admission of the Republic of Texas; fifth, the admission of California; sixth, the settlement of the Oregon boundary question with England; and seventh, the cutting of the Panama canal.

At the time of the discovery, Zebulon Pike expressed the positive opinion that the Colorado peak named in his honor was so high that it never would be climbed. Automobiles now race to its summit over a perfect speedway.

Misunderstanding

A negro applying for aid was asked for his wife's maiden name. "I want you to understand, miss," he retorted indignantly to the case worker, "my wife never been no maid." Chicago News.

"MAKER OF GOLD," BROKEN BY JAIL, LOSES HIS VILLA

Zbiniero Dunikowski Is Still Dreaming of Making Fortunes From Sand.

Paris.—"Mon Caprice!"

The world has forgotten Zbiniero Dunikowski, his possessions and caprices.

Recently the little municipality of Cap Martin, on the Riviera, had occasion to think of the one-time internationally notorious "maker of gold."

His villa, "Mon Caprice," at Carnoles, on the cape, was sold at auction to satisfy creditors, or to be more exact, those of his wife, Caroline Wegeman. It had cost 10,000 francs in the days when Dunikowski astounded the world with his repeated assertions that he could produce gold from common or garden sand.

No ordinary fakir, Dunikowski appealed to all who met him—and this includes judges of the Paris criminal courts—as being motivated by an internal light which shone even brighter than the gold which he actually did extract from his mysterious catalizer.

Broken but Still Dreaming.

He lives now at San Remo, a broken man after some thirteen months in Paris jails, but still dreaming of making gold and still surrounded by a few disciples who do not regard him as a joke.

Dunikowski, like many another, believes he was tormented by "the interests." His invention, he claimed, was of such colossal import that the world of finance would not allow it to become a success for the fear of the effect it would have on the gold markets of the world.

The story, like many another of its kind, is simple enough. About four years ago the Polish "wizard" began negotiations with a group of capitalists for the exploitation of his gold making catalizer.

Sand Held Gold, He Asserted.

He worked on the principle that almost sand contains gold. The metal, however, takes millions of years to precipitate into minable layers, according to Dunikowski, who claimed his machine could do the work of time and produce gold at will from sand.

Experiments with a small catalizer apparently were successful, but, according to his backers, when he built a large machine for commercial purposes, the results were nil. Accordingly, they sued for their money.

Dunikowski steadfastly claimed "the interests" had caused his machine to be sabotaged. The charge of swindling, however, was actually proved, and although Dunikowski languished more than a year in jail between appearances in court, he finally was allowed to leave the country.

Mentone Community Christmas Tree

Yes there is a Santa Claus and he will appear in Mentone at the Community Christmas Tree on Saturday evening December 22, personifying the spirit of happiness and good-will which has constantly prevailed since the coming of the Christ child whose birthday we celebrate at the Christmas time. To all of the "Kiddies" who are present on this evening Good Old Santa will give—well we must wait and see—but this we know, he has never failed to make his friends happy. No one can tell what surprises he may have for the children or perhaps for some of the grown-ups. A good time for every body and the people responsible for the Mentone Community Christmas Tree Project sincerely hope that you and your friends may be present.

To Those Concerned

Many complaints have lately been registered with the proper health officers about the unsanitary condition of certain out-door toilets in this town.

Those who have toilets that are unsanitary should take advantage of the free labor that is now available and have their toilets made sanitary. In many cases a small sum for material is all that is required to reconstruct an old privy and make it sanitary so that it will pass inspection by the health officers. Those interested see or call Maurice F. Brosnahan, Pierce-ton, Indiana.

County Health Commissioner.

Girl Scout News

By Amos Skeets

Ancient News! Better it is better than non ews. We are very sorry this was not printed in the former issue of this paper, but owing to the ever-sufficient reason of forgetfulness on the part of this chap "Amos", we failed to connect! Perhaps it was the anticipation of a luxurious Thanksgiving dinner that caused this sudden lack of Scout virtues. Please forgive his inevitable delay.

The Girl Scouts attended the Methodist Church in a body, on the evening of (sometime past!). A lovely service had been planned for us with Mrs. G. C. Taylor chairman. The evening was devoted to talks on "Prominent Women" in honor of the Girl Scouts. Mrs. Stanley Boggs gave a paper on "The Life of Mary Wesley". Mrs. Wesley was the Mother of John Wesley, the founder of the Methodist Church. The story of her life is a challenge to any modern American girl to make the most of the opportunities that she has.

Mrs. Oliver Teel also gave papers on "The Lives of Florence Nightingale and Clara Barton" those famous nurses who came forward in times of greatest stress to offer their services in behalf of their country. We all remember Miss Nightingale as the first woman to offer herself for the immense task of war nursing. She was an Englishwoman of great courage, for in those days such a thing was unthought of and subject to much consideration also the task was hard, who served with her country during the Crimean war.

But in discussing this Englishwoman, let us not forget that valiant, inspiring nurse our own country produced. Clara Barton was a woman worthy of our deepest respect. She served during that gigantic upheaval of our country, the Civil War. After the war she wasn't satisfied and felt she had not completed her services for her country; so she founded that noble organization, "The Red Cross." At this service appreciation was expressed for the Scout work we had carried forward in this community. We thank you for this encouragement, though after listening to these fine talks we realize the responsibilities placed upon us but we promise to do our best. We greatly appreciate the work and thought given our entertainment. We certainly enjoyed the evening and the friendly welcome we received.

While the Church of Christ was holding revival services we attended their meeting in a body on Tuesday and received a very cordial welcome.

We have begun working on our latest project. You could never guess We are beginning on the English Country Dance group. Those quaint old-fashioned, folk dances that are never really old but always amazingly new. The picturesqueness of the oddly swaying figures! But oh, joy! Wouldn't you have gloried in seeing our first experience with the project? They began teaching us to dance by giving us lessons in skipping. Did you ever see a child that hadn't al-

"Wild as a March Hare"

Many lexicographers erroneously explain that this expression is an allusion to the antics of hares during the month of March, which is their breeding season. But for the true origin of the expression, notes G. R. Turner in Kansas City Times, we must revert to Erasmus, the great Renaissance scholar of the Sixteenth century. Erasmus frequently used the comparison "wild as a marsh hare." Once, when asked for an explanation, he wrote: "Hares are wilder in marshes because of the absence of hedges and cover." It is quite evident therefore, that "March" in this case merely a corruption of "marsh."

Lamp Approximates Daylight
Adding a minute part of rubidium, to mercury used in mercury lamps has caused the development of a lamp that approximates sunlight. The addition of the mercury spectrum to the lamp is said to have a life as long as an ordinary incandescent lamp. Rubidium costs $7 a dram, and only one five-hundredths part of the metal is used in each lamp to change the light hue from green to bluish red. Previously physicists had improved the mercury lamp by adding potassium to the mercury, but the potassium is said to disintegrate the glass bulb or tube of the lamp.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Measure Land by Meter Wheel

Accurate measurement of land is a difficult task for two men when undertaken with a tapeline but when it is done with a measuring wheel it is an easy task for one man. The wheel is constructed of ordinary building lath and is turned by a convenient handle at the hub. A small automatic counter near the hub keeps a record of the number of revolutions, thus enabling the operator to check the distance between any two points in a field.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

A New Leningrad

Plans for a new Leningrad, which will have a population of 5,000,000, are being made. The architectural planning section of the Leningrad Soviet is drawing up a scheme for re-planning the city. The new Leningrad will stretch on both sides of the Neva, from Lake Ladoga to the Gulf of Finland over a distance of 40 miles. It will include the present city and outlying suburbs.

"S O S" Bans Tune From Air

Because it contains the S O S signal—a phonograph record of "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," has been banned from all Australian broadcasting stations. When it was broadcast recently the signal was picked up by a ship and mistaken for a distress call, resulting in a general alarm among nautical men on the Tasman sea.

THIS AND THAT

Experience is the touchstone of truth.

Some of the greatest men were not "raised" at all.

No one can be orthodox in everything if he thinks.

Crooning makes money; that's about all that explains it.

It is cheaper to keep peace than it is to "make" it later.

Much peace prevails because it is too much trouble to fight.

It's strange, but true, that hot words often cause a chilly feeling.

One form of vengefulness is to spite one's dyspepsia by not eating.

Public opinion molds a man as much as experience—perhaps more.

Instruct not your friend; let him profit by your impersonal remarks.

Very few men were ever offered a job "just to see how they liked it."

Both the R and the weather seem to conspire for the return of the oyster.

A fool cannot hold his tongue; but what of that? Neither can a witty man.

Most of the theories of the here-after seem to rest on a very ardent wish.

If one is very smart, that is, "clever," the temptation to be dishonest may be greater.

No doubt college can not make a small man great, but it can make him like the things that are great.

Geniuses do not marry geniuses; for the first thing geniuses encounter among one another is antagonism.

Two Leaves in Lifetime

There is a fine of $150 for digging up the rare Tumboa plant of South west Africa, a plant which grows only two huge leaves in its lifetime.

Burma Women Independent

Women in Burma are as independent as any of their sisters in the world. When a girl marries she does not change her name, she wears no sign of marriage, such as a ring. Marriage does not confer on a husband any right to his wife's property. She keeps her own, he keeps his.

Earliest Industry in U. S.

The first industrial enterprise was a glass bottle factory erected in the Virginia colony soon after 1607. The works were about one mile from Jamestown. The second glass house was erected in 1622 for the manufacture of glass beads for trading with the Indians.

Vessels Carry Ammunition

There are in the navy two vessels especially designed for the carrying of ammunition. One is continuously engaged in transporting ammunition between the points of production, usually the eastern seaboard, to outlying ammunition depots, and, in recent years, to the fleet on the Pacific coast

Materials Used for Pipes

The principal materials used in making pipes are Algerian briar, meerschaum and amber. The selection of each of these materials requires a practiced eye. Meerschaum is a distinct material found only in Asia Minor and is dug from natural deposits. It is not petrified sea foam, as the name indicates.

Hens in Winter Quarters Need Special Care

Because the laying flock is practically in complete confinement during the fall and winter months, it is absolutely necessary that certain provisions be made for preserving the flock's health, vitality, and producing ability, according to C. S. Johnson, manager of the Poultry Department of Purina Mills.

"The hens should have a comfortable house to live in," says Johnson. "Not necessarily an expensive one but a place that is clean, dry, well insulated, free from drafts, and well ventilated. In accomplishing these features the first important step is cleanliness and sanitation. The house should be scrubbed and disinfected regularly with a Purina cre-so-fec solution as directed on the can. To avoid crowding, at least 3 1/2 to 4 square feet of floor space should be allowed per bird. Plenty of ventilation, too, is important because in a 24 hour period 200 hens will throw off 28 quarts of water in the air they breathe out, and through their droppings.

Worming is easy. See top illustration. Simply wet the tetsule, open the beak with one hand and push the tetsule down the chicken's throat with the forefinger of the other hand. Lower picture shows easy method of spraying the laying house with cre-so-fec solution.

"Roosts," Johnson says, "should be 12 to 14 inches apart, allowing 6 to 9 inches space per bird, with the perch poles running from the rear of the house toward the front, not from side to side. For proper sanitation purposes it is best to provide droppings boards, using poultry wire under the roosts and over the top of the boards. A nest for each 4 to 5 birds is recommended, if space permits. Nests for light breeds should be 12 x 12 inches and for heavy breeds 14 x 14 inches.

"A good clean litter is essential. Wheat straw, oat straw, wood shavings, or peat moss will serve the purpose. When necessary, the litter should be changed and the floor thoroughly cleaned. The house itself should be dry at all times and everything kept clean and sanitary both inside and outside the house.

"The care of the flock during these months of confinement is just as important as keeping the house in shape for the flock," says Johnson. "The owner should cull his laying stock as early in the fall as possible, replacing them with pullets. Doing this will insure a steady year-round supply of eggs. Every undersized pullet of low vitality should be sold.

Worming

"If the birds show symptoms of worms, they should be wormed before going into winter quarters and as often as indicated thereafter. Worming is easy. For large round-worms, give every bird a Purina Tetsule. Birds weighing less than 6 pounds should get a 1-c.c. tetsule each. For birds weighing more than 6 pounds, two 1-c.c. tetsules are required. To administer, simply wet each tetsule and push it down the hen's throat with the forefinger. For adult birds, all food should be withheld for 12 to 18 hours before and 2 hours after treatment—for young birds, not so long. It is recommended that all birds be wormed as often as necessary from the time they are two months old.

"To prevent damage from tapeworms, flocks should be treated with Purina Tapeworm Kernels just before the birds go into the laying house and afterwards, too, whenever tapeworm symptoms are indicated. Prior to treatment, the flock should be well fed. Try worming one or two birds a few days prior to treating the whole flock. If the effect is not satisfactory, it is advisable to call a veterinarian, as the chickens are probably troubled with some disease as well as tapeworms.

"Birds may be treated for tapeworms as often as necessary after they are three months old. When dosing for both roundworms and tapeworms, it is recommended that the tetsule be administered first, then followed three days later with the tapeworm kernel.

Guard Against Colds

"Whooping, sneezing, and watery discharges from one or both nostrils indicate colds. In treating colds, the cre-so-fec vapor method has been found an effective treatment and may be administered either by spraying or by the hot brick method. The first type of vapor treatment is administered by placing sick birds in warm, dry, well ventilated quarters and throwing a fine spray of a solution made by mixing 1/6 pint of Purina cre-so-fec in one gallon of water over the heads of the birds. Treatment should last 7 or 8 minutes for pullets and 10 to 15 minutes for mature birds. This should be done as soon as cold symptoms are detected. Repeat several times daily.

"The other vapor method for treating colds is to heat a couple of bricks until they are very hot. Set these bricks in a metal container and place in the brooder house. Pour a liberal quantity of cre-so-fec right on top of the bricks. Close up the brooder house tightly and let the vapor permeate the interior for fifteen minutes. Then open up the out the smudge pot, and air the buildings. Do this every day if necessary.

"This procedure will be found helpful in keeping the house fit for the flock, and the flock in good shape during the long confinement. Pullets may be moved into the laying house when the first eggs are found. This should be done at night and the birds handled gently in order that they will not be disturbed any more than is absolutely necessary. If possible, the pullets should be placed in a separate compartment of the house from the old stock and a gradual change affected from the growing to the laying ration."

CAMPING ORIGINALLY RELIGIOUS PRACTICE

Camping, as an American practice, originated in the Eighteenth century for a different purpose than did the contemporary outdoor recreation. Says the Tulsa World. In the early days "camp meetings" were religious festivals which all the neighborhood families attended. Then there were few churches and communities, so a certain spot would be appointed for services at a specified time of year. All the farmers from miles around would participate in the three or four days services, and during this time the families would lodge near by in tents or shacks. Their purpose was to establish a temporary community.

In 1835 churches were well established in all organized communities, and pioneering in the United States was virtually ended. People became weary of the city, especially the youths, so a New York business man conceived the idea of establishing a camp. From the first year of operation, which included six boys, to the present date, the total number in all camps has swelled to over 2,000,000. Older people became interested in this back-to-nature movement, till 10 per cent of all the population shares in this recreation.

Source of Fairy Stones

The staurolites, better known as fairy stones, are found in a field about 50 acres on top of Bull Mountain, Patrick county, Virginia. They are twinned staurolite crystals, simulating the Roman, Maltese and St. Andrew's crosses. The original staurolite mineral has changed to a compact, softer material, so that the stones can readily be prepared for the jewelry trade.

Developing Into a Personality

In the main there are two ways in which the mere person develops into a personality. The one is by some isolated trait of character, or some remarkable gift that distinguishes him from his fellow men. The other is by an unusual continuity and concentration through which again his life becomes something distinctive.—Kansas City Star

CREIGHTON BROTHERS

BREEDERS OF WHITE LEGHORNS

The time of year is here again when we begin to think about starting another crop of chicks.

We think we are offering to the public something better this year than we have ever had before. Our pedigree work and all of the trapnesting that we are doing on our farm are bearing fruit. Our customers are getting better production than ever before. We are getting more eggs on our farm than in any year previous. Early hatched pullets—February and March hatched—are still laying over 60% and have been in heavy production since last July and August. They have been bred to lay in the fall and not to molt.

As a proof of the things we claim for our Leghorns we call to your attention the performance of our birds in the past.

They won BOTH EGG LAYING CONTESTS AT CENTURY OF PROGRESS. We had the GRAND PEN and the HIGHEST HEN IN THE ENGLAND. Needless to say we are proud of these cups.

We had the highest Leghorn hen in the International Laying Contest held at Michigan State University the year ending Oct. 31, 1934. Winner decided which take into consideration both number and and the HIGHEST PEN AND THE HIGHEST FLORIDA NATIONAL EGG LAYING CONTEST.

TEST FOR OCT. 1934 and the SECOND HIGH PEN IN THE MICHIGAN CONTEST FOR THE SAME MONTH. For the same month we had the SECOND HIGH LEGHORN HEN IN THE UNITED STATES covering all standard contests.

We think that this evidence is sufficient proof that our Leghorns are about as good as any. These records are all official. Their accuracy is unquestionable.

We are getting inquiries and orders from Texas to Massachusetts. We are more interested in orders from our home locality. Our price this year is 12 cents on chicks for delivery in February, March and April. We are making a discount of one cent a chick to all who order their chicks by January 1, 1935. We are not advertising this discount in any other publication. It is offered primarily to take care of our home trade. This will make the net cost to you eleven cents a chick if the order is in by the first of the year. We require no deposit on orders from the folks with whom we have done business, or people who we know.

We sincerely thank all our customers and friends for their business in former years, and want you to come over and see us any time. We have expanded our operation considerably in the last year, and think we are better prepared to take care of your business. We have doubled the size of our hatchery. We are offering pullet chicks, 90% accuracy guaranteed. We have doubled our incubator capacity and can take care of your business in fine shape.

Infant Daughter Dies

Carol Joan, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Graffis, died at the Woodlawn hospital at Rochester on November 28 following an abdominal operation.

She was born on November 22 and was taken to the hospital on Tuesday 27th.

Funeral services were conducted at the Graffis home on Thanksgiving afternoon. Rev. Russel Stout of Akron conducted the service and burial was made in the Eil River cemetery east of Silver Lake.

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Graffis of Rochester and Mr. and Mrs. George Deaton of North Manchester.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our gratitude for the words of sympathy, the kindness and help given us in the passing of our baby Carol, Joan.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Graffis.

NEW BOOK ON DAIRY PROFITS

So that all may have access to the latest dairy developments there has been published an authoritative, well-timed bulletin "Profitable Cows" by Purina Mills. Here is presented a practical and helpful plan for cutting cow costs and building the dairy herd to a more profitable basis of production, through the proper handling of the cows during the dry, freshening, and milking periods. The methods described are practical ones which create in every cow the correct condition for her to do her best work all the year around. They give her the reserve and resistance to ward off dangerous inside tear-down which leads to disease.

Copies of the booklet "Profitable Cows" may be had free by writing to Purina Mills, Educational Division, St. Louis, Mo.
