Location of Camelot

In the Arthurian legends Camelot was the city where King Arthur's palace with the Round Table was located. Tennyson, in "The Coming of Arthur," describes the city and mentions it in others of the "Idylls of the King" and in "The Lady of Shalott." It is also referred to by Shakespeare in "King Lear." The site of Camelot has been much in dispute; Shakespeare supposed it to be in Somersetshire; Tennyson and Capell located it in or near Winchester, and Caxton placed it in Wales. The monks of Glastonbury were chiefly responsible for the Somerset theory, which they maintained for the purpose of attracting pilgrims.

TOYS CHILDREN LIKE

A COMPREHENSIVE survey leads to the conclusion that building blocks are the favorite toy for children up to the age of seven. Drawing and painting materials rank high. With little girls, dolls and housekeeping equipment are favorites. Sand and clay for modeling retain the interest of most children. Mechanical toys, on the other hand, are soon discarded. Adults usually enjoy the mechanical toys more than the children for whom they are purchased.

Tabby Brought Kittens
Into Christmas Manger

THE celebration with the Christmas tree that touched the ceiling and had a manger beneath it, was over, and a row of little stockings were hanging for Santa Claus. Mother had just tucked the happy children into bed and by the soft glow of the nursery Christmas tree was singing Christmas carols to them.

Father was about to turn off the lights below and lock the door for the evening when he heard a faint "meow" from the cold darkness without. Upon opening the door he saw a forlorn, bedraggled tabby cat almost frozen in the Christmas snow.

"Why, you poor creature," spoke father tenderly, "come in this very minute!" For some moments father was busy making tabby comfortable. He found some milk which he warmed, and plenty of holiday food. He served kitty with generous portions of Christmas repast and then provided a soft bed in the corner, with a cushion from his own easy chair. Tabby showed her appreciation by purring and purring louder than father had ever heard a cat purr before.

Satisfied and delighted with his Christmas guest, father retired, grinning and wondering what the family would say in the morning.

Christmas morning the happy family entered the living room—the children rushing ahead, bearing their bulging stockings and shouting with laughter. "Oh, look at the manger!" cried mother with surprise.

"Merry Christmas!" retorted father, trying to keep from bursting out laughing.

Tabby had selected the soft straw of the manger as a fitting birthplace for her litter of Christmas kittens.—Alice B. Palmer.

JAMAICA STIRRED BY GANG MURDERS, AMERICAN STYLE

One of Two Victims in Sensational Crime Linked to Old Capone Mob.

Kingston, Jamaica, B. W. I.—American big-time gangsterism and the much-criticized American parole system figure in the most sensational double murder in this island's history, for which two Cuban drug traders are now in Spauldingtown prison awaiting the gallows.

The trial established a definite link between one of the victims and the old Capone gang. After the verdict, it was disclosed that one of the condemned men was wanted in California for violation of parole.

Jamaica was stirred by the crime to a degree which no tourist failed to notice. Courtroom crowds were large and tense; men and women brought their lunches and were loath to surrender their seats even for a minute.

Call It "Murder Day."

The local press, which is another way of describing the Daily Gleaner, devoted full pages to the testimony and referred back to the occurrence of the crime as "Murder Day."

The murders were discovered on February 1 in a dwelling at 16 South Camp road. "Bound! Gagged! And Their Hearts Cut to Ribbons!" roared the local headlines.

The victims were Aurelio Pollan, understood to be a Havana merchant, and Francisco Gomez, his valet. It developed at once that Pollan had cashed drafts for $2,500 two days before his death, presumably to buy cattle.

On February 11 it was announced that two suspects, Alfonso Roubal and Serafin Diaz, were being detained in San Juan, Puerto Rico. They had left Jamaica as stowaways on the liner Colombia and had reached Puerto Rico via Haiti. "Drug trafficking" was mentioned for the first time in connection with the murders.

One of Capone Gang.

The Jamaican government applied to Washington for extradition papers and the permit reached San Juan on March 25. The prisoners were flown to Kingston, where overflow crowds attended preliminary hearings. The trial opened on June 4.

It was declared by the defense that Gomez "had been connected with the notorious Al Capone gang in America."

The jury got the case on June 22 and in 43 minutes returned a verdict of guilty. It was a popular decision.

Following the convictions, it was made known that Diaz had been wanted in Cuba and that Roubal, paroled from San Quentin after arrest in May, 1931, had been re-arrested for burglary during the first year and escaped by jumping ball.

Stray Cat Opens Heart of People of Chicago

Chicago.—Chicagoans may not have hearts of gold, exactly, but they don't go around stealing people's cats.

This fundamental principle was demonstrated recently with vigor as the harried editor of the Views on Many Topics department wiped his fevered brow and made notes on 256 telephone calls.

"An Old Couple" reported to the editor that their small cat—gray with a white breast—had been stolen from their back yard. As a cat this one didn't amount to much, but as a playmate for their dog and as a source of amusement it was a cherished possession. Hence the pathetic letter which ended:

"Maybe our cat has got a home and maybe he travels the alleys nearly starved to death."

The next day Chicago, stung by the suggestion that there is no heart in the great city, responded as always—fully—generously. All of the 256 telephoners explained that the cat had merely strayed. He has 256 homes. And if the "Old Couple" will send an address he will be returned—all 256 of him—promptly.

Diamond Field Fortune Is Chasing After Heirs

New York.—Seventeen million dollars, begging for heirs!

That's the strange story of a fortune that sprang from the diamond fields of South Africa.

For six years the seventeen million dollars have been chasing after the heirs, constantly bombarding them—and constantly being repulsed.

It is the fortune of Harry Lozack, who left Poland 20 years ago for the diamond fields.

Among those who rightfully should share in it, it was learned, are six Montreal families, and Abraham Starr, East Side New York foundry worker. But Starr, whose share is $1,000,000, is not much interested. Says he:

"I'll give it to my wife."

And Mrs. Leah Starr says:

"I'll give it to my children and my poor friends. I've been poor so long that I couldn't get used to that much money."

Mother's Night, Ancient

English Christmas Name

THE oldest English name for Christmas is Moddra Night, or Mothers' Night. In the early days, when our Saxon forefathers had just settled down in the country that was to be England, the day of December 25th was given up to games and feasting, but the night was dedicated to the special honor of mothers. They occupied the seats of honor, and everyone brought them gifts. Sons and daughters who had gone out into the world strove to be at home on that one night in the year.

A little later the name Yule was given to Christmas, and the rejoicings of the day were prolonged into night, when men sang and told stories sitting round the cheerful blaze of the Yule log.

The old customs of Mothers' Night gradually died out, though they still survive in a few parts of the country. Its place has been taken to some extent by Mothering Sunday in the North of England. On that day everyone who can do so still makes a pilgrimage homewards, and the mother receives the homage of her family.—London Bits Magazine.

THE DAYS BEFORE

"What nice manners the polite little Thompson boys have!"
"Yes. They are always like that just before Christmas."

Proper Size for Toy Blocks

Four inches long by two inches square is a good size for children's building blocks, according to educational experts. These can be made at home by cutting them from a 2 by 2 planed joist, sandpapering the edges and corners to a slight roundness, and painting them in bright colors. Old, worn blocks can be given a new lease on life by enameling them in gay hues.

Shakespeare and Christmas

Christmas is mentioned but twice by Shakespeare and then incidentally. Yuletide was, however, an important time in his life, because it was then that his plays were produced by command at the courts of Queen Elizabeth and James I, with Shakespeare in the casts.

COLLECT 500 DOOR KNOBS FOR MOVIES

Nobody notices them in particular, yet they come within the touch of every person several times during the day. There is a moving picture studio, however, that has 500 varieties of this common yet seemingly unnoticed object. The collection represents a tour of the entire world and two years' time. There are knobs from China, Italy, Russia, France, England, Germany, Sweden and other nations. Many of them are said to be priceless and the envy of museums.

Every type of door knob in use in America is represented. Where it has been impossible to acquire the official door lever of a country a replica has been manufactured. The assortment is valued at several hundred dollars.

These door knobs are used in nearly every motion picture produced. Films bearing on historic drama require door fixtures of the period represented. It would appear odd if the bedroom door of Louis XIV was adorned with a porcelain bulb.

BLIND HUSBANDS GUIDED BY WIVES

A two-hour journey from Belgrade reveals one of the strangest villages in the world, where all the husbands are blind and the work of the colony is directed by the wives who see.

The town of Vetrenik is the first blind war veterans' colony in Yugoslavia, the first in a program of land settlements for the blind undertaken by the government.

The government institute for the blind arranged many marriages for unmarried blind veterans and aids the couples in the settlement at Vetrenik. The men are employed in useful crafts and the household work and operation of the colony are managed by the wives.

Brick-Red Mice Wanted

Along with the craze for pet mice in England is the demand for the tiny rodents in unusual colors. They may be had in blue, black, white, brown and tortoise shell, but breeders are trying to meet a demand for brick-red pets. When a man in Camden Town recently advertised for 10,000 tame mice, he received more than 1,000 at once, consignments coming from all parts of the country. He said he could sell 5,000 of the pets every week.

May Salvage Much Wealth

Lying on the bottom of the world's 50-odd seas today are 7,000 ships that contain several hundred million dollars' worth of gold and other valuable cargo. And three-quarters of them can now be salvaged through recently perfected detecting and diving devices. In fact salvage work has become so simplified that it even pays now to go down for loads of copper in 5,000-ton "tramps" in the North sea.—Collier's Weekly.

Autos Drive Ferry

Power to propel one German ferry is supplied by each auto or truck it transports across the river. The rear wheels of the auto turn rollers that drive paddles, thus propelling the ferry to the opposite side of the stream. The ferry has no motor or other means of operation, so its owner spends nothing on gasoline or fuel oil. It is in service at Utting, Bavaria, Germany.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

New Island Industries

A survey which indicates the possibility of development of $22,500,000 worth of new island industries has been made by the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce. Among the industries revival of which is sought is that of taro production. Taro is rich in food value and from it is made poi, the old Hawaiian "staff of life," universally used prior to Hawaii's annexation to the United States in 1898.

"X" Marked Danger Spots

A business man, who enjoyed spending "a night out with the boys" now and then, had a friend to stay with him for the week-end. When the guest was being shown up to his room he noticed that there were faint crosses on several of the steps. He asked the reason. "Ah," whispered the host, "these come into operation after midnight. X means that the step creaks."—Capper's Weekly.

Horse Helps Own Memorial

The memory of Brown Jack, one of the greatest race horses known in England, is to be perpetuated, and the horse is helping the plan. During the recent International Horse show at Olympia Brown Jack was placed on exhibition. There was no charge to see him, but there was a collection box and the proceeds were sufficient to start a fund to endow a "Brown Jack bed" in a hospital.

Dene Hole Proves Mystery

What or why is a dene hole? That is what scientists of England are asking following the discovery recently of one in a field near Sandwich. It is 30 feet deep, and bottle-shaped, with an entrance 2½ feet in diameter. Some archeologists believe the holes were used as grain stores by the ancient Britons, while others contend they were hiding places in time of war.

The Name "Halibut"

The name "halibut" is derived from "holy," because at one time halibut was extensively used as a food on holy days.

Thanksgiving Dinner

Several members of the Bert Rush family gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rush to enjoy a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner. The men who had spent a very successful morning hunting, were quite ready for the food that awaited them. At 12:30, sharp the guests were seated at a long table, beautifully decorated in keeping with the holiday.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rush, Mrs. Rose Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rush and daughter Eleanor, Miss Ruth Rush of Kokomo, Mr. Ray Rush and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Plew and son Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Bert McKeever of Jonesboro, Indiana, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rush and daughters Jessie and Ferne.

Sorority News.

Beta Epsilon chapter of Psi Iota Xi has been very fortunate in being able to present to Dr. Wilton Leckrone, of the Woodlawn Hospital at Rochester, an Oxygenator. The grand chapter of this sorority has placed many Oxygenaires in various hospitals in Indiana and Ohio. Psi Otes have always been very active in these states doing all kinds of chairitable work.

India's Inhabitants Are Strong for Agriculture

Over 80 per cent of India's 350,000,000 inhabitants are engaged in agriculture. The industry, however, is in some ways centuries behind modern practice despite efforts made by various governmental agricultural departments. Recently demonstrations were put on in tractor plowing, according to the agricultural department of the Canadian National railways.

Plowing is generally carried on in India by means of bullocks and it is estimated one tractor will displace from eight to ten pairs of these animals. There is a great loss in India from weeds, vast tracts of land being uncultivated and undeveloped, due to the impossibility of plowing by the use of ordinary bullock methods, which turns a furrow not more than 6 or 7 inches deep. It is felt that with fewer bullocks employed room will be left for improvement in cattle stock. Canadian agricultural machinery which was used in the tests proved very successful.—New York Times.

Homemade Railway Useful

Exact copy of the real thing, a home made locomotive built at Norway, Maine, hauls passengers on an "elevated railway" laid on 4-by-6 timbers atop cedar posts. It weighs 150 pounds, carries six pounds of coal and can pull nearly a ton of cargo. Its boiler holds two gallons of water and the tender stores another two and one-half gallons. There are four driving wheels and a thumb-sized steam gauge which registers 120 pounds of steam pressure.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

CO-OP. MEETING

The Northern Indiana Co-Operative Association was pleased at the manner in which the stockholders and other gasoline users responded to the call for a meeting. This is only one of the many examples of how a few words in the Co-Op. News will bring rapid and satisfactory results.

Mr. Rush, the chairman who called the meeting introduced the president of the Northern Indiana Co-Operative Association, Mr. Hobart Wrighton, who spoke a few welcome words to the assembled crowd. He explained that Tydol gasoline and Vedol Motor Oil was not chosen by the Co-Op's because of its price or popularity, but because of its unrivaled quality they sincerely believed that Tydol and Vedol was the best possible petroleum product they could offer the people of this community.

Mr. Rush then introduced in turn Mr. Harold Weissert, driver of the Co-Op's Petroleum Products truck and Mr. Byroad, representative of P. W. Kennedy & Son Company, who installed the pumps at the Tydol filling station on East Main Street.

The stockholders and guests of the Northern Indiana Co-Operative Association were then delightfully entertained with a violin duet by Delbert Hunter and Everett Rathbone, who were accompanied at the piano by Miss Turl Kesler.

Mr. Woodward then introduced Mr. Schmidt, our territory man for Tidewater, who in turn introduced Mr. Davis a representative of the Tidewater Oil Company. He gave many interesting facts about the history of the company, one of the oldest in operation today, dating from 1878. He expounded the method of purification and displayed a bottle of Vedol, so free from wax, paraffine and other impurities that a newspaper could be read through it. This company is proud of the fact that the Graf Zeppelin has used Vedol on every one of the tours it has made throughout the world.

Mr. Schmidt then introduced Mr. Dalrymple who discussed the progress of the automobile engine in the last few years. In 1931 the Tidewater Oil Company invested in a $3,000,000 refining plant in order to meet with the requirements of the future automobile engine. He explained the technical side of Vedol, how it does much more than lubricate the valves and pistons, and how your car reacts to this new and better petroleum product.

Wishing You Health and Happiness

NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP. NEWS

Then the crowd was shown four reels of moving pictures, portraying the embryonic life of Vedol from the first plunge of the drill against the bed rock until it was shipped from the harbor in sealed cans.

Vance Johns and Elory Nellans accompanied by Mrs. Johns, then favored the audience with two vocal selections.

Then everyone formed a long line and filed past the cafeteria helping themselves to stacks and stacks of neatly wrapped sandwiches and delicious piping hot amber coffee and crisp tender celery hearts.

As a last benevolent gesture cigars and cigarettes were passed out to the crowd.

The Northern Indiana Co-Operative Association wish to thank all who attended the meeting and hope that they will pass the information they obtained from the representatives of the Tidewater Oil Company on to their friends.

Million Miles of Shade

If the trees used in this country for the production of turpentine were planted 50 feet apart, they would shade a road 1,000,000 miles long.

LOMAN IDEN DIES

Loman Iden, aged 81, passed away Monday night December 9, at his home three miles east of Bourbon. Heart trouble was the cause of his death, following a short illness.

The deceased was born January 27, 1854, in Carroll county, the son of Washington and Eliza Iden. Mr. Iden had resided for three years at the place where death occurred. His wife died in 1930.

Surviving relatives are one son, Earl, of Albuquerque N. M., two brothers, Seth of Etna Green, and Addison of Logansport, one sister, Florence Iden of Etna Green, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Etna Green Christian church, with Rev. Elwood Dunn officiating. Interment was in Stony Point cemetery. The body was removed Wednesday morning from the rural Funeral Home in Bourbon to the Seth Iden home in Etna Green, where it remained until time for the services.

Built Mayflower Yacht

The yacht Mayflower, formerly used by the President, was built by J. and G. Thompson of Clydebank, Scotland, and was purchased by the United States navy for use in the Spanish-American war. March 19, 1898, for $430,000, from the estate of Ogden Goelet, who died aboard the yacht on its first cruise. It was converted for use of the President in 1902, and served five Presidents. President Hoover had it decommissioned.

7,500 SEE DONKEY BASKETBALL TILT

A throng of 7,500 laughing basketball fans crowded into the spacious Muncie field house last night to witness the first donkey basketball game ever played in this vicinity.

The educated and athletic donkeys were from the Ralph Miller troupe of Fort Wayne, and their antics in spilling the riders brought roars of laughter and applause from the crowded sidelines. The crowd was the largest to view an athletic contest in Muncie since the start of the basketball season. Mr. Miller acted as referee and floor manager.

This is the troupe of donkeys that are to appear in Mentone on Xmas Eve. See ad in this issue.

First Case of Psittacosis

The first case of psittacosis was reported in Germany in 1879. An epidemic of psittacosis occurred in Paris in 1892 when parrots were fashionable pets.

Clockwork Car

It is impossible to discover who actually made the first self-moving vehicle, but in the Sixteenth century one Johann Hauastack, Nuremberg watchmaker, produced a vehicle that derived its motive power from coiled springs and was in fact a large edition of our modern clockwork toys.

Santa as He Appears in the Different Countries

SO SANTA CLAUS wears a red suit and a long white beard, and when he isn't busy in the toy store, drives a sleigh pulled by Donner and Blitzen?

Not if you live in Hawaii. There, on a moonlit December night, you might see Santa come riding in from the ocean on a surf-board. As likely as not there would be a lei or wreath of flowers, about his neck, though he wears the same red suit and waterproof boots he dons for boys and girls of the United States, since Hawaii is really American territory.

In the Philippines, though it, too, is American, the white cap turns conical like a Spanish clown's. He carries a red-and-white lantern which helps him find the home of every good boy and girl, and drives buffalo, which they call carabao. The gifts are packed in baskets slung across the backs of these creatures.

What would you think of Santa in a rickshaw? But, after all, if you were a Chinese child isn't that what you would expect? And Santa never disappoints. In Japan he sits with his feet tucked under him to take his tea on a wintry afternoon, and in the African tropics—well, you just wouldn't recognize the red suit! He has even taken to using the airplane in our own country. I am sure that when he leaves the reindeer in his barn, he puts the nose of each one and urges the ice elves to feed them plenty of reindeer moss till he comes home again.—Frances Grimstead.

© Western Newspaper Union.

SANTA CLAUS

THERE is a Santa Claus. His real name is Spirit of Charity. He is the symbol of benevolence, compassion and altruism. He is the ideal of that small legion of really human humans who pave unselfishly numerous paths to happiness with kindness, sympathy and charity.

Carver's Language

Few people are aware that such a pleasant Yuletide task as carving has a language of its own, which has nothing to do with exasperation. Forgetting for a moment the ubiquitous turkey, which apparently is only "carved," an expert cites the following terms as appropriate to the occasion: Allay a pheasant, Chine a salmon, Mince a plover, Barb a lobster, Lift a swan, Spall a hen, Unbrace a duck, Disfigure a peacock, Dismember a heron, Thigh a woodcock, and Tame a crab. In the Middle ages, when most of these picturesque terms were evolved, herons, being as common as starlings today, were a favorite Christmas dish amongst the poor; while the rich granted the peacock the place of honor at their banquets.—London Tit-Bits Magazine.

Blooms at Christmas Time

According to tradition the famous thorn at Glastonbury Cathedral was brought and planted there by Joseph of Arimathea and was part of the crown of thorns which was pressed upon the brow of Christ. According to tradition it blooms at Christmas time and the possession of a piece is said to insure good fortune through the year.

Ann Lee (1736-1784), founder of the Shakers, was born in Manchester, England, where she worked in factories, later becoming a cook. In 1762 she was married to a blacksmith. Skating

Technically, one does not skate on ice, but rather upon a thin film of water which is melted, from the ice by the pressure of the skates. At temperatures of about 40 below zero it would be impossible to skate, as this film of water cannot form under the skate blade at the reduced temperature. Since no film whatever could exist between glass and the skate runner, and also since the glass is at least as hard as the blade, the skater could not get a "bite" with his blade with which to push himself forward.

Climbing Perch Travels Far

The climbing perch of India, which travels long distances over land by hitching its pectoral fins round plants has a special accessory breathing organ enabling it to breathe air when out of the water.

Vitality Highest in Morning

The vitality of human beings is normally at the highest between 10 and 11 a. m., and at its lowest between 2 and 3 a. m.

He Was a Dutch Boy

Christmas was celebrated long before Santa Claus was ever thought of. His prototype was the Dutch boy bishop, St. Nicholas, who on December 8 used to go round punishing little children who did not say their prayers and rewarding those who did. Gradually he was changed from a boy into a jovial old man, while the sledge and reindeer are modern additions. Actually, Santa Claus was unknown in England a hundred years ago. The Dutch founders of New York introduced him to America, and England borrowed him from the States.—London Tit-Bits Magazine.

The First Diamonds

There is no record of the first discovery of diamonds, but they were known in A. D. 100. Deposits in Brazil were discovered in 1728, and those in South Africa date from 1867. Before the discovery of these mines diamonds were brought from India and Borneo.

Toes Give Them Away

Tell-tale toes are possessed by the Moslem natives of northern India. They cannot keep their toes still if they are telling lies. In many courts they are ordered to remove their shoes and stand in view of judge and jury when giving evidence.

Puddled Iron

Puddled iron is converted from cast iron into wrought iron by subjecting it to intense heat and frequent stirring in a reverberatory furnace in presence of oxidizing substance, by which it is freed from a portion of its carbon and other impurities.

Christmas Eve Alliance

Made Two Hearts Happier

THE wind howled dimly, and Oscar Huggins, looking out at the swirling snow, put up the shutters. Put them up right, too, as the little grocery would be closed tomorrow. Dimly, he wondered how to spend Christmas.

He checked over his stock, nibbled a bit of cheese, and opened the back door to throw out a rotting apple.

In the snow stood a boy. The lad dove for the apple, polishing and handling it as something precious.

"Here!" said Oscar roughly. "What are you doing?"

The boy looked startled. "I thought you threw it away," he answered, "and see, it's pretty good."

"Humph," said Oscar. "All right, keep it. But, mind, you've no business loitering here. You should be home in this weather, and on Christmas eve, of all times." The lad shifted uneasily but did not leave. "Well?" Oscar demanded.

"I was looking for work, sir."

Oscar looked at him sharply. "Out on your own, son?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where are your folks?"

His tale of bereavement, struggle and and loneliness was brief but impressive.

"How'd you like to spend Christmas with me?" the grocer offered. Funny, this life. A bit ago he had almost wished he wasn't closing tomorrow—now it seemed jolly.

"Gee!" exclaimed his new friend. "Sweet!"

They packed a market basket to overflowing. But Oscar turned back. "Wait a minute." He selected his best candles and found a bit of red string.

"If I keep him to help in the store he'll probably eat it anyway," he consoled, "might as well show him a Merry Christmas."—Helen Galsford.

German War Slang

Some German war slang in the trenches, 1914-1918: A non-commissioned officer was a "uniform stallion"; second lieutenant, a "star gazer"; major and colonel were "God Almighty"; sergeant major, a "fat of the meat"; infantrymen were "mud-eaters" and "mile-eaters," cavalrymen were "sole-preservers," the corporal an "over bull."

Formosa, Attractive Island

Formosa, or Taiwan, as the Japanese call it, is an island nearly half the size of Ireland, situated where the Pacific ocean merges into the China sea. It is one of the loveliest islands of the Far East, and was named Ilha Formosa, or Beautiful Island, by early Portuguese explorers.

Oldest Printed Book

The Columbia University Press reports that so far as can be learned the earliest printed book was the "Diamond Sutra," a Buddhist scripture printed in China in the year 868. The book was brought out by Wang Chieh. Only a single copy of this precious work is known to exist.
