SAMUEL D. LINN BURIED AT PALESTINE

Samuel Linn, 51, of Montana, a former resident of the Burket community, died suddenly Friday morning at Glasgow, Montana. Mr. Linn, a conductor on the Great Northern railroad, sustained a heart attack as he got off his train, when it stopped at Glasgow. He had been employed by the Great Northern Railroad company for 34 years, and had lived in Glasgow most of that time, having moved to another town a short time ago.

He was born near Burket in October, 1898, the son of John and Arena Linn.

Surviving relatives include his widow. Nellie, to whom he was married in Montana; one daughter, Sharon, who is a nurse at the Mayo hospital in Rochester, Minn.; one brother, Ray Linn, of Mentone, and three sisters, Mrs. Howard Hudson, of near Mentone, Mrs. Gerald Clinker of Akron and Mrs. Ralph Hively of Montana.

Funeral services were held at two o'clock Monday at the Methodist church with Rev. David Gosser officiating. Burial was in the Palestine cemetery. The Johns funeral home, of Mentone, was in charge of the arrangements.

PARENTS OF DAUGHTER

Mrs. Edith Scott, the maternal grandmother, lives here, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lentz, the paternal grandparents, reside at Mishawaka.

The American Legion Auxiliary members are wondering if you have any toys which your children have outgrown. These toys can make some less fortunate child happy this Christmas.

Look through the toy box and then call Mrs. Richard Manwaring if you find toys which you think the Legion Auxiliary can use in their project to bring Christmas joy to many underprivileged children in the county.

LEGION DEFEATS LAPAZ

At the Mentone Legion basketball games last Thursday evening, the second team lost to Tippecanoe, but the first team lineup beat Lapaz.

Following is a list of the players: Dale Wallace, Ike Shirey, Dave Bowser, Kenneth Drudge, Doc Jefferies, Lonnie Whetstone, Dale Tucker, Curly Witham, Rex Witham, Junior Fore, Joe Boggs and Ned Igo. (Herschel Linn may have forgotten one or two, as he gave us this list quite on the spur of the moment.)

Speed restrictions in the various states are not only being enforced more rigidly but they are often subject to change without notice and need not be posted on signs, motorists are warned by the Chcago Motor Club.

The motor club received numerous protests last winter from vacationists en route to warmer climates who were fined by the local authorities for cxceeding the speed limits.

"There were no speed limit signs--was the burden of the protests.

With hordes of Midwesterners poised for the annual surge to the south, the Chicago Motor Club offers some information designed to save unnecessary wear on temper and pocketbook.

A change in speed regulations in business and residential-districts and on the open highway, when approved by the state legislature, is in force whether, or not the new speed limit is posted on signs. In some states, speed limits in cities and villages are established by local ordinances which may change from time to time and need not be posted.

Under state laws, speed limits for business districts of communities range from 15 miles per hour (in Idaho) to (Minnesota, 30 Tennessee, Texas) while those for residential districts vary from 20 miles per hour (Arkansas, Idaho, Massachusettes, New Jersey, Rhode Island, West Virginia and Wyoming) to 35 (in North Carolina) Even lower limits in business and residence districts may be in force in communities in other states where local ordinances are permitted.

Highway speed limits range from 35 in Idaho to 65 (daylight) in Wisconsin. "Reasonable" speed, that which is listed as required on the highways of many states, is taken to mean that speed which is reasonable and proper under the then existing circumstances having regard to the traffic and the use of the way or that speed which will not endanger life or limb or threaten the well-being of any person or property even though higher or lower permissible speeds have been posted on signs.

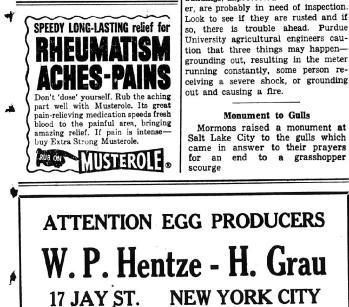

It is important to remember that 'reasonable and proper" speeds change with conditions. What is safe on a dry, bright day will be hazardous on a slippery pavement. Highway speed limits posted in the various states apply only to ideal driving conditions. They will shrink in adverse weather until in some instances, only a "crawl" is permitted.

State Honors to Indiana 4-H'ers

N recognition of their top ranking records in the 1949 National 4-H IN recognition of their top ranking records in the 1949 National 4-1 Better Methods, Electric, Poultry, Food Preparation, Dairy Produc-tion and Frozen Foods programs, five Indiana club members received awards of gold watches. The state winners and brief outlines of their records follow:

Putting to practical use the knew-how gained through participation in the 1949 National 4-H Better Methods Electric program won for Janice Curtiss, 16, of Indi-anapolis, highest state honors. Managing the home has been Jan-ice's job for several years, since her mother supports the family by sewing. The purchase of an electric refrigerator and stove has proved a great time saver in their old-fashioned home. Her study of the home ironing problems this summer brought results. With the help of her brother, she renovated and repaired an old electric ironer, and now gets her work done in a minimum amount of time and ef-Her reward is an educafort tional trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, provided by Westing-house Educational Foundation.

Seven years in 4-H Club work brought state honors to Virginia Murphy, 17, of Indianapolis, in the 1949 National 4-H Food Prepara-tion program. Virginia became an expert meal planner, having cooked and served more than 75 meals for her family. In addition she prepared 1,430 separate dishes. Besides working at home, Virginia has assisted neighbors, and has helped in the dining room at the State Fair Camp for Boys the last two years. She was active in her local club, serving as vice presi-dent, secretary and as leader. She has given 22 individual demonstrations and participated in 42 hibits, winning many awards. awards in this program. Fifty-five projects in six years of 4-H work is a record worth crowing about. And that's just what Robert Myers, 15, of Plain-ville is doing because he won state honors in the 1949 National 4-H Poultry Achievement program. Altogether Robert tended 300 chickens some of which were Hamp-shire Reds and White Wyandottes. He shows a net profit of $197 on his poultry and $50 in cash prizes. Even though many hours of hard work went into his projects, Rob-ert finds time to serve his local club as leader. His reward was an 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, pro-vided by Dearborn Motors Corp., awards donor for the program.

It's June in January at the Flit-ter dinner table in Laporte, because fresh delicious fruits and vegetables from the family freezer are served in mid-winter. Also on the menu is chicken and fresh cherry pie. Daughter Ellen, 19, has made all this possible by partici-pating in the National 4-H Frozen Foods program. She has become expert at freezing strawberries, red raspberries and cherries. Ellen worked out a chart for meat which shows name, weight, date and lo-cation in locker. Proof that she did a first-rate job is the $50 U.S. sav-ings bond she won as 1949 state champion. The award was pro-vided by International Harvester Co., program sponsor. Ellen worked diligently on 22 projects during her nine years in 4-H, and was active in club and community events.

All of these activities were conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

When the happy Christmas time comes, we think about gifts we are about to make to our friends, and we think about the gifts we are about to Preceive. Why do you suppose we think so much about these gifts? Perhaps it is because on that very first Christmas God gave to the world a wonderful gift. That gift was the dear little who was porn in Bethlehem. baby and even the stars shone in great brightness when this Gift came to the earth. And so, because Jesus was God's gift to us, and showed his great love for us, so we show our love to others by giving them gifts.

Perhaps we sometimes think we should like to have made a gift to our heavenly Father, and we can do this for he has said that when we do for others who are in need it is as though we were doing it to Him. And then, there is one gift that we can always The angels sang their songs of joy, give to Him. It is the gift of our heart. HENRY WHETSTONE.

MENTONE MURMURS

by DAVID and SALLY GOSSER

Three cheers for the "Bull Dogs," "Hurrah, Hurrah and Hurrah!" The victory on Tuesday evening was more than many expected when we had a limping and lame team, but with the team-work and ardor and lots of enthusiasm some of the improbabilities become possibilities. Here's hoping that the boys, who for the present time may be out of the game, will soon be back there dribbling and shooting baskets. A pat on the back to the fighting and winning substitutes.

Murmurs observed that the children of the community were abroad earlier last Saturday morning than usual. but with the appearance of Santa Claus it was quite understandable. Especially enthused and delighted were all the would-be cowboys and cowgirls, for Santa brought along his ponies for the children to ride. Murmurs can never recall such a treat in his childhood. Wonder of wonders! Miracles never cease at Christmas time, thanks to merchants of our commuity. The pony rides and the treat were only part of the real thrill of Santa's appearance, for it is the presence of St. Nick himself that whets the imagination of the little folks to whom Christmas should ever be a dazzling star.

Childhood is a realm of "Let's Pretend" to which few adults can successfully revert, for just as their physical bodies ill fit children's furniture, so, too, do adult minds loom menacingly and threateningly over the fantasy of gate, Spruce and many others. Chistmas is one time when childhood fancy may well be given free rein. Murmurs does not, however, mean to imply that any religious significance should be removed from the holiday occasion; quite the contrary, more should be given to it; and it is well to mention that we need but observe the child to realize that children accept whole-heartedly the Christmas story of Matthew and Luke. Unless we become as a little child, Murmurs wonders if the true purpose of the Gospel stories are fully realized.

As with all religious and secular activity so, too, with Christmas-the people who derive the greatest joy are those who give most of their time, their service, and their names.

Paul Michael, of the American Land scape Co., of Peru, was in the Co-Op News office on Wednesday of last week, and while thawing out a little, gave us some interesting facts and figures on his outdoor Christmas decorating business.

Mr. Michael and his crew do this work each year, this being their 21st season, decorating being merely a sideline of the nursery business.

In their Christmas decorating each year they use 48 pounds of No. 2 wire and in the wreaths, 100 pounds of No. 9 wire, and 4,000 pounds of evergreens.

They get their mountain laurel roping from North Carolina, and use 5,000 yards. There are 15,000 natural pine cones, and 4,000 dipped cones. (In the Christmas decorating at the Ward Paint Store, 50 dipped cones were used.) It takes 150 forty-yard rolls of the red plastic ribbon for the 6,000 red bows used.

For the cardboard Christmas packages attached to the door decorations. 5.000 pieces of cardboard are cut, wrapped and tied, using 350 rolls of satin and grosgrain ribbon.

Mr. Michael uses no duplicate decorations in a town. In his display room at Peru he keeps 19 different kinds of foliage for home and outside holiday decorating. Mr. Michael promised that we would hear more from him about tulip time 🔺 AN INTERESTING AFFAIR when the tulips are in bloom and folks would enjoy seeing them.

METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

The Sunday Evening Inspiration Hour scheduled for this Sunday is postponed in favor of an afternoon service at which time will be featured the religious film, "Reaching from Heaven." The hour is 2:30. This service is one based on audio-visual lessons of Bible stories applied to our every-day life. The plight of the immigrant is heart-rending, but what one church did will be heart-warming. The story will interest young and old alike.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship is serving a Penny Supper this Saturday evening from 5:00 until 7:00.

This is the last week for the soliciting of names for the Memory Book of Birthdays. If you are interested please contact Mrs. D. L. Bunner.

On Sunday, December 18, gifts of toys for Neighborhood House will be collected at the morning service.

SINCERE THANKS Mrs. Lackey, the librarian, wishes to thank the Merchants' Association for the pine boughs and Mr. Michael for the labor which "dressed up" the library front for Christmas.

Over 20,000 Indiana veterans stand a chance to lose their World War II Bonus payment if the present trend evident at the Bonus Division head-quarters continues, Clinton Green, Director of the Indiana Department of Veterans' Affairs, warns.

At the close of business December 1 a total of 153,142 applications had been received and almost 10,000 of these applications have been placed in the "suspense" file because of inability to contact the applicant to clear up erfors.

On the basis of an expected 367,000 application, that would mean the "suspense" file will hold over 20,000 cases at the close of business on December 31, 1950, if the present trend continues.

Main source of trouble is the failure of applicants to notify the Department of changes of address. Several thousand Hoosier veterans have moved since first sending in their application and therefore subsequent letters to them from the Bonus Division are returned by the Post Office because the veteran didn't leave a forwarding address.

"The Bonus Division is making every effort to contact these veterans," Orville Bray, Administrative Office of the Bonus, stated. "We use every address we can find on the application, discharge papers or any other address listed. After these have been tried and the mail is still returned, the Bonus Division must therefore suspend action on the application and place it in the "suspense" file. If the veteran ever fails to send us his correct address, we will be unable to make any payment | PROGRAM PLANNED to him. Many vetreans are also sending their application papers without enclosing their discharge or separation papers. Others are doing just the opposite, sending only the discharge papers and not executing an application blank.

Another source of difficulty is the veteran who files duplicate applications. This happens many times when he sends his application and fails to enclose the necessary papers. After discovering his error, he then files another application with the correct papers and causes a mix-up in Bonus Division files

All bonus applicants are requested by the Bonus Division to refrain from writing letters to the Division, other than giving changes of address. The Division will contact all veterans, if the proper address is available, concerning any additional evidence or any irregularity that needs clarification.

CHEMICAL AIDS TO AGRICULTURE

Total aggregate harvest of farm crops this year is the second largest on record, exceeded only by the crop of 1948, The Northern Trust Company reports ini ts monthly bulletin, Business Comment. The 29% higher crop as compared with the 1935-1939 average, was grown on only 7% more acreage, while the number of farmers and farm laborers was actually 6% less. As often emphasized by agricultural experts, many factors account for recent large crops and high yields. Of growing importance in higher yields is greater use of fertilizer and chemical aids to agriculture which control insects and weeds.

The state corn and seed show, the on developments of cultural practices will highlight the four-day program arranged for the hundreds of Indiana corn growers who are expected to attend the annual Winter Agricultural Conference to be held at Purdue University Dec. 27-30.

On Tuesday, the opening day of the conference, entries will be received for both the state and 4-H corn shows in the faculty lounges of the Memorial Union Building. The shows will be open daily and also Wednesday and Thursday evenings for inspection by the public. Entries will be judged Wednesday morning.

The educational program of the Indiana Corn Growers' Association will start Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the north ball room when T. Volney Carter, Seymour, vice-president of the association, will preside. Prof. O. C. Lee, weed specialist, will discuss recommendations on use of chemicals for weed control. Recent results with insecticides in corn borer control will be reported by Dr. George Gould, extension entomologist.

The Indiana Corn Growers' Association annual meeting and luncheon program Friday, will be one of the climaxing events of the conference. Ralph Osborn, Culver, president of the association, will be the principal speaker at the morning session which will start at 9:30 o'clock in the north ball room, and will preside at the luncheon to be held in the south ball room.

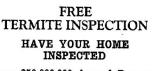

Dr. G. I. Christie, emeritus, Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, former director of agricultural activities at Purdue, and secretary of the Indiana

Corn Growers' Association from 1906 CORN GROWERS to 1928, will address the growers at the luncheon on the topic "The Builders of the Association." President F. L. Hovde, of Purdue, will honor the crops cham-4-H corn and soybean show, and talks pions of 1949. The champions will also appear on the WLS "Dinner Bell" program at noon.

> When the harvesting equipment is stored for the winter, canvasses should be removed so that mice cannot chew them. Be certain that grain bins, augers, and elevators on combines are clear of grain and elevator buckets are left open, Purdue University agricultural engineers advise.

According to the National Safety Review, the 21 to 25 year age group had the highest percentage of accidents. This age group was involved in 55 per cent of all the corn accidents. the report shows.

Cashew nut, so popular in this country, is actually the poisonous fruit of the cashew tree of Brazil and Central America, says The World Book encyclopedia. The tree is closely related to the American poison ivy and people are often painfully poisoned by allowing their skin to come in contact with some of its parts. This toxic ingredient is entirely removed from the kernels by roasting before they are shipped to this country.

PRODUCTION OF MILK HIGH

Indiana milking herds responded well to the mild fall weather, the late pastures, and the liberal amounts of available grain fed, according to a report from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, received at Purdue University. Daily milk production per cow as of Nov. 1, averaged 15.1 pounds as compared with 14.3 pounds for the same period a year earlier, and with 13.9 pounds for the 1938-47 average.

Estimated milk production on Indiana farms for the month of October was 294,000,000 pounds and in September it was 316,000,000 pounds. Milk production for October, 1948, was 298, 000,000 pounds.

Milk production on farms throughout the United States totaled 9,000,000,000 pounds in October, the second highest

The bulletin gives recommendations for constructing dressing rooms and types of equipment to be purchased or built. Detailed directions on dressing poultry are included by the author, Alexander Gordeuk, extension poultryman. Copies 🔺 are available free from the county agent or from Purdue.

Purdue University veterinarians caution farmers to purchase breeding stock only from herds completely free from brucellosis as evidenced by entire herd tests. It is known that negative reacting groups of breeding swine from infected herds have been offered for sale. These animals may spread brucellosis although they are negative to the blood test at the time they are offered for sale.

MORE FARMERS USE FERTILIZER

It is estimated from the sale of tags the 915,776 tons of commercial fertilizer with a retail value of $42,237,-207 were sold in Indiana in 1948. This amount represents the largest annual fertilizer investment ever recorded in Indiana in almost 70 years since the pure labeling law has been enforced. This is a 14 per cent increase in tonnage as compared with the previous year and doubled the tonnage used in any prewar year, according to the recently published circular "Inspection of Commercial Fertilizes," Purdue University Station Circular No. 352.

O. W. Ford, associate chemist, Purdue department of agricultural chemistry, explained this significant increase in use of fertilizer as the result of intensive extension work which has brought to the attention of farmers the benefits to be gained by using adequate fertilization. Comprehensive research on fertilization problems has also influenced the greater use of fertilizer, and the larger purchasing power of the farmer has likewise been a contributing factor.

According to the circular, inspectors representing the state chemist visited every county and collected 2,642 samples for analysies. One sample was drawn for each 346 tons of commercial fertilizer sold in Indiana.

The average ton of fertilizer sold contained 516 pounds of actual plant food and the average analysis was 2.5 per cent total nitrogen, 12.0 per cent cent of water soluble potash. This available phosphoric acid and 8.6 per represents a slight increase in both nitrogen and water-soluble potash but less available phosphoric acid than was in the average ton of fertilizer in 1947. Copies of the circular are available free from the county agricultural agent or from Purdue University.

- PLUS TAX !

The Saturday Evening Post recently ran an amusing cartoon in which a woman, with a look of joyful anticipation, reading an advertisement offering some article she wants at a sale price. Directly beneath it is a second picture, showing her with a look of anger and disappointment as she reads the words "Plus tax."

This is an excellent commentary on those war-time excise taxes with which the country is still plagued, They apply to cosmetics, luggage, fur coats, and a long list of other commodities. Similar taxes also apply to transportation tickets. Few opposed them in wartime when it was necessary to curb production and use of everything except the bare necessities, and it was also necessary to raise incredible sums of money for the government and to reduce purchasing power. But the last shade of justification for them has gone now.

Spokesmen for retailing, who know what they are talking about from experience, say these taxes are a definite deterrent to sales of the affected items, and thus they reduce employment, the tax revenue government would get from increased factory output, and are a drag on the whole economy. Many people could buy some item at retail price when they can't afford to buy it after the government tacks on an additional 20 per cent.

There was hope that these taxes would be repealed at the last session of Congress. That hope failed to materialize. It's up to the Congress that will convene in January.

When you trade at home, your Dollars are still working for you.

. The other day a waitress came to our office and said that a cafe owner had refused to accept her social security card unless our office telephoned him that it was acceptble. She told us that she had used the card at other places she had worked, and even though the name had been changed in ink, the other cafe operators had not questioned it. She showed the interviewer the card, and the name had been changed, not once, but three times. Each change had been made by drawing a line through the previous name, and adding a new name above it. She explained that the changes were perfectly legal because she had been married three times since getting her original card, and even though it was getting a little difficult to read, she felt the cafe owner was just being technical in objecting to the card.

He was right in doing so. We called the employer all right, but it was really to thank him for referring the waitress to our office. It took only a few minutes for her to fill out a request for a change in our records and to obtain a new card with the same number, but with only one name, of course, typed on it. She knows now that if she should change her name again, she should request another change in our records, so that her card will always roads, ports or airfields.

HUNTING PACT

A reciprocani agreement between the Departments of Conservation of the States of Indiana and Illinois by means which hunters and fishermen from both states may carry out their favorite sport in the Wabash River without encroaching upon laws effective in both states, has been signed by Kenneth M. Kunkel, Director of the Indiana Department of Conservation and Leonard Schwartz, Director of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

The agreement, which applies only to that part of the Wabash River which forms a common boundary to the States of Indiana and Illinois, is now in effect and allows pole and line fishermen, commercial fishermen or hunters on the Wabash River to operate so long as they do not hunt or fish beyond the natural or ordinary river banks of the state in which they are not licensed. They must not hunt from the land attached to or taxed now by the opposite state or go back into any tributaries, bayous or backwaters of the opposite state.

The agreement entered into recogizes the sovereign power of each state to enact laws or to prescribe regulations applicable within its borders and each State's concurrent jurisdiction on the Wabash River where the streams form a common boundary.

It also recognizes and respects restrictions imposed by the United States Coast Guard and the Army Engineers applicable to the Wabash River and the jurisdiction of the Fish and Wildlife service, United States Department of the Interior, to prescribe and enforce regulations pursuant to the Migratory Bird Treaty Act.

For the purpose of the agreement the center of the navigation channel as surveyed by the U.S. Army Engineers shall constitute the boundary between the two states mentioned.

Two great forces stand behind the economy of this country .

One is mass production-the unique system of producing goods of every kind of high quality, in vast volume. and at a very low cost. It is the root source of material abundance and the high living standards.

The other is mass distribution-the equally important and equally efficient system developed to bring those people who use them.

This is a huge nation in land area. Yet the same brands of goods, at about corner of it. They are advertised in our newspapers and magazines, and over the radio. When something new towns almost as soon as it reaches merits are shown to possible buyers in

In mass distribution, as in mass production, we see the finished results of the free enterprise system of getting a job done. The retail store is the average American's closest and most personal contact with the forces that make the nation's economy tick. It is the place where he spends much of his money-and where the irresistable pressure of competition guarantees that he will get fair value in exchange.

Mass production turns out the goods -and mass distribution sees to it that they are readily available when we want them.

Christmas! What a wonderful holi day for sportsmen. That new shotgun or casting rod or he has a way of knowing whot outdoorsmen like to get in those big, beautiful wrapped packages under the brightly decorated tree.

Ties or dressing robes or slippers! Sure, sportsmen appreciate them as gifts on Christmas, but to really please a fisherman or hunter how about a Box office-will not open-Get FREE new tapered fly line for fishing or a

Old Whiskers knows this, too, but Phone 25-F2 occasionally he's not quite sure just which items of outdoor gear he'should bring from his headquarters at the north pole. here and there. I say to my wife, "You know, I think I'll write Santa a letter and tell him my old fly rod probably won't last another season and that I sure could use a new one," or "My hunting boots are badly in need of repairs; I guess I'd better take them to the shoe shop."

I can tell you from past experiences that these hints reap rewards on Christmas morning, and I would suggest that you try a similar pattern right now. Christmas, remember, is only a few days off.

Remember, too, that Christmas is giving as well as receiving. How about getting a few little gifts for the farmer, his wife and children, where you have been hunting. The farmer and his family will appreciate your thoughtfulness and you can cement a stronger bond of friendship that will lead to better things next year.

Experiments with the so-called "Animal Protein Factor" (APF) in swine feeding at Purdue University and elsewhere have attracted considerable attention among hog producers and feed manufacturers in recent months.

Results of the Purdue tests conducted by Dr. W. M. Beeson, of the animal husbandry department, and R. E. Bloss, a graduate assistant, indicate a highly significant increase in growth rate in pigs from the addition of APF and APF concentrate to a ration of corn, soybean meal, dehydrated alfalfa meal, minerals and vitamins A and B.

Pigs fed the APF concentrate

Both groups were started hog diet with some source of animal at an averagee weight of 42 pounds and protein. The term "Animal Protein supplement in swine rations. were fed for 105 days. The APF group received 0.5 per cent of a commerciallyprepared APF concentrate equivalent to one milligram of B12 activity per 100 pounds of feed.

APF increased daily food intake from 5.0 to 6.7 pounds, but the feed efficiency was not materially affected when the pigs were compared on the basis of final weights. Usually when pigs grow faster, they require less feed per unit of gain than when grown slowly, the Purdue specialists explain.

However, since the efficiency of gains were compared when the control group APF weighd 159 pounds and the APF group 203 pounds, it may be that the heavier hogs were fatter at the same age. Since it requires more feed to produce a pound of fat, this may explain in part the similarity in the feed rethan at the same age, the APF pigs would probably have been more efficient.

No symptoms of APF deficiency other than reduced growth rate were ob-served. However, acute APF deficiency may cause severe anemia, Dr. Beeson declares.

For years swine raisers have known

Factor" refers to a number of unidentified factors found in or associated with proteins from animal origin but lacking in vegetable protein supplements.

APF has also been identified with a concentrate containing vitamin B12, but B12 is believed only a part of the APF complex. It appears at present that there are several unknown factors in addition to B12 in animal proteins which are essential for properly nourishing the pig.

All the foods products containing have not been identified, but some foods and feeds known to contain it in varying amounts are milk products, liver, meat products, fish products, condensed fish solubles, egg yolk, cow manure, and B12 concentrates prepared by biosynthesis. The quirements. If the feed efficency had production of antibiotics, such as been compared at the same weight streptomycin, has yielded a number of residues which are prominsing sources of APF.

green pasture contains the animal protein factor has not been answered by research, but it has been shown that green pasture contains nutritional factors which help materially in supplementing rations for growing and fattening hogs and pregnant gilts and sows. The Purdue specialists point out that as yet man has not been able to put in the feed bag all the supplementary nutrients furnished by lush green pasture.

Will APF replace all of the animal protein supplement in swine ration? The answer is not known at present. It must not be forgotten that animal proteins furnish other nutrients be-the present until scientific knowledge tinue to include some animal protein

Prospective supplies of alfalfa seed in the United States are 41 per cent larger than last year and 24 per cent above the 1943-47 average. However, supplies of red clover seed are 13 per cent smaller than a year ago and 12 per cent below the 1943-47 average according to a recent issue of the Purdue University "Economics and Marketing Information."

An interesting new development in the fermation industries is the production of a mushroom spawn. The product is a nutritive as food yeast and easily grown in quantities but is superior in flavor to yeast according to information received from the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Purdue University.

CELEBRATES NINETY-FIRST BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

In the home of Mrs. Carrie Barrett where Mrs. Amanda Imus now makes her home, Aunt Amanda celebrated her 91st birthday Tuesday, Dec. 13.

In the afternoon, her two sisters, Samantha Norris and Stella Snyder, Mrs. Howard Horn and daughter, Mrs. Annabelle Oyler and son Paul of Mentone; Mrs. Don Zumbaugh, Callie Dawson, Carrie Cowen, and Rhoda Beltz, Melvin Ward, Perry King and Wren Crane visited with her.

In the early evening, Mrs. Donald Barrett, Marjorie, John and Donnie Lu Barrett came bringing her an angel food birthday cake and ice cream which all enjojyed.

She received near thirty birthday cards. She was so touched by so many remembering her that before they left she offered a little prayer ending like this: "I'm so thankful my father has spared me. It's been 91 years since my eyes have been opened to see, my hands have had plenty to do, my old heart soon will be silent, too."

Aunt Amanda is some better since her recent illness, but spends much of her time resting in bed.

GEORGE MCINTYRE IMPROVING

The condition of George McIntyre is somewhat improved, but it will be some time before he will be able to work.

George was injured several weeks ago when a truss broke while he was doing some work at the Devon Eaton farm. His right shoulder bones were separated, his right angle was severely bruised, and his right ear was injured. He is still unable to hear out of it.

The past year has held a great deal of misfortune for the McIntyre family and we surely hope that 1950 brings good fortune.

METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

The Christmas program will be held this Thursday evening at 7:30 with the visit from Santa Claus concluding a program of recitations, dialogues, plays and carols. This will take the place of the regular study period which follows the morning Worship service on Christmas day, but there will be a worship service beginning at ten o'clock Christmas morning. It has been suggested that this service will be attended in family groups as Junior Church will not be held during the sermon part of the service. Christmas Day will be climaxed by a short candlelight carol service at 7:30 p. m. As in the morning service, choral and solo selections will be featured.

The M. Y. F. party on Monday evening was well planned and colorfully directed by Jackie Blue, the commissioner on recreation. Games, relays, a scavanger hunt (of which many of you may know by this time), and a beauty contest, along with games of ping pong played intermittently during the evening, occupied most of the time. A lunch of sandwiches wrapped like Christmas gifts and cocoa was enjoyed around tables decorated with evergreen and lighted candles. The Christmas tree was most prominent when nonsense gifts were distributed to all guests, and a lovely green blanket was presented to Rev. and Mrs. Gosser by the young people.

Inclement weather prevented the trip to Neighborhood House by thirty or more Methodists who planned to attend an evening program and take the more than sixty gifts contributed for the children there. Mr. Wayne Tombaugh and Rev. Gosser delivered the gifts on Wednesday morning so that they would be there for a Christmas party to be held that evening.

Sunday, January 1, is designated locally as Consecration Sunday with the reception of new members and the re-affirming of sacred vows by others.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Valentine and family left Chicago by plane Wednesday evening for Ft. Lauderdale, Florida where they will spend the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Valentine. Leos plan to be gone until Jan. 2.

Mary Margaret Lehman is slowly improving. She is now able to walk about the house.

LEGION SPONSORING

TOYS FOR EUROPE

At the meeting of the American Legion on Tuesday evening, it was decided that the local unit would join the national organization in their great movement to send toys to Europe. This movement is called Tide of Toys (TOT).

Millions of European children will have no toys this winter. They are better fed, but the joys that make Christmas gay here at home are still lacking over there. We must remember that for years the playgrounds of Europe's children have been bomb pits. On the other hand, most American children have toys to spare, and would be happy to send a toy to these less fortunate children in Europe.

The Legion is asking that everyone in the community try and have a part in this Tide of Toys.

Kenneth Romine has offered to take the toys at the post office after Christmas.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Two plans to protect old people from what are included in the Social Security Act. These are Old-Age and Survivors Insurance and Old-Age Assistance. Each of these plans serves a special purpose. They differ from each other in the way they operate and in the way they provide protection.

Old-Age and Survivors Insurance is for wage earners. This insurance helps workers to provide an income for themselves and their families when death or old age cuts off wages. It is a Federal plan and its provisions are the same in all parts of the country.

Old-Age Assistance is for people after they are old and in want. Through it, each State, with Federal help, provides for its own needy aged. Though these plans work differently, they are alike in one important point, both to provide a cash income. This income is modest, but it enable old people to live in their own homes

The Social Security Administration is the Federal Agency in charge of the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance system. For each insured worker, the Administration keeps a separate wage record, identifed by his name and Social Security Account Number. This record is necessary to determine what benefits may be due a worker or his dition.

family. To pay for this insurance, the Social Security Act levies a tax on wage earners and their employers. To learn more about this plan, you should write to the Social Security Field Office, 222 Equity Building, Elkhart, Indiana. All the States provide Old-Age Assistance for their own needy old people. The State-not the Federal Government-decides who shall get aid and how much shall be paid to each person. The Federal Government shares the cost as long as the State plan follows the general pattern outlined in the Social Security Act.

Anyone wishing to inquire about Old-Age Assistance, should go to the nearest local welfare office or write the State Public Welfare Agency, Indianapolis, Indiana.

FRIENDLY NEIGHBORS CLUB

Members of the Friendly Neighbors club gathered at the home of Mrs. Gerald Ballenger Thursday for their all day Christmas meeting. A delicious carry in dinner was served at noon.

The group played dirty bingo for awhile after which a business meeting was held. Our new president appointed committees, garden, health and song leaders for the coming year. Gifts were presented to Helen Rookstool, Mary Welch and Stella Studebaker for perfect attendance last year and the club presented Thelma Eaton, our retiring president, with a compact.

An impressive eandle light installation service was in care of Helen Rookstool. The officers installed were as follows:

President, Mrs. Stella Studebaker. Secretary, Mrs. Mary Welch. Treasurer, Mrs. Altha Harrold.

Meditations were beautifully given by Mrs. Ethel Snider. The meeting's climax came when Thelma Eaton acted as Santa and handed gifts to each one, from under the beautifully decorated Christmas tree. All twentyfour members were present.

MENTONE MURMURS by DAVID and SALLY GOSSER

Murmurs have been hibernating for a few days following Christmas. A trip to Ft. Wayne, however, assured them that the after-Christmas activity may be as great as the pre-Christmas rush, of which both may be disturbing to any boyine tendencies on the part of the gregarious nature of mankind.

Murmurs are happy (along with their Murmurettes) to be living in Mentone, which, in most ways, is self supporting. The trade area caters to almost all of the human needs, the people are friendly, and there are opportunities for a good life if people are looking in the right direction. There is no re-muneration for what Murmurs is about to say, but with all sincerity it must be said that our business men should be supported in their ceaseless effort to meet the needs and demands of our community. How many of us turn into the Mentone Community at least ninty per cent of all money that is spent for food, hardware, building supplies, fuel, feed, clothing in part, varities, printed matter, utensels for kitchen and laundry, cleaning, cars and car repairs, drugs, jewelry, beauty care, and savings, and other commodities too numerous to mention? In order for the business-men to keep their New Year's resolution of giving the public their best service they must be assured that the public will support them in this endeavor.

Mentone is our community. Whatever it becomes depends upon our effort and support. May our resolution for the New Year be for the support of our schools, our homes, our businesses, and our churches, and may the year of 1950 be for you HAPPY and PROS-PEROUS.

Pearl and Ruth were responsible for selecting the play "Mary His Mother" which was next presented by the following main characters:

Trella Tombaugh-Ruth

Pearl Lackey-Hannah Mary Manwaring-Elizabeth Sally Gosser-Mary

The scene supposedly took place in Mary and Joseph's home on the childs third birthday. Ruth and Hanna brought gifts, as did Elizabeth, Mary's cousin. The story revealed the happiness of Mary as she watched the Child through a window as he played happily at Joseph's side while he worked at his bench. It also showed the fear and anxiety that Mary held in her heart as she reviewed the story of his birth to Elizabeth.

Those supporting the above named cast were characters in the nativity scene: Shepherds-Mary Teel, Bess A. Manwaring and Dorothy Herendeen. Wise Men-Lois Fenstermaker, Lois Davison and Ruth Gates; Voice of the angel and Joseph-Arvilla Van Gilder. Words of thanks also went to those who sang the carols, to Rev. Gosser and Ottie Walburn for the stage set-up and lighting and to Faye Bunner and Ethel Shafer for making the costumes. It was through the cooperation of many that made the play a success.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Goldia Mollenhour, Nellie Reed and Barbara Van Gilder.

Several corn shredders are now on the market designed to aid in the control of the European corn borer by shredding the corn stalks in the field after corn picking. It is necessary that the knives be set low enough to cut the stalks flush with the ground as over 40 per cent of the over-winter corn borers stay stalk.

Green stalks do not shred well, so is advisable to wait late enough in the fall for the stalks to be well dried.

DANCING AT SILVER LAKE

Cyril Clupper, manager of the Silver Lake skating rink, has an advertisement in this issue regarding the square dances they have been having each Friday night. "Nub" Kreider is the caller and the four-piece orchestra includes: Mrs. Eleanor Benson at the piano; Maurice Williams, guitar; Adem Sparks, violin and banjc, and Cyril Clupper, Jr., vocal and saxophone.

I don't want to cast any reflections, but are you a member of that group of habitual New Years resolution makers who say they are going to do this or that as the old year fades into the new, then promptly forgets all about them.

I'll have to admit that more years than not I have been a party to such foolishness, resolving to improve in the new year but failing to live up to the pattern

But this year is going to be different, at least as far as the outdoors is concerned, and I'd like for you to join me in making a set of resolutions for 1950 that will make the outdoors sports better for all of us.

First, let's all treat wildlife as a valuable resource—a resource that should be dearly guarded. Actually there is a selfish motive as far as I'm concerned in this resolution. I would rather go fishing or hunting than anything else I can think of. If these sports were taken away. I'd be lost-and there are many millions of sportsmen who feel the same way. But if we're to continue to enjoy fishing and hunting we must conserve in the same, so here's my best wishes

ideas incorporated in a "half-limit club" that was founded some years back. A state says you can take 10 bass or six rabbits or 10 quail. That's okay, but let's only take half that number each trip afield, leaving the rest for stock.

Frankly, it means putting a moral instead of legal limit on the wildlife we harvest—and the moral limit should be controlled by the amount of game or fish we can justly use on the dinner table. If your family can eat three or four rabbits, kill that many-not the number the law says you can take. And the same applies to fish.

Of course, the resolution to guard wildlife is the keynote of all my resolutions-but let's add to be careful with fire arms, shoot only game that's in 🗍 certain killing range, search harder for cripples and dead birds.

Also let's make it a point to treat the farmer and landowner who gives us a place to hunt and fish with more respect in 1950.

And in the new year let's all be oneman task forces in weeding out the game hogs, the out-of-season gunners and all others who frown on the game codes and laws controlling wildlife. Remember, it takes only one black sheep in any area to spoil the territory for all decent sportsmen!

I've outlined the above resolutions on a little white card and put it on the wall above my desk, for this is one New Year when I'm going to stick to the resolutions. I hope you'll join me for good luck and good sport in the How about in 1950 following the ontdoors in 1950.

This new rate will begin with the tax return for the 1st quarter of 1950, which will show the wages paid the employee in January, February and March.

When the Social Security Act was passed it was determined that the employer and the employee should share equally in the cost. It was believed that the employee should contribute since the idea of setting aside a percentage of wages had long been a customary method of thrift and such contributions would provide a selfrespecting method through which workers could provide for their oldage and their families. It was considered that the employer should con-

The driver who drinks New Year's Eve may start 1950 in jail.

That was the flat warning of Arthur M. Thurston, superintendent of State Police, who has ordered troopers to join city and country police in curbing drunken driving after studying a report which showed department arrests for the offense are up to 32 per cent.

pared with 2,002 arrests for the same period in 1948. Fatal traffic accident records indicate that one in four adult pedestrians and one in six drivers had been drinking.

"The person who drinks and drives is a potential killer," Supt. Thurston asserted. "It is a proved scientific fact that even a small amount of alcohol in the blood causes physical impairment." The department's 10 districts were alerted against the drunken driving hazard and ordered to coordinate enforcement efforts with local police Saturday night. Supt. Thurston pointed out that because intoxicated persons cannot be taken into court or released on bond, it will be necessary to place offenders in jail for a "sobering up" period.

State Police report that 12 persons were killed in Indiana traffic accidents last Dec. 31-Jan. 1.
