ING OPERATION AT WARSAW

Joseph A. Nye, better known as Harry Nye, Jr., aged 39, a life-long resident of the Warsaw community, died at 7:30 a. m. Wednesday at the Murphy Medical Center where he had submitted to major surgery on Monday. Carcinoma was the cause of death. He had not been well for the past year but was able to carry on his profession as surveyor and architect. He had recovered somewhat from an acute illness which occurred in the last couple of weeks.

Mr. Nye was born in Warsaw May 18, 1908, the son of Harry A. and Isodora (Pyle) Nye. His marriage to Miss Grace Van Fossen took place Oct. 21, 1939.

He had attended an art school in Chicago.

Mr. Nye was a member of the Warsaw Evangelical United Brethren church but attended the Presbyterian church at Winona Lake as he resided there. He was affiliated with the Warsaw Masonic lodge.

Surviving relatives include his wife, a son, David, aged 7; daughter, Carolyn, aged 3; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Nye, Warsaw, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Manwaring, of this place.

Rev. William H. Davies will be in charge and rites will be conducted by the Masonic lodge at the funeral service, which will be held at two p. m. Friday at the Winona Lake Presbyterian church. Burial will be in the Oakwood cemetery.

Mrs. Manwaring, who has been vacationing in Florida, left for home when hearing of her brother's serious illness and was scheduled to arrive in Warsaw Wednesday evening.

WORD FROM MRS. TINKEY

We know that the many friends of Mrs. Clarence Tinkey have been anxiously waiting news of her condition.

We talked to Mrs. Harold Utter, who had attended a meeting of the presidents of the County Home Economics Clubs on Tuesday and she was able to give us some information.

Mrs. Tinkey has been conscious since the accident. In fact, she dictated a letter to be read at the meeting on Tuesday. She is not suffering any as she is almost completely paralyzed due to a badly crushed spinal cord. She has been placed in a cast. Other injuries include the broken pelvic bone and seven fractured ribs.

On Wednesday afternoon we received a card from Clarence telling us that they were moving Mrs. Tinkey back to the Woodlawn hospital at Rochester, so all mail will reach her there.

BLITHE VANLUE DIES AT MENTONE CLINIC SUNDAY

Blithe J. Vanlue, aged 53, who resided on a farm two and one-half miles southwest of Tippecanoe, died at 10:20 p. m. Sunday at the Urschel clinic at Mentone, following an illness of four days due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Vanlue was born in Walnut township, Marshall county, June 26, 1894, the son of Lee and Anna (Ringle) Vanlue. In 1923 he was married to Anna Bragunier. They had lived at their present residence for the past 12 years.

Besides his wife, he leaves a son, Willie, at home; a daughter, Mrs. Loren Weaver, of Akron; his father, Lee Vanlue; two brothers, Roy, of Lakeville, and Fredus, of South Bend, and a sister, Mrs. Hazel Miller, of Tippecanoe.

Funeral services were held at two p. m. Wednesday at the Walnut Church of the Brethren, of which he was a member, with Rev. Kenneth Long in charge.

INJURES SHOULDER

Wayne Tombaugh was "protecting" a very sore left arm and shoulder which he acquired Sunday evening in a fall at his home. Wayne entered the kitchen with snow on his shoes, two dozen eggs in one hand and a quart of maple syrup in his other hand—result—a bad spill, one-half dozen broken eggs and a dislocated left shoulder.

Fortunately, the bones slipped back into place at once, but there were some badly sprained muscles. Wayne thinks he won't be driving his big semi for several days, however.

the Week" on last Thursday's program—looks every inch the man of distinction that he is. Handsome, polished, and well educated, Street is the owner of a 2,675-acre farm near Henderson, Ky. As hobbies, he grows peaches in a 150-acre orchard, and has won a wide reputation for his fine Kentucky hams, bacons and sausages. He is active in almost every type of agricultural and community civic organization.

Born poor, Street worked his way through the University of Kentucky. He took over as manager of his present farm, and proved so capable, that the farm's wealthy tobacco broker owner rewarded him by willing him half the land . . . and he later bought the rest of the farm.

The father of three children, his oldest son is a graduate of Annapolis, served two years in the Pacific, and now does construction work. His youngest—a Sophomore at Purdue University—is the farmer in the family . . . and according to his dad, he'll make a good one.

William Gale, director of several farm groups, has helped develop farm conservation in Berrien county, is a Farm Bureau member and a Boy Scout leader. He grows apples, cherries and peaches on his 150-acre farm—and is an avid golfer and gardener.

BE SURE INSURANCE
COVERS PRICE RISE

"Check your farm insurance to see that it compensates for present price levels," advises F. H. Demaree, agricultural economist at Purdue University.

Most farm insurance is written for a period of years and is therefore easily forgotten until the expiration date of the policy when renewal becomes necessary. And yet, according to the Federal Home Loan Bank Administration, a standard six - room house costing $5000 to build in 1940 would now cost about $9000, a rise of approximately 80 percent.

The cost of building material for farm uses other than houses has practically doubled since 1940. Grain prices in September of this year were 333 percent of the pre-war 1935-39 average and livestock has risen 275 percent in price over the same pre-war period, according to the economist. The cost of new farm machinery is about 140 percent of pre-war.

A recent survey of insurance carried on a number of west central Indiana farms disclosed that 46 percent of the farms had no insurance on the contents of their buildings, that is machinery, hay grain, feed and livestock. A loss of $6,000 worth of grain has just been incurred on one farm where no insurance was carried on the contents of buildings.

Of those surveyed, 27 percent had since their policies had been written not changed the insured amounts in 1942 or before. A total of 73 percent had changed their policy by endorsement or by writing a new policy. Changes included increases of 73 percent on houses, 100 percent on barns, outbuildings 60 percent, and contents of buildings 65 percent, according to Demaree.

Most insurance companies will accept insurance on farm property up to two thirds, in some cases three-fourths, of the fair appraised value of the property. From the survey taken, it appears that about three-fourths of the farmers who carried insurance on buildings had increased their insurance in line with present replacement costs on houses and barns. However, only a little more than one-half of the farmers had insurance on livestock, machinery, grain, hay and feed, and on the average the increase in the insured amounts had not kept pace with replacement costs.

IT HAPPENED ON THE NICKEL PLATE

Quick thinking on the part of a 15-year-old newsboy and his speed in getting to a telephone resulted in removal of a large obstruction from the Nickel Plate Railroad tracks in Cleveland which might have caused a passenger train wreck.

Marshall Dietrick was returning from church in the morning when he noticed that dangerously close to the rails was a large cement mixer hopper parts of which had become detached and were scattered for some distance along the right-of-way. Knowing that a passenger train was due to pass, he ran to his home a few doors away and telephoned the Nickel Plate Railroad.

Other telephone calls quickly went out from the Nickel Plate offices and a Diesel switch engine and crew rushed to the scene. The passenger train was flagged down while they cleared the tracks.

Emerson said, "The reward of things well done is to have done it," and young Dietrick expressed the opinion that he hadn't done much, "only what anybody would have done," but John W. Davin, Nickel Plate president, thought the situation required something more than just the railroad's "thanks".

Having read in a Cleveland Plain Dealer story that the boy was an amateur photographer, with railroad pictures as his particular hobby, the grateful railroader promptly ordered a camera for him, after finding out the type he wanted most. Now when Nickel Plate employees see a young chap photographing trains, other railroad equipment and transportation scenes around Cleveland, it will probably be Marshall Dietrick.

OLD AGE BENEFITS

"During the last six months 148 wage earners, 65 years of age or over in the Elkhart area, filed their claims for Old-Age and Survivors Insurance," Gerald Kelter, manager of the Elkhart Social Security Administration Field Office, announced today. "This number is not as large as predicted, and is due to the high employment rate which has been maintained since the war. On the other hand perhaps more would have applied if they realized that they were eligible," Mr. Kelter explained. "This belief is borne out by the fact that a number of people who do file a claim find that they have lost at least one month's check by not filing promptly."

"During the same period, 61 wives, 65 or over, and 24 widows with children, under 18 years of age, filed their claims, together with 8 applications on behalf of dependent children, 15 widows, 65 or over, one dependent parent and 89 applicants for the lump sum burial payment due on a deceased wage earner's account."

"The social security program applies to workers in industry and commerce, and provides for the payment of monthly benefits when the qualified employee reaches age 65 and retires, to eligible members of the worker's family and to the survivors of insured workers who die at any age. If no one is qualified to receive monthly benefits, a lump sum payment may be made. Wage earners, 65 years of age and over, and survivors of workers who die, are urged to contact the Elkhart Office of the Social Security Administration in Room 222 of the Equity Building to be sure of receiving all the social security benefits that may be payable."

Mechanization was the most significant change in a central Indiana township from 1910 to 1945. By 1945, 67 of the 100 farms studied had no horses, 93 had tractors and 35 had two or more tractors. Only seven farmers had tractors back in the World War I period of 1916-19 and 49 had tractors in 1932.

A concrete feeding floor for hogs is easily made and not very costly. Give each 200 pound hog seven to eight square feet of space. Don't waste feed in the mud any longer.

Approximately 780,000 pines of the jack, red and white varieties were planted in Indiana during 1947. The red and white were used for reforestation and windbreak purposes and the jack pine, on waste regions and gullies.

Farmers who use corn driers should be warned to check with their insurance companies to obtain adequate coverage, and to check with their local fuel supplier to be certain they can obtain the needed fuel for the drier.

ORDER NEW TREES

WHILE AVAILABLE

Plan now for that windbreak or reforestation planting by ordering trees early in January before the supplies are exhausted in state nurseries, says J. L. VanCamp extension forester at Purdue University.

Pine trees are satisfactory for most planting jobs on Indiana farms, says the forester. For farmstead windbreaks and controlling gullies or planting on waste land too thin or rough for agricultural crops, red, white, Scotch and jack pines are recommended. In the southern half of the state, Virginia pines do well on poor, thin, shale soils, or shortleaf pines on lightly better soils. neither of these pines are recommended for planting north of U. S. Highway 40, however.

Trees which are ordered in mid-winter are reserved in the state nurseries until the middle of March or early April, depending on weather conditions. They are shipped then, either by truck or express, or can be picked up by the farmer himself. Several days notice is given the farmer before shipment is made.

Trees should be planted as soon as the frost is out of the ground in order that roots will be well-established before the dry summer weather arrives. Directions for planting are given in the "Hoosier Tree Planters' Manual," and the bulletin, "Trees for Reforestation in Indiana" for waste land planting. "Tree Windbreaks for Indiana Farms" gives directions on windbreak planting. All of these bulletins are available free from the office of the county agricultural agent, or from the Purdue University Department of Forestry and Conservation.

QUALITY ROUGHAGE

SAVES GRAINS

Dairy cows producing 6,000 pounds or less milk per year can get from 50 to 75 percent of the required digestible nutrients from good quality roughage. The average yearly production of Indiana dairy cows is approximately 4,000 pounds per year; consequently many dairymen who have plenty of hay and silage do not need to feed large amounts of grain, says G. A. Williams of the Purdue University dairy extension department.

Hay and silage, the natural winter roughages, can supply all nutrients necessary for maintenance and enough additional nutrients for some milk production. However, quality of roughage is important. Cows will eat more of the feeds they like and can masticate readily. For this reason, a cow often eats more silage than hay in relation to her needs.

Succulent silage adds palatability to the ration, but is low in protein, minerals, and total nutrients, so a limit should be placed on daily consumption. A cow will eat more hay if the daily silage consumption is not allowed to exceed two and one-half pounds for each 100 pounds of the animal's weight.

The weight of silage should be determined occasionally. A basketful taken from the middle of the silo weighs more than one taken from the top, and grass or legume silage is heavier than corn silage. Frozen silage from the top or sides of the silo should not be fed until the frost has disappeared.

One hundred pounds of good quality legume hay compares in value to 60 pounds of grain. The daily consumption of hay should be two and one-half to three pounds per 100 pounds of the cow's weight. If both silage and hay are fed, the amount of hay should be one and one-fourth to one and one-half pounds per 100 pounds of weight.

With this roughage program, Williams suggests that high testing breeds receive one pound of grain for each four pounds of milk and low testing breeds, one pound of grain for each six pounds of milk produced per day. Such a feeding schedule for the winter months will meet the needs of cows producing two to three gallons of milk daily and still effect considerable savings in the winter feed bill, says the dairyman.

Aged in Wood

House painters, before ready-mixed paints came on the market, bought their white lead in kegs and raised objections when metal containers were substituted; they claimed that only wood could properly "age" the lead.

The Israelites were given a choice as to whom they would serve; God or the world. (Joshua 24:15) We also have a choice. We have chosen THE WORLD! During the period 1933-45 the American people enjoyed an increase of $318,000,000 in national income, spent $58,000,000,000 more for luxuries and paid $81,000,000,000 more in taxes than for the preceding 13 years. Yet during the same period (1933-45), contributions to churches and related benevolences declined more than $1,000,000,000 below the total for the prior 13 years. The average per capita donation among church members had declined from $20.31 to $13.90. This drop occurred despite a rise in church membership and population!

of these wintry days, the addition of vitamin C may help," according to Miss Lelia Ogle, nutritionist, Indiana State Board of Health.

Canadian scientists working rats and guinea pigs at Quebec University have discovered that only animals whose tissues contained large amounts of vitamin C were able to withstand low temperatures.

"Eat larger amounts of oranges, grapefruit, canned tomatoes and raw cabbage," Miss Ogle advises. "Vitamin C is also found in raw vegetable salads which are frequently eaten in summer but sometimes neglected in winter."

"Cabbage is one of our most plentiful and inexpensive winter vegetables and is rich in vitamin C", Miss Ogle pointed out. "Health and resistance may be bolstered by making these foods a part of the daily diet."

COUNTY TOURNEY PLANS RELEASED

Glen Longenecker, Leesburg high school principal and county basketball tournament chairman, announced Friday that the annual county tourney, involving all of the 14 Kosciusko county high school cage squads, would be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 15, 16 and 17.

The tournament will be played in five sessions, starting with three games on Thursday night. There will be four games Friday afternoon and three more on Friday night. The field will then be cut to four teams, with the semi-final and final sessions scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening, respectively.

The drawings for pairings of teams were to take place in Superintendent Glenn Whitehead's court house office on Monday afternoon, Jan. 5, at 4:30 p. m. At that time, concession rights also were to be awarded to the highest bidding school.

Committee members in charge of the tournament are as follows:

Finance—Milard Taylor, Etna Green Frank Sanders, Claypool, and Fred Blosser, North Webster.

Admissions—Dale Kelley, Mentone, Harold Young, Milford, Dane Snokke, Warsaw, and Glen Longenecker, Leesburg.

Advertising—Dewey Dudgeon, Burkett, and Duard Conrad, Sidney.

House—James Riley, Warsaw, Court Slabaugh, Syracuse and Roland Ferrerda, Beaver Dam.

Officials and properties — Doyle Swanson, Atwood, Owen Frey, Silver Lake and Howard Stouffer, Pierceton.

All of the above mentioned men are county principals. The first man named to each department is chairman of his committee.

Mr. Longenecker announced that the same officials who worked last year's county tourney will be back again this year. They are Robert Waring, Walter Thurston and L. E. Finch, all of Mishawaka. These three men are among the top officials in the state. Thurston and Finch have both worked at the state finals in Indianapolis.

EVERFAITHFUL CLUB MEETS

The Everfaithful Club met at the lovely home of Roselyn Nellans instead of with Frances Marshall the second of January.

The president, Mabel Nellans, presented each member with her program for the new year. After the business meeting was conducted, several gifts were presented from club pals.

The club then enjoyed playing Bug, prizes going to Alice Brugh, first; Mabel Nellans, second, and Sadie Black, third.

Delicious refreshments were then served to fourteen members and one guest.

February 5th we will meet with Nora Tucker.

FORCED TO QUIT FARM, HOLDING SALE SOON

Marshall Eaton, of near Palestine, formerly of this community, has quit farming for the present because of his health, and recently went, with his family, to Mrs. Eaton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Bashore, in Florida. Eaton has not been able to work for some time because of a collapsed lung.

He has a public sale scheduled for January 13. Mrs. Eaton and her father plan to return from Florida temporarily at that time to supervise the sale. Don Michael, who lives on the Eaton farm southeast of Silver Lake, has been helping with the work at the Eaton home.—Silver Lake Record.

Death came very suddenly and was due to a heart attack.

At Thanksgiving time both Dr. and Mrs. Davison had visited her parents and her father seemed quite well at that time, and he and "Doc" did some hunting.

Lois plans on being with her mother for a couple of weeks.

Look whose laughing. Comedian Jerry Colonna quips in an Indianapolis hospital with Mrs. Ileen Thomsen, former Mentone Egg Show Queen, just before her departure for special treatment in Milton, W. Va. Mrs. Thomsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sarber, of Burket and mother of a five-year-old boy, has been in an iron lung since she was stricken during the polio epidemic of 1946. A native of Indiana but now a resident of Fords, N. J. Mrs. Thomsen, like hundreds of other polio patients, is being aided toward recovery by the National foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which derives its funds from the annual March of Dimes appeal January 15-30.

NEW DIESEL ENGINES ON NICKEL PLATE

Perhaps many residents have been aware of a new "tone quality" in the new train whistles on their way thru Mentone. This whistle is borne on the new diesel engines, which pulls passenger trains on the Nickel Plate. It has the new rotating headlights, which makes its approach to crossings a very weird spectacle at night.

LAWRENCE BELL MOTORIZES THE "IRISHMAN'S" BUGGY

The January 10 issue of Business Week has a picture of Lawrence Bell on the front cover. Mr. Bell is a native of Mentone and is head of the Bell Aircraft Corporation at Buffalo, N. Y.

During the war Bell's plants produced thousands of airplanes, but like all aircraft plants, the end of the war left them with large plants and nothing much to manufacture. Bell has been producing many items under sub-contracts but he produced a motor for which he found no commercial sale of consequence. In discussing the situation Bell remarked: "It seems everything has a motor on it except the wheelbarrow." This was lead enough for one of his engineers and they did put a motor on the wheelbarrow. Production starts about February first on the Bell motorized wheelbarrow. It is a three-wheeled affair with a motor capable of moving a half-ton of material up a 20 per cent incline, and, judging from the picture, the affair is self-dumping. The dump bed can be removed to make a truck for moving materials other than cement. The cost: $500 each.

MAY RESTORE OPEN PHEASANT SEASON THIS FALL

The open season on pheasants may be restored in Indiana this year, it was indicated today by John H. Nigh, director of the State Department of Conservation.

Because of the decreasing number of these game birds, the killing of pheasants was banned in the state last year.

The present outlook, however, indicates a five-day open season in 1948, according to Nigh. This hunting period likely will begin November 10 to correspond with the opening of the quail and rabbit seasons.

Donald R. Hughes, state Fish and Game director, said his division plans to release approximately 10,000 hens and 2,000 cock pheasants in early spring, this liberation to take place in fifty northern counties.

The birds are reported to be in good condition and will be ready for release in March unless some sudden disaster—such as heavy ice or winds striking their pens—occurs.

The department liberated approximately 22,000 pheasants in Indiana last year.

Incidentally, one of the poorest rabbit seasons in several years ended

January 10. Hunters reported rabbits difficult to locate in practically all sections of the state.

With the closing of the trapping season at noon today (Jan. 15), trappers were reminded by Conservation Department Officials that they have five days to dispose of their furs. The law provides also that dealers must dispose of their furs and submit reports to the state within sixty days from the end of the season.

Muskrats were scarce but coons were plentiful, according to statewide reports.

A wedding anniversary gift was received by Mrs. Elmer Rathfon from her cheerio pal.

Four visitors and two children were guests and Mrs. Fred Swick was the assisting hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fear, of Mentone, and Mrs. Alice Sumpter, of Warsaw, visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Warren and son Billy, at Warsaw Saturday evening.

Home Economics Meets

Mentone Home Economics was entertained Thursday P.M. Jan 8 in the country home of Mrs. Homer Blue.

The song of the month was "Home On The Range" and was sung by all.

No lesson was given but an extended report of the county presidents meeting recently held, was given by the new president, Mrs. Roy Solman.

Membership cards were signed by all members present and the mystery package was won by Mrs. Earl Smith. Sixteen members responded to roll call by singing a "New Years Resolution".

Club members were divided between the "Odds and Evens" to stimulate a more perfect attendance.

INDIANA'S WAR ON JAP BEETLE STILL GOES ON

The Japanese beetle is still with us, but the State Department of Conservation believes it is keeping this devastating pest pretty well under control.

Approximately 7,000 Japanese beetle traps were placed in most of the large cities in Indiana last year by the department's Division of Entomology, in cooperation with the Federal Department of Agriculture.

A few beetles were caught in five cities—Indianapolis, Ft. Wayne, Hammond, Richmond and Elkhart—but the total number was small. As a result of these findings, eight acres in Hammond and seven acres in Elkhart were sprayed with arsenate of lead.

Frank N. Wallace, State Entomologist, explained that arsenate of lead is used because experience has shown that this treatment is effective for at least ten years after it is applied.

The tiny number of beetles trapped in Indianapolis, Richmond, and Fort Wayne was caught in areas previously treated. Conservation officials pointed out that the beetles are carried into large Indiana railroad and truck centers by vehicles bringing in fruit and vegetables from other states.

Describing 1947 as "about an average Japanese beetle year," Wallace said the traps are installed to discover the location of these pests. Treatment then is applied to the areas where the beetles are found. This has been the Entomology Division's policy since the Japanese beetle first was discovered in Indiana almost fourteen years ago.

Through constant trapping and treating, Indiana has been able to control this pest and avoid a federal quarantine—a costly ban on florists, nurserymen and growers and shippers of fruits and vegetables.

Although it will eat practically anything that grows, the Japanese beetle has a special fondness for almost 250 different plants! Thus its destructive qualities are obvious.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Immune Serum Globulin

Immune serum globulin, which offers a protection against measles, is being distributed by the Indiana State board of Health to Indiana health officers as a result of the increase in the prevalence of measles throughout the state, according to Dr. J. W. Jackson, director, Division of Communicable Diseases Control.

"Immune serum globulin should not be given to every child," Dr. Jackson pointed out. "It should be used primarily for the protection of children under three years of age and debilitated older children who have been exposed to measles cases. It is among infants that 80 percent of deaths from measles occur. Healthy children of school age, 6 to 16 years old, practically never die of measles or its complications. The protective effect of the serum is short—only about three weeks."

"One way to avoid the spread of measles throughout Indiana is to keep children from being exposed," Dr. Jackson said.

City and county health officers in the following counties have requested the serum: Tipton, Lake, Madison, Porter, Howard, Kosciusko, Grant and Blackford. This serum is derived from pooled human plasma collected from blood donated by volunteers for the armed forces.

INTENDED FOR LAST WEEK

WHAT'S NEW IN INDIA?

If ten Indian men were stood in line to represent the population of India, of the ten, seven would be cultivators of the land, one would be a factory worker, the ninth a shopkeeper and the last a businessman, doctor or lawyer. In no other country in the world do so many people depend directly on the land for living, for of India's 400,000,000 people 288,000,000 depend directly on Mother Earth to give them a wage. —Dr. Donald F. Ebright.

One-third of the Christian community of the Udgir district, representing 75% of the Christian village groups, travelled to the village of Digi for the annual Udgir Christian Jarta

(or religious fair) during a recent week . . . On the second night of the jarta the non-Christians requested us to delay the showing of the cinema, "The Life of Christ", for an hour so they could attend. We co-operated. Hundreds of these people completed one of their Hindu festivals and then came on Thursday evening to sit with perfect silence as the story of the Christ of the Cross was told and they saw His Way of Eternal Life offered to all men. —Rev. Paul W. Wagner.

Mrs. Dan Urschel, Mrs. Walter Lackey, Mrs. Walter Fenstermaker, Mrs. Denton Abey, Annabelle Mentzer and Rowena Lackey went to North Manchester last Thursday evening where they enjoyed a program given by Carl Sandburg, noted writer and authority on Lincoln.

No more winter will be fine.

Snyders Appliance

SALUTES HOTPOINT ON ITS MOVE TO CURB INFLATION BY

REDUCING APPLIANCE PRICES NOW!

We are proud to join Hotpoint — One of Nation's Largest Appliance Manufacturers — In fight to preserve the purchasing power of the American Dollar by announcing price cuts of as much as 10% on America's Finest Electric Ranges, Refrigerators, Disposalls and Water Heaters.

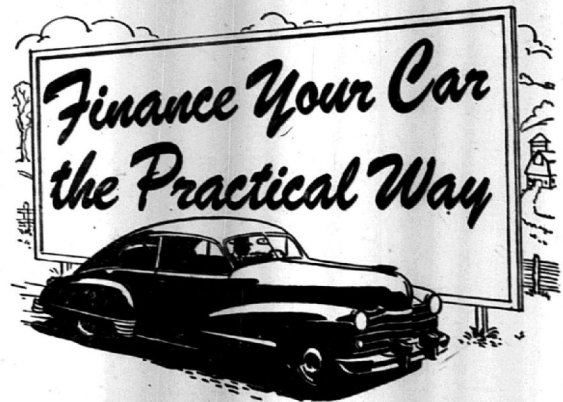

Inflation is very much like the weather in that everybody talks about it but nobody does anything about it. But now Snyder's Appliance Store is joining with Hotpoint—builder of America's finest electric appliances—in doing something about it . . . namely, reducing prices on electric ranges, refrigerators, disposalls and water heaters.

Price reductions at a time like this when appliances like these are so scarce is news in itself. But all the more noteworthy is the fact that these price reductions—which run as high as $20 on some models—are made in the face of the biggest demand for Hotpoint products in the company's history.

Certainly, this is proof that this move is made purely in the public's interest. We consider it an outstanding example of the kind of business statesmanship that has made America the country that it is today and the kind that will continue to lead the way to future greatness.

Snyder's Appliance Store heartily subscribes to this courageous move of Hotpoint's . . . and is glad to be the first in Mentone in this crusade to cut the cost of living.

Mrs. Doris Handy, 35, of Sodus, Michigan, held over as "Master Farmer of the Week".

EMCEE—Joe Kelly.

Woman reigns supreme over all farm experts ever to appear on R. F. D. AMERICA so far.

Mrs. Doris Handy, 35, a farm wife from Sodus, Michigan, walked away with all the honors (as well as a vacuum cleaner, a set of Club Aluminum, a milking machine, and a rotary power mower) on last week's show—and defeated her three competitors to win the title of "Master Farmerette" of the Week.

Although each R. F. D. panel has included one woman, and four of them have reached the final round, Mrs. Handy is the first woman to win over the male contingent in the crucial last session. In winning the title, she won over the Master Farmer from Kentucky, who, in turn, on previous programs, had eliminated Master Farmers (all male) from Illinois, Ohio and Kansas.

Mrs. Handy is smart . . . and quick. She's the mother of five, a college graduate, a former home economics teacher, and her extensive travels have taken her to many parts of the country, Canada and Cuba. She'll be a real threat to three farmers from Kiowa County, Oklahoma, her competitors on next week's show (Thursday, January 15, at 9:30 p. m. EST over Mutual).

The Oklahomans, headlining next week's show are an interesting and unusual lot.

Tully Morrison is a full-blooded Creek Indian. His wife is a Kiowa Indian girl, the grand-daughter of Santanta, one of the last Kiowa Indian War Chiefs, who died as a prisoner of war.

Tully is a graduate of Bacone College, and is a former professional baseball player. He has a swimming pool and a pond where he produces fish. However, principal products on his 320-acre farm are wheat, cotton, poultry and cattle. He lives in a white community . . . is a leader in community activities . . . and writes for the Farmer-Stockman, and important farm magazine in the Southwest.

Mrs. Loezell Miller represents the pioneer type woman who helped build this country. She and her husband, with no capital of their own, purchased their farm through the Farm Security Administration. By hard work and good management they paid for it, and added 160 acres.

Edward Ferrell is a "Flying Farmer." He owns his own plane, which he flies for both business and pleasure. A former student of Oklahoma A & M, a member of the school board and the Farm Bureau, he carries on both farm and ranch operations on his 1360-acre farm.

Origin of Percheron

After the battle of Tours, in which Charles Martel defeated the Saracens in 732, many Saracen horses were taken as spoils of war. On the pastures of northern France, particularly in the old district of La Perche, these fine animals were crossed with the mares of Brittany. Hence the origin of the Percheron.

Equinoctial Storms

Stormy weather in March and September at the time of the equinoxes is caused because at these times there is generally the greatest difference between day and night temperatures. This tends to favor heavy development of clouds and other factors which bring wind and rain.

HIGH PROTEIN HYBRID CORN

A new hybrid corn which contains over 50% more protein than standard hybrids has been developed by Oren Bolin, Lowe Seed Company, Aroma Park, Illinois, it was revealed recently by Laurence Lowe, President. The announcement is verified by Dr. Edward L. Hill, director of Augustana Research Foundation Laboratories, Rock Island, Illinois, who has been working with Mr. Bolin on the project. Mr. Bolin is research director for Lowe Seed Company, who pioneered in the development and improvement of both yellow and white hybrid corn.

The high protein content is a result of 10 years of corn breeding work by Bolin in transferring the protein genes to the new hybrid, which is called PRO-PAK. The present national average of protein content in corn is 8.3 per cent. Laboratory tests show that the new PRO-PAK Hybrid contains 14% to 16% with some experiments of the strain running as high as 20.4% content. This corn was grown on ordinary soil without use of excess nitrogen or other fertilizer. The new hybrid will eliminate a criticism of hybrid corn and will be of great importance to the farmer and feeder since the protein content of corn throughout the country has decreased during the last decade largely because high yields have taken considerable nitrogen from the land.

In limited feeding experiments conducted on the Lowe farms, it was found that the animals do not eat less of the high protein corn, but when given access to protein supplement, they take from six to seven pounds less of protein supplement for each 100 pounds gain. Though the new PRO-PAK hybrid will not eliminate the need for feeding protein supplement it will mean a big saving for the farmer-feeder because it will enable them to raise more of their own protein feed rather than buy it. Mr. Bolin also has additional information on the quality and quantity of amino acids present in the high protein corn. This data will be available for feed and cereal manufacturers and other processors of corn products that may be interested in the new development.

The high protein hybrid experiment was started approximately a decade ago when Mr. Bolin took good medium corn belt lines and crossed them with four pedigree selections from Illinois high protein corn. This Illinois high protein corn was started in 1896 by Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, head of the department of agronomy at the University of Illinois, using open pollinated varieties. The analysis of the four individual ears selected as non-recurrent parent varied from 17 to 20 percent. Inbred lines were crossed with the four selections, back crossed to the line until each line was 97 per cent the same as it was in the beginning. This took one year to make the original crosses and four succeeding years for back crosses.

Protein content, as determined by chemical analysis on individual ears for each generation of back crossing, decided which one should be used for further inbreeding work. The work over a period of 10 years, plus the tremendous job of keeping records, together with the thousands of chemical tests, have made this experiment quite costly in both time and money. However, it is felt that perhaps this is the greatest forward improvement in hybrid corn development since hybrids themselves were discovered.

Experiments showed that highest protein content came from samples grown on high nitrogen soils, but the high protein hybrid was always 50 per cent higher than a checked hybrid grown on the same soil, either poor or good. The protein content of any corn will vary 1 to 2 per cent, depending on the fertility of the soil. In no way is the yield, standability, or other characteristics changed with the development of this high-protein hybrid.

At this time the Lowe Seed Company, which is one of the larger producers of hybrid corn, has adapted the hybrid only to the central maturity zone. Later it will be adapted to other zones and in both yellow and white corn. There are only a few hundred bushels of the PRO-

PAK Hybrid available for next year's planting and it will not be offered for sale in quantity. Samples of the high protein corn on hand will be available for use in trial plots throughout the corn belt.

Galatians 6:14

DO YOU KNOW?

THAT all men are going to be judged by the word of God? (John 12:48). So that makes the word of God the ONLY rule of faith and practice. Can you verify your faith and life by the Word?

THAT Jesus says, "God is a Spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24). "In spirit" means in sincerity; "in truth" means according to the New Testament.

THAT it is possible to worship God in vain? God recognizes only one form of worship. Jesus said, "But in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men" (Matt. 15:9).

THAT God "Now commandeth all men everywhere to repent; because he has appointed a day in which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he has given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead" (Acts 17:30, 31).

"THAT the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ" (II Thess. 1:7, 8).

STATE DEPARTMENTS WILL GIVE CLUBS GAME BIRD CHICKS

Day old game birds will be supplied to conservation clubs this year without charge, Indiana Department of Conservation officials announced today.

Quail and pheasant chicks will be furnished to all clubs holding educational breeders' permits, but the state does not make payment for the rearing and liberation of birds. According to Donald R. Hughes, director of the Division of Fish and Game, dwindling income and higher prices make it impossible to offer clubs money for raising birds. This program was discontinued last year through economic necessity.

Pheasant chicks will be supplied to Parke, Putnam, Vermillion, Hendricks, Marion, Hancock, Henry and Wayne counties, and to all counties north of this sector. Quail chicks will be furnished only to counties south of this area. March 1, 1948, is the deadline for chick requests. Chicks for two "E" brooders will be supplied each club with 120 birds to the brooder, Hughes said and the Division of Fish and Game plans to send out pheasant eggs while they last—upon written request.

FREEZE OR SELL LOAFER HENS

Four non-producing hens put in the freezer now will save a pound of feed a day for the next ten months, says Ernest W. Anderson, extension poultryman at Purdue University. A loafing hen eats about 70 to 80 pounds of feed a year, which, at present prices, makes an impressive feed bill.

His advice to poultry raisers is to cull and sell the loafer hens in a laying flock. However, poultrymen should not permit present high prices to discourage them from keeping as many layers on hand as can be managed efficiently.

One of the managerial skills necessary to profitable production of eggs and poultry is the ability to look over the layers and cull the loafers from the flock, Anderson explains.

Culling requires close attention to the comb conditions and pigment changes which occur when a hen goes out of production. A layer has a full, red, waxy comb. A non-layer usually has a smaller comb which is dull in color. In the yellow-skinned breeds, layers deposit the yellow color they get from their feed into the egg yolks, rather than in their skin; consequently, eye rings, beaks, and shanks fade from lack of replacement color. When the hen stops laying and no egg yolks are produced, the yellow color comes back into the eye rings and beak in about a month. Anderson's conclusion is, "When a hen becomes a slacker, she shows her yellow color." —

Rev. R. C. Plank, pastor of the Warsaw Methodist church and a very talented speaker, spoke before the Mentone Lions Club Wednesday evening. The reverend has that certain way of expressing himself that really keeps the attention of everyone.

During the course of the business session Lion President McKinley announced the following appointments to serve on the committee for the softball association this year. They were: Elmore Fenstermaker, H. V. Johns, Leo Valentine, Devon Hirschman, Delford Nelson, Wm. Schooley, Guido Shirey, Arlo Friesner and Ora McKinley.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS PARTY

The CB's Sunday School class of the Methodist church held a class party at the home of Judy Clutter, Jan. 19. After a short business meeting, games were enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Irwin, Dawn Ware, Georgia Nicodemus, Marjorie Mollenhour, Judy Clutter, Jackie Blue and Carol Peterson.

The members of the Psi Iota Xi Sorority are taking their "turns" helping each day with the school lunch, thus taking care of one phase of their club program, which is charitable work.

As there were not sufficient funds, it was necessary to reduce the paid kitchen help to two members, which meant that there was too great a burden on these two, even though school children helped with the routine work. At this point the Psi Iota Xi volunteered to help.

There have been several offers of help from persons outside the sorority, which have been accepted gladly. Any person who would like to help in the kitchen and aid in this worth-while project may call Lucille Teel for further information.

MRS. EMMA G. HOWARD
DIES AT LAFAYETTE

Mrs. Emma G. Howard, of Winona Lake, aged 70, died at 1:30 a. m. Monday at the Home hospital at Lafayette, where she was admitted for treatment following a stroke of paralysis sustained Thursday. She had been in failing health for the past two years.

She was a life-long resident of this county, having been born near this place April 16, 1877, the daughter of George and Julia (Kern) Graff. June 29, 1910, she was married to James Howard, who died July 14, 1947. Before her marriage, she had been an instructor in the Burket and Mentone schools. Mr. Howard, who was a rural mail carrier, and Mrs. Howard, moved from Burket to Winona Lake in 1933.

The deceased was a member of the Winona Lake Presbyterian church and was affiliated with the Kosciusko county organization of the Mothers of Marines and the Auxiliary to the Rural Mail Carriers' Association.

Surviving relatives include her children, three sons, Boyd and Boyce of Warsaw and Bruce of Wabash, and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Umbaugh, of West Lafayette; also five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at two p. m. Wednesday at the Winona Lake Presbyterian church, with Rev. William H. Davies in charge. Burial was in the Palestine cemetery.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Horn, of near Warsaw, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Griffiths, of Mentone, last Sunday, the occasion being in honor of the birthdays of Mrs. Horn and Mrs. Griffiths, who have celebrated their birthdays together for more than 30 years. Mrs. Pearl Mahoney, who has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Griffiths, was a guest, also.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

The condition of Virgil Hile, of Akron but formerly of Mentone, was reported Saturday as unchanged. Mr. Hile was removed to the Veterans' hospital, Indianapolis, last week.

Mr. Hile has had several strokes, according to reports.

BRIGHTER FUTURE PREDICTED FOR POULTRYMEN

Announcement was made this week that improvement is in store for the nation's poultrymen, provided they follow along the lines suggested by U. S. Department of Agriculture officials, the American Feed Manufacturers' Association, the International Baby Chick Association and prominent poultrymen.

The slogan presented to the nation is "Sell an old hen and buy three pullet chicks early."

Extremely heavy marketing and liquidation of poultry flocks indicates there will be heavy demand for both eggs and poultry meat this fall, and while attempting to make the available feed hold out and still prevent too heavy a shortage this fall, men in the industry feel that marketing of the less productive birds now and investing that amount of money and feed into young pullets will do the trick. They claim the feed one old hen would normally consume is sufficient to rear three to four pullet chicks to the laying period. This would permit the lapse of enough time to have the coming grain crop to feed the pullets once they reach the laying period.

The one important point in the program, as we understand it from the original announcement, is to buy the pullet chicks early and get them into production as early in the year as possible.

This information will be good news to all poultrymen, as there is no question but that conditions the past year haven't been too good financially.

TALK OF P. T. A. GROUP HERE

There have been a number of individuals at Mentone discussing the advisability of organizing a Parent-Teacher organization here, and arrangements are being made to secure a speaker from the state office to meet with a group here, according to a statement made by Mrs. Harold Markley Tuesday. Even though most folks are familiar with the work of the P. T. A., Mrs. Markley and her interested friends would appreciate the opinions of the school patrons regarding organizing here.

id, that is "good", until February 29, 1948.

Persons whose birthdays fall on any day in January or February 1948 must renew their licenses by February 29.

Persons whose birthdays fall in other months may use their present license until the last day of the month which contains their birthday. As an example—John Doe's birthday is August 24. He may use his present drivers license until the last day of August, but sometime during August and before the final day of the month he must apply for his new operators license.

The new license will be for two years and will cost $1.25. The application for the new license must be made IN PERSON by the applicant to the nearest automobile license bureau.

"The Birth Month" schedule of license issuance is only for operators licenses, that is private drivers licenses. Chauffeurs licenses and passenger chauffeurs license must all be renewed by February 29, 1948.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Bath explained, is starting a very technical and complete method of keeping a permanent record of all drivers licenses. Much complicated machinery and filing systems is used to do this.

This system will show in the future all the accidents and traffic law violations of each motorist who holds a drivers license issued by the state of Indiana.

By consulting this permanent record system and using the results it shows it will be possible to weed out those motorists who have proved themselves to be mentally or physically dangerous as drivers.

It has been proved, Bath said, that a small group of drivers cause most of the highway accidents. If a substantial part of this minority group of dangerous drivers can be controlled, Bath pointed out, most of the accidents can be prevented.

TRY NEW SYSTEM ON DRIVERS' LICENSES

An appeal to Indiana motorists to assist the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in the program it is launching to reduce highway accidents was made in Indianapolis recently by Thomas E. Bath, secretary of state.

Bath, who has supervision of the bureau, said in explaining the new schedule for issuance of drivers licenses this year:

"The co-operation, patience and understanding of Indiana motorists will do much to help the Bureau of Motor Vehicles succeed with its effort to promote a new degree of safety on the roads in our state.

"Without the wholehearted assistance and support of the motorists themselves it would be difficult, if not indeed impossible, for the bureau to make satisfactory progress with its safety program."

As a part of the motor vehicles bureau's new safety program a plan under which drivers will renew their operator's licenses in the month in which their birthday falls instead of by a set date for all drivers has been adopted. Here is how it works:

All present drivers licenses are val-

WHAT'S NEW IN INDIA?

India has some very able men at her head, and she is already making strides along the pathway of her newly acquired freedom. Almost her first action was to champion the cause of the Indonesians before the United Nations organization. Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, well-known poetess and political leader, has been appointed acting governor of the great United Provinces. Another daughter of India, Mrs. Laxmi Pandit, has been appointed as her first Ambassador to Russia, and the same lady leads the India delegation at the meeting of the U. N. India may forge ahead of the West in many important directions. The "Unchanging East" has become a misnomer! —Rev. James R. Boyles

As president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of India, Mrs. Satyavati S. Chitambar, of Lucknow, widow of Bishop J. R. Chitambar of the Methodist church, has called upon all the people of India to conserve food because of the famine condition now threatening parts of the country, an especially to cease the use of grain for alcoholic beverages during the emergency period. "We appeal to the public in general and to the patriots, the well-wishers of the country in particular, to take a strong stand against this awful waste of foodstuffs," she says.

In the past, thousands turned to Christianity because it was their only hope. Conversions from those lowly groups may be called the "direct" result of Christian effort. But today liberal Hindus are saying that "untouchability" must go. Christian schools and colleges, wide distribution of the Scriptures, and the example of the Christian community have resulted in "indirect" Christian influences and attitudes. When Hindus open a conference for Jarijans (Gandhi's name for Untouchables, meaning "Child of God"), we see a movement that cannot be weighed or measured. Have foreign missions been worth the cost? How many converts can you count? But the number of converts can in no measure indicate the height and depth of the Christian missionary enterprise. As much as we rejoice over the saving of a soul we know that the indirect influence of Christianity has been tremendous. All the great reforms in India have had their stimulation from Christianity.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

More people were born in Indiana in 1947 than in the preceding year and a few more deaths occurred, according to provisional figures released today by Robert E. Sterling, director Division of Public Health Statistics, Indiana State Board of Health.

"The crude birth rate shows the greater increase jumping from 22.5 in 1946 to 25.0 in 1947", Mr. Sterling pointed out. "However, births during the latter part of 1947 were fewer than in the same period of 1946, indicating that the peak of the post-war increase has been passed. Only a slight increase has shown in the death rate which was 10.5 last year and 10.2 in 1946.

The crude rates were calculated from estimated populations for 1946 and 1947.

Fewer babies died last year as compared to the preceding year. The crude infant mortality rate was 29.9 in 1947 and 31.7 in 1946. The lives of more mothers were saved in 1947 as shown by the maternal death rate which decreased from 1.5 in 1946 to 1.1 in 1947.

"It's made of those new light metals!"

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

We'd like to be thinking about the pleasant side of the great outdoors at this time, but a headline we saw about a month or so back keeps casting a dark shadow. It read: "5 Hunters Die As Minnesota Opens Season."

That, in a few words, tells today's horrible story of carelessness by hunters. We had hoped this season would be different, that hunters at last realized that firearms are deadly weapons. But from the opening day figures, it's apparently going to be the same old story. In 1946 Minnesota reported 31 hunting deaths; Michigan showed 24, Ohio 29. Those are only examples, for deaths were reported in most states.

It is time we started treating our guns as the death-dealing pieces they are so we can eliminate the "stray bullet" deaths that counted three victims in Minnesota opening day. And, let's not take unnecessary risks afield to avoid a duplication of the drownings that accounted for the two other deaths. We can learn—and follow—the rules of safety, and we can teach our youngsters the proper method of handling firearms. That's not too much to ask in making the outdoors a sane and safe playground.

TIP OF THE WEEK: Most of us enjoy gunning for rabbits, for it is great sport whether you jump-shoot the cottontails or follow the trail with the beagle. But we don't want to overlook the danger of tularemia. Never shoot a rabbit that is listless and inactive. That's a sign of the disease. And be sure to wear rubber gloves when cleaning the animals to avoid contact with the blood that might be infected.

FACTS 'N' FIGURES: We've heard of tagging pheasants, quail, waterfowl and fish, but here's a new one. Scientists of the Department of Interior have put metal tags on the flippers of nearly 20,000 seal pups in the north Pacific in their investigation of the migration routes and food habits of the Alaskan fur seal herd. . . . From Michigan also comes a release which refutes the opinion that deer were larger in the "good old days" as the saying goes. A check of records at a cold storage plant disclosed the deer average about the same as a decade ago. . . . In 1938 they averaged dressed and ready for storage, 116 pounds; the 1940 average was 112 pounds, and 113 pounds in 1943. . . . Nearly 3,000 elk were killed during the first half of the season in the St. Joe, Clearwater, and Selway areas of Idaho. About 9,000 hunters were reported in the area. . . . A few guides in British Columbia will take you on a spring grizzly hunt on a "no bear-no pay" basis. Spring hunting in B. C. is the best. Pelts, also, are better then.

ON THE CONSERVATION FRONT:

Enforcing the regulations that protect our waterfowl resources is a tough problem. Upping the federal duck stamp to $2, with the extra dollar going to enforcement agencies, would help. Another method might be the expansion of a program recently launched in the Chesapeake Bay area. A new Piper Cub Cruiser seaplane has been given the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service by the Wildlife Management Institute for use in the Chesapeake area for apprehending waterfowl trappers, poachers and other violators. Funds for the plane were contributed by citizens interested in the future of American Waterfowl.

With the use of a rented plane on floats, federal enforcement officers already have broken up some of the commercialized duck trapping operations.

Mentone lost a thrilling game to Warsaw, 38-35, in Mentone's first game in the county tourney. It was close all the way with Warsaw ahead 12 to 8 at the end of the first quarter. Mentone came back fast in the last few seconds of the second quarter, but was still behind 15 to 14. Warsaw was still one point ahead at the end of the third period 24-23. Mentone put on a desperate attempt in the last quarter and almost had the game won, but in the last few seconds Warsaw forged ahead with a three-point lead.

"Most bird dogs are NOT as brainy as Professor Einstein. Fact is, in many ways they're pretty dumb!" writes Mahry Anderson, veteran sportsman and dog-lover, in the current OUTDOORSMAN magazine.

LOCAL AGENT TO ATTEND
FARM BUREAU INS. SCHOOL

Gordon T. Brubaker, Co-Op. Bldg., Kosciusko County Farm Bureau insurance agent, will attend a 2-day school on up-to-date insurance practices at Indianapolis, January 22 and 23, 1948.

This school is one of a year-long series of such meetings, started this year, to give Indiana Farm Bureau Insurance agents two days packed full of facts and information on how to make Farm Bureau service the best there is in insurance.

It is planned that this program of schools will develop into a school for new agents and will give them first a basic course followed by an advance course about 30 days later.

At the American Institute of Life Insurance held in New York last November, it was recommended that the insurance industry set up such a training program to promote human relations and public relations. By this method, it was pointed out, agents will appreciate the problems of the home office and the home office personnel will know the problems of the agent. The net result would be better insurance service to the policyholder.

When this announcement was made, the Hoosier schools had already been planned by the Farm Bureau Companies. Farmers can be proud of their companies which are showing the way in this revolutionary movement to protect their future financial security.

Agents who satisfactorily complete the training school will receive a diploma to show that they are prepared to give the farmers of their county the best insurance service available.

Heart disease and its complications rank above any other condition as a cause of death and disability in our population today, and increasing attention is being directed toward research in these fields. The American Heart Association is conducting a vigorous campaign for funds to further such research. National Heart Week, beginning February 8th, has been created in order to increase public interest in this subject.

HOWDY FOLKS: Had a fellow from the mountains here the other afternoon, talking about the strong hogs they have down there. Seems they were blasting stumps in the barnyard one day, and the hog ate a box of dynamite. Well, the hog wandered too close to a mule and got kicked. The dynamite exploded, killed the mule, blew up the barn, took the roof off the house, and that hog was sick for a week.

One of my old girl friends was in town the other day and dropped in to see me. When I told my wife about it, she asked me if Bonnie had kept her girlish figure all these years. "Kept it," I said, "she's doubled it."

NEW TRUCKS ON DISPLAY BY POULSON

A new line of Ford trucks was being shown to the public for the first time Friday by Donald D. Poulson, Etna Green, Ind. The streamlined 1948 models, completely new from the wheels up, represent the first post-war product of Ford.

J. D. Ball, director of the truck and fleet sales department, said the new trucks are notable for an unprecedented range of models and capacities as well as many engineering changes.

Two new series—F-7 and F-8—are the largest ever manufactured by Ford. They have maximum gross vehicle weights of 19,000 and 21,500 pounds, respectively. Another new series is the six-cylinder cab-over-engine model.

Three new power plants are available for the new trucks—a 95-horsepower six-cylinder engine, a 100-horsepower V-8, and a 145 horsepower V-8.

The new trucks are attractively styled without losing ruggedness necessary for good performance and long life. Radiator grille and headlights are recessed in a functional pattern in the modern front end which contributes to massive appearance and gives added protection.

Greater front end strength has been achieved through improved sheet-metal suspension and heavier construction. Fenders are heavier, wider and of a new design which provides greater tire clearance. Another design advancement is a heavy channel-steel front bumper attached directly to extend frame side rails. The bumper is, in effect, an extra cross member providing greater rigidity and impact strength.

Driver comfort is one of the first considerations in the new trucks. Advanced cab design provides living room comfort with more space and better ventilation.

The new cabs provide up to seven inches greater width and also more headroom. The door has been moved forward to provide better clearance when leaving and entering. Weather-proofing has been improved and the hardware is heavier.

A one-piece windshield provides increased visibility. The rear window has been enlarged. Other cab improvements include new coach-type seats with improved cushions, ash tray, dispatch box, sun visor and a three-way all control system.

The complete line of 1948 trucks includes: The nominally rated half-ton series of 114-inch wheelbase with a deluxe delivery model and standard pickup, panel and stake bodies; three-quarter ton regular and heavy-duty series, 122-inch wheelbase with express and stake bodies; one-ton, 134-inch wheelbase series with stake body and single or dual rear tires available; one and one-half-ton heavy-duty series with 134 and 148-inch wheelbase; two-ton heavy-duty series with 134 and 158-inch wheelbase.

One and one-half-ton heavy-duty cab-over-engine series with 110, 134, and 158-inch wheelbase; two-ton heavy-duty cab-over-engine series of 110, 134 and 158-inch wheelbase; 30 to 36 passenger school bus chassis with 158-inch wheelbase.

Forty-two to 48-passenger school bus chassis with 194-inch wheelbase; the extra-heavy-duty two and one-half-ton on 135, 159 and 195-inch wheelbase and the three-ton on the same wheelbase lengths.

YOU CANNOT FIND IT!

Do you have a desire to follow the teachings of the New Testament in your religious life? Do you accept the Bible as your rule of faith and practice? If so, you will be interested in the following:

Did you know that there is not a single case of sprinkling for baptism in the Bible? Find it. You may read every word in the New Testament and yet not find one example of sprinkling. They simply didn't baptize that way then. If you sprinkle for baptism then you will have to justify it on some other ground. The New Testament doesn't mention it. John Calvin said: "The word 'baptizo' signified to immerse and it is certain that immersion was the practice of the ancient church." Mede also said, "There was no such thing as sprinkling used in baptism in the apostles' times, nor for many ages after them."

Baptism requires much water (Jno. 3:23); going to the water (Acts 8:36; going into the water (Acts 8:38); a burial (Col. 2-12); a resurrection or raising (Rom. 6:4); and a coming up out of the water (Acts 8:39). In sprinkling, much water is not needed, they usually bring the water—don't go to it, they don't go down into the water, there is no burial and no being raised and coming up out of the water. On all New Testament tests, sprinkling comes short.

SWINE BREEDERS ELECT

Eighteen of the county's 43 swine breeders, meeting Monday afternoon at the county extension office at Warsaw, picked Robert Merkle, Claypool, and Leroy Norris, of this place, as president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the breeders' policy committee.

The committee promotes 4-H club work and backs breeders' sales.

It was announced that a Hampshire sale would be held March 3 at the fairgrounds, Warsaw, and that breeders would be asked their opinion about the possibility of holding an all-breeds sale.

It was reported to the breeders that James Ranstead, Warsaw, who displayed the grand champion fat barrow at the county fair last fall, has selected as his award from the breeders a gilt from the Duroc herd of Leslie Orr, Pierceton.

Named to a committee to select the awards for the annual 4-H barrow champ at the fair were Darrel Phillips, Warsaw; Leroy Norris, Mentone; Sam Knoop, Claypool, and Sherman Deaton, Syracuse.

A committee was also named to map plans for the county fair fat barrow show. Members chosen were Maurice Crow, Syracuse; Ed Severns, Mentone, and Guy Vanator, Claypool.

COUNTRY NEIGHBORS HOME EC. CLUB

The Country Neighbors' Home Economics club held its January meeting at the home of Mrs. Arlene Walters. Mrs. Dora Norris was the assisting hostess.

The new president, Mrs. Helen Notz, opened the meeting with the pledge to the flag. The history of "Home on the Range," (the song of the month), was read and the song was sung by all. Roll call was answered with, "A nice Christmas gift I received." A short business session was then held. The white elephant auction we were to have turned out to be a bake sale.

Marie Rathfon and Uda Maxwell won the contest prizes.

The hostess served tasty refreshments to 22 members, three guests and seven children.

Tuesday at the Center Evangelical United Brethren church, of which she was a member. Rev. G. H. Champlin was in charge and burial was in the Silver Lake cemetery.

Mrs. Whittenberger was stricken just as she entered the house after doing some chores on the farm, which is located one mile west of the Center church.

The deceased was born east of Silver Lake, Nov. 9, 1878, the daughter of James and Martha Ann (Rowland) Gill. As Margaret LaVerna Gill, she and Mr. Whittenberger were married Dec. 25, 1895.

Surviving relatives include her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Erba Wilcox, of Piercetown, and Mrs. June Borden, of Logansport; three brothers, John Gill, of Warsaw, James Gill of Mentone, and Elmer Gill, of Cromwell; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

VICTOR LANTZ TO RETURN HOME

Lantz was formerly a member of the 35th Infantry Regiment of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division commanded by Major General Charles L. Mullins, Jr.

He entered the Army on Sept. 25, 1946 and received his basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky. He departed for overseas duty on Dec. 9, 1946 and upon his arrival in Japan was assigned to the 25th Division.

Placed in the various business houses are milk bottles whose labels call your attention to the drive for friends to aid in the worthwhile cause of polio. So far, these containers are not running over, in fact, they are quite noticeably "unfilled."

Don't fail to do a little more than your share in this important drive for money. If you are not convinced, talk to the parents of children who have had polio treatments. You will learn just what is being done to help these victims of polio.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Earl Davis had a close call on last Tuesday at the Nickel Plate crossing in Tippecanoe when his Farm Bureau coal truck and a Nickel Plate engine "tangled."

Earl was just ready to cross the tracks when he became aware of the train, which was nearly at the crossing. He applied the brakes, and the truck stopped short of the tracks, leaving the front bumper exposed to the oncoming train.

The truck was very much torn apart but the heavy load of coal evidently saved it from being "whipped" into the side of the speeding train. Earl escaped without serious injury.

GOVERNMENT EGG SUPPORT

It is reported that the government support of egg prices is expected to start Feb. 1. It is also expected that the support price will be higher than last year.

With the extremely heavy marketing of poultry and much disease in laying flocks in the east, the New York markets are looking to the Mentone area for a larger share of their eggs this spring. The price is expected to be higher.

ENJOY RECIPROCITY MEETING

Several members of the Mentone Reading Club went to Akron last Friday evening as guests of the Akron Mothers Study Club. As it was a reciprocity meeting the program was furnished by the Mentone club. This was very capably handled by Mrs. Walter Lackey who reviewed the book, "The Chequer Board."

EGG SHOW COMMITTEE MEETS

About 17 members of the egg show committee met Monday evening to discuss plans for the 1948 show.

About a year ago following the 1947 show, it was decided to change the date of the show from March to September or October, and as a consequence, there will be no show in March as it has been custom in the past.

COON HUNTERS GIVEN FEED

During the coon hunting season the local boys agreed to give a dollar to the hunter catching the biggest 'coon during the season. Henry Konneck was the winner, so, as a treat to the boys, he gave them all a steak supper at the Mentone Cafe Wednesday evening. There were about 20 hunters and guests present. They decided to make it an annual affair and Erm McGowen was elected president of their organization.

CARELESSNESS MAKES FARMS DANGEROUS FOR CHILDREN

Farmers are the only workers who take their children to work with them, which accounts in part for the large number of accidents to farm children.

This was one of the many thought-provoking observations made by Dr. H. H. Young, of the Mayo Clinic, in his address "A Doctor Views the Farm Accident Situation" at the sixth annual Indiana Farm Safety Conference, held recently in connection with the annual State Agricultural and Home Economics Associations and Rural Youth days at Purdue University.

Dr. Young said it was not the custom among punch press, drill press, and lathe operators or other industrial workers to take their offspring to work with them, yet farmers not only bring their young, but permit them to participate in operating machinery, moving animals, and handling farm implements. Sometimes the results have been fatal.

He said farmers must be educated to the urgency of a farm safety program, of reducing hazards, of training employees in the proper handling of equipment, and, above all, of keeping children away from men and machines at work.

BONDED AND LICENSED BUYER

Trucks available at all times. Loren L. Tridle, Buyer.

Carelessness can make a farm one of the most dangerous places, and farming one of the most hazardous occupations in the world. Quoting from a study of farm accidents that he has compiled with Dr. Ralph K. Ghormley, Dr. Young pointed out that accurate and complete statistics on farm accidents in this country are not available, but, he said, in the nine years from 1935 through 1943, there were 575 farm injuries treated at the Mayo Clinic—an average of 64 accidents a year at one clinic alone.

He explained that falls and resultant fractures led all recorded farm injuries. The most common ones are falls from farm machinery, then haymows, buildings, stairs, horses, on ice and off ladders, scaffolds and out of trees. Cases include patients who had been impaled on pitchfork handles—but not one instance of injury with the pitchfork tines, which farmers handle with precaution.

Farm machinery was a close second in causes of farm accidents. Dr. Young said there were no hospital deaths in this group but that the morbidity or infection rate was extremely high. A third of the patients suffered from shock, as a result of amputation of a part or the whole of one or more extremities. The tractor caused the largest single group of accidents, followed by the corn picker, corn shredder and buzz saw. In his report, Dr. Young cited exceedingly tragic instances when farmers attempted to step across a moving belt or flywheel and became entangled in the machinery.

He listed livestock as the third most frequent cause of farm accidents, with a mortality rate of five percent. He said the horse has proved to be the most dangerous animal on the farm, because they are handled more often, but less carefully and with less respect than is the bull.

Miscellaneous accidents and burns implement wounds, falling trees and follow. The former includes ax and unclassified injuries. Most burns occur through thoughtless use of gasoline and kerosene. To all of this, Dr. Young added the danger of gas gangrene and tetanus.

Dr. Young said that in spite of medical and surgical advances many injuries are utterly hopeless. The best cure lies in prevention, and a sustained educational program. He said other industries are compelled by law to provide safety devices for their employees, and care and compensation for the injured, measures the farmers have to insure for themselves.

Catching all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

We may be accused of partaking of the old adage about "sour grapes" but, nonetheless, we are launching a campaign to have the name of the Kamloops Rainbow Trout in Idaho's famed Lake Pend Oreille changed. And the reason for suggesting a change is simple. Every time we read about another giant rainbow of 30-odd pounds being hooked in the western paradise it makes us a little ashamed of the two and three-pounders that we've been able to coax onto a fly.

We're open to suggestions on an appropriate name, but it should be a name that throws the Kamloops into a category where it will compete with the muskie or northern pike for weight honors. Do we hear any seconds for the campaign?

For the record, here are the latest facts on Lake Pend Oreille: During 1947, 366 rainbows were entered in the Pend Oreille Derby for awards. They ranged in weight from two to 37 pounds, with a gross weight of 8165 pounds for an average of 22½ pounds per fish. Seven of the trout exceeded the former world record of 32½ pounds with the 37-pounder, caught in the last week of the season, establishing the high mark and the new world's record.

We can't even catch a muskie that large, let alone a rainbow trout!

COOPERATION NEEDED: Before meeting about the hunting season, ask one of those blank forms on waterfowl that all the outdoor magazines published it for reporting the number of ducks and geese you killed, the number of waterfowl you saw, etc. The form was designed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service for collecting much-needed data on the total waterfowl population and other information essential to better waterfowl management.

And if you happened to have killed a barred goose or duck, be sure and report it to the Wildlife Service, Washington, D. C. The bureau will appreciate your cooperation and you will be playing a part in protecting our future gunning for water fowl.

OLD ARGUMENT: We've heard sportsmen for many years argue the question: "How fast does a fish grow?" We don't profess to be an expert on this subject, but recently we ran across a report on the growth of a bluegill in an experimental lake in Ohio. This bluegill measured 1.1 inches in the first year, 2.9 inches in the second year, 4.4 inches in the third year and 5.2 inches the fourth year. The growth of the fish's scales was used to determine the age of the bluegill and, according to the guys in the know, the scale-growth is accurate in determining ages of fish.

THE "EX-G. I."

IT'S BEEN SAID before, but Paul Gallico in his own inimitable style says it better:

"I realize that to some extent it is because the late war is still close to us. If some day I were to be so unfortunate as to be nailed in the act, I do not believe the boys would go back to my World War I record and headline — 'Gallico, Ex-Gunner's Mate, Caught Stealing Pencils From Blind Mendicant,' though it seems to me it would make as much sense almost as the present-day constant reference to the ex-G. I. in the news."

Gallico is "baffled (and so are we) and a little grieved that so many newspapers continue to refer to the bandit who knocks off a Third Avenue bar and grill, the character who solves his marital problems with a cleaver, the sucker trapped by detectives in possession of the wrong blonde, the bigamist nailed with an extra frau or two, the bank teller who has packed the little bag full of the company's spinach and dusted off to the race track, etc., as an 'Ex-G. I.'"

The alphabet disease which has stricken our country in the last 15 years has been a "natural" for the newspapers, particularly the headline writers. So we have developed G. I. for what was once a "doughboy", and lately the term for some people has come to mean any enlisted man in any branch of the armed forces. Think of the space problem that is solved by using that low-count "G. I." or "Ex-G. I."

But, as Gallico points out with some 12 to 14 million men in uniform during the last war, who isn't an "Ex-G. I.?" A certain percentage of them were bound to be "wrongies," the army found that out. And now that they are in civilian clothes the war experience hasn't seemed to have changed their mental outlook.

Nevertheless, the vast majority of G. I.s were "right guys" who were honest, law-abiding citizens before they got into uniform and continue to be since their return to civies.

Why discredit the Army, the uniform and veterans in general by characterizing a mug as an "Ex-G. I." when he is caught with the goods, even if it is true. If the fact is pertinent to the news account, state it factually in the story. But let's keep the headlines from giving the impression that all former enlisted men are criminally inclined, or that crime is the pet avocation of only the Ex-G. I.

CLINTON, BENTON OATS PROVE SUPERIOR

Clinton and Benton oats proved to be the best oats varieties for Indiana farmers in 1947 in Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station tests and farm demonstrations conducted by agronomists, county agents and cooperating farmers over the state.

Yields were higher than for any other varieties, and the quality was generally superior. Both varieties averaged over ten bushels more than the Columbia and Cartier and thirty bushels more than Tama or Vicland, in ten measured county tests.

Besides yield advantage, these varieties are stiff-strawed, with the Clinton making about four inches more growth than the Tama and the Benton growing about four inches taller than Clinton. Test weight is excellent for both, although the Benton has a slight edge over the Clinton is less likely to lodge under conditions that cause oats to go down.

Farmers not supplied with seed of these new varieties should obtain seed before the extensive demand of the state and the entire corn belt exhausts Indiana supplies of certified seed, say university agronomists.

In tests to date, both varieties have been slightly superior to other varieties like the Bonda, or Mindo from Minnesota; the Mohawk from New York; and the Eaton from Michigan. The Clinton 59, which is being multiplied in 1948 under certification in Indiana, will be even more uniform and slightly higher yielding than the present widely-grown Clinton.

Compared to the foregoing varieties, later maturing Canadian oats have been less well-adapted to corn belt conditions. Ajax, sometimes offered on the basis of its Canadian performance as superior to other varieties, has yielded less when brought south, averaging four pounds per bushel lower test weight. Erban, Vanguard and Beaver have also shown inferior adaptation to the corn belt in tests to date.

The adaptation for direct combining of Clinton and Benton is another quality of special value to oats growers. Furthermore, these varieties will stand for a week or more after dead ripe before starting to straw break. Coarse stems, broad deep green leaves, and general resistance to present common races of smut and rust are other desirable characteristics of these varieties.

Mrs. Amanda Inus, of Tippecanoe, who has been ill with a severe cold is improving and able to be up again.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lackey and daughter, Sue Ann, of near Warsaw, were Sunday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Burgh at their new home in Plymouth. Mrs. Burgh was the former Melva Jane Lackey.

YOU CANNOT FIND IT!

Last week, we pointed out the fact that the New Testament does not record one single case of sprinkling for baptism. Neither can you find an example of "Infant baptism" in the New Testament. Do you mean, says one, that the New Testament doesn't teach us to baptize babies? We mean just that. There is not an example in all of the New Testament where an infant was ever baptized. They simply didn't baptize infants in apostolic days. That practice originated many years after the death of the last apostle and thus after the New Testament revelation was completed. You can't justify the practice of infant baptism by a "thus saith the Lord." Newman (a recognized authority) says about this: "It is but fair and right to acknowledge at once that the scriptures do not bid us to baptize children."

In the New Testament, people who were fit subjects for baptism were disciples (Jno. 4:1); taught (Mt. 28:19); had received the Word (Acts 2:41); had believed (Acts 8:38; Mk. 16:16); had repented (Acts 2:38). Are infants "disciples"? are they capable of being taught or receiving His word, or believing, or repenting? How can an unconscious infant have a "good conscience"? (I Pet. 3:21) No, infant baptism cannot be found in the Word of God.
