Three Killed In Airplane Crash

Alton Tucker, 47, native of the Mentone vicinity, along with Witt Tillotson of Toledo, Ohio and Al Gravelle were killed Thursday in a crash of a converted bomber plane near New Castle, Pennsylvania. The plane was purchased recently by the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., and was being given a test flight by Tucker, the pilot. Tillotson was co-pilot and Gravelle was mechanic. Witnesses said the plane, apparently in trouble, barely missed high tension wires, was swerved to avoid hitting a farm house, and then nose dived into the ground near the Ohio border. It exploded and burned. The bodies were thrown clear by the impact. Tucker had flown the plane to Youngstown from San Antonio, Texas earlier last week, and it was being tested for possible defective radar equipment.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Tucker of Mentone, went to Youngstown and the body was returned to Huntington Saturday afternoon and then take to the McHatten Funeral Home in Warsaw. Tucker attended Beaver Dam high school, later graduated from Purdue University, and then became a test pilot during War II at the Willow Run plant in Michigan. The bomber had been purchased for use by officials of the Youngstown firm. Surviving are the wife, Katherine, formerly of Lafayette, a son Tommy, of Gary; the parents, a brother, Dale, Warsaw; and a sister, Mirabel of Florida.

Mr. Tucker was a nephew of Dr. Frank Tucker and Mrs. Ida Huffer of Claypool.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p. m. Monday at the McHatten funeral home in Warsaw with Rev. W. C. Holmes of Logansport officiating. Burial was in the Palestine cemetery.

Masonic services were conducted along with the regular service.

Grandmother Buried Friday

Mrs. Catherine C. Ulrey, 89, grandmother of Mrs. Ned Igo of Mentone, died at the McDonald hospital Christmas night of complications.

Mrs. Ulrey, who formerly resided in Seward township, had been ill for the past three years and was confined at the Alfran Nursing home for the past two years.

She was born in Seward township July 25, 1867, the daughter of Adam and Lucinda (Slife) Worley.

Mrs. Ulrey married Isaac D. Ulrey in 1885. He preceded her in death in 1930. She was a member of the Piercetown Church of God.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Drudge, Culver, Mrs. Harry (Pearl) Craig of Piercetown; Mrs. Ray (Edith) Drudge, Elkhart, Mrs. Clara A. Baker, who lives two miles west and a half mile south of Mentone, and Mrs. Royal (Ella) Brown, Silver Lake; 26 grandchildren, 74 great grandchildren and six great-great grandchildren. Three brothers and one sister preceded her in death.

Town Council
Reorganizes

The Mentone town council has reorganized for the new year, with Dr. Orville McFadden replacing Harold Markley as the board chairman.

Arlo Friesner was reappointed as fire chief and Clarence Brown as night marshal. Gene Norton was named as night relief marshal and Lon Walters for the day shift. Mr. Walters is now on duty following the retirement of William Schooley who has been day marshal and water superintendent the past five years.

The council stated Wednesday that as yet no one has been appointed as day marshal and water superintendent.

It has also been stated that the material for the new street lights have been received by the Northern Indiana Public Service Company and that installation is expected to begin within the very near future.

Abandon Box
Social Plans

Plans for the community box social that was to have been held on the evening of Jan. 16th, were abandoned Wednesday evening by the members of the Mentone Lions Club. Indicated lack of interest by the public was given as the reason for postponement of the community affair.

Original plans for the affair was that it would be used to raise funds for the purchase and erection of street signs for Mentone streets.

Earl Overmeyer, of Culver, district-governor for District G of Indiana Lions Clubs, was present and he gave an interesting discourse on the part Lions club members are playing throughout the world in bettering relations among the nations, and especially the United States. There are now Lions clubs in 76 nations of the world with a total membership of 547,000. District G has 2,700 members and there are 363 clubs in Indiana.

Some Feed Supplies Limited

Supplies of eight or 12 key forage crop seeds used in Indiana were smaller in the autumn of 1956 than a year previous and average retail prices turned upward.

This was shown in a study by Keller E. Beeson, Purdue agronomist, and F. V. Smith, Purdue agricultural economist.

The U. S. production of alfalfa, red clover, sweet clover, alsike clover, lespedeza, timothy, bromegrass, sudan grass, tall fescue and red top seeds declined in 1956. Ladino clover seed production remained relatively stable.

"With the smaller supply of most seeds, higher prices paid to growers, and a probable increase in demand for forage crop seeds in 1957, prices likely will increase, especially for those in shorter supply, as seeding time approaches," Beeson and Smith reported.

Here is the supply outlook for important adapted varieties for Indiana:

Alfalfa—"... Alfalfa seed production of varieties needed in Indiana was almost as large as last year ... Ranger, Buffalo, Vernal and Atlantic are the four varieties from which you can make your choice for best results ..."

Red Clover—"Kentland is the only named variety recommended at present ... The abundant seed harvest of red clover in Indiana would indicate that Indiana farmers will place more than usual dependence in home grown seed for spring sowing."

Ladino—"Supplies of certified seed are large enough that you should buy only certified seed to insure trueness to variety."

Birdsfoot Trefoil—"Certified broad-leaved varieties including Empire and Viking appear to be highly satisfactory for Indiana."

Timothy—"... A short supply of Timothy seed."

Brome grass—"Droughts in seed producing areas in 1956 again have reduced the supply ..."

Farmers were advised to read the Indiana seed tag since it is an accurate description of the seed.

Now's the time to plan that farmstead windbreak and other tree planting projects, advises Ed Lott, extension forester at Purdue University. He says state nurseries are taking orders for trees to be delivered next spring. See your county agricultural agent or write to the department of forestry at Purdue for order blanks.

The Talma basketball five will journey to Richland Center Friday for a basketball game. The Tigers hope to come home with a victory.

At the end of the first quarter Akron jumped to a 12-9 lead, but the Beavers came back to tie the score at the half-time 28-28. At the third quarter mark the Beavers led 44-41, but a short time later tragedy struck Beaver Dam when Larry Bibler, who had scored 24 points, and Al Baugher with 16 fouled out of the game. In the final stanza the Flyers scored 12 points while the Beavers could score only 6 and this spelled defeat for Beaver Dam. Brown, the 6 ft. 7 in. center led the Akron scoring with 16 points.

First Lactation Most Important

The first lactation is one of the most important periods in a dairy cow's life, says G. A. Williams, Purdue University extension dairyman.

A study of DHIA records indicates that the first-calf heifer should not be expected to yield more than 70 percent of her production as a mature cow. However, many produce more milk and butterfat the first lactation than during any other in their lifetime.

Williams points out this may result in part from improper feeding before freshening.

Many heifers are allowed to become too fat. After weaning the daily grain allowance should not be permitted to exceed 50 percent by weight of the daily hay consumption.

From the time she is a yearling, if plenty of good hay, silage and pasture are available, grain feeding should be discontinued until shortly before the heifer is due to drop her first calf.

Williams listed these two common management errors:

"...there is a tendency to step up the grain consumption since the heifer's capacity to consume roughage may be limited. This forces a very heavy strain on the udder."

"...the heifer may be bred back too soon and then allowed to milk almost up to freshening."

Results have shown that the dry period following the first lactation should be about 50 percent longer than is required following subsequent lactations.

Many Barns Need Repair

Most barns are badly in need of repair or remodeling, recent farm surveys by the National Safety Council have shown.

According to F. R. Willsey, farm safety specialist at Purdue University, "chore time" injuries resulting from inadequate or unsafe facilities cause unnecessary loss of time and money.

"In planning barn improvements and repairs, do not overlook the importance of features that make routine chores safe and easy," the specialist stresses. He says time savers eliminate accident hazards since overwork caused by inconvenience reduces alertness and encourages carelessness.

The first step in planning repairs and changes is to inspect the barn with emphasis on hazards and inconveniences. This must be done carefully, since many changes that need to be made have remained unnoticed for years, even though they are very obvious.

Next, take steps to make necessary changes. There are usually easy to do and require no special help.

What should you look for? Falls and falling objects cause a large portion of barn accidents. Be on the lookout for high door sills, weak boards, or other tripping hazards. Make sure that all floors are smooth, solid, and continuous. Thorough cleaning of alleyways and other work areas to remove unnecessary obstacles is in order. Also check for loose materials carelessly stored overhead.

Loft doors, feed chutes, and ladders are accident menaces in most barns. Doors at the top of stairways should swing away from the stairs. The stairway should be strongly constructed, with a handrail, and covered to keep the stairs clean. Straw and hay should not be thrown down stairways but down separate feed chutes that are guarded above the loft floor or to the top of the hay in a full mow.

Ladders should have well-spaced, strong rungs that are placed far enough from the wall for secure footing.

A survey of the barn during the winter months would probably uncover many repairs and changes that need to be made, Willsey asserts.

Pork Club Rules Changed

A change in the farrowing seasons has caused a revision in the rules of the Gold Medal Pork Producers Club. Richard Hollandbeck, Purdue University extension swine specialist, has reported.

Hollandbeck said the executive committee of the Indiana Livestock Producers Association, has voted to permit pigs farrowed in December—as well as January, February, March and April—to be entered in the Gold Medal project. Prior to the revision, pigs farrowed in December were not eligible to be entered in the project.

Any commercial hog producer who has five or more sows or gilts to farrow from December through April, can join the Pork Producers Club. Hollandbeck defines a commercial hog producer as one who sells at least 85 percent of his market hogs for slaughter purposes. Participants must become members of the Indiana Livestock Breeders' Association.

The project is designed to encourage the efficient production and marketing of meat-type hogs.

According to Hollandbeck, little time is required to keep records for the project. He feels that similar records would be kept by any efficient swine producer. Here's all the information that's needed: date and number of pigs farrowed in each litter, total number of pigs weaned, date of sales, number sold, stockyard or elevator weights of hogs marketed, number and weight of gilts saved for breeding purposes and hogs butchered.

Farmers interested in joining the Gold Medal Pork Producers Club should contact their county agricultural agent.

Purdue University agronomist R. C. Pickett has found that hybrid sudan grass and sorghum varieties are showing the same yield advantages as did hybrid corn when it first became popular.

School Days For Adults

School days begin again January 15 for farmers and homemakers in Kosciusko County. During the winter months, Extension Specialists from Purdue University will be along with information on new developments in many fields of agriculture.

County Agent Paul Jackson announces the schedule for this series of extension schools as follows:

7:30 p. m.—January 15 at the Farm Bureau Co-Op. Meeting Room—"How to Make the Best Use of Available Farm Capital."

February 1—District School on Soil Fertility at Columbia City. 9:30 a. m.—3:00 p. m.—February 6—Weed and Insect Control, Fertilizers and Crop Rotations.

7:00 p. m.—February 19—Sheep Production and Lamb Cookery Demonstration.

March 7—All day, Swine Tour. March 27—Gardens—with Pappy Ward.

Extension schools are sponsored each year by the county extension office, county committees, and Purdue. Specialists report on some of the most recent information available from the agricultural experimental stations. Attending these schools, according to Mr. Jackson, is one of the best ways for farmers to get the latest information on improving their farm business.

Last year 547 persons attended the schools in the County. A total of 46,572 went to the 621 schools in the 92 counties of Indiana.

Rations For Brood Sows

Two years of research at Purdue University has shown that corn silage can be fed with satisfactory results to brood sows during gestation.

Feeding of good quality corn silage, 1.5 pounds of a high quality protein supplement and minerals free choice resulted in a 20 percent reduction in feed costs, an increase of 1.4 to 2.0 more pigs per sow at farrowing, and an increase of 0.3 to 1.3 more pigs per litter at weaning.

Hog farmers will be interested in results of this and other studies conducted by swine nutrition specialists at Purdue on rations for brood sows.

Now available are mimeos A. H. 151, "Corn Silage as a Feed For Brood Sows," A. H. 152, "Self Feeding Rations Containing Ground Corn Cobs for Bred Gilts," A. H. 180, "Amount of Protein Supplement Required for Sows Fed on Corn Silage During Gestation," and A. H. 181, "A Comparison of Ground Corn Cobs and Alfalfa Meal for Self-Feeding Bred Gilts."

Any or all the mimeographs can be obtained from the agricultural publications office at Purdue.

Purdue University veterinarians say that sows and gilts should be wormed before breeding. Piperazine or sodium floride when properly given will do a good job with no bad effects on the animals.

Social Security

Many farm landlords now are covered by the Social Security program as the result of 1956 changes in the law, says A. M. Nichter, extension agricultural economist at Purdue University.

A landlord's income from farm rentals is considered as self-employment earnings if the land owner has an arrangement with his tenant to materially participate in production or management of farm products and actually does participate.

Material participation may be established on the basis of physical labor alone or management alone or on a combination of both, Nichter explained.

A landlord is considered to "materially participate" in the management of his farm if he furnishes a substantial part of the farm equipment, or pays a substantial part of the production expenses, and periodically consults with his tenant, or periodically inspects the production activities.

Landlords who would not normally be covered in the program include those who employ a farm manager or others to manage their farms, absentee landlords who seldom visit their farms and other landlords who themselves do not take an active part in the management or work on their farms.

Obviously, Nichter states, many landlords who become eligible for retirement benefit payments will have to make substantial changes in respect to the part they take in the operation or management of their farms.

If a landlord 65 or over continues to "participate materially" in physical work or in the management of crop or livestock production on his farm, his rental income will count as self-employment earnings. If he is between 65 and 72 self-employment earnings in excess of $1200 will reduce his retirement benefit payments. If the earnings are substantial they could completely eliminate his retirement benefit payments.

Thus, landlords, between 65 and 72, who have become eligible to apply for old age retirement payments will have to more or less "divorce themselves" from the operation and management of their farms in order to receive the benefit payments. This could be done by selling the farm, employing others to manage the farm or turning over to the tenant all the physical work and management of the farm.

Rams should be kept away from ewes during the winter, according to Purdue University animal husbandmen. Enough trough space—at least one linear foot per ewe—should be provided. The troughs should be arranged so that the ewes can get to all troughs easily. Many lambs can be saved by not crowding the pregnant ewes.

A Report On Economic Outlook

Current high levels of business activity are expected to remain constant for the next few months unless the tense international situation flares into a major war.

This is a conclusion of Purdue University agricultural economists, who report that demand for farm products is expected to remain strong. Farm costs will continue to rise, however.

Government expenditures, especially at a federal level, will continue to mount. Further exports of industrial and agricultural products are anticipated. Consumer incomes and spending are expected to rise and both retail and wholesale prices will strengthen.

On the weak side, rapidly rising outlays by business for plant expansion and equipment appears to be leveling off. The rate of residential construction will show little improvement despite efforts of the government to make housing loans more attractive.

The economists expressed the view that "money and credit will continue tight."

From strictly a farm viewpoint, they predicted that fed cattle prices will level off and "remain above the levels of a year ago." A record number of cattle on feed is in prospect for January 1, 1957.

Dairymen can expect prices above a year ago until next April 1, when government milk support levels may be changed. Some larger markets, such as Chicago and Louisville, will have price-depressing surpluses.

Hog receipts during January and February are expected to be smaller than they were in November and December, 1956. This should result in steady to strong hog prices.

Egg supplies during the next several months are expected to be somewhat larger than a year ago with prices probably averaging 3 to 5 cents below the 35-cent average of January-June, 1956

The unstable mid-Eastern situation should continue to bolster soybean prices, the economists said, but warned that "beans held past January 31 should be protected by purchase agreements."

Corn prices are expected to be about stable for the next several weeks. Current prices are higher than last year largely as the result of better quality corn.

Production Of Top Quality Eggs Called Vital For Industry

ACTION, Mass.—To maintain their position in the table egg market of tomorrow, poultry farmers must produce high quality eggs in even year 'round supply, advertise their products, and follow the best management practices they know.

On these points of advice, a panel of four Bay State experts agreed here last week before a representative audience of 70 Eastern Massachusetts poultry men gathered in the Action Town Hall. The meeting, sponsored by the Extension Service and the Middlesex Poultry Association, was arranged by Robert M. Grover, county agent.

Poultrymen by observing the four points of quality, steady output, advertising and management thereby can, under the shield of cooperation, meet the challenge of integration, the panelists agreed.

Wise Marketing Pays Dividends

Indiana hog producers are advised to "give special attention to when and where" they market their porkers as a means of insuring extra income.

Purdue University agricultural economists C. B. Cox and P. J. Luby make this recommendation in a study of hog marketing patterns and production programs.

Hoosier farmers have grossed $12 million more in the last 8 years by marketing their hogs during periods of relatively higher prices than they would have received by following the national marketing pattern, they report.

The economists point out that the pattern of Indiana hog marketing is considerably different from the rest of the United States. Indiana farmers sold more of their hogs during March, April, August and September—usually months of higher prices—in the years 1948-55 than did producers in the other 47 states.

"But during November, December and January they marketed relatively fewer hogs than farmers in the other states," the study showed. Normally these months have heavy marketings in most other parts of the country with resulting lower prices.

Earlier spring farrowings are largely responsible for the larger hog income of Indiana farmers. As a result of earlier farrowings, hog prices now peak earlier in the year than previously.

Costs as well as gross returns must be considered by producers in reviewing their program. Two major cost factors to be considered mentioned by Cox and Luby are equipment and availability of labor.

"Although every producer cannot profitably adjust his hog enterprise to market more hogs during the higher price periods, you should keep a watchful eye on changing marketing and price patterns," they said.

New Varieties Oats Available

New varieties of oats recently released by Purdue University and recommended for Indiana farmers give far superior rust resistance than varieties widely used only ten years ago, according to County Agent Paul Jackson.

The new Newton and Bentland and slightly older Clintland offer the best all-around rust resistance under Indiana conditions of any varieties available for 1957 planting. They also have excellent test weight and quality and stiff straw.

Farmers will find certified seed of the registered class of all these varieties extensively available in Indiana. Three hundred seventy-five thousand bushels of the Newton and Bentland varieties were grown in the state in 1956, and farmers can buy them at a reasonable price from local seed distributors or growers of certified seed.

Fancy prices need not be paid to seed peddlers from outside the state who offer these and other varieties and indicate that they may buy the oats back next year if the market justifies. Before signing any contracts to produce seed under such conditions, farmers are warned to carefully read the contract offered them.

Local growers multiplying these new varieties include: Jack Sellers, Warsaw; Mrs. H. H. Tenny, Warsaw; Herman Weissner, Milford; Lewis Pulling and Leslie Welty, of Mentone; Raymond Cauffman, Claypool; Millard and Emma Stookey, Leesburg; and Howard Beer, Milford.

While Indiana had a bumper oat crop in 1956, conditions caused an unusual amount of lodging. Varieties that are usually very stiff strawed went down in some cases but generally lodged less than varieties not recommended for the state. In some communities in 1956 late varieties, such as Rodney and Garry, gave good quality. These Canadian oats are excellent in Northern states, but usually are low in test weight in Indiana and are not recommended by Purdue. The Sauk and Branch varieties from Wisconsin and Craig from New York are generally too late for Indiana.

Several new oat varieties from nearby states, including Fayette and Beedee from Wisconsin and Logan from Illinois, performed no better than Clintland and the newer Newton under Indiana conditions. Clintland has been widely grown for several years as a superior replacement for Clinton 59 and Clinton. Bentland succeeds the tall growing Benton and contributes similar high test weight. Farmers interested in the performance of other varieties with which they are unfamiliar will be able to get information on Purdue tests thru the local county agent.

Sheep Shearing School Planned

Enrollment can now be made for the 1957 state sheep shearing school at the Madison Co. fairgrounds at Alexandria, February 4-5.

Instructors will be E. A. Warner of the Sunbeam Corporation, Mayo, and other Purdue extension workers. Walter C. Haynes, county agricultural agent at Anderson, and the Madison Co. sheep extension committee have completed local arrangements.

Prospective students should write or contact Haynes at the Post Office Building in Anderson.

"THE IDEAS OF COMMUNISM ARE DEAD"

Only time can put events in their proper perspective. The news that makes black headlines today may be as dead as the Pharaohs tomorrow. But it seems as certain as anything can be that history will record that the most significant and far-reaching event of 1956, and perhaps of many years, was the revolt in Hungary.

This uprising was not successful in the ordinary sense of the word. Rifles and improvised grenades and fists unfortunately are no match for tanks and artillery. But in another, more fundamental sense, this act on the part of an oppressed people was almost incredibly successful.

It showed that courage, and the willingness to risk death and torture in the pursuit of freedom exist in undiminished vigor in this chaotic world.

It showed peoples everywhere, once and for all, the cruel true face of communism. This enormously is important. Reports from country after country state that membership in communist parties has abruptly declined, and that the circulations of communist and communist-sympathizing organs are shrinking. Well-known writers and other molders of opinion, who out of a mistaken and stubborn idealism once support or tolerated communism, have openly proclaimed their defection from the party and from the Kremlin. The ruthless acts of the Soviet government and the Red Army have excited almost universal horror.

It showed, above all, that communism contains the seeds of its own destruction, and that its very structure is crumbling. A view that is held by all manner of experts was thus expressed by Kurt S. Lachmann, a journalist of long experience in Eastern Europe, in U. S. News & World Report: "What we are witnessing now is the gradual decomposition of the entire communist system... the ideas of communism are dead. What remains is the lumbering, armoured body of Soviet military might."

This does not mean that there can be relaxation in the Western world—its governments and forces must be more wary and alert than ever. To quote Mr. Lachmann again, "Dictators... are being cornered. It is well to remember that cornered animals often are dangerous." Desperate fanatics are capable of the most desperately fanatical acts. There is always the possibility that, seeing their own world collapsing under the weight of its sins and excesses, they will attempt to bring all the rest of the world down too."

This is speculation. But there is nothing speculative about the fundamental lesson that has come to us out of Hungary—a lesson that is destined to be read to us again and again, as communism goes through its death agonies, however long that may take.

Super-government, all-powerful government, monolithic government, socialism, communism—whatever name you want to use—is the implacable enemy of human freedom. It reduces the individual to the stature of a cipher. It makes a mockery of every concept of human dignity, human rights, the preciousness of human life.

Communism is simply the end of the line for that kind of government. Socialism is a way station. So are all other systems of government that attempt to do for the people what the people can and should do for themselves.

The thousands of Hungarian refugees who have been airlifted to this country know what slavery is, and how it is brought about in the modern world. They along with the legions of their compatriots who fell victim to Soviet ruthlessness and savagery placed the ultimate value on freedom. They risked all to gain it. They have set an example of courage and resolution that every American should understand and admire.

Moreover, the Hungarian blood bath—and all the other ugly fruits of communism we see—should make every American resolve to keep the freedom we have, and to forever defend and support a system of government that is based on a high concept of the worth of the individual, and on the principle that the government is best which governs least.

GETTING SOMETHING BACK FOR OUR MONEY

As a nation we are famous for giving. Usually, when we give, we don't expect to get anything back. But now we can give and get through the March of Dimes.

What we get is protection against the greatest crippler of mankind—paralytic polio.

It cost the March of Dimes 17 years of research and $26,000,000 to perfect the Salk vaccine which provides that protection. We Americans gave that money.

So far, so good. But the dark shadow of polio hasn't vanished entirely. Before that happens, two big jobs must be done:

Job No. 1. Get vaccinated. Everybody under 35 should be inoculated. About 45 million of us have been. About as many haven't. If your next door neighbor has and you haven't, polio can still blight your world. YOU alone can prevent this.

Job No. 2. Give to the March of Dimes. No vaccine can help the 80,000 Americans already crippled by polio. They need iron lungs, wheelchairs, crutches, braces, doctors, nurses and special care for years to come. That's the second big job for 1957. This one is up to you, too.

Two big jobs can be accomplished by a two-way action—giving and getting. You give to the March of Dimes; you get your inoculation—and security against a merciless crippler. Do both jobs NOW.

An Old Record Is Broken

Last year, a record that stood for almost half a century in this country was broken. The record concerns per capita meat consumption.

In 1908, the Americans of the time ate 163.3 pounds of meat apiece. In 1956, this was finally exceeded, with 163.5 pounds. And what is even more indicative of the prodigious output of our farms and ranches, as the chairman of the American Meat Institute points out, "is that this per capita figure is for a population of around 169 million—almost a 90 per cent increase since 1908."

The new record, of course, is a reflection of America's steadily rising living standards. It's also a reflection of the fact that those luscious steaks, hamburgers, hot dogs, hams and chops have been good buys. During most of the year meat prices at retail were substantially lower than in 1955—in some weeks as much as 16 per cent lower. Most important, never before has the family breadwinner had to work so short a time to buy his family's meat. It takes the average industrial worker less than 19 minutes to earn the money a pound of meat costs, and that represents a new low. As recently as 1951 it took almost 26 minutes.

What of the future? the Meat Institute spokesman finds the outlook good. There is likely to be some decrease in pork marketings, but the prospects are that 1957 will be another year of ample meat supplies at reasonable prices. We'll continue to eat hearty.

BABY OWES $1,939.00!

"The tax bite on earnings is only the annual story of what government seems to be costing," writes Sam M. Jones in National Review. "Behind it lies a debt so large today that every baby is born owing the government $1,939 before he lets out his first howl. If he is a member of a family of four, his papa will represent a government debt of $7,738."

This, of course, is in a large measure the sad fruit of wars and depressions and other calamities. But it is also, in considerable part, the fruit of waste and duplication in government activities—and, more important, of a philosophy of super-government that ignores the eternal principle that government should not do for people what people can do for themselves. It is to that principle that we need to return, and to start repairing the incredibly costly damage that has been done in terms of depreciating value of money and weakening of representative government.

Purdue University dairymen report that there were 30,000 fewer Hoosier farmers milking cows in 1954 than there were in 1950. This decrease was in the farms reporting less than 15 cows per farm—a decline of 30 per cent. Farms reporting more than 15 cows per herd increased about 14 percent. The largest increase was in the 20 to 29 cow group.

Council For Handicapped Meet

The mark of enthusiasm of charitable people was evidenced Monday evening at the Edison Room in Rochester when seventy five representatives of clubs, civic groups, schools and parents met for the second time to further plans for the Fulton County Council for Handicapped Children who are not eligible for education in our public schools.

Rev. Harold Conrad of the Akron Church of God opened the meeting with devotions and prayer and followed by the Scott Family singing "Take Up Thy Cross and Follow Me." Mrs. Paul Ketterman, president, then introduced Henry Jones of Logansport who is president of the board of the Mentally Retarded School of Cass County. In his remarks he said, "Mentally handicapped never speak for themselves, therefore it is necessary for parents and friends to provide special training to enable their acceptance in society. Some may become self supporting; others will not, but until we give them an opportunity can we decide. There are some 4,000 born daily in the United States and 3 per cent of all persons border on this category. Are we interested in what happens to them?"

Rev. Mitchell, acting as legal advisor, presented the purpose and membership by-laws for discussion and acceptance. It was also voted to change the Council's name to Handicapped instead of Exceptional Children, with the handicap to be designated. Membership to the Council will carry a fee of $1.00 and give the member voting power, however any one may attend the meetings. In the case of parents the fee will be $1.00 for both unless they are not living together.

Glen Wilson stated over $1300 has been turned in to the treasurer and pledges had been more. Henrietta Furgeson, County Health nurse, has application blanks for enrollment in the school and will mail them to parents if contacted. Mrs. Eugene Sutton reported donations of toys, coats and other articles have been turned in to her but there is still a need for washable blankets, constructive toys, etc.

The five elected officers will make up the board of directors along with nine others whose names will be presented at the next meeting February 4, at the Edison Room. The nominating committee is headed by Mrs. Calvin Mikesell, George Riddle and Mrs. James Kimsey.

Coffee and cookies were served by the Rochester Junior Women's Club.

BEAVER DAM HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

By Roger Nellans

Last Friday, January 4, Beaver Dam won a thrill-packed game from Sidney 64-62 at the Silver Lake gym. The Wildcats held a 34-29 half-time lead, but Larry Bibler scored 15 points in the third quarter to lead the Beavers to a 52-47 third quarter edge. Although the lead changed hands several times in the final stanza, the Beavers managed to narrowly win in the last minute of the game. This was accomplished through the nerve-wracking but successful conversion of two free-throw attempts by Phil Bucher and Bibler's field goal. Bibler continued to lead the Beaver's scoring with 31 points while Clingaman was high for Sidney with 22.

Enjoys Free Trip To Denver

Leroy Cox returned to Mentone Sunday evening after enjoying a fine air trip to Denver, Colorado. He left South Bend by air last Thursday and spent Friday and Saturday in a sales meeting of the Red Comet Fire Extinguisher Company. Mr. Cox is a sales representative of the company, and in weekly reports was as high as fifth in the nation, which entitled him to the expense-free trip. The new governor of Colorado was present to address the sales representatives that had gathered in one of Denver's finest hotels.

Sunday morning he enjoyed a trip up into the Rocky Mountains before getting on the plane for the return trip. Mrs. Cox and her brother, Herbert Meredith, met the plane at South Bend and Roy was able to enjoy supper at the Meredith home near Mentone.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mollenhour and son Roger returned to their home here Sunday after spending the holidays with their son, James, and wife at Jacksonville, Florida. New Year's day they drove over to Leesburg to visit some of the Mentone folks there. They enjoyed a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Nellans. James is a customer engineer for IBM and his work is principally on machines installed at Jacksonville.

Birdfoot trefoil research is getting added attention at Purdue University. Charles Foy, a Purdue agronomist, is studying soils to find out the reason for failures and successes. Agronomist Wayne Keim is testing new varieties in hope of finding one especially well adapted to Indiana livestock needs. Many farmers are interested in growing trefoil because there are no reported cases of bloat from trefoil.

Research at Purdue University has shown that corn and grass silage is a valuable feed for brood sows. It has been discovered that pregnant sows can be fed 12 to 15 pounds of corn silage per day and supplemented with one-half to one pound corn and one pound protein supplement. Grass silage can be fed at the same rate and supplemented with two pounds corn and one-half pound protein supplement.

Mrs. Anderson Has Operation

Mrs. E. D. Anderson, of Mentone, who has been seriously ill for some time, underwent a gall stone operation at the Woodlawn hospital at Rochester on Monday noon. She is still very weak but is coming along fine. She is in Room 123.

Saturday evening Mrs. Anderson was in a very serious condition and members of the family had about given up hopes for her recovery. She was fed intervenously sufficiently to build up her strength for an exploratory operation as the cause of her illness could not be determined. Gallstones did not show up in the X-rays even though it was thought the affliction was in that area.

Breaks Ankle In Fall

Mrs. Roy Smith is in Room 414 at the Memorial hospital in So. Bend after fracturing the small bone in her left ankle Monday evening. She fell as she stepped to the sidewalk at the Lake Trail Cafe. The break was X-rayed at the Urschel Clinic before Mrs. Smith was taken to the South Bend hospital.

Reading Club For January

The Mentone Reading Club met at the home of Mrs. Miles Manwaring on Wednesday evening, January 2. Mrs. Raymond

Cooper was co-hostess.

The president, Mrs. Oliver Teal, was in charge of the business session. As it is customary the by-laws were read at this meeting by the secretary, Mrs. Chauncey Mollenhour.

The program committee, Mrs. Conde Walburn and Mrs. Dick Manwaring then took charge. The recording "The Influence of One Life" as narrated by Dr. Louis H. Evans, paying tribute to the birth and life of Christ, was played as a fitting thought for the new year.

The program was in the form of an imaginary tour, beginning with a complete roster of unusual, unique, and foreign proper names which are borne by dozens of our own Indiana towns.

Mrs. Dick Manwaring then was introduced to the group as our guide for a tour of European spots. We descended to the recreation room where we were guided to an art exhibit, a Parisienne fashion center, and on to the left hand where we were entertained by a troubador and a reader of palms. A little match girl sold her wares along the street. It was an enjoyable and unusual trip and we arrived back in the United States (upstairs) glad to be back in Indiana. The whole group sang, "Back Home Again In Indiana."

We had been warned beforehand to have plenty of small change along. Each came home from Europe with numerous mementoes and souvenirs purchased on the trip. (The club treasury being $6.00 better off financially)

Mrs. Charles Manwaring, Mrs. Loren Tridle, and Elaine Manwaring assisted as the palm reader, troubador and match girl.

Need More Blood Donors

The Red Cross Bloodmobile is to be in Warsaw, Monday, Jan. 14 and additional blood donors are urgently needed to fill the county's quota.

Anyone desiring to participate in this worthy program are advised to contact Mrs. C. E. Walburn or Eleanor Manwaring at Mentone. Or if you prefer, call Warsaw No. 4 and reverse the charges, and an appointment will be arranged.

Tom Hoover, Mentone forward who has been putting forth every effort to establish a scoring record this season, established a new tourney record when he scored 39 points against the Piercetown team. Whitey Bell of Warsaw had the former high point game of 37.

Hoover was named on the first county team by the Warsaw Times-Union, and Larry Horn, who has been playing splendid ball, was placed on the second county team.

THREE NEW FIREMEN

The Mentone town board has announced the appointment of three new members to the Mentone fire department. They are Dean Meyer, Marion Smith and Chet Smith. The appointments were made Tuesday evening.

Remember When

It was brought to our attention this week that 39 years ago, Jan. 11, 1918, it was 24 below zero in Mentone, and five train engines were stuck on the Nickel Plate, east of town. Two carloads of fat cattle were included in the train of freight.

What really brought the matter to the attention of one of our old timers was the real winter weather we are now having. We have more than the usual amount of snow on the ground, with night temperatures as much as seven below zero, and day temperatures that seemingly can get very little above 10 degrees.

Honored At Bridal Shower

Mrs. Dean McIntyre of Elkhart and her mother, Mrs. Dana Starr of Mentone, were co-hostesses for a bridal shower held in the home of the latter, Wednesday evening, January 9th, in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Jacqueline Blue, of Mentone to Earl Yeiter of Warsaw.

The guest of honor was pleasantly surprised with a special decorated chair of honor. The details of the chair of honor placed in a decorated archway, as well as the table laden with the many gifts were a dainty picture of pink and white paper roses and umbrellas handmade by the hostesses.

One of the highlights of the evening was an edition edited by the several friends attending and was titled "Hints for a Happy Marriage." An organdy apron was also autographed by the guests, embroidered by Mrs. Starr and presented to the honored guest.

Dainty refreshments in keeping with the occasion were served.

Those attending were Mrs. Rodney Gible, Miss Barbara King, Miss Donnagene Dillman, Mrs. Floyd Nicodemus, Mrs. Burdell Blackburn, Mrs. David Cooper, Mrs. Iris Anderson, Mrs. Philip Blue, Mrs. Oral Welch, and Mrs. Lester Yeiter. Those sending gifts but were unable to attend were Miss Martha Creighton and Mrs. Martha Welch.

On June 23, 1928, he was married in Marion to Josephine Sharron, who survives. He was a carpenter by trade.

Other survivors are a brother, Henry D., Beaver Dam Lake; a sister, Mrs. Mable Parks, and a stepson, Virgil Sharron, both of Marion.

Services were at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Sheetz funeral home in Akron with Rev. Claude Fawns officiating. Burial was in the Akron IOOF cemetery.

Shows Pictures
Of World Tour

Don Poulson, of Etna Green, entertained the members of the Mentone Lions Club Wednesday evening with a report of the world tour taken by he and Mrs. Poulson last fall.

The tour was planned in co-operation with the Methodist churches and visits were made to many Methodist churches and establishments in many parts of the world. Almost a year was consumed in making plans and getting the proper passports and medical requirements arranged for the tour. They left on Oct. 21, by air, and arrived back home on Nov. 28th.

After leaving California they went to Hawaii, Wake Island, Guam, Philippines, Singapore, Calcutta, etc.

The discourse was illustrated by many color slides taken of the various countries, their peoples, customs, religions, etc. Mr. Poulson's search for the unusual and his search for knowledge of the trends and customs of the people in other lands, added interest to the fine program.

The Lions members had invited guests to enjoy the delicious dinner prepared for the club and to hear Mr. Poulson's description of his tour. There was a fine attendance, with over forty Lions and guests present. The regular business of the club was conducted by Lion President Eller following the dinner and prior to the showing of the travel pictures.

Mr. Poulson was introduced to the club by K. A. Riner, program chairman. Leroy Cox operated the slide projector.

Offers Advice To Dairymen

Hoosier dairymen who plan to enlarge their herds must adopt better management and feeding practices.

This is the view of G. A. Williams, Purdue extension dairyman, who points out there is a definite trend toward larger herds.

"Many herds are already too large without adding any more cows," he observes.

As a case in point, Williams tells of a 30 cow herd on DHIA test in northern Indiana.

Herd records were divided into three equal groups. The upper third of the cows averaged 13,367 pounds of milk—good production. However, because roughage supplies were insufficient these cows ate an average of 6,100 pounds of grain. This sharply increased feed costs and cut net income.

The low third of the herd lacked $145 each of paying for their feed, the labor involved and overhead. Had these cows been eliminated at the start of the year, the net income from the smaller herd would have been $756 larger. In addition, there would have been 61,500 pounds less milk to swell the price-depressing surpluses.

Larger herds call for more roughages, says Williams. The yearly budget for hay and silage should be increased 25 to 35 per cent per cow, he asserts.

Pasture improvement and rotational grazing are important factors in the better management required with larger herds.

More cows mean more labor. So, dairymen are turning to loose housing, pipe line milkers and gutter cleaners in an effort to solve this problem.

Studies at the University of Michigan show that when the operator of a one man dairy farm replaced his average cows with good ones and followed improved practices, his labored income tripled.

Williams suggests that it might be advisable for an operator with average cows to consider reducing the herd 15 to 30 per cent, adopting better practices and replacing the average cows with good ones as soon as possible.

"This plan is surely more likely to result in larger labor incomes than merely increasing the size of the herd regardless of the producing ability of the additional cows and the feeding, care and housing the operator may be able to supply," he asserts.

Nothing Stands Still Here

"The farmer is truly 'the vanishing American'." Thus begins an article in The Milwaukee Journal. But its significance is not so dire as it might seem to be on first glance—for the article deals with the fact that the farm population has been going down, and will continue to go down, simply because modern techniques and equipment make it possible for the present-day farmer to produce far more than his predecessor.

The Journal quotes some figures publicized by a members of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. In 1930, it took 800 hours of farm work to supply the food, tobacco, fiber and other agricultural products needed by one person. The modern farmer can do the job in 80 hours. This amazing improvement has been brought about by power farming, modern fertilizers, better seed culture methods, and related developments. The university authority added that farm production could be increased by as much as 50 per cent just by the full use of know-how now have available.

The Journal's account also points out that great changes are taking place in agriculture, brought about by changes in our national eating and clothing habits, by the soaring birth rate, by increasing longevity and by other factors. There is a definite trend in the direction of specialization in agriculture—and this too is being spurred by mechanization.

Nothing stands still in this country. That's certainly true of farming.

Cause and Effect

As always happens at the beginning of a year, the country has been bombarded by economic forecasts. An interesting one comes from Fortune—a magazine which, for six straight years, has correctly forecast U. S. business conditions six to 12 months in advance. Fortune says that 1957, like 1956, will be another "best year ever" for business. The nation's output of goods and services probably will total $427 billion (measured in 1956 prices), more than three per cent above the 1956 level. The Federal Reserve Index, which is the generally accepted measure of business activity, will rise to 149, as against last year's average of 143. Fortune expects that price rises will be moderate, with the cost of living increasing by less than two per cent.

Other forecasts are similar in content. All of them expect the year to be a very good one, materially speaking. Let us hope the crystal balls are telling the truth. And, at the same time, let us give a thought to what has made such unparalleled abundance possible.

For want of a better term, we call it free enterprise—which simply means a system in which free men, acting alone or in groups, can produce whatever they want to produce and offer it for sale to a public which is free to buy or not buy. We have, there is no doubt, done damage to this system—through super-government, ventures into socialism and the welfare state, and the like. Yet we come far closer to the private enterprise ideal than any other nation—and we have far higher living standards than any other nation.

This is an example of cause and effect—and let's never forget it!

Saturday evening Miss Marjorie Wagner, Mary Jane Busen-burg, Eddie Jones and Suellen Shepler were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Busenburg and children of Bunker Hill.

BEAVER DAM HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

By Roger Neilans

The fourth game of the County tourney saw action between Syracuse and Beaver Dam. Syracuse got off to an early lead, but Beaver Dam stayed in the game due to the efforts of Max Ummel, who made all of Beaver Dam's 11 points to Syracuse's 18 in the first quarter. The two teams played even the third quarter and the Beavers staged a rally of 24 points in the fourth stanza, but they still fell short 20 points as the gun went off leaving the score 76-56.

Three of the Beavers were in the double figures with Bibler and Ummel scoring 19 and 17 points respectively. Caskey and Denton led the balanced scoring of the Yellow Jackets with 13 points each.

Beaver Dam was hampered by the loss of their center, Baugher, who had a pre-tourney injury.

On Monday night, January 14, the final round of the 4-Way second team tourney was played at the Beaver Dam gym. Silver Lake and Beaver Dam saw action in the consolation game. It was a close contest all the way with no more than two points separating the scores at the end of each quarter. The sharp shooting of Woods, who connected with five 20-foot field goals in the last half, proved too much for the Ramblers. The summary of the two teams showed that they were very evenly matched.

Woods of the Beavers was high point man of the game with 19 points. Rose was high for Silver Lake with 11.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 1

How to Save Tax Dollars

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Indiana Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Between now and April 15 over sixty million Americans must file a tax return to report their 1956 income to the federal government. On the basis of past experience about 1 out of every 4 returns filed will contain an error of $2.00 or more. Last year these errors totaled over $100,000,000.

To help you prepare a correct return and avoid mistakes that cost you tax dollars, this newspaper is printing a series of eight articles prepared with the help of the national and state organizations of certified public accountants.

Today's article deals with problems faced by almost anyone who has to make out a return. Later articles will give special hints on deductions you may take, particularly if you own a car, home or business. Use this series along with the official instruction book which comes free with your tax forms.

Common Mistakes

According to the results of a sampling by the Internal Revenue Service, the mistakes most often made by taxpayers fall into these four groups:

(1) Incorrect listing of income. This is the main source of error, partly because of debatable questions involving business income. Individuals make mistakes too by leaving out such items as interest on savings accounts, dividends and contest winnings, or by including items which are exempt.

(2) Errors in personal deductions. This category includes the deductions taken when the 10 per cent "standard deduction" is not used. Important deductions from income are: state and local taxes, interest paid on loans, charitable contributions, medical expenses, losses from storm, fire, flood or theft.

(3) Claiming too many or too few dependents. Exemptions are allowed for the taxpayer himself and for certain persons he supports, if they fit the definitions in the instruction book.

(4) Faulty arithmetic. This is the cause of the fewest number of errors, but approximately 30 per cent of these arithmetical mistakes are made by the taxpayer against himself, resulting in approximately $19,000,000 in overpayment of taxes.

The first thing to determine is whether you should file a return or not. Everyone whose gross income was $600 or more in 1956 must file a return by April 15, 1957. Even if your income was less than $600 you should file a return if any tax was withheld by your employer and you wish to receive a refund. In any case, if you had as much as $400 earnings from self-employment you must file a return to report those earnings for social security purposes.

Non-Taxable Income

It is important to remember that all income is not taxable. You should not include in your return any income which is listed in the official instruction book as exempt. This includes interest on state and municipal bonds, most government payments to veterans and their families, life insurance proceeds upon death, gifts and social security benefits. The tax instructions from the Internal Revenue Service contain a list of the types of income which should be included and those which should be omitted from your return.

If You Changed Jobs

Here is a special point to watch if you worked for more than one employer during 1956. You may have overpaid your social security tax. Each employer is required to withhold social security amounting to 2 percent of the first $4200 of your wages. If you worked for only one employer, this would amount to $84. However, if you worked for several employers, more than $84 might have been withheld. Check your W-2 withholding slips and see whether the total F.I.C.A. (Federal Insurance Contributions Act) is more than $84. If it is, you can claim credit for the excess in the "taxes withheld" column of your income tax form.

The instruction book which comes with your tax forms gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult properly qualified advisor if you decide to seek outside help.

Subsoiling Information

Subsoiling to a depth of 20 inches plus generous applications of fertilizer can materially increase crop yields in some years, says a Purdue University agronomist.

Soil scientist Helmut Kohnke points out that the subsoil fertilization favors deep-rooted alfalfa over the more shallow-rooted grasses and clovers.

Experiments in Indiana and elsewhere have shown that the roots of the plants have grown considerably more and deeper where the subsoil was opened up and fertilized. Yield increases are not regular, however.

This method of subsoil fertilization "will in time deepen the effective rooting zone of the soil and make the plants more independent of weather conditions," Kohnke says.

He emphasizes that the fertilizer should be distributed throughout the subsoil that is opened instead of simply being placed on the bottom of the groove.

Several types of chisels and fertilizing units have been used in this type of soil improvement. On heavy soils and where the subsoiling goes rather deep, crawler type tractors are preferred.

Subsoiling should always be done in the late summer and early fall when the soil shatters. If subsoiling is done on the contour it helps hold rain water and will decrease runoff and erosion.

Vertical mulching—opening of the subsoil and blowing chopped crop residues into the soil—will speed up subsoiling results. The soil is completely filled with a padding of organic matter which allows surface water to sink into the ground.

Kohnke points out that the calcium content of the soil is extremely important in the management of organic matter.

"It seems advisable to place lime as deep into the soil as possible so whatever humus is leaching down to that point will be transferred into this stable calcium humus and will be maintained there much longer for the benefit of soil structure and crop roots," he says.

Agricultural engineers at Purdue University say the intervals between farm tractor oil changes need to be shortened when winter time "chore" operations are performed. Sludge and water accumulations develop rapidly in cold weather. The best way to get rid of such accumulation is to drain the crankcase and add new oil.

YOU ARE A GOVERNMENT WORKER

Taxpayer's Dollar, a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, passes on this definition of a taxpayer "... a person who doesn't have to pass a Civil Service test to work for the government."

That's more than a good gag. A man with two dependents who earns $80 a week must work 4.9 weeks to meet his tax bill. If he has no dependents, he has to work 8.2 weeks. And, of course the tax rates rise with almost

P. T. A. Meets

The Mentone P. T. A. held its monthly meeting, Wednesday, January 9. In spite of the bad weather a good number attended.

The meeting was called to order by the president, William Rathbun. Pledge to the flag was given. Devotions were given by Ralph Burris. He used the 52nd verse from 2nd Chapter of Luke. "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favour with God and man."

Following the regular business, the meeting was turned over to program chairman Carroll Eiler. Doyle Eiler played a solo on the sousaphone entitled "Big Boy." He was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Rice.

A panel discussion was the feature of the evening and Mr. Eiler introduced Denton Abby as monitor. He then introduced the panel members, Rev. Persons, Mrs. Caldwell and Mr. Hewlett.

The topic of the panel was "What Should Be a Father's Relationship towards His Children?" The topic was divided and the panel commented on the following questions:

How can a father best use his time with his children?—Mr. Hewlett.

Has a child a right to expect understanding instead of criticism?—Rev. Persons.

Can a troubled parent rear an untroubled child?—Mrs. Caldwell.

General discussion and questions then followed by the monitor and members present.

The topic, comments, questions, and discussion proved very interesting and those unable to attend truly missed an enjoyable evening.

The refreshments committee served tasty sandwiches and coffee.

Don't forget our next P. T. A. meeting February 13. Let's have a good attendance.

Mentone H. D. Club Meets

The Mentone Home Demonstration Club met Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. on January 10 at the home of Mrs. Omer Blue in Mentone. Mrs. Truman Long was co-hostess.

As there was no lesson we reviewed our new club year books. We also discussed several U. S. D. A. health pamphlets. We also liked the idea of a special project for the coming club year and began plans for our anniversary party.

The constitution was read by the secretary. The president appointed lesson leaders and a flower committee.

Refreshments were served to fourteen members and three guests.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Z. Huffer and Mrs. Alberta Poulson called Saturday evening at the Garrie Rose home.

The next game for Mentone is against Etna Green, the county champs, at the Mentone gym.

Monday night Mentone's second team defeated the Akron Flyers 60-46 in a spine-tingling basketball thriller. The game was the finals of the four way tourney between Mentone, Akron, Silver Lake and host, Beaver Dam.

The scoring was topped by Nellans and Manwaring with 20 and 14 points respectively. Leininger had 18 for Akron.

Check Spark Plugs

Farm engines will perform better when the busy season arrives next spring if the spark plugs are given some attention before that time.

C. L. Hill, extension agricultural engineer at Purdue University, says spark plug maintenance is an easy chore. He suggests this routine:

Remove plugs with a plug wrench or socket of the proper size. Unscrew the plug only a turn or so and blow out any dirt accumulation before complete removal.

Inspection of the plug may tell many things about the engine's condition.

Powdery brown or greyish deposits indicate normal heat range and engine condition. Poor engine condition is evident if the plugs stay wet and oily. A burned or blistered appearance of the plug should lead to an investigation of the engine cooling system.

If the plug is normal it should then be cleaned, the outside electrode filed flat, regapped and checked. Gap setting should be checked with a round wire gauge and use a new plug gasket when reinstalling the plug. Be sure the gasket seat is clean or compression leakage will occur.

Gaskets fail when a plug is tightened too much. Turn the plug "finger tight" and only tighten it three-fourths to one full turn with the wrench.

Rating Firm Lists 37 at Mentone

Each January business concerns in all parts of the United States receive from Dun & Bradstreet requests for their annual financial statements. This year the number of requests going out nation-wide will approximate 3 million, with over seven hundred going to Kosciusko County businessmen.

The extent of business activity in Kosciusko County is reflected in statistics just released by the credit reporting firm, G. F. Hurayt, district manager at Chicago which covers this area, says that this year there will be more requests for financial statements made of business concerns in Kosciusko County than ever before.

The Kosciusko County section of the current issue of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book contains listings of 744 local names comprising manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers. It does not include some of the service and "professional" businesses, such as barber and beauty shops, real estate and stock brokers. Thus the figure for businesses in Kosciusko County would actually be higher than the 744 quoted above.

The number of listed businesses in the five largest communities in Kosciusko County are as follows:

|           |     |
|-----------|-----|
| Warsaw    | 316 |
| Syracuse  | 100 |
| Pierceton | 53  |
| Milford   | 47  |
| Mentone   | 37  |

Better than 95 per cent of all commercial transactions in the United States are made on credit terms and the buyer and the seller are brought together by means of credit information.

When the owner of a business or his accountant returns his financial statement to Dun & Bradstreet, the owner has taken the first step in establishing his responsibility as a seeker of credit.

The statement becomes a part of the credit report on his business along with a financial analysis, a description of what the business does, and a record of how it pays its bills.

On the basis of the information in the report, a rating is assigned and the businessman is listed in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book. This makes it possible for his suppliers and insurance underwriters, who use the book, to look him up and in this way he is assisted in getting his goods and insurance.

HOME BUYERS TO MEET NEW PROBLEMS IN 1957

If 1957 is your year to buy a house, you will face problems that have not bothered those who have bought homes in previous years, according to the editors of Changing Times, The ### Kiplinger Magazine.

The key problem is financing. Houses are built and bought with borrowed money, and there is a serious shortage of money to borrow. Result: You may have trouble getting a loan. And even if you do qualify for a loan, you are likely to pay a stiff interest rate. Nowadays 5 per cent is a low figure and rates of five and a half to six per cent are not uncommon. . . . or will house prices drop in 1957. On the contrary, the editors say, all the forces at work are pushing prices upward.

The bright side? You'll have a wide choice of homes, both new and old. You can get financing, if your deal is sensible and safe. Finally, older houses, built when costs were lower, may be excellent buys. So don't limit your thinking to new houses with so many good deals around in established neighborhoods.

MENTONE HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

By Larry Teel

The Mentone Bulldogs suffered their third defeat of the season at the hands of the Etna Cubs, County champs for 56-57. The game was played in the Mentone gym before a crowd comparable in size to the one that witnessed the Pierceton-Etna game.

Mentone led the Cubs 13-12 at the first quarter, but the Cubs outscored Mentone 13-6 in the second quarter and held a 25-19 lead as the half ended.

Mentone closed the gap several times but never managed to take command as Etna won 42-39.

Mentone's second team won their game easily as Nellans got 10 points and Hatfield snared the majority of the rebounds; the final score was 45-24 in favor of Mentone. Huffman lead Etna Green's second team with 15 points.

Mentone's next game is against Silver Lake who play host to the Bulldogs Friday night.

Prep Star Is Little Guy

The above is the title of an article by Bud Gallmeier, appearing in a recent issue of the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel about Tom Hoover, Mentone's star basket shot. Tom has always had an uncanny ability to put a basketball through the hoop, a fact which he has demonstrated since he was in the grades. He has maintained his accuracy, and this season has proven that he is one of the top scorers in the state. His record so far is an average of better than 30 points per game.

Gallmeier's article dwelt upon the fact that Hoover is not a tall boy, measuring some two inches under the six-foot line, while most big-scorers are well above that in height.

Hoover's main scoring area, also, is from the outside of the usual area for high-scoring players, which is an indication of his extreme accuracy from away out.

Vaughn Bell Passes Away

Relatives have received word of the death of Vaughn Bell at Santa Monica, California, Monday. He was a brother of the late Lawrence Bell of Buffalo who passed away just three months ago. Both men were born in Mentone. Vaughn left Mentone at an early age and has lived in California for about 40 years.

During World War II Mr. Bell was personnel director at the Bell Aircraft plant at Buffalo, but returned to California shortly after. He had been in ill health for a number of years.

He leaves his wife, Viola, and sister Gardie of Santa Monica, and a brother Clyde of Baltimore. There are also a number of other relatives residing in and near Mentone.

Egg Show Names New Chairman

The Mentone Egg Show committeemen met at the Mentone school this evening and named Gordon Rapp, geneticist at the Creighton Bros. Hatchery, as the chairman for the 1957 show to be held September 19 and 20. Freeman Gruenewald, 1956 chairman, will be co-chairman for 1957, and Everett Besson was renamed as secretary-treasurer.

Ronald Severns Wins 3-Day Trip

Ronald Severns, a vocational Agriculture Student at Mentone High school has been selected as one of three Indiana youths who will be honored for his corn-growing efficiency with a three-day, expense-paid trip to Kansas City, Missouri. Announcement of the ward was made recently by Spencer Chemical Co. His Vocational Agriculture instructor, Mr. Robert Hewlett, will accompany him on the trip, which is scheduled for February 7, 8, and 9.

Ronald was selected for the honor after participating in Spencer's 1956 Efficient Corn Growing Program. A total of 1,250 "Vo-Ag" students from sixteen states participated in the program which has as its objective a "learn-by-doing" activity to promote the use of the most up-to-date corn production practices.

Eighteen top participants in the program and their instructors are scheduled to make the trip to Kansas City, Missouri. Their itinerary will include a sight-seeing tour through a fertilizer plant.

To qualify for the trip, Ronald was required to grow at least two acres of corn. On one plot, he followed his usual corn-growing practices. On the other plot, he used practices which, in his opinion, would contribute to more profitable corn yields. He was also required to give a detailed estimate of expenses and an evaluation of the net profit realized from each practice. The program stressed increasing corn-growing knowledge and use of efficient, up-to-date practices over maximum yield.

Other winners in Indiana were Steve Hiatt and Lawrence Beck of Arcadia.

New Arrivals

Pvt. and Mrs. Larry Tracy, of El Paso, Tex., are the parents of a son, David Allen, born January 9 in Beaumont army hospital at Fort Bliss, Texas.

A son, weighing seven pounds and 14 ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Boggs Monday evening at the Woodlawn hospital.

Blending Soybean Varieties

Blending of different soybean varieties appears to be of importance in obtaining maximum yield each year, trials conducted at Purdue University have shown.

A. H. Probst, Purdue University agronomist, has reported that mixing of varieties had a stabilizing effect on yield from year to year in tests conducted from 1952-1955 at Lafayette.

Other results revealed that the latest maturing variety in a blend averaged 0.2 to 2.7 days earlier than the same variety in pure culture. Lodging in a blend was similar to the most lodging susceptible variety in the blend.

Blackhawk, Hawkeye, and Lincoln varieties were compared as pure varieties and in blends. The Three varieties differ noticeably in maturity and height, to some extent in growth type and lodging susceptibility, and in reaction to several important soybean diseases.

The blend of two parts Lincoln, one part Hawkeye and one part Blackhawk averaged highest in yield among the blends and was as high as the best variety for the period. It had the least fluctuation in yield among blends or varieties from year to year.

Other high yielding blends were Hawkeye 2; Blackhawk 1; Lincoln 1, and Hawkeye 1; Lincoln 3. No blend was significantly higher in yield than the best variety in a given year or for the average of the period.

Probst pointed out soybean varieties differ in their resistance of susceptibility to various diseases. None of the present varieties are resistant to more than one or two diseases. Blending would be most useful in obtaining maximum yields when disease epidemics occur which might decrease the yield of a susceptible variety considerably but would have no effect on the resistant variety in the blend.

It runneth a column solid. And the fair one remembereth him from afar with a picture post card that costeth six for a jitney . . . Behold, she returneth, and the youth of the town fall down and worship. She picketh one and lo, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto the editor a bid for the wedding, and behold the bids are fashioned in a far city . . . Flowery and long is the wedding notice which the editor printeth. The minister getteth ten bones. The groom standeth the editor off for a twelve months subscription . . . All flesh is grass and in time the wife is gathered unto the soil. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head and the darned thing cometh out "Gone to Her Last Roasting Place" . . . And all that are akin to the

By Roger Nellans

The Beaver Dam Beavers traveled to Claypool last Friday evening, January 18, and came home with one win and one loss. The varsity Knights downed the Beavers by a score of 52-43.

The Beavers missed the service of their center, Al Baugher, who is still laid up with a pre-tourney injury.

The game started out very close as the end of the first stanza showed the score was tied at 8 all. Later on in the game the Knights started pulling away and the Beavers could not catch up. Claypool's Wertenberger and D.

Woodruff fouled out late in the game, and although the team committed twelve more fouls than Beaver Dam the Beavers muffed the opportunity by making only thirteen free throws out of thirty-seven attempts from the charity line.

The high scorer for Claypool was G. England with thirteen markers, but Bucher of Beaver Dam was high for the game with fifteen points.

Highlights Of Marketing Clinic

Increasing consumption of dairy products through market-wide state and national promotion will be the central theme of a marketing clinic at Purdue University February 6.

The discussion will be a part of a general session on "Expanding Markets for Agricultural Products" and will be open to all commodity groups.

Questions up for discussion will include: "What's wrong with present programs and how can they be improved? How can individual firms expand their own sales? Can individual firm advertising and merchandising techniques be integrated with an overall industry promotion? How does cooperation of retail stores and eating establishments strengthen a promotion program? How can promotion effects be carried forward or maintained?

The clinic will offer management officials of marketing firms an opportunity to discuss problems of mutual interest and exchange ideas on how they can expect sales.

Leading the discussion for the dairy group will be a panel composed of Frank R. Neu, American Dairy Association, Chicago; Fred Atkinson, Ideal Pure Milk Company, Evansville; Emily Bennett, Central Dairy Council, Louisville, Kentucky; and Ward Holm, Indiana Dairy Products Association.

Individuals interested in attending the clinic should register, at an early date, with R. B. Wilson, department of agricultural economics, AES Annex, Purdue University, Lafayette.

Contour Farming Pays Dividends

Sloping or rough fields need not prevent high crop yields, according to R. O. Cole, Purdue University extension soil conservationist.

Cole says high yields can be obtained from sloping land if it is farmed on the contour. When land is farmed on the contour it is worked "cross slope" and all points in each row are at the same elevation.

Corn yields on rolling land can be increased 5-10 bushels, wheat and oats 4-8 bushels, and soybeans 3-3 bushels per acre, if sloping land is farmed on the contour, Cole asserts.

Contour farming not only increases production but saves top soil and fertility and cuts down on machinery and fuel costs. If an eight per cent slope is farmed on the contour, 10 per cent more land can be worked with 10 per cent less fuel, the specialist pointed out.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 2

Selecting the Correct Form Saves Tax Dollars

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Indiana Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

The government gives you the alternative of using the simplified income tax form 1040-A, the "short form" 1040, or the "long form" 1040, depending on the amount and circumstances of your income. Selection of the wrong form may cost you unnecessary tax dollars.

The easiest form to file is the 1040-A, and according to Treasury records, one out of four taxpayers use it. To be eligible to file a 1040-A form your total income must be less than $5,000, consisting entirely of wages subject to withholding (or of wages, dividends, and interest, providing not more than $100 of such income came from a source outside that listed on your W-2 slips). The simplified form makes no provision for "Head of Household" status or itemized deductions. If you use this form the government will figure your tax and send you either a refund or a bill, if you so desire. However, for the first time this year, you can compute your own tax on form 1040-A and either send in the balance due with the return or show thereon the amount of refund you have coming.

Whether to Itemize

Should you decide to use the regular form 1040 you still have the choice of itemizing deductions or using a standard deduction which amounts to about 10 percent of your income. If your income was less than $5,000 and you use the standard deduction, you determine your tax from the special table given in the instruction book.

You are likely to save by itemizing if you:

- (1) Own real estate
- (2) Had unusual medical expenses
- (3) Had deductible child-care expense
- (4) Suffered losses from fire, storm, accident or theft
- (5) Made fairly large contributions

It is important to remember that if you incur such expenses as transportation, meals or lodging in connection with your work, check carefully the instruction book to find how these expenses may be deducted even though you decide to use the standard deduction.

If your deductions are close to 10 percent, it is wise to itemize them and figure your tax both ways to see which results in the smaller tax. As the Treasury Department has pointed out: "The law expects you to pay your correct tax—no more—no less."

Married Couples

Most married couples save tax dollars by filing a joint return instead of separate returns. This is because the tax is figured on a joint return as if the husband and wife each had one-half the total income (even though the wife may actually have had no income). Income-splitting, as it is called, may bring the couple down into a lower tax bracket.

Watch for the exceptions, however. If you had capital losses or unusually high medical expenses, you will be wise to figure both jointly and separately to see which results in less tax.

If you are supporting a dependent and maintain a home for that person although you are single, widowed, divorced or legally separated, you may be able to qualify as a "head of household," and figure your tax on a special table which gives you part of the advantage enjoyed by married couples filing joint returns.

Surviving Spouse

Also, if your husband or wife died in 1954 or 1955, and you have as a member of your household a dependent child or stepchild, you are entitled as a "surviving spouse" to the same income-splitting benefits this year as you would have on a joint return—unless you remarried before the end of 1956. The privilege to file as a surviving spouse applies to the first two years following the year in which your husband or wife died.

The instruction book which comes with your tax forms gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you decide to seek outside help.

WILDERNESS RADAR station in the Canadian north is typical of the far-flung outposts which are the "eyes" of the North American warning net. At the other end of the "line," civil defense volunteers would alert the public to danger through sirens, loudspeakers and Conelrad radio, so people could evacuate or take cover depending on amount of warning time. ## Name Park Board Officers

The Park Board met Thursday night, January 17. New officers for the current year are Ned B. Igo, chairman, and James E. Rodibaugh, secretary.

A scale diagram of the park and list of park facilities to be provided was approved and forwarded to Professor N. W. Marty, at Purdue University, for his assistance in planning and laying out the park. Professor Marty is the Extension Horticulturist and landscape architect. Subject to space and financial limitations, the Park Board determined that the following facilities should be available:

Buildings: modern restrooms, shelter house-scout cabin (combination), bridge; Athletic: (in the order listed) softball-baseball, basketball, tennis, volleyball, croquet, horse shoes, shuffleboard; Playground: swings, slide, merry-go-round; Picnic: tables and ovens; Parking.

It was decided that the pump house area, which was bulldozed last year, should be plowed and seeded with grass as early as weather permits.

THE DIFFERENCE? MYZON!

AMAZING NEW HOG DISCOVERY HELPS GET PIGS TO MARKET A MONTH SOONER!
REPORT EXTRA PROFITS

Bucyrus, Ohio — In order to find out for themselves if MYZON for hogs is really as good as people said it was, Jim and Al Miller, well-known farmers, of this community, made the following test: They split 33 Poland Chinas into two groups at weaning time and fed them in separate lots. Both groups got the same good diet—BUT the lighter group got MYZON. The Millers had their proof after only 17 days. Here are the amazing figures:

|                           | Group with NO MYZON | Group with MYZON |
|---------------------------|---------------------|------------------|
| Average wt. at weaning    | 38.2 lbs.           | 35.8 lbs.        |
| Average wt. 17 days later | 56.4 lbs.           | 63.0 lbs.        |
| Average Gain Per Hog      | 18.2 lbs.           | 27.2 lbs.        |
| Feed per lb. of gain      | 3.3 lbs.            | 1.9 lbs.         |

To the Millers these figures meant they would get MYZON pigs to market a month sooner at about $100.00 extra profit. It also made it clear that there is no point in holding back hogs by not giving them MYZON. MYZON's antibiotic, vitamins and minerals fights disease and speeds growth. Get more profit—get MYZON today. Because results may vary in individual cases, MYZON Hog Compound is sold on the guarantee that your very first drum must give 100% satisfaction or your money back.

Paul Reveres Today

Attack Warning Net New 'First Line'

Twentieth Century Paul Reveres may some day play a vital part in saving your life and that of the nation just as the original Revere's timely warning helped preserve the life of the American Colonies.

In this age of nuclear weapons, intercontinental bombers and some day, perhaps, long-range guided missiles, hours and even minutes of attack warning time can be of vital importance.

AN ARMY of professionals and volunteers man the radars, scan the skies and operate the military and civil defense circuits to pass along word of danger. They range from scattered outposts in northern Canada and radar picket ships far at sea to the man who sounds your home town air alarm.

This network is tested constantly, both in the Air Force phase of initial warning, and the civil defense phase of spreading the warning from air defense division control centers to the general public.

In a very real and personal sense, this warning system is the first line of defense for every American as he goes about his daily life under the threat of ever-possible attack.

GROUND OBSERVER Corps posts range from Manhattan building tops (above) to remote desert and forest country. Seventeen thousand posts and 400,000 skywatchers provide U. S. Air Force and civil defense personnel with the vital visual identification of low-flying planes needed to supplement radar warning data. (N.Y. Daily News Photo)

Farmers Union 3rd Convention

Indiana Farmers Union concluded its 3rd Annual Convention Thursday in Indianapolis with the election of officers and adoption of the program.

John C. Raber, President of the organization since 1954 was reelected for a third term. Mr. Raber, a leading farmer of Elkhart County, pledged the organization to a continuing fight to enact in the U. S. Congress a farm program which would restore a balance between American Agriculture and the remainder of the expanding American economy.

Elected with Mr. Raber for his third term was Elvis Wathen, of Vanderburg County. Others elected to the Executive Committee were: Marion Clawson, of Delaware County; Harold Kull, Tippecanoe County; Phillip Powell, Knox County; Clayton Bunker, Ohio County; and Ray Hoppe, Vanderburg County.

Highlights of the two day Convention were the banquet address by the National President of Farmers Union, James G. Patton, who announced in his address the corn proposals advanced by Farmers Union and stemming from results of the recent corn referendum, and an address by Congresswoman Coya Knutson, of the 9th District of Minnesota, who is also a member of the House Agriculture Committee.

President Raber in his report to the Convention reviewed the continued expansion of Farmers Union in Indiana and cited a fifteen percent growth in each of the past two years. 58 of Indiana's 92 counties now have qualified for county charters, and have active units of the organization. Awards were made to 64 Juniors and Junior Leaders who have completed the study and camp program.

In spelling out the National Farmers Union corn proposals, President Patton made five specific recommendations:

First, we must have amendments to make the soil bank effective. Farmers Union has testified to a congressional committee in the past week in support of several such amendments including a couple affecting corn. For example, we urge that the average payment per acre for the conservation reserve of the soil bank should be raised substantially above the present $10 an acre. We have also urged that payments per acre in the acreage reserve of the soil bank should be raised to encourage widespread participation. Both of these steps would help corn producers substantially.

Second, we continue to urge enactment of Senator Humphrey's bill to increase allotments to 48 million acres.

Third, any increase obtained in corn allotments should be apportioned along two lines. Those who have cooperated in the past with acreage allotments should receive special consideration, as should those who have suffered inequities such as having extremely low histories of acreage planted in corn. The latter recommendation alone should help small farmers whose allotments have been reduced to the point where they simply cannot cooperate with the program and get price support.

Fourth, the price support for corn should be raised immediately to $1.60 a bushel, and the other feed grains should be supported on a comparable basis of their feed value equivalent to corn.

Fifth, a system of premium payments for marketing livestock at lighter and more desirable weights should be instituted to increase the income of livestock producers, to stabilize the marketing of livestock and to properly tie feed grains together with livestock at a higher level.

564 Pounds Of Calf Per Cow

It takes more than "mere luck" to produce 564 pounds of calf per cow before the end of the grass season, according to Russell Brower, Purdue University animal husbandman.

But Brower said Robert Harper, manager of the Norman Wright farm near Chandler in Warrick County, did just that in 1956. Harper had 23 beef cows which produced a 100 per cent calf crop at an average calving date of February 4.

Harper enrolled his beef cow herd in the Indiana Commercial Gold Medal Cow Herd Project last January. When the calves were weighed, as the gold medal project requires, last October they had gained an average of 2.07 lbs. per day. The calf crop averaged 564 pounds per cow at that time.

Brower and other specialists at Purdue believe it was the early calving date that made the difference. The calves were old enough to make optimum use of lush pastures early in the spring.

The cow herd received no special attention except at calving time. The only shelter was a small woods which served as a windbreak.

Rye is used on the farm as a winter pasture and calves are not fed grain at any time while with cows. Summer pasture consists of legume-grass mixtures which have been fertilized according to soil tests.

Some 600 head of feeder cattle are fed each year on the farm. In addition a 100-ewe flock is maintained and 300 hogs marketed.

Corn silage is used extensively in the feeding program on the 650-acre Wright farm. Two thousand tons are made each year. The silage is fed to the cow herd at the rate of 20 pounds per head each day with a small amount of hay and one pound of supplement near calving time. Fattening cattle receive a full feed of silage, six to 10 pounds of grain, and two pounds of supplement per head daily.

The supplement is Harper's own mixture of 200 pounds of corn gluten feed. Five hundred pounds of this feed is mixed with 850 pounds of shelled corn and 850 pounds of ground barley.

Jannie E. Warren of Diamond Lake, and granddaughters, Rita and Toni Reed are leaving January 28th for a three-week trip through Florida.

Space Ship Visits Mentone

While the world continues its conjectures regarding "men from Mars, flying saucers, etc., Mentone had a space ship on display last Thursday. The Silvercup Bakery had its mobile space ship parked in front of the Meyer's store last Thursday.

The space ship was transported on a large semi-trailer unit, and resembled the "space ships" one sees quite frequently in the cartoons. One soon lost the cartoon idea when he stepped inside the unit and saw the equipment that was carried in it. The forward section was complete with dual pilot controls, dozens of regulations instrument dials, two "rocket" guns, pilot masks, etc. There was a radar set, radio transmitting and receiving equipment, and dozens of other gadgets with which the general public was not familiar. The tail section of the ship housed a gasoline motor powered generating unit to produce 120-volt electricity to operate all the equipment. (The day, however, was so cold the motor would not start.)

The ship was not built to actually fly, but it proved what a man with an imagination and about $35,000 to spend could do with surplus air force equipment.

WORKING TOWARDS MASTER'S DEGREE

A short note from Mr. and Mrs. Don (Junior) Emmons at Lafayette states that Junior received his B. S. degree in mechanical engineering last June and will soon finish the first semester of work on his Master's degree. He is taking his master in jet propulsion and is a research assistant at Purdue's rocket laboratory.

Club Calendar

Mentone American Legion Auxiliary Unit 425 is sponsoring a benefit card party to be held at the Legion Home Tuesday, January 29, at 8:00 p. m. Refreshments will be served. Plan to attend and bring along your friends. Proceeds for veteran's care and girl's state.

BEAVER DAM HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

By Roger Nellans

Last Friday night, January 26 the Beaver Dam Beavers played host to the Atwood Greyhounds and lost to the score of 64-47.

The Beavers surged ahead at the beginning and led 14-11 at the end of the first stanza. As the game progressed the score became closer and at half-time the board showed a deadlock at 25 all. In the third quarter Atwood made 27 points to the Beavers' eleven and that clinched the game for the Greyhounds.

The high scorer of the game was Bibler of the Beavers with 21 points. The even scoring for the Greyhounds had Creighton slightly ahead with 17 points.

Farrowing Tips Given

Lafayette, Ind.—Mid-winter is a critical time in hog production, according to a Purdue University extension swine specialist. Vernon Bell says the management given the sow herd now will determine the number of pigs which will be marketed in five to six months. For maximum profits, farmers need to save as many pigs farrowed as possible.

Bell estimates that the cost to keep a sow during gestation is about $50. If the sow raises six pigs each pig cost $8.33 at farrowing. In contrast, the cost per pig from a litter of eight will be just $6.25.

One week before farrowing, the sow should be given a ration containing 15-20 per cent wheat bran. And Bell recommends that the ration be fed until one week after farrowing.

A creep should be provided the ooby pigs when they are about 10 days old. The creep should contain cracked corn, rolled oats, or a commercial pig starter. It is also important to provide water in the creep.

Farmers should be on guard against anemia in the pigs. Clean sod, if available, can be placed in the creep. Iron pills given orally to the pigs or an iron sulphate solution painted on the sow's udder will also give economical prevention against anemia.

Bell adds that farrowing pens and creep areas should be kept clean, dry and free of drafts.

The record of $8.11 income over feed cost made by Kimberchiks in the Second California Official Random Sample Egg Laying Test has never been equalled. In fact, in the five years since then Kimberchiks themselves have averaged $5.00 income over feed cost based on the number of pullets at one week of age.

But in these days, when it is harder to make a profit in the egg business, the large size and good quality of the eggs produced by K-137 Kimberchiks can make the difference between a good year and a poor one. ## Concrete Slab Good For Hogs

Winter is a good time for Hoosier farmers to plan for construction in the spring or summer of a concrete slab for hogs.

Richard Hollandbeck and Vernon Bell, Purdue University extension swine specialists, point out economical and efficient gains are made by hogs fed on a slab either for all or part of the growing-fattening period.

The specialists describe the slab as a "labor saver" too.

Time needed to fill feeders on the slab is considerably less than when they are in a pasture. And an automatic water system goes hand in hand with a slab.

The slab may also be used during the winter when market hogs normally are kept in dry lot for the finishing period. It is handy during the spring farrowing time and for weaning pigs until they are moved to pasture.

If you want to know how to build, install and locate your concrete slab, ask for new Purdue extension mimeo AH-190, "Concrete Slabs—Valuable for Market Hogs." And for planning your automatic water system, consult mimeo AH-129, "Water—Make It Automatic."

These mimeos are free and available from your county agricultural agent or by writing or calling Agricultural Publications at Purdue.

PREFERENCE FOR NEWSPAPERS

Writing in Editor & Publisher, Philip N. Schuyler says: "A new coast to coast check of representative automobile dealers shows a continued preference for newspaper advertising. A vast majority of 344 dealers questioned ... declared they put this local form of advertising ahead of all other media."

An editorial in the same issue of the same magazine refutes the claim that TV is dominant among young people. It cites a factual survey in which 39 percent of 18 and 19 year olds questioned said newspapers are "hardest to do without," whereas only 18 per cent said the same thing about television.

Newspapers aren't only here to stay—they're still the leaders of all media.

Federal Aid To Education

By George Peck

An appointment made by President Eisenhower in the dying moments of 1956, was his selection of Lawrence Gridley Derthick as chief of the office of Education. 51-year old Derthick for the past 14 years has been Superintendent of Chattanooga's (Tenn.) schools.

Among the views expressed by the new incumbent, after being sworn in, was one on Federal Aid to Education. Said he: "I am hopeful that Federal aid for school construction will be enacted quickly and harmoniously by Congress to help erase the class-room deficit."

And so, we now have as boss man of the Office of Education, a man dedicated to the idea that Federal Government should thrust its money fingers into a matter that is strictly the business of the individual states.

Wouldn't it be better, Mr. Derthick, if Federal Government eased up a bit on the money it is siphoning out of the 48 states, so as to restore to each individual state enough taxing power to take care of its own, class-room deficit? Discussing this matter with educators here in Florida, they are unanimous in advising this "Viewer of the American Way" that they would much prefer to have the local communities and the State of Florida take care of the terrific class-room deficit of the Sunshine State.

Mr. Derthick can best serve the cause of education across the nation by adding his voice to the growing clamor for lower Federal taxes and a halt to Federal Government usurping any further prerogatives that constitutionally belong to the individual states.

A dollar invested in seed, fertilizer and pest control could easily return twenty dollars worth of high quality food for the home gardener, report Purdue University horticulturists.

Safety On The Road

Lafayette, Ind.—With so much more traffic on the road these days, driving a car is becoming increasingly difficult. You may think you're a good driver, and a safe driver—but are you?

In Purdue University extension mimeo FS-30, Purdue safety specialists tell about "Some Common Driving Jobs." Can you easily park parallel to the curb between two other cars? Do you know how to park on hills?

Do you remember that there are many natural laws that affect traffic—such as friction, momentum, gravity and centrifugal force? The effects of these laws are described in mimeo FS-31, "Traffic Laws, Natural and Man-Made."

Do you think your mental attitude ever causes accidents? According to specialists in mimeo FS-32, "Driver Attitude," it does. An angry, discourteous driver is right "in line" for an accident.

Club Holds First Meeting Of Year

The Country Neighbors Club held their first meeting of the year with Mrs. Norma Pulling, Mrs. Eleanor Hoover, president, called the meeting to order.

All members repeated the Creed and reports were heard from the Secretary and Treasurer.

For devotions, Mrs. Ada Maxwell read Psalm 33:12, and two articles entitled "Bibs and Tuckered" and "Petition for a Year." Mrs. Isabelle Peterson read the Scripture, Deuteronomy 8 and "A New Leaf."

Roll call was answered by each member telling her favorite month and why.

During the business meeting plans were made to help someone, each month, less fortunate than we. More committees were appointed and sides were drawn for the annual party which is the high light of the year.

Mrs. Dorothy Herenden then introduced Miss Hanson of the Beaver Dam School, who in a very interesting manner told of a recent stay in Costa Rica, Colombia and Ecuador. She showed slides and explained each one. She also had several articles, scrap book, etc., that she described.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 3

Tax Hints for Car and Home Owners

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Indiana Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Your home and you car may be the source of deductions that will lower your federal income tax. It is important to check all possible deductions because of the savings involved. If you are in the lowest bracket — 20% — each $5 you can find in deductions may mean a dollar in your pocket. For persons with higher incomes the possible savings are even greater.

The interest on a mortgage is deductible on your federal tax return. In most cases, payments to a bank include both interest and principal; as the mortgage is reduced the interest is less and a larger portion is applied to the principal. Only the interest is deductible in the case of your residence.

Real Estate Taxes

Sometimes the monthly payment also includes an additional amount which the bank holds for the payment of taxes, insurance, etc. In this case the bank is acting as your agent in paying tax on your property. Real estate taxes paid by the bank for you are deductible as if you had paid them directly.

If your home had been damaged by fire, storm or flood, your loss not covered by insurance is deductible. The amount of the loss is calculated by comparing the fair market value of the property just before and just after the casualty. This loss, or the cost of the property, whichever is lower, is reduced by any insurance recovery to determine the loss for tax purposes.

When large amounts are involved it may be wise to have an expert appraisal made immediately after the casualty.

When You Sell a Home

You are not allowed to deduct any loss you may suffer on the sale of your personal residence. However, you may be required to pay tax on a gain resulting from selling the house at a profit.

If, however, you buy and occupy another home within one year, before or after, the gainful sale of your former home, you are not taxed on the gain at the time of the sale. Alternatively, you can start construction of a home within a year, and occupy it within 18 months after the sale of your old home. If the new home costs as much as you received for your old one (with allowances for certain "fixing-up" expenses), you are not taxed on the gain. If your new home costs less, the gain is taxable to the extent of the difference. In any event, you are required to submit information concerning any sale of your home at a profit, whether or not the gain is taxable.

When you buy a home you generally agree with the previous owner on a schedule of adjustments for taxes, insurance, water rates and similar items. However, you and the previous owner can deduct this real estate tax in proportion to the number of days of the property tax year that each of you held the property—whether or not you have agreed to apportion the tax. You are considered to have paid your share of the tax when you bought the home. This applies to any real estate you may have purchased during 1956.

Deductible Auto Expenses

From the time you buy an automobile you begin to have other expenses which are deductible on your federal income tax return. Any state or local sales tax you paid on the car purchase is deductible. So is the cost of your license plates, state inspection fees and interest on an auto loan.

A common deduction in many taxpayers' returns is for state gasoline tax. It is best to keep a record of your gasoline purchases during the year, but if you don't have such a record you can still make a reasonable estimate.

If you had a collision, you may be able to deduct for the damage to your own car not covered by insurance. Although driving may have been faulty, you are entitled to the deduction if the accident was not due to your negligence.

Such a loss, or loss from fire, theft or other accidents is determined in the manner described above in connection with damage to a house.

The instruction book which comes with your tax forms gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you decide to seek outside help.

Tree Farm Requirements

Hoosier landowners who keep the growth rate and quality high in their woodlands can now become Indiana Tree Farmers.

E. J. Lott, extension forester at Purdue University, has reported that a farmer can fulfill the basic requirements for Tree Farm certification if he: has at least five acres of woodland; protects his woodland from grazing, fire, insects and diseases; harvests trees when they are ready and insures continuing crops; and plants seedlings trees on idle acres.

Farmers who think their woodland can meet these requirements can take steps now to become tree farmers. A leaflet, "How You can Become an Indiana Tree Farmer," can be obtained from the country agricultural agent or the forestry department at Purdue.

An entry form on the leaflet can be checked and mailed to the chairman of the Indiana Tree Farm Committee, George Demuth, Edinburg. Demuth will assign a forester to visit the property who will report his findings to the tree farm certifying committee for action.

If woodland is not ready for Tree Farm certification, the committee will advise the owner and list measures needed to qualify.

The Tree Farm program is sponsored by the Indiana Forest Industries Committee through the cooperation of the Purdue Agricultural Extension Service, the Division of Forestry, Indiana Department of Conservation, and other organizations and individuals interested in the full development of Indiana's forest resources.

Purdue University dairymen say the return for each dollar spent for feed is a good yardstick to measure dairy efficiency. Indiana DHIA figures for 1954-55 show that each dollar's worth of feed marketed through dairy cows averaged 11,000 pounds of milk returned $2.79. However, the same amount of feed consumed by cows averaging 6600 pounds of milk was $1.94. The dairymen point out that unless a return of at least $2.00 is received for each one dollar of feed consumed, other overhead items such as labor and depreciation will not be covered.

EMINENT SPEAKERS TO ADDRESS FARM WOMEN'S CONVENTION

One of the best programs in many years has been planned for the annual convention of the Indiana Farm Bureau women at the Murat Theater, Indianapolis, February 19 and 20. Plans completed by Mrs. Paul Flinn, Johnson county, who is director of the women's department include such names as Dr. Lillian K. Gilbreth, New York City, Miss Florence Renolds, Washington, D. C., and Jerry Voorhis, Chicago.

Dr. Gilbreth, who is equally famous for being the mother of the "Cheaper by the Dozen" family in the book of that name and for being an efficiency engineer of national and international repute, will speak during the afternoon of the first day.

Miss Reynolds is a representative of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. Her knowledge of world wide food needs should be of vital interest to farm women. Voorhis, a former Congressman, is now executive secretary of the Cooperative League of the U. S. A. Miss Reynolds will address the convention at the evening session of the nineteenth, and Voorhis will talk the next afternoon.

Time To Dehorn Cattle

Lafayette, Ind.—Winter is the best time of year to dehorn cattle, according to a Purdue University extension veterinarian.

Dr. F. A. Hall says cattle dehorn during cold winter months will be bothered less by flies than if dehorned in warmer weather.

If cattle are dehorned now, serious injury may be averted later. With tramp shed coming more into use, chances for dairy cows to be injured are increased if some of the animals have not been dehorned. And the same holds true for beef cattle confined in close quarters for the winter.

Calfhood is the best and easiest age to dehorn cattle, Hall reports.

At this age caustics and electric dehorners can be used. Horn gouges can be used until the horn buttons become fixed or solid on the head of the animals.

Adult cattle must be dehorned using either a saw or clippers.

The Purdue specialist points out that veterinarians often use local anesthetics on milk cows and pregnant animals. The painless operation does not seriously affect the milk flow of cows, is less apt to cause abortion in heavy springers, and does not retard the growth of feeders.

A Better Buy

Research, experiment, and innovation have changed just about everything in this country. That truism even goes for the meat we eat and the livestock it comes from. In other words, "pigs isn't pigs" any more!

Nowadays, for instance, people want leaner cuts than they used to and they're getting them. Farmers are producing strains of hogs and other livestock that, pound for pound provide more meat and less fat.

Efforts to provide a more attractive product—and a better buy for the money—are not confined to producers. The whole meat industry is in on the act. The packers have found new, better and more economical processing methods—and some of them are unusual indeed.

One that falls into that category is the blind tunnel, introduced as a rapid way to freeze meat by the use of high speed fans. And such tools as electric knives and pneumatic needles now play roles in making packing and processing operations faster and more efficient.

Finally, the United States is the world leader in this kind of progress, as it is in so many other fields. As an example, we usually think of sausage in connection with the Old World. But an American sausage maker who toured Europe recently said on his return: "I didn't bring back a single idea applicable to our business, hard as I tried. It was like going back to the food dispensing practices of 50 years ago."

Beef Cattle Price Outlook

M. Paul Mitchell, Purdue University agricultural economist, has predicted that 1957 prices for fed cattle will not average far from the $22.00 level which prevailed during 1956. Continued high level of beef production and feeding is the basis for this conclusion.

The Crop and Livestock Reporting Service of the U. S. D. A. has indicated that the number of cattle on feed in the U. S. was four percent larger than the previous record number on feed a year earlier. Offsetting this over prospective supply of beef are the combined effects of a reduced pork supply and a stronger consumer demand arising from higher levels of employment income.

Except for seasonal fluctuations of cattle prices have been in a most uninterrupted decline since 1951, when the yearly average price of fed steers at Chicago set an all-time record, $35.72 per cwt. The decline to the $22 average in 1956 followed a normal cyclical pattern reflecting greatly expanding levels of production and feeding.

Mitchell thinks that although the year as a whole may be a little better for cattle feeders than 1956, it will be necessary to pay close attention to cost of gain and developing market trends. A repetition of the nine to ten dollar seasonal advance in fed cattle prices which occurred in 1956 is not in prospect at this time.

Setting the Trap

Whole nations from time to time come under the freedom-destroying rule of dictators by devious methods which fool the people until they are trapped.

Powerful labor leaders and politicians in the United States have been promoting candidates and measures to build government monopolies to the exclusion of free enterprise.

If such a program is successful, rank and file workers would find themselves mere work slaves as they did in Germany and Russia. Their labor bosses would be holding top political jobs. Strikes would be outlawed under penalties such as we have witnessed in the dictator countries. Government control of industry and individuals would be extended.

You may think this could not happen here but it is happening under many disguises. Commenting on the way workers are forced to contribute for candidates and measures which they may suppose, Raymond Moley in Newsweek lists large sums that are taken from the union funds for political purposes. He points out that workmen should be interested "... in the fact that their contributions, which should be devoted to matters related to their interests as workers, are thus diverted to the ideological and political concerns of their offices."

Thus are individuals trapped into situations over which they have no control.

It is a highly potent concentrate that requires only good roughage to produce a complete and balanced ration . . . and you are assured of consistent potency and value in every bag.

Irrigation Factors

Three important factors should be considered by farmers who planning to irrigate crops for the first time this summer.

Dan Wiersma, extension agronomist at Purdue University, says attention should be given the water supply, soil type, and crops to be irrigated.

Water must be located close enough to make it economical for irrigation. The quantity of water must be sufficient during the hot, dry season of the summer for the intended irrigated acreage.

According to Wiersma, water can be applied to soils of a wide range in textures and topography. Irrigation, however, will give the greatest returns on well-drained, droughty soils.

To make irrigation pay, Wiersma asserts that it is necessary to raise a crop which responds to the additional water and gives a reasonably high cash return.
